I don't like foxiness and I feel that I was had in this argument before, because we didn't come out in the open when we voted on it. I didn't know quite what it was. Now I don't know that this requires an answer or not, but someone asked the question about the one word being changed from the old Constitution, and I would like to know if there's any reason for that word "and operate" to have been changed to "or". Delegate Litten, could you explain that?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Well — Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Delegate Rundle, I think I should yield to Delegate Devine, because he's the one that talked to the attorney having to do with these two words.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President. Delegate Rundle, no; this came in in the drafting procedure. As far as I know, there was no special intent given to it, and I would object to amending it back. The reason we didn't amend it back was because I checked with this guy, and we didn't want to foul up the issue any more.

Does that answer your question?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Yes, it answers my question. Now I would like you do that then, that you amend it back. We have been getting along after a fashion under the old Constitution, and I do not want to be confused any further. If there isn't any significance, I would like — will you move it?

DELEGATE DEVINE: I'll second it.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I'll move that the "or" on line 13 be changed to "and."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle, you are offering an amendment to the amendment; is that right?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Do you want — after the words "to construct," you want to strike the word "or" and insert the word "and"?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And Delegate Devine seconded the proposed amendment.

Any discussion? The question is on the adoption of the amendment to the amendment — that we strike the word "or" following the word "construct" in the amendment and as distributed, and insert the word "and."

So it would read "construct and operate".

As many as are in favor of adopting the proposed amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Now we're back on the amendment as offered by Delegate Litten.

Any further discussion?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I have only one question, and it's similar to the technicality which was brought up by Delegate Rundle.

The old Section 139 requires the consent of the local authorities having the control of the streets or highways supposed to be occupied for such purposes. Under the proposed amendment, you set up local authorities having controls of the street or highway. It refers to the governing body of that city. So my question is: What's the difference between the old 139 and the proposed amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, if I may answer the question.

By way of explanation, we first just put the city, and the reason we changed from local authorities was the problem of concurrent jurisdiction of a street going through a town — that maybe part of it may be a state highway, part of it might be a county farm-to-market road, part of it a city street. Who would the local authorities having the jurisdiction be? And for this reason, we're dealing with cities. We just simplified it to "cities" to get away from this problem of checking with one, two, three or four different governing groups to get the permission. We felt the intent of the provision was to give the franchise power to the cities; so we addressed it to that specifically.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Just a brief comment.

I think we are being drawn into a utilities-REC Convention fight here in this Convention, which, I feel, has no place in this Convention. It seems to me the Legislature can and should and will pass a law protecting the cities' right to franchise. Now, I'm from a city and I fully agree that that should be in there. As Delegate Omdahl mentioned the '65 Commission recommended we delete this, and I think it should be deleted and we should not be drawing or dividing ourselves in favor or against public or private utilities. I don't think it has anything in there at all.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. Delegate Simonson and I were talking about the question of why only cities? We've provided the machinery for home rule for counties. Is there a legitimate reason for your language leaving out counties, and would you object to an amendment to include it? I have one ready, but I don't want to move it through the machinery if there's some strong objection.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine, do you have an answer?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Were you asking a question that you wanted answered by the Committee? Speaking as to my opinion why the Committee amended this: You get into other political subdivisions, townships and counties. Basically, they're not franchising — staying out of this public power-REC thing that caused all the smoke last time, and, I think, caused the defeat of the Committee Proposal — and this is in answer to the question: We looked at the section and said, "What does it do?" And we felt it gave the cities the franchise right and effectively it gave it only to the cities. You get out into the country and you get into all these problems of concurrent jurisdiction — township, county, state and what not. It comes down to the nitty-gritty — should the city have the franchise right? And we addressed ourselves to that question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I'm going to move the amendment at the desk. If I can get a second, I'll explain why.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you read the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment is as follows:

Under Article XVII, Public Utilities, Section 1., following the words "any city" insert "or county" and following the words "that city" insert the words "or county".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The proposed amendment was seconded by Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I wish, too, that the problems between the investor-owned utilities and the consumer-owned utilities would go away; but, however, much as I wish it, they won't. And for all of the controversy and turmoil that existed in the 1965 session dealing with territorial integrity, the real question was: Do the REC's have a right to a rural franchise? It was the franchise question in the country. And we've been willing to say for years that the cities have a right to grant franchises to investor-owned utilities, and the question in 1965 was will we grant a right for a franchise to a consumer-owned utility in the country?

Now, Mr. President, it seems strange to me that we are willing to grant to a city a veto power over the Legislature that we are unwilling to grant to the county. I think there's every bit of logic on the side of granting the same veto power to the counties. I hope you will support the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, I'd like to review a little bit of REA history in the State of North Dakota.

In 1937, when the Federal Attorney came up here to Bismarck to promote the adoption of the statute under which these electric companies operate, he sat down with the then Public Service Commission, which included S. S. McDonald, Ben Larkin and myself, and our attorney, and we went over this from beginning to end. He got everything exactly as he wanted it, with a minor exception that was on standards of construction, and the Commission insisted that they would have to observe those standards. Even the private line, if someone builds their own line, has to observe that. That means clearance above ground, crossing a — going over crossings and streets and attachment to homes or buildings. Those are safety things and their lines are just as dangerous as those owned by the Montana-Dakota or the Northern States Power, because if you come in contact with it, you generally get killed. So, with that exception, they got everything exactly as they wanted it, which was a permissive right to serve in rural areas — not an exclusive right — and he didn't want that, because then he would have been up against the problem of regulation. That's why you have regulation — is when you give some company an exclusive right. So they got a permissive right, exactly as they wanted it, and they have the right to discontinue services as the corporation sees fit. Now there's your differences between those two services.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I'm curious about how Delegate Sinner would suggest that such a constitutional provision be implemented. As I'm sure you know, counties do not now have any ordinance-making authority — any legislative authority. Counties operate under state law. Would you suggest that each of the counties then adopt home rule provisions, including the legislative authority?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

Delegate Baker, I'm only suggesting they have the same veto power over the Legislature that this amendment would give to the cities.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I would resist the amendment. It's clear that the cities have had the power to issue franchises to authorized franchisees. The county has not had this. The cities do want this for the future. There's no reason to have this in here for any subsequent laws or in this Constitution, and I think it's — it should be clear that if we want to regulate both the REC's and the private power companies, they should all be under the Public Service Commission, and that is when we can stop regulating them. Until that time, the cities need their right, which they have under the present 139, and they will need it in the future. They are disturbed by this, and there is no reason to have the counties in here. It will clutter up the issues. The cities need it and the counties don't have it at the present time and, therefore, I would urge the defeat of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President, I also oppose the proposed amendment. I see it as an attempt to further cloud the issue.

I'll reiterate what other members of the Committee have said: All we are attempting to do is continue to permit cities to have a right which they have historically had — the right to grant franchises.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think, under the circumstances, I would oppose the amendment, too, because I feel, as the former delegate has, that it's just muddying up the situation. The counties now have no franchise right or ordinance right, and I personally have never been involved in a rural area problem in terms of this situation; but if you have — I think those of you who have will recognize that this is a fairly basic right and one that probably shouldn't be changed. I have been an attorney for an REA telephone for about 17 years. The REA telephones are under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission and have had relatively little boundary problems under this jurisdiction. The REA electricians are not under the Public Service Commission and they and the investor-owned power companies have had a multitude of boundary problems and have been continually in the Legislature, and until this matter is resolved, I would say that we better leave this section alone for the protection of the cities.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I am against this amendment, just as I am for the original amendment. It seems rather foolish to me to have the city first grant a franchise to somebody and then have that same group have to go to the county for the authority for that franchise which the city has already given them, which this amendment would provide. After all, all cities lie within counties; so the counties are, in effect, again controlling the cities, and I think the cities know more of their own problems and should have control of this lone business — not the county commissioners that run the counties.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Sinner.

Those that are in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay."

The "nays" have it and the amendment lost.

Now we're back on the amendment as — no. We passed that. Okay.

Then we are back on 1-101 — the amendment as offered by Delegate Litten and amended by Delegate Rundle.

So now we are back on the amendment as amended.

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I guess I was the one that got this thing back on the floor in the first place. I definitely am speaking for the REC's and myself and for 1,000 farmers when I feel that they feel that this is not good, and I feel it should be out of here. I think it should be deleted as it was passed last time, and I very much oppose having it restored, and we did not discuss it in Committee after the last vote, so I don't know whether the Committee has changed its position in any way. But as far as I'm concerned, if I can't have the old one, I definitely would like to see this one deleted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Litten — the amendment as it is now amended.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The Chair will rule the "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE SINNER: Let's have a division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested. A division is granted.

Again, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. Any questions? You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change? Hearing none, the vote is closed.

The vote indicates 59 "ayes," 36 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. The amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: With your permission, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates, I would like to move that the rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal 1-101 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion was seconded by Delegate Stanton, and the motion before the Convention is that the rules be suspended and that Committee Proposal No. 1-101 be deemed properly re-engrossed, to be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment — or the motion is adopted and Committee Proposal 1-101 is before the Convention for first passage.

The question — Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I couldn't help resist this one parting shot:

The other day, when we were debating the merits of Committee Proposal 1-89, I heard Delegate Pearce make a statement that was repeated sometime later in the debate, in which he said "Eminent Domain must be under the sovereignty of the State." And it seems to me that that's in large part what we're dealing with here, and I hope that this Convention does not now vote to give the cities veto power over the Legislature.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I have an amendment at the desk that's being prepared; but before that is done, I still have a question on this governing body thing, and if I could direct a question to Delegate Devine —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Devine yield?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, Delegate Devine yields.

DELEGATE AUBOL: If I recall, you said that you have now given the city board authority to grant this franchise. Now, what happens if this franchise is also going to be involved with county property or state property, such as a highway, and the states say, "No, we don't want this franchise running across our property"?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President. Delegate Aubol. I'm not sure — you mean if, in order to construct and operate a utility, it will be necessary to — going across on a state highway, for example, the person requesting to design or operate would need an easement. If the property is property of the State of North Dakota, it would need an easement from the State of North Dakota. This does not — if I can go just one step further. Like most other things, if they have to occupy private property, they would have to obtain easements.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE LARSEN: Fellow Delegates: Mr. President.

We've heard a lot of argument, but there is one statement that I question a little bit. Sometime ago it was said that people of the city did not and should not have any say in county government. Now, in our county, the people of the city, if they vote properly, they can control the county commissioners — they vote for them — and because of that statement, I'm in very much favor of supporting Delegate Peterson in her statements. I feel that this Section 139 should definitely be left up to the Legislature.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President. There is an amendment being prepared at the desk, which I would like an opportunity to offer.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-101:

In the re-engrossed Committee Proposal, after the words in the last line "that city" insert the following "provided, however, that no public utility or similar service shall have its property taken without receiving just compensation for the loss of business and for the loss in physical facilities."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Could we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Bassingthwaite.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President, could we have that repeated, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander, you wish the amendment repeated?

DELEGATE LANDER: Please.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will you re-read the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-101:

In the last line of the re-engrossed Committee Proposal, after the words, "that city" insert the following: "provided, however, that no public utility or similar service shall have its property taken without receiving just compensation for the loss of business and for the loss in physical facilities."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, this question came up the last time we debated this issue, and I toyed with this idea and I talked to some people, and they thought it had some merit. Now, I didn't pursue this thing very far, except we have given the city a lot of power to grant franchises and say who is going to be operating in their city. By the same token, I think we have given the city the power now to say, "Okay, MDU, we don't want you in. Leave!" And the same would be true of REC's. And so I think that both public utilities and similar services should have some protection as to property rights, and it for that reason I offer this amendment.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I have intentionally stayed out of this debate; but I must point out two things: I suppose a nonprofit corporation could have no damages for lost businesses; and, secondly, I'm not sure who's to pay.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — can someone answer the question as raised by Delegate Pearce?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Aubol. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I'd ask Delegate Pearce who he thinks should pay.

DELEGATE PEACE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: How long have we got? (Laughter)

I would only say, since I am intimately acquainted with the utility business, anyone who operates on a franchise basis stands to lose his property if his franchise runs out. That's one of the risks of business that you take. Now, if the city gives a franchise to someone other than the one already operating, if they're going to pay for the one that's ousted, if you should pay at all, what should you do? — require the competitor who now has the franchise to pay? That might be impossible. Or ask the public to pay? Equally so. I don't think it could be either one. I think anyone who operates on a temporary-permit basis, which is what a franchise is, whether it's for twenty years or ten, he takes the risks if he loses that franchise.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Aubol. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed vote "nay."

The "nays" have it and the amendment lost.

We're back on first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-101 as amended.

As many as — those in favor of passage will vote "aye;" those opposed to passage will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 63 "ayes," 32 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-101 has passed.

Next for consideration, Committee Proposal No. 1-57.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-57, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to equal enjoyment of public accommodations, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"All persons shall be entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages and accommodations of any public accommodation, without discrimination or segregation on the ground of race, sex, color, religion or national origin."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion on Committee Proposal 1-57?

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I have a brief statement with respect to 1-57. This Proposal is one that has been brought — that has been the subject of much — has been the subject of much study and scrutiny, and certainly it's been brought to the attention of the Convention through its frequent appearance. Previously, there was an amendment offered by myself, which was discussed and debated and considered, which, by the way, I fully appreciated and I thank the Convention for its consideration. But, at any rate, that amendment was defeated. The point is that I hope this previous amendment has cast no shadow or serious doubt in your minds upon the question that is now before us. Certainly any comments I have had were not meant to hinder the quality or the intent of 1-57. I believe — I believe that the intent does deal with the original statement of 1-57, and there is no doubt that the Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage has given a full and adequate study of this provision.

At best, this provision makes an allowance for basic human rights, for full and equal enjoyment of life for all human beings, without discrimination. Although it may be accountable to our federal or national government, it does remain at heart a human prerogative that we cannot afford to overlook. I, therefore, urge the support and passage of Committee Proposal 1-57.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion on Committee Proposal No. 1-57?

Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President. A question to a member of the Committee.

If there is to be no discrimination in any public accommodation on account of sex, does this mean that the ladies' powder room will be abolished or integrated?

(Laughter)

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: The Committee hopes so! (Laughter)

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I am eager to support this Proposal, but I have a simple amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-57:

In line 10, delete the word "sex".

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your proposal was seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

Delegate Dobson, you may proceed.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, I guess the big joke — in the present Constitution there's a section making the Governor the Commander-in-Chief of the naval forces of the State. Although the intent of the Committee probably was all right, I don't think we should build a joke into the new Constitution. The new Illinois constitution has a section condemning the telling of Polish jokes, and I want to point out that I am only proposing this amendment to delete "sex," comma, and I want to make it perfectly clear that there is no intention to abolish sex, period.

(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I wish to resist the motion. (Laughter)

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. President.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: The average age of this group, I believe, is 59. I'm quite a little older than the average age. I don't care what you do with it! (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: For once, I'm going to agree with Delegate Omdahl. I think we should leave this to the Legislature. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I certainly don't want to leave sex to the Legislature. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seriously, though, would you have an amendment to offer? Are you aware of the amendment?

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay."

I believe the "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I now move, Mr. President, that Committee Proposal 1-57 be deemed properly re-engrossed, the Rules be suspended, et cetera.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson moves that the Rules be suspended and Committee Proposal No. 1-57 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first reading as amended.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendment's adopted. The motion is adopted, and Committee Proposal No. 1-57 is before the Convention for final action.

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, do I understand we deleted the word "sex"?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's my understanding we did.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I can recognize the problem that Delegate Dobson was getting at, but I wonder what you're doing with the rest of the section. The basic section is, "All persons shall be entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods and services." Now, of course I'm sure the "discrimination or segregation" is the problem Delegate Dobson is getting at. But I wonder what you have done with it with relation to the women's lib movement.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I wonder, on the amendment, much for the same reason that Delegate Kelsch has brought up — it was considered in a very laughing manner, but I think that dropping reference to "sex" out of the proposal, it now leaves the full public accommodations open to discriminate on the basis of sex, and I think we erred.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention —

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: May I ask a question of Delegate Aubol?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Yes, Mr. President.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I really can't think of a facility or a place right now that I feel we are discriminated against for our services. One doesn't come to my mind.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: In comment on Delegate Hendrickson's idea there, I think what we're talking about is the enjoyment of the full and equal enjoyment of privileges; for example, the privilege of employment. We have some laws now regarding nondiscrimination in employment on the basis of sex, but I suspect employment might be considered a privilege, and if we have a statement in there regarding sex, I suppose the Legislature still could provide for a nondiscrimination in employment on the basis of sex, as they have done now. But what we are doing is removing the guarantees that the Legislature shall provide for nondiscrimination in employment on the basis of sex.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

It seems to me that the Legislature would not be able to discriminate on that basis, because the federal law would govern.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President, may I speak again?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I think I'm fully covered, as far as we're concerned, under Delegate Burbidge's Proposal 1-53.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question then before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-57.

Those in favor of passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote?

The key is closed. The roll call discloses 86 "ayes," 9 "nays," 3 delegates absent and not voting.

Committee Proposal No. 1-57 has passed.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: My seat mate is giving me a bad time here. He thought the amendment should agree to retain the words up through "of" and then delete the rest of the Proposal, except the word "sex." (Laughter)

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: May I rise to a personal privilege?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: May I rise to a personal privilege?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: May I rise to a personal privilege?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I would like to respond to Delegate Dobson's reference to the Governor being the Commander of the naval forces.

For his information, the big lake that we call Devils Lake will soon be some twenty miles long, and it has a bigger problem than that. It also has an involvement with Indian treaties and jurisdiction. We've already thought about asking the Coast Guard to come in to police it, and we'll probably have to have a North Dakota Coast Guard to help.

Now, may we be on the twelfth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I would like to move that Committee Proposal No. 1-89 be placed at the head of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-89 be placed at the head of the calendar. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-89 is placed at the head of the calendar.

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, is it still too late to explain my vote on 1-57? I think that I would like to explain my vote, and I think that other delegates who voted "no" would also like to explain their vote.

I voted "no" not because I'm against the concept of nondiscrimination. I voted "no" because I believe the Constitution now allows for the discrimination on the basis of sex.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is Committee Proposal 1-89.

DELEGATE SONDRREAL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sondreal.

DELEGATE SONDRREAL: I, too, would like to explain my vote on the last proposal that was voted on. It was not on discrimination, but because of the deletion of the word "sex."

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Will these be outlined in the Journal?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: They will be.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Again, the question before the Convention, Committee Proposal 1-89.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal 1-89, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 14 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to eminent domain.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Section 14 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property rights of the owner and the interests of the general public and without just compensation for all damages having first been made to or estimated just compensation for all damages paid into court for the owner."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any discussion?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I have an amendment at the desk and I would like to call it a committee proposal — or a committee amendment, but I can't do that because I have the printed one; so I'll make the amendment and ask that it be read.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Clerk read the proposed amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed Committee Proposal 1-89:

Delete everything after line 9 of the engrossed proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property rights of the owner and the interests of the general public and without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages.

"The legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service and provide the procedure and time limit for determination of damages, necessity, and public use."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do we have a second?

Seconded by Delegate Saugstad.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I want to report that the Committee did reconsider, and we had more presentations made and, as a matter of fact, we met twice and we could not agree. Following that, we started working on it while we were up here, and I hope that we have now got it in such a shape that it will at least meet the approval of most of the people.

If you will notice, the first paragraph adds new language and gives the property owner more rights and protection. We then felt that we must give the Legislature some rights to provide for a method of faster taking than normal, and, incidentally, don't be fooled by this. This does not provide for quick take; it provides that they could provide a quick take, but it also provides that they could have 90-day limitations or one-year limitations, or something like that. We have, also, in that second paragraph, put in the proposition that the Legislature must provide for a procedure to determine the procedure and, also, the time limit that shall be utilized and, also, the determination of damages, necessity and public use.

You will notice that we have substantially taken away the quick-take powers from many of the agencies that now have them, and we felt that, in that way, we gave the private property owner more help. They think now that we might even satisfy Delegate Pearce.

We move the adoption.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, in order that others may have all the time that's necessary, I'll get my say out of the way first.

With all due regard to Delegate Thompson's and others' efforts, I still can't logically understand how you can take property and protect its owner. I think we should understand clearly what eminent domain is. The term — the adjective "eminent" is the important one. Originally, it was the power of the king over the lands of his subjects.

Now, I have been misquoted several times in regard to sovereignty. Eminent domain is a part of the power of the sovereign. It is eminent above everyone else's right to own property. Those of you who think you really own property are, perhaps logically, mistaken. You have the right to possess it and to transfer it to the devisees in your will or allow it to pass to your heirs, provided that you pay the annual fee, which we call taxes — real property taxes. If you pay that sockage, as it was once called, then you can keep it. Just don't pay it for three years and see how long you have it!

As I said, one of the rights of property, as long as you pay up to the Government, is the right to its use and its exclusive use. There is this eminent power — this sovereign power that if it's necessary to use your property or a portion of it for a public use, that the State can take it. Now, the State is careful in the way it shares that portion of its sovereignty. It gives that to certain agencies by statute. Most public bodies have it — not all. It gives it to those type of common carriers or public service companies, pipelines that are common carriers, public utilities that furnish light and power, some private persons who furnish light and power, such as the rural electric cooperatives and the generating and transmission cooperatives, because that service that they furnish is a public service — it's needful and necessary to the public, because where would we be if the lights went out? Of course you could go home then.

The ultimate decision as to whether that eminent domain needs to be exercised has to be left in those agencies that share that part of the sovereignty, that part of the power. It cannot be given to individual juries who do not determine the overall project, but are only concerned with that portion of the right-of-way, ordinarily, or the piece of the park — piece of the property that's to be taken for a park or a street or a public building or a schoolhouse that is necessary.

Now, if they can deliberate and say, "No, that particular piece of property is not necessary," then you can't take it, you have eliminated eminent domain and you have chopped it up and put it in the hands of the jury, or a court. You cannot share the power of eminent domain like that. It can't be done. All of the constitutions that I know of, including the recent Illinois one, simply say that we say that private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation and the right of trial by jury is guaranteed for the determination of the condemnation.

Now, as I look at the proposed amendment of Delegate Thompson, I really don't understand it. I understand parts of it. The first paragraph is a denial which we have always had — that private property shall not be taken unless — then separate and apart is a second paragraph or sentence, which says, "The legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service." Now that, to me, would appear to be a limitation upon what the Legislature can do. That would be the only thing that they could provide eminent domain for; no longer for schoolhouses, for parks, and any number of other things that may be necessary for public domain.

I have pondered this problem and I have talked to many others on the floor. It seems to me that we are getting no nearer a solution, and my own feeling is, since the people, in 1957, voted for quick take for highways, let's go back to Section 14 that we've lived with and that the people approved in 1956.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I am reminded of some words I learned some short years ago at my mother's knee, that begin, "Oh what a tangled web we weave" — and I think you will follow me up to that point. Now, you will follow as it goes on, speaking of deception, and I don't want to imply that anybody that is speaking or will be speaking on this subject is trying to deceive the body here, but I wonder if we're not deceiving ourselves some.

So far as speaking as a layman in this matter, with more than a little knowledge of the complexity of this matter, I can say that I would surely be deceiving myself if I thought that I could make any improvement on the language in the present Constitution. In the brief time that we have available to us in this Convention — and I wonder if the attorneys who are so interested in this may not be deceiving themselves, possibly without realizing it, because of an interest that they have — maybe a current interest in the operation of the laws of eminent domain, so that, instead of writing a section of the Constitution in a truly objective fashion, that they might possibly be allowing their opinions of the moment to color their feelings to some degree.

I support Delegate Pearce's suggestion that we return to the language of the present Constitution. I know that that's not a very popular idea right now, but I'm sure it could be done, and I surely agree that that would be the best solution at this time.

And just to find out if anybody else thinks that way, I move that further consideration of Committee Proposal 1-89 be indefinitely postponed.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question. It has been moved that further consideration of Committee Proposal No. 1-89 be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Baker — we have an amendment and, therefore, Delegate Baker, I am going to have to rule that your motion to indefinitely postpone is out of order.

The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Thompson, and seconded by Delegate Saugstad.

Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I doubt very much if this language would permit a quick take at all, because the first paragraph says "without just compensation having first been made to the owner." And once that has been established, you're going to have to put some more language in there, clearly stating that the Legislature can provide for a quick take without payment having first been made to the owner.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I am not completely in accord with the amendment; however, I certainly agree with the ideas behind the amendment. I don't think, because of the eminent domain theory and principle since the days of the king, it ought to apply in North Dakota in 1972. I do feel that under this present section of our Constitution, 20- — or, rather 14, that the property rights of the individual property owner are fully protected for the reasons that were mentioned the other day. I don't think the word "just compensation" fully compensates the property owner for the loss that he has sustained. Taking someone's property, in my opinion, is one of the most serious things that we could ever hope to do, and I think that we ought to bend over backwards to compensate for all damages that that property owner has, if we're going to do that. We ought to give him the benefit of the doubt, rather than the State or the subdivision that may be exercising eminent domain rights. I agree there may be some confusion in the word "property rights." One delegate suggested we take out the word "property right" and just leave it "rights of the individual." I do think that we can protect some of the rights and property rights of the individual and still go through with eminent domain proceedings because of the example that I gave yesterday or the day before, when we were discussing this proposal, in that he be given adequate time to relocate and to vacate his business. I do feel that we would take a step backwards if we go back to the old section, because I do not feel that the property rights, and certainly the other rights of the property owner, are protected in that section for the reasons mentioned.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: I thought probably the proposal that's before you by Mr. Thompson was probably a reasonable compromise. I am not schooled in the law well enough to know whether the first paragraph is properly drawn. My particular interest, of course, is in that second paragraph. Now, there were a lot of things said on this floor yesterday, and I notice the Press indicated that what I wanted to do was loosen the present provisions up so that property rights weren't so important, which is absolutely contrary. I'll restate that I thought — what I thought was in the Committee Proposal, and I went down to the Committee this morning. I was backed up in that, in regard to testimony there, in a statement by a Committee member. The Committee Proposal did allow the Legislature to quick take on anything. It also provided that private corporations, as well as political subdivisions in the State, could take property under the quick-take method.

Now, my proposal — now here's what is dangerous in the old Constitution, as I see it, and what I'm afraid of: It doesn't say that political subdivisions can use the quick take for right-of-way for roads. It says "for right-of-way" period, and right-of-way can be a multitude of things. This is what I'm trying to get at — is to cut down that quick take on these multitude of things that can be taken by quick take or that it gives to the Legislature to take, or determination by the Attorney General on what is a right-of-way. Is it a ditch? Is it a park? Is it an airport flyway, a runway, or what is it? The quick-take procedure can be used for anything that can be defined as a right-of-way. And this is what I want to make clear.

In the second paragraph of this Proposal, it allows the Legislative Assembly to provide quick-take procedures, and there's a lot of things they can do with that. They can allow trails by other than jury to be set within 60 or 90 days. They can put the onus on other than the property owner on proving some of these things. There is a latitude of things they can provide; or they can provide just what they can take by quick take within these limitations and spelled out in that second paragraph. And these are the obvious ones where quick take should be workable and this property can be used. So the second paragraph, for me, is all right.

Now, on that first paragraph, the definitions on all those words in there and what they mean legally, I'll have to leave to the lawyers; but I want to make it clear I most certainly was not trying to open the door to destroy property rights. I was trying to close this door. Somewhere along the line it has to be closed, because I've got property owners up in my area, because of this quick-take thing, they are losing property by the hundreds and thousands of dollars, and they have no recourse in the courts, except for the price they got for a little right-of-way; and this wrong.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

To ease any fears that people may have about the words "without protecting the property rights of the owner," we asked the legal counsel who has served the Committee, "Is there any danger there?" And he assured us that there was none. There was nothing there that would harm eminent domain, because he said you had to read the words in context. So that we feel there is no danger in saying "Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property rights of the owner." We felt that the proposal, as we had proposed it to you, would give the Legislature the rights that had been mentioned in the second paragraph. We are not adverse to adding the second paragraph, if that will help clear up matters and if that will specifically give to the Legislature the right to carry out the intent that we have stated in the first paragraph. I thoroughly agree that, to go back to Section 14, would be a step backwards, because all we are doing is guaranteeing damages; we are not protecting the property rights, we are not protecting the general good of the public; and so, for that reason, we hope now that we have a satisfactory conclusion of this terribly knotty problem when we are giving it to the Legislature. We do not think that we have to mention "estimated damages" in the first paragraph, because now we are giving it to the Legislature to carry out the intent, and we think that first paragraph will be a mandate to the Legislature to see when you carry out this mandate, whether you have quick take, no quick take, or quicker take than you have ever had before, you must see that the property rights of the owner and the general public are protected.

For that reason, we ask for the support of the amendment as now proposed.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Thompson and seconded by Delegate Saugstad.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: May I move that the Rules be suspended and that it be properly re-engrossed and placed for first reading?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal 1-89 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

Do I have a second to the motion? Seconded by Delegate Maxwell.

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, I think that the legal problems still involved in this thing take a little bit more time to get straightened out. You can't have eminent domain and protect property rights. I would suggest that we vote against this Proposal, so that we can take one more day on it tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the motion as offered by Delegate Geelan to suspend the Rules, to deem the Proposal properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted — or the motion is carried.

The question before the Convention, first passage —

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Let us not be hasty here. I'm in full sympathy with the purposes of the amendment, and I would like to feel at ease with the idea that the construction of the language will provide for a quick take under the circumstances mentioned in the second paragraph. But not being a lawyer, I don't know if I am correct or incorrect, but I feel that the second paragraph does not provide for a quick take, because the last — the end of the first paragraph — it says "without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages." And there's nothing in the second paragraph that contradicts that statement, and until we correct the language, I'm afraid we're not going to be able to have quick take.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President. Did that last motion carry by a two-thirds vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I ruled that it did.

DELEGATE HILL: Could we have a division on that, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes. It's a little late, but I'll still grant it. The question — the division has been granted. That is a sufficient number. Normally, you don't permit further debate if you're going to have the question of division. However, I would still grant it.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the suspension of the Rules. And the key will be opened. It will take 66 votes to suspend the Rules, and those in favor will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "nay."

The key will be opened and you will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate indicated his preference? The vote is closed.

The vote indicates 45 "ayes," 49 "nays," 4 delegates absent and not voting. The motion to suspend the Rules fails.

Fellow delegates, we will take a 15-minute break, and then we will come back and we'll work until seven o'clock.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, I would like to request the members of the Public Information Committee to meet downstairs in the Large Hearing Room for a discussion of what we might do in the next couple days — immediately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be in recess.

(The Session recessed at 5:32 P.M. until 5:49 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May we have order? Will the Convention please come to order?

First for consideration, Committee Proposal 1-82.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: I move that we place Committee Proposal 1-82 at the bottom of the calendar under, I believe, Committee Proposal 1-85, for the reason that there are a couple of amendments at the desk which we think we can work at and compromise, if we have a little additional time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You move that we place 1-82 — 1-82 at the foot of the calendar?

DELEGATE HARTL: That is correct.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved and seconded that we place 1-82 at the foot of the calendar.

Delegate Hoffner, do you wish to talk on this?

(Delegate Hoffner shook his head.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the motion to place 1-82 at the foot of the calendar. As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and 1-82 is at the foot.

Now, Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, may we continue on the twelfth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Is it my understanding that 1-57 is at the top of the calendar?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Which one, Delegate Hoffner?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: 1-57.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I then move, in view of the fact there are a number of amendments proposed for 1-29 — this is the one on reapportionment — I don't think it would be wise to go into this at this time just for an hour — that this be laid at the foot of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-29 be placed at the foot of the calendar. Do I have a second?

Seconded by Delegate Maxwell.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 1-29 is below 1-82.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: By way of a little clarification, you have two proposed amendments by me on 1-29. The last one you've got is the one that we will be moving. We wanted to rewrite the first one and, rather than have two amendments before you, we do not plan to introduce that one. But the amendment that you received just a few moments ago will be the one we'll be introducing tomorrow, or whenever we get to it.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: I wonder if I might ask Delegate Longmire: Which one is the last one?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Longmire explain to the delegates?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I have been told by someone behind me that the large printed one is the last one; but the provisions of the last one provide for leaving legislative districts as they are at the present time. That's the last one. It's been pointed out, again, by some of my capable associates here, that the last one is the one on page 1 of the engrossed proposal — to delete all of lines 13 through 25. That is the beginning of it, and then it has engrossed on the top of it "Proposed Amendment to Engrossed Committee Proposal 1-29."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Has that momentous decision been arrived at?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you. For consideration, Committee Proposal No. 1-38.

DELEGATE HARDMEYER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hardmeyer. Just a moment while the Clerk reads it.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-38, introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 37 and 39 of Article II and Article 51 of the amendments to of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 7 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to restrictions on the office-holding capabilities of state legislators.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Sections 37 and 39 of Article II and Article 51 of the amendments to of the constitution of the state of North Dakota are hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) Section 7 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE II

"Section 7. No member while serving in the legislative assembly shall hold any other elective office of the state or any of its political subdivisions, nor any appointive state office which shall be deemed to be any office established by this constitution or by law. During the term of office for which he was elected, no legislator shall be appointed to any office which has been created, or for which the compensation has been increased by the legislative assembly during that term."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hardmeyer.

DELEGATE HARDMEYER: Mr. President.

This proposal had a reasonably-good hearing the other day and it was amended several times, especially the language that was eliminated — "and any of its political subdivisions" — and then they substituted therein "county and city officials." But there are now additional amendments to be offered, and without speaking any further on this particular Proposal, I would yield to Delegate Haugen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President. I have an amendment at the desk, and it has been distributed this morning to the desks of all of the members.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-38:

Delete lines 14 through 21, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 7. While serving in the legislative assembly no member may hold any full time elective state or political subdivision office nor hold any full time appointive state office established by this constitution or designated by law. During the term of office for which he was elected, no legislator shall be appointed to any office which has been created, or for which the compensation has been increased, by the legislative assembly during that term."

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

May I have a second to the proposal?

DELEGATE BAKER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: When this was discussed previously, I was rather unhappy with what I considered to be severe limitations on the restriction of the citizens to hold — minor state and subdivision officials to serve in the Legislature. The proposal that I have leaves the last sentence of the Committee Proposal as it was, but it makes a considerable change in the definition of who may serve in the Legislative Assembly. It provides, briefly, that any full-time elected state or political subdivision — a person who holds a full-time elective political subdivision office shall not be eligible to serve during the time of his holding the office; and then it makes that same provision in regard to the appointive state officers established by the Constitution as designated by law, and I was very disturbed about that particular provision in the original bill, because we have so many, many committees — advisory committees, committees dealing with regulations of professions and so forth — who would be kept from serving under that provision.

Under my proposal, the same time — the same full-time provision would apply. They could serve in the Legislature, unless they were a full-time appointive official of the State.

The question was asked, "What is the meaning of 'full-time'?" There is no real legal definition. I talked to our — one of our counsel, who has worked with me in drawing this up, and he tells me that this is a clearly-understandable term. We would have no problem in having it defined, if it ever came to a court test, and he agrees with me that it means the usual, normal working time of an individual who is affected by the Proposal. I do think that this proposal is a very definite improvement over the original Committee Proposal, and I would appreciate support.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair recognizes Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Yes. I'd just like to direct a question to Mr. Haugen, if he'd yield.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I would like to know what it says. For instance, the county commissioner's office, would that be considered full-time?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: No, I do not believe it would be considered a full-time. This is my own personal opinion. This, of course, would have to be determined, probably by —

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Okay. I have another question.

How many present senators and representatives would this affect? If you have any idea or any other member of the body —

DELEGATE HAUGEN: No, I — I have no — I have no idea. The list that I read to you the other night was an accurate list. A couple of people have challenged me on it; but in each instance I have been able to show them the wording in the original section that they would not have been able to serve in the Legislature during the time that they held the other appointment or office.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Hildebrand.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: I would certainly think that, if I were a city commissioner or a county commissioner or had such a position where I would be working on a per diem basis, I would not consider myself a full-time position, whether it was appointive or elective, and if I had any intentions or ambitions of running for the State Legislature, I would certainly do so, unless someone else were to challenge it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I hope you will give serious consideration to this amendment. I admit I was sleeping at the switch the other night when this was discussed, and it suddenly went by. But we have a real problem in our area finding people who are willing to serve, and if you put too many restrictions on them, it's going to be just that much harder for people in the less-settled areas. Probably in cities you have a surplus in that direction; but we definitely do not. And so I do hope that you will seriously consider this. I think that by emphasizing the "full time elective state or political subdivision office nor . . . full time appointive state office," and so forth, that that clarifies the people. Incidentally, I should never stand up, because I notice anything I stand up for, I lose. Therefore, I now wear dark glasses. I vote incognito. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Is it working?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, this word "full time" bothers me a little bit, too, because if you're going to say the county commissioner isn't full-time — and I do not wish to hurt anybody's feelings here, but we have an attorney in our area — a State's Attorney — who said he can handle two or three counties and was willing to do so. There are several jobs in the smaller counties that it would be kind of questionable whether they're full-time or not. I don't know how you define it; but if you're going to eliminate some county officials, you're going to have to eliminate them all, I feel.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Well, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I think what we've done here is — I thought we made some ground in this area yesterday, but, apparently, I was wrong. We have actually now gone back to the basic Section 35, which is in our Constitution, covering this area, which would allow anyone except those elected county officials basically outlined, and these aren't the ones we're worried about, really. It goes back to — I should say Section 37 of the old Constitution, which says that no judge or clerk of any court, secretary of state, attorney general, register of deeds, sheriff — there, again, we get into the county — so we've actually gone back. We're allowing anybody that wants to get into the race at all, except those few that are outlined in old Section 37.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

I think this is a big improvement over what we approved the other day — at least temporarily — and I rise in support of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. Fellow members of this body:

You may recall that I was one of the dissenting individuals the last time this particular proposal came up. I feel that Delegate Haugen has done an excellent job in working to provide a proposal that we can all support. This proposal, as it states, indicates that any individual may run for the Legislative Assembly, provided — and I would work it in reverse — that he is not holding a full-time elective state or political subdivision office.

At this time, in a private conference with Delegate Haugen, we discussed this, and it was my personal opinion, from my limited knowledge of the political subdivision field of elective officials, that we would possibly have only two county officials which were qualified and one eliminated from running for the Legislative Assembly at this time, and those two particular offices would be the State's Attorney of Burleigh County and the State's Attorney of Grand Forks County. The county commissioners of each and every county and each and every elected official of the county commissioners could run.

Now, as far as I can see, we would have a problem with the county register of deeds. That would be a full-time position. The county judge — as we know, the county judge would also be a full-time position; but when it comes to, for instance, a State's Attorney in any of the other counties, I think some of the individuals had a question there. That job, by determination, is not referred to as a full-time job, as the county commissioner's job is not a full-time job.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

Any further discussion? Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, I think that we should remind ourselves that we did explore this. This is not a prohibition against anybody running for the Legislature. It only says once you are elected, you can be responsible to only one elective body and only to the Legislature; and if then you would like to resign the Legislature, then you are responsible to the county commission or the city commission. You cannot — you shouldn't, it would seem to me, use your status with the voters to keep on building yourself up and keep on holding one office on top of the other. You can serve either the State or the County. I don't think you can serve both. And this is the original — I mean the amended provision takes care of all eventualities. This one, again, has these loopholes, and then you have a decision coming up on every case. I urge the defeat of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? The question — Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: I should like to support the amendment of Delegate Haugen. I think that we are agreed up to this point that the people back home know their neighbors, and I will go along further with that, as far as this amendment, that they know whether they — whether or not they want those people to serve as the State's Attorney and, also, as a legislator. I think we're going to get some excellent candidates out of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Did you have any further — I would move then that —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen, maybe we should ask if there are further amendments.

Are there further amendments to the Proposal?

Now, Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President, I move that Committee Proposal 1-38 be considered properly re-engrossed and be placed upon the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal 1-38 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage, as amended.

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE PETERSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It was seconded by Delegate Peterson.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

I think we better do that over again. Really, it takes two-thirds of the vote to suspend the Rules. I tried to get by with that a little bit ago on the same kind of a vote and you asked for a division and upset it, and I think this is just as important.

I am going to ask that those that are in favor of adopting the motion to suspend the Rules say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. The proposal is before the Convention.

The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-38 as amended.

No further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 83 "aye," 12 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-38 has passed.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: We anticipate considerable discussion on the next two proposals, which are from the Finance Committee. I would appreciate it if they could be laid over — placed —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen, 1-74 and 1-87?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: 87, yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: 74 and 87?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, then will you move that they be placed at the foot of the calendar?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I so move, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves that Committee Proposals No. 1-74 and 1-87 be placed at the foot of the calendar. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion has been seconded by Delegate Erickson. Any discussion?

As many as are — hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. They will be at the foot of the calendar.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: May we be on the twelfth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I would like to move — or I would move that Committee Proposal 1-86 be placed at the bottom of the calendar for the reason that I have some information coming that I hope will be here tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-86 be placed at the foot of the calendar. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE NETHING: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Nothing.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and it will be placed at the foot of the calendar.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President, I move that Committee Proposal 1-89 be moved to the top of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-99 be moved to the top of the calendar.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: 89.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Oh! 1-89.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: 1-89.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You shouldn't be too critical. That's only ten off!

Delegate Omdahl moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-89 be placed at the head of the calendar. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I hate to ask a question, and I hate to be disruptive, but I believe 89 had been amended and it is not on today's calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Hasn't that been up before?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl, you're aware of the parliamentary reason for not moving 1-89 today. We hadn't considered it and the motion to suspend the Rules and deem it properly re-engrossed failed. Therefore, it has to remain in position.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Well, we could suspend the Rules and put it back on the calendar. I move that we suspend the Rules.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: If you must do that, I would mention it failed once today.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Well, Mr. President, I'm game for anything at this time of the day.

I move that we suspend the Rules and move 1-89 to the top of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl moves —

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-89 be deemed properly re-engrossed, that it be placed at the head of the calendar as amended.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye" — I'm sorry. Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, may we be on the eighth order for a moment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe, Delegate Meidinger, I'll have to rule you out of order while we have this on the floor.

Delegate Aubol, do you have a question?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I see that Delegate Omdahl has a proposed amendment to 1-89, and I wonder if the body wouldn't care to hear what he has to offer for the purpose of determining whether or not what he has to offer is going to fit in with the objections to 1-89 as it was originally.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow delegates, I believe we are then spinning our wheels on this last proposal, in that we do not have Committee Proposal 1-89 in the possession of the Convention. It is still with the engrosser. Is that it?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes, that's it.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now we're right back where we were. We do have it now.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: In answer to Mr. Aubol, I think that we might have some language here that might solve the objections, although such language is hard to come by for 1-89. I think that if this motion prevails, we might be able to find the flaws in it, if nothing else, tonight; so somebody else can work on it by tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion to suspend the Rules, deem Committee Proposal 1-89 properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for amendment.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-89 is now before the Convention.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President, I would like to move my amendments to Proposal 1-89, if they may be read from the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Those amendments now are in line with the engrossed bill.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to the engrossed Proposal 1-89:

Delete everything after line 9 of the engrossed Proposal 1-89 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property rights of the owner and the interests of the general public and without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages.

“The legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service by depositing estimated just compensation into court for the owner. The legislative assembly shall provide the procedure and time limit for determination of damages, necessity, and public use in such cases.”

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President and Delegates:

What we — if you who were following along on —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl — excuse me. May we have a second?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

Now you may proceed.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: This proposed amendment follows quite closely to Delegate Thompson’s proposal that we had just a few minutes ago, and what it does is it leaves the first paragraph intact and Delegate Pearce will have to worry about property himself, if he wants to take it out of there. And then, in the second paragraph, we follow the same language until we get to “transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service.” And then, to make it clear that you have a quick take, we put “by depositing estimated just compensation into court for the owner.”

Now, that would apply only to the taking of property for highway purposes, for transportation, communication, and so forth. Then we start a new sentence, saying the Legislative Assembly shall provide the procedure, and so forth, in such cases. So it seems to me that this language might give the Legislative the kind of jurisdiction we want it to have in quick-take situations.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May the Chair ask Delegate Omdahl a question?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: The Chair may.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl, in reading that last paragraph, you said, “The legislative assembly shall”. My copy says “The legislative assembly may”.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Oh! Excuse me. In the second sentence, though, it says, “The legislative assembly shall provide”.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That’s fine. Any further questions? Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: The only comment I can make: It will take a lot more money trying to find out what this means in the Supreme Court than I will serving as a delegate to this Constitutional Convention, and then some years later, when the Supreme Court has decided what it means, people will be complaining that the court made the law.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: In the event that this winds up like all the rest of the conversations on this subject, I’d like the delegates to know that there is another amendment ready at the desk that would retain the language of the present Section 14.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I move an amendment to the amendment.

On the fourth line from the bottom, after the words "just compensation" add the words "for all damages".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire has moved an amendment to the amendment.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Second.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: While you're getting the language in, I just would like to say that I am in concert with the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment to the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment is as follows:

In the second paragraph of the amendment, after the words "just compensation" add the following: "for all damages".

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just one moment here. The motion was seconded — or the amendment was seconded by Delegate O'Toole.

Delegate Baker:

DELEGATE BAKER: I'd like to ask Delegate Longmire a question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Longmire yield?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Reluctantly.

DELEGATE BAKER: I'm wondering if, in thinking of the example you gave the other day of a mission which was having so much trouble finding a new place to build, if this would mean then — this amendment then would mean that the new place to move — the cost in connection with the moving and any other cost than might be justly compensable would have to be determined before there could be any taking. Would that be the effect?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I would think that could be estimated, just as well as the market value of the property, which is the main damage, of course. So I would see no problem. It would be an estimate, and I think at that time, when a property owner has to get out in a hurry and go somewhere else, if they're going to kick them out in a short period of time, they ought to pay something in there to enable them to get away and move somewhere else or buy something else when they do take it. I don't contemplate that that would be too big a problem, because all of it would be an estimate, in any event.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further questions?

The question before the Convention is on the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Longmire.

Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman, I think this is a fairly-good amendment, and I see no reason why all damages should not be estimated and deposited. Likewise, the rest of the amendment seems to be in fine order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment to the amendment.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

We are now on the amendment as offered by Delegate Omdahl, as amended. Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President, one of our stylistic delegates has suggested something that might be worthwhile, and I'd like to amend the amendment myself to insert the word "However" at the beginning of the second paragraph, and making the capital "The" a small "the". "However, the legislative assembly may provide".

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Sinner.
Would you read the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment is as follows:

In the second paragraph of the amendment, first line, delete the capitalized word "The" and insert in lieu thereof the words "However, the".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President. Could you explain what that does or who your stylistic authority is? It sounds wrong to me.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: By inserting the word "However" we make it more clear that the second paragraph is an exception to the general rule established in the first paragraph, and my stylistic authority has worked on our committee with us for about five months, and he's very tough, and his name is Richard Dobson.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Omdahl.

Those in favor will vote "aye," those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

Again, the amendment as offered by Delegate Omdahl to Committee Proposal 1-89 as amended is before the Convention.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President. I would like everybody to take a close look at the first paragraph, and by leaving out one phrase, it reads like this: "Property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the interests of the general public." Now, if it's a necessary public use, you are obviously protecting the interests of the public, aren't you? So I don't see what the sentence means by putting it in. Now, if you're going to take it, you can only take it for a necessary public use. That's the whole point, and that's what you say here. "Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property rights of the owner." Now the rest of the thing is you are protecting it by providing, as we have it amended, that we pay all damages. How else can you protect him? If you're going to take it, there's only one other way to protect him, and that's by not taking it. But we're only talking about the necessary public use in the first place.

Now, if I were to try to draft an amendment, which I haven't done, I would say something like this: "Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property owner by paying him just compensation for all damages."

If I thought that had a ghost of a chance, and I haven't had time to prepare it, I would do so.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there further amendments to Committee Proposal No. 1-89?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as amended and offered by Delegate Omdahl.

Those in favor of adopting will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

I'm afraid the amendments lost.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested. A division will be granted. Again, those in favor will vote "yes" — or "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates there were 58 "ayes," there were 37 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. The amendments to Committee Proposal No. 1-89 have been adopted.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: As I said once before, this is a constitution we're writing and not the church by-laws, and I think, if there's some doubt as to language in the first paragraph, that maybe Delegate Pearce might come up with some language that might be very good for that tomorrow, being that we fixed the second paragraph today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without any further consideration, this proposal will be on the tenth order of business tomorrow.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: May we be on the twelfth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: We've seen a lot of shuffling this afternoon, and I'm going to attempt some more. 1-44 is up next on the calendar, and I do really believe that 1-44 should come immediately after 1-29, and I so move; and I'll explain, if I get a second.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner, you wish to move 1-44 —

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Be placed immediately below 1-29 on the calendar for tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved and seconded that Committee Proposal No. 1-44 be placed immediately below Committee Proposal No. 1-29.

Now, Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President. 1-44 deals in numbering the seats, and you remember we had quite a bit of controversy over that, and I think, if we dispose of 1-29, which is reapportionment, I think we can more easily deal with 1-44.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I doubt that I had you vote on Delegate Hoffner's motion to place this below. Anyway, we'll vote again.

As many as are in favor of placing 1-44 below 1-29, will vote "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and it is placed below 1-29.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, may we be on the eighth order for a moment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Would the members of the Education, Public Resources and Public Lands Committee please assemble in G-1 at 8:45 tomorrow morning for the purpose of having your pictures taken?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the eighth order of business — continue on the eighth order of business for announcements.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: The Public Information Committee met and agreed to hold its full-scale session for post-convention planning on Thursday morning at a time and place to be designated, which is just an advance warning for the hope that all of you can stay over, just in case we finish tomorrow night.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further announcements? The desk has an announcement.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The photographer will be in the room until 6:30 tonight and will be there at 8:00 A.M. tomorrow.

A reminder that the second Scribes and Scriveners party is being held tonight at the Municipal Country Club, which is the same location as before. The party is scheduled to start at 7:00 P.M., or as soon after adjournment as possible. Dancing will commence at 8:30, and the buffet table will be out at 10:00, and the public can be admitted at the door.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further announcements at the desk? Are there further announcements from Committee Chairmen?

The Chair will recognize Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I move that the absent members be excused.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that the absent delegates be excused. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The absent members are excused — I mean the absent delegates are excused.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: No further announcements from the desk? The desk is clear.

I now move that we stand adjourned until 9:00 A.M., February 2nd.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that we do now adjourn until 9:00 A.M. on February 2. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten. As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. We will be adjourned until tomorrow morning at 9:00.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 6:41 P.M., Tuesday, February 1, 1972, until 9:00 A.M., Wednesday, February 2, 1972.)

VOLUME XXIII

(February 2, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The twenty-third day of the Plenary Session commenced at 9:06 A.M., Wednesday, February 2, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

Our Chaplain for this morning is The Reverend Arnold Spain, Pastor, the Church of St. Anne, Bismarck.

REV. ARNOLD SPAIN: Father, it is a great age to be alive! We've reached deep into the heart of the earth and solved many of her problems.

We're thrusting our creativity right into the mysteries of outer space.

The world — the whole world — is moving ahead, with wonder, sensitivity and power.

Thank you for making man such a marvel.

Teach us to live together in respect and love for each other, and to put our power and skill at the service of men everywhere. Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be on the third order — roll call. The Clerk will open the key. You will record your presence.

Has every delegate recorded his presence? The key is closed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President. Mr. President, I don't believe your light was lit. Did you intend to make yourself present? (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do I vote "aye" or do I just say that I'm here? (Laughter)

Roll call discloses 95 present, three absent. A quorum is declared.

We'll be on the fourth order of business — Approval of the Journal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has carefully examined the Journal of the 31st day of January, 1972, and recommends that the same be corrected as follows:

On page 358, in line 16, following the word "proposal" delete the balance of the line, and insert in lieu thereof the word "lost".

And delete lines 17 and 18.

On page 360, following line 6, add the following: "The motion prevailed."

And when so corrected, recommends the same be approved.

Delegate Simonson, Chairman.

Delegate Paulson moved the same be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Report of the Committee on Revision and Correction. Is there any discussion? Hearing none, all in favor say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The Report of the Committee is adopted.

We'll be on the eighth order of business — Announcements.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Sanstead has the ninth grade of Jim Hill Junior High of Minot, North Dakota, and their teachers, Mr. Johnston and Mr. Anderson, in the gallery.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the students from Minot visiting with us this morning — will you please rise and be recognized by the Convention?

We want to welcome you to this morning's session. We hope you'll enjoy it. We hope that this will only tend to increase your interest in government and that you, too, will be privileged to serve in this same beautiful assembly room at sometime in the future.

We'll be on the tenth order of business.

First for consideration, Committee Proposal No. 1-99 — 1-99.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-99, introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 33 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new section 8 of Article XVI of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, both of which pertain to the recall of certain elected officials.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Article 33 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section 8 of Article XVI of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE XVI

"Section 8. Recall. Any elected non-judicial officer of this state, or of any county or any legislative or commissioner district shall be subject to recall upon petition of electors equal in number to twenty-five percent of those who voted at the preceding general election for the office of governor in the state, county or district in which such officer is to be recalled.

"The petition shall be filed with the officer with whom a petition for nomination to the office in question is filed, which officer shall call a special election if he finds the petition numerically sufficient. No elector may remove his name from a recall petition.

"The name of the officer to be recalled shall be placed on the ballot unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. Other candidates for such office may be nominated in a manner provided by law. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term once the election results have been officially declared. No officer shall be subject twice to recall during the term for which he was elected."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any discussion? The question, Committee Proposal 1-99.

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. Chairman. This section from the Legislative Functions Committee has been assigned to me, and this is the last section of the powers reserved to the people. If you will note, we repealed Article 33 of the amendments to our old Constitution, and we created Section 8 of Article XVI as follows:

You will notice the similarity between the sections — between the section and Article 33 are apparent, but we make no reference to congressional offices and we have removed the judicial officers from recall. We have also lowered the required amount of signatures on petition from 30 percent to 25 percent of the votes cast for the governor in the last preceding election of the State, county or district in which such officer is to be recalled. The balance of the section is self-explanatory and about the same as in the present document. But in our Committee, about the only two things that we debated were the amount of signatures required for the petition, which was 30 percent, and we felt that 30 percent was a little high. We dropped it to 25 percent. And the sticky one was the judicial portion of it.

As it now reads, "non-judicial." The majority group in our Committee felt that the judicial offices should be handled the same as any other elected office — officer of the district or county in which the petition is to be filed. At one meeting, we had the word "non" in it, and the next meeting we would take the word "non" out of it, and apparently, when it got here in our Plenary Session, it got back in again. But there is an amendment before the desk.

But before I go to the amendment, I would say, too, that there was some discussion in our Committee about possibly deleting the entire recall section. But until we get to that, I'll have the Clerk read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-99:

On page 1, line 13, delete the letters "n-o-n" and renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do I have a second to the amendment?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

As I mentioned, we didn't see any reason why this should be deleted from the recall section. I'm sure that all of our judges that are elected aren't perfect, like any other elective officer, and we're bound to get an oddball in any office, and one should be treated as equally as the other. We do know of counties that have judges that should be recalled or could be recalled; but if we leave the word "non" in this, of course they're on their own and we can't touch them. But I, myself, have been an elective officer for 32 years and subject to recall, and I don't see any reason why a judge shouldn't be in the same category as I am or anybody else. So, therefore, like I said before, the rest of the section reads pretty much alike. If an officer is recalled, of course if he gets 25 percent of the signatures on the petition — of the people that voted for governor in the last election — his name can be put on the ballot, regardless, plus the nominee to run against him; so he does have an equal chance to win his spot back if the recall does not go through. He cannot be recalled a second time at any time while he's been in office.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Daniels.

DELEGATE DANIELS: Mr. Chairman. As I read this, with taking "n-o-n" off, it just says "Any elected judicial officer". Doesn't this sort of limit it to the judicial then?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Berg, will you yield to a question?

DELEGATE BERG: I'll yield. What is the question?

DELEGATE DANIELS: Well, when you eliminate this "n-o-n" — "non" — don't you just limit this recall to judicial officers then?

DELEGATE BERG: It wasn't meant that way. It was meant that all elected officers were to be subject to recall. We probably — oh, the amendment may be — an error has been made. Maybe the term "non-judicial" should have been there, and I think I would make that as an amendment now, if I may, Mr. President. Instead of "non", I would amend the "non" to "non-judicial." "All elected officers" — and then add "s" on the word "officer" — make that "s" to clarify it.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Then, on line —

DELEGATE BERG: On line 13.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delete the word "non-judicial" and then add —

DELEGATE BERG: "s". Would that be right? Well, leave off the "s" then. That would be right. I move for this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-99 will read:

On page 1, line 13, delete the word "non-judicial".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, Delegate Stanton, do you yield to this change in the amendment?

DELEGATE STANTON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention now is the amendment to Committee Proposal 1-99. The Chair will recognize Delegate Kwako.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Thank you, Mr. President.

I, too, would like to second this amendment that Delegate Berg has proposed this morning, and to not belabor the Assembly, I do not want to go any further.

Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

The recall is a political weapon to be used against elected officials. We have already provided for means of removing office holders for incompetence, continuing disability, and the other causes that could exist for removal. Recall is a political ballgame in which you don't need any reasons; all you do is go out and get enough signatures and you can recall him just because he might have the wrong nationality or he might have long hair.

I'm opposed to recall generally, and I have an amendment at the desk later on to deal with this. But, if we are going to have recall, it seems to me that we ought to have enough respect for the courts that we don't subject judges to political threats through the recall process. I don't think that judges should be placed in situations where they feel they should compromise their primary devotion to the law and the Constitution. I think they should be able to make decisions that may be unpopular, and I don't believe that we ought to subject our judges to the political actions of recall. Therefore, I hope the Convention votes down the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I would like to strongly support the statement of Delegate Omdahl. A judge, elected on a non-party basis, is defenseless in a recall situation. It's difficult enough to campaign for judge as it is. I think that there are plenty of remedies to remove a judge who is incompetent. I can easily conceive of some large class action of some kind in which the judge makes a decision which is unpopular with a group who can initiate a recall, and in his defenseless position he might well be recalled, and I had thought, frankly, that in our Committee we still had "non-judicial" in there. I don't know how it was gotten out; but I would support the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE PIERCE: Excuse me. I want "non-judicial" in there. I do not support the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: This particular proposal — the subject of recall — is another one of the areas that the Legislative Functions Committee was divided on, and the confusion that reigns there in this amendment and whether or not we should vote for it or not, I think adds to the reason that, at the beginning, this Committee felt that the people should have recourse in the action of recall to do just that — certain elected officials. But then we started to find ways of rewording it. It was not really workable the way it was. It had been used little or not at all in the last 83 years and was not workable; so we tried to rework it, rewrite it, so it would be plain and simple. All we accomplished, really, was reducing the number of signatures —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre, I believe you're off the amendment. The question before the Convention right now is on the amendment. I believe you're talking on the main Proposal, aren't you?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Perhaps I am, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe you are.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Excuse me.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Berg.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: All right, sir. In that case, I would like to vote down the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I would like to direct a question to the Committee. It would have some relevance to the amendment; particularly why the language "officer" is used throughout, rather than "official".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke, I believe that, too, is off the amendment.

The question is on — before the Convention at the moment is the adopting of the amendment as offered by Delegate Berg; that is to strike the word — after "any elected" strike the word "non-judicial". I believe that's right, isn't it? So is there any further discussion on this amendment? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I would also like to urge the delegates to defeat the amendment. At first in the Committee, I felt if you elect someone, we ought to be able to recall him; but I do think there's a distinction in the case of judges.

A fairly-reasonable case can be made for not electing judges. We do not elect our U. S. Supreme Court judges, and I'm sure you would all agree that, on some of their decisions, you could have quite a recall movement, and I do think that the judicial branch should be free from the political arena, and I would hope that you would all reject the amendment and exempt the judiciary from recall.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I think this is one proposal where all of the attorneys and everybody else can agree on. We think we have very adequate remedies in the judicial article for removing judges, and it is also, of course, in the impeachment section and in another section of the Constitution. I agree with the other delegates who have strongly opposed or who do strongly oppose this amendment by including judges in the recall system.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Berg. Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President. When the article was adopted in 1919 to have the recall, the judicial officers were included, the same as all other elected officers, and in that long period of time, there has never been a — to the best of my knowledge, any attempt to recall any judicial officer, which speaks well for the conduct of our judicial system. However, I doubt the wisdom of taking it out. The recall has been seldom used against any other officer. We had one real barn-burner of a campaign in 1921, when former Governor Frazier was recalled upon the allegation of a lot of misconduct in office, and so forth. But when the books were opened and a new governor was elected, they couldn't find anything, and the next year, 1922, we elected him to the United States Senate and kept him there until 1940. And so I can't hardly see the wisdom of striking this out and leaving elected judicial officers immune to this recourse, if it ever becomes necessary.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Berg.

Those in favor —

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Berg?

DELEGATE BERG: Yes, please.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: We took this recall section right out of Article 33, and it was mentioned to me just a minute ago about the "officer" instead of official. But our original Article 33 does use the word "officer." So it goes pretty much like it had been approved before in our old Constitution.

I'd like to mention this, too: That in our Committee there was discussion, like I said, about leaving the entire section out —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, Mr. Berg — Delegate Berg, I believe you're off the amendment.

DELEGATE BERG: All right. I'll sit down.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We're having a lot of trouble here this morning keeping on the subject before the Convention.

Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that what Mr. Cart just said emphasizes the political nature of the recall. It has been used mainly only once in North Dakota's history, and that was for political recall of a man who then was turned around and reelected, and the judges should not be subject to this kind of political pressure. We need an independent judiciary, not subject to the type of political pressure which the recall brought upon Governor Frazier in 1920, and then turned around and elected him. Judges should not be subject to this, it seems to me; and, consequently, I urge the defeat of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Berg.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "no."

The "nays" have it and the amendment lost.

We're back on the Committee Proposal 1-99.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I think the desk has an amendment for 1-99. I would move that at this time.

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will you read the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal No. 1-99:

On page 2 — on line 2 of page 1, delete the semicolon and insert a comma, and delete the remainder of the line.

Delete all of lines 3 and 4 and insert in lieu thereof the words "which pertains to the recall of certain".

Delete all of lines 19 through 25.

On page 2, delete all of lines 1 through 6.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendment has been seconded by Delegate Sinner.

Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President. At our last meeting before this Proposal was introduced, the Committee voted on the question of recall and, if I remember correctly, by a narrow margin a majority felt that recall ought to be deleted from the Constitution; however, we felt it a responsibility on the Committee to bring recall back to the body and then bring the question before you. My amendment proposes to delete any reference to recall in the Constitution. My reasons are that it is — it is political, and you conduct recall for political reasons. We have plenty of other provisions in the Constitution to impeach executive and judicial officers and to remove them for other causes; and so recall is only a political vehicle, and it seems to me that maybe our political system has matured to the point in the 1970's and 1980's so that we can confine our political activities to the election years; and if we elect someone who is corrupt or fails in other legal ways to fulfill the obligations of the office, that we use the other means for removal. And so I — I urge the support of this amendment. I don't think that recall is necessary

I might add that most states don't have recall, and yet I've never heard of any of the states having to dissolve their government and revert to territorial status.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President. Recall is an idea which came along in the first two decades of this century as part of the progressive movement. About 'twenty states have it, I believe, and most of those that do have it put it in their constitutions early in this century. In a way, and to borrow a phrase, it is now an idea whose time has gone. It's been used in North Dakota mostly as a political instrument. The first attempt at a recall after this was put in the Constitution was directed at an Emmons County Commissioner. However, the Supreme Court said present Article 33 does not provide for recall of county commissioners; so that petition was void. But we are now allowing the recall of county commissioners.

Second, as has been mentioned, the recall against Governor Frazier, Attorney General Lemke and Agricultural Commissioner Hagen — they were all recalled. Governor Frazier was elected to the U. S. Senate the next year; William Lemke was elected to Congress ten years later and Commissioner Hagen, in 1963, was elected to the very office from which he had been recalled.

Then, in 1932, we had a couple more recalls. State Senator Fred Aandahl was recalled. He was elected Governor later and State Senator E. W. Jones was recalled; a couple years later, his opponent apologized to him for the whole thing.

Now, getting to the amendment: There is more justification for having recall in a constitution now than there was fifty years ago, because at that time just about everybody had a two-year term. We're going to longer terms now — four years and six years; so that is a justification, I think, for having recall in the Constitution. Also, although I'm not particularly excited about the concept of recall, I favor retaining it. I think the people want it in there. So I oppose the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I think we should remember the reasons and the arguments that we gave for voting down the previous amendment with the word "judicial officials" in there, because I think this situation pertains to all of our elected officials. There's plenty of recourse to the people of this State to take care of the wrong type of an official that's in office, for any number of reasons, and I hope that you would support the amendment for repeal of the recall. It is inoperative. It gives — it does not take away the people's right to deal with the type of an official that should not be in office. There's plenty of recourse in our present system for impeachment in other areas to take care of this. I urge you to defeat the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. I disagree with the speakers who say we do not need recall. Perhaps it hasn't been used very often, but we are giving all the officials longer terms. We have given most of them — and we may give the legislators longer terms, and I'd like to know what other recourse there is. They're all talking about "recourse." You haven't any recourse for four years, unless you have a real fraud, or something. What if it is a political election? So is an election. We aren't cutting them out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Berg, did you have any further comment? I shut you off a little bit ago, and I'm sorry for that. But we're back on the main — on this motion now.

DELEGATE BERG: Thank you, Mr. President.

Well, in our Committee, the majority, at our last vote on it, was twelve to retain it, four opposed, and four were absent. So that was a pretty good indication from the studies that we have made on recall that we should still give these people the power of a recall section, and by deleting it, we're going to take this additional power away from our people.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, as has been already explained, the use of recall in the times it's been used has been sheer political tomfoolery almost, where people, for political reasons, have tried to be an irritant to a man who was elected. And in the cases that have been mentioned, the people actually went on to greater things and proved themselves to be outstanding public servants.

The reason that I think we should get this out of the Constitution is that if some political hack wants to irritate and embarrass an elected official, all he has to do is start a recall proceeding and any manner of gossip or slander can be used to get signatures, and it's no wonder that people get tired and lose faith in their governmental process, when you have this kind of opportunity for political hacks to embarrass elected persons.

I suppose that I, as a Democrat, should want to keep this, so I could irritate the majority party in the Legislature. But I think that's exactly the point. We need to elect people and then let them serve and not have this sort of garbage, which is what I think it is, in the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President. Since we are all reversing our judicial positions this morning, and since Delegate Omdahl — despite the fact that Delegate Omdahl says that recall might be used against people whose hair is too long, I urge you to defeat the amendment. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the — Delegate Peters.

DELEGATE PETERS: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I think the use of recall is another right that the people should have. Taking it out of the Constitution is just another way of taking rights away from the people. The fact that it has been used very little is proof that it has been serving the purpose. It's probably kept some of our officials in line, and it probably has served the people a little better, because the recall is there to remove them if they don't serve as they should.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President. I favor retaining the recall, too. I don't think this is just a tool of political hacks. Remember, you have to go out and get 25 percent of the signatures, and I doubt very much that they are all political hacks.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Omdahl.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

The "nays" have it and the amendment lost.

We are back on Committee Proposal 1-99. The question.

The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal 1-99. No further discussion?

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote. Has every delegate voted?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Binek votes "aye."

DELEGATE BILLEY: Billey votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have people in the balcony? Do we have —

DELEGATE AAS: "Aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rosendahl?

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: "Aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Binek?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: He voted "aye."

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 75 "ayes;" 19 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting.

Committee Proposal No. 1-99 has passed.

Next for consideration —

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: At this time I move that Committee Proposal No. 1-100 be moved to the head of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet moves that Committee Proposal 1-100 be moved to the head of the calendar, and we have a second from Delegate Hendrickson.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

Next for consideration is Committee Proposal No. 1-100.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: What we have under consideration here is only Section (b) —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Vogel, we'll read this section, first.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-100, introduced by Committee on Executive Functions:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that two new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, both of which pertain to the executive branch of government, be created.

"SECTION 1.) Two new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota are hereby created to read as follows:

"Section 1. Executive Organization.

"(a) The legislative assembly shall allocate the executive powers among not more than fifteen principal state departments which shall be organized along broad functional lines. The head of each department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided by this constitution or by statute. The legislative assembly shall prescribe the duties for each executive department and shall also provide for the periodic reorganization of such department.

"(b) The governor may, for more effective administration, make changes in the allocation of functions, powers, and duties among and within the executive departments, other than those departments headed by constitutionally elective officers. When these changes affect existing laws, the changes shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted on the same day to both houses of the legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall have thirty session days in which to disapprove the orders. If they are not disapproved by a majority of the elected members of either house, they shall have the force of law when filed with the secretary of state unless a later date is provided in the order.

"Section 2. State Planning Council.

"The chief executive officers of the principal state departments shall constitute the state planning council. The governor shall be chairman of the council and the lieutenant governor shall be the vice chairman. The council shall prepare a comprehensive state plan based on the comprehensive plan for each department."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman, this Proposal came back to Committee largely to straighten out the language concerning the length of time that the Legislature would have to act in Section (b). At the time this Proposal was drafted, we had no way of knowing when the Legislature would be in session, so a problem arose there. This Section (b) provides for the continuing reorganization within the executive area to keep the structure of government — of the executive department up to date after it has been reorganized by the Legislature, which has the primary responsibility for doing this reorganization.

This section then would allow the governor, within a very narrow area that is for more effective administration, to make changes in the allocation of functions, powers and duties among and within the executive departments, except for those departments which are headed by constitutionally-elected officers. These proposals of the governor would go into effect, if they were not disapproved by one or the other house of the Legislature. The Legislature is given thirty — both of the proposals must be submitted to the Legislature while it is in session. The governor could not make these rearrangements when the governor — when the Legislature is not in session, and the Legislature would have thirty session days in which to act on the governor's proposal. If one or the other house does not disapprove of the governor's rearrangement within and among the various executive departments, his proposal would then go into effect and have the force of law when filed with the Secretary of State, unless some other date is contained within the proposals themselves.

We hope that we have straightened out the language so that this idea, which is a new one to North Dakota, which was recommended as far back as the LRC Commission of 1963. If there are any questions, I'd be glad to answer them. I urge its adoption.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

With all due respect to the semanticist who rearranged the language, I have the same objection that I had before; that we are permitting, by this language, a governor to change the law and we are evolving a new way of enacting law, not requiring the approval of the Legislature, but simply if they fail to disapprove it.

In the printed Proposal, it says, "If this executive order contravenes law" — meaning if it violated law — this has been changed to say "when these changes affect existing laws." That's even vaguer, but it gets away from contravention, of course. You have given the Legislature a little longer time to act negatively. You still have, then, an executive order which, in my opinion, would affect or change or contravene or violate some existing statute passed by the Legislature to go into effect and have the force of law simply because the Legislature hasn't mustered enough energy to disapprove it. I have no idea what these orders might be. They might be very fine. They might be excellent. But they could be bad, too. But I simply don't think that's a proper way to enact a law. We have the Legislature for that purpose. That's why I oppose it.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I agree with the remarks of Delegate Pearce in that the rearrangement of the language and the varying of the words "executive order" down to the bottom, instead of the first line, don't change this proposition a bit, and I renew my previous plea to this body to approach this in the proper fashion. If you want to have an executive order, provide for the executive order in the governor's powers and provide that the Legislature shall write the rules for the exercise of that executive order. In that way, it could be used properly. In this way, it is simply a further complication that can do nothing but — can make nothing but trouble.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

I urge the adoption of the Committee Proposal on this. It is not an unknown and untried method that has been suggested, and I think all of you who received the Executive Chart of State Government have some idea of what kind of shape the state government is in today. There are some other measures we have adopted which will help straighten that out, and this simply is another one. Congress has adopted a provision like this. I believe it was at least some 20 years ago. And they allow the President to reorganize the agencies in the executive branch, and a number of states have done so recently. It's currently under consideration in Montana and in South Dakota, and it's simply a very limited way of allowing the governor to make law regarding the reorganization of the offices within the executive branch, and I can see nothing harmful about it. It cannot go into effect until the Legislature has had a chance to consider it. If either house of the Legislature thinks it's a bad move, they simply have to pass a resolution vetoing it, so to speak, and I think, as a practical matter, if you will consider all the political considerations that go into getting a reorganization bill through the Legislature, you simply knock your head against the wall trying to get it passed; but there are a lot of representatives who would allow the governor to reorganize the executive branch of the government in some small way, but they simply cannot affirmatively vote for it on the floor because it's bad political business, so to speak. This is simply a way of allowing good changes in executive structure to take place and make them take place. I think we've suffered in the past from lack of reorganization. I don't think there's any harm in allowing the governor to make these changes in the departments when they're agreeable to the department heads and agreeable to the Legislature. It simply allows the governor one extra chance and it doesn't allow him to make these changes without consideration by the Legislature. I hope you would support the Proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates, I do share Delegate Pearce's thoughts to a small degree in this particular situation. I'm wondering if one of the Committee members could answer a question.

Did they consider including the word "disapprove" as well — or "approve" as well as "disapprove" in their new wording; and if they did, what reason did they have then for not including the word "approve"?

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Yes, we had — that was mentioned on the floor the other day when this was under consideration. But if we're going to require approval by both houses of the Legislature, why in the world do we need the section in the first place? This is the process we go through when we pass a law. The governor has always had the opportunity to have someone submit a bill to the Legislature on reorganization, and there have been many of them, and they have been beaten down consistently. The minority party can always find a few other people to go with it — or the party in opposition to the governor can accuse the governor of having political motivations, and it suffers from sabotage within the departments, and they can find more ways to kill it. There are more ways to kill a bill in the Legislature on reorganization than any other known method of killing a bill; but if we're going to have the word "approval" in there, we might as well delete the section from the Constitution, because this is, in effect, requiring the affirmative action by the Legislature, and this is the same thing you do to pass a law.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I would like to ask two questions of members of the Committee. 1-100 provides for 15 principal state departments. 1-15, the Education Committee's Report, in effect sets up one of these departments. My first question, then, is: Are we to have 14 or 16? And my second question is: The governor may, by executive order, provide for reorganization of the executive departments other than constitutionally-elected officers. Does this mean that the governor may, by executive order, change the board set-up under 1-15?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can someone answer Delegate Burke's question? Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

With the type of changes that are under consideration here, the governor could not change any constitutional provision, of course, and the Legislature can't change it either, unless the Constitution gives them this permission. But insofar as the number of departments goes, the Education Department would be considered the principal state department as such. So 15 is the limit, regardless of the others established. I would think that's subject to some interpretation, I'm sure, or fact-finding by the Legislature as to what constitutes a "principal department."

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I was initially opposed to this section because it did offend my concept of how laws should be passed and separation of powers. But after attending one of the Committee hearings on the matter and concerning the matter, I think I think it's a novel approach, but I think it is one way of getting at the inertia of bureaucracy. It's extremely difficult for a legislature to deal with that problem. The chief executive is there, and even the chief executive in the past has been stymied in attempts to reorganize the various departments.

Now, the Legislature, in defining a department, can be very specific and outline the duties of that department and the function, and if it does this by law, then the governor can't change that, except to take the initiative, present a proposed change to the Legislature by executive order, and if either house rejects that — it will have to get through both houses without a rejection — only then will it become law. And I think that it's a new approach and I think that it will give the initiative — impetus immediately when the governor suggests a change, and it will take a positive action by the Legislature, through a rejection, to override it. It's much like a veto by either house of the Assembly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine, did you wish the floor?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, I was trying to get a question answered, and I think I have it, but I'll ask it.

As I understand the section that is now proposed, the change continuing into effect until after the Legislature meets, and is either silent or — yeah — and the Legislature is silent. Is that correct?

DELEGATE VOGEL: That's correct, Mr. Devine. This allows the governor to take the initiative in proposing changes in the Executive Department, which is primarily a function of the Executive. It allows him to propose the changes. At the present time there is no way in which the governor can propose changes to the Legislature, other than through the normal way of having bills introduced and going through the normal process. This would allow him to cut through some of this, and in a very narrow field, which is limited to the allocation of functions, powers and duties among and within the executive departments, he could propose changes which would go into effect only if they are not disapproved by one or the other house.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

Delegate Kelsch mentioned the veto powers by the Legislature. This brings up an interesting point.

Now the governor may veto the legislative acts. Now we're going to turn around and let the Legislature veto the governor's acts. And I think this is exactly like hitching a horse backwards on the buggy, which doesn't work very well, and the governor is elected under the laws and the Constitution. He may get a little frustrated someday because he can't kick out the Attorney General, whom he doesn't like; but you've been frustrated in this body, too — I assume most of us have — and I think that this is not only a novel, but not a very wise, approach. I oppose the measure.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President and Delegates:

I think, if we take a look at the concept of the bill in 1-100, I think that we'll find that Section (b) — or paragraph (b) is not really necessary. We have created a new form of government. No longer will the elective insurance commissioner be the one that prevents reform. If the appointed insurance commissioner is against any changes within his department, the governor can simply make sure that the appointed insurance commissioner is no longer appointed. And so you're dealing with a different type of government. You don't add anything to the legislative process. Either house can vote against the executive order and it fails. The same is true if it should have to pass a law to make the changes.

In the first section, we provided the Legislative Assembly shall prescribe the duties of these new departments, and I'm sure that, as we go through this thing and establish this new type of government, that the built-in bureaucracy that exists with your 14 elective offices vanishes. And so these executive office changes are for some date in the far-too-distant future, and not really necessary, and I wish Mrs. Vogel, or someone, would address themselves to that question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: I think that the Legislative Assembly is still given the duty of assigning the function and the power and the duties among and within this department, so that the governor, even with the consent of his appointed department heads, could not make those changes without the consent of the Legislature.

I might say, again, that this approach has been adopted by an increasing number of states. The last one was Illinois. Alaska was one of the early ones to do it. And several other states have done it one way or another in the last dozen years. Others have it under consideration, because the proliferation of agencies and committees and commissions has to be controlled in some fashion.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Having had a considerable amount of experience in the executive branch of government, I feel that I should comment to the extent of Delegate Paulson's remarks about the appointed officials. I can say from experience that appointed officials develop empires and bureaucracies that are as independent as the elective officials, and I think that, with this kind of authority, even though it's somewhat anemic, as proposed by the Committee — but even with this authority, the governor will have a greater opportunity to get these appointed officials working in closer coordination.

Many of you are probably aware of the introduction session after session of the proposal to consolidate the natural resources agencies of the State, and these are mostly appointed officials, and even though the governor supported such a proposal, by various and sundry means which we will not discuss on the floor, these appointed officials managed to get such proposals killed in the Legislature because they made the Legislature a playground. I think that even though this is somewhat weaker than we have on the national level and in the states that now provide for executive initiative and reorganization, that the proposal of the Committee is certainly a good one.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I yield to Delegate Burke.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President: Fellow Delegates:

On this one rare occasion I find my philosophy in harmony with Delegate Pearce's, and what bothers me about this repeal of a law by the governor, in effect, is we lawyers, who practice our profession pursuant to the Constitution and the laws of the State of North Dakota, and the red volumes you see over there which are the statutes, well, when the law is changed, we have annotations under that law which says that it was repealed by the Legislature or changed by the Legislature. And what bothers me — as a lawyer, am I to be able to go on the fact that under this law, when the governor, in fact, repeals it, it is repealed by executive order? That sort of bothers me as a practicing lawyer, and I would like to have someone on the Committee answer that question.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NETHING: As a practicing lawyer, I would like to speak to the issue. It doesn't particularly bother me at all, because, as you read line 2, you'll find that the only particular statutes involved would be the allocation of functions, powers and duties among and within the executive departments. That's the only statutes that are involved at all. And then you will note that, if it affects existing law, then it has to go to the Legislature for action. So I don't think it's anything that, as a practicing lawyer, we have to worry about at all. This involves the organization of executive departments; and other than those, of course, that are constitutionally provided — and I think the measure is — just what it merely boils down to is that you want to have a strong executive and give him the tools to work with. The Committee felt that we did.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Jim Hougen, please.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I visited the Executive Functions Committee and I was opposed to this section being in 1-100. I felt that this was amply taken care of in the powers and duties of the executive, or the governor, underneath 1-27.

I want to say, though, that I have changed my mind. The governor still does have the opportunity and right under 1-27 to make suggestions to the State Legislature. But I do think this section will give the executive department one more opportunity to go along and make the changes that they feel are necessary, and you aren't going to contravene law this way, because the Legislature will have the opportunity and can say "no." I think it's a tool that could be well-used by the executive department, and I hope that the Convention will follow the wishes of the Committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill, did you wish to comment?

DELEGATE HILL: Yes, I wished to, in regard to Delegate Burke's question. And another change that we made in Committee the last time is to provide that it shall not be effective until filed with the Secretary of State, and this will allow the Secretary of State to annotate these changes in the Code, the same as they do other statutes now, and this is the way it's handled in the United States

Code Annotated. But these changes that are made by the governor, I, myself, was concerned about how would we find out what the changes are when we look at our Code? How would we rely on it? But now that they're filed by the Secretary of State, they would be handled the same as any other change by the Legislature. It is a method of changing the law and it is provided for in the Constitution, the same as provided for by the Legislature, and it would be so shown in the Code.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President. I certainly urge the adoption of this proposal. To allay any fears, I would borrow from the Scriptures, as Omdahl is inclined to do, and from Luke, and say, "Nothing is covered up that will not be revealed, or hidden that will not be known."

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President, I yield to Delegate Baker.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I don't think we can afford to take the time to go over this matter again. We're plowing the same ground again and again here, and in order to bring it to a head, I have submitted at the desk an amendment which, I think, is being typed now, and as soon as it's ready, I would like to propose that amendment, and then we can vote on it and get this out of the way.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker offers the following amendment:

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Proposal 1-100:

On page 1 of the engrossed Proposal, delete lines 15 through 25, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The governor shall have authority to reorganize executive departments by executive order under procedures prescribed by law."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: There's a very simple amendment. It would put into this Proposal another power of the governor, which, I presume, could be re-arranged, if it were adopted, by Style and Drafting elsewhere, and it would provide for the rules and regulations of the exercise of the power applying only to the reorganization of executive departments, those rules and regulations to be passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor, as all other laws are made. I hope that we won't take too much time to decide this. It seems a clear issue to me.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Baker.

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Baker.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "no."

The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

DELEGATE BAKER: Division, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested. That is a sufficient number. The division will be granted.

The question, again, is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Baker.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The key will be opened. You will record your vote. The Clerk will open the key.

Have the delegates recorded their preference?

DELEGATE FRITZELL: "No."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fritzell votes "no."

DELEGATE POULSON: "No."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would you push Poulson's button "no?"

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed. The vote indicates 33 "ayes," 61 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. The amendment has failed.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

I don't want you to think for a minute that we haven't thought this over in committee a lot. I counted them up, and this is our eighth revision which we have brought to you at this time.

Now, really, I think you can realize the division here. The governor is more interested in reorganizing the executive department than any one man. At least if he isn't, he should not be governor.

Now, the governor has to have each of his appointments to any office in the executive branch approved by the Senate. If they veto it, he doesn't get the appointment and they don't have to really specify the fact that the fellow is not competent, or anything else; if they don't like him, they can just veto him. Now, in this we tried to come up with something that would still keep the power in the governor, who is interested in this, and, at the same time, give the Legislature every opportunity to reject a proposal, if they didn't believe it was in the best interests of good government for the State of North Dakota. The consequence was we gave either house — not just the Senate — but either house the right to veto this. Now, this may be a new concept, but there certainly doesn't seem to be anything difficult or complicated about it. But one thing it does require is that they focus on the issue. They can't get tied down in other things for thirty days and let the law go by default. They have to focus on it and come up with the answer. Either it's good government and they can let it go through and approve it, or it isn't good government and they would have to reject it. But at least they have to focus on it.

Now, I think we've gone all around the horn. We've searched in other books and we've come up with one thing: For a good executive department, concerned reorganization and responsiveness and responsibility, this is almost the way it has to be. On the other hand, if our government's to be completely organized within the legislative branch, then of course you can expect that the executive branch will never live up to its full potential.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes. I would like to ask a question of one of the Committee, please.

This provision states that the governor can make changes in the allocation of functions, powers, et cetera, within the executive departments, except those which are headed by constitutionally-elected officers. We intend, hopefully, this afternoon or sometime, to accept the education article in the Constitution, which will be constitutional, but not headed by an elected officer. What is the interpretation of the Committee as to the powers of the governor in reallocating functions or powers of constitutionally-determined boards, not headed by an elective officer?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will a delegate answer Delegate Lander's question? Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President, we discussed this at some length in the Committee, and I think there are three ways that you could go: One, that the governor could try in all agencies; two, that in those agencies that are only directly responsible to him, where he makes the appointment; and, three, which we adopted, he can recommend those changes in departments other than constitutionally-elected offices. This would mean that the governor, for example, if the Department of Education was handling the Food Stamp Program, the governor could draft an executive order which would be presented to the Legislature, transferring such functions to the Department of Agriculture; but he could make these recommendations concerning the Department of Education, since it is not a constitutionally-elective office.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption for first passage of Section (b) — Section (b) of Committee Proposal No. 1-100. You will recall that we have previously adopted the first section, Section (a), and Section (b) of this — or Section 2 of this has been previously adopted. So we are only at this time voting on Section (b).

And now, any further discussion? Hearing none, the question is on the passage of Section (b).

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote. Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

How did the delegate up there vote? You vote "aye"?

DELEGATE POULSON: "Aye."

DELEGATE GRIFFIN: "Aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The vote is closed. The roll call discloses 77 "ayes," 18 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Section (b) of Committee Proposal 1-100 has been passed.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I move for reconsideration of Proposal 1-57, and if I get a second, I'll explain why.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson moves for a reconsideration of Committee Proposal No. — what was the number?

DELEGATE PETERSON: 1-57.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: 1-57, which was passed yesterday. Did we have a second? Seconded by Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I have an amendment at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have to get the measure back before the Convention, first. Would you explain why.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Yes. I want to have reconsideration because I feel that the word "sex" was removed improperly. I feel that Adam and Eve definitely belong in our Constitution, and I think that part was misconstrued — that particular word. It means men and women. And I would like very much to have it put back in.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion of Delegate Peterson to reconsider our action whereby Committee Proposal No. 1-57 was passed yesterday.

Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Being a female, I'm the first one to rise to an objection. I hope you defeat the motion. I feel "all persons" covers both male and female, and there's no necessity for "sex" in the proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Mr. President.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I, too, feel that "all persons" is all-inclusive enough to cover the situation, and the reason I moved yesterday to take out the word "sex" is because in the context, it sort of made a joke out of this section. That's why I moved to take it out.

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: I agree with Delegate Peterson. I think this is a very serious matter, and I think the word — reconsideration should be given to this proposal. I think that when we considered it yesterday, we considered it in a very light-hearted manner, including myself, I might say, without much thought, and I do believe that, again, it would certainly talk about all persons could be enjoying full and equal enjoyment of goods, services, et cetera; but I think that word is very important, especially in this day and age, and I would hope the Convention would reconsider this proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I appeal to you to give Delegate Peterson her day in court. This is an issue that she feels very strongly about, and I think we owe her the courtesy to further explain the reasons for doing what she's done. We've been quite lenient in the allowing of reconsideration where delegates have felt strongly about something, and I certainly favor giving her an opportunity to explain this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Delegate Miller said it better.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? In that we are now re-considering the proposal as previously passed by the Convention, it requires a minimum of 50 votes to reconsider, and I am going to ask the Clerk to open the key so that you can indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change?

DELEGATE GRIFFIN: Delegate Griffin votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Griffin votes "aye."

Delegate Engstrom?

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: "No."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: "Nay."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dawson?

DELEGATE DAWSON: "No."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would you push Dawson's button, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

There were sufficient "aye" votes to reconsider it. So the Proposal is now before the Convention. Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Yes. I move to put the word "sex" back in.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson, will you move to place it at the head of the calendar?

DELEGATE PETERSON: I move to place 1-57 at the head of the calendar, please.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

It's been moved and seconded that we now place Committee Proposal 1-57 at the head of the calendar. As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal 1-57 is at the head of the calendar.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I'll make this brief. I just feel that it was taken out of there improperly. I think, if it can be placed in the United States Constitution and accepted, there's no reason why it couldn't be accepted here. And just to show you the difference possibly, in our voting yesterday I noticed in the paper that they say two ladies voted against it; and since I am the third lady that voted against it, I am in limbo, and I did say yesterday that I was voting in-cognito because I lost so many votes. I wore dark glasses. But I didn't think the Press would take me seriously. I did vote "no" yesterday, and I do hope you will put this back where it belongs.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there an amendment at the desk?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-57.

On page 1, line 10, following the words "ground of race," insert the phrase "sex,".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I raise, again, the question I posed yesterday: If there is to be no discrimination or segregation in any public accommodation on account of sex, does this mean that the ladies' powder room is going to be abolished or integrated?

Now, the first part of this proposal covers the situation: "All persons shall be entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, facilities," et cetera. Now, there are a few things which should be equal but separate. I don't think I have to elaborate on that.

Now, by putting the word "sex" back in where it is, we're sort of writing a pun or a joke into the Constitution. If we want people in other states to read the new North Dakota Constitution and have a good giggle, well, then let's put it back in. But I oppose it.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: The United States Constitution guarantees no discrimination on account of sex, and I haven't found any integrated powder rooms yet.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I'm not really too uptight on this particular word. I certainly don't want to be — (laughter) — I don't want to be caught up in a women's liberation movement, or anything like that; but I think that we probably took that word out yesterday for the wrong reason. I think that the mood of the debate, the manner in which the amendment was offered, all led us into this mood; and so I think, if we take it out, we should take it out for the right reasons, as outlined by Delegate Dobson. I don't think we were that clear on it yesterday, however. So I hope we don't get caught up in that same mood today, and we can objectively take a look at this thing.

DELEGATE SONDRAL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sondreal.

DELEGATE SONDRAL: If we're going to take the word "sex" out because we have "all persons" up there, then we might as well take out everything else — "race, color, origin," and so on.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further? Delegate Hougen. Delegate Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I hate to talk on this thing, too, but I want the support of Delegate Dobson wholeheartedly. I think that the first section gives everybody equal right; but the last part speaks to some of these accommodations, and I gather there is a difference between a man and a woman, and I think we are being ridiculous by stating that we are going to treat them equal, because they are not. I happen to think a woman is just as good as I am; in fact, she might be even a little bit better; but they certainly aren't equal. (Laughter)

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May we have order in the convention?

Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Amen!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President. I think that the mood is, once again, very light. I would think that, if Delegate Dobson and Delegate Hougen are concerned about powder rooms, that they should, perhaps, put some specific language in it that will exempt the powder rooms from this section.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: While I admit to being not that astute a student insofar as the United States Constitution is concerned, I think some of us are perhaps observing the word "sex" and "nondiscrimination" in the Federal Constitution, if, in fact, it does appear in that amendment of approximately two or three years ago. It is not in the original United States Constitution, and I do not believe that it belongs in our Constitution on the basis as we are attempting to again reinstate it today. The section as proposed indicates all persons shall be entitled to public accommodations, regardless of grounds of race, sex, color or religion. If I want to go to the ladies' powder room, after we include the word "sex," I believe I have that right. I might be a wee bit embarrassed, but I think someone else in there also might be likewise embarrassed. I think then, after this happened, eliminate the statute of indecent exposure in certain public accommodations, since we would preach equal rights to the same particular slot to drop quarters in. I would again refer to your February 1st newspaper — The Grand Forks Herald — page 7, which quotes specific sections under the title "Homosexual Job Denial Appealed," and it states in that, in one section, "The State Supreme Court of Minnesota rejected an appeal for a marriage license, the pair arguing there's nothing to date in state law to prevent same-sex marriages."

I submit there is nothing in the Proposal that we have before us which would prevent same-sex accommodations in a public restroom.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I move the previous question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The previous question has been moved. Do we have five seconds? Delegate Sanstead, Delegate Devine, Delegate Benson, Delegate Aas, Delegate Kelsch. An immediate vote has been called for.

DELEGATE WARNER: May I now call for a recorded vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Not at this particular time. The question now is on the vote of the previous question, and this takes a two-thirds vote.

Those in favor of adopting the previous question will vote "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it.

Now we are on the amendment as offered by Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE WARNER: May I now call for a recorded vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may now request a recorded vote, provided there are ten delegates that so wish. One, two, three, four, five — ten. That is sufficient. That is a sufficient number. A recorded vote will be granted.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Peterson. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

We will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Dawson votes "no."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Dawson votes "nay."

Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: May I report my presence?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Solberg is present.

The vote indicates there were 59 "ayes," 31 "nays," eight delegates absent and not voting. The amendment as offered to the Committee Proposal No. 1-57 has been approved.

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President, I have an amendment at the desk. I wish it to be read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-57:

On page 1, line 10, of the engrossed proposal, delete the words "or segregation". And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the amendment as offered by Delegate Paulson. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch seconds the motion.

Now, Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President. Delegates, I simply think that, by removal of this word, we'll remove the joke and we'll take care of the — if the word "discrimination" doesn't take care of it, then we leave the U. S. Constitution all by itself. I can't read the English language. I think the removal of this word will remove the humor that we've been subjected to, and then we can pass it and have it out of our hair.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Paulson.

Is there any further discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Now we have —

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I move that Proposal 1-57 be deemed properly re-engrossed — the Rules be suspended, it be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal 1-57 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage as amended, and the motion was seconded by Delegate Engelter.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal 1-57 is again before the Convention as amended.

Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, the question is on the first passage of Committee Proposal 1-57 as amended.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 84 "ayes," 3 "nays," 11 delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-57 has been passed.

Is there anything under the eighth order?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will proceed to the eighth order of business — Announcements.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Miller would like to announce that the Granville High School of Granville, North Dakota, and their teacher, Mr. Hillman, are in the gallery.

Delegate Gipp would like to announce the twelfth grade of the Standing Rock

Community at Fort Yates, North Dakota, and their teacher, Mr. Simonson, are in the gallery.

Delegate Lerberg would like to announce the twelfth grade of Parshall High School, Parshall, North Dakota, and their teacher, Jim Wiegum and John Dwyer, are in the gallery.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The delegates to the Convention are happy to have this many students attending this day's session of the Convention. I hope you find that it is interesting and somewhat enlightening. I'm sure that, as the day progresses, that you will hear many of the important issues before the Convention discussed.

Will the visitors in the balcony please stand? One more school?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegates Thompson and Hoghaug would like to report that they have students from the Lake Region Junior College in Devils Lake, North Dakota, with their teachers, Astrid Anderson, Mr. Lysne and Mr. Burrows, in the gallery.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the students and visitors in the balcony please rise and be recognized by the Convention? (Applause)

We have one more announcement.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: All vouchers must be turned in today, before you leave. All the vouchers must be turned in at the staff office before you leave today.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I'd like to just call the delegates' attention to the blue proposals that are in their proposal books on No. 4-1 and 4-2. These are the first two, and only two, so far as proposals to be referred to the Alternate Committee, and if any of you are contemplating further proposals, we would appreciate knowing about it, because the Committee will have to meet during one of the recessed days. So, if you have in mind anything, we'd appreciate hearing from you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will be in recess until eleven o'clock.

(The Session recessed at 10.43 A.M. until 11:00 A.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

Will the Convention please come to order?

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: May we be briefly on the eighth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I'd like to announce to the delegates that this morning I received a six or seven-page Attorney General's Opinion on the question of the 18-year-old adult-for-all-purposes thing, and some implications on it. If anyone — any of the delegates are interested in a copy of this, either Delegate Nething, Delegate Thompson or myself will see that you get one.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: May we be on the twelfth order of business for a minute?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be on the twelfth order, without objection.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I want to move that we put 1-104 on the bottom of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson moves that we place 1-104 at the foot of the calendar. Do I have a second?

Seconded by Delegate Aas.

Any discussion? Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Very simply, one of the proponents is not going to be here long enough to argue, and I think he should have the right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and 1 — Committee Proposal 1-104 is placed at the foot of the calendar.

We will be on the ninth order of business — Introduction of Proposals.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-3, submitted by Delegates Stanton, Solberg, Kwako, Berg, Warner, Roney, Trenbeath, Wallin, Peters, Rundle, Baker, Erickson, Diehl, Knudson, Fallgatter, Unruh, Saugstad, Binek, Pearce, Cart, Devine, Ketchum and Benz:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-102 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report — I'm sorry, Committee Report on — Alternate Proposal No. 4-3 is referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

We'll be on the tenth order of business. Committee Proposal No. 1-70 is before the Convention.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-70, introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 31, 36, 46, 47, 48, 49, 58, 61, 63, 64, 65 and 66 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new sections 6, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18 and 19 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to matters of legislative procedure."

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, this proposal has been read, and I would, therefore, move that — it's back only to put the language for the deciding of tie votes in legislative races, and I would, therefore, move that we dispense with the reading.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Moved by Delegate Sinner that we dispense with the reading of Committee Proposal 1-70. The motion has been seconded by Delegate Kwako.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and we will dispense with the reading of Committee Proposal No. 1-70.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I now move the amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-70:

Delete all of lines 22 and 23 of the engrossed proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 12. Each house shall be the judge of the qualifications of its own members, but their election returns shall be subject exclusively to judicial review as provided by law. In the event that a review of those returns discloses that two or more candidates to the same office have received an equal and highest number of votes, the secretary of state shall by lot choose one of them for that office."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kwako. Any discussion? Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President, I don't think there's any comment really needed. I just wanted to say there is a copy on all the desks, if you want to look at it more closely. It's pretty obvious, I think, that we are trying to take this out of the — make it one job that the Legislature doesn't have to deal with.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President, this is a variance from what has become tradition in the State of North Dakota — what has been tradition for all these years, where the legislative body shall determine the qualifications of its own members.

You're all aware of the reason for this being brought up — the fact that there have been cases in years past where members of one house or the other were seated under some, well, rather shady conditions. What we're trying to do in this is to clean up the language so that it will be easier to determine and see that a man is qualified and has been the selection of the majority of the people in his district.

Now, I know that the Legislature wants to guard jealously this proposition of their being able to select or to qualify the members of their own house; but I resent very much, fellow delegates, the Legislature telling me who will represent me in these halls. This is a determination that ought to be made by the district that's represented.

In the Seventh District, if we have a problem, if someone is sent down here to serve who is not the choice of the majority of the electors in that district, I don't think it ought to be left up to this body or the Legislature or the Senate to determine who shall sit here. It's our problem. It's our business, and I resent the fact that we are not able to resolve it ourselves. I think this would solve the problem.

Now, some of you are going to be concerned, and you rightfully ought to be, that the judicial matter may take too much time, and I grant you that this is a problem. In fact, some research has shown — and I probably ought not to even be telling you this — it might influence your vote on it — but research of the statute shows that up to 110 days have been used to process a situation like this. And this is bad. The session of the Legislature could be over before a man is ultimately seated. However, if someone can come up with a better solution, I'd sure be happy to hear it. But this, to me, does resolve the problem in the most fair manner that I can think of, and does leave the matter up to the people in the district that he's representing.

I urge your support of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I can readily understand what the Committee is trying to do; however, I think that if we consider what has happened in the past in connection with some of these contests, why we can see it's not as serious a matter as has been indicated by Delegate Miller.

In the years that I have served in the Legislature, it's been my opportunity to serve on two of these committees that considered contests that were presented to the Legislature. It's a fast method that is usually settled in two or three days when the matter is called to the attention of either of the houses. The president of our Convention had the opportunity of serving as chairman of a committee during our last session in the Senate, when such a matter came before the Senate. In both of those cases, the rules were determined before any action was taken on trying to establish who had been elected and who hadn't. We even counted every vote in both cases, and we went along with the rules that had been prescribed and detailed by the Senate, based upon a nonpartisan basis completely, and both candidates, I think, were completely satisfied when the count was made. In the first instance, it meant that a Democrat stayed in office. In the second instance, it meant that a Republican stayed in, because the rules were laid down as prescribed by law under the same conditions as they were in the law, and ballots that were invalidated were validated because the law said they should have been validated. And I think, in both cases, both of the losing parties were satisfied that they had had a fair hearing, and both were willing to abide by the results that the Senate reached.

Now I can see here that, in every case where you have a situation of this type, if you're going to the court exclusively — that word "exclusively" is what bothers me in this amendment that you're offering — you will have the district from which the contest arises left without any representation in that particular session of the Legislature, and I don't think any of us want to disenfranchise any district from being represented in the Legislature during any session. I think, if you would consider taking out the word "exclusive," you'd still have a court determination if either of the parties involved were not satisfied with the treatment or the disposition of the matter as it was determined by the Legislature. I think you'd save a lot of expense. You'd keep from disenfranchising anyone, and yet you would have the same results, eventually. If either party was not satisfied, he could still go into the court and have it determined, even though that might take several days to get that done.

I hope that we will consider these conditions before we finally pass this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. One of the reasons, Delegate Longmire, that I feel rather strongly about this, as does Delegate Miller and some others, is that under the present system, and even under the system that you're proposing, you're into the Legislature already and the Legislature is in session before the Legislature can act itself on the qualifications of its members; and if there is a contest of the Legislature's decision by the losing party, you throw in the question of many votes of the one who's seated by the Legislature and, in fact, you make it very difficult for him to challenge the decision of the Legislature, and a judicial review after the Legislature might act would be a very, very complex situation, it seems to me.

It is our hope that the law can provide for a speedy review of a tie vote prior to the meeting of the Legislature, so that the issue is all resolved when the Legislature comes in session, which is an impossibility either under the present situation or under the one you're talking about.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Warner.

DELEGATE WARNER: May I inquire of Delegate Sinner? Would you respond to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Sinner yield?

DELEGATE SINNER: Yes.

DELEGATE WARNER: Did you think originally of placing original, exclusive jurisdiction in the Supreme Court, so that you could get immediate — a quick determination in the matter?

DELEGATE SINNER: No, we didn't, I guess. However, we do provide that this system shall be spelled out in law, and if the Legislature, in the discussion of what kind of procedure should be established, would determine that that would be the best procedure, they could still do that under this provision.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President, I think we need to keep in mind the proposal we adopted sometime ago which provides for 80 plenary days to be spent as the legislative session wishes to spend it, and under that, it could very well be that we'll have a short session each year, and if this be the case, the time factor that Delegate Miller brought up will not be as critical. It is true that a contested election may result in the representative not being seated in the first session, but he will still have work to do later on in his term. And I share Delegate Longmire's concern about that word "exclusively," and before I would move to even amend it out, I wonder what defense there is for that word "exclusively." I don't see that it's necessary.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

The reason for the word "exclusively," I think, is that traditionally legislative bodies have been the sole judge of their qualifications and the sole judge of election returns and, as a result, I think in 1969 the Legislature spent quite a bit of time counting votes in close elections. And if we don't put the word "exclusively" in, there would be some question that we're deviating from the original position. And this is a deviation, but I would rise to support the idea because I think that we don't — we don't question the fact that we might have to recount a contested governor's election to the courts, or other county officials, and of course the delay in those cases would apply just as well. The governor may not take office, or county officials may not take office. I think the way to get at the problem of delay is for the Legislature to set up — to type up the conditions, so it would occur rapidly; first, in the district court, where the ballots would be counted and immediately reviewed by the Supreme Court, and I think they could cut it down, and this would take it out of the hands of the Legislature — the real knotty problems that they have in trying to decide the real close elections.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Sinner.

No further discussion?

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay."

The Chair will rule the "ayes" have it. The "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I'll now move that the Committee Proposal 1-70 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-70 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 1-70 is before the Convention as amended.

Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, the question before the Convention is on the passage of — first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-70 as amended.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 92 "ayes," 3 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting.

Committee Proposal No. 1-70 has passed.

Next for consideration, Committee Proposal No. 1-82.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-82, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 127 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to voting disqualifications.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Section 127 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"No person who is incompetent, or insane shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person convicted of a felony, unless restored to civil rights."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposal. Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I have an amendment at the desk I'd like to propose at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-82 is as follows:

Delete lines 10 through 12, inclusive, of the engrossed Proposal, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"No person who has been declared mentally incompetent by order of a court or other body of competent jurisdiction and which order has not been revoked or rescinded shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person be qualified to vote who has been convicted of a felony, or otherwise under sentence in a correctional institution or jail, during the period his sentence is still in effect."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment? Do we have a second?

DELEGATE RUDE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's seconded by Delegate Rude.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

By way of explanation of the amendment, this has been changed a little from the copy that you have on your desks, as you will note, by adding after "declared" on the first line of the amendment the word "mentally" and the words "or insane" have been deleted. I believe there was a typographical error on the second line, which has been changed from "or" to "of."

Well, now, Mr. President, the way this proposal originally — or read as amended, as it was read from the desk, we leave the words "incompetent" and "insane" pretty much up in the air — who is "incompetent" and who is "insane." I can see that somebody that I don't like, that we have had a hot argument — "You're insane." That doesn't make a person insane; in fact, probably just the opposite might be true. Maybe I, as the accuser, might be, rather than the person accused.

We have gotten away in the mental health procedure — away from this word "insane," because the professional people have not been able to say what the word "insane" really means. It used to be anybody who went to the State Hospital or was committed or went voluntarily was considered to be insane. In modern-day methods and treatment of people — mentally-ill people and emotionally-ill people — we've gotten away from that, and in all of the statutes that we've passed in recent years, we have gotten away from the word "insane."

Now, this provision would define who is mentally incompetent. I don't think that any of us want to be able to have people who have been declared by a competent court or body of competent jurisdiction incompetent — that we want to permit them to vote, because it would open up the grounds for fraud by those maybe under whose supervision they were at the present time of telling them to vote or voting them in a certain way. This way, we think that if they have come through a court or the County Mental Health Board — or, rather, the County Mental Board — I don't know the exact term that it is listed as now in the statute — but if they come through there and have been declared incompetent and that order has not been revoked — see, lots of times somebody will come to the State Hospital or some other institution for treatment. Later on they are improved or they get back home and they're fine. And if that order has been revoked or rescinded, why then they should be able to vote like the rest of us. So that was the reason for the first part of the amendment.

Now, I think Delegate Thompson raised a good point the other day when we discussed this on the latter part. He pointed out that, under the old proposal that we had, that someone could come in and vote who was still under sentence and, of course, under the bad feature of that, too, the way it read, we would let people in Leavenworth vote, if they were outside the State and incarcerated, but we wouldn't let those who were in a jail in the State vote. But under this amendment, it will prevent these people from voting, as long as they're sentenced, and of course part of that sentence may be a parole or probation period. It would prevent them from voting during this period. But as soon as that ends, then they would be permitted to vote, under this amendment.

I have a good example that came to my attention — in fact, it is pending in my office at the present time on this very matter of having civil rights restored. Most of these people, when they get out, since it is a tedious procedure, both in the State courts as well as in the Federal procedure to restore a person's rights, most of them never get it done. I had a man come to me just a few months ago — he was around 45 years old. I had known him for 15 years. He's a good citizen now — had done carpenter work for me and others — and he came into my office and said, "I'm ashamed to tell you, but I have never voted." And it happened, apparently, in his younger years, when he had a drinking problem, that out in Montana he had been convicted for check forgery at that time of a federal check. He was sentenced to one year in the federal penitentiary. He had gotten out. He had never applied. So I immediately applied for a presidential pardon; but that was six months ago and we still haven't got the matter resolved. And most people will not take the interest of this man. It was very impressive to talk with him. And he said, "That is the thing that I want most now — to be able to vote and participate in other activities on a local level, as well as on the state level, in government."

And so we would take care of people of that kind; permit them to get back and rehabilitate back into the mainstream of life and in the activities, if we let them vote, without going through this tedious procedure either in the State Court or Federal Court, depending on where the violation first occurred or where they were tried. We would let them get back and start voting again, once that probation period was over or the parole period was over, and we would encourage them — we would make better citizens out of them. They would develop more of an interest, I think, if we did. So I hope these amendments pass, Mr. President. I think it will do what we all are trying to do to get qualified people, to encourage them to vote and participate in their government.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I have to resist the amendment for two major reasons.

First of all, Delegate Longmire has forgotten that there are many people, such as those that are in Grafton, who are incompetent, who cannot vote legally now, nor should they in the future, and are not declared judicially to be incompetent.

Secondly, he has forgotten — or maybe not — but I would be very much against the fact that a person who has been convicted of a misdemeanor should not vote. There are many misdemeanors which do not have any moral or social ramifications, but they are convicted and sometimes put in jail.

Now, I don't think that that would be legitimate. I do agree with the rest of it. However, I ask you to vote against it, because Delegate Hartl has an amendment which I think we can all approve of.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Would Delegate — Mr. President. Would Delegate Longmire yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would Delegate Longmire yield to a question?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

DELEGATE POULSON: I must again confess ignorance here.

What would be the situation of a person who was convicted of a federal offense, served time, and given a pardon? Would this be in conflict at all with any federal regulations as to his voting in an election where a federal — where we are electing people to the Congress of the United States?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: It could: We, of course, can't change the federal setup. We have to worry about it as far as our State situation is concerned and hope that the federal government will eventually change theirs. If they don't, there are — I am not familiar with the procedure at the moment insofar as the federal law is concerned on restoration of civil rights. I do know that they have made it easier in recent years for them to get their civil rights restored. But what the effect is at this moment on the federal law, I do not know.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: I'd like to just pursue this just a little farther.

Delegate Longmire, then I gather from your answer, you aren't sure what the federal statutes are on this.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No, I'm not.

DELEGATE POULSON: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Will Delegate Longmire yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Longmire yield?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Delegate Longmire, you stated that when they're declared incompetent by order of courts or other body of competent jurisdiction, then I think you mentioned mental health boards. Now, as I understand, mental health boards merely observe a person and find that they're a fit subject for observation, and they are then sent to the institution. The institution then does not really find them incompetent; they merely determine that they're a fit subject for treatment.

Now, I'm wondering what —

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, I was taking into consideration the possible changes in the matter of declaring a person incompetent in future years to come by legislation, and I think you're right — that the county mental health boards do not, in many instances, at least, rule on their competency; they rule on whether or not they need treatment and need to be sent to the State Hospital for treatment.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Thank you. That answers my question, and I was thinking about the future agencies as the Legislature might determine.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman. Fellow Delegates:

As you probably notice, this is not the original voting disqualification that I have, but I certainly feel that it will clear up some of the difficulty that I have had with the Thompson amendment.

I would like to direct myself to a number of questions that have been around here. The people at Grafton generally are there and have been appointed under guardian, and as I stated in a fairly-long dissertation with review of the statutes last week, that they are declared under guardianship and mentally incompetent. It meant the term would eventually take care of both those that have intellectual deficits and, also, disorganization problems or judgment problems.

Then I'll direct myself to the federal statute. At the present time, the federal government asks for the present pardon board to grant pardons in the State; and as I understand Delegate Longmire's proposal, they would be able to then vote after — in our State after they have served their sentence.

Now, in regard to the Mental Health Board: The Mental Health Board can do two things; one is to confine for treatment; the second is to declare incompetency and appoint a guardian. So that that, I think, would answer some of the questions that Delegate Kessel had.

Under the old Constitution, the pardon board was a constitutional office. Under the new Constitution it will have to be statutory. I feel that I can live with it, and I hope that I will never have to take advantage or disadvantage of either part of this problem. But I think that it is more important that a number of people in the State can live with you. You must remember that incarceration — we're only talking about approximately a hundred people in the Penitentiary and probably about six or eight hundred serving probation and parole. We're talking about those people in Grafton, which will come to around 1,800, which, as I say, have already been declared under guardianship and, according to the statutes, seems to be similar to mentally incompetent, so that, I think, that will take care of the questions that I had.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman.

Before I ask — I would like to ask Delegate Longmire a question; but, before I do, the delegates all have on their desks a copy of the Hartl proposal. If you'd take a look at it while I ask a question of Longmire, we might speed this up.

Would you yield to a question, Delegate Longmire?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire yields.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: The question that I raise on this: Where in your proposal — and I see it's in the Hartl — the same last sentence — it's still in effect — the sentence is still in effect. Are you meaning that a person on parole, say, for instance, who spends time in the State Penitentiary and then is paroled for a year or two years' parole, would he be disqualified from voting for that period of time, too?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: He would be; and I think he should be until he has proved to the proper authorities that he has rehabilitated himself.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: But once he went off of parole, he wouldn't have to go through what you call the "red tape" in getting the voting rights back?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: That's right.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: And what — one more question, and I'll sit down.

What would you say the average cost would be at the present time to get your rights — voting rights back, if you went through a lawyer to get the voting rights back — filing the applications and such?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: About five hundred.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question — the question before the Convention is on the amendment as proposed by Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I'm going to move to Grand Forks and set up my legal practice, if I can get five hundred for that!

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: To answer one further objection of Delegate Thompson: He mentioned that, if they were in jail on a misdemeanor, he felt they ought to be able to vote; and, of course, this only applies if they're in jail. Personally, I don't think that you should go over to the courthouse or to the county jail and start voting these folks by absentee ballot. In the sheriff's race, the sheriff might have a better advantage to influence them, since they're under his custody and they're being fed by him, and so forth, and it seems to me that that should be another penalty that a person pays if he's in jail for three days or five days or ten days; that if he is in jail at the time and can't go to the polls, why we ought to deprive him of that privilege and maybe he'll think a little the next time, before he gets into this difficulty. I certainly would be opposed to permitting those people to vote.

As Delegate O'Toole has stated, we don't have to worry about people in Grafton, because under our State laws now, they are — unless one of their relatives or a close friend or somebody is appointed guardian of those folks, the Superintendent of the institution there is by law appointed their guardian, so they all would be under this competency clause or phrase that we have in it, and certainly, if they're not capable of understanding the issues or the candidates, they should not be permitted to vote. So I don't think in that particular institution we would have anything to worry about.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Since we don't have the exact proposal before us, could the Clerk read it once more, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the Proposal — the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-82:

In the engrossed proposal, delete lines 10 through 12, inclusive. Insert in lieu thereof the following:

"No person who has been declared mentally incompetent by order of a court or other body of competent jurisdiction and which order has not been revoked or rescinded shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person be qualified to vote who has been convicted of a felony, or otherwise under sentence in a correctional institution or jail, during the period his sentence is still in effect."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Am I in order to direct a question to Senator — to Longmire on his proposal — his amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Longmire yield to a question?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Gladly.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: I've been thinking about the word "incompetent." Let's take the case of a widow who may be incompetent in handling her financial affairs but is competent in all other areas. How would this apply?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes. I added the word, you know, and it's not on your copy, but "mentally incompetent."

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President, I believe there was a typographical error on the second line of this. Is that correct? In the amendment at the desk.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: That was taken care of on the one at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Longmire. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Any further discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, I would now move the amendment that I have at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl moves the further amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-82.

The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed Committee Proposal 1-82:

On page 1, delete lines 10 through 12, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"No person who has been declared mentally incompetent by order of a court of competent jurisdiction and which order has not been revoked or who is non compos mentis shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person be qualified to vote who has been convicted of a felony during the period his sentence is still in effect."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Thompson.

Is there any discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. Fellow members of this Assembly:

The Longmire proposal, I thought, had been a compromise proposal as it was originally submitted to you. However, on the urging of fellow delegates, I have brought my proposal back before you for further consideration, and at this time I would urge that it be adopted in place of the Longmire proposal, for the following reasons:

Number one, I would let you make your own decision with reference to the words "non compos mentis." There are certain sheets that have been distributed to a few individuals with reference to the definitions. The one which we are particularly concerned about deals with the people in the homes for the elderly, possibly someone who found himself a bottle of good bourbon while the stores were closed and presents himself to the polls, as sometimes happens. The legal authority Coke, who is known for definitions, defined "non compos mentis" in the following terms: "Not sound of mind; insane. This is a very general term, embracing all varieties of mental derangement. Also refer to 'insanity.'"

He has enumerated four different classes of persons who are deemed in law to be non compos mentis: First, an idiot, or fool natural; second, he who was of good and sound mind and memory, but by the act of God has lost it; third, a lunatic, who sometimes is of good sound mind and memory. I think, while we would not classify the people in the homes for the aged as a lunatic, I think they would qualify as "sometimes of good sound mind and memory — sometimes of not good sound mind and memory. And, fourth, the definition applies to one who is non compos mentis by his own act, as a drunkard.

I think that is primarily the second thing we are looking at on this.

The third situation where this proposal would differ with reference to Delegate Longmire's is that no person shall be qualified to vote who has been convicted of a felony during the period his sentence is still in effect. We went around and discussed the provision in the Longmire proposal "or otherwise under sentence in a correctional institution or jail." Through our limited research this morning, it has been determined that under our present system, we can have the individuals who are incarcerated for misdemeanor offenses vote, if the honorable sheriff desires to obtain absentee ballots for them, and, likewise, it would appear they may be under sentence to the State Farm under misdemeanors, also under present circumstances, could vote. This being the case, we do not currently know of any flagrant voting violations and, therefore, I would urge consideration of my proposal for that reason.

The second reason that came to my mind with reference to the "or otherwise under sentence in a correctional institution or jail, during the period his sentence is still in effect," could carry the sentence of a person who has committed a misdemeanor beyond the period of incarceration, prohibiting him from voting. That for the following reason: That in a number of misdemeanor cases, particularly with some of our younger individuals, the court imposes a sentence of good behavior under conditions established by the Parole Board for a period of six months to one year. This, under the Longmire proposal, I feel, would prevent that person out of jail, but only under sentence for a misdemeanor, from voting during the period of time his sentence is still in effect.

I would submit that my proposal, prohibiting a person from voting only after he has been convicted of a felony, would stand as the proposal, and I would ask you delegates to vote for it, accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE LARSEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE LARSEN: May I have the privilege of asking Delegate Hartl a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Hartl yield to a question?

DELEGATE HARTL: I will.

DELEGATE LARSEN: In the case of a young man convicted of a marijuana charge who has spent two years in jail, or a similar incident or term, is his voting right, upon his release from prison, automatically given back to him?

DELEGATE HARTL: At the current time, they are not. It would be the situation in the Longmire proposal, in all fairness, and in my proposal, that at the time the sentence terminated, if it were a termination upon release from jail or a termination after successful completion of the period of parole, that the voting rights automatically would be restored and it would thereby eliminate some bread and butter for Senator Longmire.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Would Delegate Hartl yield for another question?

DELEGATE HARTL: I will.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Hartl yield?

DELEGATE HARTL: I will.

DELEGATE BURKE: Delegate Hartl, on your proposal on the non compos mentis provision, this would have to be a decision made by the election officials alone, would it not?

DELEGATE HARTL: That is correct. It would be to the best that we have been able to determine. We recognize the fact that some delegates have questions about this particular term, and that is why I specifically indicated to you delegates earlier to make your own decision with reference to the inclusion of this term. We feel it has merit because we do have problems which occur at the polls.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I resist this amendment because I think we're getting back into the old, vague no-man's-land field when we're talking about non compos mentis. We're trying to make this Constitution readable and understandable to everyone. I feel that all of the things that should be covered in the non compos mentis descriptions are covered in the proposal, which are — or the amendment which we just passed.

With respect to the homes for the aged, and so forth, I think you'll find that the overwhelming majority of those probably have had a guardian appointed for them. But if they haven't, who is going to determine whether that elderly person — they may be a little senile for some reason or other — we have some in the Legislature sometimes that we think are — and there might be one or two in this body, including myself, temporarily — not now however, but (laughter) — but I think we are opening it up here for a nonjudicial determination without proper hearing, without proper evidence, or anything, disenfranchising some people who would be entitled to vote otherwise and whose rights to vote would be taken away from them.

As far as this business of drunkards, certainly under present laws, if anyone comes to the polls drunk, all the election officials would have to do is call the sheriff or state's attorney and that person could be taken out of there immediately, if it was so obvious to all present that this person was so drunk that he — under liquor or dope, or anything else of that kind, that he should not vote. I think we are writing in and letting our imagination get a little further in the non compos mentis than we should, and it would seem to me that, in going on the idea that we ought to encourage every qualified person to vote, that we ought to bend over backwards not to deprive those who would otherwise be qualified by putting in some vague language here in our Constitution which could easily be used by someone who felt that this person might not vote the way he wanted them or she wanted them to vote, if we adopt the amendment that's before you at the present time. I hope that we leave the proposal now as we have it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President, before we go to vote on this, I'd just like to have the Clerk read the last amendment once more.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine, do you wish to wait until —

DELEGATE DEVINE: I'll wait, Mr. President.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed — amended engrossed Committee Proposal 1-82:

On page 1, delete lines 10 through 12, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“No person who has been declared mentally incompetent by order of a court of competent jurisdiction and which order has not been revoked or who is non compos mentis shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person be qualified to vote who has been convicted of a felony during the period his sentence is still in effect.”

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I think they're cutting me off — (referring to malfunctioning sound system) —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's the new method of applying the gag rule. (Laughter)

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: While he's trying to get one that works, I just want to say, relative to Delegate Longmire's remarks, that his reference to himself was a self-serving declaration. (Laughter)

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I'm not going to speak to the word. I did so the other day. I have had several long discussions with several of the delegates in regard to it. I will take exception to what Delegate Longmire said, irregardless of whether I am using his microphone.

Number one, we're talking about two different horses. The proposals are not the same. “Non compos mentis” is something entirely different — I think Delegate O'Toole will agree with that —

(Delegate O'Toole shook his head.)

DELEGATE DEVINE: — than being judicially determined mentally incompetent.

Number two, most of the people that I am familiar with in the old folks homes, in rest homes, have not been determined to be mentally incompetent by any court or board.

Number three, it's not something that is brand new, because it is in our present Constitution and in our statutes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hartl.

Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President — Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl, I think you'll have to use a different mike. They tell me that when one is out in a section, they're all out.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. I would just like to advise the delegates that —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl, I think you better use a mike. It's real difficult. And then we have a number of students and people in the gallery, and I think they would like to hear you.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. I would just like to advise the delegates that my proposal has been distributed to each desk and it should be available for their scrutiny.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hartl.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "no."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed vote "no."

The "noes" have it and the amendment fails.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Could I ask for a division?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested. A division will be granted.

Again we're voting on the amendment as offered by Delegate Hartl to Committee Proposal No. 1-82. Those that favor its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change? Delegate Trenbeath, have you voted?

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Trenbeath votes "nay."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Trenbeath votes "aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No! "Nay."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: "Nay."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: There you go!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicated 64 "ayes" — 30 "ayes" and 64 "nays." The proposed amendment failed.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: If there are no further amendments, I move that the Rules be suspended, that this proposal be deemed properly re-engrossed, and placed on the calendar for first reading and passage.

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-82 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and placed on the calendar for first passage as amended. The motion was seconded by Delegate Omdahl.

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I know it's dinnertime and I don't think we should debate this issue any more at this point, but I don't think we should pass it right at this time either, because I, for one, am concerned about the language that Delegate Longmire has in here that says "or otherwise under sentence in a correctional institution or jail." I wonder if this sometimes might not be used as a political tool — you know, so you can lock up a man for two or three days and not allow him to vote, on some charge other than a felony. I really think that we should restrict this thing only to references to felonies and not have this language in there.

I would, therefore, resist the motion to properly re-engross at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

Ladies and Gentlemen: There might be a bug in this, especially for some of the lawyers. Now, in my county, the jail hasn't been used for years for anything but hunters — mostly lawyers from Fargo and Grand Forks.

(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. Chairman. Fellow Delegates:

I think we're ready to vote on this. Frankly, I don't think you could lock up too many people in too big a hurry, because I've always understood that, before you can be put in jail, you have to go through the process of being served with a summons and complaint and having had a trial.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question — Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Could I ask Delegate Longmire a question regarding the amendment we have adopted at this time or not?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire yields.

DELEGATE HILL: It's my understanding that nobody at the State School at Grafton, nor the State Hospital, is declared mentally incompetent. There's a requirement of "mental illness" or "mental deficiency." But if your amendment is adopted, does that mean all those people over 21 — or 18 — would be entitled to vote?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No. It is my understanding that a guardian has been appointed for all of those people by statute, and that if they first ask that relatives or other dependents of the person there be appointed and get themselves appointed, and then, after a certain length of time, under the present law, if they have not had themselves appointed, then the Superintendent of the Hospital has become automatically the guardian of all of those that didn't have a regular guardian.

DELEGATE HILL: I'm aware that they all have a guardian; but there's no finding that they are incompetent.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, I don't think you can appoint a guardian for someone — you'd have to show their condition before — without declaring them incompetent. I would think that the same meaning would be written into the laws that we did pass, because, otherwise, if they weren't incompetent, they wouldn't be there; and if they weren't incompetent, they wouldn't need a guardian.

DELEGATE HILL: Well, my point is that I would appreciate an hour or two to check this over, so we don't open this wide open, because this is a substantial deviation from our present Constitution, which talked about non compos mentis.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, in view of the remarks here, I would withdraw my motion, with the permission of my second, on the suspension of the Rules at this time; however, I think we will certainly have to dispose of this today. We can't let it go over in the regular way until tomorrow. We hope we won't be here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl, do you yield to the delegate's second? I believe you seconded the motion.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then we are back on the Committee Proposal 1-32 as amended.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, I move that it be placed at the bottom of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle moves that Committee Proposal — well, Delegate Rundle, we have a little technicality here, and I'm going to ask you to rephrase your motion to move this to the foot of the calendar, and that we do it for this particular reason: That our Rules require that if we just don't do anything with this Proposal, but just leave it right where it is, we cannot act on it until tomorrow, and you know that we all hope we'll be out of here today. So now, Delegate Rundle, I'm going to request that you move that we suspend the Rules and that we put this at the foot of the calendar. Then it will be on the calendar for further action today.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Thank you. I so move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle moves that we suspend the Rules and that Committee Proposal No. 1-82 be placed at the foot of the calendar.

Do I have a second?

The motion has been seconded by Delegate Peterson.

Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Before we vote on that, Delegate Hill is definitely correct that under our present law there is no incompetency declared by anybody for these people in the State Hospital or at Grafton; but because of the fact that we do have Delegate Longmire's proposal, the fact that there can be this court or other jurisdiction to declare them incompetent, at least we can correct that by legislative action and to take care of that, whereas under the non compos mentis, we will always have problems; and with that in view, I trust that we won't have to go into too much more debate and discussion on this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion to suspend the Rules and put Committee Proposal No. 1-82 at the foot of the calendar.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. It is at the foot of the calendar.

I think that, rather than call up another proposal at this time, I think the pangs of hunger are attacking all of our delegates, and at this time, unless we have something under the eighth order, we will recess for one hour.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President. Your Style and Drafting Committee will meet during the lunch hour in the usual place.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further on the eighth order? Hearing nothing further, we will recess for one hour.

(The Session recessed at 12:06 P.M. until 1:06 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 1:07 P.M., Wednesday, February 2, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

The Convention will please come to order.

Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President, I would like to be on the twelfth order of business, if I may.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: What was that?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: The twelfth order of business.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The twelfth order of business. Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Then I would like to move that we move Committee Proposal 1-89 to the head of the calendar so that I could make an amendment to it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson moves Committee Proposal No. 1-89 be placed at the head of the calendar. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Trenbeath.

It's been moved and seconded that Committee Proposal 1-89 be placed at the head of the calendar. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-89 is now at the head of the calendar.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I have a motion at the desk that I'd like to make at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have an amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-89:

Delete everything after line 9 of the engrossed proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property rights of the owner and without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages.

"The legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service and provide the procedure and time limit for determination of damages, necessity, and public use."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Following the amendments that were made yesterday and on the supposition that the second paragraph is now all right with everyone, I tried to delete from the first paragraph those words that Mr. Pearce had problems with, and that is all that has been done. The words that were deleted were the ones that specified "in the interest of the general public," and that seemed to be what his problem was. So we have taken those out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President, I wonder if you'd have the desk read that again — the second paragraph only. Okay. Re-read the whole thing, I guess they want.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-89:

Delete everything after line 9 of the engrossed proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the property rights of the owner and without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages.

"The legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service and provide the procedure and time limit for determination of damages, necessity, and public use."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Overnight there have been several amendments — proposed amendments distributed around here. One of them that bears Delegate Pearce's name is a new one, and this does not — the language on that proposed amendment is not the same as that language in the first paragraph in the Thompson amendment; and inasmuch as Delegate Pearce isn't here, I'm not too sure that I want to take the word for — anybody's word but his that this satisfies his objection. I think we should wait awhile on this one.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further comment or further discussion? Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. Chairman. I agree with Delegate Baker. I'm not sure whether Delegate Pearce is in complete accord on this or not, and I'm sure he viewed it as being a little bit further down the calendar than it is right now, and I wonder if we're doing a little maneuvering here. I would resist the motion at this time.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'm not trying to maneuver. Mr. Pearce told me he would be back at 1:00. Now I'm in full accord, if they want to delay action on it until he gets here. That's fine with me.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Why don't you so move?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I so move.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I would suggest that Delegate Thompson just withdraw his motion, with the consent of the second, and then I think we would be able to be on the proper procedure.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I think the Chair is still in command. I'm going to ask that we accept Delegate Thompson's motion that we defer consideration — further discussion of this bill — or this Proposal until such time as Delegate Pearce returns to the Convention.

Do I have a second to the motion? Seconded by Delegate Rundle.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and we will defer action until such time as Delegate Pearce returns.

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I would suggest that we have a copy of that amendment placed on our desks. It's difficult, in a long amendment, to know what we are doing, and if we could have that, I'm sure we could better consider it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm sure it can be arranged.

DELEGATE BAKER: Well, Mr. President, I've got one. Most people in this section have one.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson, have copies of your proposed amendment been distributed?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: No, they haven't — not of this one. The ones that they have at their desks have the words in that I have now deleted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will have copies prepared and distributed to the delegates.

Committee Proposal No. 1-29 will be next for consideration.

Is there any discussion — we'll read the Proposal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-29, introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 29 and 35 of Article II and section 214 of Article XVIII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 4 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to reapportionment of the state legislature."

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Just for the information of the members, a lot of them are looking at the old copy. This has been reprinted, so it would be the pink copy.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Sections 29 and 35 of Article II and section 214 of Article XVIII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota are hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) Section 4 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE II

"Section 4. A legislative reapportionment commission consisting of electors appointed by the district judges in a number and manner as shall be established by the district judges, shall fix the number of senators and representatives and divide the state into as many senatorial districts of compact and contiguous territory as there are senators. The commission shall guarantee that, as nearly as practicable, every voter is equal to every other voter in this state in the casting of ballots for legislative offices. One senator and at least two representatives shall be apportioned to each senatorial district and be elected at large or from sub-districts thereof. The commission may combine two senatorial districts and provide for the election of senators at large and representatives at large or from sub-districts thereof.

"Upon agreement by a majority of its members, the commission shall file its reapportionment plan with the secretary of state, and it shall be deemed an effective act sixty days following such filing; provided, the supreme court, in its exercise of original jurisdiction, may review any plan adopted by the commission and remand such plan for revision within a stated period if it fails to meet state and federal constitutional requirements.

"The commission shall be appointed as soon as possible following adoption of this constitution and immediately following the 1980 general election and every ten years thereafter. No member of the legislative assembly shall be eligible for appointment to the commission. Commission members shall serve until each reapportionment plan becomes finally effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

"The commission shall promulgate its own rules and modes of procedure, and its members shall be compensated for meeting days at a rate provided by law."

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I would like to move the previous question and I'd like to ask for a division. May I have a second, and I'll explain why?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On the previous question?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I think that's what they instructed me at the desk. Well, at any rate I'd like to ask for a division of the proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may surely have either motion that you wish. You may have — move the previous, question, if you wish, and you may also ask for a division after you move the previous question, or before.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Well, I'd like to move for a division of this proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, that will surely be granted.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Can I say a word on dividing?

I'd like to divide it, and I think, for the convenience of the Convention, it would be easier to debate the type of commission separately from the debate on redistricting. So the division would occur in the engrossed proposal after the words "casting of ballots for legislative offices." I believe it's on line 20 of the engrossed proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you have that distinguished there?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I gave this to the desk during the break, so —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just so that both sections can stand on their own. Why, if they will do that, then you surely may divide the question.

We can divide the question as Delegate Hendrickson suggests.

The question is now on the amendments, and they cover — both the amendments we have.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, I believe I'm going to have Delegate Hendrickson continue, if she wishes to move the previous question. You asked about the previous question, so —

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I will move whatever I should move at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, no — but you moved the previous question.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: All right. I move the previous question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Excuse me. But if you move the previous question, you shut off all debate, and if that's what you wish, why then you proceed and move it; and if you don't, why then withdraw that request so that we could —

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: What debate would I be closing off?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Everything until we vote on this.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: You mean we'll vote on whether or not to divide?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No. You moved the previous question, and that shuts off debate.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: The previous question is what? Would you explain that?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I would say that consideration of the matter that we have before the Convention.

DELEGATE KELSCH: That would be Proposal 1-29 itself?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's right.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I don't think Delegate Hendrickson wants to do that, and there's no need for a motion to divide the Proposal, is that right? The Chair has ruled that she can.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I have ruled that the question can be divided.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Now, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I have — or hope to present — and I'm speaking on the division which we may want to reconsider at this stage — I have a complicated amendment at the desk, and I'm not sure that this amendment will apply to just this single question alone. I would suggest that we first submit whatever amendments are to be submitted, we act on them, and then, after we've determined what we're going to do — what amendments we're going to make, then we divide the question, because I think at this time it looks like we're going to have to start all over again on these amendments to change the wording of them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Longmire, the only place that you can divide the question is when you vote. When it gets to the place where we're going to vote, if the lady still wishes to divide the question, she has the privilege.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: That's fine. As long as these amendments will be accepted on the whole Proposal, why then that's fine; but, otherwise, they're going to be messed up.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, the question has to be divided at the time you vote. That's the only time you can divide.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I just wanted to ask that the Convention hear the explanation — the Committee explanation of the Proposal, first, before it divided the question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, are we ready to proceed on Committee Proposal 1-29?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are ready to proceed.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President and distinguished delegates:

The North Dakota Constitutional Convention has today a historic opportunity. By acting wisely on the proposition before us, this Convention can reclaim for the people of North Dakota a state responsibility which has gone to the federal level of government by default. If, on the other hand, we take ill-considered action today, this matter of legislative reapportionment will rest permanently, I'm afraid, in the hands of the Federal Judiciary.

The Legislative Functions Committee has studied this matter over a period of several months. We looked at the job the Legislature has done or attempted to do in the past, and concluded that the Legislature, by and large, has failed to properly reapportion itself. The 1889 Constitution required periodic reapportionment, first after every federal decennial census and, second, after every state census which was to be taken at mid-decade. The legislators failed, perhaps understandably so in most cases. They really violated their oaths of office to support the State Constitution. And we have now a situation where the three sections pertaining to reapportionment in the present Constitution — namely, Sections 26, 29 and 35 — are unconstitutional, having been declared so by a Federal Court.

Now, I am not going to recite this afternoon the whole unhappy history of legislative reapportionment in North Dakota. If anyone is interested, I refer you to an article in the winter issue of the North Dakota Law Review. Suffice to say or announce that when the Legislature did reapportion, the reapportionment act generally was designed to safeguard incumbents or preserve the status quo or to give an advantage of some sort to one political party or faction.

So, Mr. President, your Legislative Functions Committee decided that, if the State is going to exercise the responsibility of legislative reapportionment, the job should be given to some type of nonlegislative body. We had a delegate proposal before us which would have given the job of reapportionment to the State Supreme Court. We asked Justice Ralph J. Erickstad to appear before our Committee and comment on this. He said, "First, the Court does not have the staff necessary to do a reapportionment properly. Second, the Court is already loaded with work that falls upon it normally as the court of last resort of this State."

Justice Erickstad was also asked to comment on an informal proposal which provided that the Supreme Court Justices would appoint a legislative reapportionment commission. On this matter, he said, "Difficulty arises from the fact that the Court which would do the appointing of the commission members would most likely be the court which would ultimately have to review the work of the commission. That would place the court in the awkward position of perhaps having to find unsatisfactory the work by the appointees in the event that the reapportionment plan was contested."

So we discarded those two ideas. However, Justice Erickstad did indicate to us that perhaps the District Judges could be the appointing authority for a reapportionment commission. So, over the summer and fall months, the Committee looked at the plans which have been used in other states, and we studied these, and the more we studied them, the more unsatisfactory we found them. Generally, no state has come up with an adequate plan to effect periodic reapportionment of its legislature. The system used by Congress, of course, is totally inappropriate to state legislatures. So the Committee finally concluded that we should try something new — we should write up a plan which would be unique for North Dakota — a plan that will work — that will guarantee equal representation for all the voters of this State, a plan that they may serve as a model for other states, a plan that will make North Dakota a leader in this field.

So, by a 14-to-5 vote, the Committee reported out Committee Proposal 1-29. This provides for a legislative reapportionment commission consisting of electors appointed by the District Judges. It would be a non-legislative and non-political commission. The commission — now, two problems that have arisen with regard to reapportionment are the growth of the military installations in North Dakota and the method of taking the census. We have — we have Minot Air Force Base, with sufficient population to give it one senator and two representatives. We have Grand Forks Air Force Base, which also would be entitled, on a strict population basis, to one senator and two representatives. But no one in the rural areas of North Dakota wants to give up their senate seats to these two military installations which are populated mainly by a transient population, a non-voting population.

The second problem is the nature in which the census was taken in 1970. The census districts did not conform with political subdivision lines, and that made it real difficult to try to do any reapportionment plan.

So the Committee has considered the alternatives to a straight population reapportionment and has tried to write into this Proposal a system — an alternative system; for example, perhaps the reapportionment should be done on a votes-cast basis — the number of votes cast at a recent presidential election or at the last two presidential elections, or something like that. Generally, the voter turnout in this State closely follows your population distribution. So that is the reason for the sentence "The commission shall guarantee that, as nearly as practicable, every voter is equal to every other voter in the state in the casting of ballots for legislative offices." We think that this would open the door to reapportionment on a votes-cast basis or, in the alternative, to reapportionment based on registered voters, if we ever get voter registration or, again, the alternative to reapportionment on a population basis, but excluding nonvoting military personnel.

This sentence is constitutionally sound because it was excised from the landmark decision by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Now, the question arose in Committee and elsewhere how can you ever have a nonpolitical body do reapportionment? Well, it's possible, and it has been done in the countries which have a parliamentary form of government. As you know, the political parties play a much greater role in the countries which have a parliamentary form of government than they do in the United States. In Canada, for example, they have electoral boundary commissions in each province, and these commissions do reapportionment for both the provincial legislature and the Federal Commons. In Saskatchewan, the members are a Justice of the Court of Appeal, a political science professor, a clerk of the legislature and a gentleman who holds the title of "Representation Commissioner."

In Great Britain, your boundary commissions are similarly staffed by non-political citizens; for example, a Judge of the High Court, civil servants of senior rank, people knowledgeable in the field, et cetera. So it is possible to remove this from politics, and we think that, by making the District Judges the appointing authority, we are removing it from politics as far as possible.

So, Mr. President and fellow delegates, I urge you to give favorable consideration to Committee Proposal 1-29; but, in doing so, you can be secure and confident that you have provided a lasting solution to a very difficult problem of fundamental importance.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion on Committee Proposal 1-29? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I have an amendment at the desk on 1-29. I'd like to propose it at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed Committee Proposal 1-29:

On page 1 of the engrossed proposal delete all of lines 13 through 25.

On page 2 of the engrossed proposal delete all of lines 1 through 17 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 4. A legislative reapportionment commission consisting of nine electors, two each designated by the presiding officer of the senate, the presiding officer of the house of representatives, and the minority leader of each house, and the ninth appointed by the governor, shall fix the number of senators and representatives and divide the state into as many senatorial districts of compact and contiguous territory as there are senators, which district shall be equal to each other in the number of persons entitled to representation. Two representatives shall be elected at large from each senatorial district, except that when a majority of the electors within a senatorial district so elect, the commission shall create two separate representative districts therein. When a majority of the electors within a senatorial district reside within a municipality the commission shall combine that senatorial district with other districts in which portions of the municipality and any related townships are located, and provide for the election of senators and representatives at large, except that when a majority of the electors within each of the affected districts so elect, the commission shall create single-member senatorial and representative districts only. Elections at which the foregoing issues may be determined shall be held as provided by law.

"Upon agreement by a majority of its members, the commission shall file its reapportionment plan with the secretary of state, and it shall be deemed an effective act sixty days following such filing; provided, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, may review any plan adopted by the commission and remand such plan for revision within a stated period if it fails to meet state and federal constitutional requirements.

"The commission shall be appointed as soon as possible following adoption of this constitution and immediately following the 1980 general election and every ten years thereafter. Commission members shall serve until each reapportionment plan becomes finally effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

"The commission shall promulgate its own rules and modes of procedure, and its members shall be compensated for meeting days at a rate provided by law."

And renumber the page and lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE BAKER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Baker. Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, this — there really are just two main changes from the original proposal or the proposal that's before us at this time in connection with this amendment. The type of this commission or this commission is different in that it provides that it will consist of nine members; that two members will be appointed by the presiding officer of the House of Representatives, two by the presiding officer of the Senate, two by the minority leader of each of the two houses, and one by the governor. This, of course, is a nonjudicial commission and the main reason for offering this amendment in this connection is the fact that we have been trying all the way through in this Constitution to separate the three branches of government so that they would be completely independent — the judiciary, the executive and the legislative branches. This, of course, would leave this commission in the hands of the Legislature, where the — many of us feel that it really belongs. And I want to say that this is not my idea. I give Delegate Hendrickson the full credit for the idea of setting up this commission. It's almost identical with a proposal which, I understand, she called to the attention of the Committee, with the exception we added one more member to break the uneven number, by appointing — having one appointed by the governor.,

Now, I have talked with many of the district judges in the State and, in fact, three or four of them as late as just a few minutes ago. The judges themselves feel that this is strictly a nonjudicial function and that they object to being brought into a function that should be handled by the Legislature, or at least a commission set up by the Legislature, and they, without exception, object to being called in on something of this kind, which is not a judicial function of the District Courts. And certainly the objection that was raised by the Supreme Court Justices could equally apply to the District Court Judges. I know that, in my district, the First Judicial District, the Judges are completely swamped in their work. They have plenty to do, and we're carrying cases over from one term of court to the next that are not getting tried and getting heard in the prompt manner that they should be heard, and I assume that there are other districts in the State where the Judges find themselves in the same position. My main objection, of course, to letting the Judges set up this commission is the fact that it is letting one branch of government supersede its intended jurisdiction and placing it in the hands of another, where they should not be making decisions until at least these decisions get before them in a judicial manner and in the regular legal channels. I believe that this commission could do a good job. I'm sure that the leaders of both political factions in the Senate and the House would be sincere in appointing these people not on the basis of partisanship, but on the basis of their qualifications, their abilities, to get the job done. We have never tried this, of course. Certainly we have had difficulty in the Legislature in the short 60-day period that we've had down here in considering apportionment plans and in getting the job done. But this commission would be nonlegislative, except from the fact that they were appointed by the various members — officers that I have mentioned of the Legislature beforehand — and I feel that they would approach this on a sound basis, would be able to get their job done and get their report in to the Secretary of State.

I might state that there is no difference in the procedure to be followed after this commission is provided or appointed in this commission than there would be in the commission appointed by the District Judges. They go into the Secretary of State's office, file their report and wait 60 days; it becomes the apportionment plan within that time, if the Supreme Court is looking over it and it has not determined that it is in violation of federal or state law on the equal-vote proposition as nearly as possible.

I feel that this method would be highly superior to the one that is being proposed in the Proposal that is before us.

Now, here is another difference between the amendment and the Proposal that is before us. As everyone knows, at the present time multiple districts are permitted in the State. We have found, and it happens that I happen to be serving from one of those districts — we have found that it has worked very well in our community. We have three senators serving in our district, nine house members. We feel that we should leave this to the local people, whether or not they want to break this down into three districts or let the senators and the house members run at large in the whole district, and I say, from the practical angle, it is much more practical for me, as a legislator, to represent my whole city, rather than to represent just a small segment of that city, because the problems of the businessman in the north end of town are the same as the problems of the businessman in the south end of town, and if they want to dilute their representation among three people with the same number of people, of course that's required for three — to justify three senators. I think we ought to leave that up to local control to do that.

The amendment that I have presented provides, however, that if the multiple district electorate do not want to do it on this basis, then a majority of the electors — and the procedure will be as provided by law — will be able to vote on the issue and then break it down into single districts, if they so desire.

I know that those of you who do represent a multiple district know the problems involved when you try to break down a city into single districts. You have already had that city broken down in many respects; you have your wards, your precincts, you have in the alderman cities, at least, the areas — the different wards that they represent. If you further break it down in order to reach this as near equal vote as you can from each district, you may even have to cross precinct lines in order to do it, because some of our precincts in Grand Forks will be as many as 600 people, or even more. And so, to break that down into single districts would be even much more confusing than it is at the present time to the electorate and to the people involved.

We've talked a lot about giving more local control to the people back in these areas. This would be one step — further step in that direction — to guarantee that that would be done. We know that we've had some experience on this already. It's worked out very effectively in the short time that we have tried it and have worked under the plan that was set up by the courts for us to work under. We feel, Mr. President, that this would be an improvement in the proposal and would get the job done. We hope that the delegates seriously consider this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I'd like to oppose the amendment. It's unfortunate that we all feel that we should have reapportionment in this State, but nobody wants to do it, and I feel that the amendment introduced by Delegate Longmire brings us right back into the legislative arena and allows them to participate in reapportionment, which has been proven futile in the past. It also allows constitutional designation to the majority and minority leaders of the State Legislature, and I think that's unfortunate. I think we've got to recognize that the particular reapportionment plan as outlined by Delegate Longmire, as I said, puts us back into the legislative ring. There's no indication — of course, this commission could appoint legislators, too. The Supreme Court will ultimately pass judgment on this. I think that the proposed — the proposal 1-29 as outlined by the Committee is a sound plan. True, it's a plan that's never been used; it's unique, as Delegate Dobson said. It can work, and I hope that you will defeat this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

Delegate Longmire's proposed amendment addresses two topics — one the kind of commission we should have for reapportionment and, secondly, the actual reapportionment.

As long as the Chair has ruled that we will be dividing Committee Proposal 1-29, I would move that — I think it's two separate subjects, and I think we can dispose of them much better if we would treat them separately.

I would move that Delegate Longmire's proposed amendment to Section 4 be divided on the ninth line — at the period in the ninth line. If you will count down nine lines, and I think it would fit neatly if the Convention wants to take his as opposed to the divided question on Article 29 that just relates to the question of the composition of the commission, and I think we could address ourselves to those topics separately, without damaging either party's side on the question.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I would like to comment on the point as to whether or not reapportionment is a non-judicial question. I think I've been as anxious as anyone over the years —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce, just one moment, please.

Delegate Kelsch, this is a little different situation now. It's customary, when you divide a question — normally, when you divide a question, you are dividing it at the point that you are going to vote on it, and if someone would like to move — If you'd like to move that this be divided here. I'll accept the motion; but I don't believe that I should decide on my own prerogative that this amendment can be divided at this particular place.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I appreciate that, and I would like to make that motion, and if I get a second, I'll explain why.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Kelsch, and it's been seconded by Delegate Lander, that we divide this amendment so that it can be considered on two different premises.

Now, is there any further discussion? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think that, by doing this, we'll direct our attention, first, to how should the reapportionment board be constituted. The board can either take the committee's recommendation that it be done by an appointed committee, appointed by the District Judges, or they can take Delegate Longmire's amendment, and I think the lines will fit right in, and it would not destroy the continuity of either proposal. They can take Delegate Longmire's amendment that calls for a reapportionment commission named by the Legislature, and then we can move on to the question of multi senatorial districts, which, I think, follows the two different items of argument.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on dividing the amendment.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I'm wondering how this kind of a division at this particular time might affect some of our other rules. I'm thinking about being germane so that if we're dividing when we consider an amendment, that then we'd have to stick to the subject in whichever part of the division we were on, and then, if that were the case, what about the individual member of this assembly speaking twice?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Baker, in order to answer your question then, I would rule that, first, we will have for consideration the first portion — the portion down to where it starts "Two representatives," and we'll consider that portion of it first, and then we will proceed on from there. Does that answer your question?

DELEGATE BAKER: So that there wouldn't be — they wouldn't be counted as speaking on it twice, if one person spoke on each section?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's correct.

DELEGATE BAKER: Thank you.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I certainly have no objections to dividing the questions here. I admit that there are two questions involved; however, the second — or the last part of the amendments sets up the procedure under which the commission would operate, and that part, of course, should be considered, I think, and it is identical with the — or almost identical with the procedure as set up in the commission that was in the proposal — the commission to be named by the judges. So I would assume that we'd be discussing the procedure along with it, too; but we could agree on where that starts, and that starts on the second page of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are the delegates aware of the place where the question will be divided?

Hearing none — everyone apparently is aware. Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, I'm quite confused the way this thing is being developed. I would like to speak in opposition to both proposals — both the Longmire and the Committee Proposal, and then having them divided, to which part am I going to talk?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, right at the moment, Delegate Cart, the question before the Convention is on Delegate Kelsch's motion to divide the question, and we'll consider that first part of this recommended amendment first.

As many as are in favor of the motion as offered by Delegate Kelsch will say "aye;" those opposed say "no."

The "ayes" have it and the question is now divided.

Now, if we can give our attention to the first one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight — eight lines in Section 4 of the proposed amendment.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, the debate is now limited, as I understand it, to the type of commission.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Very well. I wish to speak against the Longmire amendment.

Now, first of all, in doing so, I have to relate back to the Committee Proposal. I don't know what District Judges Delegate Longmire talked to. Evidently, they are different ones than the ones I talked to, because the ones I talked to didn't see any problem here, and they considered it as a quasi judicial commission. We are not adding to the workload of District Judges. This job of appointing is going to be done once every ten years and they can maybe find a day in their schedule once every ten years to do this. So that's why we went along with Justice Erickstad's idea — not recommendation, but idea — that the District Judges possibly could do the appointing. This is not an example of extending the jurisdiction of one branch of government into another. We're creating a citizens commission to do the reapportioning and, besides that, the judicial branch is already involved in legislative reapportionment and they're going to stay involved because we're letting the Supreme Court review the final plan.

Now, on to the amendment.

This would create a partisan commission. That is objection No. 1.

Objection No. 2: The amendment is going to give constitutional status to the minority floor leader. This is not a constitutional office. This is a job. It's a position — a transitory position at that. There is no protection built into the amendment for a third party, if one should ever develop again in the future. We used to have, in effect, three parties in North Dakota — the NPL, the ROC, and the Democrats. Well, if a situation like that ever developed again, the minority faction of the majority party would be completely frozen out of this process.

Now, the people that are appointed would seem to me to have as their first inclination to protect the seat of the person who appointed them and, also, legislators are not barred from serving on this commission. It could be an all-legislative commission, and that is something we want to get away from. I am confident of that. But the most serious defect, as I see it, is in the language stating which district shall be equal to each other, and here the key words are "in the number of persons entitled to representation." The Committee wrestled with the wording of its proposal for a long time, and we called up Mr. Robert G. Dixon of George Washington Law School to get some assistance on this. He is the author of the book Democratic Representation, and he is, I believe, the foremost authority on reapportionment in this country, and we explained the problems from the air bases, and so forth, and he recommended that, if we want to deny the air bases senators, we stay from such words as "persons" and "inhabitants" because that's basing it on population, and that is why the Committee used the language that one voter is equal to every other voter.

So, Mr. President, I would say that if the delegates from the rural districts in the western part of the State want to give up one of their senators and two of their representatives — give them to the Minot Air Force Base and let them be elected by the 146 voters, then vote for this amendment. If the people from the rural districts in the eastern part of the state want to give up one of their senators and two of their representatives and give them to the Grand Forks Air Force Base and have them elected by 110 voters, then vote for this amendment. Otherwise, I urge you to stand by the Committee and reject the amendment.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I agree with Delegate Longmire that reapportionment should be a legislative function, and our Committee Proposal doesn't do violence to that, but if you look directly at the Legislature and the problems we create by giving these duties to them, I think you should agree that it just hasn't worked in the past. The only time the Legislature did attempt to reapportion, the courts had reviewed it and struck it down. You are into problem areas where the legislators themselves have a vested interest, first of all in their own seats; secondly, in the control by the — or gerrymandering as to the various parties.

Now, the Longmire proposal calls for a commission then that would be named half by the majority party and half by the minority political party, with the governor to select the tie breaker. You could almost be assured that it is the tie breaker that's going to reapportion the State, and I think that what we tried to do in the Committee with the Proposal, with a committee of electors named by the judges, was try to remove it as remotely from the political arena as possible, so that the people can be represented fairly, and I'm not concerned about the judiciary here, because the fact of the matter is that it's going to be the judiciary that's ultimately to decide the question, and I would urge that you give the Committee Proposal creating an independent body to do this your careful consideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I wanted to correct a misunderstanding that I think Delegate Dobson had of Judge Erickstad's statement.

I don't think that Judge Erickstad really projected this idea of district judges doing the nominating. He was asked the question and expressed no serious opposition to it. He said he hadn't thought about it a great deal, and I think maybe Delegate Dobson maybe misunderstood his remarks.

I also wanted to point out and reiterate what Delegate Dobson has said about the third-party factor. I think third parties are a real possibility in the future, and the Longmire proposal does not make any arrangement for that eventuality, which is a serious defect.

Finally, the Committee discussed at great length the topical question of whether this is a judicial or legislative function, and I think a good case can be made to demonstrate that, in the final analysis, this is a judicial matter, because the protection of the rights of the people to representation is at stake; it is not the representation itself that is at stake; but the protection of those rights, and I think a good case can be made for the idea that this is, as a matter of fact, a judicial function.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President. I don't know what District Judges Delegate Longmire talked to either, but on account of geography, I suspect that Delegate Dobson and I may have talked to some of the same District Judges, and I found this about Judges: They're kind of like the rest of us. When they're talking to a newsman, they're likely to give the kind of answer they think the newsman wants; and since I'm a sometimes-newsman, I had a different impression, and that was that while the District Judges would not resist this kind of an involvement, they would not treat it very seriously, either. It's a job they have to do, so they make the appointment and let it go at that, without giving it a lot of thought, probably; whereas I can assure you that the presiding officer of the House, the presiding officer of the Senate, the minority leaders of the two houses, would give it a lot of thought. They would surely make a selection which they thought would contribute the most to their particular point of view, and that might turn out to be partisan, but at this point, a least, it would surely be bipartisan, wouldn't it? The governor would break the tie in any case. And so far as I am concerned, that's plenty of involvement in the reapportionment process by another branch of government.

Now, so far as the other operation is concerned, as I see this, and I believe I'm correct, there is little or no difference between the Committee Proposal and the amendment as proposed by Delegate Longmire. The overriding consideration, it seems to me, here is whether we want to strike out on a bold new course, possibly showing the way for other states how to do this, or whether we want to be a little bit more cautious and rely on a different application of the same principle that we know about — we know the shortcomings of it — and with the thought of improving that process on the same foundation that has been constructed before, and I favor very strongly the Longmire amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

A statement has been made that a legislator could be appointed by the Longmire proposal, which I favor. That is right. But I believe that a knowledgeable legislator could be appointed under either proposal.

Another — at least the way I read it — another reference was made to partisan politics, and I remember a meeting that I was at right after our present governor was elected, and we were setting up a bipartisan group, and somebody called it a nonpolitical group, and the governor mentioned, he said, "I don't believe you can ever have a nonpolitical group. You can have a bipartisan group. No matter who appoints anybody to anything, it is never a nonpolitical group."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I believe that, if you will turn to page 2 — and Delegate Decker referred to a legislator could be appointed — I think that would eliminate — what is that? — page 2 on line 10.

Mr. President: Members of the Assembly:

I favor the District Judges forming a committee. Now, I can see the six districts each probably having two members on this reapportionment commission, and these members would know their area; they'd know the trade areas, the counties, how the different counties voted, the different cities the people go to and trade areas should be considered. I keep thinking of the last reapportionment, where the Supreme Court Judges did it. In Towner County, for example, a long county was divided and completely removed then from the political arena. Towner County got Towner County, and they feel they have been completely sliced off, and I'm sure Delegate Nicholas would have some comment here.

Now, if we had had the representation from the districts on this reapportionment commission, instead of people in politics that you're going to get, this would not have happened, or the judges doing it, sitting alone and not taking into consideration trade areas. I think this is very important. We want the people to participate in government, and the minute you start dividing the state up and slicing it, you're not taking into consideration trade areas, et cetera. I think you're losing people in political parties and people's participation.

An area in Benson County, for example, was removed and taken into another district. They felt they were completely disenfranchised and had to go to a new area. These county lines are still there.

Now, I feel that a commission made up of people from the different commissioner districts — or judicial districts would know their trade areas and would take that into consideration. The legislators do not take that into consideration. They would be continually barraged with comments from other legislators — “Protect my seat. Protect my seat.” I’ve seen it! Delegate Longmire has seen it, and any legislator has seen it when they sat through the ’65 and the last session.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President, a question. I’m not sure it’s germane to this particular part of the thing that we’re talking about, but it affects my vote, and I’d like to know. Apparently this is going to end up in the Supreme Court, irregardless of what type of a commission we vote, and the Supreme Court then reviews it and okays it or doesn’t okay it.

Is that the way this is supposed to work, or do they then take it over and realign it themselves?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does someone wish to answer the question? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Under either plan, the Supreme Court, in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, may review any plan adopted by the commission. So, as I see it, it would take a suit to bring it before the Supreme Court. There is not an automatic review of either plan.

Now, just commenting briefly on the matter of legislators sitting on the commission. Under the Longmire amendment, legislators would be eligible to serve. Under the Committee Proposal, legislators would not be eligible to serve. It might be interesting to speculate what kind of people would wind up being appointed by the District Judges. I would guess that maybe some former legislators, who no longer have a self-interest in the process, might wind up on the commission. You might have some county auditors. You might have an expert in population statistics from North Dakota State University — generally non-political, disinterested people who could be expected to do a good job.

Now, the Longmire amendment is somewhat similar to what was included in the new Illinois Constitution. What has been their experience? They appointed a partisan commission. Naturally, it wound up split four-to-four. So the tie-breaker came along. He reapportioned. Right away it was appealed to the federal courts, and that’s where it is now.

I urge the Convention: Don’t adopt a plan which is simply going to default this back to the federal judiciary.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase, you have the floor.

DELEGATE CHASE: Well, I think you answered the part about it may end up; but we’ll say it doesn’t end up in the Supreme Court; they only have the power, as I understand the thing, to either okay or not okay such a plan. Is that right? They cannot take over and then adopt a plan to fit what they think it should be. Is that right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman. The answer to Delegate Chase: You will find that Sections 29 and 35 have been declared unconstitutional in a case entitled Paulson versus Meyer. So I can answer: The Supreme Court in that case ordered the Legislature to reapportion, and the Legislature again failed to do the job, and I repeat: they failed to do the job, despite what the original Constitution said in 1889 — that every legislative district should be equal in population, and that thing went down the hill from 1889 until we were forced to go to court in 1965. The Supreme Court ordered the Legislature to reapportion. It tried to duck around it and it ducked around it a little bit, and finally the court — it did come back with a plan that was pretty good, and there was just one minor change made by the court, but the final plan finally was approved by the Legislature.

So you have a choice. The Supreme Court has a choice: It can order a reapportionment by itself; it can do it; but actually, it wound up in District Court — U. S. District Court — and that's where final action was taken, because the — pardon me — the North Dakota Supreme Court kind of shuffled around the thing, but it was the three-judge Federal Court that made the final order for the Legislature to redistrict. Essentially, the plan of the Committee is to set up a commission which will do a job, and I assure you, if a good job is done, nine times or twenty times out of twenty-three, it won't be taken to court. The people will be satisfied with a proper distribution and proper boundaries. It's only when the politicians fail to do the job that we must go to court.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

Although no subsequent speakers followed up Delegate Dobson's comment about who the voters would be that would be involved here, it is in the particular section on which we are going to vote, and in order to keep the issue even more pure, I have prepared an amendment which is at the desk and which would be offered if the Longmire amendment were adopted — at least the portion which would reinstate the Committee — the proposal as far as a division is concerned. I make that point here so that whatever we think about the relative merits of the commission, we can make that decision now and we'll have an opportunity subsequently to make the other decision.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President. Quite a little discussion has revolved around the failure of the Legislature to reapportion itself. I want to defend the Legislature, at least for the last twelve years, because they have had no opportunity and no authority. That was taken away from them in 1960 by the people in this State when they voted to freeze the then-existing legislative districts into the Constitution. So the Legislature, from that time on, has never had any authority to do any reapportioning. So I want to give you a few figures on who caused all this.

In 1960, when the vote was up, Cass County cast 12,763 "yes" votes, 4,755 "no," or gave a margin of 8,004 to freezing the districts into the Constitution. Grand Forks County cast 6,634 votes for, 2,874 against, or a margin in favor of 3,760. Ward County cast 4,858 votes in favor of freezing the districts and 3,023 in opposition, or a margin in favor of freezing the districts of 1,835. Williams County cast 2,795 votes in favor of freezing the districts and 1,706 against, or a margin of 1,089.

Then, when the Legislature came down here in 1961 and found its hands tied, nothing actually was done, and instead of going back and correcting the error that the people of North Dakota made, they waited until after the Supreme Court decision in the Tennessee case, and then went to federal court, and these four counties are the ones that supplied 14,000 — I'll get the figure — 14,688 of the 17,473 votes that it carried by statewide.

A number of these small counties that the finger of scorn was pointed at turned down the proposal, eighteen of them. So the problem goes right back to the population centers that put this thing over. Now, we've got this thing before us again, and I claim it is the Legislature's responsibility to do this apportionment job. You move it farther and farther away from the people and they're deprived of a voice in this very important matter all over this State, whether it's the Committee Proposal of a commission of nine members selected by the District Court, and they say they'll guarantee — well, what kind of a guarantee is it? Are they going to put up a surety bond to guarantee something? Would any surety bonding company write a bond to guarantee something like that? I don't think so.

Or you go to the Longmire proposal, where you have nine members somewhat removed away from the public. Would you have them do the job? I don't think that's good either. I think this should be right back in the hands of the entire body and that they should do the job. And I have a proposal that's involved in Delegate Proposal 2-52, which would, I think, cure that matter. It's pretty harsh, I'll admit that, but it would wipe out the districts at the end of the first session after each federal census and there would be no more districts, and the Legislature, if it ever expected to come back, would have to redistrict at that time.

Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

From the first day in Committee, I have maintained, as I do today, that reapportionment belongs in the hands of the Legislature, the legislative branch of our government. You cannot keep reapportionment out of politics; so it, therefore, follows that you should give both parties an equal chance to be heard and be represented.

I agree with Delegate Cart: I think that, primarily, this is the responsibility of the Legislature and that it should be placed there, first of all, and if they fail to reapportion within a certain specified period of time, then you could go to the reapportionment commission which is contained in Delegate Longmire's proposal. I think that some of the problems that Minnesota is experiencing right now with reapportionment would shake up a lot of state legislators and they would go about their business as they are supposed to do.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

It hasn't been mentioned yet — this particular item — and I thought I'd bring it up. I oppose the District Judges having anything whatsoever to do with it. In the first place, the Supreme Court — and Alvin Strutz, Chief Justice, I believe he has appeared in front of our Committee — and it is on tape, and I don't believe we'd ever find that particular day, but it's down there — and he testified that they were too busy and didn't have the staff and wanted to stay out of politics. Now, I maintain that they're a lot farther removed from politics than the District Judges, and I want to point out one little very practical matter: Every session of the Legislature the judges are in here with a great hue and cry about judicial reform and what it winds up is judicial salaries. That's what they mean by "reform." And I can just leave it up to you what would happen to any legislator who had opposed their raise in salaries and they were going to reapportion. In my case, I would wind up in Montana or South Dakota, because that's the only way they could do it. And I oppose the — or I support the amendment of Delegate Longmire and oppose this other one.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President. Since I do have a delegate proposal, 2-59, and since Delegate Longmire has patterned his amendment somewhat after this, I think I should speak for a moment in support of Delegate Longmire's proposal.

I have so many notes here I don't know where to start, but some I scratched out, I guess. One is in support of the Legislature. Delegate Cart brought out some of this supporting the fact that their hands were tied because of the fact that boundary lines have been frozen, and this happened in a number of states and is one reason why legislatures have not been able to reapportion. However, the amendment before you does not have it done by the Legislature; it is done by a committee or commission appointed by the Legislature. If you are concerned that the proposal before the Convention — this 1-29 — is a citizens' committee and the one before us now is not, you would only have to add one line on that second page as an amendment to the amendment, to say that "no legislator shall serve."

There have been a number of quotes given by Judges of the Supreme Court — or Justices — and I will read verbatim from the material he gave us when he appeared before the Legislative Functions Committee, of which I am a member. "Without discussing all the various methods used by the different states, I would think that you would want to give special consideration to a reapportionment article which would include in it the appointment of a bipartisan commission for redistricting."

I think, perhaps, unless someone wants to — well, I suppose this just shows that when you sit in Committee, you hear what you want to; but it's here in black and white. So I feel that we really have the approval of one of the Supreme Court Justices, at any rate, that a bipartisan commission would be a fairly-good way to go.

It has been mentioned that the amendment does not allow for a third party. This is true; but, also, I understand that there are a number of things that can be done by the Legislature, by law, or as provided by law, as we have used, and that one of these could be to provide for this by a legislative law. There are methods using the same type of a commission which other states have used when they have come to the point where they do have a third party.

I think that's the end of my notes, so I'll thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I was just sitting at my desk and I was thinking if I were regarded as having the ability to be appointed to one of these commissions, and as an average citizen, and probably no one is more average than myself, which commission would I prefer? And I would refuse appointment to the commission under the Longmire proposal, because I would feel that I wouldn't be as free if politically appointed, and I don't feel I would be as free as under the Committee Proposal appointment.

Another thing: If I were serving under the Committee appointment proposal as one of these people redistricting, I think I'd have more freedom and more power to call in witnesses, and I think that, as non-legislative members, we would have more power in calling in legislators to testify than if I were a member of the commission under the Longmire proposal. I don't think this would be burdensome upon the District Judges at all, and I also believe that we would have better geographic representation under the Committee Proposal than under the Longmire proposal.

For that reason, I oppose the Longmire proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, just a brief comment.

It has been stated here that it is a bipartisan commission in the Longmire proposal. It is not a bipartisan commission. The governor would be reapportioning the Legislature, simply and purely, because the governor would be the ninth member — four from each side of the political parties. The governor would then be reapportioning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is —

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: May I speak once more for the Committee, just briefly, Mr. President?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may speak.

DELEGATE SINNER: Very seriously, one of the reasons that the Committee majority felt that we should not put this back into the Legislature is the simple fact that, from the beginning of our Constitution, it was before the Legislature and the original Constitution required that the Legislature reapportion itself every 10 years, and there was a 30-year period when that provision was still in the Constitution when the Legislature just did not do it, and I — I think it's a very serious objection to putting it back in the Legislature, to do an objective job, and I don't think that it would be in any way fair for this body to decide on this matter with any overtones of political motive in what the Committee decided either way, because I think that the Committee gave this about as serious a thought as anything that it was bringing before this body. So I think you should be aware that it is not any frivolous idea.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, just two brief comments I thought we ought to clear up.

Delegate Dobson mentioned that, if you wanted to disenfranchise some of the western part of the State, that you go along with this and leave the Air Base in it. I think he misunderstands our geography in Grand Forks, at least, because the Air Base is not in a multiple district and has nothing whatsoever to do with the eighteenth district in which the Air Base is not located.

Now, to further get around some thinking in that connection: If this amendment passes, I will offer another amendment to the amendment, to strike out the word "persons" and put in the word "electors" in the first part of the Proposal on about the — oh, ninth line, or somewhere in there, where it says "persons entitled to representation." We would change that to "electors."

Also, I have no objection to removing a legislator — disqualifying a legislator from those who could sit on the commission to be appointed as named herein. However, I think it would be good to have one or more legislators on that commission myself, because they have been wrestling with these problems for years; they know all of the problems that they have been facing, just as I think it was good to have a sprinkling of legislators in this Constitutional Convention that we're under at the present time. I feel proud that I've been able to serve in the State Legislature for 16 years. I resent any insinuation that, because I am in the State Legislature, that somehow or other, I'm going to look with evil or in some bad way on serving on a commission of this kind, to try to rig this for my own district or some other district in the State. I think you'll find that the legislators, if they did serve on that commission, would serve with the same dedication and devotion as those of us who are here in this body have tried to serve since we started this Convention. But if there is a strong feeling in that connection, that you want to bar some of the very people who know most about this or who have at least had more experience with it in wrestling with it over the last few years, why then I would have no serious objection to it, and if this amendment should pass, why then I would certainly offer the first amendment and I'd oppose the second one

Now, certainly this commission is not perfect. I would certainly go for any other type of commission that one could come forward with on this, other than mixing it with the judiciary. This is the only way that I could think of, after reading and studying Delegate Hendrickson's proposal, to come up with a commission where it would be bipartisan. How do we know this one that the judges appoint is not going to be loaded one way or the other politically? We have no assurance of that. We have to take some calculated risks when we are delving into a situation of this kind, and I certainly think this commission, if it were set up on this basis, they would take their job seriously. They would be dedicated. We would have it away from the judges and no connection with it. I think we would get a good apportionment plan through a commission of this kind.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Two things, very briefly:

First, it is true that if a senator were given the Grand Forks Air Force Base, he may not become part of the multi-member eighteenth district, but the Grand Forks Air Force Base is located in Mekinock Township and there's enough population there to justify a township. In the 1970 general election there were 110 votes cast in that township. Now, certainly, in my arguments, at least, no insinuation was intended against Delegate Longmire. We all know that he has been an outstanding member of the State Senate for many years. We also know that the Legislature as a whole has failed to reapportion in the past. There is no reason or expectation that the Legislature or a commission thereof would do the job in the future.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the first line in Section 4 — the first sentence. There's a little difference there — the first sentence in Section 4 of the amendment as offered by Delegate Longmire. Is there any question now on what you are voting on?

Those in favor of adopting this portion of the amendment will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "noes" have it and the amendment lost.

DELEGATE BAKER: Division!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested.

A division will be granted.

Again, the question is on the adoption of the first sentence in Section 4 of the amendment as offered by Delegate Longmire.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The key will be opened. You will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The vote indicates 31 "ayes" and 63 "nays." The amendment fails.

We will proceed with the amendment. We have the one which starts with "Two representatives shall be elected . . ." We will continue with proposed amendment to Committee Report No. 1-29 on the amendment, and we'll start with further consideration or consideration starting with "Two representatives shall be elected at large . . ."

Now, is there any discussion on this part of the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Like Delegate Longmire, I come from one of the multi-member districts — the twenty-first district — which has four senators and eight representatives, all elected at large. But, unlike Delegate Longmire, I don't feel that the system is working very well. I think it's common knowledge that the twenty-first district, which comprises Fargo and West Fargo, is a district in which one party has an effective majority. I suspect that the figures are possibly something like 45 percent minority party, 55 percent majority party. I am not exactly sure what they are. But at least there is an effective minority, so that when there is an at-large election, there's very little point in the minority party putting up any slate whatsoever, and what has happened in the twenty-first district is that the two-party system has been pretty well killed. There are some areas of that twenty-first district in which there is pretty much an even division, in which an election, if it were a senatorial district, might go either way, particularly if one man were running against one man or two representatives were running against two representatives. The outcome would be in doubt. But, in this multi-member district, in which there are twelve people — or four Senators running against four senators, eight representatives running against eight representatives, the minority party has no chance whatever — a fact which was realized in the last election when the Democrats put up no slate whatsoever. What happens in a case like this is that you are reducing the city to a one-party system similar to that in the South, and the temptation is very great, if the decision is to be made in the primary, to go into the primary where the action is to decide who the candidates are going to be. I think this is very unfortunate. I don't believe in it; but I think it's inevitable. It has happened in the South. It will happen anywhere, where you have the one-party system, and you have no choice in the fall. If the battle is to be in the spring, that's where the people are going to go, and this destroys the two-party system. This has pretty well happened, as I say, in Fargo. I am not sure what the situation is in the other parts of the State.

Now, there is — Senator Longmire's proposal does have what I would call some window dressing. It would allow the people of these multi-member electoral districts to decide whether they want to divide the district into several parts. This is something like asking the cat to guarantee the civil rights of the mouse, but his natural instinct is to gobble them up. I think it's asking quite a bit of human nature to ask one party voluntarily to toss away a sure senatorial seat and several certain representative seats when they don't have to do it. Obviously, this decision to break up these multi-member districts has to be made at this level. It cannot be made at the local level, in which one party has a considerable majority in a whole district. I look with some skepticism on the original proposal, which allowed for two-senator districts with four representatives, and two senators to be elected at large. I don't think this is very good. But it is certainly an improvement on this effort to freeze our present unsatisfactory multi-member districts into the Constitution.

I urge that you vote against this amendment. Thank you.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think, as you consider Delegate Longmire's proposed amendment to the multi or single-senator district problem, you should consider the Committee's action. We, of course, had extensive debates on this question, with some of us advocating multi-senator districts and some advocating single-senator districts; and, frankly, what we're proposing in 1-29 is a compromise. What it does — it allows the combining of two senatorial districts, but not more than two. It allows for the representatives in the combined or single-senatorial districts to be elected either at large or from subdistricts. It places the responsibility of this decision upon the reapportioning commission. It was our belief that this commission would, where a city was involved, combine the districts in the case of senators — two senators — and elect them at large, because that's probably what the people in that area would want, and could allow for subdistricts or districts at large in the rest of the state as far as representatives are concerned. This is, frankly, a compromise. The Committee felt that it doesn't satisfy the single-district people and it doesn't satisfy the multi-district people; but we felt it is a middle-of-the-road approach. It is practical. We felt that it probably would withstand a court test. We know multi-senator districts which are being challenged at this time, they're proper — they're not illegal — but they may not stand that test. But we thought combining the two would not be so extreme that the courts would interfere. And so it's a compromise, and I think it's a workable compromise, and we ask your careful consideration of it.

One of the problems in Delegate Longmire's proposal is that he gives to the electors the choice of whether they should be combined or not, and I don't know how you'd hold those elections in advance of the reapportionment, so the reapportionment commission would know what to do. I think you've got a practical problem, and these are some of the things we looked at. It would be nice if you give the electors this choice, but you'd have to hold statewide elections and out of what districts would you hold them, because we don't have the districts established when they're supposed to be reapportioned. So I think it's a serious mechanical problem; but I think we have come up with a compromise, and I hope it is acceptable.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President, I rise to oppose the amendment by Delegate Longmire, also. I have had a rather unique position in being the one multi-member senator with 14 in the opposition party across the aisle, and I might say that I think that the points that were brought out by Delegate Vogel certainly hold true, except perhaps for our districts, in which there has been a competitive two-party system operating and where the chance of the minority party at least gaining some of the seats has been consistent.

Now, I'll grant that has not been true in our sister large cities, and I've been all too cognizant of that as a senator. On the other hand, I've also had the distinct and, I guess you might call it a privilege of having been sued by a member of this chamber and another person for having been one of the winners in the multi-member district elections, along with my 14 Republican colleagues in the Senate, and I know that the Court there took a different view. But I would speak mostly, I think, to a different approach, and that would be one that is brought out in the North Dakota Law Review, which Delegate Dobson made reference to, and the last paragraph there is a very important one, because it says: "Delegates should also consider returning to a single-senator district system. It simply is not fair to allow a voter in an urban district to participate in the election of four senators while his neighbor in a rural district participates in the election of only one Senator."

Let's look at that for just a moment. My good friend here to the right, Delegate Rundle, from the thirty-ninth district, has one senator and the people of his district have the use and availability of the use of that one senator's work in the Legislative Assembly; but my neighbor in Minot, very politically aware — a bricklayer — spends a lot of time working on all four of us senators in Minot and gets a lot of attention from all four — excuse me — now we have three — probably four. He works hard on all three of our present senators to the extent of influencing their vote on the issues, and I don't think it is fair at all, and it certainly is a miscarriage of justice to suggest that city voters ought to be represented by this whole plethora of elected officials, rather than a specific one elected in original and differentiated parts of his city for that part of his city.

Now, I know this district — the one we are currently meeting in — that there's an area over across the tracks here that votes for the minority party rather heavily, but you know that district has not had any representation in this body for some time, because when that vote is tallied in with all the rest of the votes in this city, three-quarters of the City of Bismarck, that little area is in one way wiped out, and I don't think that that is fair representation either. And so I think the day when we suggest that the multi-member district, even with a vote — I don't see how those people over across the tracks here in Bismarck could get enough of a vote to put a multi-member senator — a single-member district in. They couldn't win that one if they can't win anybody to be elected either in the House or in the Senate in this district. So I think the question is almost a moot one of the compromise which Delegate Longmire says he has in that amendment. So I speak in total opposition to the amendment from several points of view.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I, also, come from a multi-senator district. Fargo, incidentally, does have a Democrat mayor, but we are still able to come up with some opposition to him once in awhile. So far, we haven't been successful. But I fail to see how Delegate Vogel's statement about a one-party comment is valid for that reason. The fact is the Republicans have put up such good legislative candidates that they've had the support of both parties. (Laughter) And, incidentally, they represent all of the people of Fargo, not just a fourth of them. When they're elected on an at-large basis, they represent not only their neighbors, but their employers, their employees and their fellow workers, some of whom they probably know their problems better than they know the problems of their neighbors.

Delegate Longmire's amendment is a logical step toward keeping senatorial districts in compliance with the uniqueness of the State of North Dakota. The substantive committees are justifiably proud and jealous of their proposals because of all the work and discussion and research that has gone into their committee proposals. It is indeed fortunate we have had these dedicated committees present their thoughts to this Plenary Session. Their time has not been in vain. Each proposal has led to further consideration by about six times as many heads and invariably has led to sounder and better final action. The Longmire amendment to 1-29 is no exception.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President, I want to rise to oppose not only this amendment, but the other one, and so that Delegate Cart doesn't feel bad, I want to oppose his Delegate Proposal, also; and I also oppose the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling of one-man-one-vote. I firmly believe that the only possible way that the rural areas can get adequate representation is to have one senator from each county.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: First of all, Mr. President, a little background on the discussions in our Committee. We didn't consider this matter of single or multi senator districts on a political basis — Republican versus Democrat. I guess in our Committee we've got about twelve Republicans and five Democrats and a couple independents, and Paulson won't tell us what he is.

Anyway, the Committee generally felt that, to be on safe constitutional ground, we should first establish the principle of the single-senator district. Then we had discussion about the multi-member districts and how large they should be. The Committee — a substantial majority thereof — was against large multi-member districts, and we wound up with a compromise, as was explained by Delegate Kelsch.

Now, going on to the Longmire amendment: I have several objections to it. Some are technical in nature and others are quite substantial.

First of all, a technical one: He allocates two representatives. Now, the Committee said at least two, because of the possibility in the future that if the Senate is reduced in size, we may want to go to a three-to-one ratio. I'm a little surprised down here on the sixth line from the bottom of the Longmire amendment, on page 1, to find the word "townships." This is the first time "townships" has shown up on this floor, and I'm surprised that the Chairman of the Political Subdivisions Committee has brought it before us, because in the article on political subdivisions, "townships" were never once mentioned.

Also, we have a technical problem here, because in the thirty-second district there is attached to Bismarck not only townships, but unorganized territory.

Now, my more substantial objections to the amendment are these: What we're doing under the Longmire amendment is creating a special class of citizens out of the general population. City people will be able to do things in their districts that rural people won't be able to do. I question the constitutionality of that. Also, the procedure for doing these things in the urban districts is very difficult and unwieldy — probably unworkable. So I think that — rather, I urge the rejection of this portion of the Longmire amendment. And then, with the Committee Proposal back before us, if anyone wants to offer an amendment to combine two or three or four senatorial districts, or whatever, I suggest the amendments of a multi-member-district nature be directed against the Committee Proposal, and I urge you to reject the Longmire proposal here because, one, it's unworkable and, two, it's on very shaky constitutional ground.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention, as the Chair understands it, is starting on the second sentence in Section 4, where it starts with "Two representatives," and from there on through the balance of the proposed amendment.

You have heard the question. Those in favor will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, may I request a division?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, what was your request? You request a division?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: One, two, three, four — a division is granted. Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: May that be a recorded division?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes. There were at least ten people standing, so we'll grant a recorded division.

The question, again, is on the adoption of the second portion, starting with "Two representatives," on Section 4, and it is pertaining to the Longmire amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-29.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate indicated his preference? The key is closed.

The roll call indicates 33 "ayes," 63 "nays," two delegates absent and not voting. The amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-29 has been defeated.

Is there anything — any announcements at the desk?

We have two announcements. Will you read these?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Brakke would like to announce that Representative Gronberg from Hannaford, District Twenty-three, is in attendance.

Delegate Aubol would like to announce that Representative William Erickson of Stanley, North Dakota, is in attendance, from District Four.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are these legislators in the assembly? If they're with us, if they'll advance to the rail and be recognized by the Convention.

Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

If you haven't been up in the west balcony to have your picture taken, they would like to have them finished up today, if it's possible, so the proofs could be gotten back in time for next week.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair would like to announce a short meeting of the six substantive committee chairmen. Stan, I'm sure that's okay with you.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes. Okay.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In my office, immediately after we recess.

And if there's nothing further to come before the group at this moment, we will recess for 15 minutes.

(The Session recessed at 2:56 P.M. until 3.30 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order. We'll be on the eighth order of business — announcements.

The Clerk at the desk has an announcement.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Engelter has three students who are in the Bismarck-Mandan Junior Achievement Program. This is a program whereby the high school students operate and manage a small-scale corporation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the students rise and receive the recognition of the Convention? (Applause)

We still have Committee Proposal 1-29 before the Convention.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I have a short amendment at the desk which I would like to move at this time. The effect of the amendment would be to eliminate the last sentence on the first page of the engrossed copy in the book.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would the Clerk read the proposed amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-29:

On page 1 of the engrossed proposal, in line 23, delete everything after the word "thereof."

Delete all of lines 24 and 25.

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sanstead.

Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President, I see as questionable the authority given to the commission to combine the two senatorial districts and provide for electing all of the senators and representatives in that double-sized district at large. It appears that this authority could be used by the commission for gerrymandering purposes. At least it makes that much more possible. It has especially hazardous possibilities concerning the rights of farmers and rural people. A district under this could be arranged so that the people in a town in a double district could have all six of the senators and representatives from that district. That could not happen in a single-member district. Also, this gives authority to the commission to reduce the number of districts in the State to as low as 24, and even less, depending on the size of the Senate which the commission itself has established. That, in my opinion, makes entirely too few districts in a state of this size. Moreover, in smaller districts the people are more apt to know their candidates and representatives in the Legislature, and I regard that as a more wholesome arrangement than when people are represented by people that are likely to be strangers to them. With more districts and smaller districts, the Legislature is kept closer to the people and, in my opinion, this is preferable.

These are the reasons for the amendment, Mr. President.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I would hope the Convention would reject the proposed amendment. We've rejected the wide-open, multi-member senatorial districts that Delegate Longmire — or at least the ones we had at four and three senators. We rejected that on the theory, I felt, this was a fair compromise between the two conflicting viewpoints, and Judge Maxwell is proposing we go to single-senator districts, and I think there are occasions in North Dakota where allowing the combining of the two-senator districts, you may in many cases be able to keep the county intact. In some of our cities you at least allow some united representation on city problems. So I would urge the Convention to defeat the proposed amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I, also, urge the Convention to defeat the amendment. I feel that the compromise by the Committee was a good one and that the commission has the flexibility with the Proposal as is.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Maxwell.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I only want to say that there was a group of this Committee that agreed this sentence was bad; but it was a minority group and we in Committee also tried to get this sentence out, and I agree with the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'm sorry. I wasn't in the chamber when they started the discussion on the amendment, but this would, in effect, have me represent a piece of pie at Grand Forks, and I like pie pretty well, but I don't like the idea of representing a sliver of the city, and this is exactly what would happen. I don't think I could represent my people well. I don't think we could divide it up in a good way. I urge the defeat of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the amendment — Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I happen to come from the City of Fargo. I oppose the amendment. I think we've conceded quite a bit already. We've done the work in the City of Fargo and this was long before politics entered into this thing at all. We all went to work with the idea we had one town, and we still do have one town, in just about everything we're doing there — city government — everything that has to do with it — churches — the churches aren't divided up, the park districts aren't divided up, the City Commission isn't divided up. The mayoralty isn't divided up. Nothing is divided up. Now we intend to divide this thing down to the very smallest unit, and I would oppose this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Philosophically, I guess I agree with the decisions of the courts that have been made that we should have single-member districts; but in this case, I think that there was a compromise already made in the Committee, and we agreed to report out a plan that was somewhere between what a minority and what a majority of the Committee wanted, and I think that the two-member district is something that we can all live with. I think there probably might be minor discriminations between the two-member district and the one-member district, but I think those are the kinds of things that we can live with. After all, the whole electoral system isn't all that perfect anyway, and this is manageable and it's possible, and I think I would urge that we support the Committee recommendation as it stands.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Maxwell.

No further discussion? Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye," those opposed say "nay." The "noes" have it and the amendment lost.

We are back on Committee Proposal No. 1-29.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I have, I think, a technical amendment. On line 24, I would move that we add the words "at large" after the word "senators" on line 24. If I get a second, I'll explain the reason.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I want to make this clear: That where the commission may combine two senatorial districts and provide for the elected senators, it goes on to read as it was before — "and representatives at large" from sub-districts thereof, and when we talk about combining two senatorial districts, the only reason you combine them is to elect the senators at large, and I think the language wasn't clear before. So, if you do combine, the senators will be elected at large. "The commission may combine two senatorial districts and provide for the election of senators and representatives at large or from subdistricts thereof." If you do that, you're not really doing any combining, except in terms of numbers. So I think adding the words "at large" after the word "senators", it would make it clear that the senators would be elected at large.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the amendment.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion was seconded by Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hildebrand.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: I rise to oppose the amendment, because I didn't read it that way. You read it as a continuous sentence, and it says "provide for the election of senators and representatives at large." I think it's right the way it is — from the same district, from the same subdistricts — yes.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Delegate Kelsch is simply trying to clarify Committee intent, and I think his amendment is a good one. If it is adopted, it would be perfectly clear that the Senators — or the two senators would be elected at large, while the four representatives may either be at large or from districts containing two each.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you read the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-29:

On page 1 of the engrossed proposal, in line 24, after the word "senators" insert the words "at large" — and renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any questions? Any further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Kelsch.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

We're still on Committee Proposal No. 1-29 before the Convention.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: May I inquire? We have not — the question is still divided. Is there three parts to it or —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There still is two parts, unless the lady agrees that she no longer requests that the question be divided — Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE KELSCH: For a point of information, Mr. President. We treated Section 4 in two parts, but there's a matter on page 2 that I don't know that would be considered with it. Is that a separate part?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm confused on your question. The request from Delegate Hendrickson was on Article II, and that was — that was where? — about one, two, three, four, five, six, seven — on the eighth line, where it reads "legislative offices." That's where she requested that the question be divided. Now, if she still requests that —

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: May I withdraw my request?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may.

The question before the Convention —

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I would move that the Rules be suspended and that Proposal — that 1-29 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch moves that the Rules be suspended, Committee Proposal 1-29 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

The motion was seconded by Delegate McIntyre.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The Committee Proposal No. 1-29 is again before the Convention.

The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-29 as amended.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Meidinger votes "aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Meidinger votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The key is closed.

The roll call discloses 79 "ayes," 16 "ayes," two delegates absent and not voting.

Committee Proposal No. 1-29 has passed.

We will now have for consideration Committee Proposal 1-89. That was — was moved to a time certain — until such time as Delegate Pearce was in the room. He is here and has been for some time. We can take up further consideration of the amendment as offered to Committee Proposal 1-89 and offered by Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: With the permission of my second, I would like to change the amendment that I've made earlier, so that it would read the same as the one I have now, entitled "Last Proposed Amendment" — and I mean this is my last proposed amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is this an entirely new amendment, Delegate Thompson?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: It will have to be, because there are some more words left out, and I did correct the second paragraph, which I didn't intend to leave some words out of; so some have been added to that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I wonder if it maybe wouldn't be better if you would withdraw your earlier amendment and start anew again.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Yes. I move to withdraw my first amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And your second was Delegate Kwako, and if it's agreeable —

DELEGATE KWAKO: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will — and I'm sure, for the Convention, it would be less confusing; but we'll withdraw the earlier amendment as offered and proceed from that point.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Excuse me. I have the new amendment at the desk and I ask that it be read now.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will then consider the earlier amendment withdrawn, and the Clerk will read the new amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-89 is as follows:

Delete everything after line 9 of the engrossed proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the rights of the owner and without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages.

“However the legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service by depositing estimated just compensation into court for the owner. The legislative assembly shall provide the procedure and time limit for determination of damages, necessity, and public use in such cases.”

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

It's been moved and seconded. Any discussion?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'm kind of at a loss to do this. I think I'd like to talk, first, just on the first paragraph and I'd like to have you at this time look at the one that Mr. Pearce has sent around and, also, the one that Delegate Burbidge has sent around. Mine is substantially different than Delegate Pearce's in this way:

He provides that a property owner has protection, but he also provides only by the payment of money, and this doesn't satisfy me. So mine does provide for another determination that must be made. You must determine public use and you have to further protect the rights of the owner, and that's substantially the difference. Now, if you look at Delegate Burbidge's proposal, his is longer, and you kind of get the idea what our Committee was trying to do in that first paragraph by reading his proposal. But I don't subscribe to his because I don't think we need all those words.

Now, I misspoke myself this morning when I referred to the second paragraph. Through the transportation of my amendment back and forth, I did not get all of the words in that Delegate Omdahl did yesterday, and so that has been changed, so it reads now exactly the way that it was amended, and apparently approved by the body after we got through with the session on this matter yesterday. I don't think that it's necessary for me to say any more on this. I think, if you will remember that we want to protect the property owners not only by the payment of money, but his other rights, and this is done in the first paragraph, and that's substantially the question: Do you want to give the owner more rights than he has now or do you just want to protect him by the payment of money?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

Delegate Thompson, you refer to the proposal, which I am not calling the "ultimate proposal," which has my name on the top; however, I have since distributed this, the first thing this morning, adding the word "first" between the words "without protecting" and the amendment as the Clerk has it has the word "first," so that the thing would read "Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without first protecting the rights of the owner by the payment of all damages."

Now, my criticism of my colleague's — Delegate Thompson's — is that you're still in that first sentence substantially saying you shall not hang a man without taking care to protect his life. Well, that means you can't hang him, so far as I can see, and I don't see how you can protect his property at the same time you're taking all his property rights — the whole idea of eminent domain.

Now, I've said all I'm going to say on this, because I've argued at long length. If Delegate Thompson's amendment is approved, I'm going to quit. If it is not approved, then I'm going to offer my amendment as it's been handed around on the desks.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I move a minor amendment to the amendment. I want to keep in those magic words "for all damages." And so, in the fourth line from the bottom, after the word "compensation," insert the words "for all damages." If I get a second, Mr. President, I'll explain.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole seconds the motion.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, there are damages, as I explained earlier, under the court decisions now where just compensation has been interpreted as fair market value. Well, when a person has to leave and has to relocate, there are a lot of additional expenses above and beyond that, and I think that, in putting this money into court, they ought to estimate what that's going to cost and put enough in to take care of them, so they can get out of the place and not have to be kicked out on the street.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the amendment to the amendment. Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman and Delegates:

I've restrained myself on this topic long enough! We must realize that eminent domain is a necessary function of government. We cannot hang back. We cannot take care of Longmire's clients in this body. We must give our government the right to eminent domain. We have passed a law saying that we've got to take care of the environment and the ecology, and if you tie your local government up in such a proposition, then they're going to get in a court case every time they try to locate a sewage disposal plant, a drainage ditch, a landfill. You're going to effectively throttle everything at the local government level. This is not for the State Highway Department. This is for your local government. And we can't throttle government on that basis. We must make sure that eminent domain will work in a satisfactory manner, and we can't take care of all of the little details of somebody's client in this body.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I don't think that the majority of the members of this Convention feel that I am taking care of my clients. I mentioned some examples in people that I represent. I'll take care of my clients under present law. I am speaking on behalf of every public — or every property owner in the State of North Dakota whose problems will be similar to those of people that I have come in contact with. I resent the insinuation that I would use the august assembly here to try to use it for personal benefit.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hougen — Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. President, and Fellow Delegates:

I hesitate, I guess, to state on this, because I admit I don't know too much about it; but I spoke on it a few times and I thought I had known something. But it hasn't come out too well. But I want to second, again, what Delegate Longmire has said. I know personally of what he is talking about. I think he has a just right to expect that the State pay for all damages, and I think that he is entirely correct in what he has said.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President. I would like to support Delegate Longmire's amendment, and if you look at mine, I've got "all damages" in there. I think it should be said to the Assembly that perhaps you don't know — and this has nothing to do with our practicing law — among the damages that you're entitled to collect is your attorney's fees, and that's the law now, and I assume it will continue to be the law because the courts have said that you're not receiving full compensation unless you get your costs. So they are included. So you don't need to worry about a fellow being in the lawsuit. His attorney's fees are going to be taken care of, too.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President. Delegate Pearce just pointed out that his proposal also calls for payment for all damages. Delegate Longmire — would Delegate Longmire yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Longmire yield?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Now, there's one slight difference, I think, between your language and that of Delegate Pearce's, and he specifies that the payments shall be made for all damages occasioned by such taking. Now, would that language be in conflict in any way with yours?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No, I don't think — I think we're aiming at the same thing. However, I am not agreeing to go along with Delegate Pearce's first part of his amendment at this time, and this isn't my amendment; this is Delegate Thompson's. I like his better.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Will Delegate Longmire yield to a further question?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

DELEGATE AUBOL: On your amendment, would you consider amending it and putting in the language that Delegate Pearce has — "for all damages occasioned by such taking"?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, I think it's nit picking. My interpretation of what I said would be "for all damages," and I assumed it would be as a result of the taking. So I would have no strong feelings one way or the other in that connection.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I understand now that we're going to have a choice. We have before Thompson's — Delegate Thompson's proposal, Delegate Pearce's proposal. I agree with Delegate Pearce in that the language in the first paragraph of Delegate Thompson's proposal just doesn't sit right. I do think that the proposal that Delegate Pearce presented here will do the job, and I think it is more preferable to the one that Mr. Thompson has proposed.

I would like to read very quickly here the right of eminent domain as it appears in the Illinois Constitution. It simply says, "Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation as provided by law. Such compensation shall be determined by a jury as provided by law."

I think Delegate Pearce's proposal compares very well with this, and I would suggest that we defeat the Thompson proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. Chairman, have we voted on the Longmire amendment of those three words, which, I believe, puts the second paragraph the same way we had it before?

I would only suggest that we confine discussion to that point.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question —

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: I would rise to support Longmire's amendment. I had hoped that all of the delegates understand the full meaning of this thing. I come from an area where we've had considerable experience with this sort of thing — not necessarily just from the State level, but, in fact, predominantly from the federal. But those three words — "for all damages" — are very important, as far as I'm concerned, from the experiences we've had in our area, and this, I would hope you all recognize, according to my legal counsel, includes severance — a very significant part of this whole thing. Those three words would be all-inclusive and would include severance. Don't forget all of the different little aspects that enter into eminent domain. The taking of the land and the paying for it is only a part of it. There are many other things that enter into this — the inconvenience, the costs of moving, if this be the case, in the case of buildings or a home, and this sort of thing. So this is extremely important, and I support the motion — the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Would Delegate Longmire yield to a question?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I'll present a fact situation, just for purposes of illustration.

We have a lake that is soon to be developed in our county, and part of the lakeshore is going to be condemned for public purposes. Would the landowner be entitled to compensation of the value of the land after the lake is developed under your proposal?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No. Before.

DELEGATE DEVINE: So he wouldn't be entitled to the damages that the value of that land might be a year from now?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No. Our courts have held many times that he would not be. You can't figure on what it's going to be worth after the agency has taken it.

DELEGATE DEVINE: So you're not expanding it beyond the present interpretation of the courts?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President, in our discussions here these past few weeks, we've had quotations from Shakespeare, from the Holy Scripture, and several other places that illustrated the points under discussion. I've got a short quotation from another source that ties in directly with what Delegate Miller was saying, illustrating that you can't really pay for all this with money.

A few years ago, when the U. S. Government was expropriating land on Okinawa for the construction of the large airfields we have over there, the Okinawan peasants were rioting and attempting to keep their land, and Time Magazine reported an ancient Okinawan saying: "Money is for a year. Land is forever."

Now, I think that may be a little bit of peasant philosophy, but I think that's the philosophy of the North Dakota landowners.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. President, would I be in order to ask for the question — move for the previous question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You would be in order; however, I would like to have you hear Delegate Simonson's question or remarks, first, in that when I recognized you, you and the lady were up at the same time. Then you can move the previous question.

Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Thank you, Mr. President. It isn't any information, except that I am temporarily non compos mentis on this thing, and we keep talking about Delegate Longmire's amendment. Is that Delegate Thompson's last proposed amendment that we're talking about?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It is the amendment to Thompson's.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: And where do we put in "all damages"?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would the Clerk again read the amendment?

DELEGATE SIMONSON: In the first paragraph or the second?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment:

In the second paragraph of the amendment, after the words "just compensation" insert the words "for all damages".

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, Delegate Hubrig, if you wish —

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Yes. I move the previous question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig moves the previous question. Do we have five seconds? Delegate Lander, McElroy, O'Toole, Lamb and Knudson.

The previous question has been moved. We will — in the event this is adopted, we will vote immediately on the proposed amendment.

Those in favor of the previous question will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

Now we are on the amendment as offered by Delegate Longmire. Any question?

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye," those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

We are on the Thompson amendment.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: As I served on this Committee, I saw the birth of an idea — an idea, I think, whose time has come — an idea which I think this Convention should consider — and it essentially is this: That there is something more to eminent domain; there is something more to it than money; that somewhere along the line the public interest and the public good have to be considered. This Constitution is going into effect, hopefully, for the last quarter of the Twentieth Century, and we have to look at these situations in a different light than our forefathers did or that the history books or that the dictionary did. This is something different, and it is not my idea. I saw it develop in Committee — the dream of Delegate Geelan and her subcommittee — and I sat as an interested spectator as she struggled with it, because time and time again in the months that we met, it was first said that the public good and the public necessity cannot be a consideration here. It never has been. The courts do not have an interest in dealing with it. They don't have any competence in dealing with it. And, further, that if you take this thing into consideration, you are faced with the very real problem that you no longer have eminent domain; that the legal processes are so slow — so slow that justice cannot come in the public good, in the public interest. But, gradually, as this idea built — and I think the Committee almost unanimously, including, of course, Delegate Thompson — agreed with it, and I think you agree with it, especially if you listen to our people at home, that somewhere along the line the public good has to come into it.

Now, one of the problems in this public good — and you folks have thrown this thing back to us a number of times, and I think it is for this reason — one of the problems in the public good is this: If you have quick take and it becomes an instant take, you then do not have the time to look very diligently at the public good. And so I think, to understand this thing, we have to understand that quick take does not have to be instant take; that we do have a little bit of lead time on these projects — not a great deal — certainly we've got to gear up the legal machinery to meet the needs of the last quarter of the Twentieth Century, and there is a great gap between what is and what should be.

Now, strangely enough, I realize that the proposal which I am supporting comes at what I think an unfortunate parliamentary time. I am going to support the Thompson proposal. If that is approved, I will move an amendment of the particular proposal that I have, which, I think, deals a little bit more — a little more privacy — a little more concern for the public need — a new idea, a radical idea, but an idea whose time has come. But I'm going to support the Thompson proposal, first, because if you look at Section 14 in the old Constitution, which will be, I think, the remaining instrument if we don't pass either my proposal or the Thompson proposal, it amounts for cruel and unusual punishment for Style and Drafting. There is one word — or one sentence in there that's got 110 words in it. It's a mess!

I would support the Thompson proposal because it attempts in some way, I think, to deal with the public good, as to a smaller degree the Pearce proposal does. But I would hope that, having passed the Thompson proposal, we would then consider an amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of Thompson's amendment as amended.

Any further discussion?

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the Thompson amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

The question again before the Convention is Committee Proposal 1-89.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: There is a proposal at the desk, a copy of which is on all our desks. Will the Clerk read it, please?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to amended engrossed proposal 1-89:

Delete lines 10 through 20, inclusive, of the engrossed Proposal 1-89. Insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without first protecting the interests of the general public and establishing a reasonable accountability for the project plan. Procedures for certifying this shall be established by law with special consideration being acknowledged for action with dispatch and finality in cases involving right-of-way for transportation, communication and transmission of power for public service.

"After public necessity and project plan has been certified, private property may be taken or damaged for public use after paying owner mutually agreed just compensation for all damages, or by depositing estimated just compensation for all damages into the court for the owner pending final determination either by the courts or by a mutually agreed upon arbitration panel."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Aubol.

The question before the Convention is the amendment as offered by Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: A further short explanation:

This says that the rights of the general public — the interests of the general public and a reasonable accountability for the project plan shall also be an issue in eminent domain. It's a radical idea, but one whose time, I think, has come.

The problem, essentially, is in establishing the procedure so that the public good and justice can be determined and can be determined without great expenditure of time. Presently, there is hardly even a consideration of the interests of the general public and the reasonable accountability, except through injunction procedures, which sometimes become cumbersome. I am simply saying, and I hope the Convention will back me up, that somewhere along the line there has to be established a legal instrumentality that's imaginative enough and effective enough to deal with the problem of public interest and deal with it without undue delay; and having first established a public interest and accountability for the project plan, then we go ahead and we pay the owner for the private property, for all damages either as agreed or, if we can't agree, go into deposit in the court or, if it is mutually agreed between the two parties, we can go into an arbitration panel.

This is the essence of the plan.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I have no objection to having in something about protecting the interests of the public, but I do think one basic thing has been left from Delegate Burbidge's amendment; namely, the property rights of the person.

Now, the question has been asked here, "Well, once the person gets his money, what other property rights does he have, if you pay them into court?" Well, I think there are a lot of other things that are awfully important to the property owner that should be considered in this taking. First of all, how long are you going to give him to vacate the property? Are you going to — once you put that money into court, are you going to serve a notice of eviction on him in 15 days, whether he's got another place to go to or not, and evict him from the premises if he isn't out within that time? I can think of other matters that are very important. One was an example, and this is not for my clients — an example of the Highway Department coming through our city. There was a lady living in a small house there, 78 years old, who had lived there since she and her husband returned from their honeymoon, and the Department wanted to take the whole lot and the whole house. As it turned out, by just taking a little of the porch off, she could change her door and go around to the side entrance and maintain that little security that, to her, was very important, and keep her house intact, even though it would be close up on the street that was busily traveled.

Another instance that I can think of property rights would be in coming through with a power line, or something, where they wanted to come through to take out some trees that had been growing for many years; that just a little change in that would leave those trees and still not be very expensive to the power line or anything that was coming through. Certainly we wouldn't want to change drastically the method or the direction in which a highway would be coming; but there are a lot of things like that that are very important to the property owners that are property rights that I think ought to be considered when we take this. As I have indicated before, taking people's property is a very serious thing. You ought to bend over backwards to cooperate in every way that you can to help them in other rights that they have, if you can, besides just paying them the money for the damages that you have caused to them.

Those are the things that I'm thinking about when I think that it's important to keep in this proposal property rights and consideration for them of the property owner.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I acknowledge Delegate Longmire's problems here. The reasonable accountability for the project plan would have taken care of the problem of the trees, and that, of course, is in here.

We talk about "just compensation for all damages." We mean that! But I have no illusion that I can write into this anything more than the others have written into it on quick take. Certainly there's got to be some way of taking care of these damages, and this, of course, would be an administrative thing. This is a matter of principle and a matter of policy, and it's strong enough and broad enough so legislation can be built on it to solve these problems.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Burbidge.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the Burbidge amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "no."

The "noes" have it and the amendment lost.

We are again on Committee Proposal No. 1-89 as amended. Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I was just wondering if there's going to be more amendments proposed. If not, I was going to make the motion to suspend the Rules and have it re-engrossed —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there further amendments to Committee Proposal No. 1-89? Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, I hustled up here this morning and got this drawn up, and I don't want that to go to waste. Therefore: I move the amendment.

Now, to make things clear: In your book, 1-89, as I understand it at present, is reprinted on the pink page and has an additional slip, and my amendment only runs to the first paragraph. I am not attempting to rewrite the second paragraph again. Of course, it's now been rewritten again by adopting Delegate Thompson's amendment. But, still to make things clear, the amendment that I propose and I'll ask the Clerk to read, is only to the first few lines, and pick up the second paragraph that has now been amended by Delegate Thompson's amendment, and it's on each one of your desks — my amendment — except that you should insert the word "first" between the words "without protecting" so it reads "without first protecting," and I move the amendment as the Clerk will read it.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-89:

Delete lines 10 through 13 in the engrossed Committee Proposal 1-89 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without first protecting the rights of the owner by payment for all damages occasioned by such taking, such damages to be determined by a jury unless waived."

DELEGATE BAKER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Baker. Any discussion?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: So that you people understand, this does not say what mine says, and it would come very close to it if you'd add one word to — prior to "by payment for all damages," if you add the word "and" you'd come pretty close to what mine says. But the big difference between Mr. Pearce's and mine is that he's only going to protect the property rights by the payment of damages, and that's exactly what I don't want.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I am embarrassed by all of the things that I happen to get mixed up in here that seem to be coming today, and I apologize for taking so much time, but I see one basic difference in Delegate Thompson's amendment and Delegate Pearce's.

In Delegate Pearce's amendment you say that once you've paid that money, no further consideration is given to the property rights of that individual; in other words, you do anything you want to with that property the minute you pay into court what you estimate to be just compensation for damages. I admit that that clarifies the wording somewhat of the amendment, but do we want to do that? I think these other things that I mentioned ought to be considered. The property rights ought to be considered, and that when you — there's something that's worth more than money — there's some other rights there about possession for a reasonable length of time, and those other things I mentioned, and when you put the amendment in this way, you disregard all of them, because the minute they get that dollar and the greenback, they're all through then and the agency can do anything they want to with the property.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Delegate Longmire, my amendment does not provide for payment of estimated damages and then take it. My amendment is not a quick take at all. You can't do anything until the damages have been determined and paid, and determined by a jury, unless waived. I don't have that "estimated" in my portion.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I would urge your support of the Pearce amendment. I think it preserves the concept of eminent domain. I agree with Delegate Pearce that under that proposal you will not lose possession of your property or any rights until there's first been a jury trial, if you want one, to determine your damages, and the only way we can — you are exercising eminent domain. The only way you can take the property rights of persons, whatever they may be — whatever they may be — is to pay for it, and he's assuring that the property owner be paid for all damages occasioned by the taking, and this must be decided, first, by a jury.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I would yield to Delegate Thompson for him to again explain the difference between his proposal and that submitted by Delegate Pearce.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President. I, again, even though the damages are determined, that all they're determining is how much money do you have for the property that you're losing? Now that isn't the only question that I think a property owner should have. I think he should have these other things decided: Is this a reasonable taking by the government? Should this property be taken? There are many other things that should be decided before the taking, other than just "How much money is this thing worth?"

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President, I had not expected to — I had not expected to speak again, but I do have to speak against the Pearce amendment for the simple reason that we have said, over and over again, we want to protect the property rights — the rights of the owner far beyond compensation, and when you say protect his rights by paying just compensation, that's all you pay. That's all the jury can decide, if it goes to a jury.

So I must speak again: That by protecting the rights of the owner beyond compensation, you would have to oppose the Pearce amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I echo Delegate Geelan's sentiments, and I believe the Pearce proposal brings into focus the two philosophies on eminent domain that are prevalent at this Convention. One philosophy of eminent domain is "We have the right to take property, full speed ahead, and all we are responsible for are money damages." And the other philosophy, represented by the Thompson amendment, says, in effect, "We recognize eminent domain, also, but we want to have the right to question certain things in addition to money payment, such as the location of a power line running across a quarter section of land and questioning some of the things that Delegate Longmire talked about.”

For that reason, I oppose the Pearce amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes, I think that's the issue, and I believe that, if we say that any citizen can question the authority of the State through its Legislature, who, really, in the first instance, grants the power, then you're saying that the individual court can deny to the State the power of eminent domain. I think that you can't have — you can't have eminent domain on the one hand and protect personal property rights on the other hand, because whenever you take a man's property, you're denying him that property, and that's denying him a right.

Now, if the Thompson proposal would say “other rights,” I could agree with him. It says “protect the rights” — not “other rights” — and I think, unless a court could construe otherwise, I think that you're seriously jeopardizing the concept of eminent domain, and I might mention that that's the age-old question — the public good versus the individual good. There has to be a balance, and I think that the Legislature has to have the power to act.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Would Delegate Pearce yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would Delegate Pearce yield to a question?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: He yields.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Delegate Pearce, is it your intent that whoever was using eminent domain would not have to prove necessity?

DELEGATE PEARCE: No. No, I can't say that.

Now, we've got many, many kinds of eminent domain. We may have many more, since we've now said that everybody can protect the environment. If we're going to do certain things about the environment, we may well have to exercise public domain. They're the only people that have got the money to buy it. My point, of course, is that in the case of a utility or a rural electric cooperative or a generating and transmission cooperative, for electric lines you have the authority because you're under the regulation of the State in the case of private utilities, and the Legislature has given it, because of the public use served, to the cooperatives. You have the State having it, itself, the counties for highways, which they've always considered to be necessary. You can't build a highway without trampling over somebody's ground. Sure, we have individual cases where individuals are hurt. This is one of those things where you can't please everybody. The idea of eminent domain is for the public good. Now, no corporation just privately can have eminent domain. There's a whole section in the Code as to who can have eminent domain. You've got to get it, Delegate Kelsch says, from the Legislature. That's the State speaking. That's the source of it. You are not just giving it broadside to everybody. And so — but if you fragment the power in the middle of a pipeline or a road or in the middle of some park development, a jury or a court says “No” to the necessity, then, of course, the group or the organization that had eminent domain from the Legislature no longer has it, and this would stop more projects than would ever get built.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Urdahl.

DELEGATE URDAHL: I yield to Delegate Thompson.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I want to answer now Delegate Pearce's last remark. You've got to read both of these paragraphs together. Now don't forget that! We are providing for quick take, or that the Legislature can give quick take for the purposes of transportation, communication and transmission of power. Now, I don't agree that parks are a necessity in that specific area. Wherever they want to put them, maybe they should be somewhere else, and I think your government or the agency taking it should have to prove that that park has to be there — that that's the only possible place it can be. And if the property owner doesn't have that kind of right, he doesn't have any business owning property.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: We are writing a constitution for North Dakota. We are hoping that government will be more responsible, more accountable, more visible, and we are saying, in the Thompson proposal, that the engineer can't just point and say, "It goes this-a-way." Somewhere there has to be some responsibility and some accountability for the project planned in the public good; a new and novel idea, but one whose time is coming.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the amendment to Committee Proposal 1-89 — the amendment to the proposal as offered by Delegate Pearce.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the Pearce amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "nays" have it and the amendment lost.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested. It is granted.

Again, the question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Pearce. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicated 32 "ayes" and 62 "nays." So the proposal — the amendment failed.

Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I now move that we suspend the Rules and re-engage the Proposal on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-89 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and that it be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended. The motion was seconded by Delegate Rosendahl.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-89 is before the Convention for final passage as amended — first passage as amended.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 83 "ayes," 12 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal 1-89 has passed.

Next for consideration, Committee Proposal No. 1-44.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-44, introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 27, 30 and 33 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that sections 2 and 5 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all pertaining to legislative terms in office.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Sections 27, 30 and 33 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota are hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) Sections 2 and 5 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota are hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE II

"Section 2. Members of the legislative assembly shall be elected for terms of four years.

"Section 5. The legislative seats shall be numbered consecutively, and be divided into two classes, even-numbered seats constituting one class and odd-numbered seats constituting the other class, so that one-half of the legislators, as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially; provided, however, that when the legislative assembly is redistricted the legislators elected prior thereto shall continue in office until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected, and the act providing for such redistricting shall specify, where necessary, the newly established seats they shall hold for the balance of their terms."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion?

The question before the Convention is on Committee Proposal 1-44.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I have an amendment at the desk that I'd like to propose at this time.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-44:

Delete all of lines 12 through 23 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 2. Senators shall be elected for terms of four years and representatives for terms of two years.

"Section 5. Whenever the legislative assembly is redistricted the terms of legislators removed of their constituencies thereby shall be deemed to have immediately expired."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten. Any discussion?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, under Rule 24, I request that the debate and the votes on this amendment be divided as between Sections 2 and 5.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Permission is granted. It will be divided.

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I wanted to first explain to some of the delegates here and clarify a statement that I made on the floor when I was questioned concerning the proposed amendment that I had planned to offer. I stated at that time that the only amendment that I had considered was the amendment to Section 5, and that I had no strong feelings one way or the other about changing the length of the terms of house members; however, later that day, and the next day, some people came to me — some of the delegates — and rather than submit a separate amendment, asked me to include in my amendment to Section 5 an amendment to Section 2, which merely changes the Legislature back to the four-year terms for the Senate and two-year terms for the House.

I wanted then to explain, so that I wasn't misrepresenting the situation as I answered the question on today. And so I have no strong feelings one way or the other on this, but I assume that there will be comments from other delegates who were interested in having the legislative terms remain as they are at the present time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. President, am I to understand that we are discussing the terms, first?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are discussing —

DELEGATE POULSON: The length of term?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That would be correct.

DELEGATE POULSON: Thank you.

Fellow delegates, I guess I come here with clean hands. I have never been a legislator, nor do I have any designs in that direction; however, I have feelings. I, personally, favor a four-year term for both the members of the House and the Senate; but particularly at this time I would address myself to the terms for House members, because that's the one we're changing.

In my district, we do not have a wealth of candidates. I can only speak for one party. We also have a problem oftentimes in my area of raising funds. Somehow I feel that the inducement of a four-year term to any young man or young lady who would aspire to the House of Representatives would be much greater if they could be assured of perhaps a longer term, whereby they might better justify their existence and perhaps correct some of the mistakes I have heard that first-termers often make.

I think that politics in North Dakota — party politics — is an exciting and a wonderful part of the democratic process, and I enjoy contributing what little I can to the party of my choice, and I feel that, if we are to encourage our new voters to become a part of a bipartisan effort, of a two or a three-party system, we must have the inducement of a four-year term. I found, in canvassing my township, as I'm sure some of you have found — canvassing it for funds for a particular political party — you might have a hundred voters in that precinct; you've probably got ten Democrats, ten Republicans and 80 independents. But I feel that, by having the term of four years, where we would have an election every two years, of course, people would become more interested, because there's more at stake; and, frankly, I came up here with the idea that I was — I was completely open minded on this. Perhaps I favored the two-year term because of tradition; but as I thought this out — and believe me, in my case that's a slow process — I have come to the conclusion that I heartily endorse and sincerely favor four-year terms for the House of Representatives.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

Just to reaffirm the position of the Committee and explain our actions somewhat:

It was our thought that changing the House of Representatives from two to four-year terms was a move to strengthen the entire legislative process. We could see no real practical reason to continue the two-year term in the House. The premise of an upper and lower house has long since passed us by. The Committee felt that the four-year term would be the term best served in the Legislature; and so, therefore, I ask you to defeat the amendment and uphold Committee Proposal 1-44 as the Committee recommended.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I was one of those who approached Delegate Longmire, requesting that the reference to Section 2 be included in his proposed amendment; and there were others. So I hope that, before this discussion is over, that the others who are interested in this will rise and speak on it, if only a few words, so that the body will know that there is more than just the sticks-in-the-mud, or whatever the correct title is, objecting to Proposal 1-44 the way it stands. I think there's a lot more than tradition involved here. There's a question of accountability to the voters, and I think that's really important. The way it is now, one-sixth of the Legislature — that is, half of the Senate — or about half of the Senate — has some insulation from the voter reaction which could come immediately after changes in legislation which may or may not be popular. The other five-sixths have to think about the election next fall, and that's a good thing. That's a mighty good thing. I'm sure that's the way we want it and that's why I support this amendment. If you make the change as suggested in 1-44 the way it stands, one-half of the Legislature — half of each house would be insulated, at least for a time, from voter reaction. But I don't want that. I don't think anybody wants that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

In the southwest corner, we have a different situation, apparently, than in Imperial Cass. We just don't have any funds, but we have candidates coming out from behind every sagebrush, and which makes it more fun. We have a good race in the primary and another one in the fall. I would warn you people here, too, with my great personal popularity, that if I live long enough and you go to four years, you're liable to give me two free years here sometime.

But I favor the two-year term for House members. I think probably it would be smarter to go down to two years for the Senate than the other way around, and there's no doubt that a person has to look over his shoulder a little quicker, if he's elected two years sooner, and whether this is cowardice or good politics, I don't know. Tradition has nothing to do with this, as far as I'm concerned. I just think it's smart, and I don't think that some of these offices that we have raised to four years have worked out too well. If you notice that election year you want some information or some help from any official — a federal official — boy, you write them the year they're being elected, and you get an answer right like that. This includes Washington, as well as Bismarck.

I favor the two-year term. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President: We have heard of the theory of the political security of the four-year term and the insulation. I personally oppose the four-year term for House members for more than those reasons given, and I think you should remember what our political process is all about. You can speak about the national offices and state offices, but the whole thing is built around your precinct and your county organizations. That is the guts of democracy in voting, and the moment you remove half of your House members, you're taking that much vigor out of your political organizations. And on the House level, I believe you will find it in both instances those that are running for reelection every two years, it's a great contribution to no matter what party it is, and I think you ought to give that some consideration and thought, because that's what makes this country go and that's what drives the people; that's what invigorates the vote you get out, and it's a great contribution on the local level.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, I have two reasons why I am not in support of the four-year term for house members.

First of all — and it may be a hackneyed phrase — I think we are taking government a little farther from our people. "Responsibility" is the watchword there.

Secondly, if you are locking a House member into a four-year term, you create this problem: You have 98 in the House. Sometimes it's a little hard to find a candidate. You persuade a young businessman or a young teacher to run. Is he going to be interested in locking himself into a four-year term? I know, personally, many young representatives, some women, some men, who have run and found that they did not care to serve any more. They weren't really adapted to the legislative process. Either they were slow learners or they just didn't fit in such a way as to induce them to run again, and I think it would be a disservice to our people of this State to adopt this four-year term for House members.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Bassingthwaite.

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I rise to support Delegate Longmire's amendment. I don't believe we should consider this first term for the legislator as a training period. I think, if they don't do a good job the first time, then the people should have an opportunity to replace them. I think, if we go to a four-year term, we are just taking that much power from the people to have the kind of legislature that they'd like to have.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President. I, too, support the amendment to delete Section 2. I wasn't one of those who instigated the submission of this amendment, but I am being consistent. I voted against 1-44 on January 27th or 31st, whenever we voted on it last. I suppose a four-year term would make a House seat a little more comfortable, but I don't know if they really should be comfortable.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

I think the Convention early, especially during the debate over the bicameral and unicameral, expressed its concern over the possible professionalism of a legislator, and I think it affirmed its belief that we ought to subscribe to the idea of a citizen legislature — not that either form was going to get professional legislators, but that was a fear expressed. It is my experience, after watching the legislative process and being in the executive branch of the government for a considerable period of time, that the only way the legislators can cope with the professionalism of the lobbyists and professionalism of the bureaucracy is to develop a capacity and an ability and an intelligence of their own, so that with experience they can learn to stand up nose-to-nose with any lobbyist or bureaucrat who might be in trying to make demands on the legislative process.

The only time a legislator can really feel assured of his own information and knowledge is by becoming familiar with the subject matter, and the only way he can become familiar with the broad range of subject matter is by serving in at least a couple of sessions before he has to stand for election.

Some mention was made about encouraging young people to run and professional people to run. It seems to me that any intelligent person who is being asked to run for the Legislature would have to ask himself: "How much time and how much money am I going to have to spend to get this position, and then how much time in service do I have to amortize my investment?" And they look at that short, two-year term, and they think about it in terms of campaign costs and time that they have to put out, and they must invariably conclude that the amount of investment to get the job in the first place is too great in relation to the service that they are able to render; and so I think, in order to amortize their campaign costs and the effort, that the term should be lengthened.

Now, some mention was made that some people probably don't want to get locked in for four-year terms. I think this argument should be used just to the contrary. A resignation from the State Legislature is not uncommon, and it seems to me that, after the first two years of service, if a person finds that personal circumstances do not permit, that he can certainly resign from the position and it can be filled by an election, just as though it were a two-year term.

There has been a great deal of mention made on this floor as to what the people want, and of course none of us really knows what the people want, and most often we use this as an argument to buttress our particular argument at the time it is being given on the issue that is concerned, because we've all been inconsistent with doing what people want. But, if this is true — of some credit on this floor, I would suggest that you look back to the 1960's, if you want to find out what the people want, because in the 1960's, the people, on two separate occasions, voted to increase the terms of the county officials from two to four years, and they voted to increase the terms of the State officials from two to four years. Therefore, let's not argue about what the people want.

Now, you might say there must be some political motive in this because Omdahl is talking about it, because I'm sure that's probably gone through your minds in one way or another. I might take time to observe here that I was early in the Convention going to denounce any interest in state elective office this year, but I made the mistake of going down to the Committee on Judicial and Political Subdivisions, and there they had an imaginary car that was pulling the Chief Justices of the Supreme Court and other judges, and they kept talking about how this car was going to smash up and everybody was going to get killed and there was going to be all these vacancies on the court that had to be filled immediately, and I thought to myself maybe a bus with all the candidates is going to have a crash, so I better not say anything early in the Convention.

(Laughter)

But getting back: If I were partisan, and I want to tell you that, since going up to the University, I've become so objective sometimes it scares me, that — (laughter) — if I were going to be partisan about it, I'd say I'm for a two-year term, because, honestly speaking, in North Dakota the only way the Democrats are ever going to get control of one house of the Legislature is by a freakish election, such as happened in 1964. But I say that partisan interests should not be uppermost in this matter. We need competent and capable legislators, regardless of whatever party they are, and I think we can get the most competent and most capable legislators by giving the term of office that will build that competence and capability into them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE LARSEN: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I had hoped not to enter into this discussion. We have talked quite a long time, but I heartily endorse the four-year term and do agree with the feelings of the Committee. I believe it will enhance the work of the House members if they have four-year terms, and it will give the House of Representatives a more equal status with that of the Senate.

I also believe that under this system we who have been working with parties will have a stronger party basis to work on in our local communities, and I believe sincerely that it will make our representatives better represent the people, because they will get to know them better.

Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President, I would like to rise to support the amendment. Much has been said about freshmen legislators and their inability to learn very rapidly, so that they should have more than one term. It would seem to me that, if they knew they only had two years, it might possibly motivate them to learn a little more rapidly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President, I think that something that's happening on the national level is a lesson here — at least it is my main reason for supporting a four-year term. I think President Nixon made a good start at stopping the steamroller inflation that has affected this country, a year ago, and now I think, because of the upcoming election, it's being frittered away, and I regret that, as I'm sure everyone does. But I think that the pressure of reelection all the time on people in public life has an often bad effect on what they do. I think one of the things that's really fresh about this body is that no one here is worrying about reelection to this office. Now, I'm sure someone is going to stand up and say that there are many candidates here, and I quite honestly think that there has been very little done here by people who were trying to seek political benefit. And think about that independence that you had yourself, that freedom to try to decide the issues not on the basis of some political gain or some political benefit that you get, but on the basis of the issue itself, and it seems to me that we see all too often in two-year terms, whether they be for Congress or for the Legislature, that terrifying temptation to weigh everything once on its own merits and then reweigh it on the basis of next year's election. And I see it as one of the necessary evils in public office, but I think we can minimize it by going to a little longer term.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman. Fellow Delegates:

I feel that this is a little bit more of a mechanical problem, rather than a philosophical one. On both sides of this divided question, the four-year-term presents a little problem for House members, because if they should decide, as frequently they do, that after serving some time in the House, they wanted to run for the Senate, half the House members would not be in mesh with the Senate in their term; so if this particular House member ran for the Senate, it would seem he would not have to give up his seat and, therefore, would have what would seem to be an advantage. On the other hand, the voters looking at the situation and knowing that special election would be indicated, if he were elected to the Senate, might be a little bit reluctant to support him, if they might otherwise. So I don't know if it's an advantage or disadvantage to the particular candidate; but I think it's a defect mechanically in the system.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question —

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Briefly, delegates, I would just like to point out that, if you have listened to the discussion, it is awful fraternizing on the part of the Senators. They keep talking about young people to run for the House. We are merely trying to remove the discrimination that exists between this chamber and the one across the way. We want to put them on equal terms, equal responsibility and equal standing with the public, and I think if you put a four-year term over here, then we won't be talking about graduating to the upper house. I think then you will have a true bicameral system that will operate on the basis of equality, rather than on one of the overlords in the Senate as against the poor commoners over here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Longmire.

