CHAPTER 30.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO CITIES AND VILLAGES.

ARTICLE 1.—TOWN PLATS.

§ 2418. Survey and plat to be made. When any person wishes to lay out a town in this state or an addition or subdivision of out-lots, such person shall cause the same to be surveyed and a plat thereof made which shall particularly describe and set forth all the streets, alleys, commons or public grounds and all in and out-lots or fractional lots within or adjoining said town, giving the names, width, courses, boundaries and extent of all such streets and alleys. § 1. c. 28, Pol. C.

§ 2419. Lots and squares numbered. All the in-lots intended for sale shall be numbered in progressive numbers or by squares in which they are situated, and their precise length and width shall be stated on said map or plat; and out-lots shall in like manner be surveyed and numbered and their precise length and width stated on the plat or map, together with any streets, alleys or roads which shall divide or border the same. § 1. c. 106, 1887.

§ 2420. Base line, how formed. The proprietor of the town, addition or subdivision of out-lots, by himself or agent, shall at the time of surveying and laying the same out cause to be planted and firmly fixed in the ground on the line of the main streets of said town two good and sufficient stones of such size and dimension as the surveyor shall direct, said stones to be at least two hundred and fifty yards apart; and the line thus formed shall be a base line from which to make future surveys; and the point or points where the same may be found shall be distinguished on the plat or map. § 3. c. 28, Pol. C.

§ 2421. Plat to be certified and acknowledged. The plat or map after having been completed shall be certified by the surveyor and the officers; and every person whose duty it shall be to comply with the foregoing requirements shall at or before the time of offering said plat or map for record acknowledge the same before some person authorized to take acknowledgments. A certificate of such acknowledgment shall by the officer taking the same be indorsed on the plat or map, which certificate of the survey and acknowledgment shall also be recorded and form a part of the record. § 4. c. 28, Pol. C.

§ 2422. Lands donated or granted. Streets. When the plat or map shall have been made out and certified, acknowledged and recorded as required by this chapter, every donation or grant to the public, or to any individual, religious society, or corporation, marked or noted as such on said plat or map, shall be deemed a sufficient conveyance to vest the fee simple of such parcel or parcels of land as are therein expressed, and shall be considered to all intents and purposes a general warranty against such donors, their heirs or representatives, to said donees, or grantees, for their use for the uses and purposes therein named, expressed and intended, and no other use and purpose whatever; and the land intended to be used for the streets, alleys, ways, commons or other public uses in any town, city or addition thereto shall be held in the corporate name thereof in trust to and for the use and purposes set forth and expressed or intended. § 5. c. 28, Pol. C.

- § 6, c. 26, Pol. C. § 2423. Record of plat in unorganized counties. If the county in which said town or addition is situated shall not be organized, the plat or map shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county to which such county is at the time attached for judicial purposes.
- § 7, c. 26, Pol. C. § 2424. Towns already laid out must comply with this chapter. When any town, addition or subdivision has been heretofore laid out and lots sold in this state by agents or proprietors, and a plat or map of the same has not been acknowledged and recorded in conformity with acts heretofore in force, it shall be the duty and it is hereby required of the county commissioners or a majority of them in such county, or proprietor or proprietors who have laid out the same, or his or their legal representatives, to have the same fairly, fully and clearly made out, acknowledged and recorded in the proper county, in the form and manner required by this chapter; noticing and particularly describing the donation of lands or otherwise to individual societies, bodies politic, or for common or public purposes; provided, that if the lots shall have been differently numbered and sales made and they cannot be conveniently changed they shall be returned as originally stated; but in all other respects the plat or map shall conform to the requirements of this chapter.
- § 8, c. 26, Pol. C. § 2425. Fees of surveyor and register. The surveyor who shall lay out, survey and plat any town or addition shall be entitled to receive twenty-five cents for each and every in and out-lot the same may contain, unless otherwise agreed, and the register of deeds of the county recording the same shall receive the sum of two cents for each and every lot as aforesaid; the said plat and survey to be by him transcribed or copied into a book to be provided for that purpose.
- § 9, c. 26, Pol. C. § 2426. Penalty if sale or lease is offered before compliance with this act. If any person or persons shall dispose of, offer for sale or lease for any time any out or in-lots in any town, village or city or in any addition to any town, village or city or any part thereof, which shall hereafter be laid out, until all the foregoing requirements of this chapter shall have been complied with, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for each and every lot or part of a lot sold or disposed of, leased or offered for sale.
- § 10, c. 26, Pol. C. § 2427. Penalty if officer or other persons neglect to do duty. If any officer or person whose duty it is to comply with any of the requirements of this article shall neglect or refuse so to do, he shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars for each month he shall delay a compliance.
- § 12, c. 26, Pol. C. § 2428. Forfeitures and liabilities. All forfeitures and liabilities which may be incurred or arise under this chapter shall be prosecuted for and recovered in the name of the county treasurer; and any officer paying over any money to such treasurer, received under any of the provisions of this chapter, shall take his receipt therefor and forthwith file such receipt with the county auditor, and he shall charge the amount of such receipt against said treasurer on the books of the county.

ARTICLE 2. — VACATION OF PLATS BY DISTRICT COURT.

- § 13, c. 26, Pol. C. § 2429. District court may alter or vacate towns. The district court is authorized and empowered on application made by the proprietors of any town within the county to alter or vacate the same or any part thereof.

§ 2430. Notice of application, how given. If any proprietor of a town shall be desirous of altering or vacating the same or any part thereof, such proprietor shall give notice in writing of such intended application in at least two of the most public places in the county wherein such town may be situated, and insert a copy thereof in a newspaper printed or in circulation in said county if there is one, at least forty days prior to the sitting of the court to which he intends to make such application. § 14, c. 26, Pol.C.

§ 2431. Proceedings for. If such applicant shall produce to the court satisfactory evidence that the notice required by the preceding section has been given, the court shall proceed to hear and determine such petition, and may alter or vacate such town or any part thereof, and order the proceedings thereon to be recorded by the clerk with the records of the court. § 15, c. 26, Pol.C.

ARTICLE 3. — VACATION OF PLATS BY WRITTEN DECLARATION.

§ 2432. Plats, how vacated. Any plat of any town, village or city or addition thereto or any subdivision of land may be vacated by the proprietors thereof at any time before the sale of any lots therein by a written instrument declaring the same to be vacated, duly executed, acknowledged or proved and recorded in the same office with the plat to be vacated; and the executing and recording of such writing shall operate to destroy the force and effect of the recording of the plat so vacated, and to divest all public rights in the streets, alleys, commons and public grounds laid out as described in such plat. And in cases where any lots have been sold the plat may be vacated as herein provided by all the owners of lots in such plat joining in the execution of the writing aforesaid; provided, that this article shall not be construed as applying to any of the territory included within the limits of any incorporated city, town or village created and organized under and by virtue of a special act. § 1, c. 109, 1887.

§ 2433. Part of plat vacated, how. Any part of a plat may be vacated under the provisions and subject to the conditions of this article; provided, such vacating does not abridge or destroy any of the rights and privileges of other proprietors in said plat; and provided, further, that nothing contained in this section shall authorize the closing or obstructing of any public highways laid out according to law. § 2, c. 109, 1887.

§ 2434. Proprietors' rights when vacated. When any part of a plat shall be vacated as aforesaid the proprietors of the lots so vacated may inclose the streets, alleys and public grounds adjoining said lots in equal proportion. § 3, c. 109, 1887.

§ 2435. Register of deeds to mark plat. The register of deeds in whose office the plats aforesaid are recorded shall write in plain, legible letters across that part of said plat so vacated the word "vacated," and also make a reference on the same to the volume and page in which such instrument of vacation is recorded. § 4, c. 109, 1887.

§ 2436. Owner may plat again. The owner of any lots in a plat so vacated may cause the same and a proportionate part of adjacent streets and public grounds to be platted and numbered by the § 5, c. 109, 1887.

county surveyor, and when such plat is acknowledged by such owner and recorded in the office of the register of deeds such lots may be conveyed and assessed by the numbers given them on such plat.

ARTICLE 4. — CHANGING LIMITS OF CITIES, TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

§ 1, c. 104, 1887.

§ 2437. Limits may be extended. On petition in writing signed by not less than three-fourths of the legal voters and by the owners of not less than three-fourths, in value, of the property in any territory contiguous to any incorporated city or town or village and not embraced within the limits thereof, the city council of the city or the board of trustees of the town or village, as the case may be, may by ordinance annex such territory to such city, town or village upon filing a copy of such ordinance with an accurate map of the territory annexed, duly certified by the mayor of the city or the president of the board of trustees of the town or village in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the annexed territory or the greater portion of it is situated, and having the same recorded therein.

§ 2, c. 104, 1887.
am'd.

§ 2438. Limits may be restricted. On petition in writing signed by not less than three-fourths of the legal voters and by the owners of not less than three-fourths, in value, of the property in any territory within any incorporated city, town or village, and being upon the border and within the limits thereof, the city council of the city or the board of trustees of the town or village, as the case may be, may disconnect and exclude such territory from such city, town or village; provided, that the provisions of this section shall only apply to lands not laid out into city, town or village lots or blocks.

§ 3, c. 104, 1887.
am'd.

§ 2439. Notice of petition to be published. No final action shall be taken by the city council or the board of trustees, as the case may be, upon any petition presented in pursuance of the provisions of the last two sections until notice of the presentation of such petition has been given by the petitioners by publication at least once in each week for two successive weeks in some newspaper published in the city, town or village where the petition is presented; or if no newspaper is published therein, then in the newspaper published nearest thereto.

§ 4, c. 104, 1887.
am'd.

§ 2440. Petition presented to district court, when. Upon the failure of the city council, or the board of trustees, as the case may be, to grant the request contained in any petition presented in accordance with the provisions of sections 2437 and 2438, for thirty days after the last publication of the notice provided for in the last section, or upon a refusal to grant such request, the petitioners may present their petition to the district court of the county in which such city, town or village or the greater portion of it is situated, by filing such petition with the clerk of said court. Notice of such filing shall be served by the petitioners upon the mayor of the city or the president of the board of trustees, as the case may be, together with a notice of the time and place when and where a hearing will be had upon such petition, at least ten days before the date of such hearing. The hearing on the petition may be had at a regular or special term of the district court or by the court in vacation.

§ 2441. Duty of court. If upon the hearing the court shall find that the request of the petitioners ought to be granted and can be so granted without injustice to the inhabitants or persons interested the court shall so order. If the court shall find against the petitioners the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners.

§ 2442. Map to be filed. When any territory is annexed by ordinance or by order of court to any city, town or village as provided in this article, it shall be the duty of the mayor of the city or of the president of the board of trustees of the town or village, as the case may be, to cause an accurate map of such added territory, together with a copy of the ordinance for the annexation or a copy of the order of court therefor, duly certified, to be filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which such added territory or the greater portion of it is situated. If territory is disconnected or excluded from any city, town or village a copy of the ordinance or judgment therefor shall be so filed and recorded, at the expense of the petitioners therefor. § 6, c. 104, 1887. am'd.

ARTICLE 5. — CHANGING NAMES OF TOWNS OR VILLAGES.

§ 2443. Petition. When any number of the inhabitants of any town or village shall desire to change the name thereof, there shall be filed in the office of the county auditor a petition for that purpose, which must be signed by at least two-thirds of the qualified electors of said town or village, setting forth the name by which said town or village is known, its location as near as practicable, and giving the name which they desire the town shall thereafter be known by. § 1, c. 31, 1885.

§ 2444. Notice. Notice of the filing of such petition and the time and place when the same shall be heard and the objects and purposes thereof shall be given by posting up a written or printed notice in at least five public places in the town or village, the name of which is sought to be changed, at least four weeks before the meeting of the board of county commissioners. § 2, c. 31, 1885.

§ 2445. Duty of county commissioners. At the next regular meeting of the board after such notice shall have been posted as aforesaid, the board shall proceed to hear and determine the petition unless the hearing is for good cause continued until the next meeting; and the board shall on the hearing of said petition also hear any remonstrance against the proposed change; and if on the hearing it shall appear to the board that two-thirds of the qualified electors of the town or village in good faith signed said petition for change of name and desired the same, then the board shall order said name to be changed as prayed for. § 3, c. 31, 1885.

§ 2446. Record. The order of the board shall thereupon be entered of record, giving the name of the town or village as set forth in such petition, the new name given, the time when the change shall take effect, which shall not be less than thirty days thereafter, and directing that notice of said change shall be published in at least one newspaper published in the county, if any, and if there is no newspaper published in the county, then such notice shall be published by posting the same for four weeks on the front door of the courthouse in which the last term of the district court of said county was held. § 4, c. 31, 1885.

§ 2447. Proof of publication to be filed. Proof of such publication shall be filed in the office of the county auditor; and on the day fixed by the board as aforesaid the change shall be complete; provided, that whenever the name of any town or village shall be changed § 5, c. 31, 1885.

under the provisions of this article the county auditor shall immediately notify the register of deeds who shall note the change of name upon the plat of said town or village with the date thereof.

§ 2448. Costs. In all cases arising under the provisions of this article where there is no remonstrance or opposition to said petition, the petitioners shall pay all costs; but in all other cases costs shall abide the result of the proceeding and be taxed to either party in the discretion of the board, or divided equitably between the parties.

ARTICLE 6. — CHANGING WARDS.

§ 1, c. 110, 1887.

§ 2449. Petition. Notice. When a petition shall be presented to the mayor and council of any city or the president and trustees of any town or village, signed by a majority of the legal voters thereof, to be determined by the number of names on the poll list of the last regular election, praying for a change in the name, number or boundary of wards of said city, town or village, the council of such corporation shall at once cause to be published in a weekly newspaper of the city or village in at least three issues a notice of the day, hour and place of meeting at which they will consider such petition.

§ 2450. Council may order change, when. If it shall appear to the council or trustees that the change petitioned for is desirable and for the best interests of the city, town or village the council may by a majority vote of all the members elect order the change desired, but no such change shall take effect until the next regular election.

§ 3, c. 110, 1887.

§ 2451. Plats and records to be changed. The council shall direct the corporation attorney to cause such needful changes in papers, plats and matters of record as the change may demand.

§ 2452. Duty of clerk. It shall be the duty of the town, village or city clerk or auditor to make such changes in assessment lists as the change in wards necessitates.

§ 5, c. 110, 1887.

§ 2453. Manner of holding election in new ward. Ten days before the next regular election the council shall designate the proper polling place or places for the new ward or wards, appoint judges and clerks, and make all necessary provisions for holding the election in the new ward or wards, naming the several officers to be chosen.

ARTICLE 7. — LOCATING AND VACATING STREETS AND ALLEYS.

§ 2454. Power to open, improve and vacate streets and alleys. Any city, town or village is authorized and empowered by and through its proper municipal officers to lay out, open, grade and otherwise improve the streets, alleys, sewers, sidewalks and crossings therein and to keep them in repair and to vacate the same.

§ 2455. Petition. Whenever a majority of the resident owners of real estate situated in any block or subdivision of any city, town or village in the state shall be desirous of locating an alleyway through such block or subdivision when said block or subdivision contains no alleyway, they shall after having given notice of their intention so to do by publishing notice thereof in a newspaper printed and published in the city, town or village wherein said block or subdivision is situated for three consecutive weeks, once in each week prior thereto, present their application in writing to the judge of the district court of the county describing the proposed location of the proposed alleyway.

§ 2456. Commission to appraise damages. Upon the presentation to him of such application, together with due proof of publication of the notice required in the preceding section, the judge shall appoint three commissioners to appraise the damages, if any, to the property in the block or subdivision wherein said alleyway is sought to be located. Said commissioners in their appraisal may and shall take into consideration and offset any advantage to abutting property against the damages thereto. § 2, c. 107, 1887.

§ 2457. Damages and costs assessed against property. Said commissioners shall thereupon locate said alleyway and make their return forthwith to said court, which return shall contain a plat of the block or subdivision showing the location of the proposed alleyway, a statement of the damages to each lot or parcel of land in said block or subdivision, together with the aggregate amount of the damages, and if such location is granted by the court said damages and all costs of the proceedings shall be entered up against said block or subdivision and be a first lien thereon against each lot or parcel in proportion to the assessed valuation thereof by the last assessment next preceding the date of the granting of said order, and shall be by the clerk of said court certified to the county auditor of the county, who shall in making out the duplicate assessment and tax of said county next thereafter enter said sums therein in a separate column opposite the description of the property against which the taxes so remain unpaid, and such taxes shall be collected in the same manner and by the same person as the general taxes of said county are collected, and shall when so collected be paid over to the person entitled thereto. § 3, c. 107, 1887.

§ 2458. Notice to be posted, when. If no paper is published in such city, town or village, then the notice required in section 2455 to be published may be posted in three public places within such city, town or village for the period of thirty days, in lieu of such publication.

ARTICLE 8.—WATERWORKS AND FIRE APPARATUS.

§ 2459. Power of municipalities to provide. All cities, towns and villages in this state having a population of one thousand inhabitants or more are authorized and empowered to purchase, erect, lease, rent, manage and maintain any system or part of system of waterworks, hydrants and supply of water, telegraph fire signals or fire apparatus that may be of use in the prevention and extinguishment of fires; and to pass such ordinances penal or otherwise as may be necessary for the full protection, maintenance, management and control of the property so leased, purchased or erected. The city council or board of trustees of such city or municipal corporation is authorized and empowered to assess, levy and collect taxes for the purposes aforesaid, and to do all acts necessary to carry such lease and contracts of purchase, erection or maintenance into effect, and to pay the stipulated rent or contract prices for the property so leased, purchased, erected or to be maintained; provided, that any such lease or contracts for purchase, erection or maintenance which shall stipulate for an annual payment greater than an annual levy of five mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of such city or municipal corporation shall not be authorized until the contract providing therefor shall first have been submitted to a vote of the people of such city § 1, c. 106, 1887.

or municipal corporation at a general or special election and ratified by a majority of the voters of said city or municipal corporation voting at such election.

§ 2, c. 105, 1887.
am'd.

§ 2460. How construed. The last section shall not be construed to modify or affect the power of any city, town or village or the power of the city council or board of trustees thereof as authorized and granted by the charters of such cities, towns or villages or the laws under which they were incorporated, where said charter or law shall have expressly given to such municipality the power to lease rent or maintain such property.

§ 1, c. 134, 1893.

§ 2461. Election to determine sale. When any city, town or village shall own the waterworks system of such city, town or village, neither the city council nor the authorities of any such city, town or village shall have authority to sell or dispose of such waterworks system, mains, pumping stations or any part thereof, unless the proposition to sell the same shall first have been submitted to the legal voters of such city, town or village at a special election called for that purpose, and such sale shall have been authorized by a majority vote of all the votes cast at such election; provided, that nothing herein shall prevent the city council of any city from selling or disposing of any machinery, material or other property belonging to any such system which may have become inadequate or insufficient for the purpose for which the same was intended to be used.

ARTICLE 9.—INSURANCE TAX FOR FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

§ 2462. Duty of clerk. The clerk of each city, town or village in this state having an organized fire department shall on or before the thirty-first day of October in each year make and file with the state auditor his certificate stating the existence of such department, the date of its organization, the number of steam, hand or other engines, hook and ladder trucks and hose carts in actual use, the number of organized companies, the number of members of each company, and the system of water supply in use in such department, together with such other facts as the auditor may require.

§ 2463. State auditor to furnish blanks. Insurance companies to make statement. The blanks required by law to be furnished by the state auditor to insurance companies shall contain the names of the cities, towns and villages entitled to benefits under this article, and every insurance company doing business in this state shall include in its annual statement the amount of all premiums received by them upon policies issued on property within the corporate limits of such city, town or village during the year ending on the preceding thirty-first day of December.

§ 3, c. 53, 1887.

§ 2464. State auditor to issue warrants. The state auditor on the first day of July thereafter shall issue and deliver to the treasurer in each city, town or village having an organized fire department entitled to the benefits of this article his warrant upon the state treasurer for an amount equal to two per cent of the premiums received upon policies issued on property in any such city, town or village, which warrants shall be numbered consecutively and shall each specify the date of its issuance and to whom payable, and such warrants shall be paid by the state treasurer to the treasurer of such city, town or village upon presentation thereof, and when so received by said treasurer the same shall be paid over to said company or companies, in equal proportion, having a membership of at least fifteen members for a period of eight months prior to the date of the certificate of the clerk, as provided in section 2462, and having the management of at least one steam, hand or fire engine, hook and ladder truck or hose cart, upon the written order of such company or companies, approved by the city council, trustees or other governing body of such city, town or village; provided, that in cities, towns and villages having a paid fire department, the amount so received by the city, town or village treasurer shall be placed in a fund to be disbursed by the city council, trustees or other governing body of such city, town or village in maintaining such fire department.

§ 2465. Qualification of fire department. No city, town or village shall be entitled to any of the benefits arising from this article unless the fire department shall have been in actual existence eight months prior to the filing of the certificate required by section 2462, and unless such fire department shall have had for such period as a part of its equipment, at least one steam, hand or other fire engine or hook and ladder truck or hose cart, with a membership of at least fifteen persons for said period of eight months. § 4, c. 53, 1887.

§ 2466. Failure to file certificate a waiver. If the certificate required by section 2462 is not filed with the auditor on or before the thirty-first day of October in each year, the city, town or village so failing to file such certificate shall be deemed to have waived and relinquished its right for such year to the appropriation herein provided for. § 5, c. 53, 1887.

ARTICLE 10. — FREE LIBRARIES.

§ 2467. Library fund, how provided. The city council of each city not exceeding in population fifty thousand inhabitants, and each village or township board of every village and township containing over five hundred inhabitants, shall have power to establish and maintain a public library and reading room, and for such purpose may annually levy and cause to be collected as other taxes are collected a tax not exceeding one mill on each dollar of the taxable property of such city, village or township, to constitute the library fund, which fund shall be kept separate and apart from the other money of the city, village or township by the treasurer thereof, and the same shall be used exclusively for such purpose; provided, that no library shall be so established without first receiving the approval of a majority of the electors of such city, village or township, voting on such question at any general election at which it may be submitted to a vote. § 1, c. 56, 1887.

§ 2468. Library managed by board of directors. For the government of such library and reading room there shall be a board of five directors appointed from the citizens of such city, village or township, including both males and females, who shall be appointed by the board of education or school board of such city or village, or where there is no incorporated city or village then by the board of supervisors of such township; and there shall be one member of such board of education or school board or board of supervisors appointed as one of the directors of such library and reading room. Such directors shall hold their office for two years from the first day of July in the year of their appointment and until their successors are appointed, but upon their first appointment they shall divide them- § 2, c. 56, 1887.

selves at their first meeting by lot into two classes, and two of such directors shall hold for one year and the remaining three for two years, and thereafter there shall be appointed in each year the requisite number to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of those going out of office in such year. All vacancies shall be immediately reported to and filled by such board of education, school board or board of supervisors, and if for an unexpired term, for the residue of the term only. No compensation whatever shall be paid or allowed any director in such official capacity.

§ 2469. Duties and powers of board. Said directors shall immediately after their appointment meet and organize by electing from their number a president, secretary and librarian. They shall make and adopt such by-laws, rules and regulations relating to the duties of officers and for the management of the library and reading room as may be expedient, not inconsistent with this article. They shall have the exclusive control of the expenditures of all moneys collected for or contributed to the library fund, and the supervision, care and custody of the library property, rooms or buildings constructed, leased or set apart for that purpose; and such money shall be drawn from the treasury by the proper officers upon vouchers of the board of directors without being otherwise audited. They may with the approval of the board of education or school board or board of township supervisors aforesaid, without which no lease, purchase or contract therefor shall be valid, build, lease or purchase an appropriate building and purchase a site therefor, not however employing in such purchase or building more than one-half of the income in any one year.

§ 2470. Library free under rules established by board. Every library and reading room established under this article shall be forever free for the use of the inhabitants of the city, village or township where located, always subject to such reasonable rules and regulations as the board of directors may deem necessary to adopt and publish to render the use of said library and reading room of the greatest benefit, and the board may exclude from the use of said library and reading room any and all persons who shall willfully violate such rules.

§ 2471. Board to make annual report. The board of directors shall make an annual report to the said board of education or school board or board of supervisors stating the condition of the library and property, the various sums of money received from all sources, and how much money has been expended and for what purpose, the number of books and periodicals on hand, the number added by purchase or gift during the year, the number lost and loaned out, the character and kind of books contained in the library, with such other statistics, information and suggestions as they may deem of general interest.

§ 2472. Donations, how and to whom made. All persons desirous of making donations of money, books, personal property or real estate for the benefit of such library shall have the right to vest the same in the board of directors, to be held and controlled by such board when accepted for the use of such library and reading room, and as to such property said board shall be held and considered to be special trustees.

§ 2473. City council or trustees to appropriate funds, when. To aid and facilitate the organization of a library in any city, village or township as in this article provided, where the same is required by the people thereof, and where in any city the sum of four hundred dollars or more shall have been donated and deposited with the city treasurer for that purpose, and to any village or township where the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars or more shall have been donated and deposited with the village or township treasurer for the benefit of such library, and also where such amount shall prior to the passage of this code have been donated and expended for the purchase of a library existing in any such city, village or township, the city council of such city is authorized and it shall be its duty to appropriate two hundred dollars from the general fund of such city for such library, for which amount a warrant shall be drawn on the city treasurer; and the board of trustees of such village or the board of supervisors of such township are authorized and it shall be their duty to appropriate one hundred dollars from the general fund of such village or township for such library, for which amount a warrant shall be drawn on such village or township treasurer; provided, that in the case of any library association now existing it shall first agree to turn over to the library and reading room thus established all books, periodicals and other property. The treasurer of such city, village or township shall accept such warrant and apply the proceeds from the sale of the same to the library fund, which together with the amount donated shall be held subject to the order of the board of directors for such library; and the payment of such warrants shall be provided for in the next assessment of taxes in such city, village or township, and such library may be organized without submitting the same to a vote as provided in section 2467.

ARTICLE 11. — BONDS OF MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

§ 2474. Bonded indebtedness, for what incurred. Limit of. Any city or municipal corporation in this state may incur a bonded indebtedness for the purpose of erecting public school buildings and other buildings for city purposes, purchasing fire apparatus, putting in waterworks, sinking public wells or cisterns and putting in sewers and improving streets, which said indebtedness, together with the indebtedness which then exists shall not, except as otherwise provided, exceed five per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in such city or municipal corporation as shown by the return of the assessor for the year next preceding the time at which such indebtedness shall be incurred.

§ 1. c. 16. 1887.

§ 2475. Bonds, how issued. Election. The bonds issued for the purposes mentioned in the last section shall be issued by the city council or board of trustees of any city or municipal corporation only upon a majority vote of the qualified electors of such city or municipal corporation voting thereon at an election regularly called for that purpose and in accordance with the provisions of the charter of such city or municipal corporation governing the issuance and sale of bonds; provided, that in all cities and municipal corporations where the charter does not provide the manner of calling and holding an election for the purpose aforesaid, a special election shall be called and held as herein provided, or such question may be submitted at any annual election. The city council or board of trustees at any regular meeting thereof may decide to call a special election to vote bonds for any of the purposes stated in section 2474, and they shall give at least fifteen days' public notice of such election by at least two publications thereof in a weekly newspaper published therein, or if there is no such newspaper then by posting such notice in five public places in such city. Such notice shall state the amount and denomination of the bonds to be voted for, the rate of interest thereof, the purpose for which such bonds are to be issued, the form of the ballots to be used and the time and place of holding such election. The judges and clerks shall be appointed and the election shall be conducted as provided by the charter of said city for conducting annual elections, and the returns shall be canvassed and in like manner returned. This article shall not be construed to limit or restrict the powers already conferred by any special charter upon the council of any city or municipal corporation. The bonds voted as provided for in this article shall be sold at not less than par value.

ARTICLE 12. --- REFUNDING CITY BONDS.

§ 1, c. 32, 1893.
am'd.

§ 2476. Refunding authorized. Each incorporated city in this state is authorized and empowered, by and through its city council, when deemed in the judgment of said council to be to the best interests of the city, to issue its negotiable bonds in the name of the city for the sole purpose of funding the outstanding indebtedness of such city, represented by the city warrants, bonds or orders of such city existing against the city, which is at the time due and payable, or is about to become due and payable, or whenever said indebtedness can be refunded at a lower rate of interest than the then existing rate of interest on said indebtedness.

§ 2, c. 32, 1893.

§ 2477. Bonds, denominations, interest. Each bond issued under the provisions of this article shall recite upon its face that it is so issued. Such bonds shall be in denominations of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars; shall severally show and bear the date of their issue and the date when payable, and shall be made payable in not less than five years nor more than twenty years from their date; shall be made payable to the purchaser or bearer and made payable anywhere in the United States; shall bear interest not exceeding the rate of six per cent per annum, payable annually or semiannually as may be agreed upon, and shall have interest coupons attached. Said bonds shall be engraved or lithographed on bond paper, and said bonds, and each of said coupons shall be signed by the mayor and attested by the city clerk or auditor of the city in whose name they are issued, and to each bond, but not to the coupons, the seal of such city shall be affixed.

§ 3, c. 32, 1893.

§ 2478. Sale of bonds. Such bonds may be sold by the city council at not less than their par value, and the proceeds thereof shall be applied solely to the payment of the outstanding indebtedness of such city represented by city warrants, bonds or orders which are authorized to be funded under the provisions of section 2476; or said bonds issued as herein provided may be exchanged at not less than par value for not less than an equal amount, at par value, of such outstanding bonds, warrants or orders of said city as are authorized to be funded under the provisions of section 2476, and when such exchange shall be made said outstanding bonds, warrants or orders so paid by the issue of bonds as herein provided, shall be marked respectively, "paid by bond No. . . . (stating number of such bond)," and shall be retained by the city treasurer until his settlement with the city council, and shall then be compared with the new bond registered, and after such comparison shall be placed in the custody of the city clerk or auditor whose duty it shall be to preserve the same.

§ 2479. Record of bonds. The bonds issued as herein provided shall before delivery thereof to the purchaser be presented by the city clerk or auditor to the city treasurer who shall register them in a book to be kept for that purpose and known as the "bond register," wherein he shall enter the number of each of said bonds, its date, the date of its maturity, its amount and rate of interest and to whom and where payable. § 4, c. 32, 1893.

§ 2480. Tax for interest. Sinking fund. The city council shall, each year, levy upon the taxable property in the city a sufficient tax to pay the interest on such bonds as the same shall accrue and also, within a reasonable time before the maturity of said bonds, a sufficient tax to provide a sinking fund for the payment of such bonds at maturity. § 5, c. 32, 1893.

§ 2481. Duty of treasurer. On presentation of such bonds and the several coupons thereto attached at their maturity, respectively, it shall be the duty of the city treasurer to pay the same out of any funds in his hands applicable thereto and to cancel the same by writing or stamping across the face of each bond or coupon so paid, "canceled by payment this....day of..... (inserting the date of such payment.)" § 6, c. 32, 1893.

§ 2482. Bonds negotiable. All bonds issued in substantial conformity to the provisions of the preceding six sections shall in law be considered negotiable. § 7, c. 32, 1893.

ARTICLE 13.—REFUNDING BONDED SCHOOL INDEBTEDNESS.

§ 2483. Bonds may be refunded. All bonds heretofore issued by any city or by or under the authority of the board of education of any city in this state for school or school house purposes may be refunded in the discretion of said board in the manner hereinafter provided, whenever there is not sufficient money in the treasury of such city applicable thereto, to pay such bonds. § 1, c. 12, 1887.

§ 2484. Denomination of bonds. Said bonds shall be in denominations of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, shall be numbered consecutively from one upward, shall bear the date of their issue, shall be made payable to the purchaser or bearer, shall be payable ten years from date, and shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent per annum payable annually, with interest coupons attached, and principal and interest shall be made payable at such place as may be designated by the board of education. The bonds and each coupon shall be signed, by the mayor and attested by the city clerk or auditor under the seal of the city. Said bonds shall be printed, engraved or lithographed on bond paper, and a duly authenticated copy of this article shall be printed on the back of each bond. § 2, c. 12, 1887.

§ 2485. Board of education to levy tax. The board of education shall levy each year upon the taxable property of such city a tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as the same accrues, and after five years from the date of said bonds an annual sinking fund tax sufficient for the payment of said bonds at maturity, which taxes shall become due and be collected the same as other city taxes. § 3, c. 12, 1887.

§ 2486. Bonds, how executed. The refunding of indebtedness and the issuance of bonds provided in this article shall be under the control and direction of the board of education, and a resolution of said board directing the execution of such bonds and specifying the number and amount of each bond shall authorize and require the mayor and city clerk or auditor to execute the same in the manner herein provided, and deliver the bonds so executed to the board of education, who shall provide for the sale and negotiation thereof or for the exchange of said bonds for outstanding bonds authorized to be refunded under this article, as they may deem best; provided, that such refunding bonds shall not be sold or exchanged at less than par value. Both principal and interest of said bonds shall be paid by the city treasurer by warrants drawn upon the funds created therefor and issued under the direction of the board of education. A duly certified copy of the resolution of the board of education authorizing and directing the execution of such bonds by the mayor and city clerk or auditor shall be printed on the back of each bond. A register of all bonds so executed shall be made by the city clerk or auditor and kept in his office as a public record, showing the number, date, amount, interest, name of payee and when and where payable, of each and all bonds executed under the provisions of this article. And after such outstanding bonds shall have been so refunded the same shall be placed in the hands of the city clerk or auditor after having had first marked across the face thereof in red ink the words "refunded bond;" and the city clerk or auditor shall thereupon make a record of each bond in the same manner provided herein for bonds issued under this article and at the next regular meeting of the city council shall cancel and burn said bonds in the presence of the city council and make a record of such action in the proceedings of the council.

ARTICLE 14.—TAXES IN CERTAIN CORPORATIONS.

§ 2487. Interest fund. Any city, town or village in this state having not less than three thousand inhabitants is authorized and empowered through its proper officers to levy and collect taxes not exceeding twelve mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of said city, town or village, for the purpose of creating an interest fund with which to pay interest upon the existing bonded indebtedness of such municipality, including bonds, if any, issued under the direction of the respective boards of education therein. If any officer of such municipality shall use the moneys collected by virtue of this section for any other purpose than that expressed herein, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than one year.

§ 2488. Sinking fund. They may also levy and collect taxes not exceeding four mills on the dollar for the purpose of creating a sinking fund to pay the bonds of the municipality as the same may mature; and the proper officers of the municipality may invest the money in said fund in interest bearing securities of the state or of any organized county therein or of the municipality, and shall in no other manner dispose of the money in said fund, and if any officer of such municipalities shall use the money in said fund in any other manner than as provided in this section he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 2489. For school purposes. They may also levy and collect taxes for school purposes not to exceed twenty mills on the dollar, the taxes so levied and collected to be kept in a fund to be called the school fund to be expended under the direction of the board of education. § 3, c. 139, 1887.

§ 2491. Special assessments for sidewalks. They may also levy and collect special assessments for sidewalks and street improvements as hereinafter provided, and the money so collected shall be kept in a fund called the special assessment fund. § 5, c. 139, 1887.

§ 2492. Limitation of indebtedness. It shall be unlawful for the officers of such municipality to incur any greater indebtedness in any one year than three thousand dollars in excess of the taxes levied for that year, unless authorized and directed so to do by a vote of the electors of such municipality at an election held for that purpose. Any officer or officers contracting the same shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and if any officer of said municipality shall issue any evidence of such indebtedness he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. § 6, c. 139, 1887.

ARTICLE 15.—COLLECTION OF CITY TAXES.

§ 2493. City property, how assessed. The assessors of the several incorporated cities of the state having city assessors, shall make out and deliver to the county auditors of their respective counties the assessment roll of the said city or cities at the time and in the manner provided by the general laws of the state for county and township assessors; provided, that in all incorporated cities of this state, whether incorporated under special acts, or otherwise, not having city assessors, the assessment roll of all property subject to taxation in any such city made and equalized for county purposes shall be and constitute the assessment roll for said city and the county auditor of the county in which any such city is situated shall, as soon as said assessment roll is completed, certify to the city council of every such city within his county the aggregate amount of the valuation of the taxable property in any such city as shown by said assessment roll; and provided, further, that all taxes in any such city levied before the passage and approval of this code shall be collected as now provided by law or ordinance. § 1, c. 142, 1887.

§ 2494. Duty of city council. The city council of such cities shall on or before the first Monday in August in each year make the tax levy for the current fiscal year and fix the rate of taxation upon property in such city, and the clerks of said cities shall forthwith transmit the same to the county auditor of such county or counties. § 2, c. 142, 1887.

§ 4, c. 142, 1887.

§ 2496. Duty of county treasurer. The county treasurer of such county shall thereupon collect said taxes in the same manner as a part of the general taxes for that year, and shall pay the same over to the city treasurer of such city or cities as fast as collected, and shall take the city treasurer's voucher therefor; and the county treasurer shall retain from the moneys collected for such city or cities, as a fee to be turned over to the county, one per cent of all such moneys collected and no more.

§ 5, c. 142, 1887.

§ 2497. Salaries of city treasurers. The city council of all such cities shall have authority to regulate and fix the compensation and salaries of city treasurers within their respective cities, whether such cities have heretofore had such power under their charters or not, and such salaries shall in no case exceed six hundred dollars.

§ 2498. Does not apply to taxes for special improvements. This article shall not apply to taxes levied by such cities for special improvements therein.

ARTICLE 16.—ROAD AND BRIDGE TAXES.

§ 2499. Road funds to be turned over. All road taxes collected as personal taxes from residents of any incorporated city, town or village, and all road taxes collected on account of real or personal property situated within any incorporated city, town or village by the treasurer of the county in which such city or town is located, shall be turned over quarterly by such treasurer to the treasurer of such incorporated city, town or village to be expended under the direction of the city council of such city or of the board of trustees of such town or village, as the case may be, in the improvement of the streets or bridges thereof or of the roads approaching thereto.

§ 2500. Bridge funds to be turned over to city. The county treasurer of each county wherein any city or municipal corporation shall have constructed a bridge or shall hereafter construct a bridge over any navigable stream shall pay to the city treasurer of such city or municipality whereby such bridge has been constructed or is about to be constructed, all money in the county treasury or which may come into the county treasury in the bridge fund of such county, which may have been or shall be levied, assessed and collected from persons and property, or either, in said city or municipality.

ARTICLE 17.—LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS IN CERTAIN CITIES.

§ 2501. Assessments for. The city council of any city not organized under the general law for the incorporation of cities shall have power to make assessments for local improvements on property adjoining or benefited thereby, including extension of water mains in such cities, owning and operating exclusively a public system of waterworks, to collect the same in the manner hereinafter provided, and to fix and determine and collect penalties for nonpayment of any such special assessment and taxes.

§ 2502. Improvements, how made. When the city council of such city shall deem it necessary to open, widen, extend, grade, pave, macadamize, bridge, curb, gutter, drain or otherwise improve any street, alley, lane or highway, or other public grounds within the city limits, or extend or improve any public system of waterworks exclusively owned and operated by the said city for which a special assessment is to be levied, as herein provided, the city council shall, by resolution, declare such work or improvement necessary to be done, and such resolution shall be published for three consecutive weeks, at least once a week, in the official newspaper of the city, and unless a majority, in value, of the owners of the property liable to be assessed therefor, shall, within twenty days after the expiration of such publication, file with the city clerk or auditor a written protest against such improvement, then the city council shall have power to cause such improvement to be made and to contract therefor, and to levy and collect the assessment upon the property so benefited in the manner and at the time other taxes are collected, and all work done under this section shall be let by contract to the lowest responsible bidder therefor.

ARTICLE 18.—PARKS AND PUBLIC GROUNDS.

§ 2503. Cities may acquire real estate for. Cities and villages in this state are empowered and authorized to receive by gift or devise, real estate within their corporate limits or within five miles thereof for purposes of parks or public grounds. Such real estate shall be vested in the city or village upon the conditions imposed by the donors, and upon the acceptance thereof by the mayor and city council or the board of trustees, the jurisdiction of the city council or board of trustees shall be extended over such real estate. The city council and board of trustees of villages shall have power to enact by-laws, rules and ordinances for the protection and preservation of any real estate acquired as herein contemplated, and to provide suitable penalties for the violation of any such by-laws, rules or ordinances. The police powers of any city or village that shall acquire any real estate as herein contemplated shall be at once extended over the same by virtue of this article. § 1, c. 99, 1890.

ARTICLE 19.—TOWN SITES LOCATED ON PUBLIC LANDS.

§ 2504. Town site, who may make entry. Whenever any portion of the public lands of the United States has been or shall be settled upon and occupied as a town site, it shall be lawful whenever requested by a majority of the occupants or owners of the lots within the limits of the town or village, for the corporate authorities of the town or village if incorporated, and if not incorporated then for the county judge of the county in which such town may be situated, to enter at the proper land office the land so settled upon and occupied, and hold the same in trust for the several use and benefit of the occupants thereof and those holding by deed or otherwise, according to the respective interests. § 1, c. 135, 1881.

§ 2505. Entry fee, how raised. If at the time any petition is presented as provided for in the preceding section there is not in the treasury of the town, money sufficient to pay for the land settled upon and occupied, the corporate authorities or the county judge, as the case may be, may raise by subscription or otherwise sufficient funds to pay for said land and costs of entering the same, and any and all sums so advanced for such purpose shall be repaid in the manner provided in section 2508. § 2, c. 135, 1881.

state in which any city, town or village may be located, shall have entered at the proper land office the land or any part thereof so settled and occupied as the site of such city or town or village pursuant to and by virtue of the act of congress of the United States, entitled "An act for the relief of the inhabitants of cities and towns upon the public lands," approved March 2, 1867, and acts amendatory thereto, it shall be the duty of such corporate authorities or county judge, his or their successors, to dispose of the trust so created and conferred by said act of congress in the manner hereinafter specified.

§ 2507. Person making the entry to transfer to claimants.

Any such corporate authorities or county judge holding the title to any such lands in trust as declared in said act of congress shall, subject to the provisions of this article, by a good and sufficient deed of conveyance grant and convey the title to each and every block, lot, share or parcel of the same to the person, persons, associations or corporations who shall occupy or possess or be entitled to the right of possession or occupancy thereof, according to the several rights and interests of the respective claimants in or to the same as they existed in law or equity at the time of the entry of such lands, or to the heirs or assigns of such claimants. Every such deed of conveyance made by such corporate authorities or judge pursuant to the provisions of this article shall be so executed and acknowledged as to admit the same to be recorded.

§ 2508. Expenses of entry and claims. Immediately upon making the entry, and during sixty days thereafter, such corporate authorities or county judge shall proceed to itemize and pass upon the expenses of procuring said entry to be made, including the moneys paid at the land office for such entry, the costs of surveying and platting the town site, of attorney's fees, witness fees, recording plat and all other expenses necessary and incident to procuring the entry and perfecting the title, and for this purpose shall give notice to all persons having any claims for moneys advanced or services rendered to present and file a certified statement of the same within said sixty days, such notice to be given promptly after making the entry, and to be by publication for three weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein the townsite is located, or if none is so published then in the newspaper published nearest thereto. Any person having or making any such claim who shall at the expiration of said sixty days have failed to file such verified statement of account shall be thereafter barred from presenting the same or recovering thereon. Upon the receipt of such verified statements of accounts they shall be duly filed by the said corporate authorities or county judge, and either allowed, rejected or allowed in part as in the judgment of such corporate authorities or county judge may be just and right, due notice of such allowance, rejection or allowance in part to be at once given to the person who filed such verified statement. Any person filing such statement or any lot owner feeling aggrieved at the decision of such corporate authorities or judge making such allowance, rejection or allowance in part of any claim so filed, may within thirty days after the decision appeal therefrom to the district court of the district wherein such city or town is located, such appeal to be taken upon notice to such corporate authorities or judge in the same manner and subject to the same restrictions as appeals from the board of county commissioners.

§ 2509. Publication of notice of entry and claims awarded. § 6, c. 135, 1881.

Immediately upon the expiration of sixty days after the first publication of said notice as hereinbefore provided, at the proper land office, the corporate authorities or county judge entering the same, his or their successors, shall give public notice thereof by publishing such notice in a newspaper published in the county in which such city or town is situated, or in case there is no newspaper published in such county then in the newspaper published nearest such city or town, and in the latter case where there is no newspaper published in said county, copies of such notice shall also be posted in not less than ten conspicuous places within the limits of said county; such notice shall be published not less than once a week for six consecutive weeks and shall contain an accurate description of the lands entered as the same is stated in the certificate of entry, and shall also contain a statement of the several amounts awarded and allowed for the expenses of procuring the entry and which will be assessed against the land constituting the townsite in executing the deeds therefor.

§ 2510. Same. The notice provided for in section 2508 shall direct that each and every person, association or corporation claiming to be an occupant or to have, possess or be entitled to the right of possession or occupancy of such lands or any lot, share or parcel thereof, shall within ninety days from the date of the first publication or posting of such notice, in person or by his or its duly authorized agent or attorney, sign a statement in writing containing an accurate description of the particular lot, lots, parcel or parcels of land in which he or it claims to have an interest; and the specified right, interest or estate so claimed therein, the character and value of the improvements thereon, and how occupied or possessed by such claimant, and for how long a time, and any other matter or thing illustrating or supporting such claimant's right to a deed of the tract so described, such statement to be verified by the affidavit of the person signing the same. § 7, c. 135, 1881.

§ 2511. Statements of claimants to be recorded. The statement of the claimant provided for in the preceding section shall, together with the accompanying affidavits, be delivered to the said corporate authorities or county judge within the time specified in said notice, and shall be by him or them filed and an abstract of the contents thereof, with the name of the claimant and date of filing, entered in a book to be kept for that purpose, which shall be known as "the record of claimants' statements." And all persons failing to furnish such statement as herein required within the time specified in said notice, except minors and insane persons, shall be forever barred of the right of claiming or recovering such lands or any interest or estate therein or any part or parcel thereof. § 8, c. 135, 1881.

§ 2512. Conflicting claims, how treated. Should any one or more persons, associations or corporations claim adversely the title to any lot or lots, parcel or parcels of land within the boundaries of such city or town, the person in possession, or if neither person is in actual possession, then the person first filing his application, shall be prima facie entitled to a deed of conveyance, and the person claiming adversely shall within said ninety days after the first publication of the notice provided for in section 2508, file with the corporate authorities or county judge a sworn statement as provided in section 2510, and at the same time a notice that he contests the statement and application for deed hitherto made, and expects at once to begin an § 9, c. 135, 1881.

action in the district court to determine his right to the property; whereupon the corporate authorities or county judge must suspend action on such disputed lot or parcel of ground until a proper certificate is furnished that the dispute has been decided or abandoned. Such party or parties claiming adversely, and having filed such notice of contest, must within ten days thereafter begin an action in the district court for the purpose of determining the rights of all parties, in which action all persons claiming adversely to the plaintiff may be joined as parties defendant, and if not so joined shall have the right to intervene. For the purposes of this section an action shall be deemed begun when a complaint has been filed in the office of the clerk of the court and a summons placed in the hands of a sheriff for service; provided, that personal service must be made or service by publication begun within sixty days thereafter. Upon the presentation of the clerk's certificate that no complaint has been filed and no action begun in accordance with the provisions of this section, the party aforesaid having the prima facie right shall be entitled to a deed of conveyance; and in case an action is begun the party recovering therein shall be entitled to a deed of conveyance upon presentation of a certified copy of the final judgment of the court in such action to the corporate authorities or county judge. Upon receiving the certificate aforesaid or the certified copy of judgment the same shall be filed and an abstract of the contents entered in the record of claimants' statements; and the corporate authorities or county judge shall thereupon execute deeds of conveyance to the party entitled to the same. All persons except minors and insane persons failing to file their notice of contest and to bring their action within the time herein prescribed shall be thereafter forever barred from setting up or asserting any claim, right or title to such lot or lots, parcel or parcels of lands so adversely claimed.

§ 2513. Extent of ground that may be claimed. The amount of ground which any one claimant shall be entitled to receive a deed for in a single tract under the provisions of this article, unless said claimant or his grantors was in the actual peaceable possession of the same prior to its entry as herein provided for and had improved the same and is still in the occupancy thereof, may equal but not exceed two acres in extent; provided, that such ground is exclusively occupied by or in the possession of such claimant and has improvements thereon of not less than two hundred dollars in value. Such claimant shall also be entitled to a deed for each additional lot not exceeding in area twenty-five hundred square feet on which he may have substantial improvements of not less than one hundred dollars in value. When any claimant shall make application for a deed to more than one tract or parcel he shall file in addition to his own affidavit as above required the affidavits of at least two disinterested witnesses showing the nature, character and actual cash value of the improvements upon such additional lot or lots so claimed.

§ 2514. Expenses to be paid by claimant. Each person shall upon filing an applicant's statement as herein provided be required to pay to the corporate authorities or county judge his proper and due proportion of the money lawfully expended in perfecting the title and procuring the entry of said land, including all streets, alleys, public grounds and parks, and all expenses necessarily incurred in making the survey and plat, for recording plat and publishing notices as required herein, such proportion to be determined by the relation which the value, extent and area of such claimant's land bears to the whole amount of land claimed during the ninety days, and in addition thereto the sum of two dollars for the principal tract claimed and fifty cents for each additional lot of two thousand five hundred square feet claimed by the same person, association or corporation, as a fee for executing the trust, taking affidavits, filing and abstracting statements and affidavits, and executing and acknowledging the deed as required herein, which charges shall be in full payment for all expenses attending the execution of the trust. In case of appeals provided for in section 2508, the sum of one dollar shall be paid for a certified copy of statement of account filed and certificate of decision and award made; and pending such appeal and the review by the district court of any award or allowance of claims for expenses in procuring the entry of land, as provided for in section 2508, the corporate authorities or county judge must in making and apportioning expenses take care that their estimate is sufficient to meet the same and any possible increase made by the appellate tribunal, any surplus resulting from such estimate to be applied as herein provided. In case of any contest, and deposit of money as in this section provided by both parties, the corporate authorities or county judge shall after final judgment refund to the unsuccessful party all money so advanced by such party, except the sum of one dollar, which shall be retained as fees for taking and filing affidavits, statements, notice of contest, and certified copy of judgment.

§ 2515. Deeds to be given. After the expiration of ninety days from the date of the first publication of the notice required by section 2508 the corporate authorities or county judge shall proceed to award the lot or lots, parcel or parcels of land as provided in this article, and for that purpose shall as soon as practicable and as near as practicable in the order of the time of the filing of claimant's statements examine each claim, read proofs filed and hear additional testimony if deemed advisable, and if the claim is found to comply with the provisions of this article, and no adverse claim and notice of contest shall have been filed, such corporate authorities or judge shall proceed forthwith to make such claimant or claimants a good and sufficient deed of conveyance for such lot or lots or parcels of land so claimed. § 12, c. 135, 1881.

§ 2516. Conveyance of unclaimed lots. When any lots or parcels of land within the limits of any city or village shall remain unclaimed after the expiration of the time allowed by this article for the filing of claimants' statements, it shall be the duty of the corporate authorities or county judge to convey the lots or parcels of land so remaining unclaimed, by a good and sufficient deed, to the board of education of such city or village or to the said city or village for the use of schools, if either said board of education or said city or village may by law take and hold real estate for the use of schools, to be disposed of by such board of education for school purposes and for the exclusive use and benefit of the school district in which such city or village may be situated or which it may form under such directions and limitations as are provided by this article. § 13, c. 135, 1881.

§ 2517. Sale, when. If there is no such board of education, or if said city or village is not legally authorized to take and hold real estate for the use of schools, then the corporate authorities or county judge shall sell and dispose of the said unclaimed lots or parcels of lands so remaining for school purposes and for the exclusive use and § 14, c. 135, 1881.
2, c. 114, 1883.
2, c. 124, 1889.

benefit of the school district in which said city or village may be situated or which it may form under the directions, limitations and provisions contained in this article.

§ 3, c. 114, 1883.

§ 2518. Unclaimed lands to be appraised. The board of education, corporate authorities or county judge aforesaid shall appoint three competent and suitable freeholders of such city, town or village a board of appraisers whose duty it shall be to make a careful inspection and examination of all the unclaimed lots or parcels of land aforesaid, and upon each of such lots or parcels of land they shall affix a reasonable and just valuation, and upon the completion of their appraisement they shall make and return a full and complete report of their proceedings and appraisement to the board of education, corporate authorities or county judge, which said report shall contain a full schedule of each and every lot or parcel of land remaining unclaimed, giving an exact description of said lots by their numbers and the number of the block, and all parcels of land not so numbered shall be described by metes and bounds, and upon each lot or parcel of land separately they shall designate the valuation thereof as fixed by their appraisement; said appraisement and report shall be subscribed and sworn to by at least two of said appraisers.

§ 2520. Bids. Private sale. At the time and place appointed in such notice the board of education, corporate authorities or county judge shall offer for sale at public auction subject to competitive bids all the lots and parcels of land or so much thereof as may be considered for the best interest of the school district, returned by the report of said board of appraisers as unclaimed; provided, that no bid shall be received or lot or parcel of land sold for a less sum than the appraised valuation; and such sale shall continue open from day to day until all such lots or parcels of land, or so much thereof as may be considered for the best interest of the school district, shall have been offered for sale. Any lots or parcels of land remaining unsold at the close of such sale for want of bids equal to the appraised valuation thereof may thereafter be sold at private sale by such board of education, corporate authorities or county judge for a sum of money not less than the appraised valuation thereof, and not otherwise.

§ 2521. Purchaser shall pay for deed. Any purchaser at such sale, in addition to the amount of purchase money paid for any lot, lots or parcel of land, shall pay to the board of education, corporate authorities or county judge the sum of two dollars as a fee for making, executing and acknowledging a deed of conveyance therefor, and all such lots or parcels of land purchased by any one person may be conveyed to such purchaser in one deed, which fee shall be in full for all charges for conducting sale, giving notice, appointing appraisers, and other services.

§ 2522. Proceeds of sale, how applied. The proceeds derived from the sale of such lots or parcels of unclaimed land, after first paying the expenses of advertising, printing and a per diem of not more than three dollars per day to each member of the board of appraisers for the time actually and necessarily employed by them in making such appraisal and report as aforesaid, and other expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the proper conduct and management of such sale, shall be immediately turned over at the close of said sale by the board of education, corporate authorities or county judge to the treasurer of the school district, and by said treasurer placed to the credit of the school house fund of said school district, to be disbursed and applied only in the payment of outstanding bonds, warrants or other indebtedness against said school district, contracted or created in the erection or construction of school houses, procuring grounds or appurtenances therewith, if any such bonds, warrants or other indebtedness exist, otherwise to be applied and placed to the credit of the general school fund of the school district. § 7, c. 114, 1883.

§ 2523. Surplus, how disposed of. In case there should be found any surplus on hand over and above receipts for fees and awards for expenses arising from the conveyances of lots as provided in section 2514, then such surplus shall as soon as ascertained by the corporate authorities or county judge be accounted for and turned over to the treasurer of the school district wherein such city, town or village may be situated, to be by such school district treasurer placed to the credit of the school house fund, then to be disbursed and applied as herein provided for the disbursement of proceeds derived from the sale of unclaimed lots or parcels of land. § 8, c. 114, 1883.

§ 2524. Expiration of term of person making entry of town site. Whenever the term of office of any corporate authorities or county judge having made entry of a town site shall expire, or he or any one or more of said corporate authorities shall resign or be removed from office, he or they shall turn over all books and papers relative to such entry to his or their successor or successors in office, with a full report of the condition of the trust and receipts and disbursements thereunder, and thereafter the said trust shall be executed in every particular by such successor or successors. Any willful violation of the provisions of this article by the corporate authorities or county judge shall be a misdemeanor; any such corporate authorities or county judge willfully making out a deed to any person not entitled to receive the same shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and any such corporate authorities or county judge willfully misappropriating funds received by them in the execution of this trust shall be guilty of embezzlement. § 14, c. 135, 1881.

§ 2525. The provisions of this and the preceding chapter shall apply to and govern all towns heretofore incorporated.

CHAPTER 31.

TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT.

ARTICLE 1.—HOW ORGANIZED AND NAMED.

§ 1. sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2526. Petition for organization of township. Whenever a majority of the legal voters of any congressional township in this state containing twenty-five legal voters petition the board of county commissioners to be organized as a township under this article, such board shall forthwith proceed to fix and determine the boundaries of such new township and to name the same; and the board shall make a full report of all its proceedings in relation to laying off such township and file the same with the county auditor.

§ 2. sub-c. 1, c.
112, 1883.
§ 1. c. 50, Sp.
1885.

§ 2527. Fragment of township attached to adjoining township. A fraction of a township may be attached by such board to an adjoining township or be divided between two or more townships or organized separately, according to the wishes of a majority of the legal voters to be affected thereby; and when rivers, lakes or creeks so divide a township as to make it inconvenient to do township business, such board may dispose of any fraction so formed by annexing the same to an adjoining township in the same county if it shall seem to it proper, whenever petitioned to do so by not less than two-thirds of the legal voters residing in such fraction, and the fact that any such petition is signed by two-thirds of such voters may be proved by the affidavit of any legal voter residing in such fraction having knowledge of the fact; and townships having two or more villages or cities, each containing two hundred or more inhabitants, may petition the board of county commissioners for division; and whenever the board are so petitioned, it may, if it thinks the interest of such township will be subserved thereby, divide such townships in such manner as will best suit the convenience of the territory. And the board of county commissioners of any county lying west of the Missouri River may unite not less than four congressional townships into one civil township, or may add not more than three congressional townships to any congressional township already organized as a civil township, when petitioned by a majority of the legal voters affected thereby, if in the opinion of the board the best interests of such townships will be subserved thereby; provided, however, that at least twenty days' notice shall be given by the board of county commissioners to the chairman of the board of supervisors of each township affected by the change, before action is taken thereon; provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to release any property in or belonging to that part of any township so detached, from any tax levied or assessed prior to such division being made; provided, also, that the portion of any township annexed to any other township and any village or city separated from any township under the provisions of this article, shall not be released from nor in any way discharged from the payment of any bonded or other indebtedness that may exist against the township from which separation has been made.

§ 2528. Name of township. Townships thus formed shall be named in accordance with the expressed wish of a majority of the legal voters residing therein, but if they fail to designate a name the board of county commissioners may select a name.

§ 2529. First township meeting. The board of county commissioners shall thereupon make out notices designating a suitable place for holding the first township meeting in each township, which shall be held within twenty days after the township is organized; and the county auditor shall deliver such notice to the sheriff of the county, who shall cause the same to be posted in each township not less than ten days before the day set for such meeting. § 4, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2530. County auditor transmits name to state auditor. Each county auditor shall, within thirty days after such township is organized, transmit by mail to the state auditor an abstract of such report, giving the bounds of each township and the name designated; and the county auditor shall record in a book kept for that purpose a full description of each township. § 5, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2531. When similar names are adopted by different townships. If the state auditor on comparing the abstract of the reports from the several counties finds that any two or more townships have the same name he shall transmit to the county auditor of the proper county the name of the township to be altered; and the board of county commissioners shall at its next meeting thereafter adopt for such township some name different from those theretofore named, so that no two townships organized under this chapter shall have the same name, and when such name is adopted the county auditor shall inform the the state auditor as before directed. § 6, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2532. Present boundaries to remain. The boundary lines of each organized township shall remain as now established until otherwise provided by the board of county commissioners under authority of law. § 7, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

ARTICLE 2.—DIVISION OF ORGANIZED TOWNSHIPS.

§ 2533. Civil townships, how formed. Any congressional township which has residing therein one hundred or more inhabitants and forms part of an organized civil township comprising two or more congressional townships, not a fractional, may be set apart and organized as a separate civil township in the manner herein provided and when duly organized shall have the same powers and privileges and be subject to the same liabilities and restrictions as other civil townships except as herein otherwise provided; but no civil township shall be so formed, under the provisions of this article, as to leave residing in the former township less than one hundred inhabitants. § 1, c. 30, 1895.

§ 2534. Petition county commissioners. Notice published. The legal voters residing in such congressional township may petition the board of county commissioners of the county in which it is situated, at any regular meeting of said board, to be set off as a separate civil township, upon at least thirty days' previous notice thereof, and of the time and place of application, which notice shall be published at least three times in the newspaper in which the proceedings of said board are published or, if there is none such, notice shall be posted in at least three public places in the proposed new township, and as many more elsewhere in the township affected thereby, one of which shall be at the place where the last election was held. § 2, c. 30, 1895.

voters residing within such proposed township and due proof of notice as herein provided and of the further fact that the territory has the requisite number of inhabitants and the petition, the requisite number of competent signers as aforesaid, the board shall proceed to set off said congressional township as a separate civil township, and constitute the same an election precinct, and designate the place of holding elections and the time and place of holding the first township meeting therein and notice thereof shall be given as in other cases.

§ 2536. Proportional share of moneys. Liabilities. The new township shall succeed to a proportional share of the moneys and other property of the former township and to a like share of its debts and liabilities existing at the time of the division, such proportion to be determined by the relative value of the property of the respective parts as shown by the last preceding assessment and the account shall be settled between them by the board of county commissioners at its next regular meeting after the organization of the new township from the best evidence obtainable and for that purpose said board shall have power to bring before it the necessary witnesses, books and papers upon subpoenas to be issued by the clerk of the district court upon request of the chairman, and the statement of such account shall be conclusive as between the respective townships unless appealed from as provided by law, but the enforcement of their respective obligations thereon must be left to the courts; provided, however, that no division of a civil township as herein provided shall operate to prevent the enforcement of obligations existing prior thereto to the same extent as if no division was made.

ARTICLE 3.—CORPORATE POWERS.

§ 8, sub-c. 1, c.
112, 1883.

§ 2537. Powers of township. Each township is a body corporate and has capacity:

1. To sue and be sued.
2. To purchase and hold lands within its limits and for the use of its inhabitants, subject to the powers of the legislative assembly.
3. To make such contracts and purchase and hold such personal property as may be necessary for the exercise of its corporate or administrative powers.
4. To make such orders for the disposition, regulation or use of its corporate property as may be deemed conducive to the interests of its inhabitants.

§ 9, sub-c. 1, c.
112, 1883.

§ 2538. Powers of limited. No township shall possess or exercise any corporate powers except such as are enumerated in this chapter, or specially given by law or necessary to the exercise of the powers so enumerated or granted.