Now, the question here is divided, and you will be voting on Section 2 — only Section 2 of Committee Proposal 1-44. I hope that is clear. The question is on the adoption of the amendment to Section 2.

As many as are in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed "nay."

The Chair is in doubt. We will open the key. You will record your preference.

Those in favor of the adoption of the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key. You will record your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed. The amendment was adopted, 51-to-44.

We will now — we'll be on the eighth order. Any announcements?

The Chair will declare a 15-minute recess.

(The Session recessed at 5:02 P.M. until 5:18 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

The Convention will please come to order.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President. We are still on Section 2, and I have an amendment at the desk for Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-44:

In the amended engrossed proposal, under Section 2, following the words "elected for terms of" delete the word "four" and insert in lieu thereof the word "two".

DELEGATE HILL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion has been seconded by Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I hear a few chuckles around the chamber, and I am very serious about this. If the logic is right for two-year terms for House members, it is also right for a two-year term for Senators, and I expect the same members to stand up and support the two-year term and use the same logic.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I move the previous question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The previous question has been moved. Will five delegates — Delegates Haugen, McElroy, Larsen, Thompson and Warner seconded. That calls for immediate vote on the amendment as offered by Delegate Hoffner.

The question at this point is the adoption of the previous question. Those in favor of adopting will say "aye;" those opposed will say "no." It takes a two-thirds vote.

As many as are in favor of adopting the previous question will vote "aye." Those opposed vote "no."

The "noes" have it and the amendment — or the motion lost.

Now we're back on the amendment as offered by Delegate Hoffner.

Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President, I think this is getting to the point of being ridiculous, because ever since this State came into the Union, we've had the four-year term for the Senators, for the foundation of continuity in our legislative system, so we wouldn't ever get a full one hundred percent turnover at one time, that we'd always have some experience in the legislative branch of our government, and I think we should retain that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Hoffner.

No further discussion? Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: I agree with Delegate Cart. I think we should have experience in our government, and so I would favor a four-year term for Senators, but, by the same token, I would favor a four-year term for Representatives, if we're going to talk about experience. So this particular motion, if we're talking about Representatives don't need experience, then perhaps the Senators don't either.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman, I voted "nay" on the former amendment because I wanted a four-year term; but I can't follow the logic that I should now reverse my vote and vote for a two-year for the Senator. If I wanted the four for both, I should at least be happy to have four for one, and I can't follow the logic of asking me now to reverse my vote so that the same vote would carry.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President, I wish I had arisen to speak on the previous question, because I think, as a two-year member, you begin to realize how helpless you are in light of the old heads in the place who run the caucuses and who run the committee structures and who ultimately say "Jump, jump, jump," so the young person starts saying, "Well, I guess I don't belong here and maybe I ought to get out, and it is a sacrifice to be here, so maybe I ought to leave the Legislative Assembly." And I really wonder if that wouldn't be transferring that same feeling to the Senate, because there are older heads over there — I know that from my last terms — those who have been there a lot longer, and it seems to me that we are, in effect, saying that the younger person, with the two-year term, is in difficulty because he can't cope with the system in those first two years. It's very difficult for him. If he had a four-year term, he'd know how to get at the old heads a little better, and in that second term would be able to at least effect perhaps some change and improve the status of the Legislature and the work of the Legislature. So, in that case, I can't tell whether I'm speaking for or against this new move, because it seems to me we are transferring the ill now of the House to the ill of the Senate, and maybe — I suppose the old heads in the Senate then would be able to do some of the things that are being done in the House with the younger members.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: In answer to Delegate Cart's "ridiculous" — he kept saying "this is ridiculous." I don't think it is ridiculous. You're saying that all the House and Senate will be replaced in an election because of the two-year term. This just does not happen. If you can change half of the membership of each house, this is the very most. So you will have old heads back with the two-year term. Now, this is a very close vote. I'd like to give you a little history of our Committee.

Early in the Committee, the same arguments prevailed as did in this chamber today, and gradually the Committee members began to change their minds and see that this is a very necessary part of the reform of the legislative portion — the four-year term — and the publicity was out. We had no one — no individual appear before our Committee asking that we reduce the two-year terms — or the four-year term to the two-year term. We just heard yesterday Delegate Longmire say there was no one appeared before his committee asking that county officials be reduced to a two-year term. But if this body would like a two-year term, then I think it is right for both houses, and I'm very serious about this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President. One of the objectives I had in mind when I ran to serve in the Constitutional Convention and when I came here was to try to strengthen the State Government so that it would exercise a stonger role in the federal system, because I believe that it is necessary to revamp the state governments if they are going to continue as viable units in the future.

One of the most important things about the State Government is the effectiveness of the members of the State Legislature in executing the complicated and various duties. It seems to me that the four-year term is very critical to building the capacity and the capability of the Legislative Assembly. As long as a house is full of new members, as it always is, high turnover in the House, the House will never be able to understand the complex issues that they must understand as well as they must.

Now, why — why should we change horses and say we ought to have two years in the Senate? I suspect that, if you would look at the roll call, that you'd note that there are a number of Senators who voted in favor of keeping the House at two years, and I suspect that it would erode their status considerably if they had four-year termers on the other side of the aisle, and there are as capable and as competent a people, who know as much about government, in the House as there are in the Senate, and that this would equalize the work of both branches.

Now, I expect that some Senators were afraid that they would have a House member running against them when the House member was a holdover. Well, that makes no sense. Why would a four-year House member run for a four-year Senate term? After all, that is probably the only difference in status between the two houses, and if the House member had a four-year term, why would he ever run against a Senate member in his off year? It doesn't make any sense at all. So the Senators who were worried about their seats, as they are in Washington, and this is why the House in Washington will never get four years — is because the Senate will never let it pass, because they know what's going to happen in the off year — the House member is going to run against them; but this would not be the case here. You can't transfer it here. And I think that it's very unfair to the State of North Dakota and to future House members to let the vanity of prestige and pomp of one house blind us into thinking that we can afford to have one house less experienced than the other.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

During coffee break, Delegate Hoffner faced me and told me that I better be consistent and support the two-year term for Senators, also. I have to confess that I never thought about the Senate's term when I was speaking about two-year terms for House members.

Delegate Omdahl just alluded to the advantages Senators have over House members. I think the only real advantage they have is having double the voting strength, one individual having double voting power. I remember some of Delegate Paulson's remarks in the earlier debate about the patronizing attitude of Senators. That may be true. I'd like to tell you that House members have more fun!

I suppose I better not knock the Senate too much. The time may come when I may want to try that, too. But I'm not that old yet. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I'm not now, or ever have been, a member of the House, and I'm not now, or ever have been, a member of the Senate.

When this debate first started, I was visiting with another delegate in the back of the room and asked him how he felt, and neither one of us cared too much. Then I heard the debate. There's some good reasons for changing, some good reasons for not changing, and I thought about it for a minute, and I finally decided, if things are about equal, I don't feel any great demand to change every single thing that's presently in the Constitution; so I decided to stand pat with the two-year term for the House and four years for the Senate.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President, I yesterday was accused of using a ploy by moving an amendment to demonstrate a point, and the delegate that made the accusation was right; I did that, and I regretted it to some extent, because I didn't really think that the amendment was all that good, myself; and, obviously, that's what's happening here. I'm going to vote against the amendment, but I am hoping that we can reconsider the action and that enough people have heard some more points that they hadn't heard before, to change their position.

One of the things that you read in every single study of legislature is that one of the most badly-needed changes is to a four-year term because of the inexperience; and if you look sometime at our primary and secondary laws; you will see that's one of the most self-conflicting hodgepodge, disorganized situations that you could ever want to see, and it's not merely the fault of the Legislators; it's that we don't have enough consistency in our legislative body to develop an ongoing policy, and I — I'm at a loss to know why there is so much concern about what the public reaction is, because, as has been pointed out, the public has, time after time, supported the lengthening of terms; and, therefore, I would vote against the motion and hope that we can reconsider the action whereby we have already amended this section.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President, I would second the thoughts of Delegate Sinner. I didn't get up to speak before because I thought it was pretty well established that we were in favor of four-year terms; but I will vote along with keeping four-year terms in the Senate and support Delegate Sinner in re-considering.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on — Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President, I have taken the floor very seldom. I served on the Legislative Functions Committee. I want to say now that there is no chairman of any committee, in my experience, who has been more capable than Delegate Hoffner. We had good consideration, good dialect, and all of those things served well. We were a committee with great division. We did not often agree. Sometimes we compromised, as our capable Chairman has told you. I have not risen to take one side or the other, but I did vote for the two-year term, rather than to go with my Committee, simply because of contacts that I have made with many of the people in this district, that they hoped that I would see fit to support a two-year term after certain things had happened in this Convention.

When we have decided now on our county units of government, we have decided on many appointive officials, to the administrative division of the State Government; then we have also set 1966 as a basic election year, after which this document will go into effect, if it is adopted by the people — '64 — '66 — yeah, that's right. I'm not wrong on my mathematics — '76. I'm sorry. Well, I wish it were 10 years earlier, for my sake. That is a matter of retrospect. And so

I think this is important, that we look at the fact that only every four years will we have real excitement in our elections. Will the excitement carry through better if we have more people in official positions seeking office? Will we have a better election procedure? Will we have more excitement about this thing? I can't conceive of people not seeking office if their interest is to win an election and to serve their State, and I think this can be done. But I think the old adage and the established custom of the four-year term for the Senate is something that we should not destroy now simply because of the fact that a couple over the majority have seen fit to sustain the two-year term for the House of Representatives.

We've heard much testimony and we've listened to many arguments. It kind of reminds me of the poor fellow before the judge. Ten witnesses appeared before this judge and they told the most devastating testimony that had ever been heard in that court; and finally the poor fellow turned to the judge and he said, "Judge, I plead guilty." And the judge said, like a good judge should say, "If you'd have said that before we started this trial, you'd have saved the taxpayers some money." And the fellow said, "Before I heard the testimony, I thought I was innocent."
(Laughter)

So maybe we should weigh this thing very carefully, because I am not concerned, Mr. President — I'm not concerned about the people accepting what we do here; I am concerned about giving to them a document that I am convinced is good for the State of North Dakota and that I can go out with all sincerity and tell them, "This is an excellent document," and explain why. So, you see, I'm not concerned now. I'm concerned when we finish, and if we do too many of these things that they have told me they do not want done, why then I cannot sell the thing that I am putting into a package or helping put into a package to sell, and I hope the debate can end, because I've tried to reserve many of my statements for some other things.

Thank you very much.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hoffner. Those in favor of the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: In the debate on the foregoing motion, we have heard the manifest benefits of the four-year term and the distinct liabilities of the two-year term. Therefore, I move that the Convention reconsider the action by which it adopted the Longmire amendment to Section 2 of Committee Proposal 1-44.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson moves that the Convention reconsider its action whereby it adopted the Longmire amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-44.

The motion has been seconded by Delegate McIntyre.

Now, is there any further discussion,

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I'd like to point out a couple things that haven't been mentioned — well, one has.

On Delegate Burbidge's point of the mechanical difficulties, I don't think there's going to be a real mechanical problem very often, because if the House members have a four-year term, they won't be so eager to seek the Senate seat, which is also a four-year term.

Now, the turnover in North Dakota legislative elections in the past decade has been absolutely fantastic. It's not equalled anywhere else in this country. In 1964, the Democrats swept into control of the House of Representatives — gained 24 seats that year. Just two years later, the Republicans came back into control by an overwhelming margin. They gained 39 seats in that election in 1966. Neither party in any state gained that many seats. Then, in 1970, we had the Democrats coming back, gaining 22 seats. Well, when you have turnover like that, people are getting swept out of office after only two years, and the taxpayers' investment in their elected representatives is somewhat wasted. If there is any strong public demand for a change in the party control of the Legislature, this can still be effected, providing it is not just a temporary — a temporary thing. It can be effected over a two-year period in two elections. And so I think the — I originally came down here favoring a two-year House term, but I changed my mind. I think we should have four-year House terms. I think it would result in a significant quality improvement in our legislative branch of government.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question — Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: I — are we voting now to reconsider?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are voting now to reconsider.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Would it be proper for me to state now why I wish to reconsider?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and members:

I served two terms in the Legislature, and after completing the two terms, I decided not to run again. I enjoyed the work. I think it was interesting, exciting, and sometimes frustrating. But the reason I decided not to run for the third time was not that I didn't enjoy the work of the session, but because of the time required to get elected. People expect you, if you're going to get elected, people expect you to come to call on them. In the fall of the year, when you have to go campaigning, in my particular field of work it's the busy time, and I felt that I couldn't give the time to both get elected and then to serve. I think this point hasn't been brought out, and I would strongly urge the people to give serious thought to reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the motion to reconsider what has been termed the "Longmire amendment."

Those in favor of adopting the motion to reconsider will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

Those in favor of reconsidering the action say "aye." Those opposed say "no."

I believe the "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE CART: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been called for.

Those in favor of reconsidering will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key. You will record your preference.

Has every delegate indicated his preference? The vote is closed.

The motion to reconsider has passed 54-to-42.

Again, we have Committee Proposal 1-44 before the Convention —

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — as amended. Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I guess maybe I shouldn't have gotten up at this point. Where are we now? Where is 1-44?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Where we are at the moment is that we have reconsidered our action; so the Committee — the Committee Proposal as amended — or the amendment is before the Convention. We adopted the amendment on what was known as the "Longmire amendment." Now we reconsidered that action.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I guess I'm out of order then.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: A point of order.

I understood we passed that —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We did.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: — section as amended.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We did.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: So would we not have the Proposal or that part of the section before us as amended, and isn't that where we are at the present time?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, as I recall, according to what I have here, we adopted your amendment; and then a further — to Section 2; and then Delegate Hoffner moved to further amend, and that amendment failed. Then we moved to reconsider the action whereby we adopted your amendment. So now we are back having reconsidered your amendment.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just one moment.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: If I could ask the Chair a question. Are we open for debate now?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just one moment, Delegate McIntyre, while we hold a sort of council of war here.

(A discussion was had at the Desk.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The council of war is over and we will report that we did, as you recall, adopt Section 2 as amended. Then Delegate Hoffner ordered a further amendment. We adopted the amendment to Section 2, and then Delegate Hoffner offered an amendment that failed. Then we had a motion to reconsider the action whereby we adopted the Longmire amendment, and that motion passed. So now we are back on Section 2, without the Longmire amendment.

Yes, that is correct. But the — the Longmire amendment is this whole piece of paper, and the question was divided, so we voted on the Section 2, and that is the part that contained the two amendments — one by Longmire and one by Hoffner — and Hoffner's failed and Longmire's passed. Then we moved to reconsider Longmire's, and we adopted that. So I —

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Would we now move to the Section 5 of the divided question or are we still on Section 2 of the divided question on the amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We're still on Section 2, and I would have to say that Delegate Longmire's amendment is still before you. It's just reconsidered — what we did with it — brought it back. It's on the floor — his amendment to Section 2.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I'd like to talk against that amendment, if I am in order to do so.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are in order to do so. It's on the floor.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I think when we consider this very thing — the two and four-year term for the House — that we've got to consider perhaps something else that hasn't been brought up, and that's the many changes that this delegation has made in our Constitution during these weeks of deliberation and passing; and I think that the changes that we have made affect the State Legislature more than any other branch of government. We have laid an awful lot of responsibility on this body, and I think this reason — this is a definite reason why the four-year term should be moved to the House of Representatives. We're giving them this responsibility. I think that we are obligated now to give them the four-year term.

Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I'd like to confess to you that I didn't have any very strong feelings on this one way or the other, right up until shortly before we voted. But as I think about this, and I believe if all of you stop and consider this a little closer, you will see the logic of a four-year term for the House of Representatives. The advantages have all been pointed out to you. I see no reason for me to talk about those any more — the fact that we have gone for a four-year term for state officials, we have gone for four-year terms for county officials. If it's logical there, why isn't it logical here? This seems to make as much sense to me as it does in the other situations. I can see no reason for staying with the two-year term in the House. I think a four-year term would solve a lot of problems that we have, and I would certainly ask that the delegates go along with a four-year term in the House.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I believe we should vote on both Section 2 and Section 5, together, and if we were to do this, I would move that we adopt the wording in Section 2 as provided in the Committee Proposal and at the same time adopt Section 5 as provided in the — in Longmire's amendment, and the reason for this, I think, is because the Committee Proposal talks about this numbering of seats, so that it is not going to save money in the district. When you have two House members, you're going to have one running every two years anyway, and if we could have the Senate and the House members all running in the same year, you would take away the argument that the House member is going to run for the Senate seat, and I think that would be the way that this could be a saleable product for everybody.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson, I will have to rule your motion out of order, in that it is the prerogative of a delegate to divide a question, and the question has been divided, and I just can't accept your motion.

Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President. I would just like to relate my own experience, and I definitely am for the four-year term.

I was elected for two years, and then I was defeated, and I feel that I could have done a much better job had I had a little more time. But I do know this: That I will not consider running for the Legislature again, simply because I'm a small farmer, and if I have to run for a two-year term, it just takes up too much time and too little compensation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I would move that we take up Section 5 before we take up Section 2.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that we take up Section 5 before we take up Section 2. Now, do I have a second? Seconded by Delegate McElroy.

The question before the Convention, then, is that we take up Section 5 prior to Section 2. Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, that would be putting the cart ahead of the horse, because Section 5 must logically follow Section 2. If we give the House members only two-year terms, Section 5 will require amendment, if we keep the Committee Proposal.

Also, the Longmire amendment to Section 5 will require further amendment, if the House members only get two-year terms. Therefore, I resist the motion. We have to consider Section 2, first, to proceed logically.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

I would speak in favor of the motion. Unlike Delegate Miller, I don't have a lot of strong feelings about this. I did vote against Committee Proposal 1-44 when it was originally brought up before the Convention, because I didn't like Section 5. Let's go through this Section 5. Maybe I'd be willing to change my vote on Section 2.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the motion of Delegate Dawson to consider Section 5 prior to Section 2.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." I believe the "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been called for.

Those in favor of adopting the Dawson motion will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicated 45 "ayes" and 49 "nays." The motion failed.

We are still on Section 2.

Delegate Hougen — Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I know all of you hate to listen to this talk, but — and I certainly hate to do it, but I have some comments I would like to make.

I certainly believe the delegates have said that they have been told that they want or that the people in their district wanted a two-year term for the House members. I do believe this; but this certainly was not what I was told from the people that I serve. I was told point-blank "We're tired of all the politics that is going on in our districts and wish you fellows would give us a rest." And I feel this way very strongly, too.

Mention was made of the excitement of the election and how much fun it was to run for office. I don't believe that this should be the question that we should be concerned with, because it certainly doesn't do anything to make a legislator better, because he runs more often. I had very small experience as a legislator — just one term — but I know that with every two years you're running constantly. I think this is — this is unfortunate, and I certainly hope that you will give great consideration to a four-year term for the House of Representatives. I do know that a few things were said in anger when we first came back from — from our short recess, and I know that I was very much tempted to also go along with the idea, "Well, let's stick these Senators for two years, also, and make them suffer the same consequences that we do." This would have been a poor act by the group, and I also think it was a poor act by the group to keep a two-year term for the House. Please give consideration to a four-year term.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

I'm concerned about the intent of Delegate Dawson's motion because I — I think what's in Section 5 is —

DELEGATE BAKER: Point of order, Mr. President. I don't believe we're on Delegate Dawson's motion — are we?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, we're not.

DELEGATE SINNER: I speak in reference to Section 2 and the implications of the Dawson motion as to the vote on Section 2.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may proceed.

DELEGATE SINNER: What I wanted to say was that I think the four-year terms are much more important than how the people are elected, and I — I think that if you're concerned with Section 5, it would be a mistake, it seems to me, to lose Section 2 because of Section 5, because, by all odds, the thing is important, as I see it, to a four-year term. I just want to say — what I'm trying to say is, if we want to change Section 5, we should do that, but not vote against Section 2 because of Section 5.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Section 2, however, is the question before the Convention.

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

Well, as long as one of the delegates said that it shouldn't be fun to run — I'm the one that made that statement — I like the excitement of the election. If this is treason, so be it!

I would just like to explain that my campaigning consists purely of going to four county — five county fairs and celebrations with a great big old, beautiful parade horse, and waving my hat. That's the extent of my electioneering. I do not go house-to-house. I would go to those fairs anyway, and I see no harm in having fun at it, and I think I also did a reasonably good job; probably as good as most freshmen did.

I would also like to remark that I don't know how I'm going to vote on it. I'm in terrible shape now; but I would like to remark that it's funny how fast the freshmen can learn. You know, there are a lot of freshmen in here, and, boy, they're really getting smart!
(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion?

We are still on the amendment offered by Delegate Longmire.

Those in favor of its adoption — that's for Section 2. Those that are in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the Longmire amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The key will be opened.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "nay."

The key will be opened and you will indicate your preference. Has every delegate indicated his choice? The key will be closed.

The vote indicates 44 "ayes," 51 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. So the amendment failed.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Without any motion on the floor at this time, may we be on the twelfth order of business, or would you prefer that we finish action on 1-44, first?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I will grant that we'll go on the twelfth order of business.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Fellow Delegates — Mr. President.

After consultation with President Wenstrom and Chairman Saugstad, Chairman of the Calendar, I'm going to suggest at this time a change in the Rules; that we amend the last part of Rule 13, substituting "twenty-fourth" for "twenty-third." And the Rule would read: "At the close of the twenty-fourth day of the plenary session all proposals shall have been acted upon on first reading and first passage."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan, will you give the Rule number again?

DELEGATE GEELAN: Rule No. 13, on page 16 — the last part of the Rule — the last sentence to be amended by changing the "twenty-third" to "twenty-fourth" — so the Rule would read: "At the close of the twenty-fourth day of the plenary session all proposals shall have been acted upon on first reading and first passage."

I would move this amendment to see what the wish of the delegates is.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion has been made by Delegate Geelan, and it has been seconded by Delegate Rundle, that we strike, in Rule 13, at the bottom of the page — line 2 from the bottom of the page — that we strike “twenty-third” day and insert the “twenty-fourth” day.

Any discussion on the motion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.”

The “ayes have it. The motion is adopted.

DELEGATE GEELAN: And then, Mr. Chairman, may I make one other motion?

Will you turn to 13.1, the second paragraph: “No proposal that has been amended shall be voted on for first passage until one convention day has passed.” I move that we suspend this Rule for the balance of the Plenary Session.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Again, on what page, Delegate Geelan?

DELEGATE GEELAN: Page 17, Rule 13.1, the second paragraph.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion before the Convention is on Delegate Geelan’s motion to strike “No proposal that has been amended shall be voted on for first passage until one convention day has passed.”

De we have a second?

DELEGATE PETERSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Peterson.

May the Chair comment. Hearing no objection — I think you will recall that earlier this afternoon, when Delegate Rundle made a motion to place a particular piece of — one of the proposals at the foot of the calendar, I asked that we suspend the Rules in order that we could place it on today’s calendar. Well, this would avoid that motion.

Now, is there any further discussion on this proposed amendment to the Rules?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the Rule change will say “aye;” those opposed “no.”

The “ayes” have it and the Rules changes are adopted.

Thank you very much, Mrs. Geelan.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Could I rise to a point of personal privilege?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE STANTON: As long as we have had such a close flipflop vote on this one section, 1-44, I think I would like to announce I would have an alternate proposal ready, and normally I would do it tomorrow, but we only have tomorrow left, and those who are interested in signing can come and see me.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will continue with consideration of Committee Proposal 1-44, amendment 5 — Section 5. Section 5.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I’m sure that there are people who would like to propose an amendment to that Section; and, therefore, I’m going to move that it be — that further action on Committee Proposal 1-44 be postponed until — when?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just withdraw your motion a minute, will you?

DELEGATE SINNER: All right. I’ll withdraw the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think that the best thing that the Convention could do at this time is adjourn until tomorrow morning. I think that we’ve arrived at the place where everyone is tired, and we’ve had a heated day, and there’s been a lot of conversation. There have been a lot of amendments. And I wonder if we shouldn’t have what announcements we would like to make at this time.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Would it be possible —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the eighth order, Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Would it be possible to get a quick rundown on what we have for tomorrow?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, we will do that, Delegate Solberg. Thank you.

We will be on the ninth order of business — receiving — Introduction of Proposals.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-4, submitted by Delegates Rundle, Stanton, Trenbeath, Kwako, Hill, Engstrom, Wallin, Sanstead, Rude, Rosendahl, Nicholas, Binek, Saugstad, Hoghaug, Knudson, Aubol, Baker, Berg, Warner, Peterson, Hougen, Fallgatter and Ketchum:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal Nos. 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-110, 1-111, 1-112, 1-113 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 is referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I would move that the absent members be excused.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that the absent delegates be excused. Seconded by Delegate Kelsch.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion is passed.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, there's been a problem bothering me, and I would like some clarification from the Chair.

In the unicameral proposal, the whole problem of the language in the various sections that we have passed has been kept up to date, and, I think, it's ready to go. It is possible that, rather than go through the machinery of introducing all these either in one lump sum as another proposal or individually as different sections, may we look to the Ballot Committee to amend the proposal that they have to include all of the additional language, if and when the body makes a final decision on whether or not to put this issue on the ballot? If that's possible, I think it would be the simplest way to do it, and I — in preparing and knowing what to do, I would like, for example, from the Chair —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner, as I recall, a proposal has been introduced for that purpose. Is that right? Do you have — is it there, Delegate Dawson, in the possession of your Committee? As I recall, there is a proposal for —

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President, I believe that's right. We have a proposal on a unicameral. I think the question is do we have to go out and get more signatures on proposals to change everything that's been done throughout here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, I wouldn't — I surely wouldn't rule that. I would rule, however, that that proposal is going to have to be complete — everything that's going to be in the Constitution — so that in the event that the voters adopt that, that the Constitution will be complete. It will have to be taken care of. It will have to be in that proposal. Do you follow my thinking?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Yes, I agree, and I think that will answer Delegate Sinner's question that we don't have to go out and redo all this thing. I think we can handle it in Committee, hopefully.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That would be my interpretation of it; however, if the Convention has some other idea — after all, the vote of the majority of the Convention is who will decide these issues —

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Can I then move that the five proposals on the unicameral be referred to the Committee on Ballot?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you have five proposals?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Yes, there are five at the desk that we took out of the Legislative Functions Committee and asked that they be held at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then the purpose of this would be that they — that the Committee on Constitutional Ballot would have these as material that they might need in preparing this one proposal; is that correct?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Yes, that is correct.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I would rule that you may do that.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I move that Proposal 1-31, 1-35, 1-41, 1-42 and 1-69 be referred to the Committee on Ballot.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner moves that Committee Proposals No. 1-31, 35, 41, 42 and 69 be referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot. Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE NETHING: Second.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten. Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the five committee proposals as read will be referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Are we on the twelfth order, Mr. President?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I'm going to withdraw a proposal. I have no eulogy for it, but I do have something for the entire Convention.

Quoting from the prayer given in this chamber Monday: "Our Gracious God, as these delegates bog down, help them to continue to move ahead."

In that spirit, I request unanimous consent to withdraw Delegate Proposal 2-72.
(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson requests unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-72. Hearing no objection, the permission is granted.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I have a couple proposals I'd like to put to bed with Delegate Dobson.
(Laughter)

These are Delegate Proposal 2-58 and Delegate Proposal 2-59, and they have to do with reapportionment, and I'd like unanimous approval to withdraw them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: 2-58 and 2-59?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Yes, sir.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson has moved or requested unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-58 and 2-59. Hearing no objection, your request is granted.

Anything further? Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President. Since there isn't ever any time after the motion for a recess is made, I would like to appear to you at this time to resist it. We have 14 items on the calendar — this morning we had 14. We have disposed of five and a portion, and I think we're going to be even more tired tomorrow. I think we're very foolish. I don't care, personally, whether we stay or come back, but we are very foolish not to spend another hour-and-a-half or two hours today because it's going to be much worse tomorrow. So I would ask you that the motion to recess until tomorrow morning be resisted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Is the desk clear?

I would then move that we now adjourn until 8:30 A.M., February 3rd.

DELEGATE CART: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that we do now adjourn until 8:30 A.M., February 3rd. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart. Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: I agree with Delegate Lander. We have a long calendar here yet. I think, somehow or other, we should work awhile longer. I really do — either now or later on.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: If you need a eulogy: Noli illegitimi non carborundum. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the motion to adjourn. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

There's a lot of "noes."

Well, let's just say that the motion lost. The motion to adjourn lost — it failed. We're going to work.

DELEGATE SINNER: Let's have a division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Those in favor of adjourning will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote. Has every delegate expressed his preference? Those opposed? The vote is closed.

The motion to adjourn has been passed, and we will be in recess until 8:30 tomorrow morning.

May I say, Fellow Delegates, that it has been my experience, and I've been one of those fellows that has been so unfortunate to have many, I have seen the motion to adjourn voted down once in my lifetime.

We forgot one announcement, and we should announce what's on the calendar.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: On the calendar I have Committee Proposal 1-104, 1-82, 1-44, 1-74, 1-87, 1-86, 1-15, 1-85, 1-119.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is the reading of the calendar for the morning. I'm sorry we forgot that.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 6:24 P.M., Wednesday, February 2, 1972, until 8:30 A.M., Thursday, February 3, 1972.)

VOLUME XXIV

(February 3, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The twenty-fourth day of the Plenary Session commenced at 8:38 A.M., Thursday, February 3, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order. We'll be on the second order of business. Our Chaplain for this morning is The Reverend E. C. Schumacher, First Evangelical Free Church of Bismarck.

REV. E. C. SCHUMACHER: Almighty and Gracious Heavenly Father, we come humbly into Thy presence this morning, recognizing our own unworthiness and Thy infinite greatness and power. Thou art the One who has made all things, and the whole universe bears witness to Thy great wisdom and power.

Today we stand in need of special wisdom and understanding, that the decisions that we make may be wise and right and workable, and that the people of the State of North Dakota may enjoy many years of good government, of great progress, and of genuine liberty. Give us a portion of Thy great wisdom; guide our discussions and our decisions, and lead us to those conclusions which are in harmony with Thy will and for the good of our people.

We confess unto Thee that we possess no merit that entitles us to these great blessings, but we claim them in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior, whose merits exceed all our requests. Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the third order of business — roll call. The Clerk will open the key. You will record your presence.

Has every delegate recorded his presence? The key is closed.

Roll call discloses 90 delegates present, eight absent. A quorum is declared.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President, I'd like to report my presence.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson reports his presence.

We'll be on the fourth order of business — Approval of the Journal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has carefully examined the Journal of the first day of February, 1972, and recommends that the same be corrected as follows:

On page 366, line 10, delete "Proposed" and insert "Proposal" in lieu thereof.

On page 376, line 6, delete the word "no" and insert in lieu thereof the word "for"; in line 9, delete the word "use" and insert the word "deletion" in lieu thereof.

And when so corrected, recommends the same be approved.

Delegate Simonson, Chairman.

Delegate Dobson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the Committee Report on Revision and Correction of the Journal.

Are there any questions? Any discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion to adopt will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it, and the report is adopted.

We will be on the eighth order of business — Announcements.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Litten would like to announce that Representative Clark Jenkins of Fargo is in the gallery with us today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Representative Jenkins come forward?

(Applause)

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Exchange Club of Bismarck invites all delegates to attend the Freedom Shrine dedication ceremonies on the west end of the lower lobby on the ground floor at 1:15 on Monday, February 7th. The Freedom Shrine is a replica of 28 historical documents important to our national heritage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further under the eighth order?

We'll be on the tenth order of business.

First for consideration this morning, Committee Proposal No. 1-44.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Would I be in order to move that 1-44 be laid at the foot of the calendar? There are some amendments being worked on, and I believe it would be worked out where most parties would be satisfied, if this were done.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your motion would be in order.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I move that Committee Proposal 1-44 be laid at the foot of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that Committee Proposal No. 1-44 be placed at the foot of the calendar. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Dawson. Any discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye" — oh, no! Come, come!

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-44 will be placed at the foot of the calendar.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Delegate Kelsch is present.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch reports present.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, I move that Committee Proposal 1-15 be moved to the head of the calendar, and if I get a second, I'll explain.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger moves that Committee Proposal 1-15 be placed at the head of the calendar. We have a second by Delegate Litten.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President. Later in the morning, one or two of our committee members may be absent, and they asked that we consider this proposal at this time so that they might be present in the discussion.

Now, Mr. President, before we talk about the proposal, I should like to move several amendments which are at the desk and have them distributed to all the members of the body.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is moving Committee Proposal No. 1-15 to the head of the calendar. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 1-15 is now up for consideration.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: There are several amendments at the desk, and I would ask that they be read at this time. They have been distributed to all the members of the body.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal 1-15, introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152 and Article 54 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that Article V to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to education.

"SECTION 1.) Sections 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, and Article 54 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota are hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) Article V to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE V "EDUCATION

"Section 1. The legislative assembly shall provide for a uniform system of free public education.

"The legislative assembly shall take other steps necessary to prevent illiteracy and to provide for special education and vocational education.

"Schools and institutions so established shall be free from sectarian control. No money raised for support of public schools of the state shall be appropriated to or used for support of any sectarian school.

"Section 2. There shall be a state board of public education which shall supervise a uniform system of elementary and secondary public education, and shall perform other duties as provided by law.

"The board shall consist of nine members, with staggered seven-year terms, appointed by the governor, and confirmed by the senate in a manner provided by law.

"The board shall appoint an executive officer whose term and duties shall be prescribed by the board.

"Section 3. There shall be a state board of higher education which shall have full power, responsibility and authority to supervise, operate and control programs and state institutions of higher learning, and shall perform other duties as provided by law.

"The legislative assembly may authorize tuition, fees and service charges to assist in the financing of public schools of higher education.

"The board shall consist of nine members, with staggered seven-year terms, appointed by the governor, and confirmed by the senate in a manner prescribed by law. The members of the board may be removed for the same reasons and in the same manner provided for removal of the governor.

"The board shall have control of the expenditure of all funds belonging to and appropriated to such institutions and shall present a single unified budget request to the legislative assembly. Appropriations for all the institutions and for the board shall be contained in one legislative measure. The legislative assembly shall not reduce appropriations by the amount of any gift.

"The budgets and appropriation measure for the agriculture experiment stations and their substations and the cooperative extension divisions may be separate from those of state educational institutions.

"The board shall have the power to delegate to its employees details of administration of the institutions under its control.

"The board shall appoint an executive officer whose term and duties shall be prescribed by the board."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have some amendments now, I believe. Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President. I see many people searching their books. It's on the Journal page 293, if you've lost your Majority Report.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Page 293.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Committee Proposal 1-15:

On page 2, line 2, after the period, delete the remainder of the line.

On page 2, delete lines 3 and 4.

On page 2, line 9, after the word "control" delete the words "programs and".

On page 2, line 16, after the period, delete the remainder of the line.

On page 2, delete lines 17 and 18.

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, do we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Lander.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Now, Mr. President, in regard to the two amendments, the words "programs and" in Section 3 raise a number of questions and some objections from certain groups. We didn't think it was too important, and we simply left those two words out. And then there are provisions in Proposal 1-120 that provide for the removal of members of such boards, and we have just stricken those two sentences which referred to the removal of those members.

Those are the only amendments that we have at this time.

I would move the adoption of the amendments.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger moves the adoption of the amendments. Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Second. Any further discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I don't seem to have any amendments on my desk here. Frankly, I don't know what we're voting on.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Well, I want to say about the same thing as Delegate Longmire just said. When the Clerk reads about lines, and so on, we're looking at a piece of paper that has no lines. We have no idea what the amendment is, unless we happen to be lucky enough to have the one in hand that the Committee passed out. No reference was made to that at all here. You are moving us to vote on something that the delegates have no idea on whatsoever.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, these were all passed out yesterday. I think you will see the changes on page 2 of the sheet that was passed out yesterday.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you read the amendments?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: It's a two-page handout, and on the second sheet is the way the proposed amendments would be, which you're working on.

Proposed amendments to engrossed Committee Proposal 1-15:

On page 2, line 2, after the period, delete the remainder of the line.

On page 2, delete lines 3 and 4.

On page 2, line 9, after the word "control" delete the words "programs and".

On page 2, line 16, after the period, delete the remainder of the line.

On page 2, delete lines 17 and 18.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, if I understand it correctly, then, you're leaving out the programs of the schools of higher education that the Board of Higher Education has nothing to do with. I'd like to ask a question of the Committee that who is going to set the programs at these institutions, if we can't?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: That was a fair question, Delegate Longmire. There was some objection from school superintendents who thought perhaps that might include their vocational education programs, and that was not our intention; and so we had no objection to removing it.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I have another question then.

As I also understand the amendments, they're taking out that sentence which says "The legislative assembly shall not reduce appropriations by the amount of any gift." Is that going out?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: No.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes. Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

If you read the first paragraph of Section 3 as it would remain, it states that this board would have full power, responsibility and authority to supervise, operate and control state institutions of higher learning, which would be exactly the same as we have it today. The words "programs and", which are being suggested for deletion at this time, were an addition by our Committee. In other words, if you approve the amendments this morning, you, in essence, are retaining the authority and responsibility with the State Board of Higher Education as it is presently in the existing Constitution. In other words, what we are asking you to eliminate today is what our Committee had put in. Now, under advice, we are suggesting we better take it out again.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I hope I don't confuse this more. The other two lines that are coming out of there — Delegate Longmire, I think you had a question about that, too — develop as a result of Delegate Paulson's question the other day with reference to the necessity of having the sentence in both of these paragraphs that formerly read "The members of the board may be removed for the same reasons and in the same manner provided for removal of the governor." It turned out, of course, that this has been taken care of in another proposal that's already been adopted by this body, and these lines are unnecessary now.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate Meidinger.

Hearing no more discussion, those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye"; those opposed will say "nay."

The "ayes" have it. The amendments are adopted.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Now, Mr. President, this delegate report had a considerable amount of discussion the other day when we voted on the minority and majority report, and I'm not going to add a great deal to that. I do feel that we have created a framework and structure for education which looks to the future, and we can look forward to improved educational programs as a result of it. I do think this speaks for quality and is a wholesome approach to the educational process as it affects the students and teachers and taxpayers. I had the opportunity last week to speak to Dr. Richard D. Gibb, who is the Commissioner of Higher Education in South Dakota, on another matter, and we got to discussing this, and I told him what we were doing, and he thought it was marvelous.

I might just tell you they had a study committee in South Dakota as to their structure of their higher education. The study committee recommended that they go to nine members so the subcommittees could work more effectively, and they also then referred that to the Legislature, and the Legislature has approved a nine-member board for South Dakota.

At this time I would like to yield to Delegate Knudson.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President. Members of the Convention:

I have been assigned by the Committee to discuss Section 1.

First, looking at the Proposal in your Proposal Book: The repealer's in — we have revised Sections 147, 148, 150, 151 and 152 with the short statement we have in Section 1. Most of Section 1 comes from our present Constitution. The first sentence — "The legislative assembly shall provide for a uniform system of free public education" — is almost directly from our enabling act and is directly from our 1889 Constitution. We've had some discussion as to what the word "free" means. Does it mean at no expense? — because, of course, our public schools do charge their students various fees. My own interpretation of that is based on the Enabling Act, which says "The legislative assembly shall provide for a uniform system of public education which shall be open to all children," and I think that's the sense of "free" that we really mean — that it's not barred to anyone. We can't very well say "open to all children" because where do we cut this off? Now where we say that everyone who is 18 is an adult, are we going to bar people who have reached the age of 18 before they finish the public schools from finishing them?

In the second sentence, we have tried to cover all the other bases, I think. "The legislative assembly shall take other steps necessary to prevent illiteracy and to provide for special education and vocational education."

The last paragraph of this section also comes from our 1889 Constitution — the first sentence directly and in so many words from the Enabling Act. This is one of the requirements of the United States Government. This system of public schools must, in so many words, be free from sectarian control. The same wording carried over directly from the 1889 Constitution and from the Enabling Act. And the second sentence is directly from our 1889 Constitution. At one point in our Committee deliberations, we had, we thought, made changes in this sentence which were only for style and drafting purposes. Some interested parties raised objections. They saw a threat in our new wording, and at their request, we changed it back to the same 1889 wording.

I will yield to Delegate Sanstead for Section 2.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

Section 2 is the creation that we explained in the Majority Report the other day — the creation of a state board of public education which shall supervise a uniform system of elementary and secondary public education and shall perform other duties as provided by law.

During our six months of working in Committee and through this session on public and elementary, secondary and higher education, we had a considerable number of persons appear before us who encouraged more action, more involvement by the Department of Public Instruction in the activities of elementary and secondary education. We also had a real desire on the part of many persons to see that public elementary and secondary education have the same status in the Constitution that the old Article 54 in our present Section 3 gave to the Board of Higher Education, and it was with that testimony and with that thinking in our Committee that we decided it would be a very valuable thing, that it could allow for some change in educational program policy and institutional thought in the Department of Public Instruction if, in fact, they were a constitutional board; and that's the reason for the inclusion of a board of public elementary and secondary education. It certainly can do no harm and it might very well do some good.

DELEGATE SCHMIT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Schmit.

DELEGATE SCHMIT: Delegate Schmit is present.

DELEGATE WALLIN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Wallin is present.

DELEGATE WALLIN: Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes, Mr. President.

Proceeding to Section 3, which is the section which pertains to the Board of Higher Education and is involved with the repealer of the old Article 54 in the present Constitution, your references will show that the present Article 54 is about three-and-a-half pages in the little blue book, and so you see that some things have been eliminated. Most of those have been the legislative detail which is now in Article 54; but, in order that you understand exactly what we've done, I would like to list a few specific things:

We have provided, as has been stated earlier, for the full control of the State institutions of higher learning. The present Article lists seven institutions specifically. We have not done that. We have added there at the beginning that the board shall perform other duties as provided by law. The intent of this is to have the opportunity to add to, but in no way detract from, the present authority of the board.

As you know, the present board has seven members. We are proposing nine. We have various ones who appeared before us saying that, on the one hand, that the workload of the present board was too great; secondly, that there was not adequate opportunity for full representation of various interests in the State of North Dakota. Accordingly, after a great deal of thought and a great deal of compromise, we are suggesting a nine-man board — full nine-member board. However, we felt that we ought not to change the seven-year term as it is presently provided, and that remained the same. We provide, as you will see, that these people be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate in a manner provided by law. This is probably the most shortening that we have in here. The present Article 54 has a great deal of material as to how this is done. There is an appointment commission provided. It states that only one person who is on the board can be a former student or allowed from any particular institution. No one can have been an employee of any of these institutions for the last two years. We have removed all of that material. We have continued the provision in a recent constitutional amendment that there can be fees and tuition in the institutions of higher learning. We have continued the provision for the single unified budget and the opportunity for the separate one for the experiment station, et cetera, all as has been recently adopted in the constitutional amendment. We have added the statement that Delegate Longmire referred to — the fact that the appropriations for any institution shall not be reduced by the amount of any gifts which that institution would receive. We have also now provided simply for an executive officer and have not detailed what he should be called or what — or where he does business or how long his term is.

And now I'd like to yield to Delegate Jestrab.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President and Delegates:

Delegate Lander has covered Section 3 very well. As he said, it does follow the pattern of the present Board of Higher Education, eliminating much of the detail. It provides for a constitutional board having the power, responsibility and authority to supervise, operate and control the State institutions of higher learning and such other duties as provided by law.

Now, the constitutional authority of the board, which was demanded by the people, is retained, and this is essential to the most effective operation of higher education. The purpose, of course, of the constitutional board is to prevent the partisan ambition and changing policy and political interference. As was mentioned the other day, this was a reality some years ago, and the present Article 54, as voted by the people, was a result of that situation. The Proposal had the support of the Committee, and we urge your support of Proposal 1-15.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I have an amendment at the desk.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Would the record show my presence, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne reports his presence.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-15:

On page 2 of the engrossed proposal, after line 32, add the following:

"Section 4. All meetings of the board of public education and board of higher education shall be open and public."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: The amendment speaks for itself. These two boards are being established within the framework of the Constitution. They will be handling the money and the budgets that account for well over fifty percent of the expenditures of the State in any biennium. They will be dealing — the Board of Public Education, particularly — will be dealing with the tax load in your home precincts, and I think that we should guarantee that these meetings are open to public inspection throughout the years. Because they are in the Constitution, they might at some time quarrel with the fact that the Legislature could open their meetings. I trust that the amendment will be approved.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: I have an amendment at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab, is this an amendment to the amendment?

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Amendment to the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Amendment to the amendment?

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Right.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment:

On line 2 of the amendment, immediately after the word "public," insert the following: "unless an individual natural person whose rights are being considered requests that the meeting be closed."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the amendment to the amendment?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Second the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President and Delegates:

I attempted to introduce this the other day and the main amendment — the main proposal was defeated. I am concerned only with the difficulty in conducting interviews. When the president of an institution of higher learning is being interviewed for that very important position, it becomes very difficult, both for that individual and, actually, for the people doing the interviewing, when it must be done in a public situation. I feel that if the person requests a closed interview, that that should be respected. I urge your support of the amendment to the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, I should like to support that amendment. I have been on the presidential selection committee twice. These are very delicate negotiations. Many of them have been written up nationally in the last years, in national publications. A good many of these professional people wouldn't think of applying for a position if they felt that their investigations were public. Many of them don't want the institutions that they're with to know that they're applying for another position. I think this is very, very important.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

Many of these jobs that are being talked about now are very highly-paid; that is, in my language. Some of them get thirty-one thousand, plus considerable expenses — one of them does. The president of one university gets $30,500 plus some expenses, and I've heard in the Legislature many times high-grade people, which you get kind of tired of, because the high-grade people are asking for more money.

Now, if they're so high-grade, I can't for the life of me see why they should have anything to be hidden. The story came to me from a person I respect — I wasn't there — that a man was being interviewed for a job and they wanted to keep it secret because he didn't have a very good credit rating. Well, the person being interviewed for about a $25,000 job, without a good credit rating, should have stayed home. And I — I just can't conceive of keeping it secret. I hope the amendment is defeated. Now, wait a minute! Mrs. Jestrab's — wait a minute! Where am I? Anyway, I agree, for once, with Paulson. I do not think the meetings should be secret.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: I don't believe, Mr. Chairman — Mr. President — that the amount of the salary would ever be secret, and I don't believe that that is the intent.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Well, I'm in complete agreement —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson, your mike isn't working.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman. I'm in complete agreement that at the time an interview is going on for a position such as this, it should be a confidential one between those interviewing and the interviewee. This is one of the basic rights, although I would like to ask our lawyers, since this — this "right" is the word that bothers me. The interview should be secret, but is "rights" the word we want in the sentence? Aw, come on. There's a lot of lawyers around here. I really want an answer to this, because I wonder if "rights" — I mean is it securing a job as a president of a university — a situation such as that? Is that considered a right?

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President, I would attempt to answer it, but, Style and Drafting is going to do what they want anyhow, so it doesn't make much difference. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I'm on Style and Drafting. I want an answer.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can anyone answer the question?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I've been threatening for days to get up and say this; but, as a practicing farmer, I don't think I can help you. (Laughter)

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Well, I'll just take it for granted then that Style and Drafting can do what they want with this word.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, I, also, would attempt to answer it; but I'm afraid I would be accused of practicing law without a license. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Jestrab. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

And now we're back on the amendment as offered by Delegate Paulson. Any further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as amended. Those in favor of the adoption will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

We are back on Committee Proposal No. 1-15 as amended.

Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President. I wonder if Delegate Knudson would yield to a couple of questions.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would Delegate Knudson yield?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Thank you. Did I understand you to say that it is a belief of the Committee that the words "free public education" — that the word "free" in that phrase means merely open and not free of charge?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President and Delegate Maxwell:

I think I should say that that's my opinion, basing it on the derivation of the language from the Enabling Act which required that North Dakota should have a system of public education which would be open to all children.

Now, there was a great deal of discussion at some of the early meetings of our Committee as to what this word "free" meant, and we couldn't define it at that point any better than just to leave it the way it was, and perhaps what I said was misleading. If — if I gave any other impression, that was my interpretation — that it means open, rather than free of expense.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: What would be the purpose, then, of having the final phrase on it — “except that provision may be made for tuition and fees in schools of higher education,” unless that is to modify the word “free”?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President. Delegate Maxwell, I'm afraid you're showing me the error of my original explanation. Of course, this part of the language was inserted just a few years ago. It's a very recent amendment to our Constitution, because that exact question was coming up in regard to our colleges and universities, which were charging student fees which were, in effect, and very obviously, tuition, but were contrary to the general interpretation of the language of the Constitution.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Well — Mr. President. Thank you, Delegate Knudson.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I wouldn't want to leave the record of this Convention indicating that the word “free” merely means “open,” and I, therefore, have an amendment at the desk which would clarify, I think, what I think “free” means.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-15:

On page 1 of the engrossed proposal, in line 14, after the word “free” add the words “of charge”.

And renumber the lines accordingly.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President, I move the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell moves the amendment as read by the desk.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SONDRAL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sondreal. Any discussion?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I yield.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

We discussed this, as Delegate Knudson indicated, at length in our early Committee sessions. We had several interpretations of the word “free”. We even visited with the Attorney General's office. I think I could safely say that it is the Committee's intent that the word “free” means precisely what it means in the present Constitution, and this is what is in the present Constitution.

Now, when Delegate Maxwell raised this question, I think he was looking at the Committee Proposal before it was amended, and there it says “free, except that provision may be made for tuition and fees in schools of higher education.”

Now, we've corrected that somewhat in the Committee Proposal as it is now before the floor and as now shown on page 293 of the Journal. In the Committee Proposal as it is now before the floor, we say “free public education”, period, and then, in Section 3, under higher education, we say, “The legislative assembly may authorize tuition, fees and service charges to assist in the financing of public schools of higher education.” So I think the answer, Delegate Maxwell, is we mean the word “free” means precisely what it means now, and so I would resist the amendment and not clutter up the situation that could have some ramifications.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I would also rise to resist the amendment. We kept the word “free” in it in order to maintain the philosophy, as Delegate Devine stated, in the present Constitution. As a practical concern, as most of you recognize, the schools are being asked from time to time to do a whole lot of things which, at least at any particular moment, are in a questionable ground as far as their responsibilities are concerned. In most of these instances, there are charges made; such things, for example, as driver's training, certain highly technical courses, et cetera. I don't think we want to raise extraconstitutional issues at this point about things which are going to continue to be practical problems from time to time, and so I urge the defeat of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Well, I think, since there's a question about what "free" means, we ought to find out what "free" means before we put something in the Constitution that we can't even explain ourselves what is "free."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Well, Mr. President, I think that we are embarking upon a very dangerous course when we start muddying up the Constitution with some question of what "free" means in connection with public education. Are we opening the doors to the charging of fees and tuitions in our public school systems? If so, then I say this is extremely dangerous and I say adopt this amendment and secure free education to our students and pupils.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: May I ask Delegate Maxwell a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Maxwell yield?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Surely.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Would your "free of charge" then indicate that there couldn't be a charge for workbooks or any of the things that over the years have been considered a normal situation when we operated under the old Constitution, which says "free public education to all"?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: To me "free education" means completely free of all charges and that pupils should not be charged for anything in connection with getting an education in this State. Now, if — if there has been a custom developed which is contrary to what the Constitution says, I don't think that that's proper and I don't think that it should have been permitted to develop and, if it has developed, then it's time to stop it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

I have been connected with schools for over 26 years and I've seen this develop over the period of years. Originally, there was a small charge for workbooks; ultimately there was a charge for typewriters. Ultimately there was a charge for education, and I agree with Delegate Maxwell that, if we're going to have free school systems, we should have free school systems for all of the children, whether they can afford the $25 for driving education, whether they can afford the $10 for a typewriter. If our school system is going to give this to the children, let's give it to all of them — not to those that can afford it. And I also would like to know what does the word "free" mean under our present Constitution? It means exactly what individual school boards think it means, and I implore the amendment. Let's either make it free or let's take the word out and let it wide open.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rude.

DELEGATE RUDE: Mr. President. This is going to work a terrific hardship on many school districts, if we are not going to be able to charge for our workbooks and other fees. We have had in our districts a large percentage of people pay these fees; but, at the same time, there are people who could have afforded to pay the fee who did not pay the fee. But the school board has had no alternative, because they do not have the funds to furnish all of these services, like workbooks and typewriters and driver education, without making a charge. So I would certainly be happy if we could really determine what "free" means or if we should just say "open to all students."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, I'll yield to Delegate Devine.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, I think it's becoming clear why we stay with what we have. We're getting a little emotion into this. We're raising some dust. Personally, I am of the opinion that "free" means free of charge. I have so ruled on a couple of cases and, in a sense, forced a school to either graduate or give the students report cards where they have charged fees for activity tickets, and this type of thing. But why do we insist on muddying up the waters? We have free public education in our present Constitution. Let's stay with it. Why stir up all these people? If there's a question as to what the word "free" means, go to court. That's what our courts are for.

Now, there was a recent case in South Dakota that went precisely into this point, and they said "free" means free of charge. Let's not start acting like courts or legislatures.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: I will yield to Delegate Hubrig.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. President. A statement was just made, "Why get emotional about this?" Probably we ought to think twice. I've got six children. One of them's graduated from college now. The rest of them are in school yet. I've got to worry about paying for what the charges are myself for my own children in the school. They'll get through school, I'm sure, if I live so long. But what about the child where the parents are at the point where they can't afford it? What do those children think when they come home and say, "I need two bucks for school tomorrow." Dad and mom say, "Well, we don't have the two bucks. Can't you get along without it?" Well, the neighbor boy or girl across the street, the parents give it. What position do you leave that child in? The child probably goes along with it. But are we not putting that child psychologically in a bad feeling toward their parents?

I think we ought to clarify the fact. Is it right or is it wrong on that part of it? And I see Delegate O'Toole's got his microphone there, and I think that I'd like to hear from O'Toole, psychologically, about this matter. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Fellow Delegates: I'm sorry I'm smiling, but if you had known the many hours our Committee went on just like you people are doing now — an identical type of discussion, with a smaller group of people — and we finally came up with leaving "free." We didn't have any substitute. So, unless you can find a substitute for us to put into this section that will give us the same meaning, the same interpretation as our original Constitution, as the people meant, we'd be tickled to death if you could do it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I think that the amendment of Delegate Maxwell speaks for itself and certainly clears up the question about what "free" actually means. It means free of charges for people. In my experience in working with the schools kids and my work with welfare, I find that there are many, many school dropouts because of this nickel and dime and dollaring and five-dollaring of many of the young children in our day. The free education will — on those that cannot pay, of course, will be taken out of their welfare payments — of many of these people throughout the State. Either they're reimbursed by welfare or they will have to forego meals or food or clothing or something else to help their children get through school, and I think that the "free of charge" certainly clears up the meaning of this section.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: I would like to ask a question. Hasn't this ever been tested in the court? I'm wondering if parents have protested the paying of these fees and if it has gone into legal action and if we've had a determination by the courts on this one question of charges by the school districts. I hope maybe somebody can answer that, since Delegate Devine said, "Leave it to the courts."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Could someone answer Delegate Geelan's question? Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. President and Delegate Geelan:

I'll eventually get to the answer to this question, Mrs. Geelan and ladies and gentlemen.

During the course of our deliberations in the Committee this summer, this word was not bandied around; it was worked on, tromped on and explored in every conceivable way you want to. We asked the Attorney General's office, who has had, as I understand it, more correspondence on this word "free" than he ever received from the draft board. Well, frankly, the word "free" means free.

Now, I sat in this Committee for six months and this was my interpretation when I went in, and this is what it means to me now. If the school district has charged fees, they have done so wrongly. However, to our knowledge, this has never come to a court of law for a complete determination, because, as I think the attorneys in this room will admit, each one of these situations is a different set of facts and would have to be tried on that set of facts. At one time I had to admit that it said it would be free for those whose attendance was required by the law, and I think this has some merit. If you say "free of charge," this, I think, might encompass a lot of problems where you've got continuing education programs, adult education programs, extracurricular programs. But I have always felt that where the law says this young man or this young lady has to be in school until a certain age, they should be there free.

Now, I pay book rent and I know a lot of you others do, and I would much rather pay book rent than buy the books and, frankly, as a practical matter, we have grown up with this fringe area of thinking on this word "free." At least it's fringe in my opinion. But, as far as I'm concerned, the word "free" means exactly what it says — free of charge. But you're going to have to qualify this. If you put "free of charge" in there, as Delegate Maxwell has attempted, I'm just a little bit afraid we might be opening the door to any charge by any school for anything. But I do think that, if we want to clear the water and, believe me, it's getting muddy, we perhaps could insert — and I'm not good at writing amendments — where it would be free where the young person's attendance is required. I don't think any of us feel that our schools should offer everything free — basket weaving and things like that; but I do feel that where any young boy or any young girl — I don't care whether his parents are millionaires or on welfare — their education in America had better darn well be free. If we can't afford education in North Dakota and in the United States, what can we afford? For crying out loud, I think this is really important, and I'm not getting emotional, either, Doctor. (Laughter) This is what I have felt, and I still feel. Does that answer your question, Delegate Geelan?

(Delegate Geelan nodded.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I have two questions for someone.

Is public education interpreted to mean, also higher education, and at present what percentage of the higher education support is involved with fees, tuition, et cetera?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can someone answer? Can a delegate answer the question? Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: I'll try.

No, Mr. President, in Section 3 it specifically says that the legislative assembly may — and I believe it's the second paragraph — "The legislative assembly may authorize tuition, fees and service charges to assist in the financing of public schools of higher education."

Does that answer your first question?

(Delegate Burbidge nodded.)

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Second, and in the past, many times the Legislature has requested that these fees for higher education be raised in order to balance the budget and add to the money that is appropriated for higher education. As to the percentage, I'd have to check a figure on that. Maybe somebody else has that information. I don't.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller. Excuse me. Do you have an answer to —

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you have an answer to Delegate Burbidge?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Proceed.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Would you look at Section 148 of the present Constitution, where all of this revolves around? It talks about free public schools throughout the State, beginning with the primary and extending through all grades, up to and including the normal and collegiate courses — course.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates — and I remain to intend as unemotional as Delegate Poulson.

As a member of a school board, this has been disturbing to us. I think we've got to establish — can you tell me what is the intent of the Committee? I sure don't want to quarrel with committees, because I can sympathize with you, Delegate Fritzell. All of us have spent many hours dealing with these various words — as to what they mean, and so on. Now we've become accustomed to paying these little fees, and if we've been doing this in violation of the Constitution, then we ought to either stop it or else word the Constitution so that what we're doing is legal. What is your intent? Is your intent that we should continue to pay these? If it is, then let's get the wording straightened up so that there will be no more question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President. I will attempt to speak as far as what the Committee says, and if there's disagreement within the Committee, then they can correct me.

The word "free" means several things. I believe that it is the intent of the Committee that it means free of charge. It also means that it is open to all. So it means several things. This is why I hate — I don't want to see the amendment.

Now, there was a suggestion, even, by the Superintendent of Public Instruction that we take the word out — the word "free" out of the Constitution, so that we wouldn't approach this problem. But it was our intent — at least my intent, and I think Poulson expressed the same thing — that free means several things; first, that it is open to all and, second, that it is free of charge.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President. I agree with Delegate Devine. Nobody can speak completely for any committee. I do, however, believe that it was the intent of the Committee that the word "free" meant just what it says.

Delegate Daniels, did you wish the floor? Delegate Daniels.

DELEGATE DANIELS: I agree with these people that say "free" means just that. And I believe when our Constitution writers in 1889 wrote the Constitution, they also meant the same thing, and I think we have over the years just kind of slipped to the side and let some of these things go by and changed the wording to suit ourselves. I think, if we mean "free" in this Constitution, we better say "free." If we don't mean "free," then we better take it out, and I think, if we do put "free" in there, we better all go home and refuse to pay some of these fees we have been paying.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

The custom of many school boards has been to not charge the people that can't pay. I know in my experience any fees were waived for about three or four families that were on relief, so that the children wouldn't be hurt psychologically. But I admit it is not the way it should be, and I agree with the amendment offered by Judge — or Delegate Maxwell; not so much as to what we're going to do, but we're just inviting court cases. We're going out here saying, "We don't know what the word 'free' is. We'll leave it up to the judges." And then we complain that the judges are passing legislation.

Now one reason this hasn't gone to court is simply because the people that can't pay the fees can't afford a lawyer either; and the person that can afford to pay the book fees and things for his children would be ashamed to take it to court. And I certainly agree that we should pass this amendment or some other one. If we can't define the word "free" here, what about the people that have argued for six months on that?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: I hope we can resolve this thing, because I don't think there's been any committee in this Convention that has not struggled with the real interpretation of a word. If we think we're going to write a document here that's going to be absolved from any court decision on the part of words and interpretation thereof, then I think we're trying to do something that's impossible, because words are most interesting, Mr. President, because I think of the fellow who said, "My wife is a light eater. The minute it gets light, she starts eating." (Laughter)

So how do you define "light" then? How do you define "free"? I think it's something that we must take for granted here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: As a member of the Committee, I can certainly say that we did discuss this in many aspects and, as a mother of five daughters who have run up against this problem time after time — in fact, to the point where my husband has often wondered, "I wonder how the neighbors can afford this." People who have very little are in the same spot. But it is my feeling that the word "free" is now in our Constitution and we have used it in the same context, and if the school boards have been abusing this privilege, then it's time that the parents challenged them, either in the courts or through legislative process.

Now, we have been saying time and time again in this Convention that we do not have to spell out everything; we could leave it to the Legislature. Well, now this is one we can put right in the lap of the Legislature, and certainly all these school boards who have been so concerned with the many aspects of our programs we have been trying to develop can have a chance to answer us, and since they have not to this point explained to us exactly what the word "free" means, let's leave them the opportunity to explain it either to a legislative committee or to the judge.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Urdahl.

DELEGATE URDAHL: I'd like to support the amendment of Delegate Maxwell, because I think it is time that we resolve this very important thing that we're on. I think it was Delegate Rundle that mentioned that we tried to separate people — those who can pay and those that cannot, and I think this is one of the damaging things that has occurred with the kind of a system that we have followed and what we've run into about free education. I don't think that much of the damage has been done to those who have been able to pay. I think the real damage is being done to those who somebody feels unable to pay because that, in a sense, classifies people, which, I think, is unjust.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President. I speak in opposition to the amendment. After listening to a lot of testimony here this morning, I think the Maxwell amendment creates more problems than it hopes to solve.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I think when Delegate Maxwell entered his amendment, he wanted to sort of clear the muddy waters, and he was concerned about the intent of what this Convention felt the words "free public education" meant. I think the discussion has been good. I get the impression from the Committee that their words "free education" meant just that — free education. I think that, as far as I'm concerned, I'm ready to vote on that. I think our vote will show that intent that Delegate Maxwell is talking about.

Now, if "free public education" as the Committee sees it is what this Constitution's meaning has been all along, then we have been in violation of that; but, on the other hand, if we put in "free" — "free of charge," as Delegate Maxwell says, we will be just as well in violation of that fact if we go back home and continue to operate as we have. So I hope that we're ready to vote on this question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President. I've been looking at Webster's for the last few minutes, and the definition of the word "free" — and it covers about half a column in the dictionary. There's many, many uses described there. But I would like to call this to our attention: That our original Constitution provided for free public education. We have a land grant based on free public education, and we're tampering with a pretty touchy subject if we start out and eliminate or change this definition so that even the Congress might challenge what we were doing out here with our land grants and our public funds that they may appropriate.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President. This debate this morning has really surprised me. I sat here yesterday for a couple hours and I listened to the argument on eminent domain, and I heard that there was more at stake than just money. I heard that we have certain rights as individuals — certain freedoms. I've listened to many arguments as far as the Preamble Committee's proposals have come in, and time and time again we've talked about freedom and "free" — how we should be free. I've listened to Delegate Paulson in his open meetings, and we've agreed with him. But now we sit here and we're going to eliminate all of this free part that we have to obtain in this Constitution by limiting this word to only apply to the money angle, and I'm very much against this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kretschmar.

DELEGATE KRETSCHMAR: Mr. President, I'll yield to Delegate Lander.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President. Thank you, Delegate Kretschmar.

Last Thursday, in the Invocation which was given here, one of the sentences began, referring to us as "imperfect representatives of an imperfect people," and I think that speaks very much to the problem that we have here. We all would like to have the "free" be absolutely free of any kind of responsibility, as well as of payment, I think, sometimes. If we — and, again, I urge your defeat of this particular amendment, because I think we clarify it as well as we can clarify it the way it is, and in the meantime, whether we pass this or not — either way — I hope that you will go home and recognize that your school boards are being asked by all of the parents of the children to provide all kinds of services for those children, many of which we have not had in years past, while another group of citizens — often the same people — are saying, "We at the same time are going to have all these services; certainly don't ask us to pay any more money for those services in taxes. We certainly don't want to do that." So, you see, we are an imperfect people in what we ask. We are not consistent.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President, I'd like to refer to the Illinois amendments. Most other constitutional conventions have struggled with this very same thing, and we studied those provisions when the Committee looked at our own word "free." Except Illinois, on page 401, has a rather interesting statement. It says this:

"The provision that the schools must be free has caused little difficulty."

However, they do give us a direct statement as to what they meant. "It does not require that schools provide free textbooks."

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I yield to Delegate Kessel.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Thank you, Delegate Kelsch.

I originally stood up to support the amendment, and I did that because of the fact that we were told that "free" means what it means in the old Constitution, and I wasn't able to find out what it means.

Now I have found out that the intent of a great majority of the delegates is that "free" means exactly what it says — free of charge. And with that explanation and with that intent on the record, I now am satisfied that "free" means what we think it should mean — free of charge — and that the school boards and all of the school authorities will find out that that was the intent of this body, and I do not now care which way the amendment goes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. Chairman, I was about to say just what he said along that line. I think, if "free" means just exactly what it says, then, evidently, it doesn't mean much, because the situation is getting worse. I definitely want to support the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I thought before this debate I understood what it meant, and now I'm so confused I don't know what it means.

Now, it seems that we have two categories of education here — higher education and secondary and elementary education. It would seem to me, from the way this proposal has been brought in by the Committee, they think that we ought to have free education in the secondary and elementary schools, but not free education in the colleges and universities. And, if that's the way they mean it, that's fine with me. But it would seem to me that in the other section of the Constitution, which says free education means to go through colleges and the normals, that we're still up in the air, and I do think we ought to clarify it. If we are going to qualify it so that we can charge these tuitions in schools of higher education — and I'm in agreement with that — then we ought to say it will be free, "except as otherwise provided in this Constitution," because now we are in a confused position because in one section we say it is free, and then, in the other section, we say it isn't.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Am I permitted to speak again?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I was sitting here placidly filing my fingernails when I was startled by the interpretation of the word "free" offered by Delegate Knudson — that it meant "open." I thought it mean free of charge. Apparently the Committee feels it means free of charge, and almost everyone here concedes that's what it means. Then I think we should put "free of charge" in the Constitution, and then it would be settled once and for all.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I still think Delegate Maxwell is missing part of it. If we adopt his amendment, we have to adopt further amendments, because not only shall they be free of charge, they shall be open to all, and whatever else the word "free" means. So, if you adopt the amendment — I'm speaking against the amendment — but what I'm saying is if you adopt the amendment, we're not done, because then we'll have to go on and describe and define what else "free" means, because we can say, "Fine," 'free of charge,' hooray! But only these people shall go." And that's not the intent of the Constitution. I'm speaking in opposition because "free" means free, which means several things. It means open and free of charge.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I think this is a tempest in a teapot, and the "of charge" would certainly muddy the issue.

Now, as an attorney for a school board, I advise them on what they can and cannot do under "free," and I have told school boards that the charging for work-books, for example, is a very dubious legal matter, and it could be successfully challenged. The charging of shoe rental, towel rental, locker rental, is certainly valid. It's an extracurricular activity. The charging of rental for band instruments is certainly legitimate, even if you had "free of charge" in there.

So this is just a tempest in a teapot, and Delegate Maxwell has warned us about embarking on dangerous voyages; but this old ship is still floating, and I would urge strongly to vote down this cloudy amendment, which is muddying the issues.

DELEGATE SULLIVAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sullivan.

DELEGATE SULLIVAN: Fellow Delegates: I would like to second the remarks of Delegate Burke over there. He has sized the situation up correctly. We are maintaining here the status quo, and this is the twenty-third day, and I don't think we can settle this problem today, and I know that most of you don't want to upset your present school board's position, and I liked what Delegate Peterson said — that this is still a matter for the courts and it's still a matter for the Legislature, and I urge you to support the Committee at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Maxwell.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "noes" have it and the amendment lost.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: I have an amendment at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson has an amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-15:

On page 1 of the amended engrossed proposal, line 14, delete the word "free".

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson — wait! Excuse me. May we have a second to the proposed amendment?

Seconded by Delegate Rude. Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: I, too, feel strongly about the principle of this. Either the word should be in there or more definitive, or we should take it out. We are not now providing free public education. I have three children yet in grade and high school, and we are constantly paying for things which, according to the Constitution, should be free. It's difficult to explain to your children, when you're here attempting to write a constitution for their rights, when you leave in a word and then go home and try and explain why you left it in and force people into the courts. I don't know why we should write things in this Constitution wherein we have to force people to go to the courts. I would like to see that word "free" taken out or made more definitive, and I move that it be removed.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I'd like to oppose the amendment. I think it's very unnecessary. I think our last vote showed the intent of this assembly. The area is clear, I believe, for the school boards to see the intent, for the Legislature to see the intent, and for the courts to see the intent. I think we have done our job and I oppose the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the — Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Just one comment. This is a basic right, and to take out the word "free" would take out a very basic right for our children. And I would move, if it's in order, that Mr. Kessel's remarks be put in the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe we would have to rule that out at this time. I doubt if they've been kept.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Simonson. I think you're aware of the proposal. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "no" — "nay." The "noes" have it. The amendment failed.

We're back on the Committee Proposal No. 1-15 as amended. Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, I now move that the Rules be suspended, that Proposal 1-15 be deemed to be properly — not yet?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, Delegate Meidinger. We have not yet adopted. We have been working on amendments. We have not adopted the main motion. 1-15 is still before the Convention as amended.

The question — the Chair is in error. Delegate Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates: I regret that some of the delegates had a hard time hearing me in my remarks on education last Monday. Hopefully, my comments today will come through loud and clear!

Mr. President: I respectfully request a division of this Proposal so that we can have one vote on Section 1 and one vote on Section 2, 3 — and I believe there was a new section 4 added. This is a logical separation and will permit the delegates, like myself, to vote for Section 1, but against Sections 2, 3 and 4.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Billey, how are you dividing it? Do you request that it be divided so we vote first on Section 1 and then on — en masse on Section 2, 3, and so forth?

DELEGATE BILLEY: Yes; unless someone else prefers to divide it some other way.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then we would vote on Section 1; then we'd vote on Section 2 and 3 together — 2 and 3 together.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Well, Mr. President, wasn't there a Section 4 added by amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There has just been added. So those three would be together; and 1.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your request is granted.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, should it be on the calendar first?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may make your motion.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, I now move that the Rules be suspended and that Proposal 1-15 be deemed to be properly re-engrossed, and I move that it be placed on first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-15 be deemed properly re-engrossed that placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE PETERS: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Peters. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-15 is before the Convention.

First for consideration then will be your vote on Section 1. Delegate Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Mr. President, I would like to take this opportunity to explain my vote in opposition to the last three sections —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Billey, we'll take the Section 1, first. Then you may have the floor.

The question before the Convention then is on the vote on Section 1.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: I'm very seldom a nit picker, but yesterday I raised a question. In my mind there was an uncertainty between 1-15 and 1-100, and, to me, that still has not been cleared up.

For example — and I'm speaking on Section 1, Mr. President — (a) under 1-100 it says that the executive powers shall be allocated among 15 principal state departments. Well, I don't think there's any difficulty there because we set up one and, in fact, under 1-15, it goes further and says the head of the department shall be a single executive, unless otherwise provided by this Constitution. Well, you can provide it in 1-15 — that there will be 18 or probably 20 at the head of this department — two executive directors; but the next is where I believe we get into a dispute between 1-15 and 1-100. It says, "The legislative assembly shall prescribe the duties for each executive department and shall also provide for the periodic reorganization."

Now, 1-15, in effect, does prescribe the duties, and so on, of this department, and it seems to me one or the other is in conflict, and it would seem to me that 1-100 should perhaps have in it "except as otherwise provided in this Constitution."

And there is a further conflict, in my opinion, under (b); but as we are not — Mr. President, as we are not on that, I do not believe I can speak on it; is that correct?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke — Delegate Burke, just a question. I didn't — it isn't -- I don't think I misunderstood you. That is in another proposal; isn't that correct? Your reference is to another proposal?

DELEGATE BURKE: My information is that the question is divided and all we can speak on now is the first question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On the first section.

DELEGATE BURKE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct. The question before the — Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, in response to Delegate Burke, he raised an excellent point. It is our thought that, after Section 1-15, if it is adopted by the Convention, that we'll attempt to correct that problem.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question now before the Convention is on the first passage of Section 1 of Committee Proposal No. 1-15. Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote?

The vote is closed.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President, may I explain my vote "no" for the record?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may, just as soon as the vote is announced, Delegate Rosendahl.

Fellow delegates, there's something wrong with the tally. We would ask your indulgence, and we will re-vote on this first section of Committee Proposal No. 1-15.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed. We have to proceed with the roll call.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Yeah — yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Bassingthwaite.
(No response.)

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Bender.

DELEGATE BENDER: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benz.

DELEGATE BENZ: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Binek.

DELEGATE BINEK: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Birkeland.

DELEGATE BIRKELAND: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Brakke.

DELEGATE BRAKKE: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burbidge.
DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burke.
DELEGATE BURKE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Butler.
(No response.)
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Byrne.
DELEGATE BYRNE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Cart.
DELEGATE CART: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Chase.
DELEGATE CHASE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Christensen.
DELEGATE CHRISTENSEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Daniels.
DELEGATE DANIELS: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dawson.
DELEGATE DAWSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Decker.
DELEGATE DECKER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Devine.
DELEGATE DEVINE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Diehl.
DELEGATE DIEHL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dobson.
DELEGATE DOBSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Engelter.
DELEGATE ENGELTER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Engstrom.
DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Erickson.
DELEGATE ERICKSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fallgatter.
DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fiedler.
DELEGATE FIEDLER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fritzell.
DELEGATE FRITZELL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Geelan.
DELEGATE GEELAN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Gipp.
DELEGATE GIPP: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Griffin.
DELEGATE GRIFFIN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hardmeyer.
DELEGATE HARDMEYER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hartl.
DELEGATE HARTL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Haugen.
DELEGATE HAUGEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hernet.
DELEGATE HERNETT: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hildebrand.
DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hill.
DELEGATE HILL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoffner.
DELEGATE HOFFNER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoghaug.
DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hougen.
DELEGATE HOUGEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hubrig.
DELEGATE HUBRIG: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Huckle.
DELEGATE HUCKLE: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Jestrab.
DELEGATE JESTRAB: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kelsch.
DELEGATE KELSCH: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kessel.
DELEGATE KESSEL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Ketchum.
DELEGATE KETCHUM: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Knudson.
DELEGATE KNUDSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kretschmar.
DELEGATE KRETSCHMAR: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kwako.
DELEGATE KWAKO: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lamb.
DELEGATE LAMB: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lander.
DELEGATE LANDER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Larsen.
DELEGATE LARSEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lerberg.
DELEGATE LERBERG: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Litten.
DELEGATE LITTEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Longmire.
DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McElroy.
DELEGATE McELROY: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McIntyre.
DELEGATE McINTYRE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Maxwell.
DELEGATE MAXWELL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Meidinger.
DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Miller.
DELEGATE MILLER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nothing.
DELEGATE NETHING: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nicholas.
DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: O'Toole.
DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Omdahl.
DELEGATE OMDAHL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Paulson.
DELEGATE PAULSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Pearce.
(No response.)
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peters.
DELEGATE PETERS: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peterson.
DELEGATE PETERSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Poulson.
DELEGATE POULSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Quam.
DELEGATE QUAM: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Roney.
DELEGATE RONEY: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rosendahl.
DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rude.
DELEGATE RUDE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rundle.
DELEGATE RUNDLE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sanstead.
DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Saugstad.
DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Scheel.
DELEGATE SCHEEL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Schmit.
DELEGATE SCHMIT: Nay.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Simonson.
DELEGATE SIMONSON: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sinner.
DELEGATE SINNER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Solberg.
DELEGATE SOLBERG: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sondreal.
DELEGATE SONDREAL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Stanton.
DELEGATE STANTON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sullivan.
DELEGATE SULLIVAN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Trenbeath.
DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Tudor.
DELEGATE TUDOR: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Unruh.
DELEGATE UNRUH: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Urdahl.
DELEGATE URDAHL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Vogel.
DELEGATE VOGEL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wallin.
DELEGATE WALLIN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Warner.
DELEGATE WARNER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wicks.
DELEGATE WICKS: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wenstrom.
PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Aye.

The roll call discloses 90 "aye" votes, 5 "nay" three delegates absent and not voting. So Section 1 of Committee Proposal 1-15 has passed.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President: I would like to explain my vote "nay" for Section No. 1. I merely feel that I believe we have failed to identify "free education."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President: I, too, should like to qualify my "nay" vote by explaining that "free" should either have been deleted or made more definitive.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: I would like to explain my vote of "no" because I don't feel that word "free" was clarified here, and I didn't want to make a court heyday out of this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Schmit.

DELEGATE SCHMIT: Mr. President: I'd like to explain my vote. I think the Committee could have written this up to clarify the intent brought out here on the floor. I don't think this is going to change much. There's been this proliferation of charges in our schools, and it's come over such a long period of time. It's wrong — it is really wrong, and I think we should have said it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention, Sections 2, 3 and 4. Delegate Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I plan to oppose Sections 2, 3 and 4 for several reasons. First, like Burke, I cannot reconcile these sections with the actions of this Convention in approving Committee Proposal 1-100, which call for the organization of the Executive Branch of our government into no more than 15 principal departments.

By approving these three sections, we are laying the groundwork for three separate departments of state government — one for higher education, one for elementary and secondary, and one for vocational — and we're tying the hands of the Legislature so that it will be virtually impossible for them to accomplish the proposed reorganization of the Executive Branch.

If we aren't planning for three departments, then it will be two departments, which is even worse, in my opinion, since it will mean the eventual consolidation of vocational education board with either the higher education board or the public school education board.

Should these two sections of the new Constitution be approved, I foresee nothing but a continuous battle in the Legislature to designate one of the two proposed constitutional boards as a board for vocational education.

Now, my belief is based on the following reasons: The Superintendent of Public Instruction, in his letter to our Committee on July 14th, expressed his concern over not having clear supervisory control over vocational education in the elementary and secondary schools.

Second, the Legislature, in the '69 session, had a bill which would have designated the Board of Higher Education as the board for vocational education, and it was defeated.

Incidentally, our Chairman referred to South Dakota, and I might just say that our neighbors to the south, with a similar structure in the administration of education, during the current session had a bill that combined the vocational education department with their Department of Public Instruction. It was defeated. To me, it looks like it would be just a plain, simple struggle for who is going to have control of the vocational money that is allocated by the Federal Government.

On Monday, a delegate expressed concern over the need for vocational education in the elementary and secondary schools, and I share that concern. If the Board of Higher Education should become the board for vocational education, there would be good reason for this concern. Under federal law, there is no requirement and, therefore, no guarantee that any federal funds would be spent on vocational education in our elementary and secondary schools. The federal law requires only that at least 15 percent of the federal money be spent on post-secondary vocational education.

If the Board of Higher Education, whose members are already concerned about the amount of work they have to do, receives this additional responsibility, we would really have taken a step backwards — all the way back to 1955, when they originally had the authority over vocational education.

In conclusion, I think we're telling the Legislative Assembly two stories; on the one hand, we say "Organize the state government into 15 departments," and, on the other hand, we establish the organizational structure for education without creating one department. We should either be consistent and face the problem, or not hinder the Legislature by locking these two boards and their administrators into the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I wish to speak only as a technician — not in opposition or in favor. I wish to point out the Education Committee did a very fine job, and it seems that this is the direction we're going to go — with two boards. However, I wish to point out, again, in 1-100, that there is a possibility that everything you have done may be wiped out. It says that the governor may — this is under (b) now of Proposal 1-100:

"The governor may, for more effective administration, make changes in the allocation of functions, powers, and duties among and within the executive departments, other than those departments headed by constitutionally elective officers."

Now, your Education Department is not a constitutionally-elective office.

Now, I merely wish to point out that there is a danger that reorganization may undo everything we've done in 1-15. The only saving possibility I see is that when these changes affect existing laws — and I'm sure the Legislature will pass laws setting up the board, and so on — it says when these changes by executive order affect existing laws, then the Legislature does have the power of vetoing the governor's executive order; and I merely bring this out in case the Education Department or the Executive Functions wants to insure that the work of the Education Department will go out without executive reorganization.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: In answer to Delegate Burke: The Style and Drafting Committee is working on this problem, because we saw it coming, and we haven't quite finalized our thinking on it; but we'd like to invite you down to our luncheon meeting, if you'd like to interject your thoughts on it. But we are working and we think we can resolve the problem.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I don't believe the problem is anywhere near as serious as is being contemplated, because I think the language in 1-100 indicates that the kinds of departments that are going to be involved are those that are only within the control of the governor and the Legislature, and when we set out in the Constitution a specific board, I don't believe that the language in 1-100 could be construed in any way to include a proposed Board of Higher Education. I think there would be a serious question as to whether or not it could even include the other boards. So I don't really think it is a problem; and even by the wildest stretch of the imagination, that these could be construed to be executive boards. I don't think it's going to be a problem for the Legislature to deal with the fifteen anyway.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. I know that everybody gets tired of technicians, but I think it is extremely important that we do go ahead and try to prevent problems, and this matter has been raised, as Delegate Unruh pointed out, several times, and there is at the moment a draft being prepared to hopefully correct whatever problem there might be there, and the amendment would be to list the departments in 1-100 as those departments under the control of the Attorney General, the Secretary of State, the Public Service Commission, Board of Higher Education, and the State Board of Public Instruction, so that it would clarify exactly what the areas were that were not within the area of review.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? The question before the Convention — Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President. I believe that the question is on the motion of Delegate Billey —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No. The question is on the passage. The question is on the passage of Sections 2, 3, and 4 of Committee Proposal No. 1-15.

Any — hearing no further discussion, the question — we're voting on the first passage of Sections 2, 3 and 4 of Committee Proposal No. 1-15.

Those in favor of passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

The key will be opened — no. You'll have to use the roll call. We will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 85 "aye" votes, 8 "nay" votes, five delegates absent and not voting.

Committee Proposal — Sections 2, 3 and 4 of Committee Proposal 1-15 have passed.

The Chair will declare a 15-minute recess.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President: May we be on the eighth order for a moment? I would like to invite the Education Committee down to G-1 for a very short discussion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You invite your committee. Go ahead and invite them.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: The Education Committee is invited to a short meeting in G-1.

(The Session recessed at 10:29 A.M. until 10:48 A.M., the same day.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Will you please take your seats so we can come to order?

The Chair will recognize Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President. In deference to yourself, who has an amendment for 1-74, and I would imagine you'd like to pose that amendment from the floor, so at this time I'll move Proposal 1-74 down below on the calendar, below 1-86.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

All in favor of the motion signify by saying "aye" —

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would have appreciated being consulted about this. I have mentioned to several members of the Committee that I have a — that I have a responsibility that will take me from the Chamber this afternoon for two or three hours, and I was hoping — really hoping that we could get these tax things out of the way this morning. I understand then we'll go on with 87.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Well, Mr. President, I did this at the request of Delegate Saugstad, so that he could offer his amendment.

Now, if the Chair wants me to make the amendment from the floor, I can do that also. How does the Chair feel?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would not want to curtail Delegate Saugstad's right to make his amendment. I will have to say that I will have to leave the Chamber after lunch for about three hours.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen, if — could you give us some indication as to about when or for how long a time you will be absent?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would be leaving at — my plans are to leave at the noon recess, and I would expect to be back around 3:30 or four o'clock.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Well, I think it would be quite probable then that this could be held over then until you have returned.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Does that mean then that Proposal 1-74 and 1-87 will not be heard until three o'clock? This is the twenty-fourth day. I had my plans made for the twenty-fourth for committee meetings, board meetings, and so on, and I'd like to be here for those commitments.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe, in answering your statement there, Delegate Solberg, that Committee Proposal 1-87, I believe, is next on the calendar. Is that correct, Mr. Chief Clerk?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President: What's the status of 1-15?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That has been passed.

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President, I would surely not oppose the deferral of action on 1-74. I can designate — I mean the members of my Committee are certainly well able to take care of the discussion on it — whatever the Committee — or whatever the Convention decides is satisfactory to me. But I will make this announcement: That I will have to be absent this afternoon.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Thank you. Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, could we solve the problem by all agreeing that the Chairman can speak as a delegate from the Chair, and go right ahead with it? I don't think any delegate here would object to that — unless you'd rather not.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Well, I do not feel that that would be quite fair and that I would prefer to speak from the floor. I could relinquish the Chair. President Wenstrom.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Mr. President: In the event something comes before the Convention that you would like to take part in, Delegate Saugstad, I'll be here and I'll relieve the situation and you may return to the floor.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Thank you.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Then, Mr. Chairman, I'll revise my motion. Frank, did you say you'd go to the Chair now, or later? Would you like to wait until later?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'll go right now, if this is what's on your mind. If the question is before the Convention now, I'll go to the Chair right now.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: The question is before the Convention.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Okay. I will relieve Stan.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Okay. Thank you.

(President Wenstrom returned to the rostrum to preside.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: For consideration by the Convention is Committee Proposal No. 1-74.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-74, introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 182 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to state debt.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Section 182 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"STATE DEBT. The state may issue bonds and make loans, and guarantee the payment of such bonds and loans and interest thereon. A statewide property tax based on value shall not be used to retire or guarantee such bonds or loans.

"Each issue or guarantee shall require sixty percent approval of the members-elect in each house of the legislative assembly.

"Except as otherwise provided in this constitution any tax levied or other provision made to retire a bond issue shall be irrevocable until such debt is paid."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Mr. President. I've been waiting for this one for a long time. I'd like to explain a little bit about what the old section does and give our Committee — what they had their feelings on.

Section 182 of the present Constitution is a rather long section that would provide, basically, that the State may issue and guarantee bonds, provided that the bonds in excess of two million dollars have to be secured by a first mortgage on real estate, not to exceed one-half of the value of the real estate, or upon real and personal property of state-owned utilities, enterprises or industries in amounts not to exceed its value.

Now, it further provides that the State may not issue or guarantee bonds upon the property of state-owned utilities in excess of ten million dollars.

There is another restriction written into this section that no further indebtedness can be incurred by the State unless evidenced by a bond issue authorized by law for certain purposes clearly defined. There is further language in the section providing that if a bond issue is authorized, it should provide for the levy of an annual tax or make other provisions sufficient to pay the interest and principal within thirty years from the date of issuance of the bond. It shall also especially appropriate the proceeds of that tax to the payment of the principal and interest, and that this appropriation should not be repealed nor the tax or other provision discontinued until the debt, both principal and interest, have been paid.

The final sentence of the section provides that no debt in excess of the limit therein can be incurred, except for repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection, defending the State in time of war, or providing for the public defense.

Now, the Committee had the benefit of considerable testimony on the contents of this section and decided that it should be revised considerably. It was the feeling of the majority of the Committee that no specific limitation should be written into the Constitution. The reasoning behind the Committee's decision was that it is impossible now to determine what the needs of the State will be years into the future. Thus it is also difficult to determine now the amount of indebtedness which would be necessary to promote the continued growth of the State in the future. These matters can hardly be decided at this time; thus it would be unwise to include such a limitation in the Constitution.

The Committee was advised by the members of the Industrial Commission and by officials of the Bank of North Dakota that one of the areas in which State debt would perhaps be necessary in considerable amounts in the future would be the development of the Garrison Diversion Irrigation Project, and it was the opinion of these individuals, and concurred in by a majority of the Committee, that the debt limitation as in the present Constitution is totally inadequate to cope with these future needs. The Committee thus provided that the State could issue bonds and make loans and guarantee the payment of such bonds and loans and interest thereon.

We have stated that a statewide property tax based on value cannot be used to retire or guarantee such bonds or loans, and this was done to protect the already often-overburdened taxpayer.

There is no dollar debt limit stated, but there certainly is a restriction on incurring debt written into the section. Those restrictions are the requirement that the issue or guarantee must be approved by sixty percent of the members in each house of the Legislative Assembly. Further, each issue or guarantee must receive sixty percent approval. This will require that every plan that the State incur indebtedness will have to be subjected to scrutiny by all the legislators and will have to receive the approval of sixty percent of them.

The last sentence provides, "Except as otherwise provided in this constitution any tax levy or other provision made to retire a bond issue shall be irrepealable until such debt is paid." The exception relates to the language of Committee Proposal 1-116. The need for the exception arises because 1-116 calls for reenactment of a property tax every two years, if one is used. Thus it allows that if it is not reenacted, it would lapse, and thus it would be irrepealable.

The Committee discussed the language of this section at length and felt that the Legislative Assembly would be responsive to the wishes of the people. If the Legislative Assembly was not responsive, the people would then have the right of initiative and referendum available to them. The Committee members further felt that, in order to gain a sixty percent approval of the members-elect, it would be necessary to have considerable discussion on whether or not the debt should be incurred, and if sixty percent of the members were convinced that it was proper and reasonable, the debt then should be incurred.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President. I have a proposed amendment at the desk, which I'd like read.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed Proposal 1-74:

On line 11 of the engrossed committee proposal, after the word "thereon", insert the words "not to exceed forty million dollars".

And renumber the lines accordingly.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I would move for the adoption of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second for the motion?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Actually, I am in agreement with Proposal 1-74 as prepared by the Committee, with the exception of the fact that I happen to be one of the minority on that Committee that felt that there should be a ceiling — that is, in other words, that there should be a debt limit provided for in this section, in view of the fact that we have had, up to this time before, a rather low — what I would call an extremely low ceiling or a low debt limit; and, actually, what, of course, the Committee has proposed in Proposal 1-74 is for an unlimited debt; in other words, there is no ceiling whatsoever, other than the requirement of a sixty percent vote on the part of the Legislature.

Now, those who oppose writing in a debt limit advanced the following arguments:

One, if it could be based on a percentage, say of the assessed valuation — that's the way we are handling the debt limits for the political subdivisions — expressed as a percentage of the assessed valuation. However, as it was pointed out in this instance, that the State is not levying a tax against real property. Therefore, that method would be inapplicable in this instance.

The other was that maybe it should be expressed in a percentage of income, and that seemed impractical. The argument against using a flat dollar amount was this matter of inflation. We speak of forty million dollars today or ten million, or some such set figure could be and may be meaningless, say in another 25 or 30 years or sometime in the future, and I certainly am willing to grant that that is true; but my point is that — and I wanted to offer this alternative to this group: Do we subscribe to and do we want a ceiling or a debt limit expressed in the Constitution?

Now, I happen to feel that we should, and I feel that we should have some kind of a limitation, one of the reasons being that extreme pressures can be, and I presume will be, brought on the Legislature for extending the State's credit. I can foresee rather extreme pressures brought to bear. I would like to point this out: That in the past, whenever it has been necessary to bond the State — and we have had three bond elections in the not-too-distant past — and each time for paying a veterans bonus, incidentally — but those passed rather readily; it was not difficult to bring that to the people and let the people vote on it. And if the people approve of a debt — I mean in bonding the State, then I think that is perfectly fine and, by the same token, no one is going to promote or try to bring an issue to the State Legislature asking for large — floating a large bond issue, unless it is very sound, provided they know that it will have to be brought to a vote of the people.

The other factor involved is that there is a time element involved here where this can be scrutinized for some period of time.

Now, I'm going to vote for 1-74, regardless of whether it has this — my proposed amendment in it or not, because I feel that it is a good proposal; however, I feel that it would be slightly better with my proposed amendment.

Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I, too, would like a debt limit. I agree with Delegate Saugstad, but I am a little worried. On an inflationary basis, do you realize that in ten years it would be down to twenty million at the rate we're going now, and in twenty years it would be no debt limit at all? And I do also have another question, but it is not germane to the Proposal, so I'll leave that. I would like some other method except a direct figure.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate McElroy.

DELEGATE McELROY: Mr. President. I rise to speak against the amendment. I think that you've all heard about how hard all of our committees have worked, and we did. I think the makeup of this particular Committee is probably one of the more conservative committees in the Convention. We tried to be consistent in all of our legislation in staying away from absolute limits. They're hard to define today — what might be twenty or thirty years from today — and we have felt, after exploring all kinds of limits, that this super majority of sixty percent is the best way to handle it. It takes care of the situation as it may be in the distant future.

Now, I think one thing you might bear in mind is that, as the State goes into debt further and further, you're going to meet increasing resistance. In other words, this sixty percent vote is going to be a lot more difficult to get if you're already quite a lot in hock. I think that this way of limiting state debt is quite reasonable and it is quite farsighted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President. Will Delegate Saugstad yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Saugstad yield?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I'm concerned why — what's the basis for selecting the forty million dollars? — is the first question; and then, second, whether or not the proposition was discussed with regard to setting a maximum on debt limit with regard to the total income within a year or biennium which the State might have. Was this — the question was: Was this idea discussed — at setting a limit based on that figure or on those items?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: In answer — is this on? It's on.

In answer to the first question: The forty million dollars was — I'll speak without it.

In answer to the first question — why forty million dollars — why that figure? There is nothing magic about that figure, and, in actuality, it could be fifteen million or thirty million or fifty million or some other figure. But we had to select or use some figure. We felt — and I discussed this with a number of other delegates — and they thought that forty million was sufficiently a large amount of money to allow appreciable leeway. Recall that we now have a bonded indebtedness for the Vietnam bonus of about — I believe about fifteen million. So this would then actually, if this were adopted — forty million adopted — then it would mean that we would have an additional twenty-five million that could be borrowed before it would have to be taken to the people.

In answer to the question — the second part of your question, it was discussed trying to set a percentage of the State income; but, actually, when you begin to talk to that, are you talking — what? Income to the general fund. What income would be or should be considered. And in view of the fluctuation that can occur, that this amount could move up and down appreciably. And so it was felt that that was an impractical approach.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I am strongly opposed to the amendment; but whether it is approved or not, I will vote for the section. However, it might be well to give you a little history on debt limits. Probably Mr. Cart is more able to do this than I.

The original Constitution, as you know, had a two hundred thousand dollar debt limit, and in 1889, this was regarded as an astronomical figure, and I believe within three years it was felt that this was inadequate and it was finally changed to two million. However, we are also repealing Article 76. As you remember, this was a provision proposed by initiative petition, which would allow the State to issue bonds and use the proceeds to privately or cooperatively own enterprises, structures and equipment, extend facilities for power and generating, and so on. And it stated in there that the State could issue general obligation bonds up to five percent of the full and true value of all the taxable property in the State, which is roughly thirty million — which would be roughly thirty million dollars, and in a case in North Dakota — Kelly v. Guy — it was provided that Article 76 was an exception to 182. So, in effect, we had a 32-million-dollar debt limit, and although I — in my way, I resent Delegate McElroy looking at me when he spoke of conservative people on the Committee. The danger with the debt limit is that you believe that you are very generous, and because of changing times and things of that sort, you will find that you are quite shortsighted. And from a conservative person, I would believe that the sixty percent provision that Delegate Erickson mentioned is a valid safeguard against wild spending.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

I'm going to support the amendment of the debt limit, although I think it's a little high.

Now, Delegate Saugstad talked to me about it, too, and I thought this was a little high; but I'm going to support it, because I think there should be a debt limit. And there are a couple of things that you may find. In the past, a sixty percent vote of the Legislature, even a two-thirds vote, has been had on very, very many occasions, and it isn't the guarantee that some people might think it is, and there's one other thing that's bothering me about this, and we're talking irrigation and all these projects — we may need lots of money. Well, what's going to happen to private enterprise? Does the State have to go into everything?

Now, I have an irrigation system. I've had it for many years. I built my own dams and I've paid for the machinery and I may know as much about irrigation as some of the doctors and dealers of various kinds who are on this Commission, and I don't think the State has any business underwriting irrigation projects. I think that this is a personal obligation, and I would hope that the amendment to put a debt limit on carries.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President. I would like to support some kind of debt limitation and, contrary to Mr. Rundle, I think perhaps it's too low. However, none of us have unlimited credit, and this is really what you're trying to say. This is not true in the case of individuals, corporations, sovereign nations and tribes, and I'm concerned with the cost of money to the State of North Dakota. I think when you have no debt limitation, you're going to have to pay a lot more for your money. Those of you who are familiar with the history of this State know that for many years six percent bonds were selling for eighty dollars a hundred, credit of the State of North Dakota. Now, North Dakota's credit is not all that good — that it can borrow on all the money that it wants; and I would like to think that you would like to have some kind of limitation to keep the cost of the money down.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: In response to the statement made by Delegate Burke: The original limitation of $200,000 was carried until 1918, when the present situation was developed, where the State could go into the industrial business and such things as that. And, since that time, of course, it issued the various bonds for the veterans.

Now, I'm in support of the amendment offered by Delegate Saugstad for this simple reason: That we're not probably going to see continued inflation. We can also see deflation. And if we get ourselves so heavily overloaded, we could be in drastic circumstances, that even our grandchildren would have to repudiate. If we run this thing way up beyond any reasonable amount, we then would be in extreme difficulty and probably state bankruptcy would be the alternative.

So I think the forty-million limitation is reasonable.

Now, going back to the other developments, such as irrigation projects, and things like that: Certainly the land that is going to be subject to irrigation and get the benefits of irrigation should bear the cost there, except the digging of the main canals and such things as that. There's a lot of land in this State that is not irrigable. I know here some years back, when they had the so-called "shotgun marriage" of the Pick-Sloane Plan, they were going to irrigate all of the northern part of this State, starting way up by Crosby and coming down and running a canal over towards the Turtle Mountains, and then irrigate all of that land. Well, they set up a project there by Des Lacs Lake, about three miles from where my land is — some of it — and they alkali'd the land in about three years, because it's just a heavy clay subsoil — a good loam, but it will not stand irrigation. So that had to be abandoned. If that had ever gone through and all of that system built, we would have had to abandon our homes up there — our farm homes. So this will be to some degree limited. There are certain areas in this State that are suitable for irrigation and they should be developed; but, on the other side, they should be approached with caution, because the season — the growing season — the frost-free period under which crops can be grown will not change because we irrigate. It will be just as limited in that respect as it is today.

So I certainly support the amendment offered by Delegate Saugstad that we write in the forty-million limitation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Well, Mr. Chairman and Delegates:

I, too, was on that Tax Committee, and I had sympathy — a great deal of sympathy for Mr. Saugstad's proposal, although we were not in the majority, and there's merits in the consideration of going both ways — leaving it open and leaving a limitation to the Legislature and with the super majority, or put a debt limit on it. Presently, our Constitution limits the debt limit to ten or twelve million dollars. There's a dispute on just what that figure is. But we thought — or at least Mr. Saugstad, I'm sure, thought that it was worth the merit to bring before this Convention and let you be the judge on whether there should be a debt limit or not.

Now, we've had this debt limit. We've done pretty well. When we've had to exceed that, we went to the voters and we went with a justifiable cause, and they have raised the debt limit beyond that ten or twelve million dollars in the past. So we've operated very successfully, and we can take and view what's happened in other states, where these things are left up to the Legislatures, and there's some of these states that are most certainly heavily burdened with debt. So it gets right down to whether you feel this should be left opened up and left to the Legislature with a super majority, or put a ceiling on it. It's just that simple.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President and Delegates:

Delegate McElroy referred to this Committee as being "rather conservative." I think we were so conservative that the very thought of forty million dollars was rather shocking to us, and Delegate Burke is the most conservative liberal that I know. I think this bears out that we were trying to leave this thing so that future generations could cope with the problems that would be at hand at the time that they arise. We left secure that the sixty percent would be a deterrent to unlimited spending — to unlimited debt limit. This would be an issue, and the fact that they're dealt with each separately, would give the Legislature an opportunity to view each project, each proposal on its merits alone.

The thought of this thing, I think, Fellow Delegates, is that the money needs may be so huge in the future that we would have problems in finding private lending agencies that might be willing to come out here and invest in this, and this is why we thought that, in trying to look 20, 40, 60 years ahead, that it was almost impossible for us to try to visualize just how large this ought to be. I recognize that this does disturb me a little to not have any limit on it, and the headlines that came out when this was determined a short while back, I'm sure, startled many of the voters in this State. But, if you stop and examine this thing carefully, I don't believe it's nearly as much of a problem as you think it is.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President. I was going to expound on that idea that was just mentioned — about each issue. I think that may need a little more explanation. The thought in the Committee was that if an agency of government came looking for a loan or for funds to build a project — whatever it was — irrigation has been mentioned — that the Legislature would have an opportunity through its committee work to study the feasibility, the methods of payments, recommendations as to interest rates, and look at each one to see whether or not indeed the land was irrigable, for one thing, whether the benefits would be justified, and that's — I can claim that I had something to do with putting that in there, and I think it's a business practice that would be very justified; and I think, in answer to Delegate Saugstad's motion, it would justify the Convention in voting down his amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will a delegate yield time to Delegate McIntyre — McElroy? Delegate Hendrickson yields.

Delegate McElroy.

DELEGATE McELROY: Well, I just wanted to thank Delegate Meidinger for bringing out another restriction on this debt limit. It is true that, as our debt grows, if it gets to a point where our credit is shaky and interest rates go up, it's going to be much more difficult to get this sixty percent vote.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I'd like to yield my time to Delegate Meidinger.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: In answer to Delegate McElroy: The opposite might be true. Delegate Miller has just suggested that perhaps the sixty percent would be a deterrent. I would suggest to you that $430 billion dollars at the national level ought to be a deterrent, too; however, they are just going to raise it another $50 billion, and it will carry by over sixty percent because the projects are so worthwhile!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President, I think the members of my Committee have been doing an excellent job in defending the language of the Committee. So far, we've followed the practice of not putting definite figures in this new Constitution. When we say how many signatures are going to be required for initiative and referendum, we say a percentage. I think the philosophy and basic principle — that it's wrong to put in the Constitution any set figure as we have had in many cases in the old Constitution. This is one of the bases for my support of this language in our section. The others have been well-explained.

I just want to ask Delegate Meidinger this: Where would this country of ours be if we had a 400-million-dollar debt limit that could be not repealed without going to the people?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: I would submit that we would be in less trouble than we are now. I would call to your attention that the price of gold on the international markets this morning was $50 an ounce, and the American money is selling for very little abroad. I look forward to another devaluation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President. I don't think I can say anything that hasn't been said here, but maybe I can lend a little emphasis to some of the things.

First of all, when we started talking about some of these things, I think we were talking about projects — financing projects. Maybe some of us wouldn't be so concerned. But if we're talking about opening a back door here and using an escalation of our debt limit just to satisfy operating expenses, that's something else.

Now, first of all, it's been mentioned that what will happen when we see this word "unlimited" in the paper tomorrow again. The second thing: Forty million dollars. When they first take the first step toward this forty-million-dollar limit, in contrast to what has been said here, I think they'll be the most cautious group, and probably the next most cautious will be when they hit thirty-nine million. But in between, I think that the base will increase considerably.

Now, a hard and fast figure in the Constitution or in a business is not a good figure; but it goes something beyond that, because we have to represent a lot of people who don't understand this. They don't understand at all what two-thirds means or what sixty percent means in the Legislature. All they understand is what's happened at the federal level, and I believe, if I've been able to appraise, in talking with delegates here, that we are more conservative in North Dakota than the average United States citizen is. But, even more important, in the business world you can afford to go bankrupt. It hurts a few people; but bankruptcy or a poor credit rating does not carry with it the catastrophic connotations that it does in the government. And, furthermore, if you have a good enough reason and a good enough project and a good enough sales force, you'll sell a project. And that's what this increased debt limit ought to be for — it should be for operating expenses.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

Delegate Saugstad has had me almost convinced from the very beginning on this debt limitation; but I think we've illustrated some of the problems which the Committee has had. The question was asked, "Why the forty-million-dollar figure?" Others have said it's too high. Others have said it's too low. And this is a problem that the Committee faced all the way through. And we're talking about seeing the paper with the "unlimited debt." How about the forty-million-dollar figure? That's going to look pretty big, too, when we haven't had it there before. In fact, it might be more dangerous than to have the unlimited debt. It's just a problem that the Committee faced and felt that we should do the best we could with.

Now there are a lot of project ideas in the wind, I'm sure. There was talk that the State might need or might want to build some sugar beet plants or some other type of plants in the east, and that they will need a huge amount of financing. I'm not talking about the State doing this, but some private enterprise or some other organization that needs support. And the talk is that maybe we could use some state debentures to help finance this and sell the debentures. We could use this vehicle and, if we do have the opportunity without our Constitution, such a thing can be done.

Now, I'm sure that a lot of you would be opposed to doing this; but the fact that we had before the Committee — the Committee felt it would be better to approach it in the manner we did. We hope that this group can make a decision — a wise decision, and I'm not sure that the forty-million-dollar figure is the right one. I probably would have rather had fifty million, and you probably would rather have ten million; but at the same time, I hope you can give weight to what we have done and feel that you can rely on our Legislature in the future.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I just want to make a couple of comments on this. I think you have to get this in perspective, and I doubt that the forty-million limit is any more relevant to what the dollar will buy than what the ten-million limit was in the old Constitution, and I allege that the forty-million figure may be as phony a figure a year from now as the five-dollar-per-day pay for the Legislature was in the old Constitution. Sometime ago — a year or so ago — when we were in a high-interest-rate situation, I saw in one of the financial columns a figure that rather frightened me for many reasons. The lady was talking about what one dollar would be worth if it were invested at eight percent interest for thirty years, and the frightening figure is that it would be worth ten dollars at the end of thirty years; and so that it means that, if you had as much as eight percent inflation just for thirty years, you would depreciate the currency by ten percent.

So I would oppose — even though there are some problems here, I would oppose a dollar limit, because I don't think it's realistic, and particularly unrealistic today, when the dollar has so many appreciation problems, and I don't think it will help the dollar any by putting this limit in it. The individual goes into debt for a home, and I've seen the magic figure used at about two-and-a-half times his annual income, for instance, as a legitimate debt figure to buy a home.

So I think you have to compare this forty-million figure against maybe what the State operating expenses are, and I think they're something in excess of a hundred million a year now, and perhaps larger, depending on which figure is used. So it is a very small figure in today's world, and I think we would be locking an unfortunate thing in the Constitution if we passed it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President. I think the delegates here are about ready to vote on this thing. The issue has been pretty clearly pointed out to us. I do want to remind us all here that I think Delegate Miller has probably hit upon the most important part of this thing — has spoken the most important part when he said, "Generations in the future being in a position to solve their own problems."

I support the Committee's position, and oppose the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President, I'd like to direct my question to Delegate Meidinger on the matter of — as I understand it, the reputation of North Dakota's — North Dakota in the bond market at this time is very good.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Very good, sir.

DELEGATE BYRNE: In your opinion, in your background in finances, you touched on it for a moment. Would it not be true that this would continue better with a stated limitation, rather than unlimited?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: I would think so; yes, definitely.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Stated in the Constitution?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Yes. In addition to that, I think the price of money would be less. I have no firm position as to what a limit should be — whether it's flexible or otherwise — but I simply think there should be some kind of a limit that the investor and the buyer of our bonds could look at.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Well, I speak of the reputation in the bond market. I'm speaking about the price. The cost of the money would be better with a limitation on it.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: May I direct a question to Delegate Saugstad?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Saugstad yield?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE KESSEL: If 25 years from now the forty-million-dollar limit would be too low, could it not then be submitted to the people living 40 years from now, to decide whether they want to go above that forty-million limitation?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Thank you. In that respect then, I would say that all the way through our Constitution we felt that the things that are to come up are to be submitted to the vote of the people at that time, and I don't see then that the necessity of going 40 years hence to decide what would be the proper limitation is strictly in order. The people then could decide if forty million is sufficient. At least we do have a limitation of some type. I speak for the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President: I yield my time to Delegate Aas.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President, I just wanted to make one comment on the statement — the answer which Delegate Meidinger made to Delgate Byrne.

We did have Art Whitney, an attorney for the law firm that does all of the bonding, I think, in the State of North Dakota, with us. He was the bonding attorney that appeared before us, and he did not see anything wrong with an unlimited — a removal of the limitation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Saugstad.

Will the Clerk read the proposed amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed Proposal 1-74:

On line 11 of the engrossed Committee Proposal, after the word "thereon", insert the words "not to exceed forty million dollars".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "no."

The "noes" have it. The amendment failed.

DELEGATE CART: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested.

Again, the question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Saugstad.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 50 "aye" votes, 46 "nays," two delegates absent and not voting. The amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I have an amendment at the desk I wish you would read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed Committee Proposal 1-74:

Page 1, line 10, after the word "state", insert "or its instrumentalities" and after "bonds" delete "and make loans,"

On line 11, after the word "bonds" delete "and loans".

On line 13, after the word "bonds" delete "or loans".

Renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger — or Hernet. I'm sorry.

DELEGATE HERNETT: There are two parts to this, as you'll notice. First, I will talk about the amendment about "or its instrumentalities". My reason for wanting to put that in here is to clarify what we are talking about when we are talking about our debt limit. My thinking there is, for instance, our colleges. We have had a sort of a back-door approach for years on dormitory bonds and such type of bonds which are not technically called obligations of the State of North Dakota, and I think they should be, and I think that, if we pass this legislation here, that I think the Legislature should take these into consideration.

Now, they do authorize the issuance of these revenue bonds, but the State of North Dakota does not guarantee them, and of course it does not appear in our debt limit.

Now, we have had an instance just recently here at Ellendale, where the college — the school was closed. Now, the dormitory bonds would not be paid unless the State of North Dakota decided to pay them, and in the last session of the Legislature, the Legislature did decide to pay those bonds, and the reason was that everybody felt that it would be bad publicity for the State of North Dakota not to make those bonds good.

What I'm getting at and thinking of here is, if we are going to do this, and I assume we are going to continue this program of making our — of guaranteeing these indirectly, I think we might as well face up to it and guarantee them. If we do, the State of North Dakota will save hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest costs, because, as was mentioned earlier here this morning, the State of North Dakota's credit is good, and I would guess that we would get at least one percent better rate, and maybe as high as a two percent better rate, if we did guarantee them.

Now, this would be entirely up to the Legislature, as is stated in this Proposal, and they could still decide whether they're going to guarantee them and make them the obligations of the State of North Dakota or if they aren't going to.

The reason for putting this in here is so they could do it, if they wanted to, and as I'm saying here this morning, I would hope they would do that, because we are going to guarantee them anyway; we're making good on the Ellendale bonds.

Now, my other amendment is simply to take out the words "and make loans". I can see no need for that here. I can't imagine the State of North Dakota going into the loan business. We have — at one time in our past history, North Dakota did go into the real estate loan business and it turned out to be a very expensive experiment for the State and the Bank of North Dakota, and I have heard no good explanation this morning yet as to why this phrase should be here. I just don't think there's any need for us guaranteeing loans.

Now, it is true that the Bank of North Dakota doesn't make loans down here, and I'm not going to get into that this morning; but they aren't doing it, and this is not involved here. What we're saying here is guaranteeing loans — not making loans — and it says "make loans," and then further on it says "and guaranteeing them," and I can't imagine when that time would ever be when the State of North Dakota would be — that implies they would be selling these loans to somebody else and guaranteeing them, and I just can't see the need for it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President, I would just like to comment that, if you add the "instrumentalities" in there, and if we're going to include the bond issues for the dormitories, I suspect that we're already over the forty-million-dollar figure. Perhaps some of the people on the Board of Higher Education would know the figure; but we have a rather substantial amount of bond issues and we are not beyond it, if we add the — if we add the institutions to this. This was one of the problems which we ran into on the limitation, and while I have no objection to the "instrumentalities" being in here, as I visualize it now, I could see some real problems if we have the forty-million-dollar limitation in there; and as far as the loans are concerned, this was in clarification of a debenture-type of issue, if the State should choose to make such an issue, and it was on the recommendation of counsel that we did place this "and loans" in there.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I believe the amendment is a dangerous one. The Committee talked about the language and we talked about the same possibilities and, as Delegate Hernet pointed out, revenue bonds are a separate thing by themselves. They are revenue bonds. They're paid out of revenue, and they would not enter into the State debt limit, and I can also envisage — imagine or envisage instrumentalities that might be considered extending down into political subdivisions, and we've already established debt limits for political subdivisions.

Now, I'm sure that the Committee would have no serious objection to striking out the "loan" matter; but as to "or instrumentalities," we believe it would be a dangerous extension, and we in the Committee believe that any bonds or any debts to be granted by the State should be centralized in the State in the Legislature. The question that would arise in my mind: Would an instrumentality like the University be able to go ahead and advertise and sell these bonds by themselves? I believe it would put so many questions of doubt into this section that I would vote against the amendment.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President, I'd like to yield. I have an amendment at the desk which does just exactly as Delegate Burke has proposed — that I would strike out the words "and loans", and if this is defeated, I would then offer my amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Oh, I only wanted to reiterate and mention in the question that Delegate Burke brought up about the instrumentalities or the State dormitory revenue bonds being sold without the general obligation of the State. They are so much in demand because of the higher interest rates, where Delegate Hernettt was right — that they were a little precious item that we couldn't even get enough of them for our investors because of the higher rate of interest, and they would not be as enticing at the rates that they would be offered at if they were general obligation bonds of the State, rather than revenue bonds.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President, I would just like to defend Delegate Hernettt and, also, Delegate Fritzell, that the State indirectly or directly is paying more interest — much more interest — because these revenue bonds do not have the guarantee and, on the other hand, we'd hate to see any of these revenue bonds go in default, because it would be a black eye on the State. I'm not entirely clear on how we should work this out, but I know we can save the State millions and millions of dollars if the guarantee were available, and I think Delegate Hernettt's proposal has a lot of merit.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Delegate Hernettt, I think, is absolutely correct. There is a problem, however. I think that the figure I got quickly is 39 million that's presently — we're in obligation for. The objection that Delegate Fritzell raised, I don't think, is an objection, Mrs. Fritzell, because these bonds were sold on the open market and the bid should be lower, if they do have the backing of the State, and it's not the State in these revenue bonds itself; it's the kids. One percent of interest on a dormitory makes the — the figure's kind of vague, but it's something like seven or eight dollars a month for a student and it's — I think Delegate Hernettt is absolutely correct. I can't conceive of the State ever defaulting on a revenue bond that it buys or that it sells, and I think what he is suggesting is absolutely important and absolutely accurate — that we should do it.

Now, we may have to amend that other figure, and I'm not prepared to suggest what that figure should be. I wish that, if we do adopt Delegate Hernettt's amendment, which I hope we do, we can have time over dinner to get these figures nailed down a little more accurate.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE McELROY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McElroy.

DELEGATE McELROY: I'd like to ask Delegate Hernettt a question.

Is there any reason that the Bank of North Dakota can't issue guaranteed bonds and then turn around and loan this money to such projects as you are talking about, thereby achieving the same saving, with the present wording?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Delegate McElroy, the Bank of North Dakota is an instrumentality, too, of the State, and I don't know how the Bank of North Dakota could issue bonds. I'm sure that they can't. They might be able to borrow in other ways, as all banks can, but I don't think they could issue bonds. I would have brought this up when Delegate Saugstad's amendment was on the floor, but I hesitated to do so because I kind of wanted to see what the feeling was here, too, and, by the way, I voted against his proposal — or his amendment. But I — I have one other comment to make, and I have to leave, too, for an hour or so this noon. But I would — possibly this is the way to do it, if you feel like you agree with me — is to vote this in and then reconsider your other one. But I have felt strongly about this for years, because — for two reasons: Not only the interest rate thing and the guarantee — and of course the Ellendale thing was the first example we have had of it, and I felt that we would make good on them — but I think it is a more honest approach, too, because, as Delegate Scheel mentioned this morning, something about a back-door approach, and this is what we've been doing, and I think this would be a more honest approach, and I would — I think that the way this is drawn — I haven't checked — but I think the way it is, that the Legislature would make the determination as to whether they would be guaranteed by the State or not; but I'm just assuming that they would say they would have them be guaranteed because of the difference in the interest rates. So, as a practical matter, I would suspect that all that would be issued from now on, if this passes, would be guaranteed bonds or revenue bonds.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I'm a little concerned about the word "instrumentality" — as to what an authorized instrument would be authorized to issue bonds. I don't think that was the intent, but I wonder if Delegate Hernet or any other member of the Tax Committee — whether or not the authorization which states "to issue bonds" wouldn't include the power to issue guaranteed bonds for the purpose of building dormitories, if they want to, because we really do — we need the word "instrumentalities" if the power is broad enough.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'm going to pass until the last question is answered. I have another point here.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think I might address myself to that.

I agree with everything that Delegate Hernet has said. I disagree that his amendments will get the job done. Yes, this was one of the reasons we considered the State — that the Bank of North Dakota is an instrumentality of the State and that the institutions of higher education are also instrumentalities of the State and will be covered by that word "State". The word "loan" was put in there because the question was, "What is a debenture and what are some of those other credit instruments?" They may not be bonds, but the two words were put in there so that they would cover, and they're both under the legislative control, and I think it has been pointed out here that one of the arguments against putting a dollar limit in this thing is we have at present a Vietnam bonus of fifteen million-plus. This was also discussed — the same thing that Delegate Hernet mentioned — these bonds of the Board of — or of these revenue bonds for the dormitory buildings, and it was felt that these should be more closely controlled by the State than they are now. But, you see, these could not now, under the way this amendment has been proposed, be considered by us, because we would already be over the debt limit before we've even passed the issue of the Constitution. So I think that the original wordage that the Committee has in that first section is very adequate to do just the things that all the people have spoken about and the problems that may arise — you see, you have some other problems in terms of the Bank of North Dakota, and I am not suggesting, and I don't think any member of the Committee is suggesting, that we want the Bank of North Dakota involved in any more individual lending; but you do have some group things, such as the student loan things, and some of these, many of which, of course, are guaranteed by the Federal Government and covered under statute; some of which, however, are not a hundred percent guaranteed by the statute and in which there is a gray area for the Bank of North Dakota to operate. And we didn't feel that this was opening any barn door, but that it was clarifying some things and making the possibility of the Legislature to do some things without any cloud of legality.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Unruh. No?

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I have spoken once already, but I think

I should clarify one more thing. The Board now doesn't issue a revenue bond without the approval of the Legislature, and it isn't as though there was any — any certainty that the Board will not and maybe hasn't already made some mistakes in revenue bonds, and this is a real issue, I think. What's pathetic is that if we could help our interest rate, it would help the kids in the State, both in the overall cost of the building and the liability that might some day fall upon the State, and it would help the student who has to pay the revenue. So I think, if there is some way that this thing can be clarified, we should do it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I get the feeling that we're close to taking a vote on this; but I think Delegate Hernet has brought out two individual points in his amendment. At least that's the way I view them. And I would like to call for a division on the question — separating the question on the one on the "instrumentalities" and one on the "loans", if I may.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I believe Delegate McIntyre is right in there being two questions here. I am opposed, and I believe the majority of the Committee would be opposed, to either amendment. In our discussions, it was pretty well agreed by the Committee that the Bank of North Dakota is an instrumentality of the State and we believed that the institutions of higher learning are instrumentalities of the State; so we don't think that that adds a great deal to it. So I wouldn't have any particular objection. But on the matter of the deletion of the loans, I think that you would affect the operations of the State and its Bank by deleting that.

Now, if there was to be a loan made to a group of people who were promoting a sugar beet plant in the Red River Valley, it would be far in excess of the amount that the Bank could lend on its limitations as a lending institution; but it would — it would require the Bank or the group wanting the money to come to the Legislature and prove to them that there was substantial security and that there was a general purpose for the public good to be served, and then the legislature would authorize the issuance of the bonds or the debentures, or whatever you might call them, and then the Bank would make the loan to this institution, and the same is true of an irrigation district, for instance. The Bank could not raise the money, except through a bond issue, to make a loan to an irrigation district; and, again, the bond issue would have to be approved as a separate issue by the Legislature. The Legislature, again, would have to be convinced that there was value to the people of North Dakota in making that loan; then the Bank would make the loan to the irrigation district. And so I think we hinder the operations of both the State and its Bank by deleting the word "loan."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre, in response to your question as to dividing this amendment, the Chair is going to rule that that cannot be done.

Now, Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President. In answer to Delegate Haugen's statement, I think that, in talking to you and some of the members of the Committee, one of the reasons that I am in favor of Delegate Hernet's proposal to do away with this section that says "and loans" is that this is a highly-dangerous thing. Now, the Bank of North Dakota makes the loan to some institution. It could be an irrigation district, as you refer to, because that irrigation district has assets upon which it can issue some form of a debenture, but the debenture is not issued by the State of North Dakota. The State of North Dakota buys that debenture from that area.

Now, I think that we're confusing the issue here on this thing as to notes. We want the instrumentalities of the State of North Dakota to be able to raise money by issuing bonds; but, by issuing notes we get right back to the same thing that everyone is talking about here, and that is that when you issue an unsecured note, and whoever buys then buys because there is nothing pledged behind it, there is nothing to pay — not revenue now from the dormitory, but a debenture or an open note — it's naturally going to be more costly. We would be writing something into this which I contend is legislation, incidentally, but we would be writing something into the Constitution that is going to cost us many millions of dollars and, individually, lots of dollars to the individual, if we let even the State of North Dakota or if we let any instrumentality raise money by the means of a debenture. This would be one of the worst things we could do. I say this: I don't know what the ramifications are of Delegate Hernet's proposal to include instrumentalities, but I do know that the words "and loans" must be stricken. You must take the word "loans" out, and you can substitute something else, and I don't mind telling you that I have talked to some of the other bankers and I have talked to the members of the Bank of North Dakota, and they favor the words "and loans" be taken out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow Delegates — Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Might the Chair comment? Is there any objection?

It appears to the Chair that one of the big stumbling blocks right here is the matter of — the two words "and loans". Well, in order that this can come to a head, why don't someone move to amend the amendment, and then we'll find out what the Convention wants to do with "and loans"?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. Chairman — or Mr. President. Maybe I can solve that — can't I?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, you have the floor.

DELEGATE HERNETT: All right. Let's start out with the "instrumentalities" and leave that in and I'll move to delete the other part of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet moves to delete the part of his amendment — everything after "or its instrumentalities".

Now, do we have a second?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate McIntyre.

Now, do we have a question? Any discussion?

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I can say that I think that adding the word "instrumentalities" is going to create some problems —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas, now that's not the question. The question right now is on deleting that word — the two words "and loans" as offered by — the question is on the amendment to the amendment.

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Now we're back on the amendment as amended. Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, now all we have in there is the amendment to add "or its instrumentalities", and I just have one comment to make, because I asked the clerks down in the Legislative Council, and I had the clerk from our stenographers check it out from a half-a-dozen dictionaries, and it means, generally speaking, agencies, although its broader than the word "agency." I think that it should be left in there, because Delegate Lerberg said that you folks on the Committee felt that the word "state" included these; but I'm not sure that it did, and about all this would do would be to make this real plain that it does include all of the colleges and all the agencies or instrumentalities.

Now, this does not say that they have to be sold as government-guaranteed bonds. They still could be sold as revenue bonds and, as I observe this thing, they maybe won't have to apply to your debt limit any more than they do now, if they want to do it that way.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President, I do feel that this could create some problems with the forty-million-dollar debt limit, because I could read into this that if we added the instrumentalities, and all the debts of these institutions are now part of our debt, and certainly they would be, and I think Delegate Sinner is right — that it's close to that thirty-nine-million-dollar figure for the dormitories alone, and we have not now included a separate provision for the Vietnam bonus, and we have a fourteen-million-dollar bond issue there, and so with those two, we're going to be well over our forty-million-dollar debt limit before we get out of this room for lunch, and so we're going to have a problem.

Now, I think that I can support Delegate Hernet's amendment, but it creates a real problem if we have his amendment and have the forty-million-dollar limit.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: My amendment here on the little sheet that's inserted in here says, "The state or its instrumentalities may issue bonds." It doesn't say "shall".

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think we should stay with the word "state." I think the word "state" includes its institutions; and if you say — the way this reads, if you take out the word "state" it says an instrument of the state may issue bonds. Do we contemplate that the University of North Dakota can issue bonds?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President: I agree thoroughly with Delegate Kelsch, because all we poor bare-footed lawyers have to go by is language, and if it says an instrumentality may issue bonds, that's what it means; and that would mean that the State Mill and Elevator may issue its own bonds and guarantee them and pledge the credit of the State. So I believe that "state" is sufficient, and I would urge the deletion of the "or its instrumentalities."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hernet. Are you aware of the amendment?

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Could we now have the first paragraph of 1-74 read to us?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "STATE DEBT. The state may issue bonds and make loans and guarantee the payment of such bonds and loans and interest thereon not to exceed forty million dollars. A statewide property tax based on value shall not be used to retire or guarantee such bonds or loans."

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: I have an amendment at the desk and I'd like to have it read.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your mike isn't working.

DELEGATE RONEY: Pardon me. I have an amendment at the desk, and request it be read, please.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: It's my understanding that the reference to "loans" was removed — no?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It was removed in the amendment as offered by Delegate Hernet originally. That was the part that was deleted. It was an amendment to an amendment, and the amendment failed.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. Read Delegate Roney's.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-74:

In 10 of the engrossed proposal, after the word "bonds", delete the following: "and make loans,".

In line 11, delete the words "and make loans".

In line 13, after the word "bonds," delete the words "or loans" and renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: I think we have had adequate discussion on this, but I would like to raise this point: That the Bank of North Dakota is an instrumentality of the Legislature, and the only place it is in the Constitution is where we just put it in the Constitution to say that the Bank of North Dakota will remain. I'm not here to speak against the Bank of North Dakota. I am for it. But I don't think we want the State, nor do we want the Bank of North Dakota, whether it's an instrumentality or an agent, or whatever it is, to come on out and issue debentures or an open note, because it's going to be a costly thing. There'll be no limitation on it, and all I can say is that you must take the words "and loans" out of it, because if it cannot issue a bond, which is a general obligation bond, a revenue bond or a bond which is paid for by a specific allocation of some form of income, then you're going to ruin the State of North Dakota's credit rating, so to speak. You will make all bonds issue at a higher yield, and a debenture bond, by the name of it, stands as something issued without collateral and is going to be a costly item. I, therefore, ask you to approve the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd like to ask Delegate Roney a question.

Delegate Roney, you are aware that the Bank of North Dakota issues many, many hundreds of thousands of dollars of student loans. What would your amendment do to this possibility?

DELEGATE RONEY: It would do nothing to it. The Bank of North Dakota can continue to do whatever the Legislature has proposed it to do, and the Legislature has provided, under 6-06-15, that it can make these kind of loans.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Roney. Maybe the Clerk should again read the proposal.

Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think I should bring to your attention, before we vote on this, that we do have a constitutional revision which we passed before in terms of the — and this was a bill which our Committee had under consideration, too — which prohibits the State, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, from giving aid to an individual. So this is a constitutional thing that might give us some problems, too, that Delegate Unruh raised a question about, if we removed this word "loans."

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I move that after the announcements at the desk, that we recess until 1:30 — until 1:00?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Could you make that 1:00?

DELEGATE SINNER: Until 1:00.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you read any announcements that there are at the desk, or would you read the amendment again, so they'll all have it?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-74:

In line 10 of the engrossed Proposal, after the word "bonds", delete the following: "and make loans,".

In line 11, delete the words "and loans".

In line 13, after the word "bonds", delete the words "or loans".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading. It has been — we have a motion before the Convention that we do recess until one o'clock. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Stanton. It's been moved and seconded that the Convention do now recess until one o'clock.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," —

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, may I announce my presence for some time past? I've been voting on these things.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: You gave Style and Drafting a dandy 45 minutes for its meeting for lunch.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: As many as are in favor of adopting the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and we'll be in recess for 45 minutes.

(The Session recessed at 12:16 P.M. until 1:00 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 1:10 P.M., Thursday, February 3, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

May we have order in the Convention room?

We have before the Convention the amendment as offered by Delegate Roney. The motion was moved, it was seconded, it was read from the Chair. We had some discussion.

Is there further discussion? The question — Roy, would you read the amendment again?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-74:

In line 10 of the engrossed Proposal, after the word "bonds", delete the following: "and make loans,"

In line 11, delete the words "and loans".

In line 13, after the word "bonds", delete the words "or loans".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Well, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates: I'm sorry. I've got something wrong with this thing. I've got a weak thumb. But just so that we know what we're talking about again: This will not affect — and I assure you this, if you will take my word for it — and someone else may have a different angle, will not affect student loans that we now know as federally-insured student loans. What we're really talking about in this 1-74 is debt limitation and the State debt. What I contend is that we have confused two issues. We have confused the issue of raising funds with that of spending funds. How do we raise money? We raise money under this statute here by the issuance of a general obligation bond. This is really what we're talking about. There are other ways, such as you have heard about — the revenue bond, based upon the revenue of dormitories, and that revenue is used to retire that bond. You can issue a debenture. A debenture is nothing more than an unsecured note, or you can issue a note and you can raise money. But what you have done in this section by putting the words "and loans", you're talking about two things: You're talking about raising the money, and then you're talking about spending it for loans or making an investment with loans. If you want the Bank of North Dakota or you want some agent or you want the State of North Dakota to go into the lending business, I contend it should be someplace else besides the debt limitation statute. I, therefore, say that in this portion of it, it has no place. I don't think the State of North Dakota as such wants to get into the lending business any more than it now is in the Bank of North Dakota.

Now, just so that you don't think I'm here to attack the Bank of North Dakota, I want to tell you that I think this would actually hurt the Bank of North Dakota if you left "and loans" in there. One of the things that you provide in the second paragraph is that 60 percent of the Legislature must approve those loans. The Bank of North Dakota can now make loans. I happen to have a bank. I use the Bank of North Dakota. If I have Farmer Jones as a hundred-thousand-dollar loan and my bank isn't big enough to take care of it, the law says the Bank of North Dakota can't go directly to John Jones and make that loan; but it says that I can retain my customer and I can sell the portion or a participation of that loan to the Bank of North Dakota, and they do this with me. What happens is that I can't make the whole hundred-thousand-dollar loan to John Jones. The Bank of North Dakota can't do it directly; so they do it indirectly by buying a participation. But their limitation — their bank has a limitation, also. The Bank of North Dakota needs, when they buy a participation from me in my bank and Joe Lamb's bank and Fred Hoghaug's, and a bunch of other bankers, including Gary Lerberg's — when they buy these, they, in turn, have to raise money. What they're talking about is what they want to be able to do is to raise money. They can make these loans you're talking about. Therefore, I say the words "and loans" in here has no place. I, therefore, ask you to approve the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: I just want to say that I concur with Delegate Roney, and we had quite a bit of conversation over the lunch hour, and I urge you to support the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the proposed amendment. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: May I request that — of this body that this bill or Proposal be moved down until our Chairman, Donnell Haugen, can get back?

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved and it's been seconded — seconded by Delegate Sinner — that further discussion of Committee Proposal No. 1-74 be delayed until such time as the Chairman of the Finance and Tax Committee, Donnell Haugen, returns to the Convention floor.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "aye" have it and the request will be carried out.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I would move now that Committee Proposal 1-44 be put at the head of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-44 be placed at the head of the calendar. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate McIntyre.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 1-44 is at the head of the calendar.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I had an amendment that I proposed yesterday for Section 5 of this Proposal. We did not discuss that amendment in detail. However, at this time I — if whoever seconded my motion to offer that amendment — I would like to withdraw it, and we will then offer another amendment, which, I think, will suit everybody.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, at the time you offered the amendment, it was seconded by Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Fine.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And if it is agreeable with him —

DELEGATE LITTEN: Fine.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is it agreeable with the Convention that we grant permission to Delegate Longmire to withdraw Section 5 of his amendments as offered yesterday? Hearing no objection, permission is granted.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Delegate Dobson and I would like to offer another proposed amendment, and we ask it be read from the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-44:

On page 1 of the engrossed Proposal, delete lines 14 through 23 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

“Section 5. The legislative districts shall be numbered consecutively and be divided into two classes, even-numbered districts constituting one class and odd-numbered districts constituting the other class, so that one-half of the legislators, as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially. When the legislative assembly is redistricted, the legislators elected prior thereto and retaining their constituencies shall continue in office until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected; but the terms of legislators removed of their constituencies shall be deemed to have expired immediately.”

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Dobson second the motion?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Second.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I want Delegate Dobson to have, also, the credit for the first part of the amendment, and if there is any credit for the last part, why that is part of the amendment which I have offered yesterday. There were two main objections that I had to Section 5 the way it was originally proposed; number one, it divided single districts into seats which, in effect, subdivided the single districts, and as Delegate Rundle mentioned, it's a little confusing, or it was to me, to be representing a seat number so-and-so instead of representing people.

The other thing in that, of course, meant that legislators in the same district would not be running at the same time for election. I did not think that was proper, because I thought, again, there would be confusion and maybe extra expense for a district, in the event we all went on — or everything went on the four-year basis in the future. Also, there was a third objection that I had to old Section 5; namely, that if you did reapportion and you left a legislator out of his district, he could still be serving a district when he did not actually live in that district. And that was the reason for the short amendment which I proposed.

Now, Delegate Dobson has offered another addition to the new amendment, which, I think, is good. I think it's all right to divide districts on a numbered basis, so long as you don't split the districts; and, in fact, that's the way it was in the old Constitution. The odd-numbered districts were one class, the even-numbered another, and you would elect one of them one biennial election and the other one the next. That way you insured that you would have enough — a new Legislature coming in each time when you did have an election. It would carry on with inexperienced people continually coming in and you'd have some holdovers coming in — at least in the Senate part of it.

Now, with the four years, it will work out the same way with the House. So you will note in the latter part of this amendment that we provide that the person who — or the legislator who is still in his district and resides there, can continue his office for the term for which he was elected, until the next — or until the end of his term. But if he is residing outside of his district, under the new apportionment, then his term ends immediately and you have to have a special election, or something, to finish out his term, and whoever, no doubt, ran for his term would just run for the balance of it, which would be two years. I think this here gets in the idea, certainly. It removes the objection I had, and I think it's further improved by Delegate Dobson's suggestion as indicated, because it keeps a continuous flow of people coming to the Legislature, and they're not all dropped at any particular biennial election.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I wonder — we're going to have the first Legislature following this with the four-year term, and I wonder — can the Scheduling Committee take care of the first section? Can the Chairman of the Committee answer that? This thing doesn't speak to it, and I assume it can be handled in the schedule.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Yes, I believe that's correct. The schedule will have to address itself to this section, among others.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: As I read this, the districts will be numbered. That means that a district which is a large district, like Fargo, would, presumably, have at least probably four senatorial districts, it would mean that all of the Senators and all of the legislators in that district — all of them — would be elected only once in four years, and so that there would be a space of four years in which those twelve people would be elected, and not that half of them would be elected at one biennial election and the next one at the next biennial election; is this correct? May I rise to ask?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are you answering Delegate Vogel?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate John Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: That is not correct, Mrs. Vogel. The reapportionment provision which we have already passed specifics that no more than two Senators can be combined in one district, and on top of that, the re-districting commission can cut Fargo into four separate districts, and then you would have four separate elections; you'd probably have two districts a year or one district with two Senators.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Thank you. So there would be biennial elections still?

DELEGATE PAULSON: That is correct.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I'm not as easily sold on that answer as Mrs. Vogel is. For instance, in our district we have two Representatives and one Senator. In District No. 3, they have two Representatives and one Senator. Now, in our district, are we going to every four years elect a Senator and the two Representatives, but in District 3 they'd do it at another time?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President. Let's assume in District 4, which is an even-numbered district, those seats will be up in the presidential year. Very well. In that election you elect your one Senator and your two Representatives. Then the odd-numbered districts will elect their one Senator and Two Representatives in the nonpresidential election year.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention —

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: If the commission puts two districts together or combines two districts, do all of the people in that district run at once?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President. Yes, that would be correct; and I am not excited about that angle of it. But I think it is a little more understandable and probably more workable to go to a district-numbering system, rather than a seat-numbering system.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: May I ask Delegate Dobson one question?

Does that mean then, Delegate Dobson, that the same people from District 4 will be elected on the presidential election every year from then on; then the odd-numbered district will be elected in the off-presidential year every year from then on? Now, this may turn out to be quite a — maybe some of those odd-numbered districts would like to have their election with the presidential election sometime. Is there any way of solving that?

DELEGATE DOBSON: You're correct. One set of districts will always be allowed in the presidential election year; the other set of districts will always have their election in the nonpresidential election year, and the only way to avoid that is to go back to the system of numbering the seats; but, due to the objections to that, we have gone to district number — rather retaining district number.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President, I do think this is an improvement over the original 1-44, Section 5. I do regret in a way, however, that every district isn't able, for voter interest, to have an election every other year. The only way I would have seen this at that point would be Senators one time, House of Representatives the other. However, this has its faults, too, because it denies any kind of a house a turn-over, of course, except every four years. I think there's no way to do it that's absolutely ideal for everyone, and this may be the best compromise plan we can have on it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-44 as offered by Delegates Longmire and Dobson.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "ayes" have it. The amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: If it's proper then, I would move that Proposal 1-44 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-44 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-44 is before the Convention for first passage as amended.

Any further discussion?

Those in favor of adopting will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses Committee Proposal 1-44 — there were 81 "ayes," there were 12 "nays," and five delegates absent and not voting. The Proposal has passed.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Would it be proper to ask to be on the twelfth order for a minute?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I would like to ask the unanimous consent of the body to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-13. This was the open meetings of the Legislature, and it was a true statement when they said they took the principle and adopted it. The wording was changed. So I request it be withdrawn.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle requests unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-13. Hearing no objection, the request is granted.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: May we be on the eighth order of business for a short announcement?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Unpack!

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President. I never packed!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

Next for consideration, Committee Proposal No. 1-87.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-87, introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 56 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to revenue from gasoline and motor vehicle registration and license taxes.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Article 56 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"DEDICATED HIGHWAY USERS FUND."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Mr. Clerk, I notice that this —in the reading of this, that this is another proposal from a committee that is chaired by Delegate Haugen, and I believe the Chairman should be here when we discuss this Proposal.

Now, unless there is objection, I think we should dispense with considering this at this time and move on to — there must be one on the calendar that doesn't come from the Committee on Finance and Taxation. So, unless there's objection, we'll defer consideration of this until Mr. Haugen is back. Has he, by chance, made arrangements with other members of his committee to carry this?

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: He didn't say anything to me about this section or 1-87. I would assume that we would go ahead with it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: One question that comes up: Do you know if Delegate Haugen will return to the Convention this afternoon?

DELEGATE ERICKSON: He gave me word he would be back roughly about 3:00-to-3:30.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: As I recall, this morning Mr. Haugen said it was perfectly all right to go ahead with, particularly, 1-87, and the other one was something else again.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: If it was understood that this is agreeable with Mr. Haugen, why then we will proceed; but it's customary not to consider a proposal unless the chairman is present. So, if it's agreeable, why we'll just proceed, if it's agreeable to Mr. Haugen.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I think we should not do this. I move that we lay consideration of 1-87 at the foot of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that we move Committee Proposal No. 1-87 to the foot of the calendar.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Knudson. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. 1-87 is placed at the foot of the calendar.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: A time on this should be exact, because I'm interested in this particular piece of constitutional makeup, and I don't know if I can be here at the time that Mr. Haugen is here. So I don't know whether it's more fair to have the Chairman or someone else absent; but if it was a time exact, then I'd make it a point, and I think right now I would say I would be here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, it's real difficult for the Chair to say when

Mr. Haugen was going to be here, and I can surely appreciate the question raised by Delegate Solberg. Would someone inform me of the Committee Proposal being set?

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: I would certainly share your concern that when the Chairman is gone, a bill from his committee shouldn't be considered, and also in behalf of what George Unruh said; but I do believe that he wasn't too concerned about this being considered when he was gone, because he asked me if I was going to carry this thing on the floor, and I told him, "Yes." But, Mr. Solberg, did you say you had to leave by 3:30?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: I should go make a telephone call and make it a point to be here. Now —

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Okay. Then, Mr. President, I would say that moving it to the bottom of the calendar is proper, and when Mr. Donnell Haugen gets back, we'll immediately discuss it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, what about 1-86?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: The balance of the proposals on the calendar are in my committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In your committee?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I'm going to stick around, however. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Next for consideration will be Committee Proposal No. 1-86.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-86, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to making all persons over eighteen years of age adults for all purposes, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"Persons eighteen years of age or older are declared to be adults for all purposes."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment — or Proposal.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

The proponents of 1-86 addressed themselves to this initially about a week ago or ten days ago, and I want you to know from the beginning that the remarks that I make are to encourage you to indefinitely postpone the same.

Now, we can take this particular proposal and bring into it the matter of a decision being made as to whether or not we feel that eighteen-year-olds should have the right to drink and limit ourselves to that issue alone; however, I think there are many other overriding factors that must be considered before you arrive at your decision.

Regarding the eighteen-year-old drinking issue, personally, I think eighteen's the wrong age. I would much prefer to see it at nineteen, if we were to have — to reduce the age, and the reason being that today our high school seniors, with the exception of those born during June, July, August and, in some school districts, September, are eighteen years old when they graduate. The difference of the nineteen-year-old is that is the college student or the nonhigh school student who is associating with a different age group — primarily his college friend or his friends who have finished high school — as opposed to the sophomores and juniors in high school. Then you might think, "Well, if you feel that way, why don't you amend this to be nineteen years of age?" And the reason is because I don't think we should speak to this matter in our Constitution. You will recall a few days ago that Delegate Burbidge pointed out that he had received some information from the Attorney General's office regarding some questions that he had submitted; and for those of you who wanted to read the opinion, it was available. I think the thing that sticks out most in my mind was the comment in the opinion that said, "A serious question exists whether or not the Legislature could prohibit the sale, possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages over eighteen years of age."

Now, to me, this is where this authority should lie — is with the Legislature. I think it is not only for the matter of alcoholic beverages, but there's several other things that are involved. We have some criminal statutes that relate to certain actions by people of certain ages. I think they're primarily called "protective statutes," wherein the young are protected against the older. This is true within our statutes regarding rape and, also, our statutes regarding seduction. It would seem to me that, if we were to pass this proposal, we might well be repealing those sections; and I'm not so sure that we should. We have some provisions within our Juvenile Court Act that relate to age. An example is the provision under the definition of "child." For purposes of the Act, it says "child" means "an individual who is under the age of twenty-one years who committed an act of delinquency while a child." And it would be my thought that that would probably be repealed, if we were to pass this constitutional provision.

Now, we have an industrial school at Mandan provided by statute and we have a provision that talks about who may be sent to this training school, and we say, "Whenever a person under the age of twenty-one years is found guilty in the district court" and so on, he can be sentenced to that school. I think, if we were to pass this provision, we would be automatically reducing that to eighteen; and while, as a practical matter, that may be the thing to do, I think it would be the Legislature that should do it.

We also have a provision that says — 12-46-16 — "A person committed or sentenced to the state training school is a minor until twenty-one." And this is another area of conflict where we may be trespassing as to where the Legislature should have the control.

We have a provision that says, "A male under the age of twenty-one years old must have parental consent before he marries." I, last year, attempted to get that removed in the Legislature, and it was pointed out to me that the statistic I gave you earlier regarding our high school seniors could mean that the male high school senior could make a decision as to whether or not he wants to marry without his parental consent; yet he still is living at home and, oddly enough, parents still feel that they should have some say in those matters. I think the repeal of — or the passage of 1-86 would probably nullify that provision.

And then there's something that has come to light recently that I can't say exactly what the effect would be, but it involves considerable dollars and cents in the State of North Dakota for those of you that live in college cities or near them, particularly in the eastern edge or, probably, even the western edge.

We have a lot of out-of-state students that attend these colleges, and out-of-state students pay more tuition when they come to college in North Dakota than in-state students do. A District Court in the State of Kansas has recently ruled that such a provision is no longer proper because that court has said that, since an eighteen-year-old has the right to vote, that he is now emancipated and, therefore, he can choose his own residence.

Now, in North Dakota, we've relied somewhat on our out-of-state tuition, applying the principle of where does the student reside — with his parents — when he's not in college, and, if so, then he's a non — or he does not have his home residence; his residence is that of the parents. And that's the way we've been handling this tuition matter. The matter of dollars involved in that Kansas decision is estimated to be five million dollars to the State of Kansas. I don't know what it would be here. My point is this: That if we say that every eighteen-year-old is an adult, then we are saying he is emancipated; and of course then he is free to choose his residence based on intent and coupled with act, as we discussed earlier in this Convention, and what we would be doing is taking away the authority that the Legislature has in regulating this particular issue.

These are a few of the things that enter into the picture over and above the matter of drinking, and I think that these are overriding enough in themselves so that we should leave this area to the Legislature; and if we defeat 1-86 now, they will be free to act, and then I think they can meet the question as to whether or not the person nineteen years of age or older should have some privileges that those of twenty-one or older do have.

I urge you to defeat 1-86.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman. Fellow Delegates:

I agree with Delegate Nething that this should be defeated. About a year ago, when we were at the symposium in St. Mary's College, the matter of eighteen-year-old voting was not settled yet. We were told by the gentlemen from Illinois that this will be one of the issues in their constitutional convention. Since then, federal law has made them eligible to vote at eighteen. This Convention has sort of taken the ball and they have run without any interference whatsoever. We've taken it there, and I don't know how so suddenly we have become so liberal.

At any rate, we do have many statutes which are conflicting with this eighteen-year-old for all purposes. We have already passed several of our committee proposals making eighteen-year-olds qualified for elections; but we did pass 1 — 1-28 — which makes you twenty-one years old before you can run for a state office. We already have run into conflicting thoughts. If we're going to make them adults for all purposes, we'd better go back and start amending some of the things we've already done. I say no matter whether you put this phrase into the Constitution or into statute that your eighteen-year-olds or older are adults for all purposes, this is not going to happen. Eighteen-year-olds are not now and probably will not for many years be adults for all purposes. So why not leave this to the Legislature as time goes on, and this probably may be proper. This is fine. But why should we, adults who are looked upon by these teenagers to use good common sense — why do we toss this out of the window? I know that there are many eighteen-year-olds today and nineteen-year-olds that would not want the opportunity to go into the liquor establishments. I had two young people tell me the other evening, "I would not want that opportunity. I'm going to college. After I leave my home, my parents are against drinking, and I don't want to go in the bars. I would take a drink if I get it, but I don't want to go into the bars. And if the others say, 'Let's go,' I at least have an opportunity 'o say, 'No; it's against the law.'" So a lot of them feel that way.

Now, we bring this down to the eighteen-year-old and we're going to find this fringe line of sixteen-year-olds that look like eighteen, and so they're going to be able to acquire liquor just like the eighteen-year-olds do today. So what are we doing? We are finally giving them the red light to all of these kids by reducing it to eighteen in the Constitution. We're going to have many sixteen-year-olds acquiring this. They look like eighteen-year-olds. I doubt if a bar owner would even want this; and we're putting it in the Constitution. I say let's let the Legislature do this as time permits and it is needed.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President. I stated this the last time we acted on this: The 1971 Legislature, by Chapter 145, amended Section 14-10-02 of the Century Code to read as follows: "Adults defined. All persons eighteen years of age and over are adults." They also amended Section 14-10-01: "Minors defined. Minors are persons under eighteen years of age."

Now, the only thing that is not on that statute, which went into effect last July — July of '71 — are the words "for all purposes." The only point I made the other day was that it is a strange thing that the Legislature says that everybody eighteen is an adult, and we object to saying "for all purposes." So, in effect, we don't really mean adult in the usual sense of the term. We say a qualified adult and we will give him some rights, but we won't give him other rights.

Now, on that principle then, all persons of any age that are adults could be sorted out and classified by age.

Now, Delegate Kessel has pointed out in this very body we've already done that, on qualification for certain offices, and I was against that, too. Someplace we have to set a limit, and what we're doing now is setting a hazy zone. You enter the zone and you're an adult, but you're still not fully qualified yet. Now, there are many objections to setting it at eighteen, and many of the things that Delegate Nething has said are perfectly true; but I don't see how we can set a mating season. Maybe we ought to go right back to eighteen. If we put it in the Constitution, why we will effectively adopt the '71 Session Law. Maybe we ought to go back to eighteen. There are many good reasons for that. But we ought to have one or the other.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Thank you, Mr. President.

Fellow Delegates: I'll make this quite short. I don't want to get up at all, because I agree with Delegate Nething and I also agree that it would be perhaps good to allow the State Legislature to take care of these things. But we have in this Convention spoken to many questions on rights and freedoms of the individuals of this State, and I, for one, feel that I — I can't go home after this thirty-day session not having spoken to this one. I don't think that I can speak on one hand the issue of eighteen-year-olds for some purposes and not speak to the issue of eighteen-year-olds for all purposes. I think that we have to speak here now on this very question, and I would hope that you would support the Proposal — 1-86. Speak to it in any way, but let's make a decision. I'm going to have to support it, even though I sympathize and recognize the many problems that this thing will do to the State of North Dakota, to our eighteen-year-olds, to our parents. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President. I, first of all, would like to address myself for a moment to some of the remarks that Mr. Nething made. I think one of the first points he made was that eighteen-year-olds would still be in high school and so, therefore, they'd have to drink while they're in high school. I doubt that that's true, and I know that that statement, in effect, came from the high school principals, who, incidentally, were the first people that called me about this matter.

Now, I've been a State's Attorney since 1961, and not since that time have I had any school official in my county call me and make reference to the fact that kids in his school were using pot during school hours; and we know they are — or they were popping pills. Apparently that's all right; but no drinking booze.

Two days ago I checked with the Solicitor General of Manitoba, and he assured me he was going to send me some facts and figures, which have not arrived. I asked him what problem they have created in Manitoba with the 18-year-old right to drink. He told me that the only complaint that he has had has come from bar owners, and their major complaint is that the kids are coming in to watch the entertainment and drinking pop, so they can't make enough money on it.

Now, I think "emancipated," as Mr. Nething indicated, is exactly the point. They're emancipated now because they have been given the right to vote. There's been reference made to the big cost of the statutes — if this Constitution passes, those statutes will be unconstitutional. I want you to understand now that we have criminal code legislation against the 18-to-21-year-old. Let me give you a few examples:

You charge them with unlawful possession. You charge them with illegal purchase of alcoholic beverages. Even when they're 20 years old and eleven months, and I don't think that that's legitimate.

Now, the big worry seems to be that these children are going to be going into bars and, apparently, spending a lot of money. Well, I don't know. I remember, as an 18-year-old, I didn't have enough money to spend a lot of time in bars. If these children are as bad as you would lead me to believe, why don't we have as many, percentagewise, charges for DWI as we do for adults?

I'd like to refer you to an article that was in one of the papers — Mr. Paulson's incidentally — on the 31st of January, and this was a poll or a study taken of colleges in the United States, and this one gave a report on the juvenile freshmen that were entering NDSU. "Sixty-seven percent of the freshmen entering NDSU drink beer." And that's about the percentage that would drink beer if it were legal. The article goes on to say — and this might not set too good — but they say, "Kids are becoming more conservative," which is a vice, I'm sure, to a lot of you, and that, therefore, they're better thinkers.

(Laughter)

I believe that the only thing left after the section that Mr. Pearce referred to that we discriminate against these people in other than the criminal matters that I have already referred to, would be the fact that they can't get married and they can't drink beer. Now, they can go to Manitoba and drink beer legally and they can go to South Dakota and get married legally, and I don't see why they can't do these things in between. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President, I voted against this Proposal when it first came forth, and I think it was January 24th, or whenever. I generally agree with Delegate Thompson's statement; but this time I take a drastic parting of ways with him. I don't think the children are all that bad either. I think they're really pretty good. My main objection is I get tired of the old argument that eighteen-year-olds are drinking anyway. A lot of them are and they're having booze bought for them by twenty-one-year-olds, and I certainly don't want the eighteen-year-olds buying booze for the fifteen and sixteen-year-olds. Proposal 1-86 is a brand new section of the Constitution. It really doesn't need to be there at all, because it really doesn't address us to anything. All this is covered in statute. So I think we should exhibit some good, common sense and a high degree of responsibility by soundly defeating the Committee Proposal 1-86.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. President, I'd like to — I'd like to reply a little bit to Delegate Thompson. I happen to be a high school principal, and we, of course, have had our problems — not too many, but our experience has been this: That when we have tried to go to the law and complain about our young people having this and trying to prosecute this and follow it up and find out where they got it, that our attempts, with very few exceptions have proved futile. We just haven't been able to do much about it. So that is probably the reason why there haven't been too many complaints lodged with the State's Attorneys. On the other hand, I certainly agree with what Mr. Nething said. I think, if we're going to monkey with this drinking bit and the age, that we would be much better off to start, if we have to lower it, with the 19-year-olds, because they are going to be with a different group, and certainly try to keep this out of our high schools. I will vote to indefinitely postpone 1-86.

DELEGATE WARNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Warner.

DELEGATE WARNER: Mr. President, I was one of the little band of twenty that voted "no" in the first place. I want to urge sincerely that this measure be defeated. Leave this matter up to the Legislature entirely. I urge a vote "no" on Proposal No. 1-96 — is it? — 1-86. I sincerely urge you vote "no" on 1-86.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

When the Committee considered this originally, not much of our dialogue was around the drinking problem, because we in the Committee have felt, perhaps erroneously — I think now erroneously — that the classification for drinking was twenty-one — not the adult classification — and the Attorney General's opinion on another matter — mostly a voting matter — however, on September 1, '71, said as follows: "They also amended Section 14-10-02" — I think the one that Delegate Pearce is speaking of — "which defines adults, and provides as follows: 'Adults Defined — All persons eighteen years of age or over are adults'."

And here's a comment: "It is thus observed that an eighteen-year-old person is now deemed to be an adult, even though age limitations still apply to certain activities, such as possessing or purchasing alcoholic beverages and entering into contracts for marriage."

A more recent Attorney General's opinion, which has been alluded to here, holds a different view for a different reason. He feels that the constitutional provision had so much more strength than the statutory one that he would define it differently now.

I bring this to you, and I'm glad you are reconsidering this, to point out that the dialogue in the Committee and the dialogue on the floor was quite different.

Now, there's one dialogue that we haven't had on the floor that perhaps, if we want to consider this more, we should think about. We talked about the privileges of an eighteen-year-old, and we would grant them privileges, I think we voted last time. We didn't think much about the responsibility, and we still haven't talked much about that. But, certainly, we have to think both of the privilege and the responsibility. And now that the issue is much more clearly before us, we have to think of the alcoholic question, and so forth.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peters.

DELEGATE PETERS: Mr. President and fellow Delegates:

I think this body has a responsibility to help the eighteen-year-olds to be able to stand the responsibilities that an adult has. If we think about automobile insurance, we know that the automobile insurance rate goes up on the eighteen-year-olds and continues on until about twenty-five. I don't believe they can stand the — they have the responsibility that it takes to drive a car just as they should. The insurance rates back that up. I think we should protect them by putting a few restrictions on, and I think the eighteen-year-olds, when they get to be twenty-four, twenty-five years old, they'll thank us for putting on some restrictions that we can put on for them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman. I believe that our minds have changed considerably since the last time we voted on this. I did vote "no" last time on it. I intend to vote "no" this time, too. I think that there was a lot of feeling last time that this would be a popular issue to try to get out the vote of the young people for the Constitution. I think it was the wrong thinking at that time, and I think we should probably take it back, and I would hope a majority would vote it down today, after having an opportunity to think it over.

Actually, what we're doing is we're adding responsibility on the heads of young people, trying to make them adults faster than what they should be or would want to probably be. I think we're just trying to load them down with a bigger burden. People that are over twenty-one know what the burdens are. Probably they don't realize what the burdens are. I would urge your support to vote it down.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

There's one thing that hasn't been mentioned on this. I intend to vote to eliminate this — to vote "no."

One thing that hasn't been mentioned, and of course I speak with absolutely no personal experience in this matter, but I look this delegation over and I see a few that may have had experience, and my statement is this: If you wait until twenty-one, you have plenty of time to drink after that time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman, I have an amendment at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-86:

In line 8, after the word "adults" delete "for all purposes".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE HARTL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

I am hopeful that the main question will be defeated, but I am running a wee bit scared that if it isn't in view of the fact that it carried 73-to-20 the last time, that at least, if we vote a deletion of "for all purposes", then it wouldn't be quite as harmful. The statutory laws would still have some effect. I, therefore, ask that, first of all, you allow the amendment, and then, even with that in there, when it comes to the main vote, that you defeat that, also.

Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I did get some of this information from the Attorney General — the Solicitor General of Canada, and there are —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson, does this material that you have relate to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may proceed.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: The parts of it that I wanted to indicate to you are that we are not alone in considering making these adults for all purposes. The State of Alaska has done this at age nineteen, and there for all purposes, and at the time that they did it, the children still had to be twenty-one to vote, and that was the only exception there. New Hampshire, for all purposes, has the age of eighteen, and they have little problem there with marriage. Kentucky is for all purposes. I think those are the states in the United States that have already taken this far-reaching move, including Britain, Ireland and two provinces in Canada now.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: I'd just like to encourage a "no" vote on the amendment. I don't know whether we would just be then really having window dressing, attempting to attract some votes for the Constitution, or what the effect would be. The same language in the Constitution, of course, would make the statutory provision that much stronger, but I'm not so sure that — in my opinion, the best thing to do is to let the Legislature govern this whole area, and we will do that by defeating the amendment, and then defeating the Proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Kessel. Those in favor of its adoption will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

The "nays" have it and the amendment fails.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the first passage of Committee Proposal 1-86.

Delegate Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. President, may we have a roll call on this?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You will have.

The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-86.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Do I understand there's no motion to indefinitely postpone? This is a motion for first passage?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's correct.

DELEGATE KELSCH: And, if you want to kill it, you vote "no"?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

Those that are in favor — again, I will repeat: Those in favor of passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." And the question, again, is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-86.

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 30 "ayes," 63 "nays," five delegates absent and not voting.

Committee Proposal No. 1-86 has failed.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman. Mr. President, may I rise on a personal privilege?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I wish to thank the delegates for voting down my amendment. (Laughter)

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: May I explain my vote in favor of that — the Proposal 1-86?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may.

DELEGATE GIPP: I think, like so many of the other delegates here, I personally believe in the concept here that we attempted to deal with; but in the final result, I do agree that it is a legislative matter and it is on that basis, however, that, as I say, I do believe in the concept, and it was on the basis that I did vote "yes."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Hearing none, the question before the Convention, Committee Proposal 1-85.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole, wait until we read the Proposal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-85, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 128 and 129 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota and articles 36 and 40 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that three new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the elective franchise.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Sections 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 128 and 129 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota and articles 36 and 40 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota are hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"The legislative assembly shall by law provide that the general election of the state be held biennially.

"Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of eighteen and who shall have been a resident in the state six months, in the county ninety days and in the precinct thirty days preceding an election shall be a qualified elector. When a qualified elector moves from one precinct to another within the state he shall be entitled to vote in the precinct from which he moved until he establishes voting residence in the precinct to which he moved. The legislative assembly shall by law provide rules for determining residency, other than physical presence, for voting eligibility. No elector shall be deemed to have lost his residency for voting eligibility solely by reason of his absence from the state.

"The legislative assembly shall insure secrecy in voting, provide for absentee voting, provide for administration of elections and the nominations of candidates."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. President, this is a combination of the previous bill — 1-85 — and the bill 1-83, which we had returned to us sometime last week. I do have a few very minor technical amendments. I think it's at the desk. Would you read those for me, please?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-85:

On page 1, line 4 of the engrossed proposal, delete the word "three" and insert in lieu thereof the word "a"; and delete the word "sections" and insert in lieu thereof the word "section".

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: I move their adoption.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second? Seconded by Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Now, both of these bills — 1-83 and 1-85 —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole, now you're not talking on the amendment, are you?

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: No.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Okay. We'll work on the amendment, first.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate O'Toole. Are there any questions?

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendments are adopted.

Now, Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Yes. Actually, I was going to explain that we had made them into one section, and that was to clean up — this technical amendment was to clean up the language from "sections" to "section," but that's been taken care of now.

I wish to say that this came up and we had a considerable discussion. We went through a great deal of explanation on this, on why we have done a number of things; but the Convention deemed it important to change the State residency requirement from six months — or to six months from the previous ninety days, and to include a county residency of ninety days, and they left the precinct as before.

We talked with our counsel and a number of other people, and we felt that the Legislature should provide some rules for determining residency, other than physical presence, which had been a big — cause a big debate on the floor, and we felt that there were other things, besides physical presence, that were included in residency.

We have included parts of the other sections where "No elector shall be deemed to have lost his residency for voting eligibility solely by reason of his absence from the state," which is an inclusion of two of our other deleted sections. I don't have the exact numbers at hand. We felt that the Legislative Assembly then should be deemed or authorized to insure secrecy in voting, provide for absentee voters and voting, and provide for administration of elections and nominations of candidates. This, as I say, was what we felt was the mandate of the delegation. With the condemnation of these two, I have some — I would like to have personally had it a much lower residency requirement, but I subject myself to the delegation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I have an amendment at the desk, Mr. President.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-85:

On page 1 of the engrossed proposal, line 17, after the word "months" delete the comma.

On page 1, line 18, delete the words "in the county ninety days" and renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: This phrase "in the county ninety days", was added the other day by a very close vote. I feel that anyone who has resided in the State six months and in the precinct thirty days should be able to vote. Those are residency qualifications enough. The only purpose that I can see that the ninety days in the county is going to serve is to disqualify a few voters for no good or sufficient reason. In addition, it's going to cause additional and unnecessary problems in the cities where we have institutions of higher learning located. Therefore, I urge the Convention to adopt the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Dobson. Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President and Members of the Convention:

I thought this item was settled, but I guess nothing is going to be final until the last minute. The reason that I've always felt there should be some county residency requirements, or the same as they were, there could be an awful lot of shifting around, especially where there's a town with a lot of school elections and country voters moving back and forth. I've seen it quite a few times. Sometimes a person who is slightly concerned will vote "no" on the school election proposal because it costs money; and then he will also very soon vote in a township election, and I think it should be one or the other, and this ninety days slows that down, at least, and it's very — it's not a bit unreasonable to say you have to be in a county ninety days before you can vote. I would hope this amendment is defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I think the other day, when we talked about the percentage of voters, North Dakota ranked, I believe, in the top ten, and probably higher than that, and that was during a period of time when, incidentally, we had one year in the State, ninety days in the county and thirty days in the precinct. Well, apparently it hasn't been a problem.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Dobson. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of the adoption of the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "nays" have it. The amendment lost.

The question — Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Mr. President, may I direct a question to Delegate O'Toole?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate O'Toole yield?

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: It says here that "The legislative assembly shall by law provide that the general election of the state be held biennially."

Now, in the section — or the Proposal 1-44, we put all of our legislative districts — or consolidated the Senators and the Representatives in one election year. Now some districts might not have an election one year. How are you going to account for that?

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: There are other offices, besides the legislators and Senators, too, that may perchance come up in the biennial year. We also have our U. S. Legislature that comes up every two years.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President, I merely wanted to state that Delegate Haugen, who is still absent from these chambers, was the one who was particularly concerned about the problem that we think we have dealt with here, and I just merely wanted to say that he said to me, after we presented this new version to him, that he thought that the Committee had done a good job. I took that as a compliment. (Laughter) And, also, that he approved of our work. So I thought I should indicate that to the assembly, as long as he's not here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Maxwell.

The question —

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I'm not going to belabor the point, but I do intend to vote against this, not because I'm necessarily against the six months residence in the State, but because I'm afraid that this is going to be held unconstitutional by the federal courts, and I don't see any sense in us putting things in the Constitution that we're dubious about.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine, did you wish the floor?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, I hate to stand up, but I was just wondering who, besides the Congressmen, will be up in half the districts.

DELEGATE LANDER: Public Service Commission and sometimes district judge.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: There will be at least one Public Service Commissioner that will be up.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Or one Congressman.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. President. Aren't the county officials on the off-year?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: County superintendents are elected out of context or out of step with the other county officials, I believe. They've got their four-year term at a different time. That's one example.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President. Did I misunderstand? The Legislature — isn't half of it going to be elected one time and half the next two years?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can someone answer the question?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: That's what we were talking about.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Every two years there's going to be a lot of business at the polls. We have the county officials coming up, we have some of the State officials coming up, and we have U. S. Congressmen coming up, sometimes we would even have a U. S. Senator coming up. So there would be a good purpose for biennial elections.

Now, the way the provision went through earlier, Section 5 — I forget what it was attached to — what bill it was on — but half of the legislators are going to come up every two years. Now it is true that some districts might not have a legislator coming up in that particular biennial election, but in other districts they will; so there will be elections every two years. So rest assured there will be things to vote for.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hildebrand.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: I would just like to say the article merely provides for the election; it need not provide candidates. (Laughter)

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. Chairman, I have a question I would like to ask someone on the Committee.

The way this proposal is now being brought in, where you have to be in the county, say, ninety days, wouldn't that prevent college students from voting in an election if they went away from home, or could they vote absentee?

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: May I answer?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Yes, it would prevent them from voting in the college town, but it would still insure that they could vote absentee voters, however.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention —

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole — Delegate O'Toole?

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Yes, Sir?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have to — before we can proceed further here, we have to suspend the Rules; but will you wait for that until I recognize Delegate Burbidge? Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I, personally, question Delegate O'Toole's answer to the last one. I may be wrong, but I think we should explore the thing a little bit, in that the freshmen would, of course, have not resided ninety days, but the upper-classmen could have claimed that they — the college town of their residence from the time they started as freshmen and, I would think, would qualify. Would you explain that?

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Could I yield to Delegate Lamb?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President, I think the question that Delegate Maxwell raised was in regard to the presidential election, and the federal statutes read that you only have to be a resident for thirty days in the voting district to vote for President, and that's just for President and Vice President alone.

Does that answer the question?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think that Delegate Burbidge's question — I agree that after the student had been there at least ninety days, he could elect to claim the town — the school town as his residence. I think the combination of presence and intent would allow him to vote, providing he's been in the State for six months.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, that was one of the reasons I moved the amendment to strike out the ninety days, because this is simply going to cause problems in your college towns, with election officials perhaps trying to prevent college students from voting where they go to school, and I thought the amendment would carry, and I'll renew it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, were you expecting to have a vote on suspension of the Rules?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Pardon?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Was it your intention that we vote on the suspension of the Rules to move this on for passage?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, we have to have that motion, but I thought possibly there was some other discussion before we have the motion.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Oh! Well, I rise to a point of order.

As I interpret what we did yesterday in amending the Rules, we have to act on it today, and we eliminated the rule that a proposal has to wait for one Convention day before it could be passed after it's amended. So I say we have to act on it today, as we ruled on page 391 of the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: He's correct. We no longer need the — we took care of that by rule change yesterday. The Chair is correct. I question though but what we're going to have to deem it engrossed. Delegate O'Toole — Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I think we're moving awfully fast on this thing. People are jumping up and down and giving interpretations all over the place. But Delegate Dobson said that he would perhaps offer his — reoffer his amendment with reference to the counties, if he thought it would carry. Now —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State that over, will you, please?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Delegate Dobson said that he would reoffer his amendment on the question of residency in the counties, if he thought it would carry. Now, the other day Delegate Rundle's motion carried by a vote of 51-to-44. I'm not so sure that a vote today that will be taken by a voice vote was that clear. I would think that Delegate Dobson should reoffer his motion and ask for a recorded vote on it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair is going to rule that particular suggestion out of order.

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Just a comment. We've been talking about how smart these eighteen-year-olds are, and if they aren't smart enough to figure out where they want to vote, we certainly don't have to take them by the hand. If they want to vote in their college town, all they have to do is register and vote there, and if they want to vote at home, they can vote on an absentee ballot. If they vote at home in the primary by regular ballot, then they must vote at home by absentee ballot in November. But, by April, they can qualify to vote in the city where they go to school. That's their choice, and they're smart enough to figure it out, I'm sure.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — I still would like a motion to deem this properly re-engrossed.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: I yield to Delegate Longmire.

(Delegate Longmire shook his head.)

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: I move, Mr. President, that the Rules be temporarily suspended and the Proposal be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first and final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole moves that the Proposal No. 1-85 be deemed properly re-engrossed, that it be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended. Do I have a second? Seconded by Delegate Engelter.

Any discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, I hesitate to rise at this time. Delegate Maxwell indicated that our absent member, Delegate Haugen, had given his assent and approval to this Proposal as amended. I recognize that he did, and I, too, did. However, I do have a question to present before the body, since I am going to vote "no," and I am going to explain why. I have to agree, as I seldom do, with Delegate Omdahl. The age of eighteen —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl, are you talking to the motion that's before the Convention or are you talking to —

DELEGATE HARTL: I'm sorry, Mr. President. I'm out of order at this time on the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention at this time is on the motion to deem the Proposal properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the Proposal is now before the Convention.

Now, Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Thank you, Mr. President.

To continue: I, too, believe that eventually, in short order, we are going to have to amend this Constitution as proposed for passage — amend or delete our requirement here that we, as eighteen-year-olds and over must reside in the State six months, in the county ninety days and in the precinct thirty days. I think it is a good idea, but we are back to the registration provision. Delegate Paulson indicated the eighteen-year-old moving to the college town can declare his residence by reporting. I question where.

The second question, and I will leave the delegates with this, is we are providing in this Proposal for an election in the State to be held biennially. We have in previous motions and passage this afternoon provided that biennially in half of our districts we shall have a special election, where we shall vote for one Public Service Commissioner and one United States Congressman — an exceptional constitution!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the first passage.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Maybe we could save a lot of "no" votes on this. Would it be in order to renew my amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I'm afraid, Delegate Dobson, that I'd have to rule you out of order. The Convention voted it down a few minutes ago. However, you can always appeal from the decision of the Chair.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I have no desire to appeal the ruling of the Chair. I can offer a different amendment. This would simply delete "in the county ninety days."

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, it wouldn't be reconsidered if we did that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, you can move to reconsider.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Very well. I move to reconsider, Mr. President, the vote by which this Convention defeated my amendment to delete "in the county ninety days."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have a motion to reconsider the action whereby the amendment as offered by Delegate Dobson, seconded by Delegate Omdahl, was defeated. And do we have a second to the motion to reconsider?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sanstead.

Now, the question: I think you are all aware of the question. The question is on the motion to reconsider an amendment. Those in favor of reconsidering will say "aye;" those opposed say "no."

The "noes" have it and the motion to reconsider failed.

Now we are back on the Committee Proposal No. 1-85 as amended. You're on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-85.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 81 "ayes," 12 "nays," five delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-85 is passed as amended.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: May we be on the twelfth order of business?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: We have a — the Legislative Functions Committee has a number of proposals — Delegate Proposals — that are being held at the desk, and I'd like at this time to make a motion — or ask the unanimous consent to ask Delegate Proposals 2-7, 2-16, 2-52, 2-73, 2-8 and 2-76 be withdrawn. The subject matter has been passed. I believe Delegate Cart has indicated that he would prefer to have his brought up for indefinite postponement; that he would like that done now, if he could do that. If not, why I'd ask the unanimous consent to have them all withdrawn.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will you repeat the numbers, Delegate Hoffner?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: 2-7, 2-16, 2-52, 2-73, — and these four all deal with initiative and referendum; and 2-76 — this is unicameral — or 2-8 — I'm sorry — and 2-76.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The numbers are 2-7, 16, 52, 76 and 80? Is that right?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, 2-73 as well as 2-7, 2-16, 2-52, 2-8 and 2-76.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner has requested unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposals No. 2-7, 16, 52, 73, 8 and 76. Are there any objections?

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: I would prefer to have the record show that 2-52 is indefinitely postponed; so I object.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You object to having 2-52 included in that group?

DELEGATE CART: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You do not object to the withdrawal of the others? (Delegate Cart shook his head.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Cart.

Then the numbers would be 7 — 2-7, 16, 73, 8 and 76. The unanimous consent has been requested. I hear no objections. Your request is granted.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: What is the — on 2-52, would it be in order to move that 2-52 be indefinitely postponed, or is that necessary?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner, then we can go on the fifth order of business, at which time we can adopt the Report, and that Report is to indefinitely postpone it, if that's satisfactory with Delegate Cart.

(Delegate Cart nodded.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be on the fifth order of business — Reports of Standing Committees.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Legislative Functions, to whom was referred Delegate Proposal No. 2-52, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Hoffner, Chairman.

Delegate Hoffner moved the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Delegate Proposal No. 2-52, that the Proposal be indefinitely postponed. Is there any discussion?

Those in favor of adopting the report will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and the report is adopted. Delegate Proposal No. 2-52 is indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: As long as we're on this order — let's see — well, I would like to ask permission to withdraw Delegate Proposal 2-35 and 2-42, the material having been incorporated in committee proposals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad requests unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-35 and 2-42. Is there any objection?

Hearing no objection, the request is granted.

We'll continue on the tenth order of business — Committee Proposal No. 1-119.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-119, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 7 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to jury trial.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Section 7 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate. A person accused of an offense punishable by imprisonment in a penitentiary has the right to trial by jury of twelve, whose verdict must be unanimous. In all other criminal cases, in civil cases and in juvenile delinquency proceedings, the legislature may regulate the size of the jury and the number required for a verdict."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the Proposal. Is there any discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President. I was waiting for someone to speak in favor of it, first, because I speak against the Proposal, and I would urge that the Proposal be defeated, which would leave in effect then the present Section 7 of the Constitution of the State, which is a very nice, terse statement and says: "The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate; but a jury in civil cases, in courts not of record may consist of less than twelve men as may be prescribed by law."

I think that the right of trial by jury is one of the most precious rights of Americans, and I believe that any tampering with it, even as to amounts or in leaving it subject to legislative manipulation, would be deeply resented. The Legislature can take advantage of smaller juries under the present Constitution in courts not of record, which would mean the inferior courts or municipal courts, justice courts, and so forth.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: May I ask, Mr. Chairman: The very last line or two: Judge Burdick proposed and was very concerned about the statement "the number required for a verdict." If the size of the jury is only three, do I understand it need not be unanimous? Can someone of the Committee inform me?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Yes, that's exactly what it says. They could provide that it could be less than unanimous in all cases, except those of a felony.

Incidentally I'd like to also speak, if I may, relative to Mr. Pearce's statement.

What we're proposing here is quite a change from the law as it was in the past. This will allow the Legislature to provide for less than twelve as a jury in civil cases and in misdemeanor cases, and includes, incidentally, the county — well, all of the courts that are presently in existence now, and some of them not requiring, incidentally, a jury of twelve.

I don't know whether you're aware of it or not, but probably in December, the U. S. Supreme Court upheld the criminal case in Florida where they had provided for six as the jury. This type of action was requested by the State Bar Association when they appeared before our Committee — not quite the same as this. They were indicating that they would like the minimum limited to six. However, we didn't have any idea what the future is going to be relative to the caseload, and things like that, and so we felt that we'd leave it up to the Legislature to make that determination in the future. Incidentally, having less than twelve does speed up the trial of civil cases, because it doesn't take quite as long to pick the jury — would be one major reason, incidentally.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman. In the Committee meeting — I have no objection to the Proposal the way it comes on the floor here; but I object to less than unanimous on a jury conviction, regardless of civil or any jury. I don't get too concerned about the amount of six jurors or if it's eight; but I cannot for the life of me see, if we've got a six-man jury, that five can convict. There must be a shadow of a doubt if you are guilty, if one person can't go along with a unanimous decision of a jury. As long as one person holds out, then there's a shadow of a doubt that you're not guilty. We start out with even a shadow of a doubt before, when we are convicted of something. I can't see something like this go on.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President, I rise to say that I'm going to vote against this particular thing because I think it restricts the right of juries to all people, because of the amendment that was put on it the other day, and I'm giving my explanation now, instead of after the vote, so that I won't clutter up the Journal with my feeble excuses.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-119.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Do I understand, if we vote "no," we will not be repealing the original Section 7 as in the Constitution, or do we have to bring that back and enact it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I'm sure that if you defeat this, that anything on this sheet is defeated. If you pass — if you vote this down, you have to vote it down in toto, unless somebody divides the question, and so forth.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Well, I realize the repealer would be defeated, Mr. President, but where we'd stand — we'd have — Section 7 hasn't been repealed. Is that going to be in the Constitution in the final draft? And I favor the old Section 7, and maybe we should amend it instead of this one.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President. If I may offer my opinion on this.

Nothing happens to the old Constitution unless we offer a repeal of it and that's approved by the people, and the Style and Drafting Committee — it is my understanding that they're trying to present a whole Constitution. They would simply put Section 7 from the old Constitution in that draft. But even if they didn't unless it was a repeal of Section 7, it would still stand and be part of the Constitution of the State.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I think that they would be wise at this time to direct the Chairman of the Style and Drafting to see if this is the procedure they're going to follow. Maybe a document from this floor to which they refer their action, and if that's the case and they don't get any action on this Section 7, it could be we might lose Section 7 someplace. I wonder if Chairman Unruh would respond to that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, we had not considered any possibilities like this as yet; but in the total process, it is our plan to put the whole Constitution together on a board, committee by committee, and to look and see if there's any sections that haven't been repealed. If they need repealing, it's our opinion we should bring in the proposal. We would do that. Maybe that's the way it would fit.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I feel we are probably going to end up with a general repealer, instead of separate repealers, and I think, to directly get at the issue, I would move that we delete everything in lines 1 through 16 in Proposal 1-119, and insert in lieu thereof the language of the old Constitution, Section 7.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the offer of the amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-119, and as I understood, you would strike everything after — starting with line 1 through 16. We'd delete everything and insert Section 7 of the former or our present Constitution.

Now, can we have a second to that motion?

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Nicholas. The Chair will recognize Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

The Committee took a lot of time on this and we had a lot of testimony on it, and with our testimony, I'm going to resist the amendment. I wish you would vote to approve the Committee Report. We had a lot of testimony and it all indicated that the Legislature isn't going to turn the court system upside down, as far as the number of people, in most cases. There are some cases where, in the civil proceedings and different things like that, that it can be handled with a smaller group, and if the Legislature so desires, and the people who don't want it will be there having their say and their piece, and I'm sure it isn't going to change overnight and you're going to end up with a three-man jury, or anything like that. I think we should stick with the Committee Proposal because it's flexible, and let them take care of future needs at future times.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I'm quite concerned that we preserve a jury of twelve — at least in criminal cases — and the Committee's proposal limits it only to felonies, and there are many crimes that carry a sentence up to one year in the county jail, and I — many people are in county jails on minor offenses, and others are charged with felonies and never are confined, and we're giving them a twelve-man jury — a unanimous jury — and yet the Committee is not in the case of something less here. I think that feature in the old Constitution should be retained. I think we have some problem with the language of the old section. It refers to "twelve-man." It should probably just say "a jury of twelve." And I have no strong feelings on civil cases, that we should reduce the jury in courts of record in civil cases; but I do think in criminal cases, that's one thing that the old section does, and I would urge we adopt this, and then, if you want to amend it to take out the word "men" or if you want to amend it further to allow a jury of less than twelve or less than unanimous in civil cases, I have no objection.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Kelsch that we strike everything in line 1 through line 16 as the proposal is printed in the Proposal Book and insert in lieu thereof Section 7 of our present Constitution.

Those in favor of the amendment —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-119:

Delete lines 1 through 16, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 7 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to trial by jury, be retained.

"SECTION 1.) Section 7 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota is retained in its present form and reads as follows:

"The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate; but a jury in civil cases, in courts not of record may consist of less than twelve men, as may be prescribed by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the amendment. The question, again — Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President, I move to delete the word "men".

DELEGATE KELSCH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab moves an amendment, to strike the word — she has an amendment to an amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Do you want me to read it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Read her amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment:

In the last sentence under Section 1, after the word "twelve," the word "men" be deleted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the amendment to the amendment as you heard read from the desk.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment's adopted.

Now we're back on the amendment as amended. The question is on the amendment as amended.

Any further discussion?

Hearing none, those in favor of its adoption will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The Chair will rule that the "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested. That is sufficient. Again, the question is on the adoption of the amendment as amended.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your preference.

Has every delegate voted?

DELEGATE SINNER: Sinner votes "nay."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sinner votes "nay."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Has every delegate indicated his preference? The vote is closed. There were 54 "ayes" and 38 "nays." There were six delegates absent and not voting. The amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: May I rise on a question of personal privilege?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I want to thank the Convention for doing this, because now I don't have to submit the amendment I was preparing. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President: I move the Proposal 1-119 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce moved that Committee Proposal 1-119 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 1-119 is before the Convention as amended.

The question. The question before the Convention is on the first passage of — (The voting machine controls emitted an electrical spark.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-119. We'll have a voice vote.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: It's still smoking!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow delegates, maybe we better hurry and vote here, before one of these fellows gets killed. We'll wonder if he'll have a jury trial or what!

Do you have a tally here?

The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-119 as amended.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will take the roll.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Here — yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Bassingthwaite.

(No response.)

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Bender.

DELEGATE BENDER: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benz.

DELEGATE BENZ: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Binek.

DELEGATE BINEK: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Birkeland.

DELEGATE BIRKELAND: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Brakke.

DELEGATE BRAKKE: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Butler.

(No response.)

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Christensen.

DELEGATE CHRISTENSEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Daniels.
DELEGATE DANIELS: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dawson.
DELEGATE DAWSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Decker.
DELEGATE DECKER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Devine.
DELEGATE DEVINE: Aye
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Diehl.
DELEGATE DIEHL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dobson.
DELEGATE DOBSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Engelter.
DELEGATE ENGELTER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Engstrom.
DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Erickson.
DELEGATE ERICKSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fallgatter.
DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fiedler.
DELEGATE FIEDLER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fritzell.
DELEGATE FRITZELL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Geelan.
DELEGATE GEELAN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Gipp.
DELEGATE GIPP: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Griffin.
DELEGATE GRIFFIN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hardmeyer.
DELEGATE HARDMEYER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hartl.
DELEGATE HARTL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Haugen.
(No response.)
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hendrickson.
DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hernettt.
DELEGATE HERNETT: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hildebrand.
DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hill.
DELEGATE HILL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoffner.
DELEGATE HOFFNER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoghaug.
DELEGATE HOGHAUG: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hougen.
DELEGATE HOUGEN: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hubrig.
DELEGATE HUBRIG: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Huckle.
DELEGATE HUCKLE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Jestrab.
DELEGATE JESTRAB: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kelsch.
DELEGATE KELSCH: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kessel.
DELEGATE KESSEL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Ketchum.
DELEGATE KETCHUM: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Knudson.
DELEGATE KNUDSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kretschmar.
DELEGATE KRETSCHMAR: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kwako.
DELEGATE KWAKO: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lamb.
DELEGATE LAMB: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lander.
DELEGATE LANDER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Larsen.
DELEGATE LARSEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lerberg.
DELEGATE LERBERG: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Litten.
DELEGATE LITTEN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Longmire.
DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McElroy.
DELEGATE McELROY: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McIntyre.
DELEGATE McINTYRE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Maxwell.
DELEGATE MAXWELL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Meidinger.
DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Miller.
DELEGATE MILLER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nething.
DELEGATE NETHING: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nicholas.
DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: O'Toole.
DELEGATE O'TOOLE: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Omdahl.
DELEGATE OMDAHL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Paulson.
DELEGATE PAULSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peters.
DELEGATE PETERS: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peterson.
(No response.)
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Poulson.
DELEGATE POULSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: QUAM.
DELEGATE QUAM: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Roney.
DELEGATE RONEY: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rosendahl.
DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rude.
DELEGATE RUDE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rundle.
DELEGATE RUNDLE: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sanstead.
DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Saugstad.
DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Scheel.
DELEGATE SCHEEL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Schmit.
DELEGATE SCHMIT: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Simonson.
DELEGATE SIMONSON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sinner.
DELEGATE SINNER: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Solberg.
DELEGATE SOLBERG: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sondreal.
DELEGATE SONDREAL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Stanton.
DELEGATE STANTON: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sullivan.
DELEGATE SULLIVAN: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Thompson.
DELEGATE THOMPSON: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Trenbeath.
DELEGATE TRENBEATH: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Tudor.
DELEGATE TUDOR: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Unruh.
DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Urdahl.
DELEGATE URDAHL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Vogel.
DELEGATE VOGEL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wallin.
DELEGATE WALLIN: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Warner.

DELEGATE WARNER: Aye; reluctantly.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wicks.

DELEGATE WICKS: Aye.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wenstrom.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Aye.

The roll call discloses 78 "ayes," 16 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting Committee Proposal No. 1-119 has passed.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE Aubol: Does the record indicate that we voted on Delegate Pearce's motion to have 1-119 properly re-engrossed? I thought that's the vote we were about to take when the big bang happened.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That was a voice vote.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I don't recall voting on it, however.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm glad some of the delegates have trouble. I have trouble, too. (Laughter)

(A disturbance was noted in the area of the desks of Delegates Longmire and McElroy, apparently being a minor wastebasket fire, followed by applause upon extinguishing.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow delegates, I think that this would be a good opportunity to take about ten minutes. Please be back on time.

(The Session recessed at 3:12 P.M. until 3:25 P.M., the same day, with Vice President Saugstad presiding.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Everyone take their seat.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'd like a ruling from the Chair. I thought that we could put in alternate proposals longer than today; but someone told me today, and then another delegate told me three days before we could put one in, and I would like to know whether we can request an alternate proposal after today — submit one, I mean.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson, I do not believe there is any final limit on alternate proposals that are to be introduced.

The Chair will call on Mrs. Geelan — Delegate Geelan — to explain to Delegate Thompson the status of introduction of alternate proposals.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President. There is a limit that you can't — there is a limitation on the time that you can introduce them, and I'm looking it up now. I think it's three days after it's been voted on. There is no end limit, as I understand it. You'll find the Rule on page — it's 18.2. The first paragraph reads: "An alternate proposal covering the same subject for incorporation in the final constitutional draft may not be introduced until three Convention days after first passage of a proposal covering the same subject; except that the three-day limitation shall not apply after the twenty-second Convention day."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does that answer your question, Delegate Thompson?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Yes, it does. Thank you.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: May we be on the eighth order for a moment?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We may.

DELEGATE DAWSON: While we are talking about alternate proposals, the Alternate Proposal and Ballot Committee will meet on Monday morning at nine o'clock up in the west balcony.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Did everyone hear that? Chairman Dawson of the Alternate Proposal Committee announced that there will be a meeting on Monday morning — what do you say? — nine o'clock?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Nine o'clock.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Nine o'clock, in the west balcony.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President —

DELEGATE DAWSON: While we're at that, I agree that alternate proposals can be made at a later date; however, if you have any in mind, we would appreciate knowing it, so that we can take that into consideration on Monday; and we expect to get alternate proposals after that time.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President. Will Chairman Dawson yield to a question?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Yes. Go ahead.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Can Delegates come in at that time to express their support or views or objections, as the case may be, to these various alternate proposals?

DELEGATE DAWSON: I think that would be very much in order. They're open to the press, also, I understand. (Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We will now be on the eighth order of business — Communications and Announcements.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wives of delegates and Staff wives are invited to a no-host luncheon Wednesday, February 9th at 1:00 P.M. Please make your reservations by Tuesday noon with President Wenstrom's secretary.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We'll now be temporarily on the fifth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-13, has had the same under consideration and recommends the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Committee Proposal 1-13 will be on the sixth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-27, has had the same under consideration and recommends the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Committee Proposal No. 1-27 will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-28, has had the same under consideration and recommends the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegates, for just a technical correction here, I will say that on motion of Chairman Unruh, Committee Proposal 1-13, 1-27 and 1-28 will be placed on the sixth order.

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and they will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-32, has had the same under consideration and recommends the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Chairman Unruh that the Committee Proposal 1-32 be placed on the sixth order of business. All in favor of the motion say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and that will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-46, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: On motion of Delegate Unruh that Proposal No. 1-46 be placed on the sixth order, all in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. It will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-58, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Chairman Unruh that Committee Proposal 1-58 be placed on the sixth order. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and it will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-59, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends that the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Chairman Unruh that Committee Proposal 1-59 be placed on the sixth order. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. It will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal 1-63, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Chairman Unruh that Committee Proposal 1-63 be placed on the sixth order.

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. It will be on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal 1-73, has had the same under consideration and recommends the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Chairman Unruh that Committee Proposal 1-73 be placed on the sixth order.

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. It will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-91, has had the same under consideration and recommends the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Chairman Unruh that the Committee Proposal 1-91 be placed on the sixth order.

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and it will be placed on the sixth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting to whom was referred the following Committee Proposals: Committee Proposal No. 1-1, 1-4, 1-19, 1-47, 1-48, 1-49, 1-50, 1-52, 1-54, 1-56, 1-62, 1-64, 1-65, 1-66, 1-67, 1-68, 1-78 and 1-94 — has had the same under consideration and recommends the same not be amended, and be re-referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to this motion?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

We are now on the motion of Chairman — or Delegate Unruh, the Chairman of the Committee on Style and Drafting, that the Committee Proposals which were read from the desk be re-referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting. They were not amended; so, therefore, no further action is necessary at this time.

Any discussion?

Hearing none, we are on the motion of Delegate Unruh.

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the motion prevails.

We'll be on the tenth order, and next we shall have under consideration Committee Proposal 1-104.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-104, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to governmental immunity, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"Suits may be brought against the state and its political subdivisions for negligent injury to a person or his property; and the legislative assembly may provide reasonable limitation on the amount of recovery."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Urdahl.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Fellow Delegates: This is a new section to the Constitution, part of which has been lifted from the last sentence of Section 22. Section 22 says: ". . . Suits may be brought against the state in such manner, in such courts, and in such cases, as the legislative assembly may, by law, direct."

Although the doctrine of governmental immunity has been strongly entrenched in the United States for approximately 200 years, it is now being met with considerable disfavor from the judicial branch of government in various states. The courts which have been critical of this doctrine feel that it should not make any difference who injures a person; therefore, some courts state that the person causing the injury, whether a state agency or a private individual, shall be liable for the damage caused.

While the sovereign state must be afforded protection, it is a question if total protection should be called for. A sovereign state needing property or goods held by a sovereign individual or group of individuals must utilize the courts and necessary procedures to acquire such property. Why, then, should the state have the immunity to the extent it has, as revealed by many court decisions?

The state and lesser subdivisions exist for the benefit of the citizens; not only benefits, but for the well-being of the citizens. Why, then, when there is negligence on the part of some officer or of the State and/or municipality, should the State have immunity for remedies sought in the courts by its citizens? It must be recognized that state or municipal entities should not be wide open for nuisance suits. It would appear where there is harm done by negligence of the state or municipalities, officers, or agents, the citizens should have the same access to the courts for remedies.

The State is given considerable authority and responsibility. Such responsibility, or failure of it, should be backed by liability.

The "Divine Right of Kings" as a sovereign state principle was abandoned years ago. I wonder if immunity of the state is a vestige of the old principle of "Divine Right of Kings," in that the state can do no wrong.

Criticism of the governmental immunity rule has not gone unheeded, as the doctrine has now been revoked in many states either through court decree or through legislative enactment. One of the first court decisions completely abrogating the governmental immunity doctrine was issued by the Florida Supreme Court in 1957. The case was entitled Hargrove v. Town of Cocoa Beach. In that case, the Florida Supreme Court recognized that the doctrine was anachronistic, that it violated the fundamental concept that the person injured should have redress, and that traditional justifications for the rule were indefensible.

A number of legislatures have enacted legislation restricting the operation of governmental immunity. Some of the states which have enacted statutes abolishing it, in whole or in part, are Alaska, California, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nevada, New York, Utah and Washington. Such statutes generally provide for liability, with certain exceptions in some circumstances.

North Carolina and South Dakota have taken another route, wherein North Carolina has chosen not to eliminate its immunity, but has, instead, created a commission to hear cases involving claims against the state and to award payments therefor from the state treasury.

South Dakota created a board for the purpose of hearing claims against the state, but the board is advisory only and reports its findings to the legislature.

It should be noted, too, that North Dakota also has been chipping away at the foundation of governmental immunity.

In the 1967 session, Senate Bill 256 was introduced, which would have abrogated the doctrine of governmental immunity; but that bill was indefinitely postponed.

Pursuant to a Senate Concurrent Resolution passed by the 1969 legislative assembly, the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council was charged with conducting a study of the feasibility of modifying the doctrine of governmental immunity. The results of that study are found on page 83 of the 1971 Report of the Legislative Council.

The most important result of this study was a questionnaire sent to political entities, which indicated 61 percent of the political subdivisions that answered had liability insurance in one form or another. As a result, Senate Bill 2064 was introduced in the 1971 Legislative Assembly, requiring the State and all its political subdivisions to carry liability insurance. Had this passed, it would have been effective July 1, 1972. However, that bill also was indefinitely postponed.

The Committee feels, with the exception of one member, that it is time to come to grips with this important matter; and I urge you to give this proposal a favorable vote. And I'd like to yield now to Delegate Decker.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

Governmental immunity is something like eminent domain. Until you get into it and work on it awhile, it's kind of hard to understand; in fact, a lot of people even get mixed up when they're talking about one thing or the other, even though they aren't related.

Governmental immunity, to explain some of what it does mean, is that — it's a functional, not a proprietary, protection; but in establishing that, the courts in Mountain v. Fargo, in 1917, decided that a private — or a public garbage-hauling operation is a proprietary — isn't a proprietary, but it's functional. Well, that means, for instance, that in Devils Lake, where they've had a private garbage hauler, this fellow had his liability insurance to protect him. When the City takes it over now — and they did take it over, because they felt that his bid was too high — probably we're even running people out of private business because of this governmental immunity deal. But they don't have to take insurance to protect them because of the court decision in Fargo, and the people, if the garbage truck causes damage, the city doesn't have to pay, if they don't want to. Negligence must be proved, according to the proposal that we have here, the same as if you were being sued.

Another thing that's been brought up is a plane crash. If we had a plane crash out here at the airport, the City could be sued for everything — all the people on it and everything like that. But the negligence would still have to be proved. The City would have to do something to cause negligence.

It's been proposed in our Committee that the coordinating committee would put this into effect in 1976, and the reason for that was that political subdivisions could straighten out their budgets. We've had many people tell us in our Committee that they wouldn't mind it if they had time to arrange their budgets to purchase insurance to cover it. The insurance rates in California, which is one of the states without immunity, are not excessive. I have some of the costs here from the State of California, for instance. The Department of Education, its officers, agents and employees, acting in their capacity for that, the comprehensive-liability for everything in the State of California is $4,372. The State of Colorado, acting through the Department of Parks and Renovation, Division of Beaches and Parks, a division of the Small Crafts and Harbors, their officers, agents and employees, their liability insurance is $2,675.70. The reason I'm giving you some of these figures is that we've had a lot of estimated figures bandied around in our Committee, and they were primarily figures picked out of the air, as far as we could get in the Committee hearings. The Department of Water Resources and all of their operations, comprehensive-liability would be $25,000. This is for the State of California, where there are a lot of people, too.

Another one, the California State College, their officers and employees, would be $5,178. The total cost wouldn't be — wouldn't be an increase, either, because many of the subdivisions now carry liability insurance, and the present law now allows the political subdivisions to grant — or to remove immunity up to the amount of insurance that they carry. So that they can waive the immunity for what insurance they carry, if they carry it, and I believe there's over half of the subdivisions now carrying it on many items.

The same legal protection is available for the government, the same as it is for you and I. We've heard some talk about nuisance suits and different things like that. In order to bring the suit, the person would have to do anything the same as they would if they were suing you or I, and nuisance suits would be bad for the government. They're bad for you and I. Probably the best examples of how governmental immunity would work is an example I used in Committee, and my contention is that you and I, operating as a group, operating with, oh, in a township or county, or anything else, shouldn't have any immunity that you as an individual shouldn't have. For instance, if you, as an individual, own a road grader and leave it parked on the road or your employees does, and without lights at night, or something like that, and a man with nine children comes down the road and gets killed, well, he's in just as bad shape if you and I had owned that road grader — his family is going to suffer just as much — than if the contractor who has liability insurance and would be liable owns the road grader, and that's — when you are talking about governmental immunity, that's really what you are talking about; you are talking about either you or I, as an individual, or you and I as a group performing a function, and if we should be liable in one case, we should be liable in the other; and that's really the sum and substance of governmental immunity.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Yes. I want to speak on the question, too.

In our Committee, Cal Waldron, attorney from Minot, appeared before the Committee. He pleaded that we should write into the Constitution "Governmental immunity shall be forever barred," you might say, and he referred to two drownings in the swimming pool at Minot. He, evidently, defended the parents in the drowning of the children there, and he spent a considerable length of time at our Committee meeting, talking on governmental immunity. He felt that, due to the fact that the Park Board was charging for swimming in the swimming pool, therefore they ought to carry insurance that if something happened, that there would be coverage there for the parents. And I strongly believe, myself, that we should abolish governmental immunity. Like Decker said about the road grader — there's been other instances that I've been told about around the State since this thing's come up, where many people felt that it should be abolished.

An incident that happened: Just in the Fargo Forum — you might have seen on Tuesday here — I'm not going to take a lot of time — a picture of a cab that fell in a sewer in Chicago. I realize we're not in Chicago, but we get sewer places like this in Bismarck and Minot and several of the other cities. But I wonder if this cab company — and, evidently, Checker Cab, the way the cab looks, is going to be able to get a refund from the City of Chicago or from an insurance company for its cab falling into the sewer place. But this is just an example, and I don't believe that the government can — and, actually, who is the government? — it's us — that we should be going by without having some kind of insurance and responsibility if something does happen to the public. I definitely feel that we do need something done in this area, and I would hope that the delegates would support the Committee Proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will recognize Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: A question for a member of the Committee:

On that last line, I'm having a little trouble understanding that — or the last two lines — excuse me — “and the legislative assembly may provide reasonable limitations on the amount of recovery.”

What do you have in mind?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone wish to answer that? Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President. This was added as a suggestion in Committee by somebody that didn't like the original one, where governmental immunity is hereby abolished. I resisted this a little bit in Committee, but we ended up with it. But what it says, in effect, is that the Legislature can put a limit on the governmental liability — on the removal of the governmental immunity. They can still put limits that you would be able to collect. I think it weakens the bill a lot, but it is there.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion? Delegate Fritzell, and then Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

As a member of a park board for ten years, I can assure you we've had a lot of things that might have come up under this thing, due to playground equipment, people hurting themselves, slipping on the edge of swimming pools, and so forth.

Now, it isn't that I'm against it, and I would vote for it on the assurance that the definite intent was that there would be a definite limitation on the amount of recovery and that this would not be just a — that it would be a shell, because how are we going to cover ourselves with insurance if we have unlimited amount of insurance? We must have assurance that our insurance will definitely cover an amount — an unlimited amount — a limited amount.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Miller, I believe, had asked for the floor.

DELEGATE MILLER: Well, Mr. President, I'm not sure. Maybe my question's already answered in reading this thing. I guess I just wanted assurance that this would only be to the political subdivisions that are the State, and that the officers involved — and I'm thinking like city officials or township officials, or whatever officials — the person — if this would allow a person who is in charge of a department to be held. But I — maybe the Committee would like to speak to this. But I suppose it's self-explanatory.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President. I believe that all your organizations are the same as corporations, and you would have the same effect as a corporation officer, I believe. I'm not an attorney, but I believe it would fit into the same category.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'm the one that yelled out. I see a real problem here and, incidentally, yesterday, when I wrote the last amendment, I just sent this around so you'd start thinking about it. I am sure that, in answer to Kyle's — or Delegate Miller's question, that I, as a plaintiff's attorney, am going to shotgun everybody that had anything to do with whatever supposed negligence caused injury; and if that includes the city commission and the street department plus the city, I'm going to do that when I bring suits, if this thing passes the way it is.

Incidentally, I favor the language that is in old Section 22, and it is the last sentence in there that reads as follows: "Suits may be brought against the state in such manner, in such courts, and in such cases, as the legislative assembly may, by law, direct."

Now, I believe that the Legislature has not now completely relieved the problems that these people are talking about today. They did, however, allow the municipalities to insure themselves for liability in some cases, and I believe it was at the last Legislature that they considered it again, and if they would have cured — not "cured" — cleared with everyone that would have been involved in that bill, I think that bill would have passed the Legislature and would have provided for more suits against the State. Just the fact that we're going to blanket this thing and throw it open the way it says now, it is extremely dangerous.

Now, let me take that word "reasonable" that somebody was asking about. For instance, the Legislature sets a limitation, say, on wrongful death of, say, a hundred thousand dollars, and the city insured for a hundred thousand dollars, and Mr. Pearce, in his inimitable way, got a $250,000 judgment against the city. You're going to look to the city for that other 150 thousand bucks, and they would not be covered and he's going to go to the Supreme Court and say, "Now the Legislature said this was reasonable, but here we have a jury of twelve people who determined that they weren't right and the 250 thousand bucks is reasonable; so the city is going to have to dig up the 150 thousand bucks somewhere," and it's going to have to come out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Now, I agree there are many areas, such as swimming pools, where you should have coverage. There should be coverage on those. These people should have a right to get paid for injuries caused by negligence. The drowning ones are an example, because there you have a specific agent of the city who's supposed to be taking care of the children when they're swimming — or adults; and if that person is negligent enough in not rescuing people, well, then maybe there should be a suit against the city.

Now, it goes farther than that, because — and let me give a few more examples of what would be involved. You could have lawsuits for libel, slander and assault by police officers. I don't know — did you notice the other day in, I think it was, the Fargo paper — or maybe the Minneapolis — where a police officer in an attempt to make an arrest on a drug pusher who he had just paid nine hundred dollars to, was attacked by this person and he shot him. He's now being sued for that act — trying to make an arrest. Well, the question is going to be: Was he negligent in using that much force? And, if he was, then the city is going to be liable, because he was in the performance of his duties. It's going to cover your school districts, your park boards, drainage boards. It might give Grant an answer to his problem — whether the drainage board should be responsible because they created a situation where all those farmers down there are now being flooded. It could affect them. I think, also, it could affect judges — district judges — for making a mistake in sentencing, and in that way embarrass him, or slandering a person. If that person would happen to get the case reversed in the Supreme Court, I'm afraid that district judge is going to be responsible. I think there has to be some limitations on this thing, and that's the reason why I favor the language in old Section 22. What I sent around is really no good, because it doesn't completely cover the problem, but it does present another thing, where you have a limitation on the amount — minimum and maximum, and you could set the minimum amount, which they can under the old section. You would avoid all that — a lot of these hundred-dollar claims for broken tires, and things like that, and maybe we would have something accomplished then. I urge you to defeat this proposal.

However, there's one little problem. This Proposal doesn't have a repealer section in it, for some of the rest of you that are interested in resisting this; so there would have to be some kind of amendment made, if this thing were voted down.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Byrne is next.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President. Being in my profession of insurance, if I have some personal reason for being here as a delegate, I should be very quiet this afternoon and probably be most interested in quietly seeing that this bill or Proposal passes. It reminds me of a quotation or a statement by one of our delegates on Monday on another bill, in which he mentioned about bringing lawsuits where the impact was not known.

I would like to review with you just a little bit the background on the situation and the cost of this, because it's been referred to as being comparatively minimal. So, if you will at least be prepared to tell your county commissioners and your city officials when you go back home what this involves. I want to point out that there's a reference to the Legislative Council study.

Of course, there are three ways to approach this matter. I might list them. One is take no legislative action and, therefore, keep the present governmental immunity. Then there's legislation which would waive the immunity establishment by the doctrine of governmental immunity and thereby declaring that the state and its political subdivisions would be liable to the same extent as a private individual. This is the approach here. Third, enact legislation which would modify the doctrine of governmental immunity, but only to a limited extent. This, after two years of study, was the decision of the Legislative Council study.

I want to refer to the bill that Delegate Urdahl mentioned that came out of that study — Senate Bill No. 2064. This bill provides for the normal hazards that we are all told about that should be provided for to protect the public. In substance, it requires all political subdivisions — the state and all political subdivisions to carry insurance for the use or operation of any motor vehicle, including the grader and the snowplow, and so forth.

Number two, a dangerous condition of a public building, including the sidewalk of that building.

Three, a dangerous condition during the period of construction or maintenance of a highway, road or street. This is during construction. I want to make that point at the moment.

Now, this bill was introduced. I discovered later it was indefinitely postponed, and I was curious to find out what had occurred. It was merely said that it was indefinitely postponed. I found out the reason — or one of the contributing reasons for it — and I think one of the major reasons for it, which Delegate Thompson has referred to in general. The survey that they referred to was to the counties, cities and school boards, as to what insurance they had. Through an oversight and for some reason or another, the Council did not inquire of the state institutions. It did not inquire of the State Highway Department as to what would be involved, so that they'd get some information as to what the cost of this was going to be. This bill was introduced. It was on its way when the Commissioner of Higher Education found out about the bill. He's not opposed to it, but he did make some inquiries as to what all this hazard would entail, as far as cost were concerned, for all the educational institutions in the State, and discovered the cost was going to run about 150-to-180 thousand dollars a year. He had nothing in the budget for it, and I believe that contributed to the postponement of the bill. The bill is good, and that is the approach, it seems to me, that we should take from the legislative standpoint in properly protecting the people and requiring the theory of governmental immunity, instead of dropping it entirely and discovering the massive consequence by doing so.

It was mentioned a moment ago that it appeared, at least, there was a comparatively small cost on this, and some figures were given in California. I have here the complete policy of the State of Oregon. This does not take in the political subdivisions. This is the State of Oregon and all of its departments. The cost of that coverage is $556,000 a year. This takes in road hazards — normal road hazards, rather than just under construction. If you open this thing up, that would be included — the normal highway travel. Most of the policies in the county and city and state highway departments, and so forth, cover while they are under construction and maintenance. They do not cover the normal exposure or risk of the travel on those roads.

Fergus Falls, for example, the cost there is approximately ten dollars a mile. I think that is a small city. The cost on this would be hard to estimate because of the mileage involved, but I would say that the cost would run anywhere from $7.50 up to $20, depending upon the size of the political subdivision. I point this out to you so you can have an idea as to the impact. The State highway road system is 6800 miles, the county road system 17,870 miles, and your township roads are 78,000 miles. The problem with eliminating governmental immunity entirely is the difficulty that you have. I know the intent is right on the part of the Committee in solving the problems, which, I feel, too, are, to a great extent, covered by the Senate Bill I have referred to. But when you drop governmental immunity, you, at the same time, accept all unknown and known. Voters, no more than you do, just buy liability insurance itself. What about the areas of airports, state products, state institutions, pollution, ecology libel, slander, assault? You go far beyond them insofar as the liability of the main, normal hazards that we consider which would normally protect the public and the park districts and the swimming pools in the normal course of events of the operation of a political subdivision. I think that, to vote to eliminate governmental immunity entirely, isn't wise. I think the proper method, which the study committee agreed, is to do it through a legislative act, because, otherwise, you'd drop all of it, and there is no way that you can limit the amount of liability. You may limit the liability as you now have — legislate by having a governmental immunity clause attached to the liability policy — and that is the extent of your liability; but the moment you drop the doctrine of governmental immunity, as was pointed out, there's no way that you can set what may be considered a reasonable limitation, because the courts may tell you that it wasn't high enough. I think you ought to have that information and think about it deeply, and I believe sincerely that this is a matter that should be handled as has been proposed, and I believe it would have been successful if all of the political subdivisions had been advised and had had a chance to budget themselves and put themselves in order for it to be handled on a legislative basis, limiting it to normal, regular exposures.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate — I believe Delegate Pearce has been trying to get the floor for some time. Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Thank You, Mr. President. I had been waving at you.

All things come to him who waits, and Delegate Thompson and I are now in agreement on this. It would take too long to reiterate what has been said. It would take many more days than we have at our disposal to dream up the lawsuits that could be brought. You can never underestimate the ingenuity of the litigant and his lawyer. I did last night, knowing this was coming up, look through the Code, wondering how judgments were to be paid.

Now, if you had liability insurance, that's all right up to the limit of the liability, and the common situation is that liability insurance, which is written for a municipality, the insurance company who has the obligation to defend the suit and pay the judgment agrees when it writes that policy to waive the governmental immunity. Otherwise, of course, the insurance would be meaningless.

But let's assume that we have and could have unquestionably many, many cases which are not covered by liability insurance. The cost of the liability insurance may be too much for many districts and divisions. We have some school districts that are on the ragged edge of poverty now.

Well, Section 11-11-45 provides that if you have a judgement against a county, the county levies one mill on the real property for as long as it's necessary to raise the funds; and with a few good, fat judgments that might be forever. For a city or any municipality, Section 40-43-02 provides for a levy for five mills to pay these things. Townships are in rather tough situations. By 58-14-07 they're supposed to levy simply an amount sufficient to pay, and for a township, if that isn't enough, the judgement holder can levy on township property — now whether that's a bridge or a township hall or a road, or whatever they have.

Now, if you have a judgment against the State, you have to go to the Legislature. The Legislature has to pass an appropriation bill to pay you. So, if we had many, many judgments, in order to have redress, we would have a plethora of private bills that would require the Legislature to pay. And, certainly, if they paid one, they would have to pay all. And, certainly, if they thumb their nose at them, we would be right back to governmental immunity. They wouldn't get paid.

I don't want to take the time to dwell on the horrors that could result. I do believe that, when you consider how it has to be passed, there's only one way to handle this, and this is by insurance, and it seems to me that the judgment ought to be left up to the Legislature to decide what insurance they should require and what of the many types the State and its political subdivisions ought to buy to protect the people.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Geelan, and then Devine.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President. One of the things that we have been cautioned about all the time is that we should state principles and then leave everything to the Legislature to implement. And so most of our thinking has been along that line. And so, when we brought out 1-104, though it was originally attached to another bill, we simply stated that suits may be brought for negligent injury. We would then assume that attached to that — that the Legislative Assembly may provide reasonable limitation; that we had stated all that we should state. However, every time we seem to bring up a principle, then it is criticized because we don't go into detail. I'm not going into the philosophy of that, but that was the thinking behind this particular Proposal that we brought up — that we felt it was something important enough that we should state the thinking of the Committee in protecting the rights of the people who suffer from these injuries caused by the State and its political subdivisions.

Then, in answer to Delegate Byrne, if this had passed, I was instructed by the Committee to submit a motion directed to the Committee on Transition and Coordination that this should not go into effect until July 1, 1976. Now, that might answer Judge — or Delegate Byrne's objection that they should have had some time to prepare.

Now, I want to make one other point. I have read with a great deal of interest the history of workmen's compensation and all the prophets of doom who said that you must not have workmen's compensation because of all of the things it would do to the employers. I doubt very much if there's an employer in the State of North Dakota who would want to be without workmen's compensation. I predict — I'm not so sure that it's going to happen in this Constitutional Convention, but some day I predict that either a constitutional amendment or the Legislature itself is going to enact some very reasonable governmental immunity.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I am thankful that the Chair recognized Delegate Byrne first, because I think he adequately covered the subject.

I also agree with Delegate Geelan that, in the years to come, we're going to see limitations on governmental immunity. I do not want to see Committee Proposal 1-104 adopted by this Convention.

Two reasons: One, it has a basic defect in that there's no limitation on the kind of action. Now, they provide for negligent injury. Everything is a negligent injury. You're talking about person, property, reputation, or what? So I feel that — this was brought out by Delegate Byrne, so I'm not going to belabor this. I think that this is a matter for the Legislature, and allow them to put some reasonable limitations on the kinds of action.

Number two is a point I wanted to make, and I think Delegate Pearce made this, as well as Delegate Byrne — is that this is a matter for the Legislature. There's a lot more to it than appears at first blush. This Convention showed, I think, good judgment an hour or so ago, when they realized that they were off into a field that should be left for the Legislature — or the legislators, and I hope that they show the same good judgment on this Committee Proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. All this Proposal does is say that the State stands in no better position than you or I.

Now, some of you have said that negligence injuries do create all kinds of problems. I will assure you, for every act I do, I'm responsible, and all we're saying with this Proposal is the State should have no better position and if someone is injured by virtue of the negligent conduct of the State, they should face the same responsibility to pay for those damages as you or I would have to pay for were we to cause injuries to someone else negligently.

Now, I agree with the delegates that talked. I agree with Delegate Pearce that it could wreck havoc the way our laws are presently set up if a township were to have a hundred-thousand-dollar judgment brought against it or recovered against it and they had to levy against the property. It could break the township. It would break some school districts. I think we could answer this problem by stating the principle here in this Constitution that the State's in no better position than any of its citizens. Give the Legislature until 1976 to set up either a program where all subdivisions might contribute to a general insurance, so that they'd all share the risk, so that one township or one county or one school district couldn't be wiped out. After all, we're a combined group of people of over 600,000 and I think together, combined, we can face that risk.

Now, what we're saying is we don't want to face it, so we'll let the injured have no remedy. Now that doesn't apply to you or I. I have to insure if I slander someone. I need insurance for that, or I take the risk of my conduct. I don't think it's too much to ask. I think the Legislature can either, through a state insurance, if you can't buy commercially — I prefer commercially — but I think it can be done. All it would do is take time. I think there's some wisdom in doing it now in the Constitution. We can't see in the future, but I think some day the courts are going to say the State should stand in no better position than the individual, and wouldn't that raise havoc if the high court of this State said that and we had nothing in preparation — no planning?

But, by saying in the Constitution that the people accept it, you will have four years in which to set up a program. If you want to make it '78, that's fine with me. But if you give them time, they know it's coming and they can set it up on a sound actuarial basis, just like private insurance carriers set it up, or give it to private insurance carriers who could bid on the whole state. But it would take some time to acquire experience. But they have experience with individuals, and I think we have to be realistic and face the future of it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

A few years ago I was involved in an accident. As a result of this accident, the insurance company awarded me, without going to court, a settlement of fifty thousand dollars. Now, this sounds like a tremendous amount of money. I'm sure that I'll never have anything like that given to me again. But, after I paid the attorney fees and all the other damages that were caused to me and my family, I ended up with less money, after receiving this fifty thousand dollars, than what I had before I had the accident.

Now, what does this have to do with governmental immunity? The only thing is that if I would have been injured — in an accident involving a governmental agency, and that the government said that it was not responsible, I could have been ruined, and along with me, my family, too. I think that this provision, No. 1-104, with a built-in period of four years, is what we need. I think our State has for too long said that we are not responsible, and I think that the State or any agency in the State should be fully responsible for any negligent action. I urge that the delegates support 1-104.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Urdahl, we have two others who have not spoken before that have asked for the floor — Delegate Engstrom, for one.

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Mr. President, may I yield to Delegate Decker, please?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes, you may.

DELEGATE DECKER: Thank you. A couple things that have come up here that I think we should cover. For one thing, I was talking about going back to your municipality and telling them they will have to protect their streets and everything. Well, in a Supreme Court decision — Hanson v. Barry — I believe this is in the Fargo area, it permits a municipality to be liable for failure to maintain a street in a reasonably safe condition. And so we have a hodgepodge now of partial immunity and some immunity and some exemptions.

Another thing: Delegate Kelsch mentioned that our courts could get us into trouble. In fact — and we wouldn't have the time to take care of it up to 1976, like we do now. That's what happened in California. California didn't vote to remove the governmental immunity. The courts in 1969 — the California Supreme Court — said, "The rule of governmental immunity is without original basis and has existed only by the force of inertia." And they abolished it right there, and the State has lived since then. They've got along all right. But they had to adapt to it in a hurry. We're trying to do this in a reasonable fashion, so the State and the subdivisions will have time to take care of it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman — Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

This Proposal on governmental immunity is actually a compromise proposal coming out of our Committee. We didn't believe, in our Committee, in the old philosophy that is archaic — the Divine Right of Kings. We felt that that's long passed. I, personally, working for a political subdivision, am a government employee at times, and we, in many of our agencies, have some types of insurance for ourselves to cover what happens that may be negligent.

Now, I want to point out, and especially to Mrs. — or Delegate Fritzell — that this is negligence. Negligence has to be proved, and we want to make our government more important. We want to make responsible people of the people in the government. We don't want it a hiding place for the old and decrepit. It isn't now, and we don't want to make it that way. From what we understood in Committee now, is that on some cases of suits brought against the government, they have to do it surreptitiously. They have to go around and sue the individual. You can't sue the government now. So you sue the individual — this driver who left the grader in the road or driving it.

Now, each one of us — you and I and everyone of us — has some type of insurance on our homes for accidents that happen in our home. Why? Why? As Delegate Kelsch and many of the others said, why can't the government? Why do we have to go back into medieval England?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Urdahl, I believe, had asked for the floor.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Well, I just want to say this: If I'd been aware of all the ramifications and all the dangers that have been pointed out, I doubt if I'd have dared ever to be in business and carry liability insurance. Because I think that every move that is ever made would have been one that would have threatened a lawsuit. Well, I can say that I was in business about twenty years and never was sued, and I think we're just building up a lot of things when we begin to imagine all the things that can happen, because, after all, this is due to negligence — that we shouldn't have a built-in protection here for the collective group of us that we are not willing to give to the individual citizen, and I wonder sometimes, you know, if it isn't in direct violation of some of the things we do say in the Constitution. When I look at the last part of Section 20, for instance. Well, the whole thing says, "No special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted which may not be altered, revoked or repealed by the legislative assembly; nor shall any citizen or class of citizens be granted privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not be granted to all citizens."

And then another area — a thing that bothers me a little bit, and I think it's in Section 11: "All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation." And I don't know why we should collectively not want to do and carry our responsibility as a government, and I certainly hope that we can, for once and for all, do away with the idea that the State is supreme in all things it does.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Burbidge, I believe, had asked for the floor.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

The question before us is basically simple. Is government a responsible party?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The question —

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Excuse me. I have an amendment at the desk. It's not typed yet, but I can possibly read it to the group while it's being typed.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes, you may.

DELEGATE DEVINE: On the Committee Proposal, on line 8, delete the word "and" and insert in lieu thereof the word "but".

On line 8, after the word "provide", insert the word "for".

On line 8, put in "s" period — "limitations" — and insert the word "limitations" instead of the word "limitation". Then put a period and delete line 9.

If I have a second, I'll explain the motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Engstrom seconds the motion.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President. The purpose of amendment is not — is to allow the Legislature to provide certain limitations, and I am concerned more about the kinds of actions that may be brought, rather than the recovery. The recovery I'm not so concerned about, because you can take the same argument and you can say, "Why should you be able to recover less from the city than you can from an individual?" So I am not concerned about the amount of recovery. What I'm working for is reasonable limitations in this kind of action. Now, in the action that was referred to by Delegate Thompson in the paper, where the City of Minneapolis and the County of Hennepin were sued for $150,000, it was charged — I'm reading the last paragraph — "that the deputy shot her son either intentionally or negligently and that the city and county were negligent in their selecting, training and supervising their narcotics officers." So, what I'm looking for is some reasonable type of limitations on the type of action that can be brought.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: If you will wait just a moment, the desk force will have the amendment typed.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, while we're waiting, would Delegate — excuse me, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Would Delegate Devine read the new language as it would read with the amendment in it, please?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: The first two lines would read the same. Line 8 would read, "but the legislative assembly may provide for reasonable limitations."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chief Clerk will now read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-104:

On line 8, delete the word "and" and insert in lieu thereof the word "but".

In line 8, after the word "provide", insert the word "for".

In line 8, delete the word "limitation" and insert in lieu thereof the word "limitations".

In line 9, delete the words "on the amount of recovery".

And renumber the lines.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion? Delegate Daniels.

DELEGATE DANIELS: Mr. President, I oppose this amendment. It would just go back to what the old Constitution says — "in such manner, in such courts, and in such cases."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch, I believe, asked for the floor.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. I think the amendment — I have no objection to the amendment. I think it gives the Legislature some leeway. We don't know exactly what the courts are going to do. They may say that a limitation on the type of action is not right, or they may say that the limitation as to the amount of damages is not right; but it does give the Legislature some choice, and I think it — I have no objection to the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: It goes much farther than the old language. I think it does provide that suits can be brought and it will force the Legislature to provide the limitations, if they're going to provide any, and it might be what we're trying to accomplish.

DELEGATE SCHMIT: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Schmit.

DELEGATE SCHMIT: I'd like to address a question to Delegate Kelsch.

Would it be wise, in the second-to-the-last line, after the word "assembly," to strike "may" and put in "shall"?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I prefer to say that "may". I think that their inclination will be to set the limitation. If they feel, on the other hand, that they can work out a plan that will cover all districts in the State without the need for limitations, we should leave that open to them. If we put the word "shall" in, then they'd be required to put in those limitations.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Then hearing none, we are on the motion of Delegate Devine that Delegate Proposal — or Committee — I beg your pardon — Committee Proposal 1-104 should be amended.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: It would seem here then that if the Legislative Assembly did not act, that there would be no limitation; therefore, this amendment would require them to act. If I am wrong, I would hope that someone would correct me.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone care to answer Delegate Burbidge's question? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. As I interpret it, they wouldn't have to act. If they wanted to have no immunity whatsoever, they wouldn't act. If they decided that it was too dangerous and wanted it, with some limitations, they could put them on; and whether they would stand the test of a court case on limitations that would be reasonable — if the court said that would be reasonable, why they'd stand.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are now on the motion of Delegate Devine. If you favor the amendment, vote "aye;" if you do not, vote "nay."

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and the motion — and the amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, I'll move that 1-104 be deemed properly re-engrossed and put on the calendar.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Devine.

It's been moved by Delegate Decker that Committee Proposal 1-104 be deemed properly re-engrossed and that it be placed on the calendar as amended. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. It is now — now Committee Proposal 1-104 is on the calendar before this body. What is your wish?

The question has been called. If you vote "aye" — we're on the main proposal now. If you vote "aye," you favor passage of 1-104. If you vote "nay," you're against it.

The board will be opened. You will record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change his vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses 74 "ayes," 17 "nays," seven absent and not voting. Therefore, Committee Proposal 1-104 has been adopted.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: May I inquire as to the state of the calendar right now? I'm sorry I missed part of the session.

If there is any question, I would like to move that Committee Proposal 1-87 be placed at the foot of — or at the head of the calendar.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. It is the motion of Delegate Haugen that Committee Proposal 1-87 be placed at the head of the calendar. You have heard the motion. All in favor —

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President, I would simply urge a "no" vote, if possible. We have been on the Bill of Rights. We have one more to go, and then the other two are in the Finance and Taxation Committee. Then we can go home.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen's motion has been taken and accepted, so we are now on the motion of Delegate Haugen that Committee Proposal 1-87 be placed at the head of the calendar.

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Well, Mr. President, I was informed that the members were very anxious to have this considered at this time. If I am in error — but I believe that is true —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President, Delegate Haugen is absolutely right. We deferred to him, and we also had Delegate Solberg on the griddle at the same time, and I believe we had an understanding that we felt Solberg — that Delegate Solberg would wait until Delegate Haugen came back, and I believe we should pass this motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Then we're on the motion of Delegate Haugen that Committee Proposal 1-87 be placed on the top of the calendar.