§ 10, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2539. Actions to be in corporate name. All acts or proceedings by or against a township in its corporate capacity shall be in the name of such township; but each conveyance of land within the limits of such township, made in any manner for the use or benefit of its inhabitants, has the same effect as if made to the township by name.

ARTICLE 4.—ANNUAL TOWNSHIP MEETINGS.

§ 11, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2540. Annual meeting, when held. The citizens of the several townships of this state qualified to vote at general elections shall annually assemble and hold township meetings in their respective townships on the first Tuesday of March, at such place in each township as the electors thereof at their annual township meetings, from time to time, appoint; and notice of the time and place of holding such meetings shall be given by the township clerk by posting up written or printed notices in three of the most public places in such township at least ten days prior to such meetings; provided, that before any change of place of holding meetings is made, notice of such contemplated change may be given by any member of the township board to the township clerk, who shall in his regularly printed or written notices, as above provided, incorporate the special notice of the contemplated change of place of holding such meetings.

§ 2541. What officers shall be chosen. There shall be elected at the annual township meeting in each township, three supervisors, one of whom shall be designated on the ballots as chairman, one township clerk, one treasurer, one assessor, two justices of the peace, two constables and one overseer of highways for each road district in such township, but justices of the peace and constables shall be elected only once in two years, except to fill vacancies. § 12, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

1. To determine the number of pound masters and the location of pounds.
2. To select such township officers as are required to be chosen.
3. To direct the institution or defense of actions in all controversies where such township is interested.
4. To direct such sums to be raised in such township for prosecuting or defending such actions as they may deem necessary.
5. To make all rules and regulations for impounding of animals.
6. To impose such penalties on persons offending against any rule or regulation established by the township, as they think proper, not exceeding ten dollars for each offense except as herein otherwise provided.
7. To apply such penalties, when collected, in such manner as they deem most conducive to the interests of the township.
8. To vote to raise such sums of money for the repair and construction of roads and bridges, for the support of the poor, and for other necessary charges, as they deem expedient; provided, that they may at their annual meeting direct such an amount of the poll or road tax of the township to be expended on the highways in an adjoining township as they deem conducive to the interests of the township, which labor and tax shall be expended under the direction of the supervisors of the township furnishing the same; provided, further, that where more than one entire congressional township is included within an organized township, the poll and road tax raised within the limits of each of such congressional townships shall be expended within such congressional township, unless raised to be expended outside of such organized township in an adjoining township.

ARTICLE 5. — SPECIAL MEETINGS.

§ 2543. Special meetings held, when. Special meetings may be held for the purpose of electing township officers to fill vacancies that occur, also for the purpose of transacting any lawful business. § 14, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

ness, whenever the supervisors, township clerk and justices of the peace, or any two of them, together with at least twelve freeholders of the township file in the office of the township clerk a written statement that a special meeting is necessary.

§ 2544. Clerk to give notice of meeting. Each clerk with whom such statement is filed as required in the preceding section, shall record the same and immediately cause notice to be posted up in five of the most public places in the township, giving at least ten days' notice of such special meeting; and if there is a newspaper published in the township he shall cause a copy of such notice to be published therein at least three days before the time appointed for such meeting.

§ 18, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2545. What notice must specify. Each notice given for a special meeting shall specify the purpose for which it is to be held, and no other business shall be transacted at such meeting than such as is specified in such notice. If vacancies in office are to be filled at such meeting the notice shall specify in what office vacancies exist, how they occurred, who was the last incumbent and when the term of each office expires.

ARTICLE 6. — MODE OF CONDUCTING TOWNSHIP MEETINGS.

§ 2546. Organization of meeting. The electors present at any time between nine and ten o'clock in the forenoon of the day of the annual or special meeting, shall be called to order by the township clerk, if present; in case he is not present then the voters may elect by acclamation one of their number chairman and three of their number judges of such meeting, who shall be duly sworn and be judges of the qualifications of township electors. They shall then proceed to choose one of their number to preside as moderator of such meeting. The clerk last before elected shall be clerk of the meeting, and keep full minutes of its proceedings, in which he shall enter at length every order or direction and all rules and regulations made by the meeting. If the clerk is absent, then some person shall be elected to act as clerk of the meeting.

§ 2547. Duty of moderator. Reconsideration of vote. At the opening of each meeting, the moderator shall state the business to be transacted, and the order in which it shall be entertained, and no proposition to vote a tax shall be acted on out of the order of business as stated by the moderator, and no proposition to reconsider any vote shall be entertained at any meeting unless such proposition to reconsider is made within one hour from the time such vote was passed, or the motion for such reconsideration is sustained by a number of voters equal to a majority of all the names entered upon the poll list at such election up to the time such motion is made; and all questions upon motions made at township meetings shall be determined by a majority of the electors voting; and the moderator shall ascertain and declare the result of the votes on each question.

§ 2548. Proclamation of opening and closing polls. Before the electors proceed to elect any township officer, proclamation shall be made of the opening of the polls by the moderator, and proclamation shall in like manner be made of the adjournment, and of the opening and closing of the polls, until the election is ended.

§ 22, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2549. Who are voters. No person shall vote at any township meeting unless he is qualified to vote at general elections, and has been for the last ninety days an actual resident of the township wherein he offers to vote.

§ 2550. Challenge to voter. If any person offering to vote at any election or upon any question arising at such township meeting is challenged as unqualified, the judges of the meeting shall proceed thereupon in like manner as the judges at the general election are required to proceed, adapting the oath to the circumstances of the township meeting. § 23, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2551. Certain officers to be elected by ballot. The supervisors, treasurer, township clerk, assessor, justices of the peace, constables and overseer of highways in each township shall be elected by ballot. All other officers, if not otherwise provided by law, shall be chosen either by yeas and nays or by a division, as the electors determine. § 24, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2552. All candidates on one ballot. When the electors vote by ballot all the candidates voted for shall be named on one ballot, which shall contain, written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, the names of the persons voted for and the offices to which such persons are intended to be chosen, and shall be delivered to one of the judges so folded as to conceal its contents. § 25, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2553. Poll list. When the election is by ballot a poll list shall be kept by the clerk of the meeting, on which shall be entered the name of each person whose vote is received. § 26, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2554. Judges to deposit ballots. When the election is by ballot one of the judges shall deposit the ballots in a box provided for that purpose. § 27, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2557. Result to be announced. The canvass being completed, a statement of the result shall be entered at length by the clerk of the meeting in the minutes of its proceedings to be kept by him as before required, which shall be publicly read by him to the meeting, and such reading shall be deemed notice of the result of the election to every person whose name is entered on the poll list as a voter. § 30, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2558. Minutes to be filed. The minutes of the proceedings of each meeting, subscribed by the clerk of said meeting and by the judges, shall be filed in the office of the township clerk within two days after such meeting. § 31, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2559. Notice of election. The clerk of each township meeting shall within ten days thereafter transmit to each person elected to any township office, whose name is not entered on the poll list as a voter, a notice of his election.

§ 33, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2560. Proceedings when meeting fails to elect. In case any township refuses or neglects to organize and elect township officers at the time fixed by law for holding annual township meetings, twelve freeholders of the township may call a township meeting for the purpose aforesaid, by posting notices in three public places in such township, giving at least ten days' notice of such meeting; which notice shall set forth the time, place and object of such meeting; and the electors when assembled by virtue of such notice shall possess all the powers conferred upon them at the annual township meeting. In case no such notice is given as aforesaid within thirty days after the time for holding the annual meeting, the board of county commissioners of the county shall, on the affidavit of any freeholder of the township, filed in the office of the clerk of the board, setting forth the facts, at any regular or special meeting of the board, appoint the necessary township officers of such township, and the persons so appointed shall hold their respective offices until others are elected and qualified in their places, and shall have the same power and be subject to the same duties as if they had been duly elected.

ARTICLE 7. — BY-LAWS.

§ 14, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2561. By-laws. No by-law made by any township shall take effect before the same is published by posting copies thereof in three of the most public places in the township; and such by-laws, duly made and so published, are binding upon all persons coming within the limits of the township as well as upon the inhabitants thereof, and shall remain in force until altered or repealed at some subsequent township meeting.

§ 15, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2562. Clerk shall post by-laws. The township clerk shall post in three of the most public places in his township, copies of all by-laws made by such township, and shall make an entry in the township records of the time when, and the place where such by-laws were posted.

ARTICLE 8. — QUALIFICATION OF OFFICERS.

§ 34, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2563. Voter is eligible to office. Each person qualified to vote at township meetings is eligible to any township office.

§ 35, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2564. Officers to take oath. Each person elected or appointed to the office of supervisor, township clerk, assessor, treasurer or constable, shall, within ten days after he is notified of his election or appointment, take and subscribe, before the township clerk or justice of the peace, the oath prescribed in section 211 of the constitution. Such oath shall be administered without fee and certified by the officer before whom it is taken, with the date of taking the same.

§ 36, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2565. Certificate of oath to be filed. The person taking such oath shall immediately and before entering upon the duties of his office file the certificate of such oath in the office of the township clerk.

§ 2566. Justice to take oath and give bond. Each person elected or appointed to the office of justice of the peace shall within ten days after receiving notice thereof take and subscribe before any officer authorized to administer oaths the oath prescribed in section 211 of the constitution. Such justice shall also execute a bond as provided in chapter 6 of this code and file the same with the clerk of the district court of the proper county for the benefit of any person aggrieved by the acts of such justice, and any person aggrieved may maintain an action on said bond in his own name against such justice and his sureties. § 37, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2567. Certificate to official acts of justice. The bond and oath of office of a justice of the peace, filed in the office of the clerk of the district court for the county or judicial subdivision, are sufficient authority for said clerk to certify to the official acts and signature of such justice of the peace. § 94, c. 59, 1879.

§ 2568. Jurisdiction of township justices. All justices of the peace of any township in this state shall have the same power and jurisdiction in their respective counties as is now or hereafter may be conferred upon justices of the peace under the provisions of the justices' code, and all amendments made or which may be hereafter made to said code. § 1, c. 129, 1881.

§ 2569. Proceedings before township justices. The civil and criminal proceedings before township justices of the peace shall be governed and controlled by the justices' code, and the code of criminal procedure and the amendments made or which may hereafter be made to said codes. § 2, c. 129, 1881.

§ 2570. Bond of treasurer. Each person elected or appointed to the office of treasurer, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall execute a bond in double the probable amount of money to be received by him, which amount shall be determined by the board of supervisors of the township. § 38, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2571. Constable to take oath and give bond. Each person chosen to the office of constable, before entering upon the duties of his office and within eight days after he is notified of his election or appointment, shall take and subscribe the oath of office and execute a bond as prescribed by law. Such bond shall be approved and filed as provided in chapter 6 of this code. § 40, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883, am'd.

§ 2572. Bond of assessor to be filed. Each township assessor shall give a bond in the penal sum of five hundred dollars and shall immediately after the approval thereof, deliver the same to the township clerk, whose duty it shall be forthwith to file such bond with the county auditor. § 1, c. 128, 1889, am'd.

§ 2573. Neglect to qualify. If any person elected or appointed to any township office, of whom an oath or bond is required, neglects to file the same within the time prescribed by law such neglect shall be deemed a refusal to serve in such office. § 42, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2575. Road overseer and pound master to file acceptance. Each person elected or appointed to the office of overseer of highways or pound master, before he enters upon the duties of his office and within ten days after he is notified of his election or appointment, shall file in the office of the township clerk a notice § 44, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

signifying his acceptance of such office. A neglect to file such notice shall be deemed a refusal to serve.

§ 45, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2576. Term of office of township officers. Township officers, except justices of the peace and constables, shall hold their offices for one year and until their successors are elected or appointed and qualified. Justices of the peace and constables shall hold their offices for two years and until their successors are elected and qualified.

ARTICLE 9. — VACANCIES.

§ 46, sub-c. 1, c.
112, 1883.

§ 2577. Board may accept resignations. The board of supervisors of any township may for sufficient cause shown to it accept the resignation of any officer in its township, and whenever it accepts any such resignation it shall forthwith give notice thereof to the township clerk.

§ 47, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2578. Vacancies filled, how. Whenever any township fails to elect the proper number of officers, or whenever any person elected to a township office fails to qualify, or whenever any vacancy happens in any township office from death, resignation, removal from the township or other cause, the justices of the peace of the township, together with the board of supervisors or a majority of them, shall fill the vacancy by appointment by warrant under their hand, and the persons so appointed shall hold their offices until the next annual meeting and until their successors are elected and qualified, and shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties and penalties as if they had been duly elected.

§ 48, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2579. Vacancies in appointing board. Whenever a vacancy occurs from any cause in the office of justice of the peace or township supervisor, the remaining officers of such appointing board shall fill any vacancy thus occurring.

§ 1, c. 156, 1887.

§ 2580. When county auditor to appoint township assessor. When any township assessor is elected and fails or refuses to qualify or to discharge the duties of his office, or if the electors of a township fail for any reason to elect an assessor, and the township board of said township fails or refuses to appoint an assessor for the township on or before the fifteenth day of April of the year for which such assessor is to serve, it shall be the duty of the county auditor to appoint an assessor for such township, who shall be a resident of the township for which he is to serve as assessor.

ARTICLE 10. — BOARD OF HEALTH.

§ 50, sub-c. 1, c.
112, 1883.

§ 2581. Supervisors as board of health. The township supervisors shall constitute a board of health, and within their respective townships shall have and exercise all the powers necessary for the preservation of the public health.

§ 51, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2582. Powers of board of health. The board of health may examine into all nuisances, sources of filth and causes of sickness, and make such regulations respecting the same as it may judge necessary for the public health and safety of the inhabitants; and each person who violates any order or regulation made by any board of health and duly published is guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months.

§ 2583. Public notice of orders and regulations. Notice shall be given by the board of health of all orders and regulations made by it, by publishing the same in some newspaper if there is one published in such township or the county; if there is none, then by posting up such notice in five public places therein; and such publication of said orders and regulations shall be deemed a legal notice to all persons. § 52, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2584. Penalty for refusal to obey order. Whenever any nuisance, source of filth or cause of sickness is found on private property, the board of health shall order the owner or occupant thereof at his own expense to remove the same within twenty-four hours; and if the owner or occupant thereof neglects so to do he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, to be recovered in the name of and for the use of the township. § 53, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2585. Proceedings on such refusal. Whenever such owner or occupant shall fail to comply with such order of the board of health, said board may cause the said nuisance, source of filth or cause of sickness to be removed, and all expenses incurred thereby shall be paid by such owner or occupant or by the person causing or permitting the same. § 54, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2586. Board to enter infected premises. Proceedings if opposed. Whenever the board of health deems it necessary for the preservation of the health of its inhabitants to enter any building or vessel in the township for the purpose of examining into and destroying, removing or preventing any nuisance, source of filth or cause of sickness, and shall be refused such entry, any member of the board may make complaint under oath to a justice of the peace of his township, stating the facts in the case so far as he has knowledge thereof. § 55, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2587. Warrant to be issued by justice. Such justice shall thereupon issue a warrant directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county, commanding him to take sufficient aid, and being accompanied by two or more members of the board of health, between the hours of sunrise and sunset, to repair to the place where such nuisance, source of filth or cause of sickness complained of may be, and destroy, remove or prevent the same under the direction of the members of such board of health. § 56, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2588. Quarantine of infected person. When any person coming from abroad or residing in any city, town or village in this state is infected or lately has been infected with the smallpox or other contagious disease dangerous to the public health, the board of health of the city, town or village where such sick or infected person is, may immediately cause such person to be removed to a separate house if it can be done without danger to his health, and shall provide for such person a nurse, medical attendance and other necessities, which shall be a charge in favor of such city, town or village against the person so provided for, his parents, guardian or master, if able, otherwise against the county to which he belongs, or the state if such person is a nonresident of the state. § 57, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2589. Same. When person cannot be moved. If such infected person cannot be removed without danger to his health, the board shall make provision as directed in the preceding section, for such person in the house where he may be, and in such case it may cause the persons in the neighborhood to be removed; and may take such other measures as it deems necessary for the safety of the inhabitants. § 58, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2590. Board to provide hospital. When a disease dangerous to the public health breaks out in any township, the board shall immediately provide such hospital or place of reception for the sick and infected as is judged best for their accommodation and the safety of the inhabitants, which shall be subject to the regulations of the board; and the board may cause any sick and infected person to be removed thereto, unless his condition will not permit such removal without danger to his health, in which case the house or place where he remains shall be considered as a hospital, and with all its inmates subject to the regulations of the board.

ARTICLE 11.—POWERS AND DUTIES OF SUPERVISORS.

§ 1, c. 155, 1887.

§ 2591. Regular meetings. The township board of supervisors shall hold regular meetings on the last Tuesday of February, the last Tuesday of March, the fourth Monday of June and the last Tuesday of October of each year.

§ 2593. Business to be transacted. At its meetings in February and June it shall perform all the duties now required of it by law to be transacted at such meetings, and any other business that may legally come before it.

§ 2594. Approve bonds of township officers. At its meeting in March the chairman shall approve the bonds of township officers, and said officers shall immediately enter upon the duties of their office, and shall assess the highway labor and road tax for the ensuing year and perform all the duties required of them in article 7 of chapter 17.

§ 2595. Audit accounts. At its meeting in October it shall audit accounts, settle with the road overseers and transact any other business that may come before it.

§ 6, c. 155, 1887.

§ 2596. Adjourned and special meetings. It may adjourn from time to time, and in cases of emergency may hold special meetings on call of the clerk on three days' notice.

§ 7, c. 155, 1887.

§ 2597. Business with board. When to appear. It shall be the duty of all persons having business to transact with the board of supervisors of any township to appear before such board at any regular meeting, or file such business with the clerk to be laid before the board by him at its next meeting.

§ 60, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2598. Powers of supervisors. The supervisors shall have charge of such affairs of the township as are not by law committed to other township officers; and they shall have power to draw orders on the township treasurer for the disbursement of such sums as may be necessary for the purpose of defraying the incidental expenses of the township and for all moneys raised by the township to be disbursed for any other purpose.

§ 61, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2599. Improving streets. Whenever any incorporated village or town which is laid out into streets is included in the limits of an organized township, the township supervisors are authorized to cause improvements to be made in any street that may be needed as a highway if the corporate authorities of such village or town neglect to make such improvements.

§ 2600. Board to prosecute actions. The supervisors shall by their name of office prosecute for the benefit of the township, all actions upon bonds given to them or their predecessors in office; and shall also sue for and collect all penalties and forfeitures in respect to which no other provision is made, incurred by any officer or inhabitant of the township; and they shall have power, in like manner, to prosecute for any trespass committed on any public inclosure, highway or property belonging to the township, and shall pay all moneys collected under this section to the township treasurer. § 62, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2601. Quorum of the board. Any two of the supervisors shall constitute a quorum for the performance of any duties required by law of the township supervisors, except when otherwise provided. § 63, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

ARTICLE 12.—POWERS AND DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

TOWNSHIP CLERK.

§ 2602. Clerks may administer oaths. The township clerk of the several townships, city clerks or auditors of all cities, and recorders of all town or villages in this state, are authorized to administer oaths and take acknowledgments of instruments, authorized or required by law. § 64, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2603. May appoint deputy. The township clerk shall have the custody of the record books and papers of the township when no other provision is made by law, and he shall duly file and safely keep all certificates of oaths and other papers required by law to be filed in his office. He may at his discretion appoint a deputy, for whose acts he shall be responsible. Before any deputy clerk enters upon the duties of his office he shall take and subscribe the oath required by law, which oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court. § 65, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2604. Shall keep records. The clerk shall record in the book of records of his township, minutes of the proceedings of each township meeting, and enter therein each order or direction and all rules and regulations of any such meeting; and shall also file and preserve all accounts audited by the township board or allowed at a township meeting, and enter a statement thereof in such book of records. § 66, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2605. Clerk to give bond and take oath. Each person elected or appointed to the office of township clerk shall, before entering upon the duties of his office and within the time prescribed by law for filing his oath of office, execute a bond with two or more sureties to be approved by the township treasurer, in such penal sum as the supervisors direct, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties. Such bond so approved shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court for the benefit of any person aggrieved by the acts or omissions of such clerk, and any person so aggrieved or the township may maintain an action on such bond against said clerk and his sureties. § 67, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2606. Send name of constable to clerk of district court. Each township clerk, immediately after the qualification of any constable elected or appointed in his township, shall transmit to the clerk of the district court of the county the name of such constable. § 68, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2607. Send name of justice to clerk of district court. Each township clerk shall immediately after the election of any § 69, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

justice of the peace in his township transmit a written notice thereof to the clerk of the district court of the county, stating therein the name of the person elected and the term for which he is elected; and if elected to fill a vacancy, he shall state in such notice who was the last incumbent of the office.

§ 2608. Penalty for neglect. If any township clerk willfully neglects to make such return he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding ten dollars.

TOWNSHIP TREASURER.

§ 2609. Duties of treasurer. The township treasurer shall receive and take charge of all moneys belonging to the township or which are by law required to be paid into the township treasury, and shall pay over and account for the same upon the order of such township or the officers thereof duly authorized in that behalf, made pursuant to law, and shall perform all such duties as may be required of him by law.

§ 72, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2610. To keep account of receipts and disbursements. Each township treasurer shall keep a true account of all moneys by him received by virtue of his office, and the manner in which the same are disbursed, in a book provided at the expense of the township for that purpose, and exhibit such account, together with his vouchers, to the township board at its annual meeting, for adjustment; and he shall deliver all books and property belonging to his office and the balance of all moneys in his hands as such treasurer, to his successor in office, on demand after such successor has qualified according to law.

§ 2611. Treasurer to draw moneys from the county. The township treasurer shall from time to time draw from the county treasury such moneys as have been received by the county treasurer for the use of his township and on receipt of such moneys shall deliver proper vouchers therefor. Each township treasurer shall be allowed and entitled to retain two per cent of all moneys paid into the township treasury for receiving, safely keeping and paying over the same according to law.

§ 74, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2612. Treasurer to make statement. Each township treasurer within five days preceding the annual township meeting shall make out a statement in writing of the moneys by him received into the township treasury from the county treasurer and from all other officers and persons, and also of all moneys paid out by him as such treasurer, in which statement he shall set forth particularly from whom and on what account such moneys were received by him, with the amount received from each officer or person and the date of receiving the same, also to whom and for what purpose any moneys have been paid out by him, with the amount and date of each payment. He shall also state therein the amount of moneys remaining in his hands as treasurer. Such statement shall be filed by him in the office of the township clerk, and shall be by such clerk carefully preserved and recorded in the township book of records, and a duplicate of such statement shall at the same time be filed by the township treasurer with the county auditor of his county.

§ 2613. Penalty for neglect. Each township treasurer who refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of the four preceding sections, shall forfeit not more than two thousand dollars, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction, the amount to be fixed by the jury trying the cause, or by the court, if there is no jury impaneled, and may be recovered by a civil action in the name of the person who prosecutes the same, with costs of the suit; one-half shall go to the person so prosecuting, and the remainder to the township of which such delinquent is or has been treasurer. § 75, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2614. Warrant record. Indorsement of warrants not paid. Each township treasurer shall keep a suitable book to be provided at the expense of the township in which he shall enter the township orders that he cannot pay for want of funds when presented to him for payment, which orders when presented shall be indorsed by such treasurer by putting upon the back of the same the words "not paid for want of funds," giving the date of such indorsement, signing his name as township treasurer, which order when so indorsed shall bear interest from that date until paid. All township orders shall be paid in the order that they are registered, out of the first moneys that come into the treasurer's hands for such purposes. § 76, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

ASSESSORS.

§ 2615. Assessors, how governed. The township assessor shall be governed by and make assessments and returns as provided in the chapter on revenue and taxation of this code, and shall be paid for his service out of the township treasury. § 55, c. 59, 1879.

ARTICLE 13.—BOARD OF AUDITORS.

§ 2616. Supervisors to audit accounts. The supervisors constitute a board of audit for the purpose of auditing all accounts payable by the township; and if for any cause there are not three supervisors present to constitute such board the chairman, and in his absence either of the supervisors, may notify any one or as many of the justices of the peace of the township as will, together with the supervisors present, make a board of three; and the board so constituted shall have authority to act as the township board. § 77, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2617. Meetings of board. The board shall meet on the Tuesday next preceding the annual township meeting, and on the last Tuesday of October in each year, and at such other times as it deems necessary and expedient for the purpose of auditing and settling all charges against the township; and it shall state on each account the amount allowed by it; but no allowance shall be made for any account which does not specifically state each item of the same and the nature thereof. § 78, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2618. Board to audit accounts of treasurer at annual meeting. The board shall also, at its annual meeting on the last Tuesday of February in each year, examine and audit the accounts of the township treasurer for all moneys received and disbursed by him as such officer; and it shall audit the accounts of all other township officers who are authorized by law to receive or disburse any money of the township by virtue of their office. § 79, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2619. Board to report accounts audited and allowed. Such board shall make a report, stating in detail the items of account § 80, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

audited and allowed, the nature of each account, and the name of the person to whom such account was allowed, including a statement of the fiscal concerns of the township, and an estimate of the sum necessary for the current expenses thereof, the support of the poor and other incidental expenses for the ensuing year.

§ 2620. Report to be read at township meeting. Such report shall be produced and publicly read by the township clerk at the next ensuing township meeting, and the whole or any portion of such report may be referred by order of the meeting to a committee, whose duty it shall be to examine the same and report thereon to such meeting.

§ 82, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2621. Treasurer shall pay all orders. The amount of any account audited and allowed by the board and the amount of any account voted to be allowed at any township meeting shall be paid by the township treasurer on the order of the board signed by the chairman and countersigned by the clerk; and all orders issued to any person by the board for any sum due from such township shall be receivable in payment of township taxes of such township.

§ 83, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2622. Clerk of the board of supervisors. The township clerk shall be clerk of the township board, and shall keep in his office a true record of all its proceedings.

ARTICLE 14. — FEES OF OFFICERS.

§ 1, c. 126, 1889,
am'd.

§ 2623. Compensation of assessor. The township assessor shall receive for his services three dollars per day for each day necessarily devoted by him to the service of the township while engaged in his duties as such assessor; provided, that such compensation shall not exceed the sum of sixty dollars in any one congressional township.

§ 86, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2624. Compensation of clerk and supervisors. The township clerk and supervisors shall receive for their services one dollar and fifty cents per day for each day necessarily devoted by them to the service of the township when attending to business in their township, and two dollars when attending to business out of the township; no township supervisor shall receive more than thirty-five dollars compensation in any one year; provided, that the township clerk shall be paid fees for the following, and not a per diem: For serving notices of election upon township officers, as required by law, twenty-five cents each; for filing any paper required by law to be filed in his office, ten cents each; for posting up notices required by law, twenty-five cents each; for recording any order or any instrument or writing authorized by law, ten cents for each one hundred words; for copying any record or instrument on file in his office and certifying the same, ten cents for each one hundred words, to be paid for by the person applying for the same.

§ 86, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2625. Compensation, increasing or reducing. At any township meeting before the electors commence balloting for officers they may by resolution reduce or increase the compensation of officers, but no such increase shall exceed one hundred per cent.

ARTICLE 15. — CLAIMS AGAINST TOWNSHIPS.

§ 87, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2626. Claims against townships. Accounts stated, how. Before any account, claim or demand against any township or county of this state for any property or services for which such township or county shall be liable shall be audited or allowed by the board or officers authorized by law to audit and allow the same, the person in whose favor such account, claim or demand shall be, or his agent, shall reduce the same to writing in items and shall verify the same to the effect that such account, claim or demand is just and true, that the money therein charged was actually paid for the purposes therein stated, or that the property therein charged for was actually delivered or used for the purposes therein stated and was of the value therein charged, or that the services therein charged were actually rendered and of the value therein charged, or in case such services were official for which fees are prescribed by law then that the fees or amounts charged therefor are such as are allowed by law; and that no part of such account, claim or demand has been paid; provided, that the provisions of this article shall not apply to any claim or demand for an annual salary or per diem of jurors or witnesses fixed by or in pursuance of any statute.

§ 2627. Accounts must be verified. The verification required by the preceding section may be made before any officer authorized by law to administer oaths, or before any member of the board to which the account, claim or demand shall be presented to be audited, and each member of such board is hereby authorized to administer the proper oath in such cases; and each person who willfully or knowingly swears falsely on any such claim shall be deemed guilty of perjury and be punished accordingly.

§ 2628. What accounts need not be verified. In case any such account, claim or demand shall be made or presented by any administrator or executor on behalf of the estate of a deceased person he shall not be required to verify the same, but may prove the same otherwise to the satisfaction of the board.

§ 88, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2629. Consideration of account and action thereon. Whenever an account, claim or demand against any township or county shall have been verified in the manner prescribed in this article, the board to whom the same is presented may receive and consider the same and may allow or disallow the same in whole or in part, as to such board or officers shall appear just or lawful, saving to such claimants the right of appeal.

§ 89, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2630. Penalty for auditing an account not verified. Any member of such board who shall audit and allow any account, claim or demand required by this article to be itemized and verified, without the same having been first duly itemized and verified, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both.

§ 90, sub-c. 1, c.

ARTICLE 16.—SUITS BY AND AGAINST TOWNSHIPS.

§ 2631. Proceedings in. Whenever any controversy or cause of action exists between townships or between a township and an individual or corporation, a civil action may be commenced and prosecuted for the purpose of trying and settling such controversy, and the same shall be conducted in the same manner, and the judgment therein shall have the like effect, as in other actions or proceedings of a similar kind between individuals and corporations.

§ 2632. Township to sue in its name. In all such actions and proceedings the township shall sue and be sued in its name, except where township officers are authorized by law to sue in their name of office for the benefit of the township.

§ 92, sub-c. 1, c.
112, 1883.

§ 2633. Service, on whom. In legal proceedings against a township by name all papers shall be served on the chairman of the board of supervisors, and in case of his absence on the township clerk, and whenever any action or proceeding is commenced the chairman shall attend to the defense thereof, and lay before the electors of the township at the first township meeting a full statement of such proceedings, for their direction in regard to the defense thereof.

§ 95, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2634. Jurisdiction. No action in favor of any township shall be brought before any justice of the peace residing in such township.

§ 96, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2635. Recovery in cases of trespass. Whenever any action is brought to recover a penalty imposed for any trespass committed on the lands belonging to the township, if it appears on the trial thereof that the actual amount of injury to such township lands in consequence of such trespass exceeds the sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents, then the amount of actual damage with costs of suit shall be recovered in such action, instead of any penalty for such trespass imposed by the township meeting, and such recovery shall be a bar to all other actions for the same trespass.

§ 97, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2636. Court may partition lands, when. Whenever by judgment or decision in any action or proceeding brought to settle any controversy in relation to township commons or other lands, the common property of a township, or for the partition thereof, the rights of any township are settled and confirmed, the court in which such proceedings are had may partition such lands according to the rights of the parties.

§ 98, sub-c. 1, c.

§ 2637. Payment of judgment. When a judgment is recovered against any township or against any township officers in an action prosecuted by or against them in their name of office, no execution shall be awarded or issued upon such judgment, but the same, unless reversed or stayed on appeal, shall be paid by the township treasurer upon demand and the delivery to him of a certified copy of the docket of the judgment, if there is sufficient money of such township in his hands not otherwise appropriated. If he fails to do so he shall be personally liable for the amount, unless the collection thereof is afterwards stayed upon appeal. If payment is not made within thirty days after the time fixed by law for the county treasurer to pay over to the township treasurer the money in his hands belonging to such township levied for the purpose of paying such judgment, next after the rendition of such judgment, execution may be issued, but only township property shall be liable thereon.

§ 2638. When judgment is not satisfied. If judgment for the recovery of money is rendered against any township, and the judgment is not satisfied or proceedings thereon stayed by appeal or otherwise before the next annual meeting of the township, a certified copy of the docket of the judgment may be presented to such township at said annual meeting. The supervisors of the township shall thereupon cause the amount due on the judgment, with interest from the date of its recovery, to be added to the tax of such township and the same certified to the county auditor and collected as other township taxes are collected.

ARTICLE 17.—TOWNSHIP CHARGES AND LEVIES.

§ 2639. Township charges, what are. The following shall be deemed township charges: § 100, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

1. The compensation of township officers for services rendered their respective townships.

2. Contingent expenses necessarily incurred for the use and benefit of the township.

3. The moneys authorized to be raised by the vote of the township meeting for any township purpose.

4. Each sum directed by law to be raised for any township purpose; provided, that no tax for township purposes shall exceed the amount voted to be raised at the annual township meeting as provided in subdivision 8 of section 2542.

§ 2640. Moneys levied, how. The moneys necessary to defray the township charges of each township shall be levied on the taxable property in such township in the manner prescribed in the chapter on revenue and taxation in this code. § 101, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2641. Clerk to notify county auditor of levy. It is the duty of the township clerk immediately after the township board of supervisors have made the levy of taxes, or within three days thereafter, to notify the county auditor of the amount levied, who shall enter the same on the county tax list, to be collected by the county treasurer as county taxes are collected. § 33, c. 59, 1879.

ARTICLE 18.—BOOKS AND PAPERS OF OUTGOING OFFICERS.

§ 2642. Successor in office to demand records. Whenever the term of any supervisor, township clerk or assessor expires, and another person is appointed or elected to such office, such successor immediately after he enters upon the duties of his office shall demand of his predecessor all books and papers under his control belonging to such office. § 102, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2643. Same, vacancy. Whenever either of the officers above named resigns, or the office becomes vacant in any way, and another person is elected or appointed in his stead, the person so elected shall make such demand of his predecessors or of any person having charge of such books and papers. § 103, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2644. Records to be delivered. Each person so going out of office, whenever thereto required pursuant to the foregoing provisions, shall deliver upon oath all records, books and papers in his possession or under his control, belonging to the office held by him, which oath may be administered by the officer to whom such delivery is made. § 104, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2645. Demand for records in case of death. Upon the death of any of the officers enumerated, the successor of such officer shall make such demand as above provided of the executor or administrator of such deceased officer, and such executor or administrator shall deliver upon like oath all records, books, papers or moneys in his possession or under his control, belonging to the office held by his testator or intestate. § 105, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 106, sub-c. 1,
c. 112, 1883. § 2646. Townships to erect guideposts. Each township shall in the manner provided herein erect and maintain guideposts on the highways and other ways within the township, at such places as are necessary or convenient for the direction of travelers.

§ 107, sub-c. 1,
c. 112, 1883. § 2647. Report to annual meeting. The supervisors shall submit to the electors at each annual meeting a report of all the places at which guideposts are erected and maintained within the township, and of all places at which in their opinion they ought to be erected and maintained. For each neglect or refusal to make such report they shall severally forfeit the sum of ten dollars.

§ 108, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883. § 2648. Penalty for neglect to designate places for guideposts. Upon the report of the supervisors the township shall determine the several places at which guideposts shall be erected and maintained, which shall be recorded in the township records. Any township which neglects or refuses to determine such places, and to cause a record thereof to be made, shall forfeit the sum of five dollars for each month during which it neglects or refuses so to do; and in such case upon any trial for not erecting or maintaining guideposts reported to be necessary or convenient by the supervisors, the township shall be estopped from alleging that such guideposts were not necessary or convenient.

§ 109, sub-c. 1,
c. 112, 1883. § 2649. Character of guideposts. At each of the places determined by the township there shall be erected a substantial post of not less than eight feet in height, near the upper end of which shall be placed a board, and upon such board shall be plainly and legibly painted or otherwise marked the name of the next township or place, and such other town or place of note as the supervisors think proper, to which each of such roads lead, together with the distance or number of miles to the same; and also the figure of a hand with the forefinger thereof pointed towards the towns or places to which such roads lead; provided, that the inhabitants of any township may at their annual meeting agree upon some suitable substitute for such guideposts.

§ 110, sub-c. 1,
c. 112, 1883. § 2650. Forfeit for neglect to furnish guideposts. Each township which neglects or refuses to erect and maintain such guideposts or some suitable substitute therefor shall forfeit annually the sum of five dollars for each guidepost which it so neglects or refuses to maintain, which sum may be sued for and collected by any person before any justice of the peace of the proper county, and the moneys so collected shall be paid into the township treasury for the benefit of the roads and bridges of the township.

ARTICLE 20. — PUBLIC PLACES.

§ 111, sub-c. 1,
c. 112, 1883. § 2651. Voters shall designate. At the annual township meeting in each year the legal voters present at each meeting shall determine and designate three places in the township as public or the most public places of such township, and that all legal notices required to be posted in three public or the most public places of a township shall be posted at such places at least, and they shall make provision for the erection and maintenance of posts on which to post notices as aforesaid in all places so designated, in which there is no sufficient natural convenience for that purpose.

ARTICLE 21. — POUNDS AND POUND MASTERS.

§ 2652. Pounds located. Whenever the electors of any township determine at their annual township meeting to erect one or more pounds therein, the same shall be under the care and direction of such pound masters as are chosen or appointed for that purpose. § 112, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2653. Discontinuing pounds. The electors of any township may at any annual township meeting discontinue any pounds therein. § 113, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2654. Fees of pound master. Sales. The pound master is allowed to charge and collect the following fees: For taking into pound or discharging therefrom any horse, ass or mule, and all neat cattle, twenty cents each; for every sheep or lamb, ten cents each; and for every hog large or small, ten cents; and twenty-five cents for keeping each twenty-four hours in pound. And the pound master has a lien on all such animals for the full amount of his legal charges and expenses, and shall be entitled to the possession of such animals until the same are paid; and if the same are not paid and said animals removed within four days after they are impounded, the pound master shall give notice by posting the same in three of the most public places in the township that said animals, describing them, are impounded, and that unless the same are taken away and fees paid within fifteen days after the date of such notice he will sell the same at public vendue at the place where the township meetings of such township are usually held; and on the day designated in such notice the pound master shall expose such animals for sale and sell the same to the highest bidder for cash, for which service he shall receive two per cent of the purchase money for each animal. § 114, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2655. Proceeds, disposition of. Out of the money realized from such sale the pound master shall deduct all his legal fees and charges and pay the balance if any to the chairman of the township supervisors, at the same time giving to the supervisors an accurate description of the animals sold and the amount received by him for each animal, and shall take a receipt and duplicate therefor and file one of them with the township clerk; provided, that the supervisors shall at any time within six months, upon sufficient proof from the owner of any animal so sold, pay to such owner the balance due as received from said pound master; but if said money is not claimed within that time then the sum so received shall be retained for the use of the township. § 114, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

ARTICLE 22. — DEBTS AND BONDS.

§ 2656. Limit of debt of townships. No township has power to contract debts or make expenditures for any one year in a larger sum than the amount of taxes assessed for such year, without having been authorized by a majority of the voters of such township, and no township shall assess for township purposes more than ten mills on the dollar of taxable property for any one year. § 115, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

§ 2657. Bonds of townships issued, how and when. The board of supervisors of the organized townships of this state, or those that may hereafter be organized, are authorized and empowered to issue the bonds or orders of their respective townships, with coupons attached, in such amounts and at such periods as they may be directed § 116, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883.

by two-thirds of the legal voters present and voting at any legally called township meeting held for that purpose; such bonds or orders to be payable in such amounts and at such times, not exceeding six years from date, as two-thirds of the legal voters present and voting at such meeting shall determine, with interest thereon not to exceed eight per cent per annum payable annually, which bonds or orders and coupons shall be signed by the chairman of the board of supervisors and countersigned by the clerk of the township; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize the issuing of such bonds or orders unless the same shall have first been voted for by ballot by two-thirds of all the legal voters present and voting at any annual or special township meeting called for that purpose, notices of which, particularly specifying the object for which such meeting was called, have been posted in at least three public places in the township for not less than ten days previous to the time of calling the same.

§ 117, sub-c. 1,
c. 112, 1882.

§ 2658. Bonds must be sold at par. No bonds or orders issued under the authority of this article shall be issued or negotiated for less than par value, nor shall such bonds or orders or the proceeds thereof be used or appropriated for any purpose whatever other than as specified in this article.

§ 118, sub-c. 1,
c. 112, 1883.

§ 2659. Levying bond tax. The board of supervisors and its successors are authorized and it is their duty on or before the first day of September next after the date of such bonds or orders, and in each and every year thereafter on or before the first day of September, until the payment of such bonds or orders and interest is fully provided for, to levy and in due form to certify to the county auditor of the county in which said township is situated, a tax upon the taxable property of the township equal to the amount of principal and interest maturing next after such levy, and in the discretion of the board, such further sums as it shall deem expedient, not exceeding twenty per cent of such maturing bonds or orders and interest, which taxes shall be payable in money and shall constitute a fund for the payment of said bonds or orders and the interest thereon.

ARTICLE 23.—REFUNDING BONDS.

§ 2660. To be issued, when. Each organized township in this state is authorized and empowered by and through its board of supervisors, when in the judgment of such board it is deemed for the best interests of the township, to issue its negotiable bonds in the name of such township for the sole purpose of refunding any outstanding bonded indebtedness of such township.

§ 2661. Issuance, how determined. Denomination. Form. The necessity of issuing and negotiating bonds under the provisions of this article shall be determined by the board of supervisors of such township. Such bonds shall be in denominations of not more than one thousand dollars nor less than one hundred dollars, shall bear the date of their issue and shall be made payable to the purchaser or bearer, and be payable in not less than five nor more than fifteen years from their date; and shall bear interest at a rate not higher than the bonds refunded and shall have coupons attached for each interest payment; such bonds and coupons shall be signed by the chairman of the board of supervisors and shall be attested by the township clerk. Each bond shall state on its face that it is issued in accordance with this article. Such bonds may be made payable at such place as may be agreed upon.

§ 2662. Record to be kept. A record of each bond so issued shall be kept by the township clerk, showing the number of each bond, its date, amount, rate of interest, when and where payable, the amount received therefor, to whom sold and how the proceeds were disposed of.

§ 2663. Annual tax to pay principal and interest. At or before the time of issuing any bonds pursuant to the provisions of this article, it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to provide for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal thereof when due.

§ 2664. Payment of at maturity. Cancellation. When such bonds and the coupons thereto attached mature it shall be the duty of the township treasurer to pay the same on presentation out of any funds in his hands applicable thereto; and he shall then properly cancel the same.

ARTICLE 24.—IRRIGATION.

§ 2665. Petition. Election. Whenever ten legal voters of any organized township petition the township board fifteen days previous to any annual township meeting to submit the question of irrigation, by building dams to create ponds or reservoirs on any of the creeks or coulees in the township, it shall be the duty of the board to submit the question to the voters at the next annual township meeting, and the township clerk shall cause three notices to be posted specifying the place and nature of such proposed improvements. § 1, c. 43, 1890. am'd.

§ 2666. Tax. Whenever two-thirds of the legal voters of any organized township in this state, at their annual township meeting agree that it is advisable and for the public good that certain specified creeks or coulees should be improved to increase the water supply and for the purpose of irrigation, it shall be lawful for such voters to levy a tax upon said township, to be expended in building dams to create ponds and reservoirs, by and under the direction of the board of supervisors of the township; provided, such improvements shall be wholly in said township; and no lands shall be flooded without the consent of the owner or without just compensation therefor, which compensation shall be determined as provided in the chapter on eminent domain in the code of civil procedure. § 2, c. 43, 1890. am'd.

ARTICLE 25.—CONTRACT SYSTEM OF HIGHWAY LABOR.

§ 2668. Township boards have supervision over. The several township boards of organized townships in the state shall have general supervision over the roads, highways and bridges throughout their several townships. § 1, c. 91, 1895.

§ 2669. Plans and specifications for all work. The several township boards on being petitioned by a majority of the legal voters of such township, as shown by the votes cast at the last annual § 2, c. 91, 1895.

township meeting, shall at the next annual meeting cause a vote to be taken by ballot on which shall be written or printed the words "for contract system," "against contract system," and if a majority of the votes cast are in favor of the contract system then the township board shall at the next meeting succeeding the annual meeting advertise in any one of the county papers for bids for two successive weeks for the improvement and repairing of highways and bridges in its township, in the following manner:

1. The board shall furnish plans and specifications for all work and improvements to be done and performed in the several townships, which shall be filed in the office of the township clerk.

2. It shall at the time of advertising for bids give at least ten days notice, to be posted in three conspicuous places in said township that bids will be received at a time and place mentioned in said notices, and said contracts shall be let to the lowest bidder in accordance with such plans and specifications as are furnished by said board, and the said board shall require upon the letting of such contract, or contracts, a good and sufficient bond for the faithful performance of the work to be done and performed in said contract, and said board shall have authority to reject any and all bids.

§ 3, c. 91, 1895. § 2670. Annual township meeting. Tax fixed. At the annual township meeting in each year the amount of tax for road purposes shall be voted upon and fixed by township, which shall not exceed the sum of eighty cents on each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation of property, both real and personal.

§ 4, c. 91, 1895. § 2671. Special fund. All moneys raised in pursuance of the provisions hereof shall constitute a special fund for the improvement of highways and shall be collected, paid out and expended in the manner provided for warrants drawn on the treasurer of each township for general expenses thereof, and such fund shall be kept separate and shall not be used for any other purpose whatsoever.

§ 5, c. 91, 1895. § 2672. Assessments, how collected. Upon failure to pay any tax assessed for the purposes herein named the same shall become delinquent and shall be collected in the same manner as other taxes.

§ 6, c. 91, 1895. § 2673. Road machinery. In townships owning road machinery the township boards shall have authority to make such disposition of the same as in its discretion is best for the interests of the township, or it may purchase or lease such machinery as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying out the provisions hereof and the performance of all contracts in reference thereto.

ARTICLE 26. — MISCELLANEOUS.

§ 119, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883. § 2674. Officers not to be interested in contracts. No township officer shall become a party to or be interested directly or indirectly in any contract made by the board of which he may be a member; and every contract or payment voted for or made contrary to the provisions of this section is void; and any violation of this section shall constitute malfeasance in office which will subject the officer so offending to be removed from office.

§ 120, sub-c. 1, c. 112, 1883. § 2675. Election districts. Each township organized under this chapter, or any law heretofore in force, constitutes an election district.

§ 2676. City to have same powers as township. Nothing in this chapter contained shall in any way apply to any portion of the state which is embraced within the limits of any incorporated city; but each incorporated city shall have and exercise within its limits, in addition to its powers the same powers conferred by this chapter upon townships in the manner prescribed by law. § 121, sub-c. 1, c-112, 1883.

§ 2677. Constables, powers of. Any constable in any organized township containing any village not incorporated, shall be a proper officer for arresting and detaining any person for disorderly conduct within the village arising from drunkenness or otherwise, without process first issuing, and any person deemed guilty of such disorderly conduct shall be taken before any justice of the peace of such township, and upon conviction thereof be fined in the sum of not less than five nor more than ten dollars and all costs arising from such complaint and trial. § 95, c. 59, 1879.

§ 2678. To provide for confinement of prisoners. Any township with any such village not incorporated, shall at the annual township meeting have power to vote any appropriations necessary for providing a place of confinement, and may adopt such regulations as may be necessary in relation thereto. § 39, c. 23, Pol.C.

§ 2679. Notice to be given. Any township providing such place of confinement shall cause notice thereof to be published in the newspaper having the largest circulation in such township, if there is any, or cause the township clerk to post notice thereof in three of the most public places in such township. § 40, c. 23, Pol.C.

§ 2680. Convicted person confined. Any person convicted under the preceding sections shall be confined in the calaboose until all fines and costs are paid, not less than one day nor more than ten days. § 41, c. 23, Pol.C.

CHAPTER 32.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

§ 2681. Code not retroactive unless so declared. No part of this code is retroactive unless expressly so declared.

§ 2682. Rule of construction of code. The rule of the common law, that statutes in derogation thereof are to be strictly construed, has no application to this code. The code establishes the law of this state respecting the subjects to which it relates, and its provisions and all proceedings under it are to be liberally construed, with a view to effect its objects and to promote justice.

§ 2683. Same. The provisions of this code, so far as they are substantially the same as existing statutes must be construed as continuations thereof, and not as new enactments.

§ 2685. Same. When any office is abolished by the repeal of any act, and such act is not in substance re-enacted or continued in either of the codes, such office ceases at the time the codes take effect.

§ 2687. Limitations, how reckoned. When a limitation or period of time prescribed in any existing statute for acquiring a right or barring a remedy, or for any other purpose, has begun to run before this code goes into effect, and the same or any limitation of time is prescribed in this code, the time which has already run shall be deemed part of the time prescribed as such limitation by this code.

CIVIL CODE.

CHAPTER 1.

GENERAL DEFINITIONS AND DIVISIONS.

§ 2689. Title. This act shall be known as the civil code of the state of North Dakota. § 1, Civil C.

§ 2690. Origin of law. Law is a rule of property and of conduct prescribed by the sovereign power. § 2, Civil C.

§ 2691. Expression of law. The will of the sovereign power is expressed: § 3, Civil C. am'd.

1. By the constitution of the state.
2. By the statutes of the state.
3. By the ordinances of other and subordinate legislative bodies.
4. By the decisions of the tribunals enforcing those rules, which, though not enacted, form what is known as customary or common law.

§ 2692. Common law divided. The common law is divided into: § 4, Civil C.

1. Public law, or the law of nations.
2. Domestic or municipal law.

§ 2693. Evidence of same. The evidence of the common law is found in the decisions of the tribunals. § 5, Civil C.

§ 2694. Codes exclude common law. In this state there is no common law in any case where the law is declared by the codes. § 6, Civil C.

§ 2695. Classification of civil rights. All original civil rights are either: § 7, Civil C.

1. Rights of person; or,
2. Rights of property.

§ 2696. Rights, how waived. Rights of property and of person may be waived, surrendered or lost by neglect in the cases provided by law. § 8, Civil C.

§ 2697. Code divisions. This code has four general divisions: § 9, Civil C.

1. The first relates to persons.
2. The second, to property.
3. The third, to obligations.
4. The fourth contains general provisions relating to persons, property and obligations.

CHAPTER 2.

PERSONS.

- § 10, Civil C. § 2698. Minority defined. Minors are:
1. Males under twenty-one years of age.
 2. Females under eighteen years of age.
- The periods thus specified must be calculated from the first minute of the day on which persons are born to the same minute of the corresponding day completing the period of minority.
- § 11, Civil C. § 2699. Adults. All other persons are adults.
- § 12, Civil C. § 2700. Unborn child. A child conceived, but not born, is to be deemed an existing person so far as may be necessary for its interests in the event of its subsequent birth.
- § 15, Civil C. § 2701. Minor's disability. A minor cannot give a delegation of power, nor under the age of eighteen make a contract relating to real property or any interest therein, or relating to any personal property not in his immediate possession or control.
- § 16, Civil C. § 2702. Contract subject to disaffirmance. A minor may make any contract other than as above specified in the same manner as an adult, subject only to his power of disaffirmance under the provisions of this chapter and subject to the provisions of the chapters on marriage and on master and servant.
- § 17, Civil C. § 2703. Minor's contracts. In all cases other than those specified in sections 2704 and 2705 the contract of a minor, if made while he is under the age of eighteen, may be disaffirmed by the minor himself, either before his majority or within one year's time afterwards; or in case of his death within that period, by his heirs or personal representatives; and if the contract is made by the minor while he is over the age of eighteen, it may be disaffirmed in like manner upon restoring the consideration to the party from whom it was received or paying its equivalent with interest.
- § 18, Civil C. § 2704. Cannot disaffirm contracts for necessities. A minor cannot disaffirm a contract, otherwise valid, to pay the reasonable value of things necessary for his support or that of his family entered into by him when not under the care of a parent or guardian able to provide for him or them.
- § 19, Civil C. § 2705. Nor statutory contracts. A minor cannot disaffirm an obligation, otherwise valid, entered into by him under the express authority or direction of a statute.
- § 20, Civil C. § 2706. Idiot's powers. A person entirely without understanding has no power to make a contract of any kind, but he is liable for the reasonable value of things furnished to him necessary for his support or the support of his family.
- § 21, Civil C. § 2707. When idiot's contract subject to rescission. A conveyance or other contract of a person of unsound mind, but not entirely without understanding, made before his incapacity has been judicially determined is subject to rescission as provided in the chapter of rescission of this code.
- § 22, Civil C. § 2708. Cannot contract after incapacity determined. After his incapacity has been judicially determined a person of unsound mind can make no conveyance or other contract, nor delegate any power, nor waive any right, until his restoration is judicially determined. But if actually restored to capacity he may make a will, though his restoration is not thus determined.

§ 2709. Minor liable for wrongs. A minor or a person of unsound mind of whatever degree is civilly liable for a wrong done by him in like manner as any other person. § 23, Civil C.

§ 2710. When subjected to exemplary damages. A minor or person of unsound mind cannot be subjected to exemplary damages unless at the time of the act he was capable of knowing that it was wrongful. § 24, Civil C.

§ 2711. Rights of action. A minor may enforce his rights by civil action or other legal proceedings in the same manner as a person of full age, except that a guardian must be appointed to conduct the same. § 25, Civil C.

§ 2712. Indian rights. Disabilities. Indians resident within this state have the same rights and duties as other persons, except that: § 26, Civil C. am'd.

1. They cannot vote or hold office except as prescribed in subdivision three of section 121 of the constitution of this state.

2. They cannot grant, lease or incumber Indian lands except in the cases provided by law.

CHAPTER 3.

PERSONAL RIGHTS.

§ 2713. General personal rights. Besides the personal rights mentioned or recognized in the political code every person has, subject to the qualifications and restrictions provided by law, the right of protection from bodily restraint or harm, from personal insult, from defamation and from injury to his personal relations. § 27, Civil C.

§ 2714. Defamation. Defamation is effected by: § 28, Civil C.

1. Libel; or,
2. Slander.

§ 2715. Libel defined. Libel is a false and unprivileged publication by writing, printing, picture, effigy or other fixed representation to the eye which exposes any person to hatred, contempt, ridicule or obloquy, or which causes him to be shunned or avoided, or which has a tendency to injure him in his occupation. § 29, Civil C.

§ 2716. Slander. Slander is a false and unprivileged publication, other than libel, which: § 30, Civil C.

1. Charges any person with crime or with having been indicted, convicted, or punished for crime.

2. Imputes to him the present existence of an infectious, contagious or loathsome disease.

3. Tends directly to injure him in respect to his office, profession, trade or business, either by imputing to him general disqualification in those respects which the office or other occupation peculiarly requires, or by imputing something with reference to his office, profession, trade or business, that has a natural tendency to lessen its profit.

4. Imputes to him impotence or want of chastity; or,

5. Which, by natural consequence causes actual damage.

§ 31, Civil C.

§ 2717. Privileged communications. A privileged communication is one made:

1. In the proper discharge of an official duty.
2. In any legislative or judicial proceeding, or in any other proceeding authorized by law.
3. In a communication without malice to a person interested therein by one who is also interested, or by one who stands in such relation to the person interested as to afford a reasonable ground for supposing the motive for the communication innocent, or who is requested by the person interested to give the information.
4. By a fair and true report without malice of a judicial, legislative or other public official proceeding, or of anything said in the course thereof.

In the cases provided for in subdivisions three and four of this section malice is not inferred from the communication or publication.

§ 32, Civil C.

§ 2718. Offenses against personal relation. The rights of personal relation forbid:

1. The abduction of a husband from his wife or of a parent from his child.
2. The abduction or enticement of a wife from her husband, of a child from a parent or from a guardian entitled to its custody, or of a servant from his master.
3. The seduction of a wife, daughter, orphan sister or servant; and,
4. Any injury to a servant which affects his ability to serve his master.

§ 33, Civil C.

§ 2719. Force to protect. Any necessary force may be used to protect from wrongful injury the person or property of one's self or of a wife, husband, child, parent or other relative or member of one's family, or of a ward, servant, master or guest.

CHAPTER 4.

MARRIAGE CONTRACT.

§ 1, c. 91, 1890.

§ 2720. Marriage defined. Marriage is a personal relation arising out of a civil contract to which the consent of the parties thereto is essential, but the marriage relation may be entered into, maintained, annulled or dissolved only as provided by law.

§ 2, c. 91, 1890.

§ 2721. Age of consent to marriage. Any unmarried male of the age of sixteen years or upwards, and any unmarried female of the age of thirteen years or upwards, and not otherwise disqualified, are capable of consenting to and consummating marriage; provided, that if the male is under twenty-one years or the female under eighteen years of age the license provided in this chapter shall not be issued without the consent of the parent or guardian, if there is any.

§ 3, c. 91, 1890.

§ 2722. Who disqualified to marry. Marriages between parents and children, including grandparents and grandchildren of every degree, between brothers and sisters of the half as well as the whole blood, between uncles and nieces, aunts and nephews, or cousins of the first degree of the half as well as the whole blood, are declared to be incestuous and absolutely void. This section shall apply to illegitimate as well as legitimate children and relations.

§ 2723. When marriage voidable. A marriage contracted by a person having a former husband or wife living, if the former marriage has not been annulled or dissolved, is illegal and void from the beginning unless such former husband or wife was absent and believed by such person to be dead for a period of five years immediately preceding. § 6, c. 91, 1890. am'd.

§ 2724. Who may solemnize marriages. License. Marriages may be solemnized by all judges of courts of record within their respective jurisdictions; by justices of the peace within their respective jurisdictions; by ordained ministers of the gospel and priests of every church, but marriages solemnized in the society of Friends or Quakers according to the form used in their meetings shall be valid. No such person shall solemnize any marriage until the parties thereto shall produce a license, issued by a county judge of the county in which such ceremony is to be performed, or if such county is unorganized, of the county to which it is attached for judicial purposes. When any person authorized by law shall solemnize a marriage he shall fill out and sign a certificate following the marriage license on the blank form prescribed by law, giving his official title, or if a minister of the gospel or priest, the ecclesiastical body with which he is connected and return such license and certificate to the county judge of the county within thirty days thereafter. Such certificate shall be signed by two witnesses to the marriage ceremony in addition to the signature of the person who solemnized the marriage. § 7, c. 91, 1890. am'd.

§ 2725. Marriage license, how obtained. The county judge of each county in this state, when applied to by any person for a marriage license, shall inquire of such person upon oath relative to the legality of such contemplated marriage and he may examine other witnesses upon oath if deemed best; and if any of the persons intending to marry are under age said judge shall require the consent of the parent or guardian, if there is any, personally given, or a certificate of consent signed by such parent or guardian and attested by two witnesses, one of whom shall appear before such judge and make oath that he saw such parent or guardian sign such certificate; and if said judge shall be satisfied there is no legal impediment thereto, he shall issue and sign such marriage license and affix his seal, in the form prescribed by law. § 8, c. 91, 1890.

§ 2726. License and certificate. The marriage license and certificate of the person solemnizing the marriage shall be upon one blank form substantially as follows: § 9, c. 91, 1890.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

State of North Dakota, }
County of..... } ss.

To any person authorized by law to perform the marriage ceremony, greeting:

You are hereby authorized to join in marriage....., of ....., aged and, of....., aged; and of this license and your certificate you will make due return to my office within thirty days.

Dated at this day of 189..

[Seal.]

County Judge.

CERTIFICATE OF MARRIAGE.

I hereby certify that the persons named in the foregoing license were by me joined in marriage at, county of, state of North Dakota, on the day of, 189..

In presence of ..... } Witnesses.

§ 10, c. 91, 1890. § 2727. Record to be kept by county court. The county judge shall keep a marriage record book, in which he shall keep a correct copy of all marriage licenses issued by him; and when a license is returned with the certificate of the person performing the marriage ceremony properly filled out and signed, he shall also record such certificate immediately following the record of such license; and for each license and the record herein required he shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be paid by the party applying for the same.

§ 13, c. 91, 1890. § 2728. Indian marriage contracts valid. Indians contracting marriage according to the Indian custom and cohabiting as man and wife shall be deemed legally married.

§ 14, c. 91, 1890. § 2729. Marriages valid where contracted, valid in this state. All marriages contracted outside of this state, which are valid according to the laws of the state or country where contracted, shall be valid in this state.

§ 15, c. 91, 1890.
am'd. § 2730. Certified record is evidence. The books of record of marriage licenses issued and certificates returned kept by the county judge of any county, or copies of such entries certified by such judge under the seal of the court, shall be received as evidence in all courts.

§ 54, Civil C.
am'd. § 2731. Causes for annulling marriage. A marriage may be annulled by an action in the district court to obtain a decree of nullity for any of the following causes existing at the time of the marriage:

1. When the party in whose behalf it is sought to have the marriage annulled was under the age of legal consent and such marriage was contracted without the consent of his or her parent or guardian, unless after attaining the age of consent such party freely cohabited with the other as husband or wife.

2. When the former husband or wife of either party was living and the marriage with such former husband or wife was then in force.

3. When either party was of unsound mind, unless such party after coming to reason freely cohabited with the other as husband or wife.

4. When the consent of either party was obtained by fraud, unless such party afterwards with full knowledge of the facts constituting the fraud freely cohabited with the other as husband or wife.

5. When the consent of either party was obtained by force, unless such party afterwards freely cohabited with the other as husband or wife.

6. When either party was at the time of the marriage physically incapable of entering into the marriage state and such incapacity continues and appears to be incurable.

§ 2732. Limitation of action. An action to obtain a decree of nullity of marriage for causes mentioned in the preceding section, must be commenced within the periods and by the parties as follows: § 55, Civil C. am'd.

1. For causes mentioned in subdivision one, by the party to the marriage, who was married under the age of legal consent, within four years after arriving at the age of consent, or by his or her parent or guardian at any time before such party has arrived at the age of legal consent.

2. For causes mentioned in subdivision two, by either party during the life of the other, or by such former husband or wife.

3. For causes mentioned in subdivision three, by the party injured, or a relative or guardian of the party of unsound mind at any time before the death of either party.

4. For causes mentioned in subdivision four, by the party injured within four years after the discovery of the facts constituting the fraud.

5. For causes mentioned in subdivisions five and six, by the injured party within four years after the marriage.

§ 2733. Children legitimate. When a marriage is annulled children begotten before the judgment are legitimate and succeed to the estate of both parents. § 56, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2734. Custody of children. The court must award the custody of the children of a marriage annulled on the ground of fraud or force to the innocent parent and may also provide for their education and maintenance out of the property of the guilty party. § 57, Civil C.

§ 2735. Effect of judgment. A judgment of nullity of marriage rendered is conclusive only as against the parties to the action and those claiming under them. § 58, Civil C.

CHAPTER 5.

DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE.

ARTICLE 1. — CAUSES FOR GRANTING DIVORCE.

§ 2736. Marriage, how dissolved. Marriage is dissolved only: § 59, Civil C. am'd.

1. By the death of one of the parties; or,
2. By the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction decreeing a divorce of the parties.

The effect of a judgment decreeing a divorce is to restore the parties to the state of unmarried persons.

§ 2737. Causes for divorce. Divorces may be granted for any of the following causes: § 60, Civil C.

1. Adultery.
2. Extreme cruelty.
3. Willful desertion.
4. Willful neglect.
5. Habitual intemperance.
6. Conviction for felony.

§ 2738. Adultery defined. Adultery within the meaning of this article is the voluntary sexual intercourse of a married person with a person other than the offender's husband or wife. § 60, Civil C.

§ 60, Civil C. § 2739. Extreme cruelty defined. Extreme cruelty is the infliction by one party to the marriage of grievous bodily injury or grievous mental suffering upon the other.

§ 60, Civil C. § 2740. Desertion defined. Willful desertion is the voluntary separation of one of the married parties from the other with intent to desert.

1. Persistent refusal to have reasonable matrimonial intercourse as husband and wife, when health or physical condition does not make such refusal reasonably necessary, or the refusal of either party to dwell in the same house with the other party, when there is no just cause for such refusal, is desertion.

2. When one party is induced by the stratagem or fraud of the other party to leave the family dwelling place or to be absent, and during such absence the offending party departs with intent to desert the other, it is desertion by the party committing the stratagem or fraud, and not by the other.

3. Departure or absence of one party from the family dwelling place caused by cruelty or by threats of bodily harm from which danger would be reasonably apprehended from the other is not desertion by the absent party, but it is desertion by the other party.

4. Separation by consent, with or without the understanding that one of the parties will apply for a divorce, is not desertion.

5. Absence or separation, proper in itself, becomes desertion whenever the intent to desert is fixed during such absence or separation.

6. Consent to a separation is a revocable act and if one of the parties afterwards in good faith seeks a reconciliation and restoration, but the other refuses it, such refusal is desertion.

7. If one party deserts the other and before the expiration of the statutory period required to make the desertion a cause of divorce returns and offers in good faith to fulfill the marriage contract and solicits condonation, the desertion is cured. If the other party refuses such offer and condonation, the refusal shall be deemed and treated as desertion by such party from the time of the refusal.

8. A husband may choose any reasonable place or mode of living, and if the wife does not conform thereto it is desertion.

9. If the place or mode of living selected by the husband is unreasonable and grossly unfit and the wife does not conform thereto, it is desertion on the part of the husband from the time her reasonable objections are made known to him.

§ 60, Civil C. § 2741. Willful neglect defined. Willful neglect is the neglect of the husband to provide for his wife the common necessities of life, he having the ability to do so; or it is the failure to do so by reason of idleness, profligacy or dissipation.

§ 60, Civil C. am'd. § 2742. Habitual intemperance defined. Habitual intemperance is that degree of intemperance from the use of intoxicating drinks, morphine, opium, chloral, cocaine or other like narcotic drugs, which disqualifies the person a great portion of the time from properly attending to business or which would reasonably inflict a course of great mental anguish upon the innocent party.

§ 60, Civil C. 1, c. 57, 1881. § 2743. Duration of offenses as ground of divorce. Willful desertion, willful neglect or habitual intemperance must continue for one year before either is a ground for divorce.

ARTICLE 2.—CAUSES FOR DENYING DIVORCE.

§ 2744. When divorce will be denied. Divorces must be § 61, Civil C. denied upon showing:

1. Connivance; or,
2. Collusion; or,
3. Condonation; or,
4. Recrimination; or,
5. Limitation and lapse of time.

§ 2745. Connivance defined. Connivance is the corrupt § 61, Civil C. consent of one party to the commission of the acts of the other constituting the cause of divorce. Corrupt consent is manifested by passive permission with intent to connive at or actively procure the commission of the acts complained of.

§ 2746. Collusion defined. Collusion is an agreement between § 61, Civil C. the husband and wife that one of them shall commit, or appear to have committed, or be represented in court as having committed, acts constituting a cause of divorce for the purpose of enabling the other to obtain a divorce.

§ 2747. Condonation defined. Condonation is the conditional § 61, Civil C. forgiveness of a matrimonial offense constituting a cause of divorce.

§ 2748. Requisites of condonation. The following require- § 61, Civil C.
ments are necessary to condonation:

1. A knowledge on the part of the condoner of the facts constituting the cause of divorce.
2. Reconciliation and remission of the offense by the injured party.
3. Restoration of the offending party to all marital rights.

Condonation implies a condition subsequent, that the forgiving party must be treated with conjugal kindness. When the cause of divorce consists of a course of offensive conduct, or arises in cases of cruelty from successive acts of ill treatment, which may aggregately constitute the offense, cohabitation or passive endurance or conjugal kindness shall not be evidence of condonation of any of the acts constituting such cause, unless accompanied by an express agreement to condone. In such cases condonation can be made only after the cause of divorce has become complete as to the acts complained of. A fraudulent concealment by the condonee of facts constituting a different cause of divorce from the one condoned and existing at the time of condonation avoids such condonation.

§ 2749. Revocation of condonation. Condonation is revoked § 61, Civil C. and the original cause of divorce revived:

1. When the condonee commits acts constituting a like or other cause of divorce; or,
2. When the condonee is guilty of great conjugal unkindness, not amounting to a cause of divorce, but sufficiently habitual and gross to show that the conditions of condonation had not been accepted in good faith or not fulfilled.

§ 2750. Recrimination defined. Recrimination is a showing § 61, Civil C.
by the defendant of any cause of divorce against the plaintiff in bar of the plaintiff's cause of divorce. Condonation of a cause of divorce shown in the answer as a recriminatory defense is a bar to such defense, unless the condonation is revoked as above provided, or two years have elapsed after the condonation and before the accruing or com- pletion of the cause of divorce against which the recrimination is shown.

- § 62, Civil C. § 2751. Adultery by husband. When a divorce is granted for the adultery of the husband, the legitimacy of children of the marriage begotten of the wife before the commencement of the action is not affected.
- § 63, Civil C. § 2752. By wife. Legitimacy. When a divorce is granted for the adultery of the wife the legitimacy of children begotten of her before the commission of the adultery is not affected; but the legitimacy of other children of the wife may be determined by the court upon the evidence in the case. In every such case all children begotten before the commencement of the action are to be presumed legitimate until the contrary is shown.
- § 65, Civil C.
1, c. 29, 1881. § 2753. Time limited. A divorce must be denied when there is an unreasonable lapse of time before the commencement of the action. Unreasonable lapse of time is such a delay in commencing the action as establishes the presumption that there has been connivance, collusion or condonation of the offense, or full acquiescence in the same with intent to continue the marriage relation, notwithstanding the commission of the offense set up as a ground of divorce. The presumption arising from lapse of time may be rebutted by showing reasonable grounds for the delay in commencing the action.
- § 66, Civil C.
am'd. § 2754. Only statutory limitations. There are no limitations of time for commencing actions for divorce except such as are contained in the foregoing section.
- § 67, Civil C. § 2755. Term of residence. A divorce must not be granted unless the plaintiff has in good faith been a resident of the state ninety days next preceding the commencement of the action.
- § 68, Civil C. § 2756. Presumption of domicile. In actions for divorce the presumption of law that the domicile of the husband is the domicile of the wife does not apply. After separation each party may have a separate domicile, depending for proof upon actual residence and not upon legal presumptions.
- § 69, Civil C. § 2757. Affirmative proof required. No divorce can be granted upon the default of the defendant, or upon the uncorroborated statement, admission or testimony of the parties, or upon any statement or finding of fact made by a referee; but the court must in addition to any statement or finding of the referee require proof of the facts alleged.

ARTICLE 3. — GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- § 70, Civil C. § 2758. Maintenance. Though a judgment of divorce is denied the court may in an action for divorce provide for the maintenance of a wife and her children, or any of them, by the husband.
- § 71, Civil C. § 2759. Alimony pending action. While an action for divorce is pending, the court may in its discretion require the husband to pay as alimony any money necessary to enable the wife to support herself or her children, or to prosecute or defend the action.
- § 72, Civil C. § 2760. Custody of children. In an action for divorce the court may before or after judgment give such direction for the custody, care and education of the children of the marriage as may seem necessary or proper and may at any time vacate or modify the same.
- § 73, Civil C. § 2761. Support. When a divorce is granted for an offense of the husband the court may compel him to provide for the maintenance nance of the children of the marriage, and to make such suitable allowance to the wife for her support during her life or for a shorter period as the court may deem just, having regard to the circumstances of the parties respectively; and the court may from time to time modify its orders in these respects.

CHAPTER 6.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

§ 2763. Mutual relations. Husband and wife contract toward each other obligations of mutual respect, fidelity and support. § 75, CIVIL C.

§ 2764. Head of family. The husband is the head of the family. He may choose any reasonable place or mode of living and the wife must conform thereto. § 76, CIVIL C.

§ 2765. Duty to support. The husband must support himself and his wife out of his property or by his labor. The wife must support the husband when he has not deserted her out of her separate property, when he has no separate property and he is unable from infirmity to support himself. § 77, CIVIL C.

§ 2766. Separate property. Dwelling. Except as mentioned in section 2765, neither the husband nor the wife has any interest in the property of the other, but neither can be excluded from the other's dwelling. § 78, CIVIL C.

§ 2767. Wife's rights and capacity. The wife after marriage has with respect to property, contracts and torts the same capacity and rights and is subject to the same liabilities as before marriage and in all actions by or against her she shall sue and be sued in her own name.

§ 2769. Separation. The mutual consent of the parties is a sufficient consideration for such an agreement as is mentioned in the last section. § 81, CIVIL C.

§ 83, Civil C.
§ 2, c. 52, 1893.

§ 2770. Separate and mutual rights. Neither the husband nor the wife, as such, is answerable for the acts of the other.

2. The earnings of the wife are not liable for the debts of the husband and the earnings and accumulations of the wife and of her minor children living with her or in her custody, while she is living separate from her husband, are the separate property of the wife.

3. The separate property of the husband is not liable for the debts of the wife contracted before the marriage.

4. The separate property of the wife is not liable for the debts of her husband, but is liable for her own debts contracted before or after marriage.

5. No estate is allowed the husband as tenant by courtesy upon the death of his wife, nor is any estate in dower allotted to the wife upon the death of her husband.

§ 84, Civil C.

§ 2771. Wife's necessities. If the husband neglects to make adequate provision for the support of his wife, except in the cases mentioned in the next section, any other person may in good faith supply her with articles necessary for her support and recover the reasonable value thereof from the husband.

§ 85, Civil C.

§ 2772. Abandonment. Separation. A husband abandoned by his wife is not liable for her support until she offers to return, unless she was justified by his misconduct in abandoning him; nor is he liable for her support when she is living separate from him by agreement, unless such support is stipulated in the agreement.

§ 1, c. 68, 1883.

§ 2773. Transfer of property when abandoned. In case the husband or wife abandons the other and removes from the state and is absent therefrom for one year without providing for the maintenance and support of his or her family, or is sentenced to imprisonment either in the county jail or penitentiary for the period of one year or more, the district court of the county or judicial subdivision where the husband or wife so abandoned, or not in prison, resides may, on application by affidavit of such husband or wife, setting forth fully the facts, supported by such other testimony as the court may deem necessary, authorize him or her to manage, control, sell or incur the property of the said husband or wife for the support and maintenance of the family and for the purpose of paying debts contracted prior to such abandonment or imprisonment. Notice of such proceedings shall be given the opposite party and shall be served as summons is served in ordinary actions.

§ 2774. Contracts binding on both. All contracts, sales or incumbrances made either by the husband or the wife by virtue of the power contemplated and granted by order of the court as provided in the preceding section, shall be binding on both, and during such absence or imprisonment the person acting under such power may sue and be sued thereon, and for all acts done the property of both shall be liable, and execution may be levied or attachment issued thereon according to statute. No suit or proceedings shall abate or be in anywise affected by the return or release of the person confined, but he or she may be permitted to prosecute or defend jointly with the other.

§ 2775. When order set aside. The husband or wife affected by the proceedings contemplated in the two preceding sections may have the order or decree of the court set aside or annulled by affidavit of such party, setting forth fully the facts and supported by such other testimony as the court shall deem proper. Notice of such proceedings to set aside and annul such order must be given the person in whose favor the same was granted and shall be served as summons is served in ordinary actions. The setting aside of such decree or order shall in no wise affect any act done thereunder.

CHAPTER 7.

PARENT AND CHILD.

§ 2776. Legitimacy presumed. All children born in wedlock are presumed to be legitimate. § 86, Civil C.

§ 2777. Children born after dissolution of marriage or before wedlock. All children of a woman who has been married born within ten months after the dissolution of the marriage are presumed to be legitimate children of that marriage. A child born before wedlock becomes legitimate by the subsequent marriage of its parents. § 87, Civil C.

§ 2778. Who may dispute presumption. The presumption of legitimacy can be disputed only by the husband or wife or the descendant of one or both of them. Illegitimacy in such case may be proved like any other fact. § 88, Civil C.

§ 2779. Both parents support children. The parent entitled to the custody of a child must give him support and education suitable to his circumstances. If the support and education which the father of a legitimate child is able to give are inadequate, the mother must assist him to the extent of her ability. § 89, Civil C.

§ 2780. Who entitled to the custody of a child. The father of a legitimate unmarried minor child is entitled to its custody, services and earnings; but he cannot transfer such custody or services to any other person except the mother without her written consent, unless she has deserted him or is living separate from him by agreement. If the father is dead or is unable or refuses to take the custody or has abandoned his family the mother is entitled thereto. § 90, Civil C.

§ 2782. Allowance to parent. The district court may direct an allowance to be made to a parent of a child out of its property for its past or future support and education on such conditions as may be proper, whenever such direction is for its benefit. § 92, Civil C.

§ 2783. Control of property. The parent as such has no control over the property of the child. § 93, Civil C.

§ 2784. Parental abuse. The abuse of parental authority is the subject of judicial cognizance in a civil action in the district court brought by the child, or by its relatives within the third degree, or by the officers of the poor where the child resides; and when the abuse is established, the child may be freed from the dominion of the parent and the duty of support and education enforced. § 94, Civil C.

§ 2785. When parent's authority ceases. The authority of a parent ceases: § 95, Civil C.

1. Upon the appointment by a court of a guardian of the person of the child;

2. Upon the marriage of the child; or,
3. Upon its attaining majority.

§ 96, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2786. Action for support of child. If a parent chargeable with the support of a child dies, leaving it chargeable upon the county and leaving an estate sufficient for its support, the county commissioners of the county in the name of the county may claim provision for its support from the parent's estate by civil action, and for this purpose may have the same remedies as any creditor against that estate and against the heirs, devisees and next of kin of the parent.

§ 97, Civil C.

§ 2787. Support of poor. It is the duty of the father, the mother and the children of any poor person who is unable to maintain himself by work, to maintain such person to the extent of their ability. The promise of an adult child to pay for necessities previously furnished to such parent is binding.

§ 98, Civil C.

§ 2788. Neglect of child. If a parent neglects to provide articles necessary for his child, who is under his charge, according to his circumstances, a third person may in good faith supply such necessities and recover the reasonable value thereof from the parent.

§ 99, Civil C.

§ 2789. Parent when not liable. A parent is not bound to compensate the other parent or a relative for the voluntary support of his child without an agreement for compensation, nor to compensate a stranger for the support of a child who has abandoned the parent without just cause.

§ 100, Civil C.

§ 2790. Support of stepchildren. A husband is not bound to maintain his wife's children by a former husband; but if he receives them into his family and supports them, it is presumed that he does so as a parent and when such is the case, they are not liable to him for their support, nor he to them for their services.

§ 101, Civil C.

§ 2791. After majority. When a child after attaining majority continues to serve and to be supported by the parent, neither party is entitled to compensation in the absence of an agreement therefor.

§ 102, Civil C.

§ 2792. Child's earnings. The parent, whether solvent or insolvent, may relinquish to the child the right of controlling him and receiving his earnings. Abandonment by the parent is presumptive evidence of such relinquishment.

§ 103, Civil C.

§ 2793. Wages paid. The wages of a minor employed in service may be paid to him or her until the parent or guardian entitled thereto gives the employer notice that he claims such wages.

§ 104, Civil C.

§ 2794. Change of residence. A parent entitled to the custody of a child has a right to change his residence, subject to the power of the district court to restrain a removal which would prejudice the rights or welfare of the child.

§ 105, Civil C.

§ 2795. Not liable for acts of other. Neither parent nor child is answerable as such for the act of the other.

§ 106, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2796. Custody of father and mother. The husband and father as such has no rights superior to those of the wife and mother in regard to the care, custody, education and control of the children of the marriage, while such husband and wife live separate and apart from each other; and when they so live in a state of separation without being divorced, the district court or judges thereof upon application of either may grant a writ of habeas corpus to inquire into the custody of any minor unmarried child of the marriage, and may award the custody of such child to either for such time and under such regulations as the case may require. The decision of the court or judge must be guided by the rules prescribed in section 2817.

CHAPTER 8.

ADOPTION.

§ 2797. Adoption of minor. Any minor child may be adopted by any adult person in the cases and subject to the rules prescribed in this chapter. § 107, Civil C.

§ 2798. Relative age limited. A person adopting a child must be at least ten years older than the person adopted. § 108, Civil C.

§ 2800. Consent of parents or guardian. A legitimate child cannot be adopted without the consent of its parents if living, nor an illegitimate child without the consent of its mother if living, except that such consent is not necessary from a parent deprived of civil rights or adjudged guilty of adultery or cruelty and for either cause divorced, or from a parent adjudged to be an habitual drunkard or of unsound mind, or who has been judicially deprived of the custody of the child on account of cruelty or neglect. In case the child has no parent living or the consent of the parent living is not necessary under the provisions of this section, consent to the adoption may be given by the guardian, if the child has a guardian, and if there is no guardian, consent to the adoption may be given by the person having the custody of the child or by the next of kin of the child residing in this state. ¹⁸⁹⁶ § 110, Civil C. 2, c. 4, 1891. am'd.

§ 2801. When child must consent. The consent of a child, if over the age of ten years, is necessary to its adoption. ¹⁸⁹⁶ § 111, Civil C. 3, c. 4, 1891. am'd.

§ 2803. Proceedings on hearing. Decree. If upon the hearing of the petition so presented and consented unto as aforesaid, the court shall be satisfied of the identity and relations of the persons concerned, and that the petitioner is or, in case of husband and wife, that the petitioners are of sufficient ability to bring up the child and to furnish him suitable nurture and education and that it is fit and proper that the petition for leave to adopt such child be granted, a decree shall be made, setting forth the facts and ordering that from and after the date of the decree the child shall be deemed and taken to be the child of the petitioner or petitioners, and the court may if desired in and by the same decree change the name of such child. § 5, c. 4, 1891.

§ 2804. Status of adopted child. The child so adopted shall be deemed, as respects all legal consequences and incidents of the ¹⁸⁹⁶ § 6, c. 4, 1891. am'd.

natural relation of parent and child, the child of such parent or parents by adoption the same as if he had been born to them in lawful wedlock.

§ 7. c. 4, 1891.

§ 2805. Effect of decree. The natural parents of such child shall be deprived by the decree aforesaid of all legal rights respecting the child and such child shall be free from all obligations of maintenance and obedience respecting his natural parents.

§ 116, Civil C.

§ 2806. Illegitimate child. The father of an illegitimate child by publicly acknowledging it as his own, receiving it as such with the consent of his wife, if he is married, into his family, and otherwise treating it as if it was a legitimate child, thereby adopts it as such, and such child is thereupon deemed for all purposes legitimate from the time of its birth. The foregoing provisions of this chapter do not apply to such an adoption.

CHAPTER 9.

GUARDIAN AND WARD.

§ 117, Civil C.

§ 2807. Guardian defined. A guardian is a person appointed to take care of the person or property of another.

§ 118, Civil C.

§ 2808. Ward defined. The person over whom, or over whose property a guardian is appointed, is called his ward.

§ 119, Civil C.

§ 2809. Guardians classified. Guardians are either:

1. General; or,
2. Special.

§ 120, Civil C.

§ 2810. General guardian. A general guardian is a guardian of the person, or of all the property of the ward within this state, or of both.

§ 121, Civil C.

§ 2811. Special guardian. Every other is a special guardian.

§ 122, Civil C.

§ 2812. How guardian appointed. A guardian of the person or estate or of both of a child born, or likely to be born, may be appointed by will or by deed, to take effect upon the death of the parent appointing:

1. If the child is legitimate, by the father with the written consent of the mother or by either parent, if the other is dead or incapable of consent.

2. If the child is illegitimate, by the mother.

§ 123, Civil C.

§ 2813. No power without appointment. No person, whether a parent or otherwise, has any power as a guardian of property except by appointment as hereinafter provided.

§ 124, Civil C.

§ 2814. Jurisdiction in county court. A guardian of the person or property or both of a person residing in this state, who is a minor or of unsound mind, may be appointed in all cases, other than those named in section 2812, by the county court as provided in the probate code.

§ 125, Civil C.

§ 2815. Guardian of nonresident. A guardian of the property within this state of a person not residing therein who is a minor or of unsound mind may be appointed by the county court.

§ 126, Civil C.

§ 2816. Court appointing has exclusive jurisdiction. In all cases the court making the appointment of a guardian has exclusive jurisdiction to control him.

§ 2817. Rules in appointing. In awarding the custody of a minor or in appointing a general guardian the court or judge is to be guided by the following considerations: § 127, Civil C.

1. By what appears to be for the best interests of the child in respect to its temporal and its mental and moral welfare; and if the child is of sufficient age to form an intelligent preference, the court or judge may consider that preference in determining the question.

2. As between parents adversely claiming the custody or guardianship, neither parent is entitled to it as of right, but, other things being equal, if the child is of tender years, it should be given to the mother; if it is of an age to require education and preparation for labor or business, then to the father.

§ 2818. Preference between two equally entitled. Of two persons equally entitled to the custody in other respects preference is to be given as follows: § 127, Civil C.

1. To a parent.
2. To one who was indicated by the wishes of a deceased parent.
3. To one who already stands in the position of a trustee of a fund to be applied to the child's support.
4. To a relative.

§ 2819. Guardian's power. A guardian appointed by a court has power over the person and property of the ward unless otherwise ordered. § 123, Civil C.

§ 2821. Of the property. A guardian of the property must keep safely the property of his ward. He must not permit any unnecessary waste or destruction of the real property nor make any sale of such property without the order of the county court, but must, so far as it is in his power, maintain the same with its buildings and appurtenances out of the income or other property of the estate and deliver it to the ward at the close of his guardianship in as good condition as he received it. § 130, Civil C.

§ 2822. Nature of the relation. The relation of guardian and ward is confidential and is subject to the provisions of the chapter on trusts. § 131, Civil C.

§ 2823. Guardian controlled by court. In the management and disposition of the person or property committed to him a guardian may be regulated and controlled by the court. § 132, Civil C.

§ 2824. Joint guardians. On the death of one of two or more joint guardians the power continues to the survivor until a further appointment is made by the court. § 133, Civil C.

§ 2825. Causes for removal. A guardian may be removed by the county court for any of the following causes: § 134, Civil C.

1. For abuse of his trust.
2. For continued failure to perform its duties.
3. For incapacity to perform its duties.
4. For gross immorality.
5. For having an interest adverse to the faithful performance of his duty.
6. For removal from the state.
7. In the case of a guardian of the property, for insolvency; or,

8. When it is no longer proper that the ward should be under guardianship.
- § 135, Civil C. § 2826. When power of parental guardian superseded. The power of a guardian appointed by a parent is superseded:
1. By his removal as provided in the last section; or,
 2. By the solemnized marriage of the ward; or,
 3. By the ward's attaining majority.
- § 136, Civil C. § 2827. When power of court guardian suspended. The power of a guardian appointed by a court is suspended only:
1. By order of the court; or,
 2. If the appointment was made solely because of the ward's minority, by his attaining majority; or,
 3. The guardianship over the person of the ward, by the marriage of the ward.
- § 137, Civil C. § 2828. Ward's power on majority. After a ward has come to his majority he may settle accounts with his guardian and give him a release, which is valid if obtained fairly and without undue influence.
- § 138, Civil C. § 2829. When discharge granted. A guardian appointed by a court is not entitled to his discharge until one year after the ward's majority.
- § 139, Civil C. § 2830. Asylum for persons of unsound mind. A person of unsound mind may be placed in an asylum for such persons upon the order of the county court of the county in which he resides, as follows:
1. The court must be satisfied by the oath of two reputable physicians that such person is of unsound mind and unfit to be at large.
 2. Before granting the order the judge must examine the person himself or, if that is impracticable, cause him to be examined by an impartial person duly sworn for that purpose.
 3. After the order is granted the person alleged to be of unsound mind, his or her husband or wife or relative to the third degree, may appeal to the district court and demand therein an investigation before a jury, which must be substantially in all respects conducted as under an inquisition of lunacy.

CHAPTER 10.

MASTER AND SERVANT.

- § 140, Civil C. am'd. § 2831. Apprenticeship authorized. Male minors and unmarried females under the age of eighteen years, with the consent of the persons or officers hereinafter mentioned, may bind themselves by a writing called an indenture as fully as if they were of age to serve as clerks, apprentices or servants in a particular calling until majority or for any shorter time.
- § 141, Civil C. § 2832. By whom consent given. Consent to an indenture of apprenticeship must be given by certificate at the end thereof, or indorsed thereon, signed:
1. By the father and mother of the apprentice.
 2. If the father lacks capacity to consent, or has abandoned or neglected to provide for the family, or is dead, and no testamentary guardian or executor has been appointed by him with power under the will to bring up the child to a calling, and a certificate of such fact is indorsed on the indenture by a justice of the peace of the county, then by the mother.

3. If the father is dead and such guardian or executor has been appointed by him, then by such guardian or executor.

4. If the mother is dead or lacks capacity to consent, then by the father.

5. If there is no parent of capacity to consent and no such executors, then by the guardian; or,

6. If there is no such parent, executor or guardian, then by the county commissioners of the county, or by any two justices of the peace of the county, or by the county judge.

§ 2833. Liability on breach of contract. A parent, executor or guardian, consenting to an indenture is not liable for a breach thereof by the apprentice, unless the indenture or consent expresses an intention to bind him therefor. § 142, Civil C.

§ 2834. Poor may be bound. Any child who is chargeable, or whose parents are chargeable, to a county may be bound to service until attaining majority by the county commissioners as provided in this chapter; but such binding by such county commissioners must be with the consent in writing of the county judge of the county. § 143, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2835. Indian child. No child of an Indian woman can be bound under this chapter, except in the presence and with the consent of a justice of the peace; and his certificate of consent must be filed with the county judge of the county where the indenture is executed. § 144, Civil C.

§ 2836. Indenture must state age. In every indenture of apprenticeship the age of the apprentice must be stated, and such statement is presumptive evidence thereof; and before an officer executes an indenture or consents thereto, he must inform himself of the age of the apprentice. § 145, Civil C.

§ 2838. Education required. The indenture shall also contain an agreement on the part of the person to whom such child shall be bound, that he will cause such child to be instructed to read and write and to be taught the general rules of arithmetic or, in lieu thereof, that he will send such child to school three months of each year of the period of indenture; and that he will give him a new Bible at the expiration of his term of service. § 147, Civil C.

§ 2839. Filing counterpart. Every officer executing an indenture of apprenticeship must file a counterpart thereof with the county judge of the county in which he is an officer. § 148, Civil C.

§ 2840. Immigrant minor. An immigrant minor may bind himself to service until he attains majority, or for a shorter term, in such manner as may be prescribed by the law of the country in which the contract is made. If the indenture is made for the purpose of enabling him to pay his passage to this country it may be for the term of one year, although such term extends beyond his majority; but in no case for a longer term. § 149, Civil C.

of the acknowledgment, showing that the same was made freely, must be indorsed upon the contract.

§ 151, Civil C. § 2842. Assignment allowed. The master under an indenture specified in section 2840 may assign it by writing indorsed thereon and with the approval also indorsed of a magistrate mentioned in section 2841.

§ 152, Civil C. § 2843. When indenture void. No indenture or contract for the service of an apprentice is binding upon him unless made as hereinbefore prescribed.

§ 153, Civil C.
am'd. § 2844. Duty of county commissioners. The county commissioners must see that every apprentice or other servant in their respective counties is properly treated, and that the terms of the contract are fulfilled in his favor; and it is their duty to redress any grievance of such persons in the manner prescribed by law.

§ 154, Civil C. § 2845. Penalty for willful absence. If an apprentice for whose instruction the master receives no pecuniary consideration willfully absents himself from service without leave, he may be compelled to serve double the time of such absence unless he makes satisfaction for the injury; but such additional term of service cannot extend more than three years beyond the original term.

§ 155, Civil C. § 2846. Free vocation. No person may accept from an apprentice or servant an agreement, oath or promise not to exercise his vocation in any particular place; nor may any person exact from an apprentice or servant any consideration for exercising his vocation in any place after his term of service has expired.

§ 156, Civil C. § 2847. Penalty for restraint. Any consideration exacted contrary to the last section may be recovered back with interest, and every person accepting such agreement or exacting such consideration is liable to the apprentice or servant in a penalty of one hundred dollars.

§ 157, Civil C. § 2848. Deceased master. The executors or administrators of the master of any apprentice bound by officers of the poor may assign the indenture with the written consent of the apprentice, acknowledged before a justice of the peace.

§ 158, Civil C. § 2849. Consent to assignment. If an apprentice refuses consent to an assignment under the last section, the county or district court may authorize such assignment without his consent, upon application after fourteen days' notice to the apprentice or to his parents or guardian, if he has any in the county.

CHAPTER 11.

CORPORATIONS.

ARTICLE 1.—THE CREATION OF CORPORATIONS.

§ 373, Civil C. § 2850. Corporation defined. A corporation is a creature of the law, having certain powers and duties of a natural person. Being created by the law, it may continue for any length of time which the law prescribes.

§ 2851. Reserved power of legislative assembly. Every grant of corporate power is subject to alteration, suspension or repeal in the discretion of the legislative assembly. § 375, Civil C.

§ 2853. Name required. Every corporation must have a corporate name which it has no power to change unless expressly authorized by law; but the misnomer of a corporation in any written instrument does not invalidate the instrument if it can be reasonably ascertained from it what corporation is intended. § 377, Civil C.

1. Public; or,
2. Private.

§ 2855. Public. How regulated. Public corporations are formed or organized for the government of a portion of the state. Such corporations are regulated by the political code or by local statute. § 379, Civil C.

§ 2856. Private. Purposes. All corporations not public are private. Private corporations may be formed for any purpose for which individuals may lawfully associate themselves. § 380, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2857. Articles. The instrument by which a private corporation is formed is called "Articles of Incorporation." § 381, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2858. How formed. Private corporations may be formed by the voluntary association of three or more persons, except as otherwise expressly provided, upon complying with the provisions of this chapter. § 384, Civil C. 1, c. 35, 1887. 1, c. 39, 1893. am'd.

§ 2859. Religious and charitable limited. No corporation or association for religious or charitable purposes shall acquire or hold real estate in this state of a greater value than fifty thousand dollars. § 385, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2860. Penalty for violating last section. All real estate acquired or held by such corporations contrary to the provisions of the last section shall be forfeited and escheat to the state; but existing vested rights in real estate shall not be impaired by the provisions of this section. § 385, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2861. Contents of articles. The articles of incorporation must set forth: § 386, Civil C. am'd.

1. The name of the corporation.
2. The purpose for which it is formed.
3. The place where its principal business is to be transacted.
4. The term for which it is to exist.
5. The number of its directors or trustees and the names and residences of those who are to serve until their successors are elected and qualified.

6. If there is a capital stock, its amount and the number of shares into which it is divided.

§ 2862. Articles. Roads, etc. The articles of any corporation formed for the purpose of constructing wagon roads, telegraph or telephone lines must also state: § 387, Civil C. am'd.

1. The place from and to which the road or line is intended to be run and branches contemplated.

2. The counties through which it is intended to be run.

3. The estimated length and cost of the road or line.

§ 2863. Articles. Railways, etc. The articles of incorporation of railway corporations shall be in compliance with section 2944; of insurance corporations, in compliance with section 3088; of fraternal associations or corporations, in compliance with section 3184; of banking corporations, in compliance with section 3227.

§ 388, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2864. Subscribed by three persons. The articles of incorporation must be subscribed by three or more persons, one-third of whom must be residents of this state, and acknowledged by each before some officer authorized to take acknowledgments of conveyances of real property.

1, c. 139, 1890.
1, c. 105, 1891.
am'd.

§ 2865. Fee for articles. Every corporation for profit except building and loan associations, county mutual insurance companies, corporations for the manufacture of dairy products, agricultural fair corporations, and corporations whose capital stock does not exceed five thousand dollars formed for the purchase and maintenance of male animals for the improvement of stock, shall at or before the filing of the articles of incorporation pay into the state treasury, the sum of fifty dollars for the first fifty thousand dollars, or fraction thereof, of the capital stock of such corporation, and the further sum of five dollars for every additional ten thousand dollars, or fraction thereof, of its capital stock.

§ 2, c. 139, 1890.
am'd.

§ 2866. Fee in case of increase of stock. No increase of the capital stock of any corporation heretofore or hereafter formed, other than those excepted in the last section, shall be valid until such corporation shall have paid into the state treasury the sum of five dollars for every ten thousand dollars, or fraction thereof, of such increase in the capital stock of such corporation.

§ 3, c. 139, 1890.
am'd.

§ 2867. Receipt of treasurer filed. It shall be the duty of every corporation hereafter organized, or which shall hereafter increase its capital stock, other than those excepted in section 2865, to file with the secretary of state at the time of filing the articles of incorporation, or instrument evidencing such increase, a duplicate receipt of the state treasurer for the payments herein required to be made, which receipt, in duplicate, it is made the duty of such treasurer to furnish.

§ 389, Civil C.
§ 1, c. 35, 1885.

§ 2868. Secretary's certificate. Upon the filing of the articles of incorporation with the secretary of state he shall issue to the corporation over the great seal of the state a certificate that the articles containing the required statement of facts have been filed in his office; and thereupon the persons signing the articles, and their associates and successors, shall be a body politic and corporate by the name and for the purposes stated in said articles.

§ 390, Civil C.
§ 2, c. 35, 1885.

§ 2869. Record by secretary. Upon the filing of any articles of incorporation as in the last section is prescribed the secretary of state shall cause the same to be recorded in a book to be kept in his office for that purpose to be called the "book of corporations," with the date of filing.

§ 391, Civil C.

§ 2870. Copy. Evidence. A copy of any articles of incorporation filed in pursuance of this chapter, and certified by the secretary of state, must be received in all courts and other places as prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated and of the existence of such corporation.

§ 392, Civil C.

§ 2871. Stockholders and members defined. The owners of shares in a corporation which has a capital stock are called stockholders. If a corporation has no capital stock the incorporators and their successors are called members.

§ 2872. Stock of minors, etc., how represented. The shares of stock of an estate of a minor or insane person may at all elections and meetings of a corporation be represented by his guardian, and of a deceased person, by his executor or administrator. § 393, Civil C.

ARTICLE 2. — CORPORATE STOCK.

§ 2873. Subscription enforced. A subscription to the stock of a corporation about to be formed is to be held for the benefit of the corporation when it is formed and may be enforced by it. § 395, Civil C.

§ 2874. Books opened for subscriptions. After the secretary of state issues the certificate of incorporation as provided in section 2868, the directors named in the articles of incorporation must proceed in the manner specified or provided in their by-laws, or, if none, then in such manner as they may by order adopt, to open books of subscription to the capital stock then unsubscribed, and to secure subscriptions to the full amount of the fixed capital; and to levy and collect assessments thereon in the manner provided by article six of this chapter. § 396, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2875. May forfeit stock or recover subscription. When a corporation is authorized by the terms of subscription, or otherwise, to forfeit stock for nonpayment, it may either forfeit the stock, or recover the amount of the subscription, but it cannot do both. § 397, Civil C.

§ 2876. Stock negotiable. How indorsed. All corporations for profit must issue certificates of stock when fully paid up, signed by the president and secretary, and may provide in their by-laws for the issuance of certificates prior to the full payment under such restrictions and for such purposes as their by-laws provide. Upon all certificates of stock which are fully paid up, issued by a corporation, shall be indorsed the words "fully paid up." When certificates of stock are issued before they are fully paid up the secretary shall, before the same are issued, indorse thereon the amount which has been paid. No corporation shall issue any certificates of stock under an agreement or with the understanding that the full par value shall not be paid. Any officer of a corporation who issues certificates of stock in violation of the provisions of this chapter, or who has knowledge thereof, and does not at the time dissent therefrom in writing shall be liable to the creditors of the corporation and to purchasers in good faith of such stock for all damages they may sustain thereby. Whenever the capital stock of any corporation is divided into shares, and certificates thereof are issued, such shares of stock are personal property and may be transferred by indorsement by the signature of the proprietor or his attorney or legal representative, and delivery of the certificate; but such transfer is not valid except between the parties thereto, until the same is so entered upon the books of the corporation as to show the names of the parties by and to whom transferred, the number or designation of the shares and the date of the transfer. § 398, Civil C. am'd.

or who have knowledge thereof and do not at the time dissent therefrom in writing shall be jointly and severally liable to the creditors of such corporation for the difference between the actual cash value of such labor or property at the time such stock or bonds were issued and the par value of the stock or bonds issued therefor.

§ 2878. Note not payment for stock. No note or obligation given by a stockholder, whether secured by pledge or otherwise, shall be considered as payment of any part of the capital stock; but the capital stock shall be paid in, either in cash, or in the manner provided in this article.

§ 399, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2879. Excess void. A corporation whose capital is limited by its articles of incorporation, either in amount or in number of shares cannot issue valid certificates in excess of the limit thus prescribed.

§ 400, Civil C.
§ 1, c. 10, 1883.

§ 2880. Corporation may own its stock. Unless otherwise provided, a corporation may purchase, hold and transfer shares of its own stock from its surplus profits, or as provided in the article on assessments of stock, or by the unanimous consent in writing of all its stockholders, in such manner and for such price or consideration as the said stockholders may unanimously decide upon.

§ 401, Civil C.

§ 2881. Dividend belongs to whom. A dividend belongs to the person in whose name the stock stands upon the books of the corporation on the day when it becomes payable.

ARTICLE 3.—CORPORATE POWERS.

§ 402, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2882. Powers of corporations. Every corporation as such has power:

1. To have succession by its corporate name for the period limited, not exceeding twenty years, if a corporation for profit; and if not a corporation for profit, perpetually, subject to the power of the legislative assembly as hereinbefore declared.
2. To sue and be sued in any court.
3. To make and use a common seal and alter the same at pleasure.
4. To purchase, hold, transfer and convey such real and personal property as the legitimate purposes of the corporation may require, not exceeding in any case any amount limited by law.
5. To appoint such subordinate officers and agents as the business of the corporation may require, and to allow them suitable compensation.
6. To make by-laws not inconsistent with the law of the land for the management of its property, the regulation of its affairs and for the transfer of its stock.
7. To admit stockholders or members and to sell their stock or shares for the payment of assessments or installments.
8. To enter into any obligations or contract essential to the transacting of its ordinary affairs, or for the purposes of the corporation.
9. The powers of banking corporations are prescribed in sections 3229 and 3230.

In addition to the above enumerated powers and to those expressly given in any other statute under which it is incorporated, no corporation shall possess or exercise any corporate powers, except such as are necessary to the exercise of the powers enumerated and given.

§ 403, Civil C.

§ 2883. By-laws. Who adopt. Every corporation formed under this chapter must within one month after filing articles of incorporation adopt a code of by-laws for its government not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this state. The assent of stockholders representing a majority of all the subscribed capital stock, or of a majority of the members, if there is no capital stock, is necessary to adopt by-laws, if they are adopted at a meeting called for that purpose; and in the event of such meeting being called notice thereof shall be published two times, once in each week, for two successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county in which the principal place of business of the corporation is located, or if none is published therein, then in a paper published at the seat of government. The written assent of the holders of two-thirds of the stock, or of two-thirds of the members, if there is no capital stock, shall be effectual to adopt a code of by-laws without a meeting for that purpose.

§ 2884. Scope of by-laws. A corporation may by its by-laws, § 404, Civil C. when no other provision is specially made, provide:

1. The time, place and manner of calling and conducting its meetings.
2. The number of stockholders or members constituting a quorum.
3. The mode of voting by proxy.
4. The time of the annual election for directors and the mode and manner of giving notice thereof.
5. The compensation and duties of officers.
6. The manner of election and the tenure of office of all officers other than the directors; and,
7. Suitable penalties for violations of by-laws, not exceeding in any case one hundred dollars for any one offense.

§ 2885. Record. Certificates. Repeal of by-laws. All § 405, Civil C. by-laws adopted must be certified by a majority of the directors and secretary of the corporation, and copied in a legible hand in some book kept in the office of the corporation to be known as the "book of by-laws," and no by-laws shall take effect until so copied, and the book shall then be opened to the inspection of the public during office hours of each day except holidays. The by-laws may be repealed or amended, or new by-laws may be adopted at the annual meeting or at any other meeting of the stockholders or members, called for that purpose by the directors, by a vote representing two-thirds of the subscribed stock, or by two-thirds of the members; or the power to repeal and amend the by-laws and to adopt new by-laws may by a similar vote at any such meeting be delegated to the board of directors. The power when delegated may be revoked by a similar vote at any regular meeting of the stockholders or members. Whenever any amendment or new by-law is adopted it shall be copied in the book of by-laws with the original by-laws and immediately after them, and shall not take effect until so copied. If any by-law is repealed, the fact of the repeal with the date of the meeting at which the repeal was enacted shall be stated in the said book and until so stated the repeal shall not take effect.

§ 2886. Election of directors. The directors of a corporation § 406, Civil C. must be elected annually by the stockholders or members unless otherwise expressly provided, and if no provision is made in the by-laws for the time of election, the election must be held on the first Tuesday in June. Notice of election of directors must be given for the same time and in the same manner as provided in section 2883. am'd.

§ 406, Civil C.

§ 2887. Same. At the first meeting at which by-laws are adopted, or at such subsequent meeting as may then be designated, directors must be elected to hold their offices for one year and until their successors are elected and qualified.

§ 406, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2888. Manner of voting. All elections of directors must be by ballot and every stockholder shall have the right to vote, in person or by proxy, the number of shares standing in his name as provided in section 2895, for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate such shares and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of his shares of stock shall equal, or to distribute them on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit. The persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected.

§ 407, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2889. Number and power of directors. Unless otherwise expressly provided, the corporate powers, business and property of all corporations formed under this chapter must be exercised, conducted and controlled by a board of not less than three nor more than eleven directors, to be elected from among the holders of stock; or, when there is no capital stock, then from the members of such corporation. Directors of corporations for profit must be holders of stock therein in an amount to be fixed by the by-laws of the corporation. Directors of all other corporations must be members thereof. Unless a quorum is present and acting, no business performed or act done is valid as against the corporation. Whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of director, unless the by-laws of the corporation otherwise provide, such vacancy must be filled by an appointee of the board.

§ 408, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2890. Organization and election of officers. Immediately after their election the directors must organize and elect a president of the corporation, who must be one of their number, a secretary and treasurer. They must perform the duties enjoined on them by law and the by-laws of the corporation. A majority of the directors is a sufficient number to form a board for the transaction of business, and every decision of a majority of the directors forming such board, made when duly assembled, is valid as a corporate act.

§ 409, Civil C.
1, c. 81, 1889.
am'd.

§ 2891. Dividends only from profits. Limitation of indebtedness. Exception. The directors of corporations must not make dividends except from the surplus profits arising from the business thereof; nor must they divide, withdraw or pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock; nor must they create debts beyond the subscribed capital stock, or reduce or increase the capital stock, except as specially provided by law; provided, however, that the above limitation as to the creation of debts, shall not apply to the policy risks of insurance companies on which no loss has occurred, or the notes, bonds or debentures of any loan or trust company, organized under the provisions of this chapter when the payment of such notes, bonds or debentures shall be secured by the actual transfer of real estate by trust deed or mortgage for the payment of such notes, bonds or debentures, which said real estate so transferred shall be of twice the value of the par value of such notes, bonds or debentures; provided, further, that such limitation shall not apply to any loan or trust company's guarantee of payment after transfer of any note, bond or debenture when the same is secured by trust deed or mortgage as above stated.

§ 409, Civil C.

§ 2892. Penalty for violation of last section. For a violation of the provisions of the last section the directors under whose administration the same may have happened, except those who may have caused their dissent therefrom to be entered at large on the minutes of the directors at the time, or were not present when the same did happen; are, in their individual and private capacity, jointly and severally liable to the corporation, and to the creditors thereof, in the event of its dissolution, to the full amount of the capital stock so divided, withdrawn, paid out, or reduced, or debt contracted; and no statute of limitations is a bar to any action against such directors for any sums for which they are made liable by this section. There may, however, be a division and distribution of the capital stock of any corporation which remains after the payment of all its debts, upon its dissolution or the expiration of its term of existence.

§ 2893. False certificate or notice. Any officer of a corporation who willfully gives a certificate, or willfully makes an official report, public notice or entry in any of the records or books of the corporation concerning the corporation or its business, which is false in any material representation, shall be liable for all damages resulting therefrom to any person injured thereby; and if two or more officers unite or participate in the commission of any of the acts herein designated, they shall be jointly and severally liable. § 409, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2894. Removal of directors. No director shall be removed from office, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the members, or of stockholders holding two-thirds of the capital stock, at a general meeting held after notice of the time and place and of the intention to propose such removal. Meetings of stockholders for this purpose may be called by the president, or by a majority of the directors, or by members or stockholders holding at least one-half of the votes. Such calls must be in writing and addressed to the secretary, who must thereupon give notice of the time, place and object of the meeting and by whose order it was called. If the secretary refuses to give the notice, or if there is none, the call may be addressed directly to the members or stockholders, and be served as a notice, in which case it must specify the time and place of meeting. The notice must be given in the manner provided in section 2883, unless other express provision has been made therefor in the by-laws. In case of removal the vacancy may be filled by election at the same meeting. § 410, Civil C.

§ 2895. Quorum. Proxy. At all elections or votes had for any purpose there must be a majority of the subscribed capital stock, or of the members, represented either in person or by proxy in writing. Every person acting therein in person, or by proxy, or representative must be a member thereof or a bona fide stockholder, having stock in his own name on the stock books of the corporation at least ten days prior to the election. Any vote or election had other than in accordance with the provisions of this article is voidable at the instance of absent stockholders or members and may be set aside by petition to the district court of the county where the same was held. Any regular or called meeting of the stockholders or members may adjourn from day to day, or from time to time, if for any reason there is not present a majority of the subscribed stock or members, or no election had, such adjournment and the reasons therefor being recorded in the journal of proceedings of the board of directors. § 411, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2896. Election failing. If from any cause an election does not take place on the day appointed in the by-laws, it may be held on any day thereafter as provided for in such by-laws, or to which such election may be adjourned or ordered by the directors. If an election § 412, Civil C.

has not been held at the appointed time, and no adjourned or other meeting for the purpose has been ordered by the directors, a meeting may be called by the stockholders as provided in section 2894.

§ 412, Civil C.

§ 2897. Action. Election confirmed or new one ordered.

Upon the application of any person or body corporate aggrieved by any election held by any corporate body, or any proceedings thereof, the district judge of the district in which such election is held must proceed forthwith summarily to hear the allegations and proofs of the parties or otherwise inquire into the matters of complaint, and thereupon confirm the election, order a new one or direct such other relief in the premises as accords with right and justice. Before any proceedings are had under this section, five days' notice thereof must be given to the adverse party, or those to be affected thereby.

§ 412, Civil C.
1, c. 36, 1887.
am'd.

§ 2898. Where meetings held. The meetings of the stockholders and board of directors of a corporation must be held at its office or principal place of business; provided, that the meetings of the board of directors of a railway corporation may be held at the business office of such corporation without the state as well as its principal place of business within the state.

§ 2899. Same. The meetings of the board of directors of any private corporation created and existing or which may hereafter be created under and by virtue of the laws of the state of North Dakota, having one or more directors, resident in this state or having duly appointed an agent resident in this state upon whom service may be made, may be held at any place mentioned and provided in its by-laws either within or without the state.

§ 412, Civil C.

§ 2900. Meetings, how called. When no provision is made in the by-laws for regular meetings of the directors and the mode of calling special meetings, all meetings must be called by special notice in writing, to be given to each director by the secretary on the order of the president, or if there is none, on the order of two directors.

§ 412, Civil C.

§ 2901. When called by justice. Whenever from any cause there is no person authorized to call or to preside at a meeting of a corporation, any justice of the peace of the county where such corporation is established, may, on written application of three or more of the stockholders or of the members thereof, issue a warrant to one of the stockholders or members, directing him to call a meeting of the corporation by giving the notice required, and the justice may in the same warrant direct such person to preside at such meeting until a clerk is chosen and qualified, if there is no other officer present legally authorized to preside thereat.

§ 413, Civil C.
1, c. 9, 1879.
am'd.

§ 2902. Liability of stockholders. Trust funds. Each stockholder of a corporation is individually and personally liable for the debts of the corporation to the extent of the amount that is unpaid upon the stock held by him. Any creditor of the corporation may institute joint or several actions against any or all of the stockholders of a corporation whose shares have not been fully paid up, and in such action the court must ascertain the amount that is unpaid upon the stock held by each stockholder and for which he is liable, and several judgment must be rendered against each in conformity therewith. The liability of each stockholder is determined by the amount unpaid upon the stock or shares owned by him at the time such action is commenced, and such liability is not released by any subsequent transfer of stock. The term stockholder, as used in this section, shall apply not only to such persons as appear by the books of the corporation to be such, but also to every equitable owner of stock, although the same appears on the books in the name of another; and also to every person who has advanced the installments or purchase money of stock in the name of a minor, so long as the latter remains a minor; and also to every guardian or other trustee who voluntarily invests any trust funds in the stock. Trust funds in the hands of a guardian or trustee shall not be liable under the provisions of this section by reason of any such investment, nor shall the person for whose benefit the investment is made be responsible in respect to the stock until he becomes competent and able to control the same; but the responsibility of the guardian or trustee making the investment shall continue until that period. Stock held as collateral security, or by a trustee, or in any other representative capacity does not make the holder thereof a stockholder within the meaning of this section, except in the cases above mentioned, so as to charge him with the debts or liabilities of the corporation; but the pledgor, or person, or estate represented is to be deemed the stockholder as respects such liability.

§ 2903. When uncalled meeting valid. When all the stockholders or members of a corporation are present at any meeting, however called or notified and sign a written consent thereto on the record of such meeting, the doings of such meeting are as valid as if had at a meeting legally called and noticed; but this section shall not be construed to authorize the stock or bonded indebtedness of corporations to be increased, except at a meeting held after sixty days' notice. The stockholders or members of such corporation, when so assembled, may elect officers to fill all vacancies then existing, and may act upon such other business as might lawfully be transacted at regular meetings of the corporation.

§ 414, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2904. Nonresident transfers. When the shares of stock in a corporation are owned by parties residing out of the state, the president, secretary and directors of the corporation before entering any transfer of the shares on its books, or issuing a certificate therefor to the transferee, may require from the attorney or agent of the nonresident owner, or from the person claiming under the transfer, an affidavit or other evidence that the nonresident owner was alive at the date of the transfer, and if such affidavit or other satisfactory evidence is not furnished, may require from the attorney, agent or claimant a bond of indemnity with two sureties satisfactory to the officers of the corporation or if not so satisfactory, then one approved by the district judge of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is situated, conditioned to protect the corporation against any liability to the legal representatives of the owner of the shares in case of his or her death before the transfer, and if such affidavit, or other evidence, or bond is not furnished when required, as herein provided, neither the corporation, nor any officer thereof, shall be liable for refusing to enter the transfer on the books of the corporation.

§ 415, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 2905. Increasing or diminishing stock. Every corporation may increase or diminish its capital stock at a meeting called for that purpose by the directors as follows:

§ 416, Civil C.
am'd.

1. Notice of the time and place of the meeting, stating its object and the amount to which it is proposed to increase or diminish its capital stock must be personally served on each stockholder resident in the state sixty days prior to the time of such meeting at his place of residence, if known; and the notice must be given to stockholders whose place of residence is unknown or who are not residents in the state by the publication of such notice in a newspaper published in the county where the principal office of the corporation is situated, not less than once a week for sixty days prior to such meeting.

2. The capital stock must in no case be diminished to an amount less than the indebtedness of the corporation, or the estimated cost of the works which it may be the purpose of the corporation to construct.

3. At least two-thirds of the entire capital stock must be represented by the vote in favor of the increase or diminution before it can be effected.

4. A certificate must be signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting and a majority of the directors, showing a compliance with the requirements of this section, the amount to which the capital stock has been increased or diminished, the amount of stock represented at the meeting and the vote by which the object was accomplished.

5. The certificate must be filed in the office of the secretary of state, there to be recorded in the book of corporations, and thereupon the capital stock shall be so increased or diminished.

§ 2906. Bonds, how issued. At a meeting of the stockholders of the corporation called for that purpose by the directors a corporation may issue bonds, as follows:

1. Notice of the time and place of the meeting, stating its object and the amount of bonds to be issued, must be served in the manner provided in the last section.

2. At least two-thirds of the entire capital stock must be represented by the vote in favor of the issuance of bonds.

3. The certificate must be signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting and a majority of the directors, showing a compliance with the requirements of this section, the amount of bonds to be issued, the amount of stock represented at the meeting and the vote by which the object was accomplished, which certificate shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, there to be recorded in the book of corporations.

A violation of any of the provisions of this section shall render every director, officer and stockholder of the corporation, who had knowledge of such violation and did not dissent therefrom and cause his dissent to be entered at large upon the journal of the corporation, jointly and severally liable for all debts so created.

ARTICLE 4. — CORPORATE RECORDS.

§ 417. Civil C.

§ 2907. Record of business transaction. Stock book. Publicity. All corporations for profit are required to keep a record of all their business transactions; a journal of all meetings of their directors, members or stockholders, with the time and place of holding the same, whether regular or special, and if special, its object, how authorized and the notice thereof given. The record must embrace every act done, or ordered to be done; who were present and who were absent; and, if requested by any director, member or stockholder, the time shall be noted when he entered the meeting or obtained leave of absence therefrom. On a similar request the ayes and noes must be taken on any proposition and a record thereof made. On a similar request the protest of any director, member or stockholder to any action or proposed action must be entered in full;

all such records shall be open to the inspection of any director, member, stockholder or creditor of the corporation.

In addition to the records above required to be kept corporations for profit must keep a book to be known as the "stock and transfer book," in which must be kept a record of all stock; the names of the stockholders or members alphabetically arranged; installments paid or unpaid; assessments levied and paid or unpaid; a statement of every alienation, sale or transfer of stock made, the date thereof, and by and to whom, and all such other records as the by-laws prescribe. Corporations for religious and benevolent purposes must provide in their by-laws for such records to be kept as may be necessary. Such stock and transfer book must be kept open to the inspection of any stockholder, member or creditor.

ARTICLE 5. — AMENDING ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.

§ 2908. Amending articles of incorporation. Any private corporation created or existing, or which may hereafter be created under the laws of the state of North Dakota, may amend or change its articles of incorporation at a meeting called for that purpose by the directors, as follows: § 1, c. 40, 1893.
am'd.

1. Notice of the time and place of the meeting stating its object, must be served in the manner prescribed in section 2905.

2. At least two-thirds of the entire capital stock must be represented by the vote in favor of the amendment or change in the articles of incorporation.

3. A certificate must be signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting and a majority of the directors, showing a compliance with the requirements of this section, the articles to be amended or changed, the amount of stock or the number of members represented at the meeting and the vote by which the object was accomplished.

4. The certificate must be filed in the office of the secretary of state, there to be recorded in the book of corporations, and thereupon the articles shall be so amended.

5. The written assent of the holders of three-fourths of the capital stock or members shall be as effectual to authorize the change or amendment of the articles of incorporation as if a meeting of the stockholders, as prescribed by this section, was called and held and upon such written assent the directors may proceed to make the certificate to the secretary of state as herein provided.

§ 2909. Renewal of corporate existence. Any private corporation now existing in this state or which may hereafter be created under the laws of this state may at any time prior to the expiration of the period of its corporate existence as limited by its articles of incorporation or by this chapter renew the term of its corporate existence for another term of years, not exceeding the period limited by law, by amending its articles of incorporation in the manner and upon the notice prescribed in section 2908.

ARTICLE 6. — CHANGING CORPORATE NAME.

§ 2910. Changing corporate name. Every private corporation created and existing, or which may hereafter be created under § 1, c. 41, 1893.
am'd.

the laws of the state of North Dakota, may change its name at a meeting called for that purpose by the directors, as follows:

1. Notice of the time and place of the meeting, stating its object, must be served in the manner prescribed in section 2905.

2. At least two-thirds of the entire capital stock must be represented by the vote in favor of the change of name.

3. A certificate must be signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting and a majority of the directors, showing a compliance with the requirements of this section, the name adopted as the new name of such corporation, the amount of stock or the number of the members represented at the meeting and the vote by which the change of name was accomplished.

4. The certificate must be filed in the office of the secretary of state, there to be recorded in the book of corporations, and thereupon the name of such corporation shall be so changed.

5. The written assent of the holders of three-fourths of the subscribed capital stock shall be as effectual to authorize the change of name as if a meeting was called and held, as prescribed by this section, and upon such written assent the president and secretary may proceed to make the certificate to the secretary of state as herein provided.

6. Every proceeding, act, liability or thing done, undertaken, or incurred by or on behalf of the corporation, under its former name, shall be and continue of the same validity and obligation under such new name as if the name had remained unchanged.

ARTICLE 7. — CHANGING CORPORATE HEADQUARTERS.

§ 1, c. 49, 1890.
am'd.

§ 2911. Changing corporate headquarters. Every private corporation created and existing, or which may hereafter be created under the laws of the state of North Dakota, may change the place where its principal business is to be transacted at a meeting called for that purpose by the directors, as follows:

1. Notice of the time and place of the meeting, stating its object must be served in the manner specified in section 2905.

2. At least two-thirds of the entire capital stock must be represented by the vote in favor of the change of the place where the principal business of the corporation is to be transacted.

3. A certificate must be signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting and a majority of the directors, showing a compliance with the requirements of this section, the place to which the place where the principal business of the corporation is to be transacted has been changed, the amount of stock or the number of the members represented at the meeting, and the vote by which the object was accomplished.

4. The certificate must be filed in the office of the secretary of state, there to be recorded in the book of corporations, and thereupon the place where the principal business of the corporation is to be transacted shall be so changed.

5. The written assent of the holders of three-fourths of the subscribed capital stock shall be as effectual to authorize such change as if a meeting was called and held; and upon such written assent the directors may proceed to make the certificate herein provided for.

ARTICLE 8. — DISSOLUTION OF CORPORATIONS.

§ 2912. Involuntary. Voluntary, how. A corporation is § 418, CIVIL C. dissolved:

1. By the expiration of the time limited by its articles of incorporation.

2. Its involuntary dissolution is provided for in chapter 26 of the code of civil procedure.

3. If voluntary, its dissolution may be effected in the following manner:

(a) A corporation may be dissolved by the district court of the county where its office or principal place of business is situated, upon its voluntary application for that purpose.

(b) The application must be in writing and must set forth, that at a meeting of the stockholders or members called for that purpose the dissolution of the corporation was resolved upon by a two-thirds vote of all the stockholders or members, and that all claims and demands against the corporation have been satisfied and discharged.

(c) The application must be signed by a majority of the board of directors, trustees or other officers having the management of the affairs of the corporation and must be verified in the same manner as a complaint in a civil action.

(d) If the court is satisfied that the application is in conformity with this article, it must order the application to be filed and that the clerk give not less than thirty nor more than fifty days' notice of the application by publication in some newspaper published in the county and if there are none such, then by advertisement posted up in five of the principal places in the county.

(e) At any time before the expiration of the time of publication any person may file his objection to the application.

(f) After the time of publication has expired the court may upon five days' notice to the persons who have filed objections, or without further notice, if no objections have been filed, proceed to hear and determine the application; and if all the statements therein made are shown to be true, the court must declare the corporation dissolved.

(g) The application, notices and proof of publication, objections, if any, and declaration of dissolution constitute the judgment roll, and from the judgment an appeal may be taken in the same manner as in other actions.

§ 2913. Lapse by nonuser. If a corporation does not organize and commence the transaction of business or the construction of its works within one year from the date of its incorporation, its corporate powers cease. § 419, CIVIL C.

§ 2914. Directors trustees on dissolution. Unless other persons are appointed by the court, the directors or managers of the affairs of such corporation at the time of its dissolution are trustees of the creditors and stockholders or members of the corporation dissolved, and have full power to settle the affairs of the corporation and to collect and pay debts and divide among the stockholders the property which remained after the payment of debts and necessary expenses; and for such purposes may maintain or defend actions in their own names by the style of the trustees of such corporation dissolved, naming it; and no action whereto any such corporation is a party shall abate by reason of such dissolution. § 420, CIVIL C.

§ 421, Civil C. § 2915. Liability of trustees. The trustees mentioned in the preceding section are jointly and severally responsible to the creditors, stockholders and members of the corporation to the extent of its property in their hands.

§ 422, Civil C. § 2916. How revived. A corporation once dissolved can be revived only by the same power by which it could be created.

ARTICLE 9. — ASSESSMENTS OF STOCK.

§ 423, Civil C. § 2917. When levied. The directors of any corporation formed or existing under the laws of this state, after one-fourth of its capital stock has been subscribed, may for the purpose of paying expenses, conducting business or paying debts levy and collect assessments upon the subscribed capital stock thereof in the manner and form and to the extent provided herein.

§ 424, Civil C. § 2918. Limitation of. No assessment must exceed ten per cent of the amount of the capital stock named in the articles of incorporation, except in the cases in this section otherwise provided for, as follows:

1. If the whole capital of a corporation has not been paid up, and the corporation is unable to meet its liabilities or to satisfy the claims of its creditors, the assessment may be for the full amount unpaid upon the capital stock; or if a less amount is sufficient then it may be for such a percentage as will raise that amount.