All in favor say "aye;" opposed "no."

The Chair rules the "ayes" have it and Delegate — or Committee Proposal 1-87 will now be at the head of the calendar and is next under consideration.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal 1-87, introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 56 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to revenue from gasoline and motor vehicle registration and license taxes.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Article 56 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"DEDICATED HIGHWAY USERS FUND. Revenue from excise and license taxation on gasoline, fuel and other energy sources derived as a result of the propulsion of vehicles on public highways; and vehicle registration and license taxes imposed for the use of public highways shall be used solely for payment of obligations incurred for construction, reconstruction, repair, operation and maintenance of public highways after the deduction of funds for enforcement of highway safety, drivers education, tourist promotion and for administrative and collection costs as authorized by the legislative assembly."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will recognize Delegate Trenbeath and then Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Well, Mr. President, I think all the delegates can remember all the battle we had the other day. At least I hope those sixty-some members who voted for it will remember it.

This bill, as you know, it simply requires those who receive the benefits of government service to pay for it, and when those beneficiaries of the certain public service are a distinct group and when they pay a particular tax or a set of taxes, these taxes should be tied to the special use, and this benefit principle appeals on the grounds of fairness and appeals on the grounds of equity. Those who receive the special benefits should bear the cost, but they should not be required to pay for other services through that special tax. It is a pay-as-you-go tax and pay-as-you-use tax, and I'll defer to Delegate Hoghaug. I believe he has an amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President, I have an amendment at the desk, and could I have it read at this time?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: It will be done. Would the Clerk read the proposed amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-87:

In line 13 of the engrossed proposal, delete the word — delete “; and”.

Delete all of line 14.

In line 15, delete “public highways”.

And renumber the lines accordingly.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

You know about the time this first Constitution —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoghaug, I believe that the first — did you wish to move us —

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Correction. Mr. President, I move that we adopt the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Rundle.

We're now — now, Delegate Hoghaug, do you wish to speak on it?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Thank you, Mr. President.

About the time the first Constitution was written back in 1889, in this small community there was a banker who also served as a judge. A farmer was in visiting with this banker-judge and he wanted to borrow $25, and the banker hemmed and hawed and stood, and he just used up a lot of time. Finally, the farmer says, “John,” he said, I've seen you in court sentence a man to hang in less time than you can make up your mind about this loan.” The banker-judge replied, “Yes, but now, you see, we're talking about hard cash money.” And, members of this Assembly, we now are talking about money. It's a lot of money. From the figures from last week, or whenever this was first presented, we're talking about 15-to-17 million dollars each biennium. I do not have the eloquence of Delegate Solberg to present my story, and I do not claim to be an expert, but I have some experience in city and state government in the handling of money.

Early yesterday morning, I had distributed some sheets giving — listing some of the salient facts about my proposal. I hope that this didn't get mixed up with the flood of amendments that were attached to 1-89. Mine was 1-87. It had my name on it, and if you have it, I wish, while the discussion is going on, you'd glance at it. If this amendment should prevail, we would, in effect, take about 40 percent of the total dedicated funds and put them in the General Fund. We have a good Highway Department — a good highway system. There's no doubt about it. The dedication of funds was reported, but you must give the economy part of the credit for our good roads. The Good Lord gave us rain, good crops, a lot of money was available for new cars and trucks and travel. This fund has increased each year.

During the discussion last week, it was brought out to our attention that most of the states do not have dedicated funds. I'm practical enough to know that there's strong support for the dedication of highway funds, but I urge you to consider this compromise approach. Once a department has funds, it is very difficult to get any of the money for different uses. While I served in the House, a bill was presented to give a little higher share of the fund to the cities. The bill passed the House, but the Highway Department then used its muscle. The bill was defeated in the Senate. And this only required a majority vote. Most of us remember 1961 — a very dry year with a very poor crop. There may be years like that in the unknown future. There may be even two 1961's in a row. At times like that, the real estate tax money comes in very slow. But the license fees must be paid. This means, then, one department of the government will have about the same amount of money to operate and the others that are dependent upon real estate taxes will have less and will be hard pressed to operate properly. I feel that at times like this it would be good for the Legislature to be in a position to divide the dedicated funds according to needs. This compromise is not taking money away from any department; it would only put 40 percent of the present funds in the General Fund, where the Legislature could go over the need of all departments and divide these funds to the best of their ability. I trust in the Legislature, and I hope you do, too.

Just to reemphasize one of the points that's on the sheet that I passed out: The license fees were established years ago as a personal property tax. They were established in lieu of personal property taxes. In that thousands of farm trucks and city delivery trucks are used almost exclusively on farm-to-market roads and city streets, many counties have levied a special real estate tax of up to ten mills, and the new streets are paid for by a special tax upon the property owners to pay for those new streets.

Ladies and gentlemen of the Assembly, this action takes courage to contest the old established way. This Assembly has shown courage in adopting other proposals. Accept this compromise proposal by voting in favor of this amendment.

Thank you.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President. In connection with the material — explanatory material circulated by Delegate Hoghaug to support this amendment, I should like to repeat and emphasize once again what was said here the other day when we debated this matter on the first round.

The ten-mill levy that is referred to in, I guess, about the third paragraph of the explanatory material, is for the purpose of matching federal funds, and unless the whole subdivision chooses to divert some of the highway users funds, which come from the — come out of this special dedication, it has nothing whatsoever to do with it. The inference is given here somewhere farther down, along about the second-to-the-last, that the constitutional provision about the dedication of these funds has something to do with the distribution of the money. This is not the case. This is set by the Legislature, and subject to review at every session of the Legislature, and I would be surprised if there had been any session of the Legislature where there has not been at least some attempt to make a change, and in many of them some change is made. So that this action today would have nothing whatsoever to do with distribution of the funds between the counties and the cities the way they are now. And so far as the use of the money for road purposes, there would be no reason why the Legislature couldn't expand that, if it could be connected directly to the construction and maintenance, and so on, according to the language of the Constitution.

And then there is another point that I think seems to be quite cloudy here. If you take forty percent of this dedicated fund out and put it into the General Fund, then, in addition to the same competition that there is now — primarily, I suppose, between cities and counties — there would be additional competition from all of the other interested parties who come to the Legislature for funds of one kind or another, and I cannot for the life of me see how this would in any way improve the situation of the cities. I'm sure it would make it harder for the counties, particularly those who rely heavily on this fund — and all of it — not just sixty percent of it — and I hope that this amendment is defeated.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. Speaker, I find myself in full agreement with Delegate Baker this time, and I urge the defeat of this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

It's a peculiar thing to me. When I came — first came to the Convention, I studied some of the work of experts on the Constitution and I read Lloyd Omdahl's articles and I read all the articles in the Dakota Law Review, and it there said there's one rule of constitutional law that you should follow: Do not dedicate any funds to a special purpose; and if we were to take a poll of all the 98 delegates here, I'm sure you would agree that this is a good principle of constitution-making. And why suddenly reverse our principles of constitution-making and say that this must be a state dedicated fund, is beyond me.

Now, one of the fallacies of the funds advocates is that this user's tax is a sacred tax that must be dedicated to this purpose only, and this is a fallacy which I would like to explode, because this users' tax is used in the nondedicated-fund states; it isn't a sacred tax there. Another reason — I look forward to the day, because of the great proliferation of automobiles on our highways, that there will have to be some kind of limitation to cut down on pollution and to cut down on the crowded conditions. Puerto Rico at the present time has such a policy. They have a huge licensing arrangement by which automobiles purposely are restricted. It seems to me that it would be a very shortsighted position of this Convention to go into the next 82 years with a new Constitution with 16 percent of the total revenue of this state tied up to a special purpose. The danger of misallocation of funds in such a dedication is already apparent in the State of North Dakota, and I strongly urge you support the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President: I'd like to back up the remarks of Delegate Burke.

In addition, I'd like to ask: What taxes are not user taxes? The only one I can think of is the income tax. The taxes we pay on our property are simply for the privilege of owning the property for that year, are they not? The last time that matter was debated, Delegate Haugen listed a number of other user taxes which our State collects which are not dedicated. I think Delegate Burke has spoken very eloquently for those of us who do not support the idea of dedicated taxes. I hope this evening we're not going to be subjected to a lot of long-winded repetitions of the speeches which we heard several days ago.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President: I can assure Delegate Knudson that I never repeat a speech, unless I go to some community that's never heard it before.
(Laughter)

And, also, I must admit that a hangover is the burden of too much proof. And so we had a great deal, and I'm not going to belabor the point, because I spoke on it the other day, and I have no axe to grind in this area. I merely believe that I have had the privilege in my life-time of studying economics in its truest sense, and that when we talk about user taxes, can you show me — I mentioned the other day that a cigarette is a user tax. Yes. But where does it go to work in the economy? It must be used for something — in the payment of — in the creation of revenue and in the payment of some kind of a social program. Many of these others — and they may be important to the social order — but where can you find a tax that is levied against a specific segment of the economy and then used for the development of the economy? I again raise the question: Are we willing to give up the ability that we now possess to move foreign products to any market that we may desire from farm-to-market? Are we willing to develop so that the school buses and the mail carrier routes and all of these can be fully developed? Then I also raise the question with Delegate Hoghaug, so I can be very brief here. I wonder if he knew that in 1970, that Devils Lake alone as a city received $61,648.66.

Now, one-half of the registration fee that is collected for the registration of motor vehicles in North Dakota — one-half of that amount automatically goes back to the county, and then the county division to the city. So that, you see, you're going to lose one-half of the $61,648 that you now get — or more in years to come.

And so I don't want to go into this again, because I sit here and I wonder what do we gain? And I have no axe to grind. I merely believe in the truisms of economics, and that is that, if we have too much money in the highway fund, and if we have too much revenue that's going into highways, then let's reduce that tax and tax the vehicle or tax the user in some other way so that it can go into the General Fund.

But, you see, a user tax — a highway-user tax is designated against and is levied against the user, and the user then, by paying this revenue into this fund, is helping to develop the economy. And, as I said the other day, 25 cents out of every retail dollar in North Dakota is related to highway economics in some way or another, and this is very important, because it relates it not only to the basic economy, but to all of the subsidiary areas of the economy; and, to me, this is very important. So it isn't a matter of arguing, Mr. President, with dedicated funds or no dedicated funds; but when you put it into the General Fund, if that's going to be the purpose and the intent in the future, then I would say, "Go ahead and develop some kind of a tax that will not be just against the user."

President Nixon, through the invitation of the Governor of North Dakota, has set up a trial experiment for the purpose of getting some first-hand information of the economic impact of farm-to-market roads, and they have chosen this area of right in here, and many of you read about it the other day. I've been in on that somewhat, because I'm interested in the economics that evolves around this type of industry and, as a result, we are going to start developing and promoting special development of these highways that lead into central places on these particular highways, with Bismarck as the center of it. It could have been any other city, but the designation was made by the Governor, and each governor in each state had this particular designation. So we must match this.

Another thing that's going to happen to us is that we spend about 21 million dollars — between 18 and 21 million dollars that go to the Federal Trust fund in Washington, and we must match our own money with our own money to get our own money back, and that seems to me to be a very expensive method of putting money into a general fund — that you can't match that way. So that in these cities — now, the Transportation Committee, during the interim between the legislative session, is studying this same thing. Remember that in North Dakota today the Department of Transportation in Washington makes it mandatory on the Highway Department to classify all highways, and classification then, when complete, will determine the areas into which they shall be moving and where they shall be built and what cities and towns they shall serve. So that thinking on this from the standpoint of economics, then let the Legislature broaden this base, because if the cities are getting too little of this money, let them go to the Legislature and get more of this. In 1969, Public Law 580 was passed for the purpose of allocation of these funds to counties and cities. It was increased. This interim study in transportation is studying this thing now and it is possible that, when they get through, they're going to recommend to the Legislature that we're going to have a per capita allocation of funds, and so on. So I'm not so concerned about the highway funds being dedicated or not. That isn't my champion. It's the economics involved.

Am I supposed to quit?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: You're somewhat overtime.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Well, I didn't know anybody had ever been limited here before.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: That's the first eight-minute second I've ever heard!
(Laughter)

Well, Mr. President, since I voted to repeal the one-mill levy and legalize lotteries, and yesterday I talked against the single-member district, I thought I might as well continue my record in this Convention in the waning minutes.

It is true that political scientists as a rule condemn dedicated funds, and it was one of my objectives when I was elected to this Convention, and right until I arrived here for the Plenary Session, to undedicate the State Highway Fund. So, as a political scientist I should really be in favor of undedicating this fund. As one in the field of education, who would most likely benefit from the undedication of highway funds, I probably should be in favor of undedicating the fund. Coming from a railroad family, I suppose I should be for undedicating the fund which has made possible what I often had considered unfair competition to the railroad industry. But when I came here and talked to a number of delegates, they impressed on me a number of arguments.

In the first place, having been around the Legislative Assembly in the waning days and waning hours of a legislative assembly, I know that it would be possible to get the two-thirds vote to solve a very difficult financial problem, and we all know that at the end of each and every legislative session there is always a very serious financial problem. So we look over at the hundred million dollars in the Highway Fund and they say, "Let's take off two or three million." Well, now that might sound pretty innocent, except which two or three million is it? Well, the federal bargain basement says, "We'll give you 90 percent if you put up 10 percent for interstate, and then we'll give a good match on the primary system and we'll give you less of a match on the secondary system." And so it tends to be the highways that would be built with the lower federal match that are sacrificed with that two or three million, and of course these roads are feeder roads out in the rural parts of the country. So I think that it would be adverse to the interests of the rural areas.

Another thing we should keep in mind is that, with the diversion of this highway money to the cities and counties, we are, in fact, relieving the property taxes in those areas, and I would estimate that at the present time the diversion must constitute somewhere between eight and ten millions on property taxes, and this amount of diversion can be managed by the Legislature, since it has complete control over the allocation formula. I like the inclusion in the Committee bill of such things as highway safety, driver's education, tourist promotion. I think these could very easily come out of the dedicated fund.

I was trying to help develop some language that would get at some environmental management or some environmental protection problems that are caused by highway transportation, but I couldn't design any simple language, and we've had enough trouble with complicated language, so I just let it go.

The question before us, I believe, is do we want to dedicate such a substantial source of revenue over a period of fifty or sixty or seventy years? I think, with the flexibility that is available to the Legislature in diverting this money, that it is very easy to shift this money to the local areas, and I foresee for the next fifty or sixty or seventy years that we're going to continue to have a problem with the property tax burden and, if it is possible to divert money from the state level to the local levels and we leave the property tax burden for highways and street maintenance, that the relief then can be furnished in the field of education and other local uses. So I don't really have a great concern over the fact that we're tying up this money for a long period of time, because we're going to have to have the property tax problems for a long time and we're going to have local governmental problems for a very long time; and so, therefore, I urge the defeat of the amendment that's before us and the support of 1-87 as originally drawn.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I thought that, Delegate Omdahl, you gave a real good support — speech in support of the amendment, and I appreciate the words you have said. I think that you have heard a lot here today in the statement and the previous time we debated this that we should continue this dedicated fund, and then, if we do get too much money in this fund, we can reduce the tax. I submit to you that it's going to be much easier to increase the expenditures, and this is what is going to happen, rather than reducing the tax. Even the most vigorous supporters of the dedicated fund do believe and will concede that sometime down the road, perhaps in the half-light of a new Constitution we're forming, that we won't need as many funds in the dedicated area as we are now giving them, and certainly one way to collect money from tourists, from people who travel through our State, is through our gasoline taxes. And why should these be dedicated and all our other funds should not? I see no reason for limiting this and I do not expect any tax reduction when we come to the time that we are reaching our ultimate in roads. We will just continue to spend the money.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: May I speak again, Mr. President?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes, you may.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Just one short comment. You will have different departments of the government that are competing for these funds. I'm glad that was brought up. I think that's good. Competition is what makes this country of ours good, and if these fifteen or seventeen million are in the General Fund, the Highway Department, if they get through that — they have the highest and best priority for these funds — they're going to advance our economy. I'm sure the Legislature will give it to them. If not, then the League of Cities will be here to present their case and the county commissioners will present their case and there will be many others. I think the idea of competition is excellent. I'm glad it was brought up.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

I support the amendment. Delegate Hoghaug just said that the competition is fierce. Well, I want to tell you people that the competition and the power of the Highway Department in the Legislature is very, very great. I don't think that they will suffer much. And the fact that — the statement was made that Devils Lake would probably lose half of sixty thousand dollars, or some such amount. It isn't correct, necessarily. I think the Legislature would reallocate this share of the money right back to the cities and counties and build some of these secondary roads that they need so badly. The more money the Department has been getting lately, the more they spend on interstate, and we're fairly well-fixed with interstate now. I drove 106 miles in exactly the — I wouldn't want to fib, but it was about an hour and thirty-five minutes the other night, and I was the rest of the night trying to get 20 miles. I didn't make it. So the interstate is in pretty good shape. The Highway Department has a beautiful building that cost probably three million, built out of user — gasoline users' money. I think that the amendment is a good one.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Just one last jab, delegates.

I submit to you that, if you take this 40 percent away from the counties and the cities, you're going to destroy completely the planning of roads that needs to be done by these counties and these cities. These roads and these streets are not built overnight or planned overnight; they're planned for five, ten years ahead, and you take away the earmarking of these funds and you destroy that plan. So I submit to you that you are going to hurt the counties and cities if you go for this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We're now on the motion of Delegate Hoghaug, which, in effect, would eliminate the motor — the vehicle registration and license taxes imposed for the use of public highways — to remove that from the public fund — dedicated funds. If you vote "aye" you are voting for the amendment; if you vote "no," you are voting against the amendment.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President, may I ask for a recorded vote?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. That's sufficient. There will be a recorded vote.

If you vote "aye," you are voting for the amendment; if you vote "no," you're against it.

The board will be opened and you may record your vote. Saugstad votes "no."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed. The Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses the vote on the amendment to Committee Proposal 1-87 shows 24 "ayes," 66 "nays," eight absent and not voting. Therefore, the motion lost.

Now, the Chair will recognize Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. I think we've well-established that we're going to have dedicated highway funds, and the only point I would like to make to the delegates is the purposes for which the funds are dedicated are a little too narrow — talking about construction, reconstruction, operation and repair and maintenance of highways.

Now, I have an amendment at the desk that would add the words "and transportation of persons and property on" highways. I would move that amendment, and the Clerk has it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-87:

On line 16, following the word "operation", insert a comma and delete the word "and."

On line 17, following the word "maintenance", insert the words "and transportation of persons and property on" and delete the first word "of".

And renumber the lines accordingly.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Fritzell. All right. Now, Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. With the amendment in the book, it would now provide that this money may be used "solely for payment of obligations incurred for construction, reconstruction, repair, operation and maintenance and the transportation of persons and property on public highways." Now note that what we'd be doing by this amendment would be expanding the use of the dedicated funds in not only the building of roads and the incidentals connected therewith, but also the transportation of persons and property on those highways. It's limiting it to transportation on the highways — not transportation by air or transportation by rail — and I think, if we're going to lock in dedicated funds, then we should have a broad enough concept for the future to meet future needs. I don't anticipate any right now, but we must remember that, as we lose rail passenger service, that many people don't drive or aren't able to drive cars or don't drive cars — the aged — and in cities we may need — we may have to consider some day in the future buses. We may decide that it is much cheaper to transport people on a subsidized or city-owned bus system, rather than build main or large and substantial thoroughfares through the cities to get people around. We're leaving the question up to the Legislature. I don't think the delegates should fear the use of these funds for other purposes such as transportation of persons and property on the highways, because there may be a broader concept; it might include rapid transit some day or subsidizing buses, or matters of that sort.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: I'm not sure I understand this amendment; but, as I see what you're talking about here, Delegate Kelsch, is transportation of property. Well, now, to me, immediately I think of subsidizing truck lines, and here you're getting into a thing where you could be talking about various methods of transporting goods, and so forth. And so I — I think the amendment the way it reads would be subject to the opening up of a whole kettle of almost anything.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President and Delegates:

I was going to mention the same thing Delegate Chase did, but I think probably the meritorious part of this is what Delegate Kelsch is talking about, or what he feels is meritorious, is that the cities are in trouble as far as finding how they're going to run their bus systems, and there's a meritorious argument. The cities are in trouble. But I state to you again that I think the proper way is to come to the Legislature and plead your case and get a greater portion for the cities from the legislators. I don't think that — you know, in reality, North Dakota is still pretty much agricultural, and I think, if you analyze the license fees and the gas tax used, that you'd find a greater proportion used by agriculture, and I don't know as agriculture is too willing to be subsidizing bus transportation in the cities at this point, so I just bring that up for your attention.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President, will Delegate Kelsch yield to a question?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch, do you yield?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President. Delegate Kelsch, could this be construed — in my view, it certainly could — to include the transportation of students to school districts?

DELEGATE KELSCH: I would say it's broad enough so that if the Legislature wants to go that way, they certainly could. They could build roads and haul the children in buses.

If I may expand a little bit. The way we are operating now, we can't find space for the cars. We're building parking lots and tearing down buildings, and at some point in the future we may decide this is the wrong direction and we may decide — and I don't expect they will do this immediately. I don't see any immediate demand or need, but we may decide in cities that, rather than redo cities and put in substantial funds, it may be better to put in parking lots at the edge of town and haul people in and out or between towns like Mandan and Bismarck, instead of building additional parking lots up nearer and handling these cars that they can't seem to handle. Maybe it would be smart to have a bus run around the city and people would come to work in buses, rather than put the money in parking lots.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President, I'd like to yield my time to Delegate Solberg.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: May I first enter my apology to the delegates for speaking longer than I should have?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Solberg, we're on a new question now, so it was not necessary.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: May I apologize, first, because I didn't mean it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That's all right.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: May I just very briefly now, Mr. President, state this?

That the Attorney General has ruled that on these dedicated funds, that under the interpretation of "administration," that that has included the Highway Patrol, the Tourist Promotion Division, the Safety and Licensing Division, and many of these other divisions have been included by the appropriations that they make from the dedicated fund.

Now, the Legislature then has the power to expand the base, Delegate Kelsch, so that it can include these buses, and I have no argument about that, because I think that anything pertaining to highways and the use of highways, this it should pay for; but I doubt very much if we should put it into the Constitution, for the simple reason that if I own the bus lines that ran from Williston to Bismarck, it seems to me that this would subsidize me, instead of it being and remaining free enterprise. The bus line between Bismarck and Mandan then would be subsidized. Now, if this is proper, I think the Legislature should give it some detailed analysis and some good study. I think one of the great joys that I had was riding a North Dakota-assembled Greyhound Bus from Chicago to Milwaukee on a special speedway or freeway that just moved in certain hours on highways that were built special for it out of special highway funds. Well, this, I agree with, Delegate Kelsch. I think it's right. But I don't think it should be in the Constitution, because we might put it into a position where we would be subsidizing Greyhound, we'd be subsidizing Interstate, the bus line from Williston, and so on. And if we're going to do it with school buses, I have no argument, or with Mandan-to-Bismarck or in Mandan and in Bismarck, in Fargo, and so on. But remember that when we established home rule, the City of Fargo was considering their own vehicle tax for the purpose of paying for buses in the City of Fargo. That's part of their program now. But I'd hate to have a farmer from Crosby help pay for a bus in Fargo.

Thank you very much.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: This looks like a dandy to me. I think I want to support it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further — Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President, I hate to keep on. I know we don't want to listen to anyone else, but I don't think — you're all talking about things that are now, subsidizing here and subsidizing there. Delegate Kelsch, I think, means what's coming in the future. You have all read about Washington, D. C., now is having so many problems that they're trying to do away with the car in the city and have tried very hard and are trying very hard to get some way to bring people in and out of the city without using automobiles, and I think this is what Delegate Kelsch is aiming at — not what's here and now.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. They used to have a streetcar here in Bismarck, and I would like to ask Delegate Kelsch if his plan would maybe have a bus line for the next Constitutional Convention on these cold mornings.

(Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I think it should be laid right out on the table. But one of the things Delegate Kelsch is talking about is state aid to school bus transportation. That's a pretty sizeable sum. If you want to take this out of the transportation money, I think you better vote for his amendment.

I'd like to say one other thing. I voted against the one-mill dedicated fund for the Medical Center, and I said at that time that I thought dedicated general revenue funds were bad. I also voted against all cigarette taxes and all liquor taxes in the Legislature, because I think that the use of specific persons to supply the general fund is also bad. And, therefore, I have to support the use of taxes from specific persons for the benefit of those specific persons. So I vote against the amendment, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I just want to make a short comment on the matter Delegate Fritzell has brought up, and I think it's very important here to consider in voting on this amendment. And I support the amendment. I was in Washington, D. C., about nine months ago and they report that 90 percent of the cars going into Washington, D.C., had one occupant in them and the streets and the parking ways are so tied up there now. They have beautiful highways leading up to the city, but there they stop and they are in the process now of clearing ground for a huge parking space — a three-story parking space for federal employees. I think they're going to spend about three or four times as much per lot there as the car that will sit thereon. And so I think this is important to think about in North Dakota in the future. We can have fine highways, but unless we can take care of the cars once we get into the city, we've got problems.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We're now on the motion of Delegate Kelsch's proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-87. If you vote "aye," you're voting in favor of his amendment. If you vote "no," you're voting against his amendment. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no."

The Chair is in doubt. The board will be opened and you may indicate your choice. Saugstad votes "nay."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change his vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The vote was 33 "ayes," 59 "nays." Therefore, the motion lost.

Now, we have before us Delegate Proposal 1-87, without amendments.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: This wasn't amended, was it?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: No, this is not amended.

All right. We're now — excuse me. We will now be voting on the main question — for the adoption of Committee Proposal 1-87. If you vote "aye," you vote for it. If you vote "nay," you vote against it. The board will be opened. You may record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The tally shows 79 "ayes," 13 "nays," six absent and not voting. Therefore, Committee Proposal 1-87 was adopted.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: May we be on the twelfth order?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes, without objection, we may be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

At this time I would like for reconsideration of the vote by which we passed 1-29.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate — yes, that motion will be in order.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Second the motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire seconds the motion.

All right, Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President: Yesterday, when this was passed, I believe there were a lot of implications and statements made that this was strictly political, and I think there is much more here than politics in this Proposal and something that should be considered on the basis other than politics, and I suppose that I could restrain my discussion, but I think it would be necessary to make it now to ask for reconsideration. There are problems that are serious that override the political problems that you heard yesterday in the implication of 1-29. Now, this Proposal prepares or authorizes the legislative reapportionment commissions and the reapportionment commission can — must divide the state into senatorial district and can prepare or authorize two-Senator districts. I think that this can really work a handicap on some of our cities. The cities like Minot, where I live, are divided into alderman areas. We have 14 aldermen. We have three senatorial districts, and it's going to be rather difficult and virtually impossible to divide our precincts by this method. It will be more than difficult to explain how we are going to do this to our voters back home.

The statement was made, again, by one of the representatives or one of the delegates from this Minot district that it was unfair to the minority party. Let me tell you that in 1964 in Minot all the elected officials but one in the House and the Senate were Democrats. In 1966 there were four elected Republicans in the House and two Democrats. There were two elected Democrats in the Senate — Republicans, rather — and one Democrat. In 1968 we had five Republicans and one Democrat, and the holdover Senators. In 1970 we divided four-and-two and two-and-one. Now, I submit that this is not all political at that point. We certainly have a division and we certainly have representation from both parties. But I served in the North Dakota Legislature, and I would hate to serve a divided city. You're asking us to divide and serve only a fraction or a portion of that city. I do not intend to serve again; however, I suppose I could always change my mind, but — so I don't expect that it would necessarily affect me. But I do think that it will create a serious problem and be a serious disadvantage to the candidates and to those that run and to the people within this district.

Candidates often live in one area of the city and work or have their business in another area. They're going to have quite a problem if this is the case, and this is going to happen more in these cities than it is going to happen in other areas. It is now difficult in most areas to get qualified candidates, and often the candidates in both parties will live in the same area — all of them that you may have, or most of them. It is true that most of the candidates may come from one area, from one party, and most of them from another party — the other party in the second area; but, just the same, you're going to divide the city. You're going to make it difficult to get the proper representation that you have now. You're going to seriously affect the incumbents in all four of the larger cities by this type of a proposal, and I think that incumbents should be considered when we approach this. The Commission, again, will still continue to have the final decision. We have not stated what this commission — what the size of this commission will be. We have not stated how big it's going to be, and I don't know what the end result will be as to what — the makeup of the committee is.

The statement has been made to us that this was a compromise; but I think in our cities it is an unworkable compromise and we should look at it a little further. We don't want to divide our cities. We don't want to serve a fragment of it. I would not want to, and I'm sure that none of the other delegates or representatives from those areas would want to either. I would hope that we can reconsider our action on 1-29.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Fellow Delegates, I had intended to call for a short recess before Delegate Aas made his motion. I know that the Reporter here is badly in need of rest. And, therefore, I'm going to declare —

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen — I don't know — who seconded your motion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I seconded it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Oh, yes. Longmire seconded it, so we had a second by Longmire.

Delegate Haugen, did you wish to —

DELEGATE HAUGEN: You intend to call for a recess at this time?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would like to request the members of the Finance and Taxation Committee to meet in the Large Hearing Room for a few minutes to consider a proposal that's been drafted to replace 1-74, and I would invite any other delegate who is interested in that Proposal to meet with us in the hearing room below us.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Now I'm making an official statement from the Chair that, in view of the fact that we have but two proposals left, we feel that we can finish those and not stop for our evening meal. I think we can finish those all right. And so at this point I'm declaring a ten-minute recess. Remember that the Finance and Taxation Committee is meeting downstairs in the Large Hearing Room.

(The Session recessed at 5:35 P.M. until 5:50 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

We'll be on the ninth order of business — Introduction and Referral of Proposals to Committee.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-5, submitted by Delegates Aubol, Bassingthwaite, Hoghaug, Rude, Sondreal, Chase, Hoffner, Hildebrand, Sinner, Rundle, Longmire, Peterson, Urdahl, Hougen, Warner, Vogel, Hill, Hardmeyer, Griffin, Gipp, Sanstead, Omdahl, Rosendahl, Daniels, Kretschmar, Larsen, Hendrickson, Fritzel, Nicholas, Wicks, Dobson, Burke, Jestrab and Haugen:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal 1-11 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention Ballot."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Alternate Proposal No. 4-5 is referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-6, submitted by Delegates Stanton, Kwako, Warner, Thompson, Unruh, Tudor, Trenbeath, Solberg, Aas, Berg, Biley, Binek, Burke, Burbidge, Roney, Baker, Cart, Rundle, Meidinger, Kretschmar, Knudson, Vogel, Peters and McElroy:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-44 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Alternate Proposal No. 4-6 is referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: May we be on the eighth order for a minute?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE PAULSON: To the members of the Public Information Committee: All of the day has gone by and there is no time left, so our meeting will be next Tuesday or the first date that we return to action in the Capitol.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further under the eighth order?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I don't know quite whether this comes under the eighth order or not, but I was trying to determine whether or not I could file an alternate proposal on the 18-year-old adult for all purposes, and I find that I don't have a proposal to file — an alternate against, so I don't want to announce now. I want to announce now I want to do it next Monday, and I want to try to suspend the Rules so I can put it in as an alternate.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does any delegate know what happened to the sponsors of this motion to reconsider that we have before us?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Delegate Aas is a member of the Tax Committee, most of whose members are still out, I believe.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, that's the motion that's before the Convention — is the motion to reconsider and —

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I am speaking to the motion. I know everyone's thinking about going home. I think it's unfortunate we are getting to the point where we're thinking more of time than of the document we're forming. Earlier in the Convention we gave thought and we gave time and we gave individuals the opportunity to reconsider each proposal that we brought up. We considered it and we considered it thoroughly. I hope you will just remember that this is still an important document. It should still be given just as much time, and whether we are here for two more hours or four more hours, I think there should be the feeling if you want to speak to a motion, if you want to speak to something, you should. And these proposals that were passed only yesterday or the day before, let's give them a chance, if they want to reconsider them. We gave others that were passed earlier the chance, and I just don't think time should be the most important thing we're thinking about now.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson, I don't know that that was the question!
(Laughter)

DELEGATE BAKER: Well, Mr. President, I'd be willing to risk the good will of the Convention on this matter, and I think that it is clear that the larger centers of population are quite concerned about this in the State, and I'm confident that a majority of this body, even though we may be short of a sponsor, will support the motion to reconsider. We can argue the case a little later, and I think we should proceed.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker, with this many vacancies — and it takes the vote of 50 delegates to reconsider — I would be reluctant to put the motion without Delegate Aas here.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I move that we not take any further action on this motion for 30 minutes, and that then we go on to the other bill that's on the calendar.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: I was not aware that the Tax Committee meeting had been called. I was out of the chamber; but I'll volunteer to go down and hurry them up.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart, a sergeant-at-arms has been sent down.

DELEGATE CART: All right.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I don't think that I've ever voted in this assembly not to reconsider —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre, I think we better wait. I hate to recess to a time certain — I mean not recess, but I mean to delay this to a time certain; but that is the motion that's before the Convention; however, we can take up some other — one of the other proposals, if you are so disposed. Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I didn't know you had asked them to come up, and if it is your desire, I would certainly be glad to withdraw my motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, we can hardly get into another one, and most everything will take more than 30 minutes to debate. So, if we can get them here and proceed with this. I hate to have the Convention be at ease when there are things to discuss.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I withdraw my motion, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Longmire. The Convention will be at ease until these people come up from the Finance and Taxation Committee.

(The Convention was at ease for approximately five minutes.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

The question before the Convention is on the motion to reconsider Committee Proposal No. 1-29. The motion to reconsider was offered by Delegate Aas. It was seconded by Delegate Longmire.

Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

This question of reapportionment and the formation of districts is not a political question. It was not a political question during the long months of the committee deliberation. It was not a political question, as far as I was concerned, on the floor yesterday, and I don't think it should be converted into a political question at this late date.

Now, I happen to reside in the same district as the movant of the matter before us. That district has 25 precincts. You can slice that three ways quite easily. You can also slice it two ways, and no matter how you slice it, the same people are going to be elected — I don't care whether Democrat or Republican.

It was suggested here that this Convention should go into the business of protecting incumbent legislators. I think that's deplorable. We're not down here to protect the Senate seat of Senator Wayne Sanstead or any other Senator or Representative from the City of Minot or any other district in this State. For a long time, Mr. President, the rural areas had an advantage in the North Dakota Legislature because of the reapportionment system and the lack of action thereon. Just because the rural areas enjoyed an unfair advantage for many years doesn't mean that we should now give the urban areas an advantage, and I submit that when a voter in an urban district can participate in the election of four or five Senators while his neighbor in a rural district can participate in the election of only one Senator, that is unfair. I wonder, Mr. President, whose arm is reaching into this Convention at this late date? I urge the Convention to stand by the Committee compromise on this proposal and reject the motion for reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: I'm going to speak against the move to reconsider at this time. Now, I've never voted in this assembly against reconsideration, and I don't intend to, and I don't suppose — perhaps I'm not even in order at this time, but I think that we can best take care of the proposals that are on the calendar and awaiting first passage now, and then take care of those proposals that should be reconsidered. I know of several delegates that have talked to me about bringing up and moving reconsideration for various proposals. If we get that ball starting at this stage, we'll wind up here tomorrow morning on committee proposals that haven't received first passage. Now, if you want to reconsider, fine; but let's take care of the calendar, first, and then do our reconsidering.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I oppose the motion for reconsideration. We argued Proposal 1-29 at length yesterday for two-to-three hours and we examined it in detail and we examined it particularly on the question of whether we can establish two-Senator districts, three-Senator districts, or more. We voted down the proposal for three or four-Senator districts with a resulting increase in House members, and there is no reason why a city cannot be divided as proposed in the Proposal as it now stands, and I trust that reconsideration will be voted down.

DELEGATE SULLIVAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sullivan.

DELEGATE SULLIVAN: Fellow Delegates: I, also, ask that you vote down this motion. We had a good, long hearing on this yesterday, and there is no new information that can be brought to us, and I think we better get on with our work here and get the job done. We've got two bills that need to be taken care of, and then we should quit. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President: In the motion for reconsideration, reference was made to my speech on this floor yesterday. I remind the delegate that in my speech yesterday — and I think the record will bear it out — I indicated that the Fifth District, the district that I represent in the State Senate and which I have represented in the State House, is a district that does elect minority representatives and has had a tradition in doing that. But we were talking about the three other most populous cities in this State in which that has not been the case, and if you will look at that vote from yesterday, the 79 people for, the 16 delegates against, you will find 11 of those come from those cities in which that is the case, that the majority party has had some dominance that in at least the recent election the minority party has not even run candidates, and I think those kind of facts need to be restated to this Convention.

I also would need time, I think — personal time — to call my newspaper and change the story I gave them yesterday about the fine impartiality of this Convention, because if this were the case and if this reconsideration motion carries, I have a feeling that something else has been put here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I don't know — I've been down in Committee — has the substance of what was going to be gotten out in consideration been mentioned here?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg, I am happy to report that we waited until all the delegates who were at that special committee meeting were back in the Convention.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Well, I think we've been very generous here in reconsidering many things, and I think it would be inopportune to refuse that now so we can hear some argument on what's going to be considered, and then it would not take very long, I'm sure, and if it's going to be voted down, it could be voted down. Some righteous statements have been made just recently about politics, but certainly this was one of the main arguments yesterday — that we had to protect the minority party in three principal cities. Well, I submit to you that there's about 25 districts in this State which aren't involved in the three principal cities, and probably minority parties have problems there, also, and I don't think this speaks to this, and if we're going to speak in a Constitution just to solve minority political problems in three cities, I think we're making a big mistake, and the one that was voted down yesterday would lock us into the present system, and I think that we are now locking another thing into the present system which doesn't answer the problem and will give us just as many problems, perhaps, as what we're living with now, and I think we should reconsider and listen to the arguments as to why this should be changed. I think most of the argument yesterday was on the first part of this Section 4, which had to do with the makeup of the reapportionment commission, and I don't think there's going to be any changes made in that; but I think we should listen to the arguments on the other, and I would hope that you would give the opportunity for reconsideration and a little more argument on this situation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I don't see Delegate Hoffner in the chambers. He's Chairman of the Legislative Committee, and I wonder if he shouldn't have the opportunity to be here and be a part of the debate on whether or not to reconsider. I believe he's gone home.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Before Delegate Hoffner left, he sent a note saying that he was forced to leave at 4:30 and, therefore, he requested the Convention not consider any legislative material until he came back. (Laughter)

I don't know if he went to Florida or where he went!

This has been a most interesting experience for every one of us, and back about six, seven months ago, as I looked at this project that we were about to undertake, I thought that it was really great that we were all elected on a nonpartisan ballot, even though I knew that most of us have identified politically with one group or another and we do have strong partisans in this group. But this partisanship never really developed and the reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune asked yesterday why partisanship didn't develop in this Convention, and I really was at a loss to explain why, except the fact that the political parties are not really that important in our Legislative Assembly either — at least it's only less than the amount of legislation that is involved. I thought that by this stage of the game there would be some polarization among alleged liberals and alleged conservatives, and if you can define those terms, you're better than most people, and that we would have run into a number of partisan political fights over certain issues, and here we are, the last day of the Plenary Session in which we are considering first passage, and until this time we have avoided the divisiveness of partisan politics, and I would like to see us go out of this Convention avoiding the divisiveness of partisan politics. Anyone who has studied what has happened in other states in regard to the adoption of new constitutions knows that when you get partisan politics involved in a constitutional convention you're out of business. Now, this is what happened in Rhode Island in recent years, and it happened in New York, and it can happen in North Dakota. Personally, I've lost a number of battles in this Convention, but I don't have everything in this document that I'd like to have, and I'm sure that many of you have lost something that you wanted and that you held dear, and even though we were defeated on the appointment of the judges, the deletion of Section 23 for the labor people, and a number of others, it seems to me that we were doing quite well. We all took our lumps. Every one of us took our lumps.

Now, I feel quite strongly about a few other things, too, that I've lost that I would like to bring back, and I think, if we're going to start reconsidering, that we ought to go back to some of these, because I feel as strongly about the appointment of judges for the next fifty years as maybe some people feel about a three or four-member district. I feel as strongly about a code of ethics for the legislators, and I feel as strongly about right-to-work and counsel in court proceedings for the indigent, the territorial integrity that we violated the other day when we got into the public utility and the REC battle. This is the time that's going to try us — whether or not we're statesmen enough to accept our defeats and go out of this Convention united. You know, it takes about an 85 percent consensus among the people to pass a constitution and to get constitutional amendments adopted. This is why it was possible for a very small number of people to defeat amendments to the Constitution that were proposed by the revision commission. A voice — just a small voice in the silence speaks out, and I tell you we have a document here that I feel I can go out and support, and I think most of you feel you can go out and support, too, and I'd like to feel that way when this whole Convention is over, and this is the only way we're ever going to get it. We're going to have to keep everybody together and we're going to have to mollify labor, we're going to have to mollify ourselves, and we're going to have to mollify everybody to provide anything, and we're going to have to pull together very hard, and I don't think we can afford to divide this Convention at this point as partisans, and I hope we can go about our business and finish our calendar and do our job.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President: In the consideration of this whole question of multi-member districts the majority of the Committee, and I think it was a fairly decisive majority, supported the Proposal that's before you or that's in the measure that's been passed, and one of the overriding reasons for the Committee's doing that, and even in the language that allows two-Senator districts, made it only permissive. The overriding reason for doing even that was that the court decisions are getting closer and closer to saying that these are unconstitutional; and again, I'd like to quote from the National Civic Review of December, and this is a magazine that's dedicated principally to the cities and the affairs of the cities, and Mr. Boyd, who writes the article, in speaking of the Louisiana case, as the court does throughout, he lists seven reasons why the court threw out the reapportionment plan in Louisiana. The fourth reason — I won't read them all, but the fourth reason is this: "Multi-member districting made it virtually impossible for minority groups to elect members of the legislature." And I should point out that in many, many cases the courts have spoken to minority political groups as well as racial groups.

The seventh reason that he gives for the court throwing out the Louisiana reapportionment plan is this: "The plan was designed to benefit incumbent legislators."

Mr. President, the question of minority and majority parties notwithstanding, the reasoning of the Committee doing what they did was substantially as in case after case of the leading of the court closer and closer to saying that multi-member districts are discriminatory to many groups of people, whether they be racial or otherwise; and I think they're going to be hard pressed to convince this body that what the Committee has done is not in the best interests of the State.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I had thought I had spoken for the last time on this Convention floor when we discussed Committee Proposal 1-104; but I keep hearing this shrill voice and I resent politics being brought into this Convention, and it is the shrill voices that are bringing it in.

Now, I was one of the apparently 16 people that voted against this Proposal when it was before the Convention before. I would vote to reconsider only if there was some new proposal, some new way to approach this.

Now, I voted against it because I kind of liked Delegate Cart's approach to this. I must say it is one of the few times during the Convention I've been in agreement with Delegate Cart. But I am concerned that we've created an animal here that we shouldn't have. If I remember correctly, his proposal was that every ten years we'd abolish the legislative districts and they can't run for election unless they reapportion. This kind of appealed to me. I think this would be a way to make them reapportion. But I do resent the shrill voices that I hear bringing partisan politics in.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President: As I think everyone here knows, Committee reports are not sacred, and that's certainly true of the Legislative Functions Committee reports, too. I served on that Committee, and five of us just decided we'd no longer fight the Committee — we'd just take our fight to the floor, because you can just spend so much time arguing the same thing over and over again. I do not care for this Proposal and I'm really surprised that anyone here would speak against reconsidering Committee Proposal 1-29, which is really a very important issue and which was only before us yesterday. I'll vote for reconsideration and, if it is denied, I'll have to wonder, along with Delegate Sanstead, what's going on here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President: I just would like to again remind this body that the people of North Dakota did not create the multiple districts. The Federal Courts did it on their own, and if the other courts want to reverse them, that's up to them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the motion to reconsider. In that this is going to take for sure, 50 votes, we are going to open the key and you will record your choice.

The motion is to reconsider. Those in favor of reconsideration will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key.

Has every delegate indicated his preference? The vote is closed.

The vote indicates 45 to reconsider, 47 opposed. The motion to reconsider failed.

We'll be on the tenth order of business.

Next for consideration is Committee Proposal 1-82.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-82, introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that Section 127 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to voting disqualifications.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Section 127 of the constitution of the State of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"No person who has been declared mentally incompetent by order of a court or other body of competent jurisdiction and which order has not been revoked or rescinded shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person be qualified to vote who has been convicted of a felony, or otherwise under sentence in a correctional institution or jail, during the period his sentence is still in effect."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, I have an amendment at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-82:

In line 13 of the engrossed proposal, after the word "election;" delete the remainder of the proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Nor shall any person be qualified to vote if he is confined in a correctional institution or jail, or if he is under sentence for a crime wherein the maximum possible period of confinement exceeded one year."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment? Do we have a second?

DELEGATE HILL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Most of you will recall the earlier amendment that I had to this. At that time I indicated that I had a question on the engrossed measure as we have it now, and it was referred to then as the "Longmire bill," and that question, in part, was, as I read the last portion of the bill in our book, with reference to the person convicted of a misdemeanor. Once he was convicted and confined to jail and then released, but subject to probation for a period of time, he would lose his right to vote. I do not believe that we, as a Convention body, wanted to go this far. The original Constitution did not go that far, and I do not think that we should currently impose that harsh a penalty upon our persons convicted of a misdemeanor. Therefore, I offered the amendment deleting any reference to felony; simply for the reason that Delegate Hill currently is revising by other methods the criminal code and it is possible in our modern times that within the next two or three years we will no longer have a designation of crimes as misdemeanor versus felony; rather, we would have them refer to the period of confinement time.

The amendment speaks to "maximum possible period of confinement exceeded one year." As it currently stands, a misdemeanor is a crime which is punishable by imprisonment for a period of time no greater than one year. Therefore, we would have a person confined in jail subject to the loss of his voting privilege, which we believe would be proper, since it would not lead to any undue influence by the individuals at the State Farm being given absentee ballots by the manager of the institution at the time, nor would it create a problem with a local sheriff handing absentee ballots to an inmate in his jail. Once the person under misdemeanor sentence walked out of the jail, even though he had a parole situation, he would be free to vote. It is for this reason that the amendment is offered, and I ask your support.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, may I inquire of the desk?

As I understand it — it is difficult for me from the copy in the book to — you're not — or may I ask a question of Delegate Hartl?

DELEGATE HARTL: You may.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Hartl yield?

DELEGATE HARTL: I will.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: The first part of that was the part that I was mostly interested in — in incompetency. That is still in there. You are not changing that. Is that right?

DELEGATE HARTL: That is still in there. If the delegates would refer to the lowest committee proposal on 1-82 that is inserted in the book and drop down to the semicolon appearing after "election" on line 3, we would delete the balance of the engrossed bill, commencing with the words "nor shall any person be qualified to vote." We have not done anything with the first three lines.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes. Well, that's fine.

Well, Mr. President, I certainly think this is a good amendment. As a matter of fact, when I offered the previous amendment, I was trying to satisfy some other delegates who had had some objection to the sentence part of a person voting who was still under sentence in any way, and I do feel this is a more fair way of looking at it, and certainly with a fellow that's in on a misdemeanor, or something of that kind, once he gets out of jail I think he should be permitted to vote. So I support the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman, this is one of my grand failures as a talker on the Bill of Rights and Preamble that I was supposed to defend last week and where I have voter disqualifications. I have one question that I would like to direct either to Delegate Hartl or Delegate Hill.

Now, in your proposal, you're automatically — you're automatically predisposing — or you are presupposing the automatic restoration of rights after sentence is finished. Is that right?

DELEGATE HARTL: It would be my interpretation that the right to vote would automatically be reinstated after completion of sentence. That is correct.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Well, I — I have not any great thing to say. I thought that what I had in the first place was the best; but this doesn't change any of the quality or quantity that I wanted, so it is a fair amendment, as far as I'm concerned.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the proposed amendment as offered by Delegate Hartl.

No further discussion?

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

Those in favor of adopting the proposed amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed "nay."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

Any further discussion on Committee Proposal No. 1-82 as amended? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, if there are no further amendments, I would move that Committee Proposal 1-82 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl moves that Committee Proposal 1-82 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Engelter. Is there any further discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 1-82 is again before the Convention as amended.

Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-82 as amended. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Chief Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call indicates 88 "ayes," 1 "nay," nine delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-82 has passed.

Now for consideration, Committee Proposal No. 1-74. Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President — excuse me, Leroy. The Committee on Finance and Taxation has a proposed amendment to 1-74 that's been distributed and I believe it's at the desk. Perhaps it is fitting that this should be —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen, we'll read the Proposal first. Then you offer your amendment.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. I think — well, I wonder if I could be permitted to remark that it is perhaps fitting that the matter of taxation should be the final — the final bill up. I am reminded of the old guy who put his false teeth in his hip pocket and he sat down and he said, "Taxes will get you in the end."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal 1-74, introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 182 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to state debt.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Section 182 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"STATE DEBT. The state may issue bonds and make loans, and guarantee the payment of such bonds and loans and interest thereon. A statewide property tax based on value shall not be used to retire or guarantee such bonds or loans.

"Each issue or guarantee shall require sixty percent approval of the members-elect in each house of the legislative assembly.

"Except as otherwise provided in this constitution any tax levied or other provision made to retire a bond issue shall be irrevocable until such debt is paid."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: I move that — there is an amendment at the desk. Would the Clerk please read the amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Is that the Committee amendment? Is that the proposed Committee amendment?

DELEGATE ERICKSON: You read the original bill. There is a proposed Committee amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-74:

Delete everything after line 9 of the engrossed Committee Proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"STATE DEBT: The state may issue general obligation bonds and guarantee the payment of such bonds and interest thereon but no bond may be issued which would increase the outstanding indebtedness beyond forty percent of the state general fund revenue raised in the preceding biennium. In addition to the above debt limit, the legislative assembly may pledge the full faith and credit of the state to guarantee state revenue bonds and the deposits of a state owned bank. A statewide property tax based on value shall not be used to retire or guarantee such bonds.

"Each issue or guarantee shall require sixty percent approval of the members elected to each house of the legislative assembly.

"Except as otherwise provided in this constitution any tax levied or other provision made to retire a bond issue shall be irrevocable until such debt is paid."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment? Seconded by Delegate Hildebrand.

Now, do we have any discussion? Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: We had a short meeting of the Finance and Taxation Committee and a few other interested individuals down at the Large Hearing Room just a few minutes ago, and I want to emphasize the changes that have been incorporated in this new amendment.

Now, the first thing is that we're defining general obligation bonds, and this more or less will determine that we're not including in this revenue bonds.

Now, there was an amendment that was passed this morning or — yes, this morning — not to exceed forty million dollars, and this is a compromise, so we're using a forty percent figure of the general fund revenue figure that's raised. This is to make it more flexible, instead of tying in a flat amount of money. Now, this debt limit, of course, would raise — or be a ceiling of roughly eighty million dollars, according to the last biennial figures of the general fund.

Now, the Committee felt that we didn't want this to have a rigid ceiling, but a flexible one. So this is why it is tied to the general fund revenue.

Also included — Delegate Sinner had tried to make an amendment, I think, earlier on the revenue bonds. He was saying that we could have a better rate if we could have it included in this debt limit and pledged the full faith and credit of the State to guarantee the revenue bonds. Now, some of the members felt that pledging the full faith and credit of the State wouldn't necessarily have to be in there, but this is a financial term that is generally used. I'm not a financial expert, but we'll probably get some more information on this from the bankers, if they're delegates here. And otherwise, the rest of the proposed amendment — the statewide property tax based on value — is still in there, and which I stated this morning, that we're already overburdened and each issue or guarantee of the bonds would require a sixty percent approval of each — of the members elected in each house. That still stands. And the grandfather clause, "except as otherwise provided in this constitution any tax levied . . . shall be irrevocable . . ." — this is standard language considered for bond issues, and I hope you give your favorable consideration to this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President, I missed this meeting that was held. I happened to be out of the chamber when it was called, and I have gotten some figures from the Accounts and Purchases Department, and for the biennium that ended June 30, 1971, we find that $188,802,165 in general revenue, and forty percent of that would be 75½ million dollars. Now that's almost doubling what we had adopted earlier today. But that isn't the most serious thing that I see in this new proposal. If we go up to that figure, and relying on this type of taxation, then we might run into an adverse year, both from production and from an economic standpoint, and the revenue would go way down and we might have far — bonds far outstanding beyond the limit. So this doesn't look like a good, safe proposal to me at all, and you could have, say, an adverse year when the sales tax and the income tax, and so forth, probably wouldn't yield more than 50 or 60 percent than it did in a normal period of time, and they're the main sources of revenue and they'll certainly be the ones most affected, if we go into adverse conditions, and I think this is rather a dangerous proposition, where we could well have bonds outstanding far beyond 40 percent of the income.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: I think the proposal before you and the amendments that were made in the interim since we discussed this on the floor, are all very good. I like the idea of tying a percentage to the general fund revenue, because then you will be raising the debt limit as inflation sets in, and of course if deflation sets in, we have a section that says these bonds that are outstanding will be irrevocable. I like the provision, also, that gives the full faith and credit to the revenue bonds. I think this is a major step and it is too bad we didn't have it enacted ten years ago. We'd have saved the State and our students and our parents a whole lot of money. But, nevertheless, we've got it in here now. But the way it is in here, it is outside the state bonding debt limit and, as you well know, this afternoon the discussion on the floor, and I think there was a pretty big vote that was in favor of placing the debt limit at forty million dollars in the State of North Dakota, and at that time included in there, possibly, could be some obligation of the revenue bonds. Now, with the forty percent figure in there, we are getting up close to the eighty million, and I think we've gone too far.

Now, all the testimony we've heard previously through the summer and again

now downstairs a little while ago, every bonding company that comes in and looks at the State of North Dakota and thinks about picking up our bonds and how good they are and what kind of an interest rate they're going to pay, they look at the total debt limit of the State, and I think, because we had a ten-million-dollar — or twelve-million-dollar debt limit in the State previously, I think this was a factor in holding down our State debt limit, and I just fear that we've gone a little too far with the forty percent. So, Mr. Chairman, I move that the forty percent figure in line 5 of the sheet that we have on your desk be changed to 25 percent, which means the total state debt limit then will be around fifty million dollars, which, I think, is a fair compromise to the decision made this afternoon.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath, did you say "twenty-five percent"?

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Take out the word "forty" and insert "twenty-five".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath moves that we strike the word "forty" and insert in lieu thereof the number "twenty-five." It's seconded by Delegate Rundle. Do we have any discussion?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: When this idea first was presented, with the idea of having forty million dollars or what kind of a relationship, it was my first thought of it all being related to the revenue and exactly what this does, and for exactly the same reasons that Delegate Trenbeath expressed, I would heartily endorse his move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Trenbeath that the figure "forty" be stricken and the number "twenty-five" be inserted in lieu thereof.

Delegate McElroy.

DELEGATE McELROY: Mr. President, I think I'd oppose this twenty-five percent amendment. I think we should remember that the forty million dollars that was proposed a little while ago is just about the same as ten million dollars was when we first put it in the Constitution. We have included now all kinds of possible future financing on a revenue bond basis, and it just seems to me that we're shutting down a little too much.

Now, I'm not in favor of going into debt in the amount of eighty million dollars, but I can't see over the hill twenty years from now to know that fifty million dollars is going to be sufficient, and I think that, with the other limitations — that is, the sixty percent vote by each house of the Legislature, I hope we never — we never approach this. But I would still think it would be wise to have the door open so that we can go to a larger debt limit than this twenty-five percent limitation we'd put on.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President, I'd just like to make one quick comment on that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: The ten million dollars or twelve million dollars we've had previously, we've been pushing that door hard, but every time we needed more money, we went to the people of North Dakota. When the time comes when we need more than the fifty million dollars, or whatever the figure represents when it is that's in the general fund, I think when it's justified the people of North Dakota will quickly amend the Constitution and give it to us.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I just want to make one comment before you vote on the twenty-five percent. If each of you who are voting on it will translate this to your own individual situation, you might find that you probably wouldn't have more than sufficient money to buy a car, let alone a house or educate kids, or any other thing, and I think this is too big a straightjacket on the State in the kind of society in which we're presently living.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Trenbeath. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay."

Let's open the key.

Again, those voting for the adoption of the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

Has every delegate indicated his preference? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates there were 48 "ayes" and there were 43 "nays." The amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I feel kind of like a culprit to have made you spend your last few hours to get pinched by some false teeth, but I must say that, since I raised an objection to this Proposal earlier today, that we have been in back-room conferences and in the halls with the vice president of the Bank of North Dakota; we have called New York City to talk to the president of the Bank of North Dakota. We've made a couple calls to the bonding attorneys in Minneapolis. I don't know who else there was to call. But it seems like we've been busy with everything. It seems like we have satisfied the bonding attorneys, we have satisfied the Bank of North Dakota that they could live with this. It seems as if we have satisfied everyone else. The Committee has been very patient with us and kind with us, and I strongly urge that you now vote to approve this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President, I have a couple of questions about the language here, which seems unclear to me in a couple of places. First, on line 4, just where it was amended now, where you're saying "no bond may be issued which would increase the outstanding indebtedness beyond forty percent of the state general fund revenue." Do you not mean beyond an amount equal to forty percent of the State's general revenue? Isn't that what the language attempts to say?

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President, I think Delegate Knudson has a point, unless you pluralize the word "bond" in the third line.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes — Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: This has been a rather hurried proceeding, and it has taken a lot of work, and I've not been involved in too much of it; but a lot of work and a lot of thinking by several people. I did suggest at one time that that wording be included in there — "beyond an amount equal or an amount" — yes — "amount equal to forty percent." Excuse me — "twenty-five percent" — yes. I have the wording — "but in amount not in excess of forty percent." Would you care to amend it, Delegate Knudson?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President and Delegate Haugen: I have one more question regarding the language further down in the last sentence of the first paragraph. You say "A statewide property tax based on value shall not be used to retire or guarantee such bonds." Now, there, by "such bonds," do you mean the bonds which you mentioned in the first sentence or do you also mean the State revenue bonds? I think you mean only the bonds mentioned in the first sentence; but I believe that could be misinterpreted. Your intent would be misinterpreted, I'm afraid, from the language.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: It's my understanding that that sentence would apply to all of the bonds that are referred to in this section, both the general obligation bonds and the revenue bonds.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Well, there, Mr. President, I am satisfied on the third sentence then if the Convention understands that the intent is that the statewide property tax shall not be used to retire any of these bonds. So I will move that, on line 4 of the proposed amendment, the amendment be amended. After the word "beyond" adding the words "an amount equal to".

DELEGATE DECKER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson offers a further amendment to the amendment.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded. Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I think we're right on the second suggestion, too. I think you should also include, ahead of "bonds" there, I think you should do what you were talking about — put either "the general revenue" or the — either the "general obligation" or the "revenue bonds" in that last sentence. I really think you're right. I don't know what some of the other people think, but I think you have a good point.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just one second, please.

Which one of the delegates seconded the amendment as offered by Delegate Knudson? I heard it seconded.

DELEGATE DECKER: I did.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Let's leave that other one out. I'm talking, Delegate Kelsch, about voting on — while we're voting on this other one.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you read the proposed amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment to Committee Proposal 1-74:

In the first sentence of the amendment, following the word "beyond", insert the following: "an amount equal to".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the additional amendment as offered by Delegate Knudson and seconded by Delegate Unruh. Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, the question is on the adoption of the amendment.

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Is there any motion before the house?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle, in answer to your question, we do have the amendment before the Convention. We have adopted two amendments to the original amendment as offered, so that is the question before the Convention right now. We have not adopted the original amendment.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Would you just hold on a minute? I'm not too satisfied that that injection of that amendment is going to work, probably. I think probably the heads back there — have you got it clarified? If it was written in there like it was in the previous proposed amendment, which said "The total amount of such indebtedness shall not exceed twenty-five percent" — is this what you got?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President: We were working on the last line and not the — there is some language that we kind of halfway agreed on that would clarify the problem of this in the last line, in case there was any doubt that the words "such bonds" included both general obligation and the general revenue bonds. I think we've got language for that, but not the other one.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. Knudson, would you come back here a moment, please?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, while they're working on that, I'll move the amendment in the last line there, to strike the word "such" and insert in lieu thereof the words "either the general obligation or the revenue".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now you are talking about "such" in the last line of the —

DELEGATE SINNER: Of the first paragraph, yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And what are you inserting?

DELEGATE SINNER: "Either the general obligation or the revenue".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have an amendment before the Convention as offered by Delegate Sinner. The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment to Committee Proposal 1-74:

In the third sentence of the amendment, following the word "such," insert the following: "either the general obligation or the revenue". Delete the word "such".

Delete the word "such" and insert in lieu thereof "either the general obligation or the revenue".

DELEGATE SINNER: I think that's the wrong line, though.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No. The third sentence. The third sentence of the amendment.

DELEGATE SINNER: Oh! I'm sorry.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President, had that motion been seconded?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, it had been.

DELEGATE RONEY: Then I'd like to speak on the motion. I don't think that the motion is necessary to amend, because when we're talking about guaranteeing such bonds, we're talking about guaranteeing either a general obligation bond or the revenue bonds. What we're talking about when we're talking about the Bank of North Dakota, and what we meant by the second paragraph, is that we are now obligated by statute that the Bank of North Dakota and the deposits therein are not guaranteed except by the full faith and credit of the State of North Dakota. If either the revenue bonds became delinquent or if some way or other the Bank of North Dakota would happen to become deficient so that the State would become obligated to pay money to the depositors, or if we were going to have to pick up revenue bonds, they would become general obligation bonds, and that's the reason we put it in here. We tried to differentiate these, but you will have these bonds and we're just adding surplus words.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: That same sentence prohibits a statewide property tax based on value. It does not prohibit a flat acreage tax. The Legislature of North Dakota has several times attempted to levy a flat acreage tax for one purpose or another, which has always been declared unconstitutional; but I don't know what would be unconstitutional in this Constitution. But that sentence would not prohibit a flat acreage tax.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I might inquire of Delegate Pearce: If we were to delete the words "based on value" would that prohibit the use of property tax?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Yes, it would. I just didn't want to be one of the fellows that offered another amendment!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention at the moment is the amendment as offered by Delegate Sinner and seconded by Delegate Fritzell.

Now, is there any further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Could I offer an amendment to the amendment to the amendment now?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, I don't believe you can.

Delegate Lerberg, did you wish to speak on the amendment?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Yes. I just wanted to speak on the amendment and amendments in general. I think what Delegate Roney said is correct here — that it is unnecessary — and I would like to remind you that this is a very important obligation — or a very important section in the State Constitution and it is a very, very technical one, and I think we have to be a little careful about these amendments, if there are going to be a great deal of them, and if the group isn't satisfied with them, I think we're going to have to recess and spend some time on them, rather than offer these quick amendments to these sentences, because I think we could get in some trouble.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Will Delegate Roney yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Roney yield?

DELEGATE RONEY: Certainly.

DELEGATE KESSEL: You stated that those words are not necessary, but they wouldn't harm the situation any, and it would clarify it so even I could understand it.

DELEGATE RONEY: Delegate Kessel, I agree with you for once, and I give you far more credit than you give yourself. Even you will adequately understand it. It doesn't hurt a thing, I said. If you want to vote to put them in, it won't hurt anything. If you want to leave them out, it won't hurt anything.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I would favor leaving them in, because it is clear.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Well, Mr. President, I was going to speak on the words "a property tax based on value," but I guess it isn't germane to the amendment we're considering now.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. I don't believe, again, that the language that's offered by Delegate Sinner, I believe — was it? — is necessary; but I don't think it hurts any, if you want to put it in.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I'd just like to reiterate what Delegate Roney has said here.

Having been through a few of these bond considerations and being through one right now, if this was cleared by Whitney, Delegate Roney, I'd like to ask a question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Was this cleared by Whitney — the very words you have here?

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: We have called the — I used to call it "Dorsey, Marquardt, Scott and Barber," and was it — I don't know if it's Mr. Whitney —

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: He's with them.

DELEGATE RONEY: Yes. But I think it was the other attorney that we talked to. We read this to them twice. Actually, everything in here, he thinks, is all right. He does not like, he doesn't think, one portion of this. Would you like to have me explain that?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Sinner. I think we should confine our argument at this time to that particular section.

Delegate Scheel, did you have further comment?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Yes. Mr. President: The only reason I bring these up is because every word in here, when you get it to a bonding attorney to approve something, means — like if we have one deficiency, then we have to go all the way through the courts, to the Supreme Court, you see, and just a few words here could make that difference.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes. I think that I must speak against the amendment because it is an honest attempt to clarify; but when you use the word “revenue bonds” as you would in the amendment and do not use the word “deposits,” it seems to me that it simply raises one more question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Sinner.

Any question? Hearing none, those in favor of adopting the amendment will say “aye;” those opposed “no.”

I believe the “noes” have it. The “noes” have it. The amendment lost.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I don't know whether you're ready to vote yet on it, but before we do vote, these words “based on value” as a qualification of the property tax are words that the Committee has used in all of its sections. For instance, in 1-116, we say that the Legislative Assembly may provide an annual property tax based on value for state purposes. Now, the reason for the “based on value” is that we have property taxes that are not based on value. We have the “in lieu” taxes that apply to the rural electrics and rural telephones and, I think, to the banks, and we have — I was trying to think of the other one — I just had it in my mind — but we do have several — many, in fact — of these “in lieu” taxes — oh, yes, oil — the oil tax is a tax based not on value, but it's a general property tax. So that we do have so many of these that you have to make a distinction when you're talking about property taxes in the Constitution, or at least the Committee thinks so.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question then before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as amended. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote “aye;” those opposed will vote “no.”

I apologize, Fellow Delegates; that was all my fault; but we get into a routine, and then I broke the routine, so it was my fault. It was the fault of the Chair.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would ask at least a record — not a record vote but a — what do you call this tally?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A roll call vote?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. I think this last one is important enough so that we have a true indication of the feeling of the delegates.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A roll call vote has been indicated — has been requested. We have a sufficient number to have it.

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I think perhaps part of the reason for the weak vote last time was that a lot of delegates are still very confused. I, for one, am especially confused by the question that Delegate Pearce raised in this matter of property tax based on value, and I think it does need some clarification, and I think the use of the term in this section is different than the use of the term in some other sections, because here you are permitting a tax only based on value; but here I think it should be explained. I'd like somebody to expound on it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President, I think I could respond.

I think Delegate Haugen has really explained it, but maybe hasn't gone into enough detail.

Now, if we took out that phrase there and just left it “A statewide property tax shall not be used to retire or guarantee such bonds," we would not only eliminate a statewide real estate tax, but we would eliminate a considerable amount of taxes that are now collected at the state level. We would make them unconstitutional. These words were the best words that the attorney for the State Tax Department could come up with to differentiate the ad valorem attested value type of tax from the other types of tax that the state does now collect, which are in effect property taxes but are not based on value.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment. A recorded vote has been requested. The way I understood just a — just division.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then it will not be recorded.

So those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed.

The vote indicated 88 "ayes" and 2 "nays." The amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to say that this, I hope, is the last proposal to consider; but let's put it on the enrolling and engrossing and put it up for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Erickson moves that the Committee Proposal No. 1-74 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Rundle. Any discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal 1-74 is before the Convention for final passage — first passage.

Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President, I'd just like to say that I hope the Tax Committee will have a written opinion from the Attorney they have been talking to on the telephone, in case there are any holes in this thing, before the final part of this Plenary Session.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — no further discussion?

Those in favor of adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote on the final passage — first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-74.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The key is — the vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 89 "ayes," 2 "nays," seven delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-74 has passed.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: I think you still have two or three bills that need to be withdrawn here. I have one — Delegate Proposal 2-50. I move that it be withdrawn.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath requests unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-50.

Hearing no objection, permission is granted.

We still have Delegate Proposal No. 2-60, 2-66, 2-70, 2-73 and 2-8. Oh, I'm sorry. 2-60 and 2-66 are still before the Convention.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw Delegate Proposal 2-66.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad requests unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-66.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: May I ask Stanley if he wants to withdraw each one of them separately? He has two others.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Those have already been withdrawn.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Oh! 2-35 and 2-42?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Hearing no objection, consent is granted to withdraw 2-66.

DELEGATE KETCHUM: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Ketchum.

DELEGATE KETCHUM: May I have permission to withdraw 2-60?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Ketchum requests unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Delegate Proposal No. 2-60. Hearing no objection, your request is granted.

Now, Mr. Clerk, is that clear? All those are off the calendar.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: You know, we were wondering why the machine wasn't working here. Well, in one of the breaks I didn't have anything else to do, and on my job as an agent for the Union, I went out and checked to find out if these were Union electricians, and I find out that they aren't, and I think this probably is a good reason why the guy should be in the union — the machine might work. This is a demonstration of right-to-work in North Dakota.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have a few things to do. Could we have just a little bit of order now for just a few minutes and we'll get through?

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President, I would move that Committee Proposal — da-da-da-da-da-da-da-da and da be transferred to the proper substantive committees or committees of origin.

Now, the reason I went "da-da-da-da," is there's quite a long number or list of them. I do not have that list handy.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad and Fellow Delegates: Delegate Saugstad is making reference to the committee proposals that have been returned to the Convention from the Committee on Style and Drafting. Those are the ones that he's making reference to.

The purpose of his motion is that these be re-referred to the committee of origination. And do we have a second to his motion?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Litten. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and they will be re-referred.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I have a point of inquiry.

I understand that some of these committees are going to be meeting and I shall explain that. I am wondering about — I notice in the Illinois Constitution there was quite a bit of work done on sort of introductory remarks setting out the history of the Constitution and what was done. I wonder which committee would intend such a lead-in into the document itself. Which committee is going to be doing that? And the reason I raise this question now is that they should be doing that while they're meeting after we adjourn, if we intend to.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, that's a real good question and is one we'll have to settle. I'm glad you brought it to our attention.

I would like to state that — Delegate Byrne, you may have the floor.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President, I want to announce that on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 the Committee on Coordinating and Transition will be meeting in the west balcony. I again want to mention this so that the chairmen of the various substantive committees will keep in mind when they are going over the various proposals are referred back to them — will keep in mind to recommend to me those articles or those proposals that they feel should have a definite date other than what the normal revised Constitution will have. And if you have an extended date, as some of you will have, we'd like to have your views on that, so we can consider it during the time that we are meeting next week.

The meeting, again, is at 1:30 on Tuesday afternoon.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, Fellow Delegates, I think that it is about at this point that I should reveal — or the Chair should reveal just what we intend to do, and when I say “we,” I refer to Delegate Pearce, Delegate Saugstad, myself and then to the chairmen of the six substantive committees and Delegate Unruh, the Chairman of the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Now, Delegate Unruh feels that he needs four days to complete the work of the Committee on Style and Drafting. So we have agreed to give him and his Committee tomorrow, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

Now keep this in mind: We intend to have all the delegates back on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, and then we are going to go into committee hearings — committee sessions. Now, the purpose of this is to review what the Committee on Style and Drafting has performed or their work on the proposals that came from the individual committees. One of the questions that we are going to be faced with when we come back into session is: Has the Committee on Style and Drafting changed the intent of this proposal?

Now, your committee chairmen and the officers that I have mentioned, they feel that there is no one that is in a better position to determine whether the Committee on Style and Drafting has altered the committee intent than the committee of origination. So, for that reason, we are going to have committee meetings on Tuesday. All these proposals that have come back from the Committee on Style and Drafting are going to go back to the committee for your review. Then, as you note, on Tuesday, the Committee on Style and Drafting will still be working. They may not be, but they also could be, so that at the same time they will be winding up their work and the Convention itself will be working on sorting over these committees' reviews. So we will be here Tuesday. We will be working Tuesday. And, again, I think that there is no one that is more capable of deciding whether the intent has been altered by the Committee on Style and Drafting than the committee in which the proposal originated. You were the ones that held the hearings, you were the ones that held the discussion; so that is the way we intend to proceed.

Now, just the way that my mathematics are, and according to the calendar over here and according to the calendar in my office and the one that Stan has, we have 24 days of the Convention that we have used. We have still six working days, as far as the Convention days are concerned.

Now, we have already used four of our recess days. Now we are granting four days to the Committee on Style and Drafting. That would be the 4th of February, the 5th, the 7th and the 8th. However, we will also be here working; but remember that the 8th, as far as the delegates are concerned, is a committee day. It is not charged to us as a Convention day. Remember the statute provides that we can hold committee hearings on the days in which we are recessed. So Tuesday will be a day when we will be working as committees. That leaves us two more days for recess, in the event that we have to back up somewhere along the line, which I don't expect to.

Now, are there any questions? Have I got you totally confused on what we intend to do?

Delegate Paulson, did you have a question? Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I would move that the absent members be excused.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves that the absent Senators be excused. Seconded by Delegate Nething.

As many as are in favor of the motion say “aye;” those opposed “no.”

The absent delegates are excused.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Is the desk clear?

Mr. President, I make a motion to adjourn now. Again, I want to remind all the delegates to be here — to report here at nine o'clock Tuesday morning, February 8th — not for Plenary Session, but for Committee meetings.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd like to remind the genial Style and Drafting Committee — those people that can be here over the week-end, and I guess there's a couple exceptions — we will be starting tomorrow morning at 8:30 in G-7. We expect to work possibly even on Sunday, but we'll at least take time off for church.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BRYNE: You just excused the "Senators." I'm wondering if you would also excuse the other delegates.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Did I do that? That's pretty good! If I haven't excused any Senators up until now, why that's pretty good!

Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President: Then your silence would indicate that it is your intention to ask the Convention to make a decision about Saturday, February 12th, after we return, rather than at this time; is that correct?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I missed part of your question.

DELEGATE LANDER: I was just wondering, in terms of planning, again, that it is then your intent to ask the Convention to make its decision about taking Saturday, February 12th as a recess day — make that decision next week, rather than now?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's right. It could be, Delegate Lander, that we could finish, if we worked Saturday; so we'd rather not make that decision now.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: On this — Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: On this very solemn and momentous occasion, I think that we should pause here to wish Happy Birthday to Delegate Decker.

(Applause)

I would now move that we stand adjourned — that we adjourn until 9:00 A.M., February 9th, which is Wednesday.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that the Convention do now adjourn until 9:00 A.M. on Wednesday, January 9th — February 9th. Do we have a second? Seconded by Delegate McIntyre.

As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" those opposed say "no."

The Convention is adjourned.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 7:28 P.M., Thursday, February 3, 1972, until 9:00 A.M., Wednesday, February 9, 1972.)

VOLUME XXV

(February 9, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The twenty-fifth day of the Plenary Session commenced at 9:20 A.M., Wednesday, February 9, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

Our Chaplain for this morning is the Reverend A. R. Aleson. He's Pastor with the First United Methodist Church of Bismarck.

REV. A. R. ALESON: Shall we pray?

Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, and from whom no secrets are hidden — be One in our midst in this hour as we begin to share the fellowship of each other's company. Your Almighty Power has been demonstrated from the beginning of time and it is not in question now. Your ministry of love on behalf of people around the world is deep and abiding and real. We acknowledge that!

We stand as citizens of a great state in a great nation. We pray in this moment of our national and state leadership — firm may they ever stand. We are all aware that we stand on hallowed ground in this hour. We remember those who fought desperately that the freedoms we all enjoy might be carefully thought through and retained. We call to mind those who earlier gave liberally of heart and mind and soul and strength that each one of us might have a solid place upon which to build our lives. Help us to remember!

And during these important days of convention which are times of challenge and opportunity, in which the work we do is most demanding and words we write can change meanings and purposes and intentions, be near to us. We have all been chosen to places of large responsibility. Help us to understand and to be understood. Allow us to reach forward to achieve the high calling of the One who does stand in our midst today and who calls us from the darkness to His light.

We have been allowed the further luxury of time. Help us to use wisely the challenges that come to us today. As we compare past with present, good with better, and better with best, allow no doubt to enter our minds as to what our course of action really ought to be. Allow us the privilege to keep on searching for better words that will more fully explain the spirit of truth which can then endure endlessly. Let no contradiction of purpose or interest interfere with the reaching toward the goal of each of us as persons or of this convention body. Inspire us with the kind of wisdom sought from each other and from above. Help us to recognize the giver of every good and perfect gift. In the name of Jesus Christ, we pray. Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the third order of business — roll call. The Clerk will open the key, you will record your presence.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would you push Delegate Cart's button?

DELEGATE CHASE: I did.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Every delegate recorded his presence? The key is closed.

Roll call discloses 97 present, one absent. A quorum is declared.

We'll be on the fourth order of business — Approval of the Journal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Revision and Correction of the Journal.

Mr. President: Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has carefully examined the Journal of the 2nd day of February, 1972, and recommends the same be corrected as follows:

On page 379, following line 20, insert the following:

"Roll call was called and all Delegates were present except Delegates Butler, Solberg and Tudor.

"A quorum was declared by the President."

Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has also carefully examined the Journal of the 3rd day of February, 1972, and recommends that the same be corrected as follows:

On page 396, line 5, delete the word "hoping" and insert in lieu thereof the word "laying".

On page 397, line 23, delete the numerals "1-74" and insert in lieu thereof the numerals "1-15".

On page 412, delete lines 28, 29, 30, 31.

And when so corrected recommends that the same be approved.

Delegate Simonson, Chairman.

Delegate Paulson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report under Revision and Correction of the Journal. Any questions?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the Report will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the report is adopted.

We'll be on the twelfth order of business — Introduction of Resolutions.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. E, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

A resolution expressing gratitude for the use of the library facilities of the North Dakota Supreme Court.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I'll move that the Rules be suspended, that the Resolution No. E be referred to the Committee — not be referred to committee, and placed before the Convention for final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that Resolution No. E — that the Rules be suspended and Resolution No. E be not printed as a resolution, be printed in the Journal, that it be placed on the calendar for final passage.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution E —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Fallgatter.

Read it.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. E introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing gratitude for the use of the library facilities of the North Dakota Supreme Court.

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention met in organizational session in April of 1971; and

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention thereafter met in substantive committees to research, study and deliberate a revision of the constitution of the state of North Dakota; and

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention has been meeting in plenary session since January 3, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, during all this time, the North Dakota Supreme Court has granted unrestricted access to library facilities of the court to the delegates and staff of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention, and

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Supreme Court judges have generously given of their time and knowledge to aid the Convention and its committees in their deliberations; and

"WHEREAS, the generous contribution of time, knowledge, experience, facilities, and research material has been of immeasurable benefit to the North Dakota Constitutional Convention in its study and deliberations;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the North Dakota Constitutional Convention extend its most sincere appreciation to the North Dakota Supreme Court and the staff thereof and that the clerk of the Convention be instructed to forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to each of the judges of the North Dakota Supreme Court, the clerk of the North Dakota Supreme Court and the librarian of the North Dakota Supreme Court."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the resolution. Are there any questions? Any further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the resolution. As many as are in favor of this adoption will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the resolution is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. F, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the University of North Dakota for its generous support and sponsorship of informational meetings on the subject of constitutional revision."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

I move that the Rules be suspended and Resolution No. F not be referred to committee and be placed before the Convention for final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended and Resolution F be not sent — referred to a committee, that it be placed before the Convention for reading and final passage.

May I have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

The Clerk will read the resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. F, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the University of North Dakota for its generous support and sponsorship of informational meetings on the subject of constitutional revision.

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention met in plenary session in April of 1971; and

"WHEREAS, substantive committees of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention met during the summer and fall of 1971; and

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention has been meeting in plenary session since January 3, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, during all this time the Bureau of Governmental Affairs of the University of North Dakota has conducted research into areas relative to constitutional revision and made the results of this research available to delegates and staff of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention as well as to individuals interested in constitutional revision; and

"WHEREAS, the Bureau of Governmental Affairs of the University of North Dakota generously sponsored a seminar in the month of December, 1971, on the subject of constitutional revision; and

"WHEREAS, Sigma Delta Chi fraternity generously sponsored a seminar on the subject of the Constitutional Convention during the month of January, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, the University of North Dakota has made an immeasurable contribution to the North Dakota Constitutional Convention by the events and activities described above;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That most sincere appreciation of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention be extended to the University of North Dakota for its aid and assistance through these events and activities.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that an enrolled copy of this resolution be forwarded to the president of the University of North Dakota."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the resolution. Are there any comments?

Hearing none, the question is on the adoption of Resolution F. As many as are in favor of adopting the resolution will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The resolution is adopted.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I would now move that Committee Proposal 1-13, 1-27, 1-28, 1-32, 1-46, 1-58, 1-59, 1-63, 1-73 and 1-91 be returned from the substantive committees of origin and placed on the sixth order of the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading — you've heard the motion as offered by Delegate Saugstad. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Longmire.

Do you have any discussion?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: This motion is merely to put these various proposals back in the same positions in which they were before we adjourned last Friday.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In other words, to put them back on the calendar. It's been moved and seconded. I will not read those numbers again unless the delegates wish that I do. They are listed in your — under the sixth order on your calendar for the day.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And the motion is adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Delegates:

The motion I'm going to make will continue this procedural juggling so we can handle proposals that were sent out of our committee last week.

Mr. Chairman, I will now move that the Convention reconsider the action by which the committee reports were adopted on Committee Proposals 1-13, 1-27, 1-28, 1-32, 1-46, 1-58, 1-59, 1-63, 1-73 and 1-91.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Unruh that the Convention reconsider its action whereby it adopted the committee reports as the numbers indicated by Delegate Unruh.

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hougen seconded, Jim Hougen.

Any discussion? The question then is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Unruh.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion is adopted.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

I now move that Committee Proposals 1-13, 1-27, 1-28, 1-32, 1-46, 1-58, 1-59, 1-63, 1-73 and 1-91 be re-referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the motion —

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — of Delegate Unruh, seconded by Delegate Kwako, that the Committee Proposals as enumerated be re-referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting. Is there any discussion? Any questions?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And the proposals will be re-referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that the Convention reconsider the action by which the committee report was adopted on Committee Proposals 1-1, 1-4, 1-19, 1-47, 1-48, 1-50, 1-52, 1-54, 1-56, 1-62, 1-64, 1-65, 1-66, 1-67, 1-68, 1-78 and 1-94.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that the Convention reconsider its action whereby the Committee Proposals starting at 1-1 on your calendar and down through Committee Proposal No. 1-94, that that action be reconsidered.

And do I have a second on that motion?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

Now is there any further discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And the motion is adopted.

We'll be on the fifth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Report of Procedural Committee.

Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-8 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-1.

Further that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to committee but be placed on the eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting pertaining to Proposal No. 5-8, formerly 1-1. You've heard the report. The question is on the adoption of the report. As many as are in favor of adopting the report will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted.

Do the delegates now have this sheet "Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-8"? It's a green sheet. So then the question before the house is the redraft of 5-8, formerly Committee Proposal No. 1-1.

The Clerk will read the proposal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-8, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-1.

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the preamble to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created.

"SECTION 1.) The preamble to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"PREAMBLE

"We, the people of North Dakota, grateful to Almighty God and desiring to secure the blessings of civil and religious liberty for ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've reard the reading of the preamble. Is there any discussion? The question —

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: I have no discussion on this particular proposal, but I do have a question, and it's a supposing question. If a negative vote is cast by the majority of this group on any of the proposals that will be put on the eleventh order, what happens?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: They would go back to the Style and Drafting Committee for further consideration.

DELEGATE BUTLER: And in what manner does any one of these proposals get completely eliminated from the Constitution?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It would not get completely eliminated from the Constitution unless the Constitutional Convention as a body reconsider its action whereby it originally passed it on first passage.

DELEGATE BUTLER: And that reconsideration then would take two-thirds vote to bring it back to the body for action?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: As of today, yes, it would take a two-thirds vote.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Remember, the purpose of considering what we are doing this morning is considering the changes in the style and in the drafting as carried out by our Committee on Style and Drafting.

So the question before the Convention is on the adoption of the preamble.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I'm authorized to say on behalf of the Bill of Rights Committee that we have examined all of the work of the Style and Drafting Committee and that we are in agreement with all of its work and content with its present form. Therefore, the Committee will not be offering anything in addition or to modify what the Style and Drafting has done.

As I understand it, all of the work of the Style and Drafting Committee on the Bill of Rights Committee drafts will be taken up first; is that correct?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I think I should make that preliminary statement then for the information of the Convention.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Maxwell.

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

I rise to a point of privilege. I wonder if the — so that all the delegates understand that the vote on second passage is only as to whether they want to accept or reject the changes of style and drafting, and that it's not a vote on the merits. And that even though they are opposed to an idea — of course, they can vote "no" if they want to, but if the majority vote "no" it then stays in the form in which we originally passed it, and it goes on to the Constitution in that form as you indicated, of course, unless we reconsider. So that everyone understands the votes on second passage, even though you may be opposed to an idea, if you would like the style changes I think you should vote for it. And it doesn't mean by voting "yes" that you're voting for the concept.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

First, I'd like to go back to Butler or Delegate Butler's question. When does a two-thirds majority to reconsider go off?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's my understanding it goes off on the twenty-eighth day.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Twenty-eighth day?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Twenty-eighth day. I believe that's the way the Rule read. Wasn't that the twenty-eighth day?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yeah.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: And then in answer to Delegate Kelsch's advice on how to vote. If you don't like the proposal in the first place, it hasn't been changed, then you should vote on it now. No objection to style and drafting, because they didn't change it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the work done by the Committee on Style and Drafting. And the original — and the original drafting has been adopted. So our question this morning is on the work of the Committee on Style and Drafting. So when we vote this morning that is what we are approving.

Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

Is it proper then at this time to continue the questions along the line that Delegate Butler and Delegate Rundle have begun in regard to the parliamentary situation for reconsideration of these — of the subject matter at this time?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, any question you have, Delegate Baker, this is an excellent time to bring it up. Because this is the start of this matter, this procedure that we're going to go through. So if there are any questions this is an excellent time to bring them up.

DELEGATE BAKER: Since the Rule applies that the two-thirds majority is necessary for reconsideration up to the twenty-eighth day, and in view of the comments of some of the delegates and officers of this Convention and the press that there may be an effort made to actually conclude our work here in the Convention on Saturday of this week, which I believe would be prior to that date, would it be, or am I counting right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe that would be prior to that date. I believe that would be the twenty-eighth day.

DELEGATE BAKER: That would be the twenty-eighth day?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM. I believe it would.

DELEGATE BAKER: So if we were still in session on Saturday there would be the possibility of reconsideration with a simple majority; is that correct?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On the twentieth day it would be.

DELEGATE BAKER: Yes. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hildebrand, did you have a question?

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Mr. President:

In regard to what Delegate Rundle had started to say, I don't think the explanation on it was very clear. Unless it's only me that it is not clear to. On work that Style and Drafting has completed, do we have a second reading on all proposals whether Style and Drafting made changes or not? I was under the impression that we would vote on the approval of the changes, if any, that this committee made.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That, I believe, is right. I believe that is correct, Delegate Hildebrand.

Any further discussion?

The question then before the Convention is on the approval of the preamble as submitted to the Convention by the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The key will be opened, you will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change? The key is closed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Ask Delegate Roney how he votes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

Delegate Roney votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney votes "aye."

The key is closed. Roll discloses that on Style and Drafting Proposal 5-8 there were 93 "ayes," there was 1 "nay," there were four delegates absent and not voting. It is passed on second passage.

Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I'm back on counting the days again. I apologize for taking up the time on this, but I want to be perfectly clear. As I read the Rule 36 the provision regarding the suspension of the rules requiring only an affirmative vote of fifty delegates applies to the last two days of the Convention. And I'm now thinking that the last two days of the Convention under the authority, if allowed, are the twenty-ninth and thirtieth days. Is that incorrect?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, I think that would be correct.

DELEGATE BAKER: So then on the twenty-eighth day it would still take two-thirds vote to suspend the Rules?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker, rather than have me look it up, you did check the Rule, did you?

DELEGATE BAKER: If I have the up-to-date copy that's what it says.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm sure that hasn't been changed. I'm sure that's the way it's been. But I was thinking it went into effect on the twenty-eighth day. But if it says there it's the twenty-ninth, why then the Chair is in error.

DELEGATE BAKER: Thank you.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President:

Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-9 be introduced, such proposal being a Redraft of Committee Proposals No. 1-46, 1-47, 1-48, 1-49, 1-53, 1-57, 1-58, 1-59, 1-60, 1-62, 1-63, 1-64, 1-65, 1-66, 1-67, 1-68, 1-72, 1-73, 1-71, 1-78, 1-79, 1-80, 1-89, 1-92, 1-98, 1-104, 1-119 and Delegate Proposal No. 2-23.

Further that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee, that it be placed on the eleventh order for second reading and passage and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report, the Committee on Style and Drafting, Proposal No. 5-9, that it not be referred to a committee but be placed on the eleventh order for second reading and passage and be subject to debate and amendment only as to the style and drafting alterations.

Now do we have a second to the motion? Seconded by Delegate Hildebrand.

The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Unless I'm in error, I believe the Clerk read 1-71. That does not appear at least on the copy I have.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That was a corrected error. If you will take off 1-77, strike 1-77, and insert in lieu thereof 1-71.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's on the Committee Report?

The question before the Convention is the adoption of the Committee Report. As many as are in favor of this adoption will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And the report is adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that on line 1 — page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE" we insert the Roman numeral "I".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that on page 1, after the term "ARTICLE" that we insert the Roman numeral "I".

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted, and Roman number — Roman numeral I will be inserted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: You want me to read it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think you should.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and — Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-46, 1-47, 1-48, 1-49, 1-53, 1-57, 1-58, 1-59, 1-60, 1-62, 1-63, 1-64, 1-65, 1-66, 1-67, 1-68, 1-71, 1-72, 1-73, 1-78, 1-79, 1-80, 1-89, 1-92, 1-98, 1-104, 1-119 and Delegate Proposal No. 2-23.

“Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the declaration of rights, be created.”

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: To save time in having these read verbatim, I would like to move that the reading of the measure 5-9 be suspended.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Second.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moved, and it was seconded by Delegate Kwako, that the reading of the individual sections be dispensed with.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I would resist that motion. Most of us haven't had a chance to read these proposals over after they came from Style and Drafting. I don't think we should pass them without hearing them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: May I ask a question of the Chair?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Will we be voting on this whole proposal as a whole or will we be discussing it section by section or what's the procedure from here on in?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are going to vote on the — if the ruling of the Chair prevails, you are going to be voting on it section by section.

Delegate Miller, did you have a question?

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. Chairman:

I would support this motion. Delegate Aubol, I think — is this working?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, it is.

DELEGATE MILLER: All of these proposals were sent back to committee. And I know that we're not familiar with what went on in committees other than our own. But if the committee of origin passed on these, this means that the intent was not changed, only the style and the English and so on was dressed up a little. It would seem to me it's going to be very time-consuming and not serve much of a purpose if all of these are read here this morning.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I do this just to save time. But if it would help, you notice in the margin on the left side the original proposal number. For example, Section 1 of the green sheet is 1-46. So as you work through these you can turn to your bill book on your proposal book and check. If there are any questions on what's been changed someone from that major committee will be happy to explain. We didn't feel we had to redo the whole thing.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

The Committee on Preamble went through, which this is referring to, and there was only minor changes made yesterday that we found by going through all the way. And I think probably to expedite this motion and the work we're trying to do here, I think it would be very simple for Chairman Unruh or Chairman of the Bill of Rights to explain the few words that were changed so that everybody can follow along and this would dispense with the reading of each section.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the — Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I rise to support Delegate Aubol in resisting this motion for the reason that this particular Style and Drafting Redraft, 5-9, was just distributed this morning. Actually after nine o'clock, I believe, and there are parts of it where the — where the mimeographing, the duplication, is rather dim. And so for the full satisfaction of each delegate I think it would be well if we could have it read so that if there is any doubt as to whether that word actually is "communication" or something else, right there, that could be cleared up. And I wonder if we're under such great pressure for time anyway right now. Are we?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May the Chair comment?

DELEGATE BAKER: You're in charge here, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, you know I'm reluctant to comment. But at the same time I would be the last one to urge haste to the point that we do not adequately consider every section of this Constitution. I don't want it ever said that you didn't have adequate time to hear. And I don't think that — I think maybe later on, maybe later on after we've established a routine, then it might be all right to dispense with reading of some of the material. But this morning when we are really opening a new field, we're opening a new area, a new part of the work of this Convention, I think that it would be well if we did move cautiously, and we did read these particular sections so that each of us is satisfied that this is the way that it came out of the committee of origination. And this is what Style and Drafting did, if anything. So I would — I personally feel that we should read these this morning and we should not dispense with reading them this morning.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: With the consent of my second I'll withdraw my motion that the material not be read.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kwako?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I really think we should do it, though, Delegates. I know it's on the basis of saving time, but I tell you this morning when we're starting out in a new area I think we should — that we should be a little more cautious than maybe we have to be in the next few days.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Is it working?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President:

It would seem to me that if we are going to vote on each section at a time, as I really feel we should, then each section could be read at a time rather than one long-winded reading.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Sure.

DELEGATE PEARCE: And while I'm speaking on that, I feel that the delegates understand what we're doing. I think I do. My opinion has always been that we should vote on these sections one at a time. In the particular one that we now have before us I voted "no" on several of the included sections. I haven't changed my mind. I would hate to have to vote "no" on the whole of Proposal No. 5-9. So that it would seem that as each section came up the people would vote on it for inclusion or non-inclusion. At least that's my intention.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question then before the Convention is on what was formerly 1-46 — 1-46 — and it is now Section 1.

Would you read that one? Section 1-46.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Are we dividing the question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are dividing the question unless the Chair is overruled.

Section 1.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 1. INALIENABLE RIGHTS:

"All people are endowed with certain inalienable rights; among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of health and happiness."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any question?

DELEGATE DECKER: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any alteration in the Committee on Style and Drafting? There was no alteration.

The question then is on the second passage of Section 1, Article 1. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

I think the record should show Delegate Roney isn't here, and it shows red on the board.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President.

It's mixed up with mine somewhere. When I change mine it bounces back and forth.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: How does Delegate Rosendahl vote?

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: "Aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then vote Roney absent.

Roll call discloses 93 "ayes," 1 "nay," four delegates absent and not voting. 5-9, Section 1, has been passed on second passage.

Next for consideration will be Section 2 of Article I.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section. PURPOSE OF GOVERNMENT.

"All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people, and they have a right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 2. Any discussion? No change made.

The question then before the Convention is on the second passage of Section 2, formerly Committee Proposal No. 1-64. Those in favor of passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no." The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your vote. Delegate Roney continues to vote "no" and he isn't here.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Show him as absent.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any delegate wish to change his vote?

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: How does mine record on your board?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Yea."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Mine records "aye." The vote is closed. Roll call indicates 94 "ayes," no "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. Section 2 of Article I has been passed.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Sometime last week I offered a suggestion that on any proposal on which there are no "no" votes cast that the Journal indicate that all members present voted "aye," none voted "nay," then list those absent and not voting. And in the interest of saving — I think now we're talking of several hundreds of dollars. Rather than ask for a suggestion, I move that this proposal be adopted in the recording of the Journal.

DELEGATE SINNER: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm afraid I'm going to have to rule the motion out of order in that the statute requires that the vote be indicated by a show of "ayes" and "nays". And I don't believe that years from now, regardless of if it was unanimous, I don't think that would be adequate.

One of my attorneys have any comment on it?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I'm afraid my comment isn't apropos. The Journal, the cost is rising, it is now between $22 and $23 a page. You get two roll calls per page, so it costs about $11 per roll call printed in the Journal.

I'm not a sufficiently good parliamentarian to know whether the actual roll call is required. I would think, however, that if the Convention were shown to have voted unanimously, if the vote exceeded fifty, the Journal somehow or other could reflect that more than fifty. The difficulty is how do you do that without making a count? It would take longer to count a show of hands, time spent, than it would to take roll. So I see no alternative myself even though it gripes me to pay that much money out to take the roll.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President:

Would we have to have each section as a roll call? Could we take each section as an indication of passage and then take the final proposal 5-9, or whatever it is, and have a recorded vote in the Journal on that?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, fellow delegates, I know there is an item of money involved. And it seems like there should be some simpler way of doing it. But until someone shows me that you don't have to have a recorded roll call vote on adopting of a section of the Constitution at a Constitutional Convention, I'm going to have to rule that that's what we have to have.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

It would save some space if the roll call was listed across the page instead of in a tabular fashion. Only a suggestion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President:

If Delegate Decker would make his idea in the form of a motion, I would second it.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson

DELEGATE PAULSON: I'll start saving a little money. If anybody will agree with me, I will agree that Sections 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 be read and considered, and if there is any objection or request for a division of that section, that then we will vote one roll call on the sections to which there are no objections.

DELEGATE BAKER: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Sections 3 —

DELEGATE PAULSON: 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved — we had a second over here. Seconded by Delegate Baker. — moved by Delegate Paulson, seconded by Delegate Baker, that we have one roll call on Sections 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8.

You've heard the motion. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And we will vote then on the next — we will consider these sections and the Clerk will read them.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, I have a question. First of all, there are — I would like to have some discussion on Section 7, what was just mentioned, where we refer to the — where we refer to the courts not of record.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hougen, let's let the Clerk read the proposal and then you enter your comment.

Will you read it?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM.

"The free exercise of religious belief and worship shall be forever guaranteed in this state.

"Section 4. FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

"Freedom of the press and of all individuals to write, speak and publish their opinions on all subjects is guaranteed, and each must be responsible for the abuse of these freedoms.

"Section 5. FREEDOM TO ASSEMBLE.

"The right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition or address the government shall never be abridged.

"Section 6. SEARCHES AND SEIZURES.

"All people have the right to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and other possessions against unreasonable search, seizure, invasion of privacy or unreasonable interception of communications by artificial sensory device. No warrant shall be issued but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

"Section 7. TRIAL BY JURY.

"The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate; but a jury in civil cases, in courts not of record, may consist of fewer than twelve, as may be provided by law.

"Section 8. OPEN COURTS.

"Courts shall be open to all, and every person shall have remedy by due process of law for any injury to his lands, goods, person, privacy or reputation. Right and justice shall be administered without denial or delay."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. President. I am asking a question. I don't know how to do this, but I would like to have your advice. I think many of us, when we voted on Section 7 last Thursday, I believe it was, or maybe it was Wednesday, were under the impression that there was going to be an amendment to this. I think right now that we are saying that all courts, because of the change in our judiciary, we are saying right now that all courts have to have a jury of twelve. Now many of us feel, I think, that there should be some instances where a jury of twelve is not mandatory. We feel that it should be as provided by law. How do I ask for a vote on that particular section?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you wish that section voted on separately?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, I do.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just ask that you vote on it separately and it will be granted.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. I now ask, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then we will take No. 7 out. We will not be voting on No. 7.

Any further discussion?

Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I may be assuming something that I should not be. But I'm assuming that the complaint that Delegate Hougen has registered here is not with the work of the Style and Drafting Committee but the substance. And my understanding is if we vote "no" on this all that would do is send it back to the Committee on Style and Drafting. And about the only instruction that they could read out of that is to go to the material that was passed on the tenth order, whenever that was, in this regard. And from reading it, I think it's about identical, isn't it, now? And so I'm wondering what practical effect there is. I wonder —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker, the question on No. 7, I've already granted him the privilege of voting — of it being voted on separately.

DELEGATE BAKER: I see.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: So your comment at this particular point is well taken, but the substance in Section 7 will not be debated except at this time — at this time except on matters of style and drafting. But Delegate Hougen has asked that that be voted on separately, and the Chair has granted it.

Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President:

I have a question on that point also. Since that section was passed only last Thursday, our last Convention day, can we reconsider that now by a simple majority?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, you can.

DELEGATE HILL: When would it be appropriate to make a motion of that nature?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I would say that it would be appropriate when we get the matter of these six — the question before the Convention off the schedule, I would say that the motion to reconsider would be in order.

DELEGATE HILL: Well, even though we should pass Section 7 as it currently stands, we still could reconsider it later in the day, couldn't we, by a simple majority?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, certainly. Because all — all you are doing now is style and drafting. You're adopting what Style and Drafting has done.

DELEGATE HILL: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further questions?

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

These sections originally passed I'm sure we didn't all have a chance to read them in our book. Now I would appreciate one word from the Preamble, Bill of Rights Committee assuring us that they are in accord with the changes and point out the changes that were made.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol, I'm sure that Delegate Maxwell would be happy to repeat. But he did say — he has made that announcement this morning.

Delegate Maxwell, would you care to comment to Delegate Aubol's question?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President:

I can merely restate that the Bill of Rights Committee has examined the work of the Style and Drafting Committee, and it is in complete accord and we are content with the present form of all of the sections that the Bill of Rights Committee has had under its consideration.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: The delegates will look at the pink sheet of 1-19 immediately preceding the white sheet with all the amendments, you will notice the way it came out. We made no changes in Style and Drafting.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The pink sheets in your bill book are the engrossed proposals as they passed the first time, as they went to Style and Drafting. The pink sheets in the bill book are the bill — are the proposal just as you passed it amended. And this is reprinted and put in your bill book. So this is the way it went to Style and Drafting, the pink copy with all the amendments in corrected.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: No sooner you open your mouth you find you made a mistake. On line 11 we did omit a comma which should be in there after the words "civil cases". I would like to move that this comma be inserted this morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: What line, Delegate Unruh?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Line 11, Section 7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Page 2.

DELEGATE UNRUH: After the word "cases".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that we amend in line 11, page 2, that after the word "cases" — "a jury in civil cases" that we insert a comma. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Maxwell.

The question is on the amendment. Are there any questions?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Before that motion is placed in the book, I was wondering about the comma after "record" in line 11. Now that comma does not appear on line 7 on the pink sheet. I'm wondering if the chairman would like to further correct his amendment?

DELEGATE UNRUH: The chairman would further correct his remarks, but not the amendment. That was a change in Style and Drafting. Sorry about that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question then before the Convention —

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

I think they changed the word "prescribed", Delegate Unruh, changed the word to "provided".

DELEGATE UNRUH: That's right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendment on page 2, line 11, after the word "cases" insert a comma. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

The question before the Convention is on the passage of Sections 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 of Article I. 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 of Article I.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I would like to inquire of Judge Maxwell whether the wording in the Section 8 makes a change? The original passage of Section 8 provided "All courts shall be open"; the revamp shows "Courts shall be open to all". I think there is a slight change in meaning there. "All courts shall be open" would mean that the public is entitled to go in and watch the proceedings; "Courts shall be open to all" means the public has the right to use the court but it doesn't necessarily mean the public is entitled to witness it. Am I right in that interpretation?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: The Committee felt that the consensus of the Convention was to make sure that the courts were open to all persons to go there and to seek remedy for grievances and not merely that courts were open, that is in the sense that the doors and windows would all be open. And that's the way it presently read in the first instance.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further comment?

The question before the Convention —

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Also on this section as we worked on it in our subcommittee in Style and Drafting we felt the section does refer to the rights of people; that is, the fact that the people have the courts open to them. That was the idea that was being projected in this particular proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the passage of Sections 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8. And you will recall we have the motion to vote on those in toto.

Those in favor of their adoption will vote "aye," those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Delegate Roney votes "aye" and "nay", too, on my board.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Aye?"

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed. Roll call discloses 97 "ayes," no "nays," one delegate absent and not voting. Sections 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 of Article I have passed.

Next for consideration would be Section 7.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: I move, Mr. President, and fellow delegates, that we reconsider not the action on the Style and Drafting, but reconsider the action of the Convention as a whole when we adopted Section 7. And if I get a second, I'll attempt to explain why.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

If my interpretation is correct, we have the Section 7 returned to the wording to the old Constitution. This is fine with me except that the wording in the old Constitution now is going to change the number of people that have to be on a jury. Our old Constitution said that only courts of record would require a jury of twelve. Now in our new judicial article we are going to say that all courts are courts of record, and actually we are going to be adding the number of jurors that are required in certain instances.

Now I do think that the Legislature should have the responsibility of deciding, if they want to, that there can be some court trials that would require less than twelve members on the jury.

And I would like to direct this question to Judge Maxwell or to Delegate Maxwell, if he would. Am I correct, Delegate Maxwell, in making this statement?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President:

I would say that that is substantially correct. I don't know that this Constitution will fix exactly the proposition that there will be no courts of record. Under the Unified Court System, however, which this Constitution will provide for, I doubt that there will be any courts that will not be courts of record, at least any courts of significance. So in its present language it is tantamount to saying that there will be no juries in civil cases of less than twelve.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: This, Mr. President, is why I would like to have this action considered.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Did I get a second to Delegate Hougen?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, I did.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I rise to support and urge a reconsideration of this particular section. If you remember correctly, this was brought up the last day we were in Convention. It was a floor amendment that we returned to the old Constitution in place of the proposal that was before us. I'm hoping or wondering if some of you were as lax as I was as far as considering this. I was not knowledgeable about what courts of record or which courts kept records any more. And after working in subcommittee and learning that very few courts are courts of no record, and possibly in the future there will be none of this type, I know that I would have voted differently on this because of the fact that we are having so many jurors for so many court trials. So I urge that you do help support the idea that we bring this back for reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question —

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Courts of records are those courts ordinarily that have court reporters in which the entire proceeding is taken down subject to a transcript being prepared. For many years we have had courts that were not courts of record; we've had justice courts of various kinds over the years, they are not courts of record; the municipal courts are not courts of record; and for the most part county courts are not courts of record. Now we have not, to my knowledge, in this Constitution eliminated courts not of record. The Legislature still has that power. If we are at some future stage to make a number of lower courts, and we'll have to have lower courts whether we call it part of the Unified Court System or not, there are going to be lower courts which take care of what they — whether they are called traffic offenses, whether they are still called courts, or whether it's going to be automatic and you give some computer the parking fine.

Nevertheless, I was very much in favor of the language as it is at present, because I feel that it provided trial by jury, and I think to most people a jury means twelve people and should absolutely remain inviolate until such time as the people specifically and alone want to amend that section of the Constitution. I see no problem in the future for the Legislature with the section as we now have it before us. And I would hope that we would not reconsider our action; it will be misconstrued, it will be considered dangerous and it will be considered an endangering of people's rights. I think at this stage we should be very conscious of the things that we do if we expect to get a favorable vote on this Constitution. And I hope that it will not be reconsidered.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President:

I would support the motion for reconsideration. I'm a member of the Bar Association. I believe the American Bar Association is in favor of the reduction of numbers of jurors in certain cases. It doubles the price per day for jurors. And what I am meaning to say, if a court is not of record, you have a trial and a court is not of record, that means you can have another trial in the District Court that is a court of record. Because if there is no record you have nothing to appeal from to get a new trial. And this simply gives the person the right to have two trials, and the cost of trials, of course, are tremendous. And there is ample evidence to support the fact that a smaller jury can return just as good a verdict as a large one, especially in civil cases, which is all we are talking about here.

And I would think that the work of the Committee, the position of the Bar Associations, on this matter should be given considerable weight. And I would hope that the least we could do would be to allow the Legislature to regulate the size of the jury in all courts in civil cases. And this is certainly no matter which would cause any undue public concern. In fact, I think it would cause concern if the Legislature didn't have this authority. I hope you will support the motion. Thank you.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I would also like to support reconsideration on this. Delegate Larsen and I were contacted this morning from one of the county commissioners in our district. And he informed us that with the large number of cases that are handled that this is going to cause a very large drain on the county coffers in the upcoming years if this remains and the Legislature is not given some option as to being able to lessen this number of jurors. So I hope that you will vote for reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I'm going to take the position that it's going to take strong, clear and convincing argument before I vote in favor of any motion to reconsider. I think, unless we can show that the Convention operated under a misconception or if there is a conflict that we were not aware of, that we should not reconsider.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

I would ask that the Convention reconsider. If you recall, the Committee came in with a proposal that would allow a — said only that it would provide for a twelve-man jury only in cases of felonies and would have allowed two changes; one, a lesser number of jurors in civil cases, and would also allow the Legislature to set a less than unanimous requirement for a verdict or division for a verdict.

Now I opposed the Committee Report, as did a number of other delegates, and moved that we go back to the old Constitution. And I know the Convention took out the reference to "men". But there was some question on whether or not we should allow in civil cases the reduction in size of a jury.

Now this provision does allow that, but it says "only courts not of record". And they are lesser courts. And I would expect that possibly some day in the future we may very well not have courts not of record. Although that subject is up to the Legislature. But I think if you favor the idea of leaving legislation in civil cases it should only be the right to reduce the number of the jurors.

Still the average jury I don't think, Delegate Hougen, is addressing to that problem. I think all we want to do is to amend by taking out the words "courts of record" — pardon me — "courts not of record".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the motion to reconsider what today is Section 7 of Article I, but at the time it was passed was Committee Proposal No. 1-119.

The question then is on the motion to reconsider. And in that this is going to require a minimum of fifty votes, the key will be opened then and you will record your choice — you will record your wishes.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The key is closed.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There were 59 "aye" votes, 1 delegate absent, and 38 "nay" votes. So the motion to reconsider has passed.

And now Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. Mr. President:

Can we now be on the tenth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have the — you have the proposal before the Convention.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, I do. I would move then, Mr. President, and fellow delegates, that on line 11 of page 2 —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Let's put it on the tenth order then. You move that it be placed on the tenth order?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, I move that it now be placed on the tenth order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hougen moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-119, I believe, —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 119.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — 1-119 be placed on the tenth order of business. And do we have a second to that?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Rundle.

Any further discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Committee Proposal No. 1-119 is before the Convention on the tenth order.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: I now move, Mr. President, and fellow delegates, that on line 11 of our page 2 that the words "in courts not of record" be stricken.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That would be —

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would that be on your pink sheet, Delegate Hougen? Would that be the pink sheet in your proposal book? Committee Proposal No. 1-119 in your proposal book in the pink engrossed copy? Line 7?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. Yes, that's correct.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: After the word "cases" you want to delete "in courts not of record,"?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. "in courts not of record,".

Mr. Chairman.

Do we have a comma now after — after "record"?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No, not now. If you were just to delete "in courts not of record" it would read "cases may consist of less than twelve,". Is that what you desire?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: We should take out the comma after "pages" or after "cases", excuse me.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: All right. Good.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendment — this will be on the pink, on the pink copies that you have in your books — on line 7 after the word "cases" delete the "in courts not of record".

You're heard the amendment.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President:

If this amendment is adopted it means that juries could be any number, I presume two, if not one, if the Legislature so saw fit in any civil case. Now we've talked on numerous proposals in this Convention in which people have said, "What are you considering; human rights or money?" And in almost every case, as far as I can remember, human rights won out, at least in the minds of the delegates, and not money. We are not a large urban populous area in which our courts are clogged. The only arguments I have heard for a jury smaller than twelve is that it saves money. In modern times one of the most frequent civil cases is an automobile accident. Suits are now being brought for multimillion-dollar amounts, sometimes way beyond any insurance protection that the average individual carries. Those cases make or break a man. I can see no reason why we should depart from the traditional twelve. If you have fewer people, you have a smaller cross-section of the community. Jurors are selected as supposedly a pure cross-section of the community. Anyone who is familiar with statistics knows that the smaller the sample, the less typical it will be. If the jury gets smaller you will have less and less a cross-section of the community.

You, as a result of going home from this Convention or going to lunch this noon if you leave the Capitol, might well have a situation which will make you a defendant in an action. I think that the — we have always said that we should have a jury of twelve. They are not judging the law, they are judging the facts. And I think it's dangerous for everyone to reduce the number of jurors. And I hope that the amendment will not pass.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: If I understand it correctly, we are not saying that they are going to be — have to be courts that have less than twelve. But what we are saying is that we can let the Legislature, as they are now doing, determine what the size of the juries should be. And I think we want to keep things as they are. We do not believe in courts not of record, we are going to be insisting that there are some courts now that can have less than twelve members that will have to have twelve members.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'm not satisfied in my own mind that these are changes that have been made in the judicial section that we are removing all misdemeanor courts of record or not of record. I would hope then that you don't pass this amendment. And if the amendment was so that you would just add the word "or" after "cases", I think you'd be protected rather than strike your "courts of record," but a jury in civil cases or in courts not of record". That would be safer as far as I'm concerned.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question — Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President:

I presume these delegates are aware that the number of jurors required right now in municipal court and county justice court numbers not twelve, I believe it's six. And as I stated before, the North Dakota Bar Association is in favor of this change. And I would really think that we have to presume that the Legislature will be aware of all the problems which Delegate Pearce mentioned and they will adequately protect the public interest. I urge you to support the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment offered by Delegate Hougén.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: In thinking of a remark made by Delegate Thompson — perhaps I can ask him this. Will you yield to a question? — wouldn't the Legislature be able to put this particular stipulation on courts with juries, that was not of record, would not need to have a twelve-man jury? Are we not leaving that open to them?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I think that they probably could in view of the present holdings by some of the federal courts I think that they could determine the right of trial by jury does not necessarily mean twelve. So I suppose they could, except for the specific reference in here where we refer to twelve. I think that that reference in itself is going to lock twelve into the situation.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Thank you.

I think my feeling is I appreciate what Delegate Pearce was saying about the large sums of money that might be at stake and at trial or in a case. But I also think of the many court cases we have there is not a substantial amount. And that I feel a jury of six in these cases, as would be determined by law, based on how much would be at stake — I really don't know these legal terms enough to know how to say this and what I'm thinking — but I feel there are many cases where we don't have enough of a settlement that's going to be considered that we need to have twelve men there to make the consideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think that we have become aware of a problem that exists here, and yet with the amendment that has been proposed I suspect that there are a number that will vote against it. I would suggest that some way or another we refer this back to the committee for further working. I do not believe that we should pass this out without an agreement amongst the group. I feel that — and I myself would like to see this worked on further. And I hope that one way or another we can kill this amendment or this proposed amendment and then send it back to Committee for reconsideration.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I may be alarmed unnecessarily, but I'd hate to get it back to committee at this point. I would rather you laid consideration over or to the foot of the calendar until you've had a chance to work it out. I think the technicalities going back and forth might be more than we can handle here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, I believe that when they made reference to referring it back to the committee that of course this is a substantive change. And I don't believe that it was the inference that it would go back to your committee.

The question — Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President:

I want to make it clear I meant to the substantive committee, not the Style and Drafting Committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Jim.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Would it help if we delayed action on this for one day?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I — are you asking me?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'd say no.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: I'm also looking at some of the delegates. Some are shaking their head that it would:

I move that we delay action on this for one day, and we will be given the opportunity to talk about it and make sure it is just what we want to say.

DELEGATE SINNER: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We do have a — we do have a motion to amend now before the Convention. And I'd like to feel that enough consideration, enough thought has been given to this particular question so that you would not have moved to reconsider had you not been convinced in your thinking that this was something that should be brought back before the Convention. And you have offered an amendment, and I think that we should — I think that we should continue. And either object — either adopt or defeat the proposed amendment. That's the Chair's feeling on it at this time.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Can I speak again, Mr. Chairman?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, you may.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: I would then withdraw my motion to lay this over one day, and also state that we did discuss this in Style and Drafting yesterday. And we did not feel that the deleting of these words "in courts not of record" would mean that it has to go back to Style and Drafting.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hougen. And I will read that again.

In line 7 after the word "cases" delete the ", in courts not of record". That is the question; that you delete those words.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: In our Judicial Functions Proposal 1-11 we provide that we shall have "the Supreme Court, district court, and such other courts as provided by law." We've already given that to the Legislature. Under the same matter, the Legislature can then determine what courts, when they set it up, and the number of jurors. So I do not feel Delegate Pearce's worry is well founded. They can set up a jury for less. And if they want to provide for a jury of twelve for civil cases in a certain amount, they can do so. We are giving the Legislature the prerogative in one case, I think we can do it in another. And therefore, I speak in favor of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?
Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Could I ask Delegate Pearce a question? Last week, correct me if I'm wrong, I raised the question if the Legislature would have the authority to have lesser than a unanimous with regards to size of jury. Would this give the Legislature, if we adopt this amendment, direct the Legislature to make a lesser than unanimous on a conviction?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I don't think it would. I don't think that question gets involved here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I agree with Delegate Thompson that this amendment will only take care of civil cases. And if you're knocking out "other courts of record", then you are still leaving the twelve provision in a traffic case or something of that kind. I would agree with Delegate Thompson that if you add the word "or" after the comma on line 7 that you would more — you would better do what you're trying to do to have a jury of less than twelve if the Legislature so provides in civil cases, and also in courts not of record you are letting them even in criminal cases. So I would suggest that we further amend this if we're going to do exactly what you want to do.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I'm not so certain what Delegate Hougen wants to do. But I would oppose dropping jurors of less than twelve from a criminal case. Because you may say they are a lesser court, but they can put you in the county jail for one year. And I think that you're entitled to a jury of twelve in that situation.

As far as civil cases, I'm not — I'm not so concerned. I think that that might be a matter we can leave to the Legislature. But I feel quite strongly we shouldn't put in "or" in there. The right to reduce the size should be limited to civil cases.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hougen. I have just read it, so I think you are aware of the question.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "noes" have it.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Request a division, Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Division has been requested. Division will be granted. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate indicated his choice? Any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Rosendahl votes "nay." I'm still double.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Votes how?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: He votes "nay."

The tally indicates that there were 48 "ayes," and 50 "nays." So the amendment failed.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Now the amendment has failed, I guess I will have to put the Style and Drafting changes back on 1-119, and then put it back into our committee report. So I now move that the comma after "civil cases" and after the word "record" on line 7 and on line 8 the word "prescribed" be changed to "provided" and the word "fewer" instead of "less" on line 8.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, are you offering those?

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'm offering those as an amendment, Mr. President. Then after we've acted on those —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, now is that to the old proposal?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes. I am trying to move it over.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Do you want on line 7, did you want a comma in line 7?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Comma after "cases".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That's in there.

DELEGATE UNRUH: All right. Comma after "record".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Okay. On line 7, after "record" insert a comma. Line 8, delete the word "less" and insert the word "fewer".

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delete the word "prescribed", insert the word "provided"?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendments to Committee Proposal No. 1-119. This is the pink sheet. This is the pink proposal that you have, the original, and they are placing on this proposal the amendments as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I just rise to a point of order. I believe this measure is still before the Convention. And I was curious why Delegate Unruh should offer an amendment to the substantive article.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke, you are correct.

I will rule — I will rule Delegate Unruh momentarily out of order in that the motion to reconsider the original — I'm wrong. I'm wrong.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: He can amend it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: He has the authority. He has the right to offer an amendment. Yes. Yes. My ruling was in error.

Delegate Burke, you see when we brought back this, we brought back Committee Proposal No. 1-119 so it is before the Convention. So then we had an amendment offered, and the amendment failed. So the proposal is still before the Convention. So then Delegate Unruh moved to amend. So then that amendment is in order. So Delegate Unruh's motion is in order to amend.

DELEGATE LANDER: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention then is on Delegate Unruh's motion to amend Committee Proposal No. 1-119. As many as are in favor of the amendment will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Would it be in order at this time to move that this matter be laid over one Convention day?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It would be.

DELEGATE HILL: I so move.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved and seconded — it's been moved by Delegate Hill and seconded by Delegate Sanstead that further consideration of Committee Proposal No. 1-119 be laid over one Convention day.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." I rule the "ayes" have it. It will be laid over one Convention day.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Just a point of information, too. What order are we on now?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Tenth.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Tenth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: At the present time we're on the tenth order.

DELEGATE HERNETT: In other words if you lay it over a legislative or a Convention day it will still be on the tenth order, won't it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's correct.

DELEGATE HERNETT: 119?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE HERNETT: What happens — where is —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is Section 7, Article I.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Where is Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9? Where is it now?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's before the Convention. It's not exactly before the Convention because if we take this one out of the way, then it is before the Convention.

DELEGATE HERNETT: What order is this one now?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Eleventh.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's on the eleventh.

DELEGATE HERNETT: That's on the eleventh.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's on the eleventh order.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I just wanted —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: When we moved to reconsider, we went back to the tenth order.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I have no quarrel with it. I was just curious to know where it was.

Mr. Chairman, another question. How did this get on the eleventh?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Pardon?

DELEGATE HERNETT: How did this proposal get on the eleventh order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: How did it get there? It got there when we adopted the Committee Report.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Okay.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And then if you'd like to know how we got on the tenth, we got on there when we went in the tenth on the motion to reconsider:

DELEGATE HERNETT: Just like a yoyo, isn't it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's correct.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: May I suggest a recess?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes. We have a few announcements at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Engelter has the twelfth grade of the New Salem High School from New Salem, North Dakota, and their teachers, Mr. George and Mr. Mutzenberger, in the gallery.

The eighth grade from the Tuttle School of Tuttle, North Dakota, and their teacher, Donald Boe, with fifteen students, are in the gallery.

Delegate Sanstead has thirty students from the twelfth grade of Minot Senior High of Minot, North Dakota, and their teachers, John Standal and John Sandeen, in the gallery.

There are ten pre-school children from the ABC Pre-School, Mandan, and their teacher, Mrs. Bragg, in the gallery.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the visitors please rise and be recognized by the Convention?
(Applause)

One additional announcement.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Constitutional Ballot Committee will meet in the west balcony during the A.M. coffee break to hear Alternate Proposal 4-2. The P.M. coffee break will be in the west balcony to hear Alternate Proposals 4-3 and 4-6.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: For the information of our visitors in the balcony this morning, the matters being considered are the reports of the Committee on Style and Drafting. I think maybe you are aware that the Convention has already passed the proposals and that this morning we are hearing the report of the individual sections as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting. They have been reading this over, correcting the language. It's not the intent of the Committee on Style and Drafting that they change the intent of the legislation or the substance of this particular proposal; it's only that they can change, put in commas, make the reading better, take out surplus words and so forth. So that is the matter that we have been considering this morning.

However, we did run into one where they moved to reconsider action that we took on the last day of the Convention which I believe was last Wednesday, and that was what we were considering and debating here on the floor.

The Convention will be in recess for ten minutes. Please come back on schedule.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I'd like to announce a meeting of the Executive Functions Committee and the Education Committee, a joint meeting, right now in the Large Hearing Room.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Okay.

DELEGATE HERNETT: And we'll have coffee there.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fine.

(The Session recessed at 11:10 A.M. until 11:30 A.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order? Will the Convention be in order?

Next for consideration is Section 9 of Article I.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 9. RIGHT TO KEEP ARMS.

"The right of the citizens to keep arms for self defense, lawful hunting, recreational use and other lawful purposes shall not be abridged, but nothing herein shall be held to permit the unlawful carrying of concealed weapons."

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: As a procedural matter, I would like to move that we consider together Sections 9 through 28 with one recorded roll call vote. And then if anyone wishes to divide out a single issue, they may do so.

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Omdahl that we consider Sections 9 through 28, of course giving any delegate the right to take out a section and vote on that separately if you so choose.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: 9 through 28. It's been seconded by Delegate Litten. 9 through 28 is the last section on this Proposal.

You've heard the motion. The motion is that we consider Sections 9 through 28, and that we vote on it in its entirety at one time. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the motion prevailed.

The Clerk will read Section 9. I believe we just read Section 9. Then we will take Section 10.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 10. INDICTMENT OR INFORMATION.

"No person shall be proceeded against for a felony other than by indictment or information, except in cases arising in the military forces. In misdemeanor cases, offenses may be prosecuted by indictment, information or complaint. The legislative assembly may change, regulate or abolish the grand jury system."

"SECTION 11. SPEEDY TRIAL."

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I would like to ask a question of someone who is knowledgeable in this new wording in which appears the word "complaint" which was not in the other. Maybe that's only a style change, but it sort of raised a question in my mind.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is that in Section 10?

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will someone answer Delegate Lander's question? Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

I'll take a whack at it.

In the Committee Proposal we had used the word "accusation" which would be inclusive of information and complaints. At present certain minor cases are prosecuted solely by complaint. But on the floor there were some amendments that took out the word "accusation". So we felt it was now necessary to add the word "complaint" so that minor cases could be proceeded by that method.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Any further questions on Section 10?

Are there any questions on Section 9? I believe we passed over that without asking for questions.

Then we will proceed to Section 11.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 11. SPEEDY AND PUBLIC TRIAL.

"In criminal prosecutions in any court whatever, the party accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial; to have the process of the court to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf; and to appear and defend in person and with counsel. No person shall be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense, nor be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there any questions on Section 11, Article I? Read Section 12.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 12. BAIL.

"All persons shall be bailable. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel or unusual punishments inflicted. Witnesses shall not be unreasonably detained, nor be confined in any room where criminals are imprisoned."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any questions on Section 12?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 13.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 13. NO DEATH PENALTY.

"Death shall not be prescribed as a penalty for any crime."

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Just a question, if I may, to Style and Drafting of the title of that section "No Death Penalty". It seems to me rather an odd title. I'm wondering if the word "no" couldn't be deleted there.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: To my fellow semanticist, I would say it sounds better when it says "No Death Penalty". That's a matter of opinion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion Any further questions?

Then we will proceed to Section 14.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 14. TREASON.

"There shall be no crime of treason against the State of North Dakota."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

Several of the members of Style and Drafting, as we came across this, it's sort of a — I'm partly responsible, partially responsible, I guess, for having this in the Constitution. The Committee had come out originally to indicate that there should be no reference to treason. I felt that we either should have the — we should have a prohibition against it. However, I don't know how people are going to react when they read it, when they say we are not creating treasonous acts. We are not trying to say that. We are trying to say there will be no prosecution in the state.

And I would like to move to reconsider our action by which we passed Delegate Proposal — or Committee Proposal No. 1-92 to enable the delegates, if they desire, to go back to the old language in the Constitution if they think that that reads better than this statement. It will take a two-thirds vote, I'm sure, Mr. President, because this was passed sometime ago.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you move to reconsider?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

I might explain, if the motion to reconsider prevails, I would then tender a statement that reads the language of the old Constitution verbatim. So I think it is a choice of the delegates; if they find this language objectionable, I think they should vote for the old language; if they don't find it objectionable, leave it go. If they would like to have the old language of the old Constitution placed in this language, they should vote to reconsider.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on a motion to reconsider Section 14 of Article I which is Committee Proposal No. 1-92:

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I think that we're getting bogged down in a sea of trivialities if we go back and redo this all over again. I would be against reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

It's my view that the bill as passed on the pink sheet of 1-92 would permit a person to actually commit treason against the State and get away with it because there is no crime. That's the way it reads.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Well, my remark was going to be much the same as Delegate Unruh, since we worked on this in Style and Drafting. And I think the intent was to say the act of treason would be against the federal government and not against the State. But as it reads, I think that it's a very unfortunate thing to have in the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? The question is on the motion to reconsider Delegate Proposal No. 1-92 that is now known as Section 14 of Article I. In that this will require a two-thirds vote of the Convention to reconsider, if there is no further discussion, those in favor of reconsideration will vote "aye," and those opposed will vote "nay." The key will be opened, you will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rosendahl, are they working?

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: "Aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Just press the key to see if it is working.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There were 68 votes to 27, three absent. So the motion to reconsider has passed.

Committee Proposal No. 1 —

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — 92 is before the Convention.

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

I would — there is an amendment at the desk. My amendment, I think, reads, however, to the green sheet. The lines in the pink sheet of the re-engrossed proposal would delete lines 10 and 11 and insert — and the Clerk has the wording.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 1-92:

Delete lines 10 and 11 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the evidence of two witnesses to the same overt act, or confession in open court."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Mr. Clerk, is that against the pink sheet, the engrossed bill?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes, against the engrossed bill.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You heard the reading of the amendment as offered by Delegate Kelsch. Do we have a second to that amendment?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: The only comment I would make to the fellow delegates is that this is the — I've asked the Clerk to type that exactly as it appears in the old Constitution. It's very close to the federal Constitution which appears on page 45 of your blue book which reads: "Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same Overt Act, or on Confession in Open Court." So I think it's essentially the same as what the federal Constitution contains.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any questions? Further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Kelsch. Do you wish it read again?

DELEGATE BAKER: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention then, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed to the adoption of the amendment will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

The question before the Convention is —

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

I would move that —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — Committee Proposal —

DELEGATE KELSCH: — Committee Proposal No. 1-92 be deemed properly re-engrossed as amended, and be placed on the tenth order for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that Committee Proposal — that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-92 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and that it be placed on the calendar for final passage as amended.

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Committee Proposal No. 1-92 is again before the Convention as amended.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Question; those in favor of first passage of Committee Proposal No. 1-92 as amended will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: How does Roney vote?

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President:

Delegate Roney votes "aye".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney votes "aye."

The vote is closed. Roll call discloses 86 "ayes;" 8 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-92 has passed as amended.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I would now move that Committee Proposal No. 1-92 be placed on the eleventh order as Section 14 of Redraft Proposal 5-9.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch moves that Committee Proposal No. 1-92 as amended be placed in lieu of Section 14 — in Section 14 of Article I.

Do we have a second to that motion?

DELEGATE POULSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Poulson.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And we have a new Section 14.

Any further discussion on Section 14?

Hearing none, we will go then to Section 15.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 15. HABEAS CORPUS.

"The privilege of release from unlawful detention or unlawful imprisonment shall not be suspended unless, in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any comment?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Since we are doing this for posterity, I must rise again.

As I understood it several weeks ago when we still used the word "habeas corpus" in the title but felt that we have to redefine it, I think that we should go back to Section 5 of the present Constitution. Now as the section reads on the green sheet consider carefully what it says: "The privilege of release from unlawful detention or unlawful imprisonment." Now that I would think would never be suspended, because if that were suspended you would then unlawfully detain or unlawfully imprison. Now even in the time of rebellion or invasion we should be lawful. Now the writ, the privilege of the writ as provided in Section 5 of the present Constitution, is different from the privilege of release. A writ of habeas corpus does not release him. A writ of habeas corpus is the directive of the court to bring the body before the court. That's as far as the writ goes. Once the body is there, then the inquiry of the court is as to the lawfulness of the imprisonment or the detention. And that's why the writ can be used in other cases than people in jail; it can be used in child custody cases, it can be used in any case where the presence of a person is desired to be before the court so that the real question can then be raised, that is the determination of the lawfulness.

And as long as I have pondered this, since we did this some time ago, it still seems to me that we may well have presented the courts with a rather confusing situation of what we were trying to do. In the title we say "habeas corpus". Now in most of the rest of these sections you will notice that the title, the words of the title, appear again someplace in the section. But here we have the title "habeas corpus" and then we don't talk about the writ of habeas corpus; we talk about the second question, after the writ has produced the man before the court.

Now, I'm sure that nobody was trying to change the right of the writ of habeas corpus. And I think in light of the hundreds of years and the many thousands of cases that we have that construe the type of constitutional provision which we now have, that we should go back and simply use the term and don't worry about the Latin. We've used it in other sections, and we've used Greek roots and Latin roots and every other kind of roots.

And, therefore, I do now move that we reconsider the section on Committee Proposal No. 1-58 which, if it is read, I would then move to substitute the language of Section 5 of the present Constitution.

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question to reconsider has been moved by Delegate Pearce on Committee Proposal No. 1-58, and the motion has been seconded by Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I presume that since the committee and Delegate Pearce are in full agreement as to their purpose that we consider this a style and drafting change if we want to adopt the old provision. Can we go by simple majority?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I don't — I couldn't hear what he said.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

May I answer that?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, you may answer.

DELEGATE PEARCE: This is not the language of the Style and Drafting Committee. This is the language of 1-58 which substituted this language for Section 5 of the present Constitution. So I don't think I am quarreling — I don't think Style and Drafting did anything to this.

DELEGATE HILL: But, fellow delegates, can we make style and drafting changes by a simple majority? All right. I'll drop that. But I think I'm in complete sympathy with the purposes of the committee that approved this proposal, but I believe I have to agree with Delegate Pearce in this case that the committee has really changed the meaning of habeas corpus. And I would support the motion for reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate — Delegate Hill, now do you say that the Committee on Style and Drafting has changed the meaning of this?

DELEGATE HILL: No. I was just wondering if it's a sneaky way of getting around the language, we could call it a style and drafting change, and get it by simple majority rather than two-thirds vote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, this has been voted on a few days ago. It was voted on back on the 17th. So this will take a two-thirds vote of the Convention to reconsider.

Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. Chairman:

I'm certainly not going to be presumptuous enough to attempt to disagree with as eminent a lawyer as Delegate Pearce. But I had hoped that it would have been possible to write a Constitution for posterity in English so that people could understand what habeas corpus is, what bill of attainder and what ex post facto is. I had hoped — we had a judge and a lawyer on our committee — and lawyers in this committee — that they could have come up with English. But when I find that nobody can even agree among the lawyers what ex post facto is, and we found one authority, and Delegate Daniels brought this out to our attention, that it did not refer to crime, it referred to punishment. Then we had a lawyer get up and say, "Oh, no, it refers to punishment and not crime." So I'm certainly not going to resist the motion to reconsider. I'm not going to attempt to do anything more. I will recognize the fact that we will have to have a Constitution written for lawyers, that lawyers can't even substitute English for posterity.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President: I rise to support the motion to reconsider. I am one of the delegates — as a delegate I was most unhappy with this thought of trying to replace some of these Latin terms with English. For this reason — for instance, I have worked in the field of —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It isn't working all the time, Stan.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I'll throw it away. I have for a number of years been involved in, oh, some pursuits of biology, for instance, in which we use Latin terms consistently, particularly in taxonomy, naming things. And the reason Latin is used is that it is a dead language and the meaning of the words does not change.

The difficulty with the English language is that as time progresses words tend to change, their meaning tends to change. But in a dead language, such as Latin, there — naturally there are no changes of meaning. And, therefore, after something has been decided, and then decided many times in court, what, say, habeas corpus means, then there is no further change in the meaning. Therefore, I support this motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

I was going to point out an extremely unusual error in the pink sheet for 1-58. It does not include the amendment on line 12 which is inserted in front of the white copy 1-58 where we changed the language from "safety policy" to "public safety". First time I've ever caught the engrossers in an error.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: I don't think it is, either.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: And, Mr. President, while I'm on my feet I would like to mention that we have included a Swedish word in our draft Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question —

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I have to admire Delegate Pearce's persistency. He has brought this up several times. And it appears we have to face it again. I think he has an undue affection for the term "habeas corpus". The purpose for that — of the writ of habeas corpus is to test whether or not someone is being imprisoned illegally. Now it doesn't matter, just so we have in the Constitution that a person can test illegal imprisonment or illegal detention. And that's exactly what the language of Section 15 does. It gives a person a right to test illegality.

Now habeas corpus, of course, is a way of doing that. The Legislature might think of another way of doing it and call it something different. But I don't think that we have to have the term "habeas corpus" there. I think what the Committee has done, is we have made it understandable, we have made a right understandable by putting it into language that can be understood. And I hope that the motion to reconsider will be defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion. The question before the Convention is on the motion to reconsider the action of the Convention whereby it passed Committee Proposal No. 1-58. Now this was voted upon a number of days ago, so it will take 66 votes to reconsider.

Those in favor of reconsideration will vote "aye," those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your wishes.

Delegate Sinner, how do you vote?

DELEGATE SINNER: I vote "aye".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner votes "aye".

Any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegates Roney and Rosendahl, was it recorded correctly on the board?

DELEGATE RONEY: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There were 57 "ayes," there were 37 "nays," with four delegates absent and not voting. So the motion to reconsider failed.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: It is my contention, Mr. President, that Delegate Pearce improperly moved his amendment as a style and drafting change because one of the Style and Drafting functions is to remove inaccurate and inconsistent language. That is under Rule 12.1, part 3. He has pointed out that the language if not inaccurate, is at least not precisely accurate.

There is also an inconsistency involved as between the title and the body of the section. Therefore, I urge Delegate Pearce to put his amendment as a style and drafting change, and I urge the Chair to accept the motion.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Still suffering from the wound of defeat, I don't have the courage to put such a motion.

DELEGATE BAKER: Well, Mr. President, —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: — whatever it means, I'll move it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, that's just a little bit irregular, I believe, for the Chair to make the motion. If you have a motion that you want to present, why then we will present it. However, I don't believe that I am supposed to.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: So far as I followed, Mr. President, I move that this Convention express as its opinion that the — that the language on page 3, lines 15, 16 and 17, be stricken and that the language concerned — language contained in Section 5 of the present Constitution be substituted for that because it is a more clear and concise expression of the same idea.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the motion whereby the lines 15, 16 and 17 of the green sheet, page 3, Section 5, be stricken, and that that section of the Constitution pertaining to the same substance matter — remember the number Delegate Baker?

DELEGATE BAKER: Section 5.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — Section 5 be inserted in lieu thereof.

De we have a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: I feel somehow that I'm being out-manuevered here, and I don't know how to oppose it. I'm not that sharp on parliamentary procedure. But it seems to me to be an effort to do indirectly that which was not able to be done directly. And somehow it strikes me as being improper, but I don't know how to attack him, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell, the question before the Convention at the moment then would be on an amendment as offered by Delegate — it would be an amendment as offered by Delegate Baker. This is an amendment to strike the material and offer in lieu thereof. And so this is an amendment being offered from the floor. And the Chair would rule that it's permissible. The only recourse you have would be to generate enough enthusiasm to vote down the proposed amendment.

The Clerk will read the amendment.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: It strikes me as being a matter of substance. And I think the only way we can do that is through a motion to reconsider, and that's not what we are doing here; a motion to reconsider requiring two-thirds vote and this merely being a majority vote. In other words, the same thing is being accomplished but in a different direction and by lesser vote. And I don't think it is proper. But, as I say, I'm at a disadvantage.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I agree with Delegate Maxwell. I think this is just fun and games that's being played parliamentarily: We just voted on the identical question. At least it is identical as far as I can see. And I don't feel that you can take another vote without a motion to reconsider.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I don't feel that the motion to reconsider was necessary. The amendment that Delegate Baker has put relates to style, and therefore his motion is in order.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I am in great sympathy with Delegate Pearce's proposal. However, I do not believe this is a proper way to handle it. Because if we can amend the Style and Drafting Committee Report in such a fashion after we had voted on the precise language, we're going to be here until July. But I certainly have some dandies that I'll have reconsidered then under this guise. So I would certainly — there is a motion before the body, but I will certainly move the defeat of it. Because this is an improper method of attacking the matter.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: I am sure, delegates, that probably there is a real gray area that we're treading on here in calling this an amendment to the Style and Drafting Proposal. It looks to me like it's — you're stretching your imagination quite far. I think there is a real out in this thing for those that wish to make this change. All we have got to do is wait until the twenty-ninth day and your vote of reconsideration only requires fifty votes. And I would think that would be the time to do it rather than to upset the apple cart, so to speak, on everything Style and Drafting is coming out with here in this fashion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'm wondering, has the Chair ruled that the amendment is germane?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I don't believe the Chair has. But it's going to rule that it is not in order.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: That is going to be the ruling?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is going to be the ruling, that it is not in order.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Then we don't have the problem.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then you don't have unless there is an appeal to the decision of the Chair. Because it has been determined by the Convention that this time through that we are to deal strictly with the amendments as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting. And in that this it not one — and the motion to reconsider actually has failed, the Chair is going to rule that the amendment as offered by Delegate Baker is out of order.

We will be on the — we will be on the sixteenth section. Section 16.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: In answer to Delegate Knudson, the pink sheet that you have is the engrossed bill. The printer got the wrong engrossed bill.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: I thought so.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will take — fellow delegates, in looking at the clock on the wall, it is now ten minutes after twelve.

And do we have any announcements at the desk?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

May we be on the eighth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we will be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: We'll have a brief meeting, won't be over five or at the most ten minutes, of the Resolutions Committees in the west balcony room up here right after we recess.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there further announcements? Further announcements? Hearing none, we will be in recess until one-thirty:

(The Session recessed at 12:12 P.M. until 1:35 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 1:35 P.M., Wednesday, February 9, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order? The Convention will be in order.

We'll be on the eighth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Hoffner has the senior class of Esmond, North Dakota, and their teacher, Mr. Bachmeir, in the gallery today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the students please rise and receive the recognition of the Convention? (Applause)

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Continuing on the eighth order, I would like to announce a meeting of the Public Information Committee immediately following the afternoon session of the Convention in the Large Hearing Room.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further announcements?

Hearing none, the Convention will be in order and we'll be on the eleventh order of business.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson:

DELEGATE PAULSON: Pardon me. I have an amendment that I would like to offer to Section 15, but some of my advisers and consultants are not readily available. I would suggest that we carry on and come back to 15 if the amendment is approved by my friends.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you wish to offer an amendment at this time or wait?

DELEGATE PAULSON: I'd rather wait.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Okay, fine.

Then we will proceed with Section 16. The Clerk will read Section 16.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 16. UNLAWFUL ACTS.

"No bill of attainder, ex post facto law or law impairing the obligations of contracts shall ever be enacted."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You heard the reading. Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, we'll move on to Section 17.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 17. RIGHTS OF DEBTORS.

"The legislative assembly shall provide for the protection of the rights of debtors and shall provide that homesteads of heads of families or single persons and reasonable amounts and kinds of their personal property, as defined by law, shall be exempt from a forced sale. This section shall not be construed to prevent liens against a homestead for labor done and materials furnished for its improvement, in such manner as may be provided by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 17, Rights of Debtors. Any discussion?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

Because the Chairman of Style and Drafting is an attorney, perhaps he can answer this question. For the non-payment, is alimony a debt?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'm not practicing law currently, but my experience would say that that's a contract. And that if it was not paid that you could then be cited for contempt, but they can't put you in jail for it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion on Section 17?

We'll move on and the Clerk will read Section 18.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 18. IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT.

"No person shall be imprisoned for debt."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any question?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 19.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 19. GRANTING PRIVILEGES OR IMMUNITIES.

"No special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted which may not be altered, revoked or repealed by the legislative assembly; nor shall any citizen or class of citizens be granted privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not be granted to all citizens."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there any questions? Any discussion on Section 19?

Hearing none, we'll move on to Section 20.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 20. UNIFORM OPERATION OF LAWS.

"All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion on Section 20?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 21.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 21. EMINENT DOMAIN.

"Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the rights of the owner and without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages.

"However, the legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service, by depositing estimated just compensation for all damages into court for the owner. The legislative assembly shall provide the procedure and fix the time limit for determination of damages, necessity and public use in such cases."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 21. Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 22.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 22. SUITS AGAINST THE STATE.

"Suits may be brought against the state and its political subdivisions for negligent injury to a person or his property, but the legislative assembly may provide for reasonable limitations."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there any questions? Any discussion on Section 22?

Hearing none, we'll move on to Section 24 — 23.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 23. DISCRIMINATION IN ACCOMMODATIONS.

"All persons are entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, privileges, advantages and facilities of any public accommodation, without discrimination based on race, sex, color, religion or national origin."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 23. Any discussion? Are there any questions?

Hearing none, we'll move on to Section 24.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 24. SERVICEMEN AND SERVICE-WOMEN.

"The people of North Dakota declare that North Dakota servicemen and service-women may be given special considerations as determined by the legislative assembly."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 24. Any discussion? Are there any questions?

Hearing none, we will move on to 25.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 25. NONDISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT.

"There shall be no discrimination against a qualified natural person's right to practice a trade or profession or a citizen's right to obtain or hold employment because of race, color, sex, creed, or membership or nonmembership in a trade, labor or professional organization."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Section 25. Any discussion?

Hearing none, we move on to Section 26.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 26. CIVIL POWER SUPREME.

"The military shall be subordinate to the civil power."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion? Questions; Section 26?

Hearing none, we'll move on to Section 27.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 27. SUPREME LAW.

"The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Hearing no questions or discussion, we'll move on to Section 28.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 28. RIGHTS RETAINED.

"To guard against transgressions of the high powers which we have delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of government and shall forever remain inviolate."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any question on Section 28? Any questions? No discussion?

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman:

I have an amendment at the desk for Section 15 which I think comes under the style and drafting.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-9. On page 3, line 16, after the word "imprisonment" insert the following: "through petition for a writ of habeas corpus".

And renumber the lines accordingly.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

There should be a comma after "corpus".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: There is. Forgot to read it.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman:

Do I get a second?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Second.

DELEGATE PAULSON: After hearing the argument this morning, I think that the body of the section should conform to the title. And I think that we specifically explained what we're talking about if we insert these words. And if there is a difference between what the original section says as passed by the Convention and the addition of these words, then there is something wrong with the original definition, because we are guaranteed a right of the writ of habeas corpus. I would like to have some observations from the other people involved.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I would have to oppose this amendment because I believe that Delegate Paulson is putting a limitation on the section which he does not intend to do. There are several remedial writs besides the writ of habeas corpus. We in our articles in the judiciary did take out the Latin name for these writs. We felt that when we used the term "remedial writs" when we empowered the court to issue such remedial writs as were necessary in carrying out its duties and its powers that we would cover the situation specifically and broadly enough to include, of course, habeas corpus.

Now, I did not get into this debate this morning on the necessity of keeping the word "habeas corpus". As some may recall, I objected to it going into the title because I feel there that a title such as "unlawful detention" would have been better. And I share the opinion of some of those who feel that we ought to write this Constitution in good, clear, concise, simple English without reference to those. I do not share the concern, as some do, for eliminating the word "habeas corpus". Because I feel that in the other section, in the judiciary section, where we do empower the court to issue such remedial writs as it feels is necessary, that we would be protecting the rights of people in doing that and we would be keeping our Constitution simple and understandable to anyone who would care to read or refer to these particular sections.

I had asked someone, although I did not offer any amendment, to take that word out of the title. But someone felt that since this was a writ which has been used down through the years that we should retain it from precedent standpoint in court decisions. It seems to me that it would be very easy to go back and refer to cases that had come up prior to this time by referring to the old section of the Constitution and by referring — using a remedial writ. I could see where, as Delegate Maxwell says, that if somebody is being unlawfully detained you would petition the court or move the court for an order bringing this person before the court immediately. You could do that without referring to it as to habeas corpus. And I think you could do that under the other section in the judiciary part. For that reason, I think — or for those reasons I think Delegate Paulson would be limiting the powers of the court by specifically referring to the writ of habeas corpus in this particular section.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow Delegates:

In line with the ruling of the Chair made this morning in a previous effort to amend this same section, the Chair is going to rule the motion out of order. And at some time, in the event that you would like this to be amended, I think that we will have to go through the process of reconsidering. This is quite technical, I will agree. But I believe that this is only a method of circumventing the decision that has already been made by the Convention this morning. And on that premise, the Chair is going to rule the motion out of order.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I wonder if we could refer to Section 23. We titled that "Discrimination in Accommodations", where in Section 25 we talk about "Non-discrimination in Employment". I wonder — I would move that we add the words — the letters "non" in front of "discrimination" and "accommodations" on 23 so it may read "Nondiscrimination in Accommodations".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You offer an amendment then to Section 23?

DELEGATE KELSCH: In the title of Section 23.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In the title.

DELEGATE SINNER: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM; Seconded by Delegate Sinner.

It's been moved by Delegate Kelsch, seconded by Delegate Sinner, that we amend in Section 3 — 23, that we change the word "discrimination" to "Nondiscrimination in Accommodations". Is there any further discussion, or is there any discussion?

What is the wish of the Convention? Question? The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Kelsch, that we add the word making it "nondiscrimination" in place of "discrimination" following Section 23, line 20.

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Along the same line, it's been suggested that Section 18 be renamed. And I think it's a good suggestion since we have up in 13 "No Death Penalty", I'm going to move that the title to Section 18 be "No Imprisonment for Debt".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You wish to offer an amendment, Delegate?

Delegate Unruh moves, —

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — and it's been seconded by Delegate Stanton, that following "Section 18" in line 29, page 3, Article I, that the word "No" be inserted; "No Imprisonment for Debt," which would change the way it reads now.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Question.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Again the question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Unruh, that in line 29 after "Section 18" we insert the word "No" so it would read "No Imprisonment for Debt".

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted:

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I know the conflict between Section 11 and Section 13 somehow slipped by Style and Drafting and also our Committee. On line 1, page 3, it says, "nor be deprived of liberty or property without due process of law", indicating that with due process of law you could be deprived of life, liberty or property; whereas in Section 13, line 10, of course. "Death shall not be prescribed as a penalty for any crime." It would therefore seem that on line 1 "life," should be omitted. And I will so move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Where is that, Delegate Burbidge?

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: On page 3, line 1.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Omit the word "life,".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Burbidge that on line 1 of page 3 that we strike the word "life" so that it would read, "nor be deprived of liberty or property without due process of law." Do we have a second to that proposed amendment?

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I contend that would be a substantive change because it could be interpreted that it could permit abortion, and I don't think we intend to do that.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I would agree this interpretation could be made, and I see where it could, and I think I'm out of order so I would therefore withdraw my motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: With the consent of your second. Delegate Jestrab, will you yield?

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: So the proposed amendment is stricken.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I move that we reconsider our action by which we amended Section 23. And if I get a second, I'll tell you why.

DELEGATE DIEHL: Second.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

If we reconsider this, I hope to offer an amendment to delete the word "non" that we just put into it and put in the word "no". And I do not do this for the purpose of just nitpicking, but I do it for the purpose of making it uniform. Because when we go back up to a previous section we have "No Death Penalty" and also as soon as some of us get some of these Latin phrases out of here somebody gets them back in again. And the word "non" is not an English word that I know of. So I would hope that we would make these sections uniform, and that we would stay in English as much as we can. So if my motion passes, that's what I intend to do.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: What delegate — which delegate seconded Delegate Longmire's motion? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

We don't need to reconsider it. Can't we just move the amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think you just as well.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes, I just moved the amendment on the amended section, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And that amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: So you just amended.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes. I now move that we delete the word "non" and insert in lieu thereof the word "no".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire moves that in line 20 on page 4, Section 23 of Article I, that we strike the word "non" and insert in lieu thereof the word "no".

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: It is true that there is no such word as "non". But there is such a word as "nondiscrimination". It's used in both Sections 23 and 25. I hope the amendment is defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Longmire.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The Chair will rule the "noes" have it and that the amendment lost.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Are you ready for an engrossing motion?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes. Unless there are further amendments.

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I would like to rise just for a point of personal privilege to ask a question of the Style and Drafting Committee. It is simply this: I noticed that in each instance following the title they have placed a period. And I was wondering — apparently that was done purposely. And I just would like a brief explanation as to why.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: In response to your very deep question, I will say that we have no particular reason for putting it except that that's the form we adopted, and we used it consistently, period.

Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Is it Section 7 we're holding over?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I beg your pardon?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Is it Section 7 we've laid over?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No. — yes, Section 7 is laid over.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Until tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Until one Convention day. And the motion that we had at the time that we started considering this group from 9 through 28 was that we vote in toto on this group: So the question then before the Convention at the present time, we would need — we would need a motion to deem them properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I now move that Sections 9 through —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 28.

DELEGATE UNRUH: — 28 be deemed properly engrossed and placed on the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that the Sections 9 through 28 of Article I be deemed properly re-engrossed, and that they be placed on the eleventh order for passage as amended.

DELEGATE LANDER: Question.

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engstrom.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Sections 9 through 28 are before the Convention for passage.

Those in favor of passage will vote "aye," those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: If that vote was strictly on the approval of Style and Drafting's changes, I would ask the Chair to consider by request to change my vote from "nay" to "aye".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct. It was on the Style and Drafting. Roll call discloses 92 "ayes," 4 "nays," two delegates absent and not voting. Sections 9 through 28 of Article I have passed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President:

Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-10 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals numbered 1-82, 1-85 and 1-118.

Further, that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee, but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the Report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report as offered by Delegate Unruh, Chairman of the Committee on Style and Drafting. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Knudson.

Any question? As many as are in favor of adopting the Report will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the Report is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Do you all have 5-10 on your desk?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd like to move that on line 1 — pardon me — on page 1, line 6, that the numeral, Roman numeral "II" be inserted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, would you let the Clerk read this first, and then we will —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-10, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-82, 1-85 and 1-118:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the elective franchise, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE ELECTIVE FRANCHISE

"Section 1. ELECTIONS, VOTER QUALIFICATIONS.

"The general election of the state shall be held biennially as provided by law.

"Every citizen of the United States, who has attained the age of eighteen years and who has been a resident of the state six months, of the county ninety days and of the precinct thirty days preceding an election, shall be a qualified elector. When an elector moves within the state he shall be entitled to vote in the precinct from which he moves until he establishes voting residence in another precinct. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the determination of residence for voting eligibility, other than physical presence. No elector shall lose his residency for voting eligibility solely by reason of his absence from the state.

"The legislative assembly shall provide by law for secrecy in voting, for absentee voting, for administration of elections and for the nomination of candidates."

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL; As in the previous one, I move that we have Sections 1, 2 and 3 before us as one unit. And then if a delegate chooses to divide, they can divide separately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question as moved by Delegate Omdahl is that we vote on Sections 1, 2 and 3 in toto, and that in the event a delegate wishes to have the question divided, that that privilege will be granted.

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE DECKER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Decker.

The question; as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The article, Elective Franchise, Section 1 is before the Convention.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I would like to make a motion now. I move that on page 1, line 6, the Roman numeral "II" be inserted after the word "ARTICLE".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do I have a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

The motion is that as offered by Delegate Unruh, that following the word "ARTICLE" the Roman numeral "II" be inserted following that "ARTICLE".

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Are there any questions on Section 1 as read? Any questions on Section 1 as read?

Hearing none, we will read Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. VOTER DISQUALIFICATIONS.

"No person who has been declared mentally incompetent by order of a court or other authority having jurisdiction, which order has not been rescinded, shall be qualified to vote; nor shall any person be qualified to vote if he is confined in a correctional institution or jail, or while under sentence for a crime punishable by confinement exceeding one year."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion? Are there any questions? The question is on Section 2 of Article II. Hearing no questions —

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I just noticed one change in that the Style and Drafting Committee has taken out "competent jurisdiction" on page 2, line 1. This is Delegate Longmire's original amendment to 1-82, I believe. But I don't know whether that — what the deletion of that word "competent" — whether that is incompetent or not.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can someone answer the question as raised by Delegate Aubol?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. We felt that if someone or somebody did have jurisdiction it could be taken for granted they would have to be competent.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Further questions?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: We discussed this in Committee, and it might have got forgotten somehow. Before I move, I'd like to ask the Chairman if he'd have any objection to taking the last paragraph of Section 1 and moving it up underneath the paragraph "as provided by law" and titling that section "Elections" and then taking the paragraph starting "Every citizen" and making that a separate section and titled "Voter Qualifications" and renumber the other sections accordingly? It evidently meets with his approval, so —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I would ask, Delegate Dobson, for comment from the Chairman of the Committee on Style and Drafting, if they had some special reason for leaving this section the way it is.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I don't have any objection to the change except that it involves retyping and expense. It seems unnecessary.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe that I would rule, Delegate Dobson, that this is satisfactory the way it is. And I think that it definitely is two subject matters, the one at the top and the one at the bottom. Whether they are separated by qualifications of a voter I don't think makes too much difference.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I can't give Delegate Dobson a good reason, except I know in subcommittee we tried to move these two sentences together and the four of us in that committee felt that it didn't fit as well as having them separated. But I can't give a good reason.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll consider Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. FAIR ELECTORAL SYSTEM.

"Every candidate for public office shall have a justiciable right to an electoral system that is not prejudicial to his candidacy."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any question or is there any discussion on Section 3?

Hearing none, then the question before us is on Article II.

May we have a motion to deem it properly reengrossed?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Article II be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Article II be deemed properly re-engrossed, and it be placed on the calendar for passage as amended.

May I have a second?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: I'd like Section 1 voted on separately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson requests that we vote on Section 1 separately. The request will be granted.

We will therefore vote on Section 2 and Section 3 as a unit.

Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President:

I would ask that the question be divided so that we vote on Section 3 separately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Request will be granted.

First for consideration then — the question for consideration before the Convention is Section 1 of Article II. Section 1 of Article II. Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor of it will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call indicates 89 "ayes," 4 "nays," five delegates absent and not voting. Section 1 of Article II has passed.

Next for consideration is Section 2 of Article II. Is there any further discussion on this subject? Question then; those in favor of adopting Section 2 of Article II will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 93 "ayes," 3 "nays," two delegates absent and not voting. Section 2 of Article II has passed.

Next for consideration, Section 3 of Article II. Any discussion? Hearing none, the question before the Convention is on the passage of Section 3 of Article II. Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 84 "ayes," 11 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Section 3 of Article II has passed.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: I rise to extend a point of personal privilege and inquiry. Number one, to Delegate Pearce, what — Delegate Pearce can you answer me — what did you say the cost is for taking the roll call each time?

DELEGATE PEARCE; About $11. Two to a page, $22 a page.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Well, it's my — the question I have in my mind, and specifically on Article II, as I understand there were no particular amendments here that were in question on the floor. These folks here were primarily, as I understand it, approving the action Style and Drafting took. That had nothing to do with the first passage of the bill; am I correct on that?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE BYRNE: That's what we were taking the roll call of?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I rise to a point of personal privilege to support the inference that Delegate Byrne is making, that we divided the question three ways to prove nothing for $22. And personally I am going to be in favor of a personal assessment of people who want to divide questions when they have nothing to prove. (Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It will be on the — we'll be on the next — we'll be on the next section.

Next for consideration is the Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-1.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-1 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-99, 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-110, 1-111, 1-112 and 1-113.

Further, that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted.

The Committee Report 5-1 is before the Convention.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH; Style and Drafting Proposal 5-1, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-99, 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-110, 1-111, 1-112 and 1-113.

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to powers reserved to the people, be created.

"(SECTION 1.) Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE II

"POWERS RESERVED TO THE PEOPLE"

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre:

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President:

I would like to move that this Convention take the Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1 and consider it in one roll call vote; vote on it in toto.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: That's correct.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate McIntyre that we vote in toto on the sections in — the ten sections in this proposal, No. 5-1.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Scheel.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

It takes me a second or two. I would like to know why — I would like to ask Delegate McIntyre why he wants to do this, without argument about spending money. Remember, I didn't want my picture taken, either.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: My reason is the same reason that we have handled previous proposals in the same manner. This doesn't present anyone from asking for a separate question or dividing the particular section if they so desire. But it would be for the same reason that we have handled other proposals the same way.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I would resist the motion at this time. I think we should at least have a chance to hear what's in these things:

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol, you will have a question — you always have the privilege of dividing the question. That's one of the privileges. And then of course this hasn't been read — it has to be read, and the motion now from Delegate McIntyre is so that whatever part of this is not taken out by division we will vote on in toto.

Now did I have a second?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Solberg.

The question again is on the motion to vote on the ten sections in toto. As many as are in favor of that motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The question before the Convention now is Section 1, which the Clerk will read.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: I wanted to call the attention of Delegate — the Chairman of Style and Drafting this Article V or this Proposal 5-1, we have this "ARTICLE II". We have just numbered the one previously as "ARTICLE II". Should this be changed to "III"?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I was going to move that shortly when it was the proper time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Read the section.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 1. POWERS RESERVED.

"Notwithstanding any other provision in this constitution, the people reserve these powers: to propose and enact laws by the initiative, including the call for a constitutional convention; to approve or reject legislative acts, or parts thereof, by the referendum; to propose and adopt constitutional amendments by the initiative; and to recall certain elected officials. This article is self-executing and all of its provisions are mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate and safeguard, but not to hamper, restrict or impair these powers."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 1.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

I now move that the name — the number of the article be changed from "ARTICLE II" to "ARTICLE III" in line 6 of the first page.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that the number of the article be changed from "ARTICLE II" to "ARTICLE III" in line 6 of the first page.

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE BENSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Benson.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "on." The "ayes" have it, and the title is changed from "ARTICLE II" to "ARTICLE III".

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I'd just like to mention that the Legislative Functions Committee has gone through all the style changes in 5-1, and agree with all the changes that the Style and Drafting Committee has made. However, there are some amendments that will be proposed by the Committee on Legislative Functions. I have assigned those to Delegate Dobson. But we want to commend the Style and Drafting Committee for the changes they have made.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I notice that "ARTICLE II" also appears on lines 1 and 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: We got that.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Did you get that?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There were no questions on Section 1?

Then we will next move on to Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. PETITION.

"A petition to initiate or to refer a measure shall be presented to the secretary of state for approval as to form. A request for approval shall be presented over the names and signatures of twenty-five or more electors as sponsors, one of whom shall be designated as chairman of the sponsoring committee. The secretary of state shall approve the petition for circulation if it is in proper form and contains the names and addresses of the sponsors and the full text of the measure."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion on Section 2?

Hearing none, we will go on to Section 3. CIRCULATION.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. CIRCULATION.

"The petition shall be circulated only by electors. They shall swear thereon that the electors who have signed the petition did so in their presence. Each elector signing a petition shall also write in the date of signing and his postoffice address. No law shall be enacted limiting the number of copies of a petition. The copies shall become part of the original petition when filed."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we'll go on to Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. SIGNATURE REQUIREMENT.

"The petition may be submitted to the secretary of state if signed by electors equal in number to two percent of the resident population of the state at the last federal decennial census."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we'll go on to Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. SUBMISSION.

"An initiative petition shall be submitted not less than ninety days before the general election at which the measure is to be voted upon. A referendum petition may be submitted only within ninety days after the filing of the measure with the secretary of state. The submission of a petition shall suspend the operation of any measure enacted by the legislative assembly except emergency measures and appropriation measures for the support and maintenance of state departments and institutions. The submission of a petition against one or more items or parts of any measure shall not prevent the remainder from going into effect. A referred measure may be voted upon at a special election or at a special election called by the governor."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 6. CERTIFICATION.

"The secretary of state shall determine the validity and sufficiency of the signatures. If he finds irregularities, he shall notify the sponsoring committee and allow twenty days for corrections, but this time shall not be used for the addition of signatures. If the secretary of state finds a petition valid and sufficient, he shall certify it and prepare a ballot containing the full text of the measure and a ballot title summarizing the measure. If he finds a referendum petition insufficient, the suspension of the measure shall end and it shall not be referred."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we go on to Section 7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 7. JUDICIAL REVIEW.

"All decisions of the secretary of state in the petition process are subject to review by the supreme court in the exercise of original jurisdiction. If his decision is being reviewed at the time the ballot is prepared, he shall place the measure on the ballot and no court action shall invalidate the measure if it is approved at the election by a majority of the votes cast thereon."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will go on to Section 8.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 8. ENACTMENT.

"If a majority of votes cast upon an initiated or a referred measure are affirmative, it shall be deemed enacted. An initiated or referred measure which is approved shall become law thirty days after the election, and a referred measure which is rejected shall be void immediately. If conflicting measures are approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall be law. For seven years from its effective date, a measure approved by the electors may not be repealed or amended by the legislative assembly except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none —

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: The Legislative Functions Committee has an amendment to this section.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The amendment will be read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1.

On page 3, line 14, after the period delete the word "for".

On page 3, line 15, delete the words "seven years from its effective date, a" and insert in lieu thereof the word "A".

On page 3, line 16, after the word "assembly" insert the words "for seven years from its effective date,".

On page 4, line 3, delete everything after the period.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: The amendment to Section 8 simply shifts the phrase "for seven years from its effective date" to another place in the sentence, so that the sentence will read this way: "A measure approved by the electors may not be repealed or amended by the legislative assembly for seven years from its effective date, except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected in each house." I move its adoption.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Second by Delegate Kelsch.

Any further discussion?

Hearing none, then we are on the motion of Delegate Dobson that the amendment which was just read from the desk be adopted. If you are in favor say "aye;" if you are against say "nay." All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the motion is adopted and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: What was the last part of that amendment? I know part of it dealt with Section 8, but what was the last part of it?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe, Delegate Aubol, that the amendment ended with the moving of "for seven years from its effective date" from line 3 — page 3 from line 15 down to line 16. And that was the extent of the amendment. They began to read — you may have been slightly confused because the Clerk began to read an amendment to a section farther on.

Any further discussion?

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

A question to the Chairman of the Style and Drafting. You'll have more time to consider these. And in case you feel that an amendment does make a change in form and substance, will you so indicate the next time around?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH; Yes. This is not a substantive change. I will if something comes up. I'm sure that those that are carrying on the floor are representing the committee at this time, too. But if they don't, I'll watch it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

I think that the suggested amendment by the committee makes the whole section read better and carries out the full intent of retaining the seven-year-period.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

All right. Next we will have under consideration Section 9.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 9. INITIATED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

"A constitutional amendment may be proposed by initiative petition. If signed by electors equal in number to four percent of the resident population of the state at the last federal decennial census, the petition may be submitted to the secretary of state. All other provisions relating to initiative measures apply thereto."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Hearing none, we'll go on to Section 10.

"Any elected nonjudicial official of the state of any county or of any legislative or county commissioner district shall be subject to recall by petition of electors equal in number to twenty-five percent of those who voted at the preceding general election for the office of governor in the state, county or district in which the official is to be recalled.

"The petition shall be filed with the official with whom a petition for nomination to the office in question is filed, who shall call a special election if he finds the petition valid and sufficient. No elector may remove his name from a recall petition.

"The name of the official to be recalled shall be placed on the ballot unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. Other candidates for the office may be nominated in a manner provided by law. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term when the election results have been officially declared. No official shall be subject twice to recall during the term for which he was elected."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I think it would be a good time to explain the procedure we have followed in our committee with respect to the words "official" and "officer". We have treated throughout this thing the use of the word "official" for an elected official; and we have used the word "officer" where it is appointive. So where you see the word "elected" it will be followed by "official" and if he's "appointed" it will be "officer".

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: The Legislative Functions Committee has an amendment to this section.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The proposed amendment will be read from the desk by the Clerk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: On page 4, line 3, delete everything after the period.

On page 4 delete all of line 4 and insert in lieu thereof the word "When".

On page 4, line 5, after the word "declared" insert a comma, and the following language: The candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term."

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: This amendment simply switches the phrase "when the election results have been officially declared" to the head of the sentence. Therefore, the sentence will read: "When the election results have been officially declared, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term." I move its adoption.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, then we are on the motion of Delegate Dobson to adopt the proposed amendment to Section 10 of Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1.

Those who vote "aye" will vote in favor of adopting the amendment; those who vote "nay" will oppose adoption. All those in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1 be properly engrossed and placed on the calendar.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Motion was seconded by Delegate Solberg.

Any further discussion?

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

I'm asking that this be divided into two groups. They can do as they please about the one, but I would ask that 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 be voted on separately.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Would you repeat? Beg your pardon, but would you repeat those, please?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9; these to be voted on as a unit. This would save money, which everybody seems to be worried about.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9.

We still have Delegate Unruh's motion, so, Delegate Rundle, we will — I will ask you to withhold your motion until we have acted on Delegate Unruh's motion that we consider this proposal re-engrossed and so that we may place it on the eleventh order for second vote.

Now we're on the motion of Delegate Unruh. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it.

Now we have before us Proposal 5-1. Now, Delegate Rundle, you may request — make your request.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

I ask that Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 be voted on as a unit.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 be voted on separately from the remaining sections. And then we would have remaining then Sections 1, 3, 6, 7 and 10. That request is granted.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I appeal the ruling of the Chair.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair has not really ruled. And a part of our rules is, of course, that any delegate can call for a division of the question. And I believe — now, unless I'm overruled or President Wenstrom comes in and says otherwise — I'm going to ask that — I'll explain it this way to the delegates: That what I am going to suggest at this point is that we have a division vote on 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9. Not a recorded vote, but a division vote. If the division vote carries, then we will vote on a recorded vote on the entire package. So that we will have just the one recorded vote.

Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President:

I'm kind of floating around in the air today. I'm a little confused again. We are on the eleventh order, are we not?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE BUTLER: And eleventh order says that's the second passage?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE BUTLER: This is then final. We get something out of here on this particular vote that's the end of it, is it not, unless it is brought back for reconsideration by two-thirds vote?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: It could still be reconsidered. Anything that is done — anything here can be reconsidered.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Right. But at the same time if it isn't reconsidered then this is the end?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: This is the end.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. Chairman — Mr. President:

I understood that this vote was simply on style and drafting; is that right or wrong?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That is right. That is correct.

DELEGATE BENSON: Well, then every time that the division is asked I would assume that the division is asked because of the style and drafting and not the substance.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That is correct.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

If any of the delegates have the sheet that was put out by the staff in January sometime ago telling what happens on the various orders, they state quite clearly that a vote "yes" to the proposal, the proposal goes back to Style and Drafting for incorporation in the final document; vote "no", the proposal goes back to the Style and Drafting in the form that as on the tenth order for incorporation in the final draft. So your "no" vote if you're opposed to the — I can see the problem some delegates have in not wanting to vote for something they are opposed to. But we've got to keep in mind that a vote at this stage, unless it's a vote to reconsider, a vote at this stage "yes" is simply we'll take Style and Drafting's changes or changes made to the style, a vote "no" means you don't want them and it goes right back in the form we passed it before.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

To those who say, "Vote yes," and make speeches, "Let's all be together," I would say "Speak for yourself, John." I've found if we don't like a change you shouldn't vote for it. You'll find it will be used against you later.

And another thing, the Committee on Alternate Proposals hasn't acted finally yet. I'm perfectly willing if this is laid over until after they act to withdraw my motion. But I have found that this one thing was put a way down the list before, it came up late, after the Rules had been tightened on the length of speeches and various things, came in late. Now the Alternate Proposal Committee hasn't met yet which concerns this very deeply. And this is why I ask that they be divided. And I didn't ask each one be voted on separately. But, as I say, I've found that if you don't like a proposal a "yes" vote will be used against you regardless of the explanations on this floor. And I'm going to stick to my — it's a perfect right. Everyone has been doing it up to now. And if you want to wait until each one comes up and ask it be separated, you can do that. I thought this would be better, you can vote twice. Where if you will put it down the calendar one day until after this other committee meets and makes a decision, I would have no objection there, either. I would then withdraw if you do that. But I don't think I am in a position to make a motion to that effect. If I am, I move that it be laid aside one Convention day.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Unless someone moves at the present time, Delegate Rundle has called for a division to vote on Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 separately. The Chair has granted that permission. And the Chair is suggesting, unless someone from the delegation asks for a recorded vote, the Chair was just going to ask for a division vote on 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. Chairman. Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: A question for Delegate Kelsch, if I may.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch, will you yield?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes.

DELEGATE BUTLER: He made a statement that we are now voting on the style and drafting activity. When do we get the last vote on this thing? Because, as I read the rules and the way we wind up the procedures on this Convention, we are not going to vote on the whole document. Is there a third vote we're going to have on each one of these articles as we go through here now or are we done?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

If I might review the progress of that rule. We started out with a rule that said that there would be three votes — three readings, three votes. We then changed the rules the early part of the session because there was some concern that it was not clear as to whether we wanted to, when we got all done the third time, vote for the whole document as a package, vote for the whole document by article, vote for the whole document by sections, or not vote on it at all on the theory that it had been passed and we approved the style changes. The rule now simply reads third reading and signing. And it reads third reading and just signing purposely because the Rules Committee was not certain what this Convention wanted to do in the end. I think that's something we're going to have to face. But second reading I think clearly is covered in the rules as simply a reading for the purpose of giving us a chance to look to see what Style and Drafting did and whether or not we want to accept what the Committee did or reject it.

Now your question as to what would happen on third reading, in the final document, a complete Constitution in order with proper style that has been re-submitted by Style and Drafting, and the rule calls for signing it. And whether or not we'll vote and how we would divide it at that time, I don't know. That's something we'll have to decide.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe Delegate Paulson is first.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President:

I think that I should point out that when Mr. Rundle has asked for a division, he wants a division on the vote on which these sections are being passed on second passage and not have a division and then a vote on the whole package. I think we have divided before, everybody's had a recorded vote on the division.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair is perfectly willing to go along with allowing having a recorded vote on Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 providing — how many request a recorded vote on Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9? I believe that's sufficient. All right. Any further discussion?

Delegate Butler, did you wish to say something further?

DELEGATE BUTLER: No.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. We are now on the question of the passage on the second vote on Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 of Proposal 5-1. If you vote "aye" you're voting for; if you're voting "nay" you're against. The Clerk will open the key, and you will record your vote.

Saugstad votes "aye. Wenstrom "aye"?"

Has everyone voted? Anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses 90 "ayes," 4 "nays," four absent and not voting. Therefore, Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 of Proposal 5-1 have been adopted.

Now we have remaining Sections 1, 3, 6, 7 and 10 of Proposal 5-1.

Is there any further discussion, if you vote "aye" you're voting for; if you vote "nay" you're against. The board will be open, you may record your vote.

Saugstad votes "aye." Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change his vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record shows 92 "ayes," no "nays", six absent and not voting. Therefore, Sections 1, 3, 6, 7 and 10 of 5-1 were adopted.

Any announcements? One announcement.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: In the balcony there are four Eagle Scouts from Minot — there are four Eagle Scouts. From Minot there is Jim Pence and his father, John Pence; from Grand Forks, Clinton Hanson; from the Fargo area, Kent Reiersen from Tower City, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reiersen; and from Bismarck, Jim McGannon. They are all traveling with Jeff Auch.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Will these guests please rise and be acknowledged?
(Applause)

We're very happy to have you with us.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: It may be opportune at this time, to those who have a love of Scripture, and we haven't heard from them for a few days, I would remind them of Philemon, verse 18, which says: "If he has wronged you at all or owes you anything, charge that to my account."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We will now stand recessed for ten minutes. (The Session recessed at 2:58 P.M. to 3:15 P.M., the same day.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Will the Convention please come to order? Next for consideration of the Convention is Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-12 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals numbered 1-29, 1-36, 1-37, 1-38, 1-39, 1-40, 1-43, 1-44, 1-45, 1-70, 1-75 and 1-76.

Further that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Second by Delegate Kwako.

All those in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it, and the report on Redraft Proposal No. 5-12 is adopted.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. Chairman:

I see that the Chairman of the Legislative Functions Committee was out. But it was my understanding that we were going to meet to consider some questions that had been raised since our meeting yesterday dealing with the language in 5-12. And I thought he was going to announce such a meeting. But I think I am going to move, Mr. Chairman, that 5-12 be delayed, or ask the motion be withdrawn for the moment and move on to another one if we may.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

We are on the motion of Delegate Sinner that further consideration of Proposal 5-12 be temporarily suspended.

Do you want me to put the motion? We are now on the motion of Representative — of Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I see that our Chairman Hoffner is here now. I wonder if we couldn't proceed.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President:

I think the concern that Delegate Sinner has has been resolved.

DELEGATE SINNER: Okay.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: And I think we can continue. I'm sorry I'm late.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner, do you wish to withdraw your motion?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. Chairman:

In view of that, I will withdraw the motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is that all right with the second, Delegate Kwako?

Delegate Sinner has now withdrawn his motion so that now we have before us Proposal 5-12.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-29, 1-36, 1-37, 1-38, 1-39, 1-40, 1-43, 1-44, 1-45, 1-70, 1-75 and 1-76.

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the legislative department, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE
"THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

"Section 1. LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

"The legislative power of the state is vested in a legislature consisting of a senate, composed of not more than forty-nine members, and a house of representatives, composed of not more than ninety-eight members, which jointly are designated as the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

If not, we move to Article or to Section 2.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: There's an amendment at the desk from the Committee on Legislative Functions to delete the word "BRANCH" in the title — delete the word "DEPARTMENT" and insert the word "BRANCH". And I believe that we would also like to amend the "THE" out so the title would read "LEGISLATIVE BRANCH".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: You are making that as a motion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: I move that, yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Hougen.

And the motion is that on page 1, line 7, of Proposal 5-12 that the word "DEPARTMENT" — delete the word "DEPARTMENT" and insert in lieu thereof the word "BRANCH".

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I'd also like to include in that motion — I don't know if the desk has it — the deletion of the article "THE" so it would be just "LEGISLATIVE BRANCH".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch also wished the word "THE" be deleted.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Does Delegate Kelsch want to change the word "DEPARTMENT" to "BRANCH" in line 2?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes, that change should also be included. I don't believe it's on the written amendment.

DESK REPORTER KING: Where is it?
"DEPARTMENT" to "BRANCH" in line 2?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: That material dropped off when we put it together. It's not necessary to amend the title.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: With Delegate Unruh's explanation then, Delegate Kelsch, your original motion will stand to drop the word "THE" and "DEPARTMENT" in line 7 and insert in lieu thereof the word "BRANCH".

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

I'm wondering, Delegate Unruh, do we also have an article number on this one?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

I am going to make a motion following. But if you will include the "ARTICLE IV" in your amendment, that's fine.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Then Delegate Kelsch's motion will also include that in line 6 after "ARTICLE" the Roman numeral "IV" be inserted.

Any further discussion, then we're on the main motion of Delegate Kelsch. If you're in favor you will say "aye," opposed say "no." All those in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment has been adopted.

Now we will go to Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. TERMS OF OFFICE.

"Members of the legislative assembly shall be elected for terms of four years."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. QUALIFICATIONS.

"Each person elected to the legislative assembly must be, on the day of his election, an elector in the district from which he is chosen."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. RESTRICTIONS ON HOLDING OFFICE.

"While serving in the legislative assembly, no member may hold any full-time elective state or political subdivision office nor any full-time appointive state office established by this constitution or designated by law. During the term for which he was elected, no legislator shall be appointed to any office which has been created, or for which the compensation has been increased, by the legislative assembly during that term."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

The Committee on Legislative Functions would like to amend on line 21 in the title of Section 4 by deleting the words "ON HOLDING OFFICE", and I believe the amendment is at the desk.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Clerk will read the amendments on page 1, line 21.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Proposal 5-12.

On page 1, line 21, delete the words "ON HOLDING OFFICE".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

Any further discussion? We're now on the main motion of Delegate Kelsch to remove "ON HOLDING OFFICE" in the title of Section 4.

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the motion carried and we have now deleted it or we have now amended the title.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I would move further amendment on the top of page 2, line 1.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner, is it at the desk?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No.

DELEGATE SINNER: No, it's not. Sorry. But that's one of the problems that Delegate Hoffner had forgotten about. And I think it's got to be corrected. Let me explain what the problem is.

There is a concern that in the language as it was drafted we might prohibit the Legislature from establishing an interim committee office, such as the chairmanship of an interim commission of the Legislature itself, by this language, which never was the intention of the committee, and that we would prohibit members of the Legislature from serving on such committees or even from receiving increased compensation for mileage, something like that, that might go into effect. And the proposed amendment would be to add after the word "office" on line 1 the words "other than an office of the legislative branch". If you would like to have me get that drafted before I present it, that's fine. But I just haven't had time since I thought we were going to go back to the committee with this.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: It seems to me that this is a substantive change. How does the Chair rule?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will rule that this is a substantive change, and that in order to adopt this change it would require a reconsideration.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I don't believe that anyone would have a quarrel with this. But I would suggest that we reconsider our action by which we passed Section 4. Or, no, it wouldn't be Section 4. 1-38. The Committee Proposal No. 1-38.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

I believe that this was on February 1st. So that this will require a two-thirds majority in order to reconsider. Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE BAKER: Well, Mr. President, while there might not be much opposition, there is some. It seems to me that what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. And the purpose of this the first time through, or however many times it went through before it was adopted, was to put the finger on citizens who hold other offices in the state and put some kind of a restriction in their sitting in the Legislature. So I think that same set of rules ought to apply to any other office, even though it may pertain to the Legislature, but which is not an integral part of the legislative process.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: At the risk of being evicted from my accommodations which I now share with the Chairman of our committee, I don't see a need to bring this back and make such a change because I can't understand how such an office in a legislative body would be designated by law as an office. And I think we have an imaginary problem on our hands.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

Doesn't the Legislature set up its interim committees each session? And aren't these chairmen of those committees designated each session? And I — I think that there is a possibility that this is not a problem. But I don't want — I don't think it's the kind of chance that we should take, that this could be construed to be — to affect legislative offices that are within the legislative branch. And we certainly don't want to tie the legislative branch to that kind of a system where they have to create forever their interim committees. And I — I think it's a necessary change.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, the Legislative Council was established in 1947. I can't see where there is any problem. This only applies to offices created by the legislative assembly during that term.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none, now we are on the motion of Delegate Hoffner that we reconsider our action taken on —

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Further considering this, the legislative members, now with the flexible sessions, would be carry-over committees and would no longer be called legislative council committees. And since this was just brought to my attention today and we've been discussing this, I think the members of that committee then would be holdover members and would serve between sessions if there are annual sessions. And therefore I withdraw my motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is that satisfactory with the second?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner, with the consent of his second, now withdraws his motion to reconsider 1-38. The request is granted.

Next we shall have under consideration Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. REAPPORTIONMENT.

"A legislative reapportionment commission, consisting of electors appointed by the district judges in a number and manner as shall be established by the district judges, shall fix the number of senators and representatives and divide the state into as many senatorial districts of compact and contiguous territory as there are senators. The commission shall guarantee, as nearly as practicable, that every voter is equal to every other voter in the state in the casting of ballots for legislative candidates. One senator and at least two representatives shall be apportioned to each senatorial district and be elected at large or from subdistricts thereof. The commission may combine two senatorial districts and provide for the election of senators at large and representatives at large or from subdistricts thereof.

"The commission shall prescribe its own procedures. Upon agreement by a majority of its members, the commission shall file its reapportionment plan with the secretary of state, and it shall become effective sixty days after the date of filing; provided, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, may review any plan adopted by the commission. If the plan fails to meet state or federal constitutional requirements, the court shall direct the commission to revise the plan within a stated time.

"Commission members shall be appointed following adoption of this constitution and immediately following the 1980 general election and every ten years thereafter. No member of the legislative assembly shall be eligible during his term of office, for appointment to the commission. Commission members shall serve until each reapportionment plan becomes finally effective, and shall be compensated as provided by law. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

The Committee on Legislative Functions would like to move the amendment on line 29, page 2, by adding a comma after the word "eligible" so that you'd be setting off the phrase "during his term of office" with commas. The desk has the amendment. I move the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that amendment?

DELEGATE BENSON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Benson.

The motion of Delegate Kelsch is that on line 29, page 2, that a comma be inserted after the word "eligible".

Any discussion? Hearing none, all in favor signify by saying "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried, and the amendment is adopted.

Next we shall go to Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 6. DISTRICTS.

"The legislative district shall be numbered consecutively and be divided into two classes, even-numbered districts constituting one class and odd-numbered districts constituting the other class, so that one-half of the legislators, as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially. When the legislative assembly is reapportioned, the legislators elected prior thereto and retaining their constituencies shall continue in office until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected; but the terms of legislators removed of their constituencies shall be deemed to have expired immediately."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

Again, the Committee on Legislative Functions would like to move an amendment as follows:

On page 3, line 1, delete the words "two classes". Then after the word "even" add the words "and odd" and insert a comma after the word "districts" and then delete the word "constituting". Then delete all of line 2. The Clerk has the amendment. And it will read as amended: "The legislative districts shall be numbered consecutively and divided into even and odd-numbered districts so that one-half of the legislators, as nearly as practicable," et cetera.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I think because of the complexity of this amendment I shall ask this amendment be read from the desk; give everyone a chance to observe it in their books.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal 5-12.

On page 3, line 1, delete the words "two classes" and after the word "even" and before the hyphen insert the words "and odd".

Also in line 1 insert a comma after the word "districts" and delete the word "constituting".

On page 3 delete all of line 2.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I assume that the comma in line 1 after the word "classes" is also removed; is that right?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Can anyone answer Delegate Aubol's question?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes. Yes, that comes out.

DELEGATE KELSCH: The comma goes out after "two classes".

I might mention the reason for the committee's change. They felt that the word "classes" might denote something other than what we meant. We just simply wanted to divide the districts even and odd. This didn't mean anything.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President:

A suggestion came to me after the committee worked on this that "odd and even" sounds better than "even and odd". I wondered if there would be any objection if they were turned around? I'll amend the committee's motion to go "odd and even" instead of "even and odd".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to Delegate Hendrickson's motion?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Second.

DELEGATE QUAM: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Quam.

Any further discussion. We are on then the motion of Delegate Hendrickson that we —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That we do what?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I'm going to ask that the desk prepare — that gets to be a little tricky. And I would ask that the desk prepare —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Do you want to take — on line 1 do you want to strike the word "even" and insert in lieu thereof the word "odd"?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: In the motion for amendment we would strike the words "even and odd" and insert "odd and even".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: In line 1 you want to strike the word "even" and insert the word "odd"?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Yes, sir.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Line 2 you want to strike the word "odd" and insert in lieu thereof the word "even"?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Yes, that's what it would amount to.

Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: While they are working on this change, the argument that was brought to me was that in numbering districts such as this would be that you do number the odd districts first; therefore the argument was brought to me, which I've brought, that "odd" is better to come before "even".

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President:

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I wonder if the Chair will rule if that's a substantive change or not.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will rule that this is not a substantive change.

Now we'll have the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Hendrickson read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The amendment to the amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-12 is as follows:

On page 3, line 1, delete the word "even-numbered", insert in lieu thereof the word "odd-numbered".

On page 3, line 2, delete the word "odd-numbered" and insert in lieu thereof the word "even-numbered".

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: No.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: What do you want?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Line 2 has been deleted. And the language as amended to the first amendment reads "be divided into two classes," and then they add the word "odd" before the hyphen. So all we'd be doing now is saying instead of "even and odd" we'll say "odd and even". So I think that if we want to amend the committee's amendment you'd have to strike the word — you'd have to strike the words "even and odd" and put "odd and even".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch, I wonder if — I think we can afford to take a minute. If you will just come down to the desk and I think the committee amendment can be changed to take care of Hendrickson's proposed amendment very easily.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Oh, I see. Okay.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, while they are doing this would it be in order to express a few words in opposition to all of it?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe right at the moment this would be out of order, Delegate Cart.

Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. Chairman:

I think you're having so much trouble there why can't they say after the word "into" add the word "odd"? Won't that do it?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Well, we have a — I think this is being taken care of at the desk.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I hope while we're waiting everybody is sitting and saying over and over to themselves, "Odd and even, odd and even, even and odd, even and odd" so you will know how to vote.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: As I have it the amendment to the amendment is on page 3, line 1, before the word "even-numbered" insert the words "odd-numbered and".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

There are a few odd things about this amendment that I believe the mover has not considered. The even-numbered or the odd-numbered senators from 1, 3 and so forth were elected for four-year terms the last time. The even-numbered districts are up for election this time. Now if you change those words — and of course they are not necessarily binding on this commission — but it would mean that those who were — that everybody would probably have to run after this apportionment, and that you'd cut those down in the odd-numbered districts, senators at least, that have only served two years of their four-year terms, whereas those that are coming up in the even-numbered districts, they could only be elected for two years and then two years hence they'd have to run again.

So not that this amendment makes this all happen, but it could indicate an intent to this commission that they would have the odd numbers coming up first for election for their four-year terms. So this little amendment could throw some confusion into what the commission does on who will be running this coming election.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: In response to Delegate Longmire, this really isn't as ridiculous, I don't think, as he thinks. Because we do not intend for re-apportionment to go into effect this coming election. And I think this would be in keeping with what he said which districts would be ready for their election. Some of you that are more interested in politics can tell me. But I believe the committee or the ones that brought this suggestion to me actually took this into consideration. So it really isn't this ridiculous an amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? If not — Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President:

I hope the amendment to the amendment is defeated and the amendment is defeated and we can go back to the original language. It seems to me it's perfectly clear; "to be divided into two classes, even-numbered districts constituting one class and odd-numbered district constituting the other class".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Delegate Berg, did you wish the floor?

Hearing none, we are now on the motion of Delegate Hendrickson to amend the proposed amendment offered by Delegate Kelsch. And Delegate Hendrickson's motion merely would change instead of saying "even-numbered" we'd say "odd-numbered" first and "even-numbered" second.

I'm now ready to put the motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "no." I believe the "noes" prevailed unless a division is asked for.

Who asked for division? How many ask for division? All right. The board will be open, you may record your vote. If you vote "aye" you're voting to adopt Delegate Hendrickson's amendment to the amendment. The board will be opened, you may record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye".

Has everybody voted? Anybody wish to change their vote? All right. The vote will be — the Clerk will close the board and take the record.

There were 49 "noes," 38 "ayes." The motion lost.

We are now back to the main motion as offered by Delegate Kelsch. Is there any further discussion? All right. I'm now ready to put the motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "no." I rule the "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE CART: Division.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: How many wish division? All right. The board will be opened. And you will be voting on — if you are voting “aye” you are voting to adopt Delegate Kelsch’s amendment, proposed amendment. The board will be opened, you may indicate your choice. Saugstad votes “aye”.

Has everyone voted? Anyone wish to change their vote? The board will be closed, and the Clerk will take the record.

The vote indicates 56 “ayes,” 42 “nays,” and therefore, the motion is carried and the amendment is adopted.

Now Delegate Cart has asked for the floor.

DELEGATE CART: Well, it seems like I’m voted down. But I just wanted to comment that there would probably be some odd members elected to the Legislature no matter what the designation is.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further profound observations?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Delegate Cart is right. There will be house members.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: I’d like to point out that the odd number’s in the senate, 49; the even number’s in the house, 98.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further amendments?

If not, we will go on to Section 7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: “Section 7. SESSIONS.

“The terms of legislators shall begin on the first Tuesday after the third day of January following their election. The legislative assembly shall meet to organize on the same day and may meet in plenary session no more than eighty natural days during the biennium. The days need not be consecutive, and meetings for the purpose of impeachment or on call of the governor shall not count against the eighty-day limitation. The legislative assembly may authorize its committees to meet at any time during the biennium. Neither house may recess or adjourn for more than three days without consent of the other.”

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will next take Section 8.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: “Section 8. PROCEDURES.

“The senate and the house of representatives shall each elect one of its members presiding officer at the beginning of each regular session.

“A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum. A smaller number may adjourn from day to day and may compel attendance of absent members in a manner, and under a penalty, as may be provided by law.

“Each house is the judge of the qualifications of its members, but election contests shall be subject exclusively to judicial review as provided by law. If two or more candidates for the same office receive an equal and highest number of votes, the secretary of state shall choose one of them by lot.

“Each house shall determine its rules of procedure, and may punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence. With the concurrence of two-thirds of its elected members, either house may expel a member.”

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we’ll go on to Section 9.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: “Section 9. ENACTMENT OF LAWS.

“Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and a recorded vote on any question shall be taken at the request of one-sixth of those present. No bill shall become a law except by a recorded vote of a majority of the members elected to each house.

"No law shall be enacted except by a bill passed by both houses, and no bill shall be so amended on its passage through either house as to change its general subject matter. No bill shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title; but a bill violating this provision shall be invalidated only to the extent the subject is not so expressed.

"Every bill shall be read on two separate natural days, and the readings may be by title only unless a reading at length is demanded by one-fifth of the members.

"No bill shall be amended, extended or incorporated in any other bill by reference to its title only, except in the case of definitions and procedural provisions.

"The presiding officer of each house shall sign all bills passed and resolutions adopted by the legislative assembly, and the fact of signing shall be entered at once on the journal.

"Every law enacted by the legislative assembly shall take effect on July first after its filing with the secretary of state or ninety days after its filing, whichever comes later; unless, by a separate vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the legislative assembly declares it an emergency measure and includes the declaration in the act. An emergency measure shall take the effect and be in force upon its filing with the secretary of state or on a date specified in the measure. Every law enacted by a special session of the legislative assembly shall take effect on a date specified in the act.

"The legislative assembly shall enact all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this constitution. Except as otherwise provided by this constitution no local or special laws shall be enacted, nor shall the legislative assembly indirectly enact special or local laws by the partial repeal of a general law, but laws repealing local or special laws may be enacted."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: The Committee on Legislative Functions would like to suggest an amendment on line 13. We would delete the word "bill" and insert in lieu thereof the word "law". This is on page 4, yes. We thought that we were referring to law, as a bill of the Legislature once enacted would be a law. And I think we meant "law" rather than "bill".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. Chairman:

I have several amendments. Shall I read them all?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Line 17 we would like to amend after the word "members" and before the period add the word "present". We wanted to make sure that the reference — one-fifth of the members present rather than elected members.

And then on line — page 5, line 1, we would move to delete the word "by" after the word "provided" — "otherwise provided by", delete that word and insert in lieu thereof the word "in".

And then after the word "constitution" we would like to insert a comma.

I move these amendments.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

DELEGATE HARDMEYER: Second.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Second.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Just a second.

Delegate Hardmeyer. Now, Delegate Baker, or Delegate Hildebrand actually seconded that.

Now Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I was wondering about the change there with regard to the — to the number of members necessary to demand a reading, if that change would be a substantive change.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I might explain in the Style and Drafting Committee, in treating the question of votes by the Legislature, we could have used — we decided that if we wanted a percentage of the total elected representatives we would add the word “elected”. And we noticed up on line 6 we said “one-sixth of those present”. That would be per recorded vote. We wanted to be sure we were talking about the same thing. So we added “one-fifth of the members” present on line 17. So that by just saying the word “members” we were afraid it was not clear whether we were talking about the constitutional — one-fifth of those elected or one-fifth of those present. And the intent we felt of the committee was — it was clarifying intent rather than changing anything.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker, did you ask for a decision from the Chair or were you just making this as an observation?

DELEGATE BAKER: I guess I was asking for a decision from the Chair, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair is actually in doubt whether this is a substantive change or not. The Chair would prefer that this committee, I think this is the Legislative Committee, would — would someone could — let's see now. We are actually on the motion of Delegate Kelsch to amend. And the question, of course, now is whether or not Delegate Kelsch's amendment is making a substantive change. I believe that Delegate Baker raises — is that on line 17 —

DELEGATE BAKER: I believe so, sir.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: — where he said “one-fifth of the members”? The Chair would rule that this is simply a clarification of the intent. However, if someone wants to move that this is a substantive change I would certainly be more than happy to put that motion to the floor and let the body decide. The Chair is ruling that this is not a substantive change, it's simply to clarify the meaning.

So now is there any further discussion on the proposed amendment as offered by Delegate Kelsch?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Question.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch?

All right. Then, if you vote “aye” you're voting to adopt the proposed amendment; if you're voting “no” you're against it. All in favor signify by saying “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it, and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Pardon me. The Style and Drafting Committee in its considerations, down on line 24, had a question which was not really answered until today. And I discussed this with the Legislative Committee. And I submit that it's not a substantive change, but I have a further amendment and I'd like to have the desk read it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The amendment will be read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal 5-12.

On page 4, on line 24, after the word “assembly” insert the words “which does not specify a subsequent effective date”.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Second by Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: The reason for this amendment is this: That under the way we have drafted this a law enacted by the Legislature could not specify an effective date other than the July 1st date, that is a later date than July 1st, other than having it passed by two-thirds vote. In other words, if we passed a measure stating that it should take effect January 1st, for example an income tax law or some tax law, it would require the Legislature to use the emergency procedure in order to get that new date in. This is not our intention. We want the Legislature to be in the position by a simple majority to put an effective date in the measure later than what would be July 1st. Therefore, the change we felt was necessary in order to untie their hands from having to vote a two-thirds vote and making it an emergency measure when it really wasn't an emergency measure. The other part of the bill that has to do with emergency measures is not under consideration at this time. So we felt this was necessary to clarify the position the Legislature would find itself in.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Let's see, was there a second to that? Delegate Sinner seconded the motion.

Now is there any further discussion?

Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President:

I don't agree that that would have to be a later date. It looks like to me like you could put in April 1st, May 1st, and pass it by the Legislature by a simple majority which would get around the emergency provision the way it's worded now, if I read it right.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

I think the word "subsequent" we hope would clarify that. That if the Legislature specified a date "subsequent" to July 1st it would then be able to go into effect at that date. The problem — the reason this wasn't put in originally was that we thought the Legislature could do this anyway; but the Legislature could in a tax act, for example, that after January 1, 1974, such and such a tax will go into effect. Well, it was pointed out that in some states where the courts have had to rule on this, if the Constitution specifically said that every act goes into effect July 1st, that there was some confusion about whether or not the Legislature could actually do that. And that's why the language was never put in before. But since it has been pointed out that the courts have ruled in differing ways in this, we thought we should put it in to really spell out what our intention was.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I wonder if the Clerk could read that part beginning on line 24 and going all the way down to the period in line 28, including this amendment. I'd like to know just how that sounds.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Will the Clerk read this, please, beginning on line 24, "Every law enacted".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Every law enacted by the legislative assembly which does not specify a subsequent effective date shall take effect on July first after its filing with the secretary of state or ninety days after its filing, whichever comes later; unless, by a separate vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the legislative assembly declares it an emergency measure and includes the declaration in the act."

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Might it be possible with this language to circumvent the intention of having the separate vote and the super majority for an emergency measure?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: This amendment really has nothing to do with emergency measures whatever. All it does is let the Legislature set a date later than July 1st for the elective time to enact the law. A date subsequent to July 1st. That's all it does.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker, do you wish to comment?

DELEGATE BAKER: Well, I still have a question. But if that's the way the legal minds view it, I can't quarrel with that.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

I was wondering how this would affect the Legislature which could meet at any time? Supposing the law was passed July 2nd by the Legislature, would this time — be ninety days?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Did you answer your question, Delegate Rundle?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, there are some questions about this eighty-day session that I think would never be answered for several years.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Thank you. Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

We've got two — we've actually got three effective dates possible; one is a subsequent date which the amendment just took care of, one would be July 1st which would be the normal date, but we have a further clause, that ninety days. And that's the guarantee if the bill is passed in May, let's say convene in May or June, to guarantee a full ninety days to refer it. It cannot become effective even though you go by July. It has to wait a full ninety days. Now if they passed a law in September of the year it would not go into effect until next July unless it was an emergency measure. So it wouldn't change the situation of emergencies. All we are doing is making it clear in this amendment that you could set off a far distant date beyond July 1st, beyond the ninety days.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Could I address this question to Mr. Kelsch, please?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Kelsch, will you yield? All right.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. — Delegate Kelsch, is it your interpretation that this ninety days is mandatory; that the law would have to wait — say if the bill was passed in the early part of May it would still have to wait ninety days before it could go into effect?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Unless it's an emergency — if it's not — the only way you could have it go faster would be an emergency measure. Every law is to wait ninety days. The reason we did that, in the Legislative Committee there was no problem before because the Legislature didn't meet in April, May and June.

DELEGATE CART: Right.

DELEGATE KELSCH: So in order to guarantee the right of the referral, not to jeopardize that right, we set a limit of at least ninety days unless it's an emergency measure.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

If not, we are now on the main motion of Delegate Unruh that the proposed amendment to Section 9 of 5-12 on line 24, page 4, be adopted.

If you are in favor of the amendment vote "aye;" if you are against the amendment vote "no."

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment has been adopted.

Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, now that that amendment has been adopted we no longer need the words in line 30, "and be in force". Therefore, I move to strike the words "and be in force" in line 30.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Someone I heard. Delegate Sanstead.

Delegate — saw someone get up here a moment ago. Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Could we have an explanation of that clause "effect"?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Originally, Mr. President, we thought distinction could be drawn between "take effect" and "be in force". But now Delegate Unruh's motion has clarified that. So in line 24 we simply say "take effect", so in lines 29 and 30 all we have to do is "take effect".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Could we have that amendment stated again, read?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. The proposed amendment as offered by Delegate Dobson will be read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Redraft Proposal 5-12 are as follows:

On page 4, line 30, delete the words "and be in force".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Hearing none, I'm about to put the motion. The motion is whether or not you wish to adopt the amendment as offered by Delegate Dobson. All those in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the motion carries and the amendment is adopted.

Any further discussion on Article 9?

Hearing none, we'll move to Article 10.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 10. OPEN SESSIONS.

"All sessions of the legislative assembly, including the committee of the whole and meetings of legislative committees, shall be open and public."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will go on to Section 11.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 11. ARREST PRIVILEGE.

"Members of the legislative assembly shall be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions, and in going to or returning from the same, except in cases of felony or breach of the peace. For words used in any speech or debate in the legislative assembly, they shall not be questioned in any other place."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will go on to Section 12.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I recall, and I've just checked, that originally this section said that members of the Legislature could not be arrested except in cases of treason, felony or breach of peace. Then we took "treason" out of the Constitution and so we took "treason" again out of this section. Now we put "treason" back in the Constitution; do we want to put "treason" back in the section? I ask Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I believe treason is a felony, so I think we've got it covered without the necessity to read it in. It carries imprisonment in the penitentiary as a punishment.

The committee does have some amendments — they are at the desk — on this section, Mr. President.

On line 9 before the word "ARREST" in the title insert the words "IMMUNITIES FROM ARREST" — "IMMUNITIES FROM".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The proposed amendment will be read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-12. On page 5, line 9, after the first period insert the words "IMMUNITIES FROM". And also in line 9 delete the word "PRIVILEGE".

Line 10, delete the word "privileged" and insert in lieu thereof the word "immune."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Stanton seconds the motion.

Now Delegate Kelsch.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President, I think that amendment is wrong. The committee staff representative is here, he thought the same thing. My understanding of the amendment and Delegate Kelsch, was that we were to strike the words "ARREST PRIVILEGE" and insert the word "IMMUNITIES" alone. And that in line 9 we would strike the word "privileged" and insert in lieu thereof the word "immune".

Would some other member of the committee confirm or deny that? I am not positive either. My cohorts here tell me I am right.

DELEGATE KELSCH; I think you're right, Delegate Sinner, and if we could — if I could amend my amendment. All you'd have to do to amend the amendment is strike the word — insert — strike the words — strike the word "from" from the proposed addition and then on the "privilege" add "arrest" before that. So "ARREST PRIVILEGE" is stricken. That will do it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch, I wonder if you would not step down to the desk.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: If I may explain the reasons for the committee's feelings. It was because the term "privilege" was foreign to any uses that any of us were familiar with, our common usage of the term. And also because the title did not seem to include the language of the last sentence of the section which covers immunity from suit for speech or debate used in the legislative assembly. And that was the reason for the change.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle, have you asked for the floor?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

While he was getting the amendment ready I was just going to ask if this was retroactive or if this would be an ex post facto law. Otherwise the state owes me twenty bucks for six years ago.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Anyone wish to, in the committee, advise Delegate Rundle?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

The immunity goes to the arrest. It doesn't mean you don't have to pay a fine.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Want me to read it?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The amendment is now prepared and will be read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-12.

Page 5, line 9, delete the words "ARREST PRIVILEGE" and insert in lieu thereof the word "IMMUNITIES".

Line 10, delete the word "privileged" and insert in lieu thereof the word "immune".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe that — is there any further discussion? Hearing none, now we're on the motion of Delegate Kelsch to adopt the amendments as read from the desk. If you're in favor you can vote "aye;" if you're opposed to the amendment you will vote "no." All those in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Are there any further amendments to Section 11? Hearing none, we will now go to Section 12.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 12. CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS, CONVENTIONS.

"Any constitutional amendment may be proposed by the legislative assembly and, if agreed upon by a recorded vote of three-fifths of the members elected to each house, it shall be submitted to the electors at the next general election. If a majority of votes cast thereon are affirmative, the amendment shall be effective thirty days after the election.

"The legislative assembly may by law submit to the electors the question: 'Shall a constitutional convention be called?' If the question has not been submitted once in any thirty-year period, the secretary of state shall place it on the ballot at the next general election. If a majority of votes cast thereon are affirmative, the legislative assembly shall provide for the election of delegates and the holding of the convention."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, we will move to Section 13.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 13. AUDITOR GENERAL.

"The legislative assembly shall provide for the appointment of an auditor general. He shall audit the receipt, expenditure and use of public funds, as provided by law, and shall be responsible to the legislative assembly in the performance of those duties."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will go on to Section 14.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 14. COMPENSATION.

"Each member of the legislative assembly shall receive a salary and expense allowances as provided by law, but no increase in the amounts thereof shall apply to the legislative assembly which enacts the increase."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12 be deemed properly reengrossed and placed on the calendar.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE DIEHL: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Second by Delegate Diehl.

We're on the motion of Delegate Unruh that Proposal 5-12 be deemed properly re-engrossed as amended and be placed on the calendar for second passage on the eleventh order. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. We now have before us Proposal 5-12 as amended.

Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, if you vote "aye" you vote to pass or adopt Proposal 5-12; if you vote "no" we are voting against the adoption. The key will be opened, you may record your vote.

Saugstad votes "aye".

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change his vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses 88 "ayes," 4 "nays," six absent and not voting. Therefore, Proposal 5-12 has been adopted.

President Wenstrom will now take the Chair.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: May we be on the eighth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: There will be a meeting of the Alternate Proposal and Ballot Committee in the Pitcairn Room in the west balcony immediately on adjournment. We will be discussing such things as short ballot and one-house Legislature. If anyone would like to appear before the committee, you are welcome.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would like to announce a meeting of the Finance and Tax Committee immediately upon adjournment in the Blue Room. Coffee should be available. We apparently are in some trouble with the state debt limit section which we approved on Thursday. I would invite any member or any delegate who is interested to come down to the committee hearing or committee meeting, rather.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM; The Chair will recognize Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: The Committee on Coordination and Transition will be meeting immediately after adjournment in Rooms G-5 and 6 on the west side just below the President's office.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Public Information Committee meets immediately after this session in the Large Hearing Room.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further?

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

I would like to have about a five-minute meeting of the Judiciary Committee in its usual place immediately after adjournment, and bring with you the proposal on political subdivisions, your copy of it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the ninth order of business — Introduction and Reference of Proposals.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-7, submitted by the Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage.

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the question as to whether the proposed constitution shall contain a provision declaring persons eighteen years of age or older adults shall be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue on the Constitutional Convention Ballot."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 is referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

We'll be on the twelfth order of business — Motions and Resolutions.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. G, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Constitutional Convention to the chorus of the Bismarck Elks Lodge No. 1199 for performing at the opening session of the plenary session."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I move that the Rules be suspended and that Resolution G be read in its entirety, not be printed as a proposal, not be referred to committee, and be placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that Resolution — E, is it? E?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: G.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: G.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — G, like in ginger, not be printed as a resolution, but that it be printed in the bill — in the Journal, that it not be referred to committee, that the Rules be suspended and it be placed on the calendar for first passage as read — final passage as read.

You will read the resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution G introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Constitutional Convention to the chorus of the Bismarck Elks Lodge No. 1199 for performing at the opening session of the plenary session.

"WHEREAS, the plenary session of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention convened at the State Capitol at Bismarck on January 3, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, the chorus of the Bismarck Elks Lodge No. 1199 has been designated as the Governor's Chorus for the year 1972; and

"WHEREAS, this chorus, under the direction of Mr. K. K. Kittler, sang several appropriate and moving selections during the course of the Constitutional Convention's opening ceremonies;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the Constitutional Convention express its sincere appreciation to the chorus of the Bismarck Elks Lodge No. 1199, and its director, Mr. K. K. Kittler, for its excellent performance during the Constitutional Convention's opening session on January 3, 1972.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the clerk of the Convention forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to the Bismarck Elks Lodge No. 1199."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of Resolution G. I believe I need a second.

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

Is there any discussion? The question is on the adoption of the Resolution G. As many as are in favor of the motion to adopt will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the resolution is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. H, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing appreciation to the North Dakota National Guard and to Major General LaClair A. Melhouse for their assistance to the North Dakota Constitutional Convention in the opening ceremony of the plenary session on January 3, 1972."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I move that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution H be read in its entirety, not to be printed as a proposal, nor referred to committee, and be placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that Resolution H, the Rules be suspended, Resolution H be not printed as a proposal, and be printed in the Journal, that it not be referred to the committee but that it be placed on the calendar for final passage as read.

The Clerk will read the resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. H, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing appreciation to the North Dakota National Guard and to Major General LaClair A. Melhouse for their assistance to the North Dakota Constitutional Convention in the opening ceremony of the plenary session on January 3, 1972.

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention opened its plenary session on January 3, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota National Guard and General Melhouse performed a commendable service in making arrangements and assisting in the formal opening ceremony of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention of 1972; and

"WHEREAS, this ceremony enabled the delegates to begin their Convention duties in a manner appropriate to the importance of their task;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the Convention express its appreciation to the North Dakota National Guard and Major General LaClair A. Melhouse for their assistance in helping to make the opening ceremony of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention of 1972 a memorable and historical event for Convention delegates and all the people of this state.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that an enrolled copy be forwarded by the chief clerk of the Convention to the North Dakota National Guard and to Major General LaClair A. Melhouse."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the resolution. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Solberg.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the adoption of the resolution will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The resolution is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. I, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing appreciation to the North Dakota Highway Department for the use of their facilities and for other assistance."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President. I move that the Rules be suspended and that Resolution I be read in its entirety, not be printed as a proposal, nor referred to committee, and be placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution I be read in its entirety, not be referred to committee, that it be printed in the Journal, that it be placed on the calendar for first passage as read by the Clerk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. I, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing appreciation to the North Dakota Highway Department for the use of their facilities and for other assistance.

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention, while meeting in Bismarck during the course of its deliberations, has had many of its delegates who desired to meet during the evening and discuss provisions of the constitution; and

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Highway Department has granted delegates full use of the highway building auditorium on numerous occasions for such meetings; and

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Highway Department has been most helpful in other innumerable ways;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the North Dakota Highway Department be extended the most sincere appreciation of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention for its assistance and help to Convention delegates.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the clerk of the convention forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to the North Dakota Highway Commissioner."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the resolution. Do we have a second? Second by Delegate Litten.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of this adoption will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the resolution is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution J, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing appreciation to Delegate Joseph Byrne for his efforts in securing federal funds for the use of the Convention."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President:

I move that the Rules be suspended, the Resolution J be read in its entirety, not be printed as a proposal and not be referred to a committee, and placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution J not be referred to committee, that it be printed in the Journal, that it be placed on the calendar for first passage as read by the Clerk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. J, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing appreciation to Delegate Joseph Byrne for his efforts in securing federal funds for the use of the Convention.

"WHEREAS, the delegates to the 1972 Constitutional Convention are in the final days of their work in proposing a revision of the constitution of 1889; and

"WHEREAS, it will soon become necessary to inform the public of the revisions and changes which have been proposed; and

"WHEREAS, an educational program for public information is both necessary and costly; and

"WHEREAS, Delegate Joseph Byrne, during the past six months, has expended considerable time, effort and personal expense, successfully, to secure funds from the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development, for Convention expenses; and

"WHEREAS, this Convention has been informed by the Department of Housing and Urban Development that a sum of $44,189 has been granted to it for research and technical costs, thereby releasing a similar amount of the Convention funds for other uses, among them public information purposes;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That this Convention express its gratitude to Delegate Byrne for his untiring efforts in successfully acquiring the sum of $44,189, thereby releasing Convention funds for other uses, among them public informational purposes;

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Convention express its regrets that Delegate Byrne ceased his efforts when he did;

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the clerk of the Convention be instructed to forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to Delegate Byrne."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the resolution.

Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: How about a big hand for Delegate Byrne?

(Applause)

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the resolution.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I move that we all rise to indicate a "yes" vote; that we rise, stand.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The delegates will please rise.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The resolution is adopted.

Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: I don't think it's quite fair to take the credit on this because I had the help and the fine assistance of President Wenstrom and Dean Bard. The three of us received quite a priceless education on how to proceed in a bureaucracy, and we enjoyed it. And of course like everything else, the more you know, and you look back, why you would do some things differently, probably come out a little better. However, really, in substance, we did receive very fine cooperation from Housing and Urban Development officials. They were somewhat caught unawares because of the fact that this has been terse money, they didn't know where to get the money. It was through the help of our good friend Senator Young, and specifically his Administrative Aide Chris Sylvester, to help guide us through some of the tangles of bureaucratic life to come out with at least some success. And I'm glad that we were at least able to get some money, and I hope it does help us in our post-Convention work. Thank you very much.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May I express my gratitude to the Convention for doing this little token of appreciation for Delegate Byrne. I have to be honest in saying that had it not been for Joe's tenacity and his stick-to-it-ness that we would never have gotten that off the ground. It was because of him that we wrote to the department, at the time right after the first three days of the session, and we didn't — we didn't have an answer from them for several months. And anyone with lesser determination, it would have been a complete failure, and we wouldn't have gotten a nickel out of the thing. So I'm really happy the Convention did this for Joe.

Anything further at the desk?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. K, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the Grand Forks Red River High School Band for its performance at the opening ceremonies of the Constitutional Convention's plenary session."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I move that the Rules be suspended, and that Resolution —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM. K.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: — K be read in its entirety, not printed as a proposal, not referred to committee, and be placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Resolution K not be referred to committee, that it not be printed as a bill, that it be read in its entirety, that it be printed in the Journal, that it be placed on the calendar for first passage as read by the Clerk.

Have a second?

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Second by Delegate Rosendahl.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. K, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the Grand Forks Red River High School Band for its performance at the opening ceremonies of the Constitutional Convention's plenary session.

"WHEREAS, the Grand Forks Red River High School Band, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth M. Larsen, is the official 1972 Governor's Band; and

"WHEREAS, this band performed in an admirable fashion at the opening ceremonies of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention's plenary session at the State Capitol on January 3, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, the band's performance greatly added to the pomp and ceremony of the opening day's activities;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the Convention express its hearty and sincere appreciation to the Grand Forks Red River High School Band and its director, Mr. Kenneth M. Larsen, for its excellent performance at the opening of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention's plenary session on January 3, 1972.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that an enrolled copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Grand Forks Red River High School."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the resolution. Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of its adoption will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The resolution is adopted.

Anything further at the desk?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yeah, I've got some announcements.

Delegate Sondreal would like to announce that Senator Oscar Sorlie from District 20 is in the Convention chambers today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Senator Sorlie here? Senator Sorlie?

DELEGATE LITTEN: I think he just left.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate O'Toole would like to announce that the sixth grade at Cathedral School, Bismarck, North Dakota, and their teacher, Mrs. Gallup, are in the gallery today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm afraid they have left us.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Scribes & Schiveners would like to announce that their last social gathering will be tomorrow night at the Legion Club. And there are posters on the bulletin board telling the different hours of the scheduled events.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further?

DELEGATE WARNER: Mr. President:

Senator Sorlie is now in the chambers.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Senator Sorlie approach the rail and be recognized by the Convention?

DELEGATE LITTEN: He left again.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Has he gone? Senator Sorlie served many, many years in this chamber, so I'm sure he's checking on us. (Applause)

The Chair will recognize Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: There will be a short meeting of the Calendar Committee tomorrow morning at eight-twenty.

I now move that the absent members be excused.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves that the absent delegates be excused. And it's seconded by Delegate Kwako.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the absent delegates are excused.

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Is the desk clear? I now move that we adjourn until 8:30 A.M. February 10th.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves that we do now adjourn until 8:30 A.M. February 10th.

May I have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. We will be adjourned until tomorrow morning.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 4:44 P.M., Wednesday, February 9, 1972, until 8:30 A.M., Thursday, February 10, 1972.)

VOLUME XXVI

(February 10, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The twenty-sixth day of the Plenary Session commenced at 8:52 A.M., Thursday, February 10, 1972, as follows:

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

Our Chaplain this morning is Pastor Thomas G. Sands, Bismarck Church of God.

REV. THOMAS G. SANDS: Let us pray.

Eternal God, this morning we thank Thee for the privilege of calling upon Your name. We recognize the awesome responsibility that lies before this body this morning, this assembled Convention. And, Oh God, we ask that Thy Holy Spirit and Thy blessing, Thy special wisdom and understanding that can only come from Thee would enlighten every heart this morning. May the business and matters that come before them today be discussed in such a manner that it may prove beneficial to every citizen of this great State for which they represent.

Father, we ask Thy blessing upon each individual, each member, each participant today. Let us, Oh God, recognize the hand of leading in all that is said and done. This we shall be careful to praise Thee for, for we know that Thou will hear and answer our prayer. In Jesus' name we humbly pray. Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the third order of business — Roll Call.

The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your presence. (Applause)

The key will be closed. Roll call indicated 98 present. That was worthy of applause.

We will be on the fourth order of business — Approval of the Journal.

DESK REPORTER KING: No. We did it yesterday.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: There isn't any.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No Journal.

We will be on the fifth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on the Committee on Constitutional Ballot that Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 be indefinitely postponed.

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I just might mention, so that they don't have to look this up in the book, — excuse me — this is the proposal in regards to lotteries and gift enterprises. And what it would do, it would be to reinstate the old language back into the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

To amplify that rather sketchy explanation, Alternate Proposal 4-2 is the vehicle by which the people of North Dakota when they vote on this can make a choice as to whether they will be silent on the subject of lotteries, gift enterprise tickets, and presumably gambling in any other way, or whether they will retain the present language in the Constitution which is the foundation on which is built our body of laws that generally prohibit gambling — intends to at least.

Now I don't want to open up the same old argument here again, but I wonder if we have seriously considered the implications of this proposition. I'm thinking of the 15,000-odd tithing — tithing members of various denominations, Christian denominations in this State, who regard this subject very seriously, and who vote on this subject whenever the subject is brought up before them. They vote. I don't know whether it's a hundred percent or anything like that, but I'm sure it's a far, far higher percentage than is generally the case on any other subject, and who have been silent, I'll grant, up to now on this subject which may lead some of the delegates here to the thought they don't care any more. I assure you that this is not the case. These folks know very well what the situation is if you take this matter out of the Constitution, that the next step inevitably will be an approach and a very suave approach to the Legislature to modify the body of law that is there now so as to allow these innocent games of chance at the parochial high schools or the American Legion or some other group or organization who use this now in the form of fund raising so as to remove this double standard and remove this hypocrisy.

Now these folks are not the least bit frightened by those terms. We realize that we have many laws which are loosely enforced; specifically, the speed laws. How many of us are in violation of the speed laws on the highways? Quite a few, I'm sure. Yet we don't want to remove the speed laws. This is a handy tool if speeding gets out of hand. And this is the same attitude that I and the folks that I'm talking about, serious people on this question, want to have a strong law so that if this business gets out of hand it can be dealt with. And that's all there is to that. You can't embarrass this large block of votes by throwing those words that are supposed to embarrass them at them. It just won't work. Because they know that one thing leads to another, and in this second step that I started to describe before I got off the subject, the suave approach to the Legislature, to open up this field just a little bit to accommodate the innocent game of chance, that the promoters will be perfectly frank and admit that, "Oh, yes, this will allow the punchboards in the corner store. But, after all, the kids are going to spend those nickels and dimes anyway. And it does them no more harm to do it that way than it does to buy candy or something else that isn't good for them." And so there's a perfectly good chance that the Legislature might respond to that, particularly if the people have just recently approved a constitutional amendment of this kind. And then the next step beyond that is that, "Well, if a punchboard is all right in the corner store, why can't I have a slot machine in my Elks Club?" Well, that's a pretty easy step. And then of course it's just automatic from then on to get them in the filling stations and the grocery stores and the laundromats and everywhere else.

And so how do these folks feel, this 15,000-odd segment of our voting society? The way to deal with the situation is to hit the thing in the head right away, and that's what they'll do. And if you want to risk putting that kind of a — of a burden on the back of the main body of this Constitution, then by all means indefinitely postpone this. If you want to be a little bit prudent and give the main body a little better chance, then set this aside and do not adopt the Committee Report for indefinite postponement.

DELEGATE McELROY: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McElroy.

DELEGATE McELROY: I'd like to share Mr. Baker's and others' position that this was not a unanimous vote of our Committee. I certainly agree that this is a real sleeper, and that in the days before the election it could become a very emotional issue. And unless you have some kind of a safety valve, I feel that we would be in real trouble in getting the Constitution passed. And I would certainly urge a red vote on this one.

DELEGATE WARNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Warner.

DELEGATE WARNER: I must also rise with the same feelings that Mr. Baker has. I want to remind the delegates to this Convention that a former Attorney General of this State served time in Leavenworth for playing with the gambling boys. And I share the fears of Delegate Baker. The next move after they get through with the suave amendments and laws as to the clubs and the good ladies playing bingo would be pari-mutuel betting, which has been repudiated by the voters of this State I know at least once and perhaps twice. I must warn you of the possibility of the Mafia, who move in like flies to the honey. I must remind you of the position that former Governor, now Federal Judge Kerner, finds himself in in Illinois. I think this is one of the real sleepers of this Convention. I urge you to vote against the recommendation of the Committee.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Excuse me.

Fellow Delegates:

I think that we're getting off the point. I think that — and I think we did in our Ballot Committee consider each and every one of these alternate proposals as potential vehicles to defeat the overall document. Now we have to put them in priorities.

This particular Committee dealt with 4-2 extensively. Over two days ago we moved to indefinitely postpone this measure. We reconsidered it, we held hearings; no one appeared. Those that advocate an alternate proposal on 4-2 didn't come forth with any other idea but what is in the present Constitution. Now, I think we're shirking our responsibility if we ignore the section on lotteries in our present Constitution and leave it as it is. I think that was the feeling of this delegation when we voted to repeal lotteries. I think we should stand pat with that decision. I do not think that 4-2 is at the top of the priority list on alternate measures. We have about eight to consider. We can't put eight on the ballot. So let's get things in perspective. I urge you to stand by the Committee's Report to indefinitely postpone 4-2.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President:

We are now going into an area that I think is very important for the adoption of this Constitution. Now I'm for having two set-asides in this area. But I agree that this proposal is not — will not do the job. There should be some restrictions in there so that this can be enforced if the people adopt it. I think it should be very strong.

Now we have two choices here; I think if we turn down this Committee Report, we're telling the Committee to come up with an alternative that will do what we want. But to accept the Committee Report for indefinite postponement is not the answer. I think we should send this back to the Committee and ask the Committee to — ask the Committee to come up with an alternate that will be enforceable. And we're saying — if we send this back, we're saying that we do want an alternate. And I think we have to make some of these decisions now. But to say that this is top priority, I don't think this is the decision we're making right now. I think we should reject this motion and indefinitely postpone this Committee Report and send it back to Committee and say that we want a proposal that will be enforceable.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

I think before a vote is taken on this we should announce what are the eight proposals so everybody understands them. If you want eight on the ballot, tell us you want eight on the ballot, side issues; you want four, I think the Committee has to know how many you want. I think, myself, that we should get some direction from this body so we know where we're going. There's no use us sitting up there in the dome, I call it, wasting our time, spinning our wheels, when we don't know what you want. I think it's time that you tell us what you want. Do you want three issues, four issues or if you want all eight on. It doesn't make me personally any difference which way you want it. But I think we have to get some kind of direction. And as we vote on this, I understand there's two more proposals coming on the floor this morning with the recommendation of the Committee for indefinite postponement, and the reason for bringing these on the floor this morning was to try to find out exactly what the feeling is. Like what was expressed here earlier, we played around with this for two or three days, hoping somebody would come up and give us some real definite points of what they wanted here. But so far we haven't gotten this. And this is what we're asking for this morning. I think that if we could get this kind of direction, the Ballot Committee could move forward. Otherwise, the Committee and the Chairman of the Committee are absolutely stymied.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Erickson.

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I'd like to point out, like Delegate Warner did mention here earlier, that we did vote on this twice; in 1964 the "no" vote had a margin of 34,000, and in 1968 they had a margin of 48,000. So I think the people have pretty well spoken on this issue, and I think it should be set aside. I therefore ask for a defeat of the indefinite postponement.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President.

I think that Delegate Hoffner has spoken at the heart of this thing and we should send this back to committee. We are dealing with something that's potentially extremely explosive; I think most of us will admit that.

Personally, should this be an alternate, I could very easily talk to my people and in all fairness say, Let's defeat this thing and leave it up to the Legislature." But I cannot fairly tell them, "We left you no choice. That is taken out." So I think this should be an alternate proposal or should be considered more seriously. And I ask that you do not accept the Committee's indefinite postponement.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and Members:

We in the Committee have chewed this over just like we are starting to do here now. Just one point that doesn't seem to be brought out much, and that is we — we I think all agree that thousands upon thousands of people gamble. And is that the kind of example we like to leave to our young people? "Well, it's all right for me to gamble, but don't you gamble." I think we are missing one of the points here. We took a pretty brave and bold step in this session when we eliminated this part. And now we want to make it a side issue again. We, the Committee, I think, have wrestled with this problem very seriously. And I want to admit that I'm one of the ones that asked for indefinite postponement because we couldn't come up with anything — any answer.