2. The directors of railroad corporations may assess the capital stock in installments of not more than ten per cent per month, unless in the articles of incorporation it is otherwise provided.

3. The directors of fire or marine insurance corporations may assess such a percentage of the capital stock as they deem proper.

§ 425, Civil C. § 2919. When new assessment can be levied. No assessment must be levied while any portion of a previous one remains unpaid, unless:

1. The power of the corporation has been exercised in accordance with the provisions of this article for the purpose of collecting such previous assessment.

2. The collection of the previous assessment has been enjoined; or,

3. The assessment falls within the provisions of either the first, second or third subdivision of section 2918.

§ 426, Civil C. § 2920. Requisites of assessment. Every order levying an assessment must specify the amount thereof, when, to whom and where payable, fix a day subsequent to the full term of publication of the assessment notice on which the unpaid assessments shall be delinquent, not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the time of making the order of levying the assessment; and a day for the sale of delinquent stock, not less than fifteen nor more than sixty days from the day the stock is declared delinquent.

§ 427, Civil C. § 2921. Form of notice. Upon the making of the order the secretary shall cause to be published a notice thereof in the following form:

(Name of corporation in full. Location of principal place of business.)

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the directors, held on the (date), an assessment of (amount) per share was levied upon the capital stock of the corporation, payable (when, to whom and where). Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on the (day fixed) will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction and unless payment is made before, will be sold on the (day appointed), to pay the delinquent assessment together with costs of advertising and expenses of sale.

§ 2922. Service of notice. The notice must be personally served upon each stockholder, or in lieu of personal service, must be sent through the mail, addressed to each stockholder at his place of residence, if known, and if not known, at the place where the principal office of the corporation is situated, and be published once a week for four successive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation and devoted to the publication of general news, published at the place designated in the articles of incorporation as the principal place of business, and also in some newspaper published in the county in which the works of the corporation are situated, if a paper is published therein. If the works of the corporation are not within a state or territory of the United States, publication in a paper of the place where they are situated is not necessary. If there is no newspaper published at the place designated as the principal place of business of the corporation, then the publication must be made in some other newspaper of the county, if there is one, and if there is none, then in a newspaper published in an adjoining county. § 428, Civil C.

§ 2923. Notice of delinquency. If any portion of the assessment mentioned in the notice remains unpaid on the day specified therein for declaring the stock delinquent, the secretary must, unless otherwise ordered by the board of directors, cause to be published in the same papers in which the notice hereinbefore provided for shall have been published a notice substantially in the following form: § 429, Civil C.

NOTICE. There is delinquent upon the following described stock on account of assessment levied on the (date), (and assessments levied previous thereto, if any), the several amounts set opposite the names of the respective shareholders, as follows: (Names, number of certificate, number of shares, amount). And in accordance with law (and an order of the board of directors made on the (date), if any such order shall have been made), so many shares of each parcel of such stock as may be necessary, will be sold, at the (particular place), on the (date), at (the hour) of such day, to pay delinquent assessments thereon, together with costs of advertising and expenses of the sale.

§ 2924. Contents of notice. The notice must specify every certificate of stock, the number of shares it represents and the amount due thereon, except when certificates may not have been issued to parties entitled thereto, in which case the number of shares and amount due thereon together with the fact that the certificate for such shares has not been issued must be stated. § 430, Civil C.

§ 2925. Publication thereof. The notice when published in a daily paper must be published for ten days, excluding Sundays and holidays, previous to the day of sale. When published in a weekly paper it must be published in each issue for two weeks previous to the day of sale. The first publication of all delinquent sales must be at least fifteen days prior to the day of sale. § 431, Civil C.

- § 432, Civil C. § 2926. Jurisdiction to sell stock. By the publication of the notice the corporation acquires jurisdiction to sell and convey a perfect title to all of the stock described in the notice of sale upon which any portion of the assessment or costs of advertising remains unpaid at the hour appointed for the sale, but must sell no more of such stock than is necessary to pay the assessments due and costs of sale.
- § 433, Civil C. § 2927. Manner of sale. On the day, at the place and at the time appointed in the notice of sale the secretary must, unless otherwise ordered by the directors, sell or cause to be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash so many shares of each parcel of the described stock as may be necessary to pay the assessment and charges thereon according to the terms of sale; if payment is made before the time fixed for sale, the party paying is only required to pay the actual cost of advertising in addition to the assessment.
- § 434, Civil C. § 2928. Highest bidder defined. The person offering at such sale to pay the assessment and costs for the smallest number of shares or fraction of a share is the highest bidder and the stock purchased must be transferred to him on the stock books of the corporation on payment of the assessment and costs.
- § 435, Civil C. § 2929. When corporation may bid. If at the sale of stock no bidder offers the amount of the assessment and costs and charges due the same may be bid in and purchased by the corporation through the secretary, president or any director thereof at the amount of the assessment, costs and charges due; and the amount of the assessments, costs and charges must be credited as paid in full on the books of the corporation and an entry of the transfer of the stock of the corporation must be made on the books thereof. While the stock remains the property of the corporation it is not assessable, nor must any dividend be declared thereon; but all assessments and dividends must be apportioned upon the stock held by the stockholders of the corporation.
- § 436, Civil C. § 2930. Title to stock in corporation. All purchases of its own stock made by any corporation vest the legal title to the same in the corporation; and the stock so purchased is held subject to the control of the stockholders, who may make such disposition of the same as they deem fit, in accordance with the by-laws of the corporation or vote of a majority of all the remaining shares. Whenever any portion of the capital stock of a corporation is held by the corporation by purchase, a majority of the remaining shares is a majority of the stock for all purposes of election or voting on any question at a stockholders' meeting.
- § 437, Civil C. § 2931. Time extended by publication. The dates fixed in any notice of assessment or notice of delinquent sale, published according to the provisions hereof, may be extended from time to time for not more than thirty days by order of the directors entered on the records of the corporation; but no order extending the time for the performance of any act specified in any notice is effectual unless notice of such extension or postponement is appended to and published with the notice to which the order relates.
- § 438, Civil C. § 2932. Irregularities do not invalidate. No assessment is invalidated by a failure to make publication of the notices hereinbefore provided for, nor by the nonperformance of any act required in order to enforce the payment of the same; but in case of any substantial error or omission in the course of proceedings for collection.

§ 2933. Redemption. Limitation. No action must be sustained to recover stock sold for delinquent assessments upon the ground of irregularity in the assessment, irregularity or defect of the notice of sale, or defect or irregularity in the sale, unless the party seeking to maintain such action first pays or tenders to the corporation, or the party holding the stock sold, the sum for which the same was sold, together with all subsequent assessments which may have been paid thereon and interest on such sums from the time they were paid; and no such action must be sustained unless the same is commenced by the filing of a complaint and the issuing of a summons thereon within six months after such sale is made. § 439, Civil C. am'd.

§ 2934. Proof of publication and sale. The publication of notice required by this article may be proved by the affidavit of the printer, foreman or principal clerk of the newspaper in which the same was published; and the affidavit of the secretary or auctioneer is prima facie evidence of the time and place of sale, of the quantity and particular description of the stock sold, and to whom, and for what price and of the fact of the purchase money being paid. The affidavits must be filed in the office of the corporation and copies of the same certified by the secretary thereof are prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. Certificates signed by the secretary and under the seal of the corporation are prima facie evidence of the contents thereof. § 440, Civil C.

§ 2935. Stock may be declared delinquent or action brought. On the day specified for declaring the stock delinquent, or at any time subsequent thereto and before the sale of the delinquent stock, the board of directors may elect to waive further proceedings under this article for the collection of delinquent assessments, or any part or portion thereof, and may elect to proceed by action to recover the amount of the assessment and the costs and expenses already incurred, or any part or portion thereof. § 441, Civil C.

ARTICLE 10.—JUDGMENT AGAINST AND SALE OF CORPORATE FRANCHISES.

§ 2936. Franchise saleable. No exemption. For the satisfaction of any judgment against a corporation authorized to receive tolls its franchise and all the rights and privileges thereof may be levied upon and sold under execution in the same manner and with the same effect as any other property, but without any exemption. § 442, Civil C.

§ 2937. Certificate of purchase. Rights of purchaser. The purchaser at the sale must receive a certificate of purchase of the franchise and be immediately let into the possession of all property necessary for the exercise of the powers and the receipt of the proceeds thereof and must thereafter conduct the business of such corporation with all its powers and privileges and subject to all its liabilities, until the redemption of the same as hereinafter provided. § 443, Civil C.

§ 2938. Further rights. The purchaser or his assignee is entitled to recover any penalties imposed by law and recoverable by the corporation for an injury to the franchise or property thereof, or for any damages or other cause occurring during the time he holds the same and may use the name of the corporation for the purpose of § 444, Civil C.

any action necessary to recover the same. A recovery for damages or any penalties thus had is a bar to any subsequent action by or on behalf of the corporation for the same.

§ 445. Civil C. § 2939. Other powers of corporation remain. The corporation whose franchise is sold, as in this article provided, in all other respects retains the same powers, is bound to the discharge of the same duties and is liable to the same penalties and forfeitures as before such sale.

§ 446. Civil C. § 2940. Corporation may redeem. The corporation may at any time within one year after such sale redeem the franchise by paying or tendering to the purchaser thereof the sum paid therefor with twelve per cent interest thereon, but without any allowance for the toll which he may in the meantime have received; and upon such payment or tender the franchise and all the rights and privileges thereof revert and belong to the corporation as if no such sale had been made.

§ 447. Civil C. § 2941. Where sold. The sale of any franchise under execution must be made in the county in which the corporation has its principal place of business, or in which the property, or some portion thereof, upon which the taxes are paid is situated.

ARTICLE 11. — EXAMINATION OF CORPORATIONS, ETC.

§ 448. Civil C. § 2942. Examination by legislative assembly. The legislative assembly or either branch thereof, may examine into the affairs and condition of any corporation in this state at all times; and for that purpose any committee appointed by the said assembly or either branch thereof, may administer all necessary oaths to the directors, officers and stockholders of such corporation, and may examine them on oath in relation to the affairs and condition thereof, and may examine the safes, books, papers and documents belonging to such corporation, or pertaining to its affairs and condition and compel the production of all keys, books, papers and documents by summary process to be issued on application to any district court or any judge thereof under such rules and regulations as the court may prescribe.

§ 449. Civil C.
am'd. § 2943. Power reserved by legislative assembly. The legislative assembly may at any time amend or repeal this chapter, or any article or section thereof and dissolve all corporations thereunder; but such amendment or repeal does not, nor does the dissolution of any such corporation, take away or impair any remedy given against such corporation, its stockholders or officers, for any liability which has been previously incurred.

CHAPTER 12.

RAILROAD CORPORATIONS.

ARTICLE 1. — INCORPORATION AND REGULATION.

§ 2944. Who may form. Articles. Any number of persons, § 1, c. 46, 1879.
not less than five, may form a corporation for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating a railroad for the transportation of freight and passengers and for the purpose of maintaining and operating any railroad already constructed for the like purpose. am'd.

The articles of incorporation shall state:

1. The name of the corporation.
2. The place from and to which such railroad is to be constructed, or maintained and operated, as the case may be.
3. The estimated length of such railroad and the name of each county in this state through or into which it is made or intended to be made.

4. The amount of the capital stock of the corporation, the number of shares of which it shall consist, and if such stock shall consist of common and preferred stock, the number and amount of each class.

5. The names and residences of the directors of the corporation, who shall manage its affairs for the first year and until others are chosen in their places, and who shall not be less than five nor more than thirteen in number; and each such person shall subscribe thereto his name, place of residence and the number of shares of stock he agrees to take in such corporation. There shall be annexed to such articles an affidavit of at least three of the directors therein named, that the signatures thereto are genuine and that it is intended in good faith to construct or maintain and operate the railroad therein mentioned; and thereupon said articles and affidavits shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

§ 2945. Number and term of directors. There shall be a board of not less than five nor more than thirteen directors of every such corporation, who shall be elected at such time, in such manner and for such term as shall be prescribed by its by-laws and shall hold their offices until their respective successors shall be chosen. § 3, c. 46, 1879. am'd.

§ 2946. Stock not transferable until calls paid. No stock of a railroad corporation is transferable, until all previous calls thereon shall have been fully paid in. § 6, c. 46, 1879.

§ 2947. Powers. Every corporation formed under this article and every railroad corporation authorized to construct, operate or maintain a railroad within this state shall have in addition to the powers mentioned in section 2882 the following powers: §§ 9, 10, c. 46, 1879. § 1, c. 92, 1883. am'd.

1. To cause such examination and surveys for its proposed railroad, as may be necessary to the selection of the most advantageous route; and for such purpose by its officers or agents and servants to enter upon the lands or waters of any person, but subject to responsibility for all damage which shall be done thereto.

2. To take and hold such voluntary grants of real estate and other property as may be made to it to aid in the construction, maintenance and accommodation of its railroad; but the real estate received by voluntary grant shall be held and used for the purposes of such grant only.

3. To acquire under the provisions of the chapter on eminent domain or by purchase all such real estate and other property as may be necessary for the construction, maintenance and operation of its railroads and the stations, depot grounds and other accommodations reasonably necessary to accomplish the objects of its incorporation; to hold and use the same, to lease, or otherwise dispose of any part or parcel thereof, or sell the same when not required for railroad uses and no longer necessary to its use.

4. To lay out its road not exceeding one hundred feet in width and to construct the same; and for the purpose of cuttings and embankments and of obtaining gravel and other material to take as much land as may be necessary for the proper construction, operation and security of the road and for the protection of such road from snow and to cut down any standing trees that may be in danger of falling on the road, making compensation therefor as provided by law for land taken for the use of the corporation.

5. Subject to the provisions of section 2956, to construct its railroad across, along or upon any stream of water, water course, street, highway, toll or wagon road, plank road, turnpike, wharf, levee, river front, steamboat or other public landing or canal which its route shall intersect or touch; to carry any highway, street, toll or wagon road, plank road or turnpike which it shall touch, intersect or cross over or under its track, as may be most expedient for the public good; to change the course or direction of any highway, street, turnpike, toll or wagon road or plank road when made necessary or desirable to secure more easy ascent or descent by reason of any embankment or cut made in the construction of the railroad and take land necessary therefor; provided, such highway or road is not so changed from its original course more than six rods, nor its distance thereby lengthened more than five rods.

6. To cross, intersect, join and unite its railroad with any railroad heretofore or hereafter constructed at any point on its route and upon the grounds of such railroad corporation, with the necessary turn-outs, sidings and switches and other conveniences in furtherance of the objects of its connections. And every corporation whose railroad is or shall be hereafter intersected by any new railroad shall unite with the owners of such new railroad in forming such intersections and connections and grant the facilities aforesaid; and if the two corporations cannot agree upon the amount of compensation to be made therefor or the points and manner of such crossings and connections the same shall be ascertained and determined in the manner provided by law for the ascertainment and determination of damages for the taking of real property. But no corporation which shall have obtained the right of way and constructed its road at the point of intersection before the commencement of an action under the provisions of the chapter on eminent domain shall be required to alter the grade or change the location of its road or be required to bear any part of the expense of making and maintaining such crossing.

7. To have and use equal room, ground, rights, privileges and conveniences for tracks, switches, sidings and turn-outs upon any levee, river bank or front, steamboat or other public landing and upon any street, block, alley, square or public ground within any incorporated town or city, any charter or ordinance of any such city or town to the contrary notwithstanding; and to accomplish this may adjust with other corporations the ground to be occupied by each with such tracks, switches, sidings and turn-outs; and if such corporations cannot agree upon such adjustment and the amount of compensation to be paid for the purchase or necessary change of location and removal of any track previously laid the same shall be ascertained and determined and the common, mutual and separate rights adjusted in the manner provided by law for the ascertainment and determination of damages for the taking of real property. The court, or a judge thereof, may employ a competent engineer and define, locate and plat the ground and assign to each corporation the part for the tracks and other conveniences for each and may require the removal or purchase of tracks previously laid so as justly to settle the rights of such corporation upon such ground, the damages to be paid being assessed in accordance with the chapter on eminent domain.

8. To take and convey persons or property over its road by the power or force of steam, or of animals, or by any mechanical power and to receive compensation therefor; and to do all the business incident to railroad corporations.

9. To erect and maintain all necessary and convenient buildings, stations, fixtures and machinery for the accommodation and use of its passengers, freight and business, subject to the statutes in relation thereto.

10. To regulate the time and manner in which passengers and property shall be transported and the compensation to be paid therefor.

11. To borrow from time to time such sums of money at such rates of interest and upon such terms as the corporation or board of directors shall agree upon and authorize as necessary or expedient and to execute trust deeds or mortgages, or both as occasion may require on any railroads or parts thereof constructed or in process of construction, for amounts borrowed or owing by the corporation, and therein to make provision granting, transferring or mortgaging its railroad track, right of way, depot grounds, rights, privileges, franchises, immunities, exemptions, machine houses, rolling stock, furniture, tools, implements, appendages and appurtenances used in connection with such railroads, in any manner whatever then belonging to the corporation or which may thereafter belong to it as security for any bonds or evidences of debt therein mentioned, in such manner as the corporation or directors shall think proper, and such instruments shall fully convey the same or so much thereof as shall be therein described. In case of sale by virtue of any such trust deed or upon foreclosure of any such mortgage the persons acquiring title under such sale and their associates, successors and assigns, or such corporation as they shall organize according to section 2944, with all the powers conferred upon corporations by this chapter, shall thereafter have, exercise and enjoy all such described grants which were purchased at such sale, including all rights, privileges, grants, franchises, immunities and advantages mentioned in such instruments which were possessed by such corporations making the same or contracting such debts, so far as the same relate or appertain to that portion or line of road granted or mortgaged and purchased at such sale and no further as fully and absolutely in all respects as such corporation, its shareholders, officers and agents might have done if such sale had not taken place. And whenever the person so acquiring title under any such sale shall own or represent a majority in amount of the bonds or other evidences of debt secured by any such trust deed or mortgage and shall also include the persons who owned at the time of the sale a majority in amount of the capital stock of such mortgagor corporation, such purchasers and such corporation as they shall organize as aforesaid, shall also have, possess and enjoy any exemption, privilege or immunity previously granted by any law to such former corporation relating to any of the property so acquired to the same extent as if such latter corporation had been named in such law as the grantee thereof.

§ 1. c. 99, 1893.
am'd.

§ 2948. Right of way through state lands. Conditions.

Every railroad company duly organized under the laws of any state or territory, or by the United States authorized to build and operate a railroad within this state, which shall have filed with the secretary of state a copy of its articles of incorporation properly certified shall have the right to take, hold and use for the purposes of a railroad a strip of land one hundred feet wide, fifty feet on each side of the center line of such railroad, through each and every tract of public land owned or held by the state across which its road has been or shall be located or constructed; provided, that when it shall be necessary to protect such railroad from snow, or to use extra width in its construction such company shall have the right to take, hold and use a strip of land not exceeding two hundred feet in width, one hundred feet on each side of such center line, through such public lands; provided, further, that at all its regular stations established upon such land such company shall have the right to take a strip of land one thousand six hundred feet long and three hundred feet wide for station purposes.

§ 2949. School lands at appraised value. Whenever any school or state lands are taken for railway purposes as provided in the preceding section, the railway company so taking such lands shall pay to the state treasurer the appraised value thereof, but in no case any sum less than ten dollars per acre for all such lands so taken.

§ 3. c. 99, 1893.
am'd.

§ 2950. How right of way obtained. Any railway company desiring to secure the benefits of section 2948 shall within ninety days after the definite location of its road across any section of such lands file in the office of the board of university and school lands a plat of such section of land, showing the location of such road through the same and all stations located thereon; and thereafter all such lands over which such roads shall pass shall be disposed of subject to this grant; and every certificate or patent for such lands thereafter sold shall contain an express reservation to the use of such company of all lands which it shall have appropriated in accordance with the provisions of this article; provided, that if such road shall not be completed across any such section within five years after the location of the same thereon the rights herein granted shall be forfeited as to any such section of land.

§ 4. c. 99, 1893.

§ 2951. When right of way reverts to state. If any railway company appropriating any public lands by virtue of section 2948 shall at any time abandon the use thereof for railway purposes for a period of one year the same shall revert to the state.

§ 11. c. 46, 1879.
am'd.

§ 2952. Extensions and branches. Any railroad corporation may, under the provisions of this article, extend its road from any point named in its articles of incorporation or may build branch roads, either from any point on its line of road, or from any point on the line of any other road connecting or to be connected with its road, the use of which other road between such points and the connection with its own road such corporation shall have secured by a lease or agreement for a term of not less than ten years from its date. Before making such extension or building any such branch road such corporation shall by resolution of its directors, to be entered in the record of its proceedings, designate the route of such proposed extension or branch in the manner provided in section 2944 and file a copy of such record certified by the president and secretary in the office of the secretary of state and cause the same to be recorded as provided in such section. Thereupon such corporation shall have all the rights and privileges to make such extension or build such branch and receive aid thereto which it would have had if it had been authorized in its articles of incorporation. But this section shall not be construed to authorize railroad corporations to consolidate with each other.

§ 2953. Directors may alter route. The board of directors of every railroad corporation may by a vote of two-thirds of the whole number at any time alter the route, or any portion of the route of its road, or any extension or branch thereof, or part of its road, or any extension or branch as constructed, if it shall appear to it that the line can be improved thereby; but no railroads shall be so diverted from any county, town, city or village which in its corporate capacity shall have extended aid to such road, either while in the hands of the then present owner or any former person or corporation; and no such alteration shall be made in any city or village after the road shall have been constructed therein, unless the same shall have been sanctioned by a vote of two-thirds of the council of such city or the trustees of such village. Before making any such alterations the board of directors shall designate the route thereof by resolution, to be entered in its records, filed and recorded in the office of the secretary of state, as provided in the preceding section; thereupon it shall have the same rights and privileges to build such road as altered as if it was the original line. § 12, c. 46, 1879.

§ 2954. Consolidation, leasing and purchase of non-competing lines. Any railroad corporation organized and existing under the laws of the territory of Dakota or state of North Dakota, or existing by consolidation of different railway companies under the laws of such territory or state and of any other territory or state, may consolidate its stock, franchises and property with any other railroad corporation, whether within or without the state, when their respective railroads can be lawfully connected and operated together to constitute one continuous main line with or without branches upon such terms as may be agreed upon and become one corporation by any name selected, which within this state shall possess all the powers, franchises and immunities, including the right of further consolidation with other corporations under this section, and be subject to all liabilities and restrictions of this chapter. Articles stating the terms of consolidation shall be approved by each corporation by a vote of the stockholders owning a majority of the stock in person or by proxy at a meeting called for that purpose of which notice, stating the object of the meeting, shall be given in the manner prescribed in section 2905, and a copy thereof with a copy of the record of such approval and accompanied by lists of their stockholders and the number of shares held by each, duly certified by their respective presidents and secretaries with the respective seals of such corporations affixed shall be filed for record in the office of the secretary of state before any such consolidation shall have any validity or effect. Any such railroad corporation may lease or purchase and take a conveyance or assignment of the railroad, franchises, immunities and all other prop- § 13, c. 46, 1879.

erty and appurtenances of any other railroad corporation, or any portion thereof within or without this state, when their respective railroads can be lawfully connected and operated together to constitute one continuous main line, or when the road so purchased will constitute branches or feeders of any road maintained and operated by such purchasing corporation. Such purchase or lease must be authorized by the stockholders of the respective corporations at a meeting called as herein provided for the consolidation of railroads and by the same vote. But no railroad corporation shall consolidate with, or lease or purchase, or in any way become owner of, or control any other railroad corporation or any stock, franchises, rights or property thereof which owns and controls a parallel and competing line. In no case shall the capital stock of the company formed by such consolidation exceed the sum of the capital stock of the companies consolidated at the par value thereof, nor shall any bonds or other evidences of debt be issued as a consideration for or in connection with such consolidation.

§ 15, c. 46, 1879.

§ 2955. Highways, etc., to be restored to former state.

Every corporation constructing, owning or using a railroad shall restore every stream of water, water course, street, highway, plank road, toll or wagon road, turnpike or canal across, along or upon which such railroad may be constructed to its former state or to such condition as that its usefulness shall not be materially impaired, and thereafter maintain the same in such condition against any effects in any manner produced by such railroad.

§ 2956. Clear passage over highways. When it shall be necessary in the construction of a railroad to erect a bridge or culvert over any highway, street, turnpike or plank road, toll or wagon road it shall be sufficient to construct the same so as to give a clear passage way of twenty feet or two passage ways of fourteen feet each.

§ 17, c. 46, 1879.

§ 2957. Fixtures defined. What subject to mortgage.

All rolling stock of any railroad corporation organized under the provisions of this article used and employed in connection with its railroad and all fuel necessary to the operation of the same are declared and shall be held to be fixtures; and all such property and all additional rights of way, depot grounds and other real property acquired subsequently to the execution of any trust deed or mortgage which shall have been described or provided for therein shall be subject to the lien thereof to the same extent as the property therein described which the corporation owned at the time of its execution.

§ 2958. Conveyances, etc., how executed and recorded.

Every conveyance or lease, deed of trust, mortgage or satisfaction thereof made by any railroad corporation of any franchises, real estate, fixtures or other real property in pursuance of law shall be executed and acknowledged in the manner in which conveyances of real estate by corporations are required to be to entitle the same to be recorded and shall be recorded in the office of the secretary of state, who shall indorse thereon his certificate thereof, specifying the day and hour of its reception and the volume and page where recorded, which shall be evidence of such facts. Every such record of any such instrument shall from the time of reception have the same effect as to any property in this state described therein as the record of any similar instrument in the office of a register of deeds may have by law as to property in his county and shall be notice of the rights and interests of the grantee, lessee or mortgagee by such instrument to the same extent as if it was recorded in each and all of the several counties in which any property therein described may be situated.

§ 1, c. 93, 1883.
am'd.

§ 2960. Where recorded. Cars, etc., how marked. Such contract shall be recorded in the office of the secretary of state and on each locomotive or car that may have been or may be so sold or leased the name of the vendor, or lessor, or assignee of the vendor or lessor shall be marked in a conspicuous place followed by the word, "owner" or "lessor," as the case may be.

§ 2, c. 93, 1883.
am'd.

§ 2961. Sinking fund. The board of directors of any railroad corporation may annually or oftener, as may be deemed expedient, set apart and appropriate a sum of money not exceeding fifty per cent of its net earnings as resources for any one year, after paying the current expense of its road and the interest on its outstanding indebtedness, in order to sink, redeem, pay off, cancel or discharge the indebtedness of such corporation; and the said sums so set apart shall be annually applied to the payment and discharge of such debts of such corporation as shall be due, and to the purchase and redemption of the outstanding evidences of indebtedness of such corporation, as the board of directors thereof shall deem most for the interest of such corporation and for no other purpose.

§ 2962. Defense of usury prohibited. No railroad corporation shall be allowed to make the defense of usury against the holder of any bond or other obligation for the payment of money issued by such corporation.

§ 2963. May classify directors. Any railroad corporation may by a vote of a majority in amount of the stockholders present or represented at any annual meeting classify its directors into three classes, each of which shall be composed, as nearly as may be, of one-third of the directors; the term of office of the first class to expire in one year, of the second in two years and of the third in three years. At each annual election thereafter a number of directors shall be elected for three years equal to the number whose term of office shall then expire; all other vacancies shall be filled in accordance with the by-laws.

§ 2964. Annual report must be made. Contents. Every railroad corporation shall make an annual report to the stockholders of its operations during the year ending on the thirtieth day of June, which report shall be verified by the affidavit of the secretary, treasurer, superintendent and directors of the corporation and shall state:

§ 22, c. 46, 1879.

1. The length of the road in operation, the length of single track, the length of double track, the weight of the rail per yard.

2. The capital stock actually subscribed and the amount paid thereon.

3. The whole cost of the road, showing the amount expended for the right of way, bridging, grading, iron and buildings respectively and for all other purposes incidental to the construction of such road.

4. The amount and nature of its indebtedness, distinguishing the first, second and third mortgage bonds, and the unsecured indebtedness and the amount due the corporation.

A bell of at least thirty pounds in weight or a steam whistle shall be placed on each locomotive engine and shall be rung or whistled at the distance of at least eighty rods from the place where the said railroad shall cross any other road or street and be kept ringing or whistling until it shall have crossed said road or street under a penalty of fifty dollars for every neglect, to be paid by the corporation owning the railroad, one-half thereof to go to the informer, and the other half to this state, and also be liable for all damages which shall be sustained by any person by reason of such neglect.

§ 2977. Train must stop before crossing other railroads or drawbridge. Every train of cars and every locomotive about to cross the track of another railroad shall come to a full stop before arriving at or crossing the track of such other and within four hundred feet thereof; and the train or locomotive arriving near such crossing first shall cross and move on first; and every such train or locomotive shall also come to a full stop before crossing or running upon any drawbridge over a stream which is regularly navigated by vessels during the season when such stream is so used for navigation, and the use of such draw is necessary for the passage of boats, vessels and other crafts, navigating the waters of such stream, at a distance from such bridge of not more than six hundred feet; provided, that no such stop need be made before crossing such drawbridge or railroad crossing of railroads operated by the same company, if at the time an employee of the company shall be standing on such bridge or crossing with a proper light by night, or flag by day, and signal such train to proceed.

§ 679, C. Civil P.
am'd.

§ 2978. Killing of stock prima facie evidence of negligence. The killing or damaging of any horses, cattle or other stock by the cars or locomotives along a railroad shall be prima facie evidence of carelessness and negligence on the part of the corporation.

§ 484, Civil C.

§ 2979. Crossing when land on both sides owned by one person. When any person owns land on both sides of any railroad the corporation owning such railroad shall, when required so to do make and keep in good repair one causeway or other safe and adequate means of crossing the same.

§ 2980. When required to fence. Whenever the owner of any tract of land abutting against any line of railroad within this state shall desire to inclose any such tract of land for pasturage or other purposes and shall construct a good and sufficient fence about said tract of land on all sides except along the side abutting against such railroad it shall be the duty of such railroad company to construct a good and sufficient fence not less than four and one-half feet high on the side of such tract or lot so far as the same extends along the line of such railroad and to maintain the same in good repair and condition, until released therefrom by the owner of said tract or until the owner of said tract shall have ceased to maintain, in good repair and condition for the term of one year, his portion of the fence around such inclosure.

§ 2981. Notice from owner. Whenever the owner of any tract of land shall have completed his portion of the fence about such proposed inclosure he shall give written notice of its completion to the railroad company upon whose line said tract is situated by personal service upon the agent of said company at the station nearest to the proposed inclosure describing in said notice the situation of said tract and the number of acres to be inclosed, as near as may be, and the length of the fence required along the line of such railroad to complete the proposed inclosure; and it shall be the duty of the railroad company to construct and complete its portion of such fence within sixty days after the service of such notice. § 2, c. 57, 1883.

§ 2982. Liability of company. If any railroad company shall neglect or refuse to comply with any of the requirements of the last two sections it shall be lawful for the owner of such tract to construct or repair the fence along the line of such railroads and the railroad company shall be liable to the owner thereof to an amount not exceeding one dollar and twenty-five cents per rod to be recovered in a civil action; and such railroad company shall be liable for all damages accruing by reason of such neglect or refusal. § 3, c. 57, 1883 am'd.

LIABILITY OF RAILROADS FOR CAUSING FIRES.

§ 2983. Liability for damages from fire. All railroad companies or corporations operating or running cars or steam engines over roads in this state shall be liable to any party aggrieved for all damages resulting from fire negligently escaping or being negligently scattered or thrown from said cars or engines; provided, that such railroad company or corporation shall not be liable for said damages when the same results from the default or negligence of the party injured. § 1, c. 102, 1893.

§ 2984. Escape of fire prima facie evidence of negligence. Upon the trial of any action against a railroad company doing business in this state for damages resulting from fire escaping or being scattered or being thrown from its cars or engines or from cars or engines under its control the party injured shall not be required to show defect in such cars or engines or negligence on the part of the employees of such company; but the fact of such fire so escaping or being so scattered or thrown shall be construed as prima facie evidence of such defect or negligence. § 2, c. 102, 1893.

MAINTENANCE OF STATION HOUSES.

§ 2985. When station house to be maintained. Every railroad corporation in the state shall build a station house and keep a station agent twelve months each year at all its sidings where there § 1, c. 97, 1895.

§ 1, c. 94, 1895. § 2988. Penalty. For each and every violation of the last section the railroad corporation so offending shall be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars to be recovered in a civil action and paid to the state of North Dakota and it is made the duty of the attorney general upon complaint of any citizen to commence and prosecute this action in his own name as attorney general on behalf of the state.

ARTICLE 2.—LICENSING TICKET AGENTS.

§ 1, c. 104, 1893. § 2989. Agents to obtain state license. Fee. It shall be the duty of the owners of any railroad or steamboat for the transportation of passengers to provide each agent who may be authorized to sell within the state tickets or other evidence thereof entitling the holder thereof to travel upon his or their railroad or steamboat with a certificate setting forth the authority of such agent to make such sales, which certificate shall be duly attested by the corporate seal of any corporate owner of such railroad or steamboat and shall for the information of travelers be kept posted in a conspicuous place in the office of such agent. After issue of such certificate as aforesaid such agent or a superintendent or general officer of such owners shall within ten days thereafter exhibit the same to the secretary of state of the state of North Dakota and at the same time shall pay to said secretary of state a license fee of five dollars, whereupon said secretary of state shall issue to such agent so presenting said certificate a license under the seal of the state of North Dakota, authorizing such agent to engage in the business of selling transportation tickets of said common carrier and said license so issued to such agent by said secretary of state shall also be kept posted in a conspicuous place in the office of such agent for the information of travelers and of the public. Whenever any agent so authorized as aforesaid shall by death, resignation or otherwise cease to be such agent his successor, appointed by said railroad or steamboat company, or the owner or owners thereof, shall be authorized to sell tickets for said company and act as the agent thereof under the provisions of this article.

§ 2990. No transfer of ticket without license. It shall not be lawful for any person not in the possession of such certificate and license so posted as aforesaid to sell, barter or transfer within this state for any consideration the whole or any part of any ticket or other evidence of the owner's title or right to travel on said railroad or steamboat, whether such railroad or steamboat is situated, operated or owned within or without the limits of this state. § 2, c. 104, 1893.

§ 2991. Penalty for violation. Whoever shall violate the provisions of the second section of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or either or both, in the discretion of the court in which such offender shall be convicted. § 3, c. 104, 1893.

§ 2992. Agent to exhibit license. It shall be the duty of any agent residing or acting within this state who shall be authorized to sell therein tickets or other evidences of the holder's title to travel upon any railroad or steamboat to exhibit to any person desiring to purchase a ticket or any officer of the law who may request him so to do such certificate of his authority thus to sell and such license. § 4, c. 104, 1893.

§ 2993. Redemption. Violation. Penalty. It shall be the duty of the owners of every railroad or steamboat situated or operated in whole or in part within this state to provide for the redemption under reasonable precautions of the whole or of any coupon or coupons of any ticket theretofore sold by any agent authorized as aforesaid, which the purchaser for any reason, other than the expiration of the time limited in said ticket for the use thereof, has not used, in case of a ticket not used and, in case of a coupon or a ticket partially used, at a rate which shall be equal to the difference between the price paid for the whole ticket and the cost of a ticket between the points for which the used portion of said ticket was actually used; provided, that such ticket or coupon or coupons shall be presented for such redemption to any agent authorized as aforesaid before the time therein limited for the use thereof shall have expired and the deposit of such ticket or part of ticket in the post office, addressed to any such agent, with postage thereon duly paid, before the expiration of the time limited on any such ticket or part of ticket shall be deemed such presentation; and the sale by any person of such ticket or the unused portion of any such ticket or coupon or coupons, otherwise than by the presentation of the same for redemption, as hereinbefore provided, shall be deemed to be a violation of the provisions of this article and any person guilty of such violation shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or either or both, in the discretion of the court in which such offender shall be convicted; provided, however, that when any ticket selling agent so licensed as aforesaid or any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article shall sell, barter or transfer to any person any mileage book or commutation ticket or excursion ticket at any reduced rate authorized by law, and when such mileage book, commutation ticket or excursion ticket shall by the terms thereof be limited in respect to the time in which the same shall be used, then and in that case such mileage book, commutation ticket or excursion ticket shall not be redeemed by said common carrier, subject to the provisions of this article. § 5, c. 104, 1893.

§ 6, c. 104, 1893. § 2994. Refusal to redeem. Penalty. Any railroad company or steamboat company which shall by any of its authorized ticket selling agents within this state unreasonably refuse to redeem any coupon of a ticket or any ticket as required by section 2993 shall pay to the state of North Dakota a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars for each offense.

§ 7, c. 104, 1893. § 2995. Penalty for fraudulent use or transfer. Whenever any person in the employ of any railroad or steamboat company doing business in this state shall fraudulently neglect to cancel or return to the proper officer of the company or agent of such railroad or steamboat company any coupon, or any ticket, or pass with intent to permit the same to be used in fraud of any railroad company or steamboat company; or if any person shall steal or embezzle any such coupon or other ticket or pass, or shall fraudulently stamp or print or sign any such ticket, coupon or pass, or shall fraudulently sell or put in circulation any such ticket, coupon or pass said person shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period not exceeding five years.

§ 8, c. 104, 1893. § 2996. Discrimination in price. Penalty. It is unlawful for any ticket selling agent so authorized and licensed as aforesaid or for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to charge, demand, collect, receive from, or to sell, barter, transfer or assign to any person or persons, firm or company, corporation or association any tickets of any class whatever entitling the purchaser or holder thereof to transportation by the common carrier issuing such ticket or tickets for a greater or less sum or price than is charged, demanded, collected or received by such ticket selling agent or common carrier subject to the provisions of this article for a similar ticket or tickets of the same class. Any person, ticket selling agent or common carrier subject to the provisions of this article who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars for each offense.

ARTICLE 3. — MAPS OF RIGHT OF WAY.

§ 1, c. 130, 1890, am'd. § 2997. To file maps of right of way. All railroad corporations doing business in this state shall file with the county auditor of each county in which such railroad or any part thereof may be located a map showing the correct location of all right of way and side tracks in such county owned or occupied by such railroad corporation and also showing the number of acres in each parcel of land included by such railroad corporation or any of them in such county as right of way.

§ 2, c. 130, 1890, am'd. § 2998. Same. Any railroad corporation, which may hereafter acquire any right of way or other property as set forth in the last section, shall file within six months after the location of its right of way a map as provided for in the last section.

§ 3, c. 130, 1890. § 2999. Penalty. Any railroad corporation which shall violate any of the provisions of the last two sections shall upon conviction thereof be fined in a sum of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

ARTICLE 4. — CROSSINGS.

§ 3000. To maintain sufficient crossings. All railway companies operating a line of railway in this state shall build or cause to be built and kept in repair good and sufficient crossings over such line at all points where any public highway in use is now or may hereafter be intersected by the same. § 1, c. 127, 1890.

§ 3001. How to be constructed. Such crossing shall be constructed as follows: § 2, c. 127, 1890. am'd.

1. Of a grade of earth on one or both sides of the railroad track as the location may require twenty feet in width, the middle point of which shall be as nearly as practicable at the middle point of the highway and such grade shall be of such slope as shall be necessary for the safety and convenience of the traveling public.

2. Plank shall be firmly spiked on and for the full length of the ties used in the roadbed of such railway where such crossing occurs and shall be laid not more than one inch apart except where the rail prevents; the plank next inside of the rail shall not be more than two and one-half inches from the inside surface of such rail and the plank used in the crossing shall not be less than three inches in thickness and so laid that the upper surface of the plank shall be on a level with the upper surface of the rail; such plank shall extend along the railway the entire width of the highway grade and in no case less than twenty feet.

§ 3002. Penalty for violation. Any railroad company which shall violate any of the provisions of the last two sections shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars and shall be liable for all damages caused thereby. § 5, c. 127, 1890. am'd.

ARTICLE 5. — BOARD OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

§ 3003. How constituted. The three persons elected commissioners of railroads, pursuant to the provisions of section 82 of the constitution of this state, constitute and shall be known and designated as the "Board of railroad commissioners of the state of North Dakota." They shall have power to elect one of their number president of such board and to appoint a secretary.

§ 3004. Who disqualified. No person in the employment of, or owning any stocks or bonds, or otherwise pecuniarily interested in, or an officer of any railroad, freight or transportation company, public warehouse or elevator operated in this state shall be eligible to the office of commissioner of railroads. § 2, c. 110, 1889. am'd.

§ 3005. Oath and bond. Such commissioners before entering upon the duties of their office shall take and subscribe the following oath, which shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, viz:

I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the state of North Dakota and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of commissioners of railroads to the best of my ability; that I am not in the employment of and that I own no stock or bonds of and am not otherwise pecuniarily interested in, nor an officer of any railroad, freight or transportation company, public warehouse or elevator operated in this state.

And each of such commissioners shall give at the same time a bond to the state in the sum of ten thousand dollars with sureties to be approved by the state treasurer, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties, which bond shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

§ 3006. Salary. Office, where kept. The salary of each commissioner shall be two thousand dollars per annum; the salary of the secretary shall be one thousand dollars per annum. Such commissioners shall keep their office at the seat of government and shall be provided with a suitable room, necessary office furniture, stationery, books and maps, the expense thereof to be paid out of the state treasury, but the total sum therefor shall not exceed five hundred dollars per year. The accounts for all payments authorized by this section except salary shall be audited only when approved by the governor.

§ 4, c. 110, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3007. Free passage. Such commissioners and the persons in their official employment shall, when in the performance of their official duties, have the right to pass free of charge on all railroads, steamers, vessels and boats and on all vehicles employed in or by any railroad or other transportation company engaged in the transportation of freight and passengers within this state.

§ 3, c. 110, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3008. Powers and duties. Such board shall have general supervision of all railroads in this state and all freight and passenger transportation and traffic thereon or connected therewith and shall inquire into any neglect or violation of the laws of the state by any railroad company, its officers, agents or employees, doing business therein, and shall from time to time carefully examine and inspect the condition of each railroad in the state and all railway stations and passenger and freight depots and buildings and the conduct and management of such railroads with reference to the safety and convenience of the public.

§ 17, c. 110, 1889.
§ 9, c. 122, 1890.
am'd.

§ 3009. Attorney general attorney for board. Duties of state's attorneys. The attorney general of the state of North Dakota shall be ex officio attorney for the board of railroad commissioners and shall give it such counsel and advice as it may from time to time require; and he shall institute and prosecute any actions which such board may deem it proper and expedient to prosecute; and he shall render such board all counsel, advice and assistance necessary to carry out the provisions of any law of this state according to the true intent and meaning thereof. It shall also be the duty of the state's attorney in every county on request of such board to institute and prosecute and to appear and defend for such board in any and all actions and proceedings which he shall be requested by such board to institute and prosecute and to appear in all actions and proceedings to which the board is a party. Such board shall have power to employ additional counsel to assist such attorney general or state's attorney, when in its judgment the exigencies of the case may so require. The fee of such additional counsel shall be determined by the governor and paid by the state.

§ 23, c. 110, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3010. Annual report of commissioners. Such board of railroad commissioners shall on or before the first Monday of November of each year make a report to the governor of their doings for the preceding year, containing such facts, statements and explanations as will disclose the workings of the system of railroad transportation in this state and its relation to the general business and prosperity of the citizens of this state and such suggestions and recommendations in respect thereto as may to it seem appropriate. Such report shall also contain as to every railroad company doing business in this state:

§ 3016. No preference to be given. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to make or give any unequal or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality, or any particular description of traffic in any respect whatsoever or to subject any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality, or any particular description of traffic to any unequal or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever.

§ 3017. Ample facilities for transferring. All common carriers subject to the provisions of this article shall, according to their respective powers, provide at the point of connection, crossing or intersection ample facilities for transferring cars and for accommodating and transferring passengers and traffic of all kinds and classes from their lines or tracks to those of any other common carrier whose lines or tracks may connect with, cross or intersect their own and shall afford all equal and reasonable facilities for the interchange of cars and traffic between their respective lines and for the receiving, forwarding and delivering of passengers and property and cars to and from their several lines and those of other common carriers connecting therewith and shall not discriminate in their rates and charges between such connecting lines or for freight coming over such lines; but this article shall not be construed as requiring any common carrier to use for another common carrier its tracks, equipments or terminal facilities without reasonable compensation.

§ 3018. Shall not prevent carriage of freight from being continuous. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to enter into any combination, contract or agreement, express or implied, to prevent by change of time or schedule, or by carriage in different cars, or by any other means or devices the carriage of freight from being continuous from the place of shipment to the place of destination, and no break of bulk, stoppage or interruption made by such common carrier shall prevent the carriage of freight from being treated as one continuous carriage from the place of shipment to the place of destination; unless such break, stoppage or interruption was made in good faith for some necessary purpose and without any intent to avoid or unnecessarily interrupt such continuous carriage or to evade any of the provisions of this article. § 3 b, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3019. Shall furnish, start and run cars without delay. Every common carrier operating a railway in this state shall without unreasonable delay furnish, start and run cars for the transportation of persons and property, which within a reasonable time theretofore is offered for transportation at any of its stations on its line of road and at the junctions of other railroads and at such stopping places as may be established for receiving and discharging passengers and freights; and shall take, receive, transport and discharge such passengers and property at, from and to such stations, junctions and places on and from all trains advertised to stop at the same for passengers and freights respectively upon the due payment or tender of payment of tolls, freight or fare therefor, if such payment is demanded. Every such common carrier shall permit connection to be made and maintained in a reasonable manner with its side tracks to and from any warehouse, elevator or manufactory without reference to its size or capacity; provided, that this shall not be construed so as to require any common carrier to construct or furnish any side track off from its own line; provided, further, that where stations are twelve miles apart or more the common carrier, when required to do so by the commissioners of railroads, shall construct and maintain a side track for the use of shippers between such stations. § 3 c, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3020. Cannot limit its common law liability. Whenever any property is received by any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to be transported from one place to another within this state it shall be unlawful for such common carrier to limit in any way, except as stated in its classification schedule hereinafter provided for, its common law liability with reference to such property while in its custody as a common carrier as hereinbefore mentioned: such liability must include the absolute responsibility of the common carrier for the acts of its agents in relation to such property. § 3 d, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3021. Shall not pool. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to enter into any contract, agreement, or combination with any other common carrier or carriers for the division or pooling of business of different or competing railroads, or to divide between them the aggregate or net proceeds of the earnings of such railroads, or any portion thereof; and in case of an agreement for the pooling of their business aforesaid each day of its continuance shall be deemed a separate offense. § 4, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3022. Discrimination and rebates prohibited. If any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article shall directly or indirectly by any special rate, rebate, drawback or other device § 5, c. 122, 1890.

charge, demand, collect or receive from any person or persons a greater or less compensation for any service rendered or to be rendered in the transportation of passengers or property subject to the provisions of this article than it charges, demands, collects or receives from any other person or persons for doing for him or them a like or contemporaneous service in the transportation of passengers or property such common carrier shall be deemed guilty of unjust discrimination, which is hereby prohibited and declared to be unlawful.

§ 6, c. 122, 1890.
§ 1, c. 95, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3023. Long and short haul. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of like kind of property under substantially similar circumstances and conditions for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer distance; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this article to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance; provided, however, that upon application to the commissioners of railroads such common carrier may in special cases after investigation by the commissioners of railroads be authorized to charge less for a longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers or property and the commissioners of railroads may from time to time prescribe the extent to which such designated common carrier may be relieved from the operation of this section.

§ 3024. Long and short haul. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to charge or receive any greater compensation per ton per mile for the contemporaneous transportation of the same class of freight for a longer than for a shorter distance over the same line in the same general direction, or from the same original point of departure, or to the same point of arrival; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article to charge as high a rate per ton per mile for a longer as for a shorter distance.

§ 7, c. 110, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3025. Distribution of cars. When any railroad company doing business in this state shall be unable from any reasonable cause to furnish cars at any railway station or side track in accordance with the demands made by all persons demanding cars at such station or side track for the shipment of freight in car load lots, such cars as are furnished shall be divided daily equally among the applicants in the order of their application until each shall have received one car, when the remainder shall be divided ratably among the several shippers in the proportion that the car load lots of freight offered by each bear to the entire number of car load lots of freight offered at such station or side track on that day; provided, that every application made in good faith on an earlier day shall be filled before supplying any to any applicant of a succeeding day.

§ 3026. But one terminal charge for switching or transferring. There shall in no case be more than one terminal charge for switching or transferring any car, whether the same is loaded or empty, within the limits of any one city or town. If it is necessary for any car to pass over the tracks of more than one company within such city or town limits in order to reach its final destination or to be returned therefrom to its owner or owners, then the company first switching or transferring such car shall be entitled to receive the entire charge to be made therefor and shall be liable to the company or companies doing the subsequent switching or transferring thereof for its or their reasonable and equitable share of the compensation received and if the companies so jointly interested therein cannot agree upon the share thereof which each is entitled to receive, the same shall be determined by the commissioners of railroads, whose decision thereon shall be final and conclusive upon all parties interested and the said commissioners are authorized to establish such rules and regulations in that behalf as to them may seem just and reasonable and not in conflict with this article.

§ 3027. Shall keep schedules for inspection. Every common carrier subject to the provisions of this article shall print and keep for public inspection schedules showing the classification, rates, fares and charges for the transportation of passengers and property of all kinds and classes, which such common carrier has established and which are in force at the time upon its railroad as defined by section 3014. This schedule printed as aforesaid by such common carrier shall plainly state the places upon its railroad between which property and passengers will be carried and shall contain the classification of freight in force upon each of the lines of such railroad, a distance tariff and a table of interstation distances and shall also state separately the terminal charges and any rules or regulations which in any way change, affect or determine any part of the aggregate of such aforesaid rates, fares and charges. Such schedules shall be plainly printed in large type and copies for the use of the public shall be kept in every depot or station upon any such railroad in such places and in such form that they can be conveniently inspected.

am'd.

§ 3028. Notice of changes in schedule. No change of classification shall be made and no change shall be made in the rates, fares and charges which have been established and published as aforesaid by any common carrier in compliance with the requirements of this article without the order or by the authority of the commissioners of railroads, except after ten days' public notice, which notice shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the schedules then in force and the time when the changed schedules will go into effect and the proposed changes shall be shown by printing new schedules, or shall be plainly indicated upon the schedules in force at the time and kept for public inspection.

§ 8 b, c. 122, 1890.
am'd.

§ 3029. No charge greater than schedule. When any common carrier shall have established and published its classifications, rates, fares and charges in compliance with the provisions of section 3027, it shall be unlawful for such common carrier to charge, demand, collect or receive from any person or persons a greater or less compensation for the transportation of passengers or property or for any service in connection therewith than is specified in such published schedule of classifications, rates, fares and charges as may at the time be in force.

this article to which contracts, agreements or arrangements it may be a party. And in cases where passengers or freight pass over lines or routes, operated by more than one common carrier and the several common carriers operating such lines or routes establish joint schedules of rates or fares or charges or classifications for such lines or routes copies of such joint schedules shall also in like manner be filed with said commissioners. Such joint schedules of rates, fares, charges and classifications for such lines so filed as aforesaid shall also be made public by such common carriers in the same manner as hereinbefore provided for the publication of tariffs upon its own lines.

§ 3031. Power of board to keep alive tariffs. In case the commissioners shall at any time find that any part of the tariffs of rates, fares, charges or classifications so filed and published as hereinbefore provided are in any respect unequal or unreasonable they shall have the power and are authorized and directed to compel any common carrier to change the same and adopt such rate, fare, charge or classification as said commissioners shall declare to be equal and reasonable; provided, however, that before said commissioners shall finally fix and declare such rate, fare, charge or classification it shall be the duty of the commissioners of railroads to serve a written notice, by delivering a true copy thereof, upon any agent of the railroad company within this state, setting forth in such notice that at a certain time and place they will proceed to fix and determine such rate, fare, charge or classification; and they shall at such time and place and as soon as practicable afford to any person, firm, corporation or common carrier who may desire it an opportunity to make an explanation or showing or to furnish explanation to said commissioners on the subject of determining and fixing such rate, fare, charge or classification: provided, further, that the said board of railroad commissioners shall not make or declare any order for any purpose without first giving notice to all parties interested as provided in this section.

§ 3032. Final order fixing rates. Publication of same. When rates in force. After the hearing provided for by the last section the commissioners of railroads shall make their order finally fixing and declaring such rate, fare, charge or classification and shall immediately serve or cause to be served upon every person, firm, corporation or common carrier affected thereby a copy of such order; in case such common carrier shall neglect or refuse for ten days after the service of such order to substitute such tariff of rates, fares and charges or classifications, or to adopt the same as fixed and declared by the commissioners, it shall be the duty of said commissioners immediately to publish such tariff of rates, fares, charges or classifications as they have ordered and declared to be equal and reasonable in one or more newspapers published in the county or counties through or into which the road or line may run, upon which the charges so fixed and declared by the commissioners are to take effect and to post a copy thereof in every railroad depot in the state. The newspapers in which such publication shall be made, subject to the above condition that they shall be published in the county or counties through or into which such road or line or roads may run, and the duration of time which such notice shall be published, shall be in the discretion of the commissioners; but the tariff of rates, fares, charges or classifications fixed and declared by the commissioners shall be in full force and effect from and after the expiration of ten days from the service upon such common carrier of the order provided in this section without regard to the publication authorized by this section; and after the expiration of ten days from the service of such order upon such common carrier it shall be unlawful for such common carrier to charge a higher or lower rate, fare, charge or classification than that fixed by said commissioners; such order shall be prima facie evidence of the equality and reasonableness of the rate, fare, charge or classification fixed and declared thereby.

§ 3033. Mandamus, when. Injunction. If any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article shall neglect or refuse to publish or file its schedule of classifications, rates, fares or charges, or any part thereof, as provided in this article, or if any common carrier shall refuse or neglect to comply with such order made and served by such commissioners, such common carrier shall be subject to a writ of mandamus, to be issued by any judge of the supreme court or of any of the district courts of this state upon application of the commissioners to compel compliance with the requirements of this section and with the order of the commissioners, and failure to comply with the writ of mandamus shall be punishable as and for contempt, and the commissioners, as complainants, may also apply to any such judge for a writ of injunction against such common carrier from receiving or transporting property or passengers within this state until such common carrier shall have complied with the requirements of this section and the order of said commissioners, and for any willful violation or failure to comply with such requirements or such order or orders of said commissioners, the court may award such costs, including counsel fees, by way of penalty, on the return of said writs and after due deliberation thereon as may be just.

§ 3034. Appeals. Power of court to modify orders appealed from. Any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article may appeal to any district court of this state from any order made by said commissioners regulating or fixing its tariffs of rates, fares, charges or classifications, or from any other order made by said commissioners under the provisions of this article, by serving a notice in writing upon the secretary of said commissioners or any one of said commissioners within sixty days after such common carrier shall have received written notice from said commissioners of the making of such order. If the order appealed from does not regulate or fix the common carrier's tariff of rates, fares or charges the district court to which the appeal is taken may in its discretion suspend the operation and effect of the order appealed from pending such appeal. The district courts of this state shall be deemed to be always in session for the purpose of hearing and determining all appeals taken under the provisions of this article. The common carrier taking such appeal may bring the same on for hearing and determination at any time after taking such appeal, upon serving a notice to that effect upon any one of the commissioners or upon their secretary at least sixty days prior to the day set for such hearing. The district court shall upon the hearing of such appeal receive and consider such evidence as may be adduced by either party and shall rescind, modify or alter said order appealed from in such manner as may be equitable and just. Either party may appeal from the decision of the district court to the supreme court of this state by serving a notice of such appeal upon the opposite party. For the purpose of hearing such appeals the supreme court shall always be in session and appeals to it may be heard summarily by either parties' serving upon the other a notice of hearing at least fifteen days before the day fixed for such hearing. When evidence has been taken before the district court such evidence may be signed by the judges of said district court, the party presenting such evidence to said judges for signature giving the other party five days' notice of the time and place of such presentation. The evidence signed as aforesaid shall become part of the record in the case and upon an appeal to the supreme court being taken as hereinbefore mentioned shall be transmitted by the clerk of the district court to the supreme court together with all the records and files in the case. The supreme court may reverse, affirm or modify the decision of the district court as may seem equitable and just.

§ 3035. Powers and duties of board. The commissioners of railroads shall have authority to inquire into the management of the business of all common carriers subject to the provisions of this article and shall keep themselves informed as to the manner and method in which the same is conducted and shall have the right to obtain from such common carriers full and complete information, necessary to enable the commissioners to perform the duties and carry out the objects for which they were created; in order to enable such commissioners efficiently to perform their duties under this article it is made their duty to cause one of their number to visit the various stations on the lines of each railroad as often as practicable and at least once in twelve months to visit each county in the state in which is or shall be located a railroad station and personally inquire into the management of such railroad business, and for this purpose all railroad companies and common carriers and their officers and employees are required to aid and furnish each of the commissioners with reasonable and proper facilities and each or all of the commissioners shall have the right in his or their official capacity to pass free on any railroad train on all railroads in this state and to enter and remain in at all suitable times any and all cars, offices or depots on or upon the railroads of any railroad company in this state in the performance of official duties; and whenever, in the judgment of the commissioners, it shall appear that any common carrier fails in any respect or particular to comply with the laws of this state, or whenever in their judgment any repairs are necessary upon its railroad, or any addition to or change of its stations or station house is necessary, or any change in the mode of operating its road or conducting its business is reasonable or expedient in order to promote the security, convenience and accommodation of the public, such commissioners shall make an order requiring such common carrier to comply with such law or to make such repairs, or addition, or change, specifying the same particularly and shall cause such order to be served upon the carrier to be affected thereby, which service may be made in the manner provided in section 3031; and if such common carrier shall neglect or refuse to comply with such order the commissioners may, in their discretion, cause actions or proceedings to be instituted to enforce the same as provided in this article.

§ 3036. Liability for neglect of duty. In case any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article shall do, cause to be done or permit to be done any act or thing in this article prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or shall omit to do any act, matter or thing in this article required to be done such common carrier shall be liable to the person or persons, party or parties injured thereby for the full amount of damages sustained in consequence of any such violations of the provisions of this article together with a reasonable counsel or attorney's fee to be fixed by the court in every case of recovery, which attorney's fee shall be taxed and collected as part of the costs in the case.

§ 3037. Suit may be brought in case of damages. Any person or persons, party or parties claiming to be damaged by the action or nonaction of any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article may either make complaint to the commissioners, as hereinbefore provided for, or may bring suit in his or their own behalf for the recovery of the damages for which such common carrier may be liable under the provisions of this article in any district court of the state of competent jurisdiction, but such person or persons shall not have the right to pursue both of said remedies at the same time. § 11b, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3038. Officers compelled to attend as witnesses. In any such action brought for the recovery of damages the court before which the same may be pending may compel any director, officer, receiver, trustee or agent of any corporation or company, defendant in such suit, to attend, appear and testify in such case and may compel the production of the books and papers of such corporation or company, party to any such suit; the claim that any such testimony or evidence may tend to criminate the person giving such evidence shall not excuse such witness from testifying but such evidence or testimony shall not be used against such person on the trial of any criminal proceeding. § 11 c, e. 122, 1890.

§ 3039. Penalty for noncompliance. Any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article or whenever such common carrier is a corporation, any director or officer thereof, or any receiver, trustee, lessee, agent or person acting for or employed by such corporation who alone or with any other corporation, company, person or party shall willfully do or cause to be done or shall willfully suffer or permit to be done any act, matter or thing in this article prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or who shall aid or abet therein, or shall willfully omit or fail to do any act, matter or thing in this article required to be done, or shall cause or willingly suffer or permit any act, matter or thing so directed or required by this article to be done not to be done, or shall aid or abet therein, or shall be guilty of any willful infraction of this article, or shall aid or abet therein shall be deemed guilty of a violation of the provisions of this article and shall, upon conviction thereof in any district court of the state within the jurisdiction of which such offense was committed, be subject to a penalty of not less than two thousand five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars for the first offense and not less than five thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars for each subsequent offense. § 12, e. 122, 1890.

§ 3040. Fine not bar to individual action. Such conviction or fine or the payment of any fine shall not operate as or be a bar to the prosecution of such railroad company by any person sustaining damage by reason of the violation of any of the provisions of this article, but in addition thereto any person suffering or sustaining any damage by reason of such violation by any railroad company may maintain an action in his name against such company and in case of a recovery the court shall assess treble damages against such offend- § 21, e. 110, 1890.

ing railroad company in favor of the party suffering or sustaining such damage or injury.

§ 3041. Petition to commissioners by persons aggrieved.

Any person, firm, corporation or association, or any mercantile, agricultural or manufacturing society, or any body politic or municipal organization complaining of anything done or omitted to be done by any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article, in contravention of the provisions thereof may apply to said commissioners by petition which shall briefly state the facts.

§ 3042. Duties of board on such application.

Whereupon a statement of the charges thus made shall be forwarded by the commissioners to such common carrier, who shall be called upon to satisfy the complaint or to answer the same in writing within a reasonable time to be specified by the commissioners. If such common carrier within the time specified shall make reparation for the injury alleged to have been done, said carrier shall be relieved of liability to the complainant only for the particular violation of the law thus complained of. If such carrier shall not satisfy the complaint within the time specified or there shall appear to be any reasonable ground for investigating said complaint it shall be the duty of the commissioners summarily to investigate the matter complained of in such manner and by such means as they shall deem proper. No complaint shall at any time be dismissed because of absence of direct damages to the complainant. And for the purposes of this article the commissioners shall have power to require the attendance of witnesses and the production of all books, papers, contracts, agreements and documents relating to any matter under investigation and to that end may invoke the aid of any of the courts of this state in requiring the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents under the provisions of this article.

§ 3043. Proceedings when subpoenas disobeyed.

Any of the district courts of this state within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on shall in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpoena issued by the commissioners to any common carrier subject to the provisions of this article or, when such common carrier is a corporation, to an officer or agent thereof or to any person connected therewith, if proceedings are instituted in the name of such commissioners as plaintiffs, issue an order requiring such common carrier, officer or agent, or person to show cause why such contumacy or refusal should not be punished as and for contempt and if upon the hearing the court finds that the inquiry is within the jurisdiction of the commissioners and that such contumacy or refusal is willful and the same is persisted in such contumacy or refusal shall be punished as though the same had taken place in an action pending in the district court for any judicial district in this state. The claim that any such testimony or evidence may tend to criminate the person giving such evidence shall not excuse such witness from testifying; but such evidence or testimony shall not be used against such person on the trial of any criminal proceeding.

§ 3044. Findings of board in writing.

Whenever an investigation shall be made by said commissioners it shall be their duty to make a report in writing in respect thereto, which shall include the findings of fact upon which the conclusions of the commissioners are based together with their recommendations as to what reparation, if any, should be made by the common carrier to the party or parties who may be found to have been injured; and such findings so made shall thereafter in all judicial proceedings be deemed prima facie evidence as to each and every fact found. All reports of investigations made by the commissioners shall be entered of record and a copy thereof shall be furnished to the party who may have complained and to any common carrier that may have been complained of and the record thereof shall be public.

§ 3045. Report to common carrier, if findings against. If in any case in which an investigation shall be made by said commissioners it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the commissioners, either by testimony of witnesses, or other evidence that anything has been done or omitted to be done by any common carrier in violation of the provisions of this article or of any law cognizable by said commissioners, or that any injury or damage has been sustained by the party or parties complaining, or by other parties aggrieved in consequence of any such violation it shall be the duty of the commissioners forthwith to cause a copy of its report in respect thereto to be delivered to such common carrier together with a notice to said common carrier to cease and desist from such violation and to make reparation for the injury so found to have been done within a brief but reasonable time, to be specified by the commissioners; and if within the time specified it shall be made to appear to the commissioners that such common carrier has ceased from such violation of law, and has made reparation for the injury found to have been done in compliance with the report and notice of the commissioners or to the satisfaction of the party complaining, a statement to that effect shall be entered of record by the commissioners and the said common carrier shall thereupon be relieved from further liability or penalty for such particular violation of law. § 14b, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3046. Report forwarded to attorney general if reparation is not made. If such common carrier shall neglect or refuse within the time specified to desist from such violation of law and make reparation for the injury done in compliance with the notice and report of the commissioners as aforesaid it shall be the duty of the commissioners forthwith to certify the fact of such neglect or refusal and forward a copy of their report and such certificate to the attorney general of the state for redress and punishment as hereinafter provided. § 14 c. c. 122, 1890.

§ 3047. Attorney general to bring suit. It shall be the duty of the attorney general to whom said commissioners may forward their report and certificate as provided in the preceding section when it shall appear from such report that any injury or damage has been sustained by any party or parties by reason of such violation of law by such common carrier forthwith to cause suit to be brought in the district court in the judicial district wherein such violation occurred on behalf and in the name of the person or persons injured against such common carrier for the recovery of damages for such injury as may have been sustained by the injured party, and the costs and expenses of such prosecution shall be paid out of the appropriation hereinafter provided for the uses and purposes of this article. § 15 a, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3048. Power of court. The said court shall have power to hear and determine the matter on such short notice to the common carrier complained of as the court shall deem reasonable; and such notice shall be served on such common carrier, his or its officers, agents or servants, in such manner as the court shall direct; and said court shall proceed to hear and determine the matter speedily and without the formal pleadings and proceedings applicable to ordinary suits in equity, but in such manner as to do justice in the premises; and to this end such court shall have power, if it thinks fit, to direct and prosecute in such mode and by such persons as it may appoint all such inquiries as the court may think needful to enable it to form a just judgment in the matter of such petition. And on such hearing the report of said commissioners shall be prima facie evidence of the matters therein stated.

§ 3049. Further powers. Appeals to supreme court. If it is made to appear to such court on such hearing or on report of any such person or persons that the lawful order or requirements of such commissioners drawn in question has been violated or disobeyed it shall be lawful for such court to issue a writ of injunction, or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, to restrain such common carrier from further continuing such violation or such disobedience of such order or requirement of said commissioners and enjoining obedience to the same; and in case of any disobedience of any such writ of injunction, or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, it shall be lawful for such courts to issue writs of attachment or any process of said courts incident or applicable to writs of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, against such common carrier; and if a corporation, against one or more of the directors, officers or agents of the same, or against any owner, lessee, trustee, receiver or other person failing to obey such writ of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise; and said court may, if it shall think fit, make an order directing such common carrier or other person so disobeying such writ of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise, to pay such sum of money not exceeding, for each carrier in default, the sum of five hundred dollars for every day after a day to be named in the order that such carrier or other person shall fail to obey such injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise; and such moneys shall be payable as the court shall direct either to the party complaining or into court to abide the ultimate decision of the court; and payment thereof may without prejudice to any other mode of recovering the same be enforced by attachment or order in the nature of a writ of execution in like manner as if the same had been recovered by a final decree in personam in such court. Each party to such proceedings before said court may appeal to the supreme court of the state under the same regulations now provided by law in respect to security for such appeal; but such appeal shall not operate to stay or supersede the order of the court or the execution of any writ or process thereon unless the court hearing or deciding such case should otherwise direct; and such court may in every such matter order the payment of such costs and counsel fees as shall be deemed reasonable.

§ 3050. Appeal if action not commenced in ten days. In case the attorney general shall not within a period of ten days after the making of any order by the commissioners commence judicial proceedings for the enforcement thereof, any railroad company or other common carrier affected by such order may at any time within the period of thirty days after the service upon him or it of such order and before commencement of proceedings appeal therefrom to the district court of any judicial district through or into which his or its route may run by the service of a written notice of such appeal upon some of such commissioners. And upon the taking of such appeal and the filing of the notice thereof with the proof of service in the office of the clerk of such court there shall be deemed to be pending in such court a civil action of the character and for the purposes mentioned in sections 3037, 3047 and 3049. Upon such appeal and upon the hearing of and application for the enforcement of any such order made by the commissioners or by the attorney general the court shall have jurisdiction to examine the whole matter in controversy, including matters of fact as well as questions of law, and to affirm, modify or rescind such order in whole or in part as justice may require; no appeal as aforesaid shall stay or supersede the order appealed from and pending the final decision of all appeals to the courts the rates fixed shall remain in full force and effect.

§ 3051. Board may prosecute. Whenever facts in any manner ascertained by said commissioners shall in their judgment warrant a prosecution it shall be the duty of said commissioners immediately to cause suit to be instituted and prosecuted against any common carrier, which may violate any of the provisions of this article or of any law of this state. All such prosecutions shall be in the name of the state of North Dakota except as otherwise provided in this article, or in any law of this state and may be instituted in any county in the state through or into which the line of any common carrier so sued may extend and all penalties recovered under the provisions of this article or of any law of this state, in any suit instituted in the name of the state, shall be immediately paid into the state treasury by the sheriff or other officer or person collecting the same; and the same shall be by the state treasurer placed to the credit of the general fund. § 16a, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3053. Annual reports from all carriers. The board of commissioners are hereby directed to require annual reports from all common carriers subject to the provisions of this article to prescribe the manner in which such reports shall be made, and to require from such carriers specific answers to all questions upon which the commissioners may need information. Such annual reports shall show in detail the amount of capital stock issued, the amounts paid therefor, and the manner of payment for the same, the dividends paid, the surplus fund, if any, and the number of stockholders, the funded and floating debts and the interest paid thereon; the cost and value of the carriers' property, franchises and equipment, the number of employees and the salary paid each class, the amounts expended for improvements each year, how expended, and the character of such improvements; the earnings and receipts of each branch of business, and from all sources, the operating and other expenses; the balance of profit and loss; and a complete exhibit of the financial operations of the carrier each year, including an annual balance sheet; also the total number of acres of land received as grants from the United States, the number of acres of such grants sold and the average price received per acre, the number of acres of grants unsold and the appraised value per acre. Such detailed report shall also contain such information in relation to rates or regulations concerning fares or freights and agreements, arrangements or contracts with express companies, telegraph companies, sleeping and dining car companies, fast § 17a, c. 122, 1890.

§ 3055. Grain to be shipped without discrimination. Any railroad company doing business in this state, when requested by any person wishing to ship grain on its road shall receive and transport such grain in bulk and permit the same to be loaded either on its track adjacent to its depot, or at any warehouse or side track at any station or siding without discrimination or distinction as to the manner or condition in which such grain is offered for transportation, or as to the person, corporation, warehouse, elevator or place where, or to which it may be consigned and shall receive the same in car load lots from wagons, sleighs or other vehicles on its side tracks at any station the same as when offered from warehouses or elevators, allowing a reasonable time for loading them and for the purpose of loading the same shall place the cars in convenient places, easy of access by wagons or sleighs or other vehicles and shall after the same have been loaded, whether at side track, elevator, warehouse or depot without unnecessary delay proceed to ship the same to the place where the same is consigned.

§ 3057. Side tracks adjacent to coal mines. Whenever any person, owning or operating any coal mine within this state, from which not less than fifty cars of coal have been shipped from any one station over any portion of any railroad within the limits of the state shall petition any such railroad company to build a side track or spur at least three hundred feet in length adjacent to such mine it shall then be the duty of such railroad company to build, equip and operate such side track or spur; provided, that such spur is not nearer than two miles from any station already in operation; provided, further, that any person opening a coal mine within two miles of any station may petition for a side track or spur and by executing an indemnity bond in favor of such railroad company in the sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned on the agreement that such person will ship within one year after the completion of such spur or side track not less than one hundred car loads of coal and when such bond is duly executed with two sureties, approved by the county judge of the county wherein such side track is situated, such railroad company shall within sixty days build, equip and operate such side track or spur as provided for in this section. And the commissioners of railroads shall have power to locate such side track or spur and order it properly provided with platforms and other conveniences for loading coal and other commodities thereat.

§ 3058. Penalty. Any neglect or refusal to comply with any part of the provisions of the last section within fifteen days after being requested in writing by the person operating the coal mine or by the commissioners of railroads shall subject such railroad company to a forfeiture of fifty dollars per day for each and every day such railroad company shall neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of the last section, to be recovered by the person affected by such neglect or refusal; provided, that no railroad company shall be compelled to put in a side track between the fifteenth day of November and the fifteenth day of May of any year when it cannot be done without grading. § 2. c. 123, 1890.

§ 3059. Time to remove property from cars. Any consignee, or person entitled to receive the delivery of any freight shipped to him in car load lots, by any railroad company, shall have twenty-four hours free of expense after notice of arrival by the company to the consignee or person entitled to receive the same in which to remove the same from the cars of such railroad company, which twenty-four hours shall be held to embrace such time as the car containing such property is placed and kept by such railroad company in a convenient and proper place for unloading and it shall not be held to be in a proper place for unloading unless it can be reached with teams or other suitable means for removing the property from the cars and reasonably convenient to the depot of the company at which it is accustomed to receive and unload merchandise consigned to that station or place. § 12. c. 110, 1899.

§ 3060. Stop over rates on cars. Whenever any railroad company doing business in this state as a common carrier shall ship any car or cars of freight over any of its railway lines or branches thereof, which car or cars contains freight to any intermediate point or points, it shall be the duty of such railroad company to stop such car or cars at such point or points and the consignee of such freight shall be permitted to unload the same upon payment to such railroad company of the full freight rates from the shipping point to the terminal point of such car or cars and in addition thereto the sum of five dollars per car for each and every day such car or cars is or are delayed during such stop over; provided, the car or cars contain no perishable goods and are billed to one consignee, and in no case over one stop or stop over shall be made, nor shall said car or cars be opened but once for distributing goods at intermediate stations. § 1. c. 95, 1895.

§ 3061. Penalty. Every railroad company neglecting or refusing to comply with the provisions of the last section shall be liable to damages in the sum of twenty dollars for each and every day such railroad company neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions § 2. c. 95, 1895.

§ 3063. Dimensions of platform. Each platform shall be not less than twelve feet wide and thirty-two feet long, extending four feet and six inches, or such height as shall be determined by the railroad commissioners above the rails of the track with suitable approaches to and from such platform to admit of the driving of loaded teams thereon.

§ 3064. When platforms to be enlarged. The commissioners of railroads shall have power to order an enlargement of such platforms whenever petitioned to that effect and whenever the capacity of such platform is in their judgment clearly insufficient for the accommodation of the public.

§ 6, c. 123, 1890.

§ 3065. Platform scales. Every railroad company shall allow suitable scales to be erected either upon the platform or upon the grounds adjacent thereto, if upon their right of way, for weighing and shipping purposes.

§ 3, c. 123, 1890.
am'd.

§ 3066. Penalty. Every railroad company neglecting or refusing to comply with the requirements of the last four sections shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars for every thirty days such failure shall continue after notice as aforesaid.

§ 3067. Y and other tracks to be provided. In all cases where any line of railroad shall cross or intersect any other line of railroad in this state on the same grade it shall be the duty of the railroad company owning or operating such intersecting railroad lines, to provide at such crossing or intersection suitable and sufficient facilities such as building Y or other tracks and connections for transferring cars or traffic of all kinds and classes from one such line of railroad to another and to maintain the same and to afford equal and reasonable facilities for the interchange of cars and traffic between the respective lines.

§ 3068. Notice served on carrier in case of noncompliance. Upon the failure of any railroad companies to build or maintain Y or other tracks and suitable connections at railroad crossings in accordance with the last section it shall be the duty of the board of railroad commissioners to serve notice in writing upon such companies, requiring them to construct and maintain such Y or other tracks and connections within sixty days from the date of the service of such notice.

§ 3069. Penalty for noncompliance. Any railroad company that shall fail to comply with such notice shall be subject to a fine of one hundred dollars for each day during which it fails to comply after the expiration of the time specified in the notice and it shall be the duty of the attorney general or the state's attorney of any county in which such Y or other tracks are to be constructed and maintained upon demand of the board of railroad commissioners to commence and prosecute all actions necessary for the recovery of such fine.

§ 3070. Maximum coal rates. All railroad companies doing business as common carriers within the state of North Dakota shall not charge for the transportation of coal within the state a greater rate per ton than the following: For the first five miles or fractional part thereof, thirty cents per ton; for any distance over five miles and not to exceed fifteen miles, forty cents per ton; for any distance over fifteen miles and not to exceed twenty-five miles, fifty cents per ton; for any distance over twenty-five miles and not to exceed thirty-five miles, fifty-nine cents per ton; for any distance over thirty-five miles and not to exceed forty-five miles, sixty-eight cents per ton; for any distance over forty-five miles and not to exceed fifty-five miles, seventy-five cents per ton; for any distance over fifty-five miles and not to exceed sixty-five miles, eighty-one cents per ton; for any distance over sixty-five miles and not to exceed seventy-five miles, eighty-six cents per ton; for any distance over seventy-five miles and not to exceed eighty-five miles, ninety cents per ton; for any distance over eighty-five miles and not to exceed ninety-five miles, ninety-four cents per ton; for any distance over ninety-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and five miles, ninety-eight cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and five and not to exceed one hundred and fifteen miles, one dollar and two cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and fifteen miles and not to exceed one hundred and twenty-five miles, one dollar and six cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and twenty-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and thirty-five miles, one dollar and ten cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and thirty-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and forty-five miles, one dollar and fourteen cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and forty-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and fifty-five miles, one dollar and eighteen cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and fifty-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and sixty-five miles, one dollar and twenty-two cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and sixty-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and seventy-five miles, one dollar and twenty-six cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and seventy-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and eighty-five miles, one dollar and thirty cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and eighty-five miles and not to exceed one hundred and ninety-five miles, one dollar and thirty-four cents per ton; for any distance over one hundred and ninety-five miles and not to exceed two hundred and five miles, one dollar and thirty-eight cents per ton; for any distance over two hundred and five miles and not to exceed two hundred and fifteen miles, one dollar and forty-two cents per ton; for any distance over two hundred and fifteen miles and not to exceed two hundred and twenty-five miles, one dollar and forty-six cents per ton;

§ 3071. Penalty for violation. Any railroad company violating any of the provisions of the last section shall be subject to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars per day for each and every day during which such violation shall continue, to be recovered by any person prejudiced or suffering loss or damage by such violation. § 2, c. 101, 1893.

§ 3072. Duty of attorney general. It shall be the duty of the attorney general or of the state's attorney of any county in which an action arises against any railroad company for a violation of any of the provisions of section 3070, upon demand of the board of railroad commissioners to commence and prosecute all actions necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of such section. § 3, c. 93, 1895.

CHAPTER 13.

WAGON ROAD CORPORATIONS.

§ 3073. How wagon road laid out. When a corporation is formed for the construction and maintenance of a wagon road the road must be laid out as follows: Three commissioners must act in conjunction with the surveyor of the corporation, two to be appointed by the board of commissioners of the county through which the road is to run, and one by the corporation, who must lay out the proposed road and report their proceedings together with a map of the road to the board of commissioners of the county as provided in the succeeding section. § 486, Civil C.

§ 3074. Map filed. Record of approval. When the route is surveyed a map thereof must be submitted to and filed with the board of commissioners of each county through or into which the road runs, giving its general course, and the principal points to or by which it runs and its width, which must in no case exceed one hundred feet, and the board of county commissioners must either approve or reject the survey. If approved, it must be entered of record on the journal of the board; but the board of county commissioners must require the corporation, at its own expense, and the corporation must so change and open the highways so taken and used as, to make the same as good as they were before the appropriation thereof; and must so construct all crossings of public highways over and by its road and its toll gates as not to hinder or obstruct the use of the same. § 487, Civil C.

§ 3075. Bridges and ferries. Tolls. All wagon road corporations may bridge or keep ferries on streams on the line of their road and must do all things necessary to keep the same in repair. They may take such tolls only on their roads, ferries or bridges as are fixed by the board of commissioners of the proper county through which the road passes or in which the ferry or bridge is situated, subject, however, to the limitation of rates of ferriage prescribed in the general law upon ferries; but in no case must the tolls be more than sufficient to pay fifteen per cent per annum on the cost of con- § 488, Civil C.

struction after paying for repairs and other expenses for attending to the roads, bridges and ferries. If tolls, other than as herein provided are charged or demanded, the corporation forfeits its franchise and must pay to the party so charged one hundred dollars as liquidated damages.

§ 489, Civil C. § 3076. No tolls where public highway used. When any highway or public road is taken and used by any wagon road corporation as a part of its road, the corporation must not place a tollgate on or take tolls for the use of such highway or public road by teamsters, travelers, drovers, or any one transporting property over the same.

§ 490, Civil C. § 3077. Toll rates posted. The corporation must affix and keep up at or over each gate or in some conspicuous place so as to be conveniently read a printed list of the rates of toll levied and demanded.

§ 491, Civil C. § 3078. Passage prevented until tolls paid. Each toll gatherer may prevent from passing through his gate persons leading or driving animals or vehicles subject to toll, until they shall have paid respectively, the tolls authorized to be collected.

§ 492, Civil C. § 3079. Penalty for receiving illegal toll. Every toll gatherer who at any gate unreasonably hinders or delays any traveler or passenger liable to the payment of toll, or demands or receives from any person more than he is authorized to collect, for each offense forfeits the sum of twenty-five dollars to the person aggrieved.

§ 493, Civil C. § 3080. Passing around gate. Penalty. Every person who, to avoid the payment of the legal toll, with his team, vehicle or horse turns out of a wagon, turnpike or plank road, or passes any gate thereon on the ground adjacent thereto, and again enters upon such road, for each offense forfeits the sum of five dollars to the corporation injured.

§ 494, Civil C. § 3081. Penalty for injuring road. Every person who:
 1. Willfully breaks, cuts down, defaces or injures any milestone or post on any wagon, turnpike or plank road; or,
 2. Willfully breaks or throws down any gate on such road; or,
 3. Digs up or injures any part of such road or anything thereunto belonging; or,
 4. Forcibly or fraudulently passes any gate thereon without having paid the legal toll;

For each offense forfeits to the corporation injured the sum of twenty-five dollars in addition to the damages resulting from his wrongful act.

§ 495, Civil C. § 3082. How revenue applied. The entire revenue from the road shall be appropriated:

1. To repayment to the corporation of the costs of its construction together with the incidental expenses incurred in collecting tolls and keeping the road in repair; and,

2. To the payment of the dividend among its stockholders, as provided in section 3075. When the repayment of the costs of construction is completed, the tolls must be so reduced as to raise no more than an amount sufficient to pay a dividend of twelve per cent per annum and incidental expenses and to keep the road in good repair.

§ 496, Civil C. § 3083. When mortgage valid. The corporation may mortgage or hypothecate its road and other property for funds with which to construct or repair its roads, but no mortgage or hypothecation is valid or binding unless at least twenty-five per cent of the capital stock subscribed has been paid in and invested in the construction of the road and appurtenances and then only after an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the capital stock subscribed.

§ 3084. Natural person like corporation. When a wagon, § 497, Civil C. turnpike or plank road is constructed, owned or operated by any natural person, this chapter is applicable to such persons in like manner as it is applicable to corporations.

CHAPTER 14.

INSURANCE CORPORATIONS.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 3085. Terms defined. When consistent with the context and not obviously used in a different sense the term “company” or “insurance company,” as used herein, includes all corporations, associations, partnerships or individuals engaged as principals in the business of insurance; the word “domestic” designates those companies incorporated or formed in this state and the word “foreign” when used without limitation includes all those formed by authority of any other state or government.

ARTICLE 2.—PROVISIONS COMMON TO ALL DOMESTIC INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 3086. Subject to what provisions of law. All insurance companies now or hereafter incorporated or formed by authority of any law of this state, except when otherwise expressly provided, may exercise the powers and shall be subject to the duties and liabilities provided by this chapter. The general provisions of law relating to the powers, duties and liabilities of corporations shall apply to all incorporated domestic insurance companies, so far as such provisions are pertinent and not in conflict with other provisions of law relating to such companies.

§ 3087. How and for what purpose formed. Any number of persons, not less than seven, may form a corporation to carry on the business of insurance, either upon the stock or mutual plan, against loss or damage by fire, lightning, cyclone, tornado or hail, or the risks of inland navigation and transportation, or to make insurance upon the lives of persons and every insurance pertaining thereto, and against accidental injuries including the granting, purchasing and paying of annuities and indemnities and to transact fidelity insurance and corporate suretyship. An insurance company incorporated under the provisions of this chapter shall have power to make insurance of any of the kinds hereinbefore mentioned which shall have been expressed in its articles of incorporation.

am'd.

§ 3088. Articles. Contents. The articles of incorporation shall set forth in addition to what is required to be set forth in section 2861 the kind of insurance proposed to be made and whether on the stock or mutual plan, the period for the commencement and termination of its fiscal year and the period for which it is incorporated, not to exceed thirty years, and shall be filed in the office of the commissioner of insurance. Any name not previously in use by an existing corporation may be adopted, but the words "insurance company," or, if the business is to be conducted upon the mutual principle, the words "mutual insurance company" shall constitute a part of such name. No certificate shall be granted by the insurance commissioner, as hereinafter provided, if, in his judgment, the name adopted too closely resembles the name of an existing corporation, or is liable to mislead the public.

§ 4, c. 69, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3089. Qualification of directors. Residence. One-third of the directors and all of the executive officers of a domestic insurance company must be residents of this state and each of the directors of such a company, if it has a capital stock, must be the owner in his own right of stock of such company worth at par at least five hundred dollars.

§ 11, c. 69, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3090. Examination of articles by attorney general. Examination by commissioner of insurance. Certificate. The articles of incorporation shall be examined by the attorney general and if found conformable to this article and not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this state, shall be certified by him to the commissioner of insurance, who shall thereupon make an examination to ascertain whether the company has in all respects complied with the requirements of law, according to the nature of the business proposed to be transacted by it and if satisfied by such examination that the corporation has complied with the law he shall deliver to such corporation a certified copy of the articles of incorporation and a certificate to the effect that such corporation has complied with all requirements of law, which, on being filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the principal office of the corporation is located, shall be its authority to commence business and issue policies; and such certified copy of the articles of incorporation and of such certificate may be used for or against such company with the same effect as the originals, and shall be conclusive evidence of the fact of the organization of such corporation.

§ 3091. Reinsurance. Any domestic insurance company shall have power to effect reinsurance of any risks taken by it.

§ 5, c. 69, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3092. Limitation on trade. No company organized under this chapter shall, directly or indirectly, deal or trade in buying or selling any goods, wares, merchandise or other commodities whatever, except such as may have been insured by such company and are claimed to be damaged by reason of the risk insured against.

§ 10, c. 69, 1885.
§ 3, c. 69, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3093. Limitation on purchase and conveyance of real estate. No domestic insurance company shall purchase, hold or convey real estate except for the purpose and in the manner herein set forth, to-wit:

1. Such as shall be requisite for its convenient accommodation in the transaction of its business; or,
2. Such as shall have been mortgaged to it in good faith as security for loans previously contracted, or for money due; or,

3. Such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in legitimate business, or for money due; or,

4. Such as shall have been purchased at sales upon judgment or mortgage foreclosures obtained or made for such debts.

§ 3094. How capital and surplus may be invested. A domestic insurance company may invest its capital and the funds accumulated in the course of its business, or any part thereof, in bonds or mortgages on improved unincumbered real estate within this state, worth double the sum loaned thereon, exclusive of buildings, unless such buildings are insured and the policies made payable to the company as its interest may appear and also in the bonds of this state, or bonds or treasury notes of the United States, and also in the bonds of any county or incorporated city in this state, authorized to be issued by the legislative assembly, and loan such capital and funds, or any part thereof, on the security of such bonds, treasury notes, or upon bonds or mortgages as aforesaid, and change and reinvest the same in like securities as occasion may from time to time require; but the surplus money over and above the capital stock of such insurance company may be invested in or loaned upon the pledge of bonds of the United States, or any of the states, or stocks, bonds or other evidence of indebtedness of any solvent dividend paying institution, incorporated under the laws of this state or of the United States, except its own stock; provided, always, that the market value of such stock, bonds or other evidence of indebtedness shall be at all times during the continuance of such loan at least ten per cent more than the amount loaned thereon. No domestic insurance company shall invest or loan its capital or the funds accumulated in the course of its business, or any part thereof, except as provided in this section.

§ 3096. Penalty for violation of section 3094. Any director or officer making or authorizing an investment or loan in violation of section 3094 shall be personally liable to the stockholders for any loss occasioned thereby. If a company is under liability for losses equal to its net assets and the president and directors, knowing it, make or assent to further insurance, they shall be personally liable for any loss under such insurance. If the directors allow to be insured on a single risk a larger sum than the law permits they shall be liable for any loss thereon above the amount they might lawfully insure, unless the excess is reinsured as required in section 3117.

ARTICLE 3.—PROVISIONS PECULIAR TO DOMESTIC STOCK INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 6, c. 69, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3097. Capital stock required. No stock company shall be incorporated under this chapter unless it has a capital stock of at least one hundred thousand dollars, twenty-five per cent of which must be paid in previous to the issuance of any policy and the residue within twelve months from the time of filing the articles of incorporation. No fire, cyclone, tornado, hail, marine, life or accident insurance company of any other state, territory or nation shall do business in this state unless it has a paid up capital stock of at least two hundred thousand dollars in available cash assets, over and above all liabilities for losses reported, expenses, taxes and reinsurance of all outstanding risks.

§ 8, c. 69, 1885.

§ 3098. Opening book for subscriptions. The individuals associated for the purpose of organizing an insurance company under this article, after having filed the articles of incorporation as required by section 3088, may open books for subscriptions to the capital stock of such corporation and keep the same open until the full amount specified in the articles of incorporation is subscribed.

§ 3099. Notice to company when capital is impaired. Whenever it appears to the commissioner of insurance that the capital of a domestic insurance company is impaired to the extent of one-fourth or more on the basis fixed in section 3095 he shall notify the company that its capital is legally subject to be made good in the mode provided by section 3100, and if such company shall not within three months after such notice satisfy him that it has fully repaired its capital, or reduced its capital as provided in section 3101, he shall institute proceedings against it in accordance with section 3128.

§ 3100. How capital made good. Forfeiture of shares. Whenever the net assets of the company do not amount to more than three-fourths of its original capital, it may make good its original capital to the original amount by assessment of its stock. Shares on which such an assessment is not paid within sixty days after demand shall be forfeitable and may be canceled by a vote of the directors and new shares issued to make up the deficiency. If such company shall not within three months after notice from the commissioner of insurance to that effect make good its capital as aforesaid, or reduce the same as allowed by the next section, its authority to transact new business of insurance shall cease.

am'd.

§ 3101. Capital stock reduced. Examination and certificate of commissioner. When the capital stock of a company is impaired, such company may upon a vote of a majority of the stock represented at a meeting legally called for that purpose, reduce its capital stock and the number of shares thereof to an amount not less than the minimum sum required by law. But no part of its assets and property shall be distributed to its stockholders. Within ten days after such meeting the company shall submit to the insurance commissioner a certificate setting forth the proceedings thereof and the amount of such reduction and the assets and liabilities of the company, signed and sworn to by its president, secretary and a majority of its directors. The commissioner shall examine the facts in the case, and if the same conform to law, and in his judgment the proposed reduction may be made without prejudice to the public he shall indorse his approval upon the certificate. Upon filing the certificate so indorsed the company may transact business upon the basis of such reduced capital, as though the same was its original capital, and its articles of incorporation shall be deemed to be amended to conform thereto; and the commissioner of insurance shall issue his certificate to that effect. Such company may by a majority vote of its directors after such reduction require the return of the original certificates of stock held by each stockholder in exchange for new certificates in lieu thereof for such number of shares as each stockholder is entitled to in the proportion that the reduced capital bears to the original capital.

§ 3102. Capital less than liabilities. Notice not to issue policies. When the actual funds of a domestic life insurance company exclusive of its capital, are not of a net cash value equal to its liabilities the commissioner of insurance shall notify such company and its agents to issue no new policies until its funds become equal to its liabilities.

§ 3103. Transfer of stock pending examination does not release liabilities. No transfer of the stock of any domestic insurance company made during the pendency of any examination will release the party making the transfer from his liability for loss which may have occurred previous to the transfer.

§ 32, c. 69, 1885.
§ 7, c. 69, 1889.

ARTICLE 4. — PROVISIONS PECULIAR TO DOMESTIC MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 3104. Amount of subscribed insurance required. No policy shall be issued by a purely mutual insurance company until not less than two hundred thousand dollars of insurance in not less than one hundred separate risks have been subscribed for and entered on its books; but the provisions of this section shall not apply to county mutual insurance companies.

§ 3105. Insured a member. Notice of meetings. Every person insured by a domestic mutual insurance company, other than life, shall be a member while his policy is in force entitled to one vote for each policy he holds and shall be notified of the time and place of holding its meetings by a written notice or by an imprint upon the back of each policy, receipt or certificate of renewal as follows, to-wit:

The assured is hereby notified that by virtue of this policy he is a member of the.....mutual insurance company, and that the annual meetings of such company are held at its home office on the.....day of.....in each year at....o'clock.

The blanks shall be duly filled and the same shall be deemed a sufficient notice.

§ 3106. Same. Every person insured by a domestic mutual life insurance company shall be a member entitled to one vote and one vote additional for each five thousand dollars of insurance in excess of the first five thousand dollars, and shall be notified of its annual meetings in the manner provided in the last section.

§ 3107. Manner of voting by proxy. Members may vote by proxy dated and executed within three months and returned and recorded on the books of the company three days or more before the meeting at which they are to be used; but no person shall be allowed as proxy or otherwise to cast more than fifty votes, and no officer shall himself, or by another, ask for, receive, procure to be obtained or use a proxy vote; provided, that this section shall not apply to state mutual hail insurance companies.

§ 3108. Premium. Contingent liability stated on policy. Mutual insurance companies shall charge and collect upon their policies the full mutual premium in cash or notes absolutely payable and may in their by-laws fix the contingent mutual liability of its members for the payment of losses and expenses not provided for by their cash funds; provided, that such contingent liability of a member shall not be less than a sum equal to and in addition to the cash premium written in his policy. The total amount of the liability of a policy holder shall be plainly and legibly stated upon the back of each policy.

§ 3109. Reserve fund, how used. Any mutual insurance company may at a meeting called for that purpose provide for the accumulation of a permanent fund by reserving a portion of the net profits to be invested and be a reserve for the security of the insured. Such reservation shall not exceed twenty per cent of said net profits and when the fund so accumulated amounts to two per cent of the sum insured by all policies in force the whole of the net profits shall be divided among the insured at the expiration of their policies. The permanent fund so accumulated shall be used for the payment of losses and expenses, whenever the cash funds of the company in excess of an amount equal to its liabilities are exhausted; and whenever the said fund is drawn upon, reservation of profits as aforesaid shall be renewed or continued until the limit of accumulation as herein provided is reached.

§ 3111. Distribution of surplus on life policies. Every domestic mutual life insurance company shall annually, or once in every two, three, four or five years, as it shall determine, and as may be conditioned in its policies make distribution of all surplus it may have accumulated since its last dividend of surplus. By such surplus is here intended all accumulations since its last distribution of surplus above its debts and reserve computed as provided in section 3095. The distribution shall be upon what is known as the contribution plan and each member upon whose policy no premium is overdue and unpaid shall be entitled to the amount contributed by his policy to such surplus. Policies which have become payable before the time when such distribution is made and after the date of the last previous distribution shall share in the same equitably and proportionally.

§ 3112. Assessments, when and how made. Whenever a mutual insurance company other than life, is not possessed of cash funds above its reinsurance reserve sufficient for the payment of incurred losses and expenses it shall make an assessment for the amount needed to pay such losses and expenses upon its members liable to assessment therefor in proportion to their several liability.

The company shall cause to be recorded in a book kept for that purpose the order for such assessment together with a statement which shall set forth the condition of the company at the date of the order, the amount of its cash assets and of the notes of its policy holders, or other contingent funds liable to the assessment, the amount the assessment calls for and the particular losses or other liabilities it is made to provide for. Such record shall be made and signed by the directors who voted for the order before any part of the assessment is collected and any person liable to the assessment may inspect and take a copy of the same.

§ 3113. Making premium reserve good. Single assessment. Cancellation of policies. Double assessments. Re-insurance. When by reason of depreciation or loss of its funds, or otherwise, the cash assets of such a company after providing for its other debts are less than the required premium reserve upon its policies it shall make good the deficiency by assessment in the mode provided in the last section; or if the directors are of the opinion that the company is likely to become insolvent they may, instead of such assessment, make two assessments, the first determining what each policy holder must equitably pay or receive in case of withdrawal from the company and having his policy canceled, the second what further sum each must pay in order to reinsure the unexpired term of his policy at the same rate as the whole was insured at first. Each policy holder shall pay or receive according to the first assessment and his policy shall then be canceled, unless he pays the further sum determined by the second assessment, in which case his policy shall continue in force; but in neither case shall a policy holder receive or have credited to him more than he would have received on having his policy canceled by a vote of the directors under the by-laws. If within two months after such alternative assessments have become collectible the amount of the policies whose holders have settled for both assessments is less than two hundred thousand dollars, the company shall cease to issue policies; and all policies whose holders have not settled for both assessments shall be void and the company shall continue only for the purpose of adjusting the deficiency or excess of premiums among the members and settling outstanding claims. No assessment shall be valid against a person who has not been duly notified thereof, within two years after the expiration or cancellation of his policy.

§ 3114. Directors personally liable for not making and collecting assessments. If the directors of any mutual insurance company shall neglect or omit for the space of six months to lay and use reasonable diligence to collect any assessment they are required to make, they shall be personally liable for all debts and claims then outstanding against the company, or that may accrue until such assessment is laid and put in process of collection. If the treasurer of such company unreasonably neglects to collect an assessment made by order of the directors and to apply the same to the payment of the claims for which it was made, he shall be personally liable to the party having such claims for the amount of the assessment; and he may repay himself out of any money afterwards received for the company on account of said assessment.

ARTICLE 5.—PROVISIONS PECULIAR TO FIDELITY INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 3115. Fidelity insurance and corporate suretyship. May be sole surety on bonds. Limit of liability. Any company organized to transact fidelity insurance and corporate suretyship and authorized to do business in this state may make contracts of insurance to guarantee the fidelity of persons holding positions of trust in private or public employment or responsibility and may, if accepted and approved by the court, magistrate, obligee or person competent to approve such bond, act as surety upon the official bond or undertaking in civil procedure of any person or corporation to the United States, to the state of North Dakota, or to any county, city, town, court, judge, magistrate or public officer or to any corporation or association public or private; and may also act as surety upon any bond or undertaking to any person or corporation conditioned upon the performance of any duty or trust or for the doing or not doing of anything in such bond specified and upon bonds to indemnify against loss any person who is responsible as surety upon a written instrument, or otherwise for the performance by others of any office, employment, contract or trust. When by law two or more sureties are required upon any obligation such company is authorized to insure, it may act as sole surety thereon and may be accepted as such by the court, magistrate or other officer or person authorized to approve the sufficiency of such bond or undertaking; and nothing contained in these codes shall be construed to forbid the acceptance of a qualified foreign corporation as joint or sole surety on any such bond. No such company shall incur in behalf or on account of any one person, partnership, association or corporation a liability for an amount larger than one-tenth of its paid up capital, unless it shall be secured from loss thereon beyond that amount by deposit with it in pledge or conveyance to it in trust for its protection of property equal in value to the excess of its liability over such limit.

ARTICLE 6.—PROVISIONS PECULIAR TO FOREIGN INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 3116. Conditions of admission. Articles and statement filed. Must be legally organized. Appoint commissioner its attorney for service. Resident agents. No foreign insurance company shall directly or indirectly take any risk or transact the business of insurance in this state until:

1. It shall deposit with the insurance commissioner a certified copy of its articles of incorporation and a statement of its financial condition and business in such form and detail as he may require, signed and sworn to by its president and secretary or other proper officers.

2. It shall satisfy the insurance commissioner that it is fully and legally organized under the laws of its state or government to do the business it proposes to transact; that it has a fully paid up and unimpaired capital, exclusive of stockholders' obligations of any description, of an amount not less than is required by section 3097 and, if a mutual company, that its assets are not less than is required by section 3104; that such capital or net assets are well invested and immediately available for the payment of losses in this state; and that it insures on any single hazard a sum no larger than one-tenth of its net assets.

3. It shall by a duly executed instrument, filed in his office, constitute and appoint the commissioner of insurance and his successors its true and lawful attorney upon whom all process in any action or proceeding against it may be served and therein shall agree that any process which may be served upon its said attorney shall be of the same force and validity as if served on the company and that the authority thereof shall continue in force irrevocable so long as any liability of the company remains outstanding in this state. Service upon such attorney shall be deemed sufficient service upon the company. Whenever process against any foreign insurance company, doing business in this state, shall be served upon the commissioner of insurance, he shall forthwith mail a copy of such process, postage prepaid, and directed to such company at its principal place of business, or if it is a foreign company, to its resident manager in the United States, or to such other person as may have been previously designated by it by written notice filed in the office of the commissioner of insurance. As a condition of valid and effectual service the plaintiff shall pay to the commissioner of insurance at the time of service the sum of two dollars, which the plaintiff shall recover as taxable costs if he shall prevail in his action. The commissioner shall keep a record of all such process which shall show the time and hour of service.

4. It shall appoint as its agents in this state only residents thereof.

ARTICLE 7.—PROVISIONS COMMON TO ALL INSURANCE COMPANIES.

§ 3117. Limit of risk. No company organized under this chapter, or transacting business in this state shall expose itself to loss on any one risk or hazard to an amount exceeding ten per cent of its paid up capital, exclusive of any guarantee, surplus, or special reserve fund, unless the excess shall be reinsured in some other good reliable company.

§ 7, c. 69, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3118. Limit of risk in single city. No fire insurance company shall insure in any one town or city property, other than dwelling houses, to an amount exceeding its net assets, and when from any cause the company has at risk in any town or city an amount as aforesaid in excess of its net assets it shall forthwith by reinsurance or by cancellation of policies and return of unearned premiums thereon to the insured reduce the amount of the insurance to the authorized limit. But no policy shall be canceled under the provisions of this section until after notice to the holder.

§ 3119. Annual statement. Publication thereof. Every insurance company doing business in this state must transmit to the commissioner of insurance a statement of its condition and business for the year ending on the preceding thirty-first day of December, which shall be rendered not later than the first Monday of February in each year. Foreign insurance companies shall have until the following first day of December to transmit their statements of business, other than that taken in the United States. Such statement must be published at least three times in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in each judicial district of the state in which such insurance company shall have an agency. Statements

5. The income of the company during the preceding year, specifying:
 - (a) The whole amount of interest received, stating separately the amount of interest received on loans in the state of North Dakota.
 - (b) The whole amount of cash premiums received, stating separately the amount of premiums received on policies written in the state.
 - (c) The whole amount of income received from all sources.
6. Expenditures during the preceding year, specifying:
 - (a) The whole amount of losses paid during the preceding year stating how much of the same accrued prior and how much subsequent to the date of the preceding statement; also stating separately the amount of losses paid upon risks taken in this state and how much accrued prior and how much subsequent to the preceding statement.

(b) The amount of dividends paid during the preceding year.

(c) The whole amount of fees and commissions paid to officers and agents during the preceding year.

(d) The amount of taxes paid during the preceding year, stating separately the amount paid in this state.

(e) The amount of fees paid the commissioner of insurance of this state.

(f) The whole amount paid for salaries for officers and agents during the preceding year.

(g) The whole amount of all other expenditures.

7. Such statement shall further specify:

(a) The gross amount of risks taken during the preceding year, stating the amount in this state separately.

(b) The whole amount of risks outstanding.

(c) The whole amount of losses incurred during the year, including those claims not yet due, stating separately those incurred in this state.

(d) The number of agents in this state.

§ 3121. Statements verified. Duty of commissioner. Such statements must be verified by the signature and oath of the president or vice president and of the secretary of a domestic insurance company, and by the manager or general agent of a foreign company doing business in this state; and it shall be the duty of the commissioner of insurance to cause the information contained in such statements to be arranged in a tabular form and printed annually for distribution to the companies doing business in this state and for transmission to the legislative assembly with his biennial report. § 19, c. 69, 1885.

§ 3122. Statements of receivers. It shall be the duty of all receivers of insurance companies on or before the thirtieth day of June of each year and at any other time, when required by the commissioner of insurance, to make and file annually statements of their assets and liabilities and of their income and expenditures in the same manner and form as the officers of such companies are required by law to make and for refusal or neglect to make and file the same they shall be subject to the same penalty. § 37, c. 69, 1885.

§ 3123. Inquiry into condition of companies. The commissioner of insurance is authorized and empowered to address any inquiries to any insurance company doing or applying for permission to do business in this state in relation to its doings or condition or any other matter connected with its transactions and it shall be the duty of any such company so addressed to reply promptly in writing to any such inquiries. § 15, c. 73, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3124. Agents must not act without certificate. No agent shall act for any insurance company directly or indirectly in taking risks or transacting the business of insurance without procuring from the commissioner of insurance a certificate of authority, stating that such corporation or company has complied with all the requisites of this chapter. The statements and evidences of investment required by this chapter shall be renewed from year to year in such manner and form as are required by this chapter and the commissioner of insurance on being satisfied that the capital, securities and invest- § 25, c. 69, 1885.

ments remain secure as hereinbefore provided shall furnish a renewal of the certificate as aforesaid.

§ 3125. Examination before granting certificates. When domestic companies examined. Examination of foreign companies. Expenses. Before granting certificates of authority to an insurance company to issue policies or make contracts of insurance the commissioner of insurance shall be satisfied by such examination and evidence as he sees fit to make and require that such company is duly qualified under the laws of the state to transact business therein. As often as once in two years he shall personally, or by his deputy or chief clerk, visit each domestic insurance company and thoroughly inspect and examine its affairs, especially as to its financial condition and ability to fulfill its obligations and whether it has complied with the law. He shall also make an examination of any such company whenever he deems it prudent to do so or upon the request of five or more of the stockholders, creditors, policy holders or persons pecuniarily interested therein who shall make affidavit of their belief, with specifications of their reasons therefor, that such company is in an unsound condition. Whenever he deems it prudent for the protection of policy holders in this state he shall in like manner visit and examine, or cause to be visited or examined by some competent person appointed by him for that purpose any foreign insurance company applying for admission, or already admitted, to do business by agencies in this state and such company shall pay the proper charges incurred in such examination, including the expense of the commissioner or his deputy. For the purposes aforesaid the commissioner or person making the examination shall have free access to all books and papers of an insurance company that relate to its business and to the books and papers kept by any of its agents and may summon as witnesses and examine under oath the directors, officers, agents and trustees of any such company and any other persons in relation to its affairs, transactions and condition.

am'd.

§ 3126. Authority revoked for false statement. When revocation set aside. If the commissioner of insurance has, or shall have at any time after examination reason to believe that any annual statement or other report, required or authorized by this article made or to be made out by an officer or agent of any insurance company is false, it shall be the duty of said commissioner of insurance immediately to revoke the certificate of authority of such company and mail a copy of such revocation to such company, and to the agents thereof in this state and such company and its agents after such notice shall discontinue the issuance of any new policies or the renewal of any policy previously issued; and such revocation shall not be set aside nor any new certificate of authority be given until satisfactory evidence shall have been furnished to said commissioner of insurance that such company is in substance and in fact in the condition set forth in such statement or report and that all requirements of this article have been fully complied with.

§ 12, c. 73, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3127. Commissioner must ascertain net cash value of life policies. The commissioner of insurance shall, at the expense of the company, as soon as practicable after statements are filed, proceed to ascertain the net cash value of all life insurance policies in force. The commissioner of insurance, may however, accept such valuation from the proper officer of the company or the insurance officer of the state in which such company is located, should he deem it expedient so to do. When the actual funds of any life or accident insurance company doing business in this state are not of a net value equal to the net value of its policies according to the combined experience or actuaries' rate of mortality, with interest at four per cent per annum, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of insurance to give notice to such company and its agents to discontinue the issuance of new policies in this state until its funds have become equal to its liabilities, valuing its policies as aforesaid. Any officer or agent, who after such notice has been given issues or delivers a new policy from and in behalf of such company before its funds have become equal to its liabilities as aforesaid shall forfeit for each offense a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars.

§ 3128. When and how authority revoked. Foreign company. Domestic company. Injunction. Power of court. If the commissioner of insurance is of opinion upon examination or other evidence that a foreign insurance company is in an unsound condition, or if it has failed to comply with the law, or if it, its officers or agents, refuse to submit to examination, or to perform any legal obligation in relation thereto or, if a life insurance company, that its actual funds, exclusive of its capital, are less than its liabilities, he shall revoke or suspend all certificates of authority granted to it or its agents, and shall cause notifications thereof to be published three times, once in each week for three successive weeks, in some newspaper published at the seat of government and no new business shall thereafter be done by it or its agents in this state while such default or disability continues, nor until its authority to do business is restored by the commissioner. If upon examination he is of the opinion that any domestic insurance company is insolvent, or has exceeded its powers or has failed to comply with any provisions of law or that its condition is such as to render its further proceedings hazardous to the public or its policy holders, he shall apply to the district court of the county in which the principal office of the company is located to issue an injunction restraining it in whole or in part from further proceeding with its business. The court or judge may, in discretion, issue an injunction forthwith or upon notice and hearing thereon, and after a full hearing of the matter may dissolve or modify such injunction or make it perpetual, and may make all orders and decrees needful in the premises and may appoint agents or receivers to take possession of the property and effects of the company and to settle its affairs according to the course of proceedings in equity.

§ 3129. Insurance by resident agents only. No insurance company shall do business in this state, except through its authorized agents who must be residents of and have their office or place of business in this state. All policies not written in accordance with the foregoing provisions shall be deemed a violation of this article. §§ 1,2, c.76, 1890.

§ 3130. Penalty for not making statement. For false statement. Any insurance company doing business in this state that neglects to make the statements in the manner and within the time in this article required shall forfeit one hundred dollars for each day's neglect, and upon notice by the insurance commissioner to that effect, its authority to do new business shall cease while such default continues and every such company that willfully makes false statements shall be liable to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars. Any new business done by the insurance company after neglect to make the required statements shall be deemed to be done in violation of law.

§ 3131. Penalty when there is no specific provision. For violation of any provision of this chapter when no penalty is specifically provided for herein the offender shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

§ 39, c. 69, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3132. Fees. There shall be paid by every company doing business in this state, except county mutual insurance companies, the following fees:

Upon filing articles of incorporation, or copies thereof, twenty-five dollars.

Upon filing the annual statement, ten dollars.

For each certificate of authority and certified copy thereof two dollars.

For every copy of any paper filed in the insurance department, the sum of twenty cents per folio; and for affixing the official seal on such copy and certifying the same, the sum of one dollar.

For official examination of companies under this article the actual expense incurred, not to exceed ten dollars per day.

§ 20, c. 73, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3133. Same conditions imposed on companies of other states as they impose on domestic companies. Whenever the laws of any other state of the United States or foreign country shall require of insurance companies incorporated under the laws of this state, or of the agent thereof, any deposits of securities in such state for the protection of policy holders or otherwise, or any payment for taxes, fines, penalties, certificate of authority, license or fees greater than the amount required for such purposes from similar companies of other states by the then existing laws of this state, then and in every such case, all insurance companies of such states establishing or having heretofore established an agency in this state, shall be and are hereby required to make the same deposit for a like purpose with the state treasurer of this state, and to pay to the commissioner of insurance an amount equal to the amount of such charges and payment imposed by the laws of such other states upon the companies of this state and the agents thereof.

§ 3134. Who may form company. Any number of persons, not less than fifty, residing in any five adjoining counties in this state, who collectively own property of not less than fifty thousand dollars in value which they desire to insure, or any number of persons not less than twenty-five, residing in any one county, owning property of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars in value which they desire to insure, may form a corporation for mutual insurance against loss or damage by fire, lightning, hail and cyclone, which shall possess the powers and be subject to the duties and liabilities of other insurance companies, except as herein otherwise provided. The principal office of the company must be located within the limits of the county or counties in which the incorporators reside. The name of the county together with the word county shall be embraced in the corporate name of the company when organized by the residents of a single county.

§ 3136. Separate funds for hail and other insurance. In all cases of insurance against loss or damage by hail, it shall be the duty of such company to keep a separate and distinct record of all interest, premiums and policies of insurance relating to such hail insurance and no note, premium, undertaking, or policy of insurance which shall be received, issued or delivered for any insurance against loss by hail shall be used in any connection with insurance against loss or damage by reason of any other cause, and no moneys, premiums or funds arising out of or received for insurance against loss or damage by hail shall be used in the payment of any loss or damage by reason of fire, lightning, or cyclone, and no moneys, premiums or funds arising out of or received for insurance against loss or damage by fire, lightning and cyclone shall be used in the payment of any loss or damage by hail. § 5, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

§ 3137. Cash premium or note in hail insurance. Conditions of policy. Every person insuring grain against loss or damage by hail shall, except when a cash premium is paid, execute and deliver to such company his promissory note, bearing even date with the policy issued to him therefor, together with such security as may be required by the board of directors or the by-laws of such company. In case of insurance against loss or damage by hail the directors of such company may issue policies signed by the president and secretary, agreeing in the name of the company to pay all losses or damages by hail, or such pro rata share of such loss or damage as can be paid out of the highest limit of the liabilities of the members, which liabilities shall be established by the by-laws of such company before the issuing of any policy of insurance against loss or damage by hail. § 6, c. 67, 1887.

§ 3138. Adjusters of hail losses. Notice of loss. Disagreement of adjuster and insured. It shall be the duty of the board of directors to appoint one or more adjusters, prescribe their duties and fix their compensation, requiring them to report to the president or secretary upon all losses or damage by hail adjusted by them. Upon any loss or damage by hail, the party sustaining the same shall immediately notify the secretary or a duly appointed adjuster of such loss or damage. In case the adjuster and party sustaining the loss cannot agree the claimant may then appeal as provided for in section 3141 and notice of loss or damage by hail shall be the same as is prescribed in said section. § 7, c. 67, 1887.

§ 3139. By-laws may provide sinking fund for different departments. Any company organized under this article may provide in its by-laws for creating a fund of not to exceed fifteen thousand dollars in the hail department and of not to exceed three thousand dollars in the fire, lightning and cyclone department, the by-laws to set forth the manner in which such funds shall be created and the purpose to which they shall be applied. § 8, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

3140. Undertaking given, if other than hail insurance. Cash payment. Every person insured against loss or damage by § 9, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

fire, lightning and cyclone shall give his undertaking, bearing even date with the policy so issued to him, binding himself, his heirs and assigns, to pay his pro rata share to the company of all losses or damage by fire, lightning and cyclone, which may be sustained by any member thereof and every such undertaking shall within five days after the execution thereof be filed with the secretary in the office of the company and shall remain on file in the office, except when required to be produced in court as evidence. He shall also at the time of receiving such insurance pay such percentage in cash, or such reasonable sum named in the policy as may be required by the rules and by-laws of the company.

§ 10, c. 67, 1887.
am'd.

§ 3141. Notice of loss. Contents. Committee to adjust.

Arbitration if disagreement. Every member of such company who may sustain loss or damage by fire, lightning or cyclone shall immediately notify the secretary of such company, or in case of his absence, the president thereof, specifying the property destroyed, the damage and cause thereof, which officer shall forthwith ascertain and adjust the amount of such loss or damage or forthwith convene the directors of such company whose duty it shall be to appoint a committee of not more than three members of such company to ascertain the amount of such loss and in case of the inability of the parties to agree upon the amount of such damage the claimant shall choose a disinterested party and the company shall choose a disinterested party who shall constitute a board of arbitration to settle such loss and in case these parties cannot agree they shall choose a third party to act with them and such board of arbitration shall have power to examine witnesses and to determine all matters in dispute and the decision of such board shall be final.

§ 11, c. 67, 1887.
am'd.

§ 3142. Property classified according to risk. Assessments. Basis of. When made.

Such company may classify the property insured at the time of issuing the policy thereon under different rates corresponding as nearly as may be to the nature of the risk attaching to the kind of property insured. Whenever the amount of any loss shall have been ascertained, if it exceeds the amount of the cash funds of the company applicable to the payment of such loss, the president shall convene the directors of the company who shall make an assessment sufficient at least to pay such loss upon all members of the company having property insured belonging to the same department as that on which the loss occurred. Such assessment shall be in proportion to the sums obtained by multiplying the amount of insurance granted by the several policies by the rate of premium applicable to the property covered by the policies respectively. No assessment for loss or damage by hail shall be made prior to the first day of September of the year in which the loss occurred.

§ 3143. Secretary to give notice of and collect assessments.

It shall be the duty of the secretary, whenever such assessments shall have been completed, to notify every person composing such company by letter sent to his post office address of the amount of such loss and the sum due from him as his share thereof and the time when and to whom such payment is to be made and such time shall not be less than thirty days nor more than sixty days from the time of such notice. And no company organized under the provisions of this article shall be liable in any action at law or otherwise for the recovery of any loss or damage by hail before the fifteenth day of November of the year in which such loss occurred.

§ 3144. Suits for assessments. Individual liability of directors. Suits at law may be brought against any member of such company who shall refuse or neglect to pay any assessment made upon him under the provisions of this article, and the directors of such company who shall willfully neglect to perform the duties imposed upon them under the provisions of this article shall be liable in their individual capacity to the person sustaining such loss. § 13, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

§ 3145. What may be insured. No company formed under the provisions of this article shall insure any property beyond the limits of the district comprised in the formation of the company, nor shall it insure any property other than detached dwellings and their contents, farm buildings and their contents, school houses and school furniture therein, church buildings and furniture therein, live stock only on the premises or running at large and hay or grain in bin or stack, or growing grain against damage by hail, nor shall they insure any property within the limits of any incorporated city or village in this state. § 14, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

§ 3146. Election of directors. Proxy. Who members. The directors of each company so formed, shall be chosen by a vote at the annual election thereof which shall be held on the first Tuesday in June of each year and every member shall have one vote; but no person shall vote by proxy at such election; provided, that in any company organized under the provisions of this article whose policies of insurance shall not run for a longer period than one year, all persons holding policies of insurance therein during the year immediately preceding the annual election shall be considered as members of said company and shall be entitled to vote at such election. § 15, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

§ 3147. How member may withdraw. Any member of the company may withdraw therefrom at any time by giving ten days' notice in writing to the president or secretary thereof and by paying his share of all claims existing against the company at the expiration of the ten days. § 17, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

§ 3148. When nonresidents may become members. Cannot be directors. Nonresidents of any county in this state, owning property therein, may become members of any company incorporated under this article and shall be entitled to all rights and privileges pertaining thereto, except that they cannot become directors in such company. § 18, c. 67, 1887. am'd.

§ 3149. Term of existence. No company formed under this article shall continue for a longer term than thirty years. § 20, c. 67, 1887.

§ 3150. Annual statement submitted to members. The secretary of the company shall prepare and submit to the members thereof at each annual meeting a copy of the annual statement required to be filed with the commissioner of insurance as provided in section 3119.

§ 3151. Subject to preceding articles. In all other respects companies organized under this article shall be subject to the provisions of the preceding articles of this chapter.

ARTICLE 9. — CHATTEL MORTGAGES IN APPLICATIONS.

§ 3152. Chattel mortgage void unless on separate paper. It shall be unlawful for any insurance company, or any agent or solicitor therefor within this state, to take or procure to be taken § 1, c. 19, 1887.

upon the property to be insured, or any other property, a chattel mortgage, securing the payment of the premium due or to become due, including policy fees, or any part thereof, unless such chattel mortgage shall be printed or written upon a separate and distinct paper from the application, and no mortgage given in violation of the provisions of this section shall be valid or binding upon the party executing the same, but shall in all things be null and void.

§ 2, c. 19, 1887.
am'd.

§ 3153. Penalty for violating last section. Any insurance company, or any agent or solicitor thereof, violating the provisions of the last section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. And such company shall forfeit all its rights and privileges under its articles of incorporation.

CHAPTER 15.

MINING AND MANUFACTURING CORPORATIONS, ETC.

§ 3154. How formed. Term of existence. Corporations for mining, manufacturing and other industrial pursuits may be formed as provided in chapter eleven; and such corporations have all the rights and are subject to all the duties, restrictions and liabilities therein mentioned, so far as the same apply or relate to such corporations, but the term of existence of any such corporation shall not exceed twenty years.

§ 512, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 3155. Purpose must be stated. Cannot loan to stockholder. Penalty. The purposes for which any such corporation shall be formed must be distinctly and definitely specified in the articles of incorporation, and it must not appropriate its funds to any other purpose nor must it loan any of its money to any stockholder therein; and if any such loan or misappropriation is made, the officers who shall make it, or who shall assent thereto, shall be jointly and severally liable to the extent of such loan or misappropriation and interest and for all the debts of the corporation contracted before the repayment of the sum so loaned or misappropriated.

§ 513, Civil C.

§ 3156. Accounts. Publicity. Statement. Regular books of accounts of all the business of such corporation must be kept, which with the vouchers shall be at all reasonable times open for the inspection of any of the stockholders; and as often as once in each year a statement of such accounts shall be made by order of the directors and laid before the stockholders.

§ 514, Civil C.

§ 3157. Stockholders liable for labor. The stockholders of any corporation formed for the purposes mentioned in this chapter shall be jointly and severally liable in their individual capacities for all debts due to mechanics, workmen and laborers employed by such corporation, which said liability may be enforced against any stockholders by an action at any time after an execution against such corporation shall be returned not satisfied; provided, such action is commenced within four months; and provided always, that if any stockholder shall be compelled by any such action to pay the debts of any creditor, or any part thereof, he shall have the right to call upon all the stockholders to contribute their part of the sum so paid by him as aforesaid, and may sue them jointly or severally or any number of them and recover in such action the ratable amount due from the person or persons so sued.

§ 3158. Annual report. Contents. How verified. Every such corporation shall annually within twenty days from the first day of January make a report which must be published in some newspaper published at or nearest to the place where the business of said corporation is carried on, which report must state the capital stock and the amount thereof actually paid in, the amount and nature of its indebtedness and the amounts due the corporation, the number and amount of dividends and when paid and the net amount of profits. The said report must be signed by the president and a majority of the directors and be verified by the oath of the president or secretary of the corporation and filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the business of the corporation is carried on; any person who willfully neglects, fails or refuses to make, sign or publish the report as provided in this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. § 515, Civil C.

§ 3159. Demand for statement. Penalty for refusal. Whenever any person or persons owning twenty per cent of the capital stock of any corporation formed for the purposes mentioned in this chapter shall present a written request to the treasurer thereof that they desire a written statement of the affairs of the corporation, he must make such statement under oath, embracing a particular account of all its assets and liabilities in detail and deliver the same to the persons presenting the written request within twenty days after such presentation; and such treasurer shall also at the same time place and keep on file in his office for six months thereafter a copy of such statement, which shall at all times during business hours be exhibited to any stockholder of such corporation demanding an examination thereof; the treasurer, however, shall not be required to make or deliver such statement in the manner aforesaid oftener than once in every six months. If such treasurer neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this section he shall forfeit and pay to the person presenting such written request the sum of fifty dollars and the further sum of ten dollars for every twenty-four hours thereafter until such statement shall be furnished, to be sued for and recovered in an action. § 516, Civil C.

§ 3160. Office out of state. Main office in state. Any corporation formed for the purposes mentioned in this chapter may provide in the articles of incorporation for having a business office without this state at any place within the United States and to hold any meeting of the stockholders or directors of the corporation at such office so provided for; but every such corporation having a business office out of this state must have its main office for the transaction of business within this state to be also designated in such articles. § 517, Civil C.

§ 3161. Directors liable for violating law resulting in insolvency. If any such corporation shall willfully violate any of the provisions of this chapter relating or applying to such corporation and shall thereby become insolvent, the directors ordering or assenting to such violation shall jointly and severally be liable in an action founded upon this statute for all debts contracted after such violation. § 518, Civil C.

CHAPTER 16.

BRIDGE CORPORATIONS.

§ 528, Civil C.

§ 3162. Articles. Contents. Filing. The term of existence of a bridge corporation shall not exceed twenty years; and in addition to the matters required in section 2861 every corporation formed for the purpose of constructing a bridge over any stream of water must in the articles of incorporation specify as follows: The place where such bridge is to be built and over what stream; that the banks on both sides of the stream where such bridge is to be built are owned by such corporation, or that it has obtained in writing the consent of the owners of the banks, where the bridge is to be built, to build the bridge or that the banks at such place are included within and part of a public highway, and in such case that the consent in writing of the board of county commissioners of the county or counties for the erection of such bridge by such corporation has been obtained, and it must file a certified copy of its articles of incorporation in the office of the register of deeds of the county or counties in which its bridge or any part thereof is situated or to be located.