The Senate in the last session wrestled with this problem. Senator Larson from Nelson County worked hard with many people and had a proposal that would modify, I suppose would be the word, tried to spell out this in some degree, but his efforts went to naught. There's lots of laws on the books about gambling. And I think this is a hot one, and it doesn't belong on the ballot.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Fellow Delegates:

As long as there's so many people against indefinitely postponing this, I want to rise to agree with Delegate Hoghaug. My information in talking with people would be a little different than yours because everyone has been proud of us for the fact that we would take something out of the Constitution that was so definitely statutory, and instead of being upset about it have felt that we were quite a body to do this. And definitely I certainly don't feel that the Legislature would permit legalized gambling in North Dakota. And I feel we should indefinitely postpone this.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I just wanted to add one more point to what Delegate Hoffner and Delegate Chase said here. I think they are right philosophically. You have two — our Committee has two problems when they look at these alternate proposals; we look at the philosophic matter of the particular thing, and I would say philosophically this is fairly high on our list so far as things that we might consider for an alternate proposal, but then in finally passing we get down to the nitty-gritty of the wordage. And as was suggested in the Committee, "Well, maybe we should bar pari-mutuel gambling, but allow the others." You get into these various degrees, of course. And has been pointed out in other states the way they fought the entrenched illegal gambling was by allowing pari-mutuel gambling. So this is the thing the Committee's had to face. How do you word this thing to get the job done? We recognize that it's rather a hypocritical thing there now. And I think a good majority of the Committee felt that it was a legislative matter, and very few people had gotten very much heat on it, and this was where we should leave it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

I didn't quite follow Delegate Chase's argument that if we don't put this on as a side issue that we are taking all the power away from the Legislature. I don't think we are saying that at all. I think the Legislature has full power even if we don't have anything in the Constitution on this thing.

I also don't think this analogy is fair that we sometimes speed on the highways, and that we don't want speed limits we have got. I have exceeded the speed limit once or twice on a highway and a patrolman has never failed to pick me up when he has caught me; although he has never arrested me for shaking dice in a bar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Mr. Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, Fellow Members:

I have two questions; one, did we have a moral question to the people where we have taken out a moral section in the Constitution to give them the chance to vote on that on the side issues? Should we keep most of our side issues which should be removed which are controversial, like this? The other thing is I only have six proposals in my book, and people are talking about eight and some others coming in. I don't think we should indefinitely postpone any of them until we get them all before us and then decide which ones are alternate proposals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Well, just one comment. Here again we are putting responsibility on the Legislature. And I've always been told that you cannot legislate morality. And if that's the case, I think it's our responsibility and I surely would support seeing this go back to committee for reconsideration.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I would just like to remind the delegates here I think that when we voted to eliminate this provision from the Constitution earlier in this State we simply recognized the facts of life. West of the river is still one of the greatest gambling places in the State, and so is the rest of other areas. And we completely tied up our law enforcement agencies because you've got whole communities involved and the law enforcement people back away from it. Because we take in everywhere. You start pointing your finger at one, everybody else jumps. I think we have recognized the facts of life. I think the people recognize it. I don't think it's a controversial issue. Some people claim it is. I think it is well off the ballot. And then the Legislature will be in a position to demand enforcement of proper laws instead of such a blanket law that puts everything under a cloud.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: I speak in favor of a "no" vote on indefinitely postponing this issue. I think we also need to face the facts of life. The facts are that we are pouring a heavy burden on the whole Constitution unless we give the people some way to go on this issue. The people out there aren't really talking about bingo; they are talking about organized gambling and the rest of it. They have spoken on it a couple of times, and I think we should listen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President:

I'd like to second Delegate Decker's idea that as far as the mechanics of this thing, if we as delegates are to decide what we are going to do here we almost have to have all issues in front of us that are going to be alternate proposals. Because if we vote one down, the next one comes up, and then we look back there and six alternate proposals to go, is one better than the one we are talking about? Now we only have two of them on the ballot. I can't see why we can't direct that one up and indefinitely postpone this thing now to present the thing in the way that all of us make a final analysis as to what ought to be in there, what has the importance or warrant of being on the ballot.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

I wonder if the Ballot Committee could consider doing just that. I feel quite strongly also that in order to — there are two factors you have to consider; the number of alternates and the number that we want on the ballot. And I might be willing to go one more on the ballot as an alternate if I felt it was important. And I think the rest of us — we have to have that information to make that decision, we need the eight alternates, we need all eight with the Committee's recommendation on priority and the number that they would like on there. We are looking at them all at once to make a collective decision. Otherwise we are going to rehash everything the Committee does each time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President:

May I yield my time to Delegate McIntyre?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may certainly.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Fellow Delegates:

Many of the Committee members shared the concern that Delegates Kelsch, Scheel and Decker have mentioned. But there's danger here in that if this Committee waits until we have prepared alternate proposals and drop them on this Convention in one lump sum, you're going to wait for awhile and it very well could be that we're going to drop this thing right in your laps on the day that we're running out of time. So there's a danger here. We considered this possibility in committee yesterday and found that this would be the best way to get some proposals out on the floor. So we take one — each one individually and decide whether or not this is an alternate proposal that should go on the ballot. Otherwise, we're going to be down to the twenty-ninth or thirtieth day and we'll drop this thing on the full Convention. Then I wonder how fairly we'll decide what our priorities are?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President:

First of all, on a point of personal privilege, I think I owe an apology to a couple of delegates yesterday who asked for divisional questions for good and substantial reasons which were unknown to me at the time I made the statement.

I think that Delegate McIntyre's correct. It seems to me that we ought to judge these things on their merits rather than on the mechanical problem that we have; we ought to have six or we ought to have five or we ought to have seven on the ballot. If we — maybe we shouldn't have any. Maybe we should have two. I don't — I think it would be a mistake for us to get a hangup and say, well, we are going to have five. So we have two good ones and we throw on three dead ringers just so that we have five, or that we refuse to have eight just because eight is a bad number even though there might be eight very meritorious proposals to have as alternates. So I would hope that we judge these things on their merits primarily and let the procedural matters take a back seat.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Bassingthwaite.

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think we should resist this motion to indefinitely postpone this proposal. I think it's really important that we have this on the ballot for the people to make a decision.

I think what we are really doing is softening up this idea of gambling. I don't think we should start with that. I think that we should not open up the State to legalized gambling. And I think if we don't have it on the — give the people a choice this is what their thought will be, that this Convention has done just that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. Chairman:

I've been listening to all of this and some of it is quite serious. We run into this problem; our problem is if we are going to propose an alternate proposal we feel that it has to be a real viable alternate; it is something that we can make a choice on. And I can't help but feel that we are being a little bit hypocritical on this gambling deal. Because it turns out to be that those who feel that we did right when we struck this provision out of the Constitution, that we were — by doing that we are going to begin to control gambling in North Dakota, while on the other hand those who would speak to retain this in the Constitution, it looks real good, but the facts of the matter are, I think, that our Constitution as it was allows gambling in North Dakota. It makes it extremely hard to control. And I know from personal experience that we have a State's Attorney — an Attorney General who went down the road the lady was speaking about because he was going to enforce the gambling laws in North Dakota as they were written. And I think we should indefinitely postpone this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Fellow Delegates:

The question has been raised at times as to what laws we should have, as to the number of side issues and so forth. As one not on the Committee and not very conversant with the matter, I would like someone on the Committee to brief me a little bit on this philosophy; what have other states done, how successful have they been in passing constitutions that don't have side issues, what's the effect of a great number of side issues? There are many questions that I as one on the sidelines have to have somehow answered I believe before I can make wise decisions.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Can I add to that question and ask one of the Committee members to tell us how many alternate proposals are in and what they are? And furthering Delegate Burbidge's question, what did Illinois have on its constitution in side issues? Principally Illinois.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Illinois had four side issues I believe on their ballot. And they were worded a little differently. Some of them had an "A" and "B" choice and some had a straight "Yes" and "No" choice.

As far as the alternate proposals, you have six of them in your book; 4-1 is for single house legislature, 4-2 is the one we're discussing now, 4-3 which is also at the desk for indefinite postponement refers to the long ballot and short ballot, 4-4 refers to the initiative and referendum, 4-5 refers to appointment of judges rather than election, 4-6 the change there is to two years for House members rather than the four years that was passed the other day. We have not received officially yet the eighteen year old proposal, but that passed on the floor here yesterday, so that will be 4-7. And we understand there's a right-to-work proposal that will probably be on the floor here today. So that would be the eight proposals that we have been informed will be coming before us anyway.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I also am on this Committee. And, as you were told, we have eight proposals. And each one to certain individuals on the Committee and the outside is the most important one. So our Committee has wrestled this for days, and we have ended up exactly where we started. And this is one of the reasons that we thought that the delegates would give us a sense of direction by either telling us that these three are just as important as the others or that there are some that can be eliminated.

Originally we took a straw vote and we came out that there should not be more than five alternate proposals. As we progressed in our discussions, however, I think I'm safe in saying that we've sort of felt — although it wasn't officially expressed — that it should not be more than three.

Many of us have been out in the home territories, and otherwise, during the past week. And it has been brought to us that we should not cloud the issue of the main Constitution with a bunch of alternate proposals. And generally I think if you go home this week-end you will find that this is the pulse of the public. They are interested in what we as 98 delegates are doing up here. And they are not interested in taking every little hot potato and throwing it back to the people.

And although my sympathies on this one before the delegates now is that it is something that we are taking out and it properly should go to the public, nevertheless, I voted in favor of indefinite postponement merely for the reason I think there are other issues that are more important. And that if we are going to limit it, we have got to eliminate some of them.

Already I think our Committee has pretty well agreed that unicameral is going to be one of the proposals. Secondly, I think that most of them agree that the eighteen year old is one of the proposals. We have already, at least temporarily, given the staff the idea that we're going to accept the initiative and referendum as one of them. Now we've got three.

We've got five of them that we have to decide either they go on or they do not go on. And if we're going to take each one and go on and bring them in together and then decide priorities, we'll be here another thirty days. And this is why it was brought to you; to see what the discussion is, to have you vote on what — whether or not they are so important.

And I have tried to point out to you now that already we have three. So after this discussion, whatever it is, I'm going to ask the privilege of making a motion that we limit the number of proposals and then see where we get direction from the delegates at that time.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: It seems to me that the Committee ought to prepare a little straw vote listing the eight proposals, asking which priority we would assign them, numbering 1 through 8, and also how many maximum we think should be on the ballot; you might get a little more direction. I think you're going to get 98 different opinions here this morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

I think one way you can solve this in a hurry, this one, that would be to reconsider our action whereby we repealed this section of the Constitution. And I would favor this, and this would solve the Committee's problems as far as this one is concerned.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Constitutional Ballot, that Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 be indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE WARNER: Mr. President.

May we have a recorded vote on this one?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Warner.

DELEGATE WARNER: May we have a recorded vote on this division?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: If ten delegates will rise and request a recorded vote you will receive a recorded vote. That is a sufficient number. You will have a recorded vote.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the Committee Report that Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 be indefinitely postponed. Now those that favor adopting the report will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President:

If we have a "no" vote it goes back to Committee; is that right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's what I understand.

Ready for the question? The Clerk will open the key. Every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed. (Laughter)

Fellow Delegates, it does appear that there is one disadvantage in having full attendance. However, the Chair is going to rule that the motion be indefinitely postponed; lost.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I hope the Committee will feel that it now has clear instructions from the floor.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President:

Call for division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

Could I now make a motion? Could I move, Mr. President, that the Ballot Committee give us a sheet of paper with the eight different proposals on it and that we vote in order the proposals that we feel are most important and also put on the side how many we feel should be voted on by the voters? I think this would give the direction to the Committee that they want.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think the motion is in order. Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Unruh.

It's been moved and seconded that the Committee on Ballot prepare a ballot for the purpose of polling the Convention on its wishes relative to the number of proposals and listing on this ballot the number of proposals they do now have in their possession and getting the consensus of opinion of the Convention.

Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I would like to amend that motion to add that one vote placed No. 1 would receive four points, 2 would receive three points, 3 would receive two points, and four would receive one point so that the people who vote on fourth choice will get some count on it. But it would also give you a consensus of what we feel would be the most important ones. Do you follow me?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I follow you.

There's a motion before the Convention to amend the motion as offered by Delegate Hougen —

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — so that the individual proposals would have, those in No. 1 that you voted, 1 would receive four points, No. 2 would receive three and so forth. And do we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE GIPP: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Gipp.

Now Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: I think this whole matter ought to be postponed or withheld until we at least know how many proposals are going to be submitted. There's apparently two more and maybe three more, whatever there may be, that will still come in. We should know what is before the body.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart, I think in answer to your question, I would agree that possibly this should be. However, the sand in the hourglass is running out. And the Convention, I think, under its own volition is going to see to it that there aren't any more proposals to that Committee because of the fact that the Committee just can't get the work out. And I think that the delegates have had adequate time. I think we've all had adequate time to get alternate proposals to this particular committee. We realize the work they have, so I just feel that if they aren't there now I think the delegates are going to kill that right here at the desk when these proposals come in.

Someone asked for the floor.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes. I would like to speak against this particular amendment because of the fact of the number 4. I think that that makes a certain implication as to how many we should have, and this group has not yet determined that. If we are going to have — if it's your will to have our — the Ballot Committee have your preference on a straw vote, let's at least give everyone an opportunity, if he or she wants to do so, of voting on all eight in terms of the preference than have them waiting, have them apply to all eight rather than only half of them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Decker.

Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion to amend will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "noes" have it and the amendment lost. We are back on the balloting question for having in reality a straw vote, a straw poll, of the Convention on their wishes pertaining to alternate proposals. I think you're aware of the question.

As many as are in favor of its adoption will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. We will have a poll.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I would like to ask a question. Does that mean that the other suggested postponements from our Ballot Committee will be held off temporarily in the face of this action?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, we have them here. This is strictly — if that's the wishes of the Convention, we will just keep them on the table.

Delegate Dawson?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question has come before the Convention on what we are to do now as a result of action on the poll, on the straw vote. The two Committee Proposals that we have at the desk for indefinite postponement, do you wish that we hold those until such time as this poll is taken?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I would so move that we hold up on these until we have a straw vote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, you don't need a motion. If you say that, we will just hold them here at the desk,

DELEGATE DAWSON: Very good.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Dawson.

Does that answer your question, Delegate Lander?

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes. But I have one more question which I think is relevant, or one more comment. We've got eight proposals. Several of them are one simple issue proposals. There are three that are not that simple; the unicameral and the initiative and referendum. Our Committee has been able to meet with sponsors, and we are in a position to give you something on which you can express an intelligent opinion. 4-3 in relation to the executive, however, is in an awful mess. Because the 4-3 simply relates to one proposal that we passed. It substitutes the long ballot or the existing elected officers for the short ballot as approved by this Convention. It does not speak at all to the whole concept of executive reorganization. And actually all the work that that one committee has done for the last six months, it ignores this. We tried to talk about this in our Committee but we do not know actually what the sponsors of that alternate proposal really want to do. Are you saying that the whole idea of executive reorganization ought to be thrown out? It's implied by the fact that we're going to elect fourteen officers, eleven departments, whereas in some other place we've said there are only going to be fifteen in all. There's some question about the other one. And I think if we are going to have a straw vote, which you have now asked us to do, you cannot vote intelligently on 4-3 unless the sponsors and/or our Committee or somebody has something there that we know what we're talking about.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I just want to add one more point to this, lest we think we've solved all our problems with this motion. The Committee did this very thing. And this 4-2, which is before you, if my memory is correct, was philosophically No. 2 on our list. But once you establish this philosophic problem, then you get down to the wording. And the indefinite — so that this was high up on our list of alternates so far as the whole Committee vote was concerned, and yet when we got down to wordage we couldn't get the wordage out to provide what we felt was a viable choice. So this is the same problem we're going to face with some of the other things. I just didn't want you to think that once we cast the straw vote on this we've got all the problems solved.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Hearing none — Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Are you going to allow debate on each of these before you take a straw vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the ninth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-8 submitted by the following delegates: Poulson, Lander, Thompson, Hougen, Dobson, Hill, Kelsch, Hendrickson, Roney, Omdahl, O'Toole, Sinner, Devine, Chase, Aubol, Engelter, Larsen, Urdahl, Warner and Quam:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the question as to whether the proposed constitution shall contain a right-to-work provision be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue on the Constitutional Convention Ballot."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Alternate Proposal No. 4-8 is referred to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

We'll be on the twelfth order of business.

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

Recognizing that the sand is going out of the hourglass, would the President feel it in order to instruct the staff to start preparing that straw ballot now so that we might have it by noon?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think that would be in order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

We'll get to the staff to see that that's taken care of.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you.

We'll be on the twelfth order.

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: May we be temporarily on the eighth order of business?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order of business.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Fellow Delegates:

Much has been said this morning about the sands running out of the hour-glass and the amount of time remaining for us to conclude our work at this Convention. If you will look at the calendar, you will notice that we are now in our twenty-sixth day, which means that we have four working days, four Plenary Session days, remaining. It also means — we also have, of course, two recess days remaining. We yesterday acted upon approximately 55 articles. There are 99 — I am informed by Delegate Unruh that there are 99 — 99 articles to be acted upon. It follows, however, that some of these articles remaining which we are acting upon as a redraft by the Style and Drafting Committee, there are one or two, or at least we know of a few instances where there may well be some debate. In fact, in one committee there is a proposal that was passed upon last week which will — I think it is quite necessary that that be reconsidered, worked over and brought back again. So, in other words, what I'm getting at is mechanically we have a considerable chore before us.

The hope is that we will be able to conclude — in fact, I think it's essential that we conclude the work, that we pass upon all of the work, that the Style and Drafting Committee now has before us. We must conclude this by tomorrow. Because the next step, of course, is for the — to have all of this properly engrossed. And that is going to require two or three days time. And of course that work cannot be completed until we have taken final or taken a second vote on the proposals as advanced by the Style and Drafting Committee.

Now the other thing that impinges on this is what happens in the Ballot Committee. And as you can see from the discussion that we have just had on the floor that we can occupy a great deal of our remaining four Plenary Session days on that alone. However, there is more to it than that. Even after these have been adopted they still must be worded properly so that they — so that it can be fitted in — in other words, so that it can be voted upon — and then fitted into the main document. And these also must be properly engrossed. And so we are working against some very real deadlines.

Now this is just a tentative — these are tentative suggestions and kind of guidelines and things for you to be thinking about. One is this: That to be practical about it, it looks as though it would be almost physically impossible for the Ballot Committee to consider any proposals brought in at a later date than tomorrow. That is February 11th. And unless there will be some very strong compelling reason to do so, that that should be the effective deadline for anyone bringing up any new ideas as far as alternate proposals.

The other thing is that our work then, if we conclude our work on Friday on taking care of the drafts that are before us from the Style and Drafting Committee, that we would probably then have a recess day on Saturday and probably return Monday morning, whatever date that is, I don't recall. But we would run again Monday morning, but we would have then at our disposal one recess day. So that if it's necessary we would then be able to — in other words, we would have four days at our disposal. We would have used up one of the recess days on Saturday, and then we would have one recess day remaining. And we would have three Plenary Session days remaining. And, if necessary, then we could use or that we would have a recess day that we could — if the mechanics of getting everything in order here presents problems, then we would have one recess day that could be used in that manner to allow some of the — like the Ballot Committee and/or the engrossing — the work of engrossing or something of that nature, to give them one additional day to catch up on the work. But again my point is that we have a very considerable amount of work to do. We have a very definite and a very limited time in which to conclude this job. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Saugstad.

Question? Twelfth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. L introduced by Delegates Meidinger, Trenbeath, Poulson, Larsen, Lander, Litten, Engstrom, Griffin, Sullivan, Jestrab, Fritzell, Hernet, Knudson and Christensen:

"A resolution requesting that the area of taxation of the extractive industries be investigated by the investigative branch of the legislature."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: What's the number on it?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: L.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Resolution L is referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

We'll be on the eleventh order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-13 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-25, 1-26, 1-27, 1-28, 1-91, 1-100 and 1-102.

Further that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee, but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the Report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting.

DELEGATE CART: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Cart.

The delegates that are in favor of adopting the motion — adopting the Report will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Redraft Proposal No. 5-13 is before the Convention for consideration.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-25, 1-26, 1-27, 1-28, 1-91, 1-100 and 1-102:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the executive department, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE —
"EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

"Section 1. EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS AND OFFICERS.

"The elected state officials shall be the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and three public service commissioners.

"The governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected on a joint ballot. Each vote cast for a candidate for governor shall be deemed cast also for the candidate for lieutenant governor nominated jointly with him.

"The chief executives of the principal departments, other than those elected or those chosen in a manner otherwise provided for in this constitution, shall be appointed by the governor and shall serve at his pleasure. They shall be confirmed or rejected by the senate upon a recorded vote of a majority of the members elected. Any nomination not confirmed or rejected by the senate within twenty session days after being received shall be deemed confirmed.

"The legislative assembly shall periodically review the principal executive departments and may by law change and prescribe the manner of selecting those chief executive officers appointed by the governor under the provisions of this article."

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I believe there are some amendments at the desk on this section. Anyway, your Committee on Executive Functions feels that the Style and Drafting Committee did an excellent job with restyling and redrafting our proposals.

We do have a couple of amendments in this particular section. On line 23 the Committee's — our Committee has changed one word from "shall" to "may". Our Committee felt that the intent of this section was that it should be "may" instead of "shall". We changed this one word to conform with the rest of the section. On line 23. You have that at the desk, I believe. I move that we adopt the amendment to this section.

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved and it has been seconded that in line 23 after the word "assembly" we strike the word — delete the word "shall" and insert in lieu thereof the word "may".

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE CHASE: Question.

DELEGATE BENSON: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by the Chairman of the Committee on Executive Functions.

If there is no discussion, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye," those opposed "nay."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I move that on page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE" that we insert the Roman numeral "V".

And that on line 7 we delete the word "DEPARTMENT" and insert in lieu thereof the word "BRANCH".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Second to the amendment by Delegate Unruh?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendments as offered by Delegate Unruh are on page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE" insert the Roman numeral "V"; on page 1, line 7, after "DEPARTMENT" — delete "DEPARTMENT" and insert in lieu thereof the word "BRANCH".

Any questions on the proposed amendments?

DELEGATE LARSEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate Unruh.

Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Delegate Unruh, do you not also want to change it in line 2, the word "DEPARTMENT" to "BRANCH" or is that necessary?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That's not necessary. It is in the title, and that will drop it out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate Unruh. As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendments are adopted.

Any further discussion or questions on Section I, Article V as amended?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: It isn't going to be necessary to make a motion on each one of these, is it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No.

DELEGATE HERNETT: All right.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. ELECTIONS AND TERMS OF EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS.

"The elected state officials shall be chosen by the electors at a time designated by the legislative assembly, and shall serve until their successors are duly qualified. Terms of office shall be four years, except that terms of the public service commissioners shall be six years, so arranged that one of them is elected every two years.

"If two or more candidates for any executive office receive an equal and highest number of votes, the legislative assembly in joint session shall choose one of them for the office."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 2 of Article V. Any discussion? Are there any questions?

Hearing none, we will proceed to Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. QUALIFICATIONS.

"To be eligible to hold an elective office established by this article, a person must be an elector of this state, at least twenty-one years old, and must have been a resident of this state for the two years preceding his election. The attorney general must be licensed to practice law in this state."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 3, Article V. Any questions? Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. COMPENSATION.

"The compensation of elected officials shall be as provided by law, but shall not be diminished during the term for which they were elected."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 4 of Article V. Any questions? Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. PLACE OF HOLDING OFFICE.

"Elected state officials and the chief executive officers of the principal departments shall hold office at the seat of government."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 5 of Article V. Hearing no discussion, no questions, we will move on and read Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 6. EXECUTIVE ORGANIZATION.

"The legislative assembly shall allocate the executive power among not more than fifteen principal state departments, which shall be organized along broad functional lines. The executive power of each department shall be vested in one person unless otherwise provided by this constitution or by law. The legislative assembly shall prescribe the duties of the executive departments and provide for their periodic reorganization.

"(Suggestion: an exception be provided here for either one or both of the education boards)

"The governor may, for more effective administration, make changes in the allocation of functions, powers and duties among and within the executive departments, other than those headed by constitutionally elective officials. If any change affects existing law, it shall be set forth in an executive order and submitted to both houses of the legislative assembly on the same day. The legislative assembly shall have thirty session days to disapprove the order. If not disapproved by a majority of the members elected to either house, the order shall have the force of law when filed with the secretary of state or on a later date specified therein."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on Section 6.

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

There are amendments at the desk which probably should be read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Redraft Proposal 5-13:

On page 2, line 31, after the period insert the following: "In addition to those duties prescribed in this constitution"; and delete the word "the" and insert in lieu thereof the word "it";

On page 3, line 2, after the word "the" insert the word "statutory".

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: He must have some other amendment there.

DELEGATE LANDER: Those were the old ones.

DELEGATE HERNETT: There's a later one at the desk someplace, I think. Should be. For instance, on line — on page — the one I have in front of me, on page 2, line 31, after the period delete the remainder of the line.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: We don't have that one.

DELEGATE UNRUH: It's coming.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Everybody has got one except you.

DELEGATE HERNETT: First amendment we had on that other section, that was all right. But this one has been changed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: All right. Is there a difference of proposed amendments with the delegates?

On page 2, line 31, after the period delete the remainder of the line.

On page 2, delete all of lines 32 and 33 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The legislative assembly shall prescribe the duties of and periodically reorganize the executive department, provided any reorganization or change in duties shall not affect the organization and powers granted to the boards of education in this constitution."

On page 3, line 2, after "the" insert "statutory".

On page 3, line 4, after the period delete the words "If any" and insert in lieu thereof the word "Any", and after the word "change" delete the word "affects".

On page 3, line 5, delete the words "existing law, it".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now the question among the delegates is do you have the right amendment as read from the desk? I know the one that I have is not that way. I just wanted to know how many of the delegates have the wrong one.

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, the first amendment you had was the result of a subcommittee of the Executive Functions and the Education Committee meeting. Those amendments were proposed to the Style and Drafting Committee. And they took a second look at it and decided that that didn't look just right or didn't do the job. What the problem is here is the question that the Education Committee has had about our proposal here about the departments in the executive reorganization. And as a result now we have this compromise. And I thought those amendments were all up at the desk. They should have been. But, anyway, the two committees met jointly yesterday, both the Committee on Executive Functions and Education Committee, and we came up with the amendments as you have heard them read from the desk this morning.

Now maybe some member of the Education Committee would like to explain a little more as to what we are doing here. I hope this solves this problem.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet, I believe that these amendments, especially this amendment, goes far beyond the intent of the work that we are under right here at the present time, that of considering matters from Style and Drafting. I think you have to admit that you're changing much more than that. So I think at this time we're going to have to rule this out of order and act on it as a separate order.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are going to have to reconsider what you have done.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

The suggested language that Delegate Hernet has submitted was the Style and Drafting change that we suggested to them and that they have adopted. We feel it was necessary to give clarity to the measure. I don't think it's a substantive change in that respect.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then, Delegate Unruh, if you would just restate this now so that we're clear on it. The amendments that are being offered here are really then amendments that have been arrived at by the Committee on Style and Drafting; is that correct?

DELEGATE UNRUH: That's correct.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On that premise, why we will accept them. But if it's coming from some committee report or such, why I think we'd have to rule them out.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: I think that one of the questions, Mr. Chairman, that was raised by the staff in the Style and Drafting Committee was responsible for this change.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: This is one of the real tough questions we had down there. The difficulties seemed to come over conflicting opinion on whether the provisions creating the Board of Higher Education and the Board of Education, whether they were included in the executive department or were merely administrative departments. And I happen to be one of those that contended all the time that they were not included in the executive group. And I do not think this is a substantial change, it's merely an attempt to specify or clearly point out that they are not within this group of executive officers that are taking the place of a number of other officers. But the two boards concerning education are separate and apart from that group.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: The problem some of the delegates don't understand was the problem between the executive article and the article on education. In the executive article we declared in this section that there should be fifteen principal state departments which would be organized or brought forth. And then the question was whether or not the — pardon me. In addition to this power we give the executive — the Legislature the power to reorganize appointive heads, to at least consider that. And we give the governor the power to change duties through executive order. And the question came up, does this apply to the Board of Higher Education and to the Board of Public Education? And this amendment, if you've got it on your desk, gives the Legislature the power to prescribe the duties and periodically reorganize the executive department. There is a limiting clause providing that the reorganization or change in duties shall not affect the organizational powers granted the Boards of Education under this Constitution.

So what we're saying, I think, is, as I would interpret it, we're bringing the two Boards of Education in as one — as two of the fifteen executive departments, but we're saying very specifically that the Legislature cannot — the Legislature can prescribe additional duties. And this power is granted under the education article as well. They cannot change the method of selection of the heads of the two Boards of Education. We're also saying that though — as far as the duties of those two boards, that though the Legislature can expand the duties as is also granted in the education article, the governor can also expand the duties, but he cannot — neither the Legislature nor the governor can subtract the duties that are granted in the education article. So the two Departments of Education will continue to have the duties that are prescribed in that article, more duties to be added to them performed, but nothing subtracted. In other words, they cannot be reorganized or duties subtracted, powers taken away from them. So we're fixing them in a special position, yet still viewing them as two of the fifteen executive departments. That would be my interpretation of this amendment. The attempt was to resolve the conflict of these two articles.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: I move that we set Section 6 aside until we get the amendment on the desk of the delegates so we can really see what's going on here. We have gone through that procedure yesterday; I think we took out one section of an article we were talking about. I would like to see that handled — Section number 6 handled the same way.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler, do you so move?

DELEGATE BUTLER: I so move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler moves, and Delegate Christensen seconds, the motion that we set this particular amendment and this section aside until such time as it is available on the desk of each of the Convention delegates.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

Aren't they already on everybody's desk?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: No.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President:

In answer to you, I think that each copy was given to a member of the Executive Functions Committee and the Education Committee yesterday but they were not distributed to the body.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I thought they were on everybody's desk this morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question then is on the motion as offered by Delegate Butler, that we suspend further consideration of this particular section until such time as the amendments are available to each of the delegates.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the motion carried. And we will suspend further consideration of this particular section.

Why don't we take a break for coffee; it is a quarter after ten. They are in the process of being run off at the present time.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President:

May we be on the twelfth order for a moment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we will be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: I would like to call a very short meeting of the Education Committee in G-1.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be — we have some announcements at the desk.

The Convention will be in order.

We'll be on the eighth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Hoffner has the twelfth grade of Minnewaukan School at Minnewaukan, North Dakota, and their teacher, James Sanders, in the gallery.

The twelfth grade of the Elgin School of Elgin, North Dakota, and their teacher, Keith Laite, and thirty students, are in the gallery.

Delegates Jestrab, Saugstad and Hubrig have Mr. Mathis and the students of Minot State College in the class of parliamentary procedure in the gallery with us today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the visiting students and other guests please rise and be recognized by the Delegates of the Convention? (Applause)

Anything further under the eighth order?

Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: On this sheet that has just been handed out on which we are to vote our preferences for side issues, I presume that we are supposed to list our preferences with numbers of 1 through 8. Now the highest number indicates the highest priority, so 8 would be the one we most want. But if we only want four issues I presume we could go 8, 7, 6, 5 and leave all the rest blank so we don't give extra effort to an area we don't want as a side issue. Would that be correct? Do we have to vote a number for an issue we don't want as a side issue, is my question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Vance, I think that possibly you should ask Delegate Dawson and then maybe we could have an announcement on it. I just — you've got me confused.

DELEGATE HILL: I would like to also have him explain to me if the highest number is 8 or if the highest number is 1, also.

DELEGATE STANTON: 1.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I would believe that No. 1 would be the highest. I so rule that the number 1 is going to be the priority, the one with the highest priority.

DELEGATE HILL: So if we really don't like something we should give it an 8; is that correct?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's right.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Right on your sheet it gives you the instructions and the point system. It says the highest number indicates the highest priority and the lowest number indicates the lowest priority. So if you want unicameral, Delegate Hill, as your highest priority you would give it 8 points. That's the highest priority.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, that might be. But that's the motion that failed on the Convention floor. Wasn't that the motion as offered by Delegate Decker?

DELEGATE DECKER: 4, 3, 2, 1.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Oh, I see.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I think, Mr. President, that your interpretation of how we got here is right. The effort is to assign the same kind of a system as Delegate Decker suggested, except to go all the way to 8. And that's fine with me if everybody understands that. But the way it's on here now, I'll agree that there's a good possibility of some confusion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think that whoever took the priority list to the office and had it prepared is the one that better explain what they did. I don't have a copy.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Well, I think it's clear on the ballot here. It says the highest number indicates the highest priority and the lowest number indicates the lowest priority.

DELEGATE HILL: What is the highest number?

DELEGATE DAWSON: 8. 8 is the highest number. There are eight proposals on here.

DELEGATE HILL: That was what my original idea was. If you only wanted four alternates, then we could vote 8, 7, 6, 5, leave the rest blank. That would be the best way, in my opinion, of showing the true opinion of my thought. I don't want the people voting 1 if they think 1 is the highest number. And obviously from around here I can see there is some confusion.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I would agree that if there are four or five issues that you do not want to vote on, that you just leave those blank and you start with your eighth number at the top. And, incidentally, if you want to vote on these we would appreciate it — the Committee will have a luncheon meeting up in the committee room during the noon hour today. And if we have this information before us and the staff has time to calculate it, we'll be able to do some work on it during the noon hour.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson, now just so that we aren't as confused as the Chairman is on what you wish, now if you wish the unicameral to be the number one priority, then you would check that one —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 8.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is that what you would do?

DELEGATE DAWSON: You would put an 8 in the line opposite unicameral.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That would be the top priority?

DELEGATE DAWSON: That is the top priority. So when the staff totals it up the proposal that has the highest number will be the proposal that has the highest priority.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I see. Well, I understand what you want. Now I hope the delegates do.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: If you follow the suggestion of Delegate Hill you might foul up the tabulating system. If we are going to add the total number of points and you don't give — you only list four, you don't give any point values to those four, boy, you are really voting against them because you are not giving them any points. So maybe you want to do it that way, that's fine with me. Just so we know what we're doing here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Definitely we should follow this pattern: That all eight of them be marked, and if you don't like one you put that No. 1. So that it only gets one point. So that we do have something to go on. But all eight of them should be marked.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I certainly agree with that. While the maneuver suggested by Delegate Hill appeals to me, it would have a tendency of destroying the operation of the weighting system. So I will move that any ballot which has not been numbered 8 through 1 be invalidated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair is going to rule the motion out of order and rule that that's a question for the Committee on Ballot — Constitutional Ballot, to decide. So I think we understand how we want to vote on these.

And with that, we are going to declare a ten-minute coffee break. Let's be back on time.

(The Session recessed from 10:20 A.M. until 10:40 A.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — we're short of delegates. Will the delegates of the Convention please come to order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: May we be on the eighth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order of business.

DELEGATE DAWSON: The Ballot Committee would appreciate if you'd mark the ballots that are on your desk so the pages can pick them up and the staff can tabulate them so we'll have them ready for our luncheon meeting.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question? The question before the Convention is on the amendments as offered by Delegate Hernet to Section 6 of Article V.

Will the Clerk re-read the proposed amendments?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: On page 2, line 31, after the period delete the remainder of the line.

On page 2, delete all of lines 32 and 33 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The legislative assembly shall prescribe the duties of and periodically reorganize the executive departments, provided any reorganization or change in duties shall not affect the organization and powers granted to the boards of education in this constitution."

On page 3, line 2, after the word "the" insert the word "statutory".

On page 3, line 4, after the period delete "If any" and insert in lieu thereof "Any" and after the word "change" delete the word "affects".

On page 3, line 5, delete the words "existing law, it".

And if you will mark in your copies of the amendment it will read:

"The legislative assembly shall prescribe the duties of and periodically reorganize the executive departments,". Place a comma in there. That is not on your amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Further discussion? Are there any questions?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hernet. Hearing no further discussion — Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

I haven't got the original engrossed copy. But how does this provision on reorganizing the executive departments differ from what the committee had originally recommended? Now it says they have to periodically be reorganized. Did the original committee report say that?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Yes. But, in fact, Delegate Aubol, you will find it — you have it on your desk here on the green sheet. It is Redraft Proposal No. 5-13. That is as the Style and Drafting Committee amended it.

Then if you will look in your bill book or your proposal book it will be in the Committee Proposal 1-102. Actually, what this amendment is that is under discussion here this morning is that as a result of the concern the Education Committee had for the State Board of Higher Education. And that's about all that this is doing, is clarifying the language.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And it is my understanding that this amendment has been offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: That is right. And it has been approved by both committees; Executive Functions Committee and the Education Committee. And we all feel that there is no substantive change here. Just clarifying the language.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: My only question had to do with what change there is in the language. And I think in 102 it said that the legislative assembly upon periodic review may by law change and prescribe the manner of selecting officials.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: The reference should be to Committee Proposal 1-100, not 1-102. What we are talking about is Section 1(a) of 1-100.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption to the amendment as offered by Delegate Hernet. Hearing no further questions, no further discussion, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I have a question now as to what happens to the language following "suggestion" there on line 34. Would engrossing take that out automatically or should there be a motion about that?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: It is my feeling that we don't need to amend that out. We will use that to put new language in. They'll use that space.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further amendments to Section 6? Further discussion on Section 6?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 7. STATE PLANNING COUNCIL.

"The chief executives of the principal state departments shall constitute the state planning council. The governor shall be chairman of the council and the lieutenant governor shall be vice chairman. The council shall prepare a comprehensive state plan based on the comprehensive plan for each department."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 7.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any discussion? Hearing none —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Section 7.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Hearing none, we will move on to Section 8.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 8. POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE GOVERNOR.

"The governor is the chief executive of the state. He shall have the responsibility to see that the state's business is well administered, and that its laws are faithfully executed.

"He shall present the comprehensive state plan, and his own recommendations, to the legislative assembly at the beginning of each session and at any other time he chooses.

"He may call special sessions of the legislative assembly.

"He may require information in writing from all executive officers concerning the performance of their respective duties.

"He shall prescribe the duties of the lieutenant governor.

"He is commander-in-chief of the state's military forces, except when they are called into the service of the United States, and he may mobilize them to execute the laws and to maintain order.

"He may grant reprieves, commutations and pardons. He may delegate this power in a manner provided by law.

"He may supervise business with the United States and other states."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 7 — Section 8 — I'm sorry — Section 8, Powers and Duties of the Governor. Any questions? Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 9.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 9. GOVERNOR — VETO POWER.

"Every bill passed by the legislative assembly shall be presented to the governor for his signature. If the governor signs the bill it shall become law.

"The governor may veto a bill passed by the legislative assembly. He may veto or reduce items in an appropriation bill. Portions of the bill not vetoed or reduced shall become law.

"The governor shall return for reconsideration any vetoed item or bill with a statement of his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall immediately enter the governor's objections upon its journal. If, by a recorded vote, two-thirds of the members elected to that house pass a vetoed item or bill, it shall immediately be delivered to the other house. If, by a recorded vote, two-thirds of the members elected to the other house also pass it, the vetoed item or bill, shall become law. An item reduced in amount shall follow the same procedure as a vetoed item or bill, except that it shall be restored to its original amount if passed by a majority of the members elected to each house.

"While the legislative assembly is in session, a bill shall become law if the governor neither signs nor vetoes it within five days, Sundays excepted, after its delivery to him. If the legislative assembly is not in session, a bill shall become law if the governor neither signs nor vetoes it within fifteen days, Sundays excepted, after its delivery to him."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 9. Are there any questions?

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

There are some amendments, Committee amendments, at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Redraft Proposal 5-13:

On page 4, line 9, after the word "bill" insert a comma.

On page 4, line 15, delete the second comma.

On page 4, line 18, after the period insert the following: "If a reduced item is not so restored, it shall become law in the reduced amount."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

The feeling of our committee was that this language is necessary to clarify what might happen in regard to a reduced item. It was felt that probably if we didn't have this language in here the question was how would it become law. All this does, we feel, is to take care of this one point.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE NETHING: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Nothing. Any discussion?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: I'm reading and trying to understand what it says there, the last two words on line 15, going on to lines 16 and 17. I wish someone from the Committee could inform me there. We speak about a majority. And usually a veto of that takes a super majority. I'm confused on the language there.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Someone — Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: It means what it says. It places the reduced item into a different class than the vetoed bill or the line veto, as we know it now, the theory being that it should only take a majority to restore an item to its original amount when the governor reduces it, but only when he reduces it; if it's a straight out veto it should require the two-thirds. And this was debated at the time I think we had that section before us before.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Could we have the amendment read again? I seem to have got it down here wrong. I can't understand my own writing.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

I might comment again it's on everybody's desk. I think this is the second time it has been handed out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-13:

On page 4 —

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

I only wanted the last amendment on page 4, line 18, read, if we could.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: On page 4, line 18, after the period insert the following: "If a reduced item is not restored, it shall become law in the reduced amount."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further questions? Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate Hernet. Those in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendments are adopted.

Further amendments to Section 9?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 10.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 10. VACANCIES.

"The governor may fill a vacancy in any office by appointment if no other method is provided by this constitution or by law. If, while the senate is recessed or adjourned, a vacancy occurs in any office which is filled by appointment with senate confirmation, the governor shall make a temporary appointment to the office. When the senate reconvenes he shall make a nomination to fill the office. Except on request of the senate, no nominee rejected by the senate shall again be nominated for that office at the same session, nor shall he be appointed to that office during a recess or adjournment of the senate."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion on Section 10? Are there any questions?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 11.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 11. GUBERNATORIAL SUCCESSION.

"In the event of a vacancy, the order of succession to the office of governor shall be the elected lieutenant governor and thereafter as provided by law,

"If the governor is unable to serve because of death, impeachment, resignation, failure to qualify, removal from office, or disability, the powers and duties of the governor shall devolve upon the officer next in line of succession for the remainder of the term, or until the governor is acquitted or his disability removed.

"If the governor-elect dies, resigns, or fails to qualify, the lieutenant governor-elect shall succeed to the office of governor for the full term. If the governor-elect fails to assume office for any other reason, the lieutenant governor-elect shall serve as acting governor, and he shall succeed to the office of governor if the governor-elect does not assume his office within six months after the beginning of the term.

"The legislative assembly shall by law specify by whom and by what procedures the ability of the governor, or anyone acting as governor, to serve or to resume office may be questioned and determined. The supreme court shall have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction to determine absence and disability of the governor or governor-elect, and to determine the existence of a vacancy in the office of governor and all questions concerning succession to the office or to its powers and duties."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 11.

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

There is one minor amendment at the desk there.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-13:

On page 5, line 8, after the word — after the first word "the" delete the word "officer" and insert in lieu thereof the word "official".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment; that on page 5 in line 8 after the word "the" delete the word "officer" and insert in lieu thereof the word "official".

Any discussion?

DELEGATE BINEK: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Binek.

No further discussion?

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Any further discussion or further amendments to Section 11?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Before you accept that motion, will Delegate Unruh or someone who is on one of these committees take a look at — on page 4, line 21, it says: "If the legislative assembly is not in session, a bill shall become law if the governor neither signs nor vetoes it within fifteen days." The question that's in my mind is what happens if he reduces it after that; he neither then vetoes it — he then reduces it. Will he then reduce it and sign it?

DELEGATE UNRUH: I don't get the question.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, the question is up above you specify three things he can do; he can either sign it or reduce it or veto it. Then down below here you don't include the reducing possibility. My question is, can the governor reduce after the legislature goes home? And, if he does, does he also sign it? If he signs it when he reduces it, then he's all right. But the way it reads it seems to me that the bill becomes law the way it was passed even if he reduces it.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I don't think I am qualified to answer. I think the Chairman of the Legislative Committee should answer that. Or the Executive Committee, excuse me.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I feel that this amendment that we passed today explains this, Delegate Sinner. If a reduced item is not so restored, it shall become law in a reduced amount. That was the feeling of the Committee when he added this amendment. Maybe some other member of the Committee has a different idea as to the reason for this. But that was my opinion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE HERNETT: I might point out that there is a similar legislative statute in other states. And we felt this was something that was needed in North Dakota.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I believe Delegate Sinner is right. Because the language says: "If a reduced item is not so restored . . .", the "so" referring back to the process of going to the Legislature to get a majority vote, I think if we took out the word "so" it could cover both instances.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

I think in view of that discussion, it seems to me that we should remove the word "so" and it will cover both conditions. I therefore move a floor amendment that in the amendment we strike the word "so" after the word "not".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Did the Clerk follow the proposed amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: In the amendment offered on page 4, line 18, after the period insert the following: "If a reduced item is not restored it shall become law in the reduced amount." By deleting the word "so".

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you have the amendment? The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Unruh to delete the word "so".

DELEGATE CART: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Cart.

Any further discussion? Are you ready for the question? As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Again, we are on the motion as offered by Delegate Unruh that the Redraft Proposal — Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13 is before the Convention for first passage. We voted on this, we will be voting on Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11, all dealing with the Executive Department of Article V. Those in favor of its adoption, of its passage, will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 90 "aye" votes, 4 "nay" votes and four delegates absent and not voting. The Redraft Proposal No. 5-13 has passed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-3 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-11.

Further, that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the Report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We're on the motion of Delegate Unruh that the Report of the procedural committee be adopted. Any discussion? Hearing none, all in favor of the motion signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion carries.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-3, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-11:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the judicial department, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE —
"JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT

"Section 1. JUDICIAL POWER.

"The judicial power of the state is vested in a unified judicial system consisting of a supreme court, a district court and other courts as may be provided by law."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that on page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE" we insert the Roman numeral "VI".

That on line 1 — page 1, line 7, we strike the word "DEPARTMENT" and insert the word "BRANCH".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE CHASE: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Chase.

I'm now on the motion of Delegate Unruh to insert Roman numeral VI after "ARTICLE"; in line strike "DEPARTMENT" and insert the word "BRANCH".

All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Motion carried. Amendment is adopted.

Now we have Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. SUPREME COURT JURISDICTION.

"The supreme court shall be the highest court of the state. It shall have appellate jurisdiction and the authority to issue, hear, determine and enforce such writs as are necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. The supreme court shall consist of five justices, one of whom shall be designated chief justice as provided by law. The supreme court shall make rules for the governing of, and prescribe procedures for, all courts. The chief justice shall exercise general superintending control over all courts."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we'll move on to Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. UNCONSTITUTIONALITY.

"No legislative enactment of the state shall be declared unconstitutional unless at least four of the supreme court justices so decide."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will go to Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

"When a judgment or decree is reversed, modified or confirmed by the supreme court, the reasons shall be concisely stated in writing, signed by the justices concurring, filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court and preserved with a record of the case. Any justice dissenting may give the reason for his dissent in writing over his signature."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any — Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: There is a minor amendment at the desk on Section 4. I ask that it be read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-3:

On page 2, line 1, delete the word "decree" and insert in lieu thereof the word "order".

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Second that motion, somebody.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

As indicated there, that's a minor amendment. Instead of the word "decree" we're putting in "order". We felt that's probably more up to modern-day practice. The courts are issuing two things usually; a judgment or an order. And I guess "decree" came down from the king. And we thought it was time to relinquish their loyalty to the king. And so now it will be that we are referring to judgments or orders, the way the modern practice refers to it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We're on — any further discussion? We're on the motion of Delegate Longmire to accept the proposed amendment changing "decree" the word "decree" and substituting the word "order" in line 1, page 2 of Proposal 5-3.

I'll now put the question. All those in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried, and the amendment is adopted.

Next we have Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. APPEALS.

"Appeals shall be allowed from decisions of lower courts to the supreme court under such procedures as may be provided by law or by rule of court."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

A little amendment taking out one word in this section that's at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-3:

On page 2, line 9, delete the word "such".

DELEGATE McELROY: Second.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

I thought the Style and Drafting Committee did a good job in taking out a lot of "suchs" and we thought that we should show them that we didn't take them all out; that we observed their work very carefully, and so we took out one. And that's all this amendment is.

VICE PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion?

If not, we are on the motion of Delegate Longmire that the word "such" be removed in line 9 of Section 5 under Proposal 5-3.

I'll now put the question. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried, and the amendment is adopted.

Next we will have Section 6 read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 6. ELECTION AND TERMS OF JUSTICES.

"The justices of the supreme court shall be chosen by the electors of the state for ten-year terms, so arranged that one justice is elected every two years. They shall hold office until their successors are duly qualified and shall receive compensation as provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, we'll go to Section 7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 7. DISTRICT COURT JURISDICTION.

"The district court shall have original jurisdiction of all justiciable causes, except as otherwise provided by law, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law or by rule of the supreme court. The district court shall have authority to issue such writs as are necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will go to Section 8.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 8. ELECTION AND TERMS OF DISTRICT COURT JUDGES.

"The state shall be divided into judicial districts by order of the supreme court. In each district one or more judges shall be chosen by the electors of the district to be served. The term of office shall be six years. They shall hold office until their successors are duly qualified and shall receive compensation as provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, we will so move to Section 9.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 9. QUALIFICATIONS.

"Supreme court justices and district court judges shall be citizens of the United States and residents of this state, shall be admitted to the bar in this state, and shall possess any additional qualifications prescribed by law. Judges of other courts shall be selected for such terms and shall have such qualifications as may be prescribed by law."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall move to Section 10.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 10. RESTRICTIONS.

"No supreme court justice or district court judge shall engage in the practice of law or hold any public office, elective or appointive, not judicial in nature."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we go to Section 11.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 11. DISQUALIFICATIONS.

"When any justice or judge is interested in any way in a pending cause or is unable to sit in court because he is physically or mentally incapacitated, the supreme court shall assign a judge, or retired justice or judge, to hear the cause."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall go to Section 12.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 12. REMOVAL.

"The legislative assembly shall establish by law a procedure for removal of justices and judges for misconduct in office or inability to perform the duties of office, whether willful or because of physical or mental disability or incompetency. Except for impeachment proceedings, the supreme court shall have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction in judicial removal proceedings. A supreme court justice being proceeded against shall be disqualified from acting in the proceedings, and a district court judge selected by the remaining justices shall act in his stead."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

HEARING none, we shall move to Section 13.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 13. RETIREMENT.

"The legislative assembly may provide by law for the retirement of supreme court justices, district court judges and judges of other courts."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall move to Section 14.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 14. VACANCIES.

"A judicial nominating committee shall be established by law. Any vacancy in the office of supreme court justice or district court judge shall be filled by appointment by the governor from a list of candidates nominated by the committee, unless the governor calls a special election to fill the vacancy. An appointment shall continue until the next general election, when the office shall be filled by election for the remainder of the term."

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: The Committee has a slight amendment to offer. It's at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-3: On page 3, line 31, after the word "vacancy" insert the following words: "for the remainder of the term".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

We felt what this does, it says that if the governor should call a special election if elected, that he ought to serve the remainder of the term rather than just until the next election. Because no one wants to run for an office if he's only going to be in office for one month. So we felt that this was something that should clarify that. Somebody might consider that a little substantive, but our Committee considered it just clarifying language and therefore proper to offer this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

Hearing none, we are on the main motion of Delegate Longmire that Section 14, line 31, be further amended by adding the language "for the remainder of the term".

I'll now put the question. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried, and the amendment is adopted.

Now we have Section 15.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: That went so fast. How does that amendment now tie in with that following sentence; when would it be for the remainder of the term and when would it be on the next election?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: There are two ways that you fill a vacancy under this procedure; one is by appointment of the governor from three people under this nominating commission, the other one is by special election, if he chooses to go that route. If you fill the vacancy by special election, that person will be elected to the remainder of the term of the judge for which he is — who he is replacing. If the governor appoints one from this commission, he will only serve until the next general election.

DELEGATE LANDER: Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

If not, we will next have under consideration Section 15, which will be read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 15. CONFIRMATION.

"If no candidate other than the incumbent supreme court justice or district court judge has been nominated for that office, the ballot at the general election shall contain the question: 'Shall (name of justice or judge) be retained in the office of (supreme court justice or district court judge)?' Unless a majority of votes cast on the question are affirmative, the office shall be deemed vacant at the end of the term and shall be filled as otherwise provided in this article."

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: The Committee has an earthshaking amendment at the desk.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: It will be read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposed 5-3: On page 4, line 6, delete the word "otherwise".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there — Delegate Longmire, do you move the adoption of this amendment?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I assume that was on the amendment, Mr. President, and I will move it again.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: And is there a second?

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Roney seconds.

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President:

I know we can't do anything about wiping this out here, but I want to call the attention of the Convention to this simple fact; that we're setting out left-handed machinery for recalling a judge here without petitions.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: We thought that was a very strong point in this article.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are then — Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President:

I'm just going back to Section 1. And maybe I'm probably confused and shouldn't even question this. But it says, "A supreme court, a district court;" now do you use the term "a district court" to cover all the district courts?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

In reply to the delegate's question, the Committee kicked that around down there because there are several district court judges, of course, and several districts fixed in the State now. So we felt that we were referring to an entity rather than divisions of the district court or judges of the district court. And for that reason we felt that the singular would be the way to refer to it and meaning, of course, that it would cover all judicial districts as well as all district judges.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegates, we have — we have a motion before us and we have been speaking to things other than the motion before us. So now, unless there is further discussion of the motion of Delegate Longmire to amend on page 4, line 6, to strike the word "otherwise", the last word in that sentence or that line — the last word in that line, I will now put the motion.

All in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried, and the amendment is adopted.

Now is there any further discussion on Section 15?

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Burke. I will call Delegate Burke first.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President:

May I direct a question to Delegate Longmire?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire, will you yield?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

DELEGATE BURKE: This is in regard to Section 15, Delegate Longmire. I was wondering on the meaning. Does that contemplate the legislative assembly may provide for a mandatory age retirement as well as retirement benefits?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Now Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-3 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Jestrab seconds.

Any further discussion?

Hearing none, we are on the motion of Delegate Unruh that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-3 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar on the — I believe it is on eleventh order?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: — on the eleventh order.

I will now put the question. All in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. Motion carries.

And now we have before us Proposal No. 5-3 for final or for second passage. Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Hearing none, the board will be open and you may record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye".

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses on Redraft Proposal 5-3 93 "ayes," no "nays," five absent and not voting. Therefore, Proposal No. 5-3 has been adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-7 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals numbered 1-12 and 1-101.

Further that this redraft proposal not be referred to a committee but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a —

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Second the motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are now on the motion of Delegate Unruh that Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-7 be introduced and be placed before us for consideration. All in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it, and now we have before us Proposal 5-7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-7, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-12 and 1-101:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to political subdivisions, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE —
"POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS

"Section 1. PURPOSE.

"The purpose of this article is to provide for maximum local self-government by all political subdivisions with a minimum duplication of functions."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I now move that in line 6 on page 1 the Roman numeral "VII" be inserted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE TUDOR: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Second by Dr. Tudor — Delegate Tudor.

We are on the motion of Delegate Unruh to insert the Roman numeral "VII" after the title "ARTICLE" in line 6 on Proposal 5-7.

I will now put the question. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried, and the amendment is adopted.

We shall now — any further discussion?

Hearing none, we shall go to Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS.

"The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the establishment and the government of all political subdivisions. Each political subdivision shall have and exercise such powers as provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall go to Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. COUNTIES.

"The several counties of the State of North Dakota as they now exist are hereby declared to be counties of the State of North Dakota."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall go to Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. COUNTY SEATS.

"The legislative assembly shall provide by law for relocating county seats within counties, but it shall have no power to remove the county seat of any county."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall move to Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. BOUNDARIES.

"Methods and standards by which all or any portion of a county or counties may be annexed, merged, consolidated, reclassified or dissolved shall be as provided by law. No portion of any county or counties shall be annexed, merged, consolidated or dissolved unless a majority of each affected county voting on the question so approve."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall move to Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 6. HOME RULE.

"The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the establishment and exercise of home rule in counties and cities. No home rule charter shall become operative in any county or city until submitted to the electors thereof and approved by a majority of those voting thereon. In granting home rule powers to cities, the legislative assembly shall not be restricted by city debt limitations contained in this constitution."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall move to Section 7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 7. OPTIONAL FORMS.

"The legislative assembly shall also provide by law for optional forms of government for counties, but no optional form of government shall become operative in any county until submitted to the electors thereof at a special or general election, and approved by a majority of those voting thereon.

"Until one of the optional forms of county government is adopted by any county, the fiscal affairs of the county shall be transacted by a board of county commissioners as provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, we shall move to Section 8.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 8. COUNTY SERVICES.

"Each county shall provide for law enforcement, administrative and fiscal services, recording and registration services, educational services and any other governmental services or functions as may be provided by law.

"All elective county offices or any combinations thereof as they now exist shall continue to be elective county offices with four-year terms; however, any such county office or offices may be eliminated either by adoption of a home rule charter, or at a countywide referendum by a majority of the electors voting on the question.

"A referendum on elimination of county offices shall be provided for by law, and shall be mandatory in each county at the first statewide election held not less than two years after the effective date of this constitution and at least every ten years thereafter.

"Whenever an office is eliminated, the county governing body may provide for any service rendered by that office."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Another big amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-7.

On page 3, line 3, delete the word "body" and insert in lieu thereof the word "board".

DELEGATE McELROY: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE McELROY: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate McElroy.

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: The only reason, Mr. President, for putting that in is uniformity. We refer to it in a later section as a "board," so we felt we should refer to it in this section as a "board".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

Hearing none, we are on the motion of Delegate Longmire that on page 3, line 3, delete the word "body" and insert the word "board" on Proposal 5-7, Section 8.

I will now put the question. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it, and the motion carried and the amendment is adopted.

Next we shall have Section 9 read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 9. REFERENDUM.

"Questions on the form of government to be adopted by any county or on the elimination of county offices may be placed upon a referendum ballot either by a two-thirds vote of the members of the county governing board or by petition of electors of the county equal in number to fifteen percent of the votes cast in the county for the office of governor at the preceding general election, or as otherwise provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

We — the committee has an amendment here to offer on this. You may vote it down. But we felt there should be something in the record as to the intent of this particular section. We ask that it be read.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-7.

On page 3, line 10, after the word "equal" insert the following words: "or greater."

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: We understood that the Style and Drafting Committee has used similar wording in several other sections that they did in this amendment by leaving out the word "greater". In other words, they are saying that the number of signatures will be "equal". Now we thought if you wanted to look at that technically fifteen percent and one would not be "equal to" literally speaking. I think the intent of the Style and Drafting was to say that it was "equal" if it was "equal to" in fact, "or greater". We offered this so that we would have something in the record to show the intent of the Style and Drafting Committee. We were told that they considered "equal" in their language to mean "equal to" or "greater". So if that is the intent of the Style and Drafting, then chances are we could vote down this amendment. But if it isn't, then we ought to know and put it in.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: One moment, please.

For the record, I would like to have a second to Delegate Longmire's motion. Delegate McElroy seconded Delegate Longmire's proposed amendment.

Now Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

The way I read this along with Section 9 of 1-12, it seems to me that unless we make some kind of an amendment at this time, then the Style and Drafting Committee has changed the substance of the — of the proposal as it passed when it was in proposal form. The way that reads in 1-2 on line 16, page 3 of the pink one, "equal to at least fifteen percent of the total number", which is approximately the same as the present language in the Constitution and the section that corresponds here. And it has been interpreted by the Legislature to leave some leeway so that requirements for these petitions have been at one time or another as high as forty percent. Now that has nothing to do with this particular thing. But when we were arguing it at the time this was one of the points that was being argued. And the majority of this Convention, as I remember, voted for the language "equal to at least fifteen percent". And I think if we were going to be proper about it, that's the way it ought to be, without exact language in this redraft.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

As far as I know this is the only amendment proposed by a substantive committee which the Style and Drafting Committee objects to. And I agree with Delegate Longmire it is good to spread the intent upon the record here.

Now in the Redraft Proposal on initiative and referendum and recall you will notice that we used the language of "equal in number". And that is sufficient. We do not mean that you have to turn in the precise number which would be equal in number to fifteen percent. If we meant that we would say "equal in number, but not greater than". Let's say that to get fifteen percent you need 12,000 signatures, but you turn in 15,000. Well, it's no problem there because within the fifteen thousand you do have a number equal in number to the requisite number which would be 12,000, if that's clear.

Now in the present Constitution it says "ten thousand electors at large may propose any measure by initiative petition". It doesn't say "at least ten thousand electors," it doesn't say "ten thousand or more electors," or anything like that. And we've never had any problem. And that is why we're urging a rejection of this particular amendment, because the intent is clear. And to put this amendment in would be to put an inconsistency in the Constitution.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I would like to request a ruling by the Chair on this point. Would any change in that language from that passed by this body when it was before us in Committee Proposal 1-12 be a substantive change or not?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The request, as I understand it, from Delegate Baker is would the Chair rule on whether the language that appears before us now in Section 9 is a substantive change from the language as was approved by this body in Section and Proposal 1-12. The Chair — this is something that would require, I think — I have not had an opportunity to study and read Section — yes, Committee Proposal No. 1-12. Momentarily I would be unable to give a decision on that.

DELEGATE BAKER: Take a good look at it.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I will try to give the thinking of the committee on it.

The committee did not think it was a substantive change; we thought it was merely a style and drafting change. However, we did think that it ought to be clarified; at least the intent of the Style and Drafting Committee should be clarified.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

I hope I'm not accused of nitpicking. But the majority of the committee said it wasn't a substantive change. Some members thought it was, including me. And I would point out that it is used in statutes in quite a few places. If you get a — if you're running for a county office or certain offices you will have "not less than two percent nor more than five percent" on your petition. You have one over the five percent, the county auditor will throw it out or is entitled to. If he's a good fellow he will just strike off some names, of course. But this has been used. And I think the language — I agree that it should be as it was before with the words "at least". But this would do the same thing, and I think the amendment should be approved. In my book "equal" means "equal".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

As I understand Delegate Baker's comments, if we said "equal or greater" or "at least equal in number" you're suggesting that the Legislature could increase the number. Is that, Delegate Baker, what you're saying?

DELEGATE BAKER: Under almost identical wording in the present Constitution the Legislature has chosen to set the necessary — pardon me. Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: — the Legislature has chosen to set the requirements for these petitions at various levels above fifteen percent; at fifteen percent and above that up to forty percent.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Well, Mr. President, if we were going to interpret it that way then you're talking about a style change. As I read it, we were simply trying to fix fifteen percent and not grant the Legislature the power to raise that to sixty percent. I think wasn't that the intention of the Judicial Committee? The only question is whether we were going to say "equal" can file more petitions or not. Now Style and Drafting feels that if that was the intention of the Judicial Committee that the Constitution establishes the number of signers that you have to have and not leave it up to the Legislature to make it ninety percent if they want to. I am used to the words "at least". I think the Style and Drafting is right, the word "equal" means, as Delegate Dobson explained, "at least". That's the way we use it in other parts of the Constitution. We are trying to be consistent.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

The intent of the Judicial Committee was that if you got fifteen percent or greater that you would qualify in this referendum to get this matter on before the people. We did not feel that it would empower the Legislature to require any number above fifteen percent. We felt that it limited the power of the Legislature to require anything above that, that they could not do it. We did think, however, it should be clarified either by saying "at least" or "greater", whichever language you want to use. Because, as indicated by a delegate who previously spoke, there are statutes now in regard to these different referendum questions that says "at least" or words similar to that.

Now in some of these county positions, the county auditor in the past would not accept more than a certain percentage. They didn't want to clutter up their files by having somebody file a thousand or a hundred more than they were required to by law; they would accept a few more. And because of precedent and because of that in the past, the committee thought we ought to at least have one or two things that the intent be clear as to what was meant by the Style and Drafting language or that we put in these words to pin it down. We felt that we should not restrict the maximum number, we were setting the minimum number that was required to get it on.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

That's the interpretation of the Judiciary Committee. I think that then we should vote down adding the words "or greater" because we are specifically directing — we are setting the limit "equal to fifteen percent". And I think that can include more than fifteen percent. But we are saying if we go the other way and say at least we are implying, as Delegate Baker says, we are giving the Legislature the power to raise that. I think any words other than "equal" we raise ambiguity in whether or not the Legislature has the power to raise the percent beyond fifteen.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, I'll speak only for one, myself, as one member of the Style and Drafting. But it's my interpretation of these provisions all the way through that the Constitution was fixing a minimum number but it did not prohibit filing, say, sixteen percent if that was the requirement or one or two percent more, something like that, or in the case of initiative and referendum where it is fixed figures like ten thousand or fifteen thousand you could go up to sixteen thousand and not be in any difficulty — jeopardy about your petition. You had just met the constitutional requirements with an elaborate amount.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

I yield to Delegate Rundle.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

If there's any argument that this gives the right to the Legislature to increase it, then I'm going to reverse my position. Because it does say at the end of the sentence in line 12 "or as otherwise provided by law". And if Delegate Kelsch's position is correct, that this would give the Legislature the right to change it to a higher figure, then I think we should leave the Style and Drafting version alone.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: This was one of the sections that I worked on in the subcommittee of Style and Drafting. And we purposely didn't put a word in there because we felt from style, from reading the sentence, by adding, such as has been suggested, the words "or greater" that it would give the Legislature the right to increase that number from fifteen percent to, as somebody suggested, up to sixty percent. And we felt that the intent was to keep the percentage at fifteen percent. So I really would resist the motion very greatly unless I misinterpreted what the committee meant. But from what Delegate Longmire said, I think we have caught the intent of the committee by deleting those two words.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair would like to make this announcement: That in reference to the question as posed originally by Delegate Baker as to whether or not the Chair would rule that this has been a substantive change, after having read the Section 9 in Committee Proposal 1-12, it is the tentative opinion of the Chair that the Style and Drafting Committee did not make a substantive change in the meaning of this section.

Delegate Baker, did you wish the floor?

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Question.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are now on the motion of Delegate Longmire that Section 9 be further amended by adding the words "or greater" after the word "equal" in line 10, Section 9, of Proposal 5-7.

I will now put the question. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "nays" have it. The motion lost. The amendment is not adopted.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Now I believe Delegate Lander had asked for the floor first.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

I have a question now of somebody on Style and Drafting and/or the committee since this whole issue has been raised which I was so stupid I missed it completely up until it was raised. But on line 12 it says, "or as otherwise provided by law" which I think is the same way it was before. But did the Style and Drafting Committee have any question about what we meant when that was passed; and, if so, is that really clear in everybody's mind? What is "otherwise provided by law"; the questions or the petitions or the two-thirds vote or the fifteen percent or what?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone wish to answer the question raised by Delegate Lander?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: My opinion was, and this is my own, is that it would apply to the entire arrangement as to how county government could be handled in this case. The number — the questions, all these matters, I think would be the thing that we would be subjecting to law. I don't think that the Legislature can go any less than fifteen percent, but they might say that one percent additional would be all right. I can see them doing that possibly in view of the questions you've raised here. But I think it has a very wide application applying to referendum.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe, Delegate Rundle, I believe you have the — I'll recognize Delegate Rundle first and then O'Toole.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

I brought the very same question up in committee. I didn't think the words "or as otherwise provided by law" should be in there. I was overruled, but I am glad to hear the argument to find out what it does mean.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Now Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: It looks to me like that whole section is not needed if you're going to provide it by law. Looks like it's just kind of redundancy.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol and then Engelter.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Section 9 refers to — refers back to Section 6. Talks about home rule, refers back to Section 7 which talks about optional forms of government, it refers back to Section 8 which talks about the structure of a county government as we now know it.

Now in Section 8 we have specifically provided that the Legislature will set up referendums and elections two years after this Constitution is adopted and every ten years thereafter. But in Section 6 and Section 7 we do not specify how a question of home rule will be put on the ballot, or Section 7 we do not specify how a question of optional forms will be put on the ballot. And so by adding that sentence at the end of Section 9 we are saying that the Legislature can provide by law for the question of home rule being put on the ballot or for the question of optional forms to be put on the ballot. We did not feel, I don't think, that "as otherwise provided by law" had anything to do with the Legislature's power to increase the number of petition signatures required. Am I correct, Chairman Longmire?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe Delegate Engelter and then Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think what Clare has stated is in essence correct. My feeling with regard to the committee action was that there would be two ways referendum or the county commissioners could place something on the ballot or the people could petition. And there are many other ways for getting things on the ballot. And this is the manner of placing questions on the ballot, is what the Legislature would be dealing with here. If they felt a different method would be used, they could provide a different method. But what we wanted to do in this section is at least guarantee these two ways to placing questions on the ballot.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President:

I offer a free legal opinion. Free legal opinions are reputedly worth zero. As I see it, these two first — the word "or" in line 12 makes it a complete alternative. And whatever the Legislature did would not destroy the efficiency of lines 6 through 11. If instead of the words "or as" you said "unless", then the Legislature could eliminate the first paragraph as we have it. So my opinion, therefore, is that as presently phrased you have not in any way jeopardized the provisions provided in the paragraph up to that point even if, as Delegate Engelter says, the Legislature gives you some other alternative, you still have this one.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 10.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 10. SERVICE AGREEMENTS.

"Agreements, including those for cooperative or joint administration of any powers or functions, may be made by any political subdivision with any other political subdivision, with the state or with the United States, unless otherwise provided by law or home rule charter. A political subdivision may transfer to the county in which it is located any of its powers or functions unless prohibited by law or home rule charter, and may in like manner revoke the transfer."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will move on to Section 11.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 11. MUTUAL SERVICES.

"State agencies or political subdivisions may enter into mutually beneficial service arrangements with Indian tribes."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I want to move an amendment, and then I'll try to explain all of the ramifications why this led up to it and why a copy is not at the desk.

This is a very simple amendment. And after the word "tribes" on line 24, the Style and Drafting Proposal, insert the words "without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes".

If it gets a second on that, I'll explain why we thought it wasn't a substantive change.

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: It was seconded by Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Okay. Now, Mr. President, when we put this section in this article to begin with, we — it was the intent of our committee to recognize in some way the rights of state agencies and local subdivisions of government to continue to make agreements with the Indian tribes on things that were mutually beneficial to both. We certainly had no intention of infringing in any way on the sovereignty of the tribes or of the State of North Dakota. However, some of the Indian leaders of the various tribes contacted us only a day or two ago and were quite concerned because they felt that the way this section read now that there might be some confusion or some interpretation later that this was infringing in some way on the sovereignty of the Indian tribes. Definitely nothing could have been further from the opinion of the committee than that. But we felt that in order to satisfy them — and they were completely satisfied by this minor amendment — we should offer this amendment to the Convention floor here. We don't think it's substantive because it merely explains further the intent, what we had already said in the sentence in the short section. And for that reason we are offering this amendment at this time.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

It certainly wouldn't be my intention to prolong conversation on this matter, but it just seems to me in lieu — in the light of other rulings that have been made that this is a substantive matter. It certainly extends the meaning of the section in my opinion. I would take — I would believe that Delegate Longmire's motion is out of order. To add this we should reconsider the section and offer it as an amendment then.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: The committee had expected to follow that procedure if the majority of the folks here felt it was substantive. But we as a committee didn't feel it was. And we thought we'd try it this way first, and if you vote us down we'll come in the back door and reconsider it.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: This individual, this one member of the committee, is confused either way whether it is substantive, procedural, and I'm generally confused about the entire addition. And at this point I would ask for a ruling if it is a substantive change.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair does feel that this is a substantive change. And it would be the ruling of the Chair that you would ask for either a reconsideration or upon a motion to the body just ask on motion to the body if they wanted to consider this as a style and drafting change and not a substantive change.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: As Delegate Longmire pointed out, this — this just recently come to our committee. And I think it was after our session last evening up here that we first talked about that. About half of our committee was there. As Delegate Hartl pointed out, there was some question on whether or not there was a substantive change. Now when the vote was taken in the committee there were no votes against it; but a number of us were confused about whether or not this would be a substantive change. And I don't think our committee is quite unanimous on the question.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I also wasn't present at the committee meeting on this. I would say that it is definitely substantive. If it isn't, then we should go on and say "without infringing upon the sovereignty of the State of North Dakota and its political subdivisions". You see that can add a completely new meaning to the whole section.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson, then Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman:

I would like to ask Delegate Longmire a question.

If the Indian tribe is sovereign, is there any way that this Constitution or an agreement can infringe on that sovereignty?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: In reply to that, our committee felt there was no way that we could. Because that was a federal matter that had been given to the Indians. However, the Indians, or at least some of their leaders, in particular from the Turtle Mountain Reservation, felt that this could later on sometime cause laws to be passed by a Legislature which would infringe and this might whittle away a little of their rights under it. We didn't agree with them. However, we felt that this amendment was harmless, and it did satisfy them. They commented, "To get this back in this way, it's a good document. We can support it one hundred percent." We thought that it was a harmless amendment and we would put it in.

Now in regard to Delegate Kessel's comments, we considered whether or not we should say "infringe upon the sovereignty of the State of North Dakota and its political subdivisions". We felt that there was no question anywhere by anybody that there was any infringement here on the sovereignty of the state. That's set out in this document here from the preamble all the way through to what the final section will be. And we thought that there was nobody requesting that, and there was no need to add anything about North Dakota or its agencies because they had their sovereignty by this document time and time again.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Now, Mr. President, if there is serious consideration as to whether or not this is a substantive change, then certainly I would not want to go around your ruling. If that is your ruling, then the committee would be glad to withdraw this motion with the consent of our second, and then sometime soon we'll be moving for reconsideration. We do think — excuse me — we do think that this is worrying some of the Indian people and that we ought to do something about it, particularly where it won't hurt the intent of the original section, that it is a little thing that we can do here to clear that up and give them peace of mind as to what we were trying to do in this section.

As indicated earlier, we felt that we were recognizing more the sovereignty of the Indian tribes by putting in this section in the first place. But they don't think that, evidently. So those are the reasons.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire, the Chair would like to point out that there is another avenue open; that you simply ask to have the Rules suspended and then we could adopt at this point a substantive change. But you would have to move that the Rules be suspended; and that, I believe, is this instance would require a two-thirds vote.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Fine.

Mr. President: With the consent of my second, I withdraw the previous motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire has asked permission to withdraw his previous motion. And the second has consented.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

I move at this time that the Rules be suspended and that this proposal be amended as indicated.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Second by Delegate Nicholas.

Now Delegate Longmire has asked that the Rules be suspended so that we might adopt a substantive amendment. Now because this requires a two-thirds vote, I shall have the Clerk open the board so that you may register your vote. Saugstad says "aye".

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change his vote? If not, the board will be closed. We will take the record.

How does Dawson vote?

DELEGATE DAWSON: "Aye."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Dawson votes "aye".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would you flip his key?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The motion prevails, 82 "ayes". So the motion to suspend the Rules has been adopted.

Now, Delegate Longmire, did you include in your motion the adoption of this amendment, or do you want to move now for the adoption of the amendment?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I included it in there. I don't think the secretary got it all, but it was in my motion that way.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: We got it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Included in Delegate Longmire's motion is that on page 3, line 24, following the word "tribes" insert the following: "without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes". And that is on the Redraft Proposal 5-7, Section 11.

Now Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

In order that there be no technical question on this, I move for the adoption of this amendment as indicated.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. I believe this would be a separate motion. And we are now on the motion of Delegate Longmire, I believe this is seconded by Delegate Nicholas, that this body adopt the proposed amendment.

Is there any further discussion? We are now on the main question of the adoption of this proposed amendment. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The Chair rules the "ayes" have it. And the amendment is adopted. And the new language then will be inserted in Section 11.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I didn't hear if you put a comma in place of the period. If he didn't, I'm going to have to move it. Put a comma in the place of the period at the end of line 24.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: We never took the period out.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: He just moved, said: "Indian tribes without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Period.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Then the period.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Next, if there is no further discussion, we will next have under consideration Section 12.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Section 12. UTILITY FRANCHISES.

"The power of the governing body of a city to franchise the construction and operation of any public utility or similar service within the city shall not be abridged by the legislative assembly."

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: We have just a little minor amendment on that; certainly nothing substantive.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-7.

On page 3, line 26, delete the word "body" and insert in lieu thereof "board".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Litten.

Any further discussion?

DELEGATE PETERSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: No, I don't want to speak on the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

There are some governing bodies of cities which are not called "boards".

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

The committee agrees wholeheartedly with Delegate Baker. However, in these sections throughout we have been referring to it now as "board" rather than "body", and we thought that as a matter of uniformity, why, we should continue to use that language.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

We are on the motion of Delegate Longmire to further amend in Section 12, line 26, to delete the word "body" and insert the word "board", I believe. Yes.

Hearing no further discussion, I will now put the question. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it, and the motion carried, and the amendment is adopted.

Now Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

As the delegates will note, this section was not originally in our article. The Style and Drafting Committee put it in there. We felt it was a good decision. And in grouping these sections this probably was the place where it would fit in better than in other sections. However, our committee has not given the close study to this that the Education and Public Lands Committee has given. We approved this for style and drafting only. We feel that it would be up to the Drafting Committee to give us some light on whether or not there are substantive changes in this section as it came from the committee in the first place. And so we yield to that committee for that purpose.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President:

The Committee on Education took a vote and moved that the Style and Drafting Committee did not substantially change the meaning of what we had done previously. There was a difference of opinion, and I could illustrate it something like this: The politician who was running for office said on a certain issue he was asked how he felt about it and he said, "Well, I will tell you, about half of my friends are for it and half are against it. And, doggone it, I'm for my friends."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: Mr. President:

I don't — I wasn't at the committee meeting, but it was my understanding that when Style and Drafting do something they just merely change a few commas and probably a word or two. And in my opinion this section, Section 12, is considerably changed. I think they've made a substantial change from 101. And when you look at 101 and you look at Section 12 and you look at 139 in the old Constitution and then you also realize that at one time on the floor we deleted it completely, I'm becoming increasingly confused. And I definitely feel that it has certainly been changed. I would like to ask the Style and Drafting what their explanation is.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Anyone from the Style and Drafting Committee who will answer Delegate Peterson's question?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Delegate Peterson, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: We felt that in reading the language as is in your pink sheet, 101, it was confusing to read. You start off by saying, "No law shall be passed" and then at the tail end of it you say, "without asking the consent of the governing board". And the committee felt that this was in a way asking that the city apply to the Legislature before they passed a law. And this was our feeling; that it was a confusing way of writing what we really felt was the statement that we came out with in Section 12 on your green sheet where we put it positively giving the city a right to franchise within city limits. Really that's what the whole measure speaks to. I think it is stated clearly, and I don't think we've monkeyed with the aspect of it that the city does have the right. But we did feel that the language as originally came through the body was confusing. That's why we did it. It was no attempt at all to make a substantive change.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President:

I want to reiterate what Delegate Unruh has stated. When you go back to old Section 139 in the original Constitution, that did spell out certain utilities that were then in existence in 1889. Now the committee, before it comes to Style and Drafting, had eliminated that language and had broadened it to cover all the public utilities and probably any that will be developed. And we just rearranged that wording and kept the responsibility for issuing a franchise at the local level where it has always been.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I think there has been the revolutionary change in the concept here that it's not very readily discernible. But when you read the new Section 12, "The power of the governing body of a city to franchise . . . shall not be abridged . . ." —

DELEGATE PETERSON: Right.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: — it suggests the concept of inherent power in the political subdivisions which is accepted in the courts of only a couple of states. The political subdivisions are creatures of the State. And, of course, cities are less creatures than the counties and the townships, but nevertheless they are creatures and they derive their powers from the Constitution or the legislative assembly. And so we sort of have the cart backwards here. And I think that the original language in 101 is much more direct, and it doesn't suggest to the courts that there is such a thing as inherent power in the political subdivision. Because it says, "No law shall be passed by the legislative assembly". Suggesting — suggesting that it is the legislative assembly that's being restricted here. And I would think that the original language would be much better to preserve. And I don't really see where it is very confusing, because the Legislature would pass a general law and the law would be effective only when the city would give its consent whenever it wanted to utilize the law. And so it isn't a matter of the city saying, "Yes, Legislature, you can do this." The Legislature just passes a general law and cities that want to use it must comply in a certain fashion. I think that there's been a major substantive change, and I would hate to have the Constitution suggest to the courts that there is such a thing as inherent power in the political subdivisions.

And it pains me, after my lecture of yesterday, to suggest that we spend eleven dollars to vote on this separately, but I do think that we should vote on this separately, Section 12, that because of the substantive change. And I think that we should keep in mind that we are not voting for or against the concept, we are only voting to reject the report of the Committee on Style and Drafting on that one section and replacing it then with the old language that they changed. I would ask that the Section 12 be separated.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That request shall be granted, that Section 12 will be voted on separately.

Delegate Wallin.

DELEGATE WALLIN: Mr. President:

I did check with the Attorney General's office on this. And Mr. Paul Sand's opinion was that there wasn't any substantive change in this. He did say that the way this is written now, that the legislative assembly would never be able to change this or abridge the right of the city.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

After the committee had noted the new language, and at the suggestion of Delegate Devine, who you will recall worked very hard on this section, the original section, I did contact the REC people who had originally been very unhappy with Article 17. And they indicated — I talked to a couple of their — I suppose you'd say managerial and legal experts, but they suggested they did not feel this was any change, either; it was just as obnoxious as the old language.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Wallin.

DELEGATE WALLIN: Mr. President:

Mr. Sand did check this against the recent court decision, MDU v. REA, in Crosby. This decision came out December 17th. And he said that this reading here will not in any way be changed by that question.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Question.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: No question on this — no discussion. However, on the matter of procedure I would suggest that we vote on the Sections 1 through 11 of this and handle it in the customary manner, and then we could come to Section 12 and vote on that. As I understand it, that question has been separated.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We're waiting for a motion from Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman:

I now move that Sections 1 through 11 of Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-7 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the eleventh order.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Second by Delegate Stanton.

We are on the motion of Delegate Unruh that Section 1 through Section 11 be deemed properly reengrossed and they be placed on the eleventh order for second passage.

Delegate Unruh, the desk force suggests that you include Section 12 in having it deemed properly reengrossed.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Thank you. I thought you had severed it. But I think it would be better to include 1 through 12. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That's approved by your second.

Delegate Burke, did you wish the floor before we vote on this motion?

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President:

I would like to, if I may, go back to Section 9. Because I don't believe the intent has yet been brought up on this floor. And I believe that it may be of concern to those who wish to preserve the form of government in the county or the offices. This is of vital concern; not particularly to me, but it is to a lot of people. And if you wish to limit the methods, then perhaps "or as otherwise provided by law" could be changed to "or as otherwise provided in this article", which would definitely limit the means by which this could be done. Because as it is now we'll have to go home and explain that this is wide open, that the Legislature may do and propose practically anything on the form of government or the elimination of county offices.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, the committee agreed wholeheartedly with the observations that were made by Delegate Pearce in their discussion of it. We're talking here strictly about one thing: The referendum; how to get these questions of whether or not a county shall do this or that or eliminate some of its officers or some of its services or home rule to the people. And we agree with Delegate Pearce that we have provided two ways they can get it on for a vote; the Legislature could provide a third way or a fourth way if they want to, the way this is set up. What we are wanting to do, what our intent was, was to make it easy for counties to change their services, to change their territory, or to annex others or to eliminate certain offices and so forth. We don't think that this "as provided by law" has anything to do with the number of signatures required if we go that route. And we put an easy way there where the people could go that route. And we think they can always go that route even though this "or as provided by law" is included. We feel that if the Legislature puts in a third route and say that they can get it on the ballot this way, fine. That's up to them. But the people will still have this route that they have to get fifteen percent signers and put it on the ballot. I don't think we need to do anything in regard to this wording myself because we — we don't want to limit the way the people can get this on for a vote.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I've decided I'd rather save eleven dollars and I withdraw my request for a division.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does that meet with your — no, that was just a personal request. Then at the request of Delegate Omdahl — Omdahl has withdrawn his request that Section 11 be voted on separately.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Does that mean that we are going to be voting on the whole document then as one?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Then I would like to ask a request that we vote on it separately. Because I definitely can go along with all of that proposal, but that last one, I cannot vote for that one. Because that is just discriminatory, and I can't go along with it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That request then will be granted, that Section 12 will be voted on separately.

We are on the motion of Delegate Unruh.

Now Delegate Lander. Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

I was going to wait, but just in case I don't get it out fast enough afterwards, I will do it now.

Very reluctantly, because of the cost, I would like to request a division on Section 11 for the reason that those of us who did not approve of the substantive change will otherwise have had no opportunity in this Convention to have a recorded vote on our thought on that particular substance which was reintroduced this morning.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: At the request of Delegate Lander, Section 11 will be voted on separately.

Now we're back on the motion of Delegate Unruh that Proposal 5-7 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the eleventh order for second passage.

All — I'll put the motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it.

And now we have before us Proposal 5-7. And we will be — the first time we vote we will vote on Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, the board will be opened, you may record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye".

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses 94 "ayes," 1 "nay," three absent and not voting. And, therefore, Proposal 5-7, Sections 1 through 10, inclusive, has been adopted.

Next we shall have under consideration Section 11 of Proposal 5-7.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Hearing no discussion, the board will be opened and you may record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye".

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed. The Clerk will take the record. The record discloses 75 "ayes," 19 "nays," four absent and not voting. Therefore, Section 11 of Proposal 5-7 has been adopted.

Next we shall have under consideration Section 12 of Proposal 5-7.

Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman:

May I ask a question? If this is voted down as proposed by Style and Drafting, it comes back to Style and Drafting, doesn't it? And then do we get another chance to try to make it less obnoxious? I know one of the delegates mentioned it is equally as obnoxious as when it started; do we get another chance at it to see if we can fix it up?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The consensus of opinion is that should this be voted down, this is Section 12, that the — the original — then we would be back on the original form of Section 12, I think, which is 1-101. You see, we have adopted, we have passed, Section — Committee Proposal 1-101.

Any further discussion? The key will be opened and you will record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye".

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed, and the Clerk will take the record. The record discloses 60 "ayes," 35 "nays," three absent and not voting. Therefore, Section 12 of Proposal 5-7 has been adopted.

Are there any announcements?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would like to remind the members of the Finance and Tax Committee of the meeting immediately following recess. We're all supposed to grab something to eat and bring it with us.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: I will remind the Committee on Coordination and Transition we have a luncheon meeting in Room G-5 and G-6 immediately after recess.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Ballot committee will be meeting in the west balcony during recess.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: There is an announcement from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would you please turn in your vote on alternate proposals either to the pages or up at the desk so we can get them all in up to the committee?

Delegate Warner would like to announce that he has three members of the Richland County Board of County Commissioners; John Lingen, John Hintz and Arthur Johnson in the gallery today.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further announcements?

We will now stand recessed until 1:30.

(The Session recessed at 12:32 P.M. until 1.30 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 1:40 P.M., Thursday, February 10, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

We will be on the seventh order of business — Reports of Select Committees.
Reports of the Committee on Style and Drafting.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-4 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-15.

Further, that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the committee report, Committee on Style and Drafting. As many as are in favor of adopting the report will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the report is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-4, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-15:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to education, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE —
EDUCATION

"Section 1. PUBLIC EDUCATION.

"The legislative assembly shall provide for a uniform system of free public education.

"The legislative assembly shall take other steps necessary to prevent illiteracy and to provide for special education and vocational education.

"Schools and institutions so established shall be free from sectarian control. No money raised for support of public schools of the state shall be appropriated to or used for support of any sectarian school."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 1.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd like to move that on page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE" insert the Roman numeral "VIII". That's "VIII".

DELEGATE LANDER: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that in line 6, page 1, after the word "ARTICLE" we insert the Roman numeral "VIII".

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President, I thank Delegate Unruh for telling me how to figure this out. But it struck me as kind of funny we're taking out all the Latin words and here we are using Roman numerals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have an amendment — a second to Delegate Unruh's motion?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Meidinger.

Are there any further questions? Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion to adopt the amendment will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the Roman numeral "VIII" is added after the "ARTICLE" in line 6.

Any further discussion on Section 1, Article VIII? Hearing none, we will move on to Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. BOARD OF PUBLIC EDUCATION.

"The state board of public education shall supervise a uniform system of elementary and secondary public education and perform other duties as provided by law.

"The board shall consist of nine members, with staggered seven-year terms, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate in a manner provided by law.

"The board shall appoint an executive officer whose term and duties shall be prescribed by the board."

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I believe there's an amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-4. On page 1, line 20, after the word "education" delete "and" and insert in lieu thereof the following: "The board shall".

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I would move the amendment. And if I could have a second, I'll explain why.

DELEGATE LARSEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: This is a committee recommendation of Style and Drafting. The purpose of the amendment is to distinguish the difference between which duties of the board are constitutional and which duties are prescribed by law.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE LANDER: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Any further discussion relative to Section 2 of Article VIII?

Hearing none, we will proceed and read Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION.

"The state board of higher education shall have full power, responsibility and authority to supervise, operate and control state institutions of higher learning and shall perform other duties as provided by law.

"The legislative assembly may authorize tuition, fees and service charges to assist in financing state institutions of higher learning.

"The board shall consist of nine members, with staggered seven-year terms, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate in a manner provided by law.

"The board shall control the expenditure of all funds belonging to and appropriated to state institutions of higher learning and shall present a single unified budget request to the legislative assembly. Appropriations for all the institutions and for the board shall be contained in one legislative measure. The legislative assembly shall not reduce appropriations by the amount of any gift.

"The budgets and appropriation measures for the agricultural experiment stations and their substations and the cooperative extension divisions may be separate from those of state educational institutions.

"The board shall have the power to delegate to its employees details of administration of the institutions under its control.

"The board shall appoint an executive officer, whose term and duties shall be prescribed by the board."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President:

There's an amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-4.

On page 2, line 5, after the word "learning" delete the word "and" and insert in lieu thereof the following: ". The board".

On page 2, line 20, delete the word "budgets" and the word "measures" and insert in lieu thereof the word "budget" and the word "measure".

On page 2, line 22, delete the word "those" and insert in lieu thereof the word "that" and between the word "of" and the word "state" insert the word "the".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President:

I would move the amendments.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine, just one minute.

May I have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

Now you may proceed.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President:

Again, these are committee recommendations that are essentially style and drafting. The first amendment is the one — similar to the one we just adopted and distinguishes between the duties, constitutional duties, of the board and those that may be prescribed by law. Delegate Knudson will explain the others.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

Changing the plurals in that paragraph beginning on line 20, changing plurals to singular, and on line 22 changing "those" to "that" and adding the word "the" are to make it — make it coordinate with the previous paragraph where it is specified that the budget for the institutions of higher learning shall be a single appropriation measure. The budget and appropriation measure for the agricultural experimental stations and the substations is now a single appropriation measure. We checked on that. We found that the singular was correct. We need to change the word "those" to "that" to match with the previous paragraph.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate Devine.

If there is no further discussion, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendments are adopted.

Any further discussion relative to Section 3?

Hearing none, the Clerk will read Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. OPEN MEETINGS.

"All meetings of the board of public education and the board of higher education shall be open and public unless a person whose rights are being considered requests that the meeting be closed."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 4. Is there any discussion?

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-4 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the eleventh order for passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Redraft Proposal No. 5-4 be deemed properly re-engrossed, —

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — that it be placed on the calendar on the eleventh order for first passage.

Do I have a second over here?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

The question is on the motion of Delegate Unruh that Redraft Proposal No. 5-4 be deemed properly re-engrossed, that it be placed on the eleventh order for first passage.

Those in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Article VIII as amended is now before the Convention for first passage.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, the question before the Convention is on the first passage of Redraft Proposal No. 5-4, and which is now Article VIII, and it has Sections 1, 2, 3 and 4. The question is on the adoption. Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye," and those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed. Roll call discloses 94 "ayes," there were no "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-4 has been passed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-5 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-18 and 1-115.

Further that this redraft proposal not be referred to a committee but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the committee report of the Committee on Style and Drafting pertaining to Committee Proposals No. 1-18 and 1-115, presently Redraft Proposal No. 5-5. Those in favor of adopting the report will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-5, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-18 and 1-115:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to trust lands, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE —
TRUST LANDS

"Section 1. LAND GRANTS.

"The public institutions which received lands by the enabling act of Congress approved on February 22, 1889, shall retain such lands subject to the provisions on trust lands contained in this constitution."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I now move that on page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE" you insert Roman numeral "IX".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that in line 6 following the word "ARTICLE" that we insert the Roman numeral "IX".

Do I have a second?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

Any discussion? Hearing none, the question. As many as are in favor of the amendment will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and it is now amended to read "ARTICLE IX".

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

Your Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands proposes rather extensive amendments — strictly style and drafting amendments — but rather extensive amendments to 5-5. And the amendment for Section 1 is at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-5.

On page 1, delete all of lines 8 through 12.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

I move that amendment. If I have a second, I will explain.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President and Delegates:

You will notice on your green sheet the marginal number 1-18. When your Style and Drafting Committee looked at Proposal 1-18, which was passed by this body on the 12th of January, which is the ancient history period of this Convention, when we looked at this proposal the first thing we noticed was that Section 2, which was proposed as a floor amendment by Delegate Pearce locating the seat of the government at Bismarck in Burleigh County, we noticed that this could well be transferred to what is now Section 4 of Style and Drafting Proposal 5-15. After we had suggested that, we looked at the other section and realized that it fitted very well with the trust lands section which is now before us. The Style and Drafting Committee felt that it should not destroy the identity of any section which was sent to it, so they put this article together in the manner in which it is before us in the green sheet.

When the Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands inspected the work of the Style and Drafting Committee, they suggested that this language which is now Section 1 could just as well fit into what is now Section 3 on the green sheets. And you will notice that the next amendment in the long legal-sized handout on your desk, the next amendment on page 2 will insert the language of Section 1 into what is now Section 3 so that it will not be lost. The intent of the Convention in passing 1-18 will be preserved.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered and explained by Delegate Knudson. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

I do not believe we have the long yellow or long legal sheet that you talk about.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: You have it in your hands.

DELEGATE AUBOL: This is 5-5.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: 5-5.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mine is 5-4.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: They were handed out together yesterday.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol, do you find yourself?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: They were handed out together. He should have it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would one of the pages secure a copy of 5-5 for Delegate Aubol?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

I believe there is more than myself in this section.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there additional delegates that do not have the copy? Seems that there are a number of them.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 5-4 — all the green ones are in the front of your bill books if you would like to look in the front of your bill books. 5-1 through 5-14 are in the front of your bill books.

DELEGATE LANDER: He means this white one.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The white one.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendments.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Oh, the amendments. How many did not get the amendments to 5-5?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Five, six, seven.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

The suggested amendments are also on a short ordinary-sized sheet of paper which was passed out here in a group enclosed in a paper clip yesterday. But the way the entire proposal would look when it's amended, the way we'd like to have it amended, is only on this long sheet stapled together.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do all the delegates now have the proposed amendment? I believe they do have.

Any further discussion? We will move on to Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. PUBLIC SCHOOL TRUST.

"All lands granted by the United States for the support of elementary and secondary public schools of the state, and the proceeds from the sale of those lands, the proceeds of property that falls to the state by escheat and all other property acquired for the schools, except gifts and donations otherwise appropriated or qualified, shall be and remain a perpetual trust fund for the maintenance of the elementary and secondary public schools of the state.

"The principal of this fund shall be retained and devoted to the trust purpose. The interest and income of this fund shall be used and applied each year for the benefit of the elementary and secondary public schools, apportioned as provided by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 2. Is there any discussion?

Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

There are no suggested changes in the style in this section unless we should move at this time to change the numeral of "2" to "1".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That was all in the first motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Hearing no further discussion, we will move on to Section 3. The Clerk will read the section.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. INSTITUTIONAL TRUSTS.

"All lands granted by the United States for the support of educational or other public institutions of the state, and the proceeds from the sale of those lands, shall be and remain a perpetual trust fund for the maintenance of each institution, and may be commingled with similar funds for the same institution only, in a manner provided by law. If any institution ceases to operate, its trust fund shall be apportioned among the other existing educational or public institutions within the provisions of the enabling act.

"The principal of these funds shall be retained and devoted to the trust purpose. The interest and income of each institutional trust fund held by the state shall be appropriated by the legislative assembly to the exclusive use of the institution to which the fund was allocated."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 3.

Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

There is a long style and drafting amendment to this section.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-5.

On page 2, line 7, after the period, delete the remainder of the line, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "The public institutions which received lands by the enabling act of Congress approved on February 22, 1889, shall retain such lands, but the trust fund of any institution which the state ceases to operate shall be apportioned among other existing educational or public institutions within the provisions of the enabling act."

On page 2, delete all of lines 8 through 19.

And renumber the lines and sections accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

Before I explain this amendment, I have a note from the eagle-eyed chairman of the Style and Drafting Committee that we should insert also a comma on line 7 on our green sheets after the word "only". And I think this would clarify the intent of the — of the Convention on the commingling of these funds. Can I include that in the amendment I have suggested? I'll move this amendment. I don't believe that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson moves that the section be amended as read. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LARSEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

Here we are including the language which is the present Section 1 on the green sheets. By so doing, we are not changing the intent at all. I believe we are smoothing up the language of our draft Constitution. I was absent from Style and Drafting most of Monday because I had to go home and get a few cattle on the market so that I could pay the use tax I must pay for using my farm last year, and I missed the discussion. If I had been present Monday, maybe this could have been done without taking this extra time of the Convention. But I think it is a worthwhile amendment. I think it will improve our whole document. And I hope that the Convention will approve.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I have one question perhaps of Delegate Knudson.

On line 1, 2, 3, of the white copy of the amendment, shouldn't there be a comma after the word "lands"; "shall redeem such lands, but the trust funds"?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

That was not part of my amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

That is not part of my amendment, but I think it's a good suggestion. And if I still may, I'll add it to my proposed amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Where is the amendment, Delegate Knudson? Where is the suggestion?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: I don't know what the line number would be, but it would be on the — it's following the word "lands" on the third line of this proposed amendment. Insert a comma between the word "lands" and the word "but". I think that is a good suggestion and is right in the pattern of the Style and Drafting Committee to set off these clauses of this type with a comma before the conjunction.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: It would read ", shall retain such lands, but the trust"?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Larsen yield to the amendment?

DELEGATE LARSEN: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion on the amendment as offered by Delegate Knudson?

The question then is on the adoption of the amendment. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. SALE OR LEASE.

"The legislative assembly shall provide for the sale or lease at public auction of all properties held by the state in the school or other institutional trust funds, except that lands needed for public use may be sold at public sale for their fair market value. No interest in trust lands may be created by adverse possession or by occupation in the nature of adverse possession. In the sale of trust lands, the minerals, including but not limited to oil, gas, coal, cement materials, sodium sulphate, sand and gravel, road material, building stone, chemical substances, metallic ores, uranium ore and colloidal or other clays, shall be reserved and excepted to the state. Leases may be executed by the state for the extraction and sale of such materials in the manner and upon conditions which the legislative assembly may provide. The proceeds of all sales and mineral leases shall be credited to the trust fund from which the property was removed for sale purposes. Any trust lands may be exchanged for lands of the United States, or of the State of North Dakota or its political subdivisions, as provided by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 4.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President:

I would like to have one thing clear. In the second phrase of the first sentence, after providing that "The legislative assembly shall provide for the sale or lease at public auction of all properties", it says "except that lands needed for public use may be sold at public sale". Now if that means sold to anyone, then you're selling the stuff that you need to keep for public use, as I read the sentence. Now it's conceivable, I suppose, that what was meant was that it would be sold to some other public agency. But that would hardly be a public sale, I wouldn't think.

And then my question is I realize it's already in our present Constitution in Section 155. After you read all of the things that are to be included among minerals, including road material and clay and chemical substances, I wonder if the committee had determined, after we had reserved all the water to the state sometime ago, what there would be left that the purchaser got.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President:

This section is the same as the Convention passed a few weeks ago. And this was not questioned at that time. This "public sale" phrase came in for a good deal of discussion in our committee at the time we were considering Proposal 1-115. And we were told at that time by the two gentlemen from the Attorney General's office who are the attorneys for the State Lands Department that in this case "public sale" means that the intent to sell is published and the fact of sale is published in a newspaper of general circulation in the area of the land. That intent is only to sell to another public agency, of course, as has been done under our present Constitution with two or three lines of specific public uses listed in our present Constitution. We at that time sorted that all up into simply "public use" and "fair market value" was not questioned at this time or earlier, either. This "fair market value", of course, is supposed to be sold by — it is supposed to be set by appraisers for both of the public agencies. The idea of having it a "public sale" is that the general public should have some knowledge of what is going on between the various bureaus of our state government or between our state government and various subdivisions as to what is happening with their trust fund land.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Then we will read — no further discussion on Section 4, we will proceed to read Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. PROTECTION.

“The legislative assembly shall provide for the investment, safekeeping, transfer and disbursement of these trust funds.”

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 5. Is there any discussion? Any discussion on Section 5?

The question then before the Convention is on the first passage.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I move that Proposal 5-5 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the eleventh order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Article IX, Redraft Proposal No. 5-5, be deemed properly re-engrossed to be placed on the eleventh order for passage as amended.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Jestrab.

The question now is on the adoption of the motion to place this on the calendar for first passage. As many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: As a result of the adoption of that amendment and the amendments — or the adoption of this motion and the amendments we are now as it is in the white pages; right? 5-5? So this is now our new finished copy of 5-5?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is the way I understand it.

Is that right, Delegate Knudson?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Yes, sir, that's right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM. Delegate Knudson says that is correct.

The question then before the Convention is on the passage of Article IX, Style and Drafting's Redraft Proposal No. 5-5, consisting of Sections 1, 2 — 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. Those in favor of passage of the article will vote “aye;” those opposed will vote “nay.” The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The key is closed.

Roll call discloses 96 “ayes,” there were no “nays,” two delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-5 has passed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-23, 1-74, 1-77, 1-87, 1-96, 1-97 and 1-116.

Further that this redraft proposal not be referred to a committee, but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the committee report from the Committee on Style and Drafting relative to Proposal — Redraft Proposal No. 5-2. Is there any discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the report. As many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it. Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 is now before the Convention.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-23, 1-74, 1-77, 1-87, 1-96, 1-97 and 1-116:

“Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to finance and public debt, be created.

“SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE —
"FINANCE AND PUBLIC DEBT

"Section 1. RAISING OF REVENUES.

"The legislative assembly shall provide for raising revenue sufficient to defray the expenses of the state for each year. By a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house, the legislative assembly may provide for an annual property tax based on value, for state purposes, for no longer than two years unless reenacted."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that on page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE" the Roman numeral "X" be inserted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that on line 6, page 1, after the word "ARTICLE" the Roman numeral "X" be inserted.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Erickson.

No discussion? As many as are in favor of the motion to adopt the amendment will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Section 1.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Want to go to Section 2?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion or any discussion on Section 1?

Hearing none, read Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. NO SURRENDER OF TAX POWER.

"Except as provided in this constitution, the power of taxation shall never be surrendered or suspended by any grant or contract to which the state, any political subdivision or any public agency is a party."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 2. Is there any discussion? Are there any questions?

Hearing none, we will proceed and read Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. LEGAL BASIS FOR TAXES.

"No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law. Every law imposing a tax shall state distinctly the object of the tax, to which only it shall be applied. Notwithstanding any provision of this constitution, taxes imposed on income or measured by income may be defined, measured and imposed by reference to the provisions of the laws of the United States as they may be or may become effective at any time, and the state laws may prescribe exceptions or modifications to any such provisions."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 3. Are there any questions? Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, the Clerk will read Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. PROPERTY ASSESSMENT.

"All taxable property, except as provided in this section, shall be taxed or assessed in the taxing district in which it is situated as provided by law. While used for its intended purposes and unless otherwise provided by law, the property of railroads and public and private utilities, except property of highway common carriers, shall be taxed or assessed by a state board of equalization or its successor."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 4. Are there any questions? Any discussion?

Hearing none, the Clerk will read Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. TAX UNIFORMITY AND EXEMPTIONS.

"Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of property, including franchises, within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax. The legislative assembly may by law define and exempt any or all classes of property. Property used exclusively for school, religious, cemetery, charitable or other public purposes shall be exempt from taxation. All taxes and exemptions in force when this constitution is adopted shall remain in force until otherwise provided by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 5. Any question? Any discussion?

Hearing none, we will proceed and the Clerk will read Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 6. HIGHWAY FUND.

"Revenue derived from excise and license taxation on gasoline, fuel and other energy sources, used to propel vehicles on public highways, and revenue derived from vehicle registration and license taxes imposed for the use of public highways, shall be used solely for payment of obligations incurred for construction, reconstruction, repair, operation and maintenance of public highways; the legislative assembly may, however, provide for the deduction of funds from these revenues for enforcement of highway safety, driver education and tourist promotion, and for administrative and collection costs."

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 6.

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: There is an amendment at the desk to Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-2. On page 2, line 26, after the semicolon insert the word "except".

On page 2, line 27, after the word "assembly" delete "may, however," and insert in lieu thereof the word "shall".

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I move the adoption of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves the adoption of the amendment. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE GEELAN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: It was the intention of the committee, and I believe of the Convention, that the provision for deduction of funds from the highway user's tax with driver's education and tourist promotion, as well as administrative and collection costs, should come from the highway fund. And the words — the word "may" that the committee or that the Style and Drafting Committee inserted made that a matter of choice by the Legislature. The committee recommends the adoption of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President:

I think the word change to make it "shall" makes it mandatory to make this deduction; the word "shall" is a substantive change to this section. I object to it.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: The language — I believe you are true that it is a substantive change. But the substantive change was made by the wording of the Style and Drafting Committee. We are trying to correct that change. The language of the original section as passed says "should" — "should" — which is a past tense, but still a mandatory word.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: This is not really a substantive change. It would be if we were passing a law here in regards to what an executive officer would have to do. But a constitution does not create a ministerial responsibility for the Legislature because there is no way to enforce it. So the word "shall" and "may" doesn't mean the same thing in a constitutional convention that it does in a legislative assembly. And it's only a choice of words.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate Haugen.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

Are there further amendments or suggestions?

Hearing none, the Clerk will proceed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 7. STATE MONEYS.

"Except as otherwise provided by this constitution or by law, all state moneys from whatever source derived shall be paid over monthly into the state treasury by the public official, employee, agent, director, manager, board, bureau or institution of the state receiving the same, and deposited to the credit of the state, and shall be paid out and disbursed only as provided by law."

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: There is an amendment at the desk for this section.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-2. On page 2, line 34, after the second word "the" delete "public official, employee," and insert in lieu thereof "persons responsible for the moneys".

DESK REPORTER KING: Person.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Person responsible for the moneys".

And delete all of line 35.

On page 3, line 1, delete the words "receiving the same," and after the first word "and" insert "shall be".

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I move the adoption of the amendments.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves the adoption of the amendment. May I have a second?

DELEGATE BINEK: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Binek.

Any discussion?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

I don't know whether Delegate Baker is going to argue this is a substantive amendment or not. It really isn't. In the original section we listed a lot of officials and directors and so forth should be responsible for depositing state money. And in this type of a thing there's always a danger that you forget something or some other office is created. So the committee decided that the wise thing to do was simply to say "person responsible for the moneys" shall make the deposit.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I don't find this in my pile here anywhere the way it is now. And the purpose of my rising was to request that the language be read by somebody the way it would be after the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can you do that, Roy?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: What?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: If Delegate Baker has this mimeographed sheet that listed several amendments, this is the middle — this would be paragraphs 2 and 3.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I think this is another case of this section being missed, it looks to me like.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: What is the question, Delegate Baker?

DELEGATE BAKER: Apparently the amendments have been distributed to part of the assembly but not in this section, if I get the idea.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

I'm sorry if this was not on the desks. And apparently it's not on some desks unless it's been mislaid or shuffled. These are not — these are not major amendments. And I think if the Clerk will read them, that the members will understand them.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Who does not have the amendments on their desk, please? They weren't put out then.

DELEGATE DECKER: Just read them.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 7. STATE MONEYS.

"Except as otherwise provided by this constitution or by law, all state moneys from whatever source derived shall be paid over monthly into the state treasury by the person responsible for the moneys, and shall be deposited to the credit of the state, and shall be paid out and disbursed only as provided by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the amendment by the reading of the section as amended. Are there any questions? Any discussion?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Maybe it will clarify it for the delegates. In the original proposal it read, "The treasurer". And since we are not sure about the status or if there will continue to be a treasurer, I think it's necessary for the finance committee to put in this language, "the person responsible for the moneys". But it isn't any change in substance — in the material.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments as offered by Delegate Haugen.

Those in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I believe that a great many of the members of the Convention are aware of the fact that Section 8 is not satisfactory. It was amended rather hastily on Thursday. The committee feels very strongly that it must be replaced by a new section. That section has been placed on each desk, I hope, because it's on my desk. Yes. Thank you, Bill. And at this time, Mr. President, I would move that the Rules be suspended for the purpose of submitting the committee amendment to Section 8.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are offering a substantive amendment?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. This is a substantive amendment, Mr. Chairman — Mr. President.

I may say this, that this procedure of suspending the Rules at this time, we believe, simplifies the process. This is — it has not been two full Convention days since this was originally passed and we could reconsider action by a majority vote. But for the purpose of simplifying the record, we would like to make a motion to suspend the Rules.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Haugen and —

DELEGATE BINEK: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — seconded by Delegate Binek that we do suspend the Rules in order that we may consider a substantive amendment to Section 8.

Delegate Haugen, Section 8, is it Section 8?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: The amendment in Section 8? Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: To — to Section 8 of Article X.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: It was my understanding that the amendment was to be prepared in relation to our green sheet 5-2, but as prepared it relates to the engrossed proposal, Proposal 1-74. But what it does, it would strike out all of Section 8 on page 3 and replace it with the language that is on the amendment on your desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question then before the Convention is on the adoption of suspending the Rules in order that we might make a substantive amendment —

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — to what was formerly known as Committee Proposal No. 1-74.

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Under this procedure would the substantive amendment proposed by the committee be open to further amendment from the floor?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I would rule that it would be.

The question then is on the suspension of the Rules in order that we might make a substantive amendment to Section 8.

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

May I ask the chairman of the committee, would this exclude all dormitory and revenue bonds, and would it really have an effect of doubling the debt limit as we have now?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: May I say to Delegate Rundle and to all of the Convention members that if my motion to suspend the Rules is approved the amendment would then be read from the desk and we would have a very, I think, complete explanation of it by a member of our committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question, then, before the Convention is on the suspension of the Rules to provide a substantive amendment to Section 8. As many as are in favor of the motion to suspend the Rules will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

Now we will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-2.

Delete lines 4 through 19 inclusive and insert on page 3 — page 3, delete lines 4 through 19 inclusive and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The state may issue debt obligations and guarantee the payment of such obligations and interest thereon. These debt obligations shall be payable from a source other than a statewide property tax based on value, but the full faith and credit and taxing powers of the state may be pledged for the payment of these obligations if the primary source of revenue is not sufficient for that purpose.

"Each issue and guarantee of the debt obligations for which the full faith and credit and taxing powers of the state are pledged, shall require approval by sixty percent vote of the members elected to each house of the legislative assembly.

"Except as otherwise provided in this constitution any tax levied or other provision made to retire a debt obligation shall be irrevocable until the debt is paid."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the proposed amendment.

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

I would ask the Chief Clerk if on one, two, three — if on the fifth line from the bottom toward the end of the line the word "vote" does not appear after the word "percent"?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "shall require approval by sixty percent vote"?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: As the delegates are aware, this is the 1-74 which was the last proposal passed on first reading. This proposal, as Chairman Haugen said, was amended that day and presented to the body because there had been some changes requested, some amendments made to it. It altered significantly the basic proposal which I think maybe the committee had approved as far back as November, which proposal had been okayed by bonding attorneys and had run the gamut of legal considerations.

This is a rather technical language here. And this is one reason the committee was not satisfied with the final proposal that was approved on the floor. Since this proposal was passed, several of the top officers, the Bank of North Dakota, the key staff and some members of the committee, have talked literally for several hours with the bonding attorney, Mr. Whitney, on this particular section. And the majority feel that the draft here is superior to that which is shown on the green sheet and superior to the old Constitution.

We have used the words "debt obligation" in this new amendment rather than "bond"; and we've used only the one designation. We don't use "general obligation bonds" or we don't use "revenue bonds". And we indicate here, which has always been the philosophy of this committee, that these are not primarily payable from property taxes.

Now one of the problems with the old section was that it prohibited a state-wide property tax any way be involved in a bonding issue. And under those considerations the bonding attorney was concerned that the state obligations probably could not receive the high rating which they deserved. So this was changed here to carry out the intent, but not to straight-jacket the state at this point.

Now it's true that in this first paragraph here that there is no limitation on the bonds. It was also true in the first paragraph on the green sheet; there was a limitation on general obligation bonds, but there was no limitation on revenue bonds. And we felt this was an inconsistency. And we also — bonding counsel also felt that there were many problems the way that first paragraph passed the Convention.

Now speaking to this matter of limitation which was discussed on the floor at considerable length the other day, the bonding counsel advises us that really in terms of law the only valid reason for a debt limitation is when that debt is paid off by real property taxes. And so if you eliminate the source of that obligation, then it is not necessary to have these straight debt limitations. We feel that the sixty percent vote required in the second paragraph here is a limitation on this matter. And the third paragraph, which is wordage very similar to the old Constitution, requires that each issue there shall be a tax levied or provision made to retire each debt obligation. And this shall be irrevocable. So, therefore, at the time the Legislature passes on each issue they must find and dedicate the money at the time of that issue to its payment. And we feel that this is also a limitation on this matter for the people that are concerned that there isn't a specific limit placed on this.

Now the Legislature has no limit on what it can tax or appropriate for current expenditures, and certainly if they do issue bonds they are going to have to be considering this along with other proposals. And any of you who have been familiar with the Legislature in recent years know that they have a very difficult time coming up with a tax package which will answer all the expenses of the state. And so they will have to address themselves to this bond issue in the same way. In other words, they can't just issue bonds indiscriminately because they have to pledge revenues to that bond at the time they issue the bond. And each issue must be approved. This is not blanket authority to the Legislature or to anybody else to issue bonds; each issue must be approved.

Now, the second paragraph there, we made a slight change. If the full faith of the state is pledged it takes a sixty percent vote. If the full faith is not pledged, such as a revenue bond would be, or such as was talked about the other day, the dormitory revenues, this would only take a fifty percent vote. Now some of the higher education people and so on were concerned that we were in the old section — in the old section that we were requiring a sixty percent of the vote for the Legislature even for non-general obligation bonds. This amended section here is consistent with the philosophy of the committee. We want to give the Legislature all the necessary flexibility, but we don't want to increasingly burden real estate taxes.

When the committee staff and myself had completed the rough draft over the phone to Mr. Whitney and he was asked about it, he said, "Beautiful." And Commissioner Raschke was in attendance and he said he liked the new draft better than the old. Thorndahl was in attendance, Delegate Roney was in attendance; they both agreed they would concur with the present draft.

This is a committee proposal and it is endorsed heartily by all but two members of the Finance and Tax Committee. And we recommend it to you as being a workable document, whereas the one previously had a lot of great legal problems. I'll be happy to answer any questions that any delegates might have.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there any questions?

Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

Could I ask Delegate Leeberg — Lerberg a question?

If I remember right, the other day when we discussed this 1-74 I believe that there was supposed to be a letter here from — to verify telephone calls. Has such an instrument been delivered to any one of the committee?

DELEGATE LERBERG: You mean a letter from the bonding attorney specifically approving this and so on?

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Yes.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I don't think there has been. And he expressed himself over the phone very definitely that the section as we had passed it here, we would have some grave problems with it. And so this new language was just drafted this morning and has been approved by the committee during the noon recess. So obviously we have no written instrument approving it word by word.

Now I presume if the Convention would like, we could probably maybe have such an instrument perhaps by the time the Convention adjourns next week. But we don't have it today.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Thank you. I wasn't trying to cast any doubt on what the conversation on the telephone was, but being it was raised last week. And if anyone gets the idea I was trying to cast any doubt on the telephone conversations, I was not.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Well, I have a lot of faith in the committee and I know they've done a lot of work on this. But, nevertheless, it is a very technical subject and I would like to, rather than standing on the floor and trying to get the lowdown on exactly all the implications and ramifications of this, I'd like to discuss it with some committee members. I just wonder if we couldn't set this aside and put it further down the calendar so that we could discuss this during the recess and then come back here and answer any questions that we have at that time.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I can understand that it might be difficult for some of the members to understand the full implications of this section. The committee itself has done a lot of work on this, probably, I think, more work than on any other section we've dealt with. And we have had advice from many sources. Delegate Lerberg mentioned many of them. We've had advice from the Tax Department and from the Attorney General's office on this matter. The committee is convinced the majority — the large majority of the committee is convinced that there is an acceptable section; that it does provide some protection and yet allows the Legislature to do what it wishes to do. But there is — actually, I got up here to say or explain why we would like to have it considered this afternoon, which is the fact that Delegate Lerberg, who is our authority and chief spokesman on this, and myself, absolutely have to go home for a meeting of our telephone company tomorrow morning and we would surely appreciate having it out of the way this afternoon before we go. I'm sure that Delegate Lerberg can answer any questions — I'm sure that he can answer almost any questions that any delegate would have.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegates Haugen and Scheel, in order to give some of the delegates an opportunity to discuss this and possibly firm up their opinions and have questions answered, either on a man-to-man or person-to-person basis, if you would like I could declare a ten-minute recess for that purpose.

DELEGATE CHASE: So move.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Also could have a coffee recess.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug, do you have a question?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

While they are talking this over, I have a point that I don't think has been covered thoroughly enough. We speak about the revenue bonds as not being as important as the general obligation bonds; but I think that is a fallacy. Because I don't think people in North Dakota want the revenue bond of some institution of higher learning to go into default. It could be a black eye on the State of North Dakota. So I think that we have to give more consideration to that. They can be issued as revenue bonds, but I think if the Legislature knew the impact of giving this, that we should tie this down a little bit better.

I also have the thought in mind of possibly a two-thirds majority should be required. But I think the indirect liability of the Bank of the State of North Dakota on issuing a revenue bond is more serious than just the way it's been presented.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President and Delegates and members of the Finance Committee:

Twice the other day we voted to put a debt limit on the state. We have lived for eighty-two years with a debt limit. And I haven't yet had a good reason why we should have so much concern about writing a good constitutional amendment to protect the bond salesmen rather than to protect the state taxpayers. Why do we have to go to an unlimited bonding authority to the Legislature? Where we're covering just operating expenses, that's an easy way out when they don't want to raise the tax; so sell a bunch of bonds and pay off your deficit. And this is the explanation that I haven't got.

We talk about the two-thirds or the sixty percent being a good guarantee against unwise bonding. But if they can't get a tax passed or if it's referred, the bonding deal is the way out. And we have lived with virtually a two-million-dollar debt limit on this State and it's rarely used. And when we have been on a cash basis for, well, ever since Langer. We've borrowed money for the Highway Department on a rather firm and quick payoff basis. But I think that we're — we voted the thing in twice and now we come back and there is no limit. I can't understand why we keep getting this change of direction.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

I have noticed that there are three technical amendments which would be necessary to conform this amendment with Style and Drafting Committee style policy. Should these be offered on the floor or will this go to the Style and Drafting Committee for that purpose?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Dobson, I would hope that those amendments could be made on the floor and that this would be a completed section when we get through with it.

Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: May I answer Delegate Dobson? Could I answer Delegate Dobson?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. Well, the Chairman of the Style and Drafting Committee is also a member of our Finance and Tax Committee. And probably I should have had him answer this himself. But he went over this rather thoroughly and we did make some changes in it to meet objections that he raised. And I think that Delegate Unruh feels that this would meet the standards of the Style and Drafting Committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I want to answer Delegate Hoghaug's concern. Because I came back from Grand Forks and had the University officials all upset to the extent where they had called President Clifford in Washington, D. C., about our original draft. And we thought we were helping them, but actually from their standpoint we were hindering them. And I came back to Mr. — Delegate Haugen, the Chairman of the Finance Committee, and told them why they objected. And I see in the new draft they have pretty much taken care of this, where they have felt that they would never get a dormitory revenue bond passed if it took a sixty percent vote of the Legislature each time they wanted an issue passed. But here we have the idea that new — every intent of the full obligation of the state, but yet it wouldn't be necessary for them to go to the legislative assembly to get their bond passed.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I would almost echo Delegate Paulson's words. We have a debt limit. We established one the other day. Now we are doing away with it. Now I might also suggest if it was real — if it had been real hard to get bond issues in the past we wouldn't be overbuilt in some of our schools now where dormitories are partially empty; and one school completely unused, disbanded. I think that we should have a debt limit. And I don't think there should be a way of getting around the obligation by calling it a different kind of a revenue bond. Furthermore, I think two-thirds would be far better than sixty percent. Thank you.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I just want to address myself to — is this working?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

DELEGATE LERBERG: — Delegate Paulson's suggestion here. The committee has spent a great deal of time on this and we don't think there is anything magic about a debt limit. And for those who think there is something magic about the debt limit, all you have to do is look at the federal debt limit.

Now we think the same thing is true at the state level. Now we've issued about thirty-nine million dollars worth of dormitory bonds. The reason those were issued as revenue bonds was because of the restriction in our Constitution. And this was a way found to get around those. The people of our state and the students of our state have paid materially higher dormitory costs because of the fact that we've had this debt limit in the state.

I subscribe to you that if progress is going to be made, whether it be in state or federal or individual, debt limits, which are an artificial thing, are nothing but a sedative. They don't offer any real protection at all.

Now we have faced the fact that the federal government has a debt limit. Surely it's legislative and can be changed. It's not constitutional. Now even though the federal government does have a debt limit, I've got the yesterday morning's bond sheet on my desk here which indicates that in only five federal agencies something like 35 billion dollars worth of bonds have been issued, totally outside the debt limit, and in most cases at interest rates from half to three-quarters percent above what the federal government can issue. And the federal government itself is now in discussion on this very matter because they are paying billions of dollars a year more in interest than they would have to if they would call a spade a spade and recognize reality. And this is what we're trying to do with this Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

I just have one question. In answer to Delegate Paulson, too, I would suggest that during the recess that you check and see what the debt limit is in North Dakota. There is none that I know of.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: I think I'd like to answer Mr. Paulson by saying that we did pass a debt limit the other day of twenty-five percent of the biennial general fund. But then we had — in addition we may have all these other debts. And when the committee started looking at this we decided that we really didn't have a good debt limit in this thing. In fact, we had no debt limit whatsoever under the proposal which was passed as 1-74. We came out of that without the debt limit on the "in addition" clause which we had in the very same paragraph that would allow us to have all types of revenue bonds of any kind without a debt limit.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Before we proceed further and call for a vote on this, the Chair is going to declare a fifteen-minute recess in order to let the delegates further discuss this section. Please be back in fifteen minutes.

(The Session recessed at 3:02 P.M. until 3:20 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order. Will the Convention please come to order?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Question.

DELEGATE LITFEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion?

Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Will Delegate Lerberg yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg yield to a question?

DELEGATE KESSEL: Delegate Lerberg, you stated that now it should be the way it would be or should be because you now have taken away the source of statewide property tax based on value. But do you not put it right back in in the last sentence or last few words in that same paragraph; if the primary source of revenue is not sufficient for that purpose then you can go back to the property tax, statewide property tax, can you not?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Delegate Kessel, that's one of these questions that you can answer yes and no. In the first place, if you don't have that last clause in there you would prohibit, in effect, the State of North Dakota from issuing any general obligation bonds. Because of paragraph 3 — and this has been traditional; of course it's been in our Constitution and we're not changing that — when the Legislature makes a bond issue, for instance the most — the ones we've had most talk about recently have been the veterans bonus bonds. They had to come up with where the revenue was coming from to pay that bond issue off in its entirety. And this is what they'll have to do under this section in the future.

Now the only — this is kind of one of those real emergency situations, such as we discussed when we took up that section on the four-mill levy, that we were discouraging the property taxes and it would only be in a dire emergency that that would ever be resorted to. But if you preclude it, then the state pays a lot more money for any bonds they need to issue.

DELEGATE KESSEL: But if they spend all of the money they have from other sources, and that's gone, they can go to the property tax? It's that simple, isn't it?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Yes, this is possible.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd like to speak to this matter of debt limit. There are really three or four deterrents to a legislator going wild on spending. The first deterrent is the sixty percent vote, or we may call it three-fifths if we decide to go stylistic style; second deterrent is the veto power of the governor; the third deterrent is the referral; the fourth deterrent is the fact that a bonding house won't buy your bonds unless you have the ability to pay them back. And that's your really big one.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I would also like to add a couple things about the language here. This language was basically worked out by staff, approved by a bonding attorney — not a bond house but a bonding attorney whose job it is to give an opinion as to whether a bond issue has followed the legal and the constitutional limits that are set out — and so this man is not interested in whether the bond is sold or anything else, he's just interested in whether it's legal.

Now the State of Illinois has not necessarily similar provisions, but they have provided for bonding in their constitution by a sixty percent vote of the legislature as well.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I discussed this — I discussed this — I know they have done a lot of work — and sat there last night listening for awhile. And I'm certainly not trying to appeal this. One of the big things that can be said in behalf of this is that this is what's needed for industrial development in the state. And I don't think there's anybody sitting here who isn't for industrial development as long as it's done intelligently. But I still look at this debt limit. You don't have to have a debt limit that's ten million or twenty-five million dollars or something, but I still think the difference between paying for something today and paying for something later on is just general expenses, not a commission for any particular project. It's the difference between tell it like it is, man, and tell it real softly so the next time I won't hear it in the Legislature if I want to come back here. And I do feel that there definitely ought to be a debt limit.

Now I say there are all kinds of ways to circumvent this. When it is properly drawn there can't be all kinds of ways to circumvent this. The only reason there could be a way to circumvent this would be laws, that kind of loophole. I really believe that it will make for more responsible legislation. We've got all these so-called controls in here; four of them that Delegate Unruh listed. But also if we set a debt limit, what should it be? Forty percent of the general revenues from the last biennium? The same legislature can go out and introduce a new constitutional amendment if they want to raise it. There is that door open also. I don't believe that even though there are a lot of responsible people on here that we can compare business done on the state level by people coming in and out of government. You are in government for a few years and they are gone to a business where a person's in it and he's in it all his life. He's going to be there to pay off the debt as well as obligate the company for it. I really think that the committee ought to come up with some kind of a debt limit.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

I have an amendment in this regard at the desk. If you would please read it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle, now you are offering an amendment to the amendment?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-2.

Following the second sentence in the first paragraph of the amendment add the following: "The outstanding indebtedness shall not exceed an amount equal to forty percent of the state general fund revenue raised in the preceding biennium."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the proposed amendment to the amendment.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Maxwell.

Now for discussion.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I believe the other day we said this would make a limit of about, am I right, eighty million? About eighty million would be the debt limit. I think this is plenty high. But I think the people want a debt limit in there. I know I do. And I haven't too much concern with what certain experts say about it. I think the people in this case are the ones that should be considered. And I would urge you to adopt the amendment to the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Just to illustrate this just a little further, basically if you're talking about a hundred and eighty million dollar general fund for a certain biennium and it comes to the last few days of the Legislature and you need fifteen or we'll say twenty million dollars more, to make the picture more easily portrayed, you can expend that by just committing yourself for a million dollars for the next year for principal payment and a million dollars the next year for interest payments. So basically you've got twenty million dollars worth of services or materials, whatever they be, for two million dollars. Then the next biennium you come in and do it again and you have bought another twenty million for another two million dollars. So you've taxed the people for four million dollars and you've spent forty million dollars. And this is fine as long as it's done completely responsibly. But the pressures, if we had done — if we were in this body assembled right here now, we — our Plenary Session days had expired two days ago, we know what it would have been like last Friday and Saturday and Monday and Tuesday. And basically that's the kind of a situation that lends itself to not considering just exactly how much money you're spending and what you're doing with it.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey said, "It's terribly hard to spend a billion dollars and get your money's worth." And it's terribly hard to spend very many million dollars and get your money's worth. And it's just as easy to throw away a few dollars here and a few dollars there when you are throwing away two million at a crack or paying for it two million dollars at a time and spending twenty million dollars at a time.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think we are getting some things confused here. In the first place now, this particular way to handle it is not necessarily the only way it can be handled. So the bond attorneys are dictating this language, they are just saying that if we use the language that we had in the present green sheet No. 8 there would be a great deal of question whether the state could ever sell any general obligation bonds. This is what they're saying. You could put a limitation on it, but it's not as simple as putting in a phrase that has been suggested. You're going to have to attach two or three more paragraphs of language to explain this situation in order to get the job done. This is what the committee's trying to get away from.

Now in comparing North Dakota to the federal government, of course, is an unfortunate situation in terms of debt. Because the federal government when they issue bonds does not have to specifically appropriate taxes for the payment of those bonds, and you do under our Constitution and under the old section of the Constitution. So while it's true it's possible at the end of a session they might decide this was an easy way out, but they've still got to come up with those taxes. And if you've listened to discussions when they had the veterans bonus thing, they spent days and days trying to figure out where to come up with that tax package to pay that bond issue off. And so it's not a real simple thing to do this. And I think we need to keep these things in mind. Actually, if we're going to — for instance, the amendment that's been offered here, this would probably blanket all state debt. And what the total of that is I just don't have any idea, and I don't think anybody else does. And certainly the bonding attorneys don't have any ideas. So if they were to look at a constitutional provision like this, they probably could not guarantee anybody buying this bond where they sat. And the result would be I think you would be better to write an absolute prohibition for the state to bond in the Constitution than to accept the amendment that's been offered.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I can't understand why this committee has not written into their amendment the intent of this Convention in speaking to the debt limit. If this amendment to the amendment does not do what it's intended to do, it's unfortunate. The committee has had time and the direction of this Convention to include in their new amendment what we intended; a debt limit. Now they are quite consistent in their thinking, that's true. It's unfortunate that they haven't heeded the consistent thinking of the delegates to this Convention that we want a debt limit in this section. I would certainly approve of this amendment. I'm going to vote for this amendment. If it doesn't carry, I have no alternative but to vote against the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think that we're really trying to say to you here by voting in a debt limit that it's going to take about four pages to adequately describe what we mean by a "debt limit". And then the subsequent purchasers of North Dakota bonds are not going to understand it, bonding attorneys are not going to understand it, and we are going to defeat, as Gary Lerberg says — I should call him Leeburg — but Gary Lerberg said that we will just be at a point where we just cannot describe any part of this; we might as well leave it out.

Now let me just say this to you: That each individual in here may have a limitation imposed upon your borrowing capacity, but that's because some fat old banker someplace probably sets it, you don't. When we're talking about an individual or the State of North Dakota's capacity to borrow money by the issuance of bonds, we must take into consideration contingent liabilities. We've left out of this new proposal — I say "we" because I think the new proposal is a good one — we've left out of that such things as a contingent liability of a hundred seventy-five million dollars that we have to pledge with the deposits of the Bank of North Dakota. If you want to include this in here, then twenty percent or forty percent of some figure isn't going to mean a thing.

What we're worried about is raising money. And when we're talking about debt limitation the state can only incur so much debt. But you can only sell so much in the way of bonds. And after awhile you're Double A rating is going to be an A or a B rating and you aren't going to sell those bonds.

Now you've already heard them say that it's been brought up in here that when the Legislature approves the expenditure of any kind of funds — and this goes back to your revenue bond or whether it's a debenture of any kind or a general obligation bond — they are going to also have to find a way for that bond to be issued to be paid for. Now just to say that, well, we're going to wait for it to get into default and then we are going to spread a general ad valorem tax against all the land of the State of North Dakota to pay for it, who is going to buy that bond? No one's going to buy it. And this is what we're really getting into, I think, all of the safety features that are built into this. I don't think you have to worry anything about whether there is or is not a debt limit. And I can agree with the statement that was made earlier that really under the old section or the old Constitution there really wasn't much of a debt limit. I don't think there was any. There's room for argument, but I just don't think we had any. I don't think that this amendment to the amendment to try to put some figure on here for a debt limit will do us any good, and I urge you to vote against the amendment to the amendment and to approve the committee's work.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

It seems to me there is some misunderstanding here about the purpose for which bonds are issued. General obligation bonds are issued for such things as capital projects, veterans bonuses and similar special purposes. Bonds are not issued to raise general fund revenue. If the legislative assembly ever attempted to sell bonds to raise general fund revenues I don't think anybody would buy them. If they did, the interest rates would be exorbitant.

Further, we can't compare federal debt to state debt; they are two entirely different things. The federal debt is, in effect, owed by the American people to the American people; it's paid by tax funds to investors. On the other hand, state bond is sold to outside state parties, such as the investor who bought the bond. Therefore, I don't believe the debt limit amendment is necessary.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I would like to resist the motion for a debt limit. It seems to me that we sometimes lose our perspective in this body and we assume that this is the last gathering of wise people and we keep thinking that the next legislative assembly is going to really be a bunch coming out of the trees. And I still expect that guys like George Longmire and George Unruh and Buckshot Hoffner, if he's lucky, and a few others that we have in this body are going to be back. And let us be vain enough to say equally reasonable men. And so I don't think that the next legislative assembly or those in the future are going to be much different than this body. And they would act with the same degree of prudence and wisdom and intelligence, if you're very vain, as this body might act. And so I don't think we ought to say that, "Boy, we've really got to be suspicious of that new crowd that's going to come in and use this power." I think they are going to be very prudent and conservative people that are going to utilize the bonding capacity of the state. I think that the committee proposal is a good one just as it stands. And I would certainly hope that the amendment to further confuse the issue as proposed, putting a debt limit on, would be defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I concur completely with Delegate Omdahl in his remarks. I came to the Convention firmly committed to the principle of a debt limit. And I have probably had more experience in helping municipalities on bonds, selling bonds, than the usual delegate. But as I saw the complexities of this issue of debt limit, and as Delegate Roney has mentioned, this amendment as proposed by Delegate Rundle won't do the job. In order to do the job properly and clean it up we would have to have at least another page of definitions. To my mind a debt limit is strictly affixed. At present the State of North Dakota in effect has no debt limit today, even though we say we have one in the Constitution. Because the moment institutional revenue bonds don't derive the revenue necessary to pay off the bonds we come to the Legislature and the Legislature by a majority vote backs up the bonds; not at the initial issue but on the delinquency. So in effect you're getting around the debt limit now. And it's affixed — and I would strongly ask the defeat of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the delegates is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Rundle.

Any further discussion? Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye," those opposed will vote "nay." The question is on the adoption of the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Rundle. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "noes" have it, and the amendment lost.

We are now back on the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I have listened and I have learned nothing. The defenders of this thing start setting the federal government as an example we should follow, and I think we have blown our top. Really we aren't specifying what we can issue general obligation bonds for. And they can be issued to cover a deficit under the wording of this amendment that has been proposed by the Finance Committee. And as soon as we start issuing bonds to cover the deficit we're going to go the way of the federal government.

Now I recognize that we should have bonds and they should be guaranteed by the state for these dormitories. Let's belt it out, let's not make it a blanket deal. We've got a ten-million-dollar debt limit now for the State Bank of North Dakota and the State Mill and Elevator. They are accomplishing an industrial purpose. This is what you say you want bonds for, but it's a wide open deal. And I don't think we should have a wide open deal in this Constitution. I would suggest that if we're going to issue bonds to put on a new building on the Capitol Building or for other Capitol purposes, then we should spell out what general obligation bonds can be used for, including bonus bonds. Or we should go back to the old way and every time we have a bond issue coming up, put it to the people and get their approval and then the Legislature doesn't have the problem of how to get popular acceptance of the bond issue and the tax that goes with it. I think that this wide open deal is not the proper way to approach the state's debt.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KESSEL; Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I believe I have an amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-2.

In the second paragraph of the amendment, after the words "approval by" delete the word "sixty" and insert in lieu thereof "sixty-six and two-thirds".

DELEGATE KESSEL: After listening to Delegate Omdahl exploiting the intelligence and the resistance of the legislators, I find I would not make a good legislator. I am now convinced that the only way this body can possibly have any protection is to forget the way of the debt limit and go the other way to make it just a little bit more difficult for the legislators to be put in the corner in the last minute by lobbyists and what-have-you to issue a bond limitation. And so I hope that this body will now go along with the sixty-six and two-thirds of the legislators rather than sixty percent. There can be no argument now that the bond attorneys in Minneapolis and all of the institutions cannot get what they want, but it makes it just a wee bit more difficult. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May I have a second to Delegate Kessel's amendment?

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Bassingthwaite.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: In response to Delegate Kessel, there is another way of doing this and that's to accept the language that is now in our green sheet, Section 8, under State Limits, and defeating both the amendment to the amendment now and the amendment. And I want to recall — have you recall in our roll call vote on Thursday, February 3rd, that there were 89 "yes" votes and 2 "no" votes on this particular measure on Thursday. And the real issue, if you will recall, was whether or not to have a debt limit in this section or not. So please keep in mind that vote. I still think we're voting on the same thing. You can vote down the amendment to the amendment and the amendment, and we go right back to what we had last Thursday.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

Excuse me. I was a little amused by the reference to the 89 to — what was it — 2 vote. Which was not on the amendment, it was on the passage — on the passage of the proposal. And I have proposed many of the suggested proposals at this Convention and also the amendments to some of them. Although if my amendment were defeated, I voted in the end for the section because I wanted the Constitution to contain that section. The vote on the amendment 50 "yes", 46 "no." And that was on the forty-million-dollar amendment, which I'm sure the Convention is convinced now has no realism whatsoever.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Kessel; the amendment to the amendment.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think I should speak to that a minute. This committee didn't think it was inconsistent asking this sixty percent here. As I've said before, it is in the Illinois constitution. And one of the other measures we brought in we did ask a sixty-six and two-thirds vote; that was on a matter of a statewide property tax. And we felt that that was — that it could only be put on in a truly emergency situation. We don't feel that the state's ability to bond should be tied to an emergency situation. And this is what you will be doing if you vote for the sixty-six. Because it will be almost an impossibility to get this kind of a vote. We think sixty percent is adequate safeguard, and on an operating basis we think that that's a more realistic figure than sixty-six. We talked about all figures before agreeing on this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

I don't view that proposed amendment to the amendment exactly that way. It seems to me that if you can sell an issue which is based only on revenue derived from a part of the resources of the state and does not carry with it full faith and credit, that then all you need is fifty percent to do it. Isn't that correct? The sixty percent as it stands now or the sixty-six and two-thirds percent as proposed in the amendment to the amendment would apply only to issues which pledge the full faith and credit, everything you could lay your hands on to tax. And I think that Delegate Kessel may have a solution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President, Members of the Convention:

Being a bit of a conservative, I kind of like the idea that a two-thirds vote on this proposition would be all right in the Constitution. I think any project that merits the financial backing of the State of North Dakota can get the two-thirds vote in the House and Senate without any trouble. If it is a project that is questionable as far as the merit of backing it with our resources, it will lose. And I favor the two-thirds vote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Part of the problem is, though, Delegate Butler, that in some of the cases the state is not only going to be saddled with the debt, but a higher interest rate simply because they can't get the two-thirds vote. And I don't think that makes sense. For example, in a revenue building, say a dormitory — and I should mention that there have been some dormitories built unwisely — but if anyone can predict the vagary of student movement they can come to the Board of Higher Education and tell us what they are going to be. But supposing the Legislature does vote to build a dormitory but can't get the two-thirds vote. Well, not only are they eventually going to have to see that that debt is paid off, but they have to also see that the additional percent of interest is paid. And I can't see that that's a consistent position because they are never going to default on them as far as I can see.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Question? The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Kessel. An amendment to the amendment. The purpose is to strike "sixty" and insert in lieu thereof "sixty-six and two-thirds" percent. You have heard the motion; those in favor will say "aye;" —

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President:

I would resist that motion because if you look at what's happened now, we have roughly thirty-nine million dollars of bonds for schools. Our students are paying, according to the expert testimony which we had, an additional half a million dollars a year of additional interest because we don't want to give a full faith and credit. Now all we are doing is adding an additional amount of burden to those people because we don't give the full faith and credit. How are they going to pass it by fifty percent if they can't pass it by the required super majority? And it seems to me we are just burdening ourselves and our families and our dependents with additional costs without facing the fact that if we do need to have the bond issues anyway and we are going to have them, therefore, we're going to pay for them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Kessel. I think the Convention is aware of the question.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay." The "nays" have it, and the amendment lost.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Division has been requested. That's a sufficient number. Again, the question. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 23 "ayes," 74 "nays," one delegate absent and not voting. The amendment to the amendment failed.

We're back on the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: It may look like a double standard here to vote against something like that and then be against the amendment being proposed now, but the reason I think is pretty clear. What Delegate Aas said is absolutely true. If we can get a lower rate on these revenue bonds for dormitories by pledging general obligations — by pledging full faith and credit, that's the way it should be done. But that isn't going to alter the feeling about a debt limit. And I think this is so complicated a thing to make an amendment right here on the floor is just — just isn't good financial procedure. It's the kind of a thing a committee has to do. And it's difficult to do, yes. But still it's the kind of a thing if we want a debt limit it has to be done by the Finance and Tax Committee so that they can at least come back here with something that the loose ends have been worked out. Because even though we are here at the end of a session it is just exactly the same conditions prevailing now which are not going to make these kind of restrictive measures we are talking about here worth a hoot if you get a different kind of people, eight, ten, twelve years from now running the Legislature.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think that we have had a pretty good discussion on this. And the committee doesn't necessarily consider every word of their language sacred or anything like that. But we do feel that we've checked this out with the people that know what they are doing on this. And if these delegates who are opposed to this amendment or this amended section can come up with some language which would be more preferable to the Convention, certainly the last two days they are able to reconsider this matter. But when our staff members talked to the bond counsel on this section, Section 8, as in the green sheet, he referred them to a study of the Legislative Research Committee that we would have to plug in that kind of language. And that was four printed pages. And so this is why we came up with this new language.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think the proposal as a whole is real good. But I still have one worry on the fifty percent proposal for the revenue bonds which I feel that the state would have to pay as we did in Ellendale and in other cases like that. I feel that we are just as obligated to keep our credit. And I would like to test on the feeling on that if there is anybody else that's worried about it. I would like to make an amendment in the second paragraph after the word "issue" on the first line; that we strike the words down to and including the word "pledged" on the third line. Which would make sixty percent be required for all the bond issues.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Try that again.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Rundle. The amendment was moved by Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: We have difficulty in getting the necessary passage many times of these revenue bonds to build these dormitories that are needed by these schools of higher education which have already been cleared and checked very carefully by the Board of Administration. First of all, the administration of these institutions and then the Board of Higher Education itself. And if you put a sixty percent requirement on there for the necessity of issuing these bonds you might as well forget any financing of revenue-producing agencies for these dormitories. You'll never get it back. Because my experience with the years that I've been down here is that the Legislature on this sort of thing is much more conservative even than this body is when it comes to issuing bonds of this kind. And I — I think that to put an amendment on like this we might as well forget it completely. I hope this amendment does not pass.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President:

The object of offering the amendment was two-fold; one was if they are approved they will get the lower interest rate which would be a saving, like Delegate Sinner mentioned the other day; the other is that instead of having a debt limit we will have a debt limit by the Legislature of sixty percent. And I feel that we will have to pay a revenue bond the same as a general obligation bond to keep the credit of the state good, the same as you have to pay a note or a mortgage to keep your credit good.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President:

I rise in support of the amendment. It goes right back to what I started with. I think if we ever default on a revenue bond the state's going to pay it anyway.

We can't stand a black eye. And I think Delegate Decker's amendment has merit, and I hope you support it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-2.

In the second paragraph of the amendment, after the words "Each issue" delete the following: "and guarantee of the debt obligations for which the full faith and credit and taxing powers of the state are pledged,".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the amendment. The question is on the adoption of the proposed amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay." The "nays" have it. The amendment lost.

DELEGATE STANTON: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are back on the question of the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE STANTON: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Hearing none —

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

Is the Chairman of the Style and Drafting Committee going to offer his technical amendment?

DELEGATE UNRUH: He did.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: After consulting with the Chairman of the Style and Drafting Committee, we have some technical amendments which will conform the style herein with the committee's style policy. They are as follows:

On line 1 of the second paragraph insert a comma after "obligations".

On line 3, second paragraph, delete "sixty percent" and insert in lieu thereof "a three-fifths".

And on line 1 of the third paragraph insert a comma after "constitution".

DELEGATE UNRUH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The technical amendments have been offered by Delegate Dobson and seconded by Delegate Unruh. The Clerk will read the proposed amendments.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-2.

In the second paragraph of the amendment, after the word "obligations" insert a comma.

And after the words "approval by" delete the words "sixty percent" and insert in lieu thereof "a three-fifths".

In the third paragraph after the word "constitution" insert a comma.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard a reading of the proposed amendment to the amendment. Any discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendments are adopted.

We are again on the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen —

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — and amended. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

Are there further amendments?

Next for consideration — we will continue with Section 9.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 9. POLITICAL SUBDIVISION DEBT.

"Any political subdivision may incur indebtedness not to exceed eight percent of the assessed value of the taxable property therein. By a sixty percent vote of the electors, the debt limit may be increased an additional seven percent of the assessed value. The debt limits in this section shall not apply to debt incurred by the issuance of revenue bonds, or bonds financed from sources other than property taxes. For purposes of this section 'assessed value' shall be determined by methods or factors established by law.

"Any political subdivision incurring indebtedness shall, at or before the time the debt is incurred, provide for an annual tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest thereon, and all laws or ordinances providing for the payment of the principal or interest of any debt shall be irrevocable until the debt is paid."

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 9.

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

I would like to move that the Rules be suspended for the purposes of making a substantive amendment to Section 9.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves that the Rules be suspended for the purpose of making a substantive amendment to Section 9. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: This amendment is an amendment that Mr. Whitney, the bonding attorney, thought would be necessary. And if the Rules are suspended Delegate Lerberg will explain the purposes of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion to suspend the Rules for the purpose of making an amendment, a substantive amendment, to Section 9. Those in favor of adopting the motion will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President:

The amendment refers to —

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Excuse me, Gary, perhaps if we will have the amendment read from the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Clerk read the amendment?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I believe it should be there. I think that each member should have this.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: I believe —

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. Mr. Chief Clerk — Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Again we have the situation where — where the amendment is written to apply to the pink sheet or the engrossed proposal in our proposal books. It would call for the deletion of lines 25 and 26 in the green — on page 3 of the green sheet and line 27 including the word "taxes" and the period on line 27.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Section 9, Redraft Proposal 5-2.

Delete lines 25 and 26.

On line 27 delete the words "other than property taxes." and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The debt limits in this section shall not apply to obligations primarily payable from sources other than property taxes whether or not the full faith and credit and taxing power of the issuer is also pledged for the payment of the obligation and interest thereon."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Is there any discussion?

Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think actually this might have been offered under Style and Drafting because we don't really think we're changing anything by this section. And we're not changing anything that the present Constitution provides. We referred to it in our old language, but apparently it was not quite precise enough. The principal thing that I think of now — this might refer to it — but there are other things I'm sure that I don't recall, and perhaps other things in the future, but as of now revenue bonds and special assessment bonds of local taxing districts do not come under their debt limit. And that's the reason for this new sentence, to make it precise. Covers both of those and any other type of bond which was not directly dependent on real estate taxes for primary financing. This is consistent with the amendment we have just made on the previous section and would apply to the political subdivisions. And it's not a change from the intent that the committee had in the old section or the actual practice under our present Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE McELROY: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Question?

Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I have no argument pro or con. But I wonder if it would be proper to make Mr. Whitney an honorary member of this group?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Further comment? The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment of Section 9 as offered by Delegate Haugen. Hearing no further discussion, those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: One more small amendment; not anything to do with substance.

In line 32 after the word "principal" delete the word "or" and insert in lieu thereof the word "and".

This makes it conform with the language in the rest of the section.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On the green sheet, Delegate Haugen offers a further amendment that in line 32, after the word "principal" that we strike the word "or" and insert in lieu thereof the word "and".

Do we have a second to the motion? Seconded by Delegate Binek.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, the question is on the adoption of the amendment. I think you're aware of the proposed amendment. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

We will proceed with Section 10.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH; "Section 10. PUBLIC BUSINESS.

"As provided by law the state or any of its political subdivisions, or any combination thereof, may undertake any business or enterprise, but only for the purpose of providing public services. Unless otherwise provided by law, any form of business or enterprise in operation when this constitution is adopted may be continued. Neither the state nor any political subdivision shall otherwise loan or give its credit to or in aid of any individual, association or corporation except as otherwise authorized in this constitution, and except for reasonable support of the indigent and for payment of adjusted compensation for veterans of the armed services as may be provided by law; nor shall the state or any of its political subdivisions subscribe to or become the owner of capital stock in any private association or corporation."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of Section 10. Is there any discussion? Any questions? Any discussion on Section 10?

I believe that concludes the reading of — Delegate Unruh — Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President:

As a point of information, I suppose that the Style and Drafting Committee would also like to change the "sixty" percent on line 23 to a "three-fifths" as they have in the previous section.

Mr. President, I ask that of the Style and Drafting Committee.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Is Delegate Aas referring to line 23 on page 3?

DELEGATE AAS: Right.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes.

DELEGATE DOBSON: No. Because that is a "sixty percent" vote of the electors and the stylists used a percentage on the vote of the people.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there any further questions?

The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on eleventh order for passage.

DELEGATE McELROY: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do I have a second?

DELEGATE McELROY: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: By Delegate McElroy.

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

I ask that Sections 1 and 8 be voted on separately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle has requested that Sections 1, 8 — 1 and 8 be voted on separately.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Each one separately?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle? Do you wish a separate vote on Section 1 and Section 8? You do not wish them to be voted on together?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: That's right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Maybe I should just ask now that Section 1 be temporarily divided.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Either way is fine.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: If you want to continue making your list, I request that a separate vote be taken on Section 10. I have the eleven dollars here in case you need it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the first passage — the question before the Convention is on Section 1. It is requested that it be voted on separately. And those in favor of adopting Section 1 will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Delegate Engelter votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter votes "aye."

Roll call discloses 89 "ayes," 6 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Section 1 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 has passed.

Next for consideration will be Section 8, Section 8 of Article X. Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2, Article X and Section 8. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 78 "ayes," 18 "nays," two delegates absent and not voting. Redraft Section 8 — Section 8 of Redraft No. 5-2 has passed.

Next for consideration will be Section 10 of Redraft No. 5-2. Section 10 is next for consideration of the Convention. Those in favor of adopting or the passage of Section 10 will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The question before the Convention is on the passage of Sections 2, 3, 4, and 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That was Section 10.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We just passed it.

DESK REPORTER KING: No, that was Section 8.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No, that was Section 8.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Oh, I'm sorry. I thought I announced the vote. There were 98 — 93 — 93 "ayes," —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 83.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm still wrong. There were 83 "nays," — "ayes," and 15 "nays" with all delegates present. So Redraft No. 5-2, Section 10, has passed.

We now have for consideration Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 9 for passage. All sections of Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 and Article X. Those in favor of adopting these sections will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 94 "ayes," there were 4 "nays," all delegates present and voting. Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 9 of Redraft No. 5-2 have passed.

We will be on the eighth order of business — Announcements. We will be on the eighth order of business — Announcements.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, there will be a meeting of the Public Information Committee in the Large Hearing Room immediately after this session.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: There will be a meeting of the Ballot Committee in the west balcony immediately after this session adjourns today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further announcements from the floor?

Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President:

May we be on the twelfth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we will be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: At this time I would ask the Convention reconsider its action on which Committee Proposal 1-4 was passed for the purposes of amending 5-9 of the second proposal. If I have a second, I'll explain.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you give us the number again, Delegate Engelter?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Proposal 1-44, Section 5 thereof.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter moves that the Convention reconsider its action by which Committee Proposal No. 1-44 was passed for the purpose of amending. Do we have a second to his motion to reconsider?

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fallgatter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Since we passed this proposal on last Thursday, and I think at this time it takes only a majority vote, and I think we did a lot of work on Thursday, lot of important work, and I think the way the section now stands there are a lot of loopholes in it. And I think there's other people in the Convention feel that this type of setting up the districts will not work. I do have a proposal that I would propose, and it's being prepared now. And I thought it would be — and I'm sure it will be out here before the end of the day. Delegate Dobson, who prepared the amendment on —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter, might I suggest that your problem is to get it reconsidered? After you get it reconsidered and get it before the Convention, then you will have no problem. Your problem is to get the motion passed to reconsider.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Were you through with the floor, Delegate Engelter?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I was hoping just to make a short explanation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, you proceed.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I think under the proposal that we did adopt it provides loopholes with regard to the reapportionment part of the districts that will be set up. And I think it's real important that every individual in North Dakota be represented in the Legislature and every legislative session. There are other delegates that have expressed the feeling that they are not really satisfied with this provision. And this is the reason I moved for reconsideration at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President:

Am I correct in that only Section 5 would be reconsidered?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That's the way he is making it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is the way the motion reads.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I support the motion for reconsideration. And I think that if the chamber here reconsiders that, the motion then would be to lay it over one day, I would assume.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on Delegate Engelter's motion to reconsider the Committee Proposal No. 1-44.

Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Yes, Mr. President, before I'd consider voting for reconsideration I would like to know what the amendment pertains to. If Delegate Engelter will explain.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: The amendment that I would propose — and I think there is going to be a couple different ideas with regard to amendments. I have talked to some individuals that wanted to delete the last sentence, I think, of that. The amendment that I would propose would be that all Senators would be elected in one biennium and all House of Representatives would be elected in the next biennium. And that when the Legislature would reapportion the new districts would not take effect until those that were elected to their districts, their term had expired.

I think further discussion when we reconsider it would go into explaining that the problem with regard to reapportionment would be solved with regard to true representation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

Would Delegate Engelter yield to a question?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Yes, I will.

DELEGATE AUBOL: As I understand your amendment, this would allow each legislative district to elect a portion of their Representatives and Senators each biennium so that — as it stands now even numbered districts hold an election only in presidential years, but your amendment would change that to allow all districts to have an election each year?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: This is true. There would be a biennium election built into our Constitution. And the way I would suggest would be that in the year that state officials are elected all Senators would be elected during that time. In the biennium when county officials would be elected all Representatives would be elected.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I don't know if Delegate Engelter, if his amendment will carry if he ever gets a chance to present it or not. He is primarily addressing himself to the first sentence. The second sentence also needs correction. It's unworkable now, we discovered after having it pass. Primarily because it provides for nobody to define who retains and who loses a constituency. It's also defective because the people who would be removed from their constituencies would have their term expire immediately. That was not the intent. They should at least serve until the next legislative session starts, whether it is two or three months or whatever. So I support the motion to reconsider because right now the section is terribly defective, and I think we can correct it tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion on the motion to reconsider the action whereby the Convention passed Committee Proposal No. 1-44?

The motion to reconsider; those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." This is going to have to be roll call on account of its passing the Convention, and it takes fifty votes to reconsider. So the Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call indicated 83 votes for reconsideration and 13 opposed, with two delegates absent.

Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President:

I now move that further action of 1-44, Section 5, be laid over one Convention day.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner moves that further consideration of Proposal No. 1-44 be laid over one legislative day. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hoghaug.

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

I would appreciate very much being able to be in on the discussion. I'm not going to be able to be here tomorrow, nor is Delegate Lerberg. Will there be any objection to holding it until Monday? Would you want to change your motion?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I would change my motion to have further action delayed until two Convention days. I think that would be Monday.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I'm wondering how this would fit into the timetable that was outlined earlier today, I think by Delegate Saugstad, which, if I recall it, had as one of its salient points finishing the eleventh order tomorrow.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: We may run into some mechanical difficulty holding this over until Monday. I feel that we should try to dispose of this tomorrow.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I changed my motion. And I move that further action be delayed until tomorrow morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner moves that we defer further consideration of Committee Proposal No. 1-44 until tomorrow morning. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Paulson. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it, and further consideration of Committee Proposal No. 1-44 will be given in the morning.

Anything further under the eighth order?

The Chair would like to make an announcement.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: I have two.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have two there?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Binek has his daughters and grandchildren visiting him here at the Convention; Mrs. Bill Giese and daughter Kathy and sons Mike and Patrick; Mrs. Don Bussier, daughter Sara and son David; and the grandchildren are pupils at the Jefferson School in Dickinson, North Dakota.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will they stand and be recognized?

(Applause)

We have another announcement at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Scribes and Scriveners party tonight, we have been asked to announce the menu on the food which will be available at ten P.M. They are going to have barbecued ribs, barbecued beef, meatballs, German potato salad, special cole slaw and assorted salads and relishes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair still would like to make an announcement. This is relative to a committee appointment. I think you will recall that some days ago we authorized the expenditure of some funds to be used for the North Dakota State Extension Council. And this is a coordinating committee between our Committee on Public Information and that group I just mentioned. And to that committee I would like to name Delegates Paulson, Diehl and Omdahl.

The desk is clear, I believe.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: If there are no further announcements, then I will move that we adjourn until nine A.M., February 11th.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves — Delegate — did you have a question, Delegate Hubrig?

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

I may be out of order, I don't know, I hope not. But since — probably I should ask for a personal privilege. Probably be better.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: There is a proposal circulated today to put the right-to-work on the ballot. And I have a proposal that I would like to have the people consider signing. And I would like to just announce that part of it. That would be a choice of laborers choice versus the farmers proposal. And I have just presented — I have just got it prepared and handed to me now. If the people would stop and look at it before they leave, I'd appreciate it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion to adjourn as offered by Delegate Saugstad. Do I have a second? Seconded by Delegate Nething.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it. We will be adjourned until tomorrow morning at nine o'clock.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 4:43 P.M., Thursday, February 10, 1972, until 9:00 A.M., Friday, February 11, 1972.)

VOLUME XXVII

(February 11, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The twenty-seventh day of the Plenary Session commenced at 9:17 A.M., Friday, February 11, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

Our Chaplain for this morning is Father Donald Hill, with St. Mary's Catholic Church of Bismarck.

REVEREND DONALD HILL: Let us pray.

O Lord, listen to us as we are gathered here together and as we ask for Your guidance and Your assistance. We at this Constitutional Convention represent Your people. Help us to serve Your people as we set forth their thoughts and desires in this revision of our Constitution. May we be mindful of our duty and obligation to use the talents you have given us, along with Your Spirit to guide our deliberations in the fulfillment of Your will. We ask this through Christ, Our Lord. Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the third order of business — Roll Call.

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your presence.

Has every delegate recorded his presence? We will close the key.

Roll call discloses 96 delegates present, 2 absent. A quorum is declared.

We'll be on the fourth order of business — Revision of the Journal — approval of the Journal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has carefully examined the Journal of the 9th day of February, 1972, and recommends that the same be corrected as follows:

On page 419, in line 45, following the word "votes," insert "and there are no nay votes," and following "aye" delete ", the number".

On page 419, in line 46, delete the words "voting nay".

On page 421, in line 37, delete "final" and insert in lieu thereof "first".

On page 427, delete lines 37 through 61, inclusive.

On page 428, delete lines 2 through 8, inclusive.

And when so corrected, recommends that the same be approved.

Delegate Simonson, Chairman.

Delegate Simonson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal. Any discussion? Any questions?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the report will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The Report of the Committee is adopted.

We'll be on the tenth order of business. First for consideration of the Convention is Committee Proposal No. 1-44.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I have an amendment at the desk that I'd like to have read.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to engrossed Committee Proposal No. 1-44:

Delete Section 5 of the Proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following new Section 5:

"Section 5. DISTRICTS.

"Beginning in the year 1974, all members of the house of representatives shall be elected and beginning in the year 1976, all members of the senate shall be elected; thereafter all members of the senate and house of representatives shall be elected every four years as prescribed by law.

"No member shall be elected to the senate during the term for which he was elected to the house of representatives and no member shall be elected to the house of representatives during the term for which he was elected to the senate.

"When the legislative assembly is reapportioned, the new legislative districts shall become effective upon the expiration of the terms of those legislators holding office."

And renumber the lines and sections accordingly — lines and pages accordingly.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I move that the amendments be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter moves the adoption of the amendment as read. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have any discussion?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I think I discussed yesterday briefly with regard to the confusion with regard to the present section. In my proposal — proposed amendment, I attempted to do five things. The first — or four things. First, guarantee biennial elections in every district in North Dakota. Second, guarantee that equal representation in each house is maintained at all times. Third, guarantee that election of representation and fulfillment of that responsibility through the election of a Senator or Representative; that your election will guarantee that full service for a full four-year term will be obtained; and, fourth, which I think is the main objection to the section that we do have, is guarantee a good solution to the problem of reapportionment.

The first sentence or the first paragraph sets out that one house — the House of Representatives — is all elected at one time, and that would be in the year 1974. The reason for choosing 1974 as the starting point is that the Representatives would be elected at the same time that county officers are elected. It also provides that Senators shall — all Senators shall be elected at one time, and their election is held at the same time state offices are filled.

Now, when I look at representation in a bicameral system, I feel that when the voters go to the polls that under my suggestion here, if you're voting for a Senator in one biennium and you're voting for two Representatives in another biennium, the people are expressing equal authority at each election; that being that a Senator, because there are half as many, carries as much weight and strength in that house as two Representatives in the other house.

The second paragraph or second sentence restricts one that has been elected to either house from, during mid-term, running for the other house, and I think this is important — a right to guarantee to the people and the electorate. If I go to the polls and elect somebody to represent me for four years, he has an obligation and a duty to do so, and I think this was one of the objections to our system that we have now, where Representatives are elected every two years and a Senator just every four years; that a Representative would, after his term had expired, would then seek office for a Senate seat; and I think under our present system he does have that opportunity; but, at the same time, he has fulfilled his office that he was elected for, and I think this concept should be continued in our present Constitution.

The last sentence in the paragraph refers to reapportionment, and I think the real problem with reapportionment in anything that we do decide to do is with regard to staggering terms in a house or both houses. The reason I say that a problem is created when you stagger the terms is that when the reapportionment takes place, some districts theoretically are going to become larger in area and some are going to become smaller. Now, the people that belong to the district that became smaller and that are attached onto the district that becomes larger, these people are the people that are going to be affected by reapportionment.

Now, under my plan, where you have a whole house being elected at one term, you're considering the representation from the whole State in one house being re-districted at one time, and that there will be no discrepancy in actual representation.

Now, to further explain how this reapportionment would take place, let me use an example. Reapportionment usually takes place when there has been a decennial census, and in 1980 the census will be taken. This is an arbitrary figure or time to determine whether or not the one-man-one-vote principle applies, and that's when we have an indication — when we know what the population is in the different areas. The first house that would be up in that year would be the House of Representatives for election. Their terms would expire in 1982. The whole house would be elected at that time under the new districts. At that time the Senators would still have two years remaining of their terms, so they would continue to serve out their terms and they would be elected under the new districts in the year 1984. I know the main objection that I have heard with regard to this is with regard to a whole house being changed in one election. With regard to that, I think under our present system you could say right now that the House of Representatives changes at every election. There is some argument — another argument that's against this. When you're considering politics and political parties and change of representation in a house, I think it's just as important to have every election strongly opposed by both parties, and I think, having a whole house switch, will make this possible and make it a stronger political and local interest in our government.

I think past history has shown that we have had a major turnover in either house in the past, and I don't expect in the future there will be a major turnover to not provide continuity in the legislative process. If such does happen, I think then it is the will of the people that we do need a change in one of the houses.

The second argument against having one house being elected at one time is that when one house is elected, the other house would have been sitting in the Legislature for two years and would have had two years' experience in that house; and there, again, we provide a check and balance — some experience for at least a two-year period.

Another argument against changing of one house: I think under our present Constitution where legislators are elected for a two-year term or a four-year term, they come into office and they've had in the past to jump into the Legislature for sixty quick days before they generally have a lot of time. We've changed this in the legislative process. We've provided for an 80-day limitation on legislative days over a two-year period, and they don't have to be consecutive. So, again, we have improved. And I think, under the improvement, my solution or my suggestion is a good suggestion — to provide some safeguards in the Constitution for electing Senators and Representatives.

I think this section, the way we have adopted it in 1-44, without my amendment, deals directly with the reapportionment commission that we have set up, restricting their powers or giving them some direction as to what they can do. Under the present section as we have passed it, I don't think it has set anything. It's set up with the idea that the districts should be numbered, even-odd, even-odd; but does that mean that when reapportionment becomes effective you're going to have new districts and they're going to have the authority to change the numbering system? I think every county — or every district that is — every individual district has four — at least four adjoining districts, and the numbering system could be changed at will. By putting my amendment in, I think we're going to guarantee the things that I have stated and leave the commission do its job of setting districts, without the political football of trying to move numbering system, switching districts around, increasing some, decreasing some, and so forth, and I think that's the important part of having good reapportionment.

Thank you.

DELEGATE WARNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Warner.

DELEGATE WARNER: Would Delegate Engelter yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would Delegate Engelter yield to a question?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE WARNER: This is a field I have not studied, sir, but I have a question.

If you have a Senator whose term expires in 1974, wouldn't you have a vacancy in the Senate until 1976 when Senators are elected?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I think that at that time they would have to be elected for a two-year period. I think under any system that we set up here, we're going to have problems switching into the system; but once we switch into the system, the system will continue and prevent problems of reapportionment and short elections in the future.

DELEGATE WARNER: Have you provided for such a two-year interim term?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: No, I haven't; but I think, if it states in our Constitution that all Senators would be elected, and a Senator might be elected in 1974, he would know that all would be elected in 1976.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. President and Delegates:

I'd like to make note of this fact: There's no question that the Senate will be most vulnerable in the case of electing them all in one year, simply because of the numbers. And we have seen it happen in the past when there's been great turnover, especially on presidential election years, because there's always an influence on how the president goes in the way the State Legislature goes, and this has happened in the past, and I would say that if this thing came into existence, most certainly we should switch the Representatives to the presidential election year and the Senate to the interim years, because you cannot — we've got to have some viability in these houses or some continuity, and the House of Representatives — 98 members are not near so vulnerable on presidential-election-year turnover as the Senate would be.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

The House has been quite vulnerable in the past, too, as far as that goes.

In reply to Delegate Trenbeath, my seat mate here was in the House — was in the majority in '65. In '67, he was not only a minority, but about 17 of them or 18, I guess; so they turn over pretty fast. But I have an objection here — that "No member shall be elected to the senate during the term for which he was elected to the house . . ." and so on. I think this is grossly unfair to the Senate when here's a Senator that might want to run for the House of Representatives, in which they have a lot more leeway and fun and they're not so stuffy, and he couldn't do this.

(Laughter)

Of course it would work the other way, too, if a Representative wanted to run for the Senate, and this sometimes happens. But I don't believe that this is a good provision with this one provision in it.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and Members:

I think Delegate Engelter has come up with a pretty good solution, but I have one problem or one question — either to him or to the transition group. The beginning dates bother me. I don't think our Constitution will be in effect or have any bearing in '74; so we can't lay any rules down here. I'm wondering if the transition — somebody from the Transition Committee, or someone else, could solve that. I think the starting date should be sometime later. I don't have the answer, but I don't think it would work this way.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, first of all in response to Delegate Hoghaug, we could put any effective date on any section we want in the schedule. Now I think Delegate Engelter's amendment has some meritorious features, but I'm afraid I can't support it for the reasons stated by Delegate Trenbeath and Rundle: One, if a House member wants to run for the Senate at mid-term, or vice versa, I think he should have that option. Second, by putting the entire Senate up in a presidential year, you're going to subject it to violent turnover.

I simply want to notify the Convention, Mr. President, that if this amendment fails, a further amendment will be offered to attempt to correct the defects in this section.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, in addition to the other problems that have been raised here on this amendment, the main objection that I have or did have to the old proposals or the first proposal that came in was the fact that you, under that, and still under this, you would — you could have a situation in reapportionment where a Senator or a House member would be living in one district and representing the constituents of his district or old district at the same time, and now, since we're going to the four-year term for all, you could have a situation where the Senator and — both — House members would be living outside the district for a period of as much as two years and serving those people of another district. It would seem to me, with these committees that will be meeting in the interim, no doubt, and with the changes that the Legislature will be making, you could have different times of the session in which that district really had no representation either in the House or the Senate, and certainly no representation on the interim committees. It seems to me these are details that ought to be left to this commission as to when these effective dates will be, and not tie their hands completely by all of these restrictions in the Constitution.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: May I answer Delegate Longmire's question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: In reference to non-representation, I think you have to look at one house being separate from the other, and if you change the whole house or one of the whole houses at one time, you are changing the voting power of all the people in the whole State. All the people in the whole State will be voting for new Representatives or new Senators under new districts, and they'll be representing those people in the old districts until their term expires. The Senators, or the other house, will still be representing those people, and I think this is important. The problem, as I look at reapportionment, is with regard to staggering the houses. You stagger and elect half of one house with half of the other. Over ten years, we're going to have the problem of electing some representatives for a period of four years, and then that four-year term is going to be cut short because everything's been reapportioned, and if it's been reapportioned, you aren't granting to the people some stability in the elective process of electing Representatives.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I find myself in the former, again, as I think I've been one of those that argued that a new member needs time in which to become adjusted to the legislative process in order that he can more effectively deal with the older member who has much more experience and time on him. On the other hand, I look at this proposal and I'm a little bit frightened because I think the end result of this is — and the one, maybe, great advantage of this is that they can all be inexperienced together, and I am not at all certain that I would want, on the other hand, too, and I would ask, even though I think at this time it's a question of what the Dobson amendment might be, but I wonder if the availability of taking care of the problem that Delegate Engelter so well points out — that a person caught in the end, between the section on reapportionment — that whether, in effect, the Dobson amendment is going to handle that. It has to be a question for us who vote either for or against this amendment. So at this time, although I know he's writing an amendment, so, in all likelihood — do you catch that question?

(Delegate Dobson nodded.)

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President: Would Delegate Dobson yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would Delegate Dobson yield to a question?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Yes. As I understand what your question would be: Section 5 has two distinct parts. The first part deals with the numbering of districts. The second sentence deals with the matter of the legislators retaining or losing their seats after reapportionment. My amendment would simply delete the second sentence because of the numerous problems contained therein. If we're going to keep the second sentence, we're going to have to go and write a lot of statutes for detail in the Constitution and definitions, and so forth, and we can't perceive in 1980 or 1990 all of the situations that might develop. So, by deleting the second sentence, we would allow the reapportionment commission in the future to deal with this problem as they see fit, and perhaps the Legislature to legislate in this one area. By leaving only the first sentence, our intent would still be clear that one-half, or as nearly thereto as may be practicable, of the legislators will be elected every two years.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President, as has become clearer and clearer in this debate, the need to provide a system for retaining half of both houses at the time of reapportionment becomes clearer, I think and I hope that in — if this amendment of Delegate Engelter fails, that we can put in an amendment to, as Delegate Dobson suggests, eliminate that second sentence; but, also, in eliminating it provide that the Legislature establish a system where half of each house may be retained or as nearly as possible, because I think that feature in the proposal of the Committee is vitally important, as has been pointed out several times on the floor here, that the whole concept of four-year terms — and I was part of a sweep in the Senate when many good people were defeated, not because of partisan politics on the local level, but because of a national election — and at that time Delegate Hernett and I debated the question of a no-party ballot because we both saw that some extremely good legislators from both parties had been beaten in different times, not because of their own successes or failures, but because of a factor that had nothing to do with the local scene, and that's why I think it's — the retention of half of both houses at the time of reapportionment is extremely important, if we can accomplish it, and I think it should somehow be made clear in the Constitution that that's our wish, and if the amendment that Delegate Dobson is preparing can include a sentence to suggest that the Legislature provide that, I think it will help a lot.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I see some merit in Delegate Engelter's amendment, but, you know, the other day we voted to set up a commission and we're trusting this commission to divide the State into districts, to reapportion. Now I think, with Delegate Dobson's amendment, we'd be giving this commission some room to move. Now we struggled with this problem in the committee for quite some time and I wonder if we can come up with a system and lock it into the Constitution that will work. Now, if this Commission — and it will have a lot of time and it can consult with the Legislature and it can come up with a system, and if it doesn't work in the first 10-year period, they can try something else. I, for one — I think that we ought to give the commission the room to move.

Now, at one time I was in favor of putting a lot of alternatives in, giving the commission some alternatives, but apparently that's not going to work; so I think you should defeat the amendment and adopt the other amendment and give the reapportionment commission the room to do what we're talking about — what we'd like to have.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engstrom.

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Mr. President, may I yield to Delegate Engelter?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter — he yields. Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I think the whole problem with regard to reapportionment in our reapportionment commission is what is the objection — the objective of that commission? I think that commission should set the districts; that's all — and it is a matter of determining districts on the basis of population, so that the way we elect our people, it will be under one-man-one-vote principle, and we're bound by it by the Constitution of the United States. I think, if we extend the authority of the commission to say that one Senator is going to not — not going to have to run and the other one is going to have to, you're playing politics with regard to it. I don't think that's the proper purpose of setting up a reapportionment commission.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I'd like to ask — I wonder if Representative — Delegate Engelter would yield to a question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Engelter yield to a question?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I'm in sympathy with and support your idea or principle of having each district every two years voting on either a Representative or a Senator. That part, I think, is excellent. I do, however, question this provision where you say that no member shall be elected to the Senate during the term for which he was elected to the House of Representatives, and then vice versa. Now, under that — under a strict interpretation of that, would that mean that if one were a Representative, that he would have to be out for a four-year period before he could run; that if he wanted to run for the Senate — do you understand what I mean? — he's been elected to the House of Representatives, he was serving his four-year term, his term has expired and now it's time to run for reelection. Technically, he's still a member of the House of Representatives. Could he file and run for the Senate under those circumstances?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I think you're — in analyzing this provision and the reason I put it in, was there was some objection raised on the floor the other day. Not necessarily to convey the important thoughts on this in my amendment, but if a Representative would serve out his four-year term, he would have to wait two years before he could run for the Senate. It would be a two-year lapse of time, and I think the important reason I put this provision is, and I think it's real important to consider, that the people, when you're talking about representative government, the people elect somebody to do a job. Why should he at his whims not do that job and complete his responsibilities?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, I'd like to to address this question to Delegate Engelter.

Will you please tell me what section of the United States Constitution guarantees the legislative district of a state?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I don't think there's one that does; but with regard to the one-man-one-vote principle, it guarantees equal representation based on population.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, this same question has been batted around since 1842. It's been up to the Supreme Court on a number of occasions and the court always held that it had no jurisdiction in this field. Well, then in 1963 or '64, four members reversed themselves and joined with two new appointees and took over jurisdiction. At that time Justice Harlan accused them of amending the Constitution. Now, we don't know how long the Federal Court will keep jurisdiction in this particular question. So, to try to base a constitutional provision of North Dakota on something that's problematical as that would be, I think is futile.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President. Just a comment here.

Does the fact that we have studied this a great deal in our Committee — our Committee — our Committee did not always come up with unanimous agreement on any of these things — but I think one of the things that we have to recognize is that the legislative body philosophically and technically is the originating body of all things for the State and, as a result, it must have initiative, it must have imagination, and it must have creativeness. We have now extended the terms of offices to four years. We have allowed them to meet at will. They can organize themselves for the best purpose that they may seek to resolve. They may have committees that can meet at any time, and as I look at it into the future, I think we should not judge — I'm not judging this amendment one way or the other, Mr. President, but looking at it from the standpoint of the effectiveness of the legislative body in doing the job that needs to be done, because now we have given them great responsibilities. We have asked them now to organize themselves in such a way that the job can be done. They aren't getting resolutions from a body to study during the interim. They are going to continue as committees to study these things and, as a result then, we need continuity in the body, we need experience in the body, we need to recognize the fact that half of them, perhaps should be returned so that they, in turn, can help to educate and train and to assimilate the thinking and the ideas of the body that goes together each two years. I think this is the most important philosophy that we need at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention — the question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Engelter. Do you wish it read?

Then we will proceed to vote.

Those in favor of the adoption of the amendment will say "aye;" and those opposed will say "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "noes" have it. The amendment failed.

Committee Proposal No. 1-44 is before the Convention.

Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, I move my amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is the amendment at the desk?

The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-44:

In line 18, delete "When the".

Delete lines 19 through 23, inclusive.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: It is with some reluctance that I move this amendment, because I have nursed this provision long through Committee and on the floor over a period of several months; but I have no pride of parenthood because this provision was fathered in Nebraska, and now that it has come before this body and its defects have been exposed, I think we better do away with it. We thought we arrived at a solution the other day, but subsequent developments showed we did not. One of the defects in the second sentence in Section 5 is this matter of retaining your constituency or being removed therefrom. Who is going to define this — the legislative reapportionment commission? The Supreme Court? The District Court? The Legislature? We don't know. We don't say. Let's take a practical example here of what could happen.

Right now a Senator Doherty represents the Thirteenth District, which is Eddy and Foster Counties, and he lives in Eddy. A Senator Schultz represents the Fourteenth District, which is Wells and Sheridan Counties, and he lives in Wells County. Well, let's suppose, in a reapportionment, that Foster is split off from Eddy and Sheridan is split off from Wells and Wells and Eddy are joined to form a new district. So you have Schultz and Doherty in the same district. Well, which one is going to be removed of his constituency? They both lost about half of their old constituency. So, if we're going to put something like this in the Constitution, we're going to have to put in a good deal of additional statutory material on definitions and things of that nature.

Another problem here is in the last line — "but the terms of legislators removed of their constituencies shall be deemed to have expired immediately." I don't think you could amend that, because if a commission files a reapportionment plan in 1973, the legislators who are removed of their constituencies at least ought to be able to serve out their two-year period. So this amendment would strike the second sentence, and what we would have left is the first sentence, providing for the division of the state into odd and even-numbered districts, so that one-half of the legislators, or as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially. That is sufficient for a Constitution, I believe. Our intent is clear that one-half of each house will stand every two years, and I don't think you have to add anything additional, because in this particular area the Legislature would be empowered to legislate, as I see it. Under Section 9 of the legislative article, we have this provision: "The legislative assembly shall enact all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this constitution." So this is something — and if the Legislature didn't act, presumably the legislative reapportionment commission could make the decisions. These decisions are going to have to be made from time to time after the periodic reapportionments. We can't foresee all the possible circumstances that may arise. So I think the best thing to do and the safest thing to do and the wisest thing to do would simply be to delete the second sentence of Section 5.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President, I objected to this section in the original 1-44 about a week ago, or whenever it came on the floor. I could support Delegate Dobson's thinking on this one much better if he would delete all of Section 5. I don't see the necessity for it, actually.

He said, when discussing Delegate Engelter's proposal, that we can't foresee the future, and I agree with him. I don't think we should tie the Legislature's hands or this commission's hands for the next 20, 30, 40, 50 years. I could see a time coming when in North Dakota probably these districts, if we are going to follow the one-man-one-vote concept, where they're going to be combining districts, where you're going to have all kinds of peculiar situations, which we can't foresee today. I just don't believe that this should be in the Constitution and I don't really see what useful purpose it's going to serve by saying that you shall have even-numbered districts — or that you shall have numbered districts constituting one class and an odd number of districts constituting the other class. I think this is something basic that anybody will know without having to have this spelled out in a constitution, and I can see us certainly getting into trouble with this sometime in the future. I would much rather leave it up to the Convention — or to the commission than to the Legislature.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

Last week I rose in opposition to this section when we were discussing Section 1-85, and I can support the Dobson amendment, and I will. And I call your attention to the sections in the repealing clause, 27, 30 and 33, in response to Delegate Hernet's comment that we need not classify the districts. I think there is reason to classify the districts. That reason, probably most apropos, was stated in the case of State v. Meyer, wherein the governing principle was indicated to be that the condition of the State Senate is such so that there shall be two classes of Senators, so that at all times one-half of its members, as nearly as practicable, shall be experienced men. I think that comment in itself speaks for the reason as to why we should leave lines 14 through 18 as the section of the Constitution and leave the commission which we have spoken about determine the balance of our problem, and for that reason I would support the motion to delete the balance of Section 5.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Dobson. Any further discussion?

Hearing none, those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I have an amendment at the desk which I'd like to try and see if it will help solve this. If it doesn't the delegates will vote it down.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-44:

In line 18, following the word "biennially." insert the following: "The commission shall provide that as many as possible of the legislators whose term does not expire at the time of reapportionment shall complete their terms."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment?

DELEGATE CHASE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Chase.

Do we have any discussion?

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I think I'd like to hear Delegate Dobson. He's studied this a lot more than I have.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: We could put this in, but I don't know if it's really necessary. I think our intent is clear just by leaving the first sentence, so that one-half of the legislators, as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Sinner.

Do you wish the amendment to be read — the proposed amendment to be read? Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I'd like — I think we should have something in here on this, because if we don't, we're not going to, it seems to me, make it clear that at the time of reapportionment we still want this retention of incumbents as far as possible to be a fact. It is true that the language of the — that we now have does say that want people elected every two years, but it does not address the question of reapportionment, and I think this question will be advanced.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President and Delegates:

I would agree with Delegate Sinner, except we are confronted with an impossibility. The redistricting commission — and I don't think whether it's the one that will be provided for or the Legislature itself — has the authority under either the bicameral system or the unicameral system to change the number of districts and the number of Senators and Representatives. It can reduce the 49 and 98, in the case of bicameral or unicameral, and if we assume it changes the number, the whole system goes off kilter and you have to start out electing a whole new House and Senate, and you can't keep anybody in because they favor it. The commission has got the broad authority to change the numbers of the districts, and everything. I don't think it will happen, but it has. And so you can't write into the thing restrictions that would be impossible to follow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Sinner.

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "noes" have it and the amendment lost.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: In regard to Delegate Hernet's comments, it is true we wouldn't need this section at all if we didn't want to put it in; but by not specifying a district numbering system, why then we're leaving the option up to the legislative reapportionment commission. They could number by seats, they could do like Delegate Engelter suggested — they could have the whole Senate up one year, the whole House up the next year; they could even have both houses all up in one year. So the reason for retaining the first sentence would be to at least give some guidance.

I have a motion to re-engross, unless someone wants to further amend.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Aubol have a question?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I was hoping, before re-engrossing would be decided, that — Delegate Hernet, I agree that the first sentence is unnecessary. I personally feel we shouldn't have that first sentence. All that first sentence would have to say is something to the effect that the reapportionment commission shall see to it that about half of each house is elected every two years, rather than putting the districts on the spot. Now you are locking the system into our districts, where, in our District Four, we have to elect all of our people at the same time, and you are putting District Three in the same spot. All of District Three has to be elected at the same time. I think that one general statement to the re-apportionment commission with reference to half-and-half elections is all we need.

So, Mr. President, I would hope that the motion to re-engross does not prevail at this time and that we can have some time, perhaps, to work on this question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I hope the amendment for re-engrossing will be made, because all this sentence says now is that the districts aren't going to be numbered, and they are numbered now and they're numbered even and odd, and it says that we hope the commission will try to elect, as much as possible, half of the different houses each year, and I don't think there's anything more we can say on this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, if you look in the closing part of the sentence, the first paragraph — "so that one-half of the legislators, as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially." This does not say that the districts — the entire districts be elected. I think, with that sentence, that the Senators should be elected in one biennium and the House members should be elected in the other biennium. I think this proposal is sort of late. I think this proposal is in good shape, and I do hope that the Convention passes this, and I think we have quite a bit of work left on many other things.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch, did you wish the floor?

(Delegate Kelsch shook his head.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, the only way we're going to get a feeling of the Convention on what they want to do with the first sentence is to make this motion. So I move that the Rules be suspended and that Committee Proposal 1-44 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson moves that the Rules be suspended, that Delegate Proposal 1-44 be placed on the calendar for first passage.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Solberg.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it and Committee Proposal No. 1-44 is before the Convention for passage.

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Could we have approximately a ten-minute recess to go over this before we vote on the re-engrossed measure?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will grant a ten-minute recess.

(The Session recessed at 10:13 A.M. until 10:20 A.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order. The Convention will be in order.

The question before the Convention, Committee Proposal No. 1-44. The Rules have been suspended and the Proposal is before the Convention for passage as amended.

Is there any further discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, I would ask the delegates at this time to defeat the motion to re-engross at this time. I have an amendment at the desk being typed on this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl, I'll have to inform you that the motion to deem it re-engrossed has been passed; however, the proposal is still before the Convention and it is subject to amendment, if you have further amendments to offer.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, I would then move the amendment which I had at the desk again.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl wishes to further amend. The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Committee Proposal 1-44:

Delete lines 15 through 18, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The legislative assembly shall establish a system, which, as nearly as practicable, one-half of each house shall be elected biennially."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hernet. Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: As the amendment was read, I believe there possibly is a short grammatical mistake and, also, line 14 should also be deleted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delete lines 14 through 18 inclusive.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: In offering this amendment, discussion during the recess indicated that, again, we have a lawyers' problem with reference to the material which we have left in. We have odd and even-numbered districts. We are attempting to establish a fair, representative system which allows us to have half of our legislators elected each biennium. Putting such a system as odd and even-numbered districts into the Constitution can develop a problem in the future. It's for this reason that the amendment was offered. The amendment as drafted would indicate that the Legislative Assembly shall establish a system which, as nearly as practicable, shall allow that one-half of the legislators be elected in each biennium. It provides for the flexibility which we are looking for and which we need for proper representation of our legislators and our constituents for the State of North Dakota, and I would ask the delegates to support it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Hartl.

Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President, I wonder if you would have the Clerk read the amendment one more time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-44:

Delete lines 14 through 18, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 5. The legislative assembly shall establish a system which, as nearly as practicable, one-half of each house shall be elected biennially."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, I'm not much of a grammarian, but I think there's something missing out of that amendment someplace. I don't think it's a complete sentence, is it?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: If this amendment carries and the bill is passed, I'm going to move to have it referred just briefly to the Style and Drafting Committee, and we'll take care of the grammar. I think I'm going to support the amendment. It's probably best to let the Legislature set this thing up.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson, just a question from the Chair.

You stated that you would ask that this be referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting. Just a question. I think that, if this — this should be put in form now, if you have further amendments, so that it does not have to go to the Committee on Style and Drafting. The members of the Committee on Style and Drafting watch this as it goes along, because, after all, we have mentioned a number of times that the sand in the hourglass is running very low.

Delegate Dobson, if you have further amendments, if you think it should be further amended, then it would be good to make them.

DELEGATE DOBSON: That is true, Mr. President — the sands are running out of our hourglass. My thought was the Style and Drafting Committee could fix this at noon and be back here at one o'clock for reincorporation into the legislative article. If the President desires, I will move the amendments here, but it's a little easier to take care of it down in the Committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your request will be granted.

The question before the Convention, then, is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hartl. Is there any further discussion?

Hearing none, those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment was adopted.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: If there are no further amendments, I will again move that Section 5 as amended of Committee Proposal 1-44 be deemed properly re-encrossed under suspension of the Rules, and placed on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson moves that the Rules be suspended, that Section 5 of Article II of Committee Proposal 1-44 be deemed properly re-encrossed and be placed on the calendar for further amendment. Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hoffner.

The question is on the adoption — that the Rules be suspended. As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 1-44 is again before the Convention as amended — for final — or for passage — first passage.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment — or the passage as amended, will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, Sinner votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner votes "aye." Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: "Aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would you push Delegate Miller's button "aye," please?

DELEGATE BENSON: Delegate Benson votes "aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benson votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The vote is closed. The roll call discloses 87 "ayes," 8 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-44 has passed.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I now move that Committee Proposal 1-44 be referred briefly to the Style and Drafting Committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson, it will automatically go to that committee.

Next for consideration before the Convention — Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President: For the benefit of the delegates who supported this, Mrs. Hendrickson, who drafted the amendment, has found the missing word. I think the word, if you insert it prior to the word “one-half”, is the word “elects”, and that will take care of it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention at this time is Committee Proposal No. 1-119. We are still on the tenth order. Committee Proposal No. 1-119 is before the Convention.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I have an amendment at the desk which I would move at this time. That is the sheet that has one section on it, rather than two.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill offers an amendment to Committee Proposal No. 1-119. The Clerk will read the amendment.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: May we be on the eighth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates, guests in the hall:

We have a very distinguished couple visiting us here in the Chamber this morning — Congressman Mark Andrews and his wife, Mary. I'd like to present them to you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson, the Chair will name a committee to escort the Congressman and his wife to the Assembly, and I would like at this time to name Delegate Rude and Delegate Nicholas to escort Mark and Mary Andrews to the Assembly.

MR. CECIL CRANDELL (Sergeant-at-Arms): Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Sergeant-at-Arms.

MR. CRANDELL: Your Sergeant-at-Arms requests the courtesy of the floor to The Honorable Mark Andrews and his wife. Mark is the United States Congressman from eastern North Dakota.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will concede to enter the Assembly.

(Standing applause)

Fellow Delegates, it is a great pleasure for me this morning to have the opportunity to present to this Convention our Congressman from the East District or the First District, whichever you prefer, of North Dakota, The Honorable Mark Andrews.

(Applause)

CONGRESSMAN MARK ANDREWS: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. It is a privilege, indeed, to be here in this historic convention. Now those of us who have the rare privilege of serving in the Congress as Representatives of the people, and those, of course — some of you here in this Constitutional Convention — who have had the privilege of serving in the State Legislature, realize what a great thrill it is to be representing the people. But no one really serves in a more significant capacity than those of you here today rewriting that most basic document — the Constitution of our State. It is significantly true, because this is only the second Constitutional Convention we've had, and significant, too, because you represent some legislators, some newspaper reporters, who generally are on the other side of the aisle taking pot-shots at what goes on in these legislative halls; but mainly the people from all walks of life of North Dakota, structuring a new document so we can go forward into the second hundred years with a firmness of conviction and a guideline to show us the way.

Last night I was in Hebron and one of your Constitutional Convention delegates spoke of the progress you're making, and I think one of the significant things he pointed out was that he was a history teacher himself, and yet it was difficult to struggle through the old document that we had. This new document that you've got about ready to present to the people, I understand, is short, compact, reads well, and is something that will serve to stimulate an interest and a participation in government, because the people from North Dakota will become much better acquainted with this new Constitution than they've ever been able to be with the old one. So, as one North Dakotan to those of you who are doing so much to guide the future of our State, I say thank you. You're doing a wonderful job and North Dakota in the years ahead will benefit because of your labors here in this hall.

It is a privilege for Mary and me to be with you for these few short moments, and knowing how a quasi-legislative body functions, the greatest speech you can make is the shortest one at a time like this, particularly on a Friday morning. Thanks for the privilege of joining you. (Standing applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be back — we will be back on the tenth order of business.

The question before the Convention is Committee Proposal No. 1-119.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Committee Proposal No. 1-119:

Delete all of lines 1 through 8, inclusive, on the engrossed proposal and insert in lieu thereof the following:

That Section 7 of the Constitution of the State of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the State of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to jury trial.

"SECTION 1. REPEAL.) Section 7 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed.

"SECTION 2.) A new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate. A person accused of a crime wherein the maximum possible period of confinement exceeds one year has the right to trial by a jury of twelve. However, in all other cases, the legislative assembly may regulate the size of the jury."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Second by Delegate Thompson.
Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

If you will look at your Committee Proposal 1-119 as originally introduced by the Committee on Preamble and Bill of Rights, you will see that this amendment is quite close to that proposal, and all it does, in effect, is delete the language that the Legislature may regulate the number required for a verdict. And I would like to add just a little background at this point, if I might.

Over the last 100 years, the most inflexible thing about our criminal justice system has been the business about trial by jury, and, historically, that constitutional right by trial by jury has always included that it shall be a jury of twelve and that the verdict must be unanimous; but recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court, within the last three or four years, have changed all that. In 1970, Justice White, writing in the Williams case, stated that what the traditional approach had long considered the essence of the jury trial was really historical accident or myth, and we're right now at the point where we're seeing great changes in our jury system, and I'd like to tell you what other states are doing.

Most states have provisions for the use of less than unanimous verdicts and juries of less than twelve in civil cases. Five states provide for juries of less than twelve in felony cases; eight states for six-man juries in misdemeanor cases; five states provide for nonjury trials in certain misdemeanor charges, and in at least three states there are some provisions for less than unanimous verdicts in felony cases.

Well, it is apparent from the action of the Convention so far that we're not going to allow that much latitude in our Legislature; but the last Legislature in its discretion did create a Committee on Judiciary to consider the problems of the judiciary over the interim, and I'm working with that Committee, and I'd like to mention some of the members on that Committee: Senator Don Holand is Chairman. There are three other Senators and three members of the House of Representatives. The other members who are not legislators include two Supreme Court Judges — Judge

Teigen and Judge Harvey Knudson — three District Court Judges — Judge Heen, Judge Jansonius and Judge Maxwell — two judges of the County Courts of Increased Jurisdiction — Judge McCullagh and Judge Glaser — and several private practicing attorneys, and they include Mr. Kirby, Mr. Peterson, and our distinguished colleagues, Mr. Thompson and Mr. Nething, and each of the meetings of the Committee on Judiciary are stocked with a large number of people who are interested in the welfare of the judicial system in North Dakota. They have agreed that the flexibility of the jury system is vital. In fact, out of nine subjects they considered, they considered the number — reducing the number of jurors called to hear civil or criminal cases to be the second most important item of the nine they had to consider. And at their December meeting, it was moved by Judge Heen, seconded by Senator Barth, and unanimously carried, that the Committee inform the proper officials of the Constitutional Convention that the Committee favors retention of the jury system, but desires that the Convention provide for legislative control over the size of trial juries and the number of jurors necessary for decisions.

Now, I think these people adequately are informed on the subject and they have spoken to the matter before us, and this is somewhat, I'm sure, why the Committee on Preamble and Bill of Rights acted as they did. But we heard yesterday from Delegate Omdahl that the Legislature may be just as smart as this body here, since they have two houses, as it appears they will — they may be twice as smart (laughter), and I would like to earnestly see that this Convention leave some discretion in this matter to the Legislature. The Legislature doesn't have to change any of our laws presently on the books; they might not well do so; but, President Nixon and Chief Justice Burger have all urged that we streamline our criminal justice system. For us to sit here in this Convention and say, "No, we will not be budged, regardless of the problem," is to really stick our head in the sand. And I realize some people might want a forty-man jury with a unanimous verdict, but I really think that we can leave this matter up to the Legislature and they will adequately protect the public interest, and that's what this problem of criminal justice is all about — protecting the public interest — and I would urge adoption of this amendment.

This amendment, mind you, is not even what I would like to see, but it is the best compromise that we could arrive at between the number of people that are interested in allowing some flexibility in the Legislature.

Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President. My birthday falls under the sign of Libra, and according to the Morning Pioneer's horoscope, this is one of those days when you seem to aggravate everyone and everyone tends to aggravate you, in turn.
(Laughter)

There's one more little piece of symbolism that I would like to call your attention to. When Proposal 1-119 came up the first time, which was going to, in my opinion, tamper with the jury system, you may recall the voting machine broke down. I am as convinced as I ever was that we should not tamper with the jury system. The final proposed amendment which has been proposed by my Honorable Colleague, Delegate Hill — you may notice in his speech he talks about "criminal justice." We have more at stake here than criminal matters. This little amendment doesn't even mention civil cases, as our present constitutional provision does. They are apparently out in limbo someplace. This treats a person accused of a crime wherein the maximum possible period of confinement exceeds one year as having a right to a jury of twelve, but less than a year, 364 days, he can have less than the traditional twelve. I don't suppose — I hope there is no one in this chamber who has been incarcerated in a jail for a year. If you would really try to put yourself in that place. Along comes the sheriff or the marshal, takes you by the arm and deposits you in one of our more luxurious quarters that are maintained by the counties in this State, and puts you in a cell and says, "Brother, this is your home for one year." I think none of us have the appreciation of what it means to be in prison, because, unfortunately, we don't have that experience until it happens. That's not an insignificant intrusion upon a man's own life. The only arguments that I have heard in favor of less than twelve jurors is to speed things up for people in jail quicker, apparently, or to save some money. Now, in many, many cases, in civil cases and some criminal cases — not so many, but some — are tried to the court on the agreement of the parties and the counsel concerned. Many civil cases which would ordinarily be jury cases are tried to a court. Under our present rules, you are not entitled to a jury unless you ask for one in the complaint. I'm not going to take your time and aggravate you any more than necessary, since I have already spoken several times on this matter.

We have just heard Congressman Andrews refer again, and I know we all do realize, that we're working on basic things. To me, there is nothing more basic than this right of trial for settlement of actions, both criminal and civil, by a reasonable number of a man's peers, and twelve in this — when you consider the matters that are involved and the issues, I don't think twelve is so many people. If there is such great virtue in fewer numbers to save time and expense, we should have met here with about 25 of us, instead of 98. I think we've benefited from having 98, and I think we ought to continue to benefit by having 12.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: First, I'd like to say that, as Delegate Hill indicated, this is quite a compromise. I don't think it is possible for us to satisfy all of the attorneys in the chamber, because when you're a plaintiff's attorney or a defense attorney, you want different things.

Now, we have, and I think rightly so, retained a jury of twelve in felony cases, and I agree with Mr. Pearce that that should be done. We are going to trust, or I hope trust, the Legislature, and I think that they might be twice as smart if they have two houses, that they might provide for an adequate jury in all cases other than felonies.

Now, this doesn't mean that they're going to say two or three. As of now, the courts have indicated that six would be acceptable as the amount of jurors, and I doubt that they will ever consider less than that. But they will — or they could possibly consider less than that, but there would be a lot of — a lot of case law would have to develop on it before they could do that.

I'm sure that you remember that there was a question raised the other day about someone in a misdemeanor case not having a jury when we were talking about this putting "or" in the old language. Well, it is true that he wouldn't have a jury when he was being tried in a court not of record, but he does have the right of appeal, and at that time he receives what we call the trial de novo, and he would have the right to a jury trial, and at that point very probably a jury of twelve, unless the Legislature sees fit to reduce the number.

You will notice, also, that we don't have "less than unanimous" in here, and I think that that is a necessity, and that was where I agreed to compromise as to the rest of it. So I could see that part of it as it now stands. I urge your consideration of this amendment. I think it is all right, and I think it's workable.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President, and particularly Delegate Pearce:

I might point out that today is another big day for North Dakota and for this particular issue, because arriving in the City of Mandan today will be 200 high school debaters from twenty high schools in the State of North Dakota who, significantly enough, will be debating the proposition, "Resolved: That the jury system ought to be significantly changed," and this group of 200 alert, and now almost expertise, certainly knowledgeable youngsters from North Dakota, have been talking about six-man juries since last September. They have been talking about auto litigation cases jamming and slamming the courts to a fullness where you wait three years and where justice delayed is justice denied. They talk about ways to implement through court actions in the area of civil suits, particularly in accident cases, such as no fault insurance. They've been talking about juvenile trials and the lack of them in a lot of places in this country. They've been talking about cross-sectional juries. As I sat and listened to these students, I realized what a fine bunch of high school students we have in this State, who are aware of the very kind of issues that we are, significantly enough, debating on the very day that they arrive in Mandan and are debating on this championship topic, and I felt that might be significant and perhaps argumentative on the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I would like to support this amendment. I am also a member of the Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage Committee and also the subcommittee with Delegate Thompson and Delegate Bender. We went through a lot of testimony in our subcommittee and our committee on this, and this comes about as close as we feel we can get to what we feel would be a good section. I think I heard the Legislature referred to, and I'm not sure that that was out in limbo or not, but I think the Legislature can take care of it, and I believe that's where limbo is, according to one of the delegate's descriptions, and I think we can trust them to not reduce the sizes of the juries in cases where it shouldn't be.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: I said this the other day, Mr. Chairman:

I don't see it in the Proposal here, where the jury could be less than unanimous. I feel, regardless of the size, a jury shall be unanimous, and it is not in this Proposal, and I, therefore, would ask for the defeat of the Proposal, unless they put the word "unanimous" in there.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Well, Mr. Chairman and Delegates:

I've been in conversation with my judge and the county commissioners back home, and I speak primarily for one of the smaller counties. Now I know that there is a lot of worry among the delegates here about placing money ahead of justice for our citizens, but I do believe that this amendment is probably a reasonable compromise in this respect. A twelve-man jury in a lot of these smaller cases can be very, very expensive. It is necessary preliminarily to call about 50 jurors and the expense today runs from $1,000 to $1,250, and our county in particular in the last — this past year and in the coming year, is confronted with an enormous amount of cases before it, and if it was possible at all that we can reduce the jury numbers in these lesser cases, than I most certainly have got to support this, because I am sure that the citizen is not going to be denied his right to get a full — a case that is fully earned and fully protected by the jury system. And so I am going to support the amendment in this regard.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: No comment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President: The way this is written, I have to rise and suggest that the words have to be changed.

Now, I'll just give you my thinking on it, Delegate Hill, because apparently you have asked this.

Here you have a crime wherein the penalty exceeds or the confinement exceeds one year. I would submit that we should say "for which the sentencing prescribes". In other words, the crime doesn't prescribe the penalty, does it? They'd have to be convicted and sentenced, first, and I hope, if this passes, it will be referred to Style and Drafting to clear up that problem.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I might answer that, Mr. President.

The language says "A person accused of a crime wherein the maximum possible period of confinement exceeds one year." This is proper, as far as I can see. It is where the maximum possible sentence exceeds one year — not the sentence actually given, but the possible sentence, and if the statute says the crime of burglary has a maximum penalty of five years incarceration, then he's entitled to a jury of twelve. But I don't believe there's any problem there that I'm aware of, Delegate Unruh.

I would like to comment regarding Delegate Hubrig's point, and our language insofar as unanimous verdicts is the same as the proposal currently adopted — the same as the proposal — or Section 76 in our current Constitution. There is no language in there regarding unanimous verdict. The Supreme Court of North Dakota has determined, when it decided on that issue, that it means unanimous verdict.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson — will a delegate yield time to Delegate Thompson? Delegate Nothing yields.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I just wanted to add to what Vance just said in response to Mr. Unruh's question. The right takes place before the sentencing, so I think what we have here is probably all right.

And then I wanted to also say that the unanimous verdict that Mr. Hubrig mentioned is, I think, provided for in here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Hill.

Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: May we have a division vote on that question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: A division has been requested. A division will be granted.

Again, those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote?

The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 74 "ayes," 20 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. So the amendment has been adopted.

Any further discussion? Any further amendments to Committee Proposal No. 1-119, which is still before the Convention?

Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: At this point, if there's no further amendments, I move that we suspend the Rules and deem the Proposal properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-119 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for passage.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion has been seconded by Delegate Litten.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No 1-119 is again before the Convention for passage as amended.

No further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor will vote "aye." Those opposed to its passage will vote "no."

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 78 "ayes," 17 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal No. 1-119 has passed.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President, may we be on the twelfth order for just a moment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order of business.

DELEGATE LITTEN: I would like to move that the remarks made this morning by Congressman Andrews be printed in the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that the remarks as made by Congressman Andrews be printed in the Journal.

DELEGATE NETHING: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion has been seconded by Delegate Nething. Any discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the remarks of the Congressman will be printed in the Journal.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, I now move that Re-engrossed Proposal No. 1-119 be referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting briefly for a slight polishing job.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, I believe we do that automatically. The Chair will recognize Delegate Rude.

DELEGATE RUDE: Mr. President, I look over to the side of our Assembly and we have a distinguished guest in our presence — West District Congressman, The Honorable Arthur Link. May he be escorted to the rostrum, President Wenstrom?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Rude.

The Chair will name a committee made up of Delegate Christensen and Delegate Hildebrand to escort The Honorable Arthur Link to the rostrum.

MR. CECIL CRANDELL (Sergeant-at-Arms): Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Sergeant-at-Arms.

MR. CRANDELL: Your Sergeant-at-Arms requests the courtesy of the floor to The Honorable Arthur Link, West District Congressman from North Dakota.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will you present the West District Congressman on the floor? (Standing applause)

Fellow Delegates, it becomes a great privilege for me this morning to present a neighbor to this Convention — The Honorable Arthur Link, from the West — or from what is commonly termed the Second District. Art, I'm sure, feels right at home here this morning. He has served in this Chamber. I believe he started in 1947 and he served until 1967. He served as a Representative, he served as both majority and minority floor leaders, and he served as Speaker of the House.

So, with those brief remarks, again, Fellow Delegates, I'd like to present my neighbor, Art Link. (Applause)

CONGRESSMAN ARTHUR LINK: Thank you, President Wenstrom.

It is a real temptation to say, "Fellow Members" because I feel so much a part of so many of you, and to my home district delegates, Cecilia Rude and Ralph Christensen, and to all the rest of you good friends and neighbors of North Dakota.

It is truly good to be back, and Washington weather has nothing on North Dakota today. It's simply beautiful. I, of course, should like very much to visit with you about many things, and there are many things that we would like to share together. I am not unmindful of the time limitations that you people have, and to express my gratitude for you giving those of us who come from the Congress the opportunity to say hello, I shall use but a few minutes of your valuable time.

Before I left the hotel this morning, I attempted to put into capsule form what I think is the responsibility from here on in. Each of you individually, and all of you as a group, have devoted time and energy beyond the normal call of duty, and at this point I would share with you that perhaps the general public will little know or realize how much extra time all of you have really put into this Convention. This truly is commendable. Soon the fruits of your labors will be judged by the people of the State. I hope that we, the people, will now rise to our responsibility to fully study and acquaint ourselves with the work of this Convention, to the end that we make fair and proper judgment. If this is done, then we can all be reassured that the democratic process of representative government is still the guiding light of the world and that government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth.

Mr. President and Delegates to this historic Convention, I deeply appreciate your hospitality and the opportunity that you have accorded me to come and greet you and share these few thoughts. All of us in the State of North Dakota share an equal responsibility, and I trust and hope that we, the people of the State, measure up to that responsibility. I believe we will.

Thank you very much for your kind attention.

(Standing applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May I, on behalf of the Convention, Congressman Link, express to you our thanks and appreciation for being with us this morning. We know that you, too, have a busy schedule.

Delegate Rude.

DELEGATE RUDE: Mr. President, may I move that the remarks of Congressman Link be placed in the Journal?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Rude that the remarks of The Honorable Congressman Link be placed in the Journal. The motion has been seconded by Delegate O'Toole.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The remarks will be printed in the Journal.

We will be on the eleventh order of business. For consideration, Redraft Proposal No. 5-14.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-14 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-13.

Further, that this redraft proposal not be referred to a committee, but be placed on the eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting; that the Rules be suspended and that Redraft Proposal No. 5-14 be placed on the eleventh order of business for consideration. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. Committee Proposal No. 5-14 is before the Convention.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 5-14, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-13:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the State of North Dakota which pertains to the compact with the United States be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE XIII
"COMPACT WITH UNITED STATES

"Section 1. Religious sentiment.

"Perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and no inhabitant of this state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 1 of Article XIII, Redraft No. 5-14. Is there any discussion? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, I move that, on page 1, line 6, after the word "ARTICLE", delete the Roman numeral "XIII" and insert in lieu thereof the Roman numeral "XII."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that one line 6, after the word "ARTICLE", on page 1, that we strike the Roman numeral "XIII" and insert in lieu thereof the Roman numeral "XII".

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Fallgatter. Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I have a further amendment.

On page 1, line 13, delete the words "Enabling Act" and insert in lieu thereof "enabling act" in lower case, eliminating the capital letters.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is in Section 2?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes, it is.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The further amendment then would be, on line 13, delete the words "Enabling Act" and insert in lieu thereof the words "enabling act" but not capitalized. It's deleting the capitalization. Are the delegates aware of the proposed amendments?

The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Unruh.

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendments are adopted.

Any further comments or amendments offered on Section 1?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. Compact.

"All other provisions of the Enabling Act of Congress approved on February 22, 1889, 25 United States Statutes at Large 676, Chapter 180, and Section 203 of Article XVI of the North Dakota constitution of 1889 as amended are hereby continued in full force and effect as though fully herein recited and shall continue to be irrevocable without the consent of the United States and the people of this state."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 2 of Article XII. Are there any questions? Any comments? Hearing none, we will move to Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. Military Reservations.

"Jurisdiction is ceded to the United States over the military reservations of Fort Abraham Lincoln, Fort Buford, Fort Pembina and Fort Totten, heretofore declared by the President of the United States; provided, civil and criminal legal process of this state shall extend over such reservations in all cases in which exclusive jurisdiction is not vested in the United States and over crimes not committed within the limits of such reservations. The legislative assembly may, upon such terms and conditions as it shall adopt, provide for the acceptance of such jurisdiction as may be delegated to the state by act of Congress."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 3. Are there any questions? Any comments? Hearing none — Mr. Clerk, do you have any further sections? I don't have a second page.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: There's a Section 4.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will proceed then with Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. Land Grants.

"Section 205 of Article XVI of the North Dakota Constitution of 1889, relating to land grants, is hereby continued in full force and effect as though fully herein recited."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 4. Are there any questions?

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President. No questions on Section 4. However, just a brief comment.

This proposal was in our Committee. We agreed with the minor style and drafting amendments that the Style and Drafting Committee made. We have no amendments to offer ourselves, because this is technical language which was worked out in cooperation with the Attorney General, and we felt we couldn't monkey with it any further. We do not feel that the Style and Drafting have made any substantive changes in the proposal from the time we passed it on the first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Any questions on Section 4 of Article XII? Hearing none — Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, I might say, by way of comment, you will notice the Style and Drafting didn't monkey with another word there, and we felt we should continue the ancient language, but I want you to know we looked at it and it bothered us.

At this point, Mr. President, I move that Redraft 5-14 be considered properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Redraft No. 5-14 be considered properly re-engrossed, that it be placed on the eleventh order for passage as amended, and this motion has been seconded by Delegate Jestrab.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Article XII, consisting of Sections 1, 2, 3 and 4 again before the Convention for passage.

Any further discussion? Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I would like to direct a question to Delegate Omdahl.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: To Delegate Omdahl? Does Delegate Omdahl yield?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl yields.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. I notice in Section 4 we're creating an article by reference, and I'm just wondering as to the propriety and efficacy of creating a constitution by reference to some other document.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: In my opinion, this is the most horrid article we have in the whole Constitution. We do this, also, in Section 2. We do things in this article which we prohibit in another section the Legislature from doing in regard to legislation, and so here we go about our way in the Constitution doing it, and — well, what can you do about it? You know we already had our hassle about it. I'm going to vote for it because it's only on style and drafting, and go home and nobody's going to ask us about it anyway, because they won't know what it means either.

(Laughter)

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: The same bothered me, but I am simply going to correct it, because when we come to the repealer of the entire Constitution, we'll repeal everything, except Section 205 of Article XVI, and the other material, and so it would continue in full force and effect.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, any comment?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President: These comments should have been made about a week or two ago, and for that reason now, since we're on style and drafting, I have nothing further to say.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question then before the Convention is on the passage of Article XII of Committee Proposal No. 5-14, and on the Section 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Those in favor of passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 93 "ayes," 1 "nay," four delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-14 has passed.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: By way of explaining my vote on this measure, I'd just like, so that you won't get worried and think that we were doing something here that we shouldn't have done or that we should have done another way, Article XVI is the compact with the United States of America, and we felt that we couldn't repeal the compact with the United States, even if we wanted to, and that's why, in this particular section, we felt it had to remain intact. You could call it anything you want to, but it is the compact with the United States, and our Committee felt "Let's not try to secede from the Union."

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: However, Mr. President, I notice Committee Proposal

No. 1-13 did repeal the compact. Sections 203, 204 and 205 were repealed under Section 1 of Committee Proposal 1-13.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: We repealed them as far as numbering is concerned, but as to material, we did not repeal them, because we recognized the provisions of them and they're right back in the proposal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-15 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-10, 1-14, 1-16, 1-18, 1-19, 1-20, 1-30, 1-32, 1-33, 1-34, 1-120, and Delegate Proposal No. 2-26.

Further, that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee, but be placed on the eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moved that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the Committee Report as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting. As many as are in favor of adopting the motion — the Committee Report will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Committee Report 5-15 is before the Convention for consideration.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15, introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, which Proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-10, 1-14, 1-16, 1-18, 1-19, 1-20, 1-30, 1-32, 1-33, 1-34, 1-120, and Delegate Proposal No. 2-26.

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to general provisions, be created.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE XI "GENERAL PROVISIONS

"Section 1. NAME.

"The name of this state is 'North Dakota.'"

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 1.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I have a small amendment at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson offered an amendment to Section 1.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal No. 5-15:

On page 1, delete lines 8 and 9, and renumber the sections and lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I'll second it, Mr. President, for the purpose of making a request.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire seconds the proposed amendment. Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I do not have a copy of this Proposal. If someone would furnish me that, I'd appreciate it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, are you making reference to the entire — to the entire —

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes. I have it now, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: This was to delete the section dealing with name — "The name of this state is 'North Dakota.'"

Before anyone jumps up and contends this is a substantive amendment, I want to say this is a stylistic amendment. It will eliminate the unnecessary stylistic language. You will recall that when Committee Proposal 1-14 came across the floor, I raised the question as to the necessity of including such a declaration in a constitution. The reply I received at that time indicated to me that it is not necessary. So, in the Style and Drafting Committee, I suggested that this be deleted, but the Committee members, being somewhat circumspect and discreet, decided it would be better to try this on the floor. I think one of the staff members checked the constitutions of other states to see if they included a similar declaration. He spot-checked about twelve or thirteen states, including states with both new and old constitutions, and none had such a provision as this. Those include the new Alaska Constitution and the new Illinois Constitution.

Now, perhaps in 1889 that Convention felt some compulsion to put such a declaration in the Constitution, just so that everybody was sure that the north half of the territory was going to be named "North Dakota." But, sitting way back here in Article XI, it is kind of a strange-looking section. It looks sort of like an afterthought. Most states handle this matter simply by putting the name of the state in the Preamble, as we have done, and if there's any doubt, they go to Section 2, where we have the State of North Dakota boundaries described. By the time you get back to Article XI, reading through the Constitution, I don't think there's going to be any doubt in anybody's mind that the name of the State is indeed "North Dakota." Therefore, this language is not only repetitious and unnecessary; it is extraneous, duplicatory and surplusage. In other words, we don't need it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I rise in opposition to this amendment. We do feel that this, first of all, is a substantive change. We discussed this in detail when the Proposal came on the floor from our Committee. We felt that there should be no doubt as to what this — the name of this State should be, and not leave it up to some promotion agency, as was proposed sometime ago, to change our state to the name of "Dakota," and we feel that the words "North Dakota" are significant; it's historical, it should remain in here, and just because some of the other states made an oversight and did not include it, that we want it to be in our Constitution, that we are in the Great State of North Dakota, and that this is North Dakota. For that reason, our Committee left it in, to begin with, but we think it is a substantive change to take it out at this time, and we oppose it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will rule that this is a substantive change.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I believe what I'm going to suggest, however, is a Style and Drafting change, because I believe they have the authority to put things in the Constitution in the proper location. It would seem to me that, if we're going to name the State of North Dakota, you shouldn't wait until eleven or twelve articles to do it. The other day we handled Redraft Proposal 5-9. It would occur to me that this provision might more readily be in Section 1 of Article I.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President: Well, because of the way the weather is, if we're going to monkey with the name, I would suggest "Banana Belt."

(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion on Section 1? Hearing none, we'll move to Section 2.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 2. BOUNDARY.

"The state of North Dakota shall consist of all the territory included within the following boundary: Commencing at a point in the main channel of the Red River of the North, where the forty-ninth degree of north latitude crosses the same; thence southward up the main channel of the Red River of the North and the Bois de Sioux River to a point where the Bois de Sioux River intersects the seventh standard parallel north (approximately forty-five degrees fifty-six minutes north latitude); thence westward along said parallel to a point where it intersects twenty-seven degree of longitude west of Washington, D. C. (approximately one hundred four degrees three minutes west longitude); thence northward on said longitude to a point where it intersects the forty-ninth degree of north latitude; thence eastward along said latitude to the place of beginning. The boundary on the ground is more exactly defined by astronomical measurements at points on the boundary and surveys between boundary markers."

"Section 3. GREAT SEAL."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — are there any questions pertaining to Section 2?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I'd like to ask a member of the Style and Drafting Committee if they had any particular reason in line 12, I believe it would be — The word "Commencing", I notice, is capitalized and I was wondering, as long as they lowered some of these others to a lower case, I'm wondering why they did not have this put in a lower case.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will a member of Style and Drafting answer Delegate Saugstad's question?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I think we missed that. I really prefer to leave it with a capital "C" myself. You're following a full colon. Unless anybody objects, I think we'll leave it as it is.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further comment? Hearing none, we will proceed to read Section 3.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 3. GREAT SEAL."

"The following described seal is declared to be the Great Seal of the State of North Dakota: A tree in the open field, the trunk of which is surrounded by three bundles of wheat; on the right a plow, anvil and sledge; on the left, a bow crossed with three arrows, and an Indian on horseback pursuing a buffalo toward the setting sun; the foliage of the tree arched by a half-circle of forty-two stars, surrounded by the motto 'Liberty and Union Now and Forever, One and Inseparable'; the words 'Great Seal' at the top; the words 'State of North Dakota' at the bottom; 'October 1st' on the left and '1889' on the right. The seal shall be two and one-half inches in diameter."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 3. Any question? Any discussion? Hearing none, we'll proceed to Section 4.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 4. STATE CAPITAL."

"The seat of government of the State of North Dakota shall be at the city of Bismarck in the county of Burleigh."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — proceed with Section 5.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 5. ENVIRONMENT."

"The public policy of the state and the duty of each person is to conserve, develop and utilize natural resources and public lands in order to provide a pleasant and healthful environment for the benefit of present and future generations. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the implementation and enforcement of this policy.

"Each person has the right to a healthful environment and may enforce this right against any party, governmental or private, through appropriate legal proceedings, subject to reasonable limitation and regulation as the legislative assembly may provide by law."

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Because I search for all provisions for which I can vote "yes," and having carefully examined the budget and found that it will not break us, I request that Section 5 and Section 6 each be voted upon separately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your request will be granted.

Any further comment on Section 5 — or any comment on Section 5? Do you have any questions?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Section 5 — most of this came from the Committee upon which I served, and Section 5 and 6 are sure strangers and they had no consideration in that Committee. I wasn't prepared for this coming. Does the chairman have anything to say?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: As soon as we have adopted this measure, I'm going to move that Proposal No. 5-6 and 5-11 be indefinitely postponed, because they're incorporated in Article XV — pardon me — Article XII.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President. I don't believe that our Committee has any —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger, I don't believe your mike is working.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: How about this?

Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's better.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: I don't believe that our Committee has any objection to what Style and Drafting has done to Section 5.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Any further comment? We'll move on to Section 6.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Section 6. OMBUDSMAN.

"The legislative assembly shall provide by law for an independent governmental agency to receive complaints against state agencies, officials and officers from aggrieved persons, to investigate and, in cases of justified complaints, to offer recommendations for remedy."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 6. Are there any questions? Any comments? Hearing none, the Clerk will read Section 7.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Section 7. CORPORATIONS.

"The legislative assembly shall provide by general laws for the organization of all corporations. No charter of incorporation shall be granted, modified or amended by special law, except in the case of municipal corporations or other corporations under the control of the state."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 7. Any comments? Any questions? Hearing none, would you read Section 8?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Section 8. WATERS.

"All surface and subsurface water shall forever remain the property of the people and be subject to appropriation for beneficial uses as provided by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 8. Any questions or discussion?

Hearing none, we will proceed to Section 9.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Section 9. OATH.

"All elected officials, before they assume the duties of their respective offices, shall take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: 'I do solemnly (swear) (affirm) that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of North Dakota; and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of office of _____ according to the best of my ability, (so help me God) (under pains and penalties of perjury).' No other oath or declaration shall be required as a qualification for any office or public trust."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 9. Any question?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Just a comment. The Legislative Functions Committee reviewed Sections 9, 10 and 11, and these were proposals that we have in our Committee, and we agree with the style changes in all three of those sections.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President .

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: It just occurred to me that a more appropriate title for that section would be "OATH OR AFFIRMATION," since the section addresses itself to both; so I would move to insert the words "OR AFFIRMATION" after the word "OATH."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson moves to amend Section 9; after "OATH" to insert the words "OR AFFIRMATION".

Do we have a second? Seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That was "OR AFFIRMATION" — right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: "OR AFFIRMATION". Any further discussion? Hearing none, we will proceed. The Clerk will read Section 10.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 10. CODE OF ETHICS.

"A code of ethics for all nonjudicial state officials, officers, legislators and state employees, prohibiting conflict between public duty and private interests, shall be prescribed by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 10. Are there any questions? Any discussion?

Hearing none, the Clerk will read Section 11.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 11. IMPEACHMENT.

"All judicial officials elected to represent more than one political subdivision and all elected state officials shall be subject to impeachment for crimes, corrupt conduct, malfeasance, or for continuing willful failure to perform the duties of office. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment by vote of a majority of the elected representatives. The senate shall have the sole power of trial for impeachment cases. A two-thirds vote of the elected senators shall be required for conviction.

"No official shall exercise the duties of his office after he has been impeached and before his acquittal. No person shall be tried on impeachment before he has been served with a copy of the charge, at least twenty days previous to the day set for trial. No person shall be liable to impeachment twice for the same offense."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the Section 11. Are there questions? Any discussion? Hearing none, we will proceed and the Clerk will read Section 12.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Section 12. REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.

"All elected officials and appointed officers of the state and its political subdivisions, other than judicial officials, shall be subject to removal from office, as provided by law, for crimes, corrupt conduct, malfeasance or because of chronic and continuing inability to perform the duties of office.

"The supreme court shall have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction of proceedings for removal of elected state officials and chief executive officers as provided by law."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 12. Any questions? Any discussion?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Listening to the reading of the impeachment section and now this section, I am struck by the fact that on line 28 of page 3, one of the grounds for impeachment is "continuing willful failure to perform the duties of office," but in the removal section, we say "chronic and continuing inability to perform," but we say nothing about "willful failure to perform," and I'm wondering if the Committee on Style and Drafting can give any consideration to using the same language in both sections. I realize that "continued willful failure" is an entirely different situation than "inability to perform," but the question in my mind is whether the Convention would also like to insert the same language in the impeachment section about refusal. I take it I am not in a position to offer any amendment for substance.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President. If my recollection serves me correctly, Mr. President, I believe the difference is that there is supposed to be a stigma attached to impeachment whereby you didn't want to impeach a person who was merely suffering from a stroke; but there was to be a method of removal from office whereby the fellow was simply unable to perform the duties of his office for an extended period of time, and I believe that's why the delegates have the difference in these two sections.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Delegate Peters has consented to yield to me. I realize the situation. All I'm pointing out is that in this removal section, we have not provided any method of removing somebody, other than impeachment through willfully refusing to do anything.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think Delegate Pearce is right. I think, by leaving it out, we may have denied the Legislature the right to use this remedy for that cause, also. I don't think that was our intention. I think an amendment might — unless somebody contends it is a substantive change, but I don't think it would be — an amendment might be able to cure that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, does the Delegate feel that the substantive change is of such nature that you would like to offer to suspend the Rules and to insert this in the Proposal?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, I'll take the stigma of prolonging things and move that we reconsider action by which —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce, I believe all you need to do is to suspend the Rules. You see, we're operating on a rule whereby we are only taking care of amendments from Style and Drafting. However, if you suspend that rule, then I believe that your motion would be in order.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Very well, Mr. President. Thank you. I do move that we suspend the Rules in order that an amendment may be offered.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce moves that we suspend the Rules in order that an amendment may be offered to Section 12. Do we have a second?

Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. The Rules are suspended. Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President: I move that in line 9 of Section 12, after the word "inability" we insert the words "or willful failure".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In line 9 —

DELEGATE PEARCE: In line 9 of Section 12, after the word "inability" insert the words "or willful failure". I don't think there's any renumbering of the lines necessary.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now do we have a second?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kelsch. Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Would this be an appropriate time to ask for a recess for an hour? This amendment that — I see — I think there's going to be a little further additional amendment necessary to correct the language there. I think there's going to be a light amendment — additional amendment necessary to strike "or" in line 8. I would suggest — I would move — or ask that since it is nearly twelve o'clock, that we do recess so that this amendment can be properly drawn, and then come back and finish this up after we come back, unless the Chair would prefer to go ahead.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad, I would like to finish this, because this would — with the completion of this, this material that is now under consideration, then we could recess for a portion of this afternoon and give some of the committees that have work to do an opportunity to work.

I think you will note that on our calendar, that this is the final item that we would have, and I do know that there are committees here that have work to do. If we could finish this, I would declare the Convention in recess for five minutes; but if you think that there's — if we need that much time. But I would really like to complete this, at the same time not crowd it, but let's, if we possibly can, stay here and complete this part.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Well, I certainly have no objection. I just thought that it might take a little time to get this amendment properly drawn.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: While they are preparing this, I would like to comment that this does complete our calendar as of now — as of this morning — and you will recall that during the discussions this morning, the Committee on Style and Drafting is going to have to hold a session, and I'm sure that Delegate Byrne's Committee on Transition and Coordination is going to want to meet, and Delegate Dawson's committee will want to meet; and so I know there are committees that have work to do.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd like to amend Delegate Pearce's motion, and then I think we can finish this up.