§ 529, Civil C.

§ 3163. No tolls without authority from county commissioners. No such corporation shall construct, or take tolls on, a bridge until authority is granted therefor by the board of county commissioners of the county or counties in which it is to be located.

§ 530, Civil C.

§ 3164. When franchise forfeited. Every such corporation also ceases to be a body corporate:

1. If within six months from the issue of its certificate by the secretary of state it has not obtained such authority from the board or boards of county commissioners as mentioned in the last section; and if within one year thereafter it has not commenced the construction of its bridge and actually expended thereon at least ten per cent of its capital stock.

2. If within three years from the issuing of its certificate of incorporation the bridge is not completed.

§ 531, Civil C.

§ 3165. Bridge must be in good condition. Every bridge corporation must at all times keep the bridge in good and safe condition for travel both night and day, unless it is rendered impassable by reason of floods or high water; and if it is destroyed by fire or other causes the corporation must rebuild within a period of one year from such destruction, or its corporate rights shall be forfeited and cease to exist.

§ 532, Civil C.

§ 3166. Toll rates posted. Penalty for excessive toll. Such corporation previous to receiving and as a condition precedent to the right to receive any toll upon the use of its bridge must set up and keep in a conspicuous place on the bridge a board on which must be written, painted or printed in a plain and legible manner the rates of toll which shall have been prescribed by the board of county commissioners; and if such corporation shall demand or receive any greater rate of toll than the rates so prescribed it shall be subject to a fine of ten dollars for each offense, to be recovered in an action by the party aggrieved or by any public officer making the complaint.

§ 533, Civil C.

§ 3167. No tolls when bridge in bad condition. Penalty. No such corporation shall demand or receive toll whenever said bridge is not in good and safe condition for use and any person having paid toll on such bridge and finding the same in a bad or unsafe condition for loaded wagons or teams shall have the right to make complaint before any justice of the peace in the county or counties in which the bridge is located, who shall thereupon summon the said corporation through its toll gatherer, officers or directors to appear before him to answer the complaint within not over five days from the date thereof, and if upon the hearing it is found that the bridge is not in a good and safe condition for use, or is in a bad condition and unsafe for loaded wagons or teams, the justice of the peace must impose a fine not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars upon such corporation and he must thereupon enter judgment and issue his order that no toll be collected upon said bridge until it is put in good repair and safe condition.

§ 3168. Passage prevented until toll paid. Unlawful interference. Each toll gatherer may prevent from passing through his gate all persons, animals or vehicles subject to toll until he shall have received, respectively, the tolls authorized to be collected, and if he willfully or unreasonably hinders or delays any such persons, animals or vehicles from passing, when the lawful toll has been paid or tendered, he shall forfeit and pay for each offense a sum not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars, to be recovered in an action by the party aggrieved. § 534, Civil C.

§ 3169. Penalty for unlawful passing. Every person who forcibly, willfully or fraudulently passes over such bridge without having paid or tendered the legal toll for himself and the property in his charge shall for each offense forfeit and pay to the corporation injured a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars, to be recovered in an action in the name of such corporation. § 535, Civil C.

§ 3170. Annual report to county board. The president and secretary of every bridge corporation must annually within twenty days from the first day of January report under oath to the board of county commissioners of the county in which the articles of incorporation are filed, specifying as follows: The costs of constructing and providing all necessary appendages and appurtenances of their bridge; the amount of all moneys expended thereon since its construction for repairs and incidental expenses; the capital stock, how much paid in and how much actually expended thereof; the amount received during the year for tolls and from all other sources, stating each separately; the amount of dividends made; the indebtedness of the corporation, specifying for what it was incurred; the net amount of profits; and such other facts and particulars respecting the business of the corporation as the board of county commissioners may require. § 536, Civil C.

CHAPTER 17.

RELIGIOUS, EDUCATIONAL AND BENEVOLENT CORPORATIONS.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 538, Civil C.
§ 2, c. 48, 1891.
am'd. § 3172. How formed. A corporation for religious, educational, benevolent, charitable or scientific purposes may be formed in the manner provided in chapter eleven.

§ 541, Civil C. § 3173. Annual report. The trustees or directors of all such corporations must annually make a full report of all their property, real and personal, including property held in trust by them, and of the condition thereof and of all their affairs to the members of the corporation for which they are acting.

§ 542, Civil C.

am'd. § 3174. May acquire and sell property. All such corporations shall have power to acquire property, both real and personal, by purchase, devise or bequest and to hold the same and may sell, exchange or mortgage any or all property held or owned by them in the manner determined by their by-laws or by a majority vote of their members at a meeting called for that purpose.

§ 543, Civil C.
am'd. § 3175. By-laws. Such corporations may in their by-laws in addition to the provisions of section 2884 provide for:

1. The qualification of members, mode of election and terms of admission to membership.

2. The fees of admission and dues to be paid to their treasury by members.

3. The expulsion and suspension of members for misconduct or nonpayment of dues; also for restoration to membership.

4. Contracting, securing, paying and limiting the amount of their indebtedness.

5. Other regulations not repugnant to the law of the state and consonant with the objects of the corporation.

§ 544, Civil C. § 3176. Subsequent members have equal rights. Members admitted after incorporation have all the rights and privileges and are subject to the same responsibilities as members of the association prior thereto.

§ 545, Civil C. § 3177. Membership rights personal. No member, or his legal representative, must dispose of or transfer any right or privilege conferred on him by reason of his membership of such corporation, or be deprived thereof, except as herein provided.

§ 1, c. 49, Pol. C. § 3178. Title vests in successors in trust. All grants or deeds from private individuals, or acts of legislative bodies, transferring, conveying or granting real estate in this state to any bishop, dean, rector, vestryman, deacon, director, minister or any other officer or officers of any church or organized religious society in trust for the use and benefit of such society of which they are such officer or officers, which have been or may be made, done or executed shall vest in their successor or successors in office, or other officer which such society may at any time designate, all the legal or other title, to the same extent and in all respects the same, as trustee of such trust for the use and benefit of such society, which such bishop, dean, rector, vestryman, deacon, director, minister or other officer or officers had under such grant, deed or act; and all transfers or sales made by such officer or officers so acquiring title by virtue of this section by succession in office shall have all the validity, force and effect that it would have had, had it been made by such bishop, dean, rector, vestryman, deacon, director, minister or other officer or officers, while holding under and by virtue of such grant, deed or act of such legislative body.

ARTICLE 2.—PROVISIONS RELATING TO EDUCATIONAL CORPORATIONS.

§ 3179. Donations for particular purposes. All donations, § 549. Civil C.
devises or bequests made to an educational corporation for particular purposes, when accepted, shall be applied in conformity with the express condition of the donor or devisor.

§ 3180. Powers of corporation. Educational corporations § 550. Civil C.
have power to appoint a president or principal for the institution and such professors, tutors and other agents and officers as may be necessary and to displace any of them as the interests of the institutions may require; to fill vacancies, to prescribe and direct the course of studies and the discipline to be pursued and observed in the institution and the rates of tuition in the same; and the president and professors shall constitute the faculty of such institution; and they have power to enforce the rules and regulations enacted for the government and discipline of the students and to suspend and expel offenders as may be deemed expedient. am'd.

§ 3181. Degrees conferred. Every such corporation having § 551. Civil C.
the rank of a college or university has power to confer, on the recommendation of the faculty, all such degrees or honors as are usually conferred by colleges and universities in the United States and such others, having reference to the course of studies and the worth and accomplishment of the student, as may be deemed proper.

§ 3182. Mechanics and agriculture. Such corporation may § 552. Civil C.
connect with its institution, to be used as a part of its course of education, any mechanical shops or machinery or lands for agricultural purposes, not exceeding three hundred and twenty acres, to which may be attached all necessary buildings for carrying on the mechanical and agricultural purposes of such institution.

ARTICLE 3.—FRATERNAL CORPORATIONS.

§ 3183. Who may form. Lodges, chapters, posts, encampments, councils, commanderies and other similar organizations, grand or subordinate, of the fraternities or associations commonly known as the Free and Accepted Masons, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Grand Army of the Republic, Knights of Pythias, Ancient Order of United Workmen and other similar benevolent or charitable fraternities or associations may become corporations upon compliance with the provisions of this article. § 1. c. 72. 1890.

encampment, council, commandery or other similar organization, desiring to avail itself of the provisions of this article, shall cause to be prepared articles of incorporation, which must set forth:

1. The corporate name by which said corporation shall be known.
2. The place where it shall be located.
3. The time during which it shall exist.

4. The number of its directors or trustees and the names and residences of the members who shall serve as directors or trustees until the election and qualification of their successors in office.

5. Whether it shall be subject to any grand, supreme or sovereign lodge or other superior body or bodies.

6. The amount of property, not exceeding fifty thousand dollars, which it may hold and the disposition to be made of the same in case of its dissolution.

7. Whether the private property of its members shall be liable for its corporate debts.

§ 3, c. 72, 1890.

§ 3185. Articles to be acknowledged. The articles of incorporation must be subscribed and acknowledged by the trustees or directors therein named, who shall append thereto an affidavit duly subscribed and sworn to by each of them, setting forth that at a regularly called meeting of the lodge or body which it is proposed to incorporate, the date of which meeting shall be stated in such affidavit, it was voted by a majority of the members present at such meeting to incorporate such lodge or other body and that the affiants are the duly elected directors or trustees of such lodge or other body.

§ 3186. Member's liability. The private property of the members of corporations formed under this article shall not be liable for its corporate debts, unless it is so provided in the articles of incorporation.

§ 5, c. 72, 1890.

§ 3187. Term of existence. The duration of corporations organized under this article may be perpetual if it is so stated in the articles of incorporation.

§ 6, c. 72, 1890.

§ 3188. By-laws. All corporations formed under this article shall have the power to enact by-laws not inconsistent with the laws of the United States or of the state of North Dakota and to amend and repeal the same in such manner as the members thereof shall determine. Every corporation formed under this article shall within three months after the filing of its articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state adopt by-laws and file a copy thereof within one month after the adoption thereof in the office of the secretary of state. The copy so filed shall be certified to by the directors or trustees of the corporation as being a true copy of the by-laws of such corporation. A copy of any by-law thereafter adopted, similarly certified to, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state within one month after its adoption and in case of the repeal or amendment of any by-law the directors or trustees shall within one month after such amendment or repeal file with the secretary of state a certificate setting forth the fact of such amendment or repeal.

§ 3189. Corporations governed by by-laws. All corporations formed under this article shall elect their directors or trustees and their officers and call and hold their meetings at the time and in the manner prescribed by their by-laws. The officers, other than directors or trustees, shall be such as the by-laws shall prescribe and shall perform such duties as may be designated by the by-laws.

§ 8, c. 72, 1890.

§ 3190. Articles, what may contain. Dissolution. It may be provided in the articles of incorporation of any corporation formed under this article that such corporation and the members thereof shall be subject to the jurisdiction of some grand, supreme or sovereign lodge or other body or bodies of the association or fraternity to which the lodge or other organization forming such corporation may belong and that in case such supreme, grand or sovereign lodge, or other superior body or bodies shall at any time revoke or suspend the charter granted by it to such subordinate lodge or other organization, or whenever by the laws and usages of the organization of which such subordinate body forms a part, the said subordinate body shall become defunct, then the corporate powers of such lodge or other subordinate organization shall cease and determine, except that such corporation as such shall have power to sell, convey and dispose of its property and collect debts due it; and all such property and debts shall be delivered up to the grand, supreme or sovereign lodge or other body or bodies of the association or fraternity to which such subordinate body forming such corporation may belong, or owe allegiance in accordance with the law and usages of said fraternity or association.

ARTICLE 4.—CEMETERY CORPORATIONS.]

§ 3191. Real property limited. Uses. Every cemetery corporation has power to purchase or take by gift, grant, or devise, and to hold real property, not exceeding eighty acres for the sole use and purpose of a burial ground, and to lay out the same into blocks and lots with convenient avenues and walks and to sell the lots for the sole use and purpose of burying the dead; and it may hold all such personal property as the legitimate and necessary purposes of the corporation may require. § 553, CIVIL C.

§ 3192. Survey and plat. Record. Such corporation shall cause its land, or such portion thereof as may from time to time become necessary for that purpose to be surveyed into lots, avenues and walks and platted and the plat of ground as surveyed shall be acknowledged and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county. Each lot shall be regularly numbered by the surveyor and such number shall be marked on the plat and recorded. § 554, CIVIL C.

§ 3193. Powers. Such corporation has power to inclose, improve and embellish its grounds, avenues and walks and to erect buildings or vaults for its use, and to prescribe in its by-laws rules for the sale, inclosure and ornamentation of lots and for erecting monuments or gravestones thereon; and to prohibit any use, division, improvement or ornamentation of any lot which the corporation may deem improper; and to make other by-laws and acts to the end that all the appliances, conveniences and benefits of a public and private cemetery may be obtained and secured. § 555, CIVIL C.

§ 3194. How proceeds from sale applied. The proceeds arising from the sale of lots, after deducting all expenses of purchasing, inclosing, laying out and improving the ground and of erecting buildings shall be exclusively applied, appropriated and used in protecting, preserving, improving and embellishing the cemetery and its appurtenances and to paying the necessary expenses of the corporation and must not be appropriated to any purposes of profit to the corporation or its members. § 556, CIVIL C.

§ 3195. Debts paid from proceeds. At least fifty per cent of the gross proceeds of sales of blocks, lots or graves must be applied as often as every six months to the payment of the debts and obligations of the corporation. § 557, CIVIL C.

§ 3196. Previous lot owners members. When grounds purchased or otherwise acquired for cemetery purposes have been previously used as a burial ground, those who are lot owners at the time of the purchase, continue to own the same and are members of the corporation, as hereinafter provided, with all the privileges the purchase of a corporation lot confers.

§ 559, Civil C.

§ 3197. Only lot owners entitled to vote. At each subsequent election of officers of any such corporation held after the first annual election the owner or owners of a lot in the cemetery, and none other, shall be entitled to one vote at such election or for any other purpose and no more than one vote; and shall by virtue of such proprietorship be a member of the corporation and eligible to any of its offices; but if there is more than one proprietor of any such lot then such one of the proprietors as the majority of them shall designate may cast the one vote as aforesaid; and each trustee or director shall be the sole proprietor of a lot in such cemetery.

§ 560, Civil C.

§ 3198. Interment makes lot inalienable. Whenever an interment is made in any lot transferred to individual owners by the corporation the same thereby, while any person is buried therein, becomes forever inalienable and descends in regular line of succession to the heirs at law of the owner; but any one or more of such heirs may release to any other of said heirs his or their interest in the same and any other joint owners may release to each other in like manner.

§ 561, Civil C.

§ 3199. Wholly exempt. All the property of every such benevolent corporation and the lots sold by it to individual proprietors shall be exempt from taxation, assessment, lien, attachment and from levy and sale upon execution; and all such real property shall be exempt from appropriation for streets, roads or any other public uses or purposes.

CHAPTER 18.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR CORPORATIONS.

§ 562, Civil C.

§ 3200. May hold real property. Limitation. Agricultural fair corporations may purchase, hold or lease any quantity of land, not exceeding in the aggregate one hundred and sixty acres, with such buildings and improvements as may be erected thereon and may sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same at pleasure. This real estate must be held for the purpose of erecting buildings and making other improvements thereon, to promote and encourage agriculture, horticulture, mechanics, manufactures, stock raising and general domestic industry.

§ 564, Civil C.

§ 3201. Debts limited. Such corporation must not contract any debts or liabilities in excess of the amount of money in the treasury at the time of contract except for the purchase of real property, for which it may create a debt not exceeding three thousand dollars, secured by mortgage on the property of the corporation. The directors who vote therefor are personally liable for any debt contracted or incurred in violation of this section.

§ 565, Civil C.

§ 3202. Income and expenses. Agricultural fair corporations are not conducted for profit and have no capital stock or income other than that derived from charges to exhibitors and fees for membership and admissions, which charges, together with the term of membership and the mode of acquiring the same must be provided for in their by-laws. Such charges and fees must never be greater than to raise sufficient money to discharge the debt for the real estate and the improvements thereon and to defray the current expenses of fairs; provided, that agricultural fair corporations may also be organized by three or more persons as in the case of other corporations, with all the rights, privileges and liabilities appertaining to such corporations under the corporation laws of this state, including such rights and privileges as are specified in this and the two preceding sections.

CHAPTER 19.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

§ 3203. How formed. Any ten or more persons may form a corporation for the purpose of doing business as a building and loan association in the manner provided in this chapter and, except as otherwise provided, the provisions of articles one to eleven inclusive of chapter 11 shall be applicable to such corporation. Such corporation may do business outside of this state if it shall have expressed its intention so to do in its articles of incorporation.

§ 1, c. 34, 1885.
§§ 1, 2, c. 40, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3204. When capital stock paid in. Lien on shares. Series. Withdrawals. The capital stock of any corporation formed pursuant to this chapter shall be paid in at such times, in such amounts and at such places as the by-laws shall appoint; every share of stock shall be subject to a lien for the payment of unpaid installments and other charges incurred thereon under the provisions of the by-laws and the by-laws may prescribe the form and manner of enforcing such lien; new shares of stock may be issued in lieu of the shares withdrawn or forfeited. The stock may be issued in one or more successive series in such amounts as the board of directors or stockholders may determine and any stockholder wishing to withdraw from the corporation shall have power to do so by giving thirty days' notice of his intention to withdraw, when he shall be entitled to receive the amount paid in by him and such proportion of the profit as the by-laws may determine, less all fines and other charges; provided, that at no time shall more than one-half of the funds in the treasury of the corporation be applicable to the demands of withdrawing stockholders without the consent of the board of directors; and that no stockholder shall be entitled to withdraw whose stock is held in pledge for security. Upon the death of the stockholder his legal representatives shall be entitled to receive the full amount paid in by him and legal interest thereon after deducting all charges that may be due on stock. No fine shall be charged to a deceased member's account after his decease, unless the legal representatives of such decedent assume the future payments on the stock.

§ 2, c. 34, 1885.
1, c. 34, 1887.
11, c. 40, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3205. Loaning funds. The officers shall hold stated meetings at which the money in the treasury if equal to the amount of one share in stock in such corporation shall be offered for loan in open meeting and the stockholder who shall bid the highest premium for the preference or priority of loan shall be entitled to receive a loan of the amount of the par value of one share of stock for each share of stock held by him.

§ 4, c. 34, 1885.
§ 3, c. 34, 1887.
am'd.

§ 3206. Loans evidenced by note, secured by mortgage and pledge of shares. Conditions of mortgage. For every loan made a note secured by first mortgage of real estate shall be given, accompanied by a transfer and pledge of the shares of the borrower. The shares so pledged shall be held by the corporation as collateral security for the performance of the conditions of such note and mortgage. The note and mortgage shall recite the number of shares pledged and the amount of money advanced thereon and shall be conditioned for the payment of the dues on such shares and the interest and premium upon the loan, together with all fines and payments in arrears, until such shares reach the ultimate par value of the shares of stock of the corporation, or the loan is otherwise canceled and discharged; provided, that the shares without other security may in the discretion of the directors be pledged as security for loans to an amount not exceeding their value as adjusted at the last adjustment and valuation of shares before the time of the loan. If the borrower neglects to offer security satisfactory to the directors within the time prescribed by the by-laws his right to the loan shall be forfeited and he shall be charged with one month's interest and one month's premium at the rate bid by him, together with all expenses, if any, incurred; and the money appropriated for such loan may be reloaned at the next or any subsequent meeting.

5, c. 34, 1885.
4, c. 34, 1887.
am'd.

§ 3207. Loan may be repaid at any time. Option of borrower. A borrower may repay a loan at any time upon application to the corporation, whereupon, on settlement of his account, he shall be charged with the full amount of the original loan together with all installments of interest, premiums and fines in arrears, and shall be given credit for the withdrawing value of his shares pledged and transferred as security; and the balance shall be received by the corporation in full satisfaction and discharge of such loan; provided, that a borrower desiring to retain his shares and membership may, at his option, repay his loan without claiming credit for such shares, whereupon the shares shall be retransferred to him, and shall be free from any claim by reason of such canceled loan. If, however, the by-laws of the corporation prescribe a different manner and different terms upon which a loan may be repaid the repayment can only be made in accordance with such by-laws.

§ 6, c. 34, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3208. No premium deemed usurious. No premiums, fines or interest on premiums that may accrue to the corporation according to the provisions of this chapter shall be deemed usurious.

8, c. 34, 1885.
5, c. 34, 1887.
am'd.

§ 3209. May purchase real estate, when. Every corporation may purchase at any sale, public or private, any real estate upon which it may have a mortgage, judgment lien, or other incumbrance or ground rent or in which it may have any interest and may sell, convey, lease or mortgage at pleasure real estate so purchased.

§ 4, c. 40, 1889.

§ 3210. Minimum premium. Such corporation may in its by-laws fix a per cent premium at less than which it will not be obliged to accept loans.

§ 5, c. 40, 1889.
am'd.

§ 3211. Loan fund. Uses prohibited. Not less than eighty-three per cent of all monthly dues collected from the share holders of such corporation shall be put into a fund to be known as the loan fund, no part of which shall be used by the corporation for the purpose of paying its expenses, or the expense of carrying on its business, excepting interest, taxes and insurance.

§ 3212. Investment of unloaned funds. Any funds of such corporation, which shall remain unloaned for a period of more than thirty days and for which there is no sufficient demand, may be loaned or invested by the corporation under the provisions of its by-laws at any rate of interest allowed by law upon any security approved and accepted by the board of directors. § 7, c. 40, 1889. am'd.

§ 3213. Power to borrow. Such corporation shall have power to borrow money under such restrictions and regulations as its by-laws may provide. § 5, c. 40, 1889. am'd.

§ 3214. Retirement of unpledged shares. The board of directors of such corporation shall have power in its discretion to retire the unpledged shares of stock of such corporation at any time after the third year from the date of the issue of such stock and to enforce the withdrawal of the same in such manner and under such regulations as it may deem best for the interest of the corporation. It shall determine by lot or in any other impartial manner which shares shall be thus retired, but no unmatured stock shall be retired while any matured stock remains in force. § 9, c. 40, 1889. am'd.

§ 3215. Voluntary withdrawals. The by-laws of such corporation may provide for the voluntary withdrawal and cancellation at or before maturity of shares of stock not borrowed on; provided, that such withdrawal and cancellation shall be pro rata among the shares of the same series of stock. § 18, c. 34, 1885. am'd.

§ 3216. Annual report. Contents. All building and loan associations doing business in this state shall annually make a true and correct statement, verified by the oath of its president or secretary, setting forth its actual financial condition on the thirtieth day of June of the current year, which shall be forwarded to the state examiner not later than the first day of August of the same year and shall contain the following information:

1. The amount of authorized capital and the par value of each share of stock.
2. The number of shares sold during the year.
3. The number of shares canceled and withdrawn during the year.
4. The number of shares in force at the end of the year.
5. A detailed statement of the receipts and disbursements during the year.
6. A detailed statement of the assets and liabilities at the end of the year.

Such report shall also show the total amount received as dues on stock under each separate class or kind of stock and all deductions therefrom for expenses, withdrawals, cancellations, forfeitures, refunded or otherwise, and the amounts, if any, of profits credited to stock or subject to such credit, the number of shares in force of each issue or series and the amount expended during the year in payment of salaries of officers, clerks, agents and all other employees, the amount expended for traveling expenses, rent, postage, including telegraph and express charges, printing, books and stationery, office supplies, office furniture, advertising, commissions paid agents or other persons and all other items of expense.

In addition such annual report shall contain a statement of the business of the corporation for the preceding year, showing the amount of resources included in mortgage loans, the amount of loans on stock of the association, the amount of loans on other securities specifying the kind of such securities, the amount of unpaid dues, fines, premiums and interest, the amount due from agents, the amount due from banks, the amount invested in real estate and obtained on foreclosure, the amount invested in furniture and fixtures, the amount of cash on hand and the amount of all other resources of the association not enumerated heretofore; and shall state as its liabilities the amount received from stock subscriptions, the amount due from stock delinquent in each class or kind of stock and the unpaid fines on such stock, the amount set aside as an expense fund from each kind or class of stock, the amount of undivided profits at the beginning of the year, the amount received as interest, premiums, fees, fines or other sources as profits during the year, the amount of such interest and interest delinquent at the end of the year, the amount of all bills payable and the amount of all other liabilities at the close of the year. Within thirty days from the filing of the report a statement of the assets and liabilities shall be published at least once in some newspaper in the city or town in which the association has its principal place of business. All statements herein required to be made shall be uniform and in accordance with a form to be prescribed by the state examiner, and shall correctly show the proportion which the entire expenses of the association for the term reported bear to its gross earnings for that term. All reports required of building and loan associations organized under the laws of this state are also required of all foreign building and loan associations doing business in this state, and all the provisions of this chapter relating to such reports, the filing thereof and the fees therefor shall apply to such foreign building and loan associations.

§ 3217. Penalty for not making report. Certificate of authority. If any such association shall fail to furnish to the state examiner the report required by this chapter at the time required, it shall forfeit the sum of twenty-five dollars for every day such report shall be delayed or withheld and the attorney general on the application of the state examiner shall bring an action to recover such penalty. After receiving such annual report the state examiner, if satisfied that such corporation has complied with all the provisions of this chapter and is entitled to do business in this state, shall issue his certificate, stating the compliance with such provisions, and that such corporation is entitled to do business in this state, which certificate shall be in force for the period of one year, unless sooner rescinded as provided in this chapter. The state examiner shall also issue such certificate to a domestic corporation, which commenced business at some intervening period in any year which has complied with the law in regard to its articles of incorporation and in all other respects except the filing of such report.

§ 3218. Examination by state examiner. Fee. It shall be the duty of the state examiner as often as he may deem necessary and at least once in each year to examine every building and loan association incorporated under the laws of this state, and for that purpose he shall have and exercise over such corporation, its business, officers, directors and employees all the power and authority conferred upon him by the laws of this state over banks and other moneyed corporations; provided, that he shall not have the power to suspend the operation of any such corporation, except in the manner provided in this chapter. The state examiner shall have the same supervision and control over the business within this state of foreign corporations of like kind, doing business in this state. Upon the completion of any examination of any association made by the state examiner, or under his direction, the association so examined shall pay to the examiner a fee to be determined as follows, viz: For the first one hundred thousand dollars of assets, a fee of ten dollars and for each additional one hundred thousand dollars of assets, or major portion thereof, an additional fee of five dollars.

§ 3219. Action against insolvent corporation. If it shall appear to the state examiner from any examination made by him, or from the annual report aforesaid, that any such corporation organized under the laws of this state is violating the law, or that it is conducting business in an unsafe, unauthorized or dishonest manner, he shall, by an order under his hand and seal of office addressed to such corporation direct compliance with the requirements of the law. And whenever such corporation shall refuse or neglect to make such report or account as may be lawfully required, or to comply with such order as aforesaid, the state examiner shall file a statement in writing with the attorney general, setting forth the facts or particulars in which such alleged violation or refusal consists, which statement shall be prima facie evidence of such violation or refusal, whereupon the attorney general shall institute such proceedings against such corporation as are provided by law in the case of insolvent corporations, or such other proceedings as the occasion may require.

§ 3220. Conditions on which foreign corporations can do business in this state. No foreign building and loan association or corporation shall do business in this state, until:

1. It shall have first complied with the provisions of sections 3261 and 3263.

2. It shall have obtained from the state examiner a certificate, authorizing it to do business in this state.

Upon application by any foreign building and loan corporation or association to do business in this state, and thereafter whenever the state examiner shall deem it prudent for the public interest he shall examine into its financial condition and method of doing business and for that purpose, if he deems it necessary he may visit such corporation, or cause the same to be visited by a competent person appointed by him, and he may demand from such corporation or association in advance, his fees and necessary expenses for making such examination and may refuse to make the same or to issue any certificate unless such fees and expenses are paid, and if a certificate has already been issued may rescind the same. For the purpose of making such examination the person making the same shall have free access to all the books and papers of the corporation that relate to its business and to the books and papers kept by any of its agents and may summon as witnesses and examine under oath the directors, officers, agents and trustees of any such corporation and any other person in relation to its affairs, transactions and condition.

§ 3221. Certificate to foreign corporation. If he is satisfied from such examination that such corporation is solvent and its method of doing business is such as is likely to be beneficial to all of its members alike, he shall issue a certificate, authorizing it to do business in this state, if one is not already in force, which certificate shall be in force for one year, or until the time required for the filing of the annual report, unless sooner rescinded.

§ 3222. Revocation of authority. If the state examiner is of opinion upon examination or other evidence that a foreign building and loan association doing business in this state is in an unsound condition, or if it has failed to comply with the law, or if it, its officers or agents, refuse to submit to examination, or to perform any legal obligation in relation thereto, he shall revoke or suspend its certificate of authority and shall cause notification thereof to be published three times, once in each week, for three successive weeks, in some newspaper published at the seat of government and shall mail a copy to such association or corporation at its home office and no new business shall thereafter be done by it, or its agents in this state while such default or disability continues, nor until its authority to do business is restored by the examiner.

§ 3223. Selling stock of foreign corporation without authority, a misdemeanor. Any officer, director or agent of any foreign building and loan association, or any person whatever, who shall in this state solicit subscriptions to the stock of such association, or who shall sell or issue, or knowingly cause to be sold or issued to a resident of this state any stock of such association, while such association shall not hold the certificate of the state examiner, authorizing it to do business in this state as herein described, or before such association has complied with all the provisions of this chapter or when such association shall have been notified that its authority to do business in this state has been revoked, as hereinbefore provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment of not less than ten days nor more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

§ 3224. Same. Domestic corporation. Any officer, director or agent of any building and loan association incorporated under the laws of this state, or any other person whatever, who shall sell or issue, or knowingly cause to be sold or issued to any person any stock of such association, while such association shall not have a certificate of the state examiner authorizing it to do business as herein prescribed shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars and not more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment of not less than ten days nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

§ 3225. Reincorporation unnecessary. All corporations heretofore organized in this state and doing business as building and loan associations shall comply with and be subject to all the provisions of this chapter and shall be entitled to all the privileges and benefits thereof without reincorporating.

CHAPTER 20.

BANKING CORPORATIONS.

§ 3226. Who may form. Associations for carrying on the business of banking under this chapter may be formed by any number of natural persons, not less than three, two-thirds of whom shall be residents of the state. They shall enter into articles of association which shall specify in general terms the objects for which the association is formed, and may contain any other provision, not inconsistent with law which the association may see fit to adopt for the regulation of its business and the conduct of its affairs. These articles shall be signed by the persons uniting to form the association and a copy of them shall be forwarded to the secretary of state of the state of North Dakota.

§ 1, c. 23, 1890.

§ 3227. Organization certificate. Contents. The persons uniting to form such an organization shall under their hands make an organization certificate which shall specifically state:

§ 2, c. 23, 1890.
§ 2, c. 27, 1893.
am'd.

1. The name assumed by such association, which name shall not be that of any other bank in the state.

2. The place where the business of discount and deposit is to be carried on.

3. The amount of the capital stock and the number of shares into which the same is to be divided.

4. The names and places of residence of the shareholders and the number of shares held by each of them.

5. The period at which such banks shall commence and terminate business.

§ 3228. Acknowledgment and record. The organization certificate shall be acknowledged before a clerk of some court of record or a notary public and shall be, together with the acknowledgment thereof, authenticated by the seal of such court or notary, recorded in the office of the register of deeds in the county where such bank may be established and such certificate thus authenticated shall be transmitted to the secretary of state, who shall record and carefully preserve the same in his office.

§ 3, c. 23, 1890.
§ 3, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3229. Powers. Upon duly making and filing articles of association and an organization certificate the association shall become as from the date of the execution of the same a body corporate and as such, and in the name designated in the certificate it shall have power:

§ 4, c. 23, 1890.
§ 4, c. 27, 1893.
am'd.

1. To adopt and use a corporate seal.

2. To have succession for a period of twenty-five years from its organization, unless it is sooner dissolved according to the provisions of this chapter, or unless its franchise becomes forfeited by some violation of law.

✓ 3. To make contracts.

4. To sue and be sued.

5. To elect or appoint directors, two-thirds of whom shall be residents of this state, and by its board of directors to appoint a president and vice president, who shall be members of said board, a cashier and assistant cashier and such other help as may be required, define their duties, require bonds of them and fix the penalty thereof, dismiss such officers or any of them and appoint others to fill their places.

6. To prescribe by its board of directors by-laws not inconsistent with the law, regulate the manner in which its stock shall be transferred, its directors elected or appointed, its officers appointed, its property transferred, its business conducted and the privileges granted it by law exercised and enjoyed.

7. To exercise by its board of directors or duly authorized officers or agents, subject to law all such incidental powers as shall be necessary to carry on the business of banking by discounting and negotiating promissory notes, bills of exchange, drafts and other evidence of debt, by receiving deposits, by buying and selling exchange, coin and bullion, by loaning money on personal security; but no association shall transact any business, except such as is incidental and necessarily preliminary to its organization, until it has been authorized by the secretary of state to commence the business of banking and the secretary of state may withhold from any association his certificate authorizing the commencement of business, whenever he has reason to suppose that the shareholders have formed the same for any other than legitimate objects as contemplated by this chapter.

§ 3230. Powers as to real estate. Banking associations formed under this chapter shall have power to purchase, hold and convey real estate for the following purposes and no other:

1. Such as may be necessary for its immediate accommodation in the transaction of its business, not exceeding in value thirty per cent of its capital.

2. Such as shall be mortgaged to it in good faith by way of security for debts previously contracted.

3. Such as shall be conveyed to it in good faith in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in the course of its dealings.

4. Such as it shall purchase at sales under judgments, decrees or mortgages held by the association or shall purchase to secure debts due to it, but no such association shall hold the possession of any real estate under mortgage or the title and possession of any real estate purchased to secure any debts due to it for a longer period than five years.

§ 6, c. 23, 1890.
§ 6, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3231. Capital proportionate to inhabitants. Hereafter no association shall be organized under this chapter in towns containing five hundred inhabitants or less with a capital less than five thousand dollars; in towns of over five hundred and not exceeding one thousand inhabitants, with a capital less than ten thousand dollars; in towns of over one thousand and not exceeding one thousand five hundred inhabitants, with a capital less than fifteen thousand dollars; in towns of over one thousand five hundred and not exceeding two thousand inhabitants, with a capital less than twenty thousand dollars; in towns over two thousand and not exceeding two thousand five hundred inhabitants, with a capital less than thirty thousand dollars; in towns of over two thousand five hundred and not exceeding three thousand inhabitants, with a capital less than forty thousand dollars; and in towns of over three thousand inhabitants, with a capital less than fifty thousand dollars. At least fifty per cent of the capital stock of every association shall be paid in before it shall be authorized to commence business; the balance of which shall be paid in by installments of not less than ten per cent at the end of each succeeding month from the time it is authorized to commence business.

The payment of each installment shall be certified to the secretary of state, under the oath of the president or the cashier of the association. For the purpose of this section the population of a town, village or city shall be determined by multiplying by four the total vote cast for member of congress at the last general election held in such town, village or city and the result shall be taken as the population of such town, village or city.

§ 3232. Certificate and authorization published. The association shall cause the organization certificate and the official authorization of the secretary of state, issued under this chapter, to be published in some newspaper in the city or county where the association is located for at least four consecutive weeks next after the issuing thereof. § 7, c. 23, 1890.
§ 7, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3233. Articles as evidence. A certified copy of the articles of incorporation may be used in evidence in all courts for or against such banks or any person for or against whom such evidence is necessary, whether on civil or criminal trial. § 8, c. 23, 1890.
§ 8, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3234. Delinquent stock, how sold. Whenever any shareholder or his assignee fails to pay any installment on the stock, when the same is required to be paid the directors of such association may sell the stock of the delinquent shareholder or as much thereof as is necessary to satisfy the debt at public auction, after having given three weeks' previous notice thereof in a newspaper published and in general circulation in the city or county where the association is located, to any person who will pay the highest price therefor to be not less than the amount due thereon, with the expenses of the advertisement and sale and the excess, if any, shall be paid to the delinquent shareholder. If no bidder can be found who will pay for such stock the amount due thereon to the association and the cost of the advertisement and sale, the amount previously paid shall be forfeited to the association, and such stock shall be sold as the directors may order within six months from the time of such forfeiture. § 9, c. 23, 1890.
§ 9, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3235. Shares. Value. Liability of shareholder. The capital stock of each association shall be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each and be deemed personal property and transferable on the books of the association in such manner as may be prescribed by the by-laws or articles of such association; every person becoming a shareholder by such transfer shall, in proportion to his shares, succeed to all rights and liabilities of prior holders of such shares and no change shall be made in the articles of association by which the rights, remedies or security of the existing creditors of the association shall be impaired. § 10, c. 23, 1890.
§ 10, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3236. Capital stock, how increased or reduced. Any association formed under this chapter may, by its articles of association, provide for an increase of its capital stock from time to time as may be deemed expedient, subject to the rules and limitations of this chapter, but no increase of capital shall be valid until the whole amount shall be paid in in cash and such payments, certified under oath by the president or cashier of such association to the secretary of state, who will give his certificate that the provisions of this section have been complied with, and specifying therein the amount of such increase of capital stock with his approval thereof and that it has been duly paid in as part of the capital thereof. Any association formed under this chapter may, by vote of its shareholders owning two-thirds of its stock, reduce its capital to any sum not below the amount § 11, c. 23, 1890.

required by this chapter to authorize the formation of the association, but no such reduction shall be made until the amount of the proposed reduction is reported to the secretary of state and his approval thereof obtained in writing, and no such reduction shall be construed as affecting the liability of shareholders for any debts of the association incurred prior to such reduction.

§ 12, c. 23, 1890.

§ 3237. How dissolved. Duties of state examiner. Any association organized under the provisions of this chapter may be dissolved by the district court of the county where its office or principal place of business is situated upon its voluntary application for that purpose. The application must be in writing and must set forth that at a meeting of the stockholders or members called for that purpose, the dissolution of the association was resolved upon by a two-thirds vote of all the stockholders or members and that all claims and demands against the association have been satisfied and discharged. The application must be signed by a majority of the board of directors or other officers having the management of the affairs of the association, and must be verified in the same manner as a complaint in a civil action. A verified copy of the application shall be filed with the state examiner or such state officer as is by law authorized to examine such associations within ten days after the filing of such application with the district court. If the court is satisfied that the application is in conformity with this chapter it must order the application to be filed, and that the clerk give not less than thirty nor more than fifty days' notice of the application by publication in some newspaper published in the county, and if there are none such, then by advertisement posted up in five of the principal public places in the county. At any time before the expiration of the time of publication any person may file his objections to the application. Before the final hearing and determination of the application the state examiner shall make a thorough examination of the affairs of such association and file a certified statement of such examination with the clerk of the court of the county where such application is made, which statement shall be part of the papers in the case. After the time of publication has expired the court may, upon five days' notice to the persons who have filed objections, or without further notice if no objections have been filed, proceed to hear and determine the application, and if all the statements therein made are shown to be true the court must declare the association dissolved. No stockholder or officer of such association shall be allowed to withdraw from such association, or surrender or dispose of his shares of stock after the filing or making of such application for dissolution and prior to the final determination of the case. Upon the dissolution of such association by the district court, the clerk of said court shall forthwith notify the secretary of state of such dissolution by sending a copy of the order of the court and said order and notice shall be filed by the secretary of state with the original certificate of organization. The application, notices and proof of publication, objections, if any, and declaration of dissolution constitute the judgment roll, and from the judgment an appeal may be taken in the same manner as in other actions.

§ 13, c. 23, 1890.

§ 3238. Dividends. Surplus fund. The directors of any association organized under this chapter may semiannually declare a dividend of so much of the net profits of the association as they shall judge expedient, but each association shall before the declaration of a dividend carry one-tenth part of its net profits of the preceding half year to its surplus fund until the same shall amount to twenty per cent of its capital stock.

§ 3239. Qualification of director. Every director must own in his own right at least ten shares of the capital stock of the association of which he is a director; any director who ceases to be the owner of ten shares of the stock, or who becomes in any other manner disqualified shall thereby vacate his place. Every such director, when elected or appointed shall take an oath, that he will, so far as the duty devolves on him, diligently and honestly administer the affairs of such association, and will not knowingly violate, or willingly permit to be violated any of the provisions of this chapter and that he is the bona fide owner of the number of shares of stock required by this chapter to become a director, standing in his name on the books of the association. Such oath subscribed by the director making it and certified by the officer before whom it is taken shall at once be transmitted to the state examiner to be filed in his office.

14. c. 23, 1890.
14. c. 27, 1893.

§ 3240. No dividends, when. Bad debts. No association or any member thereof shall, during the time it shall continue its banking operations, withdraw or permit to be withdrawn, either in form of dividends or otherwise any portion of its capital. If losses have at any time been sustained by such association, equal to or exceeding its undivided profits then on hand, no dividend shall be made; and no dividend shall be made by any association while it continues its banking business to an amount greater than its net profits on hand, deducting therefrom its losses and bad debts; all debts due to an association on which the interest is past due and unpaid for a period of six months unless the same are well secured and in process of collection shall be considered bad debts within the meaning of this section; but nothing in this section shall prevent the reduction of the capital of the association under section 3236.

15. c. 23, 1890.
15. c. 27, 1893.

16. c. 23, 1890.
16. c. 27, 1893.

§ 3242. Regular and special reports. Penalty for failure to make. Every association shall make at least four reports each year to the state examiner, according to the form which may be prescribed by him, verified by the oath of the president or cashier and attested by at least two of the directors; such report shall exhibit in detail and under appropriate heads the resources and liabilities of the association at the close of business on any past day by him specified and shall be transmitted to the state examiner within seven days after the receipt of such request from him and in the same form shall be published in a newspaper in the city or county where such association is located at the expense of the association. The state examiner shall also have power to call for special reports from any association, whenever in his judgment the same are necessary in order to obtain a full and complete knowledge of its condition; every association which fails to make and transmit any report required under this section shall be subject to a penalty of two hundred dollars for each offense.

17. c. 23, 1890.
17. c. 27, 1893.

§ 3243. Responsibility of shareholders. The shareholders of every association organized under this chapter shall be individually

18. c. 23, 1890.
18. c. 27, 1893.

responsible equally and ratably and not one for the other for all contracts, debts and engagements of such association made or entered into to the extent of the amount of his stock therein at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in and due on such shares.

19, c. 23, 1890.
19, c. 27, 1893. § 3244. Loans on shares prohibited. No association shall make any loans or discounts on the security of the shares of its own stock, nor be the purchaser or holder of any such shares, unless such security or purchase shall be necessary to prevent loss upon a debt previously contracted in good faith and stock so purchased or acquired shall within six months be sold or disposed of at public or private sale.

20, c. 23, 1890.
20, c. 27, 1893. § 3245. Reserve fund. Each association shall at all times have on hand in available funds an amount equal to twenty per cent of its deposits, one-half of which may consist of balances due to the association from good solvent banks and one-half shall consist of cash on hand; whenever the available funds shall be below twenty per cent of its deposits such association shall not increase its liabilities by making any new loans or discounts otherwise than by discounting or purchasing bills of exchange, payable at sight, nor make any dividends of its profits, until the required proportion between the aggregate amount of deposits and its lawful money reserve has been restored; and the state examiner may notify any association whose lawful money reserve shall be below the amount above required to be kept on hand to make good such reserve and if such association shall fail so to do for a period of thirty days after such notice, the state examiner may impose a penalty of not less than one hundred dollars or more than five hundred dollars, which shall be collected in the same manner as other penalties prescribed in this chapter.

21, c. 27, 1893. § 3246. Penalties, how recovered. All fines and penalties heretofore provided for, to which any association organized under this chapter may become subject, shall be recovered on complaint of the state examiner, before any court having competent jurisdiction and all fines and penalties so recovered shall be paid into the state treasury.

22, c. 23, 1890.
22, c. 27, 1893. § 3247. Limit of loan to one concern. The total liability to any association of any person or company, corporation or firm for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of a company or firm the liabilities of the several members thereof shall not at any time exceed fifteen per cent of the capital stock of such association actually paid in, but the discount of bills of exchange drawn in good faith against actual existing values or loans upon produce in transit or in store as collateral security and the discount of commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same shall not be considered as money borrowed.

23, c. 23, 1890.
23, c. 27, 1893. § 3248. Penalty for violations. Any person or persons violating the provisions of this chapter, not hereinbefore specially provided for, shall upon conviction thereof pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars for each offense, to be recovered before any court having competent jurisdiction and all fines and penalties so recovered shall be paid into the state treasury.

24, c. 27, 1893. § 3249. Penalty for false statements or entries. Every officer, agent or clerk of any association under this chapter, who willfully and knowingly subscribes or makes any false statements or entries in the books of such association, or knowingly subscribes or exhibits any false paper with the intent to deceive any person authorized to examine as to the condition of such association, or willfully subscribes or makes false reports shall be subject to imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary for such term, not less than one year nor more than ten years, as the court trying him may designate.

§ 3250. Insolvent bank not to receive deposits. No banking association shall accept or receive on deposit with or without interest any money, bank bills or notes, or United States treasury notes or currency, or other notes, bills or drafts circulating as money or currency, when such banking association is insolvent.

§ 25, c. 23, 1890.
§ 25, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3251. Penalty for violating last section. If any such banking association shall receive or accept on deposit any such deposits as aforesaid when insolvent any officer, director, cashier, manager, member, party or managing party thereof, who shall knowingly receive or accept, be accessory or permit or connive at the receiving or accepting on deposit therein or thereby of any such deposits as aforesaid, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding five years, or by both fine and imprisonment as aforesaid.

§ 26, c. 23, 1890.

§ 3252. Banking must be done in compliance with this chapter. Penalty. No individual, firm or corporation shall transact a banking business without complying with and organizing under the provisions of this chapter. Any person violating the provisions of this section either individually or as an interested party in any association or corporation is guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not less than ninety days or both in the discretion of the court.

§ 27, c. 23, 1890.
§ 27, c. 27, 1893,
am'd.

§ 3253. Forfeiture of franchise. Every association organized under this chapter which shall refuse or neglect to comply with any requirement lawfully made upon it by the state examiner, pursuant to this chapter, for the period of ninety days after demand in writing is made shall be deemed to have forfeited its franchise and any failure on the part of such association to comply with or any violation of any of the provisions of this chapter shall work a forfeiture of its franchise and in either case the attorney general upon demand of the state examiner shall commence an action for the purpose of annulling the existence of said corporation.

§ 28, c. 23, 1890.

§ 3254. Examination of banks. Fees. Report to governor. The state examiner of North Dakota shall be ex officio superintendent of banks; he shall as often as shall be deemed necessary and proper and at least once a year duly examine every bank organized under this law, for which he shall charge the bank so examined a fee for the yearly examination only and turn the same into the state treasury as follows: Banks, ten thousand dollars capital or less, a fee of ten dollars; banks of from ten thousand dollars to twenty thousand dollars capital, fifteen dollars; banks of from twenty thousand dollars to forty thousand dollars capital, twenty dollars; and banks with a capital of over forty thousand dollars, twenty-five dollars. He shall have power to make a thorough examination into the affairs of the association and in so doing may examine any of the officers, agents or clerks thereof, on oath and shall make a full and detailed report in writing of the condition of the association so examined to the governor of the state, a copy of which report shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, which shall be open to all persons doing business with such association. The state examiner shall not be directly or indirectly interested in any association organized under this chapter.

§ 29, c. 23, 1890.
§ 29, c. 27, 1893.

§ 30, c. 27, 1893.

§ 3255. Oaths of officers. Every active officer of any bank organized under this chapter shall before entering upon the duties of his office take and subscribe an oath that he will so far as the duty devolves on him diligently and honestly administer the affairs of such association and that he will not knowingly violate or willingly permit to be violated any of the provisions of this chapter. All such oaths shall be presented to the board of directors and a synopsis thereof recorded on the director's record and then filed with the papers of the bank.

§ 3256. Bonds of officers and employees. The president and vice president, if active officers of the bank, the cashier, assistant cashier and teller shall before entering upon their duties furnish a good and sufficient bond to the association; the minimum amount shall not be less than twenty per cent of the capital stock of the association and may be greater if required by the board of directors. Other employees shall give bonds whenever required by the board of directors; all such bonds to be approved by the board and filed with one of its members, a record of which shall be made on the minutes of the meeting of said board.

§ 3257. Examination by directors. Report. It shall be the duty of the board of directors in February and in August of each year to proceed and make a careful and thorough examination of all the assets of the bank, examine stock, check certificates of deposits and cashier's checks, count cash, examine loans and discounts of every nature with the securities and collaterals belonging thereto; compare the aggregate with the records and examine the records and make a complete report of such examination with suggestions and criticisms, if in its judgment such are necessary, which report shall be spread on the records of the bank the same as of a regular meeting of the board of directors and shall be examined by the state examiner when making his regular annual examination of the bank.

§ 33, c. 27, 1893.
am'd.

§ 3258. Action against insolvent banks. The state examiner on becoming satisfied of the insolvency of any bank, organized under the provisions of this chapter, after making an examination of the same shall forthwith submit a statement of its condition to the attorney general, who shall thereupon institute an action against the corporation in accordance with the provisions of chapter twenty-six of the code of civil procedure.

CHAPTER 21.

EXISTING CORPORATIONS ELECTING TO CONTINUE UNDER THIS CHAPTER.

§ 3259. Proceedings when existing corporations elect to continue. § 566, Civil C. Any corporation existing at the passage of this act, formed under the laws of this state, may elect to continue its existence under the provisions of the ten preceding chapters applicable thereto and it may at any time thereafter make such choice or election at any meeting of the stockholders or members, or at any meeting called by the directors or trustees expressly for considering the subject, if voted for by stockholders representing a majority of the capital stock or by a majority of its members; or it may be made by the directors or trustees upon the written consent of that number of such stockholders or members. A certificate of the action of the directors or trustees, signed by them and their secretary, with the seal of the corporation, when the election is made upon such written consent, or a certificate of the proceedings of the meeting of the stockholders or members, when such election is so made, signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting and a majority of the directors and trustees must be filed in the office of the secretary of state and thereafter the corporation shall continue its existence under the provisions of the ten preceding chapters which are applicable thereto and shall possess all the rights and powers and be subject to all the obligations, restrictions and limitations prescribed thereby.

§ 3260. When individuals must comply with law on corporations. § 4, c. 10, 1879. am'd. Any person or association of persons now engaged in or that may hereafter engage in the construction of any railroad, street railway, telegraph or telephone lines, ditch for conveying water, or other like work of internal improvement shall be required to comply strictly with all the provisions of the preceding ten chapters in the same manner as corporations, so far as the same can be done. A failure of any such person or association of persons to comply as aforesaid shall work a forfeiture of any and all rights he or they may have acquired in accordance with law.

CHAPTER 22.

DUTIES OF FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

§ 3261. Conditions of foreign corporation doing business in this state. § 567, Civil C. am'd. No foreign corporation, association or joint stock company, except an insurance company, shall transact any business within this state, or acquire, hold or dispose of property, real or personal, within this state, until such corporation shall have filed in the office of the secretary of state a duly authenticated copy of its charter or articles of incorporation and shall have complied with the provisions of this chapter; provided, that the provisions of this chapter shall not apply to corporations created for religious or charitable purposes solely.

§ 368, Civil C.

§ 3262. Record. Such charter or articles of incorporation shall be recorded in a book to be kept by the secretary of this state for that purpose.

§ 560, Civil C.
1, c. 38, 1885.
am'd.

§ 3263. Appoint secretary of state attorney for service. Such corporation, association or joint stock company shall by a duly executed instrument filed in the office of the secretary of state constitute and appoint the secretary of state and his successors its true and lawful attorney upon whom all process in any action or proceeding against it may be served and therein shall agree that any process which may be served upon its said attorney shall be of the same force and validity as if served upon it personally in this state and that such appointment shall continue in force irrevocable so long as any liability of the corporation, association or joint stock company remains outstanding in this state. Service upon such attorney shall be deemed sufficient service upon the corporation, association or joint stock company. Whenever process against any foreign corporation, association or joint stock company, doing business in this state, shall be served upon the secretary of state he shall forthwith mail a copy of such process, postage prepaid, and directed to such corporation, association or joint stock company at its principal place of business, or if it is a corporation, association or joint stock company of a foreign country, to its resident manager in the United States, or to such other person as may have been previously designated by it by written notice filed in the office of the secretary of state. As a condition of valid and effectual service the plaintiff shall pay to the secretary of state at the time of the service the sum of two dollars which the plaintiff shall recover as taxable costs if he prevails in his action. The secretary of state shall keep a record of all such process which shall show the time and hour of service.

§ 1, c. 183, 1890.

§ 3264. Liability of officers, etc., for failure to comply. Any failure to comply with the provisions of the last three sections and with section 3116 of this code shall render each and every officer, agent and stockholder of any corporation, association or joint stock company failing to comply therewith, jointly and severally liable on any and all contracts of such corporation, association or joint stock company made within this state during the time such corporation, association or joint stock company is so in default.

§ 3265. Failure to comply renders all contracts void. Every contract made by or on behalf of any corporation, association or joint stock company, doing business in this state, without first having complied with the provisions of section 3116, if an insurance company, or with the provisions of sections 3261 and 3263, if other than an insurance company, shall be wholly void on behalf of such corporation, association or joint stock company and its assigns, but any contract so made in violation of the provisions of this section may be enforced against such corporation, association or joint stock company.

CHAPTER 23.

NATURE OF PROPERTY.

§ 3266. Ownership defined. The ownership of a thing is the right of one or more persons to possess and use it to the exclusion of others. In this code the thing of which there may be ownership is called property. § 159, Civil C.

§ 3267. What may be owned. There may be ownership of all inanimate things which are capable of appropriation or of manual delivery, of all domestic animals, including dogs, of all obligations, of such products of labor or skill, as the composition of an author, the good will of a business, trade-marks and signs and of rights created or granted by statute. § 160, Civil C.

§ 3268. Wild animals. Animals, wild by nature, are the subjects of ownership while living only when on the land of the person claiming them, or when tamed, or taken and held in possession, or disabled and immediately pursued. § 161, Civil C.

§ 3269. Property classified. Property is either: § 162, Civil C.

1. Real or immovable; or,
2. Personal or movable.

§ 3270. Real defined. Real or immovable property consists of: § 163, Civil C.

1. Land.
2. That which is affixed to land.
3. That which is incidental or appurtenant to land.
4. That which is immovable by law.

§ 3271. Land defined. Land is the solid material of the earth, whatever may be the ingredients of which it is composed, whether soil, rock or other substance. § 164, Civil C.

§ 3272. Fixtures. A thing is deemed to be affixed to land when it is attached to it by roots, as in the case of trees, vines or shrubs; or imbedded in it, as in the case of walls; or permanently resting upon it, as in the case of buildings; or permanently attached to what is thus permanent, as by means of cement, plaster, nails, bolts or screws. § 165, Civil C.

§ 3273. Appurtenances. A thing is deemed to be incidental or appurtenant to land, when it is by right used with the land for its benefit, as in the case of a way or water course, or of a passage for light, air or heat from or across the land of another. Sluice boxes, flumes, hose, pipes, railway tracks, cars, blacksmith shops, mills and all other machinery or tools used in working or developing a mine are to be deemed affixed to the mine. § 166, Civil C.

§ 3274. Personal property defined. Every kind of property that is not real is personal. § 167, Civil C.

CHAPTER 24.

OWNERSHIP.

ARTICLE 1. — OWNERS.

- § 168, Civil C. § 3275. Ownership. Limitation. The legislative assembly can pass no law interfering with the primary disposal of the soil. All property in this state has an owner, whether that owner is the United States or the state, and the property public; or the owner an individual, and the property private. The state may also hold property as a private proprietor.
- § 169, Civil C. § 3276. Land below high water mark. The ownership of land below ordinary high water mark and of land below the water of a navigable lake or stream is regulated by the laws of the United States or by such laws as under authority thereof, the legislative assembly may enact. The state is the owner of all property lawfully appropriated or dedicated to its own use; and of all property of which there is no other owner.
- § 170, Civil C. § 3277. Who may convey. Any person, whether citizen or alien, may take, hold and dispose of property, real or personal, within this state.

ARTICLE 2. — INTERESTS IN PROPERTY.

- § 171, Civil C. § 3278. Ownership classified. The ownership of property is either:
1. Absolute; or,
 2. Qualified.
- § 172, Civil C. § 3279. Absolute ownership. The ownership of property is absolute when a single person has the absolute dominion over it, and may use it or dispose of it according to his pleasure, subject only to general laws.
- § 173, Civil C. § 3280. Qualified ownership. The ownership of property is qualified:
1. When it is shared with one or more persons.
 2. When the time of enjoyment is deferred or limited; or,
 3. When the use is restricted.
- § 174, Civil C. § 3281. Sole ownership. The ownership of property by a single person is designated as a sole or several ownership.
- § 175, Civil C. § 3282. Ownership by several. The ownership of property by several persons is either:
1. Of joint interests.
 2. Of partnership interests; or,
 3. Of interests in common.
- § 176, Civil C. § 3283. Joint tenancy. A joint interest is one owned by several persons in equal shares by a title created by a single will or transfer, when expressly declared in the will or transfer to be a joint tenancy, or when granted or devised to executors or trustees as joint tenants.
- § 177, Civil C. § 3284. Partnership. A partnership interest is one owned by several persons in partnership for partnership purposes.
- § 178, Civil C. § 3285. Common tenancy. An interest in common is one owned by several persons not in joint ownership or partnership.

§ 3286. Definition. Every interest created in favor of several persons in their own right is an interest in common, unless acquired by them in partnership for partnership purposes, or unless declared in its creation to be a joint interest as provided in section 3283. § 179, Civil C.

§ 3287. Commencement and duration. In respect to the time of enjoyment an interest in property is either: § 180, Civil C.

1. Present or future; and,
2. Perpetual or limited.

§ 3288. Present. A present interest entitles the owner to the immediate possession of the property. § 181, Civil C.

§ 3289. Future. A future interest entitles the owner to the possession of the property only at a future period. § 182, Civil C.

§ 3290. Perpetual. A perpetual interest has a duration equal to that of the property. § 183, Civil C.

§ 3291. Limited. A limited interest has a duration less than that of the property. § 184, Civil C.

§ 3292. Future estates classified. A future interest is either:
1. Vested; or,
2. Contingent. § 185, Civil C.

§ 3293. When they vest. A future interest is vested when there is a person in being who would have a right, defeasible or indefeasible, to the immediate possession of the property upon the ceasing of the intermediate or precedent interest. § 186, Civil C.

§ 3294. How contingent. A future interest is contingent while the person in whom or the event upon which it is limited to take effect, remains uncertain. § 187, Civil C.

§ 3295. Alternative contingencies. Two or more future interests may be created to take effect in the alternative, so that if the first in order fails to vest, the next in succession shall be substituted for it and take effect accordingly. § 188, Civil C.

§ 3296. Not void. A future interest is not void merely because of the improbability of the contingency on which it is limited to take effect. § 189, Civil C.

§ 3297. Posthumous heir. When a future interest is limited to successors, heirs, issue or children, posthumous children are entitled to take in the same manner as if living at the death of their parent. § 190, Civil C.

§ 3298. Future estates pass. Future interests pass by succession, will and transfer in the same manner as present interests. § 191, Civil C.

§ 3299. Possibilities. A mere possibility, such as the expectancy of an heir apparent, is not to be deemed an interest of any kind. § 192, Civil C.

§ 3300. Estates of realty. In respect to real or immovable property, the interests mentioned in this chapter are denominated estates, and are specially named and classified in chapter 26 of this code. § 193, Civil C.

§ 3301. Applies to personal only. The names and classifications of interests in real property have only such application to interests in personal property as in this chapter and the succeeding seventeen chapters of this code is expressly provided. § 194, Civil C.

§ 3302. Future interests limited. No future interest in property is recognized by the law, except such as is defined in this code. § 195, Civil C.

ARTICLE 3.—CONDITIONS OF OWNERSHIP.

- § 196, Civil C. § 3303. Conditions defined. The time when the enjoyment of property is to begin or end may be determined by computation, or be made to depend on events. In the latter case, the enjoyment is said to be upon condition.
- § 197, Civil C. § 3304. Classified. Conditions are precedent or subsequent. The former fix the beginning, the latter the ending of the right.
- § 198, Civil C. § 3305. Illegal conditions void. If a condition precedent requires the performance of an act wrong of itself, the instrument containing it is so far void and the right cannot exist. If it requires the performance of an act not wrong of itself, but otherwise unlawful the instrument takes effect and the condition is void.
- § 199, Civil C. § 3306. Restraints upon marriage. Conditions imposing restraints upon marriage, except upon the marriage of a minor, or of the widow of the person by whom the condition is imposed are void; but this does not affect limitations when the intent was not to forbid marriage, but only to give the use until marriage.
- § 200, Civil C. § 3307. Restraints on alienation. Conditions restraining alienation, when repugnant to the interest created, are void.

ARTICLE 4.—RESTRAINTS UPON ALIENATION.

- § 201, Civil C. § 3308. Power of alienation. How long may be suspended. The absolute power of alienation cannot be suspended by any limitation or condition whatever for a longer period than during the continuance of the lives of persons in being at the creation of the limitation or condition, except in the single case mentioned in section 3336.
- § 202, Civil C. § 3309. When future interest void. Every future interest is void in its creation, which by any possibility may suspend the absolute power of alienation for a longer period than is prescribed in this chapter. Such power of alienation is suspended when there are no persons in being by whom an absolute interest in possession can be conveyed.
- § 203, Civil C. § 3310. Leases limited. No lease or grant of agricultural land for a longer period than ten years, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be valid. No lease or grant of any town or city lot for a longer period than twenty years, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be valid.

ARTICLE 5.—ACCUMULATIONS.