On line 8, after the word "malfeasance" and after the comma, insert "willful failure". So it will read "corrupt conduct, malfeasance, willful failure, or because of chronic" and so forth. Put the amendment up to line 8, instead of line 9.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, would you — would you read starting with line 5 — read that now the way you think it should be? And then, if Delegate Pearce and Delegate Saugstad would follow along with that —

DELEGATE UNRUH: "All elected officials and appointed officers of the state and its political subdivisions, other than judicial officials, shall be subject to removal from office, as provided by law, for crimes, corrupt conduct, malfeasance, willful failure, or because of chronic and continuing inability to perform the duties of office."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In other words, you are simply inserting the same words in line 8, after "malfeasance"?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I don't think that amendment makes any sense at all, and I don't think Delegate Saugstad's objection to the word "or" in line 8 is valid, because you're talking about performing the duties of office, and that's one thought and one reason a person can be removed. So neither one, I don't think — either Delegate Unruh's or Delegate Saugstad's — objections are valid at all. I think what Delegate Pearce proposes is exactly right.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I concur with Delegate Aubol's comments on this. I think that the amendment as proposed by Delegate Pearce is absolutely proper, because it all modifies "perform the duties of office."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Fellow Delegates, just so we stay on an even keel now, I'm going to ask the Clerk to read the section with the amendment as offered by Delegate Pearce in its proper place. So will the Clerk read the amendment — read the section?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: You want Delegate Pearce's?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I want Delegate Pearce's; yes, sir.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "REMOVAL FROM OFFICE."

"All elected officials and appointed officers of the state and its political subdivisions, other than judicial officials, shall be subject to removal from office, as provided by law, for crimes, corrupt conduct, malfeasance, or because of chronic and continuing inability or willful failure to perform the duties of office."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: After looking at that, I decided I'm going to withdraw my motion and bow to Delegate Pearce's words.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: I am going to rise to oppose the amendment of Delegate Pearce as it appears on line 9. At this time I oppose it primarily for the reason that I question which politician is going to determine who is guilty of "willful failure" to perform the duties of the politician's office.

We discussed this in the judicial articles as we were going through our assigned portions of the Constitution, and I believe, if the delegates would check those articles, we have not, to my knowledge, included "willful failure" simply because, in our lengthy discussions, it was determined, as I have indicated, the words "willful failure" on the political scene or a person in public office in the conduct of his duties, is subject to interpretation, even though the duties of the office are prescribed by law. If I don't like the way a particular individual is conducting the duties of that office, I don't believe that there is any reason that I could not bring suit on the basis of his "willful failure" to perform them and successfully allege in my complaint, at least, that he was guilty of those and subject the official, I believe, to undue harassment. I think what we are getting at in this particular article is removal as originally indicated, and I believe we should leave it on that basis and not put up a political nightmare.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Pearce, and as the Clerk read the section with the amendment in there.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE HARTL: May I call for a division?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may call for a division. Will five delegates rise? That is a sufficient number.

Again, the question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Pearce. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 60 "ayes," 31 "nays," with seven delegates absent. So the amendment has been adopted.

Any further amendments or further discussion on — or questions on Section 12? Hearing none, we will move to Section 13.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Section 13. MILITARY FORCES.

"The legislative assembly shall provide by law for establishment of the state's military forces."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of Section 13. Are there any questions? Hearing none, that completes the reading of Article XI.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Redraft Proposal 5-15 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Redraft Proposal No. 5-15 be deemed properly re-engrossed, that it be placed on the calendar for passage. May I have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Redraft Proposal No. 5-15 is before the Convention for passage.

Fellow Delegates, you will recall that we have a separate vote — a separate vote has been requested on Section 5 and on Section 6.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I request that Section 8 also be voted on separately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your request will be granted.

Any further questions on special sections? Hearing none, the question before the Convention will be on the passage of Section 5 — Section 5 of Article XI of Redraft Proposal No. 5-15. Those in favor of its passage will vote “aye;” those opposed will vote “no.”

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote. Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote?

The vote is closed.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Even though this is just a Style and Drafting change, I would ask that my vote be changed — we were voting on Section 5 alone — from “aye” to “nay.”

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You wish to change your vote?

DELEGATE HARTL: That's correct, if it is on Section 5, only.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your request is granted.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Delegate Cart wishes to make the same request.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You wish to change from “aye” —

DELEGATE CART: From “aye” to “no.”

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your request is granted.

DELEGATE NETHING: Delegate Nothing does, too.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think, Fellow Delegates, we better just open the key and you vote over.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: May I say something on a personal privilege, I suppose?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: I understand several people have come to me and said they've had experienced political members of this Convention put pressure on them to change their vote and — now they are putting — as I feel, voting on substantive material, rather than style and drafting, on this section, and I trust and hope that people will bear this in mind.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Fritzell.

The question before the Convention is on the passage of Section 5. Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Will we're on the subject, I'd just like to say something, too. This is still being called in the newspaper “second passage,” and I call everybody and tell them. “Sorry, I'm just voting on style and drafting” — so I think we're all sort of hung up here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question, of course, is on the adoption of the Style and Drafting amendments.

The question before the Convention is on the passage of Section 5. Those in favor will vote “aye” and those opposed will vote “nay.” The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Delegate Hill? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 65 “ayes,” 28 “nays,” five delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-15 — Section 5 of Redraft No. 5-15 has passed.

Next for consideration —

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: May I explain my vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may explain your vote.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I do so because I don't want anyone to think that I am against the first paragraph of this section. My "no" vote is because of the second paragraph, which in my opinion, will produce a completely chaotic situation and will substantially interfere with the proper public regulation of a healthful environment.

DELEGATE HENRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I fail to see why taking out the words "each person" and taking out the word "and" would give anyone cause to vote against this style change, which is what we're voting against. I fail to see that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the passage of Section 6 — Section 6 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-15, Article XI.

Those in favor of adopting will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? Delegate Hougen, have you voted? Delegate Jim Hougen, have you voted?

DELEGATE HOUGEN: I have.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, may I ask which section we are voting on?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are voting on Section 6. Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 79 "ayes," 14 "nays," five delegates absent and not voting. Section 6 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-15 has passed.

Next for consideration is Section 8 — Section 8 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-15 in Article XI. Any further discussion?

Hearing none, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote?

DELEGATE SINNER: Sinner votes "aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sinner votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 86 "ayes," 8 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. Section 8 of Article XI of Redraft 5-15 has passed.

Now for consideration of the Convention are Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7 —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No, 7 — not 5. We did 5.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We did 5, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, the question is on the first passage. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

The Clerk will open the key. You will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 93 "ayes," 1 "nay," four delegates absent and not voting. Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 of Article XI of Redraft Proposal 5-15 have passed.

We'll continue on the fifth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposals Numbered 5-6 and 5-11 be introduced.

Further, that these Redraft Proposals not be referred to a committee and be indefinitely postponed due to incorporation into Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-15.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moved that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report that Committee Redraft Proposals No. 5-6 and 5-11 be indefinitely postponed.

Do we have any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and we have those indefinitely postponed.

We'll be on the ninth order of business — Introduction and Referral of Proposals.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-9, submitted by Delegates Hubrig, Hougen, Haugen, Rosendahl, Bassingthwaite, Larsen, Aubol, Urdahl, Sanstead, Omdahl, Warner, Ketchum, Hoffner, Gipp, Maxwell, Lamb Hoghaug, Schmit, Sondreal, Daniels, O'Toole, Brakke, Poulson, Rude, Nicholas, Hildebrand, Fielder and Vogel:

"Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following section be introduced for submission to the electorate as a separate issue on the Constitutional Convention Ballot, and if approved by the electorate shall become a part of the proposed constitution, replacing Section 25 of Article I of that document relating to nondiscrimination in employment."

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Before you make the referral of this one, I should like to raise the question of the propriety of the introduction of this Alternate Proposal under our Rule 18.2, and I suppose I should make that point under personal privilege, since I understand that the point of order does not allow general discussion. Is that correct?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Baker, the question, of course, before the Convention is going to be on the adoption of the report or a request that this proposal be introduced, and unless we have something in the Rule that says it cannot be, and I don't recall in the deadline of introduction of alternate proposals, why I'd have to rule that it is in order to introduce this proposal.

DELEGATE BAKER: Then on the personal privilege, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may state your privilege.

DELEGATE BAKER: My point is that the opening sentence of Rule 18.2 states that an alternate proposal covering the same subject for incorporation in the final constitutional draft, and so on, outlining how it may be introduced. It appears to me that the rules regarding the introduction of new proposals apply if there is change in the subject matter, and while I do not have a copy of the proposed alternate before me, I'm relying on the accuracy of the Fargo Forum report of this morning on the subject matter, which is "To attain or accumulate a value as a result of labor shall be a property right" — the introduction, in my opinion, of a brand new subject matter before this Convention, and I should like to have your consideration of that point when you make your ruling as to whether this may be properly introduced.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Baker, I do not have a copy of the Proposal before me, and in the event that I did have — I do have now — he went onto my scales quick (laughter) — I'm going to rule that we can accept the Proposal, that we can — we will have the time to have it come back, and the Convention at that time can dispose of it or they can adopt it. So I believe, up to this time, that we have not prevented the introduction of any resolution or any proposal from any delegate or any committee, and I hate to deviate from that so very late in the Convention.

Do you have further comment, Delegate Baker?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President: Then I should like to take a friendly appeal from the ruling of the Chair.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have an appeal from the ruling of the Chair that, apparently, you do not wish that the Convention adopt —

DELEGATE BAKER: — "accept."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — this proposal, and the Chair has ruled that we will accept the Proposal.

Now those in favor of the ruling of the Chair — I think I'll reverse this. Those in favor of not adopting will vote "aye," and those opposed will vote "no." I'm giving you the "aye" vote. What does the Rule say? Simply — the Rule states simply, "Shall the ruling of the Chair stand?" So that is what we'll be voting on. Shall the ruling of the Chair stand? And the ruling of the Chair is that we will accept the Proposal.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I hope most of the other delegates are more aware of what's going on. I'm not really sure, and I wonder if it wouldn't be an appropriate time to recess, before we call for this vote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, it would be, Delegate Devine, except for one thing: I am sure that the Committee on Alternate Proposals would like to have this, if they're going to consider it, and if they're not going to consider it, why then, of course, church is out. So I'm going to rule right now. I have ruled in favor of it.

Now, the appeal has been taken. So the question before the Convention is: Shall the rule of the Chair stand? And if you will vote "aye," the rule will stand. If you vote "no," the Chair is upset.

We will open the key and you will indicate your preference.

Does any delegate wish to change? You will close the key.

The tally indicates 76 "ayes," 16 "nays," and seven delegates absent. So the ruling of the Chair stands, and this — we will accept this alternate proposal. We will refer it to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

We will be on the eighth order of business — Announcements.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I'd like to announce a quick meeting of the Executive Functions in the Gold Room right after we recess.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President, what is the schedule for this afternoon, so I can announce our committee meeting?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: As of now, we have completed our calendar; so that, really, there is nothing on the agenda here, but I do think that at a certain time this afternoon we should come back — say three o'clock just for the sake of a time.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President, the Ballot Committee will meet at 1:30 in the west balcony.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, I wish to announce a very brief meeting of the Finance and Taxation Committee before we go to lunch, at the usual place.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: The Committee on Coordination and Transition will meet at two o'clock in Rooms G-5 and G-6. I believe, if we can all be — as many of us as can be will be present there, I'm quite sure we can get a great majority of work done this afternoon, so we will not have to come on back tomorrow. We had originally planned on meeting at 1:30. One of the delegates has an important meeting and will not be able to return until two o'clock; so we will meet at two o'clock this afternoon in G-5 and G-6.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, could I inquire as to what the plans are after three o'clock? I know that many of us expect, if we're not going to be doing business tomorrow, to go home, and I don't know that the President can answer my question right now, but is it your plan to stay in session only briefly at three o'clock or do you plan to go on for a certain time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, that depends entirely on what we have. I have no way of knowing what might come in. We might have some reports from the Committee on Constitutional Ballot, or something like that, that could go into a considerable amount of time. But what we actually have at the desk — and I think this is what you'd like to know, Delegate Longmire — is about 15-20 minutes of work.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, I think a number of us are thinking about the same thing, and I'm wondering whether it wouldn't be possible to go into session at two o'clock, and then you might have a reasonable attendance.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is fine. My only purpose in saying "3:00" was so that these committees could work, and if they had anything to bring before the Convention, that we would be able to digest it. I'm going to recommend — Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, the Style and Drafting Committee is going to meet during the noon hour and have their lunch down there to consider these two proposals that are still pending on the tenth order. We can be done with our work by 1:30 or 2:00 o'clock.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: With that in mind, our Committee will meet at one o'clock — a half-an-hour from now — instead of at 1:30. Our Committee does not feel we will have any proposals to bring on the floor today, but we hope to have all of them ready for Monday morning, so they can all come out at one time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then may we come back at two o'clock? Then, if that is agreeable, then we can take care of these small — apparently small things that we have to do, and we would be — we would adjourn until a time certain. So why don't we come back at two o'clock.

We'll recess until two o'clock.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Colored photos of the opening day are here. You can pick them up in President Wenstrom's secretary's office.

(The Session recessed at 12:28 P.M. until 2:00 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 2:18 P.M., Friday, February 11, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

We'll be on the eighth order of business — Announcements.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegates Fallgatter and Ketchum have 37 students from the eleventh grade of Hazelton School and their teacher, Mrs. Carol Irion, in the gallery.

Delegate Berg has 20 students from the eleventh and twelfth grades of Mercer High School and their teacher, Clint Lowe, and chaperones Reverend Silvey and Leroy Neilsen, in the gallery.

Delegate Tudor has 30 students from the sixth grade of Cathedral School of Bismarck and their teacher, Sister Mary Katherine in the gallery.

Delegate Tudor has 29 students from the sixth grade of Cathedral School of Bismarck and their teacher, Mrs. Dombek, in the gallery.

Delegate Jestrab has 34 students from the sixth grade of Saxvik school, Bismarck, and their teacher, Mrs. Ramberg, in the gallery.

Delegate Cart has the County Commissioners of Burke County — Willard Grubb, Joe Bush and Russell Klein in the gallery.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the visitors — the students and other visitors — please rise and be recognized by the Convention? (Applause)

While we're on the eighth order of business, Fellow Delegates, I have an announcement to make.

I think most of you are aware that the Governor and Mrs. Guy are planning a reception for the delegates and their spouses at a time between two and four o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Now it has become known that a number of the delegates have failed to receive their invitations, and you are all invited. There's a slip-up somewhere in the communication system, and the Governor and Mrs. Guy have requested that you be informed that the delegates and their spouses are all invited to attend this reception and, again, the time is Sunday afternoon between two and four o'clock at the Governor's residence.

We'll be on the twelfth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. M, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

"A resolution expressing the appreciation of the Constitutional Convention to the Honorable William L. Guy, Governor of the State of North Dakota, for his generous support of the cause of constitutional revision."

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I move that the Rules be suspended and that Resolution M be read in its entirety, not referred to as a proposal, not be referred to a committee, be printed in the Journal, and be placed for final action.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution M be read in its entirety, that it not be referred to a committee, but that it be printed in the Journal and be placed on the calendar for final passage. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Cart. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the Clerk will read the resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Resolution No. M, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the appreciation of the Constitutional Convention to the Honorable William L. Guy, Governor of the State of North Dakota for his generous support of the cause of constitutional revision.

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention is undertaking the task of preparing a revision of the North Dakota Constitution of 1889; and

"WHEREAS, the Honorable William L. Guy, Governor of the State of North Dakota, a great advocate of constitutional governmental reform, has expressed an optimistic view towards the work of the Convention and has expressed his faith that the work and efforts will benefit the people of North Dakota for many years, if adopted; and

"WHEREAS, Governor Guy has offered considerable information to the committees in order to aid their deliberations, and in so doing, has maintained the highest degree of objectivity and neutrality in his suggestions and efforts to improve the constitution and state government;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the Convention go on record expressing its deep and sincere appreciation to The Honorable William L. Guy, Governor of the State of North Dakota, for his support and assistance to the cause of constitutional revision and to this Convention;

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the clerk of the Convention be instructed to forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to the Honorable William L. Guy, Governor of the State of North Dakota."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of Resolution M. Is there any further discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of its adoption will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The resolution is adopted.

We will be on the fifth order of business — Reports of Standing Committees.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Procedural Committee on Resolutions, to whom was referred Resolution L, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Scheel, Chairman.

Delegate Scheel moved that the report be adopted.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger, the Chair has been requested to dispense with the further consideration of this at this time. I'm sorry I neglected to tell the Clerk. The Chair is in error. I have been requested to — that this Resolution will not be considered at this time, and I did grant that privilege. So I'm going to ask that we disregard further consideration of this particular resolution at this time.

Fellow Delegates, we're going to have to wait a few minutes until the reports of the wishes of the Committee on Style and Drafting be typed and can be placed before the Convention. So the Convention will be at ease.

(The Convention was at ease from 2:26 P.M. until 2:48 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order.

We'll continue on the fifth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-44, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended as follows:

Delete lines 14, 15 and 16 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 5. The legislative assembly shall establish by law a procedure whereby one-half of the members of each house, as nearly as practicable, are elected biennially."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

And when so amended, recommends that the same be placed on the eleventh order as Section 6 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-12.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moved that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Committee Proposal No. 1-44.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Perhaps, before we act on that, we should have a motion to reconsider our vote by which we passed 5-12, so we can get this thing in proper perspective. May I put that motion at this time?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may. Do you have the number of the committee —

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes. 5-12.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: 5-12.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd like to move the Convention reconsider its action by which Redraft Proposal 5-12 was passed.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moved that the Convention reconsider its action whereby Re-draft Proposal 5-12 was passed.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And the motion was seconded by Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, is there any discussion on the question? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President: The purpose of this motion is to extract 1-44 from 5-12 so we could consider it properly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now, since this is a proposal that has been passed, we will require 50 votes to reconsider.

So we will open the key and you will indicate your vote. It takes 50 to reconsider.

The Clerk will open the key.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The vote was 87, with 11 delegates absent and not voting. So the motion to reconsider has been passed.

Now, Delegate Unruh, we can now give consideration to the amendment for the adoption of the Committee Report to amend Committee Proposal No. 5-12.

Those in favor of adopting the report will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and we will now be on the eleventh order of business for further consideration of Committee Proposal No. 5-12.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President: I believe — do you wish the amendment read again, or do you have copies? All right, Mr. Clerk, would you read the amendment once more, please?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Proposal No. 1-44:
Delete lines 14, 15 and 16 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 5. The legislative assembly shall establish by law a procedure whereby one-half of the members of each house, as nearly as practicable, are elected biennially."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: The Committee on Style and Drafting, in reworking the floor amendment today, felt that this cleaned up the language just a little bit and made no substantive change whatever in the meaning of the amendment, and we urge your do pass.

Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, we would like, further, to amend the title of Section 6 to read: "Legislative Elections," instead of "Districts." "Legislative Elections." That would be on line 34 of the green committee report.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And what page, Delegate Unruh?

DELEGATE UNRUH: On page 2.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Page 2 —

DELEGATE UNRUH: Line 34, wherein the word "DISTRICTS" is used, we will strike that and put in "LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh wishes to further amend in line 34 on page 2, after the word "Section 6," strike the word "DISTRICTS" and insert in lieu thereof "LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Are we working on 1-44?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, it just occurred to me that we better get the article back into 5-12 before we make that change. I'll withdraw that motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Unruh, for a point of clarification, for not only the Chair, but, I fear, for some of the delegates that are trying to follow this: We are operating — we are working on the pink sheet; is that right, Delegate Unruh?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, we're amending the pink sheet, but that doesn't have the title on it. You see, we put the titles on green, so when we're through with the amendments that the Clerk has read, we'll put this back into 5-12 and then we'll amend it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: But for the purpose of the amendments, wouldn't they be on the pink sheet?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes. We have repealed all the rest of that article.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Unruh.

The clerk will re-read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delete lines 14, 15 and 16 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The legislative assembly shall establish by law a procedure whereby one-half of the members of each house, as nearing as practicable, are elected biennially."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the amendments. Those in favor of adopting the amendments will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Well, the way the Chair interprets the amendment, what we just did now becomes Section 6 of 5-12. That's the balance of the motion.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President are you ready to change the title on that section?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that the title, in line 34, be changed from "DISTRICTS" to "LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that, in line 34 of Section 6 — now we're talking about Redraft Proposal No. 5-12 — that on line 34, page 2, Section 6, "DISTRICTS", we strike the word "DISTRICTS" and insert in lieu thereof "LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS".

Any further questions? Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson seconds the motion.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I would move that we reconsider our action yesterday in which we amended this Proposal on page 4, line 24. If I get a second, I'll explain why.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On page 4, line —

DELEGATE KELSCH: Line 24.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Line 24. Delegate Kelsch has moved that the Convention reconsider its action whereby it passed again —

DELEGATE KELSCH: By which we amended this Proposal on line 24 of page 4. I'd like to have us reconsider that amendment, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You move to reconsider the action whereby the Convention adopted the amendment on line 24 of page 4 of 5-12, and the motion was seconded by Delegate Geelan.

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates.

We amended yesterday, after the word "assembly," we added the words, which does not specify when it is to go into effect — the effective date. The intention of the amendment was to permit the Legislature to set an effective date as they feel that would be sometime after July. Now, the problem arises in this clause, being where it is, that there's some confusion or unclarity as to the intent, as to whether it really does that. We don't want to allow a bill to come into effect that has a subsequent date, subsequent to its enactment date, because that might be before July 1st, and we don't want this to cause violence to the emergency measure requirements. So, if the Convention delegates would allow this reconsideration, what I would be doing would be moving that we move those similar words down on line 26, after the word "later," and I think, if we put it down there, it very clearly shows what we intend to do.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the motion that we reconsider the action whereby this Proposal on line 24, page 4, was amended. Again, the motion to reconsider will take 50 delegate votes. So the Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote. Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates there were 87 votes to reconsider. There was one "no" vote, and ten delegates absent. So the motion to reconsider has been passed.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: We have, I suppose, now before us Delegate Unruh's amendment of yesterday, which is the one we have not reconsidered, and I understand he is willing to withdraw that amendment in favor of this amendment.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Are you asking me a question?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I've been sitting here listening to this. We voted to reconsider an amendment, but we've already considered an amendment; so you have to reconsider the document and then begin to talk about amending the document.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President: As I understand, we have already voted to reconsider 5-12, earlier.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, we had.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Okay.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Might I inquire of Delegate Unruh, Mr. President, if he's willing to withdraw his amendment of yesterday, which is now pending on reconsideration?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes, I do, Delegate Kelsch.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just a point of clarification here: Why do you withdraw? Why don't you amend?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Well, Mr. Chairman, that's all right. I would be glad to do that, if I can amend the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Proposal is reporting just as it was yesterday before you passed it. We have reconsidered our action and the Proposal is now before the Convention just the way you passed it. So, if you offer an amendment to strike out whatever we did — whatever we did yesterday —

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President: Then I would move to amend Delegate Unruh's amendment by striking all of his amendment and inserting in lieu — Mr. President, isn't the question now before us of Delegate Unruh's amendment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention at the moment is this Proposal just the way we passed it yesterday.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, I think I understand what they're driving at, but I would like to raise a question now as to why the language which he's requesting was inserted. The amendment inserted by Mr. Unruh said that the law enacted, which does not specify a subsequent date — a subsequent effective date, shall take effect on July 1st or ninety days after its filing. Actually, if a law is passed and it becomes effective on, let us say, August 1st, but it specifies that the operation of the law becomes effective September 1st, I can't see why the extra language is needed, because it becomes effective August 1st and says it will take effect September 1st, and that law governs. It's completely extraneous wording — is the way I see it. But I wasn't going to argue about it the other day. But if somebody wants to bring it up now, I will.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: As I understand it, I would move to reconsider our action on amending this section. The Convention has done that; so the matter immediately before us now would be Delegate Unruh's amendment of yesterday. Now you'd either have to get into — withdraw that or amend out his language, which I want to do; but I thought the simple way would be to withdraw it and we have the amendment before us as the delegates see it, and then I'll move my language into a different spot.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Okay. I think we're going at this backwards. Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, I now move that the language that I inserted yesterday by amendment be withdrawn.

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I don't know where I'm going to find who the second was yesterday, unless it's in the Journal.

DELEGATE SINNER: Why don't you — Delegate Unruh, why don't you move that your amendment be withdrawn? Why don't you move that it be withdrawn, and then we can get a second to that, and then we'll have a new ballgame?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, I move that the language be withdrawn.

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's seconded by Delegate Sinner.

The question before the Convention then is on Delegate Unruh's motion to withdraw the amendment he made as of yesterday to this particular section.

Those in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment has been withdrawn.

Now, Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I move that on line 26 of page 4, after the word "later" and before the semicolon, add the words "or on a subsequent date if specified in the law."

DELEGATE SINNER: Second the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Sinner. Now do we have any discussion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President: The reason for this change is that we feel that, clearly, by moving these words down below, we clearly indicate that every law enacted shall take effect on July 1st or ninety days after its filing, whichever is later, and then — or on a subsequent date, if stated in the law. It's so we are allowing laws to take effect sometime later on in the year, and I think this is the proper place for that clause to do it, and it's what we were intending to do yesterday.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, would Delegate Kelsch yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would Delegate Kelsch yield?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President: When are the law books going to be printed? Now we have been meeting in certain months. Now the Legislature can meet at any time. When are you going to have a deadline that the printing is going to be done? This is going to change, and when will the books be out?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, the way the Committee sees it, it will continue the way it has. Every law will be effective July 1st, except those few that might have been passed in May, June or July — or pardon me, April, May and June. They will become effective — they have 90 days that would have to run on those, but they could still all be printed and they would come out every July, just like we are doing it now — each year. Now, the only laws that you would have any problem with would be if you met, say, in October and passed an emergency measure. Now, the bill passed in October, it would not become law until next July, and then it would be printed up in the book on the following July; but if the Legislature passed an emergency measure, that would come into effect immediately. But you note we're requiring a separate two-thirds vote to do that. I don't think there will be too many cases of you doing that, understanding that it wouldn't be printed until the following July. But if they felt it was important enough to garner a two-thirds vote, it would become effective, say, in October.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, so that this doesn't have to go back to Style and Drafting again — does the amendment include a comma after the word "later"?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can the Clerk answer the question?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: After the word "later" and before the semicolon, add the words "or on a subsequent date if specified in the law". So it would read "later or on a subsequent date if specified in the law;"

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: The movant agrees with me to put a comma there. So I would move to put a comma in after the word "later". So we would have "becomes effective later, or on a subsequent date if specified in the law".

DELEGATE KELSCH: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are you aware of the insertion of this comma? It's been amended — further amended. Does the Clerk have the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mm-hmm (nodding). The proposed amendment to the amendment is that: Insert a comma before the word "or" in the amendment so it would then "read ", or on a subsequent date if specified in the law".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are you ready for the question? The question is on the amendment to the amendment. As many as are in favor of adopting it, say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Any further amendment?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I would like this remark inserted in the record for the future Supreme Court to worry about.

Under the present wording, I would say that if a law is passed on July 15th, it becomes effective approximately October 15th, because October 15th is later than July 1st of the same year, and that we don't have to wait for another full year to go around until July 1st of the next year as an effective date.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your remarks will be inserted in the Journal.

The question then before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as amended; that on line 4 — page 4, line 26, after the word "later", we insert a comma and add the words "or on a subsequent date if specified in the law".

The question is on the amendment to the amendment — or the adoption of the amendment as it reads.

DELEGATE KELSCH: In view of the remarks of Delegate Paulson, I have to answer that July 1st after it's filed is later than October.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Right.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Because if a law was passed on July 15th, it couldn't be filed the next July 1st until a later date.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is the adoption of the amendment. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-12 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Redraft Proposal No. 5-12 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It is seconded by Delegate Stanton. Any discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Proposal — Redraft Proposal No. 5-12 is before the Convention for passage as amended.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote?

The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses there were 87 "ayes," there were 2 "nays," nine delegates were absent and not voting. The Redraft of 5-12 has been passed.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, may I explain my vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Delegate Paulson pointed his ideas at the Supreme Court. All I would say is I hope they understand this, because I'm certain that some here do not.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? We'll continue.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Perhaps this is an appropriate time to let you know the motto that Style and Drafting followed as we worked on these proposals.

"I know that you believe you understand what you think I said, but I am not sure you realize that what you heard is not what I meant." (Laughter)

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-119, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended as follows:

In line 10, after the word "all", delete the comma, and after the word "and" insert the word "shall".

In line 11, delete everything after "inviolate.", and delete lines 12, 13 and 14 and insert in lieu thereof the following: "A person accused of a crime for which he may be confined for a period of more than one year has the right of trial by a jury of twelve. The legislative assembly may determine the size of the jury for all other cases."

Renumber the lines accordingly.

And when so amended, recommends that the same be placed on the eleventh order as Section 7 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-9.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moved that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting on Committee Proposal No. 1-119.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

Redraft Proposal No. 5-9 is before the Convention. The question before the Convention — I think you will all recall that we have not as of now passed Section 7. At the time it is for the adoption of the Report on Style and Drafting. That is the Report that is before you at this time. So the question then would be on the adoption of these proposed amendments.

Now, will you read them?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments:

In line 10, after the word "all", delete the comma, and after the word "and", insert the word "shall".

In line 11, delete everything after "inviolate.", and delete lines 12, 13 and 14 and insert in lieu thereof the following: "A person accused of a crime for which he may be confined for a period of more than one year has the right of trial by a jury of twelve. The legislative assembly may determine the size of the jury for all other cases."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the amendments to Section 12 — Section 7. I'm sorry. Any discussion? Any discussion on Section 12 — the question of adopting the amendment? Hearing no discussion, the question is on the adoption of the amendments to Section 7 as read by the Clerk.

Those in favor of adopting will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Proposal 5-9 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Redraft Proposal No. 5-9 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for passage as amended.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President, may we have the Clerk read Section 7 for us slowly, so that we all can understand exactly what it says — the completed section as amended?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Very well. Will the Clerk read the Section 7 as it is presently before the Convention?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and shall remain inviolate. A person accused of a crime for which he may be confined for a period of more than one year has the right of trial by a jury of twelve. The legislative assembly may determine the size of the jury for all other cases."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the section as amended. Any questions?

The question before the Convention is on the motion as offered by Delegate Unruh; that the Proposal be deemed properly re-engrossed, that it be placed on the calendar for passage as amended.

Those in favor of its adoption will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the Proposal is before the Convention as amended.

Any further discussion?

The question is on the passage of the Redraft Proposal No. 5-9 as amended. Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 76 "aye" votes, there were 9 "nay" votes and 13 delegates absent and not voting. Section 7 of the Redraft No. 5-9 has passed.

Delegate Unruh, do you wish to —

DELEGATE UNRUH: No, not now.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there any announcements? Any announcements? We will be on the eighth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would you return all your proofs and mark the one that you have chosen for — to put in the composite that you return to the Staff Office?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: On the question of those pictures, those of us who really took a great likeness for ourselves aren't too happy with some of them. Is it possible that we can substitute a different photo other than those that were taken in the west balcony?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you want to go back to the graduation picture?
(Laughter)

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, the people taking the pictures and Dean Bard and I discussed this, and we would discourage it because what will happen is that — I remember one Senate picture, for instance. Somebody had brought in another one and it was a different background and it sticks out pretty — even worse than the man's picture.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: It seems to me that, if they can retouch the picture itself that they took, they should certainly be able to take care of some background material.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything under the eighth order? Are there any announcements?

Any committee meetings that are scheduled for the balance of the day? Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: I want to remind the members of Coordination and Transition we will meet immediately after adjournment in G-5 and 6.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President, I think all of the members of the Ballot Committee are aware that we are having a meeting until our work is done.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further announcements — Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President: The Calendar Committee will meet at a quarter-to-nine on February 14th in the President's office.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Is the desk clear?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The desk is clear.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I move that we adjourn until 9:00 A.M., February 14th.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves that the Convention do now adjourn — does a delegate wish to excuse the absent members?

Delegate Daniels moves, and Delegate Dawson seconds, that the absent delegates be excused. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the absent delegates are excused.

Delegate Saugstad moves that the Convention do now adjourn until 9:00 A.M., February 14th. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson seconded. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the Convention will be adjourned until 9:00 A.M. on February 14th.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 3:33 P.M., Friday, February 11, 1972, until 9:00 A.M., Monday, February 14, 1972.)

V O L U M E XXVIII

(February 14, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The twenty-eighth day of the Plenary Session commenced at 9:35 A.M., Monday, February 14, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would the Convention please come to order?

Our Chaplain for this morning is Mr. R. R. Patzer, Pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist Church of Bismarck, North Dakota.

REV. R. R. PATZER: Our Heavenly Father, hallowed be Thy name.

We thank Thee for our country, and particularly for our state. The blessings that have rested upon the citizens of our state have been many. And as our leaders, our state leaders, cope with the many problems that confront them, may they have more than human wisdom. We are thankful for men and women of this Convention with convictions, and as they seek to do their best may they stand for something lest they fall for anything.

And so, Our Father, grant that at the end of all labor put forth in this Constitutional Convention that there will be a manifestation of even greater progress in our fair state, for the betterment of all people.

We unite our hearts with that of the Apostle Paul who enjoined us to pray for kings and for all that are in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. This is our prayer in Thy name. Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be on the third order of business — Roll Call. The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your presence.

Has every delegate indicated his presence? The key is closed. Roll call discloses 97 present, one absent. A quorum is declared.

We'll be on the fourth order of business — Approval of the Journal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has carefully examined the Journal of the 10th day of February, 1972, and finds the same to be correct.

Delegate Simonson, Chairman.

Delegate Paulson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report, Committee of Revision and Correction of the Journal. Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of its adoption will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: May we be on the twelfth order of business?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE BUTLER: I have a motion at the desk that I would like to have read. And I propose the passage of this motion.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Butler moves that this Convention, when considering the Constitutional Ballot Committee recommendations, strictly limit the debate to the issue of whether the particular alternate proposal be placed on the ballot. Further, that the Chair rule any debate on the substance of the issue be out of order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE BURKE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Burke.

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I don't know how the President could rule the substance out of order when you're trying to decide whether the matter should be on the ballot.

It would seem to me that the substance or the issue involved would be essentially in that discussion.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: I think we have debated the issues for the last four weeks, and for a long time before that in the committee. And I question whether there would be any additional pertinent information that will influence the vote of whether or not it should be on the ballot at this time as relates to the substance of the issue.

Now I recognize that there is a proposal that was put in the other day that we haven't discussed a great deal relating to the section of right-to-work in the Constitution. But as far as I know that is the only one that hasn't had a thorough — and I want to emphasize "thorough" — discussion in this Convention.

And my point in making this motion this morning is to find out how many of these we're going to have on the ballot, and if there's any desire to discuss the substance of the issue that we bring it back in the routine method of reconsideration to discuss the subject.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Butler.

Mr. Clerk, would you re-read the motion?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: One of these alternate proposals I'm interested in, and I propose to make an amendment. And it would change the direction of that amendment — of that proposal completely. And I would certainly like to be able to argue this out on the floor of this Convention. I hope this motion does not pass.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Clerk — Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

I also would hope the motion does not pass. I think the delegates have met the issue. But if something new comes on the floor, a new idea comes, I think we should have a chance to hear it. I don't think we are going to rehash things we have talked over and over. We are tired of some of these things ourselves. I do not favor the motion at this time.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I would like to speak against the motion. As a member of the Constitutional Ballot Committee, I think if we pass this one we're drawing an awful thin, fine line. When we talk about whether or not a proposal will be included on the ballot as an alternate, there will be several cases where we will have to refer to the substance of the actual proposal. And I hope that this amendment or this motion fails.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

I would like to report my presence after my 6:45 A.M. class. Despite the fact the roads were good, I arrived a little late.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you read the proposed motion.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Butler moves that this Convention, when considering the Constitutional Ballot Committee recommendations, strictly limit the debate to the issue of whether the particular alternate proposal be placed on the ballot. Further, that the Chair rule any debate on the substance of the issue be out of order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question then before the Convention is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Butler. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." Those in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "noes" have it. The motion lost.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be on the eighth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Peters would like to announce that there are eighteen students from the twelfth grade of Carson School, Carson, North Dakota, and Mr. Gerald Bodine in the gallery today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the students rise and be recognized by the delegates of the Convention?
(Applause)

We will be on the fifth order of business.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: May we still be on eighth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: The Ballot Committee has finished their work this morning and the staff is working on some of the amendments that were necessary for the proposals that were made. And the idea of the committee would be that at this time we would like to announce what each of the nine alternate proposals are that have come before the committee. Not get into discussion and debate on these issues, but after they are announced you will have some time to think about them, and by that time the staff will have the reports ready and on your desks, and we will take them up in the order of the priority as a result of a straw ballot last week, and they will be open for discussion and debate.

Is this the time to do this?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think this would be a good time.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Well, 4-1 will have the top priority on the straw ballot. And that is the issue dealing with unicameral or bicameral legislature. It was a very complicated one to work with, as you can imagine. The staff did a terrific job in going through all of the proposals. When it arrives on your desk this morning it will have the latest Style and Drafting changes and bring up to date all of the articles that would be affected if a unicameral legislature was approved by the people. The ballot form you see there gives you the choice of having the two-house legislature or the one-house legislature. The Attorney General's office tells us that this is the proper way to do this; that we would have to pull the bicameral, you might say, out of the Constitution and give equal balance to the unicameral approach. That is, you would vote for one or the other on the ballot. And you will see that on the ballot form when it comes out. I don't think it's necessary to go into any more detail on that.

The second one at the head of the priority was the eighteen-year-old votes. And Delegate McIntyre is going to make an announcement on that.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Fellow Delegates:

Alternate Proposal 4-7 would put the question to the people in the following manner: Shall the following language be made a part of the proposed Constitution of the State of North Dakota (mark one only)? Persons eighteen years of age or older are declared to be adults for all purposes. You would either vote "yes" or "no." There was considerable discussion in our committee on this idea. We did recommend that we include it as an alternate proposal on the ballot. There was much discussion, and the real question in our committee was not so much whether it should be an alternate issue, but the age limit. You see persons eighteen years of age was put in the alternate proposal. There was considerable discussion on whether or not this should be nineteen years. And it was moved to amend in our committee to delete "eighteen" and include "nineteen". That motion failed. And at that time we moved out Alternate Proposal 4-7.

That's all I have.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: 4-2 will be discussed by Delegate Hoghaug.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and Members:

4-2 relates to the gambling procedure which we have talked a great deal about. The Convention earlier in January deleted or repealed Article I of the amendment. So the proposal as we are recommending to go on the ballot concerning this would be: Which alternate set out below should the Constitution of the State of North Dakota contain (mark only one)?

"First: All forms of gambling shall be prohibited unless the legislative assembly provides for the authorization and regulation of specific forms thereof."

Or the other alternate: "The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets."

This proposal, like all of the proposals that are being submitted to the Ballot Committee, the majority action of the entire assembly will be listed first and the alternate proposal will be second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President: 4-8 will be discussed by Delegate Kessel, followed by Delegate Hubrig with 4-9; both pertaining to right-to-work.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman, Fellow Delegates:

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: The Burbidge proposal has been discussed on the floor, and it was adopted by the delegates earlier. The only question that Alternate Proposal 4-8 presents is whether or not the Burbidge proposal shall be in the Constitution or whether it shall not. And the question will then be on the ballot:

"Shall the proposed Constitution contain the following language?" Reciting the Burbidge proposal. And the question will be answered "yes" or "no". Which simply means that if the majority of the people do not want anything in the Constitution on the right-to-work they would vote "no," and so be it. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you.

Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

On Proposal 4-9 we discussed in committee, and there was, like Delegate Kessel said, it was discussed to be a combination with 4-8.

First, before I go any further, I want it distinctly understood here this morning by me reporting on 4-9 that I'm not trying to take advantage of the Burbidge proposal. When it comes to the floor here, 4-9 will show Burbidge wording on the ballot form as well as the wording of 4-9 and the voters will have a choice between the 4-8 wording and the wording of 4-9 in order to give the general public the opportunity to have a choice between the two of them. And that's about all I've got to discuss on that matter at this time.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Delegate Lander will discuss 4-4, which had fifth order of priority.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

If you have read 4-4 in your books you will see that the proposal on initiative and referendum as in 4-4 contains the provisions of the present Constitution. Our committee on our own and in consultation with some of the proponents of 4-4, decided that it would be too bad to waste all the good reworking which had been done of the order in which the whole process was presented. And accordingly we worked out with the proponents what appeared to be the main issue of contention and are going to be recommending the amendment of 4-4 in such form that we would in either instance retain the order as approved by the Convention earlier but have up for voter action the issues which are issues — which are these: The question of how many signatures ought to be involved, as you know, the percentage against the old figure; how many petitioners ought to be on the petition, the five versus the twenty-five; whether the petition ought to have to be submitted to the Secretary of State prior to its being submitted to the people; what action of the law would be suspended by the operation of the petition; and, finally, how long the Legislature will be restricted to the two-thirds vote on repealing anything. As you know, we passed it at seven years, the proponents of 4-4 have asked for a period of ten years. And so there again, as with the others, this whole issue would be pulled out of the Constitution and the voters will then have the opportunity to vote for what we propose at the Convention or for these other — the other provisions of the old or existing Constitution. You will be voting an "X" for one or the other if this is adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

Delegate Chase will discuss 4-3.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. Chairman:

This proposal was voted on by the Convention as in your blue sheet 4-3. And as long as the Convention voted on it with that particular language in front of them, they acted on this particular proposal as is and recommended its indefinite postponement. I'm sure it will come up for more discussion later on.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

4-5 dealt with the appointment rather than the election of judges, and the committee recommends indefinite postponement. There's no change from your blue sheet on that.

4-6 refers to changing the term to four years as passed by the Convention for Senators and two years for House members. And the committee has recommended indefinite postponement on that.

We would like these last three proposals on which the committee has recommended indefinite postponement come up after we have discussed the top five priorities.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Hearing none, we will go on the fifth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Roy. Delegate Unruh.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: You want to IP all these now?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yeah, read it.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposals Numbered 1-1, 1-4, 1-10, 1-11, 1-12, 1-13, 1-14, 1-15, 1-16, 1-18, 1-19, 1-20, 1-22, 1-23, 1-24, 1-25, 1-26, 1-27, 1-28, 1-29, 1-30, 1-32, 1-33, 1-34, 1-36, 1-37, 1-38, 1-39, 1-40, 1-43, 1-44, 1-45, 1-46, 1-47, 1-48, 1-49, 1-50, 1-52, 1-53, 1-54, 1-55, 1-56, 1-57, 1-58, 1-59, 1-60, 1-62, 1-63, 1-64, 1-65, 1-66, 1-67, 1-68, 1-70, 1-71, 1-72, 1-73, 1-74, 1-75, 1-76, 1-77, 1-78, 1-79, 1-80, 1-82, 1-85, 1-87, 1-88, 1-89, 1-91, 1-92, 1-93, 1-94, 1-95, 1-96, 1-97, 1-98, 1-99, 1-100, 1-101, 1-102, 1-103, 1-104, 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-110, 1-111, 1-112, 1-113, 1-115, 1-116, 1-118, 1-119, 1-120, and Delegate Proposals Numbered 2-23 and 2-26 has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting; that the proposals as read by the Clerk be indefinitely postponed. Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President and Delegates:

What we're going to do here is indefinitely postpone all the committee proposals so that in the future if we pass this motion any changes that are considered or attempts to amend will refer to your green sheet. So that we don't have to go bouncing in and out of the green sheets to the proposals, back again, like we did the other day, which wastes time. So by tomorrow morning we will have a re-engrossment of the green sheets, because we did do some amending the other day. And they will be printed and put into your books tomorrow. But for today, if we do have any amending, why we'll refer to the green sheets only and not the committee proposals. And that's the purpose of this motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I'm kind of confused. I understand the procedure here, but I think our final action or our main action was on all these proposals. And I don't think that the record should show that these were indefinitely postponed. If we need a motion to the effect that all changes will be geared to our second passage, I think that is what would be in order. I don't think we should indefinitely postpone action when we've had the only vote on each issue.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: In answer to Delegate Engelter, what we've done now is passed two sets of measures. We can't have two sets alike. We have to consider them one for purposes of orderly procedure. And that's the reason for the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the indefinite postponement — or rather on the adopting of the committee report which calls for the indefinite postponement of the proposals —

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — that were referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think Delegate Engelter has raised a point. On the first passage those numbers that were pointed out to indefinitely postpone, that was the report on passage. And I wonder if actually the proposition we're talking now are redraft proposals of those. And I wonder if we should really indefinitely postpone them. Because if you're checking to see that 50-vote majority carried the matter on the issue, that was first passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In other words, Delegate Kelsch, your question is on voting to reconsider our first passage on each of these proposals?

DELEGATE KELSCH: My concern is that if we accept the committee report and indefinitely postpone all those proposals that I'm worried about the state of the record as to our first passage on all those. Because that was really important action of the Convention. And I think we could — the President could rule that we work off the combined articles as we acted on the second reading, because they are redrafts of the earlier ones. I don't think there's any need to indefinitely postpone those earlier ones because the later ones are redrafts. I think all we need is a ruling that we'll work off the redrafts rather than the original proposal.

If we indefinitely postpone them, I'm concerned about the record of our action. On one hand we said it was first passage, that was the ballgame; now we are indefinitely postponing them. I just don't know that that's the proper thing to do at this time. Thinking out loud, I think Delegate Engelter had a good point though.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There is no question in my mind but you have raised a good question. In fact, we raised it this morning when we were visiting on the procedure here.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: It seems to me that taking, for example, the green Proposal 5-12, which states that it is a redraft of Committee Proposals Numbered 1-29 and about nine others, we have only passed those 1- numbers once. The second time around we passed them as redrafted. In a sense they were the same proposals. That was what we had on eleventh order. I don't think it's necessary to kill the originals. And the suggestion of my delegate neighbor and I is that those original 1- proposals be laid on the table where they may reside in perpetuity unless they are revived.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Can't lay it on the table.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have the peculiarity in our Rules that the motion to lay on the table is not permissible.

Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President:

I thought maybe I'd take a whack at it, too.

Mr. President, I can see the concern of Delegate Engelter and some others, Delegate Rundle, that the vote on these proposals can be indefinitely postponed is in effect wiping them out. And it seems to me that preceding the vote to indefinitely postpone we should have a motion to show that the vote of this Convention on these proposals is reflected in the green sheet redrafts so that my vote on a particular proposal won't be wiped out by this indefinite postponement. I think there should be a motion to show that our vote of the Convention on these is reflected in these redraft proposals.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I think there's a technicality maybe we can correct by a motion to amend the motion to read "not be indefinitely postponed, but that those proposals be renumbered in conformity with the numbering system in the green drafts and that that motion withheld we would be glad to move it.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I was going to suggest that — I don't know that we have to do anything unless someone feels that we have to. But we have shown — we have the original proposal as passed in one series. And then we show later a redraft of that. And doesn't that show the course of the action of the Convention on that? Isn't that sufficient just to let them stand that way? They've been redrafted — something has happened to them, they've been redrafted, and accepted by the Convention with slight changes in style and drafting. Is there any real need to do anything with them?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: The reason, the purpose of asking to have these various committee proposals indefinitely postponed, was a matter of mechanics of handling the business before us here in the very closing days. We only have three remaining days. And so that we do not have the cumbersome matter of going back and — that is in the event of reconsideration and in the event of a motion to reconsider, and if that motion should prevail, and then comes the question do we go back and amend the original proposal and then have that proposal considered to be properly re-engrossed. First of all, passed on the first passage as amended — first, reconsider it and then have it amended, and then pass it for first passage, and then to suspend the Rules again and have it considered to be properly redrafted by the Committee on Style and Drafting, and then have it go to the eleventh order and have it passed on second passage. The point here was that if these are indefinitely postponed then all the Convention has before it will be the — all of the proposals will be identified by article and section. And by tomorrow morning you will have on your desks — it's thought you will have on your desks — the complete draft of all of the articles and sections as we have passed them on the floor as amended on the eleventh order. Then in the event there is any reconsideration to try to amend any portion we will not be confused as to what we're talking about. We will be talking about the proposals as an article so-and-so, section so-and-so, line so-and-so. And you will have that before you so that it will be readily understood. It will also simplify it greatly so far as the staff is concerned; particularly for engrossing. And because of the time limitations it was thought that this would be the better and more efficient way to handle this problem. This was discussed at considerable length in the Calendar Committee this morning, and it was decided the motion that was made by Delegate Unruh was to — what should we say? — facilitate the mechanics of anything that may come up in these last few days. Thank you.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

There's one thing may not have been discussed; it depends on if you're a political animal or not. But quite a few people read the Journals. I had a phone call from one of my people following the Journal and who noticed how you vote. If this motion passes it would be a very handy tool if you wanted to show them how you voted for everything once and against it the next time. I think — I don't believe this is a wise move from a standpoint of being fair about it. Politically it would be pretty handy.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

Now in checking over, for example, with the legislative branch, portions of our proposal, every one of the proposals we dealt with are mentioned in Style and Drafting Proposal 5-12. And that was introduced by the Style and Drafting Committee, we dealt with it, we voted on it, reference is made in the title to each of the proposals. Now I see no harm in indefinitely postponing the other proposals or withdrawing them; one way or the other. But to leave all those proposals — it's a mechanical matter — to have them all lay on the desk and not disposed of is wrong. When we took the action we accepted the Style and Drafting's recommendation to all these proposals, then we, in fact, said that we no longer need those other proposals. They are identified in these redrafts. I see no harm in indefinitely postponing it.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President.

I think we're kind of hung up on a procedural deal here that I don't believe is really anything that big. It seems to me the Rules clearly point out to the public and to us what is happening to these proposals. I think we all understand we're going to be working off the green sheet. I believe the delegates such as Rundle and Kelsch and those who are concerned about this thing, I think their concern should be taken into consideration. And let's just work off of the green sheets and understand that the Rules have taken care of the steps of what has happened to these proposals. I don't think we should indefinitely postpone them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow Delegates:

I do think that this is a question that merits real concern. I agree with Delegate Burke, I believe. I think we should have something in the record to show on roll call vote that Committee Proposal No. 1-1 became proposal — or became Article — a part of Article — a section of Article so-and-so. I think that that should be in the record. And I think if we did have that in the record, if that was incorporated in the record, there could be no question. In other words, we would be placing in the record the fact that we did renumber those basic committee proposals. That seems to me that that's what we should do before we indefinitely postpone these. After we have something in the record on a roll call vote that showed just what we did, that we renumbered, that this is the process of renumbering, then these would have no further use. And I believe we should follow that procedure.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President:

May I ask first from the Clerk whether the engrossed copy of the green Style and Drafting Committee Redrafts contain on the left-hand margin the references to the committee proposals such as 1-43? They do?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Then I am wondering if a motion would not be in order to be voted upon by roll call vote in substance — and I haven't had time to draft this — that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1, for example, might be deemed — which was passed on the eleventh order of business — be deemed for all purposes to have been the second passage of the Committee Proposals 1-43, 1-44, et cetera, which are listed in both the title and along the margin of the engrossed bill. And holding in that the remark that you have just made which would seem to me would identify and carry the committee proposals into the Committee on Style and Drafting.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce. I have a question I would like to direct to Delegate Pearce. There is one point that the Chair would like to raise on that procedure, and that is that during the time that we debated and voted on second passage we reiterated again and again that we were only voting on the matters that pertained to the work of the Committee on Style and Drafting except in those rare cases where the Rules were suspended and there were floor amendments. So I question, Delegate Pearce, whether or not second passage would hold as far as first passage was concerned, because of the fact that we raised that question so many times.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Well, I had considered that. Really, I thought perhaps in my motion that it be deemed to be the second passage. Because actually what we were really doing is simply passing the restyled language of the committee proposal. And while we may have done it sometimes in a number of sections together, I think there was no doubt in the minds of the Convention and all of the delegates that it was on the eleventh order of business, the second reading and second passage of those proposals has changed in wording for style only. And that's why it seemed to me that my motion, which if carried and was recorded, that that be deemed to have been the second passage. Other than that dilemma, I see no way of doing it other than passing them all over again on eleventh order, which would seem to be a complete snafu.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: If you will refer to, just for example, page 417 in your Journal, you will notice in our report, procedural committee, at the bottom we say the following language: "Your committee moves that the Rules be suspended, that Style and Drafting Proposal 5-9 be introduced, such proposal being a redraft of Committee Proposals . . ." Then it goes on to number all of the Committee Proposals there. I think, Mr. President, the hang-up seems to be that for preservation of the votes by which we passed these Committee Proposals on first passage. And if it's possible for me to amend the motion that Clerk Gilbreath read, I would move that the record of the votes by which these committee proposals passed on first passage be preserved.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Some of the objections to what we're doing I think may be answered. Now of course all of the delegates do not have the engrossed bills as I have them before me. All of us on the Calendar Committee received copies this morning. My understanding is that everybody will have them on your desks tomorrow morning. Is that right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is the intent.

DELEGATE HERNETT: All right. Now, for instance, here on the first sheet, which is the Preamble, for example on there I think it identifies everything you're talking about. Up at the heading it talks about Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-8. Now that's referring to the green sheets. And then the next line talks about style and drafting, which proposal is a redraft of Committee Proposals 1-1, et cetera. So all the identification you can ever ask for is on here, is on these sheets, which you will have in front of you tomorrow morning.

Now, I think the advantage in what we're doing here is the thing that we have to consider, these white sheets, that is as you will have them, are the amended green sheets. It's still — we're still on the green, but the white ones are the amended green sheets. And on the floor of this Convention I'm sure that we're going to want to talk about the enrolled and engrossed bills or proposals of the white sheets, which are the amended green ones, if I make myself clear. In other words, if there are any amendments or motions to be made you're going to be talking about this white one.

Now I don't know what kind of motions are necessary to clear this up this morning. Maybe you don't want to indefinitely postpone the greens necessarily, but supposing the motion was made whereby the Convention confined its motions and its discussions to the enrolled proposals, which is the white one, the new ones, and if we voted on that and passed it, that's where discussions would be held then on these proposals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think that, you know, we can get rid of these in another way similar to — similar to what Delegate Sinner indicated by making some type of a motion to transfer, incorporate, and renumber the old committee proposals into the Style and Drafting Proposal. With a motion like that, we would not then have any committee proposals, but we would have reference to them. And at the same time we would, I think, in a sense be withdrawing these committee proposals. Because we have transferred them, we've incorporated them, and renumbered them into the Style and Drafting Proposals. And I would think that a motion to that effect would take care of all our misgivings and difficulties without having anything referred to, withdrawn or indefinitely postponing.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President:

I see no objection to indefinitely postpone. However, I believe that the motion should precede the motion to indefinitely postpone in somewhat this fashion, for example: Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9 should show that this incorporates committee and delegate proposals by a certain number. And that the vote by which these committee and individual proposals are adopted would be carried over and incorporated within 5-9, such as Delegate Unruh mentioned. And that the roll call vote on these be preserved. So that when we indefinitely postpone then Delegate Rundle can say, "Well, my vote was preserved in this green sheet." So I think this is a staff matter, I don't think it can be made from the floor. And perhaps we should put this off until later in the day.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I'll move that further action on the motion before us be suspended until after lunch.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner moves that further action on adopting the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting be deferred until this afternoon.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Want me to read it? I can read it, then they can think about it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: What?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Read Unruh's motion to him.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: As I have Delegate Unruh's motion, it is that his Committee Report be amended to read:

"Further, that the vote by which the above committee and delegate proposals were passed on the tenth order be preserved as the first passage of the sections of the redraft proposals into which they were incorporated."

That's what we're holding action upon.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to Delegate Sinner's motion?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

In view of the reading of the committee's motion, I'll withdraw the motion. I think that sounds pretty good.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I don't want it that way. I don't like to be the one person here that's going to be arbitrary on this. But I'm real concerned about this, and the last thing we want to ever have happen is all the work we've done up to this point be nullified because we did something that was wrong. And I'm going — I'm going to ask for a motion to delay action on adopting this particular committee report —

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — until such time as we do have this figured out and do have it done. Delegate Sinner moves to delay action and Delegate Kelsch seconds the motion on adopting this Committee Report until this afternoon.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And we will take this matter up this afternoon after giving it further consideration.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: I'm not sure whether this is the right order to discuss this, but a number of delegates have come to the Rules Committee to ask about the last part of amendment and suspension of rules. You may remember that it reads: "During the last two days of the Convention, the rules may be suspended by affirmative vote of fifty delegates." By way of explanation, when the Rules Committee met to amend the Rules and revise them for the Plenary Session, they had asked all the chairmen of the substantive committees to make recommendations. And this was one of the recommendations that came from one of the chairmen. The thinking was that the last two days there might be procedural matters — I think what we've had here now might be a case of it — that might need quick action. And so for that reason the rule was added: "During the last two days of the Convention, the rules may be suspended by an affirmative vote of fifty delegates." It was for the matter of taking care — for the reason of taking care of procedural matters.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

I'm not certain that I was the only one that made the suggestion, but I did make it to the Rules Committee. I felt that, as Mrs. Geelan has indicated, that there might be procedural problems that would require action that could perhaps not secure two-thirds vote. The Rules Committee adopted this language. It's found, by the way, on page 42 of your Rules. I can see now that as we approach these last two days there are many of the delegates who feel, or at least some of the delegates who feel, that this Rule should be used to bring before the Convention substantive matters. Now that was not my intent at the time I made the suggestion. So that we might have a determination of the feeling of the Convention on this question, I would like to move now that Rule 36 found on page 42 of the Rules be amended by striking out the last two lines.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is that Rule 36?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves an amendment to the Rules by striking the last two lines in the Rules, of Rule 36, page 42, in the Rule Book. It reads: "During the last two days of the Convention, the Rules may be suspended by affirmative vote of fifty delegates."

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Ladies and Gentlemen:

We're been operating under this Rule thinking it meant just what it said for many days. I don't think it's proper at this time to change it. In the first place, if fifty people find that they have made what they think is a serious mistake, it should not require two-thirds vote to bring it back. You want to remember there's no — there's not another house to correct our mistakes. There is no governor to veto anything we do here. We're on our own. And I don't think this Rule should be changed, especially at this time when everyone knew what it was and very few knew that it was meant for one thing. The Rule didn't state anything about substantive matters or procedural matters. I thought it was a Rule that meant just what it said. And I don't think we should change it now. Because we might find some sad mistakes that we want to change. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Do we have a second to Delegate Haugen's motion?

DELEGATE BUTLER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Could I ask a question in this connection: What is the requirement of the Rules as to what vote will have to be necessary on this motion in order to change the Rules; majority or two-thirds?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, it takes two-thirds vote. It takes 66 votes to amend the Rules.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: I speak in opposition to the amendment, too. I think if we're to take our jobs here seriously, there's something that really needs some reconsideration, needs some correcting, we'd better be able to do it as easily as possible. This is no time to pull the rug out from underneath the delegates.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Just in regard to the statement as offered by Delegate Stanton, I don't think it is the intent of any delegate in this Convention to pull the rug out from under any other delegate. That's not the purpose of the Rule.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I appreciate what the President has said. And that is certainly true. It's my — it certainly is not my intent in offering this motion to — well, I guess the words "pull the rugs out" are as good as any or as good as any I can think of. No, it's not that at all. But we have two days left of this Convention after today. We have seen already this morning the discussions that we can get into on changes on this matter of what to do about these original sections. And we have a matter of time here.

Now there's a good many — I wouldn't say there are a good many things — there are some things about this proposed Constitution I don't agree with. And I am sure that some of those things might be brought up and they could be reconsidered by a majority vote now. But, on the other hand, there are some of the things that I strongly support that might also be brought up and changed if we can consider these things on a majority vote. And I think just on the basis of the fact that time is of the essence here that we should favorably consider this motion. More than that, this Convention I think has had a good set of Rules; it's been extremely fair to the minorities and to the individuals themselves. And the Convention has also shown when there is any significant reason for reconsideration that it was willing to go along with reconsideration. But to have a blanket reconsideration on a majority vote I do feel could tie us up in debate that would ruin or prevent, let's say, the completion of our work on time.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: I wonder if I might, knowing what the intent, I think, of Delegate Haugen's motion is, if I could amend the motion by leaving the last two lines in but adding these words: "Except that a motion to reconsider a proposal that has passed the first and second passage would require a two-thirds vote." If I could get a second I'll try to explain the reason for that amendment then.

DELEGATE POULSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE GEELAN: That way we could leave the motion to have a majority vote on suspension of procedural matters, but the reconsideration of proposals that have already been acted on would still require the two-thirds vote. So I would suggest that amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I'd like to speak just very briefly on this particular motion. I have a proposal that I would like to reconsider. Now I have the motions all typed out laying on the table ready to go when the time comes, if it comes. But if I can't get a two-thirds vote from this assembly to reconsider, I might as well tear up those sheets of paper right now anyway. I think that this is a good motion. It doesn't give any real reconsideration, it just helps qualify the thing a little bit. And if anybody can't get two-thirds of this assembly to reconsider it shouldn't be reconsidered.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President:

I believe there is a fatal defect in Delegate Geelan's amendment in that the majority vote could suspend the Rules. And I believe Delegate Haugen, if I may speak — may I speak on Delegate Haugen or am I limited to Delegate Geelan?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think we should stay with Delegate Geelan's motion.

DELEGATE BURKE: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Amendment to the amendment. Does the desk have the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yeah. Mrs. Geelan's?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Geelan.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment: "That the amendment be — be retaining the last sentence of Rule 36 rather than deleting it, and after the word 'delegates' add the following: ', except a motion to reconsider a proposal that has passed the first and second passage would require a two-thirds vote'."

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Question to the Chair. Now the motion for the amendment to the amendment requires a simple majority or does it require a two-thirds vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendment to the amendment requires a simple majority.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: We already have said many times that the second passage was just on form, style and drafting of changes, which truly it wasn't in many cases. But this is what we've been saying. So the second vote — second passage meant nothing. And I can't see that this amendment would help at all. It wouldn't as far as my opinion is concerned.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Geelan. Those in favor of adopting her amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

We are back on the main motion as offered by Delegate Haugen. Any further discussion?

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President:

Does this take a two-thirds vote to change the Rule now?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: This takes 66 votes to change the rule. So inasmuch as this will require a 66 votes to change the Rule, I am going to ask the Clerk to open the key and you may indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Delegate Scheel, have you voted? Does any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed.

The vote indicates 47 "ayes," 49 "nays," two delegates absent. The amendment failed.

At this time the Chair will declare a ten-minute coffee break.

(The Session recessed at 10:42 A.M. until 11:01 A.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: May we be on the eighth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE DOBSON: The Public Information Committee will meet during the lunch hour in the Large Hearing Room. Bring your own lunch.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further under the eighth order? Any further announcements?

DELEGATE PETERSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: May I extend a sincere thank-you to our Clerk, Roy Gilbreath, for the beautiful posey? I thank you very much. (Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the seventh order of business — Reports of Select Committees.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Procedural Committee on Resolutions, to whom was referred Resolution L, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Scheel, Chairman.

Delegate Scheel moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the Committee Report of the Committee on Resolutions that Resolution L be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President:

I don't know how much resistance the sponsors of this resolution are going to make against the motion to indefinitely postpone. But since the members of the Convention have not seen the resolution, I would move that it be read at length from the desk, not printed in the Journal, and not printed as a bill, and laid over for one day.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution L be not printed as a bill, be not — that it be printed in the Journal, that it be laid over one Convention day.

Will you read it?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. L, introduced by Delegate Meidinger, Trenbeath, Poulson, Larsen, Lander, Litten, Engstrom, Griffin, Sullivan, Jestrab, Fritzell, Hernet, Knudson, Christensen:

"A resolution requesting that the area of taxation of the extractive industries be investigated by the investigative branch of the legislature.

"WHEREAS, the state of North Dakota has become one of the greatest suppliers of lignite coal for the production of electricity, and potentially for the production of methane gas; and

"WHEREAS, most of this production is exported from the state, currently either in the form of coal or electricity; and

"WHEREAS, North Dakota is the only state in the nation exporting a mineral resource without gaining some tax remuneration for it while its citizens are paying taxes to other states by the purchasing of products imported from them; and

"WHEREAS, the production of coal is extremely degrading to the environment of the state, in the first instance by the destruction of the land surface in the process of strip mining, turning the land into an impassable desert and removing its productive capacity for centuries to come, and secondly polluting the atmosphere by the burning of the coal in the process of producing electricity; and

"WHEREAS the destruction of the land by strip mining effectively removes it from the property tax rolls so that it no longer contributes to the support of government, at the same time that the burden of property taxes on the owners of other lands is becoming more and more difficult to bear; and

"WHEREAS, a similar extractive industry, the state's oil industry, is required to pay severance taxes on its production and on production and distribution facilities to aid the support of state and local government;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the Legislative Council of the State of North Dakota be requested to study the feasibility of placing an appropriate severance tax on lignite coal;

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the clerk of the convention be instructed to forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to the Legislative Council."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the resolution. The motion is that the Rules be suspended, that the resolution be printed in the Journal, that it be read from the desk, and that it be laid over one Convention day.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I would just want to elaborate on the report of the committee that it be indefinitely postponed. I think the feeling of the members, even though some of those who felt this might be a good idea nevertheless, in consideration of the business of the Convention they did not feel it was the proper concern of the Convention, the proper province of the Convention, and therefore recommended unanimously that it be indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Yes. As a member of that committee, I'm wondering if there isn't a little irregularity here due to the fact that we indefinitely postponed this measure before it was ever read at the desk?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl, it has not been indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: It has in committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Oh, in committee?

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: It never was referred to the committee from the desk. And now it's being referred back after we indefinitely postponed it. I'm just wondering about it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl, it was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Yes. But after it was indefinitely postponed by the committee.

DELEGATE LANDER: The committee can't do that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I'm sorry, that's not a question, I don't believe, for the Convention itself to decide. I believe that's something that the committee would have to decide on the action that they took.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Well, isn't it — isn't it usually the case where something like this comes up it would be read at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: — and then you would refer it to the proper committee?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No. No, that's not the usual procedure, Delegate Rosendahl. It's usual procedure is that we receive it and refer it to the committee. And then when it comes back with the committee action that's the time. And that's why we have a committee recommendation at this time for indefinite postponement.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: But I wonder — I wonder, Mr. President, if we checked the records if this wasn't indefinitely postponed in the committee before it was ever brought to you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I fail to follow the question. The question here is on the question of some — if there's some problem in the committee, then that's in the committee. But here the question is whether we're going to adopt Delegate Meidinger's motion to lay it over one day and act on it tomorrow or whether — or whether we want to indefinitely postpone it. So the first thing we are going to have to do is act on Delegate Meidinger's motion.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President and Delegates:

I support Delegate Meidinger's motion. Until the delegates generally have had a chance to look at this resolution they can't very well decide whether they support the content of the resolution or whether it's a logical concern of the Convention.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President, I rise to oppose the motion of my good Chairman, Delegate Meidinger. I know this has been heard in the Convention considerably. I know it was heard in our committee. I think it was referred to another substantive committee besides the one on which I serve. Our committee refused to act on it, that committee refused to act on it. I know it went to the Rules — to the Resolutions Committee once previously and was indefinitely postponed and passed back to Delegate Meidinger. It was not — I believe here — it was handled through the floor at that time, and so I presume it is still alive. But I would support the delegate — the committee recommendation to kill it and to vote against this motion to continue considering it for a couple of reasons. One, my concern is that we move more and more into the legislative arena, and that we ought not to do that. And that this would just be a final step down the road into the legislative arena. This resolution is clear if you listen to it. It says that there shall be a severance tax on coal applied in the State of North Dakota, not where it shall be applied. And it directs — does not direct, but suggests to the legislative assembly that they've been remiss in apparently not doing that over the years. And in that sense I think it's directed to the Legislature. When it came up in our Education Committee I made an off-handed comment that the best thing we could do with this is everybody take a copy and mail it to your favorite legislator and then properly let the legislators act through the Legislative Council to do this kind of study, and this kind of inquiry if they want to make it. But I don't believe it's any business of this Convention to be dealing with this matter. And certainly we're too busy at this time, I think, to lay it over a day, to print it in our record, for heaven's sake, where I have every conviction it does not belong. And in that sense I think we ought to vote to defeat the motion of Delegate Meidinger on it at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kretschmar.

DELEGATE KRETSCHMAR: Mr. President:

I would yield my time to Delegate Knudson.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: I believe the remarks of Delegate Sanstead are out of order. They are not directed to the motion. If we're going to discuss the content of this resolution I have a great deal more comment I would like to make regarding the content. That's not the motion before us.

As far as the point of our directing advice to the Legislature, I believe we have a precedent in the opposite direction. Friday afternoon Delegate Hill, who is employed at present by a committee of the Legislative Council, told us that this committee which is his employer had directed a message to this Convention conveying what they thought we should do. I don't see how it is outside our responsibility to send comments in the opposite direction.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Pass.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further comment? The question —

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hildebrand.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: I rise to support the decision by the Resolutions Committee. And I think that certainly this is more of a directive to this Convention than any directive by the research committee should be considered to be. I don't quite see that the research council should give a directive to the Convention to in turn give a directive back to the research council and the Legislature, telling them what they should do. Doesn't this seem to be a happy merry-go-round that we don't quite have time for at this stage of the game? Certainly a cat with nine lives has a better way of staying alive. I wonder which one of these lives it is that we're working on at this time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is the —

DELEGATE LARSEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE LARSEN: Fellow Delegates:

I rise to support this amendment. I feel it's a good one. I feel that we are here to plan for the future. And I can see no other way than to support this amendment or resolution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegates, the question before the Convention is on the motion as offered by Delegate Meidinger that this resolution be printed in the Journal, that it be laid over one legislative day —or one Convention day.

Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman: Because of the fact that this is to be printed in the Journal, I have to speak at this time. I can't wait until tomorrow. This was presented to our committee, and we felt that it is something that will not only harm the passage of the whole Constitution — and this should be our primary concern as delegates to the Convention — we should stay out of the matters of that nature.

Now I personally support that resolution as an individual. But as a delegate to this Convention, this Constitutional Convention, I do not feel that we should get into this. And by laying it over until tomorrow and printing it in the Journal, we are already establishing what we have set out originally not to do, to get involved in these other issues. I therefore hope that, number one, the motion to carry it over until tomorrow is defeated; and then I do hope that the proposal of the committee to indefinitely postpone it takes precedence as number two.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — I think the Convention is aware of the question. We are voting on Delegate Meidinger's motion. As many as are in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the motion of Delegate Meidinger will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "noes" have it. The motion lost.

We are back on the committee report to indefinitely postpone Resolution L.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: In line with the committee's unanimous verdict, I'll move that the Resolution L be indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE BINEK: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved and seconded, seconded by Delegate Binek, that Resolution L be indefinitely postponed.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the motion, Resolution L is indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: I rise on a point of personal privilege.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President, members of this Convention:

We have now indefinitely postponed what is really a harmless resolution conveying the sentiments of at least a sizeable group of delegates on the question of whether coal production should be taxed.

Fellow delegates, by the time Delegates Gipp and Nicholas have reached the age that Delegate Cart has now achieved, the western one-third of North Dakota will be a desert of spoil banks. Rather than being called the Badlands of North Dakota, it will probably be called the Deadlands of North Dakota. And if either one of these then old gentlemen should be queried by his grandchildren that — or probably great-grandchildren by that time — "Hey, Grandpa, how come they say 'Deadlands? Were they every alive? How did they get dead?" This old gentleman can answer, "Yes, children, they were alive. I can remember when they were green hills covered with growing crops and grazing cattle. They died in the process of mining the coal out from under these lands. And, children, back in 1972 I was a delegate to the second Constitutional Convention of the State of North Dakota, a Convention which refused to even consider whether the people who profited by this devastation should be taxed while they were doing so."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President:

Since I've been referred to in the time element, I would like to express my ideas on this whole thing. This has been before the Legislature, I'm sure, in recent time. And there is where it properly should be. This Convention should not be indulging in resolution of this kind, it should go to the Legislature for its solution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further inquiry? Hearing none — Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I can only answer that by saying that as long as we have legislators like Delegate Knudson this body will have no worries at that time.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Knudson.

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Now since my name has been mentioned I can respond like Delegate Cart, I feel. This idea first came up among members of our committee from two different angles; from the environmental angle and from the angle of revenue to finance schools. Delegates came to me and asked, "Is it true that coal production is not taxed? Why isn't it taxed?" And my only answer could be, "The coal industry is sacrosanct. The idea of taxing that industry is one of the unmentionable things. It's something that is not done. And the only reason it is not done is that the coal industry has one of the toughest lobbies in existence." Certainly this has been brought before the Legislature many times, every session in my memory, but it's just something that is not done.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: It might just be that those youngsters in that day might just know a little bit more about the difference in legislation, in statute law and in constitutions. So they might just say, "Grandpa, why didn't you take care of that in the Legislature?"

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the twelfth order of business.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: May I just add to what Delegate Knudson said? That when the Burlington Northern gets through with Colstrip, Montana, if you think you've seen a lobby in the North Dakota Legislature, wait until the Burlington Northern moves in.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the twelfth order of business — Resolutions.

DELEGATE LARSEN: May we be on the twelfth order of business?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE LARSEN: I would like to make a personal request; that Delegate Knudson's remarks be placed in the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you so move, Delegate Larsen?

DELEGATE LARSEN: I just make that as a request. But must it be made in the form of a motion?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe we should have at this time.

DELEGATE LARSEN: If so, I'll make a motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Larsen moves that the remarks of Delegate Knudson be placed in the Journal.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Lander.

Any discussion? As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried.

We will continue on the twelfth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. N, introduced by Committee on Constitutional Ballot:

"A resolution expressing the intent of the Convention as to the form of the question on the adoption of the proposed 1972 constitution."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Resolution M?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: N.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: N?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: N like in "no".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Report of the Committee on Constitutional Ballot — the resolution will be referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Is it in order to move that the Rules be suspended and that it not be referred to the committee, and placed on the tenth order for first passage?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, it would be in order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I so move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution N be not referred to committee, that it be placed on the calendar for first passage. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE ERICKSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Erickson.

Is there any discussion?

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

What is Resolution N all about? Are we going to take a vote on this right now?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will read it from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. N, introduced by Committee on Constitutional Ballot:

"A resolution expressing the intent of the Convention as to the form of the question on the adoption of the proposed 1972 constitution.

"WHEREAS, the Committee on Constitutional Ballot has been charged with the responsibility for preparing recommendations for the form of the ballot; and

"WHEREAS, the committee has had this question under consideration;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the form of the ballot as pertains to the question of whether the proposed constitution should be adopted and the North Dakota Constitution of 1889 as amended, be repealed shall be as follows:

"Do you approve of the proposed 1972 Constitution? (mark one only); "yes", "no".

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson, we are just a little bit ahead of ourselves here. We did have a motion, and we did have it seconded. But I failed to put the motion that this be placed on the calendar at this time. So I'm going to back up just that far and put the motion that this be placed before the Convention. So as many as are in favor of suspending the Rules and placing this resolution, Resolution N, before the Convention at this time will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "no." As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And now we are back on the right-of-way. So we have heard the reading of Resolution N.

Now, Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

The reason this is in resolution form is because the Ballot Committee could only take action on proposals that had been submitted by twenty delegates. So this is in resolution form. And there is an amendment at the desk. Everyone has a copy of this, incidentally, on their desk. But there is an amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson, does every delegate have a copy of the resolution, too?

DELEGATE DAWSON: They should all have copies of the resolution, but not of the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Resolution N:

In line 15, delete the words "Do you approve of" and insert in lieu thereof the word "Shall".

Further, in line 15, before the question mark, insert "be adopted".

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

Now do we have some discussion on the proposed amendment to the resolution?

Any discussion pertaining to the amendment to the resolution? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "no." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment to Resolution N will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Now we are back on the resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Better engross it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Pardon?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Better engross it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

I believe I am making a correct statement when I say the reason that we brought it on the floor this morning was so that it could go over to the Style and Drafting Committee for the finishing touches on it. And this — we had the Secretary of State at our committee meeting on Friday, and a representative of the Attorney General's office there, and discussed this. And this was actually what amounts to how the people would vote on the package of the Constitution. And if we had any side issues they would be on the side of it so the main body of the Constitution of the form that we would be submitting it to the way of having a "yes" and "no" vote on the main package of the Constitution. But it was our only reason for bringing it out this morning, so the Style and Drafting Committee could get to work on it if there is any work to be done on it.

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: I move that the Rules be suspended and Resolution N be considered properly re-engrossed and put on the calendar for final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution N be deemed properly re-engrossed, and be placed on the calendar for passage.

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman:

Before that motion is put, I have a question to the committee. We have just amended the question that goes on the ballot. What we don't say on the ballot then is that the 1889 Constitution is being repealed. Where is that statement to be made?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: It's my understanding that when we present this Constitution that the repealer of the old Constitution will precede in writing on the ballot the Preamble and the rest of the new Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President:

I have a question. Maybe it doesn't belong here. But do the people vote on the main body of this? Is this going to be explained? Will they vote — if it is "no" will that be the end of it? Is this the way the ballot will be?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

Oh, Delegate Kelsch. I'm sorry.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

I think essentially that the instructions to the voters on the ballot will have to state that; if a majority vote for adoption of the new Constitution, the old Constitution will be repealed. If a majority vote "no" the old Constitution remains in effect.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on Delegate Lamb's motion.

Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

Probably this is a question, but it should be directed to the committee here. I'm a little confused by the resolution. Is this a resolution to the Secretary of State, a resolution to ourselves? When do we officially, as a body, say, "This is the ballot?" Now I'm just questioning the propriety of this in a resolution form. I'd like to be able to vote sometime that this is the ballot.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can anyone answer Delegate Burke's question? Delegate Scheel, any answer for Delegate Burke's question?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Well, Mr. President, —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: — this language had to come from someplace. It's too late to turn in delegate proposals. Our committee, as far as a committee proposal, cannot take action unless there was a proposal that had been signed by twenty delegates to the Convention. And, therefore, the staff said that this had to come out in the form of a resolution. But we are talking about the official wording that would be on the ballot.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I am still real hazy here as to what is going to be on the ballot. When they bring up these ideas, do we repeal the other Constitution, is that the wording, in an explanatory sentence that tells them if they do not adopt this we go back to 1889? I wonder if we shouldn't refer this back to committee again for over the noon hour or something to come back here with the complete wordage that's to be on the ballot. I think there's a question I asked some delegate, "Is the whole Constitution going to be printed?" One says "Yes," the next one says "No." I think we have to have it clear here as to exactly what is going to be the consequence of our vote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I missed a meeting or some of this committee, so maybe I shouldn't be commenting. But it is my memory when we talked this matter over with the Chair that it was your suggestion that the Secretary of State had the final say in terms of the ballot form on this. And our action on this particular question was suggestive. Now maybe that's been changed since I've been in the committee. But that was my impression as to one of the reasons that this came in in a resolution form.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Might I inquire which committee is responsible for working up the ballot along with the instructions to the voters on the ballot?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Kelsch, I think it's going to have to be a combination of the delegates — of the Committee on Constitutional Ballot and the Committee on Style and Drafting. And then we have to recall that I do believe the Secretary of State is going to have the last say how the ballot is going to be presented to the voters.

Any further questions? The question before the Convention is on Delegate Lamb's motion that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution N be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for passage. Those in favor of the motion will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Resolution N is before the Convention for passage.

Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President:

Now at this time, Mr. President, I move that the vote on the adoption of Resolution N be taken by recorded roll call.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Recorded roll call vote on Resolution N has been requested. Will ten delegates rise? That is a sufficient number.

Delegate Saugstad, did you wish the floor?

The question before the Convention is the adoption of the Resolution N, and roll call has been requested.

Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Yes.

Mr. President: Would Delegate Baker please yield to a question? I stood up as one of your ten, but I want to be sure that I didn't miss some obscure reason for having a roll call vote on this question.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: The question was raised here as to the procedure, the legal aspects of the situation. And it occurred to me that if we had fifty delegates of this Convention officially recorded as being in favor of this ballot form, that that ought to clear any question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The roll call and recorded vote has been requested. Those in favor of adopting the Resolution N will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Hartl votes "aye".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl votes "aye".

The roll call discloses 92 "ayes," 4 "nays," two delegates absent and not voting. Resolution N has been adopted.

We'll be on the eighth order of business — Announcements. We are about to recess.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: The co-chairman of the Public Information Committee is supposed to now announce that the Public Information meeting called for noon has been delayed until at least the afternoon recess. We'll keep you advised.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further announcements? Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

May be we on the twelfth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

I made a will before I attempt to make this next motion because I'm sure I won't live beyond it. But I move that Delegate Proposal — no Redraft Proposal 5-12 be placed on the calendar at this time. If I can get a second, I'll tell you why.

DELEGATE BAKER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

It's been called to my attention that we have possibly eliminated every legislator from about fifteen different committees and groups that they have customarily served on since these groups were formed; one of them being the LRC itself. And I have a list of all of the others that are named. And on all of those groups legislators have been serving. And if this motion carries, I intend to offer an amendment on page 2, line 1, of 5-12, which would eliminate the word "any" and insert in lieu thereof the word "a full-time". The LRC and others are very much concerned about leaving this in its present manner. That's the legislative proposal, of course. And if we don't do something about it at this time we may have to dissolve about fifteen or twenty good commissions in the State, including the LRC.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think that we better back up just a little way. I think you should move to reconsider our action whereby we've passed —

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, I was going to get it on the calendar first and then move it to reconsider it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'm afraid that's backwards.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Okay. I will move that we reconsider our action on 5-12.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire moves that we reconsider our actions whereby the Convention passed Redraft 5-12. And now do I have a second? Second?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

The question —

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I would go along with this certain reconsideration if Delegate Longmire would include in his motion only Section 4.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

I am very happy to amend my motion to just include that, with the consent of my second.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Yes.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Do you have me as the second?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I have you as the second.

DELEGATE BAKER: I'm afraid I can't agree to that on account of — unless something new is in the picture from Friday when Delegate Paulson called our attention to what seems to me also to be a defect over in Section 9 where the language would need changing, I think, if the intent is that only ninety days elapse between the passage of an ordinary bill to the time it becomes law. Now maybe there is some newer interpretation of that that's developed in the meantime. But I think that that's a defect; it should be corrected at this same time.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion of Delegate Longmire to reconsider the action whereby we passed Redraft Proposal No. 5-12.

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, Delegates:

I would oppose any reconsideration beyond Section 4 unless it is specified only Sections 4 and 9. I don't want to open up the whole bill again. And I don't think either one of the errors are of sufficient import to make any difference in the final Constitution.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson, just so we have this right now, do you wish to open 9, too?

DELEGATE PAULSON: I don't want to — Mr. Chairman, the present motion is open up all of 5-12. Mr. Longmire's motion was to reconsider Redraft 5-12. That opens all of it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE PAULSON: And I oppose reconsideration on that basis. I would rather have him state where it is than open up the whole thing.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: — my motion was changed to —

DELEGATE PAULSON: Second.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: — to include Section 4.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire, —

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — there is a little bit of confusion there in that when you offered to place your reconsideration on only Section 4 your second withdrew his second.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I see.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And so at the present time if you're only going to reconsider Section 4, then we should have an amendment from the floor to your original amendment.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President, I don't believe that I can vote for reconsidering unless I have some idea what amendment Delegate Longmire would like to make. I was concerned and had some interest in Section 4 previously.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: The amendment that I would make would be very minor. It would be on page 2, line 1, of the green proposal, strike the word "any" and put instead thereof the words "a full-time".

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I move an amendment to the motion that would insert ahead of the words "Redraft Proposal No. 5-12" the words "Section 4 of".

DELEGATE PAULSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson seconds the amendment.

We have an amendment to the motion to reconsider. And it would now read that we reconsider our action whereby we passed Section 4 of 5-12.

Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I think that Senator or Delegate Longmire is misreading the language here. It says, "during the term for which he is elected, no legislator shall be appointed to any office which has been created." The fifteen boards and the Legislative Council that are now in existence have already been created and would not be affected by this language. I don't think the crisis is anything as we might think it might be.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendment to the motion to reconsider.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

Delegate Omdahl, it goes on to read "or for which the compensation has been increased." And that, in fact, seems to me to prohibit every increasing the compensation for any board that a legislator serves on.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the amendment. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

We are back on the motion of Delegate Longmire to reconsider Section 4 of Redraft Proposal 5-12 as amended.

Any further discussion? Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." In that this is a reconsideration of a proposal, we will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Speaking further on the motion, those who have studied the situation and who have studied this proposal the way it reads at the present time say that there is serious doubt in their minds whether or not legislators could serve on these commissions and committees if we leave it the way it is at the present time; and those are Education and Public Employees, Government Operations and Urban Affairs, Higher Education Advisory Committee, Human Resources, Justice and Law Enforcement, Transportation and Commerce, Legislative Council, Legislative Audit and Fiscal Review Committee, Capitol Grounds Planning Commission, Legislative Compensation Commission, Heritage Committee, Law Enforcement Council, Education Commission of the States, Regional Medical Education Board, Education Commission, Multi-State State Tax Compact Advisory Committee, the Governing Board of the Council of State Governments. Because all of these are state commissions on which legislators are serving at the present time. If we do not reconsider it and pass it, we may, in effect, abolish all of those groups as far as legislators are concerned.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

On the basis of the argument and the proposed amendment I would support the move to reconsider.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the motion to reconsider Section 4 of Redraft Proposal 5-12 as amended. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call indicates 84 "ayes," 14 "nays," and all delegates present and voting. So the motion to reconsider Section 4 of Redraft 5-12 has passed.

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

I move a minor amendment to this proposal — yes, Redraft Proposal. And it's at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment, proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-12:

On page 2, line 1, delete the word "any" and insert in lieu thereof the words "a full-time". And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SINNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I think the reason for this is obvious; that all of these agencies are just part-time agencies on which legislators — I think most of them the law provides — that some legislators that — that some legislators serve on them at this time. And this would change this so that legislators could serve on these commissions if we pass it.

I might say, Mr. President, that I do not personally serve on any of these groups at the present time, and do not intend to be serving on any of them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President:

I'm rather confused by this attempt to amend. Delegate Longmire has informed us earlier that if this was not amended that these various boards would be abolished because the legislators couldn't serve on them. But under the present Section 39 of our present Constitution it seems to me in essence to say the same thing. Now am I led to believe that the Legislature is violating the Constitution right now?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Rundle? Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

I would only suggest that if we pass this, then that Style and Drafting had better look at all of Section 4, because I think you don't even have to have the second sentence after it's amended this way.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I'm against this amendment. I don't think there's any problem whatsoever. The jobs have been created previously. They wouldn't be affected if they didn't increase the compensation. And the compensation probably is about right now even if we have a little more inflation. I note that many of these commissions are taking trips to New York, California, many other places. The Council of State Governments has all kinds of trips. And I get all the literature from all these things. And If I were going to weigh it for a year I'm sure it would fill a box three feet high. If this would help hold them down a little, I'd be more in favor of it. I oppose the amendment. And I suspect that the lawyers who objected came from the Council itself.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: In answer to Delegate Lamb's question, I think the answer is rather obvious. It's altogether possible that the Legislature and its members are in violation of the present Constitution. It seems to me that that's all the more reason why we should not perpetuate that incongruity. It's been suggested by some that legislators should not serve in executive roles. And I agree with that completely. However, many of the offices of boards and commissions on which legislators serve are absolutely essential, it seems to me, for the Legislature to take intelligent action on very many of the complex roles and complex issues that face the Legislature. And even though I concur with those who do not want legislative members serving in the executive function, I think that to put the language in that we have in the original draft is to go much, much too far. And I think we have to change it.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Let's be very clear that this new language doesn't alter our situation. We don't need — we don't need the amendment. These offices are not in jeopardy; they are now in existence and will continue to exist. There might be a question as to whether or not an effective raise of five dollars per meeting day or so forth may have to be delayed a couple of years, but I don't think that's a particular crisis. And at this date I believe to have to reconsider and insert words here and there just to take care of somebody's particular fears are unfounded.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

I think Delegate Lander raised a point that if we do amend this section then there should be no need for the second line because the whole thing is covered in the first sentence. Now would Delegate Longmire respond to that?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment to Section 4 of Redraft 5-12 as offered by Delegate Longmire. Any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment then. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "nays" have it.

DELEGATE SINNER: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Amendment lost.

DELEGATE SINNER: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Division has been requested. That is a sufficient number.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

I wonder if we have to suspend the Rules before we make a substantive amendment or has that been done?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: We did that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, I don't think we have to. We reconsidered our action.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: On which we passed —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That it be reconsidered.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: — 5-12.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The reconsideration whereby we passed Section 12 — 5-12. So I think we're — I think we're right. The question right now is that division has been requested. So those in favor will indicate their vote by voting "aye;" and those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 50 "aye" votes, 2 delegates absent and 46 "nay" votes. The amendment has been adopted.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I move that the Rules be suspended, that this Redraft Proposal be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for second reading, I guess it is, is it not?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire moves that the Rules be suspended, that Section 4 of Redraft Proposal 5-12 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and that it be placed on the calendar for passage as amended. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

I want to ask Style and Drafting, I wonder if the sponsors of that Style and Drafting might indicate what the second sentence indicates in reference to the first. One is saying you can't hold any full-time office, then you can't hold any full-time office in which the remuneration has been increased.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Perhaps my motion was made — worded improperly, but I assume that Style and Drafting would be looking at this further anyway as a routine procedure. But if that is not true, then I would want to amend my motion to refer it to them for proper consideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Longmire, I think this will automatically go over to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman and Delegates:

I think that it should be pointed out that prohibition is also against the resigning and acceptance of an office that has been created. Under the first paragraph — under the first sentence a member of the Legislature can resign and accept an office which was in existence and for which he did not vote for a pay raise as a full-time office. In other words, when we get into the new system if the Governor wants one of the members of the Legislature to resign and be appointed to the Board of Higher Education, or something like that, he can do that under Section 4. But the Legislature which creates this new board, none of them will be able to take the new appointive offices that are being created in the executive branch.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

That was a very good explanation. And in the Legislative Functions Committee that was the whole basis of the discussion. And the intent of the — as far as I could ever understand in the Legislative Committee — was precisely that; that the Legislature would not create an office and then pick out one of its members to resign and serve for it. And I think that the language is really very accurate the way it is now.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the passage of Section 4 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-12. Those in favor of its adoption as amended will vote "aye;" and those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 85 "ayes," 11 "nays," 2 delegates absent and not voting. Section 4 of Redraft 5-12 has passed.

Anything under the eighth order?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

Owing to an unforeseen development, the Public Information Committee will not meet as previously announced during the noon hour. But we anticipate meeting at the end of the afternoon session.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: How long does the Chair plan to recess?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: One hour.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: There will be a short meeting of the Calendar Committee about 12:45 or quarter-to-one.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further announcements? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Style and Drafting will meet at about twenty minutes to one. That way you can catch your own lunch down in the lunch room.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further under the eighth order?

Hearing none, we will be in recess until one o'clock.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegates are reminded to return their proofs for the composite picture to the Executive Director's office. Please return all proofs with the pose to be used for the composite marked on the back.

(The Session recessed at 12:06 P.M. until 1:00 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 1:22 P.M., Monday, February 14, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order. The Convention will please come to order.

We will be on the seventh order of business — Reports of Select Committees.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

May we be on the twelfth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the twelfth order. We're on the twelfth order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I move that the Convention be on the fifth order of business for consideration of alternate proposals only; and, further, that they be discussed in their order of priority.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that the Convention be on the seventh — I believe it would be the seventh order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Seventh order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Select Committees.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: I'm sorry.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seventh order of business. Then we continue to serve with the work of that order on the reports of this committee, and that the proposals be considered in the order of their preference.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engelter.

I think you are aware of the motion. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And we will follow that procedure.

The Clerk will read the first report.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to which was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 has had the same under consideration; recommends that it be amended, and when so amended recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Alternate Proposal No. 4-1, that — the question is on the adoption of the report — that the proposal be amended. As many as are in favor of adopting the report will say “aye;” those opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it. And the report is adopted.

We'll be on the sixth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to which was referred Alternate Proposal 4-7, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same do pass.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the motion adopting the Committee Report of the Committee on Constitutional Ballot on Alternate Proposal No. 4-7; that it be given a “do pass”. As many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it. Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 will go on the tenth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to which was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-2, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended and when so amended recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Report on Alternate Proposal 4-2; that it be amended, and when amended that it do pass. Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion to adopt will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it and this will be on the sixth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-8, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be returned without recommendation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Constitutional Ballot; that Alternate Proposal No. 4-8 be accepted without recommendation. Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it, and this will go on the tenth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-9, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be returned without recommendation.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Constitutional Ballot, Alternate Proposal No. 4-9; that it be accepted without recommendation. As many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it, and this will go on the tenth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-4, has had the same under consideration and recommends the same be amended, and when so amended recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Alternate Proposal No. 4-4; that it be amended, and when so amended that it be given a "do pass". As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 will go on the sixth order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-3, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Constitutional Ballot, Alternate Proposal No. 4-3; that it be indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: At this time I would like to move an amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-3, and ask that it be returned to the Ballot Committee. After — I think I better move the amendment first. I'm going to move an amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-3.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet, I think that what you'll have to do is defeat the motion here to indefinitely postpone this proposal as required by — or as recommended by the Committee. Because it has not been our custom to amend a committee report until it gets on the sixth order. So that in order that you can amend this, then you will have to defeat the Committee Report that it be indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I presume — I presume that you could suspend the Rules, something like that, if you can muster strength enough to suspend the Rules and offer an amendment. But we have not followed procedure such as this during this Convention.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. President, I would be willing to do anything I have to. I've been told by some of the members of the committee that this is the procedure they expected me to us, and that it should be and will be returned to the committee and they would come out with the proposal as amended then. This is what I'd like to do if I could figure out how to do it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Hernet, I think that you're — you have two outs, you can either suspend the Rules, and if you can muster strength enough to suspend the Rules you can offer an amendment; otherwise you would have to defeat this and then take it and refer it to the committee and then go up there with your amendment. If you can keep from defeating — if you can keep the Convention from indefinitely postponing this proposal as is recommended, well, then of course you can amend it on the sixth order — tenth order.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Delegate Chase, I'm sure, has the answer to all of this.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: I do not have the answer. I think the Chair has ruled correctly. I think that that's what the delegates will have to do, is move against the indefinite postponement and send it back to committee.

I do wish to speak on this when Delegate Hernet is finished, Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, the Chair is going to rule that any motion to amend without a stipulation that the Rules be suspended is out of order. Because we have not followed procedure which we are attempting to do now.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, would it take two-thirds to —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It takes two-thirds vote to suspend the Rules; 66 votes.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I'm going to urge you to vote it down, sure. I hope this motion —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That takes 50 votes to vote it down.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I hope this motion does not prevail. Because I have an amendment that I think would interest the Convention, and I'd like to be able to discuss it and propose it. So I ask that the motion does not prevail.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President:

May I speak in support of the committee's action? But before I do, I want to call every delegate's attention here to the material on your desk which is the motion that Delegate Hernet is interested in so you can become somewhat familiar with it. It's "Report of Procedural Committee Alternate 4-3" and is labeled "Article V, Executive Branch." And the first paragraph is where all of the amendment is.

But on speaking in favor of indefinitely postponing 4-3, I'd like to call your attention to Article V on the green sheet headed by Proposal 5-13, Section 1, line 23, where it says: "The legislative assembly shall periodically review the principal executive departments and may by law change and prescribe the manner of selection of chief executive officers appointed by the governor under the provision of this article."

And then further on, in Section 6, line 27, and I think you're familiar with this paragraph: "The legislative assembly shall allocate the executive power among not more than fifteen principal state departments . . ."

And if you turn the page you go to where: The governor may, for more effective administration, make changes in the allocation of functions, powers and duties among and within the executive departments, other than those headed by constitutionally elective officials."

And this is the part I wish you to keep in mind. Because this is the very heart of the executive article that provides for reorganization of this department; either by the legislative assembly or by a combination of the executive and legislative effort.

Now a few days ago in explaining these sections it was pointed out to the assembly here that upon periodic review the Legislature may change the manner of selecting appointive officials. And it was the Executive Committee's intent, I believe, that this meant upon the first reorganization, upon the initial organization, those particular offices were named to be elected and the balance were to be appointed. Maybe it would be in two years, maybe five, or someplace down the road. But it could be changed.

Now we have kind of a new development here that I think most of the delegates are aware of. But in case all of you are not, I have a couple of letters I'm going to read just a part of a paragraph of. And one is addressed to The Honorable Helgi Johanneson, Attorney General, dated February 10th. And the last paragraph says:

"I wish to know if both of these proposals —" and what the letter is about is whether or not Style and Drafting made a substantive change on the executive article —" I wish to know if both of these proposals which are supposed to be identical in substance allow the Legislature to take away the Governor's power of appointment granted in the third paragraph —" and here is the important statement —" before he has ever filled such offices by appointment."

Now this was signed by Delegate Hill.

And the next day, February 11th, the letter is answered and signed by Helgi Johanneson. And the last paragraph of that letter is:

"It is the view of this office that there is no difference in the meaning of these two proposals —" again they are talking about Style and Drafting and the original executive proposal —" and that under either proposal the Legislature could take away the Governor's power to appoint even before he makes any appointments."

Now this is very important. And I remember Delegate Sinner had some question on this thing. And as I remember he tried to put an amendment in which was defeated. So this is an entirely new ballgame. It further dilutes the Executive Committee's intention, and all that really remains is a sense of constitutional direction saying to the Legislature, "We think these offices should be elective — appointive, but you do as you darn please." Even before implementing the Constitution in 1976, if that's what the Coordination and Transition Committee decides, you can make them all elective or one or any part of 'em. This is what this letter implies. I'm not going to argue with the Attorney General. I don't especially care for it, but this is apparently what it says can be done.

There is, however, one vital part of the original executive proposal that remains, and that is the capacity to make some changes for more effective administration among those executive officials not constitutionally elected or protected. Now remember, Fellow Delegates, this can only be done among those officers that are not constitutional. This very point is one of the principal objections to Alternate Proposal 4-5.

Now in the light of what all of us have done in making some constructive changes in the judicial and the legislative branch of the government, isn't it reasonable to also strengthen at least somewhat the executive branch on all of the other alternate proposals? The choice is clear and simple. Even in the case of a major change, such as unicameral, the framework of the changes for more efficiency has not been altered. This is good. You can vote for eighteen-year-olds, you can vote for right-to-work, you can vote for unicameral, or whatever you want, but the framework for a good, sound Constitution is not damaged. This is not true, however, in the case of this alternate. It would be next to impossible to put this on the ballot with a complete explanation of the all the implications involved.

Delegates to this Constitutional Convention, we respectfully ask you to go along with what this Convention has previously passed and reject Alternate Proposals 4-3 by voting for indefinite postponement. I know Delegate Hernetz has raised a question. He thinks that he has an amendment that might be more appealing. And I'm not going to speak on that amendment right now, this is another subject. However, I believe that it only means that we'll be doing more talking, more haggling, more discussing and so forth. And we have other alternate proposals that you have voted on in your straw vote that would be more controversial and more likely to be an alternate on the ballot. I do hope you will support the committee's report to indefinitely postpone 4-3.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

I hate to raise the procedural point at this point. But it was my understanding that what we had been working on in the Ballot Committee for about four days now was that you would have the opportunity here to discuss and vote on finally each of our alternate proposals in the order of the preference as expressed by you people here last week. I realize at the moment, which ought to have been apparent before, that in order for us to do that we would have to switch back and forth on orders and suspend Rules very fast. However, I would argue for doing that. Because it seems to me what we are doing now is subverting all of the work that this committee went to. Because right now you're being asked to vote on indefinite postponement of 4-3, which in our minds you should not even have been thinking about until you have had a chance to dispose finally of the five other areas which you had said you thought were more important than that. So if there's any sympathy for what I'm saying here now, I would urge — despite the fact that I hope eventually we will indefinitely postpone 4-3 — since that's before the house I would urge you to at this moment vote down the indefinite postponement and then if it's agreeable with the Chair I would like to move or have somebody move that we go right back up where we started, 4-1, suspend the Rules and begin to discuss and dispose of 4-1 and get that out of the way in respective order before we proceed further. I know that it's a little complicated, but if we are going to resolve what on earth we are going to have and how important they are, I think we must do it in that order and use our Rules to help us rather than to hinder us in that process.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Lander, the Chair does not take the position that this is disagreeable to the Chair or something in that manner. The question here is that we are in the process of adopting committee reports. And I'm not trying to pass the buck. But if it is the wish of your Committee on Constitutional Ballot that we do not consider these indefinite postponements until such time as the Convention has acted on the other proposals, then these should still be in the possession of your committee and not up here on the desk. These have been turned in to the Convention floor for action and we are proceeding on them.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I move that 4-3, 4-5 and 4-6 be returned to committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved —

DELEGATE LAMB: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LAMB: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Lamb. It's been moved that Alternate Proposals No. 4-3, 4-5 and 4-6 be returned to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

Are you aware of the question? Is there any further discussion? As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And these reports will be returned to the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I move that the Rules be suspended and we discuss 4-1 at the top of the tenth order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that the Rules be suspended and that the amendments as presented on the Committee Report be adopted and placed at the top of the order of business for tenth order. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engstrom.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 as amended by the Committee on Constitutional Ballot is before the Convention.

Is this Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 now before the delegates in printed form?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yeah, they have it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: They do have it. Fine. Then the Clerk will read it.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 are as follows: —

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I move we dispense with the reading of 4-1 as it's several pages long. And I think we can probably briefly tell the delegates what the changes are that have been made.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that we dispense with the reading of Alternate Proposal No. 4-1. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE FIEDLER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Fielder. Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion to dispense with the reading will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and we will dispense with the reading.

Now Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Once more, Mr. President, the changes that have been made here to incorporate 4-1 instead of the bicameral wording that we have already voted on in the Constitution have been mainly where it's referred to "both houses", where they refer to "legislative assembly" or where they refer to "each house" or to "the other house" or "in joint session" or "house of origin." All of these have been changed to incorporate the wording for a one-house Legislature.

Now there are a few things that I think should be pointed out. You have the Report of Procedural Committees on 4-1. If you refer to the second page under Article IV, Section 1, this is all new. And this replaces Section 1 that has been adopted and calls for a single chamber composed of a minimum of 99 members and designated as "the legislative assembly of the State of North Dakota".

Under Section 5 on that page, reapportionment, the fifth line it states: "No district shall elect more than four legislators . . ." This is to comply with the changes that we made in reapportionment where we allowed two districts to be combined so that you can elect two Senators and four House members. And so this again allows four legislators to be elected in a district.

On the third page at the very bottom of the page where it ends with the period, "biennium." Previously there was wording to the effect that "neither house may recess nor adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other house." And of course that has been removed.

Now you can flip over several pages because these pages refer to both houses and things like that. On the next to last page under Article XI, impeachment, there had to be some changes made there because the wording under "impeachment" is that the House of Representatives shall have full power of impeachment and the Senate shall have sole power of trial in impeachment. And incorporating into a one-house system we used the wording as shown here in the second sentence under Section 7 which says: "Impeachment may be voted by a majority of the members elected to the legislative assembly, but a vote of two-thirds of the members elected shall be required for conviction."

And on down on that page you see the ballot form: "Shall the proposed constitution contain a provision for a two-house legislature or a one-house legislature? (Mark one only) Two-house legislature (bicameral); one-house legislature (unicameral)."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the explanation of Alternate Proposal No. 4-1. Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Are we on the sixth order now amending, accepting amendments?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are on the tenth order.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Of the final passage of this proposal?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are on the adoption of the Committee amendments, Delegate Longmire. The adoption of the Committee amendments to Alternate Proposal No. 4-1.

Any further discussion?

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Is this the time and the place for discussing whether we wish this on the ballot?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe that that would come later, Delegate Burke. I believe that this is the point where we are adopting the amendments that the committee made to this particular alternate proposal. So the question — Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

I guess I shouldn't worry, but at the top of the page 5, which is a part of the section referring to how this one legislative assembly would act, the first paragraph, if you happen to be comparing what we passed for bicameral with this, you will find that the first wording of that paragraph is almost directly out of the original unicameral suggestion as it came out of committee and has the provision for the public hearing and two considerations. I don't know how important that is to some of you, but in case you were concerned if we had reflected that here, we have done so.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

One other thing that was just called to my attention I forgot about. Under your blue proposal, original proposal, on this they had the Section 2. And Section 2 was taken, out, amended out, by the committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you —

DELEGATE DAWSON: The Section 2 referred to: "At the November election in the year 1984 the question: "Shall the one-house legislature be retained?"

And that is the portion that was — that whole paragraph was amended out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments to Alternate Proposal No. 4-1. Those in favor of adopting the amendments will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: I move that the Rules be suspended and Alternate Proposal 4-1 be placed on the tenth order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb moves the Rules be suspended, that Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and that it be placed on the calendar on the tenth order.

Any discussion? May I have a second?

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Lander.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 is before the Convention on the tenth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Alternate Proposal No. 4-1, submitted by Delegates Benson, Bender, Poulson, Brakke, Bassingthwaite, Aubol, Billey, Lander, Hardmeyer, Hill, Hoghaug, Hougén, Hubrig, Erickson, Fritzell, Geeland, Haugen Decker, Larsen, Thompson, Wallin, Tudor, Simonson, Sinner, Sondreal, Urdahl, Warner, Wicks, Miller, Sullivan, Paulson, Litten, Dawson, Scheel, Roney, Vogel, Maxwell, Sanstead, Rosendahl, Peterson, Chase, Christensen, Binek, Schmit, Engstrom, Dobson, Nicholas, O'Toole, Kelsch, Kessel and Jestrab.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: May I inquire; is it necessary to read this entire alternate if we suspend the Rules?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think you may. Whatever the Convention wishes, they can do.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I do move, Mr. President, that the Rules be suspended and we dispense with the reading of the proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves that the Rules be suspended and we dispense with the reading of Alternate Proposal No. 4-1.

DELEGATE QUAM: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion was seconded by Delegate Quam.

Is there any discussion? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

Even though the reading is suspended, the proposal will be printed in the Journal, is that right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I beg your pardon?

DELEGATE AUBOL: It will be printed in the Journal, however?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendments, but I don't believe that the whole proposal will be.

The question — the question is on the motion to suspend the Rules and dispense with the reading of Alternate Proposal 4-1. As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. And it is not necessary to read the proposal.

The Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 is now before the Convention for discussion.

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. Chairman or Mr. President:

I saw Roy breath a sigh of relief. I kind of wanted it read. There is a lot of — lot of things in here.

Now, the committee was very fair with me on another proposal. And I wonder if they noted that on page 2 of this measure — 1, 2, 3, — line 3 it says: "A measure approved by the electors may not be repealed or amended by the legislative assembly for seven years from its effective date, except by two-thirds vote of the members elected."

Well, this affects the other proposal, initiative and referendum, under this system, if this should happen to be accepted, with no choice. And the alternate proposal that is in on initiative calls for ten years. And I would point out to the members of this assembly that the way it is now it's forever. And now this other proposal cut it down to ten and one — the House passed seven, now this is seven. In other words, it gives you no choice, if this is accepted, under the part of the initiative, which of course takes a two-thirds. And it does give a little advantage to certain people under this system. I wondered if you considered that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any of the members of the committee have an answer for Delegate Rundle?

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Well, the committee had to work on the latest information we had, which was seven years. Now if later on in the game initiative and referendum gets changed to ten, I imagine this section will have to be amended again.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think that this was drafted so that it would correspond to the initiative and referendum as it has now been passed. And I would think that we could work this so that if the initiative and referendum is put on an alternate with the changes that Delegate Rundle has moving it from seven to ten years, that — and that is carried by the voters when they vote, that that can work into an amendment to either the bicameral or unicameral, Section 8. And I think that could be done through schedule. Because I think if the electors do by majority, vote in favor of the alternate that you are suggesting, Delegate Rundle, that should amend these other two, whichever house they pick, two-house or one-house.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Thank you, Delegate Kelsch. That answers my question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Would the Chairman of the Constitutional Ballot Committee yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Try.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Was it the idea of the committee to leave intact the main Constitution we're voting on with the bicameral provisions in that Constitution?

DELEGATE DAWSON: No. The idea of the committee and advice from the Attorney General's office, Secretary of State's office, is that the bicameral would be pulled out of the Constitution, so to speak, and that whichever carried the highest number of votes in the alternate proposal would be the one that would be locked into the Constitution.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, in other words, then we would be voting on about three constitutions at least in considering the length of them, and so forth; we would have the main one that we passed taking out the bicameral, we would have the part of those sections that refer to the bicameral, and then we would have this third one, the part of the sections that apply to the unicameral; is that right?

DELEGATE DAWSON: That was my understanding.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Well, Mr. President, it seems to me here that if we pass this alternate proposal, and certainly I would have no objection to the people deciding which type of legislative assembly they desire, but it seems to me that we are developing here a situation that is so confusing to the people that we could easily lose the whole Constitution in an effort to let the people vote on bicameral and the unicameral legislature. And it seems to me that is a big price to pay to get a vote on this issue at this time when it could be brought at some later date when it would not be so confusing to the whole Constitution. For that reason, I think I will be voting against this proposal of it going on the ballot, mainly because of the practical aspects of it. It seems to me that there are numerous problems that you face when you do it, and you will have a situation so confusing that people will not understand it. And when they don't understand it, we know by past experience they usually vote "no." I would vote against this because I think it would endanger passing the whole Constitution that we hope will be passed and for which we have worked and worked so hard in the past few days of this assembly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I would like to ask Delegate Kelsch a question. You gave the opinion, if I understood it correctly, that in case the alternate on initiative, which provides for this ten-year period, was enacted, which — whichever one of these was enacted would be automatically changed?

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think as a matter of mechanics in setting the Constitution up, if the people select the alternate for ten years, that will have to be as a — as a separate question that will have to override either the bicameral or unicameral one that says seven years. And that could be — if that's stated in the schedule someplace this will be the effect. Then I think — in other words, when people vote specifically on initiative and referendum that should be the overriding vote. I think we can do that mechanically unless someone sees the reason we can't.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I've wondered about this before. I don't think I've had a satisfactory answer. Why is it necessary to change all these sections that contain the reference to two-house — two houses in the legislative assembly? If the unicameral then is decided on or approved by the people, then couldn't all of these be automatically changed so that you wouldn't have to have all of these in this proposal? Just don't seem — it certainly — Mr. President, it certainly clouds the issue to have all of these where the only change is they eliminate the reference to the two houses.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can you answer Delegate Haugen's question?

DELEGATE LANDER: I can try.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

We discussed this in committee because many of us had the same concern which you are expressing. This does get complicated. We were advised — I don't know how legal the advice is — but we were advised that as in other cases attempting to do this by reference is a very bad way to do it. And this is why we chose this route. If you are going to do it, you've got to have the whole of one against the whole of the other. Obviously I'm no lawyer. And if the weight of legal opinion is that we could do it the other way, fine. But at least — at least as presented to us in committee it did not seem possible to do that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

It disturbs me very much, the alternate proposal, Proposal 4-1, or this unicameral-bicameral. And I have the same doubts as Delegate Longmire. I was sent here as a delegate to make a Constitution. I've done that. And as a part of the Constitution I have put in a bicameral Legislature; right or wrong, we put that in there. Now the Ballot Committee comes along and says, "Whoops, wait a minute now. We're going to — we're going to take out what you did and give it to the people." I can't go along with that at all. Now if the ballot proposal says — said: "Shall the unicameral system of Legislature be substituted for the bicameral?" I would have no objection to that. But to undo my work and take it out of the Constitution we have made and say, in effect, "Burke, you made a mistake. We're going to let the people vote on it." I can't go along with that system at all. And I would certainly vote down this proposal as the ballot is proposed. I realize there are technical problems. But as far as I'm concerned you've got to solve them before I go along with this on the ballot.

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President:

In regard to Delegate Burke's question, the confusing thing — and Delegate Longmire also — the confusing thing may be to the voters if this is on the ballot and that bicameral is in the Constitution, that they may vote for the Constitution, turn around and vote for unicameral, and the unicameral may win but not have as many votes as was cast to pass the Constitution. And as a result bicameralism would then be the method that we would use for our legislative process. So to un-confuse the voters you have to take this out so that they both have equal positions on the ballot.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I'd like to yield my time to Delegate Longmire.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, I just wanted to clarify a point of procedure necessary. I'd like to make this inquiry; is it not true that we have already passed the bicameral system in the main body of our proposals that we have finished?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Then would it not be necessary for us to reconsider our action if we brought this — these amendments to pull the bicameral system out of the main body of the Constitution that we've already passed?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are you asking me?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: In my opinion it would be necessary to reconsider our action in order to take the bicameral section out of the Constitution as we have it here.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. Chairman.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

I would ask for the Chair to respectfully reconsider that ruling on Longmire's question. I think that what we did when we passed any proposal is simply say, "We submit this to the people of North Dakota." And what we chose — when voted here 60-some to 30-some to choose the bicameral system of Legislature we were simply stating our preference as to the bicameral over the unicameral. I don't think it's fair to imply by that vote that we also said, "We will not give the people of this state the right to speak on the one-house." And we're not passing laws, ladies and gentlemen. This is not the final action. The people of this state must vote on these questions. And all we said when we passed bicameral was, "We want the people of the State of North Dakota to see this should be our bicameral Legislature." I see nothing — no need to reconsider that action to allow us now to say to the people, "We also see some merit in the unicameral system, and there's divided feeling among the delegates." I could be for bicameral but still say I want the people to speak on the subject. So all we're asking is we submit at the same time to the people both the unicameral and the bicameral legislative system. I think we cannot put it in the main document because then you do confuse the voters. What if you'd say a hundred thousand voters voted, seventy thousand voted for the Constitution with bicameral in it, then sixty thousand voted in favor of unicameral on a separate question? Which one carried? They don't get a clear choice. The only way you can give a voter a clear choice is by putting it as Illinois did, I think wisely so, put it out as a separate issue. We're not — what's so sacred about a body? We are submitting this to the people for their vote. There is no document that's been written. We're saying, "These things we give you the choice on." I don't think we should have to reconsider. I think a majority — if the majority doesn't want it, fine. Unicameral doesn't go in. I think the majority of this Convention, as you can see by the number that introduced this proposal, a majority wanted this on as a separate question. I don't think we should allow it to be reconsidered. The majority wants it on, votes come out, vote "yes" or "no", pick the one that you like, that's the way it should be submitted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Kelsch — and I'm not going to argue a point with a group of delegates at this Convention — but I am going to say that we did pass a proposal, and do have it in this document as it is today. And there is no way you are going to take it out of here without moving to reconsider our action and taking it out.

Now you can also appeal the decision of the Chair. But while I'm presiding that's what you are going to do. This is actually what this Convention has done. And just simply adopting an alternate doesn't take the other one out of the Constitution. Unless — unless I have misread this, there isn't anything in this particular proposal that says that we are reconsidering our action we've already taken.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President:

The committee's report — if I may speak again — doesn't call for us rejecting what we have already done. It confirms that. It goes only to the matter of presenting it to the people; method of presenting it. We're not changing any language or style of the article.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The fact remains that this Convention has adopted the section in here that provides for a bicameral Legislature. And until such time as we get that out, it's going to have to stay there.

Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: It really comes down to this, as the Attorney General told us — we had this same problem before us quite a number of days and we were skidding all over the place. Finally we were told the only way you can resolve this is to say the Secretary of State will have the final say-so on how this should be done. The Secretary of State appeared with the Assistant Attorney General, Mr. Sand, and he said, "Whatever this man tells you, this is what I'm going to follow." So this man told us that, "If you want an alternate on, you're going to have to take them out and place them separately. Because they could not possibly vote one way and approve the bicameral and then turn around and approve the unicameral with less votes. You're defeating your purpose. It can't be done." So we abided by this ruling, and now the delegates are going to have either to abide by it or else kick out about nine of these alternate proposals so we get our Constitution before the people. And this is about the sum and substance of it. If we want these alternate proposals, they are going to have to go on as fair a footing one way as the other. Otherwise we will just have to leave it as the delegates have spoken in the main Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel, the Chair is not arguing the point of whether there should be alternate proposals or not. The Chair is only stating that in my opinion that you are going to have to reconsider this document, this section — this section of this document in order to get it out of there. It's perfectly fine with me to have the people vote on it. But the question that still remains is in this document as you have now.

Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. President:

If we go and adopt this unicameral proposal which has been presented to us that would have to be done on the part of this Convention. Then when this is presented to the people I don't find that it would be very confusing. What we are saying is this: — for some of you who have your Illinois proposal there it might help to look at it — it says there in the legislative articles, Section 1, it provides for the election of representatives to the general assembly of multi-member districts in the cumulative district. Section 1, subsections a and b, Section 2, part 4 contained in the document shall be placed in the constitution. Then it goes on the next paragraph and says something very much the same way. It seems to me that we would have to handle this the same way. We vote on the basis of the Constitution and then we have two propositions that we have. And we are going to ask the voters to make their choice. Do we split this section in or do we split in this section?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Benson, I agree, except that we have already plugged one section into the Constitution.

Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: May I yield to Delegate Burke?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

On several occasions I've disagreed with the Attorney General. And this is one on which I disagree. Much has been made of the fact that there would be confusion if we vote for the Constitution. And then if we vote, as I suggest, to plug in the unicameral with a lower vote, what would it mean? But there is a simple cure to this by putting this as a constitutional amendment. And if unicameral is run as a constitutional amendment, then there is no problem at all whether the vote is half that of the original Constitution or not.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President and Delegates:

I think that we're getting off the track. The form of the ballot is going to be with us until the end of this session. We are here to determine whether the unicameral system should be offered as an alternate. If we approve this proposal that is before us, then it has gone by tenth reading. It hasn't changed the ballot or hasn't changed the status of the bicameral system. If tomorrow we are still convinced that the unicameral and the bicameral system should be offered side by side as alternates proposed by the Ballot Committee, it takes a simple majority to reconsider and take that action. You can't do it with a two-thirds, it's quite apparent. But I warn you that we're talking alternates simply to get the people involved and interested in approving this Constitution. If we start going on alternates on technicalities, we might just as well close up shop now and go home. Let us consider why we are considering alternates. We want approval of the document.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

Are you ruling from the Chair that we have properly before us on tenth order the question of adoption of Alternate Proposal 4-1? Is that the question before us?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, that's before the Convention. This other is all — this is all side —

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: No one is talking about the merits of the bicameral and unicameral, so I think I'll start the ball rolling, since I'm the Chairman of the committee that's been struggling with this for about six months. I must say, when we started as a committee, I didn't care too much about either unicameral or bicameral. I didn't think the unicameral situation would ever get off the ground, but I was wrong. Delegate Sinner and Delegate Omdahl did their work well. And as the committee kept meeting it became very apparent that the work was being done pro unicameral, and with the bicameral there was nothing being done. In other words, the people that supported the bicameral were not giving the merits of the bicameral. And I think it is very important that this be done.

Now the criticism that I have heard in this debate and in committee of the bicameral system has not been the fact that we have two chambers, but it's been personalities within the bicameral system, it's been procedures, it's been constitutional revisions. And so let's face it, ladies and gentlemen, this is a very major decision we're making here right now. And someone says, "Let the people vote on it." Now I say that the people out there want to continue the bicameral system because it has worked. Only the restrictions in the Constitution have been a hindrance. And some of the procedures. Now we have taken care of a lot of these restrictions in our recommendations to the people. We are going to be voting on these. Now there are two farm organizations firmly on record supporting the bicameral system. The GNDA polled; I think sixty percent of the people, these are businessmen, support the bicameral system. And I think if you were to take a poll, a statewide poll, you'd find that the people want to keep representative government as two houses; and deliberations, checks and balances, and all the other arguments, as I suppose there will be a dozen. Somebody mentioned here 53 delegates signed to put the unicameral on the ballot. That is not true. 53 delegates put their name on a proposal to have it considered, not voted on, to consider it by this body.

Now had they come to me and wouldn't have had 20 names, I'd have signed it to get it on for consideration. Now so those 53 people that signed that to bring it out here before this chamber are not necessarily voting to put the two on the ballot. Now certainly if we put two big documents here that we have here as side issues, we are talking about confusing, man alive, we're really going to confuse them. And there are portions in this unicameral thing that I could never even attempt to put out to people. Now it only requires two days here for final passage, and the bicameral system requires four days. And there must be other things in there. And I'm sure that it's safe to say that probably a third of the delegates wouldn't understand what's in this and what's in the bicameral, really understand it. And we've been working with it. Now how do we expect the people, when they come to the polls, to understand it? So there are so many issues that people can make decisions on besides having this as an alternate. I think we're just going to hurt the chance of the Constitution, we're going to hurt the chances of the people really having a body or a method by which to govern themselves, and that's the legislative body. I hope that the delegates refuse to use this as a side issue. We have other side issues that are very important.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President:

The question has been raised here, and the statement has been made, that if we cannot pass this Constitution as is that we need these side issues and side proposals. I wonder what facts can be established to prove such a statement. I might as well make the statement then that with side issues of any type, such as we have proposed to us in this list before us today, that this is going to be the cause for the lack of interest on the part of the people and also that they, in turn, will vote it down because of the side issues. Why can't we say that just as much as side issues bringing us success in adoption; why don't we then evaluate this thing mentally and properly within our own minds and say that if we have done our job well, if we have created a document here than I can go out and sell and you can go out and sell, we'll sell this document for its merits and not because of its side issues.

And another thing that we have done is to provide for referrals and initiatives, and the Legislature can set up provisions for amendments. There's no crime to amending a constitution once it's adopted. Let's get the Constitution adopted and then talk about these types of things. I think this body should stand solidly behind the idea of not having any side proposals of any kind whatsoever, any of the nine, and throw them all out and let's adopt the Constitution and ask the people to adopt what we believe in.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I think that when all of us as delegates started considering whether or not we should have alternate proposals, we probably all had different reasons in our mind as to why we are — why we should or should not. It was my feeling that we need alternate proposals; one reason being that we have taken some very definite steps in our document and we should stand behind it. But we should offer the people of this state an opportunity to make a choice of some of those, not as a whole package. Because if you're looking for the proof, you can look at Illinois' Constitutional Convention; when the body of their constitution passed but their alternates failed. And I assume that that was one of the reasons in the minds of some of the delegates as to why the alternates were put on. Others felt, like I do, on initiative — unicameral-bicameral, that this was an exciting issue; it was exciting not only in committee but for the people of North Dakota. I have heard more discussion and more comments on unicameral-bicameral than I have on any single issue that this Convention has dealt with. So these are the reasons I think that we should be considering as far as alternates are concerned.

The Legislative Functions Committee in November voted nineteen-to-one to recommend to this chamber that unicameral-bicameral be put on as an alternate. Fifty-three people signed an alternate proposal petition. Most of them voted for the same reason; that they felt the same excitement, felt that the people would eager to go to the polls and to make a choice. So I don't know what the mechanics are. Maybe we have a mechanical problem here, but I only hope the honest belief that most of us delegates had that unicameral-bicameral be an alternate issue did not go by the wayside purely because of mechanics. We can still get the job done here.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

Some of you who voted for and believe in the bicameral system were really good guys when you signed the proposal to allow the unicameral proposition to come to the floor for consideration as an alternate. But let me remind you if you now vote to allow this to be placed on the ballot as an alternate, the unicameralists are going to take off their kid gloves and put on their boxing gloves and are going to do everything they can to beat the bi-cameral system and you. The unicameral proposals throw our whole governmental process out of whack. We strengthen the executive and legislative; the unicameral proposal threatens to take away one-third of the representatives of the people. I don't think we really meant to do that here. There are many reasons why the unicameral should not be an alternate on the ballot. One of most importance is this: On January 14th the bicameral was voted on by 61 — voted for by 61 of the delegates here, 35 voted for the unicameral system. Then the whole bicameral proposal passed 68 "aye;" 27 "nay." That's pretty decisive. It doesn't even make good sense for those of us who voted for and believe in the bi-cameral system to agree to place the bicameral government in jeopardy by placing unicameral on the ballot as an alternate. Why would we extend an invitation to anyone to work to eliminate one-third of our representatives? I don't think many in our districts would commend us for it.

Don't forget, in a few days we leave here and we are going to go back to our districts. Our responsibility is not to each other, but to the people of North Dakota. We have a record to stand on here. We will have a lot of questions when we get home. If you believe in the bicameral system and are thinking of putting unicameral on as an alternate, you better be prepared to go home to organize, to spend a lot of time, make a lot of money working for the bicameral system, because the unicameral people are already doing it.

But then again, if you are from a small district the unicameralist may not even bother with you, they may not go to your district. They could ignore you and concentrate their efforts in the large cities where the votes are. And don't forget, two delegates here, one from Fargo and one from Minot who voted unicameral and who are associated with two of the state's largest newspapers are unicameralists. I would not reasonably expect that their editorials would support bicameralism.

You've heard this issue will stir up voter interest, get out the vote. And believe me, that's just what it is doing. It's true. It's already stirred up plenty of interest. Some people are coming here Saturday just for that reason. Lost my place. Anyway, it's going to stir up plenty of interest and that would encourage more "no" votes than "yes" votes. By allowing unicameral on the ballot as an alternate, after the large bicameral vote that we had here, would really give the people of North Dakota reason to wonder about our common sense.

I think nothing could endanger the proposed Constitution as much as a bitter, decisive battle among the delegates after we leave here. And the bicameral-unicameral issue can generate just such a situation. It already has. Our energies shouldn't be spent fighting each other. Our responsibility is to the people of North Dakota. Our responsibility is to assure them that we will not jeopardize the form of government we now have.

I shall handle my responsibility by voting "no" on placing unicameral on the ballot as an alternate. I urge you to do the same. Use your responsibility and defeat this alternate.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow Delegates, there seems to be a question about my ruling a little bit ago when Delegate Longmire asked about my ruling on the bicameral proposal that has been passed and is in the present draft of our Constitution. I ruled that in order to take it out of here and put it side by side with the unicameral proposal and not give it an advantage — I didn't use that term — if they are going to be side by side we are going to have to reconsider our action whereby we placed it in this document. Because we can't have both of them in that document. And this one is already in there; the bicameral system is in here. My ruling was made at a request from Delegate Longmire. And it really should have nothing to do with the debate that's on the floor at the present time. That is another question that will have to be decided by the Convention. I only make these remarks because our secretary up here had one opinion on what I stated and — but if I did state it that way so that you got the wrong impression, I think that this is, as near as I can say, what I intended to say. Because in my opinion, again, what we have put in this document, the only way we can take it out of there is by a motion to reconsider. I hope that straightens it out if anyone was confused.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President:

I would like to say that I wholeheartedly concur with that. Some delegates may remember when I raised the question when we were talking about eminent domain that you couldn't take a man's property away and guarantee his right of possession at the same time. I'm reminded of that argument now.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

The question before us seems to me to be really one of whether or not we want to give the people a chance to decide between two good systems. I have believed in the one house system ever since I was in the Senate in 1963 through '65. I have believed that the same organizational structure that men use everywhere else could work in these halls. And my beliefs have been confirmed these last thirty days.

The beginnings of the effort to arouse interest among the people in this concept were poor, indeed, and the amount of money that's been expended can be counted in about $150. But there have been people all around the state who have responded to the idea that a one-house system could work better. I would be the last to suggest that this Convention should present to these people only the one-house system. I think it would be tragic and folly. Because I think that the danger would be greater that people would not be willing to buy the idea. And yet I think it would be also sad to not recognize what students of state government have been saying for years — and they have said it over and over again — that the states should consider the one-house system and try it. My beliefs were reassured last Saturday when Stanley Holmquist, the long, long veteran, the leader of the Minnesota House of Representatives —

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Senator.

DELEGATE SINNER: — said that he was resigning to work for legislative reform; chiefly the adoption of the one-house system. To those who say, and it's been said, that this was a frivolous idea, I say is Stanley Holmquist's idea frivolous? Is Jess Unruh, a long-time member of the California Legislature, is his opinion frivolous? I admit that it's new to people of North Dakota. I only ask that the people be given a chance to look at this new idea and to vote on it, that's all.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I think we're making a tremendous mistake by trying to talk about the advantages and disadvantages of unicameral and bicameral. We aren't here to do that right now. The only thing we're going to consider is what alternate proposals are we going to have? And I think our Convention has spoken strongly that we are going to give the people an opportunity to voice their opinion on the bicameral versus unicameral. When we had our poll taken just last Friday, I think that it was at the top of the list as one of these things that should be considered as a side issue.

Now I signed every alternate proposal that was given to me. Not that I agreed with all of them, but I felt that I wanted to give these people a chance to put forth their views. Quite frankly, I disagree very violently with at least four of the alternate proposals. But I think it is tremendously important that we give the people an opportunity to make up their mind on some of these issues. And I think that the people are tremendously interested in the unicameral system. And if we try to say that we aren't going to have this as a set aside issue, I think we've lost the cause right now.

We have passed a Constitution that is complete. And I'm very much interested in the idea that was brought forth by Delegate Burke. And I addressed this question to the Alternate Proposal Committee: Can we not have this complete document that we have passed now on the ballot and immediately following the ballot can we not, and with this now established, go to the Attorney General and the Secretary of State and say shall we amend our approved Constitution by a unicameral system, perhaps, a change in the referendum-initiative, or maybe even the right-to-work. I think this is the system that we should follow and I would direct this question to Delegate Dawson. Have we tried this yet? Could we not pass the entire Constitution, ask this of the Attorney General, and then say — to get around the question that has been raised — can we amend or shall we amend this Constitution with the following changes? I think if we would bring out a strong vote for the Constitution as a whole, and secondly, we would be giving the people an opportunity to speak on some of these issues that I think are very volatile. This is a question directed to Delegate Dawson.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

As we stated, we had people from both the Attorney General's office and the Secretary of State's office in. And the form that we adopted is the form that they suggested. However, I think if this body has the authority to propose some other type of ballot forms, such as, "Shall a one-house legislature be substituted for the two-house legislature as proposed in the Constitution?", and further state, "A majority of 'yes' votes shall adopt the one-house legislature," maybe that's what we're thinking about if we want this to go through.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and Members:

As I envision this the whole official ballot will present both of these proposals in full, but there will be a separate ballot sheet which the people take into the polls with them to do their voting on. If you'll look at the next to the last page towards the bottom, the only thing on the ballot the people will be discussing — the actual ballot that they take to the polls with them to vote on, is: "Shall the proposed Constitution contain a provision for a two-house legislature or a one-house legislature? (Mark one)" And then the committee will follow the same procedure in all cases. A two-house Legislature which received a majority vote from this house is listed first and then the one-house Legislature, unicameral is second. The full text will be in the ballot that will be posted at the polling places. But it won't all be a great big long ballot listing all those things there. I think that should help clear the air a little.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

If you'd like to look at page 181 in the Journal you will find that I supported the bicameral system because I believed in it. But somehow or other I also have a feeling that the people of North Dakota should be given an opportunity to speak. I was wrong once before in my life, and this would give them an opportunity to rack up the second score and show that perhaps I was on the wrong side.

I think that we would be remiss if we didn't allow this to go to the people. And, frankly, I welcome the opportunity that will be given those supporters of the unicameral system to come forward with or without their boxing gloves, as well as the supporters of the bicameral system.

Prior to this Plenary Session I had the privilege of attending some meetings with the other delegate from my district who has been — who it has been alleged that he supports the unicameral system. I hope in the ensuing months I shall continue to have that privilege. I think that we can sensibly present the unicameral-bicameral issue to the people. I know that the other delegates are not very emotional — I don't know about myself — but I think that the opportunity of alternates is vital to the success of the Constitution. But, more importantly, there is a certain dignity about being able to go to the polls and having a choice. And this is the choice that the people of North Dakota should have and I, for one, would be surprised if the people who support the unicameral system prevailed. But certainly I would not hang my head in shame for having tried. But I will hang my head in shame if we don't give them the opportunity.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I sit here almost with a sick stomach to think that we ever worked this long and hard, and we have voted on issues "yes" and "no," and a majority of the delegates' will has been carried out and now by the means of an alternate proposal we mean to substitute that losing cause and put it on equal footing with the winning cause. I think 98 delegates have come down here and have been very dedicated, have worked very diligently, to do this one thing; they've adopted a new Constitution. Not a half, not a fourth, but a new Constitution. And if we want to give these people an alternate proposal, I am all for it. But I am not about to undo that which we have done in order to satisfy the alternate provisions.

I signed this proposal, and I will have to vote against it at this time. I would have to vote against it because it undoes the wish of the majority. I don't think we have to go home and apologize to anyone for what we have done. And if we are going to have to go home and sell this Constitution merely on the alternate proposal, or if we think that this is some device that we're going to give the eighteen-year-old or the labor people or somebody else to come in on a side issue and vote for it, then what are we — what have we adopted all of this thing for? Send the thing home or send it in the waste basket right now. There is no use wasting any more taxpayers' money to call for an election to vote on half the Constitution or to vote on something that they absolutely are not going to understand. If we cannot somehow put an alternate proposal that serves as a substitute for something in the main body, then it is no longer an alternate proposal. It only says that we have wasted all this time and could not make our minds up. I strongly urge you to defeat the alternate proposal to put both these issues as an alternate proposal and take them out of the main body.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President:

Can I speak again? I can't get anyone back here to give me their time.

Mr. President, just a couple of comments just for the record. Delegate McIntyre mentioned that there was a lot of citizen activity and citizen support for the unicameral. Why shouldn't there be? There's been a committee working very actively for six months. Now if we'd had committees working in these other areas there would be much support for that, too. And I disagree with Delegate Hoghaug that the document will not be on the ballot. People will have to understand they can't just vote for a unicameral or a bicameral, they'll have to know what is in it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Well, this has been discussed very fully in the committee. And I think even though I disagree at this point with Delegate Roney, because some of these things were presented by the Illinois Convention this same way and they worked for about nine months, so I don't think you could use these same arguments. But it seems to hinge on whether or not — and I haven't been at all these committee meetings — but it seems to hinge on whether or not the opinion of the Attorney General is valid on this thing. And I think this was the basis the committee used in setting these things up as to how they should be handled. And I think that's the real — real crux of the matter. And in terms of an alternate, whether or not we should have this, the Convention has already said that this is number one on their list of alternates. And so really that boils the question down to whether we should have any alternates or have no alternates if this one is defeated, I think.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peters.

DELEGATE PETERS: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I've been listening to the arguments pro and con here. And it's rather amusing sometimes how the different delegates will change their arguments. We've been told that we've been down — we're down here to do a job, and that we should get it done. We're supposed to do it. Now these same delegates are telling us to make it an alternate and let the people decide.

Another thing that comes to my mind, too, is are we coming to the point in this country where a minority is going to rule us all the time? If we have a majority group and they win something, if we have a minority that's aggressive, they seem to be able to have their way. And that is a sad state of affairs.

I think that when we make a decision like we did when we voted on the bicameral here, voted two-to-one, that we should have the intestinal fortitude to stick by a decision like that.

I wonder what the people of North Dakota would be thinking today, if this was being televised, and all the confusion that we are having here. If we delegates are going to be so confused, why certainly the people out in the state are going to be confused, too. And they are going to vote "no" on this. But I think we should spare them that and vote this thing down and get on with our work.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President:

I don't care to get into the merits of bicameral and unicameral because simply I think we are talking about whether people are intelligent enough to make a decision on the part of the Constitution, since we have already concluded that they are smart enough to vote on the whole Constitution. But the question of alternates has been brought up, and I think we should be cognizant of the fact that new constitutions were defeated in Rhode Island, New Mexico, New York and Maryland in which cases they did not have any alternates available. Whereas Illinois, Pennsylvania and Hawaii have had optional choices for the people to make, and there they were very successful in their revisions.

And I think that it's a matter of whether or not the people are wise enough to make a decision by themselves. If Delegate Hoffner is so convinced that a large, vast majority of the people are in favor of the bicameral system, then he should have no fears about letting the people make a decision. And I have said on an occasion before that we hear all the talk in this Convention about "Let the people decide this and let the people decide that. And I noted, too, as Delegate Peters has, in that we all kind of switch sides depending upon what the issues happen to be to satisfy our own attitudes. It seems to me that all through this process that we have — there's been publicity out, the people are expecting an opportunity to vote on these measures, and I think that this last-minute attempt to throw up technicalities is only an attempt on the part of those who would like to prevent the people from having this option. I think that they would be more suspicious about the intelligence of this Convention if at this late date we decided, "No, you're not wise enough to vote on this measure. We are not going to let you take a crack at it."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

We've been dealing in pure conjecture for at least an hour here trying to make up our minds. Some are saying, "People will vote against it if you do this," and others say, "They will vote against it if you do that." For heaven's sakes, nobody knows what the people are going to vote against or for just by sitting here arguing about it. The big issue, as I see it here, is that we, when we were sent down here to make some decisions on this thing, have made some drastic changes. Now whether or not the people will buy them, we won't know this until we find out the results of the voting. But we have made some drastic changes — we think they are good. The majority of those voted on every issue that appears in the new Constitution, so the majority of them think they are good. But we're all victims of habit. Something that we may have had for 82 years doesn't necessarily mean that it's good or that it's bad. It means that we've been doing it and that we're victims of habit. Now when it comes time to change, maybe if properly explained some things that haven't been good can be sold. I'm not arguing the merits or the demerits of the bicameral-unicameral. That's not the issue as I see it here now. What we are considering is that we are asking the people of North Dakota to buy a document that is different; there have been changes made. Some of them have some pretty strong hangups as to what is good and what is not good. And it would seem to me that we are taking a chance, a great chance of jeopardizing the entire document, if we are going to go out and cram it down their throat and say, "What we've gone and done is good, now take it or leave it." Now we may think this, but are we going to be able to sell it? That's the whole point. The only reason for having side issues is that they may have a choice on some controversial issues. It's as simple as that. And I see nothing wrong with people having a choice to make. I have every confidence in their intelligence, and I would be honored to have a part in giving them a choice.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President:

I, too, would like the people to have a choice. At the hearing, the public hearings that I attended in September, that was one of the main questions asked. And it was asked by many people. And when I read about the public hearings in other areas it seemed, too, that the people were concerned that they would have some choices. I hope that they will be able to have some choices on the ballot.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

I am a little different than Delegate Poulson. I have never been wrong, but I haven't always been right. I'm very much bicameral, but I feel that there should be a choice on the ballot. And I think that we've lost sight of what we're talking about here. If you're against this proposal, well, vote it down. But if you feel that we should have an alternate on the ballot, let's pass it. And by the discussion and the ruling of the Chair, the Style and Drafting Committee will know that they have to change the ballot, they'll change it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, in 1967 the State of Maryland proposed a new state constitution which was widely regarded as a model. It was submitted all in one package. And it was defeated. Soundly. The reason it was defeated was because there was a minority against this provision, a minority against that provision, and so on. And pretty soon these minorities added up into a majority of "no" votes. So that's why Illinois took the other route in using alternates. And they used them — two of the key ones in an either/or fashion rather than a "yes" or "no" vote. And it is better than using either/or, either two-house or one-house. Because then you don't get a "yes" vote or a "no" vote piggy-backing on the "yes" or the "no" vote on the main body.

So it seems to me, Mr. President, that if we don't adopt this alternate we might as well kill all of the alternates and go home and start praying. Because that's the only thing that's going to stop the minorities from defeating the new Constitution.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

There's an amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-1:

In Section 6 of the amendment delete everything after the words "as follows:" and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Shall a one-house legislature (unicameral) be substituted for a two-house legislature (bicameral) as proposed in the Constitution? A majority of 'yes' votes shall adopt a one-house legislature. Yes. No."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have an amendment before the Convention. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Aubol.

Are there any questions? Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Will Delegate Dawson yield to a question?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Yes.

DELEGATE KESSEL: As the Chairman of our committee, when you were told that this could not be a legal question, and now it would be voted in by the delegates, where would we stand when we know and everybody has been told that this is not legal, that it would give an unfair advantage to one or the other? And I ask this question not as a proponent of one or another, I couldn't care less which one goes in. But we've got to establish a precedent not only for this, but for other questions. What would be the status of this if this delegation now went for this amendment and we already know it's not legal? And where would we stand?

DELEGATE DAWSON: I think that the line on this that says, "A majority of 'yes' votes shall adopt a one-house legislature," would cover it. In other words, even though there were fewer "yes" votes on that than there were on the main Constitution, the sentence says that a majority of "yes" votes would establish the one-house system.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Would we not have to have a legal opinion on this from Mr. Sand? My thought and theory is if we approve this and then he holds it not legal, and the Secretary of State would not go along with this, and we're gone, what would then happen?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Well, I think we can get that opinion if this thing is approved and we vote in favor of adopting the entire alternate proposal. I think we can get that opinion in a very few minutes.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Thank you.

DELEGATE DAWSON: If we're wrong, we'll have to come back on the floor with it. I think this just seems to be the hang-up. We weren't discussing whether we were for or against the adoption of this alternate proposal, we've been talking practically entirely on the ballot form. And I hope that this will clarify the ballot form so we can get on with the main motion.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson, I believe that you intended to add in this amendment that this be a "two-house legislature"?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It says "two-hour" on my document. Be a wonderful thing if we could adopt it. (Laughter)

Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: We have been talking about who has made mistakes and when we have been wrong. And I'm a little different than Delegate Thompson. I was wrong once and I thought I had made a mistake, but then I discovered that I hadn't. But the point that confuses me now is — and I'd like a ten-minute recess for someone to answer it — why are we at this point now? Why was Delegate Dawson appointed Chairman of an Alternate Proposal Committee if we are all of a sudden now against having alternate proposals? Why are we at the point we are at now? Who appointed that committee? Who decided there would be an alternate committee? I thought it was a vote of this body that we would have alternate proposals, and all of a sudden they seem to be aggrieved with sin. Can anyone clear this up for me?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson, unless someone else wishes to comment — Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President:

I'd like to answer that. There are some people here who probably feel there shouldn't be any alternates, there are some people who feel there should be, but there are some people who feel that this should not be one of them. It's as simple as that.

I have a question for Delegate Dawson, if he would yield.

Would your amendment encourage those supporters of the unicameral to vote just for the side issue and not for the main document? So that the plurality will be there — gamble that the main document will still pass?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: If they do not vote in favor of the main document, all of the side issues will go down anyway. So it would still encourage both sides to vote in favor of the main document.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. Chairman:

Is there any possibility of having a recess before we vote on this? Here again, I am one of the people on this committee. I think we're trying to do something that some people would like to do. As far as I can see, we just can't do it. And we might as well wake up to the reality. It's a very nice deal, but it ain't going to work. So we're going to have to decide if we want an alternate anyway, which is unpleasant to some people, or not have an alternate at all. Unless the Attorney General's staff is going to change their opinion from Friday to Monday, I don't know — I realize they are not God, but for the moment who is better at playing God?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander. Delegate Lander, you asked about a recess. A motion for a recess is always in order.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: I so move.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: If you will note, I asked you to please note I haven't said "boo" on this subject. I move for a recess, the time to be set by the Chair and not subject to amendment.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that we do have a ten-minute recess and it's been seconded by Delegate Simonson. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and we will have a ten-minute recess. But be back in ten minutes.

(The Session recessed at 3:01 P.M. until 3:17 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order? Will the Convention come to order? Will the Convention come to order?

We'll be on the eighth order of business. The Chair will recognize the Sergeant-at-Arms.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS CRANDELL: Mr. President:

Will you please ask your Chief Clerk to rise?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Chief Clerk please stand?

THE PLENARY SESSION STAFF: (Sung in unison.)

"Let us call you Sweetheart

You're a guy — 'true blue'.

It's been such a pleasure

Working here for you.

Amendments with our 'Elmers'

Every day we do.

Now the end is coming.

And we'll all miss you!"

(Applause)

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS CRANDELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Sergeant-at-Arms.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS CRANDELL: I also have another one here from some more of his admirers across the hall, the committee clerks.

"To our Valentine Roy:

"Morning, noon and night we've tried to attrite.

"We've amended, inserted, re-worded, deleted and left here so completely depleted.

"But when things were really bad, there were questions that we had,

"Would he holler? Would he jest? His reply:
'You can do it. You're the best.'

"For your patience, contrites and ours, we thank you, Roy, for your lovely flowers."

(Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: When we recessed we had an amendment before the Convention as offered by Delegate Dawson. The amendment was seconded by Delegate Aubol.

Now do we have any further discussion on the amendment?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Read it once more.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Read the amendment.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I request that this question be divided so that the 4-1 — is that it — body of 4-1 and Section 6 are separated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson, I believe that the amendment — that your request does not affect the amendment, does it?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Well, then I want to move to delay action on Section 6 until some later date.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do you wish to delay action for further consideration of this entire section to a time certain?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President and Delegates:

I think that we're getting ourselves all tied up in the wrong question at the wrong time. I think, first of all, we should determine whether we're going to have some alternates. And when we determine whether we are having two, three, four, five alternates, that is the time to determine how they should go on the ballot. So I would like to set aside any discussion of ballot form at this time until we have gone through the various alternate proposals and accepted the body and then examine the legalities and illegalities and what is actually necessary to get the question before the people. We are talking two different things here, and I think first of all we have to determine whether we want the alternates on the ballot and then after we determine which ones we want determine how we can get them on so the people will understand them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then, Delegate Paulson, you're going to move that we give no further consideration to Section 6 of Article XI of the Report of the Procedural Committee relative to Proposal No. 4-1?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Until all of the other basic alternates have been considered and acted on.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I'd like to speak against Delegate Paulson's motion. I think the decision here should be made first in Section 6. Because how this is presented is going to make a lot of difference on how the delegates vote. And I think this is true with all the alternate proposals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to Delegate Paulson's motion?

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: If Delegate Paulson would just fix a date sometime after the first of March I'd second it.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question. It has been moved by Delegate Paulson we delay Section 6 of Article XI of Alternate Proposal 4-1 or — 4-1 until such time as we have arrived at the number of proposals we are going to have. I believe that was all. That is almost per resolution. And the motion was seconded by Delegate Rundle.

Any further discussion on the question? The question is — those in favor of Delegate Paulson's motion will say "aye" and those opposed will say "nay." Those in favor of Delegate Paulson's motion will say "aye," those opposed will say "nay." The "nays" have it.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Division has been requested. That is a sufficient number.

Again, those in favor of Delegate Paulson's motion will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, and you will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Delegate Scheel? Has Delegate Scheel voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The vote indicates 46 "ayes," 47 "nays," five delegates absent and not voting. The motion lost.

Now we are back on the motion as offered by Delegate Paulson — or Delegate Dawson and seconded by Delegate Aubol relative to the style of Section 6.

The question is on the adoption of the motion.

Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President:

In all of the debate I have forgotten just what this amendment is. Could we have the amendment read again?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-1: In Section 6 of the amendment, delete everything after the words "as follows:" and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Shall a one-house legislature (unicameral) be substituted for a two-house legislature (bicameral), as proposed in the Constitution? A majority of 'yes' votes shall adopt a one-house legislature. Yes. No."

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman:

I would urge a "no" vote on this. We, as a committee, as I stated, skidded for two days. And finally we asked for a sense of direction. We were told that this type of a ballot would give an unfair advantage one way, and that it would not be legal. Just prior to our recess I had hoped that somebody would go and see Mr. Sand. I ran into him down at coffee and I asked him if anybody had seen him. And he said, "No." I repeated the substitute — the amendment to him. And he says, "It just couldn't be done that way." Now I would urge the defeat of this amendment. If it can be changed, then we can change it. But at least we've got the benefit of the committee's work and the Attorney General's ruling at this time. Otherwise if this carries, we've got to go right back and unwind again. So I say let's leave it status quo and then take it from there if it can be changed. We're going to have the same question in three or four other alternate proposals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: It's a little difficult to get an official opinion in five or ten minutes. And we were down to the Attorney General's office and talked to the Attorney General. And he looked at the amendment and said it was difficult to give an immediate opinion, but if it was clear it's possible that it could be legal. Now here we have Sand talking at one point — they are both talking off the cuff a little bit. So I don't think you should hold either one of them entirely responsible. They asked us to be responsible for this statement. Did you get the statement? Did you get it correct? But anyhow, I think we should go ahead and vote on the amendment. I believe that if it were declared not to be legal or showing too much preference, we would have to go back and act on it tomorrow. I think the amendment has some merit. I hope we consider it and adopt it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Question.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

There was some discussion earlier about confusing the voters. It seems to me you are going to confuse them if you're going to give them five or six "yes" or "no" choices on the ballot. Presumably most of us will be trying for a "yes" vote on the main body. What effect would it have on the main body if the people voted two-to-one "no" on a unicameral legislature? That's why I think we should only have one "yes" and "no" vote on the ballot, and that's on the main body. Then on these alternates they should be "either/or" questions; either two-house or one-house, and so on. So I hope the amendment is defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President:

I was once a long time ago First Assistant Attorney General. However, my authority has waned considerably since that time. I have spent a lot of time sitting down and trying to draw out sample election results and considering what people would do in the election booth. And I must say that it seems to me that it's impossible to come up with a ballot that is meaningful or that could carry no matter what you put in either part of the Constitution if the alternate stands alone, apart from one side of the question embedded in the main Constitution.

Now certainly we can't expect the Supreme Court to uphold us when we say that a minority vote will override majority votes. Which, if we have bicameral in the main Constitution, and a hundred thousand people vote "yes" — which a lot of people certainly hope will happen — and then at the same time say that if eighty thousand vote "yes" on the unicameral and only seventy-nine thousand vote "no", that the eighty thousand votes for the unicameral will override the hundred thousand votes for bicameral. And I think that's what's in the minds of the Attorney and Assistant Attorney General who speak on this question. And I have not been able to conceive of any way to phrase the question.

My understanding in Illinois was that when they gave you a choice of either appointing or electing judges, they put nothing in the main body of the Constitution on that point. They just said: "Here's the choice." And we can't — and I've thought that from the beginning — we can't take sides and then hand it to the people and say, "You decide the issue for us." And so I would agree that if we were to have any possible, conceivable, meaningful choice we have to move from our position of having already made one of those choices. You could vote not to have the choice or you could vote to reconsider and take it out of the Constitution, the provision for bicameral. For one, I wouldn't vote to do that. But if fifty people perhaps tomorrow do that, then you could have unicameral or bicameral off by itself and the people can make a choice; otherwise, I think it's impossible. I think you can readily convince yourself of this if you vote right now on your desk on what should be on the ballot. And what is to prevent someone from coming in and voting "yes" on the main Constitution with the bicameral, voting "yes" on the unicameral? He is thus voting on both sides of the question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

It would appear from all of this then that we have about two choices. Now our President has ruled, and I agree with his ruling, that the bicameral is in. We put it there. Now if we're going to make a side show out of this — and during coffee I was accused of being prejudiced because I voted unicameral — much to the dismay of the unicameralists I really couldn't care less right now which way it goes. I don't have strong feelings either way. It's not all black, it's not all white. There's a big gray area. They both have their faults and their good points.

Now the issue is: Are we going to give the people a choice? If we give them a choice, it would seem to me that since we have already plugged in the bicameral, then we go one of two ways; we can also plug in the unicameral, then put it to the side and let them make a choice, or number two, we can put out the bicameral so that there is a hole there and then give them two plugs over here and they can pull the bicameral plug or the unicameral plug and put it in the hole. Is it that simple, or am I being too oversimplified on this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Miller, I think you're a little oversimplifying it, especially as long as we are now considering an amendment to the — I think that you will agree we are considering an amendment here to the original amendment. The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Dawson and seconded by Delegate Aubol. And it was just read from the desk.

Delegate Sinner, did you wish the floor?

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman, may I ask a question? If we vote down this amendment, then are we back to the original proposition proposed by the Ballot Committee?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are back to the Section 6 as it is on this particular piece of paper.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

DELEGATE LAMB: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It will be back to the proposal as originally given to us. So the question — the question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Dawson. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay." The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

We are back on the proposal as presented by the Committee on Alternate Proposals to the Constitutional Ballot.

The question — Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Just a point of inquiry, Mr. Chairman, on the vote that we will take. For one, a "no" vote prevailing will kill the issue permanently unless it's reconsidered; is that right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That would be my interpretation; yes. The question is if we are going to put this on the ballot as an alternate.

Now those in favor of having this alternate proposal, Proposal No. 4-1, on the ballot will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Just a question, Mr. President. This includes the entire article or was it divided?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The attempt at division failed.

The question then will be called and those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegates wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call indicates 59 "aye" votes, 38 "nay" votes, 1 delegate absent and not voting. Alternate Proposal No. 4-1 will be referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Delegate Dawson. Delegate Dawson, would you come to the desk, please?

The Chair will recognize Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I move that the Rules be suspended and we take under consideration 4-7 at the top of tenth order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that the Rules be suspended and that Constitutional Ballot Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 be placed at the head of the tenth order. Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE POULSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Poulson.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 is before the Convention.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I hate to ask the question, but the one which we have in front of us on 4-7, the third line says — recommends that it be amended, et cetera. They used the word "amended". When we reported 4-7 here an hour or so ago we didn't use the word "amended". I want to make sure we don't get fouled up later because we didn't amend right now. I'm not sure, I'm just asking that question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Lander, the copy of the Committee Report that I have before me does not show an amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The one we accepted said "do pass".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It says "do pass" at the top of it.

Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Then I would like some confirmation from the other delegates as to whether what they have in their hands says "amended" or "do pass". I don't know the answer.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's a good question. We all want to be talking on the same subject. Maybe Delegate Dawson will straighten us out.

DELEGATE DAWSON: What was the question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson, there seems to be a difference between the Committee Report that I have and the desk has and the one that the delegates have. It seems that the one that I have before me says that the committee says "do pass," and then it seems that the delegates have one that requests or urges that it be "amended".

DELEGATE DAWSON: Was it amended?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: I was on the committee. There was an attempt made to amend it, but the attempted amendment failed. So then we later on recommended a "do pass" as Delegate Lander has indicated.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That's the way it reads.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: The language on the sheet that has been distributed opposite the "yes/no" boxes is different from the language preceding the "yes/no" boxes in the 4-7 probably that we have received in our books.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That's right. As we have it from committee it was "do pass" and there were no amendments recommended by the committee and Delegate Dawson has now put it on the tenth order without amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: However, Fellow Delegates, you recall that if you wish to amend, if there are some amendments to it, why you can amend under tenth order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Delegate McIntyre, you have kind of handled it. Was it our intention to amend from the blue sheet?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Well, Mr. President, —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: — the only amending that was done on this thing at all was — the only thing that touches on that, the committee had before it a motion to amend the word "eighteen" to "nineteen"; that failed. And the original motion, which included the language that you see on your black and white sheet, was the motion that prevailed stating that persons eighteen years of age or older are declared to be adults for all purposes. The only issue was how the question would be phrased. And the committee chose the language under your white sheet. And that's different, right, from the blue sheet in your book.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Might I suggest that members of the committee simply, if the white sheet is the correct one, — or I'll move it, to save time — that be considered the amendment to Proposal 4-7 stated right there. It's stated right there.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 is as follows:

On page 1, delete all of lines 12 through 18 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 2. BALLOT FORM.) The form of the ballot as pertains to the question set out in this proposal, and as it shall be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue, shall be as follows:

"Shall the following language be made a part of the proposed Constitution of the State of North Dakota? (Mark one only) Yes. Persons eighteen years of age or older are declared to be adults — persons of eighteen years of age or older are declared to be adults for all purposes." Then there is a "yes" and "no" box.

And renumber the lines and pages accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on this amendment. This is an amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-7.

Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I would encourage —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Excuse me. Just a second here. Now has Delegate Dawson offered this amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kelsch.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch offered this amendment. We have an amendment at the desk.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think it properly should be made by Delegate Dawson. It's that committee's work. But I'll make it if no one else will.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's adequate. All we had was this (indicating).

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "Do pass."

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I would encourage a "yes" vote on the amendment. It simply changes the wording of the question that existed in your blue sheet 4-7 and now includes the wording of the white sheet on your desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE LANDER: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the amendment. If there is no further discussion, those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

Delegate Schmit.

DELEGATE SCHMIT: Mr. President:

Unless the committee can explain why they amended this, I feel that the language in the original proposal of 4-7 is much preferable to the amended language. And I would resist this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any member of the committee wish to comment?

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

Yes. As you proceed through here, you will find that in each of these we have tried to ask a question first, such as here: "Shall the following language be made part . . ." et cetera. But then at the point where the voter actually makes his selection we want to have, at least if it's short as it is here, the exact wording of what would be in the Constitution. And so the person who votes either "A" or "B" or "yes" or "no" has, insofar as they can, the exact wording of the proposed entry. And he will find a consistent approach in all of our alternate proposals this way.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Would an amendment to the amendment be in order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Amendment to the amendment is in order.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President:

I would move that in the line down there opposite the boxes the word "eighteen" be stricken and "nineteen" inserted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller moves that the word "eighteen" following the word "persons" be stricken and the word "nineteen" be inserted in lieu thereof.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: This — I'm advised that this has to be done in Section 1 also. So I would move that my motion include the change in Section 1. I don't even see it. Oh, yeah, it's at the top in the title; "contains a provision declaring persons eighteen years of age . . ."

Mr. President, I would want my motion to include that change there also.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does the desk have the amendment?

DELEGATE MILLER: And on line 9 — my gosh, this is getting complicated. Three different places, Mr. President; in the title, line 9 and line 10.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to Delegate Miller's motion?

DELEGATE MILLER: And I guess in line 15, too.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I believe that Delegate Miller is amending the original proposal, the blue or green sheet, whatever it is, which has already been amended by the white sheet.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe, Delegate Miller, you are offering an amendment to material that at least the Chair has not had before it. The delegates may have. However, I do not have.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Well, if we're working from this white sheet — and I guess we are — why I only see it in one place, and that's opposite the "yes" and "no" boxes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is the only place I see it.

DELEGATE MILLER: Has this been seconded, Mr. President?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Beg your pardon?

DELEGATE MILLER: Has this been seconded?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, it has been seconded.

DELEGATE MILLER: Could I speak to it, sir?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, sir.

DELEGATE MILLER: Fellow Delegates:

We've opened a whole kettle of worms with this eighteen-year-old vote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller, excuse me, but I wonder if we shouldn't — I wonder if we shouldn't either adopt or reject this amendment and then make the amendments, the proposed amendments, following that. You see then we would be back on the proposal with this amendment on it if the delegates so wish.

DELEGATE MILLER: This would be fine, Mr. President. I'll withdraw my motion. I just wanted to catch it before it was dead.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, if this dies, I am quite certain that your amendment would die with it. But I think — I do think that would be the simpler way to do it; attempt to pass this, and then come back and make those alterations in addition.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President:

I believe that it could be of material effect on the outcome of the vote if this word is changed. If it's your wish, I'll withdraw the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question here is that we're — we have an amendment. And if you wanted to just strike the word "eighteen" in this particular amendment why I would go with you. That is all right.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: I can read it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: But when you start amending the other material, then, that is not in the amendment, it is no longer an amendment to the amendment, except this one place it's an amendment to the amendment. It's a little technical thing there.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I believe that Delegate Schmit had a good question here. If I understand, the white copy which is an amendment to the blue copy, you have the people voting before you have the question put to them. It would seem to me that you have your question and then the "yes" or "no" vote immediately after that would be better order, just like you have it in the original proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

Now I understand, Delegate Miller, that you withdraw your amendment. So we are voting on the amendment here as offered by the committee.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Along with what Delegate Longmire just mentioned, I think it was the intent of our committee that the statement "Persons eighteen years" and so forth would be first and then the "yes" or "no" would be directly below that. It was not the intent of our committee to have it set up this way. I think the statement should be first and then directly below the blocks where the "yes" or "no" vote would be directly below that. I think I speak for the committee when I say that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question then before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by the committee. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of the adoption of the amendment will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it; the amendment carried.

Now Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President:

Do I work from this white sheet and the blue?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You will have to work from some document other than the one that I have. You offer your amendments, Delegate Miller, and the Clerk will take them.

DELEGATE MILLER: I'll yield to Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: You see we have — if you look at the white sheet it refers to the amendment of Section 2 of 4-7. Everything in 4-7 under Section 2 is as you have had it all along on the blue sheet. And so if we are to consider an amendment, it would be that the — that the word “eighteen” as it appears first in the unnumbered third line, then in line 2 and in line 9 and in line 10 and then in the unnumbered line of the white amendment of the ballot all be changed from “eighteen” to “nineteen”.

DELEGATE MILLER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Clerk now read the proposal as the amendments are proposed?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-7:

In the title delete the word “eighteen” and insert in lieu thereof the word “nineteen”.

Page 1, line 2, delete the word “eighteen” and insert in lieu thereof the word “nineteen”.

Page 1, line 9, delete the word “eighteen” and insert in lieu thereof the word “nineteen”.

In the amendment offered by Delegate Kelsch delete the word “eighteen” and insert in lieu thereof the word “nineteen”.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now you have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Is there any discussion?

The question before — Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I would like to speak against the amendment. I know of no criteria that makes a nineteen-year-old an adult over an eighteen-year-old. And we speak to the rights of eighteen-year-olds in our present Constitution in some of the changes that we have now made. We say that they are adults and mature and old enough to be elected to the State Legislature, and they may vote and they may do many of the other things that the adults of today now do. But we do not say that they are adults for all purposes. It was the feeling of the majority of the committee that the eighteen-year-olds should be the age, and I dislike very, very much including nineteen-year-olds simply to get the thing approved by the voters. And that's what some of the committee members that approved this have told me; that there is no chance that the State of North Dakota will declare eighteen-year-olds to be declared adults for all purposes and that the State of North Dakota will vote this alternate proposal down overwhelmingly. And it will discourage the young people of this state in that age group to take any part in their state and government. And I say that just the opposite, that we — this to the eighteen-year-old groups, the nineteen and twenty-year-olds for the chance of them to vote on this particular issue. And I think that the adults of today, of twenty-one years and older, want to speak to it. Therefore, I encourage you to vote “no” on this amendment. Let's get to the very issue of this thing and include as one of our alternates that eighteen-year-olds should be declared to be adults for all purposes.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: First of all, I wonder if the Clerk missed the word “eighteen” in line 10? Do you have that included?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yeah.

DELEGATE MILLER: Well, to cover Delegate McIntyre's arguments on this, I don't think that there's a ghost of a chance that the voters in North Dakota will allow eighteen-year-olds to become adults for all purposes. I feel rather strongly that these young people ought to be given this franchise. So if we leave the word “eighteen” in, the nineteen and twenty-year-olds are going to be deprived of this. Now if we change it to nineteen, I think there's a good chance that they will approve it because of the number of reasons that have already been spelled out here. No point in me taking your time on this. There is a differentiation not in whether they've reached maturity or majority mentally or so on at eighteen, but because of the various ramifications that have developed as regards those who are still in high school and age eighteen. But, generally speaking, by nineteen they are out of high school and either are employed or in the service or in college and it's a whole different ballgame. I just can't believe that the voters would look with favor at all upon eighteen-year-olds voting. But I do think they would have some compassion for the nineteen and twenty-year-olds. This is the prime reason, really the only reason, I'm interested in doing this. For that reason I would urge your support of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I, of course, resist the amendment. And let me give you one practical reason why. In the Constitution that you people are working on now you have passed some laws which now will make it possible for a person eighteen years of age to become sheriff and not be able to enforce the liquor laws because he can't go into a bar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. Chairman — Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I am a member of the Ballot Committee. I'd just like to make one correction. The proposed amendment was attempted in committee and it lost, yes, by a vote of seven-to-seven. It happened one of our members was absent at the time. So actually it was a tie vote. And I think this is a very fair question. I think it would be a cruel hoax to play on the young people of our state to put this in at eighteen. In my opinion a proposal would be defeated soundly, and we'd be taking a step backwards; because instead of encouraging our young people to take part in politics and be citizens, they'd be defeated so badly that they'd lose heart. And I sincerely hope you will approve the amendment.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

By adopting this amendment we are going to be placing incongruity in the Constitution. We are going to say if you are nineteen you can get married and drink beer, where if you're eighteen you can't. Even though at eighteen you can be elected to the Legislature, you can vote, you can go in war. So I hope the amendment is defeated so we don't put an incongruity like that in our Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE LARSEN: Mr. Chairman:

Today I received a clipping from the Republican — Humboldt Republican from the Great State of Iowa. And in it they have a picture of a young man by the name of Jodie Smith, Ayreshire's nineteen-year-old mayor. He's been the center of the news media since he was elected. For example, the day after election Jodie gave 45 to 50 interviews and a broadcasting statement. He's already been invited to the Dick Cavett Show. Now Jodie decided to run for mayor because he was old enough under the new law and no one had filed against the incumbent. Jodie's opinion on an eighteen-year-old's capacity for responsibility seemed obvious, but we asked him anyway. "Sure enough," he said. He feels that nineteen-year-olds are mature enough to hold the responsibility and do the responsibility of an adult. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I just wanted to answer Delegate Thompson's fears. If an eighteen-year-old is elected sheriff, then he certainly could appoint a twenty-one-year-old deputy.

Actually, I agree with the nineteen-year-olds. I favor the eighteen-year-old, too, but I worry about the high school kids not being separated from the drinking problem. I think the nineteen-year-old amendment cures this. I feel that one time this Convention brought the eighteen-year-olds into the Constitution, then they pulled them out. I think the reaction by some of the younger people is not good. And it just seems to me that the nineteen-year-old provision solves a lot of problems and doesn't create too many new ones.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think if the real issue here is the drinking question, I think the Legislature is the proper place to handle that question. I think by having a mandate in our Constitution that persons nineteen years or older shall be declared adults for all purposes will create some problems with regard to some of the statutory law that we already have. We say that females can get married at the age of eighteen. And I think the intent of our constitutional — setting nineteen as an age would declare that all statutory laws would have to be changed to conform with our Constitutional provision. I think we're going a step backward by selecting nineteen-year-olds as an alternative just to solve the problem with regard to drinking. I think the real place to handle any of these issues is in the Legislature. Eighteen-year-olds will be able to vote, they will be able to run for office, and they can go to the Legislature and request that certain changes are going to be made.

Now I visited with a fellow attorney in Mandan who has been working on age restrictions in the Constitution — or in statutes. He said there are a hundred and forty different classifications dealing with age that are going to be coming before the Legislature within the next year. I think the Legislature has a big responsibility in this area, and I think they can handle it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates to this assembly:

We are again attempting to legislate morality and the Commandments. We cannot command the eighteen-year-old. We are not going to command the nineteen-year-old. I would simply call your attention to our teenage years. If they are responsible you currently give them the keys to your car; if they are responsible you currently invite them to partake of the intoxicants in your household; if they are responsible you advise them to have fun with their friends over the week-end. I ask you at this time why should we now determine that eighteen versus nineteen makes them more responsible and adults for all purposes? I urge you to defeat the amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Peters.

DELEGATE PETERS: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

I think the Convention has a moral obligation in this case. I don't think there is a one of you here that knows — that doesn't know that an eighteen-year-old can be fully responsible for making decisions, especially along the drinking line. I would never want to be guilty of telling an eighteen-year-old that he's old enough and responsible enough now to make a decision which may make him an alcoholic or a drunkard for the rest of his life. I don't favor — I wouldn't favor to do that for a nineteen-year-old. But as the case is here, I would rather go for the lesser of the two evils, so I support the amendment.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

Earlier today I had placed on each of your desks an article and an editorial that appeared in the North Dakota — or the Spectrum, which is the student publication at North Dakota State. And I find myself somewhat in a dilemma, because I definitely favor the privilege — the fact that nineteen-year-olds probably — the only thing, they should be permitted to consume and purchase alcoholic beverages as opposed to the eighteen-year-olds. And yet I'm going to oppose the amendment because I really think that the considerations over and above the drinking are of such a consequence that we shouldn't put this in the Constitution. The interview that I refer to here pretty well covers my feeling on it. The comments I made the other day. And, incidentally, the editor of this particular paper who wrote the editorial, in visiting with him I asked him how old he was, and he said he was twenty-one. I think he has a pretty good way of writing, and I think probably when he was eighteen he might have been quite mature. But there are so many ramifications over and above this drinking one that I would urge that not only would the amendment be defeated but that the entire proposal be defeated as a side issue. I think if we have it at eighteen those that fear that the voters are going to vote against it are absolutely right. And my fear then is will the Legislature ever act in this area where I think they should be acting in at least a portion of it? But an overwhelming rejection on that particular issue could well discourage any Legislature from ever acting. And I do not feel — of course, it's a little different. Earlier when this was passed 73-

to-20 I was hoping we could make it a side issue, but when you're on the other side the next time at 63-to-30, why I'm trying to encourage those 63 people to vote against it again.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman:

This Convention originally put this in. And after some thought and deliberation they took it out. And it just doesn't seem that for the sake of making it a wee bit more palatable to the voters that we could now sell our convictions.

Delegate McIntyre and I agree now that this should stay at eighteen. We agree for different reasons, however. Supposing that we pass this Constitution and then when an eighteen-year-old legislator is elected and he comes up here to the legislative assembly and then he cannot even attend this smoke room caucus with the other legislators, now we are definitely being inconsistent. Let's let the people decide if eighteen, nineteen, twenty and twenty-one-year-olds are fit to be adults for all purposes or let's let them decide otherwise. Why should we now start hedging on our own decisions? I urge the defeat of this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Miller, seconded by Delegate Peters.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lander's motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I have got by Delegate Miller. Is the Chair in error? Did Delegate Lander offer it?

DELEGATE MILLER: Yeah, Lander did it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, the record will show that Delegate Lander did it.

Again, the question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Lander. As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

I don't know about the rest of you, but I'm not quite ready to vote. Would someone tell me what would happen if nineteen would be approved and put on the ballot and it were passed, would that in any way affect the propriety of an eighteen-year-old running for the Legislature in any real way? Is there a real damage to that alternative of an eighteen-year-old if the nineteen-year-old provision were passed? My problem is that I'm inclined to be concerned, as Delegate Nething is, that if — if this is put to a vote as an eighteen-year-old question and defeated, I don't know where it will leave us. It will leave us in a very bad situation as far as I can see. Whereas, if the nineteen-year-old provision would not be damaging seriously to any other statutes, I'm inclined to want to go along with Delegate Miller. And if there is no real serious damage to the eighteen-year-old right under the Legislature and the other things that the Legislature has allowed eighteen-year-olds, then I'm going to go along with Miller.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Again, the question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Lander. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk — no, don't have to record the vote. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

DELEGATE MILLER: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Division has been requested.

DELEGATE McELROY: Can we have a recorded division?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Did someone say "recorded"?

DELEGATE McELROY: Could we have a recorded vote, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: If ten delegates will rise, you may have a recorded vote. That is sufficient. Again, the question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Miller. And those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Dawson votes "nay."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The vote indicates 33 "ayes," 62 "nays," and three delegates absent and not voting. So the amendment has failed.

Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE LANDER: Excuse me. Are you going to do it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Your question.

DELEGATE DEVINE: May we be on the eighth order for a moment?

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. Chairman:

What was that vote, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It was 33 "yes" votes.

DELEGATE LANDER: 33?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: 33 "yes" votes, 63 "no" votes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 62.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: With three delegates absent.

Now Delegate Devine.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 62.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: May we be on the eighth order for a moment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we will be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE DEVINE: In view of the time and in view of the progress made by this Convention, I hope that the Convention will consider ordering an evening session tonight.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you.

The question before the Convention, that is the Alternate Proposal 4-7 — Delegate Dawson moves that the Rules be suspended and that Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 be deemed properly re-engrossed; that it be placed at the head of the calendar for first passage.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engelter.

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: It's unfortunate, I think, that this Convention in its earlier action decided to declare eighteen-year-olds to be adults for only some purposes. I felt very strongly that if you called an eighteen-year-old adult for some purposes you'd have to in all good conscience call him an adult for all purposes and allow him this right. Now we face ourselves with the question of an alternate proposal on this question. Now this was the second priority. And I am confident that the individual that in that straw vote felt that although we have made our decision that this could be one of the questions offered to the people of the State of North Dakota as an alternate issue, I think that the young people in this state want to speak to it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate — Delegate McIntyre, the question we have before the Convention at the moment is on the adoption of the motion to suspend the Rules and deem this properly re-engrossed and put it on the calendar.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Excuse me, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And unless you were talking to that particular motion, you will have the floor when we are through with that.

The question then is on the motion to suspend the Rules and deem Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 properly re-engrossed and to be placed at the head of the calendar for passage. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 is before the Convention.

Now Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President:

I think I've already said it, but I urge you to support this report and allow the people of this state to make the choice. It should be their decision as to whether they feel that eighteen-year-olds are adults or not. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE STANTON: Question.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the passage of Alternate Proposal No. 4-7. Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll discloses 66 "ayes," 29 "nays," three delegates absent and not voting. Alternate Proposal No. 4-7 has been passed and will be referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Chair will declare a ten-minute break.

(The Session recessed at 4:23 P.M. until 4:33 P. M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order. Will the Convention please come to order?

The Chair will recognize Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I move that we suspend the Rules and move on the motion of 4-2, and also include in the motion that we dispense with the reading.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Dawson that we dispense with the reading of Alternate Proposal No. 4-2, that the Rules be suspended, and that the amendments to the Alternate Proposal be adopted.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Cart.

Are you ready for the question? Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it.

Now Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I move that 4-2 be properly engrossed and placed on tenth order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 be deemed properly re-engrossed; that it be placed on the tenth order for passage. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hoghaug.

Is there any discussion?

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Just a quick question of Delegate Dawson. Do you think this would prohibit farming?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the motion to suspend the Rules and deem it properly re-engrossed, placing it on the tenth order for action. As many as are in favor of the motion say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 is before the Convention for action.

Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and Delegates:

This morning I briefly presented a proposal for your consideration. I'm not sure if we've amended this or not. But the committee, in their efforts to present the exact problem to the people for final decision, put the exact language on the ballot form. Earlier in this session we deleted Article I amendments by a repealer, and now by deleting that article we by inference said that the Legislature shall provide for authorization. So now the proposal that we're asking the people to decide is: "All forms of gambling shall be prohibited unless the legislative assembly provides for the authorization and regulation of specific forms thereof." That is what, in effect, we did when we repealed Article I of the amendments.

The next alternative would be to go back to the old Constitution and say that: "The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets." That language is in our old Constitution.

I think the choice is plain for the people. And I hope that the delegates will see fit to use this as one of the alternate proposals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I just have one question on this, Mr. President. I see one of the alternates speaks to gambling, the other one speaks to lotteries. I noticed in our criminal laws we have a definition of lottery in one chapter and a definition of gambling in another chapter. Has the committee concluded that gambling and lotteries are synonymous?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Can someone answer Delegate Hill's question? Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I will attempt to answer that. No, they did not. And that is the reason that the word "gambling" was taken out of our original proposal and changed to "lotteries". I think there have been some court decisions, not in North Dakota but in other states, that they are not synonymous.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I would like to speak against this particular issue as being an alternate. I think that although it's high on the priority list, it is one of the particular actions that the Convention took that they can well explain without any trouble at all when they go back to their districts.

Secondly, I am not at all happy with the ballot form that you see before you. As you recall, this Convention voted by substantial margin to repeal lottery sections of the Constitution. My thinking of an alternate is that you should have the choice — the people should have a choice if it's an alternate to uphold the action of the Convention to repeal lotteries or put a section in. This ballot form does not do that. It gives you only two — it gives you two alternatives, both of which do not speak for or follow through with what this Convention did on first passage.

And with the vote the other day, I am just not sure as to whether the delegates here are sure as to whether we should have an alternate or not, or whether we are really thinking that lotteries should be back in the Constitution. Now I voted to repeal the lottery section. But I'm more concerned about the priority list on alternates that we have at this point. And I feel strongly enough that if this is voted down, I would entertain a motion to reconsider our action on lotteries that this Convention took in the early weeks.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: I support, Mr. President, the committee's proposal here. I think it's a clear and concise manner of deciding what you want. And in either proposal you are speaking to gambling, you are not leaving it out of the Constitution. I think it's clearly set out here: "Do you want the old language or do you want some forms of gambling specifically provided for by the Legislature?"

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I don't gamble in any way, shape or form, whether I'm in Bismarck or Las Vegas. I have no real interest. But it would seem to me in looking at the ballot form that the first choice, if adopted by the people, would put a much stronger anti-gambling section in our Constitution than we have now. All forms of gambling, which I suppose would include playing poker. I can find no prohibition against playing poker in the present Constitution. Article I, first amendment to our Constitution, simply says: "The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises." I don't understand that playing poker is either a lottery or a gift enterprise. And I'm sure there are other forms of gambling. I don't think that a horse race is a lottery. And I don't know whether it's a gift enterprise or not, I don't know about that. But it does seem to me that when on the first question on the ballot you're talking about all forms of gambling, the second choice you're using the words of the present Constitution "lotteries or gift enterprises." Looking back at the history as to why this amendment was made, and looking back at the so-called Louisiana Lottery, that was the type of thing that was permitted by the Constitution. And I don't think that many forms of gambling are presently prohibited by our Constitution. So it does seem to me that the ballot form would provide the alternatives that no form of gambling should be authorized unless the Legislature specifically permits it, which is a little different than whether we put the old section of the Constitution back in or leave it out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Would someone explain exactly what a gift enterprise ticket is? Is that selling tickets on something from door to door? What is a gift enterprise ticket?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. Chairman, Delegate Haugen states he has some for sale.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen. Delegate Haugen, no commercializing.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

I brought these along.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may answer the question for the lady, however.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I may have a chance to do that. We now find pretty well that what they are doing, instead of having lotteries, you make it in the form of a gift certificate that you make a donation and that actually entitles you to a few of the rights. And I think this is probably what they mean by a gift enterprise. Some of our organizations, say you donate $25, and for this you have a chance at this and a chance at that and so forth. This, I think, is sort of one of the gift enterprises that we have in our Constitution now which is being violated every day.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Mr. Chairman:

Would Delegate Kessel yield to a real legal question?

DELEGATE KESSEL: Yes.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Does the prohibition of lotteries include pari-mutuel betting?

DELEGATE KESSEL: Illinois, I might say, has exactly the same constitutional prohibition that we have. And the Illinois Supreme Court decided that the word "lottery" does not speak to pari-mutuel racing in any manner or form. Now I think North Dakota, however, did not quite go along with that theory. Because we did put that on the ballot a few times. So evidently they felt it did. But the court decision in Illinois said this does not cover pari-mutuel racing.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. Chairman:

For those who can't see Delegate Haugen's red ballot here, I would ask you to defeat Committee Proposal 4-2 so that I can have my son, age two and one-half, purchase a chance at this gift enterprise that the Sons of Norway are sponsoring, since I'm rather afraid to as the State's Attorney.

I would call your further attention to articles which appeared in certain papers within the past week; articles of enterprise for profit entitled "Mouse in the House". The other quotation in quotes "And where it stops nobody knows". The people attracted to these two particular games of sport and chance, it is illustrated by the pictures I have on my desk, obviously are those persons in a majority under the age of eighteen in these two particular photos. We recognize that this was at a certain place in the State of North Dakota; we recognize that the same type of enterprise is available in some of our lodges; the same enterprise is available in our state in county fairs during the summertime. The bingo which was advertised on local TV last night which the ladies can play through the local grocery stores is also a gift enterprise. With all of these things I think we, the people, have been fooling ourselves for a sufficient amount of time. I would urge a "no" vote on the Proposal 4-2 so that we can once clean our house and show our children that we are acting as proper law-abiding citizens.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, Fellow Delegates:

Since I spoke about time, I will try to keep mine short. I do want to make the Convention aware that if this a set-side or an alternate issue, and if it is rejected by the people — in other words, if the people want to retain the present provision — this will be a clear mandate to the Attorney General and to all of the State's Attorneys to enforce the present laws.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion?

Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman:

Just because of what Delegate Devine and Delegate Hartl said, we try to make it a little bit more simple for the people. If they want to continue to violate the Constitution as they now are, they have an opportunity to speak by allowing the Legislature directly in this Constitution to provide for bingo and some other things. That this would not alter it in any manner other than it is now. If you defeat it, then the Legislature has no way of doing this. So this does give them an opportunity. And it's very clear; either you keep what you have now and then you speak to all the authorities that they must enforce it, or you allow the Legislature directly rather than by indication to do what we have been doing all the while. Therefore, I speak in favor of this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the convention is on the passage of Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 as amended. No further discussion, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call indicates 58 "aye" votes, 39 "nay," one delegate absent and not voting. Alternate Proposal No. 4-2 has passed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I move that we suspend the Rules and that 4-8 and 4-9 not be read, and that they be amended as proposed by the committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves — Delegate Dawson moves that Alternate Proposals No. 4-9 and 4-8 be considered at one time, that the Rules be suspended, and that these proposals be placed on the calendar for tenth order for consideration.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Kessel.

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Just a point of inquiry. What happened to Delegate Proposal or Alternate Proposal 4-4? I thought we were going to consider these in order of priority.

DELEGATE LANDER: We are.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I don't believe we have acted on 4-4, have we?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 4-8 and 4-9 come first.

DELEGATE CHRISTENSEN: That was fifth.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: 4-4 is in fifth order on priority.

DELEGATE AUBOL: It's next in my books.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion to suspend the Rules and place Alternate Proposals No. 4-8 and 4-9 before the Convention for consideration on tenth order. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the two proposals, 4-9 and 4-8, are before the Convention on tenth order. You will recall these were both accepted without recommendation.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I move that they be amended as proposed by the committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There are amendments at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Alternate Proposal 4-8: Page 1, delete all of lines 16 through 20 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 2. BALLOT FORM. The form of the ballot as pertains to the questions set out in this proposal, and as it shall be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue, shall be as follows:

"Shall the proposed constitution contain the following language? (Mark one only)" You have a "yes" and "no" box.

"There shall be no discrimination against a qualified natural person's right to practice a trade or profession or a citizen's right to obtain or hold employment because of race, color, sex, creed, or membership or nonmembership in a trade, labor or professional organization."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Which proposal was that?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 4-8.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the motion as read?

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Lander.

Is there any discussion? Any discussion? Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman:

This is the portion of 4-8 that was assigned to me. And as you will notice, the only change we made from the original of 4-8 was in the ballot. Again, in accordance with the instructions received from the Attorney General's office this would have to be pulled out of the Constitution even though it was adopted by the delegates and placed on the side and then if the people in their vote say that they want it in, it would be put back in. And it's very simple. I don't think the merits of the thing needs any discussion at this time. You are all aware of what it means. And so 4-8 merely means whether or not you want to keep it in the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question before the Convention then is on the adoption of the amendment.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I believe this came out of committee without recommendation, so I suppose we need a motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, there should be a motion.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: He just made it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: When you made the motion to suspend the Rules and place it on tenth order, I took it for granted that you were making the motion. And I believe the record will so show.

Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

I don't know if I'm out of order or not, if I am I wish you'd say so right away.

As I understand, there will be probably a question. The vote will be now to accept 4-8, am I right, or reject it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The vote now will be on the amendment to 4-8. This, as I understand it, is an amendment to 4-8. And the question before the Convention at this moment in my interpretation is on the amendment to 4-8, amending this — putting this on the proposal.

Delegate Hubrig, the way I understand the question we are voting on is this material right here, the adopting of this part of the amendment to go on the proposal. We are not voting on adopting the proposal, merely the amendment.

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-8. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendment is adopted.

Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

I will then — and I hope it's in order — move the committee amendments to 4-9 as at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The amendments as proposed to Alternate Proposal 4-9.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Alternate Proposal No. 4-9 are as follows:

On page 2, delete lines 3 through 8 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Which of the following sections shall the proposed constitution contain? (Mark one only)

"There shall be no discrimination against a qualified natural person's right to practice a trade or profession or a citizen's right to obtain or hold employment because of race, color, sex, creed, or membership or nonmembership in a trade, labor or professional organization.

"To attain or accumulate a value as a result of labor shall be a property right, and the state or its subdivisions shall not impair an employment-related contract. No individual contract of hire shall preclude the right of a majority of employees in a bargaining unit to associate and bargain a collective contract of employment."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You've heard the reading of the amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-9. Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-9. No discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." I think we should do that over again. Again, those in favor will — of adopting the amendments will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." I believe the "ayes" have it. The "ayes" have it.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I move that 4-8 and 4-9 be properly re-engrossed and placed on tenth order for indefinite postponement.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think I will have to rule the motion out of order, Delegate Dawson. I think that you can move to re-engross them and deem them properly re-engrossed and suspend the Rules and place them on tenth order, and then the Convention will have to decide where it should go from there. So if you would like to move to deem them properly re-engrossed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I so move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson that the Rules be suspended and that Alternate Proposals — that the Rules be suspended, that Alternate Proposals No. 4-8 and 4-9 be deemed properly re-engrossed and they may be placed on the calendar for passage as amended.

Any question?

Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: The motion now in order. Mr. President, to move for indefinite postponement on 4-8 and 4-9?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, Delegate Butler, I do not believe the motion is in order. The Chair will rule that the motion is out of order.

The question before the Convention is that these — the Rules be suspended, that these two Alternate Proposals be deemed properly re-engrossed, that they be placed on the calendar on tenth order for passage.

Now those in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed will say "no." As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it. And Alternate Proposals No. 4-8 and 4-9 are on tenth order for final disposition.

Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

Would I be in order to move 4-9 to the top of the calendar for consideration immediately?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You would be in order.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: I so move, then.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig moves that Alternate Proposal No. 4-9 be placed at the head of the calendar. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor — Delegate Hubrig?

The question before the Convention is that Alternate Proposal No. 4-9 be placed at the head of the calendar.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it. Alternate Proposal No. 4-9 is at the head of the calendar for action.

Is there any discussion on Alternate Proposal No. 4-9 as amended?

Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

The only reason that I proposed 4-9 originally was of all the conversation we've heard — I call it conversation, some people call it threats. I'm not here to threaten anybody — but my idea was of the conversation we've heard, the newspaper headlines, about the right-to-work. I personally feel that if the voters — if we could accept 4-9 now and leave it to the voters of North Dakota to make a decision which one of the two proposals do they want, I do believe that then nobody in organized labor or outside of organized labor could go out and try to defeat the Constitution on those bases because they would have a right to vote on the thing. This would settle the matter. And this is one of the reasons that I proposed 4-9 is to put out an alternative of the two issues. And I would hope that the delegates would take this into consideration when you vote on this proposal. Leave it to the people.

We've heard a lot of conversation in 1947 and '48 when the vote was taken to the people. Some conversation has been it wasn't a fair vote because of the misname, all of that. And I think it's fair in putting the Proposal 4-9 that we do not even refer to such words as "a right-to-work" or "right-not-to-work". It's put out in plain English. And on the ballot I would hope that the ballot form would say the wording not leading to that. Leave it to the people. Don't try to mislead them. I believe if this could be passed and put on the ballot, I believe it could be to the best interests of the Constitutional Convention and to the best interests of getting a new Constitution in the State of North Dakota. And I sincerely hope that you will give it your consideration today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President:

May I ask a question of Delegate Hubrig?

Delegate Hubrig, the language to attain or accumulate and so forth, I wonder if you'd explain that? I just can't see this going through Style and Drafting the way it is. There is no explanation of the words, what they mean, what the source is. I wonder if you'd give us a little guidance on that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: You mean the first paragraph, Delegate Unruh?

DELEGATE UNRUH: No, I mean —

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Or the first sentence?

DELEGATE UNRUH: The second. The whole thing.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Well, the first sentence, actually what we're meaning there is if you work for an employer you've certainly got a paycheck coming. So this is where the property right would become involved. Probably we should have used the word "paycheck" instead of "property right". Because certainly you earn something if you work for somebody. That's been at least since the long — as long as I have understood it, I believe.

And then we go on into the part there where it says "No individual contract of hire shall preclude the right of a majority of employees in a bargaining unit to associate and bargain a collective contract of employment". And actually that wording is now in the statutes to an extent, that you have got the right to bargain or contract. But the difference amounts to, by putting this wording in here, it is felt by the legal people that drafted this for me that at no future date could the Legislature pass laws that would impair the right of bargaining for the employees or the employer. Actually it would leave it open to the point that there would be no interference from the state in the process of collective bargaining.

Now understand, we do not get into collective bargaining unless a majority of the employees working for a corporation in a given location vote to have a union represent them in the first place. And the reason I state this, that the question should arise, I visited with the Attorney General's office about this and the question has arisen: "Could you write a union shop contract?" And this is not my intent. He said if I would make that statement on the floor that if anybody tested it in the courts that the courts could go back to the record here today of what my intentions were with this wording. And he feels that this would clarify the position for the courts if they had to make a decision at a later date if somebody brought suit. And it is not my intent to make this a union shop clause.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Now, Mr. President, —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: — I'd like an answer on the second clause.

You say the state or the subdivisions shall not impair an employment-related contract. I take it that means that a no-strike provision in any contract would then be invalid; is that right? As between city employees and the city and so forth.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: You mean that it would get the governmental employees an opportunity to strike?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yeah.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: No, that is not my intention. Because the courts have held, up to the Supreme Court, that public employees are not entitled to strike. They are a second-class bunch of citizens.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President:

Would Delegate Hubrig yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does Delegate Hubrig yield?

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Yes.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Delegate Hubrig, would this prevent the courts from ordering any group of people back to work?

DELEGATE HUBRIG: No, it would not.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Even though it — Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Even though it indicates that the state shall not impair a contract?

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I'm eager to support an alternate proposal on the right-to-work section. But I find myself in a position having to vote "no" on 4-9. I don't think that the people of this state can intelligently vote on 4-9. We find ourselves here in this assembly confused on what it means or what it does not mean. My idea of an alternate proposal would be the alternate of the Burbidge proposal against repealing any — any right-to-work section in the Constitution. And somehow if we're to have an alternate proposal on this we're going to have to word it in that way. Because this is — I can't see how we can expect the people to vote on it when I know they are going to go to the polls and this is the wording and be very, very confused.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I signed the proposals that were necessary to put both of these before the Convention. And over the week-end I've done a lot of thinking about what the Convention ought to do. I think the decision has been made that we're — the thrust of the Convention is to have the provision in the Constitution of some sort that provides constitutional backup for a right-to-work provision. Now so we come — being that the decision has been made, we sort of come to a strategy problem. And I think that's really what we are talking about here is that are we going to do — what are we going to do to accommodate the position that labor has held during this Convention? At first I thought, well we've got to defuse the issue so when and maybe the way to defuse the issue is to put it on the ballot and then we can always say, "Well, we are going to give you a chance to vote on it so you won't be against the new Constitution because we favor giving you a chance to vote on it." The problem is that the North Dakota AFL-CIO does not want it on the ballot.

Now I haven't talked at any great length with the president of the AFL-CIO since the original voting, except in my last conversation with him which must be almost two weeks ago he indicated that he did not want an alternate proposal on the ballot. I don't know if his reasoning is that he wants to be in a better position to oppose the whole document or his organization doesn't want to expend large sums of money to conduct an extensive campaign to get the proposal deleted from the Constitution.

I have come to the conclusion that it would be unwise for the Convention to place a right-to-work alternate on the ballot. And if we do so or if we take that course, I should say, we might be opening ourselves up during the coming campaign to get the Constitution ratified. However, at the same time, if we put it on the ballot we might incur the wrath of the organization and they will expend no effort on the issue itself but will spend added efforts to defeat the Constitution.

I think maybe the conciliatory approach that we ought to take is not to put it on the ballot in deference to their wishes, and then those of us who still feel very strongly that we have a terrific document here as I think most of us feel — that those of us that feel that way and who voted on the labor side of the question on the previous votes, that it becomes our responsibility to prevail upon organized labor to support the new Constitution in spite of the fact that they were unable to gain ground that they'd hope to gain.

I have been working on a letter that I hope the delegates who voted with labor on this would sign that we would write to them. And in hope that maybe as a few weeks pass and as the scars of the Convention start to heal that we can show that there are many other good things in this Constitution that are worth supporting, and that labor is no worse off under the new Constitution than it was under the old. Because basically the same provision carries forward. Of course, I don't know what we're going to do about the wrath that may come upon us from the legal profession, but they are usually divided so we're safe.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

If we are going to have a set-aside on this question, I favor the language of 4-9 over 4-8. I know that the AFL-CIO has said in the past they do not want a set-aside on this question. However, they have not seen the language of 4-9. And I think that the provisions of 4-9 do give the people of this state a choice.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? The question before the Convention is on the passage of Alternate Proposal No. 4-9.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: I don't want to take up any more of your time. This has been hashed back and forth many times on the floor here. But I would like to point out one other thing here before you vote on it. Actually most — oh, I would say 95 percent of the people today working in the State of North Dakota are actually operating under federal law. There's only about five percent of the working people today that work under any laws that are passed by the State of North Dakota because of the Taft-Hartley Act. The only thing that the 95 percent of the people or the 97 percent of the people that are working under federal law right now, their right to work actually says this: That they can't write a contract covering a hundred percent of the people.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Jim Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes, Mr. Chairman. This is the time when I really don't know for sure what I should say. I do know from many talks with Delegate Hubrig that he and I have a very different opinion on the right-to-work. I favor, and I think that it's very necessary that our Constitution have, a right-to-work clause in it. I also note that Delegate Hubrig is very interested in having a document that will be accepted by the voters of North Dakota, and also by the labor organization. And I feel that Delegate Hubrig has given this proposed Alternate No. 4-9 support because he feels that labor then will be better able to buy our entire Constitution. And for this reason I'm going to vote for Delegate Proposal 4-9. Even though it's one of our issues I will have to work for the right-to-work provision.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question before the Convention is on the passage of Alternate Proposal No. 4-9. No further discussion? Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 29 "ayes," 68 "nays," one delegate absent and not voting. Alternate Proposal No. 4-9 has failed to pass.

Next for consideration is Alternate No. 4-8.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Delegate Omdahl has said much of what I —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan, I don't believe your mike is working.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President, —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's fine.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Fellow Delegates:

Delegate Omdahl has said much of what I would have said. And I join him in that.

As many of you know, I have spent most of my adult life in association with the labor movement in North Dakota. I have learned to respect and admire the membership of organized labor. I have faith that we can go to them and tell them in spite of what we did on Section 23 that we have a good Constitution, a brave Constitution. And I still have faith that we can convince them that they cannot only live with it, but they can support it. But if you put this as an alternate proposal you give labor no choice, you give many of us no choice, because with this "yes" and "no" proposal that you have here labor has no choice but to go out on an all-out "no" campaign. And knowing what "no" campaigns do, and what the effect of a "no" vote is, I can't think of anything that would be a step closer to defeating the entire Constitution than to accept 4-8 as an alternate proposal. I sincerely hope that you defeat it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: I, too, agree with Delegate Omdahl and Mrs. Geelan. If this proposal has come from those people that were in the minority I could go along with it a hundred percent. But as long as we have spoken let's not justify our action by putting it on as an alternate proposal. I urge the defeat of it.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

I was one of the ones that signed this alternate proposal, but I did so unwillingly because I think, as a couple of other people that signed it, I was not aware that the language of the question would read "There shall be no discrimination against." I'm not naive enough to believe that the people will really be able to understand the subtleties by that language, and I think we have to vote it down.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

I can't agree with the interpretation put on this by Delegates Omdahl and Geelan. First of all, it doesn't make any difference whether the AFL-CIO wants this on the ballot or not; we'll make the decision as delegates. Now if it is put on the ballot as a separate issue, that gives labor a free shot at knocking this out of the Constitution. It would be self-defeating for them to campaign also for a "no" vote on the main body. Because if a "no" vote prevailed on the main body, then they'd be back to the 1889 Constitution with Section 23. Even if they — even if labor was successful in getting a "no" vote on Delegate Burbidge's proposal, it would be foolish for them to campaign for a "no" vote on the main body.

Now we've talked about coalition minorities. There's a good one building here. If you get labor going against the main body, plus maybe an automobile dealer, plus the John Birchers, you might have fifty percent in a hurry. I think we should put this on the ballot as a separate issue.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question — Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President:

I realize the question has been called for. But I would like to explain a little bit of the background of this because I was the one that carried it to the Convention. This alternate was proposed in response to those claims that we heard that we were being unfair to certain groups. And at the time the original Burbidge proposal was before the Convention I, and I believe that many others, voted for it, not that we were voting against any particular group, and definitely not voting against the Constitution. I voted to retain it because it was probably the most emotional and political issue before the Convention. And I thought that by placing it as an alternate issue before the people they could decide this question specifically on the issue. However, I think Delegate Dobson probably expressed my feelings at the time. I will not at this time vote for it, I suppose, because it's not my intent to embarrass labor.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the passage of Alternate Proposal No. 4-8.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Urdahl.

DELEGATE URDAHL: I don't quite understand just what this is going to do. If we defeat it, if this were defeated, would this mean that there would be nothing in the new Constitution relative to right-to-work?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No. It's my understanding, Delegate Urdahl, — unless someone from the Committee wants to answer — it's my understanding that we already have a section in the present Constitution pertaining to right-to-work.

DELEGATE URDAHL: And it would revert to what is in the present Constitution?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, No, I think what we've run into is a question —

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: In voting down this particular motion, all you're doing is voting down the opportunity of an alternate proposal. The action this Convention took earlier in regards to the Burbidge proposal is kept within the Constitution as a part of the body. All you're doing — all we're considering here is the alternate proposal.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Thank you.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President:

I just want to say I always thought this was a good idea, and I'm going to vote "yes" and urge a few others to do so, too.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: You know, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates, considering the general tendency to vote "no," when I recall not too many sessions ago when we had three items on the ballot, that we finally put an item on the ballot that said something like this: "Shall the legislative council be abolished?" And, sure enough, everything was "no" at the end of that election, and so the Legislative Council wasn't abolished. And I'm beginning to wonder, knowing the four items that were on the ballot in Illinois and all four of them soundly trounced, that we just might end up with a "no" vote on this particular proposal and in that sense some people maybe ought to consider that in voting.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the passage of Alternate Proposal No. 4-8. Those that are in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 30 "aye" votes, 67 "nay" votes, one delegate absent and not voting. Alternate Proposal No. 4-8 has failed.

Delegates, it's now five-thirty. We have one — we have four alternate — Alternate Proposal 4-4 for consideration, and then we have three alternate proposals that the committee recommended for indefinite postponement. That is what we have on the calendar. I believe maybe it would be better if we recessed from — at five-thirty now and came back about eight o'clock and finished this up.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I would like to move that we work for another hour, until about six-thirty, rather than come back.

DELEGATE BINEK: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I will be happy to put the motion if someone wants to move that we work until we complete it.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I will so move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Nicholas that we come back — we continue to work until such time as we have cleared the calendar.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And it's been seconded by Delegate Devine.

Now is there any further discussion? Hearing none — Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

I'll move that the motion be after a ten-minute recess.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll take the other motion first. The motion is that we continue to work until we finish our calendar, and the motion has been seconded.

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

What is on the calendar?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I just read those four items there.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Are those final three alternate proposals on the calendar?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: They're not on the calendar, Delegate Aubol, but they — we agreed at one point today to not consider them until we had considered these others, if you will recall that. Remember? And we withdrew them.

So the motion before the Convention is that we continue to work until such time as we have completed the work at the desk. As many as are in favor — Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, I would just like to urge that this motion to continue working be defeated. Because we are going to need at least two hours, I think, to finish this up. And by that time most of the eating places will be closed.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I speak for the motion. I think we've got a job to do, and I think we should stay here until we get this calendar cleaned up.

And, Mr. Cart, I'll find a sandwich for you someplace.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I would just like to say that Mr. Cart and I don't go to the same places.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion that we continue to work until such time as we have completed our calendar. As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and we'll continue to work.

The Chair will declare a ten-minute recess. Please be back in ten minutes.

(The Session recessed at 5:35 P.M. until 5:48 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please come to order. The Convention will please come to order.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I move that the Rules be suspended and that 4-4 be moved to tenth order, that it not be read, —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Huh-uh. Don't. He moves to adopt the amendments.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Oh, adopt the amendments. Okay. Is it on sixth order now?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yeah.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Okay. I move that we adopt the amendments for 4-4.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that the Rules be suspended; that we adopt the amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-4. Do I have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug moves — seconds the motion.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Want to dispense with the reading?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Pardon?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Want to dispense with the reading or not?

DELEGATE DAWSON: Yeah, dispense with the reading.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The motion is by Delegate Dawson that the Rules be suspended, that we dispense with the reading of the amendments, and that we adopt the amendments to Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 as recommended by the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and the amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I move that 4-4 be moved to tenth order for passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that the Rules be suspended and that Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 be placed on tenth order for passage. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engelter.

Any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it, and Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 is before the Convention.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I want to move the amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-4 is as follows:

Delete Section 8 "Enactment" and renumber the lines and section accordingly.

DELEGATE LAMB: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE LAMB: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Lamb.

Now do we have any discussion?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Now, Mr. President, I favor putting Section 2, 4, 5 and 9 on the ballot separately, but it makes no sense whatsoever to put Section 8 on the ballot separately. The only difference between Section 8 in your alternate proposal and Section 8 in the main body proposal is that the period of time that the Legislature could not repeal or amend, initiate or refer a measure would be changed from seven years to ten years. I fail, first of all, to see any significance in changing it from seven to ten years.

Secondly, it's been pointed out that in our bicameral-unicameral alternatives this creates a rather difficult technical problem. So having heard a little bit of argument for changing this to ten years, I think we should adopt this amendment which would make it seven years, uniform throughout.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Ladies and Gentlemen:

Well, we are back to cutting the dog's tail off an inch at a time now. The reason I have ten years in here instead of forever — which I might point out to you is the way the present Constitution is — it takes a two-thirds vote forever now, the way it is. And I met with the committee, I met with about three committees on it, and I thought I was being as reasonable as I could. I would have rather had the whole — the proposal — the old one entirely. But they said, because we have a certain set form and schedule, numbering, that I should change. So I did. We rewrote the whole thing to conform with their rules, but to leave a separate and a definite choice. And a separate and definite choice is quite a difference between seven and ten years. And I think it will give the people that like the old provision at least a little edge over the seven years. They may not like the change at all, but it will be some change. And if we are going to have alternates, they shouldn't be amended to be almost the same. And I'd urge you to defeat this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offerred by Delegate Dobson that we strike Section 8. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." Those in favor of adopting the amendment say "aye;" those opposed say "nay." The "ayes" it. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Division, please.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is sufficient. Division will be granted.

The question again is on the adoption of the amendment to strike Section 8. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your preference. Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 58 "ayes," 36 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. So the amendment has been adopted.

The question before the Convention —

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: I think, Mr. President, that we better — if we're going to have that amendment we'd better take out the words that refer to it in the ballot also; referring to the ten and seven years. And I so move. It would be in the ballot, on the first portion of the ballot, take out the words after the semicolon, after "measure" on the sixth line from the bottom.

DELEGATE SINNER: Take the semicolon.

DELEGATE LAMB: Take the semicolon and make that a period. And then go down to "years.," take that part out, too, and then on the next page it would be after the semicolon after "measures for ten years after the effective date," the whole rest of it, make that a period instead of a semicolon.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does the desk have the proposed amendments?

Delegate Hoghaug, do you have a question?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President and Delegates:

I think for the Ballot Committee to be consistent on the ballot, the order should be reversed; the two percent and those parts should be first, and then the 10,000, 7,000 signatures and that should be second. The committee, as I understand it, voted that anything that this body adopted would be listed in the front position and the alternate proposal would be listed second. So I would suggest that the ballot part should be reversed.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I think that the ones that are on the delegates' desks are supposed to have it in that form. At least the one that I have does. The ones that were passed out later today — not in committee this morning but later today — begin with two percent; right?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: I'm sorry, Mr. President, I was looking at the old sheet.

DELEGATE GEELAN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE GEELAN: While you're struggling with this amendment, aren't we faced with the same question now? Can we take this first proposal out of the Constitution and place it as an alternate? Isn't that the same problem that we had in the other proposal?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: May I ask a question of the Chair? When was it in the process of our procedure here did we put all our proposals into one united document?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe, Delegate Hendrickson, that you people in the Committee on Style and Drafting are the ones that put them into these individual articles that we have been considering at the time that we considered your changes and the language and the grammar and the punctuation and so forth. At that time the Committee on Style and Drafting are the ones that placed them in a group.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Well, perhaps my understanding was wrong. But perhaps I can ask, Mr. Chairman, I thought that we put these in this form for convenience sake but they were kept as individual proposals by putting the number in the edge — at the edge and that way we considered them really an individual proposal and grouped them together for convenience sake. I didn't realize we had grouped them together as a whole into one document yet.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I don't believe that we have put them in one document as yet. I believe that your interpretation is right. There is a little notation on the margin showing the origination of each of the statutes, you see, in articles that we have now. I think that's — but this was done in your Committee on Style and Drafting.

The Clerk will read the amendments as offered by Delegate Lamb.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal as recommended by the Committee on Constitutional Ballot be amended as follows:

In the amendment in Section 2 after the words "an appropriation measure" delete the following: "; measure may not be repealed or amended except by two-thirds vote of legislative assembly for a period of seven years."

Then in the same Section 2 after the words "emergency measures" delete the following: "; for ten years after the effective date, measure may not be repealed or amended except by a two-thirds vote of the legislative assembly".

DELEGATE LANDER: Put a couple of periods into that.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: We didn't take the period out, so it stayed there.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is that in line with your amendment, Delegate Lamb?

DELEGATE LAMB: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion on the amendments? The question is on the amendments as offered by Delegate Lamb. May we have a second? Do we have a second to that proposal?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Omdahl.

And Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President, I don't understand the amendment. I had some legal advice here, and I didn't pay too strict attention.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you like it re-read?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Please.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle, would you like the amendment re-read?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Please.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will re-read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-4.

In the amendment in Section 2 after the words "an appropriation measure" delete the following: "; measure may not be repealed or amended except by two-thirds vote of legislative assembly for a period of seven years."

Then in the same Section 2 after the words "emergency measures" delete the following: "; for ten years after the effective date, measure may not be repealed or amended except by a two-thirds vote of the legislative assembly".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Would Delegate Lamb please yield to a question?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Lamb yield?

DELEGATE POULSON: As I understand this amendment on the proposed alternate ballot in both instances the voters would be voting irrespective of how they voted whether they wanted a two percent carry of it or the 7,000 signature carry of it; the seven-year waiting period — that is what I like to call it — would be deleted so that, in other words, the legislative assembly could, if they so chose, in the next session repeal?

DELEGATE LAMB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lamb.

DELEGATE LAMB: Delegate Poulson, no, they would not. Because from the prior amendment of Delegate Dobson's we took out of the proposal the period of ten years. And so we will revert back to what we have already passed, seven years. We are not — the people won't be speaking to the period of years except in the main body of the Constitution.

DELEGATE POULSON: Thank you very much.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Lamb.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no." Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The amendment is adopted.

Any further discussion?

Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I suppose it's necessary to properly re-engross 4-4 and place it on tenth order for passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that the Rules be suspended, that Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 be deemed properly re-engrossed, that it be placed on the calendar for passage as amended.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE FIEDLER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's seconded by Delegate Fiedler.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 is before the Convention for passage.

Is there any discussion?

Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President:

I guess everyone is ready to vote on it. I suppose they've made up their minds. My whole political background is such that I'm happy that we're retaining the initiative and referendum in the Constitution. But I can see no justification whatsoever with retaining the present number of signatures. The number of signatures that was worked out by the Constitution, the two percent and the four percent, seem completely reasonable to me. And I think that this alternate should be defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion? The question then is on the passage of Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 as amended. Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key, and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 34 "ayes," 58 "nays," six delegates absent and not voting. Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 has failed to pass.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President:

I would move at this time that we change our order a little bit and move 4-5 to the top of the tenth order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson moves that we move —

DELEGATE DAWSON: I believe, Mr. President, we have to return that from committee.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. Dawson, should that be one of the amendments?

DELEGATE DAWSON: No, that's a blue sheet.

Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Did we have these in committee? Do we have to move them back to the floor?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll have to take them back through the desk, through the Clerk, on fifth order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Or seventh order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seventh?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yeah.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I guess it's seventh, seventh order.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Can we move then to bring back 4-3, 4-5 and 4-6 all in one motion, and that 4-5 be placed at the top?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe that we will just accept these one, two, three, and then your motion will be in order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: 4-5 first.

DELEGATE DAWSON: 4-5; right.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to whom was referred Alternate Proposal 4-5, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Alternate Proposal No. 4-5; that it be indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I believe some of the delegates are looking for 4-5 and 4-6 in the white sheets. They are not in the white sheets because there was no change made, so they are in the blue sheets in the back of your Journals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the Committee Report that Alternate Proposal 4-5 be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President:

Now if the Committee's Report is accepted on voice vote here, that is the end of the proposal; is that right? It does not go to sixth order for any more action, or tenth order?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct. This is the motion to indefinitely postpone Alternate Proposal No. 4-5.

If there is no explanation — Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Are we on the — we're on the adoption of the Committee Report?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are; yes, sir.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President:

I have felt very strongly about this matter of having appointed rather than elected judges. But I notice that the delegates would rather keep the number of measures on the ballot down to a minimum. Three or four seem to be the most popular. And since there seems to be a sharp break in the number of points accumulated by the measures at this point I think that it would make a cleaner ballot to keep this off the ballot even though I sure would like to see George Longmire when he's back in the Legislature put it on the ballot at some later date.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the Alternate Proposal Report on No. 4-5; that it be indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: As many as are in favor of adopting the report will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it, and the report is adopted and Alternate Proposal No. 4-5 has been indefinitely postponed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I move that the Rules be suspended and 4-6 be moved to the top of the tenth order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: This will be on sixth order. And the motion is not necessary, Delegate Dawson.

The Clerk will read the Committee Report.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-6, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Dawson, chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Alternate Proposal No. 4-6; that the proposal be indefinitely postponed. Do we have any discussion?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Question.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any discussion? Hearing none, the question again is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Alternate Proposal No. 4-6; that it be indefinitely postponed. As many as are in favor of adopting the report will vote "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted. Alternate Proposal No. 4-6 is indefinitely postponed.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Constitutional Ballot, to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-3, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Dawson, Chairman.

Delegate Dawson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report on Alternate Proposal No. 4-3; that the report be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Meidinger or Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

We are right back where we were this morning. I realize this is an uphill battle, especially at this time of the night, because I'd like to go and eat dinner, too. But I would like to at least explain. It isn't probably on the question exactly. I realize the question is the motion for indefinite postponement. But if you don't mind, I would like to explain a little bit what I had in mind and then you can vote the proposal down and perhaps over this evening or dinner hour you can think about it and you might change your mind in the morning.

The reason — you will see on your desk you have a copy of this proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal No. 4-3. You will notice on the back page the two alternates, A and B, which, if this proposal was passed, this is what the people would be voting on. One thing about it I would say this; it is not a "yes" and "no" vote. We passed one earlier here today which calls for "yes" or "no" votes. And I think those are very dangerous. But what this will do, as you will see, it will add in one place four more to be voted upon. And the thinking behind it was this: I think that wherever constitutional revision comes up between now and election time, one of the most hotly-debated issues is going to be the short and the long ballot in the executive department. I — in my committee I'm real proud of our committee action. And my personal feelings are that we came out with a real good proposal. And I'm not speaking here at this time because I think that we didn't, I think we did. My only reason for even talking about this is because I would like to see this Constitution passed. And I'm sure that the pressure is going to be on about the short ballot and the long ballot. And I was thinking of this as sort of a pop-off valve if we have something like this as an alternate. The thinking behind it was that there are four state officials presently elected by the Constitution who perhaps should be considered in matters that are here and they are not named. My thought was this: That we apparently decided here that we are not going to do anything different about the Auditor; we are going to have an Auditor General. So I'm not thinking about that, and I'm not — but what we do have, though — oh, yeah, and I'm not thinking about the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and not about the Labor Commissioner, because that is statutory now. But we do have the State Treasurer, the Agricultural Commissioner, the Insurance Commissioner and the Tax Commissioner. Now, I haven't listed these by name, but it just calls for four principal departments and to elect four more.

Now I realize that this might defeat some of the thinking that my committee had when we came out here, we came out with our proposal. But maybe it could possibly be the means of saving this Constitution.

Now I'm sure you all saw in the paper here yesterday or the day before there is going to be a meeting here in Bismarck next week. They call themselves "State Representative Government" and they are going to also oppose appointment rather than election of certain state officials. I don't know exactly which ones they are thinking about, but this is the type of a thing that I can see coming.

My friend, the downtown automobile dealer, threatened in November he's going to take after this area of the Constitution. So these are the reasons we are doing this. And, as I said before, I realize it's getting late and it's an uphill battle trying to change this thing tonight. But what I am asking for now is that you resist the motion for indefinite postponement. And I hope that you do, and then we can have a further discussion on this tonight or tomorrow morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion to adopt the Committee Report for indefinite postponement to Alternate Proposal No. 4-3.

Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President:

I'm not going into this. I explained it all to you this morning. I hope that you will back up the committee and vote for the indefinite postponement. I call your attention again to the letter from the Attorney General. And this wasn't an opinion that he made in five or ten minutes; this is one that he considered with his staff and said in the last paragraph that, "Under this proposal the Legislature could take away the Governor's power to appoint even before he makes any appointments." So I think we have compromised this thing about as far as we can go and still keep some of the features in there for possible reorganization, which could not be done even under the alternate proposal as suggested by Delegate Hernetts when he goes on with four other principal departments as being constitutionally elective. And, therefore, I hope you back up the committee and move for indefinite postponement.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Well, Mr. President and Delegates:

I know Delegate Hernetts doesn't make any moves without doing a lot of thinking on the subject. And I think he's right. I think we should leave this overnight and think about it. Because I am sure — I'm sure that this is going to be one of the real bugaboos to getting our Constitution passed. And I think what his proposal is is reasonable. And I think if we don't think about it, why there's going to be quite a few speak to us in a short period of time on how they do feel about this. I know they have wrestled with this, they have wrestled with that. They have got a pretty good proposal. What Delegate Hernetts has proposed here is probably a real good valve, or whatever you want to call it, that just might be enough. And it has a lot of merit. And I think we should defeat the indefinite postponement, give us a little chance to think about it until tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I think this is one of those that we term a "sleeper". And both Tony Binek and I know that in our end of the state they are very concerned about this particular area. And I do hope that you defeat the committee's idea and go along with further discussion and look into it a little bit further.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: I urge you to uphold the committee. Because what's the question here is not shall we add four more elected officials, but shall we virtually destroy the heart of the executive article which was adopted by this Convention several days ago? Because without the power to reorganize the executive department, and if — if the Governor is surrounded by elected officials, then the power to reorganize the executive department has been effectively destroyed. We will find ourselves leaving here with the executive department the same maze of crisscrossing lines of responsibility and ineffectual administration with which we came here.

This is the heart and I think the most important matter that was before the delegates. And to accept this type of an amendment would destroy the executive article if adopted. I hope that it is defeated.

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. Chairman, Fellow Delegates:

I'd like to have you know what happened to me yesterday morning. My wife and I went to two different churches — (applause) — and for also two reasons. I was wondering myself if I would be asked any questions in regard to our proposed new Constitution. I never had a chance to put my overshoes on in either one of the two churches until people came to me and asked me, "What are you going to do with the election of your state officers?" Every person that came to me and spoke, these were the people talking that I saw yesterday morning, were in favor of an opportunity of a side issue on this. I tried to explain to them that we did have a good proposal, it can be reviewed, it could be changed. Invariably they came back and said, "If we don't have it, there's only one way we can do it and that's to vote against the entire document." I thought this was quite interesting. These were people from church that were concerned in government. I, therefore, would definitely urge a defeat to the committee's report.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the Committee Report to indefinitely postpone Alternate Proposal No. 4-3.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Now the sheet that we have in front of us was not a part of the committee report, though; is that correct, Delegate Dawson?

DELEGATE DAWSON: No.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I would pass.

DELEGATE BAKER: Question.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I would just like to reiterate what some of the committee has said here in this regard; that if we take the Constitution — if we think the Constitution is so endangered that you are going to cut the heart out of the executive section in order to save it, that's exactly what we're talking about here. Because I think you can visualize how the thing is going to work. If you elect each of these people, put them around the table as a planning council now, and each one of them knows he's completely autonomous regardless of what the rest of them vote on, the rest of them do, the rest of them say, all he has to do, the only person he is responsible for in his own mind, is not for good state government, he's responsible for one thing, that's getting elected next time. And if you study this thing, we've been studying it for six months, if you really think that you've got to take the heart out of the executive article in order to have the people of North Dakota approve it, then vote for resisting this indefinite postponement. As for me, I would definitely be for indefinite postponement.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Delegate Hernet may or may not thank me, with my great personal popularity here, but I support his amendment. I would like to say that we have had no scarcity of gubernatorial candidates either this year or for many years. In fact, we have too many in some parties. These people take the office knowing what the rules are. Now we've had one for a long time, and he wants to have more power. But we'll have governors, I hope, in my lifetime who don't last that long. And they won't want to reorganize as badly as he has done. They do not have to run for this office if it's so frustrating.

I might tell you that being in the Legislature or a convention like this has its frustrating moments when you don't win very often. And he could just as well elect the other officers and not worry so much about it.

Now so far as the people out in our district are concerned, Delegate Peterson, who is of the opposite political party than me, agrees with me wholeheartedly this is one of the three big things. And regardless how important it is to some of us here, it was important to the people. And I personally — we have some awfully good sections in this Constitution. I'd hate to see them go down the drain because of one section, although I'm voting my convictions anyway. I think we should elect them. I told the committee early in the deal, I met with the committee, and said I wouldn't object to cutting down on the number of state officers, but I wanted to elect them. So I am not switching, I'm on the record. I hope Delegate Hernet's amendment carries.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

Just for the record, Delegate Hernet does not have an amendment before the Convention.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Okay.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: I just have to say this, Mr. President, it's really strange how some people here are so concerned with the heart of the executive functions section and could care less about the heart of the legislative sections. I would support the move not to indefinitely postpone this.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I just have one pertinent comment, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: The ones who are supporting the move to indefinitely postpone are apparently assuming that the people are going to vote for the four additional candidates. In other words, you don't trust the people.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the committee report to — that Alternate Proposal 4-3 be indefinitely postponed.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President:

What I started to rise to say here a little bit ago and decided against it I have decided now again to say. That I think that if the proponents of this would like to wait until morning I'm not opposed to that. I think they have that right to give it that much more consideration. I, therefore, move that the motion before us be tabled until tomorrow morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I'll have to rule your motion out of order. We have no provision in our Rules to table.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: As a member of this Ballot Committee, we were confronted with so many issues that some of us got to the point where we were ready to indefinitely postpone every one of them. Now we have covered the nine of them. Now we are now down to three. The majority of the delegates spoke and said they wouldn't mind four. Now if this is such an important issue, I can't see but what we could sleep on this overnight and listen to the amendments that they want. I've heard them. I can't say I am ninety-nine and two-thirds percent impressed, but there's some merit. And I would urge now to defeat the committee's proposal, hear out Mr. Hernet and his constituents, and then maybe we can vote him down then. But they will have had their chance to have had a hearing.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Who asked? Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. Chairman:

I move that this particular issue, Alternate Proposal 4-3, be laid over one Convention day.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved and seconded that Alternate Proposal No. 4-3 be laid over one Convention day. Is there any further discussion? Hearing none —

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I wish that the amendments could be placed on our desks so that we can have a chance to look at them before discussion in the morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are copies of Delegate Hernet's —

DELEGATE HERNETT: They are on everybody's desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: They are on everybody's desk; is that right?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Been there for a day.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then the question before the Convention is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Poulson that Alternate Proposal No. 4-3, further consideration of Alternate Proposal No. 4-3, be laid over one legislative —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Convention.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — Convention day.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The Chair is going to rule that the “ayes” have it.

DELEGATE POULSON: Division.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Division has been requested. That is a sufficient number. It will be granted.

The question is on the motion to lay Alternate Proposal No. 4-3 — to lay it over one Convention day. Those in favor of that motion will vote “aye;” those opposed will vote “nay.” The Clerk will open the key, you will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed. The tally indicates 70 “aye” votes, 25 “nay” votes, three delegates absent and not voting. The motion to lay over Alternate Proposal No. 4-3 one Convention day has passed, and it will be considered tomorrow.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: May we be on the eighth order of business?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be on the eighth order of business, without objection.

DELEGATE PAULSON: The long-delayed Public Information Meeting is now scheduled for eight A.M. tomorrow in the Large Hearing Room downstairs. Need you all for some advice.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President:

We have a short, very short, but very important meeting of the Coordination and Transition Committee immediately after adjournment here tonight in G-5, G-6. Bring your proposals so we can get it in proper form for introduction tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President:

While we are thinking overnight, I think we should think about what we did with the initiative and referendum alternative.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further announcements?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: The Style and Drafting Committee will meet tomorrow morning at eight-thirty in G-7.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Any further announcements under the eighth order?

The Chair will recognize Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: The Calendar Committee will meet at nine-thirty tomorrow morning, February 15th. Tuesday, nine-thirty.

I now — I move that we adjourn until ten A.M.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Excuse the absent.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: There were no absent members.

DESK REPORTER KING: He came in.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: There were no absent members. I believe that's right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves —

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: And I move we will adjourn until ten A.M., February 15th.

DELEGATE CHASE: Second.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Saugstad, seconded by Delegate Chase, that the absent delegates be excused — it's been moved by Delegate Saugstad and seconded by Delegate Kwako that we do now adjourn until ten o'clock tomorrow morning. Those in favor of the motion will say “aye;” those opposed say “no.” The “ayes” have it. We will be adjourned until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 6:43 P.M., Monday, February 14th, 1972 until 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, February 15, 1972.)

V O L U M E XXIX

(February 15, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The twenty-ninth day of the Plenary Session commenced at 10:17 A.M., Tuesday, February 15, 1972, as follows:)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Please come to order. All delegates in their seats, please. All delegates in their seats?

This morning the invocation will be given by Pastor H. E. Hendrickson, Trinity Lutheran Church of Bismarck.

REV. HENSEL HENDRICKSON: Let us pray.

This is an important place, dear God, a temple dealing with lives and hopes of people.

This is an important time, dear God, summarizing ideas and feelings in togetherness.

This is an important event, dear God, to count the blessings of the past and to plan for the contemplation of the future.

These are important people, dear God, with much responsibility and many burdens to carry.

There have been many important words written and spoken, dear God, to guarantee people liberties You have allowed us to have.

May what is said and done here point to Your importance as our Lord and as our God.

In Your name, we pray. Amen.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Next we'll be on roll call. The board will be opened and you will indicate your presence. Saugstad is present.

Has everyone indicated their presence? The board will be closed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Do you want to indicate President Wenstrom's presence? I think he's down visiting with the Attorney General. He didn't indicate on the board.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: There are 97 percent. Therefore, we have a quorum.

Next we'll be on the — Delegate Rundle, did you wish the floor?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: May we be on the eighth order? No. Tenth order. Twelfth order. Now the advice is coming in — motions and resolutions.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Would you allow us, first, to have the Journal approved, and then we'll — all right. We're on item four — Approval of the Journal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has carefully examined the Journal of the 11th day of February, 1972, and recommends that the same be corrected as follows:

On page 458, line 23, delete the word "first" and insert in lieu thereof "second".

On page 460, on line 8, delete the word "first" and insert in lieu thereof "second".

And when so corrected, recommends the same be approved.

Delegate Paulson, Acting Chairman.

Delegate Dobson moved the Report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Now the Chair will recognize you.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I apologize for being in such a hurry, but Delegate Hill has been prodding me.

Mr. President, I move that we reconsider the action by which we indefinitely postponed Alternate Proposal 4-4 — is that correct? Barbara was supposed to keep me posted. 4-4.

DELEGATE LANDER: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle — Delegate Rundle. The Chair would hold at the present time that in this — at this particular moment, that your motion is out of order, in that we have before us the Committee — actually, we are presently on item five, which is the Report of Standing Committees, and we are acting on the Report of the Ballot Committee, and we are on Proposal 4-3, which was up for indefinite postponement, and upon — and we are still on that motion. And what happened was that last night, when we recessed, without having taken care — and we were still debating that motion, and so at this time technically we should not accept another motion until the motion that is before us has been taken care of.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Thank you.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. Chairman.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Isn't it possible to honor Delegate Rundle's request here somehow, either by moving that this particular motion be moved to the top of the calendar before we consider the pending business?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe that it is always proper to introduce a motion to temporarily suspend consideration of what we have before us, if you choose to do so.

DELEGATE CHASE: I so move that we temporarily suspend what we have before us and consider that one.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Further action on Delegate Proposal 4-3?

DELEGATE CHASE: Yes.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Now we have had a motion to temporarily suspend further action on Delegate Proposal 4-3. Now was there a second to that motion? Seconded by Delegate Paulson.

Now, does anyone wish to speak on this motion? I believe Delegate Hoffner was on the floor, first, and then Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President. On the last page of the Journal, page 490, Delegate Paulson moved that the Alternate Proposal 4-3 be laid over one Convention day, and I didn't think that that necessarily meant that it would necessarily have to be the first order of business today.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hernettt.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. Chairman, I was hoping it would be the first order of business today. This is the order of business we adjourned on last night, and I'd like to continue it. I think this is something that should be settled before we get onto the other one. I hope this motion does not prevail.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I hope that the motion does prevail. This particular issue sort of slipped by the Convention — at least I thought so, yesterday. Personally, I was kind of surprised that no one spoke on the subject, and then I thought, well, maybe they all felt like I did; the Committee had come out strongly in favor of placing initiative and referendum on the ballot, but then when the board went up there, it was all red, and I certainly think this issue merits more discussion and we ought to go back and pick up the pieces before we proceed. And so I hope that we will support the motion that has been made on the floor.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

We're on the motion of Delegate Chase that further consideration of Delegate Proposal 4-3 be temporarily suspended.

I am now — now, if you vote — you're voting to temporarily suspend further consideration of Delegate Proposal 4-3, which, as I understand it, is to open up for a further motion that we may reconsider action on Delegate Proposal 4-4. So, if you're voting "aye," you are voting to suspend further consideration of Delegate Proposal 4-3.

I will now put the motion. I will now put the main motion.

All in favor signify by saying "aye." All opposed "nay."

The Chair will rule the "ayes" have it, unless a division is called for. How many want a division?

All right. The "ayes" have it. So that now the motion of Delegate Chase prevails and we will temporarily suspend further consideration of Delegate Proposal 4-3.

Now the Chair will recognize Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. How do you proceed, Delegate Hill? I'm not quite sure of the motion involved. I yield to Delegate Hill.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Well, I was mainly involved with drafting a viable alternative here, and at this time I would move we reconsider the action yesterday by which we indefinitely postponed Alternate Proposal 4-4.

Is that in order?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The motion really should, I suppose, be that by which Delegate — or Alternate Proposal 4-4 lost.

DELEGATE HILL: All right.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Are you now placing that in the form of a motion?

DELEGATE HILL: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: You are moving that this body reconsider its action by which Delegate Proposal — or Alternate Proposal 4-4 lost?

DELEGATE HILL: That's correct.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Rundle. Is there any discussion now?

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I'll recognize Delegate Hill, first.

DELEGATE HILL: This is essentially the same proposal which was submitted as an alternate by Delegate Rundle, with one exception; it provides that a referendum petition shall not suspend the operation of a statute enacted by the Legislature unless it has 12,000 signatures on the petition, and the petition itself requests that the measure be suspended. 7,000 signatures under this alternate would be adequate to refer a measure. But the presumption would be that the Legislature acted correctly, rather than the petitioners, and the measure would not be suspended until it was voted out by the people, if that was their decision.

Delegate Rundle, you may recall yesterday we first voted on Section 8, which was a provision that the two-thirds vote needed a change in an initiated or referred measure approved by the people being in effect ten years. Delegate Rundle has requested that be placed back on the alternate, and it is there. But the main change — or what this alternate does, from the proposal adopted by the majority of the delegates to this proposal, is that it provides that an initiative measure can be submitted to the people by 10,000 votes, rather than 12,000 votes; a measure can be referred by the electors with 7,000 signatures, rather than 12,000-some signatures, which two percent would be, and maintained, as I said from yesterday, is that a measure shall not be suspended on a referendum unless it has 12,000 petitioners and the petitioners so request. And I want to point out one of the reasons for this, and I think this is somewhat the same statement I made earlier when I tried to change the majority of the Legislative Functions Committee proposal, and what we're doing when we say "a measure shall be suspended until voted on by the electors," is we're saying that the petitioners are probably correct and we should suspend the law immediately. In effect, we're saying that the Legislature acted foolishly, and I think we should give the benefit of the doubt to the Legislature, because here's what can happen: If, for example, the Accounts and Purchasing Department, when their appropriation was referred, their department should have been closed up, according to our Constitution. They didn't. If our new Constitution is adopted, we're going to have a host of new laws which set forth the duties of the various new departments. Say, for example, the Board of Higher Education. They are created now by Article 54 of our present Constitution. That provision of the Constitution would be repealed on July 1 of '73, if approved, and then the Legislature would have to establish the Board of Higher Education as provided by the Constitution. If somebody referred the law passed by the Legislature establishing the Board of Higher Education, the question is: Who would run the institutions pending the outcome of the election?

The supreme courts of a number of states have said that the Legislature has no authority to pass a law identical or close to the assumptions of the measure which is referred by the electorate. I could say on the initiative rank, which create the various new departments that are going to be created, some of the old officers and such, and the other departments which may be repealed, may be in a different section of the law or they may be in one that's not referred. Who carries out these functions of the government when that measure is suspended pending the outcome of the election? And this is what we're doing, basically, when we provide for suspension pending the vote — is we're providing for chaos in the state government. And all the people that worked in the state government and have seen the effects of these initiatives and referrals over the last several years would agree that the suspension of a law pending the outcome of a vote is the deadliest thing that can happen in the referral and initiative process, and most of the people who initiate — or refer these measures, they are not concerned about suspending the law, except in certain types of statutes, and I don't think that we should require a suspension, and this would be an alternate, I think, that would work quite well, if placed on the ballot, and I would urge you support this alternate.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Butler — Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, Delegate Hill is doing a good job of confusing the delegates on talking on an amendment which hasn't been offered. But the question before us is shall AP 4-4 be reconsidered? I think it should be, because if we put the signature increase in the main body of the Constitution, it's like putting a stick of dynamite in there, because at least a substantial minority, if not a majority of the voters in the State, oppose the signature increase. I think 4-4 should be on the ballot as a separate issue. So I support reconsideration. If we reconsider, Delegate Hill could offer his amendments, which, by the way, were soundly rejected a few weeks ago for a very good reason, and they should be rejected again, and we should simply take 4-4 as it now stands and use that as the alternate.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President. I would also like to urge reconsideration of our action yesterday.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Did someone else ask for the floor? Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I would certainly support this motion to reconsider. I don't think that we had the opportunity yesterday to really give this important issue all the consideration that is due it. I hope you vote to support the measure.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I, too, rise to support the motion to reconsider.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President. I request that we have a tabulated vote on it; not recorded.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Butler requests a division vote, but not a recorded vote. Is that correct?

(Delegate Butler nodded.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That will be fine. A division vote will be granted.

Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. President, I have no objection to the reconsideration, but I just don't like the underhanded way of heading off another proposal, and I just want to voice my opinion that this isn't according to Hoyle, at least.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I would also like to correct that impression. I drafted an alternate for what I thought was an improved initiative and referendum alternate. I had no intention of killing another alternate proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the main motion of Delegate Hill, which is to reconsider the action taken on Alternate Proposal 4-4, which had failed to pass yesterday. I am now ready — no. I'm going to open the board and you may indicate your choice. If you vote "aye," you are voting to reconsider. If you vote "no," you are voting against reconsideration.

The board will be opened and you may indicate your choice.

Saugstad votes "nay."

Has everyone indicated their vote? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed.

The vote indicates 71 "ayes," 25 "nays," two absent and not voting. Therefore, the motion to reconsider has carried.

Now we have before us Alternate Proposal 4-4.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Is this working?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I believe the — I offer the amendment, and I believe it's at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: There's a printed sheet up here, but it doesn't say what you want to delete, nor does it say what you want to insert in lieu thereof, and we would have to be working off the amendments as adopted yesterday on page 480 of your Journal.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: You mean the attorney slipped?

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I believe Delegate Rundle would like to make his amendment to delete everything after Article III and insert in lieu thereof what is printed on that page.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: After Article III?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle, is your motion then to delete everything after Article III? — that is, Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Yes.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I believe, if Delegate Rundle had a druther, he's druther leave Section 9 alone and leave that in.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle, did I hear you — understand you correctly to say that you would like to move — I understand from the desk force that Section 8 was eliminated yesterday by an amendment from the floor.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: That was to be in the amendment. The thing is exactly the same as it was as I offered it yesterday, with the exception of another section that Delegate Hill mentioned, where the petition — it will not suspend the operation unless it has 12,000 signers. That's Section 4 on the sheet that was prepared.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: As I understand it then —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Mr. Clerk, read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: As I understand, you want to delete everything in the engrossed alternate proposal, starting with Article III. You would take that out and in Section 2, you would delete Section 4, and Section 5, you would delete in its entirety. Is that correct?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Okay. I'm getting advice from so many quarters here that I am having trouble. 2, 4 and 5 would be deleted.

Does that check?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Then you want to —

DELEGATE RUNDLE: And the new material be inserted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: And insert the new material and renumber the lines and pages accordingly?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Correct. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: In the engrossed Alternate Proposal, delete Article III — all of the following: Article III, all of Section 2, all of Section 4, all of Section 5. Insert in lieu thereof the following sections:

"Section 2. PETITION.

"Each copy of the petition shall contain the full text of the measure and the names and addresses of at least five sponsors, one of whom shall be designated as chairman. No law shall prohibit any person from giving or receiving compensation for circulating petitions nor interfere with freedom in securing signatures.

"Section 4. SIGNATURE REQUIREMENT.

"The petition may be submitted to the secretary of state if signed by ten thousand electors in the case of an initiated measure and seven thousand electors in the case of a referred measure. A referendum petition signed by twelve thousand electors shall suspend the operation of all but emergency measures, if so requested in the petition.

"Section 5. SUBMISSION.

"A referendum petition may be submitted only within ninety days after the filing of the measure with the secretary of state. The submission of a petition against one or more items or parts of any measure shall not prevent the remainder from going into effect. A referred or initiated measure shall be voted upon at the first statewide election held more than ninety days after the submission of the petitions or at a special election called by the governor.

"Section 6. CERTIFICATION.

"The secretary of state shall determine the validity and sufficiency of the signatures. If he finds irregularities, he shall notify the sponsoring committee and allow twenty days for corrections, but this time shall not be used for the addition of signatures. If the secretary of state finds a petition valid and sufficient, he shall certify it and prepare a ballot containing the full text of the measure and a ballot title summarizing the measure.

"Section 8. ENACTMENT.

"If a majority of votes cast upon an initiated or a referred measure are affirmative, it shall be deemed enacted. An initiated or referred measure which is approved shall become law thirty days after the election. If conflicting measures are approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall be law. For ten years from its effective date, a measure approved by the electors may not be repealed or amended by the legislative assembly except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house."

Evidently I skipped a part of a sentence in Section 8, Enactment. So I'll read that over.

"If a majority of votes cast upon an initiated or a referred measure are affirmative, it shall be deemed enacted. An initiated or referred measure which is approved shall become law thirty days after the election, and a referred measure which is rejected shall be void immediately. If conflicting measures are approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall be law. For ten years from its effective date, a measure approved by the electors may not be repealed or amended by the legislative assembly except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President and members of the Convention:

This is what is commonly known as a compromise, and sometimes the word "compromise" denotes cowardice. But I gave in on a section that had been bothering quite a few people. Otherwise, it's the same as I had it yesterday. It gives quite a division for an alternate proposal. There's enough difference between that and the one in the main body, so there's some choice, and I urge its adoption.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: This appears to be a compromise between Delegates Rundle and Hill. As you might recall, this matter of suspending referred measures came across the floor sometime ago. I'm not going to belabor you again with all the reasons why a measure should be suspended when referred. Suffice to say that Delegates Rundle and Hill's idea as contained in Section 4 of their amendment was defeated by this body by a two-to-one margin, and something this defective should not be placed even in an alternate by a back-door method at this late date.

Secondly, Section 8, "Enactment," the only change there is from "seven years" to "ten years," and I haven't heard a good reason yet why it was changed from "seven years" to "ten years," and that's why this body yesterday voted 58-to-36 to knock Section 8 out of AP 4-4. So I would urge rejection of the Rundle-Hill amendment, and having rejected the Rundle-Hill amendment, then to vote through the Constitutional Ballot Committee's proposal as contained in AP 4-4.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: I might want to just clear up one thing that was killed on the floor here a couple weeks ago. It was not only the method of suspension; it was the number of signatures required on the initiative and the referendum and the constitutional ballot. There were three other items in my amendment that was killed earlier, in addition to the method on suspension.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none — Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman and Delegates:

I find a great confusion in a great number of amendments offered, and I would much rather, as Mr. Dobson has, work from 4-4 as it was passed yesterday, and then consider it section by section, instead of having a group amendment which throws in more new curves than I am used to. I would think — and I offer this for your consideration as we come into this — that if we, as a Convention, offer to the voters a simple alternate of a lower number of signers on the initiative and referendum petitions, you then have the clearcut issue. I don't think that there is anything wrong with the basic body of law that the committee and the Convention as we have developed governing the circulation and checking of petitions. I think that the big issue is simply the number of signatures required, and I think most of us could go along with an alternate involving signatures only, and I think probably the best way to arrive at this solution is to vote down these amendments and then proceed to turn down 4-4 so that it may cover the signature requirements, only.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none, we are on the motion of Delegate Rundle that we adopt the amendments which were read from the desk. If you vote "aye," you are voting for the adoption of the amendments. If you vote "no," you vote to reject the amendments.

I am now about to put the main motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no."

The Chair will rule the "noes" have it, unless a division is called for.
Hearing no call for a division, the motion lost.

Now we have before us Alternate Proposal 4-4 as reported from the Alternate Proposal — or Ballot Committee.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I think we should point out that we have it before us not as reported by the Committee, but as amended on the floor with Section 8 deleted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. I stand corrected on that. As amended on the floor.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the adoption of this Proposal. I voted for it yesterday and was dumfounded at the vote that showed on the board. When the initiative and referral were discussed on the floor, I think I said, about as clearly as I knew how to say, that I'm not a great enthusiast for initiative and referral; but there are a lot of people who are great enthusiasts of initiative and referral, and I — I'm perfectly in accord with giving them a chance to approve the old — basically, the old system as it stands.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I'll move to amend Alternate Proposal No. 4-4 by striking Section 2 and Section 5. If these amendments are approved, then we would have to correct Section 2 as to ballot form.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson, is there a copy of your amendment at the desk?

DELEGATE PAULSON: No.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle, did you wish the floor? We're waiting now for the desk force to type up the amendment proposed by Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Then you would —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I would not want to accept any further motions until we have taken care of this matter.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-4: Delete from Article III Sections 2 and 5 in their entirety.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson, as read from the desk, was that your —

DELEGATE PAULSON: Pardon me?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. As read from the desk, was that your motion?

DELEGATE PAULSON: I was busy. Would you read it again, please?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delete from Article — in the proposed amendment to Alternate 4-4, delete from Article III Sections 2 and 5 in their entirety.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Now Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

First, I would like to correct the statement that it was a Hill-Rundle compromise, because at least a dozen people came to me — some last night already — that they were going to — they would like to have this reconsidered. And so there were several members involved. Now, if you take out Section 2 and 5 and if this amendment carries, I shall urge the defeat of the Alternate and vote against it. There is absolutely no sense — no sense of fair play whatsoever in carving something up to suit yourself. It's supposed to have some differences in it, and I would just point out to you that I did give on the ten years, and that was taken out. I might be able to live with that. Now you take out some more little things, which these don't amount to anything, and what do you have left? And I resist this amendment. You're either going to take this the way it is or kill it!

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegates — an oversight on the part of the presiding — the Chair. I did not secure a second to Delegate Paulson's motion.

Delegate McIntyre seconds Delegate Paulson's motion.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I would like to ask for a division of the question as between Sections 2 and 5 for this reason:

I think it would be unfair to Delegate Rundle to take out Section 2; but I think we can knock out Section 5, because it's really not necessary to put that on the ballot. There's not enough change there.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson has requested a division of the question — a division of the amendment, and he asks that we vote separately on the deletions of Sections 2 and 5. That request is granted.

Any further discussion?

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President, are we on the amendment?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes, we are on the amendments as offered by Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE STANTON: Okay. I want to speak against the amendment.

The purpose of an alternate is to give the people a choice, and I think it is unfortunate that some people think compromise is for other people and not themselves.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hildebrand.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Mr. President, we had one of the delegates express, just awhile ago, that they picked up other little things on this, and certainly I would like to say I, too, am opposed, although for different reasons. I believe it would be only proper that we turn the calendar back to last July, because that's about where we are when the Committee on Legislative Functions first started to work at this problem. We went through all these things. We worked hard at every committee meeting after that. We thought we came to the Convention with a good plan, and with a few minor changes accepted it. Now, this morning we have members of the Legislative Functions Committee eager to make amendments and to second amendments to cut this thing all to pieces, and I was just wondering where this leaves us. If we can't come out of this with any more positive thinking than all that, it's almost time to go home. What are we going to say when we do?

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Let's see. There were about three people up here. I'll start over here. I'll start with Delegate Berg and then Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. Chairman, I, also, am a member of the Legislative Functions Committee. I agree with Delegate Rudy to a certain extent only. During our conversation and our Committee, we definitely spoke of leaving the the section as it was. We did come up with a compromise on the figures on the two percent. I was one of the people of the Legislative Functions that did feel that this should have been a side issue. Let the people decide if they want to leave the signatures as they were or if they want to go to the two percent. I'm going to agree with some of the other delegates here that the other sections are okay; but Section 4, I believe, should be the alternate. Let them vote on that one particular section.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Now Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Probably this is the first time, Mr. Chairman, in the history of the Convention here that I have to agree with Delegate Stanton. (Laughter) I hate to say this, but I do — when she said, "Let the people decide it." What were we scared of yesterday? We were scared of the people. Now let's be down-right — are we scared of the people or are we not? And I have to take my hat off to Delegate Stanton for making that statement, and I support her one hundred percent.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE MCINTYRE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

We're talking about an alternate proposal here, and I think that we're talking about one thing, and really one thing only, and that is the number of signatures. I think, when you get out into the State, and you talk about initiative and referendum, I don't know of anybody I've talked to that has talked about anything else but the number of signatures. These other things are not that important. Now, if we want to give the people of North Dakota an alternate choice, let's do it for the right reasons. Let's do it for the number of signatures, and that is we're talking about Section 4. There's no reason to reconsider all these other sections. Section 4 is the crux of the whole thing, and why don't we admit it?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President, I think I've had more experience with this one item than anyone on the floor, and I prepared some material, submitted it to the Legislative Committee last summer, and I tried to recognize the change that had occurred in a period of 53 years. When the original figures that are now in the initiative and referendum were adopted, only men could vote, and we had a smaller population than we have today. I proposed specific figures of 12,000 for referendum and 17,000 for an initiated measure. These were not adopted. The Committee's proposal is very close on the referred figure that I submitted — two percent of our population. That figures out, in round figures, to 12,350 signatures. So there's very little difference there. There is a great, basic difference though in the present initiative and referendum to what was presented by the Committee and adopted by this Convention, and that is the prohibition against permitting anyone to pay any solicitor or one circulating petitions for their work performed. I think that is a very vital part of the functioning of this initiative and referendum process. Unless you can get a huge army of volunteers to go out and secure these signers, it's going to be pretty difficult to go out and expect the people to donate endless time and not be compensated at least for their expenses. So there are other issues than this, and the way the measure is written in and presented so far in the Constitution, the two things will stand out: That is, this signature requirement, and the prohibition against paying anyone for work in this field. So I certainly have no quarrel with the signature requirements; it's close enough to what I submitted that I will certainly support that, because I think the change is justified. We now have the men and women, both, that will sign, plus the addition of those 18, 19 and 20-year-olds, which we didn't have 53 years ago. So you have about 65-to-66 percent of your total population that is now eligible to sign these petitions, where we only had approximately 30 percent 53 years ago.

So I see no reason why this should be submitted as an alternate proposal. The issue will be clear in the Constitution as it will be submitted to the public, and they can make their determination right there.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I think that Mr. Cart should stand corrected. The proposed Constitution does not carry any prohibition on the payment for signatures. That was in the draft. It was deleted by the Convention body and the Proposal now stands silent on that question.

DELEGATE CART: That is correct. I stand corrected.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate — oh, I had promised Delegate Hendrickson. And then Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Is the motion before the house on deletion of 2 and 5?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That is correct.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Then I will not speak to the number of signatures, but I hope you'll take your green sheet and read Section 5 and see if you feel there's anything in that section that really should go out before the people. I feel that the Legislative Functions Committee and this body accepted this section there, and I support the motion to delete Section 5.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President. I support the motion of Delegate Dobson in this regard: I think that if the — those who really want to have a side issue on initiative and referendum feel that Section 2 is important — the number of electors who must represent the petitioners — I don't think we ought to just completely doctor up what they think is important and submit what we think is important to the voters. And so I think that Section 2 does have a significant enough difference so that it ought to be preserved and submitted with the number of signatures. However, I also agree with Dobson on Section 5; that there is no substantial difference between the alternate and the original; and so I don't think we need to cover up the ballot with that actual language.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none, we are now on the main motion of Delegate Paulson —

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: Either I'm confused or Delegate Paulson and Delegate Cart are confused. In Article III on our white sheet of the proposed Procedural Committee Report, on the last two lines of that page, it says, "No law shall prohibit any person from giving or receiving compensation for circulating petitions," which was passed 34-to-58.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Hearing no further discussion, we're on the motion of Delegate Paulson that Section 2 of Alternate Proposal 4-4 be deleted.

Now, if you vote "aye," you're voting to delete Section 2. If you vote "nay," you're voting to retain Section 2. I am now about to put the main motion. All in favor, signify by saying "aye," all those opposed, say "nay."

DELEGATE CHASE: Could we have that vote again? I think that came up a little fast. I know there were four or five of us here in front that were not voting, Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Yes, Mr. President. Now we talked about deleting Section 2. Are you talking about deleting Section 2 of the Rundle-Hill amendment or deleting Section 2 of the —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol, we are on Alternate Proposal 4-4, and under Article III there is Section 2, entitled "PETITION," and the motion of Delegate Paulson is that Section 2 be deleted. Does everyone understand the motion now? Now I'm about to put the main motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye," all opposed "nay." The "noes" — the "nays" have it and the motion lost.

Now we move to the second portion of Delegate Paulson's motion, which is to delete Section 5 of Alternate Proposal 4-4. If you vote "aye," you vote to delete Section 5. I'm about to put the main motion. Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President and Ladies and Gentlemen:

Whoever said that the only thing in this of importance was the number of signatures strictly did not know what he or she was talking about. If you cannot suspend the operation of measures, what is the object of the referendum? And if you will read it carefully, you will see it says, "except emergency measures," and so, therefore, a two-thirds vote in the Legislature would correct this, if it's that important, and this is one of the main powers of the referendum — is to suspend laws that the people do not agree with, and I would resist very strongly this motion to delete. This is just as important as any other section in there.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman. The Section 5 simply repeats the present Constitution in its treatment of emergency measures. Emergency measures are not now suspended by the filing of a referendum petition with 7,000 names. It is not even suspended with the filing of a petition with 30,000 names. But a petition with 30,000 names forces the calling of a special election. There is the added provision in Section 5, as has been passed by this Convention, that the appropriations for maintenance and support of state departments and agencies will not be suspended by the filing of a referendum. The question will go on the ballot, but in the meantime nobody can force a special election by filing a referendum against the appropriation for departments of higher education or the governor's office or even the Legislature; so that is the only place that has actually been changed from the present system.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, so that the delegates are fully aware of the changes here, they can turn to Committee Proposal 1-109 in their books, if they would like to. The only difference between the Committee Proposal and this Alternate Proposal are two things: One, the Committee — that's the Legislative Functions Committee — would suspend any measure except emergency measures and appropriation measures that support maintenance of departments of state government and state institutions, where Rundle would only provide this: He would suspend any measure except emergency measures. In other words, under Delegate Rundle's alternate here, appropriation measures would be suspended.

The other change is down there in the last sentence, under the committee proposal. A referred measure would be voted upon in a general election or at a special election. Rundle's would allow it to be voted on in primary, general or special, and I submit, Mr. President, that the changes proposed by Delegate Rundle are of not such consequence as to warrant putting Section 5 on the ballot separately. Therefore, I support Delegate Paulson's motion to strike Section 5 out of Alternate Proposal 4-4.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none — Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President and Ladies and Gentlemen:

I thank Delegate Dobson for reminding me of that last sentence, because this is rather important, too. I see no reason whatsoever for barring initiative or referendum from a primary election, and here we are talking about trying to get people to vote at these elections and then barring certain measures. Now, if the people want to initiate them in the proper time, in time for a primary election, just why should they not be on that election? It might help us get out a greater turnout and I think this is quite important.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: If I could speak one more time. I want to thank Delegate Rundle for giving me one more reason to delete Section 5, and that is you would allow a referred measure to be voted at a primary, but not an initiated measure.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Daniels.

DELEGATE DANIELS: I think I'm getting more confused as time goes by. In deleting Section 5, we are just leaving this off the ballot. Is this true? In either case, no matter which would win — Delegate Rundle's or the original — this would still be in the Constitution. Is this right?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone care to answer Delegate Daniels? Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: That is correct. All we are talking about here is what's going to be on the alternate. The rest of it would still be in the body of the Constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does someone want to yield their time to Delegate Rundle? Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

Again, on this primary, this, as far as I'm concerned — I don't know how to go about it at this moment. If I would win this little argument, I would amend. A referred or initiated measure was strictly an oversight in the drafting. I didn't notice it until Delegate Dobson told me about it. But if this — if this amendment is defeated, I would offer that, because that was intended to be in there. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: We could save a lot of time if Delegate Dobson and Delegate Rundle would get behind the rail and discuss this matter while we voted. (Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: In that there is no further discussion, we will now revert to the motion of Delegate Paulson, which is to delete Section 5 from Alternate Proposal 4-4.

I'm about to put the question. If you vote "aye," you're voting to delete Section 5. All in favor signify by saying "aye." Opposed "nay."

I will rule that the "ayes" have it, unless a division is called for. Who's calling for a division? All right. There are a sufficient number for a division.

All right. Now, if you vote "aye," you're voting to delete Section 5. If you vote "nay," you're voting to leave it in Alternate Proposal 4-4.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: May this be a recorded vote?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: How many desire a recorded vote? There seems to be no response for it. There is not sufficient response for a recorded vote. We'll have a division vote.

All right. The Clerk will open the key and you may vote. Saugstad votes "no."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote?

Saugstad wishes to change his vote to "aye."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the record will be closed for the result.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: There were 48 "ayes," 47 "nays."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The motion carries. Section 5 is deleted.

We now have before us Alternate Proposal 4-4 as amended. Are there any further amendments?

Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President, I'll have to come down to make an amendment on the ballot form.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We will take a — just a very short — about a five-minute recess while this amendment is being prepared.

(The Session recessed at 11:19 A.M. and 11:28 A.M., the same day.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Convention will please come to order. Delegate Paulson, I believe you had a further amendment you wished to add.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. President, have an amendment at the desk.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. The Clerk will read the amendment — proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-4:

In Section 2, Ballot Form, after the word "electors" delete the following: "; petition suspends operation of measures, except an emergency measure or an appropriation measure."

Further down, in the next section, where you vote, after the words "constitutional measures," delete the following: "; petition sponsored by five electors; petition suspends operation of measure except emergency measures."

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman. That second amendment started too early. It's in the next line. The "petition sponsored by five electors" stays in the ballot question, and the deletion begins after the word "electors".

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: After the word "electors" delete "; petition suspends operation of measure except emergency measures."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to Delegate Paulson's motion?

DELEGATE MILLER: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Miller seconds.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, this amendment simply corrects the ballot section that would be passed if it now goes on the ballot as an alternate.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? We are now on the amendment — the proposed amendment offered by Delegate Paulson —

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: — that was just read from the desk.

Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Could we have it read now with the amendment out — the words taken out?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Cart, are you requesting that the Chair — I mean that the Clerk read the language which will be left in Alternate Proposal 4-4?

DELEGATE CART: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. Under Section 2, after — where it says “Mark one only,” would you read what language will remain, please?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: It would now read: “Two percent of population for number of signatures for both initiated and referred measures. Four percent of population for number of signatures for initiated constitutional amendment. Petition sponsored by twenty-five electors. Petitions must be approved as before prior to securing signatures. Ten thousand signatures for initiated measures, seven thousand signatures for referred measures, twenty thousand signatures for initiated constitutional measures, petitions sponsored by five electors.”

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Is there any further discussion? We are now on the motion of — Delegate Rundle did you wish the floor?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: What are we on?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Delegate Paulson's amendments, which were read from the desk and will further delete some of the material that was on the — that would appear on the ballot, so that it will conform with the portions which are remaining or are left in Delegate — or Alternate Proposal 4-4.

Hearing no further discussion, we are now on the motion of Delegate Paulson. If you vote “aye,” you vote to adopt the proposed amendment. I'm about to put the main motion.

All in favor, signify by saying “aye;” opposed “nay.” The “ayes” have it and the motion has been adopted — the motion carried and the amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I move that Alternate Proposal 4-4 be deemed properly re-engrossed and put on the calendar for first passage.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

We're on the motion of Delegate Paulson that Alternate Proposal 4-4 be deemed properly re-engrossed and be placed on the calendar for first passage.

Is there any discussion? Is there a second to that motion? Delegate Chase. All right.

Now, Delegate Rundle, did you wish the floor?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: No.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Is there any further discussion? If not the board will be opened and you may record your vote.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I'm a little late, but not early, I suppose.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That motion has been made, seconded and adopted.

Say, I beg your pardon! I thought I put the motion, but maybe I did not.

We are on the motion of Delegate Paulson that 4-4 be deemed properly re-engrossed as amended and be placed on the calendar, on the tenth order, for first passage. All in favor signify by saying “aye;” opposed “nay.” The “ayes” have it.

Now we have the vote on Alternate Proposal 4-4. Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Ladies and Gentlemen:

I ask that my remarks be recorded. I have a copy, but I'm sure Barbara can keep up.

I urge a "no" vote on this proposal. There is nothing much left of my alternate proposal. I see no reason to have it included. There is no choice left for me or anyone who thinks as I do, except to vote "no" on the whole proposed Constitution.

Thank you.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kwako.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Thank you.

Fellow Delegates, I'd like to second Delegate Rundle's ideas at this time. It is true, when we look at this Proposal, the people will not have a choice, and I think, in their wisdom, they will surely vote the document down. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Well, I have to disagree with Delegate Rundle, although I fully support this as being a separate alternate on the ballot. I think, when you look at the ballot now and see what has been canceled out, the choice is going to be much clearer to the electorate, instead of being confused by other things, and I think Delegate Rundle's original concern on this thing about the signatures, and so forth, now has a better chance of voter acceptance than retaining the old signatures and many of the old features that he wanted.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Yesterday this body showed some courage, in my opinion, in voting against putting this particular proposal on the ballot in the form it was submitted. Today we've emasculated it and we're now going to vote again whether we put it on the ballot. I, for one, feel we should have the courage to stand behind the proposal that's in the Constitution now and not put this on the ballot in any form.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Fellow Delegates: On the 28th day of January, this delegation voted, by 80-to-12, to put in what we have in the present Constitution. Yesterday 58 delegates agreed with the Committee that this should be indefinitely postponed. I can't understand how all of a sudden, in a matter of 24 hours, the people of North Dakota have become so concerned that this now should be put on as an alternate. I feel that this can be left out. I have found no people down in my territory that ever expressed too much concern about this. They have on many others that we have indefinitely postponed. I urge that we defeat this motion and leave it as it is.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen, and then Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yesterday I almost went home with a swelled head. I thought that the few words I said in opposition to this was what caused the vote against it. I think yesterday that the members of his body felt honestly that this alternate had no place in the new Constitution. There has been some — I don't know what the correct word is — maneuvering — maneuvering. There has been some — I hesitate to say — deals, but there have been — there have been political manipulations, so that many of the delegates have changed their minds not because of the belief that this should now be on the Constitution, but because it might affect certain things that we're going to do after this question is settled. I still hope that the delegates will vote against placing this as an alternate.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. President: I certainly agree with what I heard awhile ago — that we felt that the Committee brought out a good section on the initiative and referendum. I still think it's a good one. But I also think that we could be — that we are safe in presenting to the people of North Dakota this alternate proposal, and let them state their choice. The choice now is narrowed down to where it is quite simple to make. It is essentially — the argument will be essentially upon the number of signatures required, and even though I voted against this yesterday, in the proposal today I'm going to support it, and I think it will make a good alternate.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, in the last 24 hours I've been dealing. I called home and I got some advice from people whose opinions I trust, and it was expressed to me, from four or five, that this would indeed be a good sensitive area to consider. I voted yesterday to put it on the ballot and I hope we'll have more support for that today.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

This proposal has not been emasculated. The two sections which were deleted — Sections 5 and 8 — made such minimal changes that they didn't warrant placement on the ballot separately. What we've got left here is the real guts of this proposal — Sections 2, 4 and 9. Well, what do the people care about here? They mainly talk about signatures. If we put this in the main body, you're going to have McCarney against it. You're going to have Ed Dornacker's committee against it. You're going to have the John Birchers against it. We've already got Labor mad. So I think Delegate Rundle is right, for once. If we put this in the main body, we're going to get a "no" vote on the main body. As was pointed out previously, that the people have voted six times not to increase signatures. I think this time they may be prepared to accept this modest increase. But it would be politically prudent to put this on the ballot separately. We can't put a stick of dynamite like this in the main body.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: I guess I've been fighting ever since our first committee meeting in trying to retain the signatures of 7,000, instead of 10,000; not particularly because I think they're that good, but I think they're that important to the people of the State of North Dakota, and I would like to remind Delegate Dobson that this is not a slight increase. We are going on the referral from 7,000 to 12,000-plus. I don't think anybody in the State is going to call that a slight or a modest increase. We have here extended the power of the executive, the legislative and judicial branches, and we have restricted the power of the people, and I feel that I'm just going to vote "no" against this proposal. As the alternate was first before us, the people who signed it, it was simply to go back to the old section in the old Constitution, and we felt this gave the people a very clearcut choice, and it did. Our Committee on Ballot chopped it up, cut it up, forced Earl to revise it, and changed it; and, again, on this floor we changed it. So, really, I don't know what we have. So I have no choice other than to vote against the proposal this morning.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I would like to correct that. The Ballot Committee did nothing with this proposal except for the ballot form.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President: Since this was in our Committee, I should mention that the main objection — and the people that testified were those that felt that the signature numbers should be increased. They talked about the sponsors. At one time the Committee thought there should be a hundred sponsors. They came down to twenty-five. Now this alternate proposal says five, and one of the objections was to allow for paying someone to circulate the petitions. Now I think this is a very good proposal and the people should be given a chance to vote on it.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sanstead.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Mr. President, I yield to Delegate Rundle.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President, I'm not going to talk on it at all, except that I would like to back up Delegate Stanton. Chairman Dawson said the Committee did not change anything. He's absolutely right. But they made me change it, and I was strictly given to understand — not by the Chairman, but by some members — that it had no chance; so I changed it completely. The young attorney had it drawn up twice. So there was pressure put on to change it, I assure you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President: Although I sympathize with the frustrations which some of my friends whom I have been supporting here recently feel at the present time, I feel that after 24, 48 or 72 hours have passed, that this alternate proposal will appear much more appealing than it does right now. I urge you to adopt Alternate Proposal 4-4.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I hope that this goes on the ballot. I am a three percenter, myself, and I was in the Committee. I think that the initiative and referendum have been somewhat abused; but then that's my own opinion, and I supported it in the Committee to put it in the document. At the same time, I recognize that people feel very closely to this provision of the Constitution, having voted on it about seven times or eight times previously, and having voted to keep it as it is. So I recognize their particular interest and the wide public interest in this particular thing, and I would hope that those who have supported the seven and ten thousand signatures at this time would let calmness rule. We don't want to let, you know, a pride of authorship or our own feelings of frustration blind us from doing what, in the long run, is going to look pretty good about a week from now.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President. There is obviously more here than meets the eye the first time. I believe Delegate Rundle and Delegate Hill have been somewhat scared by some of the changes that have been made. I have tried to urge Delegate Rundle to support this proposal because I think it does include most of what he has; but I think that we should delay the vote on this until after our recess, and I would so move.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Stanton seconds the motion.

Now, Delegate Aas, you have moved that further consideration of Alternate Proposal 4-4 be delayed until after the noon recess.

DELEGATE AAS: Yes. And I say that because I believe that we should reconsider it and we should have a chance to think about this a little longer before we pass — we make this vote. There is good justification for placing this on the ballot, and perhaps, after a little more reconsideration, we can vote on this in a little bit better thinking manner than we are in if we vote on it at the present time, and I would like to see us delay for just a little while.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Yes, Mr. Chairman. I would support Delegate Aas, whom I haven't supported before; but I would now. (Laughter) In fact, the word "McCarney" came out, and I might have to support McCarney before very long here, if this keeps on going the way it's going.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I'd just like to say —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Just a moment. Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I'd just like to say to Delegate Hubrig that politics makes for strange bedfellows.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I would speak against this motion and speak for the Convention at this particular moment. I think that we're ready to make a decision here. Several amendments have been made. They were made in good faith. A majority of this delegation has made a decision on those amendments. We're now ready to make a decision as to whether we want this as an alternate or not, and let's not get confused. Let's do what we're supposed to do here and take this vote.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President: I feel the delegates should take this vote at a little less emotional stage than now; perhaps an hour or two would help us a lot.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are now on the motion of Delegate Aas that further consideration of Alternate Proposal 4-4 be delayed until after the noon recess.

I'll now put the motion. If you say "aye," you're voting to delay action until later in the day on Alternate Proposal 4-4.

All in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no."

The Chair is in doubt. The Clerk will open the board and you may indicate your preference. If you vote "aye," you are voting to delay further consideration until after the noon recess.

The board will be opened. You will indicate your preference. Saugstad votes "nay."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and we will take the ballot.

The tally showed 49 "ayes" and 48 "nays." So the motion prevailed. So further action will be delayed on Alternate Proposal 4-4 until after lunch.

We'll be temporarily on the eighth order of business. Are there any announcements? There will be announcements from the Chair — from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Apple Creek Country Club, six miles east of Bismarck on Old Highway 10, will have their special stag night Tuesday for Convention delegates.

Delegates are reminded to return their proofs for the composite picture to the Executive Director's office. Please return all proofs which are supposed to be used for the composite, marked on the back.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Are there any further announcements? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman, how long did we plan to recess?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Until one o'clock.

DELEGATE UNRUH: There will not be a meeting of Style and Drafting then.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Could the Chair explain the word "stag"?
(Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair would suggest that anyone that does not know inquire from their next-door neighbor.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: I would suggest that that means the girls have to go alone. (Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: There will be a meeting of the Calendar Committee at 12:45 in the President's office.

If there are no further announcements, we will now stand recessed until 1:00 P.M. sharp.

(The Session recessed at 11:54 A.M. until 1:00 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 1:08 P.M., Tuesday, February 15, 1972, as follows:)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Convention will please come to order.

All right. Will you please take your seats?

We have before us Alternate Proposal 4-4. Is there any further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

Is it working now? Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President. Ladies and Gentlemen:

The cooling-off period was effective. I hereby reverse my position and will vote "yes." (Applause)

DELEGATE KWAKO: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kwako.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Since Delegate Rundle was so kind in changing his vote, I think I will have to do the same. Thank you. (Applause)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none, the board will be opened and you may record your vote.

Delegate Larsen.

(Delegate Larsen shook his head.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All in favor vote "aye." Saugstad votes "aye." Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed. The Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses 73 "ayes," 14 "nays," 11 absent and not voting. Therefore, Alternate Proposal 4-4 has been passed.

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, I'd like to ask that my few remarks be put in the record to clear off the blast before dinner.

DELEGATE KWAKO: I'll second that.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We next have before us under consideration — we are now reverting back to the Committee Report —

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Please, could I ask if the record could be cleared of my remarks before dinner, or is it too late?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Did you ask to have your remarks that you made just subsequent to the vote taken — put in the Journal? The only way — Delegate Rundle, the one motion that you could use would be to have your remarks that you made before noon recess expunged from the record.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I make that motion.

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Sanstead. Delegate Hildebrand.

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Mr. President. Is that motion debatable? (Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President: Does Delegate Kwako want his remarks expunged?

DELEGATE KWAKO: It isn't in.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Are there any further remarks? We're on the motion of Delegate Rundle. Now, Delegate Rundle's motion was that the record as far as his remarks which he made just prior to the noon recess be expunged from the record.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I just hope that Miss Kings — Mrs. King's remarks are not going to appear in the record! (Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further remarks?

Hearing none, we are on the motion of Representative Rundle. If you vote "aye," you're voting to expunge the record.

I'll now put the motion. All in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay."

The Chair will rule the "ayes" have it. The record is expunged.

Now, we have before us — we are now back to where we were at the opening of the Session this morning. We have before us the Committee Report on Alternate Proposal 4-3. The Committee Report was for indefinite postponement.

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. President, this is the third time that I'm going to ask that you resist the motion for indefinite postponement on the Committee Report. I believe that my motion is slightly weaker now than it was this morning at ten o'clock, especially after the last vote, because now we have had four — and what I'm going to ask for is the fifth one. But I did notice in the paper this morning a quote by Delegate Omdahl, where he said, "Failure to provide some separate issues on the ballot would be like saying to the voters they're not smart enough to vote on these issues." So I hope that he will support me on this motion.

Last night I was pleasantly surprised to find the support around this delegation for my position. Most of it was unexpected. I thought I had a real losing cause, and found out that I didn't. I think this proves that people in this Convention are genuinely disturbed by the long and the short ballot. I would like to point out a couple things before, that I didn't last night, that might influence you. For instance, here I happen to have in front of me a summary of the changes made in the Executive Branch by — as adopted in our Constitution, and I would like to read this — a little of this, because this is the kind of a thing that is being put out or — in this coming informational campaign. Here's what it says:

"The Executive Branch, Section 1, provides that the elected state officials shall be the governor and lieutenant governor, elected jointly, the secretary of state, Attorney General, and the three Public Service Commissioners, thus eliminating the constitutional elective offices of auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, insurance commissioner, agriculture commissioner, tax commissioner."

Now, that better shake you up, if that's the kind of information that may be going out, because I think that this would really concern people.

Now, there are a few other sentences in this description of the Executive Branch. One of them says, "The legislature, however, is authorized to prescribe the manner of selecting other chief executive officers. The executives of the major departments will be appointed by the governor, subject to confirmation by the senate." And that is all the explanation there is of this section.

Now, as I said last night, I will support my Committee's report and I will go out and campaign and work for a "yes" vote on the Constitution and on this section; but I am concerned about getting "yes" votes on the whole Constitution.

Now I'm sure that many of us here today would like to see this whole thing go away. I think you'd like to sweep it under the rug, if you could. But I think we have to face up to this: It is something that — it is an issue that we are not going to be able to dodge, and I think that the concern of most of the people here that spoke last night in opposition to setting up any kind of an alternate here is their concern that the people will vote for the alternate. If you feel that way, I think it should show you that there is a need for something here. Now, if you turn down the Committee Report for indefinite postponement, I expect to propose an amendment, and I have no particular pride of authorship of this amendment. As far as I'm concerned, after I've proposed it, anybody here can amend the amendment, and I am certainly not adverse to compromise. My amendment — what it amounts to is that, instead of having seven elected officials, it would amount to eleven. Now, I would, without any hesitancy, compromise at three or two, or even one-and-a-half elected officials, if it had to be. I have heard there is a possibility of saying "four or more" or "three or more" or "two or more," or something like that. My only point is to get some kind of an alternate on the ballot, because I think this is one of the hottest issues that you're going to be faced with between now and the next election, and I hope you do not support the Committee Report for indefinite postponement.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Chase, I believe, asked for the floor.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President. Yesterday I spoke in favor of adopting the Committee's Report to indefinitely postpone 4-3. However, with this amendment laying off to the side, that I think deserves a full discussion before this group — I am not in favor of it — I am going to speak against it — but I am not going to talk about it right now; however, I think the fair thing to do is to go ahead and not adopt this Committee Proposal to indefinitely postpone, so that the amendment can be back here and we can talk over the whole ball of wax in one thing and get it settled. So I hope that the group here will not support the Committee, and bring this thing back to the whole body.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President: I would second the motion of Earl Chase, because I think that, unless we can sell our proposal to the delegates here, so that they feel that what we have proposed will stand against any kind of questions that come up to us when we get out in the field selling this thing between now and election time, why what Chairman Hernetts portends will actually occur. But I believe we can convince you that, if you will take five or six minutes with each of these people that have this conjecture that they need a long ballot in order to make a good executive department, we can dispel that.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President. I go along with Earl Chase, also, on this. The indefinite postponement of a proposal that the Committee indefinitely postponed was entirely different than the amendment that is being offered by Delegate Hernetts, and so I think that it is proper to get to the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: There being no further discussion, we are now on the adoption of the Committee Report. The Committee Report is for indefinite postponement of Alternate Proposal 4-3. So that if you vote "aye," you're voting to indefinitely postpone Alternate Proposal 4-3. If you vote "nay," you are voting to place Alternate Proposal 4-3 on the calendar for further discussion.

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Fallgatter.

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: I'm sure that I'm not aware of all the problems that Alternate Proposal 4-3 creates, or of the complexities it presented to the Ballot Committee. But nothing could disturb me more than to have to tell the people in my district that we left them no choice on the selection and election of their state officials on the ballot. Nothing would kill our new Constitution more quickly than leaving the voter no alternative on this issue. This action can only be construed to mean a further restriction of the powers of the people. The focus of attention at election time will be on the side issues. On this fact alone could hinge the success or failure of our new Constitution. Therefore, I would urge the resistance of the Committee Report on indefinite postponement.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further remarks?

Because of the importance of this matter before you, instead of calling for a voice vote, I'm going to ask that the Clerk open the board so that we will have a division vote. Now, if you vote "aye," you're voting to adopt the Committee Report, which was for indefinite postponement.

The board will be opened and you may cast your vote. Saugstad votes "nay."

Has everyone voted?

DELEGATE NETHING: Nothing votes "aye."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Nothing votes "aye."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? The board will be closed. The Clerk will take the tally.

The record shows 73 "nays," 24 "ayes." Therefore, the Committee Report is not adopted.

Now, we have before us Alternate Proposal 4-3.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. President, I move that the Alternate Proposal No. 4-3 be amended, and I would like to move that it be not read. The reason I'm saying this, because there's only one change, and that's in that first line, and then, on the back page — everybody has this on the desk — and on the back page, it shows how the alternate and the present section could look. So I would like to move that the amendment be adopted. And then I guess I can make another motion that it be not read from the desk.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman: Just so they can get the record straight, I move that Alternate 4-3 be moved to the sixth order of business.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: That would not be necessary, because, technically, this is now on the tenth order.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Well, all we did was turn down a Committee Report. That's what it was.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. Well, I believe, so that the record be clear, I personally prefer that someone make a motion that it be placed on the tenth order for first passage.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I'll correct my motion. Tenth order would be right.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Thank you. Who seconded that motion? Delegate Trenbeath.

So we're now on the motion of Delegate Paulson that Alternate Proposal 4-3 be placed on the tenth order for first passage.

I will now put the motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it.

Now, we have before us Alternate Proposal 4-3.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. President —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I will propose the amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-3.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right.

DELEGATE HERNETT: And they can read it at the desk.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Is there a second?

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Kwako.

We are now on the motion of Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Now, Mr. President, do I need a motion to not read it?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I'll make that motion that it not be read from the desk. Now what I mean by this, there's certainly no need to read this whole Executive Branch article.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Roney.

I will now put that motion. The motion — we're on the motion of Delegate Hernet that the proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-3 be not read from the desk. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion prevails. Now, Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Now, Mr. President, I just call your attention to the last page, which is about everything that you're going to need to look at, at this particular point. As you know, the original Alternate Proposal 4-3, which is the blue one in your book, as I remember, would propose to go back to the Constitution as it is now; in other words, electing fourteen officials. The one that came out from our Committee on Executive Functions was seven. This is proposing four more, which would be eleven. Now I went into this last evening a little bit, and I think, instead of me going into an explanation now, I think I'll just quit here and see what kind of a discussion comes up, and if there's any other — if anybody has any ideas of how this could be amended and an alternate proposal be put on the ballot to take off a little of the pressure that I'm sure is building up around the State on this issue, I will welcome it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President. Would Delegate Hernettt yield to a question?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hernettt?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Yes.

DELEGATE AUBOL: On the ballot form, under option A, do you intend that to be the option that we have outlined for us in the executive article now?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Yes.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I notice there's one difference there, and that's "chief executives of the principal departments shall be provided by the vote of the legislative assembly." Now, I think in the executive article we call for those chief executives to be appointed by the governor, with periodic review by the Legislative Assembly.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Delegate Aubol, I think you're probably right. The reason that I think this was typed this way was because, after the Attorney General's opinion which Delegate Chase read yesterday, this is probably correct; that they would be selected by the — being selected in a manner provided by the Legislative Assembly is about the effect that that would have.

There is one other point here. I would have no quarrel with anybody that had an idea as to a better way to word this thing on the ballot. As I said earlier, I am for the proposal that our Committee came out with, and if this issue on the ballot could be worded in such a way as to get that kind of a vote, I wouldn't be adverse to that either.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Delegate Hernettt, is this the amendment that you're talking about? Is it the one labeled "Report of Procedural Committees"? And that's your amendment — not the Committee's amendment?

DELEGATE HERNETT: That's mine.

DELEGATE SINNER: Okay.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. President: I wish to speak to the amendment, which is the first paragraph under Section 1 of Report of Procedural Committees, Article V, "Executive Branch," and we talk about the "three public service commissioners and the chief executives of four other principal departments as selected by the legislative assembly."

Now, the supposed new feature of this amendment is the addition of four other principal departments, and not naming them. Should this amendment be adopted, then we could all go back and try and explain this finished document. How do we explain who these people are? What offices they will be filling? Supposedly, they will be some of the presently-elected officers. However, under this proposed amendment, they could include the Highway Commissioner, they could include the head of the Welfare — or what do they call it now? — Social Services Department, or even the Superintendent of Public Instruction. I submit, fellow delegates, that Delegate Hernettt is making a sincere and an honest attempt to make this Constitution more acceptable. In reality, however, this would be a most difficult and complex feature to explain, and would serve mainly to confuse and divide the voters.

Another move that this Convention should certainly do, if we adopt this amendment, is to reconsider the executive articles and strike out most of Section 1, all of Section 6, as I remember — or most all of Sections 6 and 7, as they would only be surplus words with no practical meaning — “window dressing” I think some other delegate called it here one time.

Now, under the Interim Booklet, there was to have been, originally from the Executive Committee, a minority report. Since this session began, those differences were ironed out and the minority report was withdrawn. This Convention then adopted the executive article. I think it was by about a 75-to-22 vote. Let's not mangle the article by accepting this amendment, but proceed to defeat it and I think we have something that is — might call for a little explaining, but so will the legislative article. I've never heard the remark made out in the boondocks, as someone says, “Look at the power they're giving to the Legislature!” This better be something you better be prepared to answer many times, and we're going to have to be prepared to answer other things and explain them, and if it's worth it — and we think it is — then let's do it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

What concerns me about the proposed amendment is in relation to Section 6. Midway down in Section 6, it provides that “The governor may, for more effective administration, make changes in the statutory allocation of functions, powers and duties . . .” Among them is in the executive department. And then the very specific words “other than those headed by constitutionally elective officials.”

Now, if the Hernet proposal goes through, it freezes for all time any ability to reorganize the executive department under elective officials. And I was very proud when the Executive Functions report came through. I thought at last we have some means by which we can take our State from among the archaic and old-fashioned, wasteful system, and reorganize our government, and I am simply appalled at this amendment, because it destroys — to me, at least — if it were successful for all time, what we've been aiming and praying for in this Convention, and you know the minister yesterday said a very striking thing — we should stand for something, or else we're liable to fall for anything — and those words have been impressed upon my mind ever since he uttered them, and I think we should be of stout heart and good cheer and don't weaken on what we have done, but let's vote down this amendment.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: First, I'll reply to the arguments or the question asked there by Delegate Burke. In this particular instance, the reorganization of these departments that are headed by elective officials — constitutionally-elective officials — that reorganization can be undertaken by the Legislature. It's only in those areas that the governor cannot undertake reorganization. You see, in the other areas, both the governor and the Legislature can undertake reorganization; in these areas, the Legislature, only.

Now, in speaking to the question before us, there are two things I want to read, because, essentially, this white document that Chairman Hernet has put out here in front of us is the same as the original article, with the exception of adding “four chief executives of the other principal departments to be elected under the constitution.”

Now, I think there's been some misconstruing here. Section 6 of the “Executive Organization” division says there shall not be more than fifteen principal state departments, and right away that sets it in our mind as being fifteen principal state departments; but this is not so. We looked at this thing with the idea of there being from ten-to-thirteen, as I have them written down here, and I'm not going to list them. There are a maximum of thirteen, allowing a couple — two for Education — but, in all probability, it would be closer to eleven principal departments, with a margin of four at some time in the future to provide for expansion.

But then, in Section 7 down here, we say “State Planning Council. The chief executives of the principal state departments shall constitute the state planning council. The governor shall be chairman of the council," the lieutenant governor, vice chairman, and they shall prepare a comprehensive State Plan based on the comprehensive plan for each department.

Now, exactly what does this mean? First of all, now we're a small state and we have a chance to build a good executive department. We can say that at the outset. As the lieutenant governor is vice chairman of the Planning Council, there will be some on this Planning Council by virtue of election. There will be a secretary of state, there will be an attorney general, and there will be one person representing what we now call the Public Service Commission. There will be a couple on this thing by virtue of appointment. Right now there will be, with the outcome of our work on the Constitution, and that will probably be two members of the Board of Education. But we think, in order to make this State Planning Council amount to something, about half of those people that are appointed on this thing have to be appointed by the governor. And here's why: An elected official basically has only one allegiance — I'm talking about basically now, in all practicality — because he is concerned about being elected. Now this doesn't mean he can't be a good official, and we have a number that are good officials; but, basically, he has this one concern. Now, if he's appointed by the governor, he has one other concern. First of all, he has to get along with the people. You can't imagine the governor appointing somebody that's going to run about and irritate the people and run roughshod over them. What's going to happen is they're going to get rid of the governor the next go-round. But he has one other thing he has to do. He has to produce. He's given a job and he has to produce, and there's somebody looking right over his shoulder to see that he does produce.

Now, this is the difference between an appointive official and an elective official, basically. If the elected official is extremely conscientious — an extremely good man — he can do this; he can say which way he ought to go. But there's one further thing that's needed, and this Planning Commission provides, and that is it provides liaison between these different departments, so they work in concert with one another. When there's an opportunity for reorganization, to put some activity in a better department — for instance, the interrelation between education, social services and health department — you can automatically see the relationships there, and there's relationships there between all these departments, as witness between the lines we have between all the State boards as the State Government is constituted now.

Now, what has this got to do with the question? Merely, if we have a State Planning Council, and we'd say with eleven or twelve members on it, we elect four — the governor, lieutenant governor — that's one office — the Secretary of State, another; Attorney General's another, and the Public Service Commission's another — that's four; two from education, that's six; four more constitutionally-elected — that's ten — and even if we allow we're going to have twelve departments, the governor is going to appoint two. Now, what kind of a Planning Council is this going to amount to? It would take a group of geniuses working in absolute admiration of one another to make this thing work to the ultimate objective that the sum is greater than the total of the parts.

Now nearly everyone we've described his plan to, including those who proposed this alternate of a long ballot, say that the plan we come up with is just what it ought to be; it's just what it ought to be. There are a few that say, "Well, we have a long ballot, but this is a medium ballot. Now this isn't a short ballot." Now some people — and there are men and women — and I have the greatest respect for our Chairman — I think you have to work with him six months to appreciate how good a man he is — and I appreciate the great value on what he's asking us here, but it also placed great value on the fact that we worked six months to come to the objective at which we now are, and if we can't take six minutes to explain this when somebody bumps into us on the street and says — or even if you ask them, "What do you think about the long bill? What do you think about electing all officials?" And he'll say, "Gee, I'm a little against it, but it's probably all right." And we know they're going to go and vote against it. Explain it for five minutes. The only question is: Have we been honest in deciding, despite the fact that we generally agree that the proposal of this Constitutional Convention gives us a much better executive department, that that is not just a dream? I find it very difficult to believe. I can't explain this to somebody in six minutes. I've tried it on a half-a-dozen individuals and they say, "Yeah, but you're not going to be able to do that between now and the time you get out for election." I believe we can do it.

Now, how would the plan actually work? As I see it, a session meeting once a week. I can see, as it goes on, that the session meets at an interim between elections, probably once a month, although, with a good administrator, it would probably meet once a week. And I think the results that would come out of it would be just tremendous. After all, the power of this thing is actually locked up by the Legislature. They have the power of appointments and they have the power of funding, and who controls the pursestrings actually controls the operations, if they so choose.

Actually, if we're going to take this alternative and put it on the ballot, we're going to come up with something that's less than we right now have and as a consequence of this, if you don't take the trouble to explain this thing, we're going to have a worse executive department than we have right today, and I'm not saying that because the one today is bad; I'm just saying we're here to try to make an improvement, and I think that if we adopt — if we put this thing out as we now have it in the Constitution and sell it on that basis, we'll have a better Constitution, and I think, if we put it on there as an alternate and don't take — which will invite us not to make the explanations that are necessary to sell this thing — that we'll come up with maybe a good Constitution and a very poor executive department. I just ask, no matter how this thing goes, that you try to sell the idea of the ballot exactly the way we have laid it now, between now and the day of election.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

What I'm going to say has been said before several times in the last four, five months around here. We are asking for responsibility in the executive department and we have the proper presentation in our new Constitution that we are working on in this delegation to provide responsibility to the executive department, because he can direct the executive that he appoints. You elect those officials of the various departments and they can tell the governor to go plumb to, and I mean it, and they do, and I certainly urge that this amendment be defeated and that this opportunity for putting this on the ballot is knocked off.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rude.

DELEGATE RUDE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

It appears that a feeling of fear has developed here, which, of course, is not good. Executive reorganization is not new. Thousands and thousands of people have been exposed to the concept and desire for reorganization. Our present Constitution has been in force for about 82 years. Out of those 82 years, at least during 30 years of that time, the projection of executive reorganization has been made by four dedicated and conscientious governors — Governor Schafer in 1929, Governor Moses in the late 1930's, Governor Davis and Governor Guy. There had to be a reason for this. It could be compared to a bad dream. "I am the Governor of the State of North Dakota, but where is my committee? There I see them, all walking away from me. I try to contact them, reach out for them, but they do not hear me. And suddenly I realize that they do not need to. I am deflated." And so it has been with each of our past and present governors. We are not concerned here with checks against abuse of power. The Legislature of every state has ample opportunity for this purpose. Rather, the problem is one of providing constitutional language which facilitates, rather than restricts, the governor's efforts to safeguard and promote the public interest. Let's not now have language in our Constitution to deter the desired governmental structure and to not hamper the chief executive in the greatest of all his roles — that of being chief executive and chairman of the State Planning Council, with members compatible and cooperative in the operation of safeguarding and promoting the public interest.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Brakke asked for the floor.

DELEGATE BRAKKE: Mr. President: I rise to oppose the Alternate Proposal 4-3 — or the amendment. I am a member of the Executive Functions Committee. This Committee has worked many long hours to arrive at a decision on this Proposal that was submitted to the Convention. Very few amendments were offered and the executive article is a good one. The fears of the Committee are well founded when it becomes evident that the heart of the Committee work is at stake. Accountability, responsibility, efficiency and responsiveness are built into our article. At one time in the process of evolving in our Committee work, I felt we had two options — the short cabinet form of government and, two, the long ballot. The Committee brought these options together and, in my estimation, combined the best parts of each and created an exceptionally sound document.

Three strong recommendations were constantly in our thoughts; one was to limit state executive agencies; two, give the governor the power to propose reorganizational changes through executive order; and, three, to create fewer boards and commissions by consolidation. These are now a part of our executive article. The idea that we are giving the governor dictatorial powers is absurd. We are giving him a mandate to endeavor to make improved changes within his department, but being well aware that the Legislature has the final say. Certainly the hodgepodge of existing agencies is known to all the delegates. The more elective officials we have, the more ineffective an executive order will be. We, of course, are aware of some of the attitudes that do prevail; that if the people are not allowed to vote for more executive officials, they'll oppose the Constitution. I don't believe it! I believe the executive article as it now is written can stand on its own and inevitably prevail; that the voters will realize its merits and overwhelmingly support it, such as most all delegates are supporting it. I hope we're not going to have an alternate proposal on the executive article.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President: I understood when I was elected to this Constitutional Convention that our number one priority was reorganization of the executive branch, and in going through all the other constitutions, one of the things they have been doing is cutting down the number of elected officials from four to five, and so forth. Now, if we accept this amendment, we will go back second-from-the-bottom in the United States in the number of elected officials.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President: I prefer the alternate proposal on the long ballot not because I thought the Executive Functions was bad or that I think it's mostly good, but because I think, as does Delegate Hernet, that this is a very sensitive issue with most of the voters, and this is their Constitution, as well as ours. Yesterday, although a majority of us had voted bicameral, and we, too, had worked pretty darned hard, the majority here voted to put unicameral on the ballot as an alternate. Now the unicameral section that passed was not given a full consideration in the bicameral section's words — that is, in relation to all branches of state government, which is perhaps the major flaw in both of these alternate proposals. But I still think it is absolutely necessary to put the long ballot on as an alternate issue if we have any hope of passing the Constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President. I rise to support the Chairman of the Executive Functions Committee — Delegate Hernet — under whom it was my pleasure to serve as a member of that very fine Committee, and to reiterate what he said about the work of that Committee. It was good — mighty good. But that's not the point here now. The point here now is: Is this a sensitive enough area to warrant an alternate proposal on this subject of the long ballot versus the modified short ballot, which, I think, would be an accurate description of the section we have adopted. And I think it is.

Further, I feel that the heart of the argument has gotten off that subject here when you begin to talk about what effect this kind of set-aside would have on the operation of the rest of the executive section. I'm quite sure that the Chairman will agree with me that, so far as the question which we actually have before us, the only thing that we would have to consider would be Section 1 — that part found on the first page of the material and the top of the second page, along with the ballot question under Section 2 of the document — that Section 2 language, of course, beginning on the next-to-the-last page, and the ballot form on the last page.

Now, it may be true, also, that because of the freezing of four of these executive departments in the Constitution as elective, that there might be a complication. But this would be easily corrected by a simple amendment, such as the Chairman has indicated. One language that I think of in that connection would be to provide that chief executives of not more than four other principal departments be elected. In that way, you see, then the Legislature would have the option of providing for the election of four or three or two or one or none, under a specific set of circumstances, and they would not be frozen in that number in the Constitution. So it seems to me that it boils down to this: If you agree with Chairman Hernet, as I do, that this is a sensitive thing, and there has been much expression about the sensitiveness of this here in this Chamber just yesterday, and I think there may be more than I even was aware of, because yesterday, when I was asked what the story was in the Minot area, I said, "Well, I don't know. They don't seem to care much." And then I thought that over for awhile, and I called back and I was informed that on one of these radio talk programs that runs in that community, the one subject that has had some attention was this particular question — election of officials. So there's somewhat more interest in my home community than I thought there was. And as has been pointed out, there is very much sensitivity in other areas of the State. So I think that the thing for us to do here now is to decide: Is this sensitive enough to have a separate vote on? And, if so, then to adopt the amendment as suggested by Delegate Hernet. And then, if there are defects and there's too much stuff here, then take care of that by additional simple amendments.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Grant Trenbeath.

DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Thank you, Chairman Stanley Saugstad.

Well, Fellow Delegates, I spoke on this briefly yesterday, and I don't know as I can add anything to what Delegate Baker has said, except that this is a sensitive issue, and maybe it's more sensitive in my area than it is elsewhere in the State. But this is one thing, before I came down here, that I heard really the most comment about. I am sure that on these alternative proposals that the one that will probably create the most interest, as far as getting people to the polls is concerned, is going to be the one on the 18-year-olds, simply because it's going to get the young people out and the old people out, and when they go into that booth, they're going to vote for this Constitutional Convention, if they get a chance on their choice. I'm sure the bicameral and the unicameral are going to be discussed over the State very, very broadly. But these people that are going to be discussing this issue are people that are informed about the Constitution and are going to vote for it; but they're going to vote and they're going to go out and argue as to whether they should or should not have a unicameral or bicameral.

But on this issue here, this sensitive issue, these people that are going to generate the talk on this one are the ones that are going to go to the polls to vote against the Constitution, and I feel that very strongly, people, and I don't go completely along with the argument that we're destroying the work and the sincerity of that good committee that worked on this thing. I think we will have a lot of pleasant experiences and a lot of good experiences of reorganization of our executive department, and I don't think it's going to destroy it all. And I'm not in disagreement that probably four is too many. Maybe we should do as Senator — or Delegate Baker suggests — change that wording "up to four" or "down to three." I don't care. I'm saying that, by golly, I'm afraid that, if we take this thing out to the people in North Dakota, the steam is going to build up on this one — it's a real sleeping giant.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hendrickson, and then Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask my seat mate a question.

On the last page here, where we've got the A. and the B., what we would propose to the people, the A. reads — which refers to the Constitution we have accepted — "with the remaining chief executives of the principal departments being selected in a manner provided by the legislative assembly."

Now, on the first page of 4-3, we have "shall be appointed by the governor." Now this has appealed to me, because I see these appointed officials serving at the pleasure of the governor and I know you explained this before when one of the delegates asked you, but I invite your position now to explain the difference there in that as compared to what I think we have on the green sheet.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone wish to answer? Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I could whisper in her ear, but since she asked me a question, it's the same one that I think Delegate Aubol asked. This probably isn't real honest, the way this is set out here, but, as Delegate Chase read yesterday, the copy of the Attorney General's opinion on what we are doing or what we did adopt, the effect of it as put out here — if I make myself clear. In other words, the Legislature can make these selections. It necessarily will not be appointment by the governor. In other words, the Legislature can bypass his appointments, and that was about what the opinion was that Vance Hill received from the Attorney General said. So this is, in essence, the way it is.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Let's see. I think Delegate Dobson and Delegate Pearce had asked for the floor.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Well, Mr. President, I have mixed emotions on this issue because I greatly favor the executive Functions Committee. But I also recognize that this issue of a long or short ballot is a real political hot potato.

Now what's the purpose of these set-aside issues? As I see it, they're to act as lightning rods, so that your lightning bolts of opposition aren't directed against the main body of the Constitution, but, rather, to the set-asides. We already know of two groups which are greatly concerned about the issues; one is the signature increase for initiative and referral, and the other is the short ballot. I refer to McCarney's group and Representative Dornacker's group, and both of these groups are going to play a significant role in the forthcoming campaign.

I think this matter of a short ballot is at least as sensitive as the initiative and referral signature increase. So I have come reluctantly to the conclusion that I think we should put this on the ballot separately, and then go out and campaign for the Executive Functions Committee's position. In that way, I think we can win the day on the set-aside and the main body as well.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Pearce, and then Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President: I have a bad cold; so, fortunately, I won't be able to speak very long.

I did not sponsor a Delegate Proposal, but I did sign the petition to put on Alternate Proposal 4-3; so, in a sense, it's my only child here. It used to be said that it was a wise child that knew his own father. Nowadays it's a wise father that can recognize his own child. (Laughter) And I don't recognize in the Alternate Proposal what I signed. What I signed on the blue sheet was, I thought, to give the people essentially the choice to retain what we've had for 83 years. I did agree that I thought the lieutenant governor and the governor should be elected together, since one is essentially a replacement for the other.

As I look at the white pages of 4-3, I see little, if any, resemblance to what I signed. I agree with the remarks of Delegate Chase that I wouldn't know myself, what I was looking for if I voted for that, because I wouldn't know what four departments might be considered principal. I don't know what creatures might yet be created in the future who would be headed by someone. I think that it is essential for the safety of the journey of our new Constitution in the next few months that we give some people a chance to retain some essential parts of what they've had.

As I remarked a long time ago, forty thousand people didn't even want us to get together here and monkey with it, and I've had people ask me, "What are you people doing up there?" Well, I suppose I could say, "Well, for one thing, we've eliminated some of the state officials that you elect." "Well, what did you do that for?" Well, in grasping around and not wanting to insult them, I couldn't say, "Well, you people have been generally stupid in the people that you have elected to fill these offices, and we decided that you really didn't deserve to have this right to elect state officials, so we have transferred the selection of those important things to someone else."

To me, that would be an incredible answer, if I expected to get any "yes" votes generated. But if there are any better answers, perhaps we should have some suggestions. I feel as strongly as I feel about anything that, regardless of the theoretical efficiency, regardless of the theoretical good of reorganizing what we choose to call the Executive Department, that our government will never be effective and never be responsible if we remove it farther and farther from the people. If the people that they can vote for are handed to them as placating gifts from time to time by the Legislature, we will gradually see fewer and fewer people vote, because they would recognize it as filled. There was a time in this country when we first began when we were governed by governors appointed by a foreign crown. It wasn't foreign, of course, at that time. We were part of England. Nothing aroused the ire of the people greater than the fact that they could not choose for themselves their own representatives. The Federal Government organization, where we elect a head and appoint everybody else, is often pointed to, surprisingly enough, with pride. Do any of you feel comfortably close to the Federal Government? Do any of you feel that you can complain personally to the Chief Executive Officer of the United States of America and get your ills attended to? If you can, you have more power than anybody I know.

In this State, fortunately, we're still neighbors. We're still almost in the family of nations a family, and I hope we stay that way for awhile. And in order to do that, I think we must get people to participate and, if we don't let the people participate in the choice even, because we're not offering them an alternative here, whether we put this white paper as an alternative or not, you've thrown out the present system and many, many people may resent that.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I rise in opposition to placing 4-3 on the ballot as an alternate.

When I first elected to become a delegate to this Constitutional Convention, I asked myself: What do the people want? I asked myself: Why did the people call for a Constitutional Convention? And the best way that I can answer my own question is to say that they are interested in government reorganization. I'm sure that when we were elected, any one of us, we were not elected to come here to clean up the language, to eliminate antiquated areas in our Constitution, to eliminate the verbosity that might be in it at the present time. We were not elected to create any new concerns or areas of doubt. We were not here to change the Bill of Rights, because we haven't done that very much. We are not here to do some of the other things that some of us feel are important. Apparently the people have invited us here to reorganize government. When organization of government means reorganization of the executive functions, this, Fellow Delegates, I believe is the heart of our efforts here during this convention, and I think that we can go back and sell the product which we have. We can go back and say, "We have created a good government, a good organization and a good Constitution for you to work with." We can go back with pride in the work we have done. We should not be divided. We should not go back and have to apologize for any section of it by offering an alternative when it comes to the reorganization. I hope that we can all go home and support good executive reorganization, and I submit that the executive article which we have before us is excellent, and I hope that we can support it.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Urdahl.

DELEGATE URDAHL: I guess it is true that we hear what we want to hear pretty much, and I sometimes wonder if we don't use the things we don't like ourselves as being the reason why we think the Constitution will be defeated. I think there are probably ten or twelve different things that have happened that we could use in that regard. It seems to me from what I've been hearing, at least, in the past two decades, that one of the things that was needed in our government in the State was reorganization of the Executive Branch, and it seems to me that I could feel that it was a mandate from the people that elected me here — was to do something in this regard. I think that people generally have felt that a governor should be held responsible for the affairs of the State. I think this has been pretty near impossible under the Constitution that we have operated under, and I believe, personally, that the Committee has done a tremendous job in starting this process of holding the executive officer of the State responsible for what happens within the State. I think it would be indeed confusing if the amendment that has been proposed was approved. I think that each of us can go home to our communities and sincerely defend what has been done here at this Convention, and that we will have a good document, and I don't think for one minute that they expected that we ought to refer to the people very many — very many things that we thought were impossible for us to handle, because, after all, we have to consider that we've had a great opportunity in these past 20-some days now to study the affairs that most of the people have not had that have not been here, and I don't think it can be assumed for one minute that we don't trust the people. I think that we have a mandate from them to do a job for them, and I urge defeat of this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Devine has asked for the floor.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, most of what I have to say has been said before, so I'm not going to make any speech. I'll try to keep it down to about three points.

One, I'm in favor of the Committee's work. I intend to go out and support their efforts strongly; however, I do feel that we're making a basic change in our form of government and so our people should be given the right to speak to this. We're going from a weak executive, which is bad, or at least I feel is bad, to a strong executive, which I feel is good. But it's a change. And this is why I would like to see the people speak to this. Now I will vote in favor of the amendment, but I sincerely hope and this is the only point I want to make — I sincerely hope that there's going to be further amendments to clear it up, because I would hate to see it go out the way it is; but, nevertheless, I'm going to support the amendment.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I have to steal a phrase from Delegate Dobson in regard to this particular situation, because although I do approve of the action that the Committee took and Convention passed here earlier, I recognize this minority "no" vote that could come about in this particular situation. But this type of vote that we're talking about will not be appeased by the alternate that is offered here this afternoon. This "no" vote we're talking about is those voters that want to elect each and every one of the fourteen elected officials that they're electing now. I'm against that. I like the executive article as we have it now. But the minority "no" vote, I believe, is going to vote "no" primarily because they don't want to elect four other principal department heads as selected by the Legislative Assembly — or chief executive offices; they want to elect fourteen. They don't want to elect eight or eleven or twelve; they want to elect fourteen. So I don't think this particular alternate is the answer.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Byrne, first, and then Berg, and then Hernet.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President: The startling effect of many of the statements made on the floor today appears to be that there is only one way to protect the person to be elected to office in the State of North Dakota, and that is to be protected by a constitutional provision.

Now, I want to point out that nothing is further from the truth. Over a period of many months and many years, many of us have thought about this problem. As I mentioned when the original bill was passed, the opportunity you have now to — not necessarily tomorrow, not necessarily in 1973, but sometime in the future, it might be where you can revise your executive structure, and I point it out as a fact which I don't believe anyone will argue about — that as long as you keep the elected offices by a provision in the Constitution this can never be done. I believe in the method that has been proposed by the Committee. The proposal was once passed here. We have attained what many of us believe is a step towards the right way to do it, and that is that you still will be able to elect state officials, but you will remove it from the constitutional protection and it can be done by statutory action. The heart of it is that, and I just wanted to repeat what I said before, so that we don't get carried away with the idea that there is no other way to do it, except this matter of electing and keeping them built into the Constitution. That is my main objection to Senator Hernetts proposal — is it builds back in, even by inference, rather than by specifics as we passed it before, the need of a constitutional protection. I, for one, should probably be one of the few or of many that should not be taking this stand. I have many personal relationships here in Bismarck in the Capitol — personal relationships over a period of many years; but I cannot possibly consider this on the basis of people personally involved at the present time. If you want to consider it on a long-range basis so far as state organization and state officials is concerned, it's something of a different color.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Berg, I believe, asked for the floor.

DELEGATE BERG: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

During lunch hour, I made a telephone call to Harvey, North Dakota. They had just completed a Kiwanis Club meeting there this noon, and I asked a member of the Kiwanis Club if discussion has been going on in regard to the long and short ballot, and he said there was much discussion. He said, "We are in agreement here in our area that we want to elect." He says, "I want to tell you and Mr. Kwako to hold the line. Support the election of all state officials." He said, "And we're going to back you up."

I don't exactly like the proposal of — or the amendment of Delegate Hernetts. I would rather see it have all the State officials. But if this is supposed to be a compromise, Hernetts, I can support it. But I'm just wondering, while you're making up your amendment, had you thought of all state officials — the fourteen? Could I ask that question of Mr. Hernetts?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. Do you yield?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Yes, I do.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hernetts.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I'll answer the question as much as I can.

I think I explained last night the reason for coming up with the four. I assume that the Convention spoke very plainly here a couple weeks ago about the Superintendent of Public Instruction. I think they spoke very plainly a few or a couple weeks ago about an auditor or an Auditor General, and I didn't want to monkey with these two. Well, that cuts it down to twelve, and the Labor Commissioner presently is statutory, so we don't have to monkey with that one. That's where we got to the eleven. That's the seven plus four.

Now the four that I had in mind in my original idea was to name these people, and if this is what this Convention would want, then there is no problem naming them; in fact, it's the State Treasurer, the Agriculture Commissioner, the Insurance Commissioner and the Tax Commissioner, and it's easy to name them. As I understand, some are disturbed by not having them named — that it might cause some disruption in the Legislature. Maybe it would. But I would have no quarrel with naming them. But that is how we got eleven; in other words, the seven, plus four, because I didn't want, and I didn't think this Convention would ever stand still for monkeying around with those two that have already been well-settled and established that that's what we're going to do.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE HERNETT: But I have a couple other things. I just thought I should answer his question, first.

DELEGATE BERG: Yes. Would you yield to another question?

DELEGATE HERNETT: All right.

DELEGATE BERG: Would you be willing to name the other State officials in this — the other State officers?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, if you're going to do that, then you might as well go back to the original Alternate Proposal 4-3, which Delegate Pearce talked about. That was all of them in there.

DELEGATE BERG: Well, it is a little bit of a mystery to me, but I would support your amendment all right, but I'm just wondering if you would change it and name the officials, if you will. But I'll still support it, and then I would ask the other members here, too, also to support it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hernet, did you wish to speak further?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, I just have a couple more comments.

Delegate Berg and others here today have commented upon the Executive Functions Committee and about what a good job was done by the Committee, and I think so, too. But — and I suppose many of you wonder why the Chairman takes this peculiar position here on this issue. But I want to repeat, again, that if this Convention would come up with any kind of an alternate in this area, I will say here and now that I will go out and campaign and do everything I can to encourage a vote for the Convention-adopted proposal — not the alternate. But, as I said last night, it's kind of a pop-off valve. Delegate Dobson today called it a "lightning rod." I think it is something that we need, and I would certainly not support it if it becomes the alternate on the ballot.

Now, I think, too, that our Committee has done an outstanding job on this executive functions thing, and I don't want to disturb it at all. Most of the discussion here this afternoon, and the same thing happened last night, is that the people who have discussed this issue here this afternoon all talk as though this is what it is going to pass. The comments were made if this — if we adopt this amendment, that this is going to tear the Constitution to pieces; that it's going to tear the executive functions department to pieces. I don't know why you take that negative attitude. Why don't you assume that the people are not going to vote for this alternate? You're all talking here as though the people are going to vote for the alternate. And I don't think that this is necessarily so, especially if we get out and work for a "yes" vote on the Constitution as adopted by this Convention. I'm not going to assume that this is going to be what the people are going to vote for. I think this is one of the most dangerous parts of this — is to take that negative approach, and I would hope that you would vote in favor of this amendment, and I'm certainly receptive to any kind of amendments — for instance, naming these State officials or, as Delegate Baker has mentioned, calling — saying "not more than four" or "not more than three," or, as I said before, not more than one-and-a-half, if you want to split it, but anything to get the proposal on the ballot.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I hate to be presumptuous, but the conversation over the last hour or hour-and-fifteen minutes, has been so wide-ranging that I think we should remind ourselves that before us right now is 4-3 as it is in your blue book for which Delegate Pearce has given a very ardent advance. Then we are now going to vote on the amendment which would say, "No, we're not going to vote if we have an alternate for fourteen people, the way it is now in our book, but the Hernet version." So I think, if you vote "yes" now, it should be because you think that the Hernet compromise, if we have an alternate, is a better alternate than the alternate in the book. If you don't like the Hernet compromise, you should vote for 4-3 as it is in the book. Then, if this is adopted or it goes down, then we can decide what in the alternate is a good idea; otherwise, we're going to have some very strange "yes" or "no" votes not meaning exactly what you want.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Birkeland.

DELEGATE BIRKELAND: Mr. President. I believe there is one area that needs just a little explanation at this time.

All afternoon we've been using this one term — "the short ballot." It was even used in the Press when it was said that we would be debating the short versus the long ballot. This Convention has never had before it a short ballot proposal. A short ballot proposal would be similar to what they have in New Jersey, Hawaii and Alaska, where you elect just one or maybe just one or two state officials, all the rest being appointed. I think that makes a big difference, because our proposal calls for not one or two, but seven. And then we are told so many times to put our trust and our faith and our confidence in the Legislature, and that's exactly what we have done in our Committee Proposal — is if the governor ever violates his responsibility of appointing good men, then the Legislature can change it. So we are offering this as a safety valve for the people, and if we defeat this amendment, which I hope you do, I would hope that nobody would go back to their delegates or their constituents at home and say "We have adopted a short ballot." Far from it. If you want to qualify it, a name to call it — call it a "modified long ballot," because electing seven is a lot different than electing a short ballot.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. Members of the Assembly.

I have sat here as long as each of you individually has sat, and I've listened. I urge the defeat of the amendment as proposed by Delegate Hernet, and subsequently I would urge the defeat of Alternate Proposal 4-3. We were sent down here to do a job. That job was to review our current Constitution, revise where we thought necessary, and submit same to the people. I believe some alternates will give the people a voice. This alternate gives the people nothing other than what the people already have. Granted, forty thousand people said, "We did not want to review the Constitution." Those forty thousand people perhaps could not name the seven officials we have purported to eliminate under the Executive Branch. I would submit to each of you individually: Ask yourselves, when you have visited your constituents, how many can name the individual elected state officials at this time? Secondly, how many of your constituents can advise you as to the type of job that this elected official is doing?

I am not a champion of the individuals in all of these elected officials, nor am I champion of all of these in the appointive positions; but I would submit to you, as good common sense, if you would review the record, I think our State has done an exceptional job in the majority of its appointive positions. Where it has not been an exceptional or above-average job, the appointee has failed to retain the appointment beyond a reasonable period of time.

With this, I would ask that we consider the amendments as proposed to 4-3 in the original Alternate Proposal 4-3, and, subsequently, in turn vote each down to defeat at this time.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are now on the motion of Delegate Hernet that we adopt the amendments as were read — no — as have been discussed. They were not read, as I recall, from the desk. But we are now on the main motion of Delegate Hernet that we adopt the amendments as proposed by Delegate Hernet. I am about to put the motion.

All those in — if you vote "yes," you're voting in favor of adopting the amendments.

All those in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay."

The Chair is in doubt. The Clerk will open the key and we'll have a division vote. Saugstad votes "aye."

Has everyone voted?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Green is not working on this side.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, has Delegate Nicholas voted?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change his vote? If not —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: That one's all right. Let's try it and see what happens.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The board will be closed and the Clerk will take the tally.

There's some question about whether this machine is operating properly or not. Of course the tally shows 39 "ayes," 58 "nays." Now it would appear that the motion lost. Now, if those who are in support of the adoption of the amendment — if they call for a roll call, that will be granted.

All right. That's sufficient. There will be a roll call. You vote "aye" if you're in favor of the amendment.

Say, actually, this — in view of the fact that we have not had a request for a recorded vote, it will go a little more rapidly if you stand. So I'll ask that those who vote "aye" at this time please stand.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. Chairman, I'd like to make a request for a recorded vote.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Okay. How many want a recorded vote? Okay. We'll have a recorded vote.

Again, if you vote "aye," you vote to adopt the amendment as proposed by Delegate Hernet.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: No.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President, would it not be in order to try the machine once more and get the identical vote on the next go-round?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Well, if it's out, it will be out.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: It will only take a moment to take this.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Basingthwaite.

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Bender.

DELEGATE BENDER: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benz.

DELEGATE BENZ: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Binek.

DELEGATE BINEK: Yea.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Birkeland.

DELEGATE BIRKELAND: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Brakke.

DELEGATE BRAKKE: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Cart.

DELEGATE CART: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Christensen.

DELEGATE CHRISTENSEN: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Daniels.

DELEGATE DANIELS: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dawson.
 DELEGATE DAWSON: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Decker.
 DELEGATE DECKER: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Devine.
 DELEGATE DEVINE: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Diehl.
 DELEGATE DIEHL: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dobson.
 DELEGATE DOBSON: Aye.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Engelter.
 DELEGATE ENGELTER: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Engstrom.
 DELEGATE ENGSTROM: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Erickson.
 DELEGATE ERICKSON: Aye.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fallgatter.
 DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fiedler.
 DELEGATE FIEDLER: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fritzell.
 DELEGATE FRITZELL: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Geelan.
 DELEGATE GEELAN: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Gipp.
 DELEGATE GIPP: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Griffin.
 DELEGATE GRIFFIN: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hardmeyer.
 DELEGATE HARDMEYER: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hartl.
 DELEGATE HARTL: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Haugen.
 DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes—aye.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hendrickson.
 DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hendrickson?
 DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hernet.
 DELEGATE HERNETT: Aye.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hildebrand.
 DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hill.
 DELEGATE HILL: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoffner.
 DELEGATE HOFFNER: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoghaug.
 DELEGATE HOGHAUG: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hougen.
 DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hubrig.
 DELEGATE HUBRIG: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Huckle.
 DELEGATE HUCKLE: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Jestrab.
 DELEGATE JESTRAB: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kelsch.
 DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kessel.
 DELEGATE KESSEL: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Ketchum.
 DELEGATE KETCHUM: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Knudson.
 DELEGATE KNUDSON: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kretschmar.
 DELEGATE KRETSCHMAR: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kwako.
 DELEGATE KWAKO: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lamb.
 DELEGATE LAMB: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lander.
 DELEGATE LANDER: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Larsen.
 DELEGATE LARSEN: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lerberg.
 DELEGATE LERBERG: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Litten.
 DELEGATE LITTEN: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Longmire.
 DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McElroy.
 DELEGATE McELROY: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McIntyre.
 DELEGATE McINTYRE: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Maxwell.
 DELEGATE MAXWELL: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Meidinger.
 DELEGATE MEIDINGER: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Miller.
 DELEGATE MILLER: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nething.
 DELEGATE NETHING: Pass. (Laughter)
 I vote "aye."
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nicholas.
 DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Aye.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: O'Toole.
 DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Yes.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Omdahl.
 DELEGATE OMDAHL: No.
 CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Paulson.
 DELEGATE PAULSON: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Pearce.
DELEGATE PEARCE: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peters.
DELEGATE PETERS: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peterson.
DELEGATE PETERSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Poulson.
DELEGATE POULSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Quam.
DELEGATE QUAM: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Roney.
DELEGATE RONEY: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rosendahl.
DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rude.
DELEGATE RUDE: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rundle.
DELEGATE RUNDLE: Here — yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sanstead.
DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Saugstad.
DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Scheel.
DELEGATE SCHEEL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Schmit.
DELEGATE SCHMIT: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Simonson.
DELEGATE SIMONSON: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sinner.
DELEGATE SINNER: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Solberg.
DELEGATE SOLBERG: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sondreal.
DELEGATE SONDREAL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Stanton.
DELEGATE STANTON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sullivan.
DELEGATE SULLIVAN: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Thompson.
DELEGATE THOMPSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Trenbeath.
DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Tudor.
DELEGATE TUDOR: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Unruh.
DELEGATE UNRUH: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Urdahl.
DELEGATE URDAHL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Vogel.
DELEGATE VOGEL: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wallin.

DELEGATE WALLIN: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Warner.

DELEGATE WARNER: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wicks.

DELEGATE WICKS: No.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wenstrom.

(No response.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The roll call discloses 38 "ayes," 59 "nays," one absent and not voting. Therefore, the amendment is lost.

We now have before us Alternate Proposal 4-3 in its original form.

Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President: I have an amendment at the desk.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: There is an amendment at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-3:

On line 1 — on page 1, line 12, delete the word "Auditor,"

On page 1, line 13, delete the words "Superintendent of Public Instruction,"

Line 1 — page 1, line 15, delete the words "commissioner of labor".

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I would move the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE DECKER: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I think the amendment would clear up what generated a lot of debate and would just answer the question that Delegate Lander and I were just trying to speak to before.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there any further discussion?

We have before us — Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. Chairman, I don't wish a vote to be called on this too soon, because the implications are still here. The Auditor does not figure in the Executive Branch any longer. This particular Convention has assigned it to the Legislative Branch. The Superintendent of Public Instruction has been taken out and the education article has worked that over. So they do not figure in the Executive Branch of government. It's all right to take those out, but now you're leaving the rest of them in and only taking out the Commissioner of Agriculture — excuse me — the Commissioner of Labor. And I heard Delegate Berg talk awhile ago about how he wanted to elect everyone. Well, if he'll pay particular attention to the executive article, he'll see, if he wants them elected and his legislators want them elected, they will be elected; but the difference is they're statutory, and this is what Joe Byrne was talking about. They're statutory. You can change them. But if you lock them into the Constitution, such as this Proposal will do, even as amended, you cannot change them; they will be there. So I speak against the amendment, Mr. Chairman, even though it's an attempt at a compromise here.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker has asked for the floor.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

It looks like this is kind of a hot spot over here right now. (Laughter)

I agree with most of the people right now that our main body of the Constitution is what we want. That isn't the object of our discussion at this time. The object of our discussion is set-aside, and I feel that our primary object of set-aside is to confuse the objections that people will have to vote against the Constitution. Whether you call it lightning rods or whatever you call them, this is the reason for having set-asides. I think we should cut them down to the cleanest size we can on the sections that aren't being changed and give the people a chance to vote on individual sections. People don't vote for things, generally, and those who vote against — if you have twenty percent against, this twenty percent against initiative referendum and twenty percent against something else, you've got about a hundred-and-twenty percent against the Constitution already, and the primary object of our set-asides, I believe, is things that are taken out of the Constitution, and this we can set aside and let the people have the individual choice whether they want that or not. I don't think we have to worry too much that we are going to diffuse it, and I'm really worried and want to get the main body passed.

DELEGATE VOGEL: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Vogel.

DELEGATE VOGEL: I think there wasn't a member of the Executive Functions Committee who wasn't fully aware of the sensitivity of any changes in the executive article from the very beginning. We were confronted by this chart which all of you received way back — do you remember? And our choice was: Do we keep on going with those little boxes — those little yellow boxes up at the top — the fourteen of them that were our problem, or do we try to do something about it? We tried to do something about it with a compromise that would have seven elected officers and which would allow the Legislature, if the public demanded, at a later date to change some of the appointed officers back to elected officers. We were very aware from the beginning that we had the choice of keeping the fourteen or of cutting down the ballot and trying to bring some order into it, and we chose this compromise program of allowing the Legislature to make changes, if this weren't satisfactory.

I think there's a great difference between this particular set-aside and the others, in that the others largely concern one section or one part of a constitution. You can vote for unicameral or the bicameral and still leave the legislative department intact. You can vote for the other set-aside, one way or the other, and still leave the essential articles attached and workable. But this particular lightning rod is the fact not to set aside, but to the article itself. In this fashion, it is different from the others. The question is not, as I think I said yesterday, shall we add four elected officials? The question is: Shall we have a new setup in our Executive Department or shall we go back to the one that we had when we came here, which, I think, most delegates by your vote indicated was not a satisfactory situation. In other words, shall we give up the idea of an executive reorganization? Shall we give up the idea of a responsible and responsive government in which the lines of authority are not as confused and as mixed up as they are today? And I think this is what makes this particular question somewhat different from the others; and, believe me, we were aware that this is the decision that we reached and that I think most of you agreed with in the original vote on the executive article. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I just want to make one comment.

It's surprising — this is just a set-aside, and it seems to me — I noticed this morning, and I notice again this afternoon, you're afraid of set-asides. Now, if you are that afraid of a set-aside, apparently you are not too sure of what you have put in the Constitution. Now this is not my feeling of a set-aside. As I said last night, I feel that this one is a sleeper, and I do feel that there are many people that do want to express their opinion on this. Now do you really think there are this many people in the State that are going to disregard what we have in the main body of the Constitution? Are you afraid to submit this to the people? You're not being realistic. This morning you talked about a set-aside, and then you proceeded to chop it into little bits until it turned into hamburger, and then you agreed to allow it to be set aside. That's not my idea of a set-aside. Put it — give them a choice, and they're going to have a choice, give them a choice. Let's not be so afraid of the work we have done.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Devine had asked for the Chair — or for the floor.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, I was wondering if we could speak to the amendment at this time and quickly take a vote on that. We'll soon see where we stand, because if the amendment fails, the thing — the whole thing will evaporate.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? If not, we are on the motion of Delegate Devine to adopt the amendments which were read from the desk.

The motion then if you vote "aye," you're voting to adopt Delegate Devine's amendment. I'm about to put the motion. All of those in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay."

I believe the "noes" have it. But I think — I think the voting machine is working now. The Clerk will open the board and you may indicate your choice. If you vote "aye," you're voting for it. Saugstad votes "aye."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the ballot.

The motion loses on a division vote — 55-39.

So now we are back to Alternate Proposal 4-3 in its original form.

Now, is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Just in response to Delegate Peterson's remarks prior to the last vote, I don't think this is a question of being afraid of set-asides. We aren't afraid of set-asides, but I don't think we should put things on the ballot on the side that we, ourselves, are not convinced are not going to be good for the State. I think that Mrs. Vogel pointed out the problem very clearly between this set-aside question and the other set-aside questions. I don't think it's a question of being afraid of set-asides.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Chase has asked for the floor.

DELEGATE CHASE: May I ask what point of order we're at on this right now? Are we back to the original indefinite postponement?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: No. No, that — what — what we now have before us, Alternate Proposal 4-3 in its original form — in its original form as it came to the Ballot Committee, and I believe it's in your books — in the front part of your books.

DELEGATE CHASE: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Chase.

DELEGATE CHASE: Is a motion then in order that this Proposal 4-3 be indefinitely postponed?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: No. Unless there's further discussion, the Clerk will open the board and you will record your vote. Now, if you vote "aye," you're voting to adopt Alternate Proposal 4-3. If you vote "nay," you're voting to defeat Alternate Proposal 4-3.

All right. Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Are you saying, sir, that this — if we vote "aye," this is to set it as a side issue, as it is now?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes, it would be a set-aside issue in the form that it is in your bill book.

DELEGATE MILLER: Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. We are now then ready. Is there any more discussion? Hearing none, the Clerk will open the key and you may record your vote. Saugstad votes "nay."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the key will be closed and the Clerk will take the tally or take the record. This is a recorded vote.

The record discloses 22 "ayes," 73 "nays," three absent and not voting. Therefore, Alternate Proposal 4-3 has lost.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Are we going to have a recess about this time?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. Are there any announcements? We'll be taking a short recess very shortly. Any announcements?

There will be a short meeting of the Calendar Committee in the President's office during the recess period, and this includes Chairmen Dawson and Unruh.

We will now declare a recess until 3:15.

(The Session recessed at 2:57 P.M. until 3:21 P.M., the same day.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Will the Convention please come to order?

We are on the seventh order of business — Reports of Select Committees.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: I move that the Rules be suspended and that Committee Proposal 1-121 be introduced, that it not be referred to a committee, and be placed on the tenth order for first passage.

If I get a second, I'll explain it.

DELEGATE NETHING: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Nething. All right. Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President: This is the proposal dealing with the recommendations of the Coordination and Transition Committee, and we have completed at the present time, depending upon what further may come up for reconsideration, and so forth, our transition dates for a revised Constitution. The copy of the Proposal has been placed on each member's desk this morning, and after the Chief Clerk reads the Proposal, various members of the Committee have been assigned for explanation of the various sections, and I will await the reading of the Proposal by the Chief Clerk, Mr. President, and that's the motion.

DELEGATE NETHING: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Delegate Byrne that the Rules be suspended and that the Report of his Transition Committee be placed on the tenth order for adoption, and the motion has been seconded.

Hearing no further discussion, the Chair will now place the motion, and the motion is to suspend the Rules and to adopt this Report.

I am about to place — put the motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "nay." The motion is adopted.

Now Delegate Byrne has requested that No. 1-121 be read from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Committee Proposal No. 1-121, introduced by Committee on Coordination and Transition:

"BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, pertaining to a transition schedule.

"SECTION 1.) A new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby created to read as follows:

"ARTICLE XIII

"TRANSITION SCHEDULE

"Section 1. SCHEDULE TO BE REMOVED AS EXECUTED.

"The following schedule provisions shall remain a part of this constitution only until their respective terms have been executed.

"On or before July 10 of each year the attorney general shall review the provisions of this schedule and shall certify to the secretary of state those that have been executed since the preceding review. Provisions so certified shall be removed from the schedule and no longer published as part of this constitution.

"Section 2. GENERAL TRANSITION.

"The rights and duties of all public bodies shall remain as if this constitution had not been adopted with the exception of such changes as are contained in this constitution. All laws, ordinances, regulations, and rules of court not contrary to, or inconsistent with, the provisions of this constitution shall remain in force, until they shall expire by their own limitation or shall be altered or repealed pursuant to this constitution. The validity of all public and private bonds, debts and contracts, and of all suits, actions and rights of action, shall continue as if no change has taken place. All officers filling any office by election or appointment shall continue to exercise the duties thereof, until their offices shall have been abolished or their successors selected and qualified in accordance with this constitution or laws enacted pursuant thereto.

"Section 3. PROSPECTIVE OPERATION OF NEW PROCEDURAL AND SUBSTANTIVE RIGHTS.

"Any procedural or substantive rights created for the first time by this constitution shall be prospective and not retroactive.

"Section 4. GENERAL EFFECTIVE DATE.

"Except as may be otherwise established by this schedule, the provisions of this constitution shall become effective on July 1, 1973, and the provisions of the constitution of 1889, as amended, shall be repealed, and of no further force and effect.

"Section 5. ACCELERATED EFFECTIVE DATE.

"1. The following provisions of the constitution of 1889 as amended shall be repealed, and of no further force and effect, on July 1, 1972:

"A. The third paragraph of section 216 of Article XIX as follows. 'Third: An industrial school and school for manual training or such other educational or charitable institution as the legislative assembly may provide at the town of Ellendale, in the county of Dickey, with a grant of forty thousand acres.'

"B. Subsection 5 of section 1 of article 54 of the amendments as follows: '(5) The Normal and Industrial School, at Ellendale.'

"2. The following provisions of this constitution shall become effective on January 1, 1973:

"A. Section 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 14 of Article IV, Legislative Branch.

"B. Section 9 of Article V, Executive Branch.

"C. Section 6, 8 and 9 of Article X, Finance and Public Debt.

Section 6. DELAYED EFFECTIVE DATE.

"The provisions of section 22 of Article I, Declaration of Rights, shall become effective on July 1, 1976.

"Section 7. EXCEPTIONS AND PROVISOS.

"The provisions of Article V, Executive Branch, shall become effective as set out in this schedule, provided that all executive officials elected in 1972, shall complete the term of office for which they were elected. The legislative assembly shall by law provide for continuity in the transition from the system of executive government in operation prior to adoption of this constitution, to that now prescribed, in a way which will assure orderliness and an effective program of executive organization under the terms of this article.

"The provisions of Article VIII, Education, shall become effective as set out in this schedule, provided that the superintendent of public instruction elected in 1972 shall continue in office until the completion of his term. The board of public education shall not have the power to appoint an executive officer, until his term expires, unless a vacancy occurs after the board has been created.

"The provisions of Article IV, Legislative Branch, sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 14 shall become effective as set out in this schedule, provided that the lieutenant governor shall preside over the entire session of the legislative assembly beginning in January, 1973."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President, I yield to Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I believe that as you read through the schedule you will find most of the points self-explanatory; however, there may be some sections that you would like to have an explanation for, and the Committee will attempt to do that.

Section 1 talks about the schedule to be removed as executed, and you may wonder, "Well, if we have the repealers, as we have talked about, why shouldn't they take care of it?" It is true that we do say here the effective date; however, there may be some sections where there is an overlapping and where the implementation of one section does not necessarily repeal that of another section.

So, to account for this or to govern this, we have placed Section 1 here and placed the responsibility with the Attorney General, so that he may review on the various occasions up to the last effective date which we have here — I believe it's July 1 of '76, and at that time, of course, it will be no problem, because it should all have been eliminated then; but that's the purpose of Section 1 — to make sure that he can advise the Secretary of State when this is done. This is, of course, important to the law profession, because it's got to be done someplace in a normal manner, and by the Attorney General's office notifying the Secretary of State, we will have given it that effect.

Section 2 is your General Transition Clause that might be called a boilerplate or a catch-all clause, but the purpose of it is to do just about what the — or exactly what the language says within it. We want it clear that the rights and duties of public bodies remain; that all laws, ordinances, regulations and rules not contrary to, remain in force, and the validity — we want to insure the validity of all public and private bonds, actions, suits, and so on. In addition, all officers filling any office by election or appointment will continue until their office has been abolished by the Constitution. So this is a phrase that we feel takes care of all these things that we can't see at the present time, but problems that may occur.

Section 3 provides that any of the procedural or substantive rights that are created in this Constitution are prospective and not retroactive, and any of these particular rights take effect and govern only in the future, not in the past.

Section 4 is the General Effective Date of the Constitution, and we feel the date that has been selected is a logical one. July 1 of '73 will permit the '73 session of the Legislature to act in the areas where we have told them they must act. We bring about the new things in the Constitution as quickly as possible thereafter. Now, it may well be that they will not have been able to complete everything that they have to do; however, we think the bulk of the work will be accomplished and that this is a good effective date, with the exception of the exclusions that we do have.

With the body's permission, I think the Committee would like to explain the entire Proposal before we receive your questions, and I, therefore, yield to Delegate Billey.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Mr. Chairman and Fellow — it doesn't seem to be working.

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

Section 4, as Delegate Nothing has pointed out, is a General Effective Date, and in Section 5, we get into what is called an Accelerated Effective Date, and under paragraph 1, subsection A and subsection B, we are proposing that the repeal of the two sections of the Constitution referring to the construction of the Ellendale School be effective on July 1st of this year. It's an advance of one year. The main reason for requesting that these two sections be deleted on that date, if this Constitution is approved and these two sections are removed, it will prevent a question from being placed on the primary election ballot in September asking for removal of them. If we can accomplish it at this time, it will advance the date by two months. It will help the people in Ellendale in transferring this property from the State of North Dakota to the community of Ellendale and eventually on; and I would urge your support of it.

I yield to Delegate Sinner.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President: The effective date of January 1, 1973, for several sections of the new Constitution is an effort on the part of the coordinating committee to provide the next session of the Legislature the eighty days that we think that session, especially, will need to deal with the problems that the implementation of the new Constitution brings about.

You may wonder why we went to 1 January 1973 when the present Constitution allows the Legislature to have its organizational session in December of 1972. It was the feeling of the Committee that in this year, with the amount of work that the Legislature must accomplish before the general effective date of 1 July 1973, that the Legislature may, in fact, want to use all or most of the eighty days that it is allotted for the coming biennium under the new Constitution. We, therefore, had thought that if the Legislature could organize in December and begin the work of introduction of bills, that this might be a real advantage to the Legislature. We, therefore, are suggesting that the old Constitution remain in effect until the 1st of January to allow them to have the organizational session.

If you want to follow along or look at some of the sections that are referred to, in the front of the proposal book, about the fourth one of the pink sections, is the legislative article in its present form, and in case questions come up that you may want to look at, that's where you'll find it.

The first section that we are proposing to have go into effect is Section 5, which deals with reorganization. Now, obviously, the reapportionment commission and its work will not take effect until before the 1974 elections; however, we felt that, for several reasons, we should put this section into effect so that the Legislature could pass the necessary laws, do the necessary funding, and so that the commission itself could begin its work. There's a good deal of statistical work necessary, in addition to the organizational work of the commission.

Section 6 is the section that provides that the Legislature shall provide the machinery for electing one-half of the members of the Legislature every two years. We felt that this section, too, needed to be dealt with by the Legislature in the coming session.

Section 7 is the section that provides for the eighty-day session.

Section 9 is the new enactment clause which the Committee felt was necessary for the new lengthened session of the Legislature.

Section 10 was the open-session section. There were a few members of the Committee that thought that the effective date of that section should be 1 July 1999. (Laughter) However, that opinion was not the consensus.

Section 11 is the section dealing with immunities, and we felt it appropriate for the Legislature to have that section in effect.

Section 14 is the section dealing with compensation. This will allow the next session of the Legislature to deal with the question of compensation for the first really official session of the new Constitution, which will really be two years later, and establish for that session a compensation that will be appropriate for the new forum.

Finally, the other section that I'm going to comment on is Section 9 of Article V — the Executive Branch — and that follows immediately after Legislative Branch in your book, and it is the veto section of the governor which the Committee felt should also be in effect for the new format of the Legislature.

I'll yield then to Delegate Burke.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Sections 6, 8 and 9 of the Article X are the finance sections. Section 6 is the highway users fund. And this body made a slight change in this provision by saying, "The legislative assembly shall provide for the deduction of funds from these revenues for enforcement of highway safety, driver education, and tourist promotion and for administrative collection costs," and the transition committee believed that the Legislative Assembly meeting in January '73 should be in a position to exert this power.

Section 8 refers to the State debt provision, and we believe that, because of the possibility of institutional revenue bonds, the Legislature might wish to exercise the privilege under this provision of guaranteeing, and we believe that it should go into effect January 1, '73 to carry out the intent of the Finance and Taxation Committee so that the payment of any debt obligations would not be financed out of the property tax.

The next provision, 9, says the political subdivision debt. As you know, by the removal of personal property from the assessed valuation of property in a political subdivision, many school districts and cities are hurting because of a low assessed valuation, and the present five percent in Section 9 was increased to eight percent, and because these political subdivisions will be required to have a new election to raise the debt limit, we believed that this should go into effect as early as possible to alleviate any hardships that school districts and other subdivisions are now encountering under the present debt limits.

I would now yield to Mr. Thompson — Delegate Thompson.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President, we discussed Section 22, which, of course, is the one on governmental immunity, and we felt that there would have to be at least two sessions of the Legislature to cover this. The first one, of course, they undoubtedly will have to have a study of what areas are going to be responsible for negligence; and then, of course, they're going to have to have an insurance study to determine the premiums, and then they'll have to have another study to figure out how to pay for it, and then you have to give your political subdivisions time to determine a method of payment and, also, for that second area, back to July, we felt they had to get by their budget area, as most of their budgets are in in June. So we felt that we'd have to go to the July 1 of '76; and I yield to Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President.

Section 7 is some exceptions to the effective date of July 1, 1973, and July 1, 1973 is the date that the executive article will go into effect, except that the officers of the Executive Branch elected in 1972 would complete the term of office for which they were elected.

We discussed briefly the idea of having the executive article not go into effect until 1977, in January, which is the date that the executive officers elected in 1972 leave office, but we felt that the problems that are caused by executive reorganization are such that the Legislature in 1973 and 4 and 5 and 6 should be continuously working on the executive reorganization and, simply, the duties of the current executive officer are not guaranteed by the Constitution; there may be some slight shifting of these duties prior to completion of the term of their office; but they will substantially have the same duties as they have now until they finish their term of office. But we feel, for the main part, the ideas set forth in the executive article should begin to be implemented as soon as possible, and that date is July 1, 1973.

I now yield to Delegate Billey.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Mr. Chairman. Fellow Delegates:

In the second paragraph of Section 7 we are referring to Article VIII, Education, and if you will recall Article VIII, we're calling for the creation of a new State Board of Public Education which shall have the power to appoint an executive officer. This executive officer will be the replacement for the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and I believe the Committee is recommending an orderly transition in this paragraph from the old system to the new system. You will note that we do make provision that, if the Superintendent of Public Instruction elected this year should, for some reason, fail to complete his term and there should be a vacancy, the Board could appoint someone after the Board has been created.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

The last paragraph on Exceptions and Provisos is one we feel is pretty important. You will recall when we passed the executive article, that we removed the lieutenant governor as the presiding officer of the Senate. This is the authority in the current Constitution. Section 8 of the legislative article provides that the Senate and House shall elect its own members as presiding officer — one of its own — at the beginning of each session. To further complicate the situation, we are implementing the executive article on July 1 of '73, which, of course, repeals the fact that the lieutenant governor is the presiding officer and really implements Section 8 under the legislative section as of January 1, which says that the House and Senate shall elect their own presiding officer. So we have created a conflict for ourselves and we have recommended that it be resolved by having the lieutenant governor preside over the first session.

Now, the net effect of this will be that — in maintaining the status quo, as far as his job is through the first session, and that as of July 1, when the executive section is implemented, that the governor will then also prescribe additional duties for him. It is our feeling that we must be fair to the individual who is running for that office and give him duties as all of the other state officials at the time they take office, which would be in early January of '73, and it is our recommendation to you that we let him preside over the first session, even though that first session under the new legislative proposal may run past July 1, at which time the governor will be prescribing additional duties for him.

On the matter of questions, it would be my thought, if you have any questions, if you will just direct them to the Committee, and there's various people on the Committee that represent different — that represent the substantive committees that might be able to expand further.

At this time I yield to Delegate Byrne.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President: Just a word of explanation as to how the Committee proceeded. We contacted the chairman of each one of the substantive committees a few weeks ago and asked them to review the sections that they had considered in line with the thoughts or the problems that they thought may be faced in connection with the transition dates, and it is from those recommendations that we received from the several committees that we began our work and came up with the proposal as outlined here today.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: I have a question of somebody on the Committee.

On the sample ballot for the proposal, I'm assuming, for sake of argument, that the 18-year-olds should be declared adults for all purposes. If that proposal should pass, then does Section 4, the general effective date, take over, or is there a possibility of a question mark there?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Delegate Hoghaug.

The effective date of that provision as far as 18-year-olds or any of the items in the Declaration of Rights — Bill of Rights — the effective date is July 1, 1973, with the exception of Section 22. There was no earlier acceleration date for that particular subject.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I have two questions of the Committee.

In Section 4, you state that the new Constitution shall become effective on July 1, 1973, and then you go on to say that the old Constitution shall be repealed. I presume you intend that to be the same date — July 1, 1973 — except where inconsistent.

DELEGATE NETHING: That's correct.

DELEGATE KELSCH: And the other question is down on subsection 2 or numeral 2 of Section 5. You state that all the provisions of this Constitution shall become effective on January 1 of '73. I wonder — at that particular time, our old Constitution will also still be in force because it would not go out until July of '73. I wonder if we shouldn't also say that any provisions of the old Constitution in conflict with these sections will not be — will be deemed repealed, so that there couldn't be a question of two constitutional provisions governing the same subject.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone wish to answer that question? Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I thought we dealt with that, unless it was overlooked. I know we talked about it. Is it in there? Anybody on the Committee remember? I suspect we did overlook that. Perhaps, Mr. Chairman or Mr. President, we can go on to the other questions and someone can get an amendment ready on that.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Well, I'm wondering if the second sentence in Section 2, under General Transition, doesn't cover it, where it says, "All laws, ordinances, regulations, and rules of court not contrary to, or inconsistent with, the provisions of this constitution shall remain in force, until they shall expire by their own limitation or shall be altered or repealed pursuant to this constitution." I wonder if that doesn't cover it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Are there any further questions? Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. Chairman: I'd like to know — I think perhaps I'd like to ask Delegate Sinner this, if I could: Did you think it at all necessary to put anything in in connection with Article IV of Section 2, terms of office which shall be changed, or with Section 1, in case there is a unicameral alternate? Where is he?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. The Committee felt that that eventuality would not provide a serious problem; that there would have to be some reasonable determination of the switch, but that the reapportionment commission could deal with that problem after the effective date of April — or of July 1, '73.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further questions or discussion? Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: If we can just be at ease for a moment, I believe Delegate Kelsch has got an amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President: I would move, and I'll send my hand-scribbled note down in a second — I would move that on Section 5, the paragraph entitled No. 2, before the colon in the first sentence, add the words "and provisions of the Constitution of 1889 which are in conflict with these sections shall be deemed repealed as of January 1, 1973" — before the colon, yeah.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We'll wait then until this proposed amendment is typed.

Is there any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President: Not picking on the amendment, but just bringing up something to think about: If Section 9, for example, the legislative article, is going to go into effect on January 1st, we may have a little problem if the voters vote for a unicameral legislature, because, as I understand it, the effective date of the unicameral legislature would not be until July 1st; but you would have procedures in the Constitution going into effect on January 1st with the bicameral legislature in session.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I went through those sections with one of the staff this morning and there are no serious problems that we can see. There are some cases where some maybe liberal interpretation of language would be necessary; but there's nothing of any consequence in there that I can see will present a problem. I think the staff attorney had the same feeling about that.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I think in the unicameral draft, if that's adopted, that would be that Section 9 is put in. Of course, you've got a bicameral legislature, but do you think they could still operate under the proposal?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: That was the question, I think, that Delegate Dobson raised, and that was what we reviewed this morning, and there's — I think you should maybe look at it before we adopt this and see whether you concur with our judgment. We could see no serious problem at all in that eventuality.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The proposed amendment suggested by Delegate Kelsch will be read by the Chief Clerk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-121:

Page 2, line 28, before the colon, insert the following:

“and provisions of the Constitution of 1889 which are in conflict with these sections shall be deemed repealed as of January 1, 1973”.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to this motion?

DELEGATE GRIFFIN: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Griffin.

Is there any further discussion on this proposed amendment?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I think it would be wise, Delegate Kelsch, if we inserted the words 1889 “as amended” as we have been doing all the way through. I so move the amendment to the amendment — after “the Constitution of 1889” we insert the words “as amended”.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We have a further amendment offered by Delegate Unruh which would add the words, after “1889”, “as amended”, and the motion is seconded by Delegate Thompson, and this is an amendment to the amendment. I believe that, again, I shall repeat that this is an amendment to Delegate Kelsch’s proposed amendment to make it consistent, adding the words “as amended” after “1889”.

I shall now put that motion. If you vote “aye,” you vote to adopt the amendment to the amendment.

All those in favor signify by saying “aye;” those against, “no.” The “ayes” have it. The amendment is adopted — the amendment to the amendment is adopted.

Now we revert to the main motion as placed by Delegate Kelsch.

Is there any further discussion? Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Could we have the amendment as amended read now?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes. The Clerk will read the amended — the amended proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amended amendment to Committee Proposal 1-121:

Page 2, line 28, before the colon, insert the following:

“And provisions of the Constitution of 1889 as amended which are in conflict with these sections shall be deemed repealed as of January 1, 1973.”

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none, we’re on the motion of Delegate Kelsch to adopt the amendment which was just read from the desk.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I wonder if you need to repeat the date. Wouldn’t it read better to say, “at this time”? Will Style and Drafting get it? Okay.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Hearing no further discussion, we are now on the motion of Delegate Kelsch to adopt the amendment which was read from the desk.

I am now about to put the motion. All those in favor, signify by saying “aye;” opposed “nay.” The “ayes” have it. The motion carried. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Delegate Dobson and Delegate Sinner were concerned a little while ago about should the unicameral go into effect, and I think possibly they should be thinking about a later date for effectiveness, so the Senators can readjust to normal life. (Laughter)

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I have two questions on the two alternates we have now adopted. One is unicameral. Do I contemplate that the Committee views that the Legislature of 1973 would be bicameral, regardless of the vote of the people on the unicameral question?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. That's correct.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Then I wonder if we shouldn't say that the unicameral provision will be effective in January 1974, if passed, because you'd have a bicameral legislature that could meet throughout the biennium of '73 — throughout the year — actually, '74 they could meet, and we have a constitutional revision that becomes effective in July '73, saying it should be uniform.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Good point!

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: The other question I have: If we say the Constitution comes into effect on July 1st, and I want to refer a measure passed by the Legislative Assembly, which is passed in April, would I use the old Constitution or the new Constitution?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Anyone on the Committee wish to answer that question?

DELEGATE NETHING: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NETHING: I understand the question, but what is the problem? You're thinking of the laws that are implemented by the '73 session?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Presently the Constitution provides for seven thousand signers to refer a measure. If the voters raise that two percent as a result of our alternate proposal on that issue, that will go into effect on July 1st. I suppose the old Constitution would still be effective to refer any measure passed by the '73 Legislature before July 1st. Is that right?

DELEGATE NETHING: That's correct. Now, Mr. President —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NETHING: Delegate Kelsch, I kind of was confused by your question regarding the unicameral replacing the bicameral, and I'm wondering if the provision that we have on the top of page 2 whereby everyone retains their office until the office has been abolished or its successor selected wouldn't govern that. In other words, those of us, like we old Senators, as the young Representative Rundle likes to call me, if it's a unicameral body, why I presume I'm no longer a legislator. The Senate would be abolished and me with it.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Well, Mr. President —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I could be elected in the fall of '72 for a four-year term in the Senate, and I would only — I would only be able to serve two years, and I wonder if we shouldn't address ourselves to that; that those terms will just end, unless you think that applies when you say in one place they shall continue on with their term. How could they be serving?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I think I can resolve that. There will be a reapportionment in either case, and I'm sure that the terms will expire at the end of two years and it will apply to '74, regardless of whether it's bicameral or unicameral.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, to answer further to Delegate Kelsch, I think the Senators could serve as sergeants-at-arms. (Laughter)

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Before this humor overcomes me, I wanted to ask a further question — a serious question — on the latter part of the present Section 7. I think Delegate Kelsch's amendment took care well of Sections — of the sections mentioned in subsection 2 of Section 5, but, in Section 7, which will have some of these elected State officials that will be serving for four years from the time they're elected, beginning in 1973, and yet we — it seems to me we should have some type of amendment in that section, because part of thir term they will be serving without the old regulations of the Constitution, because they would have been repealed on July 1st. Now shouldn't we clarify that somewhere, too?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

As we discussed the matter of transition, which was from the time that the new executive article comes into effect, and we still retained the elected officials, we felt that the language at the middle of line 6 on page 3, whereby we — we say that the Assembly shall provide for the continuity and transition from the system of executive government in operation prior to adopting this Constitution to that now prescribed. In a way, that will secure — that will assure orderliness and an effective program of executive organization under the terms, and we felt that this was the — this would cover it. We didn't know how strong we could be in our language. We have to give the Legislature some latitude to accomplish this. But we did feel that it is important for them to start working on this at their earliest opportunity, and this is the intention of that paragraph, so that somebody — if the Legislature doesn't say, "Well, I'm sorry, Mr. Insurance Commissioner," or whatever office it might be, "you're just going to draw your paycheck and not have anything to do." We, by putting this language in, wanted to direct the Legislature to see to it that it is orderly and provides for an effective executive performance. I don't know if it's strong enough that way, but that was our intent.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President. I would like to refer once more to the concern about the event of a unicameral approval. In Section 7 of the legislative article, the last sentence provides that neither house may recess or adjourn for three days without the consent of the other. If the alternate were accepted, that sentence has been removed from Section 7 in the unicameral, because it's only one house, so it would not then, I assume, govern the 1973 Legislature. That might not be a problem. But with all of the things they have to do because of this Constitution, it might be a problem, and I'm just a little concerned about that.

Then, secondly, in Section 9, which goes through all the procedures as to what the House does and what the presiding officer does, et cetera, they may be minor things, but they do worry me a little bit in that respect.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I think that we could possibly construe some problems there, if we stretch the point; however, I think that all of the provisions of the one-house section — procedural section — can very easily be followed by the Legislature. As a matter of fact, the Legislature already does everything that is suggested in that section, and that's why I think that it's not a point that we should address ourselves to.

I also think that, in answer to the question that Delegate Kelsch raised about the effective date of July 1, 1973, that the language that Delegate Nething referred it does cover the question, because the reapportionment commission will be in effect and will be reapportioning the legislature for the 1974 election. It, therefore, will provide for the termination of those terms, if the one-house system is going into effect, without a doubt.

Now, the other — for the end of the '73 session, say they do — the Legislature does decide to split the session and meet in January, let's say, of 1974, the offices will be protected under the catch-all clause at the bottom of page 1 and the top of page 2.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, do I understand then, Delegate Sinner, that you do not think it is necessary for us to say that, say, Section 1 of the alternate unicameral would not be effective until January 1, 1975? If we were to take that one out and give it that effective date, that might clear up the air as to what kind of a legislature you had.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President: I guess I don't object to that. In looking at it though, I wonder if there weren't others that would have to be changed. That's why I was questioning whether we should pursue it. But maybe that's the only one. I'm not sure.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: For the information of the Assembly, I should mention that there were not enough on the Committee that seemed to favor unicameralism so that we really dug into it on this basis, and the dialogue here has got to be handled by those that proposed it, because some of us have not given it that much thought.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President: For those of us here who may have had and have gained political ambitions, when is the five-dollar-a-day pay for legislators going to be raised, and how would it affect — the Legislature can't raise its own pay. If it's going to be unicameral, the last bicameral would probably set that pretty low. (Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Well, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

We don't really know whether it's going to be raised or not, but if it is raised, the provision that permits the Legislature to raise it affecting the following assembly goes into effect on the 1st of January of '73; so that the next legislative session will have the opportunity to set the schedule for the next session.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Mr. President: I am very concerned about this hurried-up business of putting this Constitution into effect following the Legislature. It seems to me that the Legislature has a full slate of business to take care of under ordinary circumstances; it's got all of the work that the interim committees have done during the interim period; it has appropriations and all of the other general work to do. It seems to me that it takes them about thirty days in their session to get going, under ordinary circumstances, and I don't think we really visualize here the tremendous amount of work that the Legislature is going to have to do just to put these ordinary things in the new Constitution into effect, to be ready for July 1st of 1973. There are many things that they must look into. We have spent in committees and in Plenary Session since April putting this thing together. They are going to have to look at it and then put into effect the necessary vehicles and instruments to put it into effect and make it function. Now, it seems to me we're hurrying this thing terribly, and I wonder if they have given any thought — or the Committee did give some thought — serious thought — to the possibility of not just having it July 1, 1973, but making it, instead, January 1, 1974. I wonder if they looked at the legislative possibility, because with the turnover in the Legislature that may come in this next election, of 25, 30 seats in the House, no experience, no background in legislative procedure — maybe some turnovers in the Senate, and so on; they've got a tremendous job of organizing themselves to do the regular work of the Legislature that always has to be done, and then all of this extra that we give them now, and then the time allotment that they have to do it in. I wonder if the Committee gave thought to this point.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone on that Committee wish to answer Delegate Solberg? Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

As one of the legislators on the Committee, I wish to advise the Assembly that, yes, we did talk about the possibility of the ability of the Legislature or inability to perform, and it was felt that, and Senator Butler, also, as a legislator on the Committee, felt the same way — that by implementing the new legislative article early, so that they receive the benefits of that — not only the flexibility

that's there, but, also, the number of days — and in spite of what Delegate Solberg has said, because it is true that the regular work load at times is very heavy, but we did consider, and we feel that by having this new legislative article available to them, that they can get the work done. Now, whether or not they get it all done and whether or not they come up with the exact answer during the first session, we don't know. But we must keep in mind that we have to also show some enthusiasm for the Constitution as we have prepared it, and I think we can, very easily. I certainly am very enthusiastic about it, and I think that, in selling this to the voters, that if we create enthusiasm in them, they are also going to want to have the benefits of it as soon as possible. And we talked about delaying them in some areas as much as four years, so the Legislature can have two whacks at it, so to speak; but we just think that we have arrived at the best date as far as the public is concerned. We think we're being fair to the Legislature. And assuming, of course, that many of you delegates will run for the Legislature, with the knowledge that you have established here about what the Constitution is going to require. I think the job will get done.

I don't know if I've given you a direct answer, but that's kind of the way I see it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe Delegate Sinner — Delegate Sinner, did you bring an amendment to the desk?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President: There is an amendment at the desk.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner, do you move the —

DELEGATE SINNER: I'm sorry, Mr. President. I move the adoption.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Solberg.

The Clerk will read the proposed amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-121:

On page 3, line 1, after the period, insert the following:

"Section 1 of Article IV of the Unicameral Proposal, as in Alternate Proposal 4-1, if adopted, shall become effective December 1, 1974."

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, I wonder if this effective date shouldn't be in an alternate proposal, rather than at this point.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I thought about that, but you'd have to — you'd have to again say just Section 1, because all of the other things — all the other language would have to go into effect if you're going to have the 80-day, and I just think this is probably a cleaner way to do it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are on the motion of Delegate Sinner that Committee Proposal 1-121 be further amended. On line 1, page 3, after the period, that the new language would be inserted.

If there's no further discussion, I'll put the motion. If you vote, "aye," you're voting in favor of the adoption of this amendment.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I feel that Delegate Decker had a good point, because if we do — we will have to pull this out of here eventually after you fix up 4-1 properly. It will have to be on that particular ballot one way or the other, and it means you're just going to have to pull this amendment out of here and readopt it again as an amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: No, I don't think it has to be in the other ballot. None of the other dates are. And as far as pulling it out of this language, all of this language will self-destruct at the proper time.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, I think that whole language on unicameral will be self-destructive at the proper time, but I think — (laughter) — but I think this language in here will still be effective when we vote on this Constitution or vote on this alternate proposal, and I think you'll have to pull it out of here sometime before you vote on it. That was the point.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart asked for the floor.

DELEGATE CART: Well, I'd like to address a question to Delegate Sinner.

If I got your amendment right, in the event the unicameral becomes effective, it will become effective December 1 of '74. Is that correct? Why shouldn't it become effective, say, on July 1, prior to the elections?

DELEGATE SINNER: Well — Mr. President. The effective terms of the existing legislators run up until December, and there are boards and commissions and study work that must go on, and I am assuming that the reapportionment commission will make the necessary arrangements for the election without the — without disrupting the effective work of the legislative process during those six months. That was the reason that I chose the date I did, which will conform almost exactly to the determination of the legislative terms under the old Constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, do you think this can become effective so that the election can be held for unicameral, if it doesn't become effective until December 1, when the elections will be held in November and December?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Well, my suggestion to Delegate Kelsch fifteen minutes ago was to make a July 1st effective date. I agree with Delegate Cart, I don't think the reapportionment committee or anyone else has the authority to establish a unicameral system when the Constitution in effect at that time calls for a bicameral legislature. At least I would hate to vote for the amendment until I was more certain. Perhaps someone else has an answer to that question. But I would think that the 80-day session will not have been completed by July 1st, and so we at least would have some specific language in there to indicate that the election shall be for a unicameral legislature, if, in effect, that provision is adopted as an alternate.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President, I have no feeling. I want to do it right. I'm at a loss, really, to know which is the best procedure here. I think we better — pardon me?

Well, Delegate Nothing is suggesting that we put it in the alternate itself, and I — that's all right with me, if that's the best procedure.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner, are you then withdrawing your proposed amendment?

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, I'd like to ask the Chairman of the Coordinating Committee what his feeling about that is. If he wishes it in here as part of the transition article, I'd be happy to leave it or withdraw — whatever he prefers.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Well, I'd like to have you and Delegate Sinner and Delegate Kelsch satisfied as to the date that you thought this problem up, if it is a problem — if it should be in here or if it's better to have it in another section. Is there any objection to making it July 1st?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I think July 1st might be a good date, but I do think it belongs in the transition. If the electorate wants to find out when things go into effect, that's where we want to look, and not in the alternate proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl, I think, has asked for the floor.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President, I move to amend the amendment to read, "July 1."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. Is there a second to that amendment?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dobson has seconded Delegate Omdahl's amendment.

Omdahl has moved an amendment to the proposed amendment, and he would change the date to become — it shall become effective July 1, 1974. July instead of December.

Hearing no further discussion, we will — did you wish the floor, Delegate Omdahl?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I've been counseled further, Mr. President. It seems to me that we should take some time on this thing and not be slapping things together with Johnson's adhesive tape here, and that this should be deferred, if we could defer action on this, until we get those dates straightened out. Five minutes now might save us six months of worry later on.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: It was my thought on this that we should go ahead and amend it and then not take final action today, unless we have to, for some reason. Get it as good as we can now, and then we'll review it overnight and check these out.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair would like to ask Delegate Unruh, who is the Chairman of the Style and Drafting Committee, if — the Chair foresees some possible difficulties here in relation to having this examined by the Style and Drafting Committee. Delegate Unruh, would you have any statement to make?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Well, Mr. Chairman, if the amendments carry, I think we could look at the proposal then at our meeting tonight and get it in good form, and then, if there's some minor amendment tomorrow, why I'm sure we can have the floor check it as it goes through.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are now then on the — let's see. I think we're on Omdahl's amendment to the amendment as proposed. So Delegate Omdahl has moved that we delete "December 1" and insert in lieu thereof "July 1, 1974".

Does everyone understand the amendment to the amendment?

The Chair will then now put the question. If you're voting "aye," you're voting in favor of Omdahl's amendment, which is to change the date to July 1, 1974.

All those in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried, and the amendment to the amendment has been adopted.

Now we revert to the amendment as proposed by Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Well, Mr. President, from the period of July 1 to December 1, 1974, there will be legislators working on interim committees and study committees of the LRC, and so forth. Now I assume there's nothing in this date that will interfere with their continuing to hold their term of office until December 1st. If there is, however, there would be a serious situation there because you'd have that period when you didn't have a legislature to do any study work for the coming session of the Legislature in '75.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I'm wondering if the language on page 1 and 2, beginning with the very last word on page 1 and continuing at the top of page 2, where it says, "All officers", and so on, wouldn't cover that point and take care of the interim work of the legislators until their successors were qualified. Would it not?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Possibly.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We are now on the amendment as proposed by Delegate Sinner.

If there's no further discussion — actually, except for the little few extra words that tell us where to go, it's the same amendment as was adopted when we adopted Omdahl's amendment. But, again, it changes the effective date and tells us where to put it — on page 3, line 1, after the period, and so on, of Section 1.

I am about to put the motion.

All in favor, signify by saying, "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the motion is carried and the amendment is adopted.

Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I have a further amendment at the desk I would like to move at this time.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Committee Proposal 1-121:

On page 2, after line 33, insert the following:

"D. Article III, Powers Reserved to the People."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second?

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Bassingthwaite seconded the motion.

All right. Now, Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President: What this amendment would do, very simply, is move up the effective date of the people's article from July 1, '73 to January 1, '73, and I think that's when it should go into effect. If the people at the special election vote an increase in the number of signatures required to initiate or refer, I think they're going to expect that increase to take effect for the next legislative session. On the other hand, even if they vote to keep the present seven thousand and ten thousand, we should still put our new people's article into effect at an early date, because old Section 25 has so many holes in it. So, either way, I think it would be best to put "Article III, Powers Reserved to the People", in effect on January 1, '73 and resolve some problems.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Delegate Nething.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

The Committee did not consider this because the Committee that handled Article III did not recommend it to us, and I don't know — the things that were explained — the many ramifications — so the Committee just didn't touch it. So I suggest that anybody that has any comments make them now.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. The only reason that the Legislative Functions Committee did not recommend this, and, as I recall, there were strong feelings about it, but was that the idea was that as many as possible of the provisions of the new Constitution should go into effect on a uniform date, and I have no objection to the motion, however. But that was the reason.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Any further discussion? Hearing none, we're on the motion of Delegate Dobson that on page 2, following line 33, that the language which was read from the desk be inserted — Section 3, Article D., and so on.

I'm about to put the motion. If you vote "aye," you're voting to adopt the proposed amendment.

All those in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried. The amendment is adopted.

Are there further amendments? Further discussion? Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: If there are no further questions, Mr. Chairman, I move that Committee Proposal No. 1-121, as amended, be considered properly re-engrossed and placed on first reading and final passage.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Fallgatter. And we're now on the motion of Delegate Byrne that we suspend the Rules and consider Committee Proposal 1-121 be properly re-engrossed as amended and be placed on the calendar for final passage.

I will now put the vote. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried

Now we have before us Committee Proposal 1-121 on the calendar ready for — or ready to be voted upon. Any further questions? If not, the key will be opened and you may cast your vote. Saugstad votes "aye."

Has everyone voted? Has everyone voted?

Pearce and Fiedler, how do you vote?

DELEGATE FIEDLER: I vote "aye."

DELEGATE PEARCE: I vote "aye."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fiedler votes "aye." Pearce votes "aye."

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Maxwell votes "aye."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Has everyone voted?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Would someone push Delegate Pearce's?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board is closed and the Clerk — Delegate Cart, how do you vote?

DELEGATE CART: "Aye."

VICE PRESIDENT STAUGSTAD: Cart votes "aye."

The board is closed and the Clerk will take the record. This is first passage.

The record shows 94 "ayes," no "nays," four absent and not voting. So Committee Proposal 1-121 has been passed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: May we be on the twelfth order?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I would like to move that Committee Proposals 1-31, 1-35, 1-141, 1-42, and 1-69 be returned from the Committee on Constitutional Ballot.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second? Seconded by Delegate Erickson. You may proceed.

DELEGATE DAWSON: The reason for this, Mr. President and Delegates, is that these were referred to us by the Legislative Committee, and they all dealt with unicameral, and they have been taken up in the body of the unicameral alternate that we proposed, and I believe Delegate Hoffner will move for withdrawal.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The motion of — we're on the motion of Delegate Dawson that our Committee Proposals 1-31, 1-35, 1-41 and 1-69 be — what was that? — be returned from the Committee on Constitutional Ballot to the House — or I mean to the Convention. And seconded by Delegate Erickson.

We're on the motion now of Delegate Dawson, and I'm about to put the motion. If you vote "aye," you vote to return these proposals to this Convention.

All those in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The motion carried.

Now we have before us these committee proposals. Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I now ask the unanimous consent to withdraw Delegate — or Committee Proposals 1-31, 1-35, 1-41, 1-42, and 1-69.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner has asked for the unanimous consent to withdraw Committee Proposals 1-31, 1-35, 1-41, 1-42 and 1-69.

Is there a second to that?

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Fritzell seconds the motion.

Now — no, this is just a request to withdraw. I'm sorry. Does anyone object? Is there any objection? Hearing none, permission is granted to withdraw.

Next we will have the Committee Report from Style and Drafting.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Alternate Proposal No. 4-1, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended; and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moved that the Report be adopted.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh, do you wish to have this follow the formal procedure or do you wish that we suspend the Rules.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman, suspend the Rules for what purpose?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: To adopt the amendments. You see, under normal circumstances, this would go on the sixth order.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes, we'd better suspend the Rules, Mr. Chairman.

I move that the Rules be suspended and we consider this on the eleventh order.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh has moved that the Rules be suspended and that the Committee amendments be — as proposed by the Committee on Style and Drafting, be adopted.

I think I'm just going to call for a voice vote on this, because I think everyone understands what the situation is, even though we are suspending the Rules.

So we're on the motion of Delegate Unruh to suspend the Rules so that these amendments can be adopted.

I'm now going to put the motion. All those in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the Rules have been suspended, so that we now have under consideration the adoption of these amendments.

The Clerk will read the proposed amendments.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendments to Alternate Proposal No. 4-1:

Do you have Alternate 4-1 in your book? It should be a blue one in the back of your book.

DELEGATE LANDER: We don't have the amendments, though — right.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: It wouldn't happen to be this white one that's being amended?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes, the white one. Yes, yesterday's. It was amended.

Proposed amendments to the engrossed Alternate Proposal 4-1:

On page 2, line 3, delete the word "this" and insert in lieu thereof the word "the" and delete the words "shall be" and insert in lieu thereof the word "is".

On page 2, line 4, delete the word "chamber" and insert in lieu thereof the word "house"; delete the words "a minimum of" and insert in lieu thereof the words "not less than"; and after the word "members" delete the comma.

On page 3, line 34, delete the word "Every" and insert in lieu thereof the words "To be enacted or adopted, every" —

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: May I request that the Clerk refer to the sections as he reads the pages, and so forth? I don't think anybody corresponds down on this end.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The difficulty is that the report at the desk does not contain this information. I wonder if Chairman Unruh could perhaps help clarify this problem.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Well, Mr. Chairman, it's a little hard to relate it from the amendments, I realize. If you'll go to your Proposal 5-12, that could be in the pink sheets at the very front of your book, if you'd prefer — and it's easier to find — those are the engrossed Style and Drafting redrafts. At the very front of your book, 5-12, and there you see, under Section 1, referring to the legislative power of the State.

Now, the alternate proposal has not been presented in its engrossed form, so we're a little at a loss to relate to the pages. Now where, Mr. Clerk, can we relate to those?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: I think I can fit in the articles. It's Article III, evidently, and then I can call the sections.

DELEGATE UNRUH: If you'd call the section on it, I think we could then relate it to 5-12 and see what we're doing, because all we're doing is converting from bicameral to unicameral and cleaning up the language, we think.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: All right. The first amendment would be Article IV. It would be the first sentence then under the Section 1, under Legislative Assemblies, and they are saying delete the word "this" and insert in lieu thereof the word "the" and delete the words "shall be" and insert in lieu thereof the word "is".

And in the same Section 1, would delete the word "chamber" and insert in lieu thereof the word "house"; delete the words "a minimum of" and insert in lieu thereof the words "not less than"; and after the word "members", we're deleting the comma.

Then we're going over to Section 9, "Enactment of Laws." In the third paragraph, delete — delete the word "Every" and insert in lieu thereof the words "To be enacted or adopted, every" and after the word "bill" delete the word "and" and insert in lieu thereof the word "or."

Then, in the same paragraph, after the word "consideration", delete the word "before final passage" —

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: There were two "everys"; is it the first one or the second one, Mr. Clerk?"

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: It would be the first — the first one — the capitalized "Every". That would be the first one. Delete the first "Every" at the start of the paragraph, and then insert in lieu thereof "To be enacted or adopted, every".

And after the word "bill" delete the word "and" and insert in lieu thereof the word "or".

And further on in the second sentence, delete "before final passage" —

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I can read that sentence to the body under Section 9, "Enactment of Laws," in the third paragraph. It will read this way: "To be enacted every bill or resolution shall have a public hearing — to be enacted or adopted every bill or resolution shall have a public hearing and two considerations."

DELEGATE KWAKO: That's the second sentence.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Now we'll go to Section 6, "Executive Organization." This would be in the second paragraph. After the words "The legislative assembly" that would be in the second sentence in the second paragraph, under Section 6. After the words "legislative assembly", delete the period and the word "The," and insert in lieu thereof a comma and the word "which". And then delete the words "The legislative assembly".

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I can explain this one so it will help Roy, I think.

What we have done is put two sentences together, so it reads this way: ". . .

until change set forth in the executive order and submitted to the legislative assembly, which shall have thirty days to submit the order." And then down below, in Section 9, it would be exactly the same way with these two sentences together.

Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Under Article XI, which is on page 9, we changed the section number from 7 to 11. This is on impeachment. The wrong section number was used. Then, down on the fourth line, we added the words "The legislative assembly shall have the power of impeachment by a vote of —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: — "of a majority of the members elected."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yeah.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Then further down under Section 7, on ballot form, they deleted —

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: We just put hyphens between the words "two-house" and "one-house."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: They hyphenated the words "two-house" and "one-house" in Section 7.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh, do you care to comment any further on the amendments?

DELEGATE UNRUH: No.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Then we're on the adoption of the Committee Report to adopt the amendments which have been read from the desk and from the floor. If there's no further discussion, I'm about to put the motion.

All — if you vote "aye," you're voting to adopt the amendments which have just been under discussion.

I am now about to put the motion. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendments have been adopted.

Now, Delegate Unruh, do you wish to move to —

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman, I now move that Alternate Proposal 4-1 as amended be placed on — the Rules be suspended and it be placed for final passage.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: And that it's properly re-engrossed.

Delegate Unruh moves that the Rules be suspended, that Delegate Proposal — I mean Alternate Proposal 4-1 be deemed properly re-engrossed as amended and be placed on the calendar on eleventh order.

Is there any further discussion? That motion was — yes, that will be for second reading. I need a second to that motion. Delegate Sullivan.

I am about to place the motion now of Delegate Unruh.

All of those in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carries. We now have before us Alternate Proposal 4-1 as amended and on the eleventh order for second passage.

Any further discussion? Hearing none — Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, a point of inquiry:

Are we passing this proposal now — or alternate proposal — in its final form, without doing anything further to the main body of the Constitution, or is this just Style and Drafting we're passing now?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: My understanding is it's only for style — for purposes of style and drafting. It has been passed once, It was passed once, and now what we're doing — this second passage is as relates only to style and drafting.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Thank you, sir.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Hearing no further discussion, the board will be opened and you may record your vote. Saugstad votes "aye."

Does Wenstrom vote "aye"? Wenstrom votes "aye." Has everyone voted?

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record indicates 80 "ayes," 9 "nays," nine absent and not voting. Therefore, Alternate Proposal 4-1 has been passed on second reading or second passage.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, did my vote show? It's so seldom I vote that way, I'd like to have it show.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I'll ask.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: It didn't light up.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No. It shows absent and not voting.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I voted "yea."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I'm sorry, but — had you pushed the — had you pushed your switch, Delegate Rundle?

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Yes. And then I reached over and pushed the other guy's switch and my switch went off. (Laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Did you get the message? (Laughter)

Unless you would request a — that we vote over — it's too late to ask that at this point.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: It's so seldom that Delegate Rundle votes green. I would like to request that we vote over, to give him that privilege.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire, and seconded by Delegate Omdahl, has moved that we vote over. All in favor signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The board will be opened and we will cast our votes again. If you vote "aye," you're voting for. Saugstad votes "aye." Wenstrom votes "aye."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the board will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The record discloses 83 "ayes," 10 "nays," five absent and not voting. Therefore, Alternate Proposal 4-1 passed on second reading — second passage.

Are there any immediate announcements? We're about to take a short recess.

The Calendar Committee, including Delegates Dawson — Chairman Dawson and Unruh will meet in President Wenstrom's office. There's one announcement from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The State Treasurer's office will be open Wednesday from 8:30 to 12:00 Noon for the cashing of checks for the convenience of the delegates.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We will now take a ten-minute recess.

(The Session recessed at 5:05 P.M. until 5:28 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order? The Convention will be in order.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I didn't hear your question. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe you had a motion relative to some numbers.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes. I gave it to Clerk Gilbreath. Please read it for me.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Style and Drafting Committee recommends no further action on the following proposals for the reason that each proposal has now been incorporated in a Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal now passed by the Convention on second passage; that further reconsideration on amendment on any proposal passed on first reading be limited to consideration of said proposal as it is now incorporated in the Redraft Proposal passed on second reading.

That the proposals on which no further action shall be taken are as follows:

Committee Proposals Numbered 1-1, 1-10, 1-11, 1-12, 1-13, 1-14, 1-15, 1-16, 1-18, 1-19, 1-20, 1-23, 1-25, 1-26, 1-27, 1-28, 1-29, 1-30, 1-32, 1-33, 1-34, 1-36, 1-37, 1-38, 1-39, 1-40, 1-43, 1-44, 1-45, 1-46, 1-47, 1-48, 1-49, 1-53, 1-57, 1-58, 1-59, 1-60, 1-62, 1-63, 1-64, 1-65, 1-66, 1-67, 1-68, 1-70, 1-71, 1-72, 1-73, 1-74, 1-75, 1-76, 1-77, 1-78, 1-79, 1-80, 1-82, 1-85, 1-87, 1-89, 1-91, 1-92, 1-96, 1-97, 1-98, 1-99, 1-100, 1-101, 1-102, 1-104, 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-110, 1-111, 1-112, 1-113, 1-115, 1-116, 1-118, 1-119, 1-120, and Delegate Proposals Numbered 2-23 and 2-26.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second.?

DELEGATE GEELAN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Geelan.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, I attempted to say "Bingo!" but I don't think it would go too well this evening. (Laughter)

Mr. President and Delegates: This is a reworking of what we were attempting to do yesterday, where we used the words "indefinite postponement," and quite a bit of opposition was generated, and what we're doing now is not indefinitely postponing these — just recommending no further consideration be given to these numbers by the old proposal number and, hence, you will be referring to the Redraft 5-1, 2 through 15. That's the only thing when you go to amending those, will be the areas that you will refer to, rather than to the original committee proposals. It's a housecleaning resolution only, and it needs to be done.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Unruh and seconded by Delegate Geelan. Because of the nature of this particular question and in that we do now wish to have a complete record on what happened to these particular proposals and the numbers thereof, I'm going to ask that we have a recorded vote, so we'll tie it all together. So the Clerk will open the key. Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Now is this the step we're taking to make all our proposals into one document?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: This is — from here on in, any action that we take, we will be not referring to these committee proposal numbers; we will be referring to the number as it is now in the Redraft Proposals.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: I understand that; but is this our first step to make them all into one document, instead of having separate proposals before us?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, I don't believe it is, Delegate Hendrickson. I think that step was taken several days ago when we first started to work. As we determined it at that time, the green sheets — remember? That came out of Style and Drafting, and at that time is the time that we started consolidating and coming out with the articles that we have been considering. So I think that was the time that we started in summary.

So the question is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Unruh.

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 96 "ayes," there were no "nays," and two delegates absent and not voting. So the vote on the motion as recommended by Delegate Unruh and seconded by Delegate Geelan has passed.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Delegates, in the very front of your books are the pink engrossed redrafts of what used to be the green sheets. Remember yesterday we mentioned that there were some coming in. We didn't know what color they were going to be. But they're now pink, and you will notice it starts with 5-1 and 5-2, and still in the margin on the left it indicates the committee proposal number, in case you get lost somewhere along the way. But these are the ones. If we're going to do any amending or reconsidering, and so on, these are the pages that you will be referring to. And we have one further amendment or motion.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Style and Drafting Committee recommends that the Convention take no further action on the following proposals for the reason that each proposal, as passed on final reading, calls for repeal of a part of the present North Dakota Constitution, and all of these repealing proposals will be incorporated in a general repeal of the present North Dakota Constitution, which repeal will be effective should the new Constitution be adopted by the electors:

Committee Proposals Numbered 1-4, 1-22, 1-24, 1-50, 1-52, 1-54, 1-55, 1-56, 1-88, 1-93, 1-94, 1-95, and 1-103.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

Is there any discussion? This now is the repealer sections that have gone through, and they are being — Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, Mr. President, is it my understanding that there's an intent to combine all these into one proposal? Is that —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Into one repealer.

DELEGATE SINNER: Well, in the transition — according to the transition schedule that we just adopted, there is a sentence which reads: "Except as may be otherwise established by this schedule, the provisions of this Constitution shall become effective on July 1, 1973, and the provisions of the Constitution of 1889 as amended shall be repealed and of no further force and effect." And I wonder if that doesn't take care of it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, it may, Delegate Sinner. However, we have these repealers dangling out here, that they are the result of being left out in the Committee in Style and Drafting when they were no longer incorporated into the redrafts. So, in order to take care of them and take them out of that Committee and put them in the permanent files of the Convention, why we felt that we had to have something to show what happened to all of the repealers. So that is really the purpose of this particular motion and, for the same reason that we had a roll call on the previous one, I would like to ask for a roll call on this — this repealer section, also. So, if there's no further discussion and no questions, the Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 96 "ayes," no "nays," two delegates absent and not voting. So the repealer sections have been removed on the motion offered by Delegate Unruh and seconded by Delegate Litten.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Fellow Delegates: The Calendar Committee has had, I think, at least three meetings today, some of which have been rather lengthy, in trying to determine the schedule for our remaining time here. At the present time, it appears that this will be — or this is tentatively what we feel will be our schedule for our remaining time:

We are going to recess very shortly and come back again this evening to continue this day's work. Now, what remains to be done today and which must be completed today is any and all reconsiderations that involve any substantive changes. We know that there are a number of pending reconsiderations. Now, we have also another — we'll have to have some further discussion on Alternate Proposal 4-1. That will be the first order of business to be taken up following our reconvening after our recess, at which time we will have eaten. Following that, when we reconvene, the first order of business will be that. Following that then, there will be — the floor is going to be open for reconsideration.

Now, the reason for limiting reconsiderations, for making substantive changes today, and it must be handled today, is that this material then, if any changes are made, must go through the Style and Drafting Committee so they can prepare and overlook — I mean that they can examine these for any changes and corrections, and then the entire document — the entire proposed new Constitution — must be properly engrossed before we leave at the end of our Plenary Session.

Now, in order to accomplish that rather difficult, actually Herculean, task, it appears that we will use tomorrow, Wednesday, as a recess day. We shall meet tomorrow morning, presumably at nine o'clock, for committee meetings. Each substantive committee will meet. Some of the substantive committees will perhaps have — the meetings probably will be rather brief. However, the Style and Drafting Committee, for one, and I believe that perhaps some of the other procedural committees, will have time to meet tomorrow; that is, they should have considerable time. Then, on Thursday, we plan to convene at about eight o'clock in the morning and we must complete our work before we leave here Thursday night. We must — and I again reiterate — we must have completed all of our work before we leave Thursday evening.

Now, because of the lengthy debate in which we could become involved on some of the reconsiderations, I am going to offer — I'm going to offer the following motion in order that we may have an orderly — that is, orderly consideration of these various motions to reconsider, and the motion that I am about to offer, and it is the one that is suggested by the Calendar Committee, is that following — now this does not refer to the discussion on Alternate Proposal 4-1, but upon the completion of our discussion of Alternate Proposal 4-1, that any motion on motions to reconsider, that the debate will be limited to three speakers on each side of the issue; that is, in other words, not more than six people will be able to talk on a subject — not more than three on each side — and the time limit of five minutes will be strictly enforced. And the reason for that, of course, is that we feel that it is necessary to do that so that everyone — or each motion to reconsider can be given a fair hearing.

So I will now, then, move that debate be limited to three — on motions to reconsider, that debate be limited to three speeches or three speakers on each side of the issue.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Saugstad that we apply the limitation on debate as in Rule No. 27, with the stipulation that on all matters that come before the Convention from here on out, that the debate would be limited to three speakers on a side, who are limited to five minutes each.

Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May I have a second?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger seconds. Now, Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Did Delegate Saugstad's motion include all motions, amendments and amendments to amendments? I think that's important that we include it.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes. I believe it would be proper to include those other matters, yes. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President: Just a point of inquiry. I can see some problems in how we're going to decide who the three on each side are going to be, and I wonder if the Committee considered they are then limiting it to three speakers limiting the time that any one person may talk to, say, a minute or two minutes, which would allow more delegates to speak, if they wanted to, but cut down the words.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Actually, the whole problem is to try to have some kind of limitation, so that when we could foresee that we might be tied up here for an interminable length of time, because, you see, some of the things that we have had before us, for instance today and other days, we will sometimes spend an hour, an hour-and-a-half, on one consideration or on one motion, and of course, because our time is so limited, it's just felt that we couldn't afford to take that much time.

Another way it could be put — the motion could be put and, actually, what we had in mind was that we were trying to limit the debate on one side of the issue to 15 minutes — that is, give each side 15 minutes, is really about what it — is what we are aiming to do.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, I have the same concern as Delegate Kelsch, and I wonder who — if you have an organized situation, this is fine; but for the people who are not aware of what may be reconsidered, it's a real problem. Who is going to decide if somebody jumps up to reconsider a proposal that represents a minority? They can carefully organize, and this is fine. Well, what about the majority of the Convention that is not aware of what's coming up? If we could decide right now what items are going to be reconsidered, then, fine; but if not, I am concerned.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Actually, this was done as much for any reason to point up the problem and to acquaint you with the problem, and that we are trying to feel our way along here to find some solution to this problem, and I would have absolutely no objection to having a time limit, and perhaps, if I have the consent of my second, I will withdraw my original motion and place a time limit of 15 minutes, if that is more satisfactory — 15 minutes to each side — 15 minutes.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: I consent.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Well, Mr. President and Fellow Delegates: I can understand the time limit, but I, too, must join Delegates Kelsch and Devine. I question whether we, in allowing 15 minutes, are giving each individual delegate adequate time. I feel, personally, that I may want to speak 15 seconds or 30 seconds upon an issue, but I do want to speak. I do not want to be limited. I think I was sent down here to give my views for my constituents, and I believe in these closing hours that same viewpoint should be recognized for all 97 other delegates. For this reason, I would be content with a minute for each speaker — no more, no less — and the President possibly cutting it down from that point. But I do not think that we should limit it to three speakers on either side, nor do I think we should limit it to 15 minutes, unless we recognize the right of the individual delegate.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Is there a motion before the house?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There is a motion. Delegate Saugstad's motion is before the house.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I think I have a solution. You vote "no" on everything that comes up and you won't have a problem. (Applause)

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Just a question from the Chair.

I wonder if that was 50 votes applauding. If that was 50 votes that applauded there, we have no problem. (Laughter)

Delegate Hendrickson.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Is there any way we can have any indication of how many issues might be brought up for reconsideration before we adjourn? I realize they are going to move them and maybe they won't be reconsidered but is there any way we can have an idea what those —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair can't answer your question. Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I move an amendment that only those items which are announced at this time can be reconsidered this evening.

DELEGATE KWAKO: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: He moves an amendment to the motion as offered by Delegate Saugstad; that only those motions that are to reconsider that have been announced as of this time can be discussed this evening. And do we have a second to that?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's seconded by Delegate Thompson.
Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Excuse me, Mr. President. May I clarify that? Before that — before we recess. Before we would — in order — if I may rephrase the amendment, please.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now you said "before we recess." Just so the Chair understands. You mean before we recess for dinner?

DELEGATE DEVINE: That's correct. I wanted to make my intent clear.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: But you do also give the delegates to this Convention an opportunity now, in the event — if your amendment passes — that you give the Delegates to this Convention an opportunity to announce their intentions to reconsider?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, that's exactly correct. I wasn't trying to cut it off in allowing Delegate Thompson's, but just so we know, when we go for dinner, what items will be reconsidered.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I believe that, by now, the message has gotten across; and so at this time, with the consent of my second, I shall withdraw my motion.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Consent.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad has requested permission to withdraw his motion. His second has concurred. So the motion will be withdrawn.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President: Are we on the twelfth order?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Point of order, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We have an error in our proceedings. We are on the twelfth order. We made an error in our proceedings when we let them take the base motion out. Delegate Devine, I'm going to recognize you for a motion.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, I presume I would have to withdraw my amendment; but I could offer another motion after.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may offer a motion.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Is my amendment withdrawn — on the motion — withdrawn at this point?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No. The Chair was in error in permitting him to withdraw his motion. So you make a motion right now, the way you'd like to have it.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: A point of order, sir.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Well, the point of order — Delegate Devine, if you withdraw your amendment, and if I'm withdrawing my motion — is that it?

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

DELEGATE DEVINE: That's how I understand the situation, and as soon as the Chair recognizes that, I will make the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: All right. I will recognize that you withdraw your motion — or your amendment.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: And I withdraw my motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Now we're right back where we started.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine — Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: I would like to be on the twelfth order for a motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I believe, Delegate Butler, that I'm going to have to recognize Delegate Devine, because he had the floor prior to you, and I'm sorry, but that's what I'm going to have to do.

Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I would move that before — than any items that are to be reconsidered this evening must be announced to the Convention before we adjourn for dinner or recess for dinner.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You move that any matters that are to be reconsidered this evening be announced to the Convention by the delegates prior to the time we recess for dinner. Do we have a second to that motion?

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engstrom.

Now, do we have some discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President, this is carrying the gag rule a little far, and perhaps you don't want to recess for dinner, because it might — we could be sports about this. It might take me half-an-hour to give you my list under this rule, and I shall so do, if I'm going to vote "yes" on this motion.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: On this rare occasion, I would like to join Delegate Rundle. I have a list of seven proposals that I thought I would like to see come back and make some technical-to-major amendments; but, frankly, I'd rather that we didn't reconsider anything, and I would rather not panic anybody by reading off my seven numbers, because if, as things go, we don't do any reconsidering or any major reconsidering, I'd just as soon not make anybody think that I'm going to consider the whole Constitution over again. So I certainly hope that the motion will be defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion as offered by Delegate Devine and seconded by Delegate Engstrom. If there's no further discussion, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "noes" have it. The motion lost.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler.

DELEGATE BUTLER: I would propose a change in Rule 36, that might probably help solve this problem a little.

I recognize that this is the twenty-ninth day, and the rule that I propose to change has not been abused too much today, but I can see that we might be here until three or four o'clock tomorrow morning, based on what we've talked about in the last few minutes. My motion is to delete the last sentence of Rule 36.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler moves an amendment to the Rules; that we delete the last line in Rule — the last two lines in Rule 36. Is that correct?

DELEGATE BUTLER: That is correct.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the motion?

DELEGATE NETHING: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Nothing.

Now, any discussion?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Butler, did you wish to speak on the motion?

DELEGATE BUTLER: Yes, I would like to comment: That this Rule was explained yesterday morning, I believe, by Mrs. Geelan or one of the other delegates, and it was put in for a specific purpose, as I see it, and tomorrow, on the twenty-ninth — or today, as the case might be, that we decided to work tonight on these reconsiderations, that we could be held here for any number of hours discussing items that we have already worked over satisfactorily and completely voted on them before and arrived at a conclusion that they would be in or out of the Constitution as they are. I also have a couple of reconsiderations I would like to bring up, but I am certainly willing to ask for a two-thirds vote in order to get the consideration of this delegation to have my reconsiderations put on the floor, and I hope at least 66 people here feel the same way as I do about it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President: Now, when this discussion first started, I think that Delegate Saugstad in all of the conditions had removed Alternate Proposal 4-1 from his consideration. Now I was wondering if Delegate Butler was intending to remove Alternate Proposal 4-1 from his two-thirds stipulation, or if we're going to have an alternate proposal on the legislative makeup — if we're going to take a two-thirds vote and remove the legislative branch — or the legislative article out of the main body of the Constitution so it can set on the side.

DELEGATE BUTLER: Article 4-1 that you're talking about is now before us as an approved alternate; is that correct?

DELEGATE AUBOL: I believe that is correct.

DELEGATE BUTLER: All right. Then, as far as I have made my motion, I intend that it should apply to any reconsiderations that come before this body.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, I —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Excuse me. Delegate Aubol, were you through?

DELEGATE AUBOL: I had one more question on this — in that area — and it seems to me that, as far as what you said yesterday, that we could not have the 4-1 on the ballot without first removing from the document the two-house legislative provision of the document —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE AUBOL: We have not yet done that; is that right?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is correct.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, we voted this down yesterday — the same motion. There has been no warning. I do not have a long list of reconsiderations, or anything of the sort; but we turned this rule change down yesterday, and it seems to me it's unfair at this late moment to try to bring it back again, and I hope you resist the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, I would also urge you not to change the rules at this late date. I think we've gotten along well at this Convention. I think we're all willing to abide by the majority rule, and I don't think we'll have any problem. I think we have heard these things, and I hope we can just go along with the Rules as we have adopted them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I, also, would like to ask that the Convention turn down the motion to delete the last line. If by Thursday morning at ten o'clock we want to take this last sentence off, I think the Convention will do so then.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: There was someone else. Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President: I've been haunted the past two days by the growing fear that the business still before this Convention could not be fitted into the time left, and I think now, this day before the last day, my fears have been proven well-founded.

Now, under the Rules, anything and everything can be reconsidered by a simple majority. It means that it's open season and every proposal that lost out or that was watered down could be brought up by its champion and every motion to reconsider debated over again, unless — unless we impose some rules upon ourselves to limit debate or to limit the number and the kind of motions that can be brought up for reconsideration, or — or, unless we use some discretion and some forbearance and some self-discipline.

Now, Mr. President, you haven't heard from me for several days, and I want to compliment myself. (Laughter and applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Excuse me. Let the record indicate the Delegate's to compliment himself. (Laughter)

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Thank you. Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: You haven't heard from me because I've been practicing self-discipline, because I knew I would need it during these last two days, because there are quite a few things that I would like to bring up for reconsideration. I'm going to try not to, and I hope that the rest will try to follow my example. (Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Maxwell. Delegate Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I support this motion. Anything that needs to be brought back to the floor at this time should deserve a two-thirds vote to recall it. It seems to me we have gone far enough, and anything that comes back should be justified by that degree, and I would support the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion as offered by Delegate Butler.

Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: A short question. Does this apply to 4-1?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I would rule that it applies to any motion to reconsider that comes up from here on out.

Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President, I'd like to point out that I don't think this motion of Delegate Butler's is the answer. We can spend just as much time arguing about the motion to reconsider. So this isn't going to solve it. I'd like to also point out that, so far as I know, all we have is four hours left tonight to do all of this here, and there isn't anyone who likes this two o'clock in the morning business when it's twelve o'clock, and we're spending a lot of time right now arguing this thing. I think we should solve it in a hurry.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Butler that we strike the last two lines in Rule 36. Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President, my concern, I'm sure, is very obvious, as it is the obvious concern of many others. On whom does the — I'll ask this of the Chair: On whom does the burden of clarifying the situation of the ballot question on the alternate proposals — and there are several that, I assume, have the same problem: On whom does that responsibility lie? Is the assumption of some of the delegates that these are now satisfactorily passed and on the ballot? Is that assumption incorrect and, if not, who should make the motions and what motions should be made? I think we need to clarify this before we vote on this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are requesting of me — Delegate Unruh, did you wish to answer?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President: The Style and Drafting Committee has not had a chance to go over all the alternates. We have done 4-1, as you recall. We have just amended it. And it is our intention to look at these other ballots and to put them in what we consider proper form. If you have some suggestions to make to us, we'll try to amend those down in Style and Drafting, rather than taking the time here on the floor. We intended to meet tonight, but we can't. We will probably have to meet all day tomorrow, and that's why I'm concerned that we get all our business done on reconsideration tonight, up until twelve o'clock, because we will need all day tomorrow to put this thing together.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does that answer your question, Delegate Sinner?

DELEGATE SINNER: No, Mr. President, it really doesn't.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Sinner, then I suppose that I should — you should just take the bull by the horns — if you'll pardon the expression — and say that the decision on the question will ride with the presiding officer of the Convention. Then you heard the Chair expound — if I may term it — use that phraseology — either yesterday or the day before, rather to my opinion on the present status of 4-1, and until such time as I have had an opportunity to explain it to the Convention, it will just have to rest with me.

Now, remember that you do always have the opportunity or the privilege of appealing from the decision of the Chair. But that is my decision, and that is — I have the backup from the Secretary of State and from the Attorney General's office that that is correct. As I state it to the Convention from the floor, that that is correct and that is one of the things that must be done; however, may I say, further, that I have enough confidence in the delegates to this Convention that, when a matter on procedure comes up, if it requires 66 votes, if it requires 75 votes, that the delegates are going to give the votes so that this particular matter can be straightened out. I feel that that is no problem. But it's something that this Convention is going to have to wrestle with. It's something that we are going to have to do.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President, does this take a two-thirds vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President: This takes a two-thirds vote, does it not, to amend the Rule?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: To amend the Rule? Yes, it takes a two-thirds vote.

The question before the Convention, again — Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President, I would like to, if there's any way we can do this, amend the Butler motion so that it will not apply to matters relating to alternate proposals.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Omdahl, if you offer an amendment, why that's what the amendment will say.

Delegate Omdahl moves that this does — in the motion as adopted — as offered by Delegate Butler, it shall not apply to alternate proposals.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Haugen.

Now, do we have any questions on the amendment to the motion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

The question before the Convention is on the motion as offered by Delegate Butler and seconded by Delegate Nothing.

Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President: Lest we get carried away, now that this is no longer a problem, I would like to point out to the Convention that I do have a matter to bring up which has had very little discussion here for reconsideration. I have not been on a delegate proposal, I have not been on a majority report, and I have not been on a minority report; and other than carrying committee bills, I've been very quiet at this Convention. I think we have gone on the assumption that the last two days, for some time now, we could reconsider our majority report, and I think it would be folly now to require this two-thirds vote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on Delegate Butler's motion — I think you remember now — to suspend the last two lines in — no? Yes. I am correct — that we do dispense with the last two lines, except as amended, so that it does not apply to alternate proposals.

Those in favor of the motion will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay." All those in favor of the motion — say, I better not do it that way. I better open the key on account of this taking a two-thirds vote.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment or the motion will vote "aye," those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 56 "ayes," 40 "nays," and two delegates absent and not voting. So the motion failed.

DELEGATE TUDOR: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor.

DELEGATE TUDOR: While I may be incurring the wrath of my committee chairman on Style and Drafting, I have a later engagement that I can't get out of, and so I would like to move at this time that the Convention reconsider the action by which Alternate Proposal 4-2 was passed; and if I can get a second, I can explain it.

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: 4-2, Doctor?

DELEGATE TUDOR: Yes, Alternate Proposal 4-2 is concerning the gambling issue, and we passed it in an impossible form.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor moves to reconsider the action whereby Alternate Proposal 4-2 was passed, and the motion has been seconded by Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE TUDOR: I have an amendment at the desk, but should I explain my reasoning, Mr. President, or do you want to read it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would you read it? No. Delegate Tudor, the question now before the Convention is on the motion to reconsider, and you have a second; so I think you better tell why.

DELEGATE TUDOR: As I said, the Convention passed Alternate Proposal 4-2 in an impossible form. The Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage deleted the first amendment from the old Constitution. The Convention originally went along and voted to stay with this deletion. It was later brought back in the form of an alternate proposal. However, the alternate proposal is not really an alternate proposal because the Committee on Constitutional Ballot didn't leave me any place to vote. The alternates are set out in such a way that I'm voting against all forms of gambling are prohibited or that the Legislative Assembly shall not authorize lotteries or gift enterprises, and I want this section deleted, and I'm sure a lot of people want it deleted, and I feel that we should — that this should be amended so that we either want lotteries and gift enterprises or we don't want lotteries and gift enterprises. The way it is listed now, we have no place to go. We have alternates which essentially mean the same thing.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the motion to reconsider Alternate Proposal 4-2 on the motion as offered by Delegate Tudor. If there's no further discussion, we will open the key and this will take 50 votes.

Those in favor of reconsideration will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

DELEGATE TUDOR: Mr. President, there's an amendment at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Clerk will read the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-3:

In the engrossed proposal, delete everything after the resolving clause, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"That the question as to whether the proposed constitution shall contain a provision relating to lotteries shall be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue on the Constitutional Convention Ballot.

"That a section be inserted in the proposed constitution providing that lotteries and gift enterprises shall be prohibited.

"SECTION 1. SEPARATE ISSUE.) The following provision is hereby created and shall be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue, and if approved, shall become a part of the proposed constitution:

"Section 28. LOTTERIES PROHIBITED.

"The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets.

"SECTION 2. BALLOT FORM.) The form of the ballot as pertains to the question set out in this proposal, and as it shall be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue, shall be as follows:

"Shall the 1972 proposed constitution contain the following provision:

"The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets."

A "yes" box and a "no" box.

And renumber the lines accordingly.

DELEGATE TUDOR: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor.

DELEGATE TUDOR: I believe that this is self-explanatory. I believe that the Alternate Proposal 4-2 as originally passed was impossible, because it did not give you anyplace to go. So it was not a real alternate. So I hope that you will pass this approved amendment which I'm now offering to you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I think all of us that are deemed to be State's Attorneys in the Convention would agree with this amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. I merely wish to make an inquiry, because, when I first saw this proposal before, I was wondering how they could put on the ballot something that we have decided to omit from the Constitution and, in effect, they are overruling our action, and I'm wondering whether we shouldn't have a motion to reconsider our action in removing this from the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President: This illustrates one reason why it would have been well to have more knowledge of the proposals that were to be reconsidered. I agree that there is not a great deal of difference between the two sections as approved the other day; yet I very much prefer the first language in Proposal — Alternate Proposal 4-2. It is more simple. It's definite. And if we're going to vote "yes" or "no" on one of those sections when we come to approve the Constitution, I would very much prefer to vote "yes" on the first section — "All forms of gambling shall be prohibited unless the legislative assembly provides for the authorization or regulation of specific forms thereof."

So, Mr. President, in order to do what I want to do, I'm going to have to offer an amendment to Delegate Tudor's motion, that the question be on the first section, instead of the second section.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen moves an amendment —

DELEGATE TUDOR: Mr. President, I'll second that amendment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor seconds the amendment.

Delegate Haugen, would you restate your request there for the benefit of the Clerk?

DELEGATE HAUGEN: In Delegate Tudor's proposal, I would substitute "All forms of gambling shall be prohibited unless the legislative assembly provides for the authorization and regulation of specific forms thereof." for the language that Delegate Tudor quoted: "The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets."

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Burbidge.

DELEGATE BURBIDGE: I can understand what would happen if a "Yes" vote prevailed on this; but suppose a "No" vote prevails? Does that mean that there is no prohibition for gambling and the Legislative Assembly has no right to regulate?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: It was pointed out the other day that the language in the white sheet which was distributed on this question or reported in Committee — the language in the first question, the one on the top, amounts to the same thing as silence on the subject in the Constitution, because if the Constitution is silent on the subject, then the Legislative Assembly can provide for the authorization, and so on. So it amounts to the same thing as silence; and, as I have told you before, I don't really care what you do about this; but bear in mind that the reason for getting an alternate on the side in the first place was as a lightning rod or as a pop-off valve for what, I'm sure, is a deep interest by a substantial number of citizens of North Dakota in having a real question before them.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'd like to answer Mr. Burbidge, if I may, and I think at the same time it will answer the statement just made by Mr. Baker. That first paragraph is not the same as not speaking. That first paragraph says that the Legislature must do something, if there is to be any gambling at all within the State. If we're silent, then they must take those things out that they don't want to authorize, and it forces them to do something. This one does not. And I think, in answer to — that that probably answers Mr. Burbidge at the same time.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I don't think that this is going to provide us with a responsible alternative either. If we go to that, "All forms of gambling shall be prohibited unless the legislative assembly provides for the authorization" — supposing somebody really believes in that second paragraph there, where the Legislative Assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries, we're not giving people an option to vote "yes" or "no," really. We're saying "All forms of gambling shall be prohibited." If we put that in, it still says the Legislature can pass laws. If we vote "no" on that, then it's not in the Constitution; the Legislature can still pass laws.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question — Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President, I would just like to re-emphasize what Delegate Baker said, and that's pretty much the feeling of our Committee in trying to come up with a way to put this to the people. We felt that, by our — our present acts were present on the matter, and that's why we had the two, a first saying we're not talking about lotteries or anything, and then the second choice is going back to the old Constitution. So we wrestled with this problem, and I think we came up with the right answer on it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen.

Will the Clerk read the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment to Alternate Proposal 4-2:

Following "Section 28." delete the following: "LOTTERIES PROHIBITED. The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose and shall pass laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets." and insert in lieu thereof the following: "GAMBLING PROHIBITED — EXCEPTION. All forms of gambling shall be prohibited unless the legislative assembly provides for the authorization and regulation of specific forms thereof."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are you ready for the question? The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Haugen. No further discussion?

Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "noes" have it. The amendment lost.

A division has been requested. That is a sufficient number.

Again, those in favor of the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 48 "nays," 43 "ayes," and seven delegates absent and not voting. The amendment failed.

We're back on the motion to amend as offered by Delegate Tudor. The question: As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted. The amendment is adopted.

Now, Delegate Tudor.

Delegate Tudor moves —

DELEGATE TUDOR: I'll move that this be engrossed and the Rules be suspended.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor moves that the Rules be suspended, that Proposal 4-2 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the tenth order for passage. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Proposal 4-2 is before the Convention for final action. Any discussion?

Hearing none — Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President, would it be my understanding that, if a majority voted "no," that this Alternate Proposal would then fail to be placed on the ballot?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It would be defeated. The only way it could come back would be to be reconsidered.

The question before the Convention is on the passage of Proposal 4-2. Do we have any further discussion?

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Now I'm getting a little confused on this — your decision on that last question. As I understand this, if we — our vote now is not on whether this should be an alternate ballot; is that true or not?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, you voted to reconsider your action whereby it was voted upon and placed on before, and that's back before the Convention in its original state and it's been amended.

The question before the Convention — Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President: I made an inquiry a short time ago. Now will this vote mean that we are also reconsidering our action by which we deleted this same language from the Constitution?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No, I don't believe we are, Delegate Burke.

The question then before the Convention is on the passage of Redraft Proposal No. 4-2.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I'm not clear on this at all. I wonder if I could find the answer from somebody. If we vote — if we vote down this particular motion or amendment — excuse me —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate McIntyre, we have already taken care of the amendment. We have adopted the amendment that Delegate Tudor offered.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Well, what happens, Mr. President, if this vote is in the negative?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, I would say that the Proposal was gone, unless there would be a motion to reconsider.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: I move that any further action be delayed until after the dinner recess.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner moves that we delay action until after the dinner recess.

DELEGATE McELROY: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate McElroy.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "noes" have it and the motion lost.

The question before the Convention — there is not sufficient members standing for a division upon the question.

The question before the Convention is for passage of Delegate Proposal — or Alternate Proposal 4-2. Those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NOTHING: Still counting!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any delegate wish to change his vote? Delegate Hoghaug, have you voted?

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The vote is closed.

Delegate Meidinger, did you wish to announce your vote?

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: No.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The roll call discloses 65 "ayes," 29 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting.

Alternate Proposal 4-2 has passed.

Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, may we be on the eighth order for a moment?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Without objection, we'll be on the eighth order.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: The Committee on Education and Resources, and whatever else we have, will meet at ten o'clock tomorrow morning in G-1.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad, did you have anything further?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: No.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, as long as we're making those announcements, I'll announce Executive Functions will meet in our regular room at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: The Finance and Tax Committee will meet in the Blue Room at ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President: The Judiciary and Political Functions Committee will meet at its usual room at ten o'clock.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Mr. President: The Bill of Rights Committee will meet at ten o'clock in the usual room, and I'll ask Vice Chairman Decker to preside at the Committee meeting.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President: The Legislative Functions Committee will meet at ten o'clock.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman: The Public Information Committee will meet at ten o'clock in the hearing room.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Style and Drafting will meet tomorrow morning, Mr. President, at nine o'clock.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow Delegates: Might I suggest that, although all substantive committees are meeting, that those of you that are members of the Committee on Public Information or of the Committee on Style and Drafting, that you do attend those two committees in preference to attending your regular committee assignments.

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: We'll now recess — I move that we recess until 8:00 P.M. sharp.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that we recess — the Chair will declare a recess until 8:00 P.M. sharp.

(The Session recessed at 6:38 P.M. until 8:24 P.M., the same day.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Will the delegates please take their seats?

All right. We'll please come to order. Let's have it quiet. There's an announcement from the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The Lua Cinton Horizon Club, Tenth Grade, from Fargo, and their Advisor, Mrs. Norman Schrader, are in the balcony today. (Applause)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman: I now move that the Convention reconsider its action whereby it passed Style and Drafting Redraft No. 5-12, being Sections 1 through 14 of Article IV of the Legislative Article; that we reconsider our action by which we passed it, for the purposes only of ballot consideration with respect to the alternate proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: It's been seconded by Delegate Sanstead.

Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, may I inquire if the motion then means that no consideration can be given to any amendment of Style and Drafting Redraft 5-12 or any part of it, if this motion is adopted in this form?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe that that was in the motion — that it was not for the purpose of amending, and the purpose was stated for which the motion was made.

Is there any further discussion? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman: The purpose of this reconsideration is to enable the Style and Drafting Committee to put this into proper form so that we can offer it as an alternate, following the wishes of this body that the unicameral-bicameral be an alternate. We have been advised on good authority that it is necessary to lift this proposal — this Style and Drafting Redraft — bodily from where it sits in our presently-passed Constitution, and set it aside in order that it have proper ballot consideration by the voters; that if we don't do this, and we leave it in the main body of the Constitution and have a choice on the part of the voters, those votes will not be given the proper weight, since they have to vote for the Constitution with the bicameral provision in it, and then, if they wish unicameral, they would have to vote for that separate, in effect nullifying their vote on the first item and giving their vote proper weight, and the Attorney General has so advised, and I would yield to President Wenstrom.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Wenstrom.

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Unruh.

Mr. President: This comment and this action that we are taking this evening is pretty much in line with my comments of a couple days ago, when I ruled that we would have to move to reconsider the action whereby the legislative section was placed in the draft of the Constitution. As Delegate Unruh has stated, we have taken this up with the Attorney General's office and we have taken it up with the Secretary of State, and they also tell us that it is impossible to be fair and have an alternate, unless the two alternates are side by side, and the purpose of an alternate is to give the voters an opportunity to express their choice on just which of the two styles or the two systems of the legislatures that they would prefer to have; that it is utterly impossible to give them that choice and have one section, the bicameral section, at this time, and in this case already placed in the document itself, and that is the situation that we find ourselves in now.

So there are so many things that could happen that would make it really difficult and very complicated in order to determine. On a close vote, maybe the Constitution would carry, and at the same time we'll say that the bicameral section was in the Constitution and it carried by a few thousand votes; at the same time down on the box on the side where the unicameral and the bicameral sections were being voted on separately, there the unicameral might have won. So then how would you decide? You see, it's a very, very difficult situation, and in order to avoid that and to give the voters an opportunity to express themselves on this important subject, really on whether they wish to have a bicameral or a unicameral system, and give them an opportunity to vote on this subject and do it fairly, we urge that we reconsider our action whereby this particular legislative section was placed in the Constitution as we have it before us at the present time. I urge a "yes" vote.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson, first, and then Baker, and then Engelter.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President: I didn't realize that Delegate Om-dahl's justiciable right would have so much effect!

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I don't really feel that my question — maybe I didn't phrase it quite properly — has been answered quite clearly enough. The point that I'm getting at, I guess, is this:

I understand the purpose of taking out the whole of 5-12 — that is, Sections 1 through 14, inclusive — is that correct — the motion?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE BAKER: — is for the purpose of giving it equal position upon the set-aside ballot with 4-1, the unicameral idea, and the unicameral matter that we have approved, I believe, contains no Section 2, 3, 4 — and maybe some more. Anyway, it's missing several of the sections which I assumed did not — were equally efficient either under the unicameral or bicameral system, and so I'm interested in knowing what the purpose is in getting all of this one and reconsidering it out of the main body of the proposed Constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone care to answer the questions raised by Delegate Baker?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: We have a Style and Drafting — Style and Drafting is already working on a preliminary draft that would actually have the complete legislative branch article provide for all those sections, Delegate Baker, and then a unicameral with all the same sections. The unicameral proposal — you're right — does not address itself to those sections, like Section 2, which are the same in both situations, but Style and Drafting would propose to submit to the Convention a complete article, legislative branch, for bicameral, first, and unicameral, second, with the Section 2 and the other sections that are the same in both — the ones that are identical.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President. Well, then do I assume that you want to take the whole of the executive section and the whole of the education section and everything else that's affected by the unicameral and do those all over again, too?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: We have — we're in the process of preparing a new committee proposal which will encompass the legislative, the executive and, by reference only to these others, so that we don't need to receive everything. Where we only have one or two changes, such as in finance or taxation, where there's a Senate or a House reference, then we change to legislative assembly by reference to the line and page, and this report will be prepared completely so you have it right before you to show exactly how we handled it.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Then I take it what we'll have is a whole bunch of material here, including a lot of "by reference" material on the very last day of this Convention; is that correct?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman. The only "by reference" material would be only, oh, maybe 10 or 12 references to the other articles, other than the executive and the legislative, and you'll be able to follow them because we'll key them into the positions in the measure, and the changes would be like saying where the Senate approves it will be where the Legislative Assembly approves. They're very minor and would be quite easy for you to follow, Mr. Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: I have only one more observation, Mr. President. We surely are being led down the primrose path!

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Engelter, I believe, had asked for the floor.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I think Delegate Baker posed the same question that I had with regard to this, so I hope it's legally possible to do what they're proposing.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker had asked for the floor.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President. Would Delegate Unruh yield to a question?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh, will you yield?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Sure.

DELEGATE DECKER: I was wondering — if you can do it by reference in those sections, why can't we do it by reference in the main body in the bicameral legislative part?

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Delegate Decker —

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Wenstrom.

DELEGATE WENSTROM: The reason that they gave me on why we could do this by reference, as far as changing from the word "Senate" to "Legislative Assembly," and where it makes reference in the draft, from "House of Representatives" to "Legislative Assembly," is because it is in the opinion of the Attorney General that in the event that this was passed without these amendments and without these corrections, that this would be in court and that there could hardly be any question but what the court would decide that it was the intent of the Convention that it would be the Legislative Assembly that made these specific — that made this — that should make the slight — the adoption of the — or the approval of the appointees, and where it requires or makes reference in the impeachment procedures, and so forth, that that was very definitely the way the court would handle it. So that was the reason they said that we could do this by statement of intent or by placing an amendment in the document to be in effect in the event either the unicameral or the bicameral was passed by the voters.

DELEGATE DECKER: Thank you, Delegate Wenstrom. I realize that that's probably the reason, and I think the same reason would hold true then on leaving the bicameral in the main body.

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Delegate Decker, the big reason for the request to take it out of the main body is because, in leaving it in the main body as it is now, it would not be a fair opportunity. It would not be a fair alternate to have one already sandwiched into the Constitution, and then have the other one sitting off by the side. One would have two chances to win, and the other would have but one, and the people would not be getting an opportunity to express themselves on an alternate.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: I feel that the people should be shown that we have a feeling for one over the other, and if we set them both aside, as we consider them to be equal, how will they know that we felt that one was better than the other? There will be no indication of our feeling in this body. People have been talking about we should take a stand and stick to it. In fact, I think one delegate mentioned, who isn't here now — so I probably shouldn't say it — that we should never vote for an alternate which we didn't believe should be passed. So — and under those conditions, unicameral shouldn't even be on as an alternate; but if it is an alternate, it should be an alternate; it shouldn't be an equal vote. It's an alternate to the majority opinion of this body.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President: First of all, I conceded that the unicameral should be an alternate, but, you know, I, for the life of me, can't understand why this body should take an Attorney General's opinion. Now, in the years that I've served in the Legislature, many times I've seen the Attorney General's opinion change within a matter of a few days.

Now we're saying — we're saying that the Attorney General's opinion will hold and the courts will uphold the Attorney General's opinion. Now, I'm not a lawyer, but I'm sure that every lawyer in here can point to a case where the Attorney General's opinion has not been upheld by the courts. Illinois did exactly what we were talking about doing in this Convention; they had one alternate — one in the main body and had one set-aside. Now, sure, it didn't pass, so there's no test case; but, nevertheless, they did it. Now Illinois, apparently, thought it was fair. I think that we're putting too much stock in the Attorney General's opinion.

Now, I think it would be safe to say that the Attorney General is probably for the bicameral; but, nevertheless, I really and sincerely think that we are really garbaging up everything by pulling it out and leaving a big hole in our Constitution and taking them both out and having them set aside. I think that we should go ahead, leave this in the main body and the unicameral as an alternate, and I'm sure, with the support there is, that this will be the best way to handle it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Roney, I believe.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

I rise again to tell you that my stomach isn't in much better shape than it was yesterday but I don't care to regurgitate in front of the place because, after 29 — 28 and seven-eighths days — we have been trying to work on a constitution, and all of a sudden we lend a lot of importance to a little subterfuge of wondering how the people are going to vote on alternates. Why don't we go back again and think about those people that are going to vote on the Constitution that we are proposing, and give those people that want to vote on a constitution the right to vote on a whole constitution, and not a half, as I said before? I think maybe people are going to vote on this Constitution because you and I, as delegates, tell them to vote on this Constitution, and they're going to take those alternate proposals and either ignore them or vote a negative vote, and I know on a couple of them, they can, because there's an either/or and they might let them go. But we're going to deny them the right to vote on one Constitution because we want to take something out of it and fill it full of holes. I couldn't agree more with anyone than I do with Delegate Hoffner when I say that when the Attorney General tells us what to do where we're drawing a new Constitution to provide some basis upon which he and his office must subsequently live, I think we're wrong. If we can't put this in a side or an alternate proposal without taking it out of the main body, then I say that the alternate proposal must fail. Unicameralism cannot be that important that we have to lose a whole body of the Constitution, and I know that the people that are advocating unicameralism have got a real thing going; but I tell you this: It's more important to have an entire document that a piecemeal thing. I urge you to vote that little red button and vote "no" against reconsideration.

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Let's see. I think Delegate Nothing, and then Longmire, and Dawson. Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NOTHING: Fellow Delegates: The note I have in my book says that on the 14th of January we passed this by 68-to-27, and I happened to be one of the 68, and I — you want to pick that up, Kyle? We're not going to tell anybody what you did. (Laughter)

We happened to be one of the 27 — (Laughter)

Mr. President and Fellow Delegates: As I understood the President's ruling a couple of days ago was that we had to keep the bicameral in, and apparently now Delegate Wenstrom thinks that that decision was wrong and that we had to do this. Is that right?

DELEGATE WENSTROM: That is absolutely the reverse. I stated at that time that we were going to vote on the — if we were going to have a unicameral, then we had to take the bicameral out of voting — already out of the Convention, out of the Constitution as it was at that time; that we could not have one as an alternate and the other one set in the Constitution; that would not be fair, and so, for that reason, I ruled at that time that it would have to come out; that we'd have to move to reconsider and take it out and put them side by side. Remember, it was the delegates of this Convention that placed the unicameral on the ballot.

DELEGATE NOTHING: Thank you, Delegate Wenstrom. I, apparently, had misunderstood. It doesn't seem to me that we should get too much concerned as to the fact that you have one in the Constitution and then you have to turn around and vote for the other, because you have two votes, first of all.

Now, if you're going to worry about whether or not the Constitution is going to pass by, say, ten thousand votes, and then that the other is going to have a different amount — say unicameral — then it would appear to me that that person that voted for unicameral probably voted "no" in the first place; that he then said, "Well, I don't want the Constitution, but if I'm going to have it, then I want unicameral." Well, there's nothing wrong with that. I think that they've got two votes; they've got one for the Constitution and then they've got a chance to turn around and vote for unicameral or bicameral by voting for unicameral. And if that isn't clear — (laughter) — well, I'm not going to start over again, because it seems — keep in mind they've got two votes. They don't just have one vote, and they're not — by voting for one, they're not voting against unicameral; they can vote for the Constitution, yet they've got the privilege of voting for unicameral all by itself, if you leave it there, and when that's totaled up, then that's going to be the decision, and I think it's — I just can't see, personally, how 68 of us can favor bicameral and 27 can favor unicameral, and yet the people are supposed to think that there's an equal thing. It's not equal. It wasn't equal to start with, because the body felt that bicameral was the best.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire, and then Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I certainly have no opposition to letting the people vote on a unicameral and a bicameral, if it could be done without endangering the whole Constitution that we have passed it, and I think many of you have done as I have — have read the engrossed white forms that we have passed here and have been extremely proud of them. I think we did even a better job when the Style and Drafting Committee got it in proper order when we read it as to how short it was, how simple it was stated, how it all tied together in the different articles and different sections in a logical sequence. But now it seems that all of that work, and in doing all of that, in order to get this one proposal on the way, some people say it has to be done legally, that we've got to tear this nice, neat document apart and let the people vote on not one constitution, but at least three constitutions, plus four different other measures, which is going to make a ballot so long that most people will get tired before they get to the end of it and probably even consider voting on some of these alternates.

Now, we don't have the same problem on the others that we have in this particular one, because when we do that, we bring out a substantial part of the logical-sequence document that we did pass here and we put it in. We have, first of all — then we vote on that part of the Constitution that is left after we take out all references to the bicameral system or to the Senate and House of the Legislature. Then we put that into a Constitution for them to vote on — another document — which is a long thing and will be confusing to people. Then we put it under that or above it, one or the other — all of these sections on the unicameral. So that's three they have to vote on to confuse them. And if we had — frankly, I would have been perfectly willing, after we got into some of these alternates, to just say that we don't have any; we'll let them vote a good, clean instrument here, "yes" or "no," and it would have been very easy from the public relations standpoint to go out and say, "Vote 'yes' — vote 'yes'" — just keep saying it until everybody had that in their minds. Now, we can't do that if we pull this out, and we're going to have a lot of people who will vote on this first part, saying that, "Do you vote 'yes' or 'no' on the new Constitution?" — when they're only voting on less than half of the Constitution, when they vote in that first — on that first place on the ballot that's provided for it. Many of them won't go any further to even consider some of these other measures that are on, because their main interest in coming there, and certainly the main interest of the majority of the people in coming there, was to vote on the Constitution. A lot of these side issues, they are not interested in; and so, as a result of that, we are not going to have the will and the voice of the big majority of our people who are voting on this Constitution.

Now, why should we endanger the work that we've all worked hard here for months in these committees — very diligently? I have never seen a group work harder and be more dedicated to their work in the time that we've had and in the deliberations that we've had here for the past 29 days. We are entitled to have a good shake at the whole Constitution; but if we endanger this by satisfying the whims of some people — a minority of this group, for instance — to put on a measure that's going to endanger all of the work that we've done, it could be the straw that breaks the camel's back and causes us to lose the whole thing. I just can't see the logic in going on through with tearing this thing apart in order to get that question issued. There's always time in the future to refer this to the people — this question — if there's so many people in the State that want a unicameral system.

For these reasons, ladies and gentlemen, I hope that this motion fails, and then we'll save the Style and Drafting a lot of work tomorrow, because they won't have to put this thing together again.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will recognize Delegate Dawson and then Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE DAWSON: I agree with the idea of not taking all of this out of the present Constitution which we have passed, and I think that if this — if a "no" vote prevails on this, that we can amend the ballot form, which I will propose an amendment for it, and I have a letter from the Attorney General's office and I'll read just a couple of sentences of it.

"Your proposal actually proposes a substitution of one for the other with the further clarification that a majority of the votes on that question will prevail. Your proposal would eliminate the question of which vote will prevail. However, it is not a true direct alternative, but rather a substitution which may accomplish the same purpose."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President: I think part of the confusion — if you have the Illinois ballot — one of the delegates said that Illinois did not leave a hole. Well, that's not true. Illinois did the very thing that we're suggesting in this motion. If you've got the ballot, their proposal — their Constitution, on page 11, on the question of election or appointment of judges, and they say in Section 12: "If the electors approve proposition 2A providing for the election of supreme, appellate" — and so on — Section 12, Article VI, it came in the adoption schedule and it was inserted in this place and it goes on to say if they approve of this section, the other will come in, and so on. Now, the very thing which we are suggesting in this motion is just exactly what Illinois did. I think it's a question of giving the voters — and this is what the Attorney General has indicated — to give them a fair alternate on the question. If the delegates are concerned about the vote, I see no reason why we cannot state in the introduction to the Constitution the vote by which this body chose either the unicameral or the bicameral. They can also state the vote by which we picked the initiative and the referendum, because we have the very same problem in treating the initiative and the referendum. I think it's a question of — after all, we're simply submitting this to the voters. It will not be a complicated, long ballot. If you look at the Illinois, it's very simple. This material is carried in the adoption schedule. It's very simple. It's understandable. And I do think it gives the voters a clear choice, and that's what the Attorney General suggested to us.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will next recognize Delegate McElroy: Following McElroy, Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE McELROY: Mr. President, I trust the Chair will recognize that I'm not speaking to the issue, but neither has anyone else tonight! (Laughter)

Our whole philosophy on set-aside issues has been to provide a safety valve for those issues that might become emotional, and I have thoroughly approved of this; however, this particular issue is not in that category whatsoever. It's offering the voters an either/or choice, and I don't feel that I've been hired to come down here to provide a number of issues on which we couldn't make our own decision. We decided this issue on a two-to-one basis.

Now, I think it would be a good set-aside issue to try to get votes, but only if it can be on a "yes" or "no" basis — that is, this particular issue is set aside and could be phrased in such a way that it would replace something that's already been decided by the Convention. I don't agree with the Attorney General's or — I don't agree with some of the people's interpretations of the Attorney General's opinion. I think this could be done and be done legally, and on that basis I would favor it as a set-aside. If we have to take the bi — the bi — the two-house legislature out of the Constitution, then I would have to vote against that.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The Chair will recognize Delegate Sinner next.

DELEGATE SINNER: Mr. President. Yes, this is a different proposal. Unlike the other proposals that were spawned in a spirit of negativism by groups who threatened this Convention in one form or another, this proposal was spawned by a group of people who ardently believe in constitutional revision and set out to work for that cause. Not one, I hope, and not once to the best of my knowledge has any member of the Citizens Committee for a One-House Legislature ever said that they will not support this Constitution if they do not have their way, and I do not say that now. I'd only ask that this group who believed in what we're trying to do here and will work one way or the other for the success of our labors, that they be given equal consideration with the negativists who have threatened what we do here. I have no great feeling for the exact expression of this question on the ballot; just so that — just so there is some fair way that the people can consider it — that's all.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Next Delegate Hoghaug. Next will be Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Just briefly, it's been stated in our discussions time and time again — Delegate Longmire elaborated quite freely about how we should stand pat. We've done a wonderful job, but I don't think we trust in the people, and if we just take a little lesson from history, history has proven that constitutions that are presented in total are defeated. So I think this is one avenue to get a positive approach to the problem — a “yes” vote on the whole Constitution.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Haugen next; then Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President: In discussing the motion to reconsider, of course it's impossible to stay away from the issues, and I would suppose that when we get through talking about reconsideration, we'll probably get down to the issue, also. Now I happened to be one of the 68 who voted for the bicameral legislature. But I'm also one of the 58 who signed the proposal — signed as sponsors of Proposal 1-4. I'm also one of the 59 who voted the other day to make unicameral an alternate proposal, and I think that I have a responsibility to people that I have talked to, including a couple — my two sons — to do what I can to see that they have a fair chance to vote on this question; that they have a chance that is not going to be confused by possible lawsuits and controversy, and the only way that I think we can do this is as the Attorney General says, and he's been quoted before, but this is what he says:

“In the final analysis, where the Legislature” — now I think he's a little confused there (laughter) — I still think his reasoning is good.

“In the final analysis, where the Legislature has authorized the submission of alternatives to the electorate, we must assume that the Legislature had in mind that the alternatives be set forth clearly and independently so that an elector can make a deliberate choice. Anything short of this would not afford the elector a direct alternative choice.

He concludes by saying:

“We are of the view that if the elector were provided a straightforward option on an alternative, it would be the least confusing and would be free of attack or criticism.”

And the only way we can afford that straightforward option is to set those issues out side by side.

Now, I still believe that I was right when I voted for that bicameral, and I'm not afraid of the unicameral people winning, but I do want to give them a fair chance, and I hope we approve this reconsideration.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lander, and then Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

Just to add to what Haugen says. He, very fortunately, gave the first half of my speech.

I would point out to you that the letter which Delegate Dawson quoted to you, which is argued as — it's the last page — if you read the second paragraph of that same letter, which he did not quote, it gives you as much support for the alternative position. That's the first — the first paragraph gives you support for the other position. I happen to feel that we have to have it as an alternative, and I urge that you vote — vote for reconsideration. I think we make a great deal about our sponsorship. I thought for awhile here we were talking about a child which we had produced; there was so much emotion going out about how our document was concerned. The people are not going to care about that. I think it's much more important that we give them something important to vote on.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rosendahl and then Delegate Kessel.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. Chairman, I think that we must, too have this on the ballot as an alternative, but I arose mostly to ask a question. Perhaps Delegate Unruh would answer my question.

If this were left as it is now, then would the unicameral vote have to be larger than the vote on the whole document in order to win?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I can't answer that.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh says he's unable to answer that.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Would anyone answer that question? I merely want to know if, in order for the unicameral to win out in this case, would the vote have to be larger than the vote on the whole document?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hill, can you answer that?

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. Chairman and Delegate Rosendahl:

It's my understanding the vote on the unicameral would not have to be larger than the whole document. We'd simply have to have more votes favoring substitution than there was favoring the bicameral alternative, and that might be true regardless of the number; but the Attorney General is merely saying that there might be some question about it, and I would like the delegates to understand the difference between an Attorney General's opinion and a letter from an Assistant Attorney General. What we have here is a letter from the Attorney General and a letter from an Assistant Attorney General. Now the Supreme Court, if it's signed by the Attorney General, they don't distinguish whether it's an opinion or a letter. But an opinion by the Attorney General, in capital letters at the top says, "Opinion." Neither of these are opinions in the true sense of the word. So I wouldn't really be concerned about what the letters say, because there's a split of opinion in the office, as is obvious, but I would think that the delegates should vote on this question insofar as what they think is the best method of not confusing the voter.

But in specific answer to Delegate Rosendahl's question, it is not the total vote on the Constitution that would determine the outcome of the unicameral or bicameral, but the vote on the substitute measure — the substitute question. If the substitute favors the unicameral, that would be inserted into the document. But the Attorney General has suggested someone might challenge that; but he says he thinks we can do that, in my opinion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: The only reason I asked that question is because, if this should be, then I can very well see the people who should be in favor of the bicameral system, going off and encouraging the people to vote for the document, and if you don't care to, why just don't monkey with that other one at all.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kessel, first.

DELEGATE KESSEL: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

I rise to defend the Attorney General, more than anything else. We asked him for an opinion. In good conscience, he told us what he felt it was. I'm certain he doesn't give a whoop whether we have the unicameral or the bicameral. But we slapped him down right and left. So I want to go to our present Constitution. I recognize Section 202 says "Amendments," but I think this is what we're actually considering, and here's what our Constitution says:

"If two or more amendments shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be submitted in such manner that the electors shall vote for or against each of such amendments separately."

I think this pretty much gives the directive to the Attorney General and to anybody else that wants to look at this open-mindedly.

Yesterday we had our delegates very nobly get up and state, "We want something to go to the people." But today, when they find that they are now being pushed in the corner, now we have to go to the great majority that voted originally for bicameral. I, too, am proud of the bicameral legislature. I'm so proud of it that I am willing to let it go to the people. If it's that good, they're going to vote for it anyway. So why hide behind these different crutches now and want to throw it out? Let's say either we don't want an alternate on this and throw it out completely, or give it to the people as they're entitled to. Anything that's good is worthwhile to present to them, and I feel that way about many of the other alternate proposals that we have.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate McIntyre, Stanton, Urdahl Pearce —
(laughter).

Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: I'm overwhelmed!

I could only say this in regards to the question before us on reconsideration: That it appears that this method of placing both the unicameral and the bicameral before the people of this State is the method of reconsideration. We are simply re-considering a mechanical operation. Now, even though I'm an advocate of unicameral, I worked just as hard in the Legislative Functions Committee on the bicameral form, and I'm proud of that too. My only point here is that the Convention has decided to include unicameral and bicameral as an alternate, and if we're doing this, we must offer it to the people of this State as a true, clear and fair alternate issue, and this is my reason for supporting reconsideration, because this is the method for supporting reconsideration, because this is the method that has been laid out not only by the Attorney General — and the question of an opinion is not the thing — it's the way to go about it — it's the clear, fair precise way of doing it. There's no danger here in losing the overall document. There's no confusion that the public will have. It's a simple and clear choice, and if we decide as we have decided that unicameral and bicameral are truly alternates, then we must offer it to the people in that spirit.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. Chairman: Earlier today we heard the Executive Functions Committee people plead to let the Convention's majority report vote stand and not to endanger all the good work that they have done. I now make the same plea — that the same consideration be given to the majority of us — some 68 of us — who voted bicameral. I think it's only fair that we get the same consideration, and I would urge a "no" vote on reconsideration.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Urdahl.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President, I yield to Delegate Thompson.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I've been thinking like Delegate Pearce, I think trying to figure out how in the world this thing would work, and if the people were to use it, if you vote for it while it is within the document, that you can't be fair on the other side, and I think it's quite simple once it came to turning on a light in my great mind, that if the only requirement is that the majority of the votes cast on a side issue — or a majority of the votes cast for the total document requiring that each person must vote "yes" or "no" for the total document, that then the majority of the votes, percentage-wise, on a side issue would then carry the side issue in or out. I think that that would work. So that you say, for instance, that we had 70 votes for the total document and 36 of those people voted for the side issue, then the side issue would become a part of the total document. I believe that would work. But maybe I'm completely out of order. I don't know

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, I know you'd get to me.

As usual with lawyers, I have been concerned about this problem for many weeks. When this matter is voted on in the new Constitution, we are still operating under the old Constitution, Section 25, which we think of usually as referring only to initiated and referred measures and as I'll point out, however, does refer to constitutional amendments, too and it realized that there could be a number of measures on the ballot and that they might conflict, and so Section 25 the next-to-the-last — the second-to-the-last — the penultimate paragraph, says: "If conflicting measures initiated by or referred to the electors shall be approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall become the law."

Then you turn to Section 202, which relates particularly to amending the Constitution, and the last sentence of that says: "All provisions of the constitution relating to the submission and adoption of measures by initiative petition, and on referendum petition shall apply to the submission and adoption of amendments to the constitution of the state."

Now, whether we call this a new Constitution or not it's an amendment. Many of the proposals are changed only in wording, and we say there's no change in meaning or we're amending the Constitution. Now, to me, in answer to Delegate Rosendahl's question, I'm absolutely convinced, and I've been pondering this a long time, that if you should take a piece of paper and put on it, on the left-hand side, the constitutional package which has within it bicameral, and assume that a hundred thousand people voted "yes" and seventy-five thousand people voted "no," so it carried, and Alternate No. 1 was unicameral, I don't care how you phrase the ballot, so eighty thousand people voted "yes" for unicameral, and seventy thousand people voted "no."

Now, as between bicameral and unicameral between the two columns bicameral won by twenty thousand votes, because they voted for the constitution that had bicameral in it, and I cannot conceive of the Supreme Court taking any other viewpoint on it, in view of the constitutional provisions that I have just cited. If that's not a fact, then you're providing that somebody who votes for the whole can eliminate part of it by fewer votes than those who approved the whole, and I don't think that's possible. And even if it were not for the constitutional provisions that we have that will be in effect until we've determined what has passed, I think that the general principle, one-man vote — one vote or majority rule, or whatever you want to call it — that the proposal, and it is a solid, single proposal — you're not voting by sections on the package — if that has more votes than any package, then the extra package fails, and I have always felt that we were right back — I hate to mention that to the committee, but you can't have the Convention voting for a majority for bicameral and maintain that action and at the same time say, "Yes, but if people don't like what we did, we'll provide, somehow or other, that by even fewer votes than they adopt what we pass, we'll let that prevail." It can't be done.

Now I don't believe that any court would sustain a provision, however you might phrase it, in either the package or the alternate, that would give a minority the right to prevail as against the majority. And so, to me, and this was talked over earlier, of course, if you were going to have an alternate, if you want the people to have a choice and a set-aside, as it's come to be called, then set it aside. You can't set it aside with one — you can't swim, you know, with one foot on the shore. If you're going to have the bicameral foot in the Constitution, what choice is there for just one foot out on the side. And so you have to do like Illinois did — don't put anything in the Constitution either way. And you say, "we will not answer that question. We think this is very sensitive. We want the people to have a choice." So give them two sides. It's the only way we can handle a choice. You can't marry both of the girls, you know. You've got to choose one or the other. So, if the Convention still wishes to have an alternate, then vote "yes" to reconsider, set the bicameral up as a separate proposition, and so you vote A. bicameral. B. unicameral. But if you do not wish — if you want to stand by the position of a majority of about two-to-one that chose bicameral, then do like you've done on a hundred other propositions — make up your own mind and ask the people if they want to approve it. If you want to do that, vote "no." But then you should kill the alternate proposal, too.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hernet, and then Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Well, Mr. President, a couple things.

One thing I wanted to point out: We only have two hours and forty minutes left for all the reconsiderations that everybody has in their pockets.

Would Delegate Wenstrom yield to a question? I'll admit it's a little bit unusual, but he's sitting back here and he's a delegate.

DELEGATE WENSTROM: State your question.

DELEGATE HERNETT: I would like to know, Delegate Wenstrom — what he thinks will happen if we vote down the motion to reconsider our action and take this proposal out of the Constitution — what it will entail.

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Delegate Hernet and Fellow Delegates:

It's a real simple answer. If we fail to reconsider, and then we have no opportunity again, then this will be in the Constitution as it is right now. It would be in the package just the way it is. That's the story.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Thank you, Delegate Wenstrom. That's what I hoped you would say, because this is what I feel should happen. I was not one that signed any kind of an agreement that there were going to be two proposals on the ballot. I think that it was said — Delegate Pearce indicated this, too — we voted almost two-to-one for bicameral in the Constitution. That is where it is now, and I think this is exactly where it should stay. If something is going to happen here that there is going to be an alternate, which there is, and I don't care how — if the people are going to vote for the alternate and at some time in the future here the Supreme Court or somebody else says that this is not constitutional or — well, they can't say that, because this is the Constitution — but I'm not going to worry about that. I voted for the bicameral in the Constitution and that is just exactly where it is. I'm going to resist this motion to reconsider our action on it, and I hope it stays just where it is, and what happens from here on in, I'm not going to worry about it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hougen.

DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes. Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

We have some other alternate proposals that are going to require the same type of action that our Style and Drafting Chairman and our President Wenstrom have told us that we're going to have to do at this point. I, myself, am very uninterested, personally, in having referendum and initiative as a side proposal. I happen to think that what we have in the body of our Constitution is far better than what the alternate proposal is, and I think that this referendum-initiative measure carried by a much stronger margin than was the bicameral-unicameral carried. I did vote to go along with the initiative-referendum as a side issue because the delegates as a whole felt that this was one of the four or five side issues that we should have. I also went along with it because I consider it common courtesy to give other delegates in this auditorium a chance to express their ideas and to give the voters something that they feel is extremely important. I'm quite emotional on the bicameral-unicameral issue. I think it is by far the most important side issue that we have. There's no doubt in my mind that the unicameral would serve the voters of this state best; but I think that I would like to have common courtesy shown to me and the other fellows that feel strongly about unicameral. It's the same kind of common courtesy I'm going to give to Delegate Rundle and the other delegates that voted for these other alternate proposals. I can't conceive of this organization, by the methods that we have — the discussion in the last half-hour or hour, trying to deny us the opportunity to have this as a side issue in the way that our State's Attorney and other officials have told us it has to be. I just can't imagine it.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Griffin had asked for the floor.

DELEGATE GRIFFIN: Mr. President, may I yield to Delegate Hill, please?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Yes, you may.

DELEGATE HILL: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I merely wanted to say that I agree with Delegate Pearce, except that he pointed out, to start with, that if conflicting measures are approved, a conflict would be if Alternative A said, "Shall a unicameral be approved?" and Alternative B says, "Shall a bicameral be approved?" Then the one with the largest number of votes would be approved. But if we say, "Shall a unicameral be substituted for a bicameral?", that's not a conflict; that is simply a substitute and there is no conflict there, so we don't have to worry about which one receives the most number of votes.

Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Mr. President: When this debate started, I thought the only question we were to discuss was the vehicle by which we were going to put these proposals on the ballot. I distinctly recall that we passed, by a vote of 59-to-39, or something like this, that we were going to have this as an alternate. Now our President or the Chairman of our Style and Drafting Committee has come before us and told us this is the procedure we should follow, and I don't really think the argument should be as to whether or not this is an alternate. We have decided that. We are now deciding on the vehicle, and I urge you to support the President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The question has been called. We are now on the motion of Delegate Unruh that we are moving to reconsider the redraft of Section 5-12 or Article IV, Sections 1-14, which is the legislative branch.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: We might as well have a roll call vote, because we're going to have to have it anyway.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Second the motion.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: The motion has — yes. Were you asking for a recorded vote?

(Delegate Omdahl shook his head.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Just a division vote?

(Delegate Omdahl nodded.)

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: All right. The Chair will certainly grant a division vote.

We are now ready for the main question —

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Wenstrom.

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Just a point as to procedure. This is a motion to reconsider, and it will be a recorded vote, because it takes 50 votes, regardless. We're going to have to have 50 votes in order to pass this. So it must be. This is taking off a proposal that we have previously passed, so it must have 50 to be reconsidered.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: This will then be a recorded vote, and the proposition is that if you vote "aye," you are voting to reconsider that portion of the Constitution dealing with the Legislative Branch.

All right. The key — any further discussion?

The key will be opened and you may record your vote.

Saugstad votes "nay."

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Mr. President: Wenstrom votes "aye."

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change his vote? If not, the key will be closed and the Clerk will take the record.

The motion has carried — or I'll wait and announce the vote.

The motion to reconsider carries by 60 "ayes," 37 "nays," one absent and not voting.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I can't see around the camera.

Mr. Chairman, I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft No. 5-12 be referred to the Style and Drafting Committee and be placed in the adoption schedule where it will become Article XIV.

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Seconded by Delegate Hendrickson.

The motion — we are now on the motion of Delegate Unruh that Sections 1-14, Article IV of the Redraft of 5-12 be referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting for adoption into the — what is that? — for the adoption schedule.

I shall now put the motion. If you vote "aye," you're voting to approve the motion offered by Delegate Unruh. All those in favor signify by saying "aye," opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carried.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: This is not exactly being flushed with victory, but I have another motion on the same thing.

I now move to reconsider our Convention action whereby Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal 5-1, being Sections 1 through 10 of Article III, was passed by this Convention, these sections dealing with the powers reserved to the people.

The purpose of this is to do identically the same thing, in order to accommodate the side issue.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Kelsch seconds the motion.

We are now on the motion of Delegate Unruh that this body reconsider its action by which it passed 5-1, Article III, Sections 1-10, inclusive.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, I'll now put the motion. If you vote "aye," you're voting to reconsider.

Again, in view of the fact that this requires a minimum of 50 votes, the board — the Chief Clerk will open the key and you may record your vote — or indicate your vote. This is not a recorded vote; a division vote.

Saugstad votes "aye."

DELEGATE WENSTROM: Aye.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Wenstrom votes "aye."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote? If not, the key will be closed and the Clerk will take the ballot.

The motion prevails on a vote of 70, I believe, to about 25. So now we have before us —

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: — Article III, Sections 1 to 10. Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal 5-1, being Article III, Sections 1 through 10, be referred to Style and Drafting Committee, and they be placed in the adoption schedule, which would be Article XIV.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Maxwell seconds the motion. Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, we are on the motion of Delegate Unruh that the Style and Drafting Redraft of 5-1, or Article III, Sections 1 to 10, be referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting for the purpose of putting it into the adoption schedule.

If there's no discussion, I shall put the question. If you vote "aye," you're voting in favor of Unruh's motion.

All those in favor, signify by saying "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The motion carries.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Is Mr. Unruh through with his motions?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.

DELEGATE LERBERG: At this time I move to reconsider the action by which Section 11 of Article VII was passed on tenth order and is now incorporated in Redraft Proposal 5-7.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Say, would you repeat that article and section number again, please?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Section 11, Article VII.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Is there a second to that motion?

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Second.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: It was seconded by Delegate Engstrom. All right. Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: This is a motion to reconsider, but as the delegates are aware, you have to speak to the motion in order for the delegates to know what they're reconsidering.

If you will turn to this — this particular section, I think it was just passed Thursday, and it was amended at that time. I'm sure that there's been a growing awareness of late in both our State and the country of the history and heritage of the Indian people and appreciation of the part they played in this country. However, this particular section, which, in committee it was my understanding was to say something to the Indian people, I think as it is now amended, it's a proposal which can only have a detrimental effect, both to these people and to the balance of the State of North Dakota. As amended, and even before being amended, this was a section which was not in the old Constitution. It's a section which is not necessary in the Constitution because the problem trying to be spoken to here can be handled adequately by legislation. I hesitate to quote the Attorney General any more in the body tonight, but I did spend some time with the Assistant Attorney General on this matter, and he advises that we haven't been able to define as yet quite where we're at in terms of sovereignty and other things in the 1889 Enabling Act, much less a new section in the Constitution, and he feels that this would be an unfortunate inclusion in the Constitution, and I submit that I do, too, and for this reason, I would move for reconsideration.

I will go a little more into detail — into a detailed explanation. I'm sure others will want to speak briefly to it at the time, if we can receive a favorable vote on reconsideration.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Does anyone else wish to speak to this motion?

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Would Delegate Lerberg yield to a question, please?

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Lerberg.

(Delegate Lerberg nodded.)

DELEGATE AUBOL: Is it your intention, if the reconsideration motion prevails, to strike the entire section — to only strike the amendment that was offered the other day, or to revert back to the original committee language as opposed to the Style and Drafting language?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Delegate Aubol, I do have a printed amendment at the desk, if this motion prevails. It's a very simple method. I would strike all of Section 11 and renumber accordingly.

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: I think that the day that we considered this as it was presented by the Committee previously and was recommended to the Convention and was subsequently adopted — the other day we considered this on second order and did reconsider this section at that time, and by a vote of 82-to-6 — 82-to-10, I should say — it was amended in substance with the following words: “. . . without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes.” And I believe Delegate Longmire adequately explained that amendment at that time. I don't think that we were playing any kind of games with the Convention or attempting to delude anyone at that time. I really don't see the reason to reconsider this particular section at this time. I see no great harm in what we have done in this body by adopting Section 11. I think, again, at that time we reconsidered this section as a separate issue by dividing the question and, again, as I said, it was voted 82-to-10. I can see little reason for reconsidering it at this time, and I'm not quite sure that I followed Delegate Lerberg's full explanation for advising on reconsideration. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, I suppose we, in effect here, will be talking the merits of the section in one way or the other in discussing this particular motion, because obviously, if this motion passes, the next motion will be, as indicated, to strike the section entirely from the Constitution. Our Committee — the Judicial and Political Subdivisions Committee — gave a lot of consideration to this section before we ever adopted it. Delegate Gipp pointed out to our Committee at the time that he thought it would be some recognition to the Indian people to recognize the right that they then had — a right to enter into mutual agreements with the political subdivisions and the State for services, that would be mutually beneficial to both sides. And so we adopted it at that time. Then some of the other Indian people came in just last week, and they felt the way we stated it at that time, that it might leave some doubt as to infringement on the sovereignty of the Indian people. So we then put in this amendment as for reconsideration, and you passed it, as Delegate Gipp said.

Now, I think, if any of you will read those three lines of that section, all it says is that “State agencies or political subdivisions may enter into mutually beneficial service arrangements with Indian tribes without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes.” And, frankly, I don't think it gives them any more right than they've been exercising anyway. But we of our Committee felt, at least, that it gave some recognition to rights that they had already been exercising prior to putting this into the Constitution.

Now, I can't see, for the life of me, any danger in any way of leaving this in the Constitution. On the other hand, I think it is something that does give some recognition to the Indian people in this Constitution, and certainly we want them to look on this Constitution favorably, also.

I might state, when we put this amendment in the other day, all of the fellows who were here representing the Turtle Mountain Reservation and others there from that area were very happy with it — very pleased — and felt they could go back and work hard for the adoption of this Constitution. Personally, at this time, I can see no reason — I think it would be better if we had never put it in, then we suddenly here, on our next-to-the-last day, that we jerk it out and say, “We do not recognize your sovereignty,” as we have to recognize it under the Enabling Act and the compact that we made when we became a state. So, for those reasons, Mr. President, I hope the motion does not prevail.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: I believe Delegate Thompson asked for the floor.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I have a great deal of apprehension in rising to speak about this. One of the finest things that ever happened to me is that I have a daughter-in-law who has a lot of Indian blood — probably as much as David. I also have one coming up who is German and one coming up who is Norwegian.

I think a compact reserves the sovereignty of the tribes. I'm afraid that what we're doing with this mutual service situation is creating a situation that none of us understands, and I don't want to do that to people who would be involved. The Indian people that were here the other day talking with not only David, but myself and Mr. Longmire about this thing, felt that we had two choices; one was to put in the words "without infringement on the sovereignty of tribes" and the other was not to speak to it at all. Rather than create a situation which none of us can understand at this time, because of the federal involvement in this situation, I urge you to accept Mr. Lerberg's amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Mr. President: I represent a district with approximately eight thousand Indians, on the Turtle Mountain Reservation, and I was contacted about this about two weeks ago, and at that time they were in favor of having this section completely deleted. They came down here and somewhat of a compromise was made on this section and an addition was put into. But I feel and believe that they would still be much happier if the section was deleted entirely, and I would, therefore, support Delegate Lerberg's motion.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: I rub elbows with Delegate Nicholas' district. With reference to those individuals who Delegate Longmire spoke of, I quote from one local publication which had an editorial on the front page, which I have at my desk and was submitted after these individuals talked with Delegate Thompson, Gipp, Longmire and others. I quote from this article:

"A meeting was held in Washington in an effort of enlarging the boundaries of the Turtle Mountain Reservation. Number two, there was an idea that was discussed which would bypass state planning or clearinghouses when dealing on Indian programs, and such activities would eliminate duplicate services and insure that state laws have no real jurisdiction on our reservations."

Now, I submit that the inclusion which I spoke against of the additional words "without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes," was a compromise. A better compromise, I submit, at this time for all interested parties concerned is to reconsider, as requested by Delegate Lerberg, and subsequently to delete the entire section for a vote for approval of our proposed Constitution.

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: I was hoping, of course, I wouldn't have to necessarily speak to so much of the substance of the issue, and if the matter was to be considered and I was going to address myself to that subject, but I cannot help but make some more comments, after listening to some of the remarks that I've heard.

I think it is very definitely true that we did add the words "without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes" under the advisement of tribal representatives, and — and I took this into very serious consideration and I know that several of the other delegates did in recommending this to the Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions. One of the men who addressed us and advised us to add this was the Chairman of the Board of the United Tribes of North Dakota Development Corporation. He felt that the tribes at large in this State would feel more than comfortable and more than happy to see this kind of amendment added, which we subsequently presented to the Convention.

So I do think that we had an adequate representative of the tribes and I do think that this gentleman — Mr. Goodhouse — does indeed speak for the tribes of this State. It is his position and his prerogative to speak for the tribes along the substance of this — this matter.

Now, I also think that perhaps we might be somewhat sidetracked by some of the things that Delegate Hartl just addressed himself to — or brought to our attention — because if you read this section here, Section 11, on mutual services, I think you'll find that it does not mandate that any political subdivision or any agency of this State does contract — do contract with any particular tribe in this State. It does not mandate that any tribe or group of Indians who live on a reservation contract with a state agency or a state political subdivision. It is not a mandatory clause at all. It is, in a sense, a permissive clause, and it does allow for one particular kind of thing — a service or services that might be mutually beneficial to both given parties — an attempt at an approach to overcome some of the very things that we have discussed and have been thrown out here in some manner or way when we discussed sovereignty, when we discussed the problems of jurisdictional issues, both civil and criminal, and I think that this is one of the things that this Section 11, that mutual services, adequately points out — that groups of people can indeed proceed along lines of beginning cooperatively to proceed together in life. This is the essence of this kind of a statement, because we know the problems of sovereignty, of jurisdiction, of civil and criminal jurisdiction, and the different jurisdictions upon a tribal reservation and outside of a tribal reservation with respect to State jurisdiction; that indeed is a problem, and I believe that this section does address itself to this kind of thing; that these people can proceed along a mutually, perhaps, agreeable way of life with respect to police services, for example. I think that's a very good example.

The question of sovereignty then: It does go into this. That question of sovereignty over jurisdictional issues is one that will eventually perhaps be solved by the federal courts, of course, by litigation, by federal law, by opinions of the federal attorneys. These things then are going to be important. But this clause, at least, addresses itself to an approach that might be mutually beneficial to groups of people, and I think that is, again, one of the prime — prime approaches for this thing, and it has to be remembered that, because of the jurisdictional issues, because of the issues of sovereignty, no matter what the pros and cons are that this could be an essentially good, positive, enhancing clause.

Somebody mentioned that this might be a good legislative article. I don't necessarily agree with that. I don't agree with that at all because I think, again, this is again a statement of an attempt to work together in this State as life goes on, and I would address myself to the delegates of this Convention to remember this, and certainly, if it is your desire to reconsider it, then I shall address myself further to what I think are the merits of Section 11. But, in the meantime, I do not think it should be reconsidered.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We're now on the main motion offered by Delegate Lerberg that we reconsider — this body reconsider its action on Section 11, Article VII.

DELEGATE URDAHL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Urdahl.

DELEGATE URDAHL: I yield to Delegate Thompson.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I think I'm as worried about this as David is. I can't subscribe to Delegate Hartl's theory on this. That article that he quoted from doesn't bother me at all. If the Federal Government is going to determine that this is going to happen in the State of North Dakota, and it has already in one case, in part, then it's going to happen. Well, what really worries me is that we're involving the treaties with the Indians and the compact with the United States with the State of North Dakota in a separate section that we're trying to stick into this Constitution, and instead of having just two fields to worry about, the courts are going to have three, and I really believe that this thing should be taken out and no mention made of it. I don't believe we have any problem about contracts, because the Indian nations are recognized as a sovereign nation. We have no civil jurisdiction over them, nor criminal, and so they have their own rights of contract with any other political subdivision of the State of North Dakota, and I think that the political subdivisions of the State of North Dakota can contract with them.

I'm very worried about the possibility of creating a situation that either the Indian nations don't want or we don't want by having this situation in our Constitution, and I urge you to support the reconsideration.

VICE PRESIDENT SAUGSTAD: We're now on the question of the reconsideration. Because this will require a minimum of 50 votes to reconsider, I'm going to ask that the Clerk open the key so that you may record your vote.

If you vote "aye," you're voting to reconsider.

The Clerk will open the key. Saugstad votes "nay."

Has everyone voted? Does anyone wish to change their vote?

The board will be closed and the Clerk will take the ballot.

The motion to reconsider failed by a vote of 44 "ayes," 47 "nays."

Are there any announcements? We're about to declare a short recess.

We'll declare a recess for ten minutes.

(The Session recessed at 9:57 P.M. until 10:18 P.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Convention will please be in order.

May we have order in the Convention?

The Chair will recognize Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President, I rise to a point of personal privilege.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

This document that we are drafting is a good document, and no one has ever heard me say, nor will I now say it, that I will not support it; however, by your failure to reconsider and express our arguments on this section which is in it, which had very little debate the other day, you have really deprived four or five thousand non-Indian citizens of the State of North Dakota of a state. I have lived in a judicial no-man's land since March of 1970. The State has no civil jurisdiction in it. The State has withdrawn their Highway Patrolmen from the area. The State does not enforce traffic regulations within the area. A State District Judge has issued an injunction against the city officials of the City of New Town, which is in this area, from enforcing any City regulations or ordinances against Indian people. There are two cities, two small communities, and twenty organized townships in this area, almost a hundred percent made up of the patent land dating back to 1912. These people, for all intents and purposes, by the failure to allow a debate on this, are people in a no-man's land, without a state.

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: I'm sure we can discuss the matter here all evening. It's a highly complex — it's a highly complex—

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp, we have no question before the Convention at this time. Would you like to rise on a personal privilege?

DELEGATE GIPP: Yes, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE GIPP: I certainly, if, indeed, it is the desire to reconsider this, I'm not going to stand in the way. There's some feeling that there are things that have been said with respect to this recent section that we voted on previously, but the matter of jurisdiction, the matter of sovereignty, again, is one of those things when we talk of the reservations — Indian reservations — is one that must be dealt with, and I think it is being dealt with in the courts, by federal opinions, and so forth.

Now, it is true about the statement that was said about a no-man's land. I think the point, when we talk about jurisdiction, the point to remember, when we talk about reservations, is that there is jurisdiction over — on reservations by State and civil authorities representing the State and its political subdivisions on reservations. There is jurisdiction over those non-Indians who live in these areas and there is another jurisdiction over those people who live on the reservation within the confines of the recognized areas of a reservation, under a federal reservation. I think that this recent section that we discussed, again, does not address itself to this problem. It does not set a precedent with respect to sovereignty or jurisdiction. It does provide for some ways in which groups of people may possibly, if they wish, pursue living together, but it does not dictate it, and I do not think that this section discriminates against a non-Indian population. I just cannot believe that, and I hope that the allusion to that does not mislead you.

Thank you.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nicholas.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: I would like to know if I would be out of order if I move for reconsideration of this section again. I think Delegate Lerberg's comments warrant reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nicholas, the Rule provides that you can only reconsider once in one day.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Could I ask for a suspension of the Rules, Mr. President?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, you may ask for a suspension of the Rules.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Then I'd like to move that we suspend the Rules and have — what procedure would I follow here, Mr. President?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You would move that we suspend the Rules — that the Rules be suspended and that we move to reconsider further action on whatever the number of the proposal was that we had before the Convention — 5-7.

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Okay. I would like to so move, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nicholas moves that the Rules be suspended and that we do reconsider further our action on —

DELEGATE NICHOLAS: This is Proposal No. 5-7, Section 11.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — on Redraft Proposal 5-7, Section 11, and the motion has been seconded by Delegate McElroy.