- § 204, Civil C. § 3311. Income. Future interest. Dispositions of the income of property to accrue and to be received at any time subsequent to the execution of the instrument creating such disposition, are governed by the rules prescribed in this chapter in relation to future interests.
- § 205, Civil C. § 3312. Illegal accumulation. All directions for the accumulation of the income of property, except such as are allowed by this chapter are void.
- § 206, Civil C. § 3313. Income, how directed. An accumulation of the income of property for the benefit of one or more persons may be directed by any will or transfer in writing, sufficient to pass the property out of which the fund is to arise as follows:

1. If such accumulation is directed to commence on the creation of the interest out of which the income is to arise, it must be made for the benefit of one or more minors then in being, and terminate at the expiration of their minority; or,

2. If such accumulation is directed to commence at any time subsequent to the creation of the interest out of which the income is to arise, it must commence within the time in this chapter permitted for the vesting of future interests and during the minority of the beneficiaries, and terminate at the expiration of such minority.

§ 3314. Void beyond minority. If in either of the cases mentioned in the last section the direction for an accumulation is for a longer term than during the minority of the beneficiaries, the direction only, whether separable or not from other provisions of the instrument, is void as respects the time beyond such minority. § 207, Civil C.

§ 3315. Allowance to minor from accumulations. When a minor, for whose benefit an accumulation has been directed is destitute of other sufficient means of support and education, the county court upon application may direct a suitable sum to be applied thereto out of the fund. § 208, Civil C.

ARTICLE 6.—RIGHTS OF OWNERS.

§ 3316. Owner owns products and accessions. The owner of a thing owns also all its products and accessions. § 209, Civil C.

§ 3317. To whom undirected income belongs. When, in consequence of a valid limitation of a future interest, there is a suspension of the power of alienation or of the ownership, during the continuation of which the income is undisposed of, and no valid direction for its accumulation is given, such income belongs to the persons presumptively entitled to the next eventual interest. § 210, Civil C.

ARTICLE 7.—TERMINATION OF OWNERSHIP.

§ 3318. When future interest dependent on death is defeated. A future interest, depending on the contingency of the death of any person without successors, heirs, issue or children is defeated by the birth of a posthumous child of such person capable of taking by succession. § 211, Civil C.

§ 3319. How future interest defeated. A future interest may be defeated in any manner, or by any act or means, which the party creating such interest provided for or authorized in the creation thereof; nor is a future interest thus liable to be defeated to be on that ground adjudged void in its creation. § 212, Civil C.

§ 3320. When not defeated. No future interest can be defeated or barred by any alienation or other act of the owner of the intermediate or precedent interest, nor by any destruction of such precedent interest by forfeiture, surrender, merger or otherwise, except as provided by the next section or when a forfeiture is imposed by statute as a penalty for the violation thereof. § 213, Civil C.

§ 3321. Same. No future interest, valid in its creation, is defeated by the determination of the precedent interest before the happening of the contingency on which the future interest is limited § 214, Civil C.

to take effect; but should such contingency afterwards happen, the future interest takes effect in the same manner and to the same extent as if the precedent interest had continued to the same period.

CHAPTER 25.

GENERAL DEFINITIONS.

- § 215, Civil C. § 3322. Income includes what. The income of property, as the term is used in the two preceding chapters, includes the rents and profits of real property, the interest of money, dividends upon stock and other produce of personal property.
- § 216, Civil C. § 3323. When limitation deemed created. The delivery of the grant, when a limitation, condition or future interest is created by grant, and the death of the testator, when it is created by will, is to be deemed the time of the creation of the limitation, condition or interest within the meaning of this code.

CHAPTER 26.

REAL OR IMMOVABLE PROPERTY.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- § 217, Civil C. § 3324. Law governing real property. Real property within this state is governed by the law of this state, except when the title is in the United States.

ARTICLE 2.—ESTATES IN GENERAL.

- § 218, Civil C. § 3325. Estates classified as to duration. Estates in real property, in respect to the duration of their enjoyment are either:
1. Estates of inheritance, or perpetual estates.
 2. Estates for life.
 3. Estates for years; or,
 4. Estates at will.
- § 219, Civil C. § 3326. Estate in fee defined. Every estate of inheritance is a fee, and every such estate, when not defeasible or conditional, is a fee simple or an absolute fee.
- § 220, Civil C. § 3327. Estates tail declared fees. Estates tail are abolished; and every estate which would be at common law adjudged to be a fee tail is a fee simple, and if no valid remainder is limited thereon, is a fee simple absolute.
- § 221, Civil C. § 3328. Fee tail valid as contingent limitation upon a fee. When a remainder in fee is limited upon any estate which would by the common law be adjudged a fee tail, such remainder is valid as a contingent limitation upon a fee and vests in possession on the death of the first taker without issue living at the time of his death.

§ 3329. Estate of freehold. Estates of inheritance and for life are called estates of freehold; estates for years are chattels real; and estates at will are chattel interests, but are not liable as such to sale on execution. § 222, Civil C.

§ 3330. Same. An estate during the life of a third person, whether limited to heirs or otherwise, is a freehold. § 223, Civil C.

§ 3331. Future, how limited. A future estate may be limited by the act of the party to commence in possession at a future day, either without the intervention of a precedent estate, or on the termination by lapse of time or otherwise of a precedent estate created at the same time. § 224, Civil C.

§ 3332. Reversion defined. A reversion is the residue of an estate left by operation of law in the grantor or his successors, or in the successors of a testator, commencing in possession on the determination of a particular estate granted or devised. § 225, Civil C.

§ 3333. Remainder. When a future estate, other than a reversion, is dependent on a precedent estate it may be called a remainder and may be created and transferred by that name. § 226, Civil C.

§ 3334. Limitation of suspension of absolute ownership. The absolute ownership of a term of years cannot be suspended for a longer period than the absolute power of alienation can be suspended in respect to a fee. § 227, Civil C.

§ 3335. Further defined. The suspension of all power to alienate the subject of a trust, other than a power to exchange it for other property to be held upon the same trust, or to sell it and reinvest the proceeds to be held upon the same trust is a suspension of the power of alienation within the meaning of section 3308. § 228, Civil C.

§ 3336. Creation of a remainder on prior remainder. A contingent remainder in fee may be created on a prior remainder in fee to take effect in the event that the persons to whom the first remainder is limited die under the age of twenty-one years or upon any other contingency by which the estate of such persons may be determined before they attain majority. § 229, Civil C.

§ 3337. Creation of future freehold estates, etc. Subject to the rules of this chapter and of chapters 23, 24 and 25 a freehold estate, as well as a chattel real, may be created to commence at a future day; an estate for life may be created in a term of years and a remainder limited thereon; a remainder of a freehold or chattel real, either contingent or vested, may be created, expectant on the determination of a term of years; and a fee may be limited on a fee upon a contingency which, if it should occur, must happen within the period prescribed in this chapter. § 230, Civil C.

§ 3338. What life estates void. Successive estates for life cannot be limited except to persons in being at the creation thereof, and all life estates subsequent to those of persons in being are void; and upon the death of those persons the remainder, if valid in its creation, takes effect in the same manner as if no other life estate had been created. § 231, Civil C.

§ 3339. Remainder upon successive life estates. No remainder can be created upon successive estates for life, provided for in the preceding section, unless such remainder is in fee; nor can a remainder be created upon such estate in a term for years unless it is for the whole residue of such term. § 232, Civil C.

§ 3340. Contingent remainder on term of years. A contingent remainder cannot be created on a term of years, unless the § 233, Civil C.

nature of the contingency on which it is limited is such that the remainder must vest in interest during the continuance or at the termination of lives in being at the creation of such remainder.

§ 3341. Estate for life as remainder on term of years. No estate for life can be limited as a remainder on a term of years, except to a person in being at the creation of such estate.

§ 3342. Conditional limitation. A remainder may be limited on a contingency which, in case it should happen, will operate to abridge or determine the precedent estate; and every such remainder is to be deemed a conditional limitation.

§ 3343. To heirs of body. When a remainder is limited to the heirs, or heirs of the body, of a person to whom a life estate in the same property is given the persons who on the termination of the life estate are the successors or heirs of the body of the owner for life are entitled to take by virtue of the remainder so limited to them and not as mere successors of the owner for life.

§ 3344. On death of first taker. When a remainder on an estate for life or for years is not limited on a contingency defeating or avoiding such precedent estate it is to be deemed intended to take effect only on the death of the first taker or the expiration by lapse of time of such term of years.

§ 3345. Unexecuted power. A general or special power of appointment does not prevent the vesting of a future estate, limited to take effect in case such power is not executed.

ARTICLE 3.—TERMINATION OF ESTATES.

§ 3346. Of estate at will. A tenancy or other estate at will, however created, may be terminated by the landlord's giving notice to the tenant in the manner prescribed by the next section to remove from the premises within a period specified in the notice of not less than one month.

§ 3347. Requisites of notice.—Service. The notice prescribed by the last section must be in writing and must be served by delivering the same to the tenant or to some person of discretion residing on the premises or, if neither can with reasonable diligence be found, the notice may be served by affixing it on a conspicuous part of the premises where it may be conveniently read.

§ 3348. Subsequent action. After the notice prescribed by sections 3346 and 3347 has been served in the manner therein directed and the period specified by such notice has expired, but not before, the landlord may re-enter or proceed according to law to recover possession.

§ 3349. Three days' notice. Whenever the right of re-entry is given to a grantor or lessor in any grant or lease, or otherwise, such re-entry may be made at any time after the right has accrued upon three days' previous written notice of intention to re-enter served in the mode prescribed by section 3347.

§ 3350. Without notice. An action for the possession of real property, leased or granted with a right of re-entry, may be maintained at any time after the right to re-enter has accrued without the notice prescribed in section 3349.

ARTICLE 4. — SERVITUDES.

§ 3351. Easements attached to other lands. The following land burdens or servitudes upon land may be attached to other land as incidents or appurtenances, and are then called easements: § 244, Civil C.

1. The right of pasturage.
2. The right of fishing.
3. The right of taking game.
4. The right of way.
5. The right of taking water, wood, minerals and other things.
6. The right of transacting business upon land.
7. The right of conducting lawful sports upon land.
8. The right of receiving air, light or heat from or over, or discharging the same upon or over land.
9. The right of receiving water from or discharging the same upon land.
10. The right of flooding land.
11. The right of having water flow without diminution or disturbance of any kind.
12. The right of using a wall as a party wall.
13. The right of receiving more than natural support from adjacent land or things affixed thereto.
14. The right of having the whole of a division fence maintained by a coterminous owner.
15. The right of having public conveyances stopped, or of stopping the same on land.
16. The right of a seat in church.
17. The right of burial.

§ 3352. Others not attached may be granted. The following land burdens or servitudes upon land may be granted and held, though not attached to land: § 245, Civil C.

1. The right to pasture, and of fishing and taking game.
2. The right of a seat in church.
3. The right of burial.
4. The right of taking rents and tolls.
5. The right of way.
6. The right of taking water, wood, minerals or other things.

§ 3353. Dominant tenement. The land to which an easement is attached is called the dominant tenement; the land upon which a burden or servitude is laid is called the servient tenement. § 246, Civil C.

§ 3354. Who can create servitude. A servitude can be created only by one who has a vested estate in the servient tenement. § 247, Civil C.

§ 3355. Who cannot hold. A servitude thereon cannot be held by the owner of the servient tenement. § 248, Civil C.

§ 3356. Extent of. The extent of a servitude is determined by the terms of the grant, or the nature of the enjoyment by which it was acquired. § 249, Civil C.

§ 3357. Partition of. Burden apportioned. In case of partition of the dominant tenement the burden must be apportioned according to the division of the dominant tenement, but not in such a way as to increase the burden upon the servient tenement. § 250, Civil C.

§ 3358. Right of future owner. The owner of a future estate in a dominant tenement may use easements attached thereto for the § 251, Civil C.

purpose of viewing waste, demanding rent or removing an obstruction to the enjoyment of such easement, although such tenement is occupied by a tenant.

§ 252, Civil C.

§ 3359. Right of action. The owner of any estate in a dominant tenement, or the occupant of such tenement, may maintain an action for the enforcement of an easement attached thereto.

§ 253, Civil C.

§ 3360. Same. The owner in fee of a servient tenement may maintain an action for the possession of the land against any one unlawfully possessed thereof, though a servitude exists thereon in favor of the public.

§ 254, Civil C.

§ 3361. Extinguishment. A servitude is extinguished:

1. By the vesting of the right to the servitude and the right to the servient tenement in the same person.

2. By the destruction of the servient tenement.

3. By the performance of any act upon either tenement by the owner of the servitude or with his assent which is incompatible with its nature or exercise; or,

4. When the servitude was acquired by enjoyment, by disuse thereof by the owner of the servitude for the period prescribed for acquiring title by enjoyment.

CHAPTER 27.

RIGHTS OF OWNERS.

ARTICLE 1. — INCIDENTS OF OWNERSHIP.

§ 255, Civil C.

§ 3362. Land includes water. The owner of the land owns water standing thereon, or flowing over or under its surface, but not forming a definite stream. Water running in a definite stream formed by nature over or under the surface may be used by him as long as it remains there; but he may not prevent the natural flow of the stream or of the natural spring from which it commences its definite course, nor pursue nor pollute the same.

§ 256, Civil C.

§ 3363. Rights of owner of life estate. The owner of a life estate may use the land in the same manner as the owner of a fee simple, except that he must do no act to the injury of the inheritance.

§ 257, Civil C.

§ 3364. Rights of tenant. A tenant for years or at will, unless he is a wrongdoer by holding over, may occupy the buildings, take the annual products of the soil, work mines and quarries open at the commencement of his tenancy and cultivate and harvest the crops growing at the end of his tenancy.

§ 258, Civil C.

§ 3365. Same. How determined. A tenant for years or at will has no other rights to the property than such as are given to him by the agreement or instrument by which his tenancy is acquired or by the last section.

§ 259, Civil C.

§ 3366. Succession to rights. A person to whom any real property is transferred or devised upon which rent has been reserved, or to whom any such rent is transferred, is entitled to the same remedies for recovery of rent for nonperformance of any of the terms of the lease or for any waste or cause of forfeiture as his grantor or devisor might have had.

§ 3367. Assignees of lessor or lessee. Whatever remedies the lessor of any real property has against his immediate lessee for the breach of an agreement in the lease or for recovery of the possession, he has against the assignees of the lessee for any cause of action accruing while they are such assignees, except when the assignment is made by way of security for a loan and is not accompanied by possession of the premises. Whatever remedies the lessee of any real property may have against his immediate lessor for the breach of any agreement in the lease he may have against the assigns of the lessor and the assigns of the lessee may have against the lessor and his assigns, except upon covenants against incumbrances or relating to the title or possession of the premises. § 260, Civil C.

§ 3368. Notice to change terms. In all leases of lands or tenements, or of any interest therein, from month to month the landlord may, upon giving notice in writing at least fifteen days before the expiration of the month, change the terms of the lease to take effect at the expiration of the month. The notice, when served upon the tenant, shall of itself operate and be effectual to create and establish as a part of the lease the terms, rent and conditions specified in the notice, if the tenant shall continue to hold the premises after the expiration of the month. § 261, Civil C.

§ 3369. Life lease rent. Rent due upon a lease for life may be recovered in the same manner as upon a lease for years. § 262, Civil C.

§ 3370. After death. Rent dependent on the life of a person may be recovered after as well as before his death. § 263, Civil C.

§ 3371. Right of action. A person having an estate in fee, in remainder or reversion, may maintain an action for any injury done to the inheritance, notwithstanding an intervening estate for life or years and although after its commission his estate is transferred and he has no interest in the property at the commencement of the action. § 264, Civil C.

ARTICLE 2. — BOUNDARIES.

§ 3372. Above and below surface. The owner of land in fee has the right to the surface and to everything permanently situated beneath or above it. § 265, Civil C.

§ 3373. Banks and beds of streams. Except when the grant under which the land is held indicates a different intent, the owner of the upland, when it borders on a navigable lake or stream, takes to the edge of the lake or stream at low water mark, and all navigable rivers shall remain and be deemed public highways. In all cases when the opposite banks of any stream not navigable belong to different persons the stream and the bed thereof shall become common to both. § 266, Civil C.

§ 3374. To center of highway. An owner of land bounded by a road or street is presumed to own to the center of the way, but the contrary may be shown. § 267, Civil C.

§ 3375. Lateral support from adjoining land. Each coterminous owner is entitled to the lateral and subjacent support which his land receives from the adjoining land, subject to the right of the owner of the adjoining land to make proper and usual excavations on the same for purposes of construction on using ordinary care and skill and taking reasonable precautions to sustain the land of the other and giving previous reasonable notice to the other of his intention to make such excavations.

§ 269, Civil C. § 3376. Trees on land of one owner. Trees whose trunks stand wholly upon the land of one owner belong exclusively to him although their roots grow into the land of another.

§ 270, Civil C. § 3377. Same on line. Trees whose trunks stand partly on the land of two or more coterminous owners belong to them in common.

ARTICLE 3.—OBLIGATIONS OF OWNERS.

§ 271, Civil C. § 3378. Repairs and taxes. The owner of a life estate must keep the buildings and fences in repair from ordinary waste and must pay the taxes and other annual charges and a just proportion of extraordinary assessments benefiting the whole inheritance.

§ 272, Civil C. § 3379. Boundaries. Fences. Coterminous owners are mutually bound equally to maintain:

1. The boundaries and monuments between them.
2. The fences between them, unless one of them chooses to let his land lie open as a public common, in which case, if he afterwards incloses it, he must refund to the other a just proportion of the value at that time of any division fence made by the latter.

CHAPTER 28.

USES AND TRUSTS.

§ 273, Civil C. § 3380. What are. Uses and trusts in relation to real property are those only which are specified in this chapter.

§ 275, Civil C. § 3381. Who deemed to have legal estate. Every person who by virtue of any transfer or devise is entitled to the actual possession of real property and the receipt of the rents and profits thereof is deemed to have a legal estate therein of the same quality and duration and subject to the same conditions as his beneficial interest.

§ 276, Civil C. § 3382. Trust valid, if connected with power. The last section does not divest the estate of any trustee in a trust heretofore existing, when the title of such trustee is not merely nominal, but is connected with some power of actual disposition or management in relation to the real property which is the subject of the trust.

§ 277, Civil C. § 3383. Transfer must be direct. Every disposition of real property, whether by transfer or will, must be made directly to the person in whom the right to the possession and profits is intended to be vested, and not to any other, to the use of or in trust for such person; and if made to any person to the use of or in trust for another no estate or interest vests in the trustee: but he must execute a release of the property to the beneficiary on demand, the latter paying the expense thereof.

§ 278, Civil C. § 3384. Qualification of preceding sections. The preceding sections of this chapter do not extend to trusts arising or resulting by implication of law, nor prevent or affect the creation of such express trusts as are hereinafter authorized and defined.

§ 3385. Requisites of trusts. No trust in relation to real property is valid unless created or declared: § 279, Civil C.

1. By a written instrument, subscribed by the trustee or by his agent thereto authorized by writing.

2. By the instrument under which the trustee claims the estate affected; or,

3. By operation of law.

§ 3386. When trust presumed. When a transfer of real property is made to one person and the consideration therefor is paid by or for another a trust is presumed to result in favor of the person by or for whom such payment is made. § 280, Civil C.

§ 3387. Innocent purchaser. No implied or resulting trust can prejudice the right of a purchaser or incumbrancer of real property for value and without notice of the trust. § 281, Civil C.

§ 3388. For what trusts may be created. Express trusts may be created for any of the following purposes: § 282, Civil C.

1. To sell real property and apply or dispose of the proceeds in accordance with the instrument creating the trust.

2. To mortgage or lease real property for the benefit of annuitants or other legatees or for the purpose of satisfying any charge thereon.

3. To receive the rents and profits of real property and pay them to or apply them to the use of any person, whether ascertained at the time of the creation of the trust or not, for himself or for his family during the life of such person or for any shorter term, subject to the rules of chapter 26 of this code; or,

4. To receive the rents and profits of real property and to accumulate the same for the purposes and within the limits prescribed by the same chapter.

§ 3389. When devise valid as power in trust. A devise of real property to executors or other trustees to be sold or mortgaged, when the trustees are not also empowered to receive the rents and profits, vests no estate in them; but the trust is valid as a power in trust. § 283, Civil C.

§ 3390. When surplus subject to creditors' claims. When a trust is created to receive the rents and profits of real property and no valid direction for accumulation is given the surplus of such rents and profits beyond the sum that may be necessary for the education and support of the person for whose benefit the trust is created is liable to the claims of the creditors of such person in the same manner as personal property which cannot be reached by execution. § 284, Civil C.

§ 3391. When trust valid as power. When an express trust in relation to real property is created for any purpose not enumerated in the preceding section, such trust vests no estate in the trustees; but the trust, if directing or authorizing the performance of any act which may be lawfully performed under a power, is valid as a power in trust, subject to the provisions in relation to such powers contained in chapter 29 of this code. § 285, Civil C.

§ 3392. Power in trust not prohibited. Nothing in this chapter prevents the creation of a power in trust for any of the purposes for which an express trust may be created. § 286, Civil C.

§ 3393. Realty passes when trust valid as power. In every case when a trust is valid as a power in trust the real property to which the trust relates remains in or passes by succession to the person otherwise entitled, subject to the execution of the trust as a power in trust. § 287, Civil C.

- § 288, Civil C. § 3394. Whole estate vests in trustees. Except as herein after otherwise provided, every express trust in real property, valid as such in its creation, vests the whole estate in the trustees, subject only to the execution of the trust. The beneficiaries take no estate or interest in the property, but may enforce the performance of the trust.
- § 289, Civil C. § 3395. Contingent trust. Notwithstanding anything contained in the last section, the author of a trust may in its creation prescribe to whom the real property to which the trust relates shall belong, in the event of the failure or termination of the trust, and may transfer or devise such property, subject to the execution of the trust.
- § 290, Civil C. § 3396. Legal estate. The grantee or devisee of real property subject to a trust acquires a legal estate in the property as against all persons except the trustees and those lawfully claiming under them.
- § 291, Civil C. § 3397. Undisposed estates. When an express trust is created in relation to real property every estate not embraced in the trust and not otherwise disposed of is left in the author of the trust or his successors.
- § 292, Civil C. § 3398. Limited disposal. The beneficiary of a trust for the receipt of the rents and profits of real property or for the payment of an annuity out of such rents and profits may be restrained from disposing of his interest in such trust during his life or for a term of years by the instrument creating the trust.
- § 293, Civil C. § 3399. Grant separate from trust. When absolute. When an express trust is created in relation to real property, but is not contained or declared in the grant to the trustee or in an instrument signed by him and recorded in the same office with the grant to the trustee, such grant must be deemed absolute in favor of the subsequent creditors of the trustee not having notice of the trust and in favor of purchasers from such trustee without notice and for a valuable consideration.
- § 294, Civil C. § 3400. When transfer of trustees void. When a trust in relation to real property is expressed in the instrument creating the estate, every transfer or other act of the trustees in contravention of the trust is absolutely void.
- § 295, Civil C. § 3401. When trust ceases. When the purpose for which an express trust was created ceases, the estate of the trustees also ceases.

CHAPTER 29.

POWERS.

- § 296, Civil C. § 3402. What powers permitted. Powers in relation to real property are those only which are specified in this chapter.
- § 297, Civil C. § 3403. Power of attorney excluded. The provisions of this chapter do not extend to a simple power of attorney to convey real property in the name of the owner and for his benefit.
- § 298, Civil C. § 3404. Power defined. A power as the term is used in this chapter is an authority to do some act in relation to real property, or to the creation or revocation of an estate therein or a charge thereon which the owner granting or reserving such power might himself perform for any purpose.

§ 3405. Author defined. The author of a power as the term § 299, Civil C. is used in this chapter is the person by whom a power is created, whether by grant or devise; and the holder of a power is the person in whom a power is vested, whether by grant, devise or reservation.

§ 3406. Powers classified. Powers are general or special and § 300, Civil C. beneficial or in trust.

§ 3407. General. A power is general when it authorizes the § 301, Civil C. alienation or incumbrance of a fee in the property embraced therein by a grant, will or charge, or any of them, in favor of any person whatever.

§ 3408. Special. A power is special: § 302, Civil C.

1. When a person or class of persons is designated to whom the disposition of property under the power is to be made; or,

2. When it authorizes the alienation or incumbrance by means of a grant, will or charge of only an estate less than a fee.

§ 3409. Beneficial. A power is beneficial when no person § 303, Civil C. other than its holder has by the terms of its creation any interest in its execution.

§ 3410. In trust. A power is in trust when any person or class § 304, Civil C. of persons, other than its holder, has by the terms of its creation an interest in its execution.

§ 3411. General power. When in trust. A general power § 305, Civil C. is in trust when any person or class of persons, other than its holder, is designated as entitled to the proceeds or the disposition or charge authorized by the power or to any portion of the proceeds or other benefits to result from its execution.

1. When the disposition or charge which it authorizes is limited to be made to any person or class of persons other than the holder of the power; or,

2. When any person or class of persons other than the holder is designated as entitled to any benefit from the disposition or charge authorized by the power.

§ 3413. Capacity to create. No person is capable of creating § 307, Civil C. a power who is not at the same time capable of granting some estate in the property to which the power relates.

§ 3414. In whom vested. A power may be vested in any § 308, Civil C. person.

§ 3415. How created. A power may be created only: § 309, Civil C.

1. By a suitable clause contained in a grant of some estate in the real property to which the power relates or in an agreement to execute such a grant; or,

2. By a devise contained in a will.

§ 3416. Power reserved. The grantor in any conveyance § 310, Civil C. may reserve to himself any power, beneficial or in trust, which he might lawfully grant to another; and every power thus reserved is subject to the provisions of this chapter in the same manner as if granted to another.

§ 3417. When irrevocable. Every power, beneficial or in § 311, Civil C. trust, is irrevocable unless an authority to revoke it is given or reserved in the instrument creating the power.

- § 312, Civil C. § 3418. When power is a lien. A power is a lien upon the real property which it embraces from the time the instrument in which it is contained takes effect, except that against creditors, purchasers and incumbrancers in good faith and without notice from any person having an estate in such real property, the power is a lien only from the time the instrument in which it is contained is duly recorded.
- § 313, Civil C. § 3419. When power deemed part of security. When a power to sell real property is given to a mortgagee or other incumbrancer in an instrument intended to secure the payment of money, the power is to be deemed a part of the security and vests in any person who by assignment becomes entitled to the money so secured to be paid and may be executed by him whenever the assignment is duly acknowledged and recorded.
- § 314, Civil C. § 3420. Who cannot execute power. A power cannot be executed by any person not capable of disposing of real property.
- § 315, Civil C. § 3421. Married woman. A married woman may execute a power during her marriage without the concurrence of her husband, unless otherwise prescribed by the terms of the power.
- § 316, Civil C.
am'd. § 3422. Married woman cannot execute before majority. No power can be executed by a married woman before she attains her majority.
- § 317, Civil C. § 3423. How power executed. A power can be executed only by a written instrument which would be sufficient to pass the estate or interest intended to pass under the power, if the person executing the power was the actual owner.
- § 318, Civil C. § 3424. Execution. By all of several. By survivors, if one dies. When a power is vested in several persons all must unite in its execution; but in case any one or more of them is dead the power may be executed by the survivor or survivors, unless otherwise prescribed by the terms of the power.
- § 319, Civil C. § 3425. How executed by will. When a power to dispose of real property is confined to a disposition by devise or will the instrument of execution must be a will duly executed according to the provisions of chapter 40.
- § 320, Civil C. § 3426. How by grant. When a power is confined to a disposition by grant, it cannot be executed by will even though the disposition is not intended to take effect until after the death of the person executing the power.
- 321, Civil C. § 3427. When directed by insufficient instrument. When the author of a power has directed or authorized it to be executed by an instrument which would not be sufficient in law to pass the estate, the power is not void, but its execution is to be governed by the rules before prescribed in this chapter.
- § 322, Civil C. § 3428. Formalities unnecessary. When the author of a power has directed any formalities to be observed in its execution, in addition to those which would be sufficient to pass the estate, the observance of such additional formalities is not necessary to a valid execution of the power.
- § 323, Civil C. § 3429. Trivial conditions disregarded. When the conditions annexed to a power are merely nominal and evince no intention of actual benefit to the party to whom or in whose favor they are to be performed, they may be wholly disregarded in the execution of the power.

§ 3430. Binding conditions. With the exceptions contained § 324, Civil C.
in the preceding sections the intentions of the author of a power as to the mode, time and conditions of its execution must be observed, subject to the power of a district court to supply a defective execution in the cases provided in sections 3439 and 3463.

third person to the execution of a power is requisite, such consent must be expressed in the instrument by which the power is executed or be certified in writing thereon. In the first case the instrument of execution, in the second, the certificate must be subscribed by the party whose consent is required and to entitle the instrument to be recorded such signature must be duly proved or acknowledged according to the chapter on recording transfers.

§ 3432. Consent of all survivors. When the consent of § 326, Civil C.
several persons to the execution of a power is requisite all must consent thereto; but in case any one or more of them is dead the consent of the survivors is sufficient, unless otherwise prescribed by the terms of the power.

§ 3433. Valid without recital. Every instrument executed § 327, Civil C.
by the holder of a power, conveying an estate or creating a charge which such holder would have no right to convey or create except by virtue of his power, is to be deemed a valid execution of the power, even though not recited or referred to therein.

§ 3434. When to be deemed conveyance. Every instru- § 328, Civil C.
ment except a will in execution of a power, even though the power is one of revocation only is to be deemed a conveyance within the meaning of the chapter on recording transfers.

§ 3435. Disposition beyond authority. A disposition or § 329, Civil C. charge by virtue of a power more extensive than was authorized thereby is not therefore void; but every estate or interest so created so far as it is embraced by the terms of the power is valid.

§ 3436. Time runs from creation of power. The period § 330, Civil C. during which the absolute right of alienation may be suspended by an instrument in execution of a power must be computed, not from the date of the instrument, but from the time of the creation of the power.

§ 3437. Conditions at creation determine legality. No § 331, Civil C. estate or interest can be given or limited to any person by an instrument in execution of a power which could not have been given or limited at the time of the creation of the power.

§ 3438. Married woman's power. When a married woman, § 332, Civil C. entitled to an estate in fee, is authorized by a power to dispose of such estate during her marriage, she may by virtue of such power create any estate which she might create if unmarried.

§ 3439. Relief of purchasers from defects. Purchasers for § 333, Civil C. a valuable consideration, claiming under a defective execution of a power, are entitled to the same relief as similar purchasers claiming under a defective conveyance from an actual owner.

§ 3440. Fraud. Instruments in execution of a power are § 334, Civil C. affected by fraud in the same manner as like instruments executed by owners or trustees.

§ 3441. Power to married woman. A general and beneficial § 335, Civil C.
power is valid which gives to a married woman power to dispose, during her marriage and without the concurrence of her husband, of a present or future estate in real property conveyed or devised to her in fee.

- § 336, Civil C. § 3442. Estates changed into fee. When an absolute power of disposition not accompanied by any trust is given to the owner of a particular estate for life or years, such estate is changed into a fee, absolute in favor of creditors, purchasers and incumbrancers, but subject to any future estates limited thereon, in case the power should not be executed or the property should not be sold for the satisfaction of debts.
- § 337, Civil C. § 3443. Same. When an absolute power of disposition not accompanied by any trust, is given to any person to whom no particular estate is limited, such person also takes a fee, subject to any future estate that may be limited thereon, but absolute in favor of creditors, purchasers and incumbrancers.
- § 338, Civil C. § 3444. Same. In all cases when an absolute power of disposition is given, not accompanied by any trust, and no remainder is limited on the estate of the holder of the power, he is entitled to an absolute fee.
- § 339, Civil C. § 3445. Same. When a general and beneficial power to devise the inheritance is given to the owner of an estate for life or for years, he is deemed to possess an absolute power of disposition within the meaning of the last three sections.
- § 340, Civil C. § 3446. When power deemed absolute. Every power of disposition is deemed absolute by means of which the holder is enabled in his lifetime to dispose of the entire fee in possession or in expectancy for his own benefit.
- § 341, Civil C. § 3447. Grantor deemed owner. When power of revocation reserved. When the grantor in any conveyance reserves to himself for his own benefit an absolute power of revocation, such grantor is still to be deemed the absolute owner of the estate conveyed so far as the rights of creditors and purchasers are concerned.
- § 342, Civil C. § 3448. When special and beneficial power valid. A special and beneficial power is valid which is granted:
1. To a married woman to dispose, during the marriage, of any estate less than a fee belonging to her in the property to which the power relates; or,
 2. To the owner of a life estate in the property embraced in the power to make leases, commencing in possession during his life.
- § 343, Civil C. § 3449. How far power to lease void. A special and beneficial power to make leases of agricultural land for more than ten years or of town or city lots for more than twenty years is void only as to the time beyond ten or twenty years, and authorizes leases for those terms or less.
- § 344, Civil C. § 3450. When power to lease transferable. The power of the owner of a life estate to make leases is not transferable as a separate interest, but is annexed to his estate and will pass, unless specially excepted, by any grant of such estate. If specially excepted in any such grant it is extinguished.
- 345, Civil C. § 3451. Power to lease released. The power of the owner of a life estate to make leases may be released by him to any person entitled to a future estate in the property and is thereupon extinguished.
- § 346, Civil C. § 3452. Mortgage does not extinguish power. A mortgage executed by the owner of a life estate having a power to make leases or by a married woman by virtue of any beneficial power does not extinguish or suspend the power, but the power is bound by the mortgage in the same manner as the real property embraced therein.
- 347, Civil C. § 3453. Effects of same. The effects on the power of a lien by mortgage, such as is mentioned in the last section, are:

1. That the mortgagee is entitled to an execution of the power so far as the satisfaction of his lien may require it; and,

2. That any subsequent estate created by the owner in execution of the power becomes subject to the mortgage in the same manner as if in terms embraced therein.

§ 3454. When power subject to creditors' claims. Every special and beneficial power is liable to the claims of creditors in the same manner as other interests that cannot be reached by execution and the execution of the power may be adjudged for the benefit of the creditors entitled. § 348, Civil C.

§ 3456. Powers enforceable for parties interested. Every trust power unless its execution is made expressly to depend on the will of the trustees is imperative and imposes a duty on the trustee, the performance of which may be compelled for the benefit of the parties interested. § 350, Civil C.

§ 3457. Same. A trust power does not cease to be imperative when the trustee has the right to select any and exclude others of the persons designated as the beneficiaries of the trust. § 351, Civil C.

§ 3458. Equal shares. When a disposition under a power is directed to be made to, among or between several persons, without any specification of the share or sum to be allotted to each, all the persons designated are entitled to equal proportions. § 352, Civil C.

§ 3459. Discretionary power. When the terms of a power import that the estate or fund is to be distributed among several persons designated in such manner or proportions as the trustee of the power may think proper, the trustee may allot the whole to any one or more of such persons in exclusion of the others. § 353, Civil C.

§ 3460. Death of trustee. If the trustee of a power with the right of selection dies, leaving the power unexecuted, its execution must be adjudged for the benefit equally of all the persons designated as objects of the trust. § 354, Civil C.

§ 3461. Execution by district court. When a power in trust is created by will and the testator has omitted to designate, expressly or by necessary implication, by whom the power is to be executed its execution devolves on the district court. § 355, Civil C.

§ 3462. Execution for benefit of creditors. The execution in whole or in part of any trust power may be adjudged for the benefit of the creditors or assignees of any person entitled as one of the beneficiaries of the trust to compel its execution when his interest is transferable. § 356, Civil C.

§ 3463. Defects cured. When the execution of a power in trust is defective in whole or in part under the provisions of this chapter, its proper execution may be adjudged in favor of the persons designated as the objects of the trust. § 357, Civil C.

§ 3464. Certain other laws apply. The provisions of chapters 57 and 58, saving the rights of other persons from prejudice by the misconduct of trustees and authorizing the court to remove and appoint trustees; the provisions of chapter 41, devolving express trusts upon the court on the death of the trustee; and the provisions of section 3401 apply equally to powers in trust and the trustees of such powers. § 358, Civil C.

CHAPTER 30.

PERSONAL OR MOVABLE PROPERTY.

ARTICLE 1.—PERSONAL PROPERTY IN GENERAL.

- § 359, Civil C. § 3465. Governed by law of domicile. If there is no law to the contrary in the place where personal property is situated it is deemed to follow the person of its owner and is governed by the law of his domicile.

ARTICLE 2.—THINGS IN ACTION.

- § 360, Civil C. § 3466. Defined. A thing in action is a right to recover money or other personal property by a judicial proceeding.
- § 361, Civil C. § 3467. Transferable. A thing in action, arising out of the violation of a right of property or out of an obligation, may be transferred by the owner. Upon the death of the owner it passes to his personal representatives, except when in the cases provided by law it passes to his devisees or successor in office.

ARTICLE 3.—SHIPPING.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- § 362, Civil C. § 3468. Ship defined. The term "ship" or "shipping," when used in this code, includes steamboats, sailing vessels, canal boats, barges and every structure adapted to be navigated from place to place for the transportation of merchandise or persons.
- § 363, Civil C. § 3469. Appurtenances. All things belonging to the owners which are on board a ship and are connected with its proper use for the objects of the voyage and adventure in which the ship is engaged are deemed its appurtenances.
- § 364, Civil C. § 3470. Navigation classified. Ships are engaged either in foreign or domestic navigation. Ships are engaged in foreign navigation when passing to or from a foreign country, and in domestic navigation when passing from place to place within the United States.
- § 365, Civil C. § 3471. Domestic and foreign ships. A ship in the port of the state or territory to which it belongs is called a domestic ship; in another port it is called a foreign ship.
- § 366, Civil C. § 3472. Power of court. If a ship belongs to several persons, not partners, and they differ as to its use or repair the controversy may be determined by any court of competent jurisdiction.
- § 367, Civil C. § 3473. Possessor liable. If the owner of a ship commits its possession and navigation to another, that other and not the owner is responsible for its repairs and supplies.
- § 368, Civil C. § 3474. Congress regulates. The registry, enrollment and license of ships are regulated by acts of congress.

RULES OF NAVIGATION.

§ 3475. Meeting ships. Limitation. In the case of ships meeting the following rules must be observed in addition to those prescribed by any statutes of this state, which relate to navigation: § 369, Civil C.

1. Whenever any ship proceeding in one direction meets another ship proceeding in another direction so that if both ships were to continue their respective courses they would pass so near as to involve the risk of a collision, the helms of both ships must be put to port so as to pass on the port side of each other, except when the circumstances of the case are such as to render a departure from the rule necessary in order to avoid immediate danger and subject also to a due regard to the dangers of navigation.

2. A steamer navigating a narrow channel must, whenever it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of that fair way or mid-channel which lies on the starboard side of the steamer. A steamer when passing another steamer in such channel must always leave the other upon the larboard side.

3. When steamers must inevitably or necessarily cross so near that by continuing their respective courses there would be a risk of collision each vessel must put her helm to port so as always to pass on the larboard side of each other.

The rules of this section do not apply to any case for which a different rule is provided by the regulations for the government of pilots of steamers approaching each other within sound of the steam whistle, or by the regulations concerning lights upon steamers, or other matters prescribed under authority of any act of congress.

§ 3476. Infringement. Damages. If it appears that a collision was occasioned by failure to observe any rule of the foregoing section the owner of the ship by which such rule is infringed cannot recover compensation for damages sustained by the ship in such collision, unless it appears that the circumstances of the case made a departure from the rule necessary. § 370, Civil C.

§ 3477. Damage presumed from default. Damage to person or property arising from the failure of a ship to observe any rule of section 3475 must be deemed to have been occasioned by the willful default of the person in charge of the deck of such ship at the time, unless it appears that the circumstances of the case made a departure from the rule necessary. § 371, Civil C.

§ 3478. Liability defined. Losses caused by collision are to be borne as follows: § 372, Civil C.

1. If either party was exclusively in fault he must bear his own loss and compensate the other for any loss he has sustained.

2. If neither party was in fault the loss must be borne by him on whom it falls.

3. If both were in fault the loss is to be equally divided, unless it appears that there was a great disparity in fault, in which case the loss must be equitably apportioned; or,

4. If it cannot be ascertained where the fault lies the loss must be equally divided.

CHAPTER 31.

PRODUCTS OF THE MIND.

- § 570, Civil C. § 3479. Ownership of. The author of any product of the mind, whether it is an invention, or a composition in letters or art, or a design, with or without delineation, or other graphical representation has an exclusive ownership therein and in the representation or expression thereof, which continues so long as the product and the representations or expressions thereof made by him remain in his possession.
- § 571, Civil C. § 3480. Ownership of joint products. Unless otherwise agreed, a product of the mind in the production of which several persons are jointly concerned is owned by them as follows:
1. If the product is single, in equal proportions; or,
 2. If it is not single, in proportion to the contribution of each.
- § 572, Civil C. § 3481. Transfer. The owner of any product of the mind, or of any representation or expression thereof, may transfer his property in the same.
- § 573, Civil C. § 3482. Publication. If the owner of a product of the mind intentionally makes it public a copy or reproduction may be made public by any person without responsibility to the owner so far as the law of this state is concerned.
- § 574, Civil C. § 3483. Subsequent production of same thing. If the owner of a product of the mind does not make it public, any other person subsequently and originally producing the same thing, has the same right therein as the prior author, which is exclusive to the same extent against all persons except the prior author, or those claiming under him.
- § 575, Civil C. § 3484. Ownership of private communications. Letters and other private communications in writing belong to the person to whom they are addressed and delivered; but they cannot be published against the will of the writer, except by authority of law.

CHAPTER 32.

OTHER KINDS OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

- § 576, Civil C. § 3485. Trade-marks. One who produces or deals in a particular thing or conducts a particular business may appropriate to his exclusive use as a trade-mark any form, symbol or name which has not been so appropriated by another to designate the origin or ownership thereof; but he cannot exclusively appropriate any designation, or part of a designation, which relates only to the name, quality, or the description of the thing or business, or the place where the thing is produced or the business is carried on.
- § 577, Civil C. § 3486. Good will. The good will of a business is the expectation of continued public patronage, but it does not include a right to use the name of any person from whom it was acquired.
- § 578, Civil C. § 3487. Is property. Transferable. The good will of a business is property, transferable like any other.

§ 3488. Title deeds. Instruments essential to the title of real property and which are not kept in a public office as a record pursuant to law belong to the person in whom for the time being such title may be vested and pass with the title. § 579, Civil C.

CHAPTER 33.

ACQUISITION OF PROPERTY.

ARTICLE 1.—MODES IN WHICH PROPERTY MAY BE ACQUIRED.

§ 3489. How property acquired. Property is acquired by: § 580, Civil C.

1. Occupancy.
2. Accession.
3. Transfer.
4. Will; or,
5. Succession.

ARTICLE 2.—OCCUPANCY.

§ 3490. Title by occupancy. Occupancy for any period confers a title sufficient against all except the state and those who have title by prescription, accession, transfer, will or succession. § 581, Civil C.

§ 3491. Prescription. Occupancy for the period prescribed by the code of civil procedure or any law of this state as sufficient to bar an action for the recovery of the property confers a title thereto, denominated a title by prescription, which is sufficient against all. § 582, Civil C.

ARTICLE 3.—ACCESSION.

ACCESSION TO REAL PROPERTY.

§ 3492. Fixtures, when tenant may remove. When a person affixes his property to the land of another without an agreement permitting him to remove it, the thing affixed belongs to the owner of the land, unless he chooses to require the former to remove it; provided, that a tenant may remove from the demised premises any time during the continuance of his term anything affixed thereto for the purpose of trade, manufacture, ornament or domestic use, if the removal can be effected without injury to the premises, unless the thing has by the manner in which it is affixed become an integral part of the premises. § 583, Civil C.

§ 3493. Riparian accretions. When from natural causes land forms by imperceptible degrees upon the bank of a river or stream, navigable or not navigable, either by accumulation of material or by the recession of the stream, such land belongs to the owner of the bank, subject to any existing right of way over the bank. § 584, Civil C.

§ 3494. Land removed by stream reclaimed, when. If a river or stream, navigable or not navigable, carries away by sudden violence a considerable and distinguishable part of a bank and bears it to the opposite bank or to another part of the same bank, the owner § 585, Civil C.

of the part carried away may reclaim it within a year after the owner of the land to which it has been united takes possession thereof.

§ 586, Civil C.

§ 3495. Islands in navigable streams. Islands and accumulations of land formed in the beds of streams which are navigable belong to the state, if there is no title or prescription to the contrary.

§ 587, Civil C.

§ 3496. In other streams. An island or accumulation of land formed in a stream which is not navigable belongs to the owner of the shore on that side where the island or accumulation is formed, or if not formed on one side only, to the owners of the shore on the two sides, divided by an imaginary line drawn through the middle of the river.

§ 588, Civil C.

§ 3497. Island formed by new channel. If a stream, navigable or not navigable, in forming itself a new arm divides itself and surrounds land belonging to the owner of the shore and thereby forms an island, the island belongs to such owner.

§ 589, Civil C.

§ 3498. When ancient bed taken as indemnity. If a stream, navigable or not navigable, forms a new course, abandoning its ancient bed, the owners of the land newly occupied take by way of indemnity the ancient bed abandoned, each in proportion to the land of which he has been deprived.

ACCESSION TO PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 590, Civil C.

§ 3499. Things inseparably united. When things belonging to different owners have been united so as to form a single thing and cannot be separated without injury the whole belongs to the owner of the thing which forms the principal part, who must, however, reimburse the value of the residue to the other owner or surrender the whole to him.

§ 591, Civil C.

§ 3500. Principal part defined. That part is to be deemed the principal part to which the other has been united only for the use, ornament or completion of the former, unless the latter is the more valuable and has been united without the knowledge of its owner, who may in the latter case require it to be separated and returned to him, although some injury should result to the thing to which it has been united.

§ 592, Civil C.

§ 3501. Further defined. If neither part can be considered the principal within the rule prescribed by the last section, the more valuable, or if the values are nearly equal, the more considerable in bulk is to be deemed the principal part.

§ 593, Civil C.

§ 3502. Thing made from another's materials. If one makes a thing from materials belonging to another the latter may claim the thing on reimbursing the value of the workmanship unless the value of the workmanship exceeds the value of the materials, in which case the thing belongs to the maker on reimbursing the value of the materials.

§ 594, Civil C.

§ 3503. Blended materials. When one has made use of materials which in part belong to him and in part to another in order to form a thing of a new description without having destroyed any of the materials, but in such a way that they cannot be separated without inconvenience, the thing formed is common to both proprietors in proportion, as respects the one, of the materials belonging to him, and as respects the other, of the materials belonging to him and the price of his workmanship.

§ 3504. Admixtures of materials. When a thing has been formed by the admixture of several materials of different owners and neither can be considered the principal substance, an owner, without whose consent the admixture was made, may require separation if the materials can be separated without inconvenience. If they cannot be thus separated the owners acquire the thing in common in proportion to the quantity, quality and value of their materials; but if the materials of one were far superior to those of the others, both in quantity and value, he may claim the thing on reimbursing to the others the value of their materials. § 593, CIVIL C.

§ 3505. Foregoing sections not applicable to willful use. The foregoing sections of this chapter are not applicable to cases in which one willfully uses the materials of another without his consent; but in such cases the product belongs to the owner of the material if its identity can be traced. § 596, CIVIL C.

§ 3506. Material restored in kind or value paid. In all cases when one whose material has been used without his knowledge in order to form a product of a different description, can claim an interest in such product, he has an option to demand either restitution of his material in kind in the same quantity, weight, measure and quality, or the value thereof; or when he is entitled to the product, the value thereof in place of the product. § 597, CIVIL C.

§ 3507. Damages. One who wrongfully employs materials belonging to another is liable to him in damages, as well as under the foregoing provisions of this chapter. § 598, CIVIL C.

CHAPTER 34.

TRANSFER.

ARTICLE 1.—DEFINITION OF TRANSFER.

§ 3508. Transfer defined. Transfer is an act of the parties or of the law by which the title to property is conveyed from one living person to another. § 599, CIVIL C.

§ 3509. Consideration unnecessary to validity. A voluntary transfer is an executed contract, subject to all rules of law, concerning contracts in general except that a consideration is not necessary to its validity. § 600, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 2.—WHAT MAY BE TRANSFERRED.

§ 3510. What may be transferred. Property of any kind may be transferred except as otherwise provided by this article. § 601, CIVIL C.

§ 3511. Possibility not transferable. A mere possibility, not coupled with an interest, cannot be transferred. § 602, CIVIL C.

§ 3512. Right of re-entry not transferable. A mere right of re-entry or of repossession for breach of a condition subsequent cannot be transferred to any one except the owner of the property affected thereby. § 603, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 3.—MODE OF TRANSFER.

- § 604, Civil C. § 3513. How made. A transfer may be made without writing in every case in which a writing is not expressly required by statute.
- § 605, Civil C. § 3514. Written transfers named. A transfer in writing is called a grant, or conveyance, or bill of sale. The term "grant" in this and the next two articles includes all these instruments unless it is specially applied to real property.
- § 606, Civil C. § 3515. Grant effectual only on delivery. A grant takes effect so as to vest the interest intended to be transferred only upon its delivery by the grantor.
- § 607, Civil C. § 3516. Delivery presumed at its date. A grant duly executed is presumed to have been delivered at its date.
- § 608, Civil C. § 3517. Delivery is absolute. A grant cannot be delivered to the grantee conditionally. Delivery to him or to his agent as such is necessarily absolute; and the instrument takes effect thereupon discharged of any condition on which the delivery was made.
- § 609, Civil C. § 3518. Delivery in escrow. A grant may be deposited by the grantor with a third person to be delivered on the performance of a condition and on delivery by the depositary it will take effect. While in the possession of the third person and subject to condition it is called an escrow.
- § 610, Civil C. § 3519. Redelivery does not retransfer. Redelivering a grant of real property to the grantor or canceling it does not operate to retransfer the title.
- § 611, Civil C. § 3520. When deemed constructively delivered. Though a grant is not actually delivered into the possession of the grantee it is yet to be deemed constructively delivered in the following cases:
1. When the instrument is by the agreement of the parties at the time of execution understood to be delivered and under such circumstances that the grantee is entitled to immediate delivery; or,
 2. When it is delivered to a stranger for the benefit of a grantee and his assent is shown or may be presumed.

ARTICLE 4.—INTERPRETATION OF GRANTS.

- § 612, Civil C. § 3521. Interpreted same as contracts. Grants are to be interpreted in like manner with contracts in general except so far as is otherwise provided by this article.
- § 613, Civil C. § 3522. Limitation not controlled by words less clear. A clear and distinct limitation in a grant is not controlled by other words less clear and distinct.
- § 614, Civil C. § 3523. When recourse had to recitals. If the operative words of a grant are doubtful recourse may be had to its recitals to assist the construction.
- § 615, Civil C. § 3524. In favor of grantee except public grants. A grant is to be interpreted in favor of the grantee, except that a reservation in any grant and every grant by a public officer or body, as such, to a private party is to be interpreted in favor of the grantor.
- § 616, Civil C. § 3525. Former part prevails. If several parts of a grant are absolutely irreconcilable the former part prevails.
- § 617, Civil C. § 3526. Without issue defined. When a future interest is limited by a grant to take effect on the death of any person without heirs, or heirs of his body, or without issue, or in equivalent words such words must be taken to mean successors or issue living at the death of the person named as ancestor.

§ 3527. Words unnecessary to fee. Words of inheritance or succession are not requisite to transfer a fee in real property. § 618, Civil C.

ARTICLE 5.—EFFECT OF TRANSFER.

§ 3528. Vests actual title. A transfer vests in the transferee all the actual title to the thing transferred which the transferor then has unless a different intention is expressed or is necessarily implied. § 619, Civil C.

§ 3529. Thing includes incidents. The transfer of a thing transfers also all its incidents unless expressly excepted; but the transfer of an incident to a thing does not transfer the thing itself. § 620, Civil C.

§ 3530. Benefit taken though unnamed. A present interest and the benefit of a condition or covenant respecting property may be taken by any natural person under a grant although not named a party thereto. § 621, Civil C.

CHAPTER 35.

TRANSFER OF REAL PROPERTY.

ARTICLE 1.—MODE OF TRANSFER.

§ 3531. Only by law or writing. An estate in real property, other than an estate at will or for a term not exceeding one year, can be transferred only by operation of law or by an instrument in writing, subscribed by the party disposing of the same or by his agent thereunto authorized by writing. § 622, Civil C.

§ 3532. By-laws empowering officers to execute. Any foreign or domestic corporation may in its by-laws empower any one or more of its officers severally or conjointly to execute and acknowledge in its behalf conveyances, transfers, assignments, releases, satisfactions or other instruments affecting liens upon, titles to or interests in real estate. § 1, c. 42, 1893.

§ 3533. Who executes if not so empowered. In the absence of any by-laws the president or secretary of any corporation, and the president, secretary, treasurer or cashier of any loan, trust or banking corporation may execute and acknowledge such instruments when authorized by resolution of the board of directors. § 2, c. 42, 1893.

§ 3534. Prior instruments legalized. All instruments affecting liens upon, titles to or interests in real estate heretofore executed and acknowledged in good faith by the treasurer or cashier in behalf of any loan, trust or banking corporation are declared valid and effectual to the same extent as they would have been had the last two sections been in force at the time of their execution. § 3, c. 42, 1893. am'd.

..... (full name of corporation.)
 By (some officer authorized by resolution or the by-laws of the corporation to execute and acknowledge such instrument.)
 (official designation of person signing.)
 Attest:
 [Seal.], Secretary.

§ 623. Civil C.

§ 3536. Proved by subscribing witness. Seal unnecessary. The execution of a grant of such estate in real property, if it is not duly acknowledged, must, to entitle the grant to be recorded, be proved by a subscribing witness or as otherwise provided in sections 3581 and 3582. The absence of the seal of any grantor or his agent from any grant of an estate in real property heretofore or hereafter made shall not invalidate or in any manner impair the same.

§ 624. Civil C.

§ 3537. Form of grant. A grant of an estate in real property may be made in substance as follows:

This grant made the day of in the year, between A. B., of, of the first part, and C. D., of, of the second part, witnesseth: That the party of the first part hereby grants to the party of the second part in consideration of dollars, now received, all the real property situated in, and bounded (or described) as follows:

Witness the hand of the party of the first part.

A. B.

ARTICLE 2. — EFFECT OF TRANSFER.

§ 627. Civil C.

§ 3538. Passes easements. Creates an easement. A transfer of real property passes all easements attached thereto and creates in favor thereof an easement to use other real property of the person whose estate is transferred in the same manner and to the same extent as such property was obviously and permanently used by the person whose estate is transferred for the benefit thereof at the time when the transfer was agreed upon or completed.

§ 628. Civil C.

§ 3539. Covenants implied from use of word "grant." From the use of the word "grant" in any conveyance by which an estate of inheritance or fee simple is to be passed the following covenants and none other, on the part of the grantor for himself and his heirs to the grantee, his heirs and assigns, are implied unless restrained by express terms contained in such conveyance:

1. That previous to the time of the execution of such conveyance the grantor has not conveyed the same estate, or any right, title or interest therein to any person other than the grantee.

2. That such estate is at the time of the execution of such conveyance free from incumbrances done, made or suffered by the grantor, or any person claiming under him. Such covenants may be sued upon in the same manner as if they had been expressly inserted in the conveyance.

§ 629. Civil C.

§ 3540. Grant conclusive against whom. Every grant of an estate in real property is conclusive against the grantor and every one subsequently claiming under him, except a purchaser or incum-brancer who in good faith and for a valuable consideration, acquires a title or lien by an instrument that is first duly recorded.

§ 3541. Grant valid pro tanto. A grant made by the owner of an estate for life or years, purporting to transfer a greater estate than he could lawfully transfer, does not work a forfeiture of his estate, but passes to the grantee all the estate which the grantor could lawfully transfer. § 630, Civil C.

§ 3542. Title to highway. A transfer of land bounded by a highway passes the title of the person whose estate is transferred to the soil of the highway in front to the center thereof unless a different intent appears from the grant. § 631, Civil C.

§ 3543. Attornment not necessary. Grants of rents or of reversions or of remainders are good and effectual without attornments of the tenants, but no tenant who before notice of the grant shall have paid rent to the grantor must suffer any damage thereby. § 632, Civil C.

§ 3544. Lineal and collateral warranties abolished. Lineal and collateral warranties with all their incidents are abolished; but the heirs and devisees of any person who has made any covenant or agreement in reference to the title of, in or to any real property are answerable upon such covenant or agreement to the extent of the land descended or devised to them in the cases and in the manner prescribed by law. § 633, Civil C.

§ 3545. Grant presumes fee simple title. A fee simple title is presumed to be intended to pass by a grant of real property unless it appears from the grant that a lesser estate was intended. § 633, Civil C.

§ 3546. Grant takes effect on performance of condition. An instrument purporting to be a grant of real property to take effect upon a condition precedent passes the estate upon the performance of the condition. § 633, Civil C.

§ 3547. After acquired title. When a person purports by proper instrument to grant real property in fee simple and subsequently acquires any title or claim of title thereto the same passes by operation of law to the grantee or his successors. § 633, Civil C.

§ 3548. Reconveyance when estate defeated by nonperformance of condition subsequent. When a grant is made upon condition subsequent and is subsequently defeated by the nonperformance of the condition, the person otherwise entitled to hold under the grant must reconvey the property to the grantor or his successors by grant duly acknowledged for record. § 633, Civil C.

§ 3549. Incumbrances defined. The term "incumbrances" includes taxes, assessments and all liens upon real property. § 633, Civil C.

CHAPTER 36.

TRANSFERS OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

ARTICLE 1.—MODE OF TRANSFER.

- § 634, Civil C. § 3550. Ships and trusts. An interest in a ship or in an existing trust can be transferred only by operation of law or by a written instrument subscribed by the person making the transfer or by his agent.
- § 635, Civil C. § 3551. Other personalty. The mode of transferring other personal property by sale is regulated by the chapter on that subject in this code.

ARTICLE 2.—WHAT OPERATES AS A TRANSFER.

- § 636, Civil C. § 3552. When title passes. The title to personal property sold or exchanged passes to the buyer whenever the parties agree upon a present transfer and the thing itself is identified, whether it is separated from other things or not.
- § 637, Civil C. § 3553. When transfer by executory agreement operative. Title is transferred by an executory agreement for the sale or exchange of personal property, only when the buyer has accepted the thing, or when the seller has completed it, prepared it for delivery and offered it to the buyer, with intent to transfer the title thereto in the manner prescribed by the second subdivision of article 4 of chapter 42.
- § 638, Civil C. § 3554. Transfer by agent. When the possession of personal property together with the power to dispose thereof is transferred by its owner to another person an executed sale by the latter, while in possession to a buyer in good faith and in the ordinary course of business for value, transfers to such buyer the title of the former owner, though he may be entitled to rescind and does rescind the transfer made by him.

ARTICLE 3.—GIFTS.

- § 639, Civil C. § 3555. Gift defined. A gift is a transfer of personal property made voluntarily and without consideration.
- § 640, Civil C. § 3556. Requisites of valid verbal gift. A verbal gift is not valid unless the means of obtaining possession and control of the thing are given, nor, if it is capable of delivery, unless there is an actual or symbolical delivery of the thing to the donee.
- § 641, Civil C. § 3557. Irrevocable. Exception. A gift, other than a gift in view of death, cannot be revoked by the giver.
- § 642, Civil C. § 3558. In view of death defined. A gift in view of death is one which is made in contemplation, fear or peril of death and with intent that it shall take effect only in case of the death of the giver.
- § 643, Civil C. § 3559. When presumed. A gift made during the last illness of the giver or under circumstances which would naturally impress him with an expectation of speedy death is presumed to be a gift in view of death.
- § 644, Civil C. § 3560. Revocable. Rights of purchaser. A gift in view of death may be revoked by the giver at any time and is revoked by his recovery from the illness or escape from the peril under the presence of which it was made or by the occurrence of any event which would operate as a revocation of a will made at the same time; but when the gift has been delivered to the donee the rights of a bona fide purchaser from the donee before the revocation shall not be affected by the revocation.

§ 3561. Not affected by will. A gift in view of death is not affected by a previous will; nor by a subsequent will unless it expresses an intention to revoke the gift. § 645, Civil C.

§ 3562. Treated as a legacy as to creditors. A gift in view of death must be treated as a legacy so far as relates only to the creditors of the giver. § 646, Civil C.

CHAPTER 37.

RECORDING TRANSFERS.

ARTICLE 1.—WHAT MAY BE RECORDED.

§ 3563. What may be recorded. Any instrument or judgment affecting the title to or possession of real property may be recorded under this chapter. § 647, Civil C.
§ 1, c. 47, 1879.

2. Judgments affecting the title to or the possession of real property, authenticated by the certificate of the clerk of the court in which such judgments were rendered may be recorded without acknowledgment or further proof.

3. Letters patent from the United States and final receivers' receipts from the United States land offices may be recorded without acknowledgment or further proof.

§ 3564. Prerequisites to record. Before an instrument can be recorded unless it belongs to a class provided for in either section 3563 or 3590 its execution must be acknowledged by the person executing the same, or if executed by a corporation, by the person authorized to execute it by sections 3532 and 3533, or proved by a subscribing witness, or as provided in sections 3581 and 3582, and the acknowledgment or proof certified in the manner prescribed by article 3 of this chapter. § 648, Civil C.

§ 3565. When proved instrument recorded. An instrument proved and certified pursuant to sections 3581 and 3582 may be recorded in the proper office if the original is at the same time deposited therein to remain for public inspection, but not otherwise. § 649, Civil C.

§ 3566. Transfers by way of mortgage. Transfers of or liens on property by way of mortgage are required to be recorded in the cases specified in the chapter on mortgages. § 650, Civil C.
am'd.

ARTICLE 2.—MODE OF RECORDING.

§ 3567. Where recorded. Fee indorsed. Instruments entitled to be recorded must be recorded by the register of deeds of the county in which the real property affected thereby is situated. The § 651, Civil C.

register must in all cases indorse the amount of his fee for the recording on the instruments recorded.

§ 3568. When deemed recorded. An instrument is deemed to be recorded when, being duly acknowledged or proved and certified, it is deposited in the register's office with the proper officer for record.

§ 3569. Instruments in unorganized counties, where recorded. The unorganized counties of the state in any judicial subdivision are hereby attached to and made a part of the county where the court is held for such subdivision for the purpose of filing and recording all deeds, mortgages and other instruments, so long as such counties remain unorganized and the filing and record of all such deeds, mortgages and other instruments heretofore made in the manner herein provided for are hereby declared to be legal and valid.

§ 3570. Separate books for grants and mortgages. Grants, absolute in terms, are to be recorded in one set of books and mortgages in another.