Is there any discussion? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President: I'm not sure that this issue is going to be settled satisfactorily here tonight. Is there any way that this issue can be brought back to the Committee on Political Subdivisions tomorrow, so that Mr. Lerberg and others who are knowledgeable in this area can appear before the Committee and the Committee can give further consideration to this?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol, I think the Convention can do anything it wishes; but the sand is running out in the glass, and unless you wish to pursue it further here, why — the question before the Convention is on the motion to reconsider as offered by Delegate Nicholas and seconded by Deleгат McElroy.

Delegate Sinner.

DELEGATE SINNER: I voted against the motion to reconsider, but I have reconsidered my position and I wish to urge a "yes" vote on the motion.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I did apologize to Delegate Lerberg for not taking some part in the previous discussion. This is a question that's extremely important to my people. I always fear the danger that it can be said of me that I'm — that I'm prejudiced in this, and I don't like to — I don't like to have people think that. But this is extremely important and I do hope that you will reconsider.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion to suspend the Rules and to reconsider our action on Redraft Proposal 5-7.

Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President: I don't want this thing to get blown out of proportion. I'm not sure that the innuendo relative to what "sovereign immunity" means in our State Constitution is getting through to you people. If we agree that there should be such an innuendo in the Constitution, we will put it in there. I, as an attorney, will welcome it in there, because it gives me one more defendant when we start bringing lawsuits trying to determine what "sovereign immunity" means. But if we're going to make the Indian people upset about this thing by taking it out, then I have to resist this second motion, and I spoke against taking it out the first time; but if we're going to make a big problem out of this, then I think we ought to leave it alone. We passed it once, and let her set.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Further discussion? Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I was on the Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions. In our Enabling Act, in Section 203, we dealt with jurisdiction. I think at one time — I can't remember the dates — this State had the opportunity to unilaterally take jurisdiction. The State failed to do that, and thereafter Congress acted again and it has made the question with regard to jurisdiction a three-party contract — the United States, the Indian tribes, and the State of North Dakota — and until Congress has done something in this area to change that law, there is nothing that we can do with regard to jurisdiction, and I think the question that we have before us now does not in any way affect the question of jurisdiction. The problem is in another section, and I don't think we should reconsider.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think there has to be a little more said here. The Indian people have never recognized the authority of the State in any manner, shape or form, ever. They have always resisted it, and this is the reason the State has not ever forced its jurisdiction on them. At the present time, the way this is worded, we have said that you can enter into these mutually-beneficial agreements without infringement on the sovereignty of the tribes.

Now, I ask you how anybody — suppose the tribes want to make an agreement with a State or an agency of the State. I say by this section of the Constitution you prohibit them from even agreeing to it, because you say they cannot make this agreement if they infringe on their sovereignty, and I ask you if anybody can make an agreement without giving up something or without infringing on their personal sovereignty, and the same is true with this. It's an impossible phrase the way it's worded.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the motion by Delegate Nicholas that the Rules be suspended and we reconsider our action whereby we failed to bring 5-7 back to the floor of the Convention.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: I certainly hope that the Delegates to the Convention feel that we were not trying to cut off any debate in connection with this issue whatsoever, because even yet nothing has been said that affects — that this section affects in any way any problem of jurisdiction or otherwise, and if there are those who have some citation or some precedent that they can show that this is doing this thing, I certainly would have no objection to reconsideration. However, it seems to me that about all has been said that can be said on the subject, and if we keep reconsidering it without repeating our — I mean by going on repeating ourselves all the time, it seems that we'll never finish the work here, and for that reason, I'm going to vote against reconsideration.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I move the previous question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves the previous question. May I have five seconds? Delegate Kelsch, Delegate Geelan, Delegate Ketchum and Delegate Knudson.

The previous question has been moved. It takes a two-thirds vote.

The question before the — the question is: Shall the question be voted on immediately?

Those in favor of adopting it will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and the previous question has been adopted.

The question now before the Convention is on the motion to suspend the Rules and to reconsider our action whereby we failed to reconsider Redraft 5-7.

Now this is going to take 66 votes. So the Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your preference.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: I wonder if there isn't a difference of opinion about the motion. I believe the motion was to reconsider.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is not on the — the 66 votes, Delegate Haugen, is not on the question to reconsider. The 66 is on the motion to suspend the Rules.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Are we wrong in believing that we still are operating under that Rule that says in the last two days we could suspend the operation of the Rules by a majority vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, we have a Rule that says we can only reconsider once, and we have done that, and that failed. Now we are moving to reconsider a second time.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: We are still operating under the Rule that says on the last two days we can reconsider — or on the last two days we can suspend the Rules by a majority vote.

DELEGATE LANDER: Rule 37, the last —

DELEGATE PAULSON: Rule 36.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We can suspend them.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes. The wording is to suspend the Rules by a majority vote on the last two days.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Page 46, Mr. President — 42. Pardon me. Page 42.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Page 42. You're correct. The Chair is in error. I'm sure glad I announced it.

Then it will require 50 votes and the Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your wishes. Those in favor of the motion will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The motion to reconsider has passed. There were 56 "ayes," 36 "nays," with six delegates absent. Redraft 5-7 is before the Convention.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Would I now be in order to move that Redraft 5-7, Section 11, be referred to the Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions for consideration tomorrow morning and action on that issue on the last day of the Convention? I do not think whatever changes they make is going to make a substantive difference in the Style and Drafting's problem with the document.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It will be in order.

DELEGATE AUBOL: I so move.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And it's been seconded by Delegate Thompson that Redraft No. 5-7 be re-referred to the Committee on —

DELEGATE AUBOL: Political Subdivisions.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — Political Subdivisions — Judiciary and Political Subdivisions. Now, the question —

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, you haven't got any time for committee action. I don't want to start redrafting the Constitution on the final day of this Convention. I move to amend the motion that Redraft Proposal 5-7 be placed on the tenth order for further action.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson moves to amend the motion so that Redraft 5-7 be placed on the tenth order for final action. And that was seconded by Delegate Meidinger. Now, is there any discussion?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I request a ruling on that. I think that's a substitute motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That is not a substitute motion. It's an amendment to the motion. He moved that it be referred to the Committee, and the substitute motion says that it be placed on tenth order for further action, and when it gets on tenth order, the amendments will remain right here on the floor.

The question is on the motion as offered by Delegate Paulson. Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President, may I speak just one more time on it? I think there are a lot of angles this thing can take, and we can handle them very well in the Committee, if people just will come down and talk about it, and I think we'll save an awful lot of time on the floor here tonight and we'll be able to discuss the thing in some logical manner if the Paulson amendment is defeated and my amendment carries and it's referred back to the Committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegate Paulson that the motion be amended and that this Proposal be placed on the tenth order for action here on the Convention floor.

If there's no further discussion, as many as are in favor of the motion to amend will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The Chair is in doubt.

We will open the key. Those in favor of the motion to amend will vote "yes." Those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Knudson votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Knudson votes "aye." The vote is closed.

The amendment is adopted; 51 "ayes," 43 "nays," and four absent.

We are now on the motion as offered by Delegate Aubol and as amended.

The question is to place the Proposal 5-7 on the tenth order. Those in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the motion is before us on tenth order.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Are we ready for debate on the matter?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We are ready for debate.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I have an amendment at the desk. The amendment — will the Clerk read it?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-7, Section 11:

Delete Section 11 of Article VII, shown on lines 22 through 25, inclusive, on page 3 of engrossed Redraft Proposal 5-7.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President. I think — and renumber the lines?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes, and renumber accordingly.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I move the proposal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May we have a second to the proposal?

DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fallgatter. Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I think this is probably the preferable situation in which to handle this. True, it could be sent back to the Committee, but as the Committee has already indicated, they have already discussed this at length. I think the sentence came out in the Committee Proposal and in deference to Delegate Gipp, who has been a very fine delegate at this Convention and who has come up with some very fine ideas, and I think the sentence came out in deference to him and his wishes, and I think it had very little opposition. Then, of course, when it was made known in public, apparently some of the Indian people, who Delegate Gipp indirectly thought he was trying to help, opposed this sentence, which he thought was for their benefit, and so they came to the area and prevailed on the Chairman of the Committee to offer the amendment, which was offered, I believe, last Thursday, in the matter, adding the last few words to this section. Now I think the last few words, of course, were the straw that broke the camel's back in the matter; but on better analysis of the whole sentence, I think it's an unfortunate provision in the Constitution. I think Delegate Thompson really hit on the crux of the whole matter in that it throws in an unknown situation which is brand new. Delegate Longmire referred to cases on the subject. Obviously, there aren't any. Anybody who has had any experience with reservation law or law concerning things near the reservation is aware that it is probably the most tangled jungle of law that there is in existence today. In talking with the Attorney General — Assistant Attorney General on this matter, he advised that we're not even aware of the true situation as far as sovereignty is concerned, from the 1889 Enabling Act, and he very definitely felt this was throwing another situation into it. We have referred in the Constitution previously to these Enabling Acts, and obviously we cannot change anything in those Enabling Acts, and we refer back to them, so we cover the matter of the Indian problem there.

This is a brand new section in which the State acknowledges the sovereignty of the Indian tribes by making this statement. It's a new situation. The Indian tribes to my knowledge, have never recognized the sovereignty of the State, and I doubt that I will ever live to see them recognize the sovereignty of the State. And so here we are saying to a group of people, "We recognize your sovereignty, even though you have nothing but disdain for our sovereignty."

The Indian people look to the Federal Government, and the Federal Government pretty well has controlled the destiny of Indian law and the situation thereabout. Now the situation which I refer to came about through a ruling of the Solicitor General in March of 1970, in which he said that the 1912 — I believe I'm correct in this date — Homestead Act, which opened up parts of the Fort Berthold Reservation to homestead, opened them up to homestead and transfer of title, but, in effect, never moved the jurisdictional boundaries from the former situation. Now, as recently as 1962, the Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs, in Washington, gave just exactly the opposite opinion. So this matter has never really been resolved at that level. An organization in the area, composed of two moderate-sized cities, two small towns and 20 organized townships, banded together and organized an organization, of which I happen to be President, and Delegate Haugen also happens to be an officer. Because of the political situation involved, we were encouraged to go into Federal Court to test out this particular ruling before we could get any other relief from it. This was done in District Court, and the decision within the last two or three weeks has been handed down in Circuit Court reaffirming the situation of the Solicitor General — the opinion of the Solicitor General, and this is what brings up this situation.

Reservation law has grown up around reservations which have been predominantly populated by Indian people. Indian people have been wards of the Government and the Federal Government has dealt with them almost exclusively. I submit to you that non-Indian people cannot live and survive in an area subject to reservation law, and this is now what is happening in our area, and I think it would be particularly unfortunate in the State now if the nice new Constitution said, "We recognize the tribal sovereignty." I, no doubt, have to go to Washington yet this month to try to get some attention focused on this at the Federal level, and if I were to go to the Congressmen, who are political creatures, and say, "We desperately need some help in this area. We have to have this fictitious boundary line changed back to allow these non-Indian people who have lived in the area, many of them since 1912, '14, 1920, in that area, who operated on the basis — the Federal Government has operated on the basis that this was non-reservation area, and if I have to go and argue this case and they looked at our Constitution and said, "We recognize the sovereignty of the tribes," I could just as well pack up and go home again.

The clipping that Delegate Hartl referred to is just a situation that's developed in the last few weeks. It's a situation that's going to continue to develop. We have OEO attorneys in our area now, employed by the Federal Government, who have advised the Indian people in our area that they no longer owe any jurisdiction to the State, taxwise or any other wise. I submit to you that most of the Indian people are fine and honorable people, just like the delegates here. I have, in fact, the oldest employee and the highest paid female employee in my banking institution, an Indian lady, and she's the finest banking employee I've ever had. I've lived among and with the — and gone to school with the Indian people all my life, and they're fine people, and the great majority of them wish to live with the white people, with the non-Indian people; they wish to be under the jurisdiction of the State. They wish to take their part. They wish to have their kids go to school and they wish to have jobs and operate just like you and I; but we've got a situation today where there's a small minority who wish to take advantage of everything that can be thrown their way, and these are the people that are stirring up these headlines and causing the problem; and if we continue to grant them situations of this kind, these problems are going to be — are going to be endless. The jurisdictional problem of the Indian area today in the front pages of the paper, the State Welfare Department is having a hearing that they're being accused by some of these same people that they're kidnapping the Indian children, putting them in foster homes. This matter of jurisdiction will be a non-ending thing, until the Federal Government finally decides that this situation has to be worked out.

Now, I don't know how many of you have read this clipping that Delegate Hartl has, but you say, "Well, this couldn't happen. They couldn't come out here and take some of the slams from the Reservation." I tell you, it has happened. In my town, we have 240 trust lots in my town, which were unsold as of 1933, and which, by Executive Order of the President of the United States, were taken away from the sale area by another order in 1963. After working on this problem for some 13 years, the local Tribal Council, the BIA, the City of Parshall and the Department of the Interior in Washington, D. C., agreed that approximately a third of these lots by a geographical area would be immediately again offered for sale; that approximately two-thirds of them would be restored to the Tribe as tribal property. Just about five or six years after this agreement was made by unilateral action, the local tribe petitioned that some of these lots which were to be put up for sale and become deeded property would again be restored to the tribe, and I say by unilateral action of the BIA and the Department of the Interior in Washington, this was done.

Now, to many of you delegates here, it is impossible for you to conceive of this happening in the present United States today, but I tell you it has happened, and I can document it to you, and this is why I feel so strongly about this section — because these non-Indian people that live in this area are, in effect — and we've made several contracts with State officials — we are, in effect, people without a State. We're paying taxes. We're doing the same thing as the rest of you people are. We have no — you might say non-existent Highway Patrol, because they — they do not know what the jurisdictional problem is. The Indian people cannot be taken into anything but tribal courts. The ordinances of the City of Parshall and New Town cannot now be enforced against Indian people, and this is just a — most of you here would be unable to imagine a fiction book as to the situation this thing is in, and that's why I urge you strongly to delete this section.

You have heard the argument many of the Indian people didn't like the first sentence, so there's no point in knocking off this amendment to it and leaving the first sentence, because the Indian people themselves don't like that, and I say the only answer to the thing is to leave it alone. Our old Constitution did not speak to it. We don't have any less problems if the new Constitution doesn't speak to it either. We'll have a great deal more problems if the new Constitution does speak to it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I would join Delegate Lerberg in once again asking your indulgence in considering the question to delete Section 11 for some of the following reasons:

Number one, Style and Drafting changed the original proposal as submitted by the Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions. Our article as originally submitted was researched and discussed quite extensively. The Committee approved it on that basis. No research has been conducted upon the Style and Drafting changes to determine what, if any, merit or demerit may be given to the changes that Committee made. Time could not allow for this. Time did not allow for this. Time also did not allow for research of the amendment which we have found ourselves most directly in conflict with — that of "sovereignty of the tribes." We know that certain members individually and as members of the Indian Nation of our own State requested of certain members of our delegation that the amendment infringing on sovereignty be placed in this document or, in the alternative, that the entire document known as Section 11 be deleted. I ask that, for the benefit of all parties concerned, since we are unaware of the entire consequences of the Article as we now have it, that we vote to delete all of Section 11 for the benefit of the Individual Indian Nations, the individual parties on those reservations, and the people involved off of the reservations. I ask this both as a delegate, as a former trial judge for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of Interior, and my practice on the Indian reservation, and as a U. S. Magistrate who is involved directly in the sovereignty of these Indian Nations and the rules and regulations of the United States.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I guess I don't have all of his qualifications. I feel somewhat like our present Supreme Court. I agree, but I can't agree for the same reason. The way this thing came out of the Committee originally, I thought, "Fine," it isn't going to affect anything except the rights that the Indian people already have. But when we start speaking of the sovereignty of the Indian Nation in our Constitution, we're creating a problem that we don't understand. Our Attorney General of the State of North Dakota has agreed that he doesn't understand, and I'm sure that the public isn't going to understand, nor are the Indian Nations, when they start thinking about it. As an example, you know if you're aware of any of the jurisdiction — and this seems to be part of it here — that you can't sue the Indian Nation in State Court, nor can you sue the Indian that lives on the reservation in State Court. If we are creating a situation now, we're doing a disservice to the Indian Nation and to the Indian people, because they have that added protection, then I think they should keep it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Well, Mr. President, I am familiar with that area that Delegate Lerberg referred to as a "no-man's land." However, I do not — I did not have objections to the original Committee language, as Delegate Thompson just mentioned. I did have exception to the Style and Drafting changes that were made. I don't feel that we, in our Committee, really discussed the importance of the Style and Drafting's — the changes of Style and Drafting, as Delegate Hartl has pointed out, and I certainly have strong reservations about — not "strong reservations" — but strong reservations about the amendment — about the amendment as offered from the floor. Now, I personally feel confident that the original Committee Proposal as contained in Committee Proposal 1-12, Section 11, was acceptable and is still acceptable.

Now, I have an amendment at the desk, and I'm not sure that the top wording is proper; however, I would move to amend the Lerberg amendment with the amendment that is at the desk.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You offer an amendment to the amendment.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment:

Instead of deleting lines 22 through 25, inclusive, delete lines 23 through 25, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The right to enter into mutually beneficial service arrangements between the Indian tribes and state agencies or political subdivisions of the state shall be recognized."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the proposed amendment to the amendment?

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Bassingthwaite seconded.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: That is the original language that was found in Committee Proposal 1-12, and it's in the Proposal Book. I think that most of the question that has arisen on this issue is over the difference of the language without infringing on the sovereignty of the tribes. I am against taking out any references to mutual services, and I do think that this amendment will solve the problem.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: During the discussion that we had with the Chairman of the Indian Tribes of the State of North Dakota, he said, "If you're going to speak to this at all, you must include the words "without interfering with the sovereignty of the Indian nation," and he said that if we did not put those words in that section or did not speak to it at all, then he was going to resist the Constitution. Now, this is another threat; but what he was trying to do at that point was to either — and I think his choice was to take this section out completely; but if we don't take it out completely, then we must add these other words. Well, now this man was asked to come down here by a representative living here in Bismarck who had made no study of this situation, nor had Mr. Goodhouse had a chance to make a study of this situation. And I tell you, it's a can of worms. I resist this amendment. I think we should defeat the whole thing.

PRESIDENT WENSTOM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the amendment to the amendment as offered by Delegate Aubol. Will the Clerk read the amendment again — the amendment to the amendment?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to the amendment:

Do not delete lines 22 through 25, inclusive, but delete lines 23 through 25, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The right to enter into mutually beneficial service arrangements between the Indian tribes and state agencies or political subdivisions of the state shall be recognized."

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are you ready for the question? The question is on the amendment to the amendment. Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay." Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "noes" have it. The amendment failed. We are back on the amendment as offered by Delegate Lerberg. Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President, again I address myself to Section 11. I think that much of what has been said here again addresses itself to an issue with respect to jurisdiction and the sovereignty of tribes, too; but I think that, again, that it's addressed to the part of the problem that I think that this section does not address itself to, in essence. Section 11, as you read it now, does not dictate the outcome of jurisdictional issues. It does not dictate sovereignty of the State or the sovereignty of the tribes. I think that much of what Delegate Lerberg says is true with respect to jurisdictional issues, but it is not the essence of Section 11. The issue of sovereignty, the issue of jurisdictional matters, is one again that I think we have to talk about with respect to treaty relationships, to Federal legislation, to Federal opinions and court rulings, and that is the direct issue that Delegate Lerberg is talking about when he talks about the territorial boundaries of Fort Berthold, when he talks about the sales tax business and what not. That, my friends, does not have anything to do with mutual agreements. We're talking about the jurisdictional issue, and those issues will be settled in a Federal Court at this point in time. And what's going to happen 30 years from now and how we approach those things, whether they will be Federal issues, is not my — I'm not a soothsayer. But we are talking about an approach with respect to mutual services — mutual services by entities, if they so desire. I can only emphasize that point.

Let me give you an example. The State of South Dakota has much the same kind of jurisdictional problem. The State of South Dakota and one reservation, called the Pine Ridge Sioux Reservation, or the Ogalala Sioux Reservation, are presently engaged in a cooperative meeting in settling the sales tax issue. This perhaps is a good example of a mutual way to approach a problem, which may be mutually beneficial.

Now, this clause here says, "without infringing on the sovereignty of the tribes — of the Indian tribes." Now I say to you that that question speaks directly to the previous part of this section. It does not dictate the future sovereignty of all forms — or the sovereignty of all forms of jurisdiction in the future. It speaks to mutual agreements, agreements that these groups might very well see eye-to-eye upon.

That may be one of the problems that we have up in the Fort Berthold area. We just don't want to really — we're so worried about some of these jurisdictional issues that at this point it is difficult for some of the groups to get together and say, "Here is how we can cooperate with respect to police protection." Now I say that this article — this section merely points out that fact — that this can be done by groups; that approach can be taken. But it does not dictate anybody's sovereignty. It does not infringe upon any political subdivision. The issue of any kind of infringement upon any kind of political subdivision or any tribe whatever, again is one that will be settled outside of this section. That will be settled, again, by the courts in a court opinion, et cetera, because this — I think you're being side-tracked on this thing. I don't think that this section offers what Delegate Lerberg says it does. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President, I've heard the talking and it scares me to death. But I do think we're making a mistake if we put this in — if we put this section back in the Constitution. Actually, it has reached the point now where it doesn't — it doesn't do what it says it's going to do, because you cannot have mutually-beneficial service arrangements without some yielding to sovereignty. I believe there could be an example that Delegate Gipp used — police jurisdiction. We cannot have that on the reservation in our part — we can't have that in our area because, again, the Indian tribes refuse to give up any sovereignty. We can't have it. We had a school on our reservation. I helped start that school ten years ago and it's been a good school. It's worked wonderfully well, and now — of course, this is something we can't control — the Bureau of Indian Affairs has adopted a policy that the Indians shall control their own jurisdiction — their own schools, their own civil services. We have no objection to this, but it's going to, of course, mean the ruin of the school, because the white people cannot accept a school system in which they contribute funds and have no jurisdiction. In other words, taxation without representation. I do think that this section does not mean — does not mean anything, and it would surely be so good to many of us, if it could be deleted from the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President: I'm not going to say anything much more, except to endorse everything that Delegate Gipp has said in connection with this. I feel we have a smokescreen that has been laid here about conditions that have nothing whatsoever to do with this little simple provision that Delegate Gipp offered into this proposal. I do not think it has anything whatsoever to do with jurisdiction or these problems that we have. For that reason, I hope that we leave this section in the Constitution that's been so important to him in this Convention.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further on the question?

DELEGATE LERBERG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: I submit this is not a smokescreen, and the only way this matter of jurisdiction is going to be solved, and it is important, is for the Federal Government and the Indians to get away from this treaty bit and decide that the Indians are a part of the United States, they're subject to all the rights and privileges, they have all the benefits, and they're citizens, just like you and I, and if we put in our Constitution a provision recognizing their sovereignty, even when the Federal Government finally comes to their senses, we're going to have to amend our Constitution before we can do anything on the State level, and this matter is long overdue, and I think this is just a return to a hundred-year-old situation, and it is not a smokescreen and, if you people — as I say, you can't believe it until you've lived through it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I would like to speak to Delegate Haugen's statement, if that's permissible.

I can't believe that he's going to have taxation without representation, because if the tribe and the BIA take over that school, he's going to have no budget to pay tax on; and so, therefore, it should be removed from the tax assessment.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes, Delegate Thompson is right. We're not going to have taxation without representation because we're going to dissolve ourselves from that school and it's going to be a bad situation for our white students and it's going to be a bad situation for the Indian students.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President: Once again, this issue continues to hinge around the amendment that was offered on the floor the other day that has to do with sovereignty. I can't for the life of me figure out why we can't somehow remove that amendment and still keep in this a simple statement about mutually-beneficial agreements, and it pains me no end to have to vote for deletion of this section; but if we can't get that final amendment that was offered the other day out, I'm afraid there are just too many questions that we have that are not answered.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Lerberg. Any further discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye," and those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendment is adopted.

Delegate Lerberg.

DELEGATE LERBERG: Is this the proper place for the motion that the Rules be suspended and this be deemed re-engrossed and put on the calendar for first passage?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lerberg moves that the Rules be suspended, that it be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for first passage as amended.

I hear someone calling!

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: I was going to ask for a division. Is it too late to request it?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Oh, we'll grant a division.

The question is requesting a division. Will five delegates stand? That is sufficient.

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your preference.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 55 "ayes," 39 "nays," and four delegates absent and not voting.

Now Delegate Lerberg moves that the Rules be suspended, that Redraft Proposal No. 5-7, Section 11, be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the head of the calendar for passage. Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, the amendment eliminated Section 11.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I agree wholeheartedly; however, we are going to have to dispose of this and get it back to the Committee on Style and Drafting, and I don't know how it's going to do it.

DELEGATE UNRUH: We don't want it, Mr. President.

(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I don't believe it's a question of choice. I believe it's a question of rule. And the Rule requires — this isn't the bad part. As soon as you pass this, you're going to have to move it to the eleventh order of business in order not to have to bring to back again on the day after tomorrow for third action. So the question before the Convention is on the first passage on the tenth order of Redraft No. 5-7 as amended.

Those in favor of adopting will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "no."

The Clerk will open the key and you will record your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 63 "ayes," 32 "nays," and three delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-7, Section 11, has passed.

Delegate Lerberg moves that the Rules be suspended, that Redraft No. 5-7 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the eleventh order for passage. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the proposal is again before the Convention on eleventh order.

The question is on the second passage, and those in favor will vote "aye;" opposed will vote "nay." The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

Does any delegates wish to change his vote?

Has every delegate voted? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 69 "ayes," 25 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-7 has been passed and is referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, at this time I would like to make a motion we suspend the Rules and consider the action by which Section 22 of Article I was passed on the tenth order and as now incorporated in Redraft Proposal 5-9, only for the purpose of amending on page 4, line 18.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker, would you repeat those numbers again?

DELEGATE DECKER: 5-9, page 4, line 18.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker moves that the Rules be suspended, that we reconsider our action on Redraft No. 5-9 in the section — on page 4, line 18. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Do we have a second to the motion? Seconded by Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, the motion is included only for the purpose of amending page 4. If you would include that in the motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I have it written down here. Maybe I didn't repeat it. Now, do we have some discussion?

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

Someplace — I think it was today — it seems like last week, it was so long ago — somebody referred to the Attorney General and some higher meeting, and we had a communication from the person who tells the Attorney General what to do. Judge Erickstad sent a communique and was talking to some of the people today about this proposal, and I have an amendment which is on the desk and also the delegates have it, and it would add two words to this proposal, and when it's read, I would like to move to amend with these two words, only.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the proposal to reconsider the action.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President, in the engrossed one, is it not line 20, rather than line 18 now?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Line 20.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Line 20?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Line 20 in the engrossed proposal.

DELEGATE DECKER: I must have looked at the wrong color.

Mr. President, I would like to change my motion then to state line 20. I guess I was working off the wrong color.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Did the delegates hear the change in the proposed amendment? It's on line 20, rather than on line 18, as previously stated.

Any further discussion on the motion to reconsider?

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: I suppose I should go a little further. I believe the thinking of the judge was that it should also include "willful" — or "intentional" was the wording, and we used "intentional" when we wrote up the amendment, because we thought that more people would understand "intentional" than "willful," and I believe that they felt there were some cases where it could be willful and the Court would then not be able to consider negligence, and if you were looking at the Section 22, I believe you can understand what we're talking about.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Will Delegate Decker yield to a question, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Delegate Decker yield to a question?

DELEGATE DECKER: Yes.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Did Judge Erickstad also say that a willful shooting by a policeman wouldn't be covered under those words?

DELEGATE DECKER: My communication from the higher court was second-hand. I would like to refer that to Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: There was no discussion about that type of an incident. He did point out, however, that a party that was injured — the injured party would be injured just as severely if it were intentional or willful as an injury would be as a result of negligence, and if only negligence is included in here, it would possibly preclude a recovery under — if the circumstances were such that it had been either a willful or an intentional injury.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Apparently I'm going to have to disagree with the North Dakota Supreme Court's request. I think this is very dangerous. I can see where you wouldn't dare have any police protection at all, and I don't believe that Judge Erickstad is going to outlive all of us, and, therefore, going to be able to protect us in this kind of a request. This is fallacious, as far as I'm concerned.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President. Will Delegate Saugstad yield to another question?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Does this amendment include injuries done by administrative acts, such as actions by city commissions or zoning boards or school boards, or something like that?

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: No. In the discussion that I held with the Judge, it went something like this: That he pointed out that there can be injuries where someone willfully or intentionally does something, and that, as distinguished from just negligence, and that he felt that if we were to make provision to allow for recovery under negligence, we should likewise make provision to recover under intentional or willful injury.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: I join with Delegate Thompson. I'm scared to death of this proposed amendment and would urge a vote against reconsideration. I think we're opening up a can of worms that may be new and unknown to our State.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NETHING: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I wasn't really red hot on this section to start with, and I'm getting very cool in a hurry. There's one thing to provide for recovery for negligence that is brought about by governmental agencies, which, of course, is brought about by the people involved. However, a willful act by an individual acting in the name of a political subdivision still under this language would hold that political subdivision to the same liability; but it has no control over the situation at all. We're talking — another difference is the fact that a willful act that one person causes to another gives that injured person recourse against the person causing the injury. It's different with a negligent situation. I think — gosh, we talk about our police departments, our fire departments, your garbage departments, your street departments; there's an awful lot of people involved that any one of those persons could commit a willful act and that political subdivision would be responsible. I think that — I think it's a bad amendment. I don't think we should adopt it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President, I'm going to resign from the Grand Forks Park Board tomorrow if this goes in the Constitution. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question — Delegate Kessel.

Originally, this section went into the Constitution sort of to get the municipalities ready for these accidents that are occurring, and so forth, and it seems funny that when we finally adopt something and give in, that all of a sudden another matter creeps into it so completely different from the original, and I certainly urge the defeat of this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on — Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President, I think, if we called up Delegate Pearce, I believe, with myself, we'd all be in agreement as to the defeat of this.

(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate — yes, it's a motion to reconsider, as offered by Delegate Decker. No further discussion?

The key will be opened and you will indicate your vote. Those in favor of reconsideration will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

DELEGATE CART: Cart votes "no."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Cart votes "no."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote?

DELEGATE BERG: Berg votes "no."

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Berg votes "no."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The vote is closed. The roll call indicates — or I should say the tally indicates 17 "yes," seven absent, and 74 "nays." So the amendment failed — or the motion to reconsider failed.

Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: May we be on a — I'd like to rise to a point of personal privilege.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Since I missed explaining the vote on that — when we voted on Section 11 on Mutual Services. A couple of times during this Convention the lawyers have really used us for a football field, and I don't know how many of you have been aware of it, but we certainly were — spent two hours talking about nothing when we were talking about Mutual Services, and I didn't know which way to vote, because my vote didn't mean anything either way we went. The provision does not involve the problems of jurisdiction, or anything like that; and so all it says is "may." And so it didn't make any difference if it was in the Constitution or not because if it was out of the Constitution, the Legislature could still provide for it, because they wouldn't be prohibited from doing it. And so if any of you are feeling bad over how you might have voted when we took this out — you know, if you voted one way or another, you haven't lost anything, or you haven't gained anything.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Simonson.

DELEGATE SIMONSON: I should certainly like to agree with Delegate Omdahl. It has entered my mind while the conversation was going on that I've only now fully realized the message in that TV commercial where the fellow is sitting on the edge of the bed saying, "I ate the whole thing." (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Fellow Delegates, I believe it's more fun to have stories like that. Maybe that's what we should do.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Are you clear for a motion, sir?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You are — or we are.

DELEGATE MILLER: I move to reconsider the action by which Section 5 of Article XI was passed on the tenth order and is now incorporated in the Redraft Proposal 5-15.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller moves to reconsider the action whereby Section 5, Article XI, has now been incorporated in the Redraft No. 5-15, and was passed. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Miller.

DELEGATE MILLER: Out of my high respect for Delegate Fritzell, you don't know how bad I hate to do this, but I feel very strongly that we must take some further action on this. The big reason is not because I was opposed to it before, but because, through conversation in the days that have followed since we took this action, there have been so many delegates that have talked to me and talked among themselves that they now realize the full implications of this second paragraph. There's no point in going into all of the arguments. We had those the other day. This is done merely to give those delegates who wish to have another look at this thing an opportunity to revote.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Being my name was mentioned, Mr. President: I'm not going to argue. Those who argue — I would not argue. We are debating reconsideration here and democracy can't function without a majority, and all I want to do is remind you that we came out of Committee after many days with a minority and majority report. You defeated the minority report with the majority, after deliberation and debate. It then went back — came back on the floor, amendment was made; you defeated that amendment by a majority. Now I ask you please not to reconsider this, because then the democratic process, I think, probably will run down the barrel. But if you do decide to reconsider, defeat and reconsider Section 2, it wouldn't be long before you'll have the Federal Government doing it for you. So it depends on how you want it done.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Thompson.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: I'm going to support Mrs. Fritzell on this. You people are missing the words after the third comma — "subject to reasonable limitation and regulation as the legislative assembly may provide by law," and if that doesn't mean that those of you who are responsible in government cannot protect yourself, I can't figure out what in the world it does mean.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Omdahl.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: I hope that this reconsideration does not succeed. I think one of the things that's going to make this Constitution widely accepted is the fact that in some areas it sort of strikes out into some new ground, and I think we have done a pretty fair job of drafting a document that's more relevant to the problems of the 1970's and the 1980's than the document we had before.

One of the reasons it is this kind of a document is that it addresses itself to some of the current problems that confront society, and I think environment is one of those very important problems, and I would have to say, generally speaking, that Section 5, in total, is a relatively weak approach to environment and environmental problems.

We talk about having a document that excites and interests the younger people. It was quite interesting to me to find that in a poll of freshmen coming into the University, that when they were asked to list what they thought was the most important problem facing the younger generation, they did not list the war in Vietnam, they did not list crime and drugs, but what they listed was the environment, and environment is the subject in which they're vitally interested, because they know that for the next 50 or 60 years, that the condition of their environment is going to very seriously jeopardized, and unless they take care of the world and the environment, they might not be here or their children might not be here after that. I think this is just a token offer in Section 5 to say that we are in favor of suits, and so forth, and then we add “, as provided by reasonable regulation of the Legislature,” and I think this is the least that we can do to meet a problem that is serious in our society today, and not only is it a problem that those of us who are older should be very concerned about, but it is a problem in which the young people are very concerned, and I’m sure that they will work for a document, just because we address ourselves to this problem.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. Fellow Delegates:

I’ve been striving to emulate the admirable restraint of Delegate Maxwell, but I find I have lost control and have to get up on this matter.

I voted against this matter on its initial passage, and I am voting against reconsideration at this time. I see by the Bismarck paper tonight that a group of environmentalists are meeting in Bismarck and they have praised the State’s constitutional delegates for passage of strong environmental measures. There’s a group of seven people on their board of directors, and I imagine they’re all married, so there goes fourteen votes for the Constitution. (Laughter)

So I would suggest that you get in touch with this environmentalist group before they end their meeting, so that they may change their opinion on this passage, and I don’t think at this late stage we should change our action on this matter.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. You are urged because I think we’ve been all talking around the halls as to — or guessing at the specter of frivolous suits being brought by excited environmentalists, and remember we are giving the power to regulate a class action. The Legislature can require that, if we are afraid that frivolous suits be brought, that the party bringing the suit would pay the costs of defense. The Legislature could provide that the suit will be brought for injunctive relief only to correct a bad situation, rather than for damages; because, after all, a person is bringing the action for all the people alleged to be affected by the alleged detrimental environmental activity. So I really think we shouldn’t allow our imaginations to run away with us. I think we trust our courts in all kinds of affairs. I think that our courts will be sensible. They’re not going to allow the rights of the property owner or of the man in business — his rights to be trampled on foolishly, and I think we can trust them, and I urge you not to reconsider this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McElroy.

DELEGATE McELROY: Well, it’s tough for a hambone to follow an oration like Delegate Omdahl’s here. It’s also very difficult to argue against Section 2 without sounding like an anti-environmentalist. However, I feel very strongly that Section 2 is the wrong approach. I think it takes the responsibility away from the Legislature and passes the buck to the individual citizen for enforcement.

Now, we heard Delegate Pearce the other day talk about lawsuits and how they’ve — how they will end up with conflicting and different interpretations of the law, and I don’t think that’s what we want. I think that we want — we all want our environment to be protected and preserved and improved. But the proper way to do this is for the Legislature to appropriate funds for enforcement, funds for investigation into — or research into proper standards, and do it in a sensible way. I just don’t feel that Section 2 is going to be — is going to attract anyone, except some of the more rabid people, and we’ve had some experience with them in our community, and there is nothing sensible at all about the way they try to solve things.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Larsen.

DELEGATE LARSEN: Mr. Chairman. Fellow Delegates:

I supported this amendment from its very beginning. I feel very strongly that it’s a good amendment, and after listening to Delegate Knudson regarding the condition of our coal fields that will be here in the future, and also the arguments that have been presented regarding this matter, I feel very strongly that we should not reconsider; so I urge the reconsideration to be defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President. Reference has been made to the legislators — that the legislation in the portion of this second paragraph, after the comma, can restrict us by reasonable limitation and regulation. I'm not against environment. What concerns me is what is a reasonable limitation of a legislative assembly. I am not afraid of our legislators or the legislation they would produce. I'm afraid of we, the people. At what point does our court system determine that by interpretation of this paragraph as we have it submitted in this document at this time, that the restriction of the legislation by this portion, of the paragraph after the comma is a violation of the, quote, citizen persons, unquote, individual right to a clean and healthy environment. Once we have through the court system eroded the legislative ability of our legislators to properly protect we, the poor citizen, then my city is subject to suit for the foul odor its environmentally-approved sewage lagoon allows to float down Main Street, my city is subject to suit for the noxious floating waters that engineers are now telling us are not clean and strained after 15 feet of sub-surface drainage in my landfill dump. Yes, as Delegate — one of the delegates stated, we do have an environmentalist committee in Bismarck at this time. Again quoting from the article in the paper: "One of the environmentalists was said to state at this time that agricultural pollution is the most harmful for the State. Bismarck has the highest air pollution in the State." Surprising? It's pretty clear up here on the hill.

However, going on to finish the article, the individual states — or one of the other individuals states that "Farmers in summer fallowing acres leave land open to wind erosion and cause dust pollution in the air." At what point do we have a reasonable limitation by the Legislature against a farmer to protect each individual citizen in his right to a healthful environment? I urge the defeat of paragraph 2 and your support of the motion to delete it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. Chairman. I've been opposed to this all along, and I was determined I wasn't going to do anything about it; but, due to the fact it's been brought up, I think there's many, many aspects along this line that have never been brought into the open, and I'm just going to mention them, and then I'm going to sit down. I'm not going to oppose it or be for it, but I wonder if you have thought about what trouble this is going to perhaps cause within a lot of your local grain elevators in the country. Right today we are faced with putting in equipment in our elevator which is costing us in the neighborhood of 25-to-50 thousand dollars. Now this is simply to take care of the dust from that elevator so it doesn't drift over our city, so we won't be sued for dirtying somebody's wash on their line. Now this is one thing. Has anyone ever given any thought to the pollution that is being brought into the State of North Dakota through international waters? It's been brought out many times in this — in regards to this, that Lake Metigoshe, for instance, and this is just a small area, about the 700 cabins that we have at Lake Metigoshe. But how about the 100 cabins that are resting on the lake shore in Canada. What are we going to do about those cabins polluting the lake? We can't do anything, in my judgment. How about the water that comes into North Dakota from Wyoming, Montana, and on into the State, and it would not be long until that water will be spread completely over the State of North Dakota through Garrison Diversion. How about some of these things? And, as Delegate Hartl has brought out, the pollution of the air — odors from our city lagoons. I think there's many, many things that have never been brought to light in regards to this — to this situation.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President, my word is not great, but I did suggest to Delegate Fritzell that she bring a book on environment and that she may need it. She could filibuster for 15 minutes, if this is the last time to consider it.

But I'm serious. I don't think you can be for environment and want to delete any part of Section 5 of our environmental article — of our environment section. I urge you to defeat this.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, I hadn't planned to get into this, but when you talk about farmers, it sounds like the Legislature. You know the farmers want this. The farmers are the best environmentalists in the State of North Dakota. They have been planting trees and saving soil for years, and they should not complain about this. And if an elevator is spreading dust over the city, it should be checked, too. I hope you don't reconsider it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, I'll try to keep mine short.

I served on the Committee and I remained silent every other time this was brought to the floor; but I do want to point out what Delegate Thompson and Delegate Kelsch both mentioned — that that provision that the Legislative Assembly shall provide — I guess I lost it — “reasonable limitation” — was a compromise within the Committee to answer most of the questions that were being raised on the floor.

The second thing I hope everybody finds and — looks at their hands and finds a big red thumb and starts to use it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President: I was just wondering, if we leave this law in the book as it is and it becomes — or in the Constitution and it becomes part of the Constitution, and we had another situation like we had from 1930 to 1940, if someone would bring a suit against Almighty God because of the pollution!

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, I would like to sort of answer Delegate Kelsch about the Legislature.

I oppose this section. I have all the way through. And I maintain you shouldn't put too much confidence in what the Legislature might call “reasonable,” because Delegate Kelsch is one of the most persuasive lobbyists that I know of. He won every argument last session and he'd have it fixed so you couldn't even have beans at a country picnic, if you wanted. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Poulson.

DELEGATE POULSON: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Delegates:

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May we have order in the Convention? We're running out of time.

DELEGATE POULSON: I have about one minute, or less.

Twice this Convention sincerely voted in the interest of health, and this is what we're talking about. Twice this Convention endorsed the doctrine of reasonableness, and twice this Convention was not panicked by the thought of a stampede to the courthouse steps. For my own part, I've supported this environmental provision from its very beginning — at least since it's gotten on the floor; and, once again, I'll reiterate what I said before: This is a reasonable environmental section in our proposed Constitution, and, thank goodness, it's a North Dakota Constitution and not the Federal Government barking down our throat.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Rude.

DELEGATE RUDE: Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rude, your mike isn't working.

DELEGATE RUDE: Mr. President, I'd like to yield my time to Mr. Rosendahl.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Mr. President, I only wanted to answer Delegate Hoffner's question or his comment that the elevators are being forced to do that now from the Food and Drug Administration, but only — I mean only that they be given time to do this. This is a lot of expense, and if they're going to make them suffer a couple of lawsuits in between, it's going to be rough.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the — Delegate Nothing.

DELEGATE NOTHING: Mr. President, just a couple of comments.

First of all, I think we should realize that what we are doing is locking into the Constitution a class action, and we're not giving the Legislature that decision. If this is what you prefer, then you should vote against this motion. However, there's a couple of things that bother me, and I think Delegate Burke brought up something that really bothers me about the people that we are exposing to this class action. He indicated that, because we may take this out of this particular provision, fourteen people are going to vote against it. Well, why in the world would fourteen people vote against something when it doesn't change the status one way or the other, unless they're going to exercise, in my opinion, bad judgment?

Secondly, regarding the matter of farmers, before the last session, a fellow came up to me in Jamestown and he said, "We've got to do something about farmers that summer fallow." I said, "That's a way of life in North Dakota." And he said, "I don't care." He said, "there's dirt blowing against my house that was just painted, and I want to sue somebody." This is the kind of thing we're talking about with a class action, and this is what we are exposing ourselves to. If you subscribe to it, then I suppose we better beat down this motion. I'm going to vote for it because I think a class action in the hands of the wrong people with the wrong temperament can really cause problems for the people that are the citizens — the law-abiding people that understand that other people have to live, too.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: We have less than eight minutes to finish our work on this, so I would suggest that we —or I'll move the previous question again.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves the previous question. Delegate Chase, Devine, Geelan, Lander and Maxwell are the seconds.

The previous question has been moved. So the question is: Shall we vote immediately on the question?

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." Those in favor of adopting the previous question will vote "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the question before us is on the motion as offered by Delegate Miller relative to reconsideration of Section 5 of Redraft 5-15.

The question, again: Those in favor of reconsideration will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

(Delegate Miller waved a white handkerchief attached to a ruler, which evoked laughter.)

DELEGATE FRITZELL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May we have order?

The tally indicates 31 "ayes," 61 "nays," and six delegates absent and not voting. And someone dropped his watch again over in that section! (Laughter)

Delegate Fritzell.

DELEGATE FRITZELL: I've been asked to explain my vote. I have a little verse here that I thought you might enjoy.

"The objective of all dedicated employees should be to thoroughly analyze all situations, anticipate all problems prior to their occurrence, have answers for these problems, and move swiftly to solve problems when called upon. However, when you're up to your ass in alligators, it is difficult to remind yourself that your initial objective was to drain the swamp!" (Laughter)

DELEGATE MILLER: Mr. President, I move that be put in the record.

(Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It is now five minutes to midnight. I believe we've had a fruitful session, and an enjoyable session. Delegate Hartl.

DELEGATE HARTL: Mr. President: Aware of that ever-present alligator, I am still going to scramble from my chair here, and if the floor is open for a motion, I would move at this time that we reconsider the action by which Section 6 of Article XI was passed on the tenth order and is now incorporated in Redraft Proposal 5-15.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hartl, I think we have a situation here where we've got four minutes before we have to cease for today, and I doubt we can try that.

The question is — would you give me the numbers again, Delegate Hartl?

DELEGATE HARTL: It is Section 6 of Article XI, Redraft Proposal 5-15. That was Delegate O'Toole's ombudsman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved that we reconsider our action whereby Section 6 of Redraft No. 5-15 was passed.

Do we have a second? Seconded by Delegate McElroy.

Is there any discussion?

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I move the previous question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The previous question has been moved, and Delegate Aubol, Delegate Berg, Delegate Aas, Delegate Christensen and Delegate Engelter are seconds.

The question is: Shall we vote on the question immediately?

DELEGATE THOMPSON: Mr. President, I understand it's not debatable.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's not debatable.

DELEGATE THOMPSON: However, I move to adjourn, which takes precedence.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think we better continue with what we're doing.

The previous question has been moved, and those in favor of the previous question to vote immediately will vote "aye," those opposed "no."

The question before the Convention then is on the motion to reconsider, and the Clerk will open the key. Those voting "aye" are for reconsideration; those voting "nay" are opposed.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

71 "nays" and 23 "ayes," and four delegates absent and not voting.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: I move that we now adjourn until 8:00 A.M., February 17th.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves that we do now adjourn until 8:00 A.M. on February 17th. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE PAULSON: May I remind Public Information at 11:00 A.M. tomorrow?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Those in favor of adopting the motion to adjourn say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the Convention will be adjourned until 8:00 A.M. on February 17th.

(The Plenary Session adjourned at 11:59 P.M., Tuesday, February 15, 1972, until 8:00 A.M., Thursday, February 17, 1972.)

VOLUME XXX

(February 17, 1972)

MORNING SESSION

(The thirtieth day of the Plenary Session commenced at 8:44 A.M., Thursday, February 17, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

Our Chaplain for this morning is Warren K. Johnson, Pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Bismarck.

REV. WARREN K. JOHNSON: Let us pray.

God of creation and Lord of us all, bless our efforts as we engage in the art of writing a document under which we must all live. Help us to exercise true statesmanship.

May we sense the sacred trust we have been given by the governed.

May the Constitution as completed reflect the high ideals and the just causes we know to be right and honorable.

Bless our people as they seek to live harmoniously under this written code. May the judgment of history that rests upon these efforts be:

It was well done by good and faithful servants.

To this end we pray God's blessing upon us all. Amen.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the third order of business — Roll Call.

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your presence.

Has every delegate indicated his presence? The key is closed.

The roll call discloses 94 present, four delegates absent. A quorum is declared.

We'll be on the fourth order of business — Approval of the Journal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal has carefully examined the Journal of the 14th day of February, 1972, and recommends the same be corrected as follows:

On page 472, following line 41, insert the following: "The Resolution was adopted."

On 472, delete lines 51 and 52, and insert in lieu thereof:

"On page 2, line 1, after the word 'any' insert the following words: 'full time'.

On page 474, in line 11, following the word 'Section' insert the numeral '8'.

On page 479, line 17, delete 'One house legislature (Unicameral)' and insert in lieu thereof 'Two house legislature (Bicameral)'.

On page 479, line 18, delete "Two house legislature (Bicameral) and insert in lieu thereof 'One house legislature (Unicameral)'.

On page 489, line 18, delete 'and' and insert in lieu thereof 'as'.

On page 472, following line 41 — page 510, line 24, before the word 'Style' insert the following: 'Section 11 of Article VII as now in'.

Page 511, line 7, before the word 'Style' insert the following: 'Section 11 of Article VII as now in'.

Page 512, line 19, before the name 'Baker' insert the word 'Delegate'."

And when so corrected, recommends the same be approved.

Delegate Simonson, Chairman.

Delegate Dobson moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal.

Are there any questions?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion to adopt will say "aye," opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted.

Delegate Rosendahl.

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Did my key and Delegate Rude's register "present"?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Okay. Thank you.

We'll be on the twelfth order of business — Motions and Resolutions.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. P, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

A resolution urging the Secretary of State to employ boldface or italicized type in the preparation of the official ballot for the proposed 1972 Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President, could I get the letter number of that again, please?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: P. Resolution P.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I move that the Rules be suspended and that Resolution P be read in its entirety, not be referred to committee, and be placed before the Convention for final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution P be not printed as a resolution, but that it be printed in the Journal, that it not be referred to Committee, that it be read from the desk and placed on tenth order for passage.

The Clerk will read it.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: "RESOLUTION No. P.

"Introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution urging the secretary of state to employ boldface or italicized type in the preparation of the official ballot for the proposed 1972 constitution.

"WHEREAS, delegates to the Constitutional Convention of the state of North Dakota are concerned that the official ballot on the proposed 1972 constitution sets forth the proposition in an easily understandable form; and

"WHEREAS, they also recognize that a clear and attractive presentation of the propositions is essential to ready comprehension by the electors; and

"WHEREAS, it is universally acknowledged that boldfacing and italicizing of the printed word help to attract attention to language so treated; and,

"WHEREAS, the Convention is aware of the important role performed by the secretary of state in the preparation and distribution of the official ballot to be used at the special election on April 28 of this year,

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA:

"That the secretary of state be respectfully requested to prepare in boldface type on the official ballot the main question of approval or rejection of the proposed 1972 constitution, and that he be similarly requested to prepare, either in boldfaced or italicized type, those sections of the proposed 1972 constitution, appearing in the Adoption Schedule, for which there are differing alternate sections.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that an enrolled copy of this resolution be delivered to the secretary of state by the close of the Constitutional Convention."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the Resolution. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Jestrab. Is there any discussion?

The question is on the adoption of the Resolution. Hearing no discussion — Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President. I wonder if it would be possible to delay action on this for just a short time, until we can examine the statutes relating to the manner of setting type. I am not sure that the Secretary of State has control of that. It's far more important, in my opinion, to specify the type size than it is to specify boldface or italics, and I have some doubts as to whether a solid matter set in italics is as legible as the ordinary Roman type, and I hesitate to put in on the Committee a resolution like this, but I would request that we delay for as much as an hour, or something to that effect, so we could examine the statutes to see whether the Secretary of State has any control over the matter.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Well, Delegate Pearce, would you move that we delay action — further action on Resolution P until eleven o'clock?

DELEGATE PEARCE: I do so move, Mr. President.

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce moves that we delay further action on Resolution P until eleven o'clock today. That motion was seconded by Delegate Roney.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and we will pick this up again for consideration as near eleven o'clock as possible.

We will be on the seventh order of business — Reports of Select Committees.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting, to whom was referred Committee Proposal No. 1-121, has had the same under consideration and recommends that the same be amended, and when so amended, recommends the same do pass.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves that the Report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting. Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The Committee Report on Proposal No. 1-121 has been adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: We have some amendments on 1-121, and I'd like to move that they be read.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, would you move the amendments and we will read them?

DELEGATE UNRUH: I so move.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves the adoption of the amendments to 1-121.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: The proposed amendments to 1-121 are as follows:

On page 1, line 18, after the word "adopted" insert a comma.

On page 1, line 19, delete the word "laws" and insert in lieu thereof the word "statutes".

On page 1, line 19, after the word "ordinances," insert the words "administrative rules and".

On page 1, line 20, delete the words "rules of court" and insert in lieu thereof "court rules".

On page 2, line 28, after the numerals "1973" insert a comma.

On page 3, line 5, delete the words "Proposal 4-1" and insert in lieu thereof "Proposition 1B".

And renumber the lines accordingly.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the amendments. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE TUDOR: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Tudor.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I'd be happy to explain the amendments, if anybody has any questions; but I'm not going to din your ears unless it's necessary.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the amendments on Committee Proposal 1-121 as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting. Those in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed will say "nay."

Those in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it and the amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that the Rules be suspended and that Committee Proposal 1-121, otherwise known as Article 13, now be considered properly engrossed and placed on the eleventh order for final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that the Rules be suspended, that Committee Proposal No. 1-121 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and that it be placed on the eleventh order for passage.

Do I have a second to that motion?

DELEGATE KNUDSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Knudson. Is there any discussion? Hearing none, those in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the proposal is before the Convention for passage.

Is there any question? Any discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the passage — the second passage of Proposal No. 1-121 as amended. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted?

DELEGATE SINNER: Sinner votes "aye."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call disclosed 92 "ayes," no "nays," six delegates absent and not voting. Committee Proposal 1-121 has passed eleventh order.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting moves that the Rules be suspended and that Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-16 be introduced, such Proposal being a redraft of Style and Drafting Redraft Proposals Numbered 5-1 and 5-12 and Alternate Proposals 4-1, 4-2, 4-4 and 4-7.

Further, that this Redraft Proposal not be referred to a committee, but be placed on eleventh order for second reading and passage, and be subject to debate and amendment only as to style and drafting alterations.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moved that the Report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting on Redraft Proposal No. 5-16.

Is there any discussion? Hearing none, as many as are in favor of adopting the Report will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the Proposal No. 5-16 is on the eleventh order for consideration.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Delegates, you have on your desks this rather bulky Proposal 5-16. It's called Article XIV and it's the Adoption Schedule and Ballot, and in this we have included the alternate proposals on style of ballot. This will be the fourteenth article. You will notice that we have called the first alternate proposition to 5-16 Alternate Proposition 1A. We used that alternate proposition throughout to be uniform. We had several other words in mind, but we changed all of this to come back to this particular phrase. You will notice we have set out the section on Legislative Assembly in capitals so that it's a little more — has more stand-out. Then we repeat all of the legislation which is affected by bicameral or unicameral, and all the measures — parts of the measures which are affected by the four alternate propositions. It's quite a lengthy thing. I'm not going to go into it in detail. You'll notice that on the very back two pages we have what the Style and Drafting Committee feels should be a ballot proposition. This is on the very last two pages, with instructions and suggested wording. We realize that the Secretary of State has final authority in these matters, so we hope that he will accept these suggestions and later on, if the resolution meets with the satisfaction of Delegate Pearce, why we'll have some further suggestions for him. But it may not look exactly like this by the time it's submitted to the voters. At any rate, if you'll notice that on the first page of the ballot we have the main proposition, and we used that word "proposition" throughout, instead of "measure." The main proposition, "yes" and "no," and the first alternate proposition is the unicameral-bicameral. We had discussed Delegate Hoffner's idea of putting in there "house" and "senate" as a little more understandable, but I feel that the words "Two-house legislature" is understandable by the average voter, and our committee felt the same way. On the second page of the ballot is set forth — the first one is initiative and referendum. Of course on the ballot itself, when it's printed, it will be a lot smaller than this. When you use a typewriter, you spread out kind of all over the page. At any rate, you'll notice the wording for 2A, the two percent, and we put in the words "about 12,350" so we can give them some relationship to the population without putting in "as per the 1960 U. S. Census" or something like that. We didn't state the population, but we did work it out on the basis of what it is, very closely. Four percent of the population, 27,700. 25 sponsors and so forth. And down below, in 2B, the more familiar amounts of signatures as we now have in our present constitution.

Alternate Proposition 3, about the eighteen-year-old votes, is simple, and on 4 — these last three we can only put "yes" and "no" as we have.

If there are any further questions, I or someone on my Committee will be glad to answer them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there any questions? Delegate Baker.

DELEGATE BAKER: Mr. President, I'm very unhappy about this, as I think you all know, because I feel that a good-natured majority of this Convention has been shamefully taken advantage of. I don't think the sponsors of this idea had any notion of the kind of a morass they were getting into when they began, but I think they must realize by this time what an unfortunate thing this is, and I'm thinking that those of the good-natured majority who were good-natured enough to join in the initial effort to make this an alternate proposition in the first place, by this time may have come to their senses and decided that the thing to do is not have an alternate on this subject, and that's what I should guess.

Now, you see, there are about three hundred words on every page of this, and it isn't until page 10, or some six thousand words, until you get into the real trouble. That's when you start referring to other sections of the main body of the Constitution by — and amending by reference. So the serious-minded voter who has to consider whether or not to cast a vote on this then has, after having spent half-an-hour or so reading what it says in the two alternate proposals to begin with, then he has to begin to jump back and forth to the main body and to this and to begin thinking about what the implications are when you make changes in other sections, in the executive branch, and in the education branch, in the finance and public debt sections, in the general provisions, and, boy, this gets to be something else again! I can just imagine how much fun the people who are dead set against making any change at all in the Constitution — in other words, defeating the whole idea — can have with that one.

Just for a brief example: You know what vast new authority we have given to the Legislature in many sections, but particularly in the field of finance, the authority to levy an unlimited tax with a super-majority of both houses the way it stands in the main body, or the way it stood in the main body, but have only one assembly under the unicameral provision. What line of thinking is this going to open up in the minds of people who are seriously concerned about this matter of the level of taxation of which there are more than a few, and in the unlimited authority for the Legislature, by a super-majority of both houses in the one case, to establish and maintain a public debt; in the unlimited authority by a simple majority of the Legislature, two houses or one house, to exempt property from taxation?

Now I'm sure it doesn't take very long for you to realize what a large amount of concern can be produced when you are considering these matters, let alone the dozens of other significant changes in the authority of the Legislature over our way of life that we have given in this Constitution. So I say that this is a dangerous thing to have on the ballot at all from any standpoint, even if you say, "Well, this is a set-aside and they can easily vote one way or the other on that one and that will take some of the — attract some of the lightning from the proposition that was in the main body," and so on. Consider the very serious effect that this may have on some of the major changes that we have proposed in the main body of the Constitution, which, of course, are not touched on in this particular article or any of the ballot forms.

The last two propositions that are set forth here are simple. They're simple and easy to understand, and the initiative and referral and constitutional amendment and recall sections, while they are lengthy, will take, I guess, some thousand words or thereabouts apiece on the ballot, are relatively simple, at least from the standpoint of this reference business that I'm talking about. They take some reading, but are fairly-easy to understand, I would say, compared with the tangled mess that you get into when you try to figure out just exactly what would happen under one set of provisions or the other to the whole Constitution, and it is for this reason that I urge the majority of this Convention to take a second thought on it now, and even though it may be temporarily embarrassing to back off from a good-natured commitment that you made at the time when the picture wasn't fully clear, the thing to do, I believe, at this time is to vote "no" on this proposition and put the Style and Drafting Committee back to work on putting the bicameral section in the main body and abandoning the effort to establish any side issue on bicameral and unicameral.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is there any further discussion?

DELEGATE LANDER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Lander.

DELEGATE LANDER: I would suggest that at this particular point a "no" vote on this proposition is meaningless. If there are efforts which somebody wishes to make for reconsideration that should be taken, fine. All we've got here is what Style and Drafting has done with what we did, and I think they did an excellent job. That's the only question before the house apparently.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. I would like to point out one thing for the delegates. If you will notice on page 1, where we get down to Alternate Proposition 1A, you will notice the bold type and you'll notice some of the sections — Section 3 is not in bold type. Section 4 is not in bold type. Section 5 is in bold type. The reason between the varying — between the bold type and the not bold type is, for example, Section 1, in the bicameral is different than the unicameral, so that any elector reading this will know as he goes through the legislative article for bicameral, which is Proposition 1A, as he sees the bold type, he will know that 1A — Section 1 of 1B of unicameral will be different, and where the small type appears, the sections are identical in both the unicameral and bicameral. As far as the length, we've been taking out the whole legislative article and setting it in this schedule. It's true we are repeating it twice, so we are adding length; but remember we are not putting it in the main document, so it isn't as bulky as it may first seem. It's not repeated a second time because you don't have these words in the main document.

There's been a comment on page 10, where we did some amending by reference to the other articles, which would be, for example, the executive branch and the education and financing debt. These are — true, these are amended by reference, but they're merely mechanical things. All they do is wherever the words — where you had "each house," you just change it to "single house." So there's mechanical amendments by reference.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Did the Committee consider the form that Delegate Kelsch has suggested? Since it's so long, has the Committee considered that after each section they would identify it as a single chamber or two-chamber, so that the people reading this in the voting booth — in the voting booth or somewhere along the campaign, would know — wouldn't get lost in these sections, rather than just the bold type, or whatever the difference is on the changes?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Do I understand your question to be — after Alternate Proposition 1A, we'd add the words "two-house legislature"?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Yes, and all the sections that deal with the sections in the two-house, so the people do not get lost, and also which deal with one-house — identify each of those sections after each section that this deals with one house.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Well, the Alternate Proposition 1A, which, if you will refer to your ballot, of course is the bicameral or two-house legislature. All of the language — that's the complete Article No. IV, Legislative Branch, dealing with a two-house legislature, and a "yes" vote — majority vote on 1A would put all this language, which is a complete article, as the legislative branch. If the majority votes for 1B, that would plug in the full legislative branch and, as you notice at the heading on line — I think 9 of the first page, we state that the alternate proposal — propositions approved by a majority of the electors constituting the majority shall become part of the 1972 Constitution upon adoption, and alternate propositions rejected by a majority of the electors voting thereon shall not become a part of the 1972 Constitution. And then we go on to say, "This Article shall not be published as a part of the Constitution after adoption." If the rest of it is not accepted by the voters, it would just be rejected and not printed. But I suppose we could, if you want — it's possible to add "one house" or "two-house legislature" right after the words "Alternate Proposition 1A, if there's any feeling on the part of the delegates. We talked about that possibility, but I know we didn't feel it apparently was necessary. But I'm sure we have no objection if you felt that it would further flag the electors that this whole 1A deals just with a two-house legislature and 1B deals just with a one-house legislature.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, what I meant is: Say you turn to page 2 of this and say in Section 5, "Reapportionment" — you see, after the people go through this whole document, that they keep reinserting, so they may re — now we understand this well — that it deals with the bicameral; but maybe as they read through that, since it's so long, when they come to Section 5, it may be a good idea to, after "Reapportionment," indicate that this deals with the two-house, and when you get to the document on the single chamber, each section should maybe be identified as a one-house or two-house, being that the document is so long.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, speaking for myself as an individual and as one member of the Style and Drafting Committee, I have had the feeling that we had a technical job to do and we had to prepare a ballot in accordance with the opinion rendered by the Attorney General's office on having this so prepared that there was no preference shown to either one of these proposals that are under discussion. Personally, I was against having any of these alternate proposals, but I was in the minority on that, and if we are going to follow through and have a ballot that is — that shows no preference to either one of these subjects, I don't know how otherwise we're going to do it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Burke.

DELEGATE BURKE: Mr. President. I feel somewhat like I did many years ago when my mother came to me with sulphur and molasses and said, "Now, Robert, this will — this is disagreeable to swallow, but it will make you feel good in the long run." And that is my impression of the ballot. I have no criticism of Style and Drafting, and I am certainly prepared, even though it tastes rather badly, I am certainly prepared to go out and give this my best shot.

However, I was wondering if Style and Drafting can consider showing that this Convention has favored Alternate Proposal 1 and Alternate Proposal 2, or both. Maybe this would offend the justiciable element that Delegate Omdahl talked about. But, in fairness to this Convention, could it be shown in some manner that this Convention did favor bicameral and did favor the Alternate 2A?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: We did consider that — like putting an asterisk by the one that the Convention had adopted, and then a footnote of some sort, indicating that this was the Convention majority choice. We didn't take action on it because we felt it would possibly be having an influence on the voter, and we decided to leave that matter up to the body. It's a question that the Secretary of State might reject, too. I don't know, but it is an open question at this time.

DELEGATE TUDOR: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor.

DELEGATE TUDOR: I would like to second Delegate Unruh's thoughts. In fact, I brought this up to the meeting, that this should be done — but I am — I realize that this has to be treated in a fair manner, and I'm satisfied that the Committee did a good, thorough job by this procedure.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I would like to comment briefly on those remarks. The Committee felt that it could not make any attempt to rig the ballot, but the two-house proponents will have a slight advantage on the ballot because, as you can see, the two-house option is listed as 1A, so that would be on the top.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Hearing none, the question before the Convention — Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, I have an amendment being typed at the desk. I would move the amendment and have it read, and while they're finishing —

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: On page 6 — where? What line did you want to amend?

DELEGATE DECKER: Line 8. While it's being typed, all I'm doing is indicating, after Alternate Proposal 1B, that it is unicameral, one-house, and bicameral, two-house, as the alternate amendment calls for. That's on the description on page 6 and on page 1. The reason I'm doing that the people may not get back to the Proposition 1A. I think we should keep the identification all the way through so they know what they're reading, and when they come to Alternate 1B, they will realize that it's different at that time.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Proposed amendment to Redraft Proposal 5-16:

On page 1, line 15, after the underlined "1A" insert the following: "Bicameral (Two-house)".

On page 6 — page 6, line 8, after the underlined "1B" insert the following: "Unicameral (One-house)".

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hoffner. Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, I think the amendment is self-explanatory and it's just for clarification.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Mr. President. I have no objection to the amendment, except that it is different than the form that they used on the ballot proposed by the Committee on Style and Drafting. I think on the next-to-the-last page you will see that they identify these things by saying "Two-house legislature" and then, in parentheses, they say "bicameral". Now the amendment before us is just turned around the opposite way. I'm wondering — perhaps Style and Drafting takes care of that now.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President. I wonder, so we won't have to go back to Style and Drafting, if Delegate Decker would like the usual way the words appear on the ballot.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President, I would like to move to change my amendment to have the identical words as they appear on the ballot. Then Style and Drafting won't have to change it. It just reverses the "one-house (Unicameral)" and puts it in a different order.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker, there seems to be some confusion here someplace.

DELEGATE DECKER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Decker.

DELEGATE DECKER: I believe, if you look at the ballot on the back, it will — and compare it with our amendment, you can see what it is. You just reverse the two.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: I see. Okay.

The proposed amendment would now read:

On page 1, line 15, after the underlined "1A" insert the following: "Two-house legislature (Bicameral)".

On page 6, line 8, after the "1B" underlined, insert the following: "One-house legislature (Unicameral)".

DELEGATE DECKER: Right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the amendment as offered by Delegate Decker and seconded by Delegate Hoffner.

Is there any further discussion? Hearing none, the question is on the adoption of the amendment.

Those in favor of its adoption will say "aye," those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it and the amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE RONEY: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Roney.

DELEGATE RONEY: I know that during the Convention that we have talked about many remote possibilities. I arise, first, to ease your fears. I propose to vote in favor of the Style and Drafting report and in favor of the Constitution. But there is a possibility that this could end in a tie, and if the ballot on the Alternate Proposal IA and IB were to end in a tie, we would not have a constitution, and you might say it's so remote, let's not think about it. But it is possible, and we would have — since we have taken out parts of the Constitution and put it in Alternate Proposals IA and IB, neither one of them would be inserted. I wonder — has the Committee considered such a thing? I know that this is perhaps the first time that I know of or can remember that it's going to require the voter, when he goes to the poll, to vote at least twice to get a complete constitution. He must vote on the main body and he must vote on the alternate proposal of the one-house or two-house legislature. It is not necessary that he vote on the initiative and referendum to make a complete constitution. So he must vote twice. Would it be worth it to insert — I'm not going to do it, but I only want to know if you talked about it — if you thought it was necessary to insert something in the case of a tie?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anyone wish to comment? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: After a recount, maybe! (Laughter)

Mr. President, we could insert language somewhere in between lines 9 and 14 on this area, but I haven't thought of the words. If the Convention feels that we should do this, why we'll take it down and reconsider it. It's a very remote possibility, but it is a possibility, however remote. So I think I would like the advice of the Convention as to whether this is necessary.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE McINTYRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate McIntyre.

DELEGATE McINTYRE: If it would help out to place it in writing here this morning, I'd be willing to change my vote, if that happened.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendment. Oh, we did that!

Delegate Unruh, would you move to deem this properly engrossed?

DELEGATE UNRUH: I was waiting to see if anybody had any ideas.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Engelter.

DELEGATE ENGELTER: I'm just wondering. I'm sure there have been many measures referred to the people before, and they have never come up with anything with regard to ties, and the possibility of a tie is so remote and so far-removed that I don't think we really have to concern ourselves with it.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President, in response to what Delegate Engelter mentions, there is a provision in our initiative and referendum that, if you have, say, two laws and they overlap, the one receiving the highest vote prevails. There is nothing in there, of course, about a tie. And so, in that case, the issue would have to be determined by lot, or something of that nature, under judicial supervision. This situation has never arisen in the State's longtime history.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Anything further? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President: I now move that Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-16, otherwise known as Article XIV, be considered properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-16 be deemed properly re-engrossed, that it be placed for passage. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engstrom.

Is there any further discussion? Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, I should know, but I'd like to ask this: The last page, concerning the initiative and referendum, is that included in your motion you just made?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, now I would like to ask why, as long as the Committee took it upon itself to put figures in, in the first paragraph, 2A, why it didn't use the exact figures by the last census, and if you didn't want to use the exact figures, why he didn't add a couple of hundred or so, instead of deducting a few. The 12,350 signatures is not correct and the proponents of the percentage system wanted to stay with the percentage so badly it surprises me somewhat that they now want to have it in figures. But if they're going to have it in figures, to make it look close to the other one, then the figures should be as exact as possible.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: I, for one, felt we shouldn't put any figures in there; but we thought we were being fair with the voter to indicate what approximately two percent would be.

Delegate Rundle, do you have a more accurate figure? I thought we were about as close as we could get without being fractioned.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on Delegate Unruh's motion that the Rules be suspended, that Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-16 be deemed properly re-engrossed, and that it be placed on the eleventh order for passage. Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President, while my educated seatmate checks my figures — is that right? — the figure isn't a big item, but why it always has to be on the other fellow's side — 12,350 is the figure they use — two percent — and it should be 12,355. (Laughter)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention — the question before the Convention is on Delegate Unruh's motion. I think you're aware of it. It was repeated twice, and those in favor of deeming this properly re-engrossed and suspending the Rules, will vote "aye." Those opposed will vote "nay." As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "ayes" have it and Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-16 is before the Convention for passage — second passage.

Any further discussion? Hearing none, those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 83 "ayes," 8 "nays," seven delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-16 has passed the second time.

We will be on the eighth order of business — Announcements.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: All travel vouchers should be turned in on the final day of the Plenary Session. Receipts for lodging must be attached and show lodging from February 1st through February 17th. If a receipt for the entire session is being submitted at this time, it must show lodging from January 2nd or 3rd through February 17th. Trips made to the home residence must be shown, even though you may have already received the four allotted trips or are not claiming any mileage. Be sure to show the time of arrival at home and the time of departure from home.

Friday, February 18th, will be allowed as a travel day. Show this trip and the approximate time of expected arrival at home.

Delegate Jestrab has eight students from the tenth grade, Fargo High School Horizon Club, and their adviser, Mrs. Norm Schroeder, in the gallery today.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the students please rise? (Applause)

DELEGATE TUDOR: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor.

DELEGATE TUDOR: I believe that Delegate Maxwell has this group from Fargo.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: Well — Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE MAXWELL: This is a group that I acted as professional adviser to on one phase of their work last year, so I do have a very close association with them.

Thank you, Delegate Tudor.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And thank you, Delegate Maxwell.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Jestrab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: I think — Mr. President, I think perhaps my name got on there because I got some material for them. I did not send that note to the desk, but I'm happy to claim them, if I may.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Is it your thought that you might be recessing soon?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No. I believe we have another procedural committee report here right now, Delegate Meidinger.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting recommends that the Convention take no further action on Alternate Proposals Numbered 4-1, 4-2, 4-4 and 4-7 for the reason that each alternate proposal has now been incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-16.

Also, no further action be taken on Style and Drafting Redraft Proposals Numbered 5-1 and 5-12 for the reason that they have now been incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-16.

Delegate Unruh, Chairman.

Delegate Unruh moves the report be adopted.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question is on the adoption of the Committee Report of the Committee on Style and Drafting.

Do we have a second?

DELEGATE CART: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Cart. Is there any discussion? Hearing none, the question is on the adoption of the Committee Report.

As many as are in favor of its adoption will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted.

We'll be back on the eighth order of business for announcements.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Delegate Huckle wishes to share with each one of us the message of the song entitled "Welcome to North Dakota" and to emphasize that each one of us can do much to welcome and encourage others to come and stay.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May I, on behalf of the Convention, say thank you to Delegate Huckle for his contribution and his gift to each of the delegates here. (Applause)

While we're on the eighth order of business, the Chair wishes to make an announcement.

I would like to appoint a committee — an executive committee to our Public Information Committee, and to that Committee, I would like to name Delegates Paulson — that's John Paulson — Dobson, McIntyre, Diehl, Omdahl and Birkeland.

Now, Delegate Meidinger.

DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Mr. President, the Committee on Education will meet in G-1 immediately upon recess.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will now declare the Convention in recess, subject to the call of the Chair.

Did you have something, Delegate Pearce?

(Delegate Pearce shook his head.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be recessed, subject to the call of the Chair.

(The Session recessed at 9:47 A.M. until 10:29 A.M., the same day.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

We will be on the twelfth order of business — Motions and Resolutions.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. Q, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

A resolution vesting the president of the Constitutional Convention with the authority to perform all necessary acts relative to the Convention after its adjournment.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I move that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution Q be read in its entirety, that it not be referred to committee, not be printed as a proposal, and be placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution Q be not printed as a proposal, that it not be referred to a committee, that it be read in its entirety and that it be placed on the calendar for passage.

Do we have a second? It's not needed. The Clerk will read the Proposal.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution Q, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution vesting the president of the Constitutional Convention with the authority to perform all necessary acts relative to the Convention after its adjournment.

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention of 1972 is now engaged in preparing a proposed constitution for submission to the electors of the state at a special election to be called in a manner provided in the Convention's enabling act; and

"WHEREAS, the Convention is required by such enabling act to complete its work and to adjourn no later than the seventeenth day of February, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, there will remain a number of tasks to be performed after the adjournment of the Convention, among others, informing the public of the provisions of the proposed document submitted to them for ratification, preparation of materials for delegate appearances on behalf of the proposed document, and the preparation of Convention materials of historical value for deposit with the State Historical Society; and

"WHEREAS, in order to complete such work it will be necessary that the president of the Convention have the authority to act in an official capacity and to maintain a staff and direct them in the completion of the Convention's affairs after the date of adjournment of the Convention; and

"WHEREAS, it will be necessary that the president of the Convention be authorized to sign all necessary vouchers for payment of expenses incurred by the Convention;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA OF 1972:

"THAT the president of the Convention is hereby authorized to function in an official capacity after the adjournment of the Convention, and may maintain such staff and perform such acts as he deems are necessary to satisfactorily complete the work of the Convention.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the president of the Convention is authorized to sign all necessary vouchers for payment of expenses incurred after the adjournment of the convention."

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Would you recognize Delegate Pearce, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I will recognize Delegate Scheel — or Delegate Pearce. May I have a second to this proposal?

DELEGATE STANTON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Stanton. Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President: In considering this Resolution, I would call your attention to the sheets that were placed on your desks this morning — the single sheets with the figures. The Budget Committee met in sort of relays yesterday. You will recall that last April a Budget Committee of this Convention set out a tentative budget, which is printed in the Journal of that preliminary organizational session. At that time we were doing a good deal of guessing. The budget balance sheet, which I trust you have in your hand, was as of yesterday.

The first column, called "Expenditures," is not necessarily, however, as of yesterday. There are many vouchers. There are many accrued items that are not in yet, and of course, for one thing, nobody has earned today's pay yet, and things of that nature. Obviously, it will be necessary to continue staff at a reduced level, of course. So the second column — the first column "Expenditures," has actually been paid out through the Department of Accounts and Purchases.

The second column, entitled "Anticipated Expenditures," is our best guess based on percentages of what has been spent in going over what has been spent and the work that will be necessary to do, and I'll admit that we have not been too stingy on those items and that it's possible that all of that money will not be spent.

The third column is the items as they were budgeted last April, and as you can see, we didn't do too badly, congratulating ourselves. You will note at the lower right-hand corner that we add the Anticipated Housing and Urban Development Grant Reimbursement. You will notice that's $30,400.00, and I'm sure you have all heard the figure $44,000.00. As with many gifts, after you look them in the mouth, they're not quite as sound as they first looked, and there are a few teeth missing in this one. We did not get simply $44,000.00. We are reimbursed two-thirds of what we have spent for certain types of items, not in a blanket sum. Because of the type of expenditures that we are entitled to reimbursement for on the basis of two-thirds from them and one-third from us, our best estimate is that we will recoup from those grants $30,400.00. We can't get any more because there isn't any more that we can spend for the items that they will reimburse us for.

You will notice that that is an add item and brings it to $187,900.00. You will notice that we have a $32,000.00 contingency fund because of the fact that we haven't paid our bills in cash per days as we were unable to do so, and because of the necessity to estimate anticipated expenditures, and since we are fallible — at least the Committee is, whether the Convention is or not — we thought, and because after today when we adjourn we will no longer be in existence and we can't do anything about it, that we had better have a contingency fund. Hopefully, our anticipated expenditures column will be sufficient, and if it is and we don't have to spend the contingency fund, that would be added to the bottom column.

The Public Information Committee has submitted a budget to us, and questions on that you can direct to that Committee and not to me, of $89,900.00, and we rounded that off at $90,000.00. I must, unfortunately, ask you to correct the sheet that you have in front of you. A clerical error left off the fees and the cost of preparing the verbatim transcript of this Convention, so you should put a figure of $10,500.00 at the bottom and subtract it from the $65,900.00. The item "Anticipated Balance to be returned to General Fund" should then be $55,400.00, plus what may be saved from the contingency fund of $32,000.00, if we saved at all. We would then have $82,400.00 and any amounts which we may have overestimated in column 2.

I am not in a position to make a motion at this time, but immediately following your action on the motion on Resolution Q — Resolution Q — as before the Convention, the reason for my talking now is so that you will know some of the things that Frank will have to do, because he will have to be the chief voucher-signing and disbursing agent for the necessary funds. I thought you ought to know what some of his duties would be before you voted. After you have acted, hopefully favorably, on Resolution Q, I would then move that the Convention adopt this new budget and that the President approve vouchers within the budget items as this new budget is adopted.

Now I realize you may have many, many questions, some of which we can answer, but that's the reason I put this on your desk early this morning — was so that you could look at it and we wouldn't have to spend too much time discussing it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of Resolution Q. No discussion? In the event that this Resolution is adopted, it does speak specifically to the expenditures of funds, and because of that reason, we have had a policy of having a roll call vote whenever we have been engaged in the expenditure of funds. So, for that reason, if there is no further discussion, we will open the key and you will record your vote. Those in favor of Resolution Q will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

The roll call discloses 95 "ayes" and three "nays" or no "nays," and three delegates absent and not voting. So Resolution Q has passed.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

Delegate Pearce: I now move that the Convention adopt and approve the revised budget as appears on the sheet entitled "Budget Balance Sheet," with the addition of the $10,500.00 as I asked you to note as an expenditure — an anticipated expenditure for the verbatim transcript.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce moves that the budget sheet as presented to the Convention, with that $10,500.00 additional expenditure at the bottom right-hand corner of $55,400.00 —

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, with the consent of my second, could I request that it be printed in the Journal?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And the motion for adoption of this Budget Report has been seconded by Delegate Litten.

Now, are there any questions? Hearing none, again I think it would be a good idea to use the roll call. Those in favor of adopting this new budget will vote "aye" and those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your choice.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 92 "ayes," no "nays," six delegates absent and not voting. So the new budget has been adopted.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Did that include my sort of amendment that it be printed in the Journal?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, it did include it.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the twelfth order, without objection. Again, the resolutions.

Delegate Scheel is off the floor. We have a resolution here. Delegate Scheel, I think we have a resolution — another resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. R, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the State Library Commission and its employees for the many services rendered to the delegates, committees and staff."

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I would move that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution R be read in its entirety, that it not be printed as a proposal, not be referred to committee, and placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution R be not referred to a committee, that it be printed in the Journal, that it be placed — that it be read in its entirety, and that it be placed on the calendar for final passage.

The Clerk will read the Resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. R, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the State Library Commission and its employees for the many services rendered to the delegates, committees and staff.

"WHEREAS, the State Library Commission has been most cooperative during both the interim and plenary session in providing individual delegates with historical material on the North Dakota constitution of 1889, which appeared in various newspaper articles; and

"WHEREAS, the State Library Commission built up a large collection of books, pamphlets, documents, research papers and other materials on state constitutions in general and made this all available to the staff of this Convention as well as to the committees and delegates; and

"WHEREAS, these services added greatly to the success of the delegates in drafting the document which is the proposed constitution of 1972;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the North Dakota Constitutional Convention express its appreciation to the State Library Commission and its employees for all the services rendered to the delegates, committees and staff of the Convention, during both the interim and plenary session.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the State Library Commission at Bismarck, North Dakota."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the Resolution. Now may I have a second?

DELEGATE BINEK: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM; Seconded by Delegate Binek.

Any discussion? Hearing none, the question is on the adoption of Resolution R. Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

Those in favor of the adoption of the Resolution R will say "aye;" those opposed say "no." The "ayes" have it and the Resolution is adopted.

Fellow Delegates, I think you recall that earlier this morning we postponed consideration of a resolution to a time certain, which was eleven o'clock, and now we have that before us, and I'm going to ask for unanimous consent of the Convention to consider that Resolution at this time.

Is there any objection? Hearing none, then we will have that Resolution before us.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Pearce, and the Resolution was Resolution P.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: It grieves me somewhat to have taken issue with any proposed resolution of the Resolutions Committee; however, as I heard the Resolution, it called for — as I understood it — the legal publication of the Constitution which is required by statute to be in either bold print or italics type, and as a long-time old handset amateur printer, I was concerned about several things, in addition to the legal problems. I do not believe that solid-set italics type is very easy to read, and you read very little of it if you're not accustomed to reading it: Many of the letters are, as you know, of course, in different form than ordinary Roman type, and while a word or a line italicized serves to call attention, simply because it's different from the surrounding type, if it's all in italics, it loses its feature effect.

Bold type means that the face of the type is heavier than ordinary or light type, and there is thus more ink to the page. If you would pick up your Journal and look at the ordinary pages of the Journal, you will notice that it is printed in ordinary light Roman type, which is eight point in size, meaning eight points up and down, and there are approximately — well, it's a printer's measure and it has little relation to inches. If you would look at page 495, you will notice that most of that page is printed in boldface. That is also eight-point type. If you turn the page, at 496, that is also bold, and then when you get over to page 499, you see it turns into bold, and on page 500 you see what bold looks like in indented paragraphs.

Now, there is actually less white space, which is very important in the legibility of typography around each letter than there is in lightface. If everything is printed in bold, in my opinion, it suffers in legibility.

Now, the legal problems are: All we could do is request the Secretary of State, in any event, because under the provisions of 16-06-03, which provides for the ballot form, the Secretary of State has the choice of asking for it in either six or eight-point type.

Now, six-point type is approximately one-quarter less in size than the eight-point size. If you have a newspaper — and I frequently see that delegates have newspapers — and if you find a legal notice or a want ad, that is printed in so-called agate type, which is five-and-a-half points on its face on a six-point slug, and it's small. However, if we should request the Secretary of State to print it in larger type, such as eight-point, then we have increased the cost to the counties who have to stand this by about 25-to-30 percent, since Section 46-05-03 fixes the fees for printing legal notices, of which this is one, and the cost for non-pariel type, which at this point is 16 for non-counted line and 6 for insert, or 12 cents for counted line for every eight-point type. How those ancient terms got into our modern statutes, I don't know. The statute also requires that it be printed in columns and the columns are narrow, usually not over 13 picas in width, which is approximately the size of the column the Fargo Forum uses, and most of the newspapers in the State, and I do feel, with all due respect to the Resolutions Committee and the Committee on Style and Drafting, whose fine hand, I understand was involved, I do believe that we would be inserting ourselves into something that we have no real legal authority in; that if we were going to do something like this, we should require larger type, rather than boldface or italic. If we do so, we'd add to the burden of cost.

Now, this is the legal notice that is required. It has nothing to do with the ninety thousand dollars that we just agreed to spend on a report and related information, and it is our hope — I know of all of this, and the intention of the Public Information Committee that a much more legible, readable insert will be published, so the people will read that; where, otherwise I'm afraid they will not read it. So, therefore, in the interests of all of us, I would hope that the Resolution did not pass.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion relative to Resolution P? Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Speaking on behalf of the Style and Drafting Committee, who really laid this on Delegate Scheel somewhat unknowingly, we have no objection to it being withdrawn, with the explanation that Delegate Pearce has made, and I would now move that the — I better let you make that motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You wish to withdraw the motion?

DELEGATE UNRUH: I move that the Resolution be withdrawn.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh requests unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw the Resolution P. Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President: This resolution addresses itself to the official ballot and not to legal notices. Now, my question of Delegate Pearce is this: If on the official ballot, which is printed in eight-point, we provide for the boldfaced paragraph to set out the differences, would, in the legal notices which are printed in your five, five-and-a-half-point — would you have to use the bold in the legal notices, also?

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: If I may answer Delegate Dobson's question.

There are different provisions in the statute for the ballot than there are for the actual text of initiated or referred measures or constitutional amendments. The Secretary of State already has the option of printing certain parts of the ballot — the ballot title — in boldface type, and that, of course, is not nearly as long. My only answer to that would be that I still think that we ought to leave it to the Secretary of State who governs that which we really can't amend.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? The question is on Delegate Unruh's request for unanimous consent of the Convention to withdraw Resolution P. Hearing no objection, your request is granted.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE BYRNE: A short time ago, the widow of the late State Senator William R. Reichert of Stark County, wrote to me after reviewing some of the personal files of Senator Reichert. Among these items was the Convention badge of his grandfather, William Ray, who was a delegate to the 1889 North Dakota Constitutional Convention.

Mrs. Reichert asked me to present the badge to the officers of this 1972 Constitutional Convention and that it become a part of the permanent records of this Convention. I hereby submit it to you.

This should be of particular interest to the delegates because of the major role played by Senator Reichert on behalf of the constitutional revision. One of the few times in the history of the North Dakota Senate, Senator Reichert, a member of the minority, was elected Chairman by the majority to head the Committee on Constitutional Revision. We should pay a late tribute to him for the part he played in developing interest in the field of constitutional reform.

Mr. President, I move my remarks be printed in the Journal, and I hereby present the badge to you.

DELEGATE OMDAHL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Byrne and seconded by Delegate Omdahl that the remarks as stated by Delegate Byrne be printed in the Journal.

Those in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and Delegate Byrne's remarks will be printed in the Journal.

Thank you very, very much, Delegate Byrne.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: In this connection, I feel there possibly should be another resolution, or at least more names should be included. The late William Ray Reichert has two brothers, Donald — Larry Reichert and Dr. Donald Reichert in Dickinson, practicing, and there's another grandson of Frank Ray — Francis Ray — who lives in Dickinson. There are two sisters who are out of the State, and their grandfather, William Ray, was not only a member of the first Convention; he was a railroad construction foreman of Irish descent and the story is that the town of Ray was named after him. Because it wasn't too big a town, they named them after famous people, and they got to the construction superintendent for the town of Ray. Be that as it may, I got all the information and took it to a newspaper and asked that it be given publicity, because it was a beautiful story, and the editor of this particular newspaper apparently didn't think so, so it was too bad we missed it. It will be out after the Convention. So there are some relatives, besides, and I don't know how to proceed exactly, but either this resolution — I believe the other relatives' names should be included one way or another, because there are only two people — two families —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle, pardon the interruption; however, this was not a resolution. This was a statement — a statement made by Delegate Byrne, and it was asked that his remarks be printed in the Journal; so, if you would like, you can send copies of the Journal to these people and in that fashion they will also know that former Senator Reichert did receive recognition and that this badge did come to this Constitutional Convention to be stored with the historical documents.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President, would there be time — I think, if I can get together with Delegate Byrne and have him make a little further statement or have this statement for the record —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I don't believe that we should do that. I think, Delegate Rundle, that in the event that you have some information that you want to read into the Journal, I think you should prepare a statement and follow the statement of Delegate Byrne.

Do we have anything further at the desk?

We will be on the seventh order of business.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Mr. President: Your Committee on Style and Drafting herewith presents for your favorable consideration the final draft of the proposed 1972 Constitution, which reads as follows: (pause) (Laughter)

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Unless there is some objection, I'm going to move that the reading of the final draft be suspended or be —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — be dispensed.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Be dispensed with.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that, unless there is objection, that the reading of the final draft be dispensed with. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Solberg. Is there any further discussion?

The motion is to dispense with the reading of the final draft of the document.

As many as are in favor of dispensing with the reading will say "aye;" those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and, Roy, you got out of a big job!

(Laughter)

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the Committee Report. The motion that we do not read the document was merely to dispense with the reading of it at that particular point.

So the question now before the Convention is on the adoption of the Committee Report. So we would then — if we adopt this report, then we move this document before the Convention. So, if there's no further discussion, the question before the Convention is on the adoption of the Committee Report from Styling and Drafting.

Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

Those in favor of adopting the Committee Report will vote "aye;" those opposed say "nay."

The "ayes" have it and the report is adopted. The big document is now before the Convention.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President. Behind the news camera.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: This has become, Fellow Delegates, quite a chore here to play peek-a-boo with Delegate Unruh; but you are now recognized, Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President: Is this the proper time to inform the delegates on the stylistic amendments that we made to the final draft?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: I think that would be in order.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Now, rather than referring to the final draft, I'm going to direct your attention to your engrossed articles in the very front of your book, and inform you of some stylistic changes which we made yesterday. The first is to the executive branch article, which is Redraft 5-13. On page 3, having to do with the State Planning Council, Section 7 — no, I'm wrong — it's Section 8, "Powers and Duties," down on line 25, where it says, "He may require information in writing from all executive officers," it was called to our attention yesterday that we had omitted the word "official." Now, you may recall that I explained to the floor some weeks ago, I think, that we were using the phrase "official" to describe any elected official and the word "officer" to describe an appointed position. So Style and Drafting feels that the addition of the words "officials and" at the end of the sentence in line — at the end of line 25 is a proper and necessary amendment in order to put the Governor in a position for requiring information in writing from both appointive and executive — appointive and elective officials. This was our intention. We overlooked this and the substantive committee overlooked it. It was called to our attention by members of that Committee yesterday, and after working on it, we felt that it was a worthy amendment, and we now move that the words "officials and" be inserted at the end of line 25.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, on what page was that?

DELEGATE UNRUH: It would be on page 3 of the engrossed Proposal No. 5-13, on line 25. There's no point trying to relate it to the final draft, because the lines are not numbered.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: To show the wording as it would appear in the amendment, you look at page 7 of the final constitutional draft and I think you'll find it on about — about the thirteenth — twelfth or thirteenth line. "He may require information in writing from all executive officials and officers concerning the performance of their respective duties." "Officials and" are the additional words.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh, are you working from the pink sheet now?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes. The reason, Mr. President, I preferred to mention it, is that we have not moved yet to incorporate these in the final draft, and it does give a page and line to work from, and I thought it would help the desk force.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: On line 25, page 3?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Page 3, line 25 of 5-13.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: What do you want in?

DELEGATE UNRUH: I want to add the words "officials and" after the word "executive."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves an amendment to 5-13: On page 3, on line 25, that after the word "executive" you insert the words "and officials". The Chair will recognize Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Well, Mr. President, I'd like to direct this question to Delegate Unruh:

Does that addition go after "executive" or after the word "all"?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I want it to read "He may require information in writing from all executive officials and officers". So if we add "officials and" after the word "executive" it should be correct.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the amendment as offered by Delegate Unruh to Redraft 5-13. Any question?

Those in favor of adopting the amendment will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it. The amendment is adopted.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. Chairman: We have made a few amendments on the finance and tax article; that is, Redraft 5-2, Article X. The amendments are two — the first is to Section 8. On page 7, line 8, delete the first word "the" — I'll give you all the amendments at once, if you would like. Okay? Good.

In Section 9, under "Political Subdivisions," "the".

On line 18, after the word "electors" and before the comma, insert the words "voting thereon" — "voting thereon".

The next amendment is on line 26 of Section 9. After the word "indebtedness" insert these words: "for which its full faith and credit and taxing power are pledged". Got that?

The last amendment is on line 30 of that same Section 9. Delete the second word "debt" and insert "obligation".

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the proposed amendment. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SONDRAL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sondreal. Delegate Jes-trab.

DELEGATE JESTRAB: May I ask, Mr. President: Chairman Unruh, did you forget a word in line 4 on page 3?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: The Committee later, at the advice of the Finance and Tax Committee, decided to delete that amendment, so I didn't read it.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Haugen.

DELEGATE HAUGEN: Mr. President, these suggested amendments came to us from the gentleman from Minneapolis, who we almost made an honorary delegate here awhile ago, and whose firm passes upon any proposed indebtedness of the State or subdivisions. The Committee agrees that they probably should be — that they should be in this section, and we urge their approval.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Might I inquire of Delegate Unruh?

The first amendment that you gave, did you say on line 2 delete the "the"?

DELEGATE UNRUH: On line 8.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Are there any further questions?

The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the amendments to Redraft of No. 5-2, Article X, as offered by the Committee on Style and Drafting. No further discussion?

Those in favor of adopting the amendments will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

As many as are in favor of adopting the amendments will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The amendments are adopted.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposals 5-2 and 5-13 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moves that the Rules be suspended and Redraft Proposals 5-2 and 5-13 be deemed properly re-engrossed and placed on the calendar for second passage.

Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, as many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the Redrafts are now before the Convention for final passage as amended.

Now, is there any further discussion?

The question — the question before the Convention is on the passage — the second passage of Redraft No. 5-2 as amended.

No further discussion? Those in favor will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote.

Fellow Delegates, we're going to have to back up just a second here. We are going to have to have a motion to reconsider our action, and then we will have to vote on these. We will have to reconsider our action whereby 5-2 and 5-13 were passed.

So Delegate Unruh moves that we do reconsider our action whereby 5-2 and 5-13 be passed. Do I have a second?

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been seconded by Delegate Longmire.

Is there any discussion? This will call for a roll call vote. Those in favor of reconsidering will vote "aye." Those opposed will vote "nay."

The key will be opened and you will record your vote. Those in favor will vote "aye." The question is on the motion to reconsider. Has every delegate indicated his vote? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? Hearing none, the vote is closed.

The tally indicates 92 "ayes" and 2 "nays" and four delegates absent and not voting. So the motion to reconsider has passed.

Now we have the question on the passage of Redraft Proposal No. 5-2 and 5-13 as amended.

Is there any discussion on that?

No one has asked for a separation on it, so we may just as well vote on both.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hoghaug.

DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Mr. President, may we separate the vote, please?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes. A division has been requested. The question then will be on Redraft Proposal No. 5-2. Those in favor of its adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change his vote? The vote is closed.

Roll call discloses 91 "ayes," 3 "nays," four delegates absent and not voting. Redraft Proposal 5-2 has passed.

Next for consideration is Redraft Proposal No. 5-13. Is there any discussion?

Hearing none, those in favor of its passage will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key and you will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Any delegate wish to change his vote?

The vote is closed. Roll call discloses 94 "ayes," there were no "nays," there were four delegates absent and not voting. Redraft No. 5-13 has passed.

Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I now move that Style and Drafting Redraft Proposals No. 5-2, 5-3, 5-4, 5-5, 5-7, 5-8, 5-9, 5-10, 5-13, 5-14, 5-15, 5-16 and Committee Proposal No. 1-121 be recommended for no further action, since these have now been incorporated in the final draft of the Constitution.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh moved that the proposals numbered 5-2, 5-3, 5-4, 5-5, 5-7, 5-8, 5-9, 5-10, 5-13, 5-14, 5-15 and 5-16 and Committee Proposal No. 1-121 be given no further consideration in that they have been incorporated in the main document. Now, do I have a second to that motion?

DELEGATE ENGELTER: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Engelter.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Will Delegate Unruh yield to a question?

DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I think we made a change on 5-12, Section 11, "Immunities," which has been incorporated into the main body, and we haven't considered that yet.

Well, Mr. President —

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Right now, the last sentence of the Section 11, "Immunities," in the legislative article, Redraft Proposal 5-12, reads: "For words used in any speech or debate in the legislative assembly" — and I thought we were going to change that to read "For words used in any speech or debate in legislative proceedings."

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: That is correct. I had overlooked that. I did not have my committee report available. Does the desk have that amendment? You don't, do you?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: No. You moved you take no further action on 4-4, 4-7 and 5-12 for the reason that they have been incorporated in Style and Drafting Proposal 5-16 containing the adoption schedule and ballot, and we have passed 5-16.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President, we did not call the question on my motion yet, had we?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: On this?

DELEGATE UNRUH: All right.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: No.

DELEGATE UNRUH: All right. Delegate Dobson, do you have those words? I don't have them.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson, which Redraft Proposal is it?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, it's Redraft Proposal 5-12, Article IV, the Legislative Branch, and on your pink sheet, it would be page 5, on line 5. The word "the" should be deleted, and on line 6 the word "assembly" should be deleted and the word "proceedings" should be inserted in lieu thereof.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: I find that we have already made the change in the final draft, and the words are properly already encased in that document, so there's no need to further amend.

DELEGATE KELSCH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Kelsch.

DELEGATE KELSCH: What we did — I'd like to explain it, although when we passed 5-16 this morning, these words, for example, on page 5 of 5-16 — the words are the way we wanted to amend it. So I don't know that it would be necessary to go back to the old 5-12.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: I stand corrected, Mr. President. This matter was taken care of when we passed Redraft Proposal 5-16.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you. Then, Delegate Dobson — Delegate Dobson — Delegate Dobson. Then this would be in order?

(Delegate Dobson nodded.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: This was reported to the procedural committee and is in the report that is before the Convention for adoption — that which was offered by Delegate Dobson and was seconded by Delegate Engelter. I think the Convention is aware of the numbers. So, unless the Convention wishes that they be again stated, the Chair will not read the numbers again.

Those in favor of the adoption will vote "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay." All in favor of adopting the Committee Report will say "aye;" those opposed "nay." The "ayes" have it. The report is adopted.

Is there anything further at the desk?

Fellow Delegates, I believe that we are caught up at the moment, as far as we can go, and unless there is something to consider under the eighth order — Delegate Devine.

DELEGATE DEVINE: Mr. President, there will be a very brief meeting of the Education Committee in the regular hearing room immediately following the recess.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you. Delegate Hoffner.

DELEGATE HOFFNER: Mr. President, there'll be a very short meeting of the Legislative Functions Committee in the Large Hearing Room, and straighten out your ties; you're going to have your pictures taken.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman, there will be a very short meeting of the Executive Committee on Public Relations in the Large Hearing Room as soon as the Executive Functions gets out of there.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh — or Delegate Hernet.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President: As you know, I'd like to make a few remarks. I've asked that my remarks be printed in the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are these on personal privilege, Delegate Hernet?

DELEGATE HERNETT: Yes, you could call it that.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE HERNETT: Mr. President:

As you know, I have been a committee chairman in this Convention and am proud of the work my committee did and the long hours they spent, but I am sure I can speak for all of the committee chairmen and all of the delegates when I express my thanks and admiration to the members of the Style and Drafting Committee chaired by Delegate Unruh.

When the session started, I think I, and others, had no real conception of the work Style and Drafting would have to do. As the session progressed, I began to see the tremendous responsibilities they were charged with. When they completed their Style and Drafting redrafts which were submitted to the committees, I was amazed at the few changes that the committees found it necessary to make.

Certainly no other group of people worked longer and with more scrupulous concern than did the members of that Committee. In addition to their own committee functions, they spent endless hours these last two weeks working weekends, including Sundays, recess days and evenings, perfecting the work of the Convention. The patience they demonstrated in hearing every request and attempting a solution to every problem within the scope of their assignment was highly commendable. Even when their drafts were presented to the floor and changes were made by the Convention — changes that were not always good — they never complained, but patiently went back to their work. And, Mr. President, I would like to express the thanks of the Convention to this Committee.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Hernet.

(Standing applause)

DELEGATE UNRUH: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Unruh.

DELEGATE UNRUH: Thank you very kindly for those gracious words, Delegate Hernet.

Speaking on behalf of my Committee, I can say that we enjoyed our work in a rather unique sort of way (laughter). I suppose we should incorporate as "Nitpickers Associated," or something like that. But it was kind of fun. We like to deal with words and thoughts. We had some marvelous help. We had all kinds of points of view — some were divergent, some were moderate, some were conservative — as to the use of the English language and an occasional Latin word thrown in.

I'd like the members of my Committee to stand, so they may be recognized, and I want to thank them for all the fine help they gave me.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the delegates who are members of the Committee on Style and Drafting please stand? (Applause)

The remarks of Delegate Hernet will be printed in the Journal.

Is there anything further to come before the Convention?

DELEGATE TUDOR: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Tudor.

DELEGATE TUDOR: In that my wife, June, is present today, I feel I should make a speech.

My heart is full and I choke with emotion over a gift which I received from the other members of the Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage Committee.

Starting last summer, at each coffee break I requested that a chocolate-covered doughnut be given to me or I would not be able to perform my duties. The chocolate-covered doughnuts never appeared; however, I now believe that the Committee ganged up on me, because today they left me a package of chocolate-covered doughnuts. And so I want to acknowledge these, and these — I will not touch these. They will be put in the shrine in my home wherein also reposes an autographed baseball by Mickey Mantle and a letter from Casey Stengel.

(Laughter and Applause)

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Let's see. What's the order for introductions?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: For introductions? The eighth order.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: In the Plenary Session, I get forgetful.

It wouldn't do, passing up introducing a former legislator in his own right — Gilman Peterson, from New England. He's sitting beside my wife, incidentally, which is how come I noticed him. And, further, I would suggest that he is the head of the household in the Peterson family.

(Laughter and Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will Representative Peterson come to the rail and be recognized by the Convention?. This way you'll get recognized twice. Representative Peterson.

(Applause)

Anything further under the eighth order?

Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President: Maybe this is a little out of order, but being one of the delegates that's had the opportunity to observe humanity probably the longest, I would like to make a few remarks about our staff.

You know, when we gathered for our first preliminary meeting out at Mary College in December of 1970, a number of people were brought in, no doubt with great talent, and so forth, and we proceeded on from there. But we selected our own staff from our own people of North Dakota, and I think that was one of the wisest things we ever did. We have had one of the best staffs I have ever seen assembled in a long period of time. They have worked diligently. They know the State and all of its people. And I think the real credit for a lot of work that's come out of this Convention should be given to this excellent staff that was recruited right here in North Dakota. I know one of them is — I could almost claim as my boy. I never had a boy of my own, but I know Roy Gilbreath used to be over at the house, because he and my daughter went through the Bismarck school system together. But this staff has performed an excellent and an outstanding service. I don't think we could have got better talent had we searched the nation for it.

Thank you.

(Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Are there a number of staff members in the room? If there are, will they approach the rail? I mean all our staff people. Approach the rail and be recognized. This Convention will recognize these staff people.

(Standing Applause)

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I would like to ask or move that the remarks of Delegate Cart be printed in the Journal. This doesn't cost as much as these figures, you know.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The request will be granted.

If there is nothing further under the eighth order, the Chair will declare a recess until 1:15.

(The Session recessed at 11:43 A.M., until 1:15 P.M., the same day.)

AFTERNOON SESSION

(The Plenary Session continued at 1:30 P.M., Thursday, February 17, 1972, as follows:)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

The Convention will please come to order.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President. I rise on a point of personal privilege.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: State your privilege.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates: I request that you recognize certain delegates for the purpose of making presentations at this time.

I would first ask, Mr. President, that you recognize Delegate Pearce, that you allow not only him, but also Mrs. Wenstrom, the privilege of the rostrum, and that his remarks be printed in the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, I will approach the rostrum directly. (Delegate Pearce escorted Mrs. Frank Wenstrom to the rostrum. Standing applause)

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, Mrs. Wenstrom, and Fellow Delegates:

By pledging my life, I have obtained from the Secretary of State the Journal of the 1889 Convention, and I found that on the next-to-the-last day — on Friday, August 16, 1889 — the following resolution was introduced:

“WHEREAS, The Hon. F. B. Fancher, President of this Convention, has in his trying position as our presiding officer, a situation of great delicacy and responsibility, acquitted himself with uniform courtesy, eminent fairness and infinite patience; and

“WHEREAS, It is an honored and beautiful custom on the final adjournment of deliberative assemblies of this character to donate by resolution to honored and respected presiding officers, the chair they have occupied and the gavel they have wielded; therefore, be it

“RESOLVED, That as a token of our respect and confidence, we hereby order that the Chair he has so honorably filled and the gavel he has so ably and impartially wielded, be and is hereby presented to Hon. F. B. Fancher, President of the Constitutional Convention of North Dakota, assembled at Bismarck July 4, 1889.”

With great diligence, I pursued the possibility of giving the President his chair. I discovered the Convention doesn't own it, has no title, and under no possibility can we give you the chair, Frank. However, at the opening of this Convention, there were two gavels made, I understand, at the State Industrial School — the School for the Deaf — excuse me. This was the gavel which has inscribed on it, “Constitutional Convention, State of North Dakota, 1971-1972” and was used at the opening of this Convention. While Frank already had possession of it, I find no document giving him title. Therefore, the first thing I want to do is, on behalf of the Convention, to present to you, President Wenstrom, this gavel as a symbol of the authority you have heretofore wielded.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you.

(Applause)

DELEGATE PEARCE: Sit down. I'm not through.

Now, I hope you've attended carefully the language I read from the 1889 Journal. The same language would be appropriate here. Frank has occupied this position with great delicacy and responsibility. Clearly no one could have acquitted himself with greater uniform courtesy, eminent fairness and infinite patience, and I could think of no new words to express any better what I think we all feel. The manner in which the Chairman has presided has, I think, contributed a great deal to the success of this Convention.

I suppose you notice that this is the first time I have been up here since the Convention started, despite my exalted position of Vice President, and I want the Convention to know that it was not Frank's fault that I have not been sitting up here. It's my fault. He on many occasions has pressured me to come up here, and up to this point I have successfully resisted.

Since we couldn't give Frank the chair, we did want Frank to have something permanent to express our appreciation; and so the delegates have prepared, and I wish to present to you, Frank, this plaque in the shape, as you can see, of the State of North Dakota. “North Dakota Constitutional Convention 1972.” The Great Seal of the State. “Frank A. Wenstrom, President.” And engraved on the bottom is “In appreciation for your skillful leadership, patience, dignity, and high sense of purpose shown throughout the building of a new Constitution for this great state from ninety-seven grateful delegates.”

Thank you, Frank.

(Standing applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you. Thank you so very, very much, Vice President Pearce and Fellow Delegates.

I believe I know something about what Mark Anthony felt when he said in that Shakespearean play "Julius Caesar" — when he said at the grave of Brutus, "I must pause" — my heart is involved in this — "I must pause until my heart comes back to me."

This is a tremendous experience.

I believe I would be quite without character if I were not deeply touched by the many acts of good will that the delegates to this Convention have shown to me and expressed to me personally. Your many kind words which have been said to me, especially on this particular occasion, cause me to blush with embarrassment. I could not, without vanity, assume that I've merited such praise. I cannot deny, however, that I have tried to discharge my duties as your President to the best of my ability. I can only thank you delegates for your help that I have enjoyed and for your belief that I have made some approach to the ideal of a good president. I am profoundly grateful to the 97 delegates who helped me serve this Convention.

Thank you so very, very much.

(Applause)

Fellow Delegates — excuse me, delegates.

As Bill stated to you, I have tried on numerous occasions to get Bill to come up and preside. The privilege of presiding at a Constitutional Convention is not something that happens every day, and I was real happy that Bill told you that I had tried to get him to preside.

The other thing that has happened today that I have also tried to do before, and I have always failed, is to get my wife to come up to the rostrum and sit with me. That I have not been able to do. So, Bill, in spite of the fact that I have not been able to get you to preside at a session, you were able to do this. I had seen in the press some days ago that it was very evident, after that one time I stopped the Convention to read a special announcement that my wife wished to make — it is very evident just who runs the Wenstrom household.

(Vice President Pearce escorted Mrs. Wenstrom from the rostrum. Standing applause.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates:

I now ask that you recognize Delegate Saugstad and ask that his remarks be printed in the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: President Wenstrom: I have been asked to present to the various chairmen of the various committees that have functioned throughout our Plenary Session, and, also, staff — the key staff members — I have been asked to present Certificates of Commendation. I would like to begin by saying that I believe that we have had what I think is exceptional and unusual participation by each and every delegate. We have had, I feel, the utmost cooperation from everyone. We have had tremendous response from our staff. I think we have had good direction from the Executive Director, his Assistant, and the professional staff. We have had, I think, an excellent and a marvelous staff all the way from top to bottom, and it is impossible for us to single out and mention — make special mention of various individuals for the many wonderful things that each and every one of them have done. I, for one, am extremely proud, as, I'm sure, are all the delegates — I am extremely proud of our entire staff. So, as I read off the names, a page will pick up the merit — or the Certificate of Commendation, and the name of the individual receiving it is imprinted on this and the office which the individual held, and as I read off these names, a page will deliver these to the various individuals. Upon the completion of the delivery of all of these commendations of merit, I will suggest then that we rise and give a standing ovation to these people.

The first is to William R. Pearce, our First Vice President.

Next is to Lois Vogel, our Secretary.

Next is to Donnell Haugen, Chairman of the Committee on Finance and Taxation.

Next, to S. F. Hoffner, Chairman of the Committee on Legislative Functions.

Next, to Ralph Maxwell, Chairman of the Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage.

The next one is to Gail Hernet, Chairman of the Committee on Executive Functions.

Next, to Roland Meidinger, Chairman of the Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands.

The next one is to George Longmire, Chairman, Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions.

Next is to George Unruh, Chairman of the Committee on Style and Drafting.

The next is to John D. Paulson, Co-chairman of the Committee on Public Information.

Next is to Richard Dobson, Co-chairman, Committee on Public Information.

The next is to Agnes Geelan, Chairman, Committee on Rules.

Next is to James R. Dawson, Chairman, Committee on Ballot.

Next is Joseph Byrne, Chairman of the Committee on Coordination and Transition.

Next, Ailsa Simonson, Chairman of the Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal.

Next is to C. Warner Litten, Chairman of the Committee on Employment.

Next is John Decker, Chairman of the Committee on Photography.

The next is to LeRoy Erickson, Chairman of the Committee on Enrolling and Engrossing. This one says "Engrossing."

The foregoing Commendations of Merit are signed by the forty — no, the 97 delegates. The following Commendations of Merit are to the staff members, and it says "From all the Delegates."

The first is to Dean Bard, our Executive Director.

The next is to David Peterson, the Assistant Executive Director.

The next is to Roy Gilbreath, Chief Clerk.

The next is Leo Leidholm, Assistant Chief Clerk.

The next is to J. Vernon Asheim, Proposal Clerk.

The next is to our ever-faithful and smiling Barbara King, Desk Reporter.

The next is to Michael H. Keedy, Committee Counsel.

The next is to Dwight S. Cuffee, Committee Counsel.

There is one which has not been prepared, but which I just hand a piece of paper in token, so that he knows that he has one coming, and that's to Fred Scheel, Chairman of the Resolutions Committee. He was too modest to have one made for himself.

Now, Fellow Delegates, let's all rise and give a standing ovation to these people. I think they more than merit it. (Standing applause)

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: I would like you to now recognize Delegate Scheel and move that his remarks be printed in the Journal.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President:

I think a few of you will hark back to the days 25 years ago when we were allowing the "Ninety-Day Wonders" to be put out in this country. They called them second lieutenants at that time. But here assembled — and I am among them — are "Sixty-Day Wonders," and I think we've ripened awful fast, and of course there are a lot of old sergeants and old veterans and old colonels in this, too, but I think the man to whom I'm about to present this Certificate of Commendation deserves a little bit of special mention, because I know I heard it from the mouths of others, and certainly it was my experience, that he presented and gave more confidence to a lot of delegates when we came in here in that organizing session, during the work that ensued and during the interim. Secondly, he was a friend, I know, to delegates here. I've heard from a lot of different people and I know I personally experienced it. My wife got a letter telling how I was doing — what I ought to be doing down here, instead of telling what I hadn't ought to be doing, which was reassuring to her, I think.

Third, he has been Chairman of our Calendar Committee, and I think you can see just exactly how well this thing is working out. All during these days, starting when we first heard the symposium at Mary College, we were told we just couldn't do it in that amount of time, and then each committee would come out here to Bismarck and it would be either a rainy day or sunshiny day, but the remarks were always the same — "You just can't do it in that amount of time." The other day he showed me the calendar. It looked to me like it had been written by a Monday morning quarterback — everything worked out just beautifully.

The third thing: Of course he has been Acting President of this organization at times, relieving Frank Wenstrom.

The fourth thing — and I think we've got a little extra time — and I'd just like to recite this. But when I was in the Service, I lived in a quonset hut, and each night the enemy would come down over the island and you could hear the sirens starting at the north end of the island, coming all the way down the island, and the anti-aircraft guns would go off one after the other, but you never really thought too much about it. But one day, unbeknownst to us, during the day they moved an antiaircraft gun — a 90 mm. gun — right in next to the quonset. And so we heard them all start down the line like this, and when that one went off right next to the quonset hut, there wasn't a fellow in there that wasn't on his belly in just an instant. And I think the first time when I heard the first "no" vote come out of my compatriot delegate here on the right, I didn't really know what happened. It just took us six inches off the chair, because he made up for twenty-five around here that didn't know exactly which way they wanted to vote, because he and Roy Gilbreath have got the voices we just heard here to undo us all.

But I think, lastly, that his constituents in Minot and around Minot can be mighty proud of the man they sent down here and became our Second Vice President. With that, I'll present this to you, Stanley Saugstad.

(Standing applause)

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Fellow Delegates, I would now ask that you now recognize Executive Director, Dean Bard, who has a presentation that he would like to make on behalf of a number of people.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Dean Bard.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR DEAN BARD: Mr. President:

It is a great pleasure for me to be permitted to make this presentation, because, as staffers, we usually don't get to participate in things to this extent, and I'm real pleased to be permitted to do this.

During all the time that your staff has been associated with the Convention and with President Wenstrom, it's been a real pleasure to have served here.

Now, President Wenstrom and myself and the rest of our staff have not always at all times agreed on how things should be done, and this, I guess, is as it should be. In each case when we've had disagreements, your President has listened patiently to us and he has always given our words the weight that we felt should be given to them. On occasion, we've had to work long hours to complete some of the Convention's work; but with your President watching over us and helping us and with the understanding we've received from him, it has made our labors much lighter.

He has truly been a wonderful person to work for and we will miss the association after the special election is over.

Now, talking about the special election, brings me, I guess, to the point of our presentation and this token of appreciation that we, as the professional staff, have had prepared for your President. I want to say just a word about it:

First of all, it's inscribed "To President Wenstrom from your staff.

"Dean Bard
David Peterson
Michael Keedy
Dwight Cuffe
Arnie Gilje
Mary Alice Simonson
Barbara Benish
Mary Lee
Jane Thoemke
Marian Ehli
Donna Heisler"

The inscription is very simple. Now, we've gone just a step further and we have had put on the back a mock constitutional ballot, and on that ballot, which reads "Shall the Proposed Constitution of 1972 be approved?" We have anticipated the voters' reaction to the constitutional product that you, President Wenstrom, and your fellow delegates have prepared, and we have marked that ballot box "Yes," and we think, Mr. President, that this is a fitting memento of this occasion, and we are confident that it will reflect the wishes of the electors as they vote on the product that you have built.

Thank you.

(Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: May I again say a word of appreciation to my friends on the staff along with the people who again make it so difficult for me to talk. I sincerely appreciate this — another beautiful memento of one of the most wonderful experiences in my life — that of serving in this Constitutional Convention.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Litten.

DELEGATE LITTEN: Fellow Delegates, now that that brings us to the end of our brief program, as far as the day's activities are concerned, I believe that I am inclined, after hearing the presentations and the discussions that have gone on here in the last 15-20 minutes, that I would like to move that, as a final tribute to the good work of this Convention, that all of us once again applaud the contribution that has been made in building this great document, not only by the officers and by the key committee people and by the key personnel who have been recognized here this afternoon, but just as importantly by every single delegate and by each one of our employees who Elmer Cart spoke so eloquently about this morning. We've appreciated the opportunity as employees and as delegates to participate in this magnificent experience.

Thank you very much.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you so very, very much, Delegate Litten, and to all who have participated in this especially nice and fitting program.

What is the next business to come before the Convention?

DELEGATE PETERSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Peterson.

DELEGATE PETERSON: I think there's one more announcement or expression of gratitude, and that is to our John Q. Public of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention. We have had a gentleman who has attended every committee meeting of the Education Committee throughout the summer and fall and who has worked diligently and been very interested, and we have said many times that we have felt that we need the public participation; and, therefore, our Committee, for fun and because we truly feel he deserved it, we prepared a resolution and presented it to him for framing, signed by all of the members of the Committee — the Education Committee — and it will be presented to R. J. Sailer.

(Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We'll be on the twelfth order of business.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: It has been called to my attention that one of these merits of commendation we overlooked, and that was to Arnie Gilje, our Director of — let's see — what is his official title?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Public Information.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Public Information — yes. And he should have been included. And at this time I want to say a "thank you" to Arnie for a job well done. (Applause)

DELEGATE DAWSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dawson.

DELEGATE DAWSON: There's one other group of people that I think we should express our appreciation to for their diligence in attending meetings and for the publication of their news letter that they got out from time to time, and that is the League of Women Voters. (Applause)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: We will be on the twelfth order of business — Motions and Resolutions.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. O, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of all the delegates to the employees of the Convention who have contributed so much to its success, and to making it an enjoyable experience."

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I would move that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution O be read in its entirety, that it be not referred to a committee, that it not be printed as a proposal, that it be printed in the Journal and placed on the agenda for final action.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that the Rules be suspended, that Resolution O not be referred to a committee, but that it be printed in the Journal, that it not be printed as a resolution, that it be placed on the Convention calendar for final passage.

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE LITTEN: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Litten.

The Clerk will read the Resolution.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. O, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of all the delegates to the employees of the Convention who have contributed so much to its success, and to making it an enjoyable experience:

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention has been meeting in plenary session since January 3, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, during the plenary session these employees have contributed their time and effort far beyond that required of them in their unselfish devotion to the cause of constitutional revision by the exceptional performance of their duties; and

WHEREAS, these same persons have exhibited such willingness in their duties as do cheer the heart, and the girls such adornment as to delight the eye, day by day,

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the Convention express its appreciation to the following for their outstanding performances, conducted in such a pleasant spirit:

Debbie Erickson

Frieda Borth
Dorothy Litchfield
Carolyn Sette
Louise Ebert
Karen Sando
Marie Skjod
Bernice Herner
Cecil Crandell
Harry Iszler
Ed Garvin
Ruth Guthrie
Olger Sandven
Terry Olson
Shelly Mushik
Keith Harrison
Hazel Ludemann
Larry Dorrheim
Florence Nemer
Lois J. Scherr
Gertrude Learn
Meg Rausch
Lela Knudsen
LeRoy Rolshoven
Ferd Hetterle
Vonnie Wold
Clara Wendt
Palmer Rustan
Marjorie Cleveland
Wanda Froelich
Avis Hagen
Marjorie Trangsrud
Gladys Derrick
Al Bradley
Tom Tharalson
JoAnn Owens

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the clerk be instructed to forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to each of those named."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the Resolution. The question — the question before the Convention is on the adoption of Resolution O.

As many as are in favor of adopting the Resolution will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. Resolution O is adopted.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution No. S, introduced by Committee on Resolutions.

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of all the delegates of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention for the efforts of the staff of the Convention has expended to make the work of each delegate to the Convention most pleasant and to make the Convention most successful."

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: I move that the Rules be suspended and that Resolution S be read in its entirety, that it not be printed as a proposal, not be referred to committee, that it be printed in the Journal and placed on final passage.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Is this Resolution S?

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Scheel moves that Resolution S not be referred to committee, that it be printed in the Journal, that it not be printed as a proposal, but that it be placed before the Convention for final passage.

Do I have a second?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sanstead.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it and Resolution S is before the Convention.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Resolution S, introduced by Committee on Resolutions:

"A resolution expressing the gratitude of all the delegates of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention for the efforts the staff of the Convention has expended to make the work of each delegate to the Convention most pleasant and to make the Convention most successful.

"WHEREAS, the North Dakota Constitutional Convention met in organizational session in April of 1971; and

"WHEREAS, shortly after this date a staff was employed as directed by the Convention; and

"WHEREAS, the Convention met in substantive committees during the months of June, August, September, October and November of 1971; and

"WHEREAS, the Convention has been meeting in plenary session since January 3, 1972; and

"WHEREAS, during all this time the staff of the Convention has performed its duties in a most admirable fashion; and

"WHEREAS, the secretaries on the Executive Director's staff have maintained a courteous, cheerful attitude while performing duties far beyond those normally required of employees by continually preparing excellent work in a short period of time; and

"WHEREAS, these secretaries have most generously given of their services when the same was required and did so most cheerfully and efficiently; and

"WHEREAS, these secretaries have been and are of most pleasing demeanor as well as being pleasing to behold; and

"WHEREAS, the Constitutional Convention has, through a program entered into with the University of North Dakota School of Law, sponsored an internship program utilizing the services of three law students of superior academic qualifications and abilities; and

"WHEREAS, the contribution by these interns has been considerable and the results of their efforts of substantial aid to the delegates,

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTH DAKOTA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION:

"That the gratitude of the Convention be expressed to the interns and the secretarial staff of the Executive Director's office for their generous contributions to the cause of constitutional revision.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the clerk of the convention be instructed to forward an enrolled copy of this resolution to the following:

Roderic Schuster, Intern

Eric DeRycke, Intern

John Dwyer, Intern

Mary Alice Simonson, Receptionist Secretary

Jane R. Thoemke, Secretary

Marian Ehli, Secretary

Mary Lee, Secretary

Barbara Benish, Secretary

Donna Heisler, Secretary"

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You have heard the reading of the Resolution.

Delegate Scheel.

DELEGATE SCHEEL: Mr. President, to show our appreciation for the work that all these people have done — some of them are present and some of them are not — but I would like to see a rising vote of unanimous consideration, applause and gratitude for all these employees.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Would the employees approach the rail?

(Standing applause)

We are approaching the time when we will have the ceremony on the signing of the document.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Well, Mr. President, with all the nice remarks, I want to promise the Chief Clerk, the Assistant Chief Clerk and Barbara that I'll never expunge again.

(Laughter and applause)

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Does the Chair plan to call for a vote prior to the signing?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Pardon?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Does the Chair plan to call for any vote prior to the signing?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair does not intend to call for a vote, unless it is requested by the delegates. We have, in my opinion, complied with the Rules of the Convention; however, if the Convention would like to vote on the entire document, it would be fine with me.

Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President: Therefore, I move that the Rules be suspended and that the Convention proceed to vote viva voce by roll call on this recorded question — by recorded vote on this question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson moves that the delegates vote — now you fill it in.

DELEGATE DOBSON: By voice; but I couldn't say it the way you did.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: — by voice on the roll call on the final adoption of the Constitution.

Do I have a second?

DELEGATE HILL: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Hill.

Is there further discussion?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: It is my intent that the question be: Shall the proposed 1972 Constitution be adopted?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question would be: "Shall the proposed 1972 Constitution be adopted?"

Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I would ask that this motion be defeated. We're going out of here all full of love for our neighbors and we've had all this lovely ceremony this afternoon, and it's a shame to spoil it now. A couple weeks may make quite a difference, after people get a chance to study this and digest it, and I, for one — and I am usually not afraid of voting — I am not afraid of voting today, but I think it would be well if we just signed it. Everyone here has worked hard and everyone here is entitled to his opinion, and I think this is a very unwise move. I would plead with you to let it go at this. Give it time to settle a little and just go home. I hope the motion is defeated.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Hill.

DELEGATE HILL: Mr. President and Fellow Delegates.

I would support the motion of Delegate Dobson. We've had a lively ballgame here since the Convention opened, and I think it's only fair to the public that we flash the final score on the board, so — many people have seen many motions lose and win. They're not sure what the delegates think of their own proposal as a package. If we don't take a final vote on it, how do we answer the critic who will later say that the delegates were afraid to vote on their own product? I don't think a "yes" vote means that we are saying we have any perfect document here; in fact, far from it; but I think what we have to say is that we think this document is better than the old Constitution, because this is, in effect, what we're voting on, and if we do not recommend this document to the public, I think we have lost a major step in securing the kind of support we need for passage.

I would certainly urge a "yes" vote on this motion.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The Chair will recognize Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Well, I'm a little confused about what document we're talking about. We have definitely pulled the bicameral section out of the Constitution yesterday. We have a whole bunch of alternates attached to this, and I really don't know what I'm voting on. If I say "yes," am I voting that I think bicameral should be approved, that unicameral should be approved and that all the alternates should be approved? I really don't understand. The ballgame here is just about over and it's going to go out into the State. On April 28th we will all be able to cast that final ballot that really means something. If I'm forced to vote today, I'm afraid I'm going to be forced into a corner and I'm going to be forced to vote "no," because I really don't know what I'm voting on. We don't have a clearcut, concise document.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: May I refer again to my borrowed Journal?

On Saturday night, August 17th, '89, the same question came up. They did take the "ayes" and "nays" on Mr. Miller's motion to adopt the Constitution. 40 of the 75 delegates voted "aye," 23 voted "nay," and 12 apparently evaded the issue by being absent and not voting. So, out of 75, 40 voted "aye." I do not consider it a part of this Constitutional Convention's business to vote again. We have, by one vote or another, adopted every section. Some we have, in a sense now, evaded by saying, "We will not determine that issue. We will submit that to the people as alternates."

I agree with Delegate Stanton on that point. It would be my feeling that the proper motion for this Convention to now make and vote upon is that this document which we have put together be now certified to the Secretary of State, as provided by the law under which we meet, and that it then be submitted to the people for their approval or disapproval.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the motion as offered by Delegate Dobson.

Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President: I made this motion because it's my belief that the overwhelming majority of delegates to this Convention not only want to vote for this Constitution; they want to enthusiastically vote for it. This vote will be taken under a suspension of the Rules. Therefore, I believe, if anyone hasn't made up their mind yet, they can vote "present." As far as the alternates go, a "yes" vote, for example, would assume that the alternates that we favored would prevail ultimately.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

The question before the Convention — Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: No. Thank you.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: The question before the Convention is on the adoption of the motion as offered by Delegate Dobson that we have — I'm sorry — that we — the question is: Shall the 1972 Constitution be adopted?

No further discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" those opposed "no."

I believe the "ayes" have it. The "ayes" have it.

So we will proceed to vote on the question —

DELEGATE STANTON: Division.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Division, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: If you wish a division, you surely may have it. This is a sufficient number.

The question, again, before the Convention: Shall the 1972 Constitution be adopted?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's what he stated, I believe.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President, my motion is that we proceed by recorded roll call to call the vote on that question.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes: But the question, though, was as I stated — that it be adopted. That's the question on the — that's what we're going to vote on.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President: If I understand, that's what we will vote on if the pending motion prevails.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: That's right. But my question is — am I in error as to the type of a vote you want? I understood you to say that that is the vote — whether we were going to vote on it — that shall the 1972 Constitution be adopted? That's the question that they're going to vote on in the event that they vote.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Yes, sir.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Then the question is whether we vote or we do not vote.

So those in favor of voting will say "aye;" those opposed will vote "nay."

The Clerk will open the key. You will indicate your vote.

Has every delegate voted? Does any delegate wish to change? The vote is closed.

The tally indicates 69 "ayes" and 26 "nays," with three delegates absent and not voting. So we will proceed with the roll. And the question, again: Shall the 1972 Constitution be adopted?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aas.

DELEGATE AAS: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Aubol.

DELEGATE AUBOL: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Baker.

(no response.)

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Bassingthwaite.

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Bender.

DELEGATE BENDER: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benson.

DELEGATE BENSON: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Benz.

(No response.)

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Berg.

DELEGATE BERG: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Billey.

DELEGATE BILLEY: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Binek.

DELEGATE BINEK: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Birkeland.
DELEGATE BIRKELAND: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Brakke.
DELEGATE BRAKKE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burbidge.
DELEGATE BURBIDGE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Burke.
DELEGATE BURKE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Butler.
(No response.)
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Byrne.
DELEGATE BYRNE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Cart.
DELEGATE CART: Mr. President.
PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart.
DELEGATE CART: May I explain my vote?
PRESIDENT WENSTROM: After we are through with the roll call, Delegate Cart.
DELEGATE CART: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Chase.
DELEGATE CHASE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Christensen.
DELEGATE CHRISTENSEN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Daniels.
DELEGATE DANIELS: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dawson.
DELEGATE DAWSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Decker.
DELEGATE DECKER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Devine.
DELEGATE DEVINE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Dobson.
DELEGATE DOBSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Engelter.
DELEGATE ENGELTER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK ENGSTROM: Engstrom.
DELEGATE ENGSTROM: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Erickson.
DELEGATE ERICKSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fallgatter.
DELEGATE FALLGATTER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fiedler.
DELEGATE FIEDLER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Fritzell.
DELEGATE FRITZELL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Geelan.
DELEGATE GEELAN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Gipp.
DELEGATE GIPP: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Griffin.

DELEGATE GRIFFIN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hardmeyer.
DELEGATE HARDMEYER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hartl.
DELEGATE HARTL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Haugen.
DELEGATE HAUGEN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hendrickson.
DELEGATE HENDRICKSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hernett.
DELEGATE HERNETT: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hildebrand.
DELEGATE HILDEBRAND: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hill.
DELEGATE HILL: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoffner.
DELEGATE HOFFNER: Aye.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hoghaug.
DELEGATE HOGHAUG: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hougen.
DELEGATE HOUGEN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Hubrig.
DELEGATE HUBRIG: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Huckle.
DELEGATE HUCKLE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Jestrab.
DELEGATE JESTRAB: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kelsch.
DELEGATE KELSCH: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kessel.
DELEGATE KESSEL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Ketchum.
DELEGATE KETCHUM: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Knudson.
DELEGATE KNUDSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kretschmar.
DELEGATE KRETSCHMAR: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Kwako.
DELEGATE KWAKO: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lamb.
DELEGATE LAMB: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lander.
DELEGATE LANDER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Larsen.
DELEGATE LARSEN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Lerberg.
DELEGATE LERBERG: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Litten.
DELEGATE LITTEN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Longmire.
DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Yes.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McElroy.
DELEGATE McELROY: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: McIntyre.
DELEGATE McINTYRE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Maxwell.
DELEGATE MAXWELL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Meidinger.
DELEGATE MEIDINGER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Miller.
DELEGATE MILLER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nothing.
DELEGATE NOTHING: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Nicholas.
DELEGATE NICHOLAS: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: O'Toole.
DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Omdahl.
DELEGATE OMDAHL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Paulson.
DELEGATE PAULSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Pearce.
DELEGATE PEARCE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peters.
DELEGATE PETERS: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Peterson.
DELEGATE PETERSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Poulson.
DELEGATE POULSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Quam.
DELEGATE QUAM: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Roney.
DELEGATE RONEY: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rosendahl.
DELEGATE ROSENDAHL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rude.
DELEGATE RUDE: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Rundle.
DELEGATE RUNDLE: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sanstead.
DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Saugstad.
DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Scheel.
DELEGATE SCHEEL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Schmit.
DELEGATE SCHMIT: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Simonson.
DELEGATE SIMONSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sinner.
DELEGATE SINNER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Solberg.

DELEGATE SOLBERG: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sondreal.
DELEGATE SONDRREAL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Stanton.
DELEGATE STANTON: No.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Sullivan.
DELEGATE SULLIVAN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Thompson.
DELEGATE THOMPSON: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Trenbeath.
DELEGATE TRENBEATH: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Tudor.
DELEGATE TUDOR: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Unruh.
DELEGATE UNRUH: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Urdahl.
DELEGATE URDAHL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Vogel.
DELEGATE VOGEL: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wallin.
DELEGATE WALLIN: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Warner.
DELEGATE WARNER: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wicks.
DELEGATE WICKS: Yes.
CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Wenstrom.
PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes.

The roll discloses 91 "ayes" — now is this four absent or four "noes"?

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: Four "nays."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Four "nays," with three delegates absent.

Now, Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President:

I voted "no" because I have serious doubt about the wisdom in two divisions of the new Constitution that have been approved. I feel that the Executive Branch and the Legislative Branch have been removed substantially farther from the general public.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Hubrig.

DELEGATE HUBRIG: Mr. Chairman:

I want to take this opportunity to explain my vote of "no." I had no alternative but to vote "no," as I truthfully feel that I couldn't have went back to my people and said to them, "Vote for the Constitution," that I, myself, could not believe in, and I want one thing understood: I have no animosity against anyone who voted against what I thought should have been voted for. This is probably one of the hardest jobs I've had to do for a long time — is to come here and have to vote "no." But I did. I want to be honest with my people. I am sure that the people that sent me here will understand the position that I am in, and I pray, "God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can."

And with that, I would like to have my remarks in the Journal, if at all possible.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's customary to place the remarks of explaining votes in the Journal.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Rundle.

DELEGATE RUNDLE: I, also, would like to explain my vote.

No hard feelings whatsoever. I intended all the way through to tell the people in my district to whom I owe my entire allegiance that there are many, many good things in this document: There are some that I do not like, and I am going to tell them you — I'm going to vote — they know now how I voted. I'm going to tell them to vote as they please. I'm not going to knock it. I'm not going to hurt it.

On the other hand, I would like you to know I didn't want to vote on it, but I stayed here and voted. At my age, I could have had a good alibi to have ducked out.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Stanton.

DELEGATE STANTON: Mr. President:

I don't apologize for my vote. I simply want to explain it.

I voted "no" because I thought it was a very unnecessary motion. We're all pretty aware that this Constitution is not a complete document yet. There is a lot of good in it and there's some in it that is not so good, and it is for the people of North Dakota to make the ultimate decision.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion? Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON; May I explain my vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Yes, Delegate Dobson.

DELEGATE DOBSON: Mr. President:

The delegates to North Dakota's 1889 Constitutional Convention wrote a good Constitution for their times. But times have changed greatly in the last 82½ years and the people have recognized that North Dakota needs a new Constitution. This Convention is proposing to the people the 1972 Constitution.

This is a constitution that honors the past, provides for the present and looks to the future.

It is a constitution that has been shorn of obsolete and redundant provisions, statutory detail and surplus verbiage.

It is a constitution that provides for sweeping away the complex and expensive spider web of bureaucracy that now burdens state government and replacing it with a governmental structure that will be responsive, efficient and economical.

It is a constitution that preserves — and, in many cases, expands — every right guaranteed to the people under the old document.

It is a constitution that is progressive and innovative, comparatively brief, easy to read and easy to understand.

It is, in sum, a constitution that will place North Dakota at the forefront in the rank of states, a constitution that will serve, in many respects, as a model for other states to emulate, a constitution that every North Dakotan can proudly claim as his own.

Therefore, I voted "yes."

PRESIDENT WENSTROM; Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Paulson.

DELEGATE PAULSON: I don't have to explain my vote. I'm highly enthusiastic about everything this Convention has done, and I think the resounding 91-to-4 vote in favor of the Constitution gives the Public Information Committee a sound foundation from which to launch its information campaign for the public; and as the first part of that campaign, I would request that this Convention instruct the staff to order ten thousand copies of the new Constitution from the type that will be in today's Journal, so that there will be an immediate supply on hand for public distribution on request, and that ten copies of the new Constitution be mailed to every delegate.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM; Was that a motion, Delegate Paulson?

DELEGATE PAULSON: Yes.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: And I believe the figure you stated was ten thousand?

(Delegate Paulson nodded.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Paulson, and seconded by Delegate McIntyre, that the staff order the printing of ten thousand copies of the new document and that ten copies of the document be mailed to each delegate.

The motion has been seconded.

Any discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and the staff will carry out the assignment.

Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President, may I explain my "yes" vote?

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: You may explain your vote.

DELEGATE PEARCE: You might have noticed that it sounded a little weak. I voted "yes" because a "no" vote would have been misinterpreted. I did not feel that the question that we voted on was a proper one. I do not feel that the vote of 93 adopted the Constitution. I thought all that we could do was submit what we have done. My real vote is on the various proposals as recorded in the Journal. My "yes" vote was because I felt that we had to send it out to the people for their ultimate adoption or rejection.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Any further discussion?

Hearing none — now, Delegate Pearce, you suggested a motion a few moments ago on the matter of signing or certifying the document. I would accept that motion at this time.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: I do now move that the officers of the Convention be directed, in the presence of this Convention, to sign and execute a Certification of the document we have now put together, which will ultimately then be forwarded to the Secretary of State for submission to the people; and that as a part of that ceremony, each of the delegates may be invited to come to your desk and also sign the printed document — the final document.

DELEGATE RONEY: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It's been moved by Delegate Pearce and seconded by Delegate Roney that the officers of the Convention do now certify to the Secretary of State the document as it has been passed by the Convention, and that following the signing, that the other delegates to this Convention be privileged to also sign the document.

Do we have — yes, we have a second.

As many as are in — any discussion?

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no." The "ayes" have it and I will ask that the officers come to the desk.

(Chief Clerk Gilbreath called the names of the respective officers, each of whom then signed the 1972 Constitution, followed by signing thereof by the respective delegates whose names appear thereon.)

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Will the Convention please come to order?

The Convention will please be in order.

Delegate Saugstad.

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD: Mr. President: I move that the absent delegates be excused.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Saugstad moves that the absent delegates be excused. Do we have a second?

DELEGATE SANSTEAD: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Seconded by Delegate Sanstead.

As many as are in favor of the motion will say "aye;" opposed "no."

The "ayes" have it.

For a little while, we'll be on the — we will be on the eighth order of business.
Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: Mr. Chairman.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate O'Toole.

DELEGATE O'TOOLE: I, like Delegate Maxwell, can congratulate myself quite well, I think, in restraining myself on the floor. I had much trouble in the committees. But there's one thing that still bothers me very greatly about this Constitution, and it's on page 17, Section 3, under the "Great Seal," and it's the fourth line down, and it's where the Indian on horseback is pursuing a buffalo toward the setting sun; and after our exhibit today of this beautiful document, I really believe that should be the rising sun.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you very much, Delegate O'Toole.

Fellow Delegates: One of the things that I think we should do — I think we've had a wonderful convention, and I think we've had the most well-developed set of rules for this Convention of any that I have been privileged to read, and I have read many of them, believe me. But I do think that, now that this Convention is grinding to a close, that it would be well if each of the delegates would sit down and think this thing out and then say to yourself or ask a question: Just what would I do if I were to start a new convention tomorrow? Just what would I do? How would I proceed in the event that you were called on to do this, in order that you could do a better job? I think that this is — really, this has been a terrific undertaking, but there could be some things that some of the delegates feel could have been better, and I know that in these United States there are going to be many constitutional conventions held, and I know that, because of the fact that ours ran only 30 days, and everyone said it just couldn't be done, and the fact that we did do it, there's going to be a demand on North Dakota for information on how we did do this. And so then I think it would be only fair or better for these other people if we delegates would sit down and ask ourselves that question: How would I do it? What could we do to improve it? And send this information in, and maybe we could make a footnote in the back of the rule book on our experiences, and then the reaction from our own delegates at the close of the Convention. If you do that, I'm sure that many people and many states would profit by the experience we've had here.

I would like to comment briefly, and I first want to say that it is not my purpose at this hour to weary you with a long speech. It would be a poor reward to you in return for the great honor you have shown me by electing me your President of this Constitutional Convention, and in that capacity making it my privilege to serve as your presiding officer.

I do wish to express to you, the delegates to this Convention, my sincere appreciation for the continuous cooperation and assistance which you have given me while I served as your President. Your support has not been passive or mere approval; it has been spontaneous, active and enthusiastic. I think it is worthy of note that no delegate has ever failed to accept a committee appointment or other assignment when asked to do so by your President. As you delegates are aware, these assignments have not always been classified as easy.

Your unbelievable attendance record at committee meetings during the interim, as well as here at the Convention itself, is written upon the pages of history for all to see, a true indication of your dedication and determination to carry through to completion our task of redrafting a constitution for the State of North Dakota. You have not avoided your responsibilities. I have stated many times, both privately and publicly, of my high regard for the delegates, my colleagues, to this Convention. By electing you as delegates to this Constitutional Convention, our citizens have definitely reaffirmed my faith in our elective system.

A special thank you to my fellow officers of this Convention for their many acts of kindness, consideration and courtesies, for those that have granted not only to me, but to all our delegates, our visitors, and to the public at large. You have given freely of your time and your talents.

The chairman and vice chairman of all our committees associated with this Convention have thoroughly demonstrated their abilities for leadership. They have shown great industry in their work and eloquence in the meeting room. Their most important quality, however, has been their absolute fairness. This I am aware of because of my personal observations and from the reports given me by our citizens who have attended their meetings.

As for our professional staff, our general Convention staff and our desk force — no organization could have a more loyal and hard-working crew. Their devotion to the work of the Convention and to the delegates individually, as well as collectively, has been a major factor in our successful operation and to the many accomplishments of this Constitutional Convention. We wish for all our — may I call them “assistants”? — to know that their work in our behalf is sincerely appreciated. Their good work will not be in vain.

You, the delegates to this Constitutional Convention, are a grand group of men and women. You are a group of which all North Dakotans can be justly proud. To you I owe my affection, my gratitude, my respect.

On August 17th of 1889 — the last day of the first Constitutional Convention — Delegate Stevens presented the president an appropriate gift. President Frederick Bartlett Fancher responded as follows:

“Gentlemen of the Convention:” — you will note there were no ladies in that Convention — “Like the pilgrim of the olden times, who having journeyed to many countries, gathering wisdom and knowledge by the way, ascends at last the summit of the east hill, and bending on his staff surveys afar the highest place of all — so have we, after a long, interesting and varied experience, reached the end of our labors and behold, gleaming into light, that Jerusalem of our souls — a completed constitution.”

By coincidence — that was the end of the quote.

By coincidence, today, February 17, 1972, we are finishing the work of this Constitutional Convention — 82 years and six months to the day later.

We have come to the closing moments of this Constitutional Convention. It falls to the President to say the last words of farewell.

May I begin by again expressing to you the deepest appreciation of which I am capable for the trust you have placed in me. I can only say I have tried to justify your trust. Our Convention has been a fruitful one. I honestly and sincerely believe that we can all return to our homes secure in the knowledge that our mission has been accomplished; a job well done.

And may I close this Convention with words which in many languages, in many forms, in many religions, have brought comfort and strength: “May the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, be with us and remain with us always.”

I have been advised that all the business of this Constitutional Convention has been cared for. The only function remaining is to entertain and put a motion that this Constitutional Convention do now adjourn.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Cart.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Longmire.

DELEGATE LONGMIRE: Mr. President, before you recognize Delegate Cart, may I offer a motion that the President’s final remarks be printed in the Journal?

DELEGATE DOBSON: Second.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: It’s been moved and seconded that the remarks of the President be placed in the Journal. I’ll put the motion:

As many as are in favor of the motion will say “aye;” opposed “no.” The “ayes” have it and they will be put in the Journal.

One little announcement at the desk.

CHIEF CLERK GILBREATH: According to the Highway Department, there is no travel east. Highway Interstate 94 is blocked between Windsor and Cleveland. Visibility is zero. The plows are working, but it is filling in as fast as the plows go through.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Pearce.

DELEGATE PEARCE: Mr. President: An announcement to the delegates.

Included in the budget this morning — we hope that we have sufficient funds so that every delegate might be furnished with a copy of the verbatim record that's been taken here. That will be all of the debates.

Now, it wouldn't be essentially as you might like it. It may be mimeographed. But within the funds available, we hope to make that available, including the corrected Journal when it is written.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Thank you, Delegate Pearce.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Cart, the senior member of this Constitutional Convention.

DELEGATE CART: Mr. President: Before making the motion that I am about to make, I want to say this to the Delegates:

I've taken part in many proceedings over a long period of time, and I don't think that there's ever been any that would equal this one in the conduct of the proceedings and the ability of each and every delegate to voice their opinion and express themselves and place whatever ideas they may have had before the Convention.

Now, Mr. President, I'm going to move that this Convention do now adjourn sine die.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Cart moves that this Convention be now adjourned sine die.

The Chair will recognize Delegate Gipp as the youngest member of this Convention. Delegate Gipp.

DELEGATE GIPP: Mr. President: I rise to second the motion to adjourn the Constitutional Convention of 1972.

PRESIDENT WENSTROM: Delegate Gipp moves to second the motion to adjourn sine die.

Those in favor of the motion will say "aye," those opposed "no." The "ayes" have it. I now declare this successful, this useful and most-interesting Constitutional Convention closed.

(The Plenary Session of the 1972 Constitutional Convention was concluded at 3:38 P.M., Thursday, February 17, 1972.)

APPENDIX A
CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA
Adopted on the seventeenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred seventy-two, by the Second Constitutional Convention at the State Capitol in the City of Bismarck.

PREAMBLE

We, the people of North Dakota, grateful to Almighty God and desiring to secure the blessings of civil and religious liberty for ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE I
DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

Section 1. INALIENABLE RIGHTS.

All people are endowed with certain inalienable rights; among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of health and happiness.

Section 2. PURPOSE OF GOVERNMENT.

All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people, and they have a right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require.

Section 3. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM.

The free exercise of religious belief and worship shall be forever guaranteed in this state.

Section 4. FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

Freedom of the press and of all individuals to write, speak and publish their opinions on all subjects is guaranteed, and each must be responsible for the abuse of these freedoms.

Section 5. FREEDOM TO ASSEMBLE.

The right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition or address the government shall never be abridged.

Section 6. SEARCHES AND SEIZURES.

All people have the right to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and other possessions against unreasonable search, seizure, invasion of privacy or unreasonable interception of communications by artificial sensory device. No warrant shall be issued but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

Section 7. TRIAL BY JURY.

The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all and shall remain inviolate. A person accused of a crime for which he may be confined for a period of more than one year has the right of trial by a jury of twelve. The legislative assembly may determine the size of the jury for all other cases.

Section 8. OPEN COURTS.

Courts shall be open to all, and every person shall have remedy by due process of law for any injury to his lands, goods, person, privacy or reputation. Right and justice shall be administered without denial or delay.

Section 9. RIGHT TO KEEP ARMS.

The right of the citizens to keep arms for self defense, lawful hunting, recreational use and other lawful purposes shall not be abridged, but nothing herein shall be held to permit the unlawful carrying of concealed weapons.

Section 10. INDICTMENT OR INFORMATION.

No person shall be proceeded against for a felony other than by indictment or information, except in cases arising in the military forces. In misdemeanor cases, offenses may be prosecuted by indictment, information or complaint. The legislative assembly may change, regulate or abolish the grand jury system.

Section 11. SPEEDY TRIAL.

In criminal prosecutions in any court whatever, the party accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial; to have the process of the court to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf; and to appear and defend in person and with counsel. No person shall be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense, nor be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

Section 12. BAIL.

All persons shall be bailable. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel or unusual punishments inflicted. Witnesses shall not be unreasonably detained, nor be confined in any room where criminals are imprisoned.

Section 13. NO DEATH PENALTY.

Death shall not be prescribed as a penalty for any crime.

Section 14. TREASON.

Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the evidence of two witnesses to the same overt act, or confession in open court.

Section 15. HABEAS CORPUS.

The privilege of release from unlawful detention or unlawful imprisonment shall not be suspended unless, in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require.

Section 16. UNLAWFUL ACTS.

No bill of attainder, ex post facto law or law impairing the obligations of contracts shall ever be enacted.

Section 17. RIGHTS OF DEBTORS.

The legislative assembly shall provide for the protection of the rights of debtors and shall provide that homesteads of heads of families or single persons and reasonable amounts and kinds of their personal property, as defined by law, shall be exempt from a forced sale. This section shall not be construed to prevent liens against a homestead for labor done and materials furnished for its improvement, in such manner as may be provided by law.

Section 18. NO IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT.

No person shall be imprisoned for debt.

Section 19. GRANTING PRIVILEGES OR IMMUNITIES.

No special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted which may not be altered, revoked or repealed by the legislative assembly; nor shall any citizen or class of citizens be granted privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not be granted to all citizens.

Section 20. UNIFORM OPERATION OF LAWS.

All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation.

Section 21. EMINENT DOMAIN.

Private property shall not be taken or damaged for necessary public use without protecting the rights of the owner and without just compensation having first been made to the owner for all damages.

However, the legislative assembly may provide by law for the taking of property for right-of-way purposes for transportation, communication, and transmission of power for public service, by depositing estimated just compensation for all damages into court for the owner. The legislative assembly shall provide the procedure and fix the time limit for determination of damages, necessity and public use in such cases.

Section 22. SUITS AGAINST THE STATE.

Suits may be brought against the state and its political subdivisions for negligent injury to a person or his property, but the legislative assembly may provide for reasonable limitations.

Section 23. NONDISCRIMINATION IN ACCOMMODATIONS.

All persons are entitled to the full and equal enjoyment of the goods, services, privileges, advantages and facilities of any public accommodation without discrimination based on race, sex, color, religion or national origin.

Section 24. SERVICEMEN AND SERVICEWOMEN.

The people of North Dakota declare that North Dakota servicemen and servicewomen may be given special considerations as determined by the legislative assembly.

Section 25. NONDISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT.

There shall be no discrimination against a qualified natural person's right to practice a trade or profession or a citizen's right to obtain or hold employment because of race, color, sex, creed, or membership or nonmembership in a trade, labor or professional organization.

Section 26. CIVIL POWER SUPREME.

The military shall be subordinate to the civil power.

Section 27. SUPREME LAW.

The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land.

Section 28. RIGHTS RETAINED.

To guard against transgressions of the high powers which we have delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of government and shall forever remain inviolate.

ARTICLE II
ELECTIVE FRANCHISE

Section 1. ELECTIONS, VOTER QUALIFICATIONS.

The general election of the state shall be held biennially as provided by law.

Every citizen of the United States, who has attained the age of eighteen years and who has been a resident of the state six months, of the county ninety days and of the precinct thirty days preceding an election, shall be a qualified elector. When an elector moves within the state he shall be entitled to vote in the precinct from which he moves until he establishes voting residence in another precinct. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the determination of residence for voting eligibility, other than physical presence. No elector shall lose his residency for voting eligibility solely by reason of his absence from the state.

The legislative assembly shall provide by law for secrecy in voting, for absentee voting, for administration of elections and for the nomination of candidates.

Section 2. VOTER DISQUALIFICATIONS.

No person who has been declared mentally incompetent by order of a court or other authority having jurisdiction, which order has not been rescinded, shall be qualified to vote; nor shall any person be qualified to vote if he is confined in a correctional institution or jail, or while under sentence for a crime punishable by confinement exceeding one year.

Section 3. FAIR ELECTORAL SYSTEM.

Every candidate for public office shall have a justiciable right to an electoral system that is not prejudicial to his candidacy.

ARTICLE III
POWERS RESERVED TO THE PEOPLE

If the electors approve alternate proposition 2A, then Alternate Proposition 2A of the Adoption Schedule containing Article III, Powers Reserved to the People, shall be placed in this constitution as Article III.

If the electors approve alternate proposition 2B, then Alternate Proposition 2B of the Adoption Schedule containing Article III, Powers Reserved to the People, shall be placed in this constitution as Article III.

ARTICLE IV
LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

If the electors approve alternate proposition 1A, then Alternate Proposition 1A of the Adoption Schedule containing Article IV, Legislative Branch, shall be placed in this constitution as Article IV.

If the electors approve alternate proposition 1B, then Alternate Proposition 1B of the Adoption Schedule containing Article IV, Legislative Branch, shall be placed in this constitution as Article IV.

ARTICLE V EXECUTIVE BRANCH

Section 1. EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS AND OFFICERS.

The elected state officials shall be the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general and three public service commissioners.

The governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected on a joint ballot. Each vote cast for a candidate for governor shall be deemed cast also for the candidate for lieutenant governor nominated jointly with him.

The chief executives of the principal departments, other than those elected or those chosen in a manner otherwise provided for in this constitution, shall be appointed by the governor and shall serve at his pleasure. They shall be confirmed or rejected by the senate upon a recorded vote of a majority of the members elected. Any nomination not confirmed or rejected by the senate within twenty session days after being received shall be deemed confirmed.

The legislative assembly may periodically review the principal executive departments and may by law change and prescribe the manner of selecting those chief executive officers appointed by the governor under the provisions of this article.

Section 2. ELECTIONS AND TERMS OF EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS.

The elected state officials shall be chosen by the electors at a time designated by the legislative assembly, and shall serve until their successors are duly qualified. Terms of office shall be four years, except that terms of the public service commissioners shall be six years, so arranged that one of them is elected every two years.

If two or more candidates for any executive office receive an equal and highest number of votes, the legislative assembly in joint session shall choose one of them for the office.

Section 3. QUALIFICATIONS.

To be eligible to hold an elective office established by this article, a person must be an elector of this state, at least twenty-one years old, and must have been a resident of this state for the two years preceding his election. The attorney general must be licensed to practice law in this state.

Section 4. COMPENSATION.

The compensation of elected officials shall be as provided by law, but shall not be diminished during the term for which they were elected.

Section 5. PLACE OF HOLDING OFFICE.

Elected state officials and the chief executive officers of the principal departments shall hold office at the seat of government.

Section 6. EXECUTIVE ORGANIZATION.

The legislative assembly shall allocate the executive power among not more than fifteen principal state departments, which shall be organized along broad functional lines. The executive power of each department shall be vested in one person unless otherwise provided by this constitution or by law. The legislative assembly shall prescribe the duties of and periodically reorganize the executive departments, provided any reorganization or change in duties shall not affect the organization and powers granted to the boards of education in this constitution.

The governor may, for more effective administration, make changes in the statutory allocation of functions, powers and duties among and within the executive departments, other than those headed by constitutionally elective officials. Any change shall be set forth in an executive order and submitted to both houses of the legislative assembly on the same day. The legislative assembly shall have thirty session days to disapprove the order. If not disapproved by a majority of the members elected to either house, the order shall have the force of law when filed with the secretary of state or on a later date specified therein.

Section 7. STATE PLANNING COUNCIL.

The chief executives of the principal state departments shall constitute the state planning council. The governor shall be chairman of the council and the lieutenant governor shall be vice chairman. The council shall prepare a comprehensive state plan based on the comprehensive plan for each department.

Section 8. POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE GOVERNOR.

The governor is the chief executive of the state. He shall have the responsibility to see that the state's business is well administered, and that its laws are faithfully executed.

He shall present the comprehensive state plan, and his own recommendations, to the legislative assembly at the beginning of each session and at any other time he chooses.

He may call special sessions of the legislative assembly.

He may require information in writing from all executive officials and officers concerning the performance of their respective duties.

He shall prescribe the duties of the lieutenant governor.

He is commander-in-chief of the state's military forces, except when they are called into the service of the United States, and he may mobilize them to execute the laws and to maintain order.

He may grant reprieves, commutations and pardons. He may delegate this power in a manner provided by law.

He may supervise business with the United States and other states.

Section 9. GOVERNOR — VETO POWER.

Every bill passed by the legislative assembly shall be presented to the governor for his signature. If the governor signs the bill it shall become law.

The governor may veto a bill passed by the legislative assembly. He may veto or reduce items in an appropriation bill. Portions of the bill not vetoed or reduced shall become law.

The governor shall return for reconsideration any vetoed item or bill, with a statement of his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall immediately enter the governor's objections upon its journal. If, by a recorded vote, two-thirds of the members elected to that house pass a vetoed item or bill, it shall immediately be delivered to the other house. If, by a recorded vote, two-thirds of the members elected to the other house also pass it, the vetoed item or bill shall become law. An item reduced in amount shall follow the same procedure as a vetoed item or bill, except that it shall be restored to its original amount if passed by a majority of the members elected to each house. If a reduced item is not restored, it shall become law in the reduced amount.

While the legislative assembly is in session, a bill shall become law if the governor neither signs nor vetoes it within five days, Sundays excepted, after its delivery to him. If the legislative assembly is not in session, a bill shall become law if the governor neither signs nor vetoes it within fifteen days, Sundays excepted, after its delivery to him.

Section 10. VACANCIES.

The governor may fill a vacancy in any office by appointment if no other method is provided by this constitution or by law. If, while the senate is recessed or adjourned, a vacancy occurs in any office which is filled by appointment with senate confirmation, the governor shall make a temporary appointment to the office. When the senate reconvenes he shall make a nomination to fill the office. Except on request of the senate, no nominee rejected by the senate shall again be nominated for that office at the same session, nor shall he be appointed to that office during a recess or adjournment of the senate.

Section 11. GUBERNATORIAL SUCCESSION.

In the event of a vacancy, the order of succession to the office of governor shall be the elected lieutenant governor and thereafter as provided by law.

If the governor is unable to serve because of death, impeachment, resignation, failure to qualify, removal from office, or disability, the powers and duties of the governor shall devolve upon the official next in line of succession for the remainder of the term, or until the governor is acquitted or his disability removed.

If the governor-elect dies, resigns, or fails to qualify, the lieutenant governor-elect shall succeed to the office of governor for the full term. If the governor-elect fails to assume office for any other reason, the lieutenant governor-elect shall serve as acting governor, and he shall succeed to the office of governor, if the governor-elect does not assume his office within six months after the beginning of the term.

The legislative assembly shall by law specify by whom and by what procedures the ability of the governor, or anyone acting as governor, to serve or to resume office may be questioned and determined. The supreme court shall have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction to determine absence and disability of the governor or governor-elect, and to determine the existence of a vacancy in the office of governor and all questions concerning succession to the office or to its powers and duties.

ARTICLE VI JUDICIAL BRANCH

Section 1. JUDICIAL POWER.

The judicial power of the state is vested in a unified judicial system consisting of a supreme court, a district court and other courts as may be provided by law.

Section 2. SUPREME COURT JURISDICTION.

The supreme court shall be the highest court of the state. It shall have appellate jurisdiction and the authority to issue, hear, determine and enforce such writs as are necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. The supreme court shall consist of five justices, one of whom shall be designated chief justice as provided by law. The supreme court shall make rules for the governing of, and prescribe procedures for, all courts. The chief justice shall exercise general superintending control over all courts.

Section 3. UNCONSTITUTIONALITY.

No legislative enactment of the state shall be declared unconstitutional unless at least four of the supreme court justices so decide.

Section 4. SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

When a judgment or order is reversed, modified or confirmed by the supreme court, the reasons shall be concisely stated in writing, signed by the justices concurring, filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court and preserved with a record of the case. Any justice dissenting may give the reason for his dissent in writing over his signature.

Section 5. APPEALS.

Appeals shall be allowed from decisions of lower courts to the supreme court under procedures as may be provided by law or by rule of court.

Section 6. ELECTION AND TERMS OF JUSTICES.

The justices of the supreme court shall be chosen by the electors of the state for ten-year terms, so arranged that one justice is elected every two years. They shall hold office until their successors are duly qualified and shall receive compensation as provided by law.

Section 7. DISTRICT COURT JURISDICTION.

The district court shall have original jurisdiction of all justiciable causes, except as otherwise provided by law, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law or by rule of the supreme court. The district court shall have authority to issue such writs as are necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction.

Section 8. ELECTION AND TERMS OF DISTRICT COURT JUDGES.

The state shall be divided into judicial districts by order of the supreme court. In each district one or more judges shall be chosen by the electors of the district to be served. The term of office shall be six years. They shall hold office until their successors are duly qualified and receive compensation as provided by law.

Section 9. QUALIFICATIONS.

Supreme court justices and district court judges shall be citizens of the United States and residents of this state, shall be admitted to the bar in this state, and shall possess any additional qualifications prescribed by law. Judges of other courts shall be selected for such terms and shall have such qualifications as may be prescribed by law.

Section 10. RESTRICTIONS.

No supreme court justice or district court judge shall engage in the practice of law or hold any public office, elective or appointive, not judicial in nature.

Section 11. DISQUALIFICATIONS.

When any justice or judge is interested in any way in a pending cause or is unable to sit in court because he is physically or mentally incapacitated, the supreme court shall assign a judge, or retired justice or judge, to hear the cause.

Section 12. REMOVAL.

The legislative assembly shall establish by law a procedure for removal of justices and judges for misconduct in office or inability to perform the duties of office, whether willful or because of physical or mental disability or incompetency. Except for impeachment proceedings, the supreme court shall have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction in judicial removal proceedings. A supreme court justice being proceeded against shall be disqualified from acting in the proceedings, and a district court judge selected by the remaining justices shall act in his stead.

Section 13. RETIREMENT.

The legislative assembly may provide by law for the retirement of supreme court justices, district court judges and judges of other courts.

Section 14. VACANCIES.

A judicial nominating committee shall be established by law. Any vacancy in the office of supreme court justice or district court judge shall be filled by appointment by the governor from a list of candidates nominated by the committee, unless the governor calls a special election to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the term. An appointment shall continue until the next general election, when the office shall be filled by election for the remainder of the term.

Section 15. CONFIRMATION.

If no candidate other than the incumbent supreme court justice or district court judge has been nominated for that office, the ballot at the general election shall contain the question: "Shall (name of justice or judge) be retained in the office of (supreme court justice or district court judge?" Unless a majority of votes cast on the question are affirmative, the office shall be deemed vacant at the end of the term and shall be filled as provided in this article.

SECTION VII POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS

Section 1. PURPOSE.

The purpose of this article is to provide for maximum local self-government by all political subdivisions with a minimum duplication of functions.

Section 2. POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS.

The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the establishment and the government of all political subdivisions. Each political subdivision shall have and exercise such powers as provided by law.

Section 3. COUNTIES.

The several counties of the State of North Dakota as they now exist are hereby declared to be counties of the State of North Dakota.

Section 4. COUNTY SEATS.

The legislative assembly shall provide by law for relocating county seats within counties, but it shall have no power to remove the county seat of any county.

Section 5. BOUNDARIES.

Methods and standards by which all or any portion of a county or counties may be annexed, merged, consolidated, reclassified or dissolved shall be provided by law. No portion of any county or counties shall be annexed, merged, consolidated or dissolved unless a majority of the electors of each affected county voting on the question so approve.

Section 6. HOME RULE.

The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the establishment and exercise of home rule in counties and cities. No home rule charter shall become operative in any county or city until submitted to the electors thereof and approved by a majority of those voting thereon. In granting home rule powers to cities, the legislative assembly shall not be restricted by city debt limitations contained in this constitution.

Section 7. OPTIONAL FORMS.

The legislative assembly shall also provide by law for optional forms of government for counties, but no optional form of government shall become operative in any county until submitted to the electors thereof at a special or general election, and approved by a majority of those voting thereon.

Until one of the optional forms of county government is adopted by any county, the fiscal affairs of the county shall be transacted by a board of county commissioners as provided by law.

Section 8. COUNTY SERVICES.

Each county shall provide for law enforcement, administrative and fiscal services, recording and registration services, educational services and any other governmental services or functions as may be provided by law.

All elective county offices or any combinations thereof as they now exist shall continue to be elective county offices with four-year terms; however, any such county office or offices may be eliminated either by adoption of a home rule charter, or at a county-wide referendum by a majority of the electors voting on the question.

A referendum on elimination of county offices shall be provided for by law, and shall be mandatory in each county at the first statewide election held not less than two years after the effective date of this constitution and at least every ten years thereafter.

Whenever an office is eliminated, the county governing board may provide for any service rendered by that office.

Section 9. REFERENDUM.

Questions on the form of government to be adopted by any county or on the elimination of county offices may be placed upon a referendum ballot either by a two-thirds vote of the members of the county governing board or by a petition of electors of the county equal in number to fifteen percent of the votes cast in the county for the office of governor at the preceding general election, or as otherwise provided by law.

Section 10. SERVICE AGREEMENTS.

Agreements, including those for cooperative or joint administration of any powers or functions, may be made by any political subdivision with any other political subdivision, with the state or with the United States, unless otherwise provided by law or home rule charter. A political subdivision may transfer to the county in which it is located any of its powers or functions unless prohibited by law or home rule charter, and may in like manner revoke the transfer.

Section 11. UTILITY FRANCHISES.

The power of the governing board of a city to franchise the construction and operation of any public utility or similar service within the city shall not be abridged by the legislative assembly.

ARTICLE VIII
EDUCATION

Section 1. PUBLIC EDUCATION.

The legislative assembly shall provide for a uniform system of free public education.

The legislative assembly shall take other steps necessary to prevent illiteracy and to provide for special education and vocational education.

Schools and institutions so established shall be free from sectarian control. No money raised for support of public schools of the state shall be appropriated to or used for support of any sectarian school.

Section 2. BOARD OF PUBLIC EDUCATION.

The state board of public education shall supervise a uniform system of elementary and secondary public education. The board shall perform other duties as provided by law.

The board shall consist of nine members, with staggered seven-year terms, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate in a manner provided by law.

The board shall appoint an executive officer, whose term and duties shall be prescribed by the board.

Section 3. BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION.

The state board of higher education shall have full power, responsibility and authority to supervise, operate and control state institutions of higher learning. The board shall perform other duties as provided by law.

The legislative assembly may authorize tuition, fees and service charges to assist in financing state institutions of higher learning.

The board shall consist of nine members, with staggered seven-year terms, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate in a manner provided by law.

The board shall control the expenditure of all funds belonging to and appropriated to state institutions of higher learning and shall present a single unified budget request to the legislative assembly. Appropriations for all the institutions and for the board shall be contained in one legislative measure. The legislative assembly shall not reduce appropriations by the amount of any gift.

The budget and appropriation measure for the agricultural experiment stations and their substations and the cooperative extension divisions may be separate from that of the state educational institutions.

The board shall have the power to delegate to its employees details of administration of the institutions under its control.

The board shall appoint an executive officer, whose term and duties shall be prescribed by the board.

Section 4. OPEN MEETINGS.

All meetings of the board of public education and the board of higher education shall be open and public unless a person whose rights are being considered requests that the meeting be closed.

ARTICLE IX TRUST LANDS

Section 1. PUBLIC SCHOOL TRUST.

All lands granted by the United States for the support of elementary and secondary public schools of the state, and the proceeds from the sale of those lands, the proceeds of property that falls to the state by escheat and all other property acquired for the schools, except gifts and donations otherwise appropriated or qualified, shall be and remain a perpetual trust fund for the maintenance of the elementary and secondary public schools of the state.

The principal of this fund shall be retained and devoted to the trust purpose. The interest and income of this fund shall be used and applied each year for the benefit of the elementary and secondary public schools, apportioned as provided by law.

Section 2. INSTITUTIONAL TRUSTS.

All lands granted by the United States for the support of educational or other public institutions of the state, and the proceeds from the sale of those lands, shall be and remain a perpetual trust fund for the maintenance of each institution, and may be commingled with similar funds for the same institution only, in a manner provided by law. The public institutions which received lands by the enabling act of Congress approved on February 22, 1889, shall retain such lands, but the trust fund of any institution which the state ceases to operate shall be apportioned among other educational or public institutions within the provisions of the enabling act.

The principal of these funds shall be retained and devoted to the trust purpose. The interest and income of each institutional trust fund held by the state shall be appropriated by the legislative assembly to the exclusive use of the institution to which the fund was allocated.

Section 3. SALE OR LEASE.

The legislative assembly shall provide for the sale or lease at public auction of all properties held by the state in the school or other institutional trust funds, except that lands needed for public use may be sold at public sale for their fair market value. No interest in trust lands may be created by adverse possession or by occupation in the nature of adverse possession. In the sale of trust lands, the minerals, including but not limited to oil, gas, coal, cement materials, sodium sulphate, sand and gravel, road material, building stone, chemical substances, metallic ores, uranium ore and colloidal or other clays, shall be reserved and excepted to the state. Leases may be executed by the state for the extraction and sale of such materials in the manner and upon conditions which the legislative assembly may provide. The proceeds of all sales and mineral leases shall be credited to the trust fund from which the property was removed for sale purposes. Any trust lands may be exchanged for lands of the United States, or of the State of North Dakota or its political subdivisions, as provided by law.

Section 4. PROTECTION.

The legislative assembly shall provide for the investment, safekeeping, transfer and disbursement of these trust funds.

ARTICLE X FINANCE AND PUBLIC DEBT

Section 1. RAISING OF REVENUES.

The legislative assembly shall provide for raising revenue sufficient to defray the expenses of the state for each year. By a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house, the legislative assembly may provide for an annual property tax based on value, for state purposes, for no longer than two years unless reenacted.

Section 2. NO SURRENDER OF TAX POWER.

Except as provided in this constitution, the power of taxation shall never be surrendered or suspended by any grant or contract to which the state, any political subdivision or any public agency is a party.

Section 3. LEGAL BASIS FOR TAXES.

No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law. Every law imposing a tax shall state distinctly the object of the tax, to which only it shall be applied. Notwithstanding any provision of this constitution, taxes imposed on income or measured by income may be defined, measured and imposed by reference to the provisions of the laws of the United States as they may be or may become effective at any time, and the state laws may prescribe exceptions or modifications to any such provisions.

Section 4. PROPERTY ASSESSMENT.

All taxable property, except as provided in this section, shall be taxed or assessed in the taxing district in which it is situated as provided by law. While used for its intended purposes and unless otherwise provided by law, the property of railroad and public and private utilities, except property of highway common carriers, shall be taxed or assessed by a state board of equalization or its successor.

Section 5. TAX UNIFORMITY AND EXEMPTIONS.

Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of property, including franchises, within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax. The legislative assembly may by law define and exempt any or all classes of property. Property used exclusively for school, religious, cemetery, charitable or other public purposes shall be exempt from taxation. All taxes and exemptions in force when this constitution is adopted shall remain in force until otherwise provided by law.

Section 6. HIGHWAY FUND.

Revenue derived from excise and license taxation on gasoline, fuel and other energy sources, used to propel vehicles on public highways, and revenue derived from vehicle registration and license taxes imposed for the use of public highways, shall be used solely for payment of obligations incurred for construction, reconstruction, repair, operation and maintenance of public highways; except the legislative assembly shall provide for the deduction of funds from these revenues for enforcement of highway safety, driver education and tourist promotion, and for administrative and collection costs.

Section 7. STATE MONEYS.

Except as otherwise provided by this constitution or by law, all state moneys from whatever source derived shall be paid over monthly into the state treasury by the person responsible for the moneys and shall be deposited to the credit of the state, and shall be paid out and disbursed only as provided by law.

Section 8. STATE DEBT.

The state may issue debt obligations and guarantee the payment of such obligations and interest thereon. These debt obligations shall be payable from a source other than a statewide property tax based on value, but the full faith and credit and taxing powers of the state may be pledged for the payment of these obligations if the primary source of revenue is not sufficient for that purpose.

Each issue and guarantee of debt obligations, for which the full faith and credit and taxing powers of the state are pledged, shall require approval by a three-fifths vote of the members elected to each house of the legislative assembly.

Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, any tax levied or other provision made to retire a debt obligation shall be irrevocable until the debt is paid.

Section 9. POLITICAL SUBDIVISION DEBT.

Any political subdivision may incur indebtedness not to exceed eight percent of the assessed value of the taxable property therein. By a sixty percent vote of the electors voting thereon, the debt limit may be increased an additional seven percent of the assessed value. The debt limits in this section shall not apply to obligations primarily payable from sources other than property taxes whether or not the full faith and credit and taxing power of the issuer is also pledged for the payment of the obligation and interest thereon. For purposes of this section "assessed value" shall be determined by methods or factors established by law.

Any political subdivision incurring indebtedness for which its full faith and credit and taxing power are pledged shall, at or before the time the debt is incurred, provide for an annual tax sufficient to pay the principal and interest thereon, and all laws or ordinances providing for the payment of the principal and interest of any debt shall be irrevocable until the obligation is paid.

Section 10. PUBLIC BUSINESS.

As provided by law the state or any of its political subdivisions, or any combination thereof, may undertake any business or enterprise, but only for the purpose of providing public services. Unless otherwise provided by law, any form of business or enterprise in operation when this constitution is adopted may be continued. Neither the state nor any political subdivision shall otherwise loan or give its credit to or in aid of any individual association or corporation except as otherwise authorized in this constitution, and except for reasonable support of the indigent and for payment of adjusted compensation for veterans of the armed services as may be provided by law; nor shall the state or any of its political subdivisions subscribe to or become the owner of capital stock in any private association or corporation.

ARTICLE XI GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 1. NAME.

The name of this state is "North Dakota."

Section 2. BOUNDARY.

The state of North Dakota shall consist of all the territory included within the following boundary. Commencing at a point in the main channel of the Red River of the North, where the forty-ninth degree of north latitude crosses the same; thence southward up the main channel of the Red River of the North and the Bois de Sioux River to a point where the Bois de Sioux River intersects the seventh standard parallel north (approximately forty-five degrees fifty-six minutes north latitude); thence westward along said parallel to a point where it intersects twenty-seven degrees of longitude west of Washington, D. C. (approximately one hundred four degrees three minutes west longitude); thence northward on said longitude to a point where it intersects the forty-ninth degree of north latitude; thence eastward along said latitude to the place of beginning. The boundary on the ground is more exactly defined by astronomical measurements at points on the boundary and surveys between boundary markers.

Section 3. GREAT SEAL.

The following described seal is declared to be the Great Seal of the State of North Dakota: A tree in the open field, the trunk of which is surrounded by three bundles of wheat; on the right a plow, anvil and sledge; on the left, a bow crossed with three arrows, and an Indian on horseback pursuing a buffalo toward the setting sun; the foliage of the tree arched by a half-circle of forty-two stars, surrounded by the motto "Liberty and Union Now and Forever, One and Inseparable"; the words "Great Seal" at the top; the words "State of North Dakota" at the bottom; "October 1st" on the left and "1889" on the right. The seal shall be two and one-half inches in diameter.

Section 4. STATE CAPITAL.

The seat of government of the State of North Dakota shall be at the city of Bismarck in the county of Burleigh.

Section 5. ENVIRONMENT.

The public policy of the state and the duty of each person is to conserve, develop and utilize natural resources and public lands in order to provide a pleasant and healthful environment for the benefit of present and future generations. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for the implementation and enforcement of this policy.

Each person has the right to a healthful environment and may enforce this right against any party, governmental or private, through appropriate legal proceedings, subject to reasonable limitation and regulation as the legislative assembly may provide by law.

Section 6. OMBUDSMAN.

The legislative assembly shall provide by law for an independent governmental agency to receive complaints against state agencies, officials and officers from aggrieved persons, to investigate and, in cases of justified complaints, to offer recommendations for remedy.

Section 7. CORPORATIONS.

The legislative assembly shall provide by general laws for the organization of all corporations. No charter of incorporation shall be granted, modified or amended by special law, except in the case of municipal corporations or other corporations under the control of the state.

Section 8. WATERS.

All surface and subsurface water shall forever remain the property of the people and be subject to appropriation for beneficial uses as provided by law.

Section 9. OATH OR AFFIRMATION.

All elected officials, before they assume the duties of their respective offices, shall take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly (swear) (affirm) that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of North Dakota; and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of _____ according to the best of my ability, (so help me God) (under pains and penalties of perjury)." No other oath or declaration shall be required as a qualification for any office or public trust.

Section 10. CODE OF ETHICS.

A code of ethics for all nonjudicial state officials, officers, legislators and state employees, prohibiting conflict between public duty and private interest, shall be prescribed by law.

Section 11. IMPEACHMENT.

All judicial officials elected to represent more than one political subdivision and all elected state officials shall be subject to impeachment for crimes, corrupt conduct, malfeasance, or for continuing willful failure to perform the duties of office. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment by vote of a majority of the elected representatives. The senate shall have the sole power of trial in impeachment cases. A two-thirds vote of the elected senators shall be required for conviction.

No official shall exercise the duties of his office after he has been impeached and before his acquittal. No person shall be tried on impeachment before he has been served with a copy of the charge at least twenty days previous to the day set for trial. No person shall be liable to impeachment twice for the same offense.

Section 12. REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.

All elected officials and appointed officers of the state and its political subdivisions, other than judicial officials, shall be subject to removal from office, as provided by law, for crimes, corrupt conduct, malfeasance, or because of chronic and continuing inability or willful failure to perform the duties of office.

The supreme court shall have original, exclusive and final jurisdiction of proceedings for removal of elected state officials and chief executive officers as provided by law.

Section 13. MILITARY FORCES.

The legislative assembly shall provide by law for establishment of the state's military forces.

ARTICLE XII COMPACT WITH THE UNITED STATES

Section 1. RELIGIOUS SENTIMENT.

Perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and no inhabitant of this state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

Section 2. COMPACT.

All other provisions of the enabling act of Congress approved on February 22, 1889, 25 United States Statutes at Large 676, Chapter 180, and Section 203 of Article XVI of the North Dakota Constitution of 1889 as amended, are hereby continued in full force and effect as though fully herein recited and shall continue to be irrevocable without the consent of the United States and the people of this state.

Section 3. MILITARY RESERVATIONS.

Jurisdiction is ceded to the United States over the military reservations of Fort Abraham Lincoln, Fort Buford, Fort Pembina and Fort Totten, heretofore declared by the President of the United States; provided, civil and criminal legal process of this state shall extend over such reservations in all cases in which exclusive jurisdiction is not vested in the United States and over crimes not committed within the limits of such reservations. The legislative assembly may, upon such terms and conditions as it shall adopt, provide for the acceptance of such jurisdiction as may be delegated to the state by act of Congress.

Section 4. LAND GRANTS.

Section 205 of Article XVI of the North Dakota Constitution of 1889, relating to land grants, is hereby continued in full force and effect as though fully herein recited.

ARTICLE XIII TRANSITION SCHEDULE

Section 1. SCHEDULE TO BE REMOVED AS EXECUTED.

The following schedule provisions shall remain a part of this constitution only until their respective terms have been executed. On or before July 10 of each year the attorney general shall review the provisions of this schedule and shall certify to the secretary of state those that have been executed since the preceding review. Provisions so certified shall be removed from the schedule and no longer published as part of this constitution.

Section 2. GENERAL TRANSITION.

The rights and duties of all public bodies shall remain as if this constitution had not been adopted, with the exception of such changes as are contained in this constitution. All statutes, ordinances, administrative rules and regulations, and court rules not contrary to, or inconsistent with, the provisions of this constitution shall remain in force, until they shall expire by their own limitation or shall be altered or repealed pursuant to this constitution. The validity of all public and private bonds, debts and contracts, and of all suits, actions and rights of action, shall continue as if no change had taken place. All officers filling any office by election or appointment shall continue to exercise the duties thereof, until their offices shall have been abolished or their successors selected and qualified in accordance with this constitution or laws enacted pursuant thereto.

Section 3. PROSPECTIVE OPERATION OF NEW PROCEDURAL AND SUBSTANTIVE RIGHTS.

Any procedural and substantive rights created for the first time by this constitution shall be prospective and not retroactive.

Section 4. GENERAL EFFECTIVE DATE.

Except as may be otherwise established by this schedule, the provisions of this constitution shall become effective on July 1, 1973, and the provisions of the constitution of 1889, as amended, shall be repealed, and of no further force and effect.

Section 5. ACCELERATED EFFECTIVE DATE.

1. The following provisions of the constitution of 1889 as amended shall be repealed, and of no further force and effect, on July 1, 1972:
 - A. The third paragraph of section 216 of Article XIX as follows:

“Third: An industrial school and school for manual training or such other educational or charitable institution as the legislative assembly may provide at the town of Ellendale, in the county of Dickey, with a grant of forty thousand acres.”
 - B. Subsection 5 of section 1 of article 54 of the amendments as follows:

“(5) The Normal and Industrial School, at Ellendale.”
2. The following provisions of this constitution shall become effective on January 1, 1973, and provisions of the Constitution of 1889 as amended which are in conflict with these sections shall be deemed repealed as of January 1, 1973:
 - A. Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 14 of Article IV, Legislative Branch.
 - B. Section 9 of Article V, Executive Branch.
 - C. Sections 6, 8 and 9 of Article X, Finance and Public Debt.
 - D. Article III, Powers Reserved to the People.

Section 6. DELAYED EFFECTIVE DATE.

The provisions of section 22 of Article I, Declaration of Rights, shall become effective on July 1, 1976. Section 1 of Article IV of the Unicameral Proposal, as in Alternate Proposition 1B, if adopted, shall become effective July 1, 1974.

Section 7. EXCEPTIONS AND PROVISOS.

The provisions of Article V, Executive Branch, shall become effective as set out in this schedule, provided that all executive officials elected in 1972, shall complete the term of office for which they were elected. The legislative assembly shall by law provide for continuity in the transition from the system of executive government in operation prior to adoption of this constitution, to that now prescribed, in a way which will assure orderliness and an effective program of executive organization under the terms of this article.

The provisions of Article VIII, Education, shall become effective as set out in this schedule, provided that the superintendent of public instruction elected in 1972 shall continue in office until the completion of his term. The board of public education shall not have the power to appoint an executive officer, until his term expires, unless a vacancy occurs after the board has been created.

The provisions of Article VI, Legislative Branch, sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 14 shall become effective as set out in this schedule, provided that the lieutenant governor shall preside over the senate for the entire session of the legislative assembly beginning in January, 1973.

ARTICLE XIV ADOPTION SCHEDULE AND BALLOT

This article contains the text of the alternate propositions and the ballot form.

The alternate propositions approved by a majority of the electors voting separately thereon shall become a part of the 1972 constitution upon adoption. Alternate propositions rejected by a majority of the electors voting thereon shall not become a part of the 1972 constitution. This article shall not be published as a part of the constitution after adoption.

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 1A. Two-house legislature (Bicameral)

If the electors approve alternate proposition 1A and also approve the proposed constitution of 1972 then the following shall comprise Article IV, Legislative Branch:

Section 1. LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

The legislative power of the state is vested in a legislature consisting of a senate, composed of not more than forty-nine members, and a house of representatives, composed of not more than ninety-eight members, which jointly are designated as the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota.

Section 2. TERMS OF OFFICE.

Members of the legislative assembly shall be elected for terms of four years.

Section 3. QUALIFICATIONS.

Each person elected to the legislative assembly must be, on the day of his election, an elector in the district from which he is chosen.

Section 4. RESTRICTIONS.

While serving in the legislative assembly, no member may hold any full-time elective state or political subdivision office nor any full-time appointive state office established by this constitution or designated by law. During the term for which he was elected, no legislator shall be appointed to any full-time office which has been created, or for which the compensation has been increased, by the legislative assembly during that term.

Section 5. REAPPORTIONMENT.

A legislative reapportionment commission, consisting of electors appointed by the district judges in a number and manner as shall be established by the district judges, shall fix the number of senators and representatives and divide the state into as many senatorial districts of compact and contiguous territory as there are senators. The commission shall guarantee, as nearly as practicable, that every voter is equal to every other voter in the state in the casting of ballots for legislative candidates. One senator and at least two representatives shall be apportioned to each senatorial district and be elected at large or from subdistricts thereof. The commission may combine two senatorial districts and provide for the election of senators at large and representatives at large or from subdistricts thereof.

The commission shall prescribe its own procedures. Upon agreement by a majority of its members, the commission shall file its reapportionment plan with the secretary of state, and it shall become effective sixty days after the date of filing; provided, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, may review any plan adopted by the commission. If the plan fails to meet state or federal constitutional requirements, the court shall direct the commission to revise the plan within a stated time.

Commission members shall be appointed following adoption of this constitution and immediately following the 1980 general election and every ten years thereafter. No member of the legislative assembly shall be eligible, during his term of office, for appointment to the commission. Commission members shall serve until each reapportionment plan becomes finally effective, and shall be compensated as provided by law. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

Section 6. LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS.

The legislative assembly shall establish by law a procedure whereby one-half of the members of each house, as nearly as practicable, are elected biennially.

Section 7. SESSIONS.

The terms of legislators shall begin on the first Tuesday after the third day of January following their election. The legislative assembly shall meet to organize on the same day and may meet in plenary session no more than eighty natural days during the biennium. The days need not be consecutive, and meetings for the purpose of impeachment or on call of the governor shall not count against the eighty-day limitation. The legislative assembly may authorize its committees to meet at any time during the biennium. Neither house may recess or adjourn for more than three days without consent of the other.

Section 8. PROCEDURES.

The senate and the house of representatives shall each elect one of its members presiding officer at the beginning of each regular session.

A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum. A smaller number may adjourn from day to day and may compel attendance of absent members in a manner, and under a penalty, as may be provided by law.

Each house is the judge of the qualifications of its members, but election contests shall be subject exclusively to judicial review as provided by law. If two or more candidates for the same office receive an equal and highest number of votes, the secretary of state shall choose one of them by lot.

Each house shall determine its rules of procedure, and may punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence. With the concurrence of two-thirds of its elected members, either house may expel a member.

Section 9. ENACTMENT OF LAWS.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and a recorded vote on any question shall be taken at the request of one-sixth of those present. No bill shall become a law except by a recorded vote of a majority of the members elected to each house.

No law shall be enacted except by a bill passed by both houses, and no bill shall be so amended on its passage through either house as to change its general subject matter. No bill shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title; but a law violating this provision shall be invalidated only to the extent the subject is not so expressed.

Every bill shall be read on two separate natural days, and the readings may be by title only unless a reading at length is demanded by one-fifth of the members present.

No bill shall be amended, extended or incorporated in any other bill by reference to its title only, except in the case of definitions and procedural provisions.

The presiding officer of each house shall sign all bills passed and resolutions adopted by the legislative assembly, and the fact of signing shall be entered at once on the journal.

Every law enacted by the legislative assembly shall take effect on July first after its filing with the secretary of state or ninety days after its filing, whichever comes later, or on a subsequent date if specified in the law; unless, by a separate vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the legislative assembly declares it an emergency measure and includes the declaration in the act. An emergency measure shall take effect upon its filing with the secretary of state or on a date specified in the measure. Every law enacted by a special session of the legislative assembly shall take effect on a date specified in the act.

The legislative assembly shall enact all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this constitution. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, no local or special laws shall be enacted, nor shall the legislative assembly indirectly enact special or local laws by the partial repeal of a general law, but laws repealing local or special laws may be enacted.

Section 10. OPEN SESSIONS.

All sessions of the legislative assembly, including the committee of the whole and meetings of legislative committees, shall be open and public.

Section 11. IMMUNITIES.

Members of the legislative assembly shall be immune from arrest during their attendance at the sessions, and in going to or returning from the same, except in cases of felony or breach of the peace. For words used in any speech or debate in legislative proceedings, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Section 12. CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS, CONVENTIONS.

Any constitutional amendment may be proposed by the legislative assembly and, if agreed upon by a recorded vote of three-fifths of the members elected to each house, it shall be submitted to the electors at the next general election. If a majority of votes cast thereon are affirmative, the amendment shall be effective thirty days after the election.

The legislative assembly may by law submit to the electors the question: "Shall a constitutional convention be called?" If the question has not been submitted once in any thirty-year period, the secretary of state shall place it on the ballot at the next general election. If a majority of votes cast thereon are affirmative, the legislative assembly shall provide for the election of delegates and the holding of the convention.

Section 13. AUDITOR GENERAL.

The legislative assembly shall provide for the appointment of an auditor general. He shall audit the receipt, expenditure and use of public funds, as provided by law, and shall be responsible to the legislative assembly in the performance of those duties.

Section 14. COMPENSATION.

Each member of the legislative assembly shall receive a salary and expense allowances as provided by law, but no increase in the amounts thereof shall apply to the legislative assembly which enacts the increase.

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 1B. One-house legislature (Unicameral)

If the electors approve alternate proposition 1B and also approve the proposed constitution of 1972 then the following shall comprise Article IV, Legislative Branch:

Section 1. LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

The legislative power of the state is vested in a single house, composed of no fewer than ninety-nine members, and designated as the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota.

Section 2. TERMS OF OFFICE.

Members of the legislative assembly shall be elected for terms of four years.

Section 3. QUALIFICATIONS.

Each person elected to the legislative assembly must be, on the day of his election, an elector in the district from which he is chosen.

Section 4. RESTRICTIONS.

While serving in the legislative assembly, no member may hold any full-time elective state or political subdivision office nor any full-time appointive state office established by this constitution or designated by law. During the term for which he was elected, no legislator shall be appointed to any full-time office which has been created, or for which the compensation has been increased, by the legislative assembly during that term.

Section 5. REAPPORTIONMENT.

A legislative reapportionment commission, consisting of electors appointed by the district judges in a number and manner as shall be established by the district judges, shall fix the number of legislators and divide the state into legislative districts of compact and contiguous territory. No district shall elect more than four legislators, and the commission shall guarantee, as nearly as practicable, that every voter is equal to every other voter in the state in the casting of ballots for legislative candidates.

The commission shall prescribe its own procedures. Upon agreement by a majority of its members, the commission shall file its reapportionment plan with the secretary of state, and it shall become effective sixty days after the date of filing; provided, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, may review any plan adopted by the commission. If the plan fails to meet state or federal constitutional requirements, the court shall direct the commission to revise the plan within a stated time.

Commission members shall be appointed following adoption of this constitution and immediately following the 1980 general election and every ten years thereafter. No member of the legislative assembly shall be eligible, during his term of office, for appointment to the commission. Commission members shall serve until each reapportionment plan becomes finally effective, and shall be compensated as provided by law. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

Section 6. LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS.

The legislative assembly shall establish by law a procedure whereby one-half of the legislators, as nearly as practicable, are elected biennially.

Section 7. SESSIONS.

The terms of legislators shall begin on the first Tuesday after the third day of January following their election. The legislative assembly shall meet to organize on the same day and may meet in plenary session no more than eighty natural days during the biennium. The days need not be consecutive, and meetings for the purpose of impeachment or on call of the governor shall not count against the eighty-day limitation. The legislative assembly may authorize its committees to meet at any time during the biennium.

Section 8. PROCEDURES.

The legislative assembly shall elect one of its members presiding officer at the beginning of each regular session.

A majority of the members elected to the legislative assembly shall constitute a quorum. A smaller number may adjourn from day to day and may compel attendance of absent members in a manner, and under a penalty, as may be provided by law.

The legislative assembly is the judge of the qualifications of its members, but election contests shall be subject exclusively to judicial review as provided by law. If two or more candidates for the same office receive an equal and highest number of votes, the secretary of state shall choose one of them by lot.

The legislative assembly shall determine its rules of procedure, and may punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence. With the concurrence of two-thirds of its elected members, it may expel a member.

Section 9. ENACTMENT OF LAWS.

The legislative assembly shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and a recorded vote on any question shall be taken at the request of one-sixth of those present. No bill shall become a law except by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

No bill shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title; but a law violating this provision shall be invalidated only to the extent the subject is not so expressed.

Every bill and resolution shall be read by title when introduced, and a printed copy thereof provided for each member. To be enacted or adopted, every bill or resolution shall have a public hearing and two considerations.

No bill shall be amended, extended or incorporated in any other bill by reference to its title only, except in the case of definitions and procedural provisions.

The presiding officer shall sign all bills passed and resolutions adopted by the legislative assembly, and the fact of signing shall be entered at once on the journal.

Every law enacted by the legislative assembly shall take effect on July first after its filing with the secretary of state or ninety days after its filing, whichever comes later, or on a subsequent date if specified in the law; unless, by a separate vote of two-thirds of the members elected, the legislative assembly declares it an emergency measure and includes the declaration in the act. An emergency measure shall take effect upon its filing with the secretary of state or on a date specified in the measure. Every law enacted by a special session of the legislative assembly shall take effect on a date specified in the act.

The legislative assembly shall enact all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this constitution. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, no local or special laws shall be enacted, nor shall the legislative assembly indirectly enact special or local laws by the partial repeal of a general law, but laws repealing local or special laws may be enacted.

Section 10. OPEN SESSIONS.

All sessions of the legislative assembly, including the committee of the whole and meetings of legislative committees, shall be open and public.

Section 11. IMMUNITIES.

Members of the legislative assembly shall be immune from arrest during their attendance at the sessions, and in going to or returning from the same, except in cases of felony or breach of the peace. For words used in any speech or debate in legislative proceedings, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Section 12. CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS, CONVENTIONS.

Any constitutional amendment may be proposed by the legislative assembly and if agreed upon by a recorded vote of three-fifths of the elected members, it shall be submitted to the electors at the next general election. If a majority of votes cast thereon are affirmative, the amendment shall be effective thirty days after the election.

The legislative assembly may by law submit to the electors the question: "Shall a constitutional convention be called?" If the question has not been submitted once in any thirty-year period, the secretary of state shall place it on the ballot at the next general election. If a majority of votes cast thereon are affirmative, the legislative assembly shall provide for the election of delegates and the holding of the convention.

Section 13. AUDITOR GENERAL.

The legislative assembly shall provide for the appointment of an auditor general. He shall audit the receipt, expenditure and use of public funds, as provided by law, and shall be responsible to the legislative assembly in the performance of those duties.

Section 14. COMPENSATION.

Each member of the legislative assembly shall receive a salary and expense allowances as provided by law, but no increase in the amounts thereof shall apply to the legislative assembly which enacts the increase.

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 1B CONTINUED.

If the electors approve alternate proposition 1B then the following changes shall be made in the following articles and sections of the constitution prior to promulgation and publication.

Article III — Powers Reserved to the People.

Section 8.

The words "to each house" shall be deleted.

Article V — Executive Branch.

Section 1.

The word "senate" appearing twice in the third paragraph shall be deleted and the words "legislative assembly" shall be substituted therefor.

Section 2.

The words "in joint session" shall be deleted from the second paragraph.

Section 6.

The second paragraph shall be deleted and the following paragraph shall be substituted therefor:

"The governor may, for more effective administration, make changes in the statutory allocation of funds, powers and duties among and within the executive departments, other than those headed by constitutionally elective officials. Any changes shall be set forth in an executive order and submitted to the legislative assembly, which shall have thirty session days to disapprove the order. If not disapproved by a majority of the elected members, the order shall have the force of law when filed with the secretary of state or on a later date specified therein.”

Section 9.

The first four sentences of paragraph three shall be deleted and the following shall be substituted therefor: “The governor shall return for reconsideration any vetoed item or bill, with a statement of his objections, to the legislative assembly, which shall immediately enter the governor’s objections upon its journal. If, by a recorded vote of two-thirds of its elected members, the legislative assembly passes a vetoed item or bill, it shall become law.”

The words “to each house” shall be deleted from the fifth sentence of paragraph three.

Section 10.

The second sentence shall be deleted and the following shall be substituted therefor: “If, while the legislative assembly is recessed or adjourned, a vacancy occurs in any office which is filled by appointment with confirmation by the legislative assembly, the governor shall make a temporary appointment to the office.”

The word “senate” shall be deleted from the third sentence and the words “legislative assembly” shall be substituted therefor.

The fourth sentence shall be deleted and the following shall be substituted therefor: “Except on request of the legislative assembly, no nominee rejected shall again be nominated for that office at the same session, nor shall he be appointed to that office during a recess or adjournment of the legislative assembly.”

Article VIII — Education.

Section 2 and 3

The word “senate” appearing in the second paragraph of section 2 and in the third paragraph of section 3 shall be deleted and the words “legislative assembly” shall be substituted therefor.

Article X — Finance and Public Debt.

Section 1.

The words “members elected to each house” shall be deleted and the words “elected members” shall be substituted therefor.

Section 8.

The words “each house of” shall be deleted from the second paragraph.

Article XI — General Provisions.

Section 11.

The second, third and fourth sentence of paragraph one shall be deleted and the following shall be substituted therefor: “The legislative assembly shall have the power to impeachment by a vote of a majority of the members elected, but a vote of two-thirds of the members elected shall be required for conviction.”

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 2A.

If the electors approve alternate proposition 2A and also approve the proposed constitution of 1972 then Article III, Powers Reserved to the People will provide as follows:

Section 1. POWERS RESERVED.

Notwithstanding any other provision in this constitution, the people reserve these powers: to propose and enact laws by the initiative, including the call for a constitutional convention; to approve or reject legislative acts, or parts thereof, by the referendum; to propose and adopt constitutional amendments by the initiative; and to recall certain elected officials. This article is self-executing and all of its provisions are mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate and safeguard, but not to hamper, restrict or impair these powers.

Section 2. PETITION.

A petition to initiate or to refer a measure shall be presented to the secretary of state for approval as to form. A request for approval shall be presented over the names and signatures of twenty-five or more electors as sponsors, one of whom shall be designated as chairman of the sponsoring committee. The secretary of state shall approve the petition for circulation if it is in proper form and contains the names and addresses of the sponsors and the full text of the measure.

Section 3. CIRCULATION.

The petition shall be circulated only by electors. They shall swear thereon that the electors who have signed the petition did so in their presence. Each elector signing a petition shall also write in the date of signing and his post office address. No law shall be enacted limiting the number of copies of a petition. The copies shall become part of the original petition when filed.

Section 4. SIGNATURE REQUIREMENT.

The petition may be submitted to the secretary of state if signed by electors equal in number to two percent of the resident population of the state at the last federal decennial census.

Section 5. SUBMISSION.

An initiative petition shall be submitted not less than ninety days before the general election at which the measure is to be voted upon. A referendum petition may be submitted only within ninety days after the filing of the measure with the secretary of state. The submission of a petition shall suspend the operation of any measure enacted by the legislative assembly except emergency measures and appropriation measures for the support and maintenance of state departments and institutions. The submission of a petition against one or more items or parts of any measure shall not prevent the remainder from going into effect. A referred measure may be voted upon at a general election or at a special election called by the governor.

Section 6. CERTIFICATION.

The secretary of state shall determine the validity and sufficiency of the signatures. If he finds irregularities, he shall notify the sponsoring committee and allow twenty days for corrections, but this time shall not be used for the addition of signatures. If the secretary of state finds a petition valid and sufficient, he shall certify it and prepare a ballot containing the full text of the measure and a ballot title summarizing the measure. If he finds a referendum petition insufficient, the suspension of the measure shall end and it shall not be referred.

Section 7. JUDICIAL REVIEW.

All decisions of the secretary of state in the petition process are subject to review by the supreme court in the exercise of original jurisdiction. If his decision is being reviewed at the time the ballot is prepared, he shall place the measure on the ballot and no court action shall invalidate the measure if it is approved at the election by a majority of the votes cast thereon.

Section 8. ENACTMENT.

If a majority of votes cast upon an initiated or a referred measure are affirmative, it shall be deemed enacted. An initiated or referred measure which is approved shall become law thirty days after the election, and a referred measure which is rejected shall be void immediately. If conflicting measures are approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall be law. A measure approved by the electors may not be repealed or amended by the legislative assembly for seven years from its effective date, except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house.

Section 9. INITIATED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

A constitutional amendment may be proposed by initiative petition. If signed by electors equal in number to four percent of the resident population of the state at the last federal decennial census, the petition may be submitted to the secretary of state. All other provisions relating to initiative measures apply hereto.

Section 10. RECALL.

Any elected nonjudicial official of the state, of any county or of any legislative or county commissioner district shall be subject to recall by petition of electors equal in number to twenty-five percent of those who voted at the preceding general election for the office of governor in the state, county or district in which the official is to be recalled.

The petition shall be filed with the official with whom a petition for nomination to the office in question is filed, who shall call a special election if he finds the petition valid and sufficient. No elector may remove his name from a recall petition.

The name of the official to be recalled shall be placed on the ballot unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. Other candidates for the office may be nominated in a manner provided by law. When the election results have been officially declared, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term. No official shall be subject twice to recall during the term for which he was elected.

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 2B.

If the electors approve alternate proposition 2B and also approve the proposed constitution of 1972 then Article III, Powers Reserved to the People will provide as follows:

Section 1. POWERS RESERVED.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this constitution, the people reserve these powers: to propose and enact laws by the initiative, including the call for a constitutional convention; to approve or reject legislative acts, or parts thereof, by the referendum; to propose and adopt constitutional amendments by the initiative; and to recall certain elected officials. This article is self-executing and all of its provisions are mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate and safeguard, but not to hamper, restrict or impair these powers.

Section 2. PETITION.

A petition to initiate or to refer a measure shall be sponsored by at least five electors, who shall represent and act for the petitioners as the sponsoring committee. No law shall prohibit any person from giving or receiving compensation for circulating a petition, nor interfere with freedom in securing signatures.

Section 3. CIRCULATION.

The petition shall be circulated only by electors. They shall swear thereon that the electors who have signed the petition did so in their presence. Each elector signing a petition shall also write in the date of signing and his post office address. No law shall be enacted limiting the number of copies of a petition. The copies shall become part of the original petition when filed.

Section 4. SIGNATURE REQUIREMENT.

The petition may be submitted to the secretary of state if signed by ten thousand electors in the case of an initiated measure and seven thousand electors in the case of a referred measure.

Section 5. SUBMISSION.

An initiative petition shall be submitted not less than ninety days before the general election at which the measure is to be voted upon. A referendum petition may be submitted only within ninety days after the filing of the measure with the secretary of state. The submission of a petition shall suspend the operation of any measure enacted by the legislative assembly except emergency measures and appropriation measures for the support and maintenance of state departments and institutions. The submission of a petition against one or more items or parts of any measure shall not prevent the remainder from going into effect. A referred measure may be voted upon at a general election or at a special election called by the governor.

Section 6. CERTIFICATION.

The secretary of state shall determine the validity and sufficiency of the signatures. If he finds irregularities, he shall notify the sponsoring committee and allow twenty days for corrections, but this time shall not be used for the addition of signatures. If the secretary of state finds a petition valid and sufficient, he shall certify it and prepare a ballot containing the full text of the measure and a ballot title summarizing the measure. If he finds a referendum petition insufficient, the suspension of the measure shall end and it shall not be referred.

Section 7. JUDICIAL REVIEW.

All decisions of the secretary of state in the petition process are subject to review by the supreme court in the exercise of original jurisdiction. If his decision is being reviewed at the time the ballot is prepared, he shall place the measure on the ballot and no court action shall invalidate the measure if it is approved at the election by a majority of the votes cast thereon.

Section 8. ENACTMENT.

If a majority of votes cast upon an initiated or a referred measure are affirmative, it shall be deemed enacted. An initiated or referred measure which is approved shall become law thirty days after the election, and a referred measure which is rejected shall be void immediately. If conflicting measures are approved, the one receiving the highest number of affirmative votes shall be law. A measure approved by the electors may not be repealed or amended by the legislative assembly for seven years from its effective date, except by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house.

Section 9. INITIATED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

A constitutional amendment may be proposed by initiative petition. If signed by twenty thousand electors, the petition may be submitted to the secretary of state. All other provisions relating to initiative measures apply hereto.

Section 10. RECALL.

Any elected nonjudicial official of the state, of any county or of any legislative or county commissioner district shall be subject to recall by petition of electors equal in number to twenty-five percent of those who voted at the preceding general election for the office of governor in the state, county or district in which the official is to be recalled.

The petition shall be filed with the official with whom a petition for nomination to the office in question is filed, who shall call a special election if he finds the petition valid and sufficient. No elector may remove his name from a recall petition.

The name of the official to be recalled shall be placed on the ballot unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. Other candidates for the office may be nominated in a manner provided by law. When the election results have been officially declared, the candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term. No official shall be subject twice to recall during the term for which he was elected.

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 3.

If the electors approve alternate proposition 3 and also approve the proposed constitution of 1972 then the following changes shall be made in the following article of the constitution prior to promulgation and publication:

Another section shall be added to Article I with the following wording:

"Section 28. ADULTS.

Persons eighteen years of age or older are declared to be adults for all purposes."

Section 28 relating to "Rights Retained" shall be renumbered section 29.

ALTERNATE PROPOSITION 4.

If the electors approve alternate proposition 4 and also approve the proposed constitution of 1972 then the following change shall be made in the following article of the constitution prior to promulgation and publication:

Another section shall be added to Article XI with the following wording:

"Section 14. LOTTERIES.

The legislative assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises for any purpose and shall enact laws to prohibit the sale of lottery or gift enterprise tickets."

APPENDIX B

OFFICIAL ABSTRACT OF VOTES CAST AT THE SPECIAL ELECTION HELD APRIL 28, 1972

1972 CONSTITUTION AND ITS ALTERNATE PROPOSITIONS

COUNTY	PRECINCTS	TOTAL VOTES CAST	MAIN PROPOSITION		ALTERNATE PROPOSITION No. 1		ALTERNATE PROPOSITION No. 2		ALTERNATE PROPOSITION No. 3 - 18 years of age or older declared to be adults for all purposes.		ALTERNATE PROPOSITION No. 4 Legislative Assembly shall have no power to authorize lotteries or gift enterprises, etc.
			Yes	No	1A	1B	2A	2B	Yes	No	Yes	No
Adams	14	1207	491	705	726	368	557	465	539	610	498	620
Barnes	52	4818	2029	2783	2943	1530	2482	1748	1888	2754	2007	2439
Benson	48	2748	904	1813	1935	596	1127	1196	914	1714	1110	1446
Billing	13	431	88	340	281	126	160	215	142	272	204	198
Boffineau	25	3517	1133	2374	2362	821	1494	1481	995	2364	1378	1847
Bowman	14	1113	291	817	805	231	453	529	431	634	503	524
Burke	19	1756	302	1448	1209	345	559	867	450	1204	704	875
Burleigh	65	12832	4959	7737	7392	4104	5496	5310	5620	6759	5124	7012
Cass	98	18754	9656	8793	10587	6192	10032	6407	7478	10344	7450	10077
Cavalier	56	2816	833	1966	1956	585	1132	1215	1075	1568	1106	1424
Dickey	15	2033	675	1349	1380	520	897	873	618	1320	822	1061
Divide	25	1464	434	1026	1037	290	563	658	335	1050	547	773
Dunn	25	1474	341	1128	909	409	567	692	456	950	673	703
Eddy	22	1405	514	881	935	387	639	605	416	945	542	791
Emmons	33	2098	655	1437	1078	849	667	1166	930	1110	669	1315
Foster	24	1461	729	632	944	405	790	493	522	889	566	816
Golden Valley	11	802	198	600	519	186	309	337	318	425	283	419
Grand Forks	68	12161	6555	5502	6635	4350	6086	4061	6276	5290	4540	6778
Grant	17	1539	291	1240	979	418	501	825	468	1019	651	812
Griggs	25	1465	578	880	944	400	684	561	487	909	656	706
Heffinger	13	1638	447	1187	1080	433	634	798	588	984	692	850
Kidder	15	1221	327	889	763	364	418	633	368	811	528	614
LaMoure	39	2403	1076	1298	1545	698	1150	918	716	1600	1050	1201
Logan	31	1364	384	971	778	468	532	637	423	884	458	825
McHenry	68	3397	762	2618	2252	831	1290	1572	993	2259	1384	1800
McIntosh	23	1907	482	1408	1047	630	671	893	454	1388	547	1276
McKenzie	41	2010	570	1430	1364	411	798	816	603	1274	757	1047
McLean	42	3740	1156	2574	2551	915	1504	1786	1105	2501	1456	2079
Mercer	15	2087	504	1574	1199	623	707	1013	593	1392	714	1226
Morton	57	6072	1726	4334	3447	2059	2326	2926	2529	3312	2221	3510
Mountrail	57	2602	836	1756	1871	527	1061	1186	681	1843	1057	1351
Nelson	35	2263	947	1299	1506	537	1052	833	785	1325	755	1317
Oliver	8	727	139	588	444	222	262	363	227	480	272	415
Pembina	42	2851	1076	1751	1918	692	1279	1104	1165	1536	1143	1468
Pierce	17	1981	543	1424	1327	479	785	913	508	1402	638	1212
Ramsey	53	3943	1605	2318	2776	863	1917	1503	1618	2169	1504	2165
Ransom	15	1974	855	1109	1218	588	892	754	723	1144	817	989
Renshaw	12	1467	411	1048	1073	283	611	657	441	960	620	742
Renville	54	4975	2266	2659	3146	1413	2372	1879	1896	2787	2196	2378
Richland	15	1891	464	1413	1259	416	762	804	687	1100	682	1030
Rolette	27	1899	819	1064	1244	485	863	692	715	1088	719	1005
Sargent	32	1339	238	1094	960	300	501	673	254	1059	640	649
Sheridan	8	464	206	255	298	125	209	199	218	233	168	262
Sioux	9	483	82	401	363	100	194	233	182	281	244	211
Slope	12	5120	1591	3461	3028	1628	2222	2245	1950	2918	2010	2835
Stark	25	1433	500	927	1009	337	648	611	334	1051	672	669
Steele	72	5940	2560	3283	3595	1798	2860	2227	2245	3433	2389	3189
Stutsman	37	1652	564	1088	1241	293	748	658	571	1000	601	929
Towner	37	3410	1195	2187	2354	797	1625	1272	916	2358	1496	1651
Trail	56	4214	1939	2258	2835	1055	1951	1635	1646	2406	1560	2376
Walsh	81	12632	3856	8668	8507	2907	5150	5451	4486	7473	4709	7089
Ward	47	2861	676	2177	1992	663	1107	1373	680	2056	1231	1460
Wells	72	5351	1615	3681	3600	1165	2289	2101	1565	3514	2185	2681
Williams
TOTAL		1836	173205	64073	107643	109146	48217	76585	71062	63223	102151	68148	93137

COMMITTEE PROPOSAL INDEX

Committee Proposal No. 1-1

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-8

Committee Proposal No. 1-1. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the Preamble of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be amended.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 20

Reported back:

Do Pass, 102

Motion to return Proposal to the Convention failed, 158, 161

Floor Amendments:

119 Not adopted, 125

First Passage, 126

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 132

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-2

Committee Proposal No. 1-2. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article I, sections 1 through 24, of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the Declaration of Rights, be repealed; and that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to a Declaration of Rights, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 20

Reported back: Indefinitely postponed, 102

Committee Proposal No. 1-3

Committee Proposal No. 1-3. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 208, pertaining to debtors' rights; section 209, pertaining to child labor; section 212, pertaining to blacklists; and section 213, pertaining to women's rights to property, of article XVII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 20-21

Reported back: Indefinitely postponed, 196

Committee Proposal No. 1-4

Committee Proposal No. 1-4. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 1 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 21

Reported back:

Do pass, 115

First reading, 142

First passage:

146 Ayes, 64; nays, 33; absent, 1

Reported back (Style and Drafting)

Not amended, 1303

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 173

Motion to return Proposal to floor of Convention defeated, 208

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adopted, 1351

Repeal Proposal: No further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-5

Committee Proposal No. 1-5. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the first paragraph of section 203 of article XVI of the constitution of the state of North Dakota pertaining to the Compact with the United States, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 21

Reported back: Indefinitely postponed, 196

Committee Proposal No. 1-6

Committee Proposal No. 1-6. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article V, sections 121 through 129, of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the Elective Franchise, be repealed; and that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the Elective Franchise, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 21

Reported back: Indefinitely postponed, 197

Committee Proposal No. 1-7

Committee Proposal No. 1-7. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 through 70, inclusive, sections 194 through 201, inclusive, section 202, section 211 and articles 51 and 75 of the amendments to the constitution of the State of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all pertaining to the legislative branch of state government.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 71

Withdrawn, 107

Committee Proposal No. 1-8

Committee Proposal No. 1-8. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 25, section 202, and article 33 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 21

Withdrawn, 688

Committee Proposal No. 1-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-9. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article III, sections 72 through 84 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, both of which pertain to the executive branch of state government.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 21

Reported back: Indefinitely postponed, 667

Committee Proposal No. 1-10

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-10. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article XIII, sections 188 through 193 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the state militia.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 21-22

Reported back:

Amended, 118

Amendments adopted, 142

First passage:

180 Ayes, 94; nays, 2; absent, 2

Referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 180

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 184

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-11

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-3

Committee Proposal No. 1-11. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, and 120 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article IV of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the judicial branch of government.

Introduced by Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 22

Re-referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 469
Reported back:

Divided Report — Majority, to amend, 269, 388

Minority, to Amend, 271, 388

Committee report laid over one day, 388

Committee report laid over to a time certain, 392

To be considered in a special manner, 533-534

Minority report failed on division vote, 636

Floor amendments:

637 Withdrawn, 644

644 Not adopted, 647

651 Not adopted, 652

653-654 Adopted, 657

657 Amendment to amendment, Adopted, 657

657-658 Not adopted on division vote, 660

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 636

Motion to lay over one day failed, 640

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, failed on division vote, 661

First passage:

693 Ayes, 72; nays, 22; absent, 4

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-12

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-7

Committee Proposal No. 1-12. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 130, 150, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 172 and 173 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article XII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to political subdivisions.

Introduced by Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 22

Reported back:

Amended, 568

Amendments adopted, 616

Floor amendments:

1069 Adopted, 1070

1073 Not adopted, 1076

1076 Adopted, 1078

1081 Amendment question divided, 1085

Changing majority to 55 percent not adopted, 1086

Remainder of Amendment not adopted, 1086

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1087

First passage:

1087 Ayes, 94; nays, 2; absent, 2

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-13

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal, 5-14

Committee Proposal No. 1-13. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 203, 204, and 205 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article XIII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the compact with the United States.

Introduced by Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 22

Returned to 6th Order, 1350

Reported back:

Amended, 254

Amendments adopted, 262

Floor amendments:

286 Not adopted, 289

First passage:

290 Ayes, 87; nays, 8; absent, 3

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1301

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee Report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

Committee Proposal No. 1-14

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-14. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 206 and 207 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article XV to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to state boundaries and the state seal.

Introduced by Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 22

Re-referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 148

Amended, 101-102

Divided report — Majority, to amend, 392-393, 470

Minority, to amend, 393, 470

Committee report laid over one day, 393, 470

Minority report failed on division vote, 519

Majority report adopted, 519

Amendments adopted, 116, 569

Motion to lay over to a time certain failed, 147

First passage:

830-831 Ayes, 92, nays, 2; absent, 4

Reported back:

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-15

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-4

Committee Proposal No. 1-15. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, and article 54 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article V to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to education.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 22

Reported back:

Divided report — Majority, to amend, 734
Minority, to amend, 734-735
Committee report laid over to a time certain, 735
Minority report failed on a roll call vote, 957
Majority report adopted, 957

Amendments adopted, 1046

Floor amendments:

1231 Adopted, 1233
1235 Adopted, 1237
1236 Amendment to amendment, Adopted, 1237
1238 Not adopted, 1246
1246 Not adopted, 1246

Question divided, 1247

First passage:

1252 Section 1 Ayes, 90; nays, 5; absent, 3
1254 Excluding Section 1 Ayes, 85; nays, 8; absent, 5

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-16

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-16. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article VI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to environmental degradation, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 22

Reported back:

Divided report — Majority, do pass, 564
Minority, to amend, 564
Committee report laid over to a time certain, 566
Minority report failed on division vote, 587
Majority report adopted, 587

Floor amendments:

831 Not adopted on roll call vote, 836

First passage:

836 Ayes, 66; nays, 30; absent, 2

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-17

Committee Proposal No. 1-17. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 160, 161, 163, 164 and 165 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article VII to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to trust lands.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 22

Withdrawn, 533

Committee Proposal No. 1-18

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-18. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 215 and 216 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article VIII to the constitution of the state or North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to public institutions.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 22-23

Reported back:

Do pass, 197

Proposal placed at foot of calendar, 234

Floor amendments:

252 Adopted, 252

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 252

First passage:

252 Ayes, 84; nays, 12; absent, 2

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-19

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-19. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 210 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article IX to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to appropriation of waters.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 23

Re-referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 190

Reported back:

Do pass, 175, 254

First passage:

275 Ayes, 83; nays, 12; absent, 3

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 278-279

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-20

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-20. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 131, 132, 133, 134, 136, 137, 138, 140, 141, 143, 144 and 145 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that Article X to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to corporations.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 23

Re-referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 153

Question divided:

Excluding section 135, 151

Excluding section 142, 152

Excluding section 146, 151

Reported back:

Do pass, 116

Amended, 213

Amendments adopted, 268

First passage:

327 Ayes, 87; nays, 1; absent, 10

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-21

Committee Proposal No. 1-21. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article XI, sections 174 through 181, pertaining to revenue and taxation, article XII, sections 182 through 187, pertaining to public debt and public works, of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, and article 56 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to motor fuel and license taxes, be repealed; and that a new article XI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to finance and public debt, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 23

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposals 1-23, 1-74, 1-77, 1-87 and 1-96, 692

Committee Proposal No. 1-22

Committee Proposal No. 1-22. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that articles 14 and 19, pertaining to mills and elevators in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota; article 24, pertaining to hail tax; articles 59, 65 and 87, pertaining to veterans' bonuses; article 60, pertaining to the medical center; and article 76, pertaining to bonds, of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 23

Reported back:

Do pass, 101-102

Question divided, 130

First passage:

Excluding Article 60 — Medical Center, 131

Article 60, 131

Motion to return proposal to Convention failed, 163

Referred to Committee on Style and drafting, 132

Repeal — No further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-23

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2

Committee Proposal No. 1-23. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 175, 178, 179 and 186 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to finance and taxation and state moneys.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 118

Re-referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 267

Reported back:

Amended, 197, 285

Amendments adopted, 219, 350

Floor amendments:

408 Not adopted on division vote, 412

414 Adopted on division vote, 416

417 Not adopted on division vote, 419

422-423 Adopted, 424

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 420

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 424

Question divided, 401, 414

First passage:

421 Section 2 Ayes, 21; nays, 74; absent, 3 Lost

421 Section 3 Ayes, 85; nays, 9; absent, 4

421 Section 4 Ayes, 89; nays, 3; absent, 6

421 Section 5 Ayes, 93; nays, 1; absent, 4

422 Section 6 Ayes, 82; nays, 12; absent, 4

424 Section 1 Ayes, 93; nays, 0; absent, 5

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-24

Committee Proposal No. 1-24. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 177, pertaining to hail tax; 180, pertaining to poll tax; 181, pertaining to passage of laws to carry out provision of finance and taxation article; and 187, pertaining to certificate of indebtedness to be signed by auditor and secretary of state; of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 118

Reported back:

Do pass, 275

First passage:

328 Ayes, 86; nays, 0; absent, 12

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

Repeal — No further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-25

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

Committee Proposal No. 1-25. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 79 and 80 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the veto power of the governor, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 133

Re-referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 388

Reported back:

Do pass, 254

Amended, 735-736

Amendments adopted, 781

Floor amendments:

329 Adopted, 330

First passage:

331 Ayes, 87; nays, 5; absent, 6

1003 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 383

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-26

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

Committee Proposal No. 1-26. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 77 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to gubernatorial succession, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 133

Re-referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 338

Reported back:

Do pass, 254

Amended, 736

Amendments adopted, 782

First passage:

1009 Ayes, 95; nays, 0; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-27

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

Committee Proposal No. 1-27. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 75, 76 and 78 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to powers and duties of the governor, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 133

Reported back:

Do pass, 254

Floor amendments:

339 Adopted, 339

341 Adopted, 341

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 339-340, 341

First passage:

341 Ayes, 87; nays, 1; absent, 10

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1301

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 963, 1350

Returned to 6th order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee Report, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-28

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

Committee Proposal No. 1-28. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 73 and 84 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to qualifications and compensation of elected officials, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 134

Reported back:

Do pass, 254

Floor amendments:

342 Adopted, 342

523 Adopted, 527

527 Adopted, 527

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 342

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 531

First passage:

343 Ayes, 87; nays, 2; absent, 9

532 Ayes, 89; nays, 3; absent, 6

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 425

Placed at foot of calendar, 425-426

Reported back, (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1301

Returned to 6th Order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-29

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-29. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 29 and 35 of Article II and section 214 of Article XVIII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 4 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to reapportionment of the state legislature.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 134

Re-referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 671

Reported back:

Amended, 522, 736

Amendments adopted, 570, 784

Floor amendments:

1178-1179 Amendment question divided, 1182

First sentence, Section 4, not adopted on division vote, 1190

Excluding first sentence, Section 4, not adopted on roll call vote, 1193

1194 Not adopted, 1196

1196 Adopted, 1197

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1197

Question divided, 1175; withdrawn, 1197

First passage:

1179 Ayes, 79; nays, 16; absent, 3

Reconsideration:

Failed on division vote, 1331

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-30

Incorporated into Style and drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-30. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 211 of Article XVII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 27 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the oath of office.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 134

Reported back:

Do pass, 153

Proposal laid over one day, 180

Floor amendments:

191 Adopted, 191

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 192

First passage:

192 Ayes, 95; nays, 0; absent, 3

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 209

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-31

Committee Proposal No. 1-31. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 194 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 22 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to grounds for impeachment.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 134

Re-referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1226

Returned to Convention floor, 687, 1689

Withdrawn, 1690

Committee Proposal No. 1-32

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-32. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 194, 195 and 196 of Article XIV of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 22 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to grounds for impeachment.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 134

Reported back:

Do pass, 446

Floor amendments:

496 Adopted, 497

498 Adopted, 499

499 Adopted, 499

537 Adopted, 538

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage at a time certain, 500

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 538

First passage:

538-539 Ayes, 89; nays, 0; absent, 9

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1301

Returned to 6th Order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-33

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-33. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 197, 198, 200 and 201 of Article XIV of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 24 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all pertaining to impeachment.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 134

Reported back:

Do pass, 154

Proposal laid over one day, 180

Floor amendments:

193-194 Adopted, 194

1038 Adopted, 1038

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 194

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1039

First passage:

194 Ayes, 95; nays, 0; absent, 3

1039 Ayes, 89; nays, 0; absent, 9

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 209

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 1038

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-34

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-34. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 29 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the matter of legislative ethics, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 134

Reported back:

Amended, 154

Proposal laid over one day, 176

Amendments adopted, 189

Floor amendments:

221 Not adopted on roll call vote, 229

Motion to lay amendments and proposal over one convention day failed, 229

Motion to re-refer to Committee on Legislative Functions failed, 232

First passage:

232 Ayes, 51; nays, 46; absent, 1

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-35

Committee Proposal No. 1-35. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 202 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that sections 25 and 26 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the manner in which the constitution may be altered.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 135

Re-referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1226

Returned to convention floor, 687, 1689

Withdrawn, 1690

Committee Proposal No. 1-36

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-36. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 202 of Article XV of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, and Article 88 of the amendments thereto, be repealed; and that sections 25 and 26 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the manner in which the constitution may be altered.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 135

Reported back:

Amended, 481-482

Amendments adopted, 513

Floor amendments:

721 Adopted, 722

723 Adopted, 724

724 Not adopted, 726

726 Not adopted, 726

1031 Not adopted, 1031

1032 Not adopted, 1032

First passage.

1032 Ayes, 80; nays, 13; absent, 5

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-37

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-37. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 41, 53, 55 and 56 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 8 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to a legislative timetable.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 135

Reported back:

Amended, 429

Amendments adopted, 462

Floor amendments:

544 Not adopted, 546

548 Not adopted, 549

First passage:

552 Ayes, 78; nays, 7; absent, 13

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-38

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-38. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 37 and 39 of Article II and Article 51 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 7 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to restrictions on the office-holding capabilities of state legislators.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 135

Reported back:

Do pass, 566

Floor amendments:

837 Adopted, 837

838 Adopted on division vote, 841

842 Adopted on division vote, 843

844 Adopted on division vote, 846

1127 Adopted, 1129

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1129

First passage:

1130 Ayes, 83; nays, 12; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-39

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-39. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 45 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 10 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to legislative compensation.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 135

Proposal laid over one day, 180

Re-referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 180

Reported back:

Do pass, 154

Amended, 214

Amendments adopted, 268

Floor amendments:

343 Adopted, 345

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 345

First passage:

345 Ayes, 85; nays, 3; absent, 10

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-40

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-40. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 28 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the office of auditor general, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 135

Reported back:

Amended, 275

Amendments adopted, 284

First passage

355 Ayes, 94; nays, 1; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-41

Committee Proposal No. 1-41. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 29 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 4 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to reapportionment of the state legislature.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 135

Re-referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1226

Returned to convention floor, 687, 1689

Withdrawn, 1690

Committee Proposal No. 1-42

Committee Proposal No. 1-42. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 25 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 1 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the legislative system.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 136

Reported back:

Without recommendation, 275

To be considered in special manner, 292-293

Poll of Delegates choice, 318-322

Re-referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 323

Returned to convention floor, 687, 1689

Re-referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1226

Withdrawn, 1690

Committee Proposal No. 1-43

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-43. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 25 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 1 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the legislative system.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 136

Reported back:

Amended, 214

Amendments adopted, 270

To be considered in special manner, 292-293

Poll of Delegates choice, 318-322

First passage:

323 Ayes, 68; nays, 27; absent, 3

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 346

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-44

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-44. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 27, 30 and 33 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that sections 2 and 5 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all pertaining to legislative terms of office.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 136

Reported back:

Do pass, 566

Floor amendments:

847 Adopted, 847

1209 Amendment question divided, 1209

Section 2 adopted on division vote, 1214

- 1214 Not adopted, 1218
 - Reconsideration of Section 2 adoption prevailed on division vote, 1219
 - Amendment not be divided — ruled out of order, 1221
 - Section 5 be considered before Section 2 failed on division vote, 1222
 - Section 2 not adopted on division vote, 1223
 - Section 5 of amendment withdrawn, 1273
- 1274 Adopted, 1276
- 1503-1504 Not adopted, 1510
 - 1510 Adopted, 1511
 - 1511 Not adopted, 1512
 - 1514 Adopted, 1515

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 852

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1276, 1513, 1515

First passage:

- 854 Ayes, 70; nays, 26; absent, 2
- 1276 Ayes, 81; nays, 12; absent, 5
- 1515 Ayes, 87; nays, 8; absent, 3

Reported back (Committee on Style and Drafting):

Amended and incorporated in Redraft Proposal No. 5-12, 1540

Amendments adopted, 1541

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 1028

Section 5 only (Section 6 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-12), Prevailed, 1500

Further consideration delayed until a time certain, 1501

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-45

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-45. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 28 and 34 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 3 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to qualifications for legislative office.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 136

Reported back:

Amended, 482

Amendments adopted, 514

Floor amendments:

729 Not adopted, 734

First passage:

734 Ayes, 84; nays, 11; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-46

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-46. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 1 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to inalienable rights.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 136

Reported back:

Do pass, 197

Floor amendments:

235 Not adopted, 236

First passage:

238 Ayes, 76; nays, 21; absent, 1

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1302

Returned to 6th Order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-47

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-47. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 3 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the supreme law of the land.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 136

Reported back:

Do pass, 198

First passage:

238 Ayes, 88; nays, 8; absent, 2

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-48

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-48. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 10 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be revealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to right to assemble.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 136

Reported back:

Do pass, 198

First passage:

239 Ayes, 94; nays, 2; absent, 2

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-49

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-49. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 12 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the military being subordinate to the civil power.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 136-137

Reported back:

Do pass, 198

First passage:

239 Ayes, 97; nays, 0; absent, 1

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-50

Committee Proposal No. 1-50. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 17 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to slavery, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 137

Reported back:

Do pass, 198

First passage:

240 Ayes, 94; nays, 2; absent, 2

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

Repeal proposal — No further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-51

Committee Proposal No. 1-51. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 19 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to treason against the state, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 137

Reported back:

Do pass, 198

Motion to lay over one day failed, 242

First passage:

243 Ayes, 45; nays, 50; absent, 2; Lost

Committee Proposal No. 1-52

Committee Proposal No. 1-52. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 21 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to provisions of the constitution being mandatory and prohibitory, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 137

Reported back:

Do pass, 198

First passage:

246 Ayes, 62; nays, 35; absent, 1

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

Repeal — No further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-53

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-53. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 23 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota

be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to freedom to obtain employment.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 137

To be considered at a time certain, 377

Reported back:

Divided report — Majority, do pass, 431

Minority, to amend, 431

Minority report adopted on roll call vote, 446

Amendments adopted, 462

Floor amendments:

554 Adopted, 555

556-557 Not adopted, 559

737 Not adopted, 739

739 Not adopted on roll call vote, 740

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, failed on a division vote, 559

First passage:

740 Ayes, 66; nays, 28; absent, 4

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-54

Committee Proposal No. 1-54. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 209 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to child labor, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 137

Reported back:

Do pass, 201

First passage:

246 Ayes, 94; nays, 3; absent, 1

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 253

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

Repeal — No further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-55

Committee Proposal No. 1-55. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 212 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to blacklists, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 137

Reported back:

Do pass, 482

First passage:

570 Ayes, 89; nays, 2; absent, 7

Repeal — no further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-56

Committee Proposal No. 1-56. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 213 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to property rights of women, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 137

Reported back:

Do pass, 214

First passage:

356 Ayes, 94; nays, 1; absent, 3

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

Repeal proposal — No further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-57

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-57. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to equal enjoyment of public accommodations, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 154

Re-referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155-156, 357

Reported back:

Do pass, 214

Amended, 456

Placed at foot of calendar, 464

Amendments not adopted, 515

Proposal laid over one day, 467-468, 746

Floor amendments:

740 Not adopted, 746

742 Amendment to amendment failed, 743

1117 Adopted, 1118

1154 Adopted on roll call vote, 1156

1156 Adopted, 1156

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1118

Rules suspended, properly-re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1156

First passage:

1119 Ayes, 86; nays, 9; absent, 3

1156 Ayes, 84; nays, 3; absent, 11

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 1153

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-58

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-58. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 5 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to release from unlawful detention or imprisonment.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 154

Reported back:

Do pass, 214

Floor amendments:

358 Adopted, 358

360 Adopted, 360

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 358, 360

First passage:

361 Ayes, 73; nays, 18; absent, 7

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1302

Returned to 6th order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350
Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

Reconsideration:

(When Section 15 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-9) Failed, 1378

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-59

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-59. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 9 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to freedom of press.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 154

Reported back:

Do pass, 215

First passage:

362 Ayes, 92; nays, 0; absent, 6

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1302

Returned to 6th order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-60

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-60. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 8 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to indictment and information.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155

Re-referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 364

Reported back:

Do pass, 215

Amended, 456, 662

Amendments adopted, 465, 674

Floor amendments:

1060 Adopted, 1060

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1060

First passage:

1061 Ayes, 90; nays, 0; absent, 8

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-61

Committee Proposal No. 1-61. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 16 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to bills of attainder and ex post facto laws and nonimpairment of obligations of contracts.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155

Re-referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 365-366

Reported back:

Do pass, 215

Indefinitely postponed, 482

First passage:

365 Ayes, 22; nays, 69; absent, 7 Lost

Committee Proposal No. 1-62

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-62. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 15 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to not being imprisoned for debt.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155

Reported back:

Do pass, 215

First passage:

379 Ayes, 78; nays, 15; absent, 5

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-63

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-63. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 18 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to search and seizure.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155

Reported back:

Do pass, 275

First passage:

382 Ayes, 51; nays, 42; absent, 5

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1302

Return to 6th Order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-64

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-64. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 2 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to political power in the people, be retained in its present form.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155

Reported back:

Do pass, 215

First passage:

447 Ayes, 82; nays, 0; absent, 16

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-65

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-65. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 11 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to uniform operation of laws, be retained.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155

Reported back:

Do pass, 215

First passage:

448 Ayes, 84; nays, 0; absent, 14

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-66

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-66. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 13 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to rights of a defendant in criminal prosecutions, be retained.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155

Reported back:

Do pass, 215

First passage:

449 Ayes, 92; nays, 0; absent, 6

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-67

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-67. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 20 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to not granting special privileges and immunities, be retained.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 155-156

Reported back:

Do pass, 276

First passage:

450 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-68

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-68. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 24 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to declaration of rights remaining inviolate, be retained.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 156

Reported back:

Do pass, 216

First passage:

450 Ayes, 94; nays, 1; absent, 3

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-69

Committee Proposal No. 1-69. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 31, 36, 46, 47, 48, 49, 58, 61, 63, 64 and 66 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new sectional Convention that sections 31, 36, 46, 47, 48, 49, 58, 61, 63, 64, 65 and 66 of of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to matters of legislative procedure.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 156

Re-referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1226

Returned to convention floor, 687, 1689

Withdrawn, 1690

Committee Proposal No. 1-70

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-70. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 31, 36, 46, 47, 48, 49, 58, 61, 63, 64, 65 and 66 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new sections 6, 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18 and 19 of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to matters of legislative procedure.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 156

Reported back:

Do pass, 522

Floor amendments:

749 Adopted, 749

1158 Adopted, 1161

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 749-750

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1161

First passage:

750 Ayes, 89; nays, 2; absent, 7

1161 Ayes, 92; nays, 3; absent, 3

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 1067

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-71

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-71. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 6 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the Constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to bail.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 156

Reported back:

Do pass, 216

Placed at foot of calendar, 452

Floor amendments:

570-571 Adopted, 572

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 572

First passage:

572 Ayes, 92; nays, 0; absent, 6

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-72

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-72. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 22 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; which pertains to courts being open.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 156

Reported back:

Amended, 483

Amendments adopted, 515

Floor amendments:

750 Adopted, 751

751 Adopted, 752

967 Not adopted, 970

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 751, 752

First passage:

752 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4

974-975 Ayes, 84; nays, 4; absent, 5

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 930

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-73

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-73. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 4 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to religious freedom.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 156

Reported back:

Do pass, 216

First passage:

454 Ayes, 77; nays, 17; absent, 4

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1302

Returned to 6th order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-74

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2

Committee Proposal No. 1-74. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 182 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to state debt.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 171-172

Reported back:

Amended, 676

Amendments adopted, 785

Floor amendments:

1257 Adopted on division vote, 1264

1264 Not adopted, 1270

Request that amendment question be divided denied, 1268

1269 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1269

1270 Adopted, 1273

Further consideration delayed until time certain, 1273
1334 Adopted on division vote, 1342
1336 Amendment to amendment adopted on division vote, 1337
1338 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1338
1339 Amendment to amendment not adopted, 1341

Properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1342

First passage:

1342 Ayes, 89; nays, 2; absent, 7

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-75

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-75. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 42, 67, 68, 69 and 70 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new sections 9, 20 and 21 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the legislative process.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 172

Reported back:

Do pass, 676

Floor amendments:

1033 Adopted, 1033

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1035

First passage:

1035-1036 Ayes, 90; nays, 1; absent, 7

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-76

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-76. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 50 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 15 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the openness of legislative sessions.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 172

Reported back:

Do pass, 483

Proposal laid over two days, 573

Floor amendments:

1015 Not adopted, 1018

First passage:

1020 Ayes, 87; nays, 7; absent, 4

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-77

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

Committee Proposal No. 1-77. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 183 and 184 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to political subdivision debt.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 172

Reported back:

Do pass, 483

Floor amendments:

574 Not adopted, 575

First passage:

575 Ayes, 89; nays, 5; absent, 4

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-78

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-78. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the death penalty, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 176

Reported back:

Do pass, 276

First passage:

455 Ayes, 76; nays, 17; absent, 5

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303

Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-79

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-79. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to right to keep arms, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 176

Reported back:

Amended, 456

Amendments adopted, 465

First passage:

580 Ayes, 77; nays, 18; absent, 3

Reconsideration:

Failed, 1030

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-80

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-80. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that Section 208 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the right of debtors.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 179-180

Reported back:

Amended, 662

Amendments adopted, 676

Floor amendments:

1090 Adopted, 1090

1090 Adopted, 1092

1092 Not adopted, 1093

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1094

First passage:

1089 Ayes, 45; nays, 47; absent, 6 Lost

1094 Ayes, 91; nays, 3; absent, 4

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 1090

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-81

Committee Proposal No. 1-81. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to cumulative voting for candidates for legislative office, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 177

Re-referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 267

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 736

Committee Proposal No. 1-82

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-10

Committee Proposal No. 1-82. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 127 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to voting disqualifications.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 177

Reported back:

Do pass, 520

Floor amendments:

768 Adopted on division vote, 773

772 Amendment to amendment not adopted, 773

1162 Adopted, 1166

1166-1167 Not adopted on division vote, 1170

1332 Adopted, 1333

Proposal laid over one day, 774

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 774

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed at foot of calendar for first passage, 1172

Properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1333

First passage:

1333-1334 Ayes, 88; nays, 1; absent, 9

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-83

Committee Proposal No. 1-83. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 129 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to duties of the legislature with regard to elections.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 177

Re-referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 766

Reported back:

Divided report — Majority, do pass, 520

Minority, to amend, 520

Proposal laid over two days, 521

Minority report failed on division vote, 620

Majority report adopted, 620

Placed at head of calendar, 765

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal, 1-85, 966

Committee Proposal No. 1-84

Committee Proposal No. 1-84. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to right to counsel for indigents in civil proceedings in which the state or its subdivisions are adverse parties, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 177

Reported back:

Do pass, 276

Floor amendments:

503 Not adopted, 504

504 Died for want of second, 504

711 Not adopted on roll call vote, 718

First passage:

505 Ayes, 39; nays, 54; absent, 5 Lost

718 Ayes, 28; nays, 68; absent, 2 Lost

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 510

Placed at foot of calendar, 511

Committee Proposal No. 1-85

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-10

Committee Proposal No. 1-85. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 128 and 129 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota and articles 36 and 40 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the elective franchise.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 177

Re-referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 766

Reported back:

Do pass, 520

Amended, 966

Amendments adopted, 1047

Floor amendments:

754 Adopted, 757

757 Withdrawn, 758

759 Adopted on division vote, 760

761 Not adopted on division vote, 762

1285 Adopted, 1286

1286 Not adopted, 1287

Reconsideration of action by which amendment at page 1286 was not adopted, failed, 1290

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 764

Question divided, 760-761

Placed on calendar at a time certain, 764-765

Moved to the head of the calendar, 765

Properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1290

First passage:

1291 Ayes, 81; nays, 12; absent, 5

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-86

Committee Proposal No. 1-86. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to making all persons over eighteen years of age adults for all purposes, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 177

Reported back:

Do pass, 483

Floor amendments:

1283 Not adopted, 1284

First passage:

592 Ayes, 73; nays, 20; absent, 5

1284 Ayes, 30; nays, 63; absent, 5 Lost

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 962

Proposal placed at foot of calendar, 962-963

Committee Proposal No. 1-87

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2

Committee Proposal No. 1-87. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 56 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to revenue from gasoline and motor vehicle registration and license taxes.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 189

Reported back:

Divided report — Majority, do pass, 676

Minority, to amend, 676

Minority report adopted on division vote, 686

Amendments not adopted, 785

Reconsideration of action not adopting amendments, 785-786

Amendments adopted, 787

Floor amendments:

1316 Not adopted on roll call vote, 1321

1322 Not adopted on division vote, 1324

First passage:

1324 Ayes, 79; nays, 13; absent, 6

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-88

Committee Proposal No. 1-88. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 38, 40, 43, 44, 51, 54, 57, 59, 60 and 62 of Article II, section 199 of Article XIV and article 75 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 189

Reported back:

Amended, 690

Amendments adopted, 787

First passage:

1037 Ayes, 91; nays, 0; absent, 7

Repeal proposal — no further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-89

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-89. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 14 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to eminent domain.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 209

Reported back:

Amended, 456

Proposal laid over one day, 592

Amendments adopted, 466

Floor amendments:

975-976 Not adopted, 987

977 Amendment to amendment adopted, 980

987 Adopted, 988

988 Not adopted on division vote, 990

991 Not adopted, 992
 1120 Adopted, 1124
 1132 Adopted on division vote, 1135
 1133 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1133
 1133 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1134
 1173 Withdrawn, 1198
 1198 Adopted, 1203
 1199 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1202
 1203 Not adopted, 1205
 1205 Not adopted on division vote, 1208
 Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, failed on a division vote, 1125
 Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1131
 Motion to indefinitely postpone ruled out of order, 1122
 Proposal moved to head of calendar, 1120, 1172
 Further consideration until time certain, 1174
 Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1208
 First passage:
 1208 Ayes, 83; nays, 12; absent, 3
 No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-90

Committee Proposal No. 1-90. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to laws fostering dependence on state government, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 209

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 662

Committee Proposal No. 1-91

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

Committee Proposal No. 1-91. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 74, 82 and 83 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to elections and terms, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 278

Reported back:

Do pass, 667

First passage:

859 Ayes, 88; nays, 1; absent, 9

Reported back (Style and Drafting):

Amended, 1302-1303

Returned to 6th order, 1350

Reconsideration of adoption of Style and Drafting Committee report, 1350

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1350

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-92

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-92. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 19 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to treason, be retained.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 278

Reported back:

Do pass, 483

Floor amendments:

592 Adopted, 594

1374 Adopted, 1374
Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 594, 1375

First passage:
594 Ayes, 73; nays, 21; absent, 4
1375 Ayes, 86; nays, 8; absent, 4

Reconsideration:
(When Section 14 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-9) Prevailed, 1374
No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-93

Committee Proposal No. 1-93. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 146 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the controlling of prices, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 278

Reported back:
Do pass, 662

First passage:
998 Ayes, 93; nays, 0; absent, 5
Repeal — no further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-94.

Committee Proposal No. 1-94. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 142 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the regulation of common carrier corporations, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 278

Reported back:
Do pass, 285

First passage:
506 Ayes, 84; nays, 9; absent, 5

Reported back (Style and Drafting):
Not amended, 1303

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1303
Reconsideration of Style and Drafting Committee report adoption, 1351
Repeal — no further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-95

Committee Proposal No. 1-95. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 135 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to cumulative voting in corporations, be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 278

Reported back:
Do pass, 285

First passage:
595 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4
Repeal proposal — no further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-96

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2

Committee Proposal No. 1-96. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 185 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to public business.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 284

Reported back:
Do pass, 690

Floor amendments:

1097 Not adopted, 1107

First passage:

1108 Ayes, 69; nays, 27; absent, 2

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-97

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2

Committee Proposal No. 1-97. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 176 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to tax uniformity and exemptions.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 325

Reported back:

Divided report — Majority, do pass, 456, 471

Minority, to amend, 457, 471

Committee report laid over one day, 457

Minority report failed on division vote, 481

Majority report adopted, 481

Floor amendments:

595 Not adopted on division vote, 597

597 Adopted on division vote, 602

867 Not adopted, 870

870 Not adopted on division vote, 873

873 Adopted, 875

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, failed, 606

Motion to lay over one day failed, 602

Proposal laid over one day, 606

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 875

First passage:

876 Ayes, 87; nays, 10; absent, 1

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-98

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-98. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 16 of the present constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to bills of attainder, ex post facto laws and obligations of contracts, be retained.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 394

Reported back:

Do pass, 483-484

Floor amendments:

607 Not adopted, 611

607 Amendment to amendment not adopted, 610

Motion to lay over one day failed, 610

First passage:

611 Ayes, 79; nays, 14; absent, 5

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-99

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-99. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 33 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new section 8 of Article XVI of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, both of which pertain to the recall of certain elected officials.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 430

Reported back:

Do pass, 664

Floor amendments:

1139 Not adopted, 1142

1142 Not adopted, 1144

First passage:

1144 Ayes, 75; nays, 19; absent, 4

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-100

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

Committee Proposal No. 1-100. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that two new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, both of which pertain to the executive branch of government, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 430

Re-referred (portions passed and paragraph (b) of section 1) to Executive Functions, 800

Reported back:

Do pass, 667

Amended, 1029

Amendments adopted, 1047

Floor amendments:

1150 Not adopted on division vote, 1151

Proposal moved to head of calendar, 775, 1144

Question divided, 798

First passage:

799 Excluding paragraph (b) of Section 1
Ayes, 94; nays, 3; absent, 1

1152 Excluding Section 1 (a) Section 2
Ayes, 77; nays, 18; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-101

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-7

Committee Proposal No. 1-101. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 139 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article XVII to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to public utilities.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 430

Reported back:

Do pass, 484

Floor amendments:

695 Not adopted, 697

701 Adopted on division vote, 701

1108 Adopted on division vote, 1114

1111 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1111

1112 Amendment to amendment not adopted, 1114

1115 Not adopted, 1116

Motion to place at foot of calendar failed, 700

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, failed, 701

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1114-1115

First passage:

1116 Ayes, 63; nays, 32; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-102

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

Committee Proposal No. 1-102. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 71 and 72 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the executive branch of government.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 430

Reported back:

Amended, 667

Amendments adopted, 674

Proposal moved to head of calendar, 775

Floor amendments:

811 Not adopted, 813

815 Not adopted, 817

818 Adopted, 818

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 819

First passage:

820 Ayes, 75; nays, 23; absent, 0

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-103

Committee Proposal No. 1-103. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 81 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 430

Reported back:

Do pass, 692

Floor amendments:

860 Adopted on division vote, 861

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 862

First passage:

862 Ayes, 63; nays, 27; absent, 8

Repeal — no further action, 1695

Committee Proposal No. 1-104

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-104. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to governmental immunity, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 470

Reported back:

Do pass, 662

Floor amendments:

1313 Adopted, 1314

Properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1314

First passage:

1314 Ayes, 74; nays, 17; absent, 7

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-105

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-105. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 1 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 492

Reported back:

Do pass, 662

Floor amendments:

892 Adopted, 892

895 Not adopted, 897

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 895

First passage:

897 Ayes, 94; nays, 2; absent, 2

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-106

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-106. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 2 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 492

Reported back:

Do pass, 663

Floor amendments:

898 Not adopted on division vote, 900

900 Not adopted on division vote, 901

926 Not adopted on division vote, 928

Motion to delay until time certain failed, 902

Placed on calendar at time certain, 902

First passage:

928 Ayes, 72; nays, 18; absent, 8

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-107

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-107. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 3 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 492

Reported back:

Do pass, 663

Floor amendments:

902 Adopted, 905

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 905

First passage:

905 Ayes, 94; nays, 1; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-108

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-108. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 4 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 492

Reported back:

Do pass, 663

Floor amendments:

906 Adopted, 910

907 Amendment to amendment not adopted on roll call vote, 910

912 Not adopted, 913

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 913

First passage:

914 Ayes, 80; nays, 12; absent, 6

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-109

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-109. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 5 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 492

Reported back:

Do pass, 663

First passage:

915 Ayes, 86; nays, 6; absent, 6

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-110

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-110. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 6 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 492

Reported back:

Do pass, 663

First passage:

916 Ayes, 88; nays, 2; absent, 8

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-111

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-111. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed, and that a new section 7 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 492

Reported back:

Do pass, 663

First passage:

916 Ayes, 92; nays, 0; absent, 6

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-112

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-112. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 8 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 493

Reported back:

Do pass, 664

Floor amendments:

916 Adopted 921

917 Amendment to amendment adopted on division vote, 918

918-919 Amendment to amendment adopted, 919

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 921-922

First passage:

922 Ayes, 88; nays, 4; absent, 6

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-113

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

Committee Proposal No. 1-113. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section 9 of Article XVI to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to constitutional rights reserved in the people.

Introduced by Committee on Legislative Functions and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 493

Reported back:

Do pass, 664

Floor amendments:

922 Not adopted on division vote, 923

924 Not adopted on division vote, 924

925 Adopted, 925

925 Adopted, 925

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 925-926

First passage:

926 Ayes, 866; nays, 5; absent, 7

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-114

Committee Proposal No. 1-114. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article XIX to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to adverse possession of public lands, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 493

Reported back:

Do pass, 521

First passage:

822 Ayes, 25; nays, 67; absent, 6 Lost

Committee Proposal No. 1-115

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-5

Committee Proposal No. 1-115. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 160, 161, 163, 164 and 165 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article VII to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to trust lands.

Introduced by Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 493

Reported back:

Do pass, 521

Floor amendments:

826 Not adopted, 828

First passage:

829 Ayes, 98; nays, 0; absent, 0

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-116

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Proposal No. 5-2

Committee Proposal No. 1-116. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 174 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to raising of revenues.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 522

Reported back:

Do pass, 566

First passage:

884 Ayes, 55; nays, 41; absent, 2

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-117

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation, 246

Committee Proposal No. 1-117. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 174 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to raising of revenues.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 522

Reported back:

Without recommendation, 566

Indefinitely postponed on roll call vote, 929

Committee Proposal No. 1-118

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-10

Committee Proposal No. 1-118. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to having a justiciable right to an electoral system not prejudicial to his candidacy, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 522

Reported back:

Without recommendation, 664

First passage:

1043 Ayes, 57; nays, 33; absent, 8

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-119

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Committee Proposal No. 1-119. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 7 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to jury trial.

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 522-523

Reported back:

Do pass, 664

Floor amendments:

1048 Adopted on roll call vote, 1063

1294 Adopted on division vote, 1295

1295 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1295

1365 Not adopted on division vote, 1368

1368 Adopted, 1369

1517 Adoption on division vote, 1521

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, failed, 1063
Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1296, 1521
Proposal laid over one day, 1369

First passage:
1296-1300 Ayes, 78; nays, 16; absent, 4
1521 Ayes, 78; nays, 17; absent, 3

Reconsideration:
(When Section 7 of Redraft Proposal No. 5-9) Prevailed, 1364

Reported back (Style and Drafting Committee):
Amended, 1546

Amendments adopted, 1546
No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-120

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Committee Proposal No. 1-20. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the executive branch of government, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Executive Functions and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 590

Reported back:
Amended, 736

Amendments adopted, 783

First passage:
1014 Ayes, 93; nays, 2; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Committee Proposal No. 1-121

Committee Proposal No. 1-121. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, pertaining to a transition schedule.

Introduced by Committee on Coordination and Transition, 1674

Rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed on first passage, 1674

Floor amendments:

1680 Adopted, 1681
1681 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1681
1685 Adopted, 1688
1687 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1687
1688 Adopted, 1688

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1689

First passage:
1689 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4

Reported back (Style and Drafting Committee):
Amended 1747

Amendments adopted, 1748

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on second passage, 1748

Second passage:
1748 Ayes, 92; nays, 0; absent, 6

No further action, 1766

DELEGATE PROPOSAL INDEX

Delegate Proposal No. 2-1

Delegate Proposal No. 2-1. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that Sections 71, 72, 75, 77, 79 and 80 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the governor's executive powers, be amended.

Introduced by Delegate Tudor and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 17

Withdrawn, 468

Delegate Proposal No. 2-2

Delegate Proposal No. 2-2. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 16 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to bill of attainder and ex post facto laws.

Introduced by Delegate Geelan and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 17

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-98, 484

Report not adopted on division vote, 485

Placed on calendar, 485-486

To be considered in special manner, 486

Withdrawn, 614

Delegate Proposal No. 2-3

Delegate Proposal No. 2-3. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 5 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the writ of habeas corpus.

Introduced by Delegate Geelan and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 17

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal, 1-58, 486

Delegate Proposal No. 2-4

Delegate Proposal No. 2-4. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 14 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, both of which pertain to eminent domain.

Introduced by Delegate Geelan and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-89, 486

Delegate Proposal No. 2-5

Delegate Proposal No. 2-5. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 147 and 155 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that two new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; pertaining to education and school lands, respectively.

Introduced by Delegate Tudor and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-15, 217

Delegate Proposal No. 2-6

Delegate Proposal No. 2-6. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 121 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota and article 36 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to voting requirements and article 1 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to lotteries, be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota pertaining to voting requirements be created.

Introduced by Delegate Tudor and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 18

Withdrawn, 670

Delegate Proposal No. 2-7

Delegate Proposal No. 2-7. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 25 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to matters of initiative and referendum.

Introduced by Delegate Paulson and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 18

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1291

Delegate Proposal No. 2-8

Delegate Proposal No. 2-8. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 37 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota and article 51 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to prohibitions against legislators holding additional state offices during their tenure in the legislative assembly.

Introduced by Delegate Paulson and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 18

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1291

Delegate Proposal No. 2-9

Delegate Proposal No. 2-9. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 56 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to a limitation upon the number of days in which the legislative assembly may meet during any biennium.

Introduced by Delegate Hoffner and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-37, 664-665

Delegate Proposal No. 2-10

Delegate Proposal No. 2-10. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 56 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 53 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be amended; both of which pertain to a schedule of and limitations upon the number of days in which the legislative assembly may meet during any biennium.

Introduced by Delegate Paulson and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-37, 665

Delegate Proposal No. 2-11

Delegate Proposal No. 2-11. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article IV of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed, and a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, pertaining to the judicial branch of government.

Introduced by Delegate Engelter and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 394

Delegate Proposal No. 2-12

Delegate Proposal No. 2-12. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, requiring that governmental meetings be open to the public.

Introduced by Delegate Rundle and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 18

Reported back:

Amended, 665

Amendments adopted, 675

Floor amendments:

1020 Adopted, 1024

1023 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1023

1023 Amendment to amendment withdrawn, 1023

1025 Adopted 1025

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1025

First passage:

1026 Ayes, 19; nays, 75; absent, 4 Lost

Delegate Proposal No. 2-13

Delegate Proposal No. 2-13. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 50 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the openness of legislative sessions, be amended.

Introduced by Delegate Rundle and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 18

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1276

Delegate Proposal No. 2-14

Delegate Proposal No. 2-14. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created to require court proceedings be open to the public.

Introduced by Delegate Rundle and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 665-666

Delegate Proposal No. 2-15

Delegate Proposal No. 2-15. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 147 and 155 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that two new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; pertaining to education and school lands, respectively.

Introduced by Delegate Tudor and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-15, 217

Delegate Proposal No. 2-16

Delegate Proposal No. 2-16. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to constitutional amendments.

Introduced by Delegate Tudor and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 18

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1291

Delegate Proposal No. 2-17

Delegate Proposal No. 2-17. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 174 and 183 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that two new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all of which pertain to finance and public debt.

Introduced by Delegate Tudor and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-23, 567

Delegate Proposal No. 2-18

Delegate Proposal No. 2-18. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 167 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed, that section 130 be amended and that a new section be created relating to local self-government and division of the state into counties.

Introduced by Delegate Tudor and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 18

Withdrawn, 689

Delegate Proposal No. 2-19

Delegate Proposal No. 2-19. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 147, 148, 149 and 151 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section be created, all pertaining to public schools, instruction in temperance, and the prevention of illiteracy.

Introduced by Delegate Devine and referred to Committee on Education, Resources, and Public Lands, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-15, 217

Delegate Proposal No. 2-20

Delegate Proposal No. 2-20. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 54 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all pertaining to the creation, powers and duties of the state board of higher education.

Introduced by Delegate Devine and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-15, 218

Delegate Proposal No. 2-21

Delegate Proposal No. 2-21. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, pertaining to environment.

Introduced by Delegates Fritzell and Sanstead and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-16, 218

Delegate Proposal No. 2-22

Delegate Proposal No. 2-22. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 54 of the amendments to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to boards of education.

Introduced by Delegate Hill and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 18

Withdrawn, 690

Delegate Proposal No. 2-23

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

Delegate Proposal No. 2-23. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section be created to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to a recognition of veterans' contributions to the state.

Introduced by Delegate Thompson and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 18

Reported back:

Amended, 457

Amendments adopted, 467

First passage:

705 Ayes, 85; nays, 9; absent, 4

No further action, 1694

Delegate Proposal No. 2-24

Delegate Proposal No. 2-24. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 18 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed, and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all pertaining to the right to be secure against unreasonable search and seizure.

Introduced by Delegate Hubrig and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 18

Withdrawn, 669

Delegate Proposal No. 2-25

Delegate Proposal No. 2-25. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article III of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, consisting of sections 71 through 84, inclusive, be repealed; and that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the executive branch of government.

Introduced by Delegate Vogel and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 18

Withdrawn, 469

Delegate Proposal No. 2-26

Incorporated into Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

Delegate Proposal No. 2-26. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the establishment of an independent government agency which shall receive complaints against state agencies and officials, be created.

Introduced by Delegate O'Toole and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 18

Returned from Committee on Legislative Functions, 117

Re-referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 117

Reported back:

Do pass, 276

First passage:

711 Ayes, 69; nays, 26; absent, 3

No further action, 1694

Delegate Proposal No. 2-27

Delegate Proposal No. 2-27. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article III of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, including sections 71 through 84 and pertaining to the executive branch of government, be amended.

Introduced by Delegate Byrne and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 18

Withdrawn, 469

Delegate Proposal No. 2-28

Delegate Proposal No. 2-28. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article IV of the constitution of the state of North Dakota including sections 85 through 120 be repealed, and that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, all pertaining to the judicial branch of government.

Introduced by Delegate Warner and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-11, 690

Delegate Proposal No. 2-29

Delegate Proposal No. 2-29. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 72, 74 and 77 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; and that section 73 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be amended, all of which pertain to the office of lieutenant governor and succession to the governorship.

Introduced by Delegate Rundle and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 18

Withdrawn, 468

Delegate Proposal No. 2-30

Delegate Proposal No. 2-30. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 83 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the powers and duties of state officials, be repealed; that section 82 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota pertaining to the election of state officials, be amended, and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to reorganization of the executive department, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Baker and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 18

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 667-668

Delegate Proposal No. 2-31

Delegate Proposal No. 2-31. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 188, 189, 190, 191, 192 and 193 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the establishment of a state militia.

Introduced by Delegate Nething and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 18

Withdrawn, 180

Delegate Proposal No. 2-32

Delegate Proposal No. 2-32. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 82 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; that three new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the election or appointment of state officials and the organization of executive government.

Introduced by Delegate Chase and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 18

Withdrawn, 469

Delegate Proposal No. 2-33

Delegate Proposal No. 2-33. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that articles III, VI, and X of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed, and that two new articles be created, all relating to the executive branch of state government and county, city and township government.

Introduced by Delegate Hill and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 19

Withdrawn, 469

Delegate Proposal No. 2-34

Delegate Proposal No. 2-34. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to legislative ethics, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Omdahl and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 19

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-34, 666

Delegate Proposal No. 2-35

Delegate Proposal No. 2-35. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 182 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to bonding limits for the state.

Introduced by Delegate Saugstad and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 19

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 1292

Delegate Proposal No. 2-36

Delegate Proposal No. 2-36. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, pertaining to administration of education of the visually and audibly handicapped.

Introduced by Delegate Peterson and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 19

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 218

Delegate Proposal No. 2-37

Delegate Proposal No. 2-37. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 172 and 173 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed, and a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, pertaining to the organization of the state into districts for local government.

Introduced by Delegate Hubrig and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 19

Withdrawn, 689

Delegate Proposal No. 2-38

Delegate Proposal No. 2-38. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, pertaining to the right to an electoral system that is not prejudicial.

Introduced by Delegate Omdahl and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 19

Withdrawn, 668

Delegate Proposal No. 2-39

Delegate Proposal No. 2-39. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, providing that anyone over the age of eighteen shall be an adult for all purposes, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Thompson and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 19

Withdrawn, 669

Delegate Proposal No. 2-40

Delegate Proposal No. 2-40. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to the death penalty, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Lamb and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 19

Withdrawn, 668-669

Delegate Proposal No. 2-41

Delegate Proposal No. 2-41. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created pertaining to the call of future constitutional conventions.

Introduced by Delegate Lamb and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 19

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 1-36, 691

Delegate Proposal No. 2-42

Delegate Proposal No. 2-42. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 56 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to dedicated funds for highways.

Introduced by Delegate Saugstad and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 19

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 1292

Delegate Proposal No. 2-43

Delegate Proposal No. 2-43. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota pertaining to penalties for drug offenses, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Hubrig and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 28

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 116

Delegate Proposal No. 2-44

Delegate Proposal No. 2-44. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 54 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to education.

Introduced by Delegate Billey and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 28

Withdrawn, 720

Delegate Proposal No. 2-45.

Delegate Proposal No. 2-45. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to reimbursement to counties for costs of the special election on the proposed constitution, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Dobson and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 28

Withdrawn, 163

Delegate Proposal No. 2-46

Delegate Proposal No. 2-46. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 98 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the filling of vacancies in the offices of justice or judge.

Introduced by Delegate Dobson and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 28

Withdrawn, 689

Delegate Proposal No. 2-47

Delegate Proposal No. 2-47. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 176 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created, both pertaining to uniformity of taxation.

Introduced by Delegate Erickson and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 28

Withdrawn, 905

Delegate Proposal No. 2-48

Delegate Proposal No. 2-48. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to a Bill of Rights for minors, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Hubrig and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 28

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 457

Delegate Proposal No. 2-49

Delegate Proposal No. 2-49. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 147, 148, 149, 150, 151 and 152 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article V, section 1, of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to education.

Introduced by Delegate Peterson and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 28-29

Withdrawn, 720

Delegate Proposal No. 2-50

Delegate Proposal No. 2-50. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article 56 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to dedicated funds for highways.

Introduced by Delegate Trenbeath and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 29

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 1342

Delegate Proposal No. 2-51

Delegate Proposal No. 2-51. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 25 and 202 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertain to matters of initiative and referendum and amendments to the state constitution, respectively, be amended.

Introduced by Delegate Rundle and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 29

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 964

Delegate Proposal No. 2-52

Delegate Proposal No. 2-52. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota, including sections 25 through 70 and pertaining to the legislative branch of government, be amended.

Introduced by Delegate Cart and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 29

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Motion to withdraw denied, 1291

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 1292

Delegate Proposal No. 2-53

Delegate Proposal No. 2-53. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to right to obtain employment or practice a profession, and preclusion of corporations from engaging in farming, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Brakke and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 118

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 486

Withdrawn, 487

Delegate Proposal No. 2-54

Delegate Proposal No. 2-54. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional

Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to environment, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Hubrig and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 118

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 567

Delegate Proposal No. 2-55

Delegate Proposal No. 2-55. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to environment, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Hubrig and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 118

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 567

Delegate Proposal No. 2-56

Delegate Proposal No. 2-56. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the limitation of terms of elected officials, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Burke and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 137-138

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 691

Delegate Proposal No. 2-57.

Delegate Proposal No. 2-57. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the uniform legislative treatment of corporations, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Hubrig and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 157

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 568

Delegate Proposal No. 2-58

Delegate Proposal No. 2-58. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 29 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to legislative apportionment.

Introduced by Delegate Hendrickson and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 157

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1226

Delegate Proposal No. 2-59

Delegate Proposal No. 2-59. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 29 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to legislative apportionment.

Introduced by Delegate Hendrickson and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 157

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1226

Delegate Proposal No. 2-60

Delegate Proposal No. 2-60. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to property taxation, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Ketchum and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 157

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 1343

Delegate Proposal No. 2-61

Delegate Proposal No. 2-61. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to eminent domain, be created.

Introduced by Delegates Trenbeath, Saugstad, Miller, Erickson and Ketchum and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 157-158

Withdrawn, 670

Delegate Proposal No. 2-62

Delegate Proposal No. 2-62. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to uniformity of taxation and the power to define and exempt classes of property from taxation, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Haugen and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 158

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 928

Delegate Proposal No. 2-63

Delegate Proposal No. 2-63. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 74 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to the election of the governor and lieutenant governor.

Introduced by Delegate Baker and referred to Committee on Executive Functions, 158

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 692

Delegate Proposal No. 2-64

Delegate Proposal No. 2-64. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, setting forth a date on which the provisions of the convention's product would become effective, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Lamb and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 158

Reported back:

Do pass, 666

Withdrawn, 1026

Delegate Proposal No. 2-65

Delegate Proposal No. 2-65. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, and article 54 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that Article V to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to education.

Introduced by Delegate Meidinger and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 177-178

Withdrawn, 720

Delegate Proposal No. 2-66

Delegate Proposal No. 2-66. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to state debt, be created.

Introduced by Delegates Saugstad and Trenbeath and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 178

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 1342

Delegate Proposal No. 2-67

Delegate Proposal No. 2-67. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional

Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to uniformity of taxation and exemptions, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Cart and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 178

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 934

Delegate Proposal No. 2-68

Delegate Proposal No. 2-68. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the right to family farming, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Dobson and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 178

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 487

Delegate Proposal No. 2-69

Delegate Proposal No. 2-69. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 127 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota is hereby repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; both of which pertain to voting disqualifications.

Introduced by Delegate Thompson and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 178

Committee report laid over to a time certain, 278

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 774

Delegate Proposal No. 2-70

Delegate Proposal No. 2-70. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to uniformity of taxation and tax exemptions, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Burke and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 178

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 703

Withdrawn, 928

Delegate Proposal No. 2-71

Delegate Proposal No. 2-71. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, which pertains to trust lands, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Rundle and referred to Committee on Education, Resources and Public Lands, 178

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 568

Delegate Proposal No. 2-72

Delegate Proposal No. 2-72. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 29 and 35 of Article II and section 214 of Article XVIII of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that section 4 of article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to reapportionment of the state legislature.

Introduced by Delegate Dobson and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 178

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1226

Delegate Proposal No. 2-73

Delegate Proposal No. 2-73. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 25 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to the initiative and referendum, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Hill and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 182

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1291

Delegate Proposal No. 2-74

Delegate Proposal No. 2-74. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to rights of debtors and homesteads, be created.

Introduced by Delegate Lamb and referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 184

Re-referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 185

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 666-667

Delegate Proposal No. 2-75

Delegate Proposal No. 2-75. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119 and 120 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that article IV to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the judicial branch of government.

Introduced by Delegate Omdahl and referred to Committee on Finance and Taxation, 184

Re-referred to Committee on Judicial Functions and Political Subdivisions, 185

Withdrawn, 689

Delegate Proposal No. 2-76

Delegate Proposal No. 2-76. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that section 25 of Article II of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that three new sections of Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all of which pertain to the legislative branch of government.

Introduced by Delegate Engstrom and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 184

Motion to return to desk prevailed, 688

Withdrawn, 1291

Delegate Proposal No. 2-77

Delegate Proposal No. 2-77. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that sections 29, 35 and 214 of the constitution of the state of North Dakota be repealed; and that new sections to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created; all pertaining to legislative reapportionment.

Introduced by Delegate Kwako and referred to Committee on Legislative Functions, 184

Withdrawn, 614

Delegate Proposal No. 2-78

Delegate Proposal No. 2-78. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new section to the constitution of the state of North Dakota, pertaining to non-discrimination in licensing and employment be created to read as follows:

Introduced by Delegates Burbidge, Aas, Baker, Bender, Benz, Berg, Binek, Burke, Butler, Byrne, Cart, Christensen, Dawson, Decker, Devine, Diehl, Engstrom, Erickson, Fallgatter, Hartl, Hernet, Hoghaug, Hougen, Huckle, Kessel, Ketchum, Knudson, Kretschmar, Kwako, Lander, Lerberg, Litten, Longmire, McElroy, McIntyre, Meidinger, Miller, Nething, Nicholas, Peters, Poulson, Quam, Roney, Rundle, Saugstad, Scheel, Solberg, Stanton, Thompson, Trenbeath, Tudor, Unruh and Wallin and referred to Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage, 184

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 487

ALTERNATE PROPOSAL INDEX

Alternate Proposal No. 4-1

Alternate Proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-43

Alternate Proposal No. 4-1. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-43 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot.

Introduced by Delegates Benson, Bender, Poulson, Brakke, Bassingthwaite, Aubol, Billey, Lander, Hardmeyer, Hill, Hoghaug, Hougen, Hubrig, Erickson, Fritzell, Geelan, Haugen, Decker, Larsen, Thompson, Wallin, Tudor, Simonson, Sinner, Sondreal, Urdahl, Warner, Wicks, Miller, Sullivan, Paulson, Litten, Dawson, Scheel, Roney, Vogel, Maxwell, Sanstead, Rosendahl, Peterson, Chase, Christensen, Binek, Burke, Daniels, Griffin, Gipp, Hartl, Hildebrand, Fiedler, Schmit, Engstrom, Dobson, Nicholas, O'Toole, Kelsch, Kessel and Jestrab and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 862-863.

Reported back:

Amended, 1577

Amendments adopted, 1582

Floor amendments:

1595 Not adopted, 1600

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1583

First passage:

1601 Ayes, 59; nays, 38; absent, 1

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1601

Reported back:

Amended, 1690

Rules suspended, placed in sixth order, 1690

Amendments adopted, 1692

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on second passage, 1692

Second passage:

1693 Ayes, 83; nays, 10; absent, 5

No further action — incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-16, 1755

Alternate Proposal No. 4-2

Alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-4

Alternate Proposal No. 4-2. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-4 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot.

Introduced by Delegates Bassingthwaite, Aas, Bender, Billey, Chase, Brakke, Cart, Ketchum, Unruh, Baker, Fallgatter, Erickson, Huckle, Rundle, Scheel, Knudson, Hougen, Trenbeath, Haugen, Stanton, Peterson, Wenstrom, Peters, Jestrab, Hernet, Paulson, Byrne, Diehl, Longmire, Warner and Christensen and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 863.

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 1421

Report not adopted on roll call vote, 1429

Reported back (Committee on Constitutional Ballot):

Amended, 1577

Amendments adopted, 1610

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1610

First passage:

1613 Ayes, 58; nays, 39; absent, 1

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 1703

Floor amendments:

1703-1704 Adopted, 1706

1704-1705 Amendment to amendment not adopted on division vote, 1706

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1706

First passage:

1707 Ayes, 65; nays, 29; absent, 4

No further action — incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 1755

Alternate Proposal No. 4-3

Alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-102

Alternate Proposal No. 4-3. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-102 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention Ballot.

Introduced by Delegates Stanton, Solberg, Kwako, Berg, Warner, Roney, Trenbeath, Wallin, Peters, Rundle, Baker, Erickson, Diehl, Knudson, Fallgatter, Unruh, Saugstad, Binek, Pearce, Cart, Devine, Ketchum and Benz and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1158

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 1578

Re-referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1581

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 1628

Proposal laid over one day, 1632

Report not adopted on division vote, 1654

Proposal placed on calendar, 1654

Floor amendments:

1654 Not adopted on roll call vote, 1671

1671 Not adopted on division vote, 1673

First passage:

1673 Ayes, 22; nays, 73; absent, 3 Lost

Alternate Proposal No. 4-4

Alternate proposal to Committee Proposals Nos. 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-110, 1-111, 1-112 and 1-113.

Alternate Proposal No. 4-4. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposals Nos. 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-110, 1-111, 1-112, 1-113 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot.

Introduced by Delegates Rundle, Stanton, Trenbeath, Kwako, Hill, Engstrom, Wallin, Sanstead, Rude, Rosendahl, Nicholas, Binek, Saugstad, Hoghaug, Knudson, Aubol, Baker, Berg, Warner, Peterson, Hougen, Fallgatter and Ketchum and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1225

Reported back:

Amended, 1577-1578

Amendments adopted, 1623

Floor amendments:

1623 Adopted on division vote, 1624

1625 Adopted, 1626

1638-1639 Not adopted, 1639

1640 Amendment question divided, 1641

To delete Section 2 not adopted, 1643

To delete Section 5 adopted on division vote, 1645

1645 Adopted, 1646

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1623

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on first passage, 1626, 1646

Further consideration delayed until time certain, 1650

First passage:

1626 Ayes, 34; nays, 58; absent, 6 Lost

1651 Ayes, 73; nays, 14; absent, 11

Reconsideration:

Prevailed on division vote, 1637

No further action — incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-16, 1755

Alternate Proposal No. 4-5

Alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-11

Alternate Proposal No. 4-5. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-11 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot.

Introduced by Delegates Aubol, Bassingthwaite, Hoghaug, Rude, Sondreal, Chase, Hoffner, Hildebrand, Sinner, Rundle, Longmire, Peterson, Urdahl, Hougen, Warner, Vogel, Hill, Hardmeyer, Griffin, Gipp, Sanstead, Omdahl, Rosendahl, Daniels, Kretschmar, Larsen, Hendrickson, Fritzell, Nicholas, Wicks, Dobson, Burke, Jestrab and Haugen and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1326, 1581

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 1627

Alternate Proposal No. 4-6

Alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-44

Alternate Proposal No. 4-6. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following be introduced as an alternate proposal to Committee Proposal No. 1-44 for submission to the electorate as an alternate proposal on the Constitutional Convention ballot.

Introduced by Delegates Stanton, Kwako, Warner, Thompson, Unruh, Tudor, Trenbeath, Solberg, Aas, Berg, Billee, Binek, Burke, Burbidge, Roney, Baker, Cart, Rundle, Meidinger, Kretschmar, Knudson, Vogel, Peters and McElroy and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1326, 1581

Reported back:

Indefinitely postponed, 1628

Alternate Proposal No. 4-7

Alternate Proposal No. 4-7. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the question as to whether the proposed constitution shall contain a provision declaring persons eighteen years of age or older adults shall be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue on the Constitutional Convention Ballot:

Introduced by Committee on Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1415

Reported back:

Do pass, 1577

Floor amendments:

1602 Adopted, 1604

1603 Amendment to amendment withdrawn, 1604

1605 Not adopted on roll call vote 1609

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1609

First passage:

1610 Ayes, 66; nays, 29; absent, 3

No further action — incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-16, 1755

Alternate Proposal No. 4-8

Alternate Proposal No. 4-8. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the question as to whether the proposed constitution shall contain a right-to-work provision be submitted to the electorate as a separate issue on the Constitutional Convention Ballot.

Introduced by Delegates Poulson, Lander, Thompson, Hougen, Dobson, Hill, Kelsch, Hendrickson, Roney, Omdahl, O'Toole, Sinner, Devine, Chase, Aubol, Engelter, Larson, Urdahl, Warner and Quam and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1431

Reported back:

Without recommendation, 1577

Floor amendments:

1614 Adopted, 1615

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1616

First passage:

1621 Ayes, 30; nays, 67; absent, 1 Lost

Alternate Proposal No. 4-9

Alternate Proposal No. 4-9. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the following section be introduced for submission to the electorate as a separate issue on the Constitutional Convention Ballot, and if approved by the electorate shall become a part of the proposed constitution replacing section 25 of article I of that document relating to nondiscrimination in employment.

Introduced by Delegates Hubrig, Hougen, Haugen, Rosendahl, Bassingthwaite, Larson, Aubol, Urdahl, Sanstead, Omdahl, Warner, Ketchum, Hoffner, Gipp, Maxwell, Lamb, Hoghaug, Schmit, Sondreal, Daniels, O'Toole, Brakke, Poulson, Rude, Nicholas, Hildebrand, Fiedler and Vogel and referred to Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1537

Propriety of introduction requested with reference to Rule 18.2, 1536

Appeal ruling of the chair, lost, 1537

Reported back:

Without recommendation, 1577

Floor amendments:

1615 Adopted, 1615

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on first passage, 1616

First passage:

1619 Ayes, 29; nays, 68; absent, 1 Lost

REDRAFT PROPOSAL INDEX

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-99, 1-105, 1-106, 1-107, 1-108, 1-109, 1-111, 1-112 and 1-113

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-1. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that Article II to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to powers reserved to the people, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and drafting, 1390

Floor amendments:

1392 Adopted, 1392

1393 Adopted, 1394

1395 Adopted, 1395

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1390, 1395-1396

Question divided, 1396

Second passage:

1398 Sections 2, 4, 5, 8 and 9 Ayes, 90; nays, 4; absent, 4

1398 Sections 1, 3, 6, 7 and 10 Ayes, 92; nays, 0; absent, 6

Reconsideration:

Prevailed, 1721

Final draft incorporation prevailed, 1721

No further action — incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-16, 1756

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-2

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-23, 1-74, 1-77, 1-87, 1-96, 1-97 and 1-116

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-2. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to finance and public debt, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1475

Floor amendments:

1476 Adopted, 1476

1477 Adopted, 1478

1478 Adopted, 1479

Rules suspended for substantive amendment, 1480, 1495

1480 Adopted, 1494

1487 Amendment to amendment not adopted, 1490

1490 Amendment to amendment not adopted on division vote, 1492

1493 Amendment to amendment not adopted, 1494

1494 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1494

1495-1496 Adopted, 1496

1496 Adopted, 1496

1764 Adopted, 1765

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1497

Second passage:

1498 Section 1 Ayes, 89; nays, 6; absent, 3

1498 Section 8 Ayes, 78; nays, 18; absent, 2

1498 Section 10 Ayes, 83; nays, 15; absent, 0

1498 Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 9 Ayes, 94; nays, 4; absent, 0

1766 Section 8 and 9 Ayes, 91; nays, 3; absent, 4

Reconsideration:

Sections 8 and 9 Prevailed, 1766

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on second passage, 1765

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-3

A redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-11

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-3. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the judicial department, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1446

Floor amendments:

1446 Adopted, 1446

1447 Adopted, 1447

1447 Adopted, 1448

1449 Adopted, 1449

1450 Adopted, 1451

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1451

Second passage:

1451 Ayes, 93; nays, 0; absent, 5

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-4

A redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-15

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-4. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to education, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1467

Floor amendments:

1467 Adopted, 1467

1468 Adopted, 1468

1469 Adopted, 1469

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1470

Second passage:

1470 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-5

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-18 and 1-115

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-5. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to trust lands, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1470

Floor amendments:

1470 Adopted, 1471

1471 Adopted, 1471

1473 Adopted, 1474

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1475

Second passage:

1475 Ayes, 96; nays, 0; absent, 2

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-6

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-6. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to name, boundary, seal and capital, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1535

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 5-15, 1536

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-7

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-12 and 1-101

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-7. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to political subdivisions, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1451

Floor amendments:

1452 Adopted, 1452

1453 Adopted, 1453

1454 Not adopted, 1457

1458 Withdrawn, 1460
 Rules suspended for substantive amendment, 1461
 1461 Adopted, 1461
 1461-1462 Adopted, 1462
 1729 Adopted on division vote, 1735
 1732 Amendment to amendment not adopted, 1733
 Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1465, 1736
 Question divided, 1463, 1465

Second passage:

1466 Sections 1-10 Ayes, 94; nays, 1; absent, 3
 1466 Section 11 Ayes, 75; nays, 19; absent, 4
 1466 Section 12 Ayes, 60; nays, 35; absent, 3
 1736 Section 11 Ayes, 69; nays, 25; absent, 4

Reconsideration:

Section 11 (passed as Section 10 of Committee Proposal No. 1-10)
 failed on division vote, 1725

Section 11 (passed as Section 10 of Committee Proposal No. 1-10)
 prevailed on division vote, 1728

Section 11 (Section 10 of Committee Proposal No. 1-10) placed on first passage on division vote, 1729

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, Section 11 placed on first passage, 1735

First passage:

1736 Section 11 Ayes, 63; nays, 32; absent, 3

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1736

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-8

A redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-1

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-8. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that the preamble to the constitution of the state of North Dakota be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1351

Second passage:

1353 Ayes, 93; nays, 1; absent, 4

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-9

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-46, 1-47, 1-48, 1-49, 1-53, 1-57, 1-58, 1-59, 1-60, 1-62, 1-63, 1-64, 1-65, 1-66, 1-67, 1-68, 1-71, 1-72, 1-73, 1-78, 1-79, 1-80, 1-89, 1-92, 1-98, 1-104, 1-119 and Delegate Proposal No. 2-22

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-9. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the declaration of rights, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1354

Floor amendments:

	1354	Adopted, 1354
When Section 7 was reconsidered	1360	Adopted, 1361
as Committee Proposal No. 1-119	1365	Not adopted on division vote, 1368
	1368	Adopted, 1369
		Further consideration of Section 7 (as Committee Proposal No. 1-119) laid over one day, 1369
When Section 14 was reconsidered	1374	Adopted, 1374
as Committee Proposal No. 1-92

Amended Committee Proposal No. 1-92 incorporated as Section 14 in Redraft Proposal No. 5-9, 1375

1378 Out of order, 1379
1382 Out of order, 1383
1383 Adopted, 1384
1384 Adopted, 1384
1384 Withdrawn, 1385
1385 Not adopted, 1385
1517 Adopted on division vote, 1521

When Section 7 was reconsidered
as Committee Proposal No. 1-119

Reported back (Style and Drafting Committee):

Amended and incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-9, 1546

Amendments adopted and incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-9, 1546

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1375, 1386, 1547

Question divided, 1356, 1358, 1359

1357 Section 1 Ayes, 93; nays, 1; absent, 4
1357 Section 2 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4
1362 Sections 3, 4, 5, 6, 8 Ayes, 97; nays, 0; absent, 1
1386 Sections 9-28 Ayes, 92; nays, 4; absent, 2
1547 Section 7 Ayes, 76; nays, 9; absent, 13

Reconsideration:

Section 7 (passed as Committee Proposal 1-119) prevailed, 1364
Section 14 (passed as Committee Proposal 1-92) prevailed, 1374
Section 15 (passed as Committee Proposal 1-58) failed, 1378
Section 22 (passed as Committee Proposal 1-104) failed, 1738

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-10

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-82, 1-85 and 1-118

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-10. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the elective franchise, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1386

Floor amendments:

1387-1388 Adopted, 1388

Question divided, 1389

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1389

Second passage:

1389 Section 1 Ayes, 89; nays, 4; absent, 5
1389 Section 2 Ayes, 93; nays, 3; absent, 2
1389-1390 Section 3 Ayes, 84; nays, 11; absent, 3

Re-referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 425

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-11

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-11. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to general provisions, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1535

Indefinitely postponed, such proposal having been incorporated into Committee Proposal 5-15, 1536

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-12

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-29, 1-36, 1-37, 1-38, 1-39, 1-40, 1-43, 1-44, 1-45, 1-70, 1-75 and 1-86

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-12. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the legislative department, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1399

Reconsideration of passage, Section 4, passed as Committee Proposal 1-38; withdrawn, 1403

Floor amendments:

	1400-1401	Adopted, 1401
	1401	Adopted, 1401
	1403	Adopted, 1403
	1404	Adopted on division vote, 1407
	1404	Amendment to amendment not adopted on division vote, 1406
	1408	Adopted, 1409
	1409	Adopted, 1411
	1411	Adopted, 1412
	1413	Adopted, 1414
When Section 6 was reconsidered	1503-1504	Not adopted, 1510
as Section 5 of Committee	1510	Adopted, 1511
Proposal 1-44:	1511	Not adopted, 1512
	1514	Adopted, 1515

Reported back (Style and Drafting Committee):

Amended and incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-12, 1540

Amendments adopted and incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-12, 1541

Floor amendments:

1542 Adopted, 1542
1544 Adopted, 1545
1544 Amendment to amendment adopted, 1545
1573 Adopted, 1575

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1414

Second passage:

1414 Ayes, 88; nays, 4; absent, 6
1545 Ayes, 87; nays, 2; absent, 9
1576 Ayes, 85; nays, 11; absent, 2

Reconsideration:

Section 6 (Section 5 of Committee Proposal No. 1-44) prevailed, 1500
Prevailed, 1540, 1720
Section 4 prevailed, 1573

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on second passage, 1545, 1575

Referred to Committee on Style and Drafting, 1720

No further action — incorporated into Redraft Proposal No. 5-16, 1756

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-13

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-25, 1-26, 1-27, 1-28, 1-91, 1-100 and 1-102

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-13. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the executive department, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1433

Floor amendments:

1434 Adopted, 1434
1434 Adopted, 1434
1436 Adopted, 1441
1443 Adopted, 1443
1444 Adopted, 1444
1445 Adopted, 1445
1763 Adopted, 1764

Second passage:

1446 Ayes, 90; nays, 4; absent, 4
1766 Section 8 Ayes, 94; nays, 0; absent, 4

Reconsideration:

Section 8 prevailed, 1766

Rules suspended, properly re-engrossed, placed on second passage, 1762

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-14

A redraft of Committee Proposal No. 1-13

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-14. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to the compact with the United States, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1523

Floor amendments:

1523-1524 Adopted, 1524

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1524-1525

Second passage:

1525 Ayes, 93; nays, 1; absent, 4

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-15

A redraft of Committee Proposals Nos. 1-10, 1-14, 1-16, 1-18, 1-19, 1-20, 1-30, 1-32, 1-33, 1-34, 1-120 and Delegate Proposal No. 2-26

Style and Drafting Redraft Proposal No. 5-15. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to general provisions, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1526

Floor amendments:

1526 Out of order, 1527

1530 Adopted, 1530

Rules suspended for substantive amendment, 1531

1531 Adopted on division vote, 1533

1532 Amendment to amendment withdrawn, 1533

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1533

Question divided, 1528, 1534

Second passage:

1534 Section 5 Ayes, 65; nays, 28; absent, 5

1535 Section 6 Ayes, 79; nays, 14; absent, 5

1535 Section 8 Ayes, 86; nays, 8; absent, 4

1535 Section 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 Ayes, 93; nays, 1; absent, 4

Reconsideration:

Section 5 Failed, 1743

Section 6 Failed, 1744

No further action, 1766

Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal No. 5-16

A redraft of Style and Drafting Redraft Proposals Nos. 5-1, 5-12, and Alternate Proposals Nos. 4-1, 4-2, 4-4 and 4-7

Style and Drafting Committee Proposal No. 5-16. Be it resolved by the North Dakota Constitutional Convention that a new article to the constitution of the state of North Dakota which pertains to an adoption schedule and ballot, be created.

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1748

Floor amendments:

1753 Adopted, 1753

Rules suspended, properly engrossed, placed on second passage, 1755

Second passage:

1755 Ayes, 83; nays, 8; absent, 7

No further action, 1766

Final Draft — Proposed 1972 Constitution

Introduced by Committee on Style and Drafting, 1763

Committee report introducing final draft adopted, 1763

Motion to vote "Viva Voce" on adoption prevailed on division vote, 1780

"Viva Voce" on the question, "Shall the proposed 1972 Constitution be adopted?", 1780-1784 Ayes, 91; nays, 4; absent, 3

RESOLUTIONS INDEX

Resolution No. A

Resolution No. A. A resolution recommending that the 43rd Legislative Assembly appropriate moneys for the costs of the special election on the Constitutional Convention's proposed constitution.

Introduced by Committee on Finance and Taxation, 262

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, Resolution read in its entirety, placed in the Journal, not printed as a Proposal, not assigned to committee, placed on final passage, 263

Resolution read, 263

Final passage, 264

Resolution No. B

Resolution No. B. A resolution wishing for a speedy recovery of Delegate Darold Benz and return to his duties at the Constitutional Convention.

Introduced by Committee on Resolutions, 264

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, Resolution read in its entirety, placed in the Journal, not printed as a Proposal, placed on final passage, 265

Resolution read, 265-266

Final passage, 266

Resolution No. C

Resolution No. C. A resolution expressing the best wishes of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention to the Constitutional Convention of the State of Montana.

Introduced by Committee on Resolutions, 323

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, Resolution read in its entirety, placed in the Journal, not printed as a Proposal, and placed on final passage, 324

Resolution read, 324

Final passage, 324

Resolution No. D

Resolution No. D. A resolution expressing sympathy to the family of Delegate Binek.

Introduced by Committee on Resolutions, 703

Motion prevailed to have the rules suspended, not referred to Committee and placed before Convention for final passage, 703.

Resolution read, 703

Final passage, 703

Resolution No. E

Resolution No. E. A resolution expressing gratitude for the use of the library facilities of the North Dakota Supreme Court.

Introduced by Committee on Resolutions, 1348

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1349

Resolution read, 1348-1349

Final passage, 1349

Resolution No. F

Resolution No. F. A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the University of North Dakota for its generous support and sponsorship of informational meetings on the subject of constitutional revision.

Introduced by Committee on Resolutions, 1349

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1350

Resolution read, 1349-1350

Final passage, 1350

Resolution No. G

Resolution No. G. A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Constitutional Convention to the chorus of the Bismarck Elks Lodge No. 1199 for performing at the opening session of the plenary session.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1415

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1416

Resolution read, 1416

Final passage, 1416

Resolution No. H

Resolution No. H. A resolution expressing appreciation to the North Dakota National Guard and to Major General LeClair A. Melhouse for their assistance to the North Dakota Constitutional Convention in the opening ceremony of the plenary session on January 3, 1972.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1416

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1417

Resolution read, 1416-1417

Final passage, 1417

Resolution No. I

Resolution No. I. A resolution expressing appreciation to the North Dakota Highway Department for the use of their facilities and for other assistance.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1417

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1417

Resolution read, 1417

Final passage, 1417

Resolution No. J

Resolution No. J. A resolution expressing appreciation to Delegate Joseph Byrne for his efforts in securing federal funds for the use of the Convention.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1417

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1418

Resolution read, 1418

Final passage, 1418

Resolution No. K

Resolution No. K. A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the Grand Forks Red River High School Band for its performance at the opening ceremonies of the Constitutional Convention's plenary session.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1419

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1419

Resolution Read, 1419

Final passage, 1419

Resolution No. L

Resolution No. L. A resolution requesting that the area of taxation of the extractive industries be investigated by the investigative branch of the legislature.

Introduced by Delegates Meidinger, Trenbeath, Poulson, Larsen, Lander, Litten, Engstrom, Griffin, Sullivan, Jestrab, Fritzell, Hernett, Knudson and Christensen and referred to Committee on Resolutions, 1433

Consideration deferred by Chair, 1539

Resolution read, 1562

Indefinitely postponed, 1565

Resolution No. M

Resolution No. M. A resolution expressing the appreciation of the Constitutional Convention to the Honorable William L. Guy, Governor of the state of North Dakota, for his generous support of the cause of constitutional revision.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1539

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1539

Resolution read, 1539

Final passage, 1539

Resolution No. N

Resolution No. N. A resolution expressing the intent of the Convention as to the form of the question on the adoption of the proposed 1972 constitution.

Introduced by Committee on Constitutional Ballot, 1566

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1567

Referred to Committee on Resolutions, 1566

Resolution read, 1567

Amended, 1567

Adopted, 1568

Final passage:

1570 Recorded roll call vote Ayes, 92; nays, 4; absent, 4

Resolution No. O

Resolution No. O. A resolution expressing the gratitude of all the delegates to the employees of the Convention who have contributed so much to its success, and to making it an enjoyable experience.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1775

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1776

Resolution read, 1775-1776

Final passage, 1776

Resolution No. P

Resolution No. P. A resolution urging the secretary of state to employ boldface or italicized type in the preparation of the official ballot for the proposed 1972 constitution.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1746

Motion to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, not voted on, 1746

Resolution read, 1746

Further action delayed until time certain, 1747

Withdrawn, 1761

Resolution No. Q

Resolution No. Q. A resolution vesting the president of the Constitutional Convention with the authority to perform all necessary acts relative to the Convention after its adjournment.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1756

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1758

Resolution read, 1757

Final passage, 1758

Resolution No. R

Resolution No. R. A resolution expressing the gratitude of the Convention to the State Library Commission and its employees for the many services rendered to the delegates, committees and staff.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1759

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1760

Resolution read, 1759-1760

Final passage, 1760

Resolution No. S

Resolution No. S. A resolution expressing the gratitude of all the delegates of the North Dakota Constitutional Convention for the efforts the staff of the Convention has expended to make the work of each delegate to the Convention most pleasant and to make the Convention most successful.

Introduced by Resolutions Committee, 1777

Motion prevailed to have rules suspended, not referred to Committee, placed before Convention for final passage, 1777

Resolution read, 1777

INDEX TO REMARKS BY DELEGATES AND INDIVIDUALS

Abbreviations used in this index are as follows:

A.P.	Alternate Proposal
C.P.	Committee Proposal
D.P.	Delegate Proposal
R.P.	Style and Drafting Committee Redraft Proposal

DELEGATE AAS

REMARKS

- Auditor General
 - Creation of 351, 352
 - Functions of 354
- Bonds
 - Guaranteeing of by state 1265
- Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1099, 1102, 1105
- Constitution
 - Provisions to be mandatory and prohibitory
 - Whether necessary to retain language for 245
- Executive branch
 - Officials of
 - Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1662
- Highway funds
 - Question of dedication of 679-680, 1320
- Initiative and referendum
 - Alternate proposal for 1649, 1650
- Jury trial
 - Number of jurors 1366
 - Provision for would destroy juvenile proceedings 1052-1053, 1057
- Legislative assembly
 - Age of members, Minimum proposed 731
 - Redistricting
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1325-1326
- Lotteries
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against 206-207
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 744
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction 1113
- Rules
 - Proposals
 - Reconsideration of
 - Limitations on 1701
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1262, 1264, 1269-1270, 1485, 1492
- State officials
 - Code of ethics for 228
- Taxation
 - Medical school dedicated funds 129
 - Real Property
 - Exemption and classification of property 472-473, 474, 479, 602-603, 605, 866-867, 871
 - Limitations on levy on 398-399, 882

DELEGATE AUBOL

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Enrolling and Engrossing 30

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-15, 1252
1-57, 1120

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1- 85, 757
1-101, 1115
1-113, 925

R.P — 5-7 (amendment to amendment) 1732
Rule 18, 58-59

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1752

Alternate proposals

Manner of consideration 1550

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1107

Compact with United States 196

Executive officials

Manner of selection

Alternate proposals for 1655

Qualifications for office 528

Removal from office 1532

Indian tribes

Sovereignty of

Reconsideration of proposal for 1728, 1729, 1732, 1735

Judges

Manner of selection 623-624, 632

Judicial branch

Should reconsider judicial article 932

Legislative assembly

Internal procedures 750

Redistricting

Procedures for 1512-1513

Sessions

Length and frequency of 551

Lotteries

Alternate proposal for 1425

Political subdivisions

County reorganization

Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1458

Optional forms of government 1072

Property

Eminent domain 991

Public utilities

Consent of local authorities required required for operation or construction 697,
1111, 1115, 1116

Right to counsel for indigents 503

Right to work

Alternate proposal for 1619

Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 445

Rules

Proposals

Reconsideration of

Limitations on 1700

Procedure for 490-491

Redraft proposals

Whether should be read 1355

Withdrawal, Manner of 112-113

Resolutions, Time for introduction of 58

Taxation

Real property

Exemption and classification of property 873

Voting

State residence

Length of time required for 758

REPORTED PRESENCE 201

DELEGATE BAKER

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-12, 1081
1-100, 1150
1-102, 811

R.P. — 5-9, 1378

Rule — 18.1, 62
27, 778

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1749-1750

Alternate proposals

Question of introducing alternate proposal 4-9, right to work 1536

Straw vote of convention on 1439, 1440

Constitution

Manner of amending 512-513

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Arrangement of sections in 194

Executive branch

Choosing of elective executive branch officials 856-857, 858

Executive orders 1146, 1150

Lieutenant governor to run on joint ballot 811

Officials of

Ethics

Governor not to influence legislators 859-860

Manner of selection 810-811

Alternate proposal for 1659-1660

Organization of 792

Veto power

Reduction of appropriations 1443

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 681-682, 1317

Initiative and referendum

Signature requirement for 924

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Alternate proposal for, Reconsideration of 1708, 1709, 1710

Effective date of bills passed 1571

Members

Holding other state or political subdivision office 845, 1402

Redistricting

Procedures for 1184

Reconsideration of proposal for 1327

Sessions

Length and frequency of 544-545

Terms of members, Length of 1210

Lotteries

Alternate proposal for 1421-1422, 1705

Proposal to delete prohibition against 143

Should reconsider action passing proposal for 202

Natural day, Meaning of 540

Political subdivisions

County reorganization

Number of electors required to place question on ballot 1454, 1455

- Home rule
 - Counties 1082-1083, 1085
- Property
 - Eminent domain 1122, 1133, 1173
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 742
- Right to work
 - Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 439-440
- Rules
 - Amendment of rules
 - Number of delegates required 52
 - Committee of the whole, Procedure and debate under 69, 70
 - Debate
 - Length of time delegates may speak 778
 - Division of question 77
 - Motions
 - Substitute 165
 - Proposals
 - Delegate proposals, Disposal of 167
 - Indefinite postponement of 81
 - Reconsideration of
 - When two-thirds majority required 1353-1354
 - Redraft proposals
 - Whether should be read 1356
 - Second passage of
 - Effect of vote on 1359
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Form of ballot 1570
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1491
- State officials
 - Impeachment, Provisions for 498
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Limitations on levy on 877-878
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1687

DELEGATE BASSINGTHWAITE

REMARKS

- Judges
 - Manner of selection 621-622
- Legislative assembly
 - Length of member's terms 1211
- Lotteries
 - Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1427
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Limitations on 878

DELEGATE BENDER

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Photography 961

REMARKS

- Public accommodations, Equal enjoyment of 356

DELEGATE BENSON

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-105, 892

REMARKS

Age

18-year olds classified as adults 1282

Alternate proposals

Should be voted on separately 370

Whether action by which original proposal passed must be reconsidered 1587

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1647-1648

Guarantee for 885-886, 892

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems 310

Alternate proposal for 1719

Members

Minimum age of 728, 734

Lotteries

Alternate proposal for 1427

Property

Eminent domain 1200-1201

Voting

County residence required 1288

DELEGATE BERG

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-45, 729

1-99, 1139

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1106

Executive branch

Officials of

Manner of selection

Alternate proposal for 1630, 1664

Recall of 1138, 1139

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1641, 1643

Signature requirement for 909-910

Legislative assembly

Members

Minimum age of 729

DELEGATE BILLEY

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 643

REMARKS

Ellendale Branch-UND, Need to have question resolved as to disposal 251

Education

Organizational structure 939-944, 951, 952, 956, 1252-1253

Whether provision of should be free 1247

Transition schedule, Explanation of provisions of 1676, 1678

DELEGATE BINEK

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

DELEGATE BIRKELAND

APPOINTMENTS

Executive Committee on Public Information 1756

(1889)

REMARKS

Executive Branch
Officials of
Manner of selection
Alternate proposals for 1665-1666
Legislative assembly may change method 807-808, 819

DELEGATE BRAKKE

REMARKS

Executive Branch
Officials of
Manner of selection of, Alternate proposal for 1658-1659
Right to work
Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 438-439

DELEGATE BURBIDGE

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-53, 554
1-89, 1203

REMARKS

Age
18-year olds classified as adults
Merits of 1282-1283
Reconsideration of proposal for 961-962
Environmental bill of rights
Class action provisions 586
Government immunity
Abrogation of doctrine 1312, 1314
Jury trial
Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1062
Legislative assembly
Terms of members, Length of 1213
Lotteries
Alternate proposal for 1427, 1705
Ombudsman
Need for 709-710
Property
Eminent domain 978, 987, 992, 1202-1203, 1204-1205, 1208
Of women
Exemption from debt 355
Right to work
Whether provisions for should be included in proposed
constitution 431-433, 552-554, 737
Slavery, Abolition of by 13th Amendment 240
State name
Whether should be established by constitution 1527
Voting
County residence required 1288
Permanent registration system 619-620
State residence
Military personnel 762-763

DELEGATE BURKE

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1751-1752
Alternate proposals
Whether action by which original proposal passed must be reconsidered 1587

- Bonds
 - Guaranteeing of by state 1265-1266
 - Issuance by instrumentalities of the state 1270
- Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1105
- Drafting procedure
 - Drafting by reference 1525
- Education
 - Organizational structure 1247, 1253
 - Whether provision of should be free 1245
- Environmental bill of rights
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1740
- Executive branch
 - Officials of
 - Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1656
 - Reorganization of 1147, 1149
- Highway funds
 - Question of dedication of 678-679, 1317-1318
- Jury trial
 - Provision for would destroy juvenile proceedings 1051-1052
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1585
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1188
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1704
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against 203
- Political subdivisions
 - County reorganization
 - Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1464
- Property
 - Eminent domain 979, 1206-1207
- Right to counsel for indigents 715
- Rules
 - Proposals
 - Indefinite postponement of 1555, 1558
 - Suspension of rules
 - During last two conventions days 1560
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Form of ballot 1568-1569
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1259, 1489
- Taxation
 - Committee Philosophy 395-396
 - Methods of determining 409
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 474-475, 871
- Transition schedule
 - Provisions of 1677-1678
- Treason against the state
 - Provision for not needed 241

DELEGATE BUTLER

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH 2

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-84, 504

Rule 18, 58

REMARKS

- Alternate proposals
 - Manner of consideration 1549, 1550
- Drafting
 - Procedures 188
 - Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 122
- Environmental bill of rights
 - Class action provisions 883
- Executive branch
 - Officials of
 - Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1658
- Initiative and referendum
 - Alternate proposal for 1647
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Merits of systems 295-296, 311
- Rules
 - Amendment of rules
 - Number of delegates required 52
 - Citizen ideas
 - Manner of disposition 57
 - Deadline for introduction 57
 - Committee reports
 - Procedures for 40
 - Proposals
 - First Passage, Disposition of if fail on 230
 - Floor amendments, Procedures for 43
 - Introduction of, Limitation on time for
 - Committee proposals 57-58
 - Delegate proposals 59
 - Reconsideration of
 - Limitations on 1699
 - Procedure for 375
 - Time for 1352
 - Whether advance notice required 159
 - Second passage of
 - Disposition of if fail on 1351, 1352
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1491
- State officials
 - Code of ethics 220, 227
- Taxation
 - Methods of determining 411

DELEGATE BYRNE

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Employment 30

REMARKS

- Executive branch
 - Constitutional restrictions on 809
 - Officials of
 - Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1664-1665
- Federal funding for convention, Response to convention's thanks for securing 1418
- Governmental immunity
 - Abrogation of doctrine 1308-1309

- Initiative and referendum
 - Payment for circulation of petitions 904
- Journal of convention
 - Cost of printing 1390
- Legislative assembly
 - Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 543, 546
 - Terms of members, Length of 1211
- Plenary session and committee meetings
 - When to be held 89
- Reichert, Senator William R., Tribute to 1762
- State and political subdivisions
 - Boards and agencies of
 - Meetings to be open to all 1023
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1263
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1686
 - Procedure for consideration of 1674, 1679
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 1235

DELEGATE CART

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

Proposed Constitution of 1972 1784

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-105, 895
 1-112 (amendment to amendment) 917

REMARKS

- Adjournment Sine die, Motion for 1789
- Adoption schedule and ballot 1751, 1754
- Alternate proposals
 - Straw vote of convention on 1430
- Attorneys
 - Need for in public service 227
- Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1100, 1105
- Commendations to staff 1769
- Constitution
 - Majority of legislative assembly required to propose 1032
 - Provisions to be mandatory and prohibitory
 - Whether necessary to retain language for 199, 244
- Drafting procedure
 - Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 124
- Education
 - Whether provision of should be free 1243-1244
- Environmental bill of rights
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1742
- Executive branch
 - Officials of
 - Manner of selection 817
 - Recall of 1141
 - Organization of 790
 - Whether boards of education are included under 1437
- Initiative and referendum
 - Alternate proposal for 1642
 - Payment for circulation of petitions 905

- Signature requirement for 908
- Supermajority of legislative assembly to amend or repeal measure 917
- Judges
 - Manner of selection 626-627
 - Subject to confirmation by voters if unopposed on ballot 1450
- Legislative assembly
 - Age of members, Minimum proposed 730
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Merits of systems 314-315
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1186-1187, 1509
 - Reconsideration for proposal for 1331
 - Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 543-544
 - Terms of members, Length of 1215
- Pardon and Parole
 - Power and responsibility for 339, 340
- Plenary session
 - When to be held 90
- Preamble
 - Need to clarify language 160
 - Reason for amendment 119
- Private Utility, Definition of 413
- Public Service Commission, Jurisdiction and authority of 326-327
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1113, 1463
 - Regulation of 696-697
- Railroads, Control of intrastate rates 505
- Right to counsel for indigents 501-502
- Rules
 - Call of the convention, Compelling attendance 45
 - Proposals
 - Disposition of if committee report rejected 200
 - Division of 106
 - Withdrawal, Manner of 61
- State and political subdivisions
 - Boards and agencies of
 - Meetings to be open to all 1026
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1260
- State lands
 - Ellendale Branch-UND, Disposition of 247
- State trust lands (educational)
 - Protection of trust funds 827
- Taxation
 - Medical school dedicated funds 131
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 471-472, 474, 476, 480, 603, 869, 874
 - Limitations on levy on 406, 883
 - Resolution for study of mineral severance 1565
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1686

DELEGATE CHASE

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-36, 723

1-96, 1097

Rule 37, 84

REMARKS

Alternate proposals

Manner of placement on ballot 1599

Arms, Right to bear 578

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1097-1098, 1101

Constitution

Manner of amending 512, 723

Executive branch

Lieutenant governor to run on joint ballot 813

Officials of

Manner of selection 803-804, 816

Alternate proposal for 1579-1580, 1629, 1653, 1655-1656, 1671

Qualifications for office 526

Organization of 799

Powers and duties of governor 340 ,

Governmental immunity

Abrogation of doctrine 1306

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 1322

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1647

Legislative assembly

Redistricting

Procedures for 1185

Terms of members, Length of 1215

Lotteries

Alternate proposal for 1424, 1611

Proposal to delete prohibition against 205-206

Plenary session

Recess of, Oppose motion for 1227

Whether Saturday is session day 91

Public utilities

Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1112

Rules

Proposals

Disposition of if committee report not adopted 230

Indefinite postponement of 1556

Introduction of, Time limitation on 60

Question, Division of 110

Taxation

Real property

Exemption and classification of property 872

DELEGATE CHRISTENSEN

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

D.P. — 2-12, 1020, 1023 (amendment to amendment)

REMARKS

Corporations, obsolete provisions, pertaining to 326

Price fixing

Deletion of present provisions, Reasons for 150

Right to counsel for indigents 500

State and political subdivisions

Boards and agencies of

Meetings to be open to all 1021, 1022

DELEGATE DANIELS

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-98, 607

REMARKS

Arms, Right to bear 579

Constitution

Provisions to be mandatory and prohibitory

Whether necessary to retain language for 199, 244

Education

Whether provision of should be free 1242

Ex post facto and bills of attainder, Prohibition of 364-365, 607

Governmental immunity

Abrogation of doctrine 1313

Ombudsman

Need for 710

Voting

State residence

Maintenance of 760

REPORTED PRESENCE 284

DELEGATE DAWSON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-1, 1595

REMARKS

Alternate proposals

List of those under consideration 1427

Manner of consideration 1225

Straw vote of convention on 1439, 1440

Executive branch

Officials of

Compensation, Amount of 342-343

Manner of selection 820

Alternate proposal for 1653

Qualifications for office 342-343, 524, 529

Organization of 797

Judges

Manner of selection

Alternate proposal for 1553

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative system

Alternate proposal for 1551, 1581-1582, 1584, 1592, 1595-1596, 1713

Merits of systems 315

Redistricting

Procedures for 1192

Terms of members, Length of

Alternate proposal for 1553

Right to work

Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 440-441

Special election on proposed constitution

Form of ballot 1569

REPORTED PRESENCE 285

DELEGATE DECKER

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Photography 961

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

- C.P. — 1-71, 570-571
1-80, 1090
- R.P. — 5-2, 1493
5-16, 1753
- Rule — 20, 63

REMARKS

- Adoption schedule and ballot 1752, 1753
 - Arms, Right to bear 576, 577, 1030
 - Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1102
 - Crimes and Punishments
 - Bail, Guarantee of 571
 - Executive branch
 - Officials of
 - Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1671-1672
 - Governmental immunity
 - Abrogation of doctrine 1304-1305, 1306, 1311-1312
 - Reconsideration of proposal for abrogation of doctrine 1736, 1737
 - Jury trial
 - Number of jurors 1294, 1520
 - Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for, Reconsideration of 1710, 1711
 - Effective date of bills passed 1410
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1184
 - Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1425
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against 207
 - Rules
 - Committee of the whole, Procedure and debate under 71
 - Proposals
 - Amendments to 64
 - Voting on 1358
 - State debt
 - Limitations on 1493
 - Taxation
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 597
- REPORTED PRESENCE 28

DELEGATE DEVINE

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

- A.P. — 4-3, 1671
- C.P. — 1- 18, 251-252
1-104, 1313
- R.P. — 5-4, 1468, 1469
- Corporations, Obsolete provisions pertaining to 325-326
- Crimes and Punishments
 - Death penalty, Reason for retention of 455
- Cumulative voting, Deletion of provision for 149
- Education
 - Organizational structure 950-951, 952
 - Whether provision of should be free 1238, 1239-1240, 1242, 1245
- Environmental bill of rights
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1742

- Executive branch
 - Officials of
 - Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1663, 1672
 - Qualifications for office 529-530
 - Governmental immunity
 - Abrogation of doctrine 1310, 1313, 1737
- Judicial branch
 - Courts to be open to all 969
- Jury trial
 - Provision for would destroy juvenile proceedings 1050
- Legislative assembly
 - Local and special laws 1035
 - Meetings of to be open 1016
 - Redistricting
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1331
 - Terms of members, Length of 1217
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1613
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against 206
 - Recent action in other states 144
- Price fixing
 - Prohibition of 993-994
- Property
 - Eminent domain 1201
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 694-695, 696
 - 699, 700, 1109, 1110, 1111-1112, 1115
- Railroads, Control of intrastate rates 505
- Right to counsel for indigents 501, 714
- Right to work
 - Alternate proposal for 1620
- Rules
 - Debate
 - Limitations on 1697
 - Proposals
 - Delegate, Manner of withdrawal 170
 - Reconsideration of
 - Advance notice of should be given 1698
 - When should be effected 1363
- Search and seizure, Restrictions on 382
- Special law, Definition of 151
- State lands
 - Adverse possession in prohibited 821
- State trust lands (educational)
 - Disposition of if use ceases to exist 248
 - Protection of trust funds 827-828
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 600
- Voting
 - Qualifications and competency for 771, 772
 - Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1169
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 464

DELEGATE DIEHL

APPOINTMENTS

Coordinating Committee on Public Information 1501

Executive Committee on Public Information 1756

REMARKS

Initiative and referendum

Petition, Certification of 889-890

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Merits of systems 317

Members

Minimum age of 732

Public utilities

Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 699

DELEGATE DOBSON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal 30

Executive Committee on Public Information 1756

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

Proposed Constitution of 1972 1785

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-4, 1623

C.P. — 1-25, 329

1-36, 724

1-44, 1510

1-53, 556-557, 739

1-57, 1117

1-85, 1286

1-121, 1688

R.P. — 5- 1, 1393, 1395

5- 2, 1494

5-12, 1411

5-15, 1526, 1530

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1752

Age

18-year olds classified as adults

Alternate proposal for 1606

Alternate proposals

Manner of placement on ballot 1599

Arms, Right to bear 577-578

Constitution

Majority of legislative assembly required to propose 1032

Manner of amending 723, 724-725

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Style and drafting amendments to 1766, 1767

Whether should have final vote on adoption 1778, 1779

Drafting procedure

Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 123

Executive branch

Officials of

Manner of selection

Alternate proposal for 1661

Recall of

Past history in North Dakota 1142-1143

Veto power

Reduction of appropriations 329, 1445

Information and indictment

Whether necessary to provide procedure for grand jury 362-363

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1623, 1636, 1639, 1644, 1648

- Intent of Legislative functions committee regarding 896
- Presentation of petition to secretary of state before circulation 889, 927
- Signature requirement for 908, 912, 922
- Sponsors, Number of required 899
- Submission of question to electors, Manner and time of 914-915
- Supermajority of legislative assembly to amend or repeal measure 917
- Judges
 - Manner of selection 639, 646, 660
- Judicial branch
 - Courts to be open to all
 - Whether should include right to privacy 930, 968
- Legislative assembly
 - Appropriation for, Whether should be subject to veto 383
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1595
 - Merits of systems 309-310
 - Election of members
 - By classes 848
 - Meetings of to be open 1017, 1019
 - Members
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 840-841, 845, 1402
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1176, 1178, 1182-1183, 1185, 1189, 1192-1193, 1196, 1275, 1276, 1506, 1507-1508, 1510-1511, 1512
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1328, 1500
 - Staggering of seats 849, 850, 851
 - Terms of members, Length of 1218-1219
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1066
- Plenary session
 - Recess of, Urging of 107, 108
- Political subdivisions
 - County reorganization
 - Number of electors required to place question on ballot 1454-1455
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 463, 744, 1117, 1154
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1110
- Right to work
 - Alternate proposal for 1620
 - Proposal for should be simplified 739
 - Whether proposal for would permit corporate farming 441
 - Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 557
- Rules
 - Resolutions, Introduction of, Procedures for 87
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Size and kind of type 1761
- State and political subdivisions
 - Boards and agencies of
 - Meetings to be open to all 1022-1023, 1024, 1026
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1489
- State name
 - Whether should be established by constitution 1526-1527
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1680, 1688
- Voting
 - County residence required 1289
 - State residence
 - Length of time required for 758
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 463

DELEGATE ENGELTER

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-44, 1503-1504

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1754

Age

18-year olds classified as adults

Alternate proposal for 1606-1607

Compact with United States 259-260, 288

Indian tribes

Sovereignty of

Reconsideration of proposal for 1727

Initiative and referendum

Payment for circulation of petitions 904

Judges

Manner of selection 629-630, 650

Removal procedures 650

Retirement of 650

Legislative assembly

Redistricting

Procedures for 1504-1505, 1507, 1508, 1509

Reconsideration of proposal for 1499

Political subdivisions

County reorganization

Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1458

Rules

Proposals

Indefinite postponement of 1554

Taxation

Real property

Exemption and classification of property 875

DELEGATE ENGSTROM

REMARKS

Education, Organizational structure of 945

Railroads, Control of intrastate rates 505

DELEGATE ERICKSON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 643

Committee on Enrolling and Engrossing 30

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-74, 1334

1-97, 873

Lotteries

Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1424

State debt

Limitations on 1256-1257, 1334-1335

Taxation

Real property

Exemption and classification of property 872

DELEGATE FALLGATTER

REMARKS

Executive Branch

Officials of
Manner of selection of, Alternate proposal for 1653
Judges
Manner of selection of 627
Rules
Call of the convention 44-45
Journal of convention, How kept 55-56
Proposals
Reconsideration of 490
Voting on, Manner of 68
Voting
State residence
Length of time required for 757

DELEGATE FIEDLER

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642

REMARKS

Right to work
Whether provision for should be included in constitution 437
Taxation
Real property
Exemption and classification of property 600
Voting
General election, Date of 754

DELEGATE FRITZELL

REMARKS

Alligators and Swamps, Observation regarding 1743
Arms, Right to bear 578-579
Bonds, Revenue
Whether should be a general obligation of the state 1266
Education
Whether provision of should be free 1240
Environmental bill of rights
Need for right 564-565, 831
Question of individual right to enforce 834-835
Reconsideration of proposal for 1739, 1743
Should not be voted on as substantive issue on second passage 1534
Executive Branch
Officials of
Manner of selection
Alternate proposal for 1659
Governmental immunity
Abrogation of doctrine 1306
Highway funds
Question of dedication of 1323-1324
Jury trial
Provision for would destroy juvenile proceedings 1052
Legislative Assembly
Members
Minimum age of 730
Lotteries
Alternate proposal for 1424
Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 207
Property
Eminent domain 984
Public utilities
Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 697

State debt
 Limitations on 1258, 1484
State trust lands (educational)
 Disposition of if use for which granted ceases to exist 248
Waters, Ownership of in public domain 272
 REPORTED PRESENCE 479

DELEGATE GEELAN

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-58, 358, 360
Rule — 16, 102
 29, 78
 36 (amendment to amendment) 1560
Auditor General
 Creation of 352
Committee reports 165-166
Governmental immunity
 Abrogation of doctrine 1310
Habeas corpus, Preservation of Latin term 1376-1377
Legislative assembly
 Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 Merits of systems 304
Ombudsman
 Need for 710
Property
 Eminent domain 466, 980-982, 983, 986, 1123-1124, 1206
Right to work
 Alternate proposal for 1619, 1620
Rules
 Alternate proposals
 Procedures for 87
 Time Limitations on introduction of 1300
 Amendment of rules
 Procedure for 52
 Committee recommendations
 Generally 33-34
 Division of question 74, 76
 Proposals
 Deadline for action upon 1223
 Layover of the vote on, Suspension of rule requiring 1224
 Reconsideration of 375-376, 491
 Advance notice of should be given 159
 Number of delegates to effect 78-79
 When permitted 79
 Voting on 68
 Resolutions, Manner of handling 72
 Suspension of rules
 During last two convention days 1558-1559, 1560
Rules committee, Commendation of members of 88
Unlawful imprisonment, Release from 358

DELEGATE GIPP

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Photography 961

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-86, 1285

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-57, 740

REMARKS

Adjournment sine die, Second to motion for 1789

Age

18-year olds classified as adults

Reconsideration of proposal for 962

Compact with United States 288

Executive branch

Officials of

Qualifications for office 525, 530-531

Indian tribes

Sovereignty of

Reconsideration of proposal for 1722, 1723-1724, 1725-1726, 1733-1734

Judicial branch

Reconsideration of judicial article 933-934

Legislative assembly

Members

Minimum age of 730

Political subdivisions

Services to be provided by 1072-1073

Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 358, 463-464, 514, 740-741, 745, 1117

REPORTED PRESENCE 284, 619

DELEGATE HARDMEYER

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-38, 837

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 684

Legislative assembly

Members

Holding other state or political subdivision office 837-838

Minimum age of 733-734

Rules

Alternate proposals, Procedures for 87

Taxation

Real property

Limitations on levy on 400

DELEGATE HARTL

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-57, 746

1-73, 494

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-38, 844

1-44, 1514

1-82, 1166-1167, 1332

REMARKS

Age

18-year-olds classified as adults

Alternate proposal for 1607

- Communications
 - Compact with United States, Jurisdiction of military reservations under 261
- Environmental bill of rights
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1741
- Executive branch
 - Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1666
- Homestead exemption
 - Extension to single persons 1091-1092
- Indian tribes
 - Sovereignty of
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1723, 1731-1732
- Judges
 - Manner of selection 634
- Judicial branch
 - Reconsideration of judicial article 933
 - Structure of 647-649
- Legislative assembly
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 844, 1128-1129
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1511, 1514
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's election 1067
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1612-1613
- Ombudsman
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1743
- Political subdivisions
 - Boundaries, Procedures for changes in 1076
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 463, 514-515, 743, 745, 1155
- Right to counsel for indigents 501
- Rules
 - Debate
 - Limitation on 1697
 - Minority reports, Should be furnished to delegates 390
- Search and seizure 382
- State boundaries
 - Designation of 518-519
- Voting
 - State residence
 - Payment of taxes 763
 - Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1167, 1168, 1332, 1333
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 201, 590

DELEGATE HAUGEN

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Calendar 96

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-2 (amendment to amendment) 1704-1705

C.P. — 1-37, 544
 1-38, 1127
 1-112, 916

R.P. — 5-2, 1478, 1480, 1495-1496, 1496

Rule — 36, 1559

REMARKS

Bonds, Revenue

Whether should be guaranteed by state 1268

- Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1099
- Committee hearings
 - Time of holding 93
- Communications
 - Letter from Lawrence O'Connell, County Judge, to Delegate Hill 915
- Constitution of 1972, Proposed
 - Style and drafting amendments to 1765
- Education
 - Organizational structure 949, 950
 - Electrical plants, Financing of 130
- Environmental bill of rights
 - League of Women Voter's position regarding 832
- Finance and Taxation Committee dinner party 747
- Highway funds
 - Deduction of for certain related uses 1477
 - Question of dedication of 684-685
- Indian tribes
 - Sovereignty of
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1726, 1734, 1735
- Initiative and referendum
 - Alternate proposal for 1626, 1647
 - Supermajority of legislative assembly to amend or repeal measure 916-917
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1585, 1715
 - Members
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 838, 843, 845, 1127-1128
 - Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 544
 - Terms of members, Length of 852-853
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1704
- Plenary session meetings
 - When to be held 24-25, 93
- Political subdivisions
 - Home rule
 - Counties 1084-1085
- Property
 - Eminent domain 992
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 742, 742
- Public moneys
 - Deposits of, By whom 1478
- Rules
 - Division of question 77
 - Proposals
 - Division of 75
 - Reconsideration of
 - Rule needs clarification 375
 - Suspension of rules
 - During last two conventions days 1559, 1560
 - Majority required 1728
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1261, 1337, 1341, 1482-1483, 1491
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 475, 477, 598
 - Levy on in emergencies only 129

Limitations on levy on 404, 879-880
Twenty-one mill levy 398

Voting

State residence 763
REPORTED PRESENCE 510, 539

DELEGATE HENDRICKSON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Style and Drafting 139

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-36, 721, 1031

R.P. — 5-12 (amendment to amendment) 1404

Rule — 24 (amendment to amendment) 77

Committee reports

Minority reports should be furnished to delegates 389-391
Seconding of 82

Constitution

Manner of amending 512, 513, 722-723, 1031

Education

Organizational structure 952-953

Public education board

Meetings of to be open 1237

Whether provision of should be free 1244

Executive branch

Officials of

Manner of selection

Alternate proposal for 1660-1661

Qualifications for office 527

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1642

Judicial branch

Courts to be open to all 1361

Jury trial

Number of jurors 1362, 1366

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Merits of systems 297-298

Members

Minimum age of 731

Redistricting

Procedures for 1187-1188, 1276

Reconsideration of proposal for 1327

Sessions

Size of 270

Pictures

Composite convention picture 960

Political subdivisions

County reorganization

Number of electors required to place question on ballot 1456-1457

Public moneys

Deposits of, By whom 1479

Rules

Motions

For previous question, Effect of 1175

Proposals

Disposition of if committee report not adopted 199-200

Division of 105

Floor amendments to 66

Reconsideration of
 Advance notice of should be given 1697
Second passage of
 Vote should be section-by-section 1355
Style and drafting committee
 Motto of, Suggested 1546
 Titling of sections by 38
Transition schedule
 Provisions of 1680
Treason against the state
 Need for sanctions against 1373
Voting
 Permanent registration system 618

DELEGATE HERNETT

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Calendar 96

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-3, 1654

C.P. — 1-10, 118

 1-27, 339

 1-74, 1264

 1-74 (amendment to amendment) 1269

R.P. — 5-13, 1434, 1436, 1443, 1444

REMARKS

Alternate proposals

 Manner of consideration 1550

Bonds, Revenue

 Whether should be guaranteed by the state, 1264-1265, 1266-1267, 1269

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

 Style and drafting amendments to 1434

Executive branch

 Officials of

 Manner of selection 816-817

 Alternate proposal for 1578, 1628-1629, 1631, 1652-1653, 1655, 1661, 1664, 1665

 Veto power

 Reduction of appropriations 1443

Initiative and referendum

 Payment for circulation of petitions 904

Legislative assembly

 Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

 Alternate proposal for 1718

 Introduction of bills, Limitations on 549

 Meetings of to be open 1019

 Members

 Holding other state or political subdivision office 843

 Redistricting

 Procedures for 849, 1511

“Natural” day, Meaning of 549

Plenary session

 Meetings of, which day of week 90

 Recess of, When to be held 31

Rules

 Division of question 74

 Proposals

 Division of 74, 75

 Indefinite postponement of 109, 1557

Manner of bringing to floor 41, 74, 109
Reconsideration of
 Limitations on 1701
 Withdrawal, Manner of 109
State debt
 Limitations on 1485
Style and drafting committee
 Tribute to 1768

DELEGATE HILDEBRAND

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

REMARKS

Initiative and referendum
 Alternate proposal for 1641
Legislative assembly
 Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 Merits of systems 294-295, 317-318
 Compensation of members 343, 344
 Members
 Holding other state or political subdivision office 1128
 Redistricting
 Procedures for 1196
Taxation
 Resolution for study of mineral severance 1564

DELEGATE HILL

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-11, 657-658
 1-32, 499
 1-103, 860
 1-106, 898, 900
 1-108, 910-911
 1-119, 1517

REMARKS

Alternate proposals
 Straw vote of convention on 1439
Arms, Right to bear 579
Constitution of 1972, Proposed
 Whether should have final vote on adoption 1779
Executive branch
 Executive orders 1146, 1147, 1149-1150, 1151-1152
 Officials of
 Election of, When to be held 857
 Ethics
 Governor not to influence legislators 860
 Manner of selection
 Alternate proposal for 820
 Removal from office 1531
 Organization of 788-790, 795, 798-799
 Structure of 1147
Initiative and referendum
 Alternate proposal for 1635-1636, 1639
 Signature requirements for 908, 911-912
 Sponsors, Number of required 898-890
 Submission of question to electors, Manner and time of 914
Judges
 Manner of selection 640-641, 658-659

- Jury trial
 - Number of jurors 1363, 1366, 1517-1518, 1520
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1716, 1719
 - Merits of systems 315-316
 - Local and special laws 1034
 - Members
 - Attorneys serving as 225
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1611
 - Pari-mutuel betting 145
 - Past experience in North Dakota 144
- Pictures
 - Composite convention picture 959
- Plenary session
 - Recess of, When to be held 108
- Political subdivisions
 - Services to be provided by 1077
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 1119
- Right to counsel for indigents 717
- State officials
 - Impeachment, Provisions for 499
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1678, 1686
- Voting
 - Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1171
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 284

DELEGATE HOFFNER

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Calendar 96

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-11, 637, 644
1-44, 1214

Rule — 18.2, 370

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1751

Alternate proposals

Manner of placement on ballot 1598

Auditor General

Creation of 354

Committee hearings

Posting of 94

Time of holding 88, 94

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Style and drafting amendments to 1392

Drafting procedure

Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 125

Education

Organizational structure 954

Environmental bill of rights

Reconsideration of proposal for 1741

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1648

Proposal for, Manner of consideration of 885

Journal of convention

Mailing of 31

- Judges
 - Manner of selection 637, 638-639, 644
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1588-1589, 1593, 1711
 - Debate on systems, Recommend both at same time 269
 - Proposals for
 - Manner of consideration 290-292
- Limitations on matters introduced into session as to subject manner 550
- Meetings of to be open 1017, 1019
- Members
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 841, 1403
 - Minimum age of 733
- Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1184-1185, 1188, 1508, 1513
- Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 541-542
 - Terms of members, Length of 852, 1214, 1215-1216
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1067
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1423
- Political subdivisions
 - County officers, Length of terms of 1080
- Rules
 - Alternate proposals, Procedures for 368, 369
 - Committee of the whole, Procedure and debate under 70
 - Debate
 - Time allotted to chairman for 73
 - Proposals
 - Division of 104
 - First passage, Disposition of if failed on 230
 - Indefinite postponement of 169, 1556
 - Withdrawal, Manner of 112
 - Style and drafting committee
 - Debate of proposals before referral 51

DELEGATE HOGHAUG

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Constitutional Ballot 643
- Committee on Employment 30

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

- C.P. — 1-37, 1316
- 1-97 — 597

REMARKS

- Age
 - 18-year-olds classified as adults
 - Alternate proposal for 1604
- Bonds, Revenue
 - Whether should be general obligation of the state 1266
- Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1107
- Highway funds
 - Question of dedication of 1316-1317, 1320-1321
- Judges
 - Manner of selection 630-631
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1592, 1714-1715

- Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1506
 - Terms of members, Length of 1219
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1424, 1552, 1610-1611, 1705
- Political subdivisions
 - Home rule
 - Counties 1084
- Rules
 - Proposals
 - Voting on
 - No need to list delegates when unanimous 1028, 1357
 - Whether necessary to vote on each question 68
- State boundaries
 - Designation of 515-516
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1483, 1493-1494
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 597
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1679

DELEGATE HOUGEN

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Style and Drafting 139

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

REMARKS

C P. — 1-119, 1365

Executive branch

- Executive orders 1149

Governmental immunity

- Abrogation of doctrine 1311

Initiative and referendum

- Payment for circulation of petitions 903

Judges

- Manner of selection 631

Jury trial

- Number of jurors 1359, 1362, 1365
- Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1059

Legislative assembly

- Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1591, 1719
 - Merits of systems 302-303
- Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1513
 - Terms of members, Length of 1222

Political subdivisions

- Establishment and designation of 1070
- Home rule
 - Counties 1084

Property

- Eminent domain 1200

Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 1154

Right to work

- Alternate proposal for 1619
- Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 739

Rules

- Proposals

Division of 103-104
Indefinite postponement of 110
Taxation
Real property
Limitations on levy on 883

DELEGATE HUBRIG

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 643

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-15, 1252
Proposed Constitution of 1972, 1784

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-53, 737

REMARKS

Age
18-year olds classified as adults 1283
Alternate proposals
Manner of consideration 369-370
Arms, Right to bear 579
Child labor, Prohibition against
Superceded by federal law 246
Convention administration
Failure of electronic voting machine 1343
Education
Whether provision of should be free 1240
Environmental bill of rights
Need for right 585
Executive branch
Officials of
Qualifications for office 526, 529
Governmental immunity
Abrogation of doctrine 1305-1306
Initiative and referendum
Alternate proposal for 1641, 1649
Jury trial
Number of jurors 1293, 1368
Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1060-1061
Legislative assembly
Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Merits of systems 309
Lotteries
Alternate proposal for 1423-1424
Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 203
Plenary session
When to be held 91
Whether Saturday should be counted as convention day 86
Right to counsel for indigents 500, 502, 713
Right to work
Alternate proposal for 1552, 1616, 1617, 1619
Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 436, 558, 737-738
Rules
Redraft proposals
Whether should be read 1355
Special election on proposed constitution
Form of ballot 1568

Voting
State residence
Length of time required for 760
Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1165

DELEGATE HUCKLE

REMARKS

Press
Freedom of 361
Meaning of 361

DELEGATE JESTRAB

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Style and Drafting 139

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-1, 132
1-15 (amendment to amendment) 1236
1-119 (amendment to amendment) 1295

REMARKS

Calendar
Indication of proposals on tenth order 163-164
Committee hearings
Cost of holding 94
Education
Meetings of boards of to be open 1236
Organizational structure 945-946, 951
Public education board
Creation and membership 1235
Whether provision of should be free 1241
Environmental bill of rights
Class action provisions 582, 833
Reconsideration of proposal for 1741
Judges
Manner of selection 629
Jury trial
Number of jurors 1292
Legislative assembly
Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Alternate proposal for 1594
Sessions
Length and frequency of 542
Lotteries
Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 206

DELEGATE KELSCH

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Style and Drafting 961

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-50, 240
1-57, 746
1-93, 494

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-7, 1602
C.P. — 1-11, 653-654, 657 (amendment to amendment)
1-27, 340-341
1-28, 523
1-29, 1196
1-32, 537
1-33, 1038
1-38, 842

- 1-46, 235
- 1-72, 750
- 1-75, 1033
- 1-80, 1092
- 1-87, 1322
- 1-92, 592, 1374
- 1-112, 918-919
- 1-119, 1294
- 1-121, 1680
- R.P. — 5-9, 1383
- 5-12, 1400-1401, 1401, 1403, 1404, 1408, 1413
- Rule — 16, 54
- 31, 80

REMARKS

- Adoption schedule and ballot 1750, 1751, 1754
- Alternate proposals
 - Manner of consideration 1549
 - Whether action by which original proposal passed must be reconsidered 1586, 1587
- Auditor General
 - Creation of 350-351
- Bonds, Revenue
 - Issuance by instrumentalities of the state 1270
 - Whether should be guaranteed as general obligation of state 1267
- Committee hearings
 - Manner of holding 93
 - Public testimony 93
- Constitution
 - Amendments, When effective 727
- Constitution of 1972, Proposed
 - Style and drafting amendments to 1764, 1767
- Crimes and Punishments
 - Bail, Guarantee of 450, 571-572
- Drafting procedure
 - Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 125
- Environmental bill of rights
 - Question of individual right to enforce 583, 835
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1740
- Executive branch
 - Disability of state officers and determination of succession 333-334, 336
 - Officials of
 - Qualifications for office 523
 - Recall of 1140-1141
 - Removal from office 1531
 - Organization of 790-791, 796, 798
 - Whether boards of education are included under 1437
 - Powers and duties of governor 340-341
 - Removal of executive officials for disability 333-334
 - Reorganization of 1147
 - Veto power
 - Reduction of appropriations 330
- Governmental immunity
 - Abrogation of doctrine 1310-1311, 1313, 1314
- Highway funds
 - Question of dedication of 1322, 1323
- Homestead
 - Sale of for labor and materials furnished for improvements 1093
- Information and indictment
 - Substitution of "accusation" for "information" 363

Judges

- Impeachment and removal 657
- Manner of selection 638
- Removal procedures 653, 654

Judicial branch

- Courts to be open to all
 - Generally 750
 - Whether should include right to privacy 967-968

Jury trial

- Number of jurors 1294, 1364, 1368
- Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1061

Legislative assembly

- Arrest, Privilege from 1033
- Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1584, 1586, 1709-1710, 1714
 - Merits of systems 303-304
- Effective date of bills passed 1033-1034, 1411, 1542, 1543, 1544, 1545
- Local and special laws 1034-1035
- Members
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 839, 840, 842, 843, 844
- Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1183, 1191, 1195, 1196, 1274-1275
 - Staggering of seats 849, 851
- Repealed provisions
 - Legislative enactment of 150
- Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 539-540, 540-541, 542, 549-550, 551
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1066, 1161

Lotteries

- Alternate proposal for 1426

Political subdivisions

- County reorganization
 - Number of electors required to place question on ballot 1455-1456

Price fixing

- Deletion of present provisions, Reasons for 150-151

Property

- Eminent domain 983, 985-986, 989, 1207

Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 743-744, 1118, 1383

Public information

- Preparation of introductory commentary to proposed constitution 1343

Public utilities

- Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 698, 700

Religious freedom, Guarantee of 453

Right to counsel for indigents 712, 714, 717

Rules

- Alternate proposals, Procedures for 367-370
- Amendment of rules
 - Number of delegates required 52
- Call of the convention, Compelling attendance 45
- Committee of the whole, Procedure and debate under 70-71
- Debate
 - Limitations on 1696
- Division of question 75
- Final passage 51
- Motions
 - Precedence of 80
 - Which are allowable 80
- Order of business 54

- Proposals
 - Committee may not pocket veto 200
 - Division of 75, 111
 - Indefinite postponement of 104, 167, 168, 1554, 1555
 - Order of consideration 46-48, 94, 1397-1398
 - Reconsideration of
 - Limitations on 1696, 1700
 - Second passage of
 - Effect of vote on 1352, 1397
 - Withdrawal, Manner of 170
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Form of ballot 1568
- State officials
 - Impeachment, Provisions for 537-538
 - Residency, Question of lowering from 5 yrs. to 2 yrs. 425-426
- Style and drafting committee
 - Necessity for 50-51
 - Powers of 50
 - Titling of sections by 38
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Levy on in emergencies only 417-418
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1679, 1682, 1683-1684, 1686
- Treason against the state
 - Need for sanctions against 1373
 - Provision for not needed 593, 594
 - Whether should be defined in constitution 241, 242
- Voting
 - County residence required 1289
 - State residence
 - Maintenance of 763
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 284, 388, 1230

DELEGATE KESSEL

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642
- Committee on Resolutions 210

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

- C.P. — 1-86, 1283
 - 1-106, 926
- R.P. — 5-2, 1490

REMARKS

- Age
 - 18-year olds classified as adults 1280, 1283
 - Alternate proposal for 1608
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 961
- Alternate issues
 - How many should be presented on ballot 1428
- Alternate proposals
 - Manner of placement on ballot 1599
 - Whether action by which original proposal passed must be reconsidered 1587
- Education
 - Whether provision of should be free 1239, 1244
- Executive branch
 - Officials of

- Manner of selection
 - Alternate proposal for 1631
- Indian tribes
 - Sovereignty of 1460
- Initiative and referendum
 - Alternate proposal for 1647
 - Presentation of petition to secretary of state before circulation on 899-900, 926
- Judges
 - Manner of selection 624-625, 645
 - Qualifications of 649
- Judicial branch
 - Districts, Designation of 649
- Jury trial
 - Number of jurors 1367
 - Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1059
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1595, 1716
 - Merits of systems 308
 - Terms of members, Length of 1215
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1611, 1612, 1613
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 206
- Political subdivisions
 - County officers 1071-1072
 - Optional forms of government 1071, 1073
 - Services to be provided by 1077
- Right to counsel for indigents 714
- Right to work
 - Alternate proposal for 1552, 1614, 1620
- Rules
 - Proposals
 - Voting on, When delegates may change vote 240
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1263, 1485, 1486, 1490
- Taxation
 - Resolution for study of mineral severance 1564-1565
- Voting
 - Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1164

DELEGATE KETCHUM

REMARKS

- Political subdivisions
 - Mill levy limitations 574

DELEGATE KNUDSON

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Employment 30

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

- C.P. — 1-74, 1338

- R.P. — 5-5, 1471, 1473

Education

- Freedom from sectarian control 1234
- Organizational structure 947-948, 954-955
- Whether provision of should be free 1233-1234, 1237, 1238

Environmental bill of rights

- Class action provisions 582

Highway funds
Question of dedication of 1318
Legislative assembly
Terms of members, Length of 1211-1212, 1216-1217
Unicameral Legislature, Reconsideration under 204
Lotteries
Louisiana lottery, History of 204
Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 204
Medical school dedicated fund levy 128
Property
Eminent domain 1201
State debt
Limitations on 1337-1338
State institutions
Location of fixed in constitution 248-249
State lands
Adverse possession in prohibited 821-822
State trust lands (educational)
Disposition of Ellendale Branch-UND land grant 247
General provisions concerning 823-826
Protection of trust funds 828
Sale or lease of to public agencies 1474
Taxation
Real property
Limitations on levy on 399-400, 880-881
Resolution for study of mineral severance 1563, 1564, 1565, 1566

DELEGATE KRETSCHMAR

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210
Committee on Style and Drafting 961

REMARKS

Judicial branch
Structure of
Appeals and jurisdiction 649
Political subdivisions
Boundaries, Procedures for changes in 1075
Debt
Limitations on under home rule 1078
Home rule 1071

DELEGATE KWAKO

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Enrolling and Engrossing 30
Committee on Employment 30

REMARKS

Legislative assembly
Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Merits of systems 300
Election of members
By classes 848
Members
Minimum age of 729-730
Terms of members, Length of 848
Special election on proposed constitution
Urging a "no" vote on proposed constitution 1647

DELEGATE LAMB

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642
Committee on Employment 30

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-119, 1293

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-4, 1625

C.P. — 1-80, 1090

1-84, 711

1-97, 865

REMARKS

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1099, 1105

Constitution

Manner of amending 725

Crimes and Punishments

Death penalty 454

Drugs

Offenses and penalties 116

Education

Church and state, Separation of 958

Homestead exemption

Not necessary in constitution 1088

Should include single persons 1090, 1091, 1092

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1627

Judicial branch

Courts to be open to all

Whether should include right to privacy 969

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Alternate proposal for 1585-1586

Members

Serving on various boards and commissions 1573

Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 463

Religious freedom, Guarantee of 452-453

Right to counsel for indigents 711-712

State and political subdivisions

Board and agencies of

Meetings to be open to all 1026

Taxation

Real property

Exemption and classification of property 599, 867

Treason against the state

Provision for not needed 241

Voting

County residence required 1288

Length of time required for 759

General election

Establishment of date for 761

Permanent registration system 616-617

Qualifications and competency 771

State residence

How established 765

Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 277

DELEGATE LANDER

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 643

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-7, 1605

C.P. — 1-16, 831
1-77, 574

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1750

Age

18-year olds classified as adults
Alternate proposal for 1603

Alternate proposals

Manner of consideration 1580
Straw vote of convention on 1430-1431

Drafting procedure

Inclusion of repeal provisions in proposals 225-226

Education

Board of higher education
Creation and membership 1234-1235
Organizational structure 948-949, 1232-1233
Whether provision of should be free 1238-1239, 1244

Environmental bill of rights

Class action provisions 831
Question of individual right to enforce 580

Executive branch

Executive orders 1151
Manner of selection
Alternate proposal for 1665

Information and indictment

"Complaint," Meaning of 1372

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1552-1553, 1649

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Alternate proposal for 1582, 1585, 1596, 1715
Terms of members, Length of 852

Plenary session

Recess of 1226, 1345

Political subdivisions

County reorganization
Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1457
Schools, Mill levy limits 574

Printing

Proposals 153

Public utilities

Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 695

Rules

Proposals

Introduction of, Time for 490
Rule for should be clarified 374

Suspension of rules

Majority required 204

State debt

Limitations on 1341

Taxation

Real property
Limitations on levy on 401

Transition schedule

Effect of 1683

DELEGATE LARSEN

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-28, 527

REMARKS

Age

18-year olds classified as adults
Alternate proposals for 1606

Education

Organizational structure 955

Environmental bill of rights

Class action provisions 831
Reconsideration of proposal for 1740

Executive branch

Officials of
Qualifications for office 527-528

Judges

Manner of selection 632-633

Legislative assembly

Terms of members, Length of 1213

Public utilities

Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1115

Taxation

Resolution for study of mineral severance 1564

DELEGATE LERBERG

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642

Committee on Resolutions 210

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

R P. — 5-7, 1729

REMARKS

Alternate proposals

Straw vote of convention on 1431

Bonds, Revenue

Whether should be guaranteed as general obligation 1267

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1096-1097
1098, 1099, 1103, 1104, 1106, 1107

Environmental bill of rights

Class action provisions 833

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 1324

Indian tribes

Sovereignty of 1721, 1722, 1725, 1727, 1729-1731, 1734

Irrigation

Need for tax revenue to provide 405

Judicial branch

Courts to be open to all
Whether should include right to privacy 969

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Alternate proposal for 1593
Merits of systems 308

Meetings of to be open 927

Redistricting

Reconsideration of proposal for 1329

Loans,
 Whether state may guarantee 1271

Lotteries
 Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1424-1425

Political subdivisions
 Debt
 Limitations on 1496

Public utilities
 Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1113-1114

Special election on proposed constitution
 Form of ballot 1569

State debt
 Limitations on 1262-1263, 1336, 1340, 1341-1342, 1481-1482, 1484-1485,
 1485-1486, 1487-1488, 1491, 1493

State trust lands (educational)
 Protection of trust funds 828

Taxation
 Real property
 Exemption and classification of property 599
 Limitations on levy on 403, 405, 876-877, 880

DELEGATE LITTEN

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Employment 30

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-101, 1108

REMARKS

Appreciation to officers, delegates and staff for achievements of convention 1774

Education
 Organizational structure 946-947, 1233

Employment committee
 Procedures used by 30

Public utilities
 Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1108-1109, 1110

DELEGATE LONGMIRE

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Calendar 96

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

R.P. — 5-14, 1525

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-29, 1178-1179
 1-44, 1209, 1274
 1-82, 1162
 1-89, 987, 991, 1133, 1199 (amendment to amendment)

R.P. — 5-3, 1447, 1447, 1449, 1450
 5-7, 1453, 1454, 1458, 1461, 1461-1462
 5-12, 1573

Rule — 24, 76
 25, 76

REMARKS

Adjournment
 Procedure for 96

Age
 18-year-olds classified as adults
 Alternate proposal for 1604

- Arms, Right to bear 577
- Committee hearings
 - Cost of holding 95
- Committee reports
 - Whether should be seconded 219
- Compact with United States
 - Whether should be retained 258-259, 260, 287-288
- Delegates to constitutional convention
 - Excuse of absentees, Manner of 23-24
- Drafting procedure
 - Amending process not necessary 120
 - Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 123
- Education
 - Organizational structure 1232
 - Whether provision of should be free 1245
- Executive branch
 - Officials of
 - Recall of 1141
- Habeas corpus
 - Use of term not necessary 1383
- Indian tribes
 - Sovereignty of 1459, 1460, 1722-1723, 1727, 1734
- Judges
 - Impeachment and removal 656-657
 - Manner of selection 389-390, 621, 633-634, 638, 641, 645, 659
 - Subject to confirmation by voters if unopposed on ballot 1450
 - Vacancies in office 1449
- Judicial branch
 - Structure of
 - Superintending control 651
- Jury trial
 - Number of jurors 1368
 - Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1054
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1584-1585, 1712-1713
 - Merits of systems 312
 - Compensation of 269
 - Meetings of to be open 1016
 - Members
 - Attorneys serving as 188
 - Serving on various boards and commissions 1570, 1573
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1179-1180, 1189, 1274, 1506
 - Staggering of terms 851, 1406
 - Terms of members, Length of 1027, 1209
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1159-1160
- Pictures
 - Composite convention picture 960
- Plenary session
 - Recess of, When to be held 112
 - When to be held 90-91
- Political subdivisions
 - Amendments to C.P. 1-12, Explanation of 615
 - Boundaries, Procedures for changes in 1075
 - County officers
 - Length of terms 1080
 - County reorganization

- Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1464-1465
- Number of electors required to place question on ballot 1454, 1455, 1456
- Home rule
 - Counties 1083-1084
 - Services to be provided by 1077, 1080
- Property
 - Eminent domain 987-988, 989-990, 991, 992, 1122-1123, 1133, 1199-1200, 1204, 1205-1206
- Rules
 - Division of question 76
 - Proposals
 - Amendments to amendments 63
 - Delegate
 - Manner of disposition 166
 - Division of 105
 - Indefinite postponement of 170
- Search and seizure
 - Restrictions on 381
- State and political subdivisions
 - Boards and agencies of
 - Meetings to be open to all 1022
- State boundaries
 - Designation of 393, 516-517, 830
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1493
- State name
 - Whether should be established by constitution 1527
- State seal
 - Description of 830
- State trust lands (educational)
 - Disposition of if use for which granted ceases to exist 248
- Style and drafting committee
 - Powers of 51
- Taxation
 - Medical school dedicated funds 128
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1683, 1685, 1686, 1687
- Treason against the state
 - Provision for not needed 593
- Voting
 - Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1162-1163, 1164, 1165-1166, 1168, 1171, 1333
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 479

DELEGATE McELROY

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642
- Committee on Resolutions 210

REMARKS

- Environmental bill of rights
 - Class action provisions 832
 - Question of individual right to enforce 581
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1740
- Legislative assembly
 - Alternate proposal for 1714
- Lotteries
 - Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1422
- Medical school dedicated fund levy 129

Political subdivisions
 Mill levy limitations 574
State debt
 Limitations on 1258, 1261, 1336
Taxation
 Real property
 Assessments of to be made locally 412
 Limitations on levy on 405-406, 878, 883
Utility companies, Private
 Definition of 413
Voting
 State residence
 Length of time required for 755
Waters
 Priority of use 273

DELEGATE McINTYRE

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 643
Executive Committee on Public Information 1756

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-113, 925

REMARKS

Age
 18-year olds classified as adults 1281
 Alternate proposal for 1551, 1602, 1605, 1606, 1609, 1610
Alternate proposals
 Manner of consideration 1550
 Straw vote of convention on 1439
Constitutional Convention of 1889
 Length of time since 725-726
Education
 Whether provision of should be free 1243, 1246
Executive branch
 Officials of
 Age of 342
 Manner of selection
 Alternate proposal for 1663
 Qualifications for office 525, 528-529
 Recall of 1140, 1143
 Organization of 795-796
Initiative and referendum
 Alternate proposal for 1641-1642, 1650
 Constitutional amendments
 Procedures for 891
 Presentation of petition to secretary of state before circulation 927
 Signature requirement for 907
 Sponsors, Number required 900-901
 Submission of question to electors, Manner and time of 914
Judicial branch
 Courts to be open to all
 Whether should include right to privacy 970
Jury trial
 Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1059-1060
Legislative assembly
 Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 Alternate proposal for 1716-1717
 Should be alternate question 302
Members

Holding other state or political subdivision office 1128
Minimum age of 730
Redistricting
Procedures for 1180
Reconsideration of proposal for 1328
Sessions
Length and frequency of 547, 548
Terms of members, Length of 852, 1210, 1220-1221
Lotteries
Alternate proposal for 1611
Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1423, 1426
Ombudsman
Need for 711
Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 1154
Right to work
Alternate proposal for 1618
Rules
Suspension of rules
During last two convention days 1560
State debt
Limitations on 1488, 1490-1491
Taxation
Real property
Limitations on levy on 879
REPORTED PRESENCE 388

DELEGATE MAXWELL

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Calendar 96

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-15, 1238
1-29, 1194
1-72, 751

D.P. — 2-12, 1025

REMARKS

Arms, Right to bear 578

Blacklists

No need to retain provision prohibiting 570

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1101, 1104

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Style and drafting amendments to 1360

Drafting procedure

Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 123

Education

Whether provision of should be free 1237, 1238, 1239, 1245

Habeas corpus

Latin term for not necessary 1377

Information and indictment

"Complaint," Meaning of 1372

Judicial branch

Courts to be open to all 1360

Jury trial

Number of jurors 1362

Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1049, 1051, 1053, 1054-1055, 1057, 1058

Legislative assembly

Redistricting

Procedures for 1194-1195

Lotteries
 Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 207
Ombudsman
 Need for 709
Preamble
 Form of as amended by Committee on Style and Drafting 1352
Property
 Eminent domain 982
Right to counsel for indigents 501, 503, 716
Right to work
 Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 433-435
Rules
 Proposals
 Division of 105
 Reconsideration of
 Limitations on 1700-1701
Search and seizure 381
State and political subdivisions
 Boards and agencies of
 Meetings to be open to all 1024
Voting
 State residence
 Length of time required for 755-756

DELEGATE MEIDINGER

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Calendar 96

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-15, 1231

REMARKS

Committee hearings
 Time of holding 93

Constitution of 1972, Proposed
 Style and drafting amendments to 1462

Education

 Meetings of boards to be open 1236
 Organizational structure 949-950, 1232, 1233
 Whether provision of should be free 1242

Executive branch

 Officials of
 Ethics
 Governor not to influence legislators 861-862
 Organization of 793

Plenary session

 When to be held 93

State debt

 Limitations on 1259-1260, 1261, 1261-1262, 1263

Taxation

 Resolution for study of mineral severance 1566

DELEGATE MILLER

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-7 (amendment to amendment) 1603

REMARKS

Age

 18-year olds classified as adults
 Alternate proposal for 1605-1606

Alternate proposals

 Manner of consideration 1600

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1102-1103
 Education
 Whether provision of should be free 1242
 Environmental bill of rights
 Class action provisions 586
 Question of individual right to enforce 834
 Reconsideration of proposal for 1739
 Finance and taxation dinner party, Committee on 747
 Governmental immunity
 Abrogation of doctrine 1306
 Legislative assembly
 Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 Alternate proposal for 1594
 Legislative assembly
 Terms of members, Length of 1221
 Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1065, 1066, 1067, 1159
 Property
 Eminent domain 1201
 Rules
 Redraft proposals
 Whether should be read 1355
 State debt
 Limitations on 1261

DELEGATE NOTHING

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-60, 1094
 1-76, 1015

REMARKS

Age
 18-year olds classified as adults 591, 732-733; 1278-1280, 1284
 Alternate proposal for 1607-1608
 Reconsideration of proposal for 961
 Constitution
 Provisions to be mandatory and prohibitory
 Whether necessary to retain language for 245-246
 Debt
 Imprisonment for, Prohibition against 378
 Elections
 Nonprejudicial electoral system, Right to 1042
 Environmental bill of rights
 Reconsideration of proposal for 1742-1743
 Executive branch
 Executive orders 1149
 Officials of
 Expense allowance, Unvouchered 532
 Manner of selection 815, 816
 Vacancy in office, What constitutes 814
 Organization of 792-793, 797
 Succession to governorship 332-333, 334
 Veto power 999
 Governmental immunity
 Abrogation of doctrine, Reconsideration of proposal for 1737-1738
 Information and indictment
 Application of Uniform Code of Military Justice to 1087-1088, 1095
 Traffic summons, Use of 363

Jury trial

Provision for would destroy juvenile proceedings 1052, 1060

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Alternate proposal for, Reconsideration of 1712

Merits of systems 305-306

Meetings of to be open 1015

Members

Professional persons should not be precluded from serving 223-224

Redistricting

Staggering of seats 850, 851

Terms of members, Length of 1028

Militia, State

Need for and funding of 179-180

Plenary session

Recess of, When to be held 108

When to be held 90

Property

Eminent domain 985, 986-987

Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 741, 742

“Public Policy” meaning of 359-360

“Public Safety” meaning of 359-360

Public utilities

Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1110, 1114

Right to counsel for indigents 716-717

Rights and liberties should be spelled out in detail 236-237

Rules

Withdrawal, Manner of 108-109

State officials

Removal and succession to office 1009, 1010

Transition schedule

Provisions of 1675-1676, 1678-1679, 1682, 1683, 1684-1685, 1688

Voting

State residence

Changing of 758, 763

REPORTED PRESENCE 223, 469

DELEGATE NICHOLAS

REMARKS

Arms, Right to bear 576, 1030

Indian tribes

Sovereignty of

Reconsideration of proposal for 1723, 1726

Jury trial

Number of jurors 1363

Legislative assembly

Redistricting

Staggering of seats 851

Political subdivisions

Boundaries, Procedures for changes in 1076

Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 745

Taxation

Obsolete provisions pertaining to 327

Real property

Exemption and classification of property 480

REPORTED PRESENCE 464, 956

DELEGATE O'TOOLE

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-119, 1064

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-85, 1285

REMARKS

Age

18-year olds classified as adults 591-592

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1101-1102

Crimes and Punishments

Death Penalty 454-455

Education

Whether provision of should be free 1240

Governmental immunity

Abrogation of doctrine 1312

Legislative assembly

Sessions

Length and frequency of 541

Lotteries

Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 203

Ombudsman

Need for 705-708

Political subdivisions

County reorganization

Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1457

Property

Eminent domain 986

Right to counsel for indigents 504

Rules

Proposals

Indefinite postponement of 1557-1558

Search and seizure

Restrictions on 379-380

State seal

Should be rising sun instead of setting sun 1787

Taxation

Real property

Non-profit health care facilities, Exemption for 474

Voting

Competency for 769-771, 773

General election

Establishment of date for 761, 1286, 1287

Qualifications of electors 752-753, 1286

Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1333

DELEGATE OMDAHL

APPOINTMENTS

Coordinating Committee on Public Information 1501

Executive Committee on Public Information 1756

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

State militia, Creation of 180

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-12, 1073, 1077, 1079

1-13, 286

1-34, 220-221

1-36, 726

1-85, 761
1-89, 1132, 1133 (amendment to amendment)
1-99, 1142
1-101, 701
1-121 (amendment to amendment) 1687

Rule 18, 86

REMARKS

Alternate proposals

Straw vote of convention on 1440

Bonds

Municipal industrial development 477

Compact with United States 261, 286-287

Constitution

Manner of amending 724, 726

Constitution of United States, Is supreme law of land 238

Delegates to constitutional convention

Correction of biographies 99-100

Drafting procedure

Drafting by reference 1525

Use of "shall" and "may" 1478

Education

Organizational structure 1254

Elections

Nonprejudicial electoral system, Right to 1040-1041, 1042, 1043

Environmental bill of rights

Class action provisions 835

Reconsideration of proposal for 1739-1740

Executive branch

Choosing of elective executive branch officials 857

Executive orders 1148-1149

Officials of

Manner of selection 816

Recall of 1139-1140, 1142

Removal from office 1532

Organization of

Duplication of services 800

Ex post facto and bills of attainder, Prohibition of not necessary 611

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 1319-1320

Indian tribes

Reconsideration of proposal for 1738

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1642-1643, 1649

Petition, Form of 886

Signature requirement for 912, 922-923

Sponsors, Number of required 899

Journal of convention

Cost of printing 1390

Judges

Manner of selection 635-636, 660

Alternate proposal for 1627

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Alternate proposal for 1593-1594

Merits of systems 318

Ethics, Code of 230

Logrolling, Difficulty of preventing 221

Members

- Holding other state or political subdivision office 846-847, 1402
- Qualifications of, Judging 222
- Serving on various boards and commissions 1572, 1574
- Power of will be broadened 221
- Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1196
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1330
 - Terms of members, Length of 853, 1212-1213, 1216
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1160-1161

Lotteries

- Alternate proposal for 1705
- Past experience in North Dakota 145
- Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1426

Political subdivisions

- Boundaries, Procedures for changes in 1073-1074
- Home rule
 - Debt Limitations under 1077, 1078, 1086
 - Mill levy limitations 574-575
 - Services to be provided by 1079

Property

- Eminent domain 1122, 1124, 1132, 1133

Public utilities

- Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 697-698, 701, 1110, 1463

Railroads, Control of intrastate rates 505-506

Right to work

- Alternate proposal for 1618-1619
- Application of provision for 555
- Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 442-443, 738-739

Rules

Proposals

- Delegate
 - Limitation on time for introduction 59
- Reconsideration of
 - Advance notice of should be given 1699

State and political subdivisions

- Boards and agencies of
 - Meetings to be open to all 1024

State debt

- Limitations on 1489

State officials

- Ethics, Code of
 - Need for 221-223

Taxation

- Methods of determining 409
- Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 447, 870-871
 - Limitations on levy on 401-403, 881

Voting

- County residence required 1287, 1288
- General election
 - Establishment of date for 761
- State residence
 - Length of time required for 756

DELEGATE PAULSON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Revision and Correction of the Journal 30

(1933)

Coordinating Committee on Public Information 1501
Executive Committee on Public Information 1756

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-4, 1640, 1645

C.P. — 1- 1, 119

1-15, 1235

1-23, 417

1-32, 498-499

1-57, 1156

1-72, 967

D.P. — 5- 9, 1382

REMARKS

Alternate proposals

Manner of placement on ballot 1597-1598

Whether action by which original proposal passed must be reconsidered 1588

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1100, 1106

Committee hearings

Time of holding 92

Committee reports 488, 489

Constitution

Manner of amending 1031

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Copies should be mailed to delegates 1785

Drafting procedure

Drafting by reference 1525

Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 120, 125

Education

Meetings of educational boards to be open 1235

Elections

Nonprejudicial electoral system, Right to 1041-1042

Environmental bill of rights

Class action provisions 833

Executive branch

Executive orders 1148

Habeas corpus

Term should be retained for its precise meaning 1382-1383 ,

Indian tribes

Sovereignty of 1460

Reconsideration of proposal for 1728

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1639, 1643

Payment for circulation of petitions 902-903

Presentation of petition to secretary of state before circulation 926-927

Judicial branch

Courts to be open to all 1361

Whether should include right to privacy 967

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Merits of systems 298-299

Effective date of bills passed 1543, 1545

Meetings of to be open 1015-1016

Members

Holding other state or political subdivision office 839, 844, 847, 1129

Serving on various boards and commissions 1575

Redistricting

Procedures for 1185-1186, 1275, 1512

Reconsideration of proposal for 1328-1329

Staggering of terms 851-852

- Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 548, 550-551
 - Terms of members, Length of 1027-1028, 1214
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1065
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1425
- Plenary session
 - Recess of 108
- Property
 - Eminent domain 1199
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 1156
- Right to counsel for indigents 503
- Rules
 - Alternate proposals, Procedures for 368
 - Motions
 - To lay over, Objectionable because of delay 228
 - Proposals
 - Introduction of, Time limitations on 60, 489
 - Second passage of
 - Procedure for voting on 1358
- Search and seizure
 - Restrictions on 380
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Form of ballot 1568
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1483, 1490
- State officials
 - Impeachment, Grounds for 498, 499
 - Removal and succession to office 1009-1010
- State trust lands (educational)
 - Protection of trust funds 828
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 475-476
 - Levy on in emergencies only 416, 417, 418
 - Limitations on levy on 884
- Transition schedule
 - Provisions of 1682
- Voting
 - County residence required 1289
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 188

DELEGATE PEARCE

ADDRESSES

Opening plenary session address 10

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-10, 180

R.P. — 5-15 (Section 5), 1535

Proposed Constitution of 1972, 1786

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-11, 651

1-18, 247

1-23, 408

1-33, 193-194

1-70, 749

1-89, 988, 1205

REMARKS

Age

18-year olds classified as adults 1280-1281

Alternate proposals

Manner of placement on ballot 1599-1600

Bill of attainder

Term should be retained for its precise meaning 365

Budget

Anticipated expenditures after convention adjourns 1757-1759

Public information costs 930, 931, 958-959

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Whether should have final vote on adoption 1779

Constitutional Convention of 1889, time elapsed since 725

Crimes and Punishments

Bail, Guarantee of 451-452

Drafting procedure

Form of final draft of new constitution 120

Preparation of document for voters 610

Renumbering and arrangement of sections in final document 194

Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 124-125

Environmental bill of rights

Question of individual right to enforce 586-587, 833

Executive branch

Executive orders 1145-1146

Officials of

Manner of selection

Alternate proposal for 1661-1662

Qualifications for office 530

Recall of 1140

Removal from office

For disability 335-336

Procedures for 1530, 1531

Organization of 797-798

Ex post facto

Term should be retained for its precise meaning 365, 608

Governmental immunity

Abrogation of doctrine 1309

Habeas corpus

Term should be retained for its precise meaning 359, 1375-1376

Homestead

Exemption 1088

Sale of for labor and materials furnished for improvements 1093

Initiative and referendum

Judicial review of petition 890

Journal of convention

Copy to be furnished to delegates 1789

Cost of 931

Judges

Manner of selection 627-628

Qualifications 651

Judicial branch

Courts to be open to all

Whether should include right to privacy 969

Structure of 651

Superintending control 651-652

Jury trial

Number of jurors 1363, 1365, 1518-1519

- Right to 1292
 - Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1055-1056
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1717-1718
 - Merits of systems 300-302
 - Code of ethics
 - Jury trial necessary 223
 - Internal procedures 748-749
- Lotteries
 - Alternate proposal for 1611-1612
- Pictures
 - Composite convention picture 686-687, 931, 959, 960
- Plenary session
 - Whether Saturdays count as days of 91
- Political subdivisions
 - County reorganization
 - Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1458
- Presentations
 - To president Wenstrom 1770-1771
- Property
 - Eminent domain 978, 983, 984, 988, 1121-1122, 1132, 1134, 1199, 1200, 1205, 1206
- Public information
 - Request matching funds for higher education facilities commission program 930, 931, 958-959
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1116
- Rules
 - Proposals
 - Floor amendments to, When offered 65
 - Indefinite postponement of 1554, 1556, 1557
 - Order of consideration 48-49
 - Reconsideration of
 - How effected 160
 - Roll call on proposals passing unanimously 1358
 - Second passage of
 - Effect of 1557
 - Voting on 48-49, 1356
 - Withdrawal, Manner of 62
 - Salaries and wages
 - Expense reimbursement for transportation 493
 - Special election on proposed constitution
 - Form of ballot
 - Size and kind of type 1746-1747, 1760-1761
 - State debt
 - Limitations on 1339
 - State institutions
 - Location of fixed in constitution 233, 247
 - State lands
 - Adverse possession in prohibited 822
 - State officials
 - Impeachment and removal, Provisions for 192-193, 498
 - State trust lands (educational)
 - Sale or lease to public agencies 1474
 - Taxation
 - Deposit of moneys with state treasurer 422

Real property

Exemption and classification of property 408-409, 479, 598-599, 604-605

Verbatim transcript

Copies to be furnished to delegates 1789

Voting

County residence

Length of time required for 756-757

Waters

Oil well flood operations 274

Public ownership of subsurface water should not include nonpotable water 272

REPORTED PRESENCE 779, 1272

DELEGATE PETERS

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

REMARKS

Age

18-year olds classified as adults 1238

Alternate proposal for 1607

Executive branch

Officials of

Manner of selection 820

Recall of 1143-1144

Initiative and referendum

Approval of

Procedure for 890-891

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Alternate proposal for 1593

Merits of systems 310-311

Right to counsel for indigents 502

REPORTED PRESENCE 183

DELEGATE PETERSON

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-73, 495

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-57, 1154

1-101, 695

REMARKS

Alternate issues

How presented to voters 555

Constitution

Manner of amending 513

Education

Organizational structure 953-954

Special education

Definition of 720

Whether provision of should be free 1243, 1246

Environmental bill of rights

Question of individual right to enforce 583

Executive branch

Officials of

Manner of selection

Alternate proposal for 1629, 1672

Jury trial

Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1058

- Legislative assembly
 - Conference committees 313
 - Members
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 1128
 - Need to govern by the constitution 225
 - Terms of members, Length of 853
- Lotteries
 - Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1425
- Medical school dedicated fund levy 162
- Presentation
 - To R. J. Sailer 1774
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 1153-1154
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 695, 696, 1114, 1462
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 600
 - REPORTED PRESENCE 194

DELEGATE POULSON

REMARKS

- Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1100-1101
- Education
 - Organizational structure 948
 - Whether provision of should be free 1240-1241
- Environmental bill of rights
 - Need for right 586
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1742
- Initiative and referendum
 - Alternate proposal for 1625
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1592
 - Terms of members, Length of 1209-1210
- State and political subdivisions
 - Boards and agencies of
 - Meetings to be open to all 1022
- State institutions
 - Constitution need not fix permanently 233
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Limitations on levy on 407
- Voting
 - Suspension and reinstatement of right to vote for incompetency or felony 1164

DELEGATE QUAM

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-97, 870

DELEGATE RONEY

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-74, 1270

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1753

Judges

Disqualification of 650
Manner of selection 625-626

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Alternate proposal for 1592-1593, 1711-1712

Sessions

Length and frequency of 542

Loans

Whether state may guarantee 1268-1269, 1271, 1272-1273

Right to counsel for indigents 501

State debt

Limitations on 1337, 1339, 1488-1489

DELEGATE ROSENDAHL

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Resolutions 210

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-15, 1252

REMARKS

Constitutional convention of 1889

Delegate badge, Calling attention to 24

Education

Whether provision of should be free 1244-1245

Environmental bill of rights

Committee testimony on 835

Reconsideration of proposal for 1741, 1742

Executive branch

Organization of 794, 809

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 1317

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Alternate proposal for 1715, 1716

Members

Minimum age of 733

Redistricting

Procedures for 1275

Terms of members, Length of 1221

Lotteries

Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 207

Right to work

Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 439

Taxation

Resolution for study of mineral severance 1563, 1566

DELEGATE RUDE

REMARKS

Education

Whether provision of to be free 1239

Executive Branch

Officials of

Manner of selection of, Alternate proposal for 1658

Qualifications for office 525

Vacancies in office 808-809

Organization of 790

DELEGATE RUNDLE

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-50, 240

1-73, 495

R.P. — 5-12, 1546

Proposed Constitution of 1972, 1785

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-4, 1638-1639

C.P. — 1- 36, 1032

1- 85, 759

1-101, (amendment to amendment) 1111

1-108, (amendment to amendment) 907

1-113, 922

1-115, 826

R.P. — 5-2, 1487

Rule — 37, 84, 85

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1754-1755

Age

18-year olds classified as adults 1283

Attorneys

Need for in public service 226-227

Praising of! 226-227

Auditor General

Creation of 353

Constitution

Majority of legislative assembly required to propose 1032

Manner of amending 512

Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Whether should have final vote on adoption 1779

Crimes and Punishments

Bail, Guarantee of 571, 572

Delegates to constitutional convention

Manner of selection 646

Drafting procedure

Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 123-124

Education

Meetings of education boards to be open 1236

Whether provision of should be free 1242

Environmental bill of rights

Question of individual right to enforce 585

Reconsideration of proposal for 1742

Executive branch

Executive orders 1148

Officials of

Manner of selection 819

Alternate proposal for 1630-1631

Recall of 1143

Organization of 793

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 685-686, 1321, 1324

Initiative and referendum

Alternate proposal for 1623, 1639, 1640, 1644, 1647, 1649

Signature requirement for 896-897, 907-908, 922, 923

Supermajority of legislative assembly to amend or repeal measure 917

Whether should be alternate question on ballot 891

Judges

Impeachment and removal 656-657

Manner of selection 631-632

Judicial branch

Structure of

Superintending control 652

- Jury trial
 - Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1062
- Legislative assembly
 - Age of members, Minimum proposed 730-731
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1583-1584
 - Merits of systems 306-307
 - Effective date of bills passed 1544
 - Meetings of to be open 927, 1017-1018, 1019-1020
 - Members
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 1128
 - Serving on various boards and commissions 1574
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 614, 1187, 1506
 - Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 542-543
 - Size of 270
 - Terms of members, Length of 848, 1210-1211
- Lotteries
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against 203-204
- Ombudsman
 - Need for 709
- Pictures
 - Composite convention picture 959-960
- Political subdivisions
 - Boundaries, Procedures for changes in 1071, 1075
 - Number of electors required to place question on ballot 1455, 1456
 - Meetings of governing boards to be open 1021, 1022
- Railroads, Control of intrastate rates 505
- Remarks
 - Request expunging of 1652
- Right to counsel for indigents 501, 712-713
 - Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 444
- Rules
 - Citizen ideas, Time for acceptance of 57
 - Committee of the whole, Procedure and debate under 71
 - Proposals
 - Discussion of merits, When permitted 200
 - Indefinite postponement of 168, 1555-1556
 - Reconsideration of
 - Limitations on 1699, 1700
 - When two-thirds majority required 1352
 - Second passage of
 - Effect of vote on 1397
 - Suspension of rules
 - During last two convention days 1559
- Search and seizure 380
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Urging "no" vote 1647
- State boundaries
 - Designation of 393, 517-518
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1259, 1484, 1487
- State institutions
 - Location of fixed in constitution 248
- State officials
 - Unvouchered expense allowance 531-532
- State trust lands (educational)
 - Protection of trust funds 826-827

- Style and drafting committee
 - Necessity for 50
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Limitations on levy on 400
- Transition schedule
 - Effect of 1684
- Tributes
 - To William R. Reichert 1762
- Voting
 - County residence required 1286-1287
 - State residence
 - Length of time required for 755, 759

DELEGATE SANSTEAD

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Employment 30

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-73, 495

REMARKS

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1104

Committee hearings

- Manner of holding 93
- Public testimony 94

Committee reports

- Procedures for 44

Education

- Organizational structure 944-945
- Public education board
 - Creation and membership 1234
 - Whether provision of should be free 1244

Environmental bill of rights

- Class action provisions 832
- Need for right 581-582, 583-584

Executive branch

- Officials of
 - Qualifications for office 524, 529

Ex post facto and bills of attainder, Prohibition of 608-609

Initiative and referendum

- Payment for circulation of petitions 903

Jury trial

- Number of jurors 1519

Legislative assembly

- Conference committees 305
- Members
 - Minimum age of 732
- Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1191-1192, 1507
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1329
 - Terms of members, Length of 1215

Plenary session

- Meetings of, which days of week 91

Public utilities

- Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 696, 698, 1464

Right to work

- Alternate proposal for 1621

State institutions

- Location of fixed in constitution 249-250

Taxation
Real property 403-404
Resolution for study of mineral severance 1563-1564
Voting
Permanent registration system 618
REPORTED PRESENCE 183, 580, 1550

DELEGATE SAUGSTAD

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Calendar 96

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-74, 1257

REMARKS

Calendar

Committee on created 34-35

Explanation of 132

Number of proposals remaining on 671, 702, 747, 778-779, 1432

Committee hearings

Time of holding 93

Committee reports

Minority reports, How presented 73

Debate

Limitations on 73

Drafting procedures

Whether convention should write new constitution or amend 122

Enrolling and engrossing committee

Creation of 34-35

Governmental immunity

Abrogation of doctrine, Reconsideration of proposal for 1737

Habeas corpus

Preservation of Latin term for 1377

Legislative assembly

Redistricting

Procedures for 1509

Ombudsman

Need for 708

Plenary session

When to be held 93

Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage Committee

Excuse members from plenary session 779-780

Printing

Proposals, Quantity of printed 171

Property

Eminent domain 979

Rules

Call of the convention, Compelling attendance 45

Committee of the whole, Procedure and debate under 69

Debate

Limitations on 1695-1696, 1696-1697

Proposals

Committee action on, Deadline for 487, 488, 489

Division of 102

Floor amendments to, Form of and when offered 66, 132

Indefinite postponement of 1555

Order of consideration 371-372

Procedural committee possession deemed possession of convention 372

Reconsideration of

Limitations on 1695-1696

Style and drafting committee

- Powers of 37
- Suspension of rules
 - During last two convention days 1560
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1257-1258, 1258-1259
- Tributes
 - To J. A. "Arnie" Gilje, Director of Information 1775
 - To officers, committee chairmen and staff members 1771-1772
- Waters
 - Ownership of surface and subsurface waters 271

DELEGATE SCHEEL

APPOINTMENTS

- Committee on Resolutions 210

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

- C.P. — 1-16, 836

REMARKS

- Delegates to constitutional convention
 - Meetings at Highway Department building 98, 181, 201
- Executive branch
 - Executive orders 1151
 - Lieutenant governor to run on joint ballot 812-813
- Officials of
 - Manner of selection 805-807
 - Alternate proposal for 1630, 1653, 1657-1658
 - Qualifications for office 528
- Organization of 793-794, 795
- Jury trial
 - Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1061
- Legislative assembly
 - Bills under consideration by, Number of readings of 750
- Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1195
- Lotteries
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 204-205
 - Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1426
- Pictures
 - Composite convention picture 959
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Form of ballot 1569
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1262, 1336, 1341, 1482, 1486, 1487, 1492-1493
- Taxation
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 601, 867-868
- Tributes
 - To vice president Saugstad 1772-1773
 - To staff 1778

DELEGATE SCHMITT

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

- C.P. — 1-15, 1252

REMARKS

- Governmental immunity
 - Abrogation of doctrine 1314
- Legislative assembly
 - Granting of privileges and immunities, Restriction on 449
- Ombudsman
 - Need for 709

Property

Eminent domain 975

Right to work

Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 437-438
REPORTED PRESENCE 1234

DELEGATE SIMONSON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Revision and Correction of Journal 30

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-5, 1252

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-15, 1246

REMARKS

Education

Whether provision of should be free 1246

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Alternate proposal for 1596

Merits of systems 313-314

Members

Holding other state or political subdivision office 1129

Terms of members, Length of 1213

DELEGATE SINNER

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-23, 415

1-30, 191

1-39, 343

1-44, 1511

1-70, 1158

1-74, 1339

1-84, 503

1-97, 595

1-101 (amendment to amendment), 1112

1-102, 815

1-121, 1685

REMARKS

Age

18-year olds classified as adults

Alternate proposal for 1608

Alternate proposals

Procedures for 1225

Bonds, Revenue

Whether should be a general obligation of the state, 1266, 1267-1268

Constitution

Manner of amending 725

Education

Organizational structure 956, 1254

Elections

Nonprejudicial electoral system, Right to 1042

Executive branch

Officials of

Manner of selection 815

Recall of 1143

Veto power

Reduction of appropriations 1445

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 1324

- Initiative and referendum
 - Alternate proposal for 1640
 - Payment for circulation of petitions 904
 - Signature requirement for 887-888, 906-907, 909, 912-913
 - Sponsors, Number of required 900
- Judicial branch
 - Courts to be open to all
 - Whether should include right to privacy 969
- Jury trial
 - Whether juveniles should be accorded as a right 1058, 1059
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Alternate proposal for 1591, 1714
 - Consideration of, Manner of 292
 - Merits of systems 208, 299-300
 - Compensation of members 343-344
 - Effective date of bills passed 1410
 - Members
 - Holding other state or political subdivision office 838-839, 1401-1402
 - Minimum age of 731-732
 - Serving on various boards and commissions 1572, 1574, 1575
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1183, 1188, 1508, 1512
 - Reconsideration of proposal for 1330-1331
 - Staggering of seats 850
 - Sessions
 - Length and frequency of 546, 551
 - Terms of members, Length of 853, 1213, 1217, 1222-1223
 - Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1064-1065, 1159, 1160
- Lotteries
 - Proposal to delete prohibition against 143
 - Whether should be an alternate issue on ballot 1427
- Political subdivisions
 - Services to be provided by 1076
- Public accommodations, Nondiscrimination in 356-357, 464, 514
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 699, 700, 1109
1112, 1115
- Right to work
 - Alternate proposal for 1620
 - Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 442
- Rules
 - Proposals
 - Amendments to, When proper to make 201
 - Indefinite postponement of 1555
- Special election on proposed constitution
 - Manner of preparation of ballot 1703
- State debt
 - Limitations on 1338, 1339, 1491-1492
- State officials
 - Code of ethics, Enforcement of 226
 - Removal and succession to office 1010
- Taxation
 - Catholic conference, North Dakota, regret for actions of 957-958
 - Medical school dedicated funds 130-131
 - Real property
 - Exemption and classification of property 478, 595-596, 604, 874
 - Levy on in emergencies only 415
 - Supermajority of legislative assembly for levy 404

Transition schedule

Provisions of 1676-1677, 1679, 1680, 1683, 1684, 1685-1686, 1688

Voting

Permanent registration system 619

Length of time required for 759-760

REPORTED PRESENCE 388

DELEGATE SOLBERG

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Employment 30

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-108, 906

REMARKS

Alternate proposals

None should be offered to voters 1589

Drafting procedure

Deletion of old sections after new constitution is written 120

Education

Whether provision of should be free 1243

Environmental bill of rights

Question of individual right to enforce 834

Whether necessary to place in constitution 584

Executive branch

Organization of 796

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 682-684, 1318-1319, 1323

Initiative and referendum

Signature requirement for 906

Legislative assembly

Age of members, Minimum proposed 733

Code of ethics 224-225

Obsolete provisions relating to 1036-1037

Redistricting

Procedures for 1509

Terms of members, Length of 1217-1218

Rules

Proposals

Reconsideration of

Procedure for 376

State officials

Oath of office 190-191

Style and drafting committee

Powers of 37

Titling of sections by 38

Taxation

Methods of determining 409-410

Transition schedule

Effect of 1684

REPORTED PRESENCE 1155

DELEGATE SONDRAL

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-57, 1120

REMARKS

Executive Branch

Election of governor and lieutenant governor on joint ballot 804-805

DELEGATE STANTON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Constitutional Ballot 642
Committee on Resolutions 210

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-73, 495
Proposed Constitution of 1972, 1785

REMARKS

Age
18-year olds classified as adults 1282

Committee on constitutional ballot
Functions of 643

Constitution of 1972, Proposed
Whether should have final vote on adoption 1779

Executive branch
Officials of
Manner of selection
Alternate proposal for 1631, 1659

Initiative and referendum
Alternate proposal for 1648
Payment for circulation of petitions 903
Signature requirement for 908-909
Sponsors, Number of required 899

Legislative assembly
Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Alternate proposal for 1589-1590, 1717
Merits of systems 296-297, 314

Members
Minimum age of 730

Redistricting
Procedures for 1187
Reconsideration of proposal for 1331

Lotteries
Pari-mutuel betting 145
Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 204
Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1425

Ombudsman
Need for, Question of 708-709

Political subdivisions
Home rule
Counties 1084

Right to counsel for indigents 502

Rules
Proposals
Introduction of, Limitation on time of 59
Suspension of rules
During last two convention days 1560

State and political subdivisions
Boards and agencies of
Meetings to be open to all 1022

State officials
Impeachment, Grounds for 497

DELEGATE SULLIVAN

REMARKS

Education
Organizational structure of 955
Whether provision of should be free 1245

Environmental bill of rights
Should adopt majority report or leave constitution silent 587
Waters
Ownership by the people 270-271

DELEGATE THOMPSON

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Coordination and Transition 961
Committee on Resolutions 210

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-82, 768
1-85, 754
1-89, 977 (amendments to amendment), 1120, 1173, 1198
1-119, 1048

REMARKS

Age
18-year olds classified as adults
Alternate proposal for 1606
Merits of 591
Reconsideration of proposal for 961
Arms, Right to bear 577
Committee reports
How minority reports presented 73
Crimes and Punishments
Debt, Imprisonment for prohibited 378-379
Environmental bill of rights
Reconsideration of proposal for 1739
Governmental immunity
Abrogation of doctrine 1306-1307, 1313
Reconsideration of proposal for abrogation of doctrine 1737
Indian tribes
Sovereignty of
Reconsideration of proposal for 1723, 1724-1725, 1726, 1732, 1733
Information and indictment
Provisions for 362
Jury trial
Number of jurors 1292-1293, 1366, 1519
Legislative assembly
Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Alternate proposal for 1594-1595, 1717
Lotteries
Alternate proposal for 1704, 1705
Proposal to delete prohibition against 142
Right to counsel for indigents 713
Right to work
Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 435
Rules
Proposals
Delegate
Manner of consideration of 170
Manner of disposition of 166
Transition schedule
Provisions of 1678, 1680
Voting
County residence required 1287
Permanent registration system 616, 618
Qualifications for 768-769, 773
State residence
Length of time required for 754, 757, 759

DELEGATE TRENBEATH

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

C.P. — 1-57, 746
1-73, 495

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-37, 547, 548
1-74, 1336
1-89, 975-976

Rule — 13, 39
20, 63

REMARKS

“Elected state officers,” Definition of 858

Executive branch

Officials of

Manner of selection

Alternate proposal for 1629, 1660

Vacancy in office, Determination of 813-814

Highway funds

Question of dedication of 677-678, 1315-1316, 1321, 1322

Initiative and referendum

Signature requirement for 912

Jury trial

Number of jurors 1520

Legislative assembly

Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems

Merits of systems 308, 316

Compensation 269

Members

Holding other state or political subdivision office 841

Redistricting

Procedures for 1506

Sessions

Length and frequency of 546-547, 548

Lotteries

Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 205

Property

Eminent domain 976-977, 982-983, 983-984, 1123

Right to work

Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 444-445

Rules

Adoption of from other conventions 85

Amendment of rules

Manner of during interim 85

Committee of the whole, Procedure and debate under 70

Committee reports

Amendment of 39-40, 41, 43

Debate

Number of times delegate may speak 74

Division of question 75

Proposals

Amendments to 64

Delegate

Indefinite postponement and withdrawal of 171

Division of 75

Floor amendments to

Generally 43

Procedure for offering 132-133

When offered 65-66

Number remaining in committee to be reported 40
Placement on calendar
"Special" Law
Definition of 151
State debt
Limitations on 1260, 1335-1336, 1338
State officials
Code of ethics
Conviction under should not be complete bar to further public service 223
Taxation
Real property
Exemption and classification of property 477-478, 868, 874
Levy on in emergencies only 405, 418
Statewide levy 396-397
Twenty-one mill levy, Constitutionality of 398
Voting
General election
Establishment of date for 761
Waters
History of riparian and appropriations systems of water law 273
Priority of use 274

DELEGATE TUDOR

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

A.P. — 4-2, 1703-1704

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1752
Commendation from Preamble, Bill of Rights and Suffrage Committee, Response to 1768-1769
Compact with United States
Whether can be repealed without consent of Congress 196
Delegates to constitutional convention
Meeting at highway department building 133
Drafting procedure
Should use amending process rather than creating 120
Lotteries
Alternate proposal for, Reconsideration of 1703, 1704
Proposal to delete prohibition against 203
Ombudsman
Need for 710-711
Preamble
Reason for amendment 119
Property
Guarantee for obtaining 236
Tributes
To Professor James Bradley Thayer 98-99
Voting
Permanent registration system 617-618
State residence
Length of time required for 757
REPORTED PRESENCE 873

DELEGATE UNRUH

EXPLANATION OF VOTES

Search and seizure, Restrictions on 382

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-119, 1368
1-121 (amendment to amendment), 1681

(1952)

R.P. — 5-1, 1392
5-2, 1476, 1764
5-3, 1446
5-4, 1467
5-7, 1452
5-9, 1354, 1360, 1384
5-10, 1387-1388
5-12, 1409, 1542
5-13, 1434, 1445, 1763
5-14, 1523-1524

REMARKS

Adoption schedule and ballot 1748, 1752, 1753
Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1098
Constitution of 1972, Proposed
Style and drafting amendments to 1763, 1764, 1765
Drafting procedure
Urging retention of amendment process 123
Environmental bill of rights
Class action provisions 584-585
Executive branch
Organization of 796
Highway funds
Question of dedication of 680
Homestead exemption
Necessary in constitution 1088-1089
Initiative and referendum
Alternate proposal for 1648
Jury trial
Number of jurors 1520
Legislative assembly
Bicameral-Unicameral legislative system
Alternate proposal for, Reconsideration of 1708, 1709-1710
Merits of systems 316
Effective date of bills passed 1410
Members
Professional persons should not be excluded 224
Redistricting
Procedures for 1195
Terms of members, Length of 1211
Tie votes, Procedures for breaking in member's elections 1065
Political subdivisions
County reorganization
Extent to which legislative assembly can provide for 1457
Public moneys
Deposits of with state treasurer, Effect of 422
Public utilities
Consent of local authorities required for operation or construction of 1463
Rules
Proposals
Designation that no further action be taken on 1694, 1695
Identification of engrossed proposals 1694
Indefinite postponement of 1553-1554, 1557
Redraft proposals
Whether should be read 1355
Special election on proposed constitution
Form of ballot 1658
Preparation of ballot for 1701-1702

State debt
 Limitations on 1261, 1486
Style and drafting committee
 Response for tribute to 1768
Taxation
 Medical school dedicated funds 162
 Methods of determining 411
 Power not to be surrendered 412
 Real property
 Exemption and classification of property 478, 874-875
 Limitations on levy on 881
Treason against the state
 Need for sanctions against 1373

DELEGATE URDAHL

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Enrolling and Engrossing 30
Committee on Style and Drafting 139

REMARKS

Businesses, What state and political subdivisions can engage in 1102
Education
 Organizational structure 954
 Whether provision of should be free 1243
Executive branch
 Officials of
 Manner of selection
 Alternate proposal for 1662-1663
 Qualifications for office 529
Governmental immunity
 Abrogation of doctrine 1303-1304, 1312
Health, Right to should be guaranteed 234
Initiative and referendum
 Signature requirement for 909
Legislative assembly
 Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 Merits of systems 316-317
Lotteries
 Proposal to delete prohibition against, Reconsideration of 205
Right to work
 Meaning of "qualified" 559
 Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 437
Taxation
 Real property
 Exemption and classification of property 605
Voting
 Permanent registration system 617

DELEGATE VOGEL

ADDRESSES

Opening Plenary Session address

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-98 (amendments to amendment) 607
 1-102, 818
Constitution
 Manner of amending 724
Executive branch
 Executive orders 1145
 Lieutenant governor to run on joint ballot 812
 Officials of
 Election of, How performed 857-858

- Manner of selection 818
 - Alternate proposal for 1629-1630, 1672
 - Qualifications for office 524-525, 527
 - Recall of 1141
- Organization of 791
- Reorganization of 1148
- Succession to governor's office 1004
- Succession to vacant offices 337
- Veto power 328-329
- Ex post facto and bills of attainder, Definition of 607
- Initiative and referendum
 - Payment for circulation of petitions 903-904
- Judges
 - Manner of selection 628-629, 660
- Legislative assembly
 - Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
 - Merits of systems 311
 - Redistricting
 - Procedures for 1190-1191, 1275
- Right to work
 - Whether provisions for should be included in proposed constitution 441-442
- State officials
 - Impeachment, Grounds for 496, 497

DELEGATE WALLIN

FLOOR AMENDMENTS

C.P. — 1-12, 1069

REMARKS

- Political subdivisions
 - Disposition of existing constitutional sections in C.P. — 1-12, 1070
- Public utilities
 - Consent of local governing bodies required for construction or operation of 1464

REPORTED PRESENCE 1234

DELEGATE WARNER

APPOINTMENTS

Committee on Enrolling and Engrossing 30

REMARKS

- Age
 - 18-year olds classified as adults 1282
- Jury trial
 - Provision for would destroy juvenile proceedings 1049
- Lotteries
 - Whether should be alternate issue on ballot 1422-1423
- Ombudsman
 - Need for 708
- Taxation
 - State money to be deposited with state treasurer 422

DELEGATE WICKS

REMARKS

- Initiative and referendum
 - Circulation of petitions 887
 - Prohibition of payment for circulation of petitions 902
- Rules committee report
 - Rule 12.1 — 37
 - Rule 18 — 56-57
 - Rule 18.1 — 61
 - Rule 25 — 373

DELEGATE WENSTROM

ADDRESSES

Opening Plenary Session address 1
Closing Plenary Session address 1787-1788

REMARKS

Alternate proposals
Straw vote of convention on 1430
Whether action by which original proposal passed must be reconsidered 1586-1587, 1590, 1702
Whether A. P. 4-9 relating to right to work should be introduced 1536

Calendar
Completion of after consideration of redraft proposals 1532

Committee hearings
Time of holding 25

Committee reports
How minority presented 73
Seconding of 82

Delegates to constitutional convention
Admonishment to be alert to proceedings 111
Amend proposals on tenth order instead of voting "no," Urging to 494-495
Excuse of when absent, Procedure for 23-24
Voting, How late in point of time can change 240

Legislative assembly
Bicameral-Unicameral legislative systems
Alternate proposal for, Reconsideration of 1709, 1710-1711, 1718

Loans
Whether state may guarantee 1269

Plenary session
Recess of, When to be held 1344

Presentations
By Executive Director Dean F. Bard, Response to 1774
By First Vice President William R. Pearce, Response to 1771
Closing remarks of appreciation 1787-1788

Printing
Of proposals 153

Rules
Citizen ideas, Time of acceptance of 57

Rules
Division of question 74, 110, 152
Floor amendments,
Form of and when offered 66

Motions
Substitute, Acceptance of 165

Proposals
Disposition of if committee report not adopted 199-200, 230
Indefinite postponement of 110, 164, 1556-1557
Postponement to a day certain of motion for indefinite postponement 81
Reconsideration of
When two-thirds majority required 1352-1353, 1354
Redraft proposals
Whether should be read 1355
Roll call vote on
Second passage of
Whether required if passed unanimously 1358
Effect of vote on 1352-1353, 1556-1557
Vote on should be section-by-section 1355
Withdrawal, Manner of 109, 110

Resolutions
Whether limitations on proposals apply 87

Temporary rules
Suspension of 204
Tributes
To convention for recognizing Delegate Byrne's help in securing federal funding 1419

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR DEAN F. BARD

REMARKS
Presentation to President Wenstrom 1773-1774
Travel vouchers, Procedure for completing 964-965

CHIEF CLERK ROY GILBREATH

REMARKS
Voting machine
Explanation of mechanical failure 385-386
Request to vote to determine reason for machine failure 993

GOVERNOR WILLIAM L. GUY, STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA

ADDRESSES
Opening plenary session address 3

CHIEF JUSTICE ALVIN C. STRUTZ, NORTH DAKOTA SUPREME COURT

REMARKS
Oath, Administration of to Delegate Butler 2

CHAPLAINS

INVOCATIONS

Aleson, Rev. A. R. 1347
Anderson, Rev. Norman 937
Butler, Rev. James M. 141
Davies, Fr. Christopher 213
Dingfield, Rev. Walter 115
Dove, Rev. A. Benjamin 509
Ellingson, Walter C. 1045
Hagestuen, Rev. Richard 187
Hendrickson, Rev. Hensel E. 1633
Hill, Fr. Donald 1503
Hill, Rev. Charles M. 1, 13
Johnson, Rev. Warren K. 1745
Klemmer, Fr. Mervin J.
Knecht, Rev. David 613
Kremmer, Rev. David P. 777
Lewis, Capt. Thomas 257
Lint, Rev. Phillip
Malmgren, Rev. Stanley 865
Mertz, Rev. Gerald 563
Miller, Rev. John 387
Nicolai, Rev. John H. 97
Patzner, Rev. R. R. 1549
Perry, Rev. Carl E. 349
Rogers, Rev. James C. 283
Sands, Rev. Thomas G. 1421
Schott, Rev. Walter J. 175
Schumacher, Rev. E. C. 1229
Spain, Rev. Arnold 1137
Unkenholz, Rev. Richard 27
Winkelman, Rev. Norman 429

SUBJECT INDEX

Absent Delegates

Excuse of	24, 100, 183, 210
Illness	45, 100, 175, 213, 244, 257, 494, 573, 703, 777

Addresses to Plenary Session

Andrews, Congressman Mark	1516-1517
Burdick, Senator Quentin N.	290
Guy, Governor William L.	3
Link, Congressman Arthur	1522-1523
Pearce, Delegate	10
Vogel, Delegate	6

Administration, Convention

Amendments to proposals
Request that pages copy into Delegate's Proposal Books	345
Assignment of Committee Rooms	16, 20
Authority to President to expend funds after adjournment	1757-1758
Budget
Composite picture of Convention	931-932, 959-961
Generally	30, 95, 493
Higher Education Facilities Commission
Public Information Program	588, 930-931, 958-959
Journal, Cost of printing	931-932
Proposed budget for expenditure of funds after adjournment.....	1757-1759
Transcript, Verbatim, Delegates to receive copies if budget permits.....	1789
Committee meetings
Cost of	95
Distribution of materials
To delegate's desks	97
Drafting
Must draft a document for North Dakota voters	610-611
Question of whether Convention should draft new Constitution or amend	119-125, 231, 1293
Repeals, Procedure for.....	225-226
Employment	30
Journal — See Journal
Mail service	16
Pictures of Convention — See Pictures of Convention
Printing
Generally	153, 163-164, 171, 201
Proposed Constitution of 1972, Copies of.....	1785-1786
Proposals remaining on calendar — See Calendar, Number of proposals remaining on Recess, Plenary Session — See Recess, Plenary Session
Recording of delegates present	141
Road reports — See Road reports
Salaries — See Salaries and wages, Payments
Staff — See Convention staff
Stenographic service	16
Taxation
State withholding	279
Telephone system	16
Time of meetings — See Committees, Meetings, Time of Timetable of Convention
Recess of Plenary Session — See Recess, Plenary Session
Work to be completed in final four days	1432
Work to be completed in final two days	1695-1696
Vouchers for travel
Procedures for completing	964-965, 1755
Admission to Convention floor
Rule 34	83
Admonishments
To delegates
To be alert to floor action.....	111
Adoption schedule
Form of	1748-1754

Adulthood — See Age, Adulthood at eighteen, Proposal for

Adverse possession

Prohibited in state lands — See State lands, Adverse possession in prohibited

Age

Adulthood at eighteen, Alternate proposal for Amendment to change age to nineteen 1604-1610
Announcement for sponsors 863
Announcement of intention to introduce 1327
Manner of submission on ballot 1602-1604

Adulthood at eighteen, Proposal for
Attorney General's opinion, Notice of availability of 1157
Effects on present statutory age limitations 732-733, 1278-1284
Merits and demerits of 591-592, 1278-1285
Provisions for 590-591, 1278

Voting, Minimum age required for — See Voting, Qualifications, Age

Aid to parochial schools — See Education, Sectarian control, Freedom from

Alternate issues on ballot — See Ballot, Constitutional, Alternate issues

Alternate proposals — See Proposals, Alternate, and Convention rules, Alternate proposals

Amendments — See Convention rules, Amendments, Committees and Amendments, Floor

Amendments, Constitutional — See Constitutional amendments

Amendments to rules — See Convention rules, Amendment of rules

Announcements — See Communications

Appeals from ruling of chair — See Convention rules, Appeals from ruling of chair

Arms, Right to bear — See Right to bear arms

Arrest — See Imprisonment

Arrest, unlawful — See Habeas corpus

Assembly

Guarantee of right to 239, 1359

Assignment of delegates to committees — See Committees, Assignment of delegates to

Attorneys

Service as members of legislature 188, 223-227

Auditor General

Creation of office
Merits and demerits of 350-355
Proposal for 1414

Bail — See Crimes, Criminals and punishments, Bail

Ballot, Constitutional

Alternate issues
How presented 555, 1748-1754
Number presented 1423, 1425-1431
Main proposition
How presented 1567-1570
Printing of, Size and kind of type 1746-1747, 1760-1761

Bank of North Dakota

Authority to make loans 1266-1273

Bicameral legislature — See Legislative assembly, Bicameral system

Bills of attainder — See Ex post facto laws and bills of attainder

Bingo — See Gambling

Bismarck Elk's Chorus — See Governor's Chorus

Blacklists — See Corporations, Blacklists, Exchange of

Bonds
Municipal industrial development
Removal of cloud of constitutionality	412, 447
Revenue
Financing of electrical generating plants	130
Guarantee of as general obligation of state	1264-1269, 1480-1494
Bonus, Veterans — See Veterans, Adjusted compensation
Boundaries — See State Boundary and Political subdivisions, Boundaries of counties
Budget — See Convention administration, Budget
Businesses
State and political subdivisions
What types of may be engaged in	1096-1108, 1496-1497
Calendar
Explanation of	132
Number of proposals remaining on	671, 702, 747, 778-779
Placement of proposals on	41, 110
Printing of	163-164
Calendar Committee — See appropriate subheading under Committees
Capitol, State — See State Capitol
Chaplains — See listing on page 1957
Child Labor
Prohibition against
No need for in proposed constitution	246
Superceded by federal law	246
Children
Adulthood, Age of reaching — See Age, Adulthood at 18, Provisions for Education of
Generally — See Education
Gifted — See Special Education
Handicapped — See Special Education
Cities — See appropriate subheading under Political subdivisions
Citizen ideas — See also Convention rules, Citizen ideas
Time for introduction of	57-58
Civil Liberty — See Liberty, Civil
Commendations — See Communications, Commendatory; Committees, Commendations to and Convention staff, Commendations to Committee assignments — See Committees, Assignment of delegates to Committee meetings — See Committees, Meetings, and Convention rules, Committee Meetings
Committee of the whole — See Convention rules, Committee of the whole
Committee reports
Deadlines for action by committee	487-489
Disposition of proposal if report not adopted	199-200, 230, 1351-1352, 1359, 1466
Minority reports
How presented	73-75, 390-391
To be furnished each delegate	390-391
Procedural committees
Employment committee	30
Rules committee	34-87, 366-377
Procedure for, Generally	40-44, 62-67, 81-82, 165-166, 219
Seconding of
Question of necessity for	81-82, 219
Substantive committees — See specific proposal number in proposal index
Substitute reports
How presented	165-166
Committee rooms
Assignment to	16, 20

Committees

Assignment of delegates to
Alternate proposals — See Constitutional ballot this subheading
Calendar	96
Constitutional ballot	642-643
Coordination and transition	961
Employment committee	30
Enrolling and engrossing	30
Photography	961
Public information, Coordinating committee on	1501
Public information, Executive committee on	1756
Resolutions	210
Style and drafting	139, 961
Commendations to
Rules committee	88
Style and drafting committee	1768
Creation of
Alternate proposals — See Constitutional ballot this subheading
Calendar	34
Constitutional ballot	642-643
Enrolling and engrossing	34
Photography	961
Public information, Coordinating committee on	1501
Public information, Executive committee on	1756
Resolutions	210
Functions of
Calendar	40
Style and drafting	1344
Meetings
Alternate proposals — See Constitutional ballot this subheading
Budget	493
Calendar	92, 138, 346, 427, 612, 1194, 1420, 1548, 1576, 1632, 1650, 1674, 1693
Constitutional
ballot	642, 671, 672, 1300-1301, 1370-1371, 1415, 1466, 1498, 1537, 1538, 1548
Coordination and transition	1343-1344, 1415, 1466, 1537, 1548, 1632
Cost of	95
Delegates, Informational meetings at highway department auditorium — See Delegates, Informational meetings at highway department auditorium
Education, resources and public lands	20, 32, 92, 98, 113, 172, 182, 186, 210, 253, 279, 346, 426, 459, 495, 589, 671, 702, 810, 1046, 1078, 1135, 1254, 1344, 1371, 1438, 1707, 1767
Education, resources and public lands, Subcommittee on	427
Executive functions	32, 65, 97, 113, 138, 172, 182, 183, 252, 253, 279, 385, 426, 458, 589, 590, 671, 702, 810, 829, 884, 966, 1344, 1371, 1537, 1707
Executive functions Subcommittee on	495, 686, 719
Finance and taxation	31, 96, 99, 111, 138, 158, 181, 182, 209, 252, 279, 346, 426, 493, 495, 702, 829, 1326, 1344, 1415, 1466, 1537, 1707
Finance and taxation dinner party	747
Generally	385
Judicial functions	20, 32, 100, 113, 138, 173, 182, 183, 210, 253, 279, 385, 426, 458, 496, 590, 1063, 1344, 1415, 1708
Legislative functions	20, 24, 32, 99, 113, 138, 172, 173, 183, 209, 210, 252, 279, 346, 386, 426, 458, 494, 495, 561, 589, 671, 702, 1344, 1708, 1767
Legislative functions Subcommittee on	495, 686, 719
Parliamentary procedure, Meeting on — See Parliamentary procedure
Posting of	94, 279
Preamble, bill of rights and suffrage	32, 92, 99, 111, 138, 173, 181-182, 183, 210, 253, 279, 346, 426, 495, 590, 810, 1043, 1344, 1708
Public information	20, 29, 98, 138, 1125, 1135, 1326, 1380, 1415 1498, 1561, 1576, 1632, 1708, 1744
Public information, Executive committee on	1767
Public testimony, How received	93-94, 395
Resolutions	244, 252, 965, 1380
Rules	19, 138, 158, 210, 279, 323, 324, 346, 385, 458
Special committee (kitchen cabinet)	459
Style and drafting	138, 386, 459, 494, 611, 643, 671, 702, 809, 905, 963, 1078, 1172, 1272, 1344, 1345, 1538, 1576, 1632, 1708
Time of	25, 88, 96, 106, 385
Reports — See Committee reports
Rooms, Assignments to	16, 20

Communications

Administrative
Apple Creek Country Club, Use of facilities of	426, 1650
Check cashing service provided by State Treasurer	1693
Elk's Club luncheon, Delegate and staff wives	494, 590, 1301
Freedom shrine, Dedication of	1229
Governor's reception, Invitation to	1538
Highway department to furnish service truck for Convention use	346
Ladies' lounge, Location of	346
Pancake supper, Trinity Lutheran Church	494
Resolution from Executive Functions Committee to Coordination and Transition	803
Sigma Delta Chi luncheon	279, 458, 536, 547
Supreme Court Library, Use of	29
Advisory
Lawrence O'Connell, County Judge	915
Appreciative
Harvard Law Library (for Thayer tribute)	587-588, 687
Simonson, James	587-588
Commendatory
Andrews, Congressman Mark	27
Burdick Senator Quentin N.	27
Montana Constitutional Convention	938
Delegate illness
Delegate Benz	175, 494
Delegate Paulson	703
Delegate Sinner	27
Compact with United States
Attorney General's advice regarding	259, 262, 1524
Generally	285-290, 1523-1524
Jurisdiction of federal lands under	258-262, 286-289, 1524
Question of whether can be repealed or changed	196, 258-262, 1525
Compelling attendance of delegates — See Absent delegates
Conference committees — See Legislative assembly, Bicameral system, Conference committees, Evils of Conflict of interest — See Legislative assembly, Code of ethics
Constitutional amendments
Manner of proposing	511-513, 721, 1030-1031, 1414
Requirements for passage	511-513, 721, 723-724, 726, 1030-1031, 1032, 1414
When effective	726-728, 1031, 1414
Constitutional Convention
Manner of proposing question to voters	724-726, 1414
Constitutional Convention of 1889
Delegate badges
Allen, Roger	24
Ray, William	1762
Delegates
Allen, Roger	24
Ray, William	1762
Drafting of Constitution	98-99
Constitution of 1889
Application of document
Mandatory and prohibitory language, Question of necessity of (sec. 21)	199, 244-246
Drafting of
Thayer, Prof. James Bradley	98-99, 687
Constitution of 1972, Proposed
Certification of by officers	1786
Explanation of stylistic changes	1763-1765
Explanation of votes	1784-1785, 1796
Introduction of	1763
Printing of Copies of	1785-1786
Signing of by delegates	1786
Signing of by officers	1786
Vote on adoption	1780-1784
Vote on adoption, Question of whether to	1778-1780

Constitution of the United States — See United States Constitution

Convention administration — See Administration, Convention

Convention Journal — See Journal

Convention rules

Admission to Convention floor	83
Adoption of as permanent	491-492
Adoption of from other states	85
Alternate issues on ballot — See Ballot, Constitutional, Alternate issues
Alternate proposals
Amending to coincide with changes in committee proposals	1225
Debate of, Whether should include substantive issues	1549-1550
Manner of placing on ballot	1584-1600
Procedures for	48, 87, 202-203, 366-371, 1549-1550
Time limitations on introduction of	1300
Whether original proposal must be reconsidered	1584-1588
Amendment of rules
Number of delegates required for	52-53, 204, 1559, 1561
Procedure governing	83-85
Amendments, Committee
Committee work generally	33
Procedures for	38-44, 62-67
Rule 8	34
Rule 11	35
Rule 12.1	35, 36
Rule 13	38-41, 487-489
Rule 13.1	41-44
Rule 15	44-45
Rule 16	53-55
Rule 17	55-56
Rule 18	56-61, 85-87, 489-490
Rule 18.1	61-62
Rule 18.2	366-371
Rule 19	46-53, 371-372
Rule 19.1	372
Rule 20	62-67
Rule 21	67-68
Rule 24	68-71
Rule 24 (New)	76-78
Rule 25	71-72, 372-373
Rule 27	72-76
Rule 29	78-79, 490-491
Rule 30	79
Rule 31	79-81
Rule 32	82
Rule 33	491
Rule 34	83
Rule 36	1559-1561
Rule 37	83-85
Amendments, Floor
Motion for on floor, Whether necessary	220
Procedures for	39, 43, 47, 62-67, 126, 132-133, 201
Rule 13	1223-1224
Rule 13.1	1224
Rule 16	102
Rule 27	778
Style and Drafting Committee, Question of scope of floor amendments offered	126, 143
Amendments to amendments
Correct procedure for	63-64
Appeals from ruling of chair
Manner perfected	79
On alternate proposal 4-9 (right to work)	1536-1537
Tabling of	79
Call of the Convention	44-45
Citizen ideas
Time for introduction of, Limitation on	57-58
Committee meetings — See also Committees, Meetings , for specific meetings
Procedures for holding	35
Time of day to be held	88-96

Committee of the whole
Comparison with legislative system	70
Elimination of in rules	69-71
Operation of	70
Use of time under	69-71
Debate
Conduct of delegates during	72-76
Limitations on	72-76, 778, 1696-1701
Drafting
Question of whether Convention should draft new Constitution or amend	119-125, 231, 1293
Final draft
Signing of	48, 371-372, 1397-1398
Voting on	51, 371-372, 1397-1398
Guests, Introduction of
Manner in which performed	491
Journal
Manner of keeping	55-56
Recording divided vote	132
Motions
Division of	74-77
Not debatable	82
Precedence of	79-81
Previous question — See Convention rules, Previous question
Procedure for making	71-72, 372-373
Reconsideration, for — See Proposals, Reconsideration of
Seconding, Question of necessity for	81-82
Substitute — See Substitute motions this heading
To lay over matter of division of question	152
Withdrawal of	72
Order of business	53-55
Permanent rules
Adoption of	491-492
Press
Admission to floor of Convention	83
Previous question
Effect of motion for	208
Proposals — See also Proposals
Alternate — See Alternate proposals this heading and Proposals, Alternate
Committees may not pocket veto	200
Deadlines for first reading and passage	1223-1224
Deadlines for reports from committee	487-489
Deadlines, Introduction	58-60, 85-87, 109, 489-490, 588
Discussion of merits, When permitted	200
Fail on passage, Disposition of	237, 1351-1353, 1359
Indefinite postponement of, Procedure for	164, 166-171, 1553-1558
Introduction of, Manner of	56-61, 109
Possession by procedural committees deemed possession by Convention	372, 962-963
Reconsideration of	78-79, 132, 159, 373-377, 490-491, 1352-1353, 1695-1702
Report not adopted, Disposition of	199-200
Second passage of, Effect of vote for	1352-1353, 1397, 1556-1557
Second passage of, Disposition of if fail	1351-1352, 1359, 1466
Voting on	49, 67-68, 104, 132, 240, 423, 1009, 1028, 1224, 1355
Withdrawal of	61-62, 108-110, 112-113
Question
Division of	72, 74-77, 103-107, 110, 110-111, 132, 407, 1397
Motion to lay over matter of division of	152
Reports of Rules Committee — See Committee reports, Procedural committees.
Rules Committee
Resolutions
Procedures for handling	71-72
Time for introduction of	87
Rules referred to committee by organizational session	33
Style and drafting
Debate of proposals prior to referral to	51
Necessity for	50
Numbering of sections	194
Powers of	35-38, 47, 50, 51
Procedures	49, 126, 132, 143, 1293-1294, 1344
Titling of sections	37-38

Substitute motions
When allowable	165
Suspension of rules
Number of delegates required for	110
Permitted by majority vote during last two convention days	1558-1561, 1728
Procedure for	83-85
Temporary rules
Adoption of as permanent rules	491-592
Amendment of	204
Suspension of, Number of delegates required	110
Titling of sections	37-38
Convention staff
Commendations to	1769, 1772, 1774, 1775-1778, 1788
Employment — See Employment, Convention staff
Corporations
Blacklists, Exchange of
Prohibition against not necessary	570
Cumulative voting	149, 594-595
Obsolete provisions pertaining to	148-149, 325-326, 505-506, 594-595, 991-992
Organization of, Provision for	1529
Price fixing — See Price fixing
Railroads
Rates, Control over intrastate	505-506
Counsel, Right to — See Indigent persons, Right to counsel
Counties — See Political subdivisions
County officers — See Political subdivisions, Officers of County seats — See Political subdivisions, County seats
Courts — See Judicial branch
Crimes, criminals and punishment
Bail
Denial of	571-572
Guarantee of	451-452, 570-572, 1372
Death penalty
Prohibition of	454-455, 1372
Prosecution for crimes
Defendant's rights	448-449
Cumulative voting — See Corporations, Cumulative voting
Death penalty — See Crimes, criminals and punishments, Death penalty
Debate — See Convention rules, Debate
Debates of Convention
Delegates to receive copies of	1789
Debt
Imprisonment for
Provision prohibiting	1381
Political subdivisions
Limitations on	395, 573-575, 1495-1496
Provisions for given accelerated effective date	1675-1677
State
Limitations on	1256-1264, 1332-1342, 1480-1494
Debtors
Rights of
Provisions for	1380-1381
Declaration of rights
Provisions excepted from powers of general government	450
Dedicated taxes — See specific tax under Taxation
Delegates
Admonishment to be alert to floor action	111
Birthday greetings to

Delegate Decker	1345
Commendations to
By President Frank Wenstrom	1787
Conduct of while on floor	73
Expense allowances — See Salaries and wages, Expense reimbursement Illness of
Notice of	45, 100, 175, 213, 244, 257, 494, 573, 703
Resolution expressing wish for speedy recovery	265-266
Informational meetings at highway department auditorium
Establishment of	98
Notices of meetings	98, 133, 181, 201, 244, 279, 447
Manner of selection
Nomination by commission, Whether advantageous	646
Recording presence, Manner of	141
Salaries of — See Salaries and wages, Payments
Seating of	83
Desk locks
Instructions as to use	13-14
Detention, Unlawful — See Habeas corpus
Discrimination in employment — See Right to work
Discrimination in public facilities prohibited — See Public accommodations, Equal enjoyment of, Guarantee for Division of question — See Convention rules, Question, Division of Doctors, Medical
Need for in state	162-163
Drugs
Penalties for offenses	116
Ecology — See Environmental bill of rights
Education
Board of Higher Education
Creation of	1231, 1234-1235, 1468
Executive officers, Appointment of	1046, 1231, 1469
Members, How selected and terms	1046, 1231, 1234-1235, 1468
Structure of, Generally	1046, 1231-1233, 1247-1248, 1252-1254, 1468-1469
Board of Public School Education
Creation of	1231, 1234, 1468
Executive officers, Appointment of	1046, 1231, 1234, 1468
Members, How selected and terms	1046, 1231, 1234, 1468
Structure of	1046, 1231, 1234, 1247-1248, 1252-1254, 1468
Financing of
By statewide real property tax	396-397, 407, 417-418, 928-929
Constitutionality of	398
Free education
Proposal for	1467
Question of whether to be provided	1230, 1233-1234, 1237-1246
Libraries — See Library services
Meetings of education boards to be open	1235-1237, 1469
School lands — See State trust (school and institutional) lands
Sectarian control, Freedom from	1231, 1234, 1467
Single board vs. multiboard concept
Merits and demerits of	939-956
Special — See Special education
Elections — See also Voting
Candidates for office
Right to nonprejudicial electoral system	1039-1043, 1389
Legislative assembly, For members to
Each house judges members qualifications	1407
Staggering of terms	847-848, 852-853, 1209, 1274-1276, 1403-1404
Tie votes, Manner of deciding	1064-1067, 1158-1161, 1407,
Proposed constitution — See Special election on proposed constitution
Electrical generating plants
Financing of	130

Electronic voting
Rule 21	67-68
Elk's Chorus — See Governor's Chorus
Ellendale Branch-UND
Grant of state lands for support of
Disposition of if institution ceases to exist	247
Need to decide future of institution	250-251
Eminent domain — See Property, Eminent domain
Employment
Children — See Child labor
Convention staff
Committee report	30
Procedure for	30
Nondiscrimination in — See Right to work
Right to work — See Right to work
Enabling Act
Compact with United States	258-262, 1523-1524
Location of state institutions under	233
Environmental bill of rights
Experience in other states	565
Merits and demerits of	564-565, 580-587, 831-835
Provisions of
Class actions	564, 584-587
Generally	1528
Right to sue by individuals	832-835
Reconsideration of	1739-1743
Ethics, Code of — See Legislative assembly, Ethics, Code of and Executive Branch, Code of ethics
Excuse of absent delegates — See Absent delegates, Excuse of
Executive branch
Code of ethics
Governor not to influence legislators	859-862
Legislature to prescribe for all nonjudicial officers	1530
Compensation of executive officials
Generally	341, 1435
Not to be diminished during term	1435
Unvouchered expense allowance	532
Executive budget
Authority of Governor	330
Executive orders
For executive reorganization	788-800, 1047, 1145-1152, 1435
Whether reorganization orders should affect educational structure	1253-1254
Executive powers
Allocation of	788-789, 791, 794-796, 1047, 1145, 1435
Impeachment of executive officers — See Impeachment and removal, Nonjudicial officers
Offices, Location of	1435
Organization and structure of
Alternate proposal 4-3	1578-1580, 1656-1658, 1671-1672
Generally	788-800, 1047, 1145, 1433, 1435
Whether boards of education are included in executive branch	1435, 1437, 1440-1441
Planning council
Creation and operation of	788-789, 792-793, 796-797, 1145, 1442
Powers and duties of executive officials
Governor	338-341, 1145, 1435, 1442
Lieutenant Governor	1442
Qualifications of executive officials
Age	527-531, 1435
Attorney General must be licensed attorney	1435
Generally	341-343
Residency	523-527, 1435
Recall of executive officials
Generally	1138-1144, 1394-1395
Past history of recall in North Dakota	1142
Whether proposal should include judges	1138-1141

Removal of executive officers — See Impeachment and removal, Nonjudicial officers
Selection of executive officials
Alternate proposal for	1628-1631, 1652-1673
Attorney General's opinions regarding	1579-1580, 1629, 1661
Elected officials, When chosen	856-858, 1435
Joint ballot for Governor and Lt. Governor	802, 804-805, 811-813, 1433
Manner of	802-820, 1433, 1579-1580
Tie elections, How decided	856-857, 1435
Succession to office
Manner of determining	331-338, 1003-1004, 1009-1010, 1444
Terms
Length of	856, 1435
Vacancies in executive offices
Manner in which filled	802, 808-809, 813-814, 1444
Veto power, Governor's
Generally	328-329, 998-999, 1442
Reduction of appropriation items	329-331, 998-999, 1442-1443
Expense vouchers — See Salaries and wages
Ex post facto laws and bills of attainder
Prohibition against	364-365, 606-611, 1380
Expunge remarks from record — See Remarks, Removal from record, Question of Extension Council, North Dakota — See North Dakota Extension Council Facilities, Public — See Public accommodations
Fair trade laws
Application to prohibit price fixing	150
Farm-to-market roads — See Taxation, Highway funds, Dedicated, Farm-to-market roads, Use of funds
Federal lands
Jurisdiction of state	286-289
Finance and Taxation — See Taxation
Freedom — See Liberty
Gambling
Louisiana lottery
History of	204
Prohibition against
Difficulty of enforcing	142-144, 1612-1613
Reconsideration of alternate proposal regarding	1703-1706
Whether should be alternate issue on ballot	202-208, 1421-1428, 1610-1613
General elections — See Voting, General election
Governmental immunity
Abrogation of doctrine, Question of	1303-1314
Effective date of provision abrogating to be accelerated	1678
Provision limiting	1381
Reconsideration of proposal for abrogation	1736-1738
Whether proposal abrogating should include willful acts	1737-1738
Governmental research bureau
Convention research materials
Delegate biographies	99-100
Governor, Office of — See Executive branch
Governor's Band
Performance at Plenary Session opening	2-3
Governor's Chorus
Performance at Plenary Session opening	2, 3, 13
Grain elevators
Authorization for in 1889 Constitution
Terminal elevators in Minnesota and Wisconsin	127
State Mill and Elevator	127

Great Seal
Description of	830, 1528
Guests, Introduction of — See Convention rules, Guests, Introduction of Habeas corpus
Guarantee of right to
Suspension of, Conditions for	357-358, 1375
Removal of Latin term for simplicity of meaning	359-361, 1375-1377, 1382-1383
Hail tax — See Taxation, Hail tax
Handicapped persons
Education of — See Special education
Health
Guarantee of right to
Provision for	1357
Whether should be guaranteed by Constitution	234
Higher Education Facilities Commission
Cooperative public information program
Funding of	588, 930-931, 958-959
Highway department building
Informational delegate meetings — See Delegates, Informational meetings at highway department auditorium
Highway funds, Dedicated — See Taxation, Highway funds, Dedicated Highway road reports — See Road reports
Home rule — See Political subdivisions, Home rule
Homestead
Exemption from creditors
Provision guaranteeing	1380-1381
Should be extended to single persons	1090-1092
Whether necessary in Constitution	1088-1089
Sale of for labor or materials furnished for improvement	1092-1093
Impeachment and removal
Judicial officers	653-656, 1448-1449, 1530
Nonjudicial officers
Grounds for	496-500
Provisions for	192-194, 496, 1009-1010, 1530-1533
Imprisonment
For debt, Prohibition against	378-379
Unlawful — See Habeas corpus
Indians
Political subdivisions may enter into service agreements with
Generally	1069, 1073, 1458
Reconsideration of proposal for	1721-1735, 1738
Indictment and information
Provisions for	362-364, 1087, 1371-1372
Uniform code of military justice, Application to proposal	1087-88, 1095
Use of "accusation" for "information"	363, 1372
Indigent persons
Right to counsel	500-504, 711-718
Information, Criminal — See Indictment and information
Information program — See also North Dakota Extension Council and Higher Education Facilities Commission
Introduction to proposed Constitution
Which committee will prepare	1343
Initiative and referendum
Alternate proposal for
Form to be submitted on ballot	1624, 1754-1755
Reconsideration of	1720-1721

Whether should be approved	1623-1626, 1635-1650
Amendment or repeal of measures by legislative assembly
Requirement of super-majority for established period	917-920, 1393, 1623-1626
Constitutional amendments
Number of signatures required	922-925, 1394
Procedures for	891, 1394
Guarantee of	885-886, 1391-1392
Petition for
Approval of, When petition effective	890-891, 1393
Certification of, Procedures for	889-890, 1393
Circulation of, Requirements for	886-887, 1392
Compensation, Payment of for circulating	902-905
Form, Requirements of for valid petition	886, 901-902, 926-927, 1392
Signatures, Number required to validate petition	887-888, 896-897, 922-925, 1392
Sponsors, Number required	886, 898-901, 1392
Submission to electorate, How performed	888-889, 914-915, 1393
Submission to Secretary of State	926-927, 1392
Suspension of operation of referred measure, When permitted	911-913, 1393
Whether should be submitted to electors as alternate	1623-1626

Intoxicating liquor — See Liquor

Introduction of guests — See Convention rules, Guests, Introduction of

Introduction of proposals — See Proposals, Introduction of Involuntary servitude — See Slavery

Irrigation

Financing of
Real estate tax	405-407

Joint ballot for Governor and Lieutenant Governor — See Executive branch, Selection of executive officials, Joint ballot for Governor and Lieutenant Governor

Journal

Cost of	931-932
Mailing of	30, 31, 55, 158
Manner of keeping	55-56
Revision and correction
Organizational session, April 7, 1971	16
Plenary Session, First Day, January 3, 1972	97
Plenary Session, Second Day, January 4, 1972	115
Plenary Session, Third Day, January 5, 1972	142
Plenary Session, Fourth Day, January 6, 1972	175
Plenary Session, Fifth Day, January 7, 1972	187
Plenary Session, Sixth Day, January 10, 1972	213
Plenary Session, Seventh Day, January 11, 1972	257
Plenary Session, Eighth Day, January 12, 1972	283
Plenary Session, Ninth Day, January 13, 1972	349
Plenary Session, Tenth Day, January 14, 1972	387
Plenary Session, Eleventh Day, January 17, 1972	429
Plenary Session, Twelfth Day, January 18, 1972	461
Plenary Session, Thirteenth Day, January 19, 1972	509
Plenary Session, Fourteenth Day, January 20, 1972	563
Plenary Session, Fifteenth Day, January 21, 1972	613
Plenary Session, Sixteenth Day, January 24, 1972	673
Plenary Session, Seventeenth Day, January 25, 1972	777-778
Plenary Session, Eighteenth Day, January 26, 1972	865
Plenary Session, Nineteenth Day, January 27, 1972	937-938
Plenary Session, Twentieth Day, January 28, 1972	1045
Plenary Session, Twenty-first Day, January 31, 1972	1137
Plenary Session, Twenty-second Day, February 1, 1972	1229
Plenary Session, Twenty-third Day, February 2, 1972	1348
Plenary Session, Twenty-fourth Day, February 3, 1972	1348
Plenary Session, Twenty-fifth Day, February 9, 1972	1503
Plenary Session, Twenty-sixth Day, February 10, 1972	1549
Plenary Session, Twenty-seventh Day, February 11, 1972	1633
Plenary Session, Twenty-eighth Day, February 14, 1972	1745

Judicial branch

Appeals
Procedures for	649, 1447

Bail — See Crimes, Criminals and punishment, Bail
Committee reports for, Method of presenting	533-536, 621
Courts to be open
Guarantee of	750-752, 930, 966-975, 1359
Question of meaning of language	1361
Districts, Judicial
Designation of	649, 1448
Internal procedures
Provisions for	1446-1447
Judges
Alternate proposal for manner of selection	1627
Compensation of	1448
Disqualification of	650, 1448
Impeachment — See Impeachment and removal, Judicial officers
Qualifications	649-651, 1448
Recall of, Propriety of	1138-1141
Removal — See Impeachment and Removal, Judicial officers
Restricted from practicing law	1448
Retirement	650, 1449
Selection of, Manner for	534, 621-642, 644-647, 650, 657-660 1448, 1627
Terms	649, 653, 1448
Unopposed judges subject to confirmation by voters	1450
Vacancies	650, 1449
Jurisdiction
District courts	1448
Manner granted	649
Supreme Court	1446
Jury trials
Guarantee of	1047-1048, 1292, 1359
Reduction of size of jury	1056, 1063, 1292-1295, 1359, 1362-1368, 1517-1521, 1546-1547
Whether right to should be accorded juveniles	1048-1062, 1292
Structure of
Generally	647-653, 1446
Missouri plan explained	622
Simpson plan explained	640
Utah plan explained	621
Trials — See also Jury trials this heading
To be speedy and public, Provision guaranteeing	1372
Unconstitutionality of laws, Declaring
Provisions for	1447
Jurisdiction
Courts — See Judicial branch, Jurisdiction
Federal lands within state
Whether ceded to North Dakota	258-262, 1524
Juveniles — See also Children
Adulthood at eighteen — See Age, Adulthood at eighteen
Jury trial, Right to — See Judicial branch, Jury trials, Whether right to should be accorded juveniles
Labor and employment
Children — See Child labor
Convention staff — See Employment, Convention staff
Nondiscrimination in — See Right to work
Right to work — See Right to work
Lands, Federal — See Federal lands
Lands, State — See State lands
Latin phrases
Noli illigimati non carborendum	612, 1227
Removal of to simplify meaning
Habeas corpus	359-361
Laws
Shall have uniform operation	447-448, 1381
League of Women Voters of North Dakota
Commendations to	1775

Legislative assembly

Appropriations for
Should be subject to executive veto	383-384
Bicameral system
Conference committees, Evils of	305
Effective date of, Transition schedule for	1682-1688
Merits and demerits of	294-318
Responsibility of members under	300
Size of assembly under	269-270
Bicameral vs. unicameral question
Manner of consideration of	290-293
Manner of placement on ballot	1584-1596, 1708-1719
Merits of each system	294-318
Should be alternate issue for electors	302, 310, 1581-1596
Compensation
Members not to be appointed to office if compensation increased	837-838, 847
Method of establishing	343-345, 1414
Reduction of by one assembly to affect subsequent assembly	269, 344-345
Cost of operation
North Dakota as compared to Nebraska	294-295
Effective date of bills	1033-1034, 1408, 1410, 1542-1545, 1571
Election of members — See Elections, Legislative assembly, For members to Ethics, Code of
Conflict of interest	188
Conviction under should not be complete bar to further service	223
Disclaimer of conflict of interest, Present practice	221-223
Enforcement, Difficulty of	226, 227
Jury trial should be required for conviction	223, 227
Legislative assembly to prescribe, Provision for	1530
Need for, Generally	220-229
Remuneration for passage of legislation, Prohibition of	221
Internal procedures	748-750, 1407
Introduction of bills
Limitation as to subject matter	550
Limitation on number	549
Local and special laws
Permitted in case of municipal or state corporations	1529
Prohibition against	1033-1035, 1408
Log rolling
Difficulty of prohibiting	221
Meetings of to be open	927, 1014-1018, 1412
Obsolete provisions	1036-1037
Organizational session
Disadvantages of	540-541
Transition schedule, Need to retain for	1676-1677
Organization of
Provisions for	539-552, 1400
Passage of bills
Procedures for	1407-1408
Powers of
Broadened under new Constitution	221
Plenary authority	230
Privileges and immunities
Arrest, Freedom from during session	1033, 1035, 1412
Restrictions on granting of	449, 1381
Qualifications of members
How arrived at	222
Minimum age for service	728-734
Need only be an elector	1401
Redistricting of
Alternate proposal for	1628
Effective date of provision	1675, 1677
Multi-member vs. single member districts	1325-1331
Procedures for	1027-1028, 1175-1197, 1403
Reconsideration of proposal for	1325-1331, 1499-1500
Staggering of members
seats	847-852, 1209, 1274-1276, 1403-1404, 1503-1514, 1540-1542, 1677
Service in
By attorneys	188, 223-227
Persons holding other state or political subdivision
office excluded	836-846, 1126-1129, 1401, 1570-1575

Professional persons should not be excluded	223-227
Salaried persons should not be excluded	223-227
Sessions
Length of	539-552, 1407
Special laws — See Local and special laws this heading
Taxation
Manner of avoiding constitutional limitations on	397-398
Terms
Length of	847-848, 852-853, 1027-1028, 1208-1223, 1401
Unicameral system
Effective date of, Transition schedule for	1682-1688
Lobbying under	295
Merits and demerits of	294-318
Reconsideration under	204, 208
Representation under	295
Size of assembly under	269-270
Legislative auditor — See Auditor General
Liberty
Arms, Right to bear — See Right to bear arms
Assembly
Guarantee of right to	239, 1359
Civil
Generally	119
Guarantee of	234
Should be spelled out in Constitution	236-237
Press, Freedom of — See Press, Freedom of, Guarantee for Religious
Generally	119, 259
Guarantee of	452-453, 1359
Need to retain provision for in compact with United States	289
Library services
Provision of
Directive to legislative assembly	720
Liquor
Whether state and political subdivisions may engage in sale of	1099, 1100, 1103
Locker system — See Desk locks
Lotteries — See Gambling
Louisiana lottery
History of	204
Majority and minority committee reports — See also Committee reports
Minority
How presented	73-75, 90-91
Procedure for on Convention floor	40-44, 62-67, 81-82, 165-166, 219
Mandatory and prohibitory language
Necessity for in proposed Constitution	199, 244-246
Medical center — See University of North Dakota, Medical center and Taxation,
Medical center dedicated mill levy
Meetings — See Committees, Meetings
Meetings of public bodies to be open
Education boards	1235-1237, 1469
Legislative assembly	412, 927, 1014-1018
State and political subdivisions executive agencies	1020-1026
Military — See also Veterans
Federal reservations within state
Jurisdiction over — See Jurisdiction, Federal lands within state,
Whether ceded to North Dakota
State forces
Funding of	179-180
Necessity for inclusion in Constitution	179-180
Provision for establishment by legislative assembly	1533
Subordinate to civil power	239, 1382

Militia, State — See Military
Moneys, Public
Manner of handling
To be paid over to State Treasurer	395, 1478-1479
Montana Constitutional Convention
Congratulatory resolution	938-939
Motions — See Convention rules, Motions
Motto of Convention, Proposed
Noli illigitimati non carborendum	612, 1227
Name of state — See State name
National Guard — See Military
New Constitution
Question of whether Convention should create	119-125, 160, 231, 1293
Sections within, Procedure for numbering and arranging	194
Nondebatable motions
Rule 32	82
North Dakota boundary — See State boundary
North Dakota Catholic Conference
Tax exemptions for charitable institutions
Regrets for actions in regard to	957-958
North Dakota Extension Council
Meetings with public information committee	98, 139
Public information program	29, 588, 930-931, 958-959
Oath, Administration of
Delegate Butler	2
Plenary Session employees	31
Oath of office
Form subscribed to by state officers	190, 1529
Ombudsman
Explanation of concept	705-708
Need for	705-711
Proposal for
Generally	1529
Reconsideration of	1743-1744
Would create extra layer of bureauracy	708-709
One-house legislature — See Legislative assembly, Unicameral system
Opening ceremonies, Plenary Session
Administration of oath to Delegate Butler	2
Remarks
Delegate Pearce	10
Delegate Vogel	6
Governor William L. Guy	3
Optional forms of government — See Political subdivisions, Optional forms of government for counties
Order of business — See Convention rules, Order of business
Pardons and parole
Responsibility for lodged with Governor
Reasons for	339, 340
Pari-mutuel betting — See also Gambling
Whether prohibited if gambling prohibition repealed	145
Parliamentary procedure
Meeting to discuss	210-211
Personal rights — See also Liberties and individual rights as listed
Guarantee of

Life, liberty, health and happiness, Provision for.....	1357
Should be placed in Constitution	236-237
Should not be deleted because of duplication with federal Constitution	237
Pictures of Convention
Composite historical picture
Announcements of sittings	1078, 1079, 1135, 1194
Authorization for	932, 960-961
Bids offered	931
Proofs to be selected and returned	1576, 1650
Substitution of pictures other than taken by convention photographer	1547
Sum to be spent	959-961
Education Committee
Announcement for sitting	1135
Investigation of cost	686-687
Legislative Committee
Announcement for sitting	1767
Organizational session
Notice of availability	346, 686, 702
Plenary Session, Opening day
Notice of availability	346, 1538
Plenary Session
Time of holding	88-96, 106
Political power
Inherent in the people	447, 1357
Political subdivisions
Boundaries of counties
Manner of changing	1068, 1071, 1073-1076, 1452
Business — See Businesses, State and political subdivisions
County seats
Provision for establishing and changing	1068, 1071, 1452
Debt limitations — See Debt, Political subdivisions
Designation of counties	1068, 1070, 1452
Establishment of counties	1068, 1070
Home rule
Authorization for, Cities and counties	1068, 1071, 1452-1453
Question of whether counties should have	1077, 1078, 1082-1086
Officers of County officer's positions to be retained or eliminated
by voters	1068-1069, 1071-1072, 1453-1454, 1464-1465
Recall of county officers	1138-1144, 1394-1395
Removal and succession to office	1009-1010
Terms, Length of	1080
Optional forms of government for counties
Authorization for	1068, 1071, 1072, 1453
Services to be
provided by counties	1068-1069, 1072-1073, 1076-1077, 1079-1080, 1453, 1458
Reorganization of county structure
Generally — See Officers of, County officers positions to be retained or eliminated by voters, This heading
Number of electors required for petition for	1454-1457
To what extent legislative assembly can change requirements for	1457-1458
Service agreements with Indians — See Indians, Political subdivisions may enter into service agreements with Pollution, Abatement of — See Environmental bill of rights
Poor people — See Indigent persons
Posting of meetings
Manner of	94
Powers reserved to the people — See Initiative and referendum, Executive branch,
Recall of executive officers, and Political subdivisions, Recall of county officers
Preamble
Need to clarify new language	160
Proposal for	1351
Question of whether should be amended or recreated	119-125

Presentations
To J. A. "Arnie" Gilje, Director of Information	1775
To officers and committee chairmen	1771-1772, 1774
To President Frank Wenstrom
By Executive Director Dean F. Bard	1773-1774
By Vice President William Pearce	1770-1771
To R. J. Sailer by Delegate Bea Peterson	1774
To staff	1772, 1774, 1775-1778
To Vice President Stanley Saugstad by Delegate Fred Scheel	1772-1773
Press
Admission of to Convention floor	83
Freedom of, Guarantee for
Generally	361, 1359
Previous question, Motion for — See Convention rules, Previous question
Price fixing
Products of the soil	151, 993
Prohibition of	150, 993-994
Printing
Administrative — See Administration, Convention, Printing
Proposals — See Proposals, Printing
Proposed Constitution of 1972	1785-1786
Privacy, Right of
Effect of right on public media	967-968, 970
Provision guaranteeing	1359
Whether right should be extended by Constitution	930, 967-970
Property
Adverse possession — See State lands, Adverse possession in prohibited
Classification of
For tax purposes	471-480
Eminent domain
Compensation for all damages other than money	987-988, 1133, 1198-1208
Generally	466, 988-990, 1120-1124, 1134, 1173, 1381
Quick-take provision	466, 975-987, 991-992, 1121-1124, 1132
Separate property of wife, husband
Liability for debts limited	355-356
Proposals
Alternate — See also Convention rules, Alternate proposals
Appeal from ruling of chair on alternate proposal 4-9	1536-1537
Call for further proposals	1157
Procedures for	48, 87, 202-203, 366-371, 1225, 1549-1550
Straw vote on preference of, Procedures for	1438-1440
Time limitations on introduction of	1300
Amendments to amendments
Correct procedures for	63-64
Amendments to, Procedures for
Committee amendments	38-44, 62-67
Floor amendments	39, 43, 62-67, 132-133, 201, 220
Committee reports on
Deadlines from reports from committees	487-489
Disposition of proposal if report not adopted	199-200
Disposition of proposals failing on second passage	1351-1352, 1359, 1466
Discussion of merits
When permitted	200
Division of	41, 74-77, 103-107, 110-111, 132
First reading and passage
Deadline for	1223-1224
Indefinite postponement
Procedure for	164, 166-171
Proposals approved on first passage, Whether motion for should pass	1553-1558
Whether proposal must be before Plenary Session for	109
Introduction of — For specific proposals, See proposal indexes
Deadlines for	58-60, 85-87, 109, 489-490, 588
Manner of	56-61, 109
Number of proposals remaining on calendar — See Calendar, Number of proposals remaining on

Order of consideration	46-49, 371-372, 1397-1398
Placement on calendar	41, 110
Pocket veto not permitted	200
Possession by procedural committees deemed possession of Convention	372, 962-963
Printing of	153, 171, 201
Procedure for bringing to floor	41, 109
Reconsideration
Limitations as to time to effect	78-79
Notice in writing to clerk, when required	159
Number of delegates required to effect	132, 1353-1354
Procedures for, Generally	373-377, 490-491
Procedures for, Last two Convention days	1353-1354, 1695-1702
When permitted	79
Second passage
Disposition of proposal if defeated on	1351-1352, 1359, 1466
Effect of vote for	1352-1353, 1397, 1556-1557
Splitting of	41, 74-77, 103-107, 110-111
Voting on
Change in vote, When delegates may make	240, 1009
Effect of when on second passage	1352-1353, 1397, 1556-1557
Generally	49, 67-68, 132, 423
Journal should not show delegates votes when vote unanimous	1028
Layover of one Convention day required, Suspension of	1224
Should be section-by-section	1355
Withdrawal of	61-62, 108-110, 112-113

Proposed Constitution — See Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Public accommodations

Equal enjoyment of, Guarantee for
Denial of public funds to private organizations that discriminate	463-464, 740-746
Generally	356-357, 1382, 1383
Whether provision should prohibit discrimination as to sex	1117-1119, 1152-1156

Public information program — See Information program

Public lands — See State lands

Public service

Attorneys serving as members of legislature	188, 223-227
Code of ethics — See Legislative assembly, Code of ethics
Oath of office required for	190, 1529

Public testimony

Receipt of	93-94
------------------	-------

Public utilities

Local subdivisions to consent to operation or construction of, Merits and demerits of proposal for	694-701, 1108-1116
Proposal for as amended by style and drafting committee	1461
Rural electric cooperatives position to proposal for	695-700, 1108-1110, 1112-1114, 1116, 1464
Whether intent of original proposal changed by style and drafting committee	1462-1464

Punishments — See Crimes, criminals, and punishment

Question

Division of — See Convention rules, Question, Division of
--	--

Quorum call — See Roll call

Railroads — See Corporations

Reapportionment — See Legislative assembly, Redistricting of Recall — See Executive branch, Recall of executive officers, and political subdivisions, Recall of county officers

Recess

Plenary Session
Question of when to recess	107-108, 1111-1112
Saturdays as recess day	91-92, 107-108
Style and drafting, Recess for	1344, 1345
Time schedule for recess of Plenary Session	1344, 1695-1696

Reconsideration of proposals — See Convention rules, Proposals, Reconsideration of, and Proposals, Reconsideration
Redistricting — See Legislative assembly, Redistricting of Red River High School Band — See Governor's Band
Reimbursement for expenses — See Salaries and wages
Religious liberty — See Liberty, Religious
Remarks
Removal from record, Question of
Delegate Kwako	1651-1652
Delegate Rundle	1651-1652
Removal of state officers and officials — See Impeachment and removal
Reports, Committee — See Committee reports
Reservations, Federal — See Federal lands
Residency
Voting, Requirements for — See Voting, Qualifications, Residency
Resolutions — See resolutions index for specific resolution
Procedure for handling — See Convention rules, Resolutions, Procedures for handling
Time for introduction of	87
Revision and correction of journal — See Journal, Revision and correction
Rights — See individual rights listed, also Declaration of Rights, Liberty and Personal rights
Right to bear arms
Provision guaranteeing	1371
Merits and demerits of	575-580
Question of whether collective or individual right	1030
Right to counsel — See Indigent persons, Right to counsel
Right to free press — See Press, Freedom of, Guarantee for Right to free speech — See Press, Freedom of, Guarantee for Right to happiness
Provision guaranteeing	1357
Right to health — See Health, Guarantee of right to Right to nonprejudicial electoral system — See Elections, Right to nonprejudicial electoral system
Right to privacy — See Privacy, Right of Right to public accommodations — See Public accommodations
Right to work
Alternate proposals for
Appeal from ruling of chair on introduction of	1536-1537
Call for signatures for labor's version of	1502
Whether should be approved	1614-1621
Application of proposal for
Should include professions	557-558
Attorney General's opinions
Date of January 12, 1972	558
Corporation farming, Proposal would permit	441
Generally	1382
Merits and demerits of proposal for	431-446, 552-559, 737-740
Present provision should be retained	557
Proposal is legislative in nature	737-739
Whether should be placed on ballot as an alternate	1614-1621
Road reports
Storm warnings	560-561, 1788

Roll calls
First day	1
Second day	27
Third day	97
Fourth day	115
Fifth day	141
Sixth day	175
Seventh day	187
Eighth day	213
Ninth day	257
Tenth day	283
Eleventh day	349
Twelfth day	387
Thirteenth day	429
Fourteenth day	461
Fifteenth day	509
Sixteenth day	563
Seventeenth day	613
Eighteenth day	673
Nineteenth day	777
Twentieth day	865
Twenty-first day	937
Twenty-second day	1045
Twenty-third day	1137
Twenty-fourth day	1229
Twenty-fifth day	1347
Twenty sixth day	1421
Twenty-seventh day	1503
Twenty-eighth day	1549
Twenty-ninth day	1633
Thirtieth day	1745

Rules — See Convention rules

Rural electric co-operatives — See Public utilities

Salaries and wages

Expense reimbursement
Lodging receipts, Delegates must keep	346, 385, 964-965
Transportation, Number of trips allowed	493
Payments
Procedures for	19, 964-965, 1755
To absent delegates	24
State officials — See Executive branch, Compensation of executive officials

Saturdays

Question of whether recess day	91
--------------------------------------	----

School lands, State — See State trust (school and institutional) lands

Scribes and scribes

Notice of parties for delegates and staff	427, 1135-1136, 1420, 1501
---	----------------------------

Search and seizure

Provision for freedom from unreasonable search and seizure	1359
Restrictions on	379-382

Seating of delegates — See Delegates, Seating of; and Convention rules, Delegate Seating

Selection of executive officials — See Executive branch, Selection of executive officials

Selection of judges — See Judicial branch, Judges, Selection of

Set-aside issues — See Ballot, Constitutional, Alternate issues

Signing of Constitution — See appropriate subheads under Constitution of 1972, Proposed

Slavery

Prohibition of
Question of need for	239-240

Special education

Definition of	720
Legislative assembly to provide for	1467

Special election on proposed Constitution
Ballot — See Ballot
Cost of
Reimbursement to counties for	263-264
Tie vote, Possibility of
Alternate proposals	1753-1754
Speech, Freedom of — See Press, Freedom of, Guarantee for Spirit of '76
Resolution advocating adoption of schedule by co-ordination and transition committee	803
Staff — See Convention staff
State auditor — See Auditor General
State bank — See Bank of North Dakota
State boundary
Designation of	146-147, 515-519, 829-830, 1527-1528
Majority and minority reports, Reason for	391-392, 515-518
State businesses — See Businesses, State and political subdivisions; Bank of North Dakota and State Mill and Elevator
State capital
Location of
Provision designating	1528
Whether Constitution should permanently fix	247
State debt — See Debt, State
State institutions
Location of
State capital — See State capital, Location of
Whether Constitution should permanently fix	233, 248-251
State lands — See also State trust (school and institutional) lands
Adverse possession in prohibited	821-822
Educational and charitable federal land grants
Disposition of if uses ceases to exist	247-251
State Mill and Elevator
Authorization for	127
State moneys — See Moneys, Public
State name
Provision for	1526
Whether should be established by Constitution	1526-1527
State officers — See appropriate subheading under Executive Branch and Judicial branch, Judges
State seal — See Great Seal
State trust (school and institutional) lands
Adverse possession in prohibited	1474
Enabling act provisions reaffirmed	1524
General provisions regarding	822-825, 1471, 1472
Protection of trust funds	825-828, 1472, 1474-1475
Reservation of minerals on	1474
Sale or lease of
Provisions for	1474
To public agencies	1474
Style and drafting — See Convention rules, Style and drafting and appropriate subheading under Committees
Substitute motions — See Convention rules, Substitute motions
Succession to office — See Executive branch, Removal and succession to office
Suits against the state — See Governmental immunity

Suspension of rules — See Convention rules, Suspension of rules

Taxation

Assessment
Administered locally	412, 1476
Farm and ranch lands, Inequity of	129
Classification of property
Provisions for	395, 866, 1477
Real estate and personal property	471-480
Debt — See Debt
Dedicated funds — See Highway funds, Dedicated, and Medical center dedicated mill levy, this heading Determination of methods for
by reference to federal tax laws	408-412, 1476
Exemptions from real property tax
Classification or organization to determine eligibility for	471-480, 595-606, 866-876
Determination of eligibility for	471-480, 595-606
Provisions for	1476-1477
Regrets over actions by North Dakota Catholic Conference	957-958
Extractive industries — See Mineral severance
Financing certain needs
Education	396-397, 928-929
Farm-to-market roads	681
Roads for municipalities	684
Hail tax
Authorization for	127, 327
Highway funds, Dedicated
Broadening of dedication for other related uses	1322-1324, 1477-1478
Farm-to-market roads, Use of funds	681
Municipalities, Use of funds	684
Provision for	1477
Question of whether tax for revenue for remain dedicated	677-686, 1315-1324
Medical center dedicated mill levy
Generally	127-131, 145
Inequality of	128-131, 395
Tax fails to support center	129
Urging retention of	128
Mineral severance
Resolution for study of by legislative assembly	1562-1566
Municipal Industrial Development Act — See Bonds, Municipal industrial development
Obsolete provisions pertaining to	327
Personal property tax
Increase of debt limits to political subdivisions because of loss of	574-575
Power of taxation
Not to be surrendered	394, 412, 1476
Real property tax
Constitutionally of as currently levied	471-480, 881
Inequality of	395, 399-400, 414-419, 878-881
Limitations on	397-407, 876-884, 928-929, 1476
Provisions for levy	394-395, 876, 928-929, 1476
Should be levied only in emergencies	129, 405, 877-833
Twenty-one mill levy
Constitutionality of	398
Telephone system
Procedures for use	16
Temporary rules
Adoption of as permanent rules	491-492
Amendment of	204
Suspension of
Number of delegates required for	110
Titling of sections — See Convention rules, Titling of sections
Transcript, Plenary Session verbatim
Delegates to receive copies of	1789
Manner of keeping	55-56
Transition schedule
Dates, accelerated effective
Education	1675, 1676

Executive branch	1675, 1677
Legislative branch	1675, 1676-1677, 1682-1688
Taxation	1675, 1677-1678
Dates, Delayed effective
Governmental immunity, Abrogation of	1675, 1678
Dates, general effective	1675, 1676
Exceptions and provisos
Education	1675, 1678
Executive branch	1675, 1678
Legislative branch	1675, 1678-1679
Prospective operation only as to procedural and substantive rights	1675, 1676
Removed upon execution	1674, 1675-1676
Treason
As act against the state
Federal Constitution covers offense	241-243, 593-594
Proposal for	592, 1372-1373
Question of need for reference in legislative assembly article	1412
Question of need for sanctions against	241-243, 593-594
Trust lands — See State trust (school and institutional) lands
Unicameral legislature — See Legislative assembly, Unicameral system
United States
Agreement with North Dakota for statehood — See Compact with United States
United States Constitution
Supreme law of land
Provision declaring	1382
Whether reference to should be placed in proposed Constitution	238
University of North Dakota
Ellendale Branch — See Ellendale Branch-UND
Governmental Research Bureau — See Governmental Research Bureau
Medical center
Dedicated mill levy	127-131, 145, 162-163, 395
Need for	162-163
Utilities — See Public utilities
Verbatim transcript, Plenary Session — See Transcript, Plenary Session verbatim
Veterans
Adjusted compensation, Payment of
Authorization for	127
Special consideration for
Proposal granting	704-705, 1382
Voting — See also Elections
College students
Question of county residency	1288-1290
Constitution of 1972, On adoption of — See appropriate subhead under Constitution of 1972, Proposed
General election
Establishment of date	752, 754, 761-766, 1047, 1285, 1387
Qualifications for
Age	752, 1047, 1285, 1387
Residency	752-760, 762-766, 1047, 1285-1290, 1387
Registration of voters
Merits and demerits of	616-620
Suspension of for incompetency and reinstatement
Convicted felons	277, 768-774, 1166-1172, 1388, 1332-1333
Insanity	768-774, 1166-1172, 1388, 1332-1333
Voting, Convention — See Proposals, Voting on; Convention rules, Proposals, Voting on and Electronic voting system
Waters
Laws regarding
Appropriations and riparian systems	272-273
Management for public good by legislature	271
Non-potable waters
Subsurface ownership of	272

Ownership, Question of
Subsurface waters	271-272
Surface waters	271
Provision for state ownership of	1529
Use, Priority of	273-274

Withdrawal of motions — See Convention rules, Motions, Withdrawal of Withdrawal of proposals — See Proposals, Withdrawal of and Convention Rules, Proposals, Withdrawal of Words and Phrases

Accusation	363
Artificial	380-381
Capital offense	452
Cemetery	604
Charitable	874
Chronic	499
Complaint	1372
Continuing	499
Convention day	91
Elected state officers	858
Executive	675
Free education	1237-1246
Habeas corpus	359
Happiness	235
Health	235
Inability	498-499
Incapacity	770
Incompetency	770-771
Information	363
In the selection	463-464
Justiciable	1041
Legislative day	540, 551
Limitation	250
Natural day	540, 549
Necessary	977-980
Non-judicial officer	220
Officers	1395, 1763
Officials	1395, 1763
Press	361
Principal departments	858
Privacy	235, 930, 967-970
Private utility	413
Profession	441
Provision	250
Public policy	360
Public safety	360
Pursuit of health	235-236
Qualified	559
Recessed day	549
Record	331
Recorded vote	331
Religious	604
Remuneration	222
Reputation	234-235
Safety, Obtaining	236
Secure	119, 161
Special education	720
Special law	151
Stag	1650
State official	220
Trade	441
Willful failure	498-499