§ 3571. Duty of register. The duties of registers of deeds in respect to recording instruments are prescribed by statute.

§ 3572. Transfers of vessels. The mode of recording transfers of vessels registered under the laws of the United States is regulated by acts of congress.

ARTICLE 3. — PROOF AND ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF INSTRUMENTS.

§ 3573. At any place in state, before whom. The proof or acknowledgement of an instrument may be made at any place within this state before a justice or clerk of the supreme court, or notary public.

§ 3574. Within district in state, before whom. The proof or acknowledgement of an instrument may be made in this state within the judicial district, county, subdivision or city for which the officer was elected or appointed, before either:

1. A judge or clerk of a court of record; or,
2. A mayor of a city; or,
3. A register of deeds; or,
4. A justice of the peace; or,
5. A United States circuit or district court commissioner; or,
6. A county auditor.

§ 3575. Without state, but within United States, before whom. The proof or acknowledgement of an instrument may be made without the state, but within the United States and within the jurisdiction of the officer, before either:

1. A justice, judge or clerk of any court of record of the United States.
2. A justice, judge or clerk of any court of record of any state or territory; or,
3. A notary public; or,
4. Any other officer of the state or territory where the acknowledgment is made, authorized by its laws to take such proof or acknowledgment.
5. A commissioner appointed for the purpose by the governor of this state, pursuant to the political code.

§ 3576. Without the United States, before whom. The proof or acknowledgement of an instrument may be made without the United States before either:

1. A minister, commissioner or charge d'affairs of the United States, resident and accredited in the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made; or,

2. A consul, vice consul or consular agent of the United States resident in the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made; or,

3. A judge, clerk, register or commissioner of a court of record of the country where the proof or acknowledgment is made; or,

4. A notary public of such country; or,

5. An officer authorized by the laws of the country where the proof or acknowledgment is taken to take proof or acknowledgments; or,

6. When any of the officers mentioned in this article are authorized by law to appoint a deputy, the acknowledgment or proof may be taken by such deputy in the name of his principal.

7. All proofs or acknowledgments heretofore taken according to the provisions of this chapter are hereby declared to be sufficiently authenticated and to be entitled to record, and all such records hereafter made shall be notice of the contents of the instruments so recorded.

§ 3577. What knowledge officer taking acknowledgment must have. The acknowledgment of an instrument must not be taken, unless the officer taking it knows or has satisfactory evidence on the oath or affirmation of a credible witness that the person making such acknowledgment is the individual who is described in and who executed the instrument; or, if executed by a corporation, that the person making such acknowledgment is authorized to make it as provided in sections 3532 and 3533.

§ 659, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 3578. Conveyance by married woman. A conveyance or other instrument executed by a married woman has the same effect as if she was unmarried and may be acknowledged in the same manner.

§ 661, Civil C.
§ 2, c. 2, 1881.

§ 3579. How proof made, when not acknowledged. Proof of the execution of an instrument, when not acknowledged may be made either:

§ 662, Civil C.

1. By the party executing it, or either of them; or,

2. By a subscribing witness; or,

3. By other witnesses in cases mentioned in sections 3581 and 3582.

§ 3580. Knowledge required by officer taking proof. If, by a subscribing witness, such witness must be personally known to the officer taking the proof to be the person whose name is subscribed to the instrument as a witness, or must be proved to be such by the oath of a credible witness. The subscribing witness must prove that the person whose name is subscribed to the instrument as a party is the person described in it, and that such person executed it, and that the witness subscribed his name thereto as a witness.

§ 662, Civil C.

§ 3581. When other proof received. The execution of an instrument may be established by proof of the handwriting of the party and of a subscribing witness, if there is one, in the following cases:

§ 663, Civil C.

1. When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are dead; or,

2. When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are nonresidents of the state; or,

3. When the place of their residence is unknown to the party desiring the proof, and cannot be ascertained by the exercise of due diligence; or,

4. When the subscribing witness conceals himself, or cannot be found by the officer by the exercise of due diligence in attempting to serve a subpoena or attachment; or,

5. In case of the continued failure or refusal of the witness to testify for the space of one hour after his appearance.

§ 664, Civil C.

§ 3582. What proof must show. The evidence taken under the preceding section must satisfactorily prove to the officer the following facts:

1. The existence of one or more of the conditions mentioned therein; and,

2. That the witness testifying knew the person whose name purports to be subscribed to the instrument as a party, and is well acquainted with his signature and that it is genuine; and,

3. That the witness testifying personally knew the person who subscribed the instrument as a witness, and is well acquainted with his signature and that it is genuine; and,

4. The place of residence of the witness.

§ 665, Civil C.

§ 3583. Contents of certificate. An officer taking proof of the execution of an instrument must, in his certificate indorsed thereon or attached thereto, set forth all the matters required by law to be done or known by him or proved before him on the proceeding, together with the names of all the witnesses examined before him, their places of residence respectively, and the substance of their evidence.

§ 666, Civil C.
1, c. 2, 1887.

§ 3584. Forms of certificates. An officer taking the acknowledgment of an instrument must indorse thereon or attach thereto a certificate substantially in the forms hereinafter prescribed.

1. Such certificate of acknowledgment, unless it is otherwise in this article provided, must be in substantially the following form:

State of....., } ss.
County of.....

On this.....day of....., in the year....., before me personally appeared....., known to me (or proved to me on the oath of.....) to be the person who is described in and who executed the within instrument, and acknowledged to me that he (or they) executed the same.

2. The certificate of acknowledgment of an instrument executed by a corporation must be substantially in the following form:

State of....., } ss.
County of.....

On this.....day of....., in the year....., before me (here insert the name and quality of the officer), personally appeared....., known to me (or proved to me on the oath of.....) to be the president (or the secretary) of the corporation that is described in and that executed the within instrument, and acknowledged to me that such corporation executed the same.

3. The certificate of acknowledgment by an attorney in fact must be substantially in the following form:

State of }
 County of } ss.

On this day of, in the year before me (here insert the name and quality of the officer), personally appeared known to me (or proved to me on the oath of) to be the person who is described in and whose name is subscribed to the within instrument as the attorney in fact of and acknowledged to me that he subscribed the name of thereto as principal and his own name as attorney in fact.

4. All acknowledgments of deeds or other instruments in writing made by any deputy sheriff of this state shall be made substantially according to the following form:

State of North Dakota, }
 County of } ss.

On this day of, in the year before me, a, in and for said county, personally appeared, known to me to be the person who is described in and whose name is subscribed to the within instrument as deputy sheriff of said county and acknowledged to me that he subscribed the name of thereto as sheriff of said county and his own name as deputy sheriff.

§ 3585. Legalizing former acknowledgments. All ac- § 2, c. 2, 1887.
 knowledgments heretofore made by any deputy sheriff of the several counties of this state, either by or for himself as such deputy, or in the name of or for his principal, to any sheriff's certificate of sale, certificate of redemption, or sheriff's deed, or other instrument appertaining to the sale, redemption or conveyance of any real estate sold at sheriff's sale upon execution or by foreclosure, either by action or advertisement shall be and the same is hereby declared to be legal and of binding force and effect.

 taking and certifying acknowledgments or proof of instruments for record must authenticate their certificates by affixing thereto their signatures followed by the name of their offices; also their seals of office, if by the laws of the territory, state or country where the acknowledgment or proof is taken, or by authority of which they are acting, they are required to have official seals. Judges and clerks of courts of record must authenticate their certificates as aforesaid by affixing thereto the seal of their proper court; and mayors of cities by the seal thereof.

justice. The certificate of proof or acknowledgment, if made before a justice of the peace, when used in any county other than that in which he resides must be accompanied by a certificate under the hand and seal of the clerk of the district court, or of any other county court of record of the county in which the justice resides, setting forth that such justice at the time of taking such proof or acknowledgment was authorized to take the same and that the clerk is acquainted with his handwriting and believes that the signature to the original certificate is genuine.

§ 3588. Action to correct certificate. When the acknowl- § 667, Civil C.
 edgment or proof of execution of an instrument is properly made,

- but defectively certified, any party interested may have an action in the district court to obtain a judgment correcting the certificate.
- § 667, Civil C. § 3589. Action to prove instrument. Any person interested under an instrument entitled to be proved for record may institute an action in the district court against the proper parties to obtain a judgment proving such instrument.
- § 667, Civil C. § 3590. What entitles judgment to record. A certified copy of the judgment in a proceeding instituted under either of the two preceding sections, showing the proof of the instrument, and attached thereto, entitles the instrument to record with like effect as if acknowledged.
- § 668, Civil C.
am'd. § 3591. Authority of officers in taking proof. Officers authorized to take the proof of instruments are authorized in such proceedings:
1. To administer oaths or affirmations.
 2. To employ and swear interpreters.
 3. To issue subpoenas, obedience to which may be enforced as provided in the code of civil procedure.
- § 669, Civil C. § 3592. Code does not affect former instruments. The legality of the execution, acknowledgment, proof, form or record of any conveyance or other instrument made before this amended code goes into effect, executed, acknowledged, proved or recorded is not affected by anything contained in this chapter, but depends for its validity and legality, except as to seals, upon the laws in force when the act was performed.
- § 670, Civil C. § 3593. Force and record of former instruments. All conveyances of real property made before this amended code goes into effect and acknowledged or proved according to the laws in force at the time of such making and acknowledgment or proof have the same force as evidence and may be recorded in the same manner and with like effect as conveyances executed and acknowledged in pursuance of this chapter.

ARTICLE 4. — EFFECT OF RECORDING OR THE WANT THEREOF.

- § 671, Civil C. § 3594. When conveyance first recorded makes prior unrecorded one void. Every conveyance of real property, other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year, is void as against any subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer, including an assignee of a mortgage, lease or other conditional estate of the same property, or any part thereof, in good faith and for a valuable consideration, whose conveyance is first duly recorded.
- § 672, Civil C. § 3595. "Conveyance" defined. The term "conveyance" as used in the last section embraces every instrument in writing by which any estate or interest in real property is created, aliened, mortgaged or incumbered or by which the title to any real property may be affected, except wills, executory contracts for the sale or purchase of real property and powers of attorney.
- § 673, Civil C. § 3596. Requisites of instrument to revoke power to convey. No instrument containing a power to convey or execute instruments affecting real property which has been recorded is revoked by any act of the party by whom it was executed, unless the instrument containing such revocation is also acknowledged or proved, certified and recorded in the same office in which the instrument containing the power was recorded.

§ 3597. Record constructive notice of execution. The recording and deposit of an instrument proved and certified according to the provisions of sections 3565, 3579, 3580, 3581 and 3582 are constructive notice of the execution of such instrument to all purchasers and incumbrancers subsequent to the recording; but the proof, recording and deposit do not entitle the instrument, or the record thereof, or the transcript of the record to be read in evidence. § 674, Civil C.

§ 3598. Unrecorded instrument valid as to whom. An unrecorded instrument is valid as between the parties thereto and those who have notice thereof. § 675, Civil C.

CHAPTER 38.

UNLAWFUL TRANSFERS.

§ 3599. Instruments made with intent to defraud void. Every instrument other than a will affecting an estate in real property, including every charge upon real property or upon its rents or profits, made with intent to defraud prior or subsequent purchasers thereof or incumbrancers thereon is void as against every purchaser or incumbrancer for value of the same property, or the rents or profits thereof. § 676, Civil C.

§ 3600. Privity to fraud cures it. No instrument is to be avoided under the last preceding section in favor of a subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer having notice thereof at the time his purchase was made or his lien acquired, unless the person in whose favor the instrument was made was privity to the fraud intended. § 677, Civil C.

§ 3601. If power to revoke reserved, subsequent grant is revocation. When a power to revoke or modify an instrument affecting the title to or the enjoyment of an estate in real property is reserved to the grantor or given to any other person, a subsequent grant of or charge upon the estate by the person having the power of revocation in favor of a purchaser or incumbrancer for value operates as a revocation of the original instrument to the extent of the power in favor of such purchaser or incumbrancer. § 678, Civil C.

§ 3602. When power deemed executed. When a person having a power of revocation within the provisions of the last section is not entitled to execute it until after the time at which he makes such a grant or charge as is described in that section, the power is deemed to be executed as soon as he is entitled to execute it. § 679, Civil C.

§ 3603. Good faith purchaser protected. The rights of a purchaser or incumbrancer in good faith and for value are not to be impaired by any of the foregoing provisions of this chapter. § 680, Civil C.

§ 3604. Other unlawful transfers. Other provisions concerning unlawful transfers are contained in chapter 96 of this code concerning the special relations of debtor and creditor. § 682, Civil C.

CHAPTER 39.

HOMESTEAD.

§ 1, c. 67, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3605. Homestead defined. Exempt. The homestead of every head of a family residing in this state, not exceeding in value five thousand dollars, and if within a town plat, not exceeding two acres in extent, and if not within a town plat, not exceeding in the aggregate more than one hundred and sixty acres, and consisting of a dwelling house in which the homestead claimant resides and all its appurtenances and the land on which the same is situated shall be exempt from judgment lien and from execution or forced sale except as provided in this chapter.

§ 3606. How selected. If the homestead claimant is married the homestead may be selected from the separate property of the husband or, with the consent of the wife, from her separate property. When the homestead claimant is not married, but is the head of a family within the meaning of section 3625, the homestead may be selected from any of his or her property; provided, that the homestead so selected must in no case embrace different lots or tracts of land unless they are contiguous.

§ 3607. When subject to execution. The homestead is subject to execution or forced sale in satisfaction of judgments obtained:

1. On debts secured by mechanic's or laborer's liens for work or labor done or material furnished exclusively for the improvement of the same.

2. On debts secured by mortgage on the premises executed and acknowledged by both husband and wife, or an unmarried claimant.

3. On debts created for the purchase thereof and for all taxes accruing and levied thereon.

§ 3608. How conveyed. The homestead of a married person cannot be conveyed or incumbered, unless the instrument by which it is conveyed or incumbered is executed and acknowledged by both husband and wife.

§ 3609. Statute of limitations. No action, defense or counterclaim founded upon a right of homestead in property heretofore conveyed or incumbered, otherwise than as provided by the law in force at the time of the execution of such conveyance or incumbrance, and for which no declaration of homestead shall have been filed previous to the taking effect of this section shall be effectual or maintainable, unless such action is commenced or such defense or counterclaim interposed on or before the first day of January, 1900; provided, nevertheless, that such limitation shall not apply if the homestead claimant was at the time of the execution of such conveyance or incumbrance in the actual possession of the property claimed and had not quit such possession previous to the commencement of such action or the interposing of such defense or counterclaim.

§ 5, c. 67, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3610. When appraised. When an execution for the enforcement of a judgment obtained in a case not within the classes enumerated in section 3607 is levied upon the homestead the judgment creditor may apply to the district court in the county in which such homestead is situated for the appointment of persons to appraise the value thereof.

§ 3611. Application for appraisers. The application for appraisers must be made upon a verified petition showing: § 6, c. 67, 1891. am'd.

1. The fact that an execution has been levied upon the homestead.
2. The name of the claimant.
3. That the value of the homestead exceeds the amount of the homestead exemption.

§ 3612. Petition filed. The petition must be filed with the clerk of the district court and a copy thereof with notice of the time and place of hearing served on the claimant at least ten days before the hearing. § 7, c. 67, 1891.

§ 3613. Appointment of appraisers. Oath and duties. At the hearing the court upon proof of the service of such notice and petition and of the facts stated in the petition may appoint three disinterested residents of the county to appraise the value of the homestead, who must take an oath impartially to appraise the same. They must view the premises and appraise the value thereof and if the appraised value exceeds the homestead exemption they must determine whether the real property claimed can be divided without material injury. § 8, c. 67, 1891. am'd.

§ 3614. Report to judge. Within fifteen days after their appointment the appraisers must present to the judge a report in writing, which report must show the appraised value of the homestead and their determination upon the matter of a division of the real property claimed.

§ 3615. How homestead divided. If from the appraisers' report it appears that the real property claimed as a homestead can be divided without material injury the court shall by an order direct the appraisers to set off to the claimant so much of the real property, including the residence, as will amount in value to the homestead exemption and the execution may be enforced against the remainder of the real property. § 9, c. 67, 1891. am'd.

§ 3616. When sold. If from the appraisers' report it appears to the court that the real property claimed as a homestead exceeds in value the amount of the homestead exemption and that it cannot be divided without material injury, he must make an order directing its sale under the execution; but at such sale no bid must be received unless it exceeds the amount of the homestead exemption. § 10, c. 67, 1891. am'd.

§ 3617. Proceeds of sale exempt. Disposition of. If the sale is made the proceeds thereof to the amount of the homestead exemption must be paid to the claimant and the residue applied to the satisfaction of the execution; provided, that when the execution is against a husband, whose wife is living, the court may, in its discretion, direct the five thousand dollars to be deposited in court to be paid out only on the joint receipt of the husband and wife and it shall, whether paid directly to the claimant or to the husband and wife jointly, possess all the protection against legal process and voluntary disposition by the husband as did the original homestead premises. § 11, c. 67, 1891. am'd.

§ 13, c. 67, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3619. Proceeds of sale exempt. If the homestead is conveyed as provided in section 3608 or sold for the satisfaction of any lien mentioned in section 3607, the price thereof or the proceeds of the sale beyond the amount necessary to satisfy such lien, and not exceeding in either case the amount of the homestead exemption, shall be entitled thereafter to the same protection against legal process as the law gives to the homestead.

§ 3620. Who may make declaration of homestead. Any person who is the head of a family may make a declaration of homestead in the manner provided in the next two sections, but a failure to make such declaration shall not impair the homestead right.

§ 3621. How executed and acknowledged. In order to select a homestead the husband or other head of the family, or in case the husband has not made such selection, the wife must execute and acknowledge in the same manner as a grant of real property is acknowledged a declaration of homestead and file the same for record.

§ 3622. Contents of. The declaration of homestead must contain:

1. A statement showing that the person making it is the head of a family; or, when the declaration is made by the wife, showing that her husband has not made such declaration for their joint benefit.
2. A statement that the person making it is residing on the premises and claims them as a homestead.
3. A description of the premises.
4. An estimate of their cash value.

§ 3623. Must be recorded. The declaration must be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the land is situated.

§ 14, c. 67, 1891.

§ 3624. Effect of sale of homestead. The sale and disposition of one homestead shall not be held to prevent the selection or purchase of another as provided in this chapter.

§ 15, c. 67, 1891.

§ 3625. "Head of family" defined. The phrase "head of a family" as used in this chapter includes within its meaning:

1. The husband or wife when the claimant is a married person; but in no case are both husband and wife entitled each to a homestead under the provisions of this chapter.
2. Every person who has residing on the premises with him or her and under his or her care and maintenance, either:
 - (a) His or her child or the child of his or her deceased wife or husband, whether by birth or adoption.
 - (b) A minor brother or sister or the minor child of a deceased brother or sister.
 - (c) A father, mother, grandfather or grandmother.
 - (d) The father or mother, grandfather or grandmother of a deceased husband or wife.

(e) An unmarried sister or any other of the relatives mentioned in this section who have attained the age of majority and are unable to take care of or support themselves.

§ 16, c. 67, 1891.
am'd

§ 3626. Descent and distribution of homestead estates. Upon the death of a person in whom the title to real property constituting a homestead as defined in this chapter is vested a homestead estate in such real property shall survive, descend and be distributed to the persons and in the order following:

1. To the surviving husband or wife for life; or,

2. There being no surviving husband or wife, to the decedent's minor child or children until the youngest attains majority; or,

3. The surviving husband or wife dying before, then thereafter to the decedent's minor child or children until the youngest attains majority.

§ 3627. "Homestead estate" and "youngest" defined. The term "homestead estate" employed in this chapter shall be construed to mean the right to the possession, use, control, income and rents of the real property held or occupied by such decedent as a homestead at death; and the term "youngest" as employed in this chapter shall be construed to mean the decedent's child, whether by birth or adoption, last to attain majority.

§ 3628. Ascertaining and setting off homestead after death of owner. If a homestead in such real property had been ascertained and set off to such decedent before death as provided in this chapter the homestead estate provided for in section 3626 shall be commensurate therewith and must not be again ascertained; but if such homestead had not been so ascertained and set off, the county court must ascertain in the manner provided in the probate code and set off and decree the homestead estate to the surviving husband or wife, or minor child or children, as the case may be; provided, however, that the real property which is subjected to the homestead estate by the county court and in which such estate is ascertained and set off by such court must not exceed in value or area the value or area prescribed in section 3605.

§ 3629. Decree of county court. Provisions of. The county court shall ascertain and set forth in its decree setting off the homestead estate to the surviving husband or wife or minor child or children, whether ascertained by it or not, the name of and the dates at which the minor child, or each minor child, if more than one, will attain majority and direct in such decree that in case the surviving husband or wife dies before the last of such dates is reached, the minor child or children then surviving shall from the time of such death succeed to such homestead estate until the youngest attains majority. If a surviving minor child dies before a full satisfaction of the homestead estate such estate shall thereafter be proceeded with as though such child had never lived.

§ 3630. Estate descends exempt. Exception. The real property subjected to such homestead estate shall, subject to the full satisfaction of such estate, descend exempt from decedent's debts except as provided in section 3607 and be distributed in the same manner as real property not subjected to a homestead estate, or as directed in the decedent's will; provided, that in no case shall the real property constituting the homestead of a decedent, or any part thereof, descend or be distributed to any person other than the surviving husband or wife and decedent's heirs in the direct descending line as prescribed in chapter 41 until all the decedent's debts are fully paid.

§ 3631. May be devised subject to homestead estate. Subject to the homestead estate as defined by law and the payment of decedent's debts, the homestead may be devised to persons other than those mentioned in section 3630 like other real property of the testator.

§ 18, c. 67, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3632. Conveyance in case of insanity. If either the husband or wife shall become insane, the county court of the county in which the homestead is situated may, upon application of the husband

§ 19, c. 67, 1891.
am'd.

or wife not insane and upon due proof of such insanity, make an order permitting the husband or wife not insane to sell and convey or mortgage such homestead.

§ 3633. Requisites of petition. Such application shall be made by a petition to the court subscribed and sworn to by the applicant, setting forth the name and age of the insane husband or wife; the number, age and sex of the children of such insane husband or wife; a description of the premises constituting the homestead; the value of the same; the county in which it is situated; and such facts in addition to that of the insanity of the husband or wife, relating to the circumstances or necessities of the applicant and his or her family, as he or she may rely upon in support of the petition.

§ 3634. Notice, on whom and how served. Notice of the application for such order shall be served upon such persons and in such manner as the court shall by order direct and in such order the court shall fix a time for the hearing of the application.

§ 3635. Order of sale recorded. A certified copy of the order granting permission to sell and convey or mortgage the homestead shall be filed for record and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the homestead is situated.

§ 21, c. 67, 1891.
am'd.

§ 3636. Court may direct disposition of funds. On granting an order authorizing a sale of the homestead the court may direct that a part of the funds derived from such sale, not to exceed one-third thereof be set aside and may direct its investment for the use and benefit of the insane husband or wife. If such husband or wife dies while insane the sum so set aside reverts to the surviving husband or wife. If he or she is dead at the time the insane husband or wife dies, then such sum shall descend in accordance with the laws of succession as provided in this code.

§ 22, c. 67, 1891.

§ 3637. Appeal. On the hearing of such application any of the kindred of the insane person may appear and be heard in the premises, and may appeal from any order made on the subject to the district court for the county in which the land is situated in the manner provided for appeals in other cases.

§ 3638. Such conveyance valid. A conveyance or mortgage of the homestead made pursuant to the last six sections shall be as valid and effectual as if the insane husband or wife had been sane and had joined in the execution and acknowledgment of such conveyance or mortgage.

CHAPTER 40.

WILL.

ARTICLE 1.—EXECUTION AND REVOCATION OF WILL.

§ 3639. Who may make. Every person over the age of eighteen years of sound mind may by last will dispose of all his estate, real and personal, and such estate not disposed of by will is succeeded to as provided in chapter 41 of this code, being chargeable in both cases with the payment of all the decedent's debts as provided in the probate code. § 683, Civil C. am'd.

§ 3640. Married woman, same right. A married woman may dispose of all her separate estate by will without the consent of her husband and may alter or revoke the will in like manner as if she was single. Her will must be executed and proved in like manner as other wills. § 684, Civil C.

§ 3641. Undue influence. A will or part of a will procured to be made by duress, menace, fraud or undue influence may be denied probate; and a revocation procured by the same means may be declared void. § 685, Civil C.

§ 3642. What may be willed. Every estate and interest in real or personal property to which heirs, husband, widow or next of kin might succeed may be disposed of by will. § 686, Civil C.

§ 3643. Made to any one capable of taking. A testamentary disposition may be made to any person capable by law of taking the property so disposed of, except that no corporation can take under a will, unless expressly authorized by statute so to take. § 687, Civil C. am'd.

§ 3644. Nuncupative will. Requisites. To make a nuncupative will valid and to entitle it to be admitted to probate the following requisites must be observed: § 688, Civil C.

1. The estate bequeathed must not exceed in value the sum of one thousand dollars.

2. It must be proved by two witnesses who were present at the making thereof, one of whom was asked by the testator at the time to bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect.

3. The decedent must at the time have been in actual military service in the field or doing duty on shipboard at sea and in either case in actual contemplation, fear or peril of death, or the decedent must have been at the time in expectation of immediate death from an injury received the same day.

§ 3645. Mutual will. A conjoint or mutual will is valid, but it may be revoked by any of the testators in like manner with any other will. § 689, Civil C.

§ 3646. Conditional will may be denied probate. A will, the validity of which is made by its own terms conditional, may be denied probate, according to the event, with reference to the condition. § 690, Civil C.

§ 3647. Olographic will. An olographic will is one that is entirely written, dated and signed by the hand of the testator himself. It is subject to no other form and may be made in or out of this state and need not be witnessed. § 691, Civil C.

§ 691, Civil C.

§ 3648. How wills must be executed and attested. Every will, other than a nuncupative will, must be in writing; and every will, other than an olographic will and a nuncupative will, must be executed and attested as follows:

1. It must be subscribed at the end thereof by the testator himself, or some person in his presence and by his direction must subscribe his name thereto.

2. The subscription must be made in the presence of the attesting witnesses, or be acknowledged by the testator to them to have been made by him or by his authority.

3. The testator must at the time of subscribing or acknowledging the same declare to the attesting witnesses that the instrument is his will; and,

4. There must be two attesting witnesses, each of whom must sign his name as a witness at the end of the will at the testator's request and in his presence.

§ 692, Civil C.

§ 3649. What unnecessary in nuncupative wills. A nuncupative will is not required to be in writing, nor to be declared or attested with any formalities.

§ 693, Civil C.

§ 3650. How witnessed. A witness to a written will must write with his name his place of residence; and a person who subscribes a testator's name by his direction must write his own name as a witness to the will. But a violation of this section does not affect the validity of the will.

§ 694, Civil C.

§ 3651. When codicil republishes will. The execution of a codicil, referring to a previous will, has the effect to republish the will as modified by the codicil.

§ 695, Civil C.

§ 3652. Law of place governs. A will of real or personal property, or both, or a revocation thereof made out of this state by a person not having his domicile in this state is as valid when executed according to the law of the place in which the same was made, or in which the testator was at the time domiciled, as if it was made in this state and according to the provisions of this chapter.

§ 696, Civil C.

§ 3653. Validity of will depends on compliance with law. No will or revocation is valid unless executed either according to the provisions of this chapter, or according to the law of the place in which it was made, or in which the testator was at the time domiciled.

§ 697, Civil C.

§ 3654. Law where made governs, though domicile subsequently changed. Whenever a will or a revocation thereof is duly executed according to the law of the place in which the same was made, or in which the testator was at the time domiciled, the same is regulated as to the validity of its execution by the law of such place, notwithstanding that the testator subsequently changed his domicile to a place by the law of which such will would be void.

§ 698, Civil C.

§ 3655. Deposit with county judge. His duties. Every county judge must deposit in his office any will delivered to him for that purpose and give a written receipt to the depositor; and must inclose such will in a sealed wrapper so that it cannot be read and indorse thereon the name of the testator, his residence and the date of the deposit; and such wrapper must not be opened until its delivery under the provisions of the next section.

§ 699, Civil C.

§ 3656. How disposed of. A will deposited under the provisions of the last section must be delivered only:

1. To the testator in person.

2. Upon his written order duly proved by the oath of a subscribing witness.

3. After his death, to the person, if any, named in the indorsement on the wrapper of the will; or,

4. If there is no such indorsement and if the will was not deposited with the county judge having jurisdiction of its probate, then to the county judge who has jurisdiction.

§ 3657. Opened after death by county judge. The county judge with whom a will is deposited, or to whom it is delivered, must after the death of the testator publicly open and examine the will and file it in his office, there to remain until duly proved, or deliver it to the county judge having jurisdiction of its probate. § 700, Civil C.

§ 3658. Proof of lost will. A lost or destroyed will of real or personal property, or both, may be established in the cases provided in the probate code or any act in force on that subject. § 701, Civil C.

§ 3659. Revocation of wills. Except in the cases in this chapter mentioned no written will, nor any part thereof, can be revoked or altered otherwise than: § 702, Civil C.

1. By a written will or other writing of the testator, declaring such revocation or alteration and executed with the same formalities with which a will should be executed by such testator; or,

2. By being burnt, torn, canceled, obliterated or destroyed, with the intent and for the purpose of revoking the same, by the testator himself or by some person in his presence and by his direction.

§ 3660. How cancellation must be proved. When a will is canceled or destroyed by any other person than the testator, the direction of the testator and the fact of such injury or destruction must be proved by two witnesses. § 703, Civil C.

§ 3661. Effect of partial erasure. A revocation by obliteration on the face of the will may be partial or total, and is complete if the material part is so obliterated as to show an intention to revoke; but when, in order to effect a new disposition the testator attempts to revoke a provision of the will by altering or obliterating it on the face thereof, such revocation is not valid unless the new disposition is legally effected. § 704, Civil C.

§ 3662. Revocation of will in duplicate. The revocation of a will, executed in duplicate, may be made by revoking one of the duplicates. § 705, Civil C.

§ 3663. When subsequent will revokes prior. A prior will is not revoked by a subsequent will, unless the latter contains an express revocation, or provisions wholly inconsistent with the terms of the former will; but in other cases the prior will remains effectual so far as consistent with the provisions of the subsequent will. § 706, Civil C.

§ 3664. Revocation does not revive former will without express words. If, after making a will, the testator duly makes and executes a subsequent will, the destruction, canceling or revocation of the latter does not revive the former unless it appears by the terms of such revocation that it was his intention to revive the former will, or unless after such destruction, canceling or revocation he duly republishes the prior will. § 707, Civil C. am'd.

§ 3665. Will made before marriage revoked, if issue unprovided for. If, after having made a will, the testator marries and has issue of such marriage, born either in his lifetime or after his death and the wife or issue survives him, the will is revoked, unless provision has been made for such issue by some settlement, § 708, Civil C.

or unless such issue are provided for in the will, or in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision: and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of such revocation can be received.

§ 708, Civil C. § 3666. Same, if wife unprovided for. If after making a will the testator marries and the wife survives the testator, the will is revoked, unless provision has been made for her by marriage contract or unless she is provided for in the will or in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision; and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of revocation must be received.

§ 709, Civil C. § 3667. Marriage of woman revokes. A will executed by an unmarried woman is revoked by a subsequent marriage and is not revived by the death of her husband.

§ 710, Civil C. § 3668. Effect of sale of devised property. An agreement made by a testator for the sale or transfer of property disposed of by a will previously made does not revoke such disposal; but the property passes by the will, subject to the same remedies on the testator's agreement for a specific performance or otherwise against the devisees or legatees as might be had against the testator's successors if the same had passed by succession.

§ 711, Civil C. § 3669. Incumbrance not a revocation. A charge or incumbrance upon any estate for the purpose of securing the payment of money or the performance of any covenant or agreement is not a revocation of any will relating to the same estate which was previously executed; but the devise and legacies therein contained must pass subject to such charge or incumbrance.

§ 712, Civil C. § 3670. Partial disposal, not revocation. A conveyance, settlement or other act of a testator by which his interest in a thing previously disposed of by his will is altered, but not wholly divested, is not a revocation, but the will passes the property which would otherwise devolve by succession.

§ 713, Civil C. § 3671. When instrument expresses intent it is a revocation. If the instrument by which an alteration is made in the testator's interest in a thing previously disposed of by his will expresses his intent that it shall be a revocation, or if it contains provisions wholly inconsistent with the terms and nature of the testamentary disposition, it operates as a revocation thereof, unless such inconsistent provisions depend on a condition or contingency by reason of which they do not take effect.

§ 714, Civil C. § 3672. Revocation revokes codicils. The revocation of a will revokes all its codicils.

§ 715, Civil C. § 3673. Child unprovided for succeeds as in intestacy. Whenever a testator has a child born after the making of his will, either in his lifetime or after his death and dies leaving such child unprovided for by any settlement and neither provided for nor in any way mentioned in his will, the child succeeds to the same portion of the testator's real and personal property that he would have succeeded to if the testator had died intestate.

§ 715, Civil C. § 3674. Children omitted succeed as in intestacy. When any testator omits to provide in his will for any of his children or for the issue of any deceased child, unless it appears that such omission was intentional, such child or the issue of such child must have the same share in the estate of the testator, as if he had died intestate, and succeeds thereto as provided in the preceding section.

§ 3675. Rules governing assignments of shares in such cases. When any share of the estate of a testator is assigned to a child born after the making of a will, or to a child, or the issue of a child, omitted in a will as hereinbefore mentioned, the same must first be taken from the estate not disposed of by the will if any; if that is not sufficient, so much as may be necessary must be taken from all the devisees or legatees in proportion to the value they may respectively receive under the will unless the obvious intention of the testator in relation to some specific devise or bequest or other provision in the will would thereby be defeated; in such case such specific devise, legacy or provision may be exempted from such apportionment and a different apportionment, consistent with the intention of the testator, may be adopted. § 715, Civil C.

§ 3677. What devise of land conveys. Every devise of land in any will conveys all the estate of the devisor therein, which he could lawfully devise, unless it clearly appears by the will that he intended to convey a less estate. § 715, Civil C.

§ 3678. Devisee's descendants take. When any estate is devised to any child or other relation of the testator and the devisee dies before the testator leaving lineal descendants, such descendants take the estate so given by the will in the same manner as the devisee would have done had he survived the testator. § 716, Civil C.

§ 3679. When gift to witness void. All beneficial devises, legacies or gifts whatever made or given in any will to a subscribing witness thereto are void, unless there are two other competent subscribing witnesses to the same; but a mere charge on the estate of the testator for the payment of debts does not prevent his creditors from being competent witnesses to the will. § 717, Civil C.

§ 3680. Witness takes if entitled to share in estate. If a witness to whom any beneficial devise, legacy or gift, void by the preceding section, is made, would have been entitled to any share of the estate of the testator, in case the will should not be established, he succeeds to so much of the share as would be distributed to him, not exceeding the devise or bequest made to him in the will, and he may recover the same of the other devisees or legatees named in the will in proportion to and out of the parts devised or bequeathed to them. § 718, Civil C.

§ 3682. Feloniously causing death of another, bar to taking under his will. No person who has been finally convicted of feloniously causing the death of another shall take or receive any property or benefit by succession, will or otherwise, directly or indirectly, by reason of the death of such person, but all property of the deceased and all rights conditioned upon his death shall vest and be determined the same as if the person convicted was dead.

§ 719, Civil C.

§ 3683. After acquired property passes by will. Any estate, right or interest in lands acquired by the testator after the making of his will, passes thereby and in like manner as if title thereto was vested in him at the time of making the will, unless the contrary manifestly appears by the will to have been the intention of the testator. Every will made in express terms, devising or in any other terms denoting the intent of the testator to devise, all the real estate of such testator passes all the real estate which such testator was entitled to devise at the time of his decease.

ARTICLE 2. — INTERPRETATION OF WILLS AND EFFECT OF VARIOUS PROVISIONS.

§ 720, Civil C.

§ 3684. Intention of testator governs. A will is to be construed according to the intention of the testator. When his intention cannot have effect to its full extent it must have effect as far as possible.

§ 721, Civil C.

§ 3685. Will excludes oral declarations. In case of uncertainty arising upon the face of a will, as to the application of any of its provisions the testator's intention is to be ascertained from the words of the will taking into view the circumstances under which it was made, exclusive of his oral declarations.

§ 722, Civil C.

§ 3686. Rules of interpretation. In interpreting a will, subject to the laws of this state the rules prescribed by the following sections of this chapter are to be observed, unless an intention to the contrary clearly appears.

§ 723, Civil C.

§ 3687. Construed together, if several. Several testamentary instruments executed by the same testator are to be taken and construed together as one instrument.

§ 724, Civil C.

§ 3688. Parts construed together. If irreconcilable, latter prevails. All parts of a will are to be construed in relation to each other, and so as if possible to form one consistent whole, but when several parts are absolutely irreconcilable the latter must prevail.

§ 725, Civil C.

§ 3689. Distinct devise not affected by words less clear. A clear and distinct devise or bequest cannot be affected by any reasons assigned therefor, or by any other words not equally clear and distinct, or by inference or argument from other parts of the will, or by an inaccurate recital of or reference to its contents in another part of the will.

§ 726, Civil C.

§ 3690. Ambiguities explained by reference to other parts. When the meaning of any part of a will is ambiguous or doubtful it may be explained by any reference thereto or recital thereof in another part of the will.

§ 727, Civil C.

§ 3691. Words taken in ordinary sense. The words of a will are to be taken in their ordinary and grammatical sense, unless a clear intention to use them in another sense can be collected and that other can be ascertained.

§ 728, Civil C.

§ 3692. Give every expression effect. The words of a will are to receive an interpretation which will give to every expression some effect, rather than one which will render some of the expressions inoperative.

§ 729, Civil C.

§ 3693. So as to prevent intestacy. Of two modes of interpreting a will, that is to be preferred which will prevent a total intestacy.

§ 3694. Technical words. Technical words in a will are to be taken in their technical sense unless the context clearly indicates a contrary intention. § 730, Civil C.

§ 3695. Same. Unnecessary. Technical words are not necessary to give effect to any species of disposition by will. § 731, Civil C.

§ 3696. Term "heirs" not requisite to devise fee. The term "heirs" or other words of inheritance are not requisite to devise a fee and a devise of real property passes all the estate of the testator unless otherwise limited. § 732, Civil C.

§ 3697. Property embraced in power passes by will. Real or personal property embraced in a power to devise passes by a will purporting to devise all the real or personal property of a testator. § 733, Civil C.

§ 3698. When all property passes. A devise or bequest of all the testator's real or personal property in express terms or in any other terms denoting his intent to dispose of all his real or personal property, passes all the real or personal property which he was entitled to dispose of by will at the time of his death. § 734, Civil C.

§ 3699. Devise of residue passes what. A devise of the residue of the testator's real property passes all the real property which he was entitled to devise at the time of his death, not otherwise effectually devised by his will. § 735, Civil C.

§ 3700. Bequest of residue passes what. A bequest of the residue of the testator's personal property passes all the personal property which he was entitled to bequeath at the time of his death, not otherwise effectually bequeathed by his will. § 736, Civil C.

§ 3701. When passes to those entitled to succeed. A testamentary disposition to "heirs," "relations," "nearest relations," "representatives," "legal representative," or "personal representative," or "family," "issue," "descendants," "nearest," or "next of kin" of any person without other words of qualification and when the terms are used as words of donation and not of limitation vests the property in those who would be entitled to succeed to the property of such person according to the provisions of the chapter on succession in this code. § 737, Civil C.

§ 3702. When words of donation and not limitation. The terms mentioned in the last section are used as words of donation and not limitation when the property is given to the person so designated directly and not as a qualification of an estate given to the ancestor of such person. § 738, Civil C.

§ 3703. Postponed possession. Words in a will referring to death or survivorship simply, relate to the time of the testator's death, unless possession is actually postponed when they must be referred to the time of possession. § 739, Civil C.

§ 3704. Class includes all. A testamentary disposition to a class includes every person answering the description at the testator's death; but when the possession is postponed to a future period it includes also all persons coming within the description before the time to which possession is postponed. § 740, Civil C.

§ 3705. When realty deemed personalty. When a will directs the conversion of real property into money such property and all its proceeds must be deemed personal property from the time of the testator's death. § 741, Civil C.

- § 742, Civil C. § 3706. Unborn child included in class. A child conceived before, but not born until after a testator's death, or any other period when a disposition to a class vests in right or in possession, takes, if answering to the description of the class.
- § 743, Civil C. § 3707. How imperfect description corrected. When applying a will, it is found that there is an imperfect description, or that no person or property exactly answers the description, mistakes and omissions must be corrected, if the error appears from the context of the will or from extrinsic evidence; but evidence of the declarations of the testator as to his intention cannot be received.
- § 744, Civil C. § 3708. Testamentary dispositions vest at death. Testamentary dispositions, including devises and bequests to a person on attaining majority, are presumed to vest at the testator's death.
- § 745, Civil C. § 3709. Divested only by precise contingency. A testamentary disposition when vested, cannot be divested unless upon the occurrence of the precise contingency prescribed by the testator for that purpose.
- § 746, Civil C. § 3710. When disposition fails on death of devisee. If a devisee or legatee dies during the lifetime of the testator the testamentary disposition to him fails, unless an intention appears to substitute some other in his place except as provided in section 3678.
- § 747, Civil C. § 3711. Interests in remainder unaffected. The death of a devisee or legatee of a limited interest before the testator's death does not defeat the interests of persons in remainder who survive the testator.
- § 748, Civil C. § 3712. Conditional disposition defined. A conditional disposition is one which depends upon the occurrence of some uncertain event by which it is either to take effect or be defeated.
- § 749, Civil C. § 3713. Condition precedent. A condition precedent in a will is one which is required to be fulfilled before a particular disposition takes effect.
- § 750, Civil C. § 3714. When disposition on condition vests. When a testamentary disposition is made upon a condition precedent nothing vests until the condition is fulfilled, except when such fulfillment is impossible, in which case the disposition vests, unless the condition was the sole motive thereof and the impossibility was unknown to the testator or arose from an unavoidable event subsequent to the execution of the will.
- § 751, Civil C. § 3715. When condition deemed performed. A condition precedent in a will is to be deemed performed when the testator's intention has been substantially, though not literally complied with.
- § 752, Civil C. § 3716. Condition subsequent. A condition subsequent is where an estate or interest is so given as to vest immediately, subject only to be divested by some subsequent act or event.
- § 753, Civil C. § 3717. Owners in common. A devise or legacy given to more than one person vests in them as owners in common.
- § 754, Civil C. § 3718. Advancement not ademption of legacy. Advancements or gifts are not to be taken as ademptions of general legacies, unless such intention is expressed by the testator in writing.

ARTICLE 3. — GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- § 755, Civil C. § 3719. Legacies classified. Legacies are distinguished and designated according to their nature as follows:

1. A legacy of a particular thing specified and distinguished from all others of the same kind belonging to the testator is specific; if such legacy fails resort cannot be had to the other property of the testator.

2. A legacy is demonstrative when the particular fund or personal property is pointed out from which it is to be taken or paid; if such fund or property fails in whole or in part resort may be had to the general assets as in case of a general legacy.

3. An annuity is a bequest of certain specified sums periodically; if the fund or property out of which it is payable fails, resort may be had to the general assets as in case of a general legacy.

4. A residuary legacy embraces only that which remains after all the bequests of the will are discharged.

5. All other legacies are general legacies.

§ 3720. Property chargeable with payment of debts. § 756, Civil C. am'd.
When a person dies intestate all his property, real and personal, without any distinction between them, is chargeable with the payment of his debts, except as otherwise provided in this code and the probate code.

§ 3721. Order of resort for payment of debts. § 757, Civil C. am'd.
The property of a testator, except as otherwise specially provided in this code and the probate code must be resorted to for the payment of debts in the following order:

1. The property which is expressly appropriated by the will for the payment of the debts.

2. Property not disposed of by the will.

3. Property which is devised or bequeathed to a residuary legatee.

4. Property which is not specifically devised or bequeathed; and,

5. All other property ratably.

Before any debts are paid the expenses of the administration and the allowance to the family must be paid or provided for.

§ 3722. Same for payment of legacies. § 758, Civil C. am'd.
The property of a testator, except as otherwise specially provided in this code and the probate code, must be resorted to for the payment of legacies in the following order:

1. The property which is expressly appropriated by the will for the payment of the legacies.

2. Property not disposed of by the will.

3. Property which is devised or bequeathed to a residuary legatee.

4. Property which is specifically devised or bequeathed.

§ 3723. Preferred legacies. § 759, Civil C.
Legacies to husband, widow or kindred of any class are chargeable only after legacies to persons not related to the testator.

§ 3724. Rules governing abatement. § 760, Civil C.
Abatement takes place in any class only as between legacies of that class, unless a different intention is expressed in the will.

§ 3725. Sale of property. § 761, Civil C.
In a specific devise or legacy the title passes by the will, but possession can only be obtained from the personal representative; and he may be authorized by the county court to sell the property devised or bequeathed in the cases herein provided.

§ 3726. When rights of purchaser not impaired by devise. § 762, Civil C.
The rights of a purchaser or incumbrancer of real property in good faith and for value derived from any person claiming the same by succession are not impaired by any devise made by the decedent from whom succession is claimed, unless the instrument containing such devise is duly proved as a will, and recorded in the office of the county court having jurisdiction thereof, or unless written notice of such devise is filed with the county judge of the county where the real property is situated within four years after the devisor's death.

- § 763, Civil C. § 3727. Duty of legatees for life. When specific legacies are for life only the first legatee must sign and deliver to the second legatee, or, if there is none, to the personal representative, an inventory of the property expressing that the same is in his custody for life only, and that on his decease, it is to be delivered and to remain to the use and for the benefit of the second legatee or to the personal representative, as the case may be.
- § 764, Civil C. § 3728. Income after death. In case of a bequest of the interest or income of a certain sum or fund the income accrues from the testator's death.
- § 765, Civil C. § 3729. Legacy in fear of death satisfied before death. A legacy or a gift in contemplation, fear or peril of death may be satisfied before death.
- § 766, Civil C. § 3730. When legacies and annuities due. Legacies are due and deliverable at the expiration of one year after the testator's decease. Annuities commence at the testator's decease.
- 767, Civil C. § 3731. Interest after due. Legacies bear interest from the time when they are due and payable, except that legacies for maintenance or to the testator's widow bear interest from the testator's decease.
- 768, Civil C. § 3732. Intention controls. The four preceding sections are in all cases to be controlled by a testator's express intention.
- § 769, Civil C. § 3733. Who entitled to letters testamentary. When it appears by the terms of a will that it was the intention of the testator to commit the execution thereof and the administration of his estate to any person as executor, such person, although not named executor is entitled to letters testamentary in like manner as if he had been named executor.
- § 770, Civil C. § 3734. Authority to executor to appoint, void. An authority to an executor to appoint an executor is void.
- § 771, Civil C. § 3735. Executor has no power before qualifying. Exception. No person has any power as an executor until he qualifies, except that before letters have been issued he may pay funeral charges and take necessary measures for the preservation of the estate.
- § 772, Civil C. § 3736. Executor of executor. No executor of an executor, as such, has any power over the estate of the first testator.
- § 773, Civil C. § 3737. Will includes codicil. The term "will," as used in this code includes all codicils as well as wills.
- § 774, Civil C. § 3738. What law governs. Except as otherwise provided the validity and interpretation of wills is governed, when relating to real property within this state by the law of this state; when relating to personal property, by the law of the testator's domicile.
- § 775, Civil C.
am'd. § 3739. Liability of devisees and legatees. Those to whom property is given by will are liable for the obligations of the testator in the cases and to the extent prescribed by the probate code.

CHAPTER 41.

SUCCESSION.

§ 3740. Succession defined. Succession is the coming in of another to take the property of one who dies without disposing of it by will. § 776, Civil C.

§ 3741. Property passes to heirs. The property, both real and personal, of one who dies without disposing of it by will, passes to the heirs of the intestate, subject to the control of the county court and to the possession of any administrator appointed by that court for the purpose of administration. § 777, Civil C.

§ 3742. Order of succession. When any person having title to any estate, not otherwise limited by marriage contract, dies without disposing of the estate by will, it is succeeded to and must be distributed, unless otherwise expressly provided in this code and the probate code, subject to the payment of his debts in the following manner: § 778, Civil C.

1. If the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife, and only one child, or the lawful issue of one child, in equal shares to the surviving husband or wife and child or issue of such child. If the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife and more than one child living, or one child living and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, one-third to the surviving husband or wife and the remainder in equal shares to his children and to the lawful issue of any deceased child by right of representation: but if there is no child of the decedent living at his death, the remainder goes to all of his lineal descendants and if all the descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent they share equally; otherwise they take according to the right of representation. If the decedent leaves no surviving husband or wife, but leaves issue, the whole estate goes to such issue, and if such issue consists of more than one child living or one child living and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, then the estate goes in equal shares to the children living or to the children living and the issue of the deceased child or children by right of representation.

2. If the decedent leaves no issue and the estate does not exceed in value the sum of five thousand dollars all the estate goes to the surviving husband or wife and all the property in excess of five thousand dollars in value, one-half thereof goes to the surviving husband or wife and the other half goes to the decedent's father and if he is dead to the decedent's mother. If the decedent leaves no issue, nor husband, nor wife the estate must go to the father, and if he is dead to the mother. If the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife and no issue and no father, nor mother, nor brother nor sister, the whole estate goes to the surviving husband or wife.

3. If there is no issue, nor husband, nor wife, nor father, nor mother, then in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the decedent and to the children of any deceased brother or sister by right of representation.

4. If the decedent leaves no issue, nor husband, nor wife, nor father and no brother or sister is living at the time of his death the estate goes to his mother to the exclusion of the issue, if any, of deceased brothers or sisters.

5. If the decedent leaves no issue, nor husband nor wife and no father, nor mother, nor brother, nor sister, the estate must go to the next of kin in equal degree, excepting that when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestors must be preferred to those claiming through an ancestor more remote. However, if the decedent leaves several children, or one child and the issue of one or more children and any such surviving child dies under age and not having been married, all the estate that came to the deceased child by inheritance from such decedent descends in equal shares to the other children of the same parent and to the issue of any such other children of the same parent and to the issue of any such other children, who are dead, by right of representation.

6. If at the death of such child, who dies under age, not having been married, all the other children of the parents are also dead and any of them have left issue, the estate that came to such child by inheritance from his parent descends to the issue of all other children of the same parent; and if all issue are in the same degree of kindred to the child, they share the estate equally, otherwise they take according to the right of representation.

7. If the decedent leaves no husband, wife or kindred the estate escheats to the state for the support of common schools.

§ 779, Civil C.
§ 1, c. 52, 1893.

§ 3743. Dower and courtesy abolished. Dower and courtesy are abolished.

§ 780, Civil C.

§ 3744. Inheritance by illegitimate child. Every illegitimate child is an heir of the person who in writing signed in the presence of a competent witness acknowledges himself to be the father of such child; and in all cases is an heir of his mother and inherits his or her estate in whole or in part, as the case may be, in the same manner as if he had been born in lawful wedlock; but he does not represent his father or mother by inheriting any part of the estate of his or her kindred either lineal or collateral, unless before his death his parents shall have intermarried and his father after such marriage acknowledges him as his child or adopts him into his family, in which case such child and all the legitimate children are considered brothers and sisters and on the death of either of them intestate and without issue the others inherit his estate and are heirs, as hereinbefore provided in like manner as if all the children had been legitimate, saving to the father and mother respectively their rights in the estates of all the children in like manner as if all had been legitimate. The issue of all marriages null in law or dissolved by divorce are legitimate.

§ 781, Civil C.

§ 3745. Inheritance from illegitimate child. If an illegitimate child who has not been acknowledged or adopted by his father dies intestate without lawful issue, his estate goes to his mother, or in case of her decease, to her heirs at law.

§ 782, Civil C.

§ 3746. How degree of kindred established. The degree of kindred is established by the number of generations and each generation is called a degree.

§ 783, Civil C.

§ 3747. Lineal and collateral. The series of degrees form the line; the series of degrees between persons who descend from one another is called direct or lineal consanguinity; and the series of degrees between persons who do not descend from one another, but spring from a common ancestor, is called the collateral line or collateral consanguinity.

§ 3748. Ascending and descending. The direct line is divided into a direct line descending and a direct line ascending. The first is that which connects the ancestor with those who descend from him. The second is that which connects a person with those from whom he descends. § 784, Civil C.

§ 3749. Degrees in direct line. In the direct line there are as many degrees as there are generations. Thus the son is with regard to the father in the first degree, the grandson in the second; and vice versa with regard to the father and grandfather toward the sons and grandsons. § 785, Civil C.

§ 3750. Computation of degrees in collateral line. In the collateral line the degrees are counted by generations from one of the relations up to the common ancestor and from the common ancestor to the other relations. In such computation the decedent is excluded, the relative included and the ancestor counted but once. Thus brothers are related in the second degree, uncle and nephew in the third degree, cousins-german in the fourth degree and so on. § 786, Civil C.

§ 3751. Kindred of half blood inherit. Kindred of the half blood inherit equally with those of the whole blood in the same degree, unless the inheritance comes to the intestate by descent, devise or gift of some one of his ancestors, in which case all those who are not of the blood of such ancestors must be excluded from such inheritance. § 787, Civil C.

§ 3753. Excess not refunded. If the amount of such advancement exceeds the share of the heir receiving the same he must be excluded from any further portion in the division and distribution of the estate, but he must not be required to refund any part of such advancement; and if the amount so received is less than his share he is entitled to so much more as will give him his full share of the estate of the decedent. § 789, Civil C.

§ 3754. Advancements defined. All gifts and grants are made as advancements, if expressed in the gift or grant to be so made, or if charged in writing by the decedent as an advancement or acknowledged in writing as such by the child or other successor or heir. § 790, Civil C.

§ 3755. Expressed value governs. If the value of the estate so advanced is expressed in the conveyance or in the charge thereof made by the decedent or in the acknowledgment of the party receiving it, it must be held as of that value in the division and distribution of the estate; otherwise it must be estimated according to its value when given as nearly as the same can be ascertained. § 791, Civil C.

§ 3756. Deducted from issue of person to whom made. If any child or other lineal descendant receiving advancement dies before the decedent, leaving issue, the advancement must be taken into consideration in the division and distribution of the estate and the amount thereof must be allowed accordingly by the representatives of the heirs receiving the advancement in like manner as if the advancement had been made directly to them. § 792, Civil C.

- § 793, Civil C. § 3757. Inheritance by representation. Inheritance or succession by right of representation takes place when the descendants of any deceased heir take the same share or right in the estate of another person that their parents would have taken if living. Posthumous children are considered as living at the death of their parents.
- § 794, Civil C. § 3758. Aliens may take. Aliens may take in all cases by succession as well as citizens; and no person, capable of succeeding under the provisions of this chapter, is precluded from such succession by reason of the alienage of any relative.
- § 795, Civil C. § 3759. If there are no heirs, escheats to state. If there is no one capable of succeeding under the preceding sections and the title fails from a defect of heirs the property of a decedent devolves and escheats to the state and an action for the recovery of such property and to reduce it into the possession of the state or for its sale and conveyance may be brought by the state's attorney in the district court of the county or judicial subdivision in which the property is situated.
- § 796, Civil C. § 3760. Subject to charges and trusts. Real property passing to the state under the preceding section, whether held by the state or its grantees, is subject to the same charges and trusts to which it would have been subject if it had passed by succession.
- § 797, Civil C. § 3761. Liability of those who succeed. Those who succeed to the property of a decedent are liable for his obligations in the cases and to the extent prescribed by the probate code.

CHAPTER 42.

OBLIGATIONS.

ARTICLE 1. — DEFINITION OF OBLIGATIONS.

- § 798, Civil C. § 3762. Obligation defined. An obligation is a legal duty by which a person is bound to do or not to do a certain thing.
- § 799, Civil C. § 3763. Origin and enforcement. An obligation arises either from:
1. The contract of the parties; or,
 2. The operation of law.
- An obligation arising from operation of law may be enforced in the manner provided by law or by civil action or proceeding.

ARTICLE 2. — INTERPRETATION OF OBLIGATIONS.

GENERAL RULES OF INTERPRETATION.

- § 800, Civil C. § 3764. Rules of interpretation. The rules which govern the interpretation of contracts are prescribed by article 7 of chapter 43. Other obligations are interpreted by the same rules by which statutes of a similar nature are interpreted.

JOINT OR SEVERAL OBLIGATIONS.

§ 3765. Obligations classified. An obligation imposed upon § 801, Civil C. several persons, or a right created in favor of several persons, may be:

1. Joint.
2. Several; or,
3. Joint and several.

§ 3766. When presumed joint. An obligation imposed upon § 802, Civil C.
several persons or a right created in favor of several persons is presumed to be joint and not several, except in the special cases mentioned in the article on the interpretation of contracts. This presumption in the case of a right can be overcome only by express words to the contrary.

§ 3767. Contribution. A party to a joint, or joint and several § 803, Civil C. obligation who satisfies more than his share of the claim against all may require a proportionate contribution from all the parties joined with him.

CONDITIONAL OBLIGATIONS.

§ 3768. Defined. An obligation is conditional when the rights § 804, Civil C. or duties of any party thereto depend upon the occurrence of an uncertain event.

§ 3769. Conditions classified. Conditions may be precedent, § 805, Civil C. concurrent or subsequent.

§ 3770. Condition precedent. A condition precedent is one § 806, Civil C. which is to be performed before some right dependent thereon accrues or some act dependent thereon is performed.

§ 3771. Concurrent. Conditions concurrent are those which § 807, Civil C. are mutually dependent and are to be performed at the same time.

§ 3772. Subsequent. A condition subsequent is one referring § 808, Civil C. to a future event, upon the happening of which the obligation becomes no longer binding upon the other party, if he chooses to avail himself of the condition.

§ 3773. Prerequisites to enforcement of obligation. Be- § 809, Civil C.
fore any party to an obligation can require another party to perform any act under it he must fulfill all conditions precedent thereto imposed upon himself; and must be able and offer to fulfill all conditions concurrent, so imposed upon him, on the like fulfillment by the other party, except as provided by the next section.

§ 3774. Enforcement without performance, when per- § 810, Civil C.
formance waived. If a party to an obligation gives notice to another before the latter is in default that he will not perform the same upon his part and does not retract such notice before the time at which performance upon his part is due, such other party is entitled to enforce the obligation, without previously performing or offering to perform any conditions upon his part in favor of the former party.

§ 3775. Impossible or unlawful conditions are void. A § 811, Civil C.
condition in a contract, the fulfillment of which is impossible or unlawful within the meaning of the article on the object of contracts or which is repugnant to the nature of the interest created by the contract is void.

§ 3776. Forfeiture strictly interpreted against party § 812, Civil C. benefited. A condition involving a forfeiture must be strictly interpreted against the party for whose benefit it is created.

ALTERNATIVE OBLIGATIONS.

- § 813, Civil C. § 3777. Option to perform alternative acts. If an obligation requires the performance of one of two acts in the alternative the party required to perform has the right of selection, unless it is otherwise provided by the terms of the obligation.
- § 814, Civil C. § 3778. Option passes when not exercised within time. If the party having the right of selection between alternative acts does not give notice of his selection to the other party within the time, if any, fixed by the obligation for that purpose or, if none is so fixed, before the time at which the obligation ought to be performed, the right of selection passes to the other party.
- § 815, Civil C. § 3779. Must select one in its entirety. The party having the right of selection between alternative acts must select one of them in its entirety and cannot select part of one and part of another without the consent of the other party.
- § 816, Civil C. § 3780. Valid one prevails. If one of the alternative acts required by an obligation is such as the law will not enforce, or becomes unlawful or impossible of performance the obligation is to be interpreted as though the other stood alone.

ARTICLE 3.—TRANSFER OF OBLIGATIONS.

- § 817, Civil C. § 3781. Burden transferred with beneficiary's consent. The burden of an obligation may be transferred with the consent of the party entitled to its benefit, but not otherwise, except as provided by section 3790.
- § 818, Civil C. § 3782. Right arising out of may be transferred. A right arising out of an obligation is the property of the person to whom it is due and may be transferred as such.
- § 819, Civil C. § 3783. Non-negotiable contract transferred by indorsement. A non-negotiable written contract for the payment of money or personal property may be transferred by indorsement in like manner with negotiable instruments. Such indorsement shall transfer all the rights of the assignor under the instrument to the assignee, subject to all equities and defenses existing in favor of the maker at the time of the indorsement.
- § 819, Civil C. § 3784. Certain covenants run with land. Certain covenants contained in grants of estates in real property are appurtenant to such estates and pass with them so as to bind the assigns of the covenantor and to vest in the assigns of the covenantee in the same manner as if they had personally entered into them. Such covenants are said to run with the land.
- § 820, Civil C. § 3785. What so run. The only covenants which run with the land are those specified in this article and those which are incidental thereto.
- § 821, Civil C. § 3786. Made for benefit of property, runs. Every covenant contained in a grant of an estate in real property which is made for the direct benefit of the property or some part of it then in existence runs with the land.
- § 822, Civil C. § 3787. What last section includes. The last section includes covenants of warranty, for quiet enjoyment or for further assurance on the part of a grantor and covenants for the payment of rent, or of taxes or assessments upon the land on the part of a grantee.

§ 3788. Covenants limited to certain assigns. A covenant for the addition of some new thing to real property, or for the direct benefit of some part of the property not then in existence or annexed thereto, when contained in a grant of an estate in such property and made by the covenantor expressly for his assigns or to the assigns of the covenantee runs with the land so far only as the assigns thus mentioned are concerned. § 823, Civil C.

§ 3789. Binds only owner of whole estate. A covenant running with the land binds those only who acquire the whole estate of the covenantor in some part of the property. § 824, Civil C.

§ 3790. Liable while holding only. No one merely by reason of having acquired an estate subject to a covenant running with the land is liable for breach of the covenant before he acquired the estate, or after he has parted with it or ceased to enjoy its benefits. § 825, Civil C.

§ 3791. Burden or benefit apportioned. When several persons, holding by several titles, are subject to the burden or entitled to the benefit of a covenant running with the land, it must be apportioned among them according to the value of the property subject to it held by them respectively, if such value can be ascertained and if not, then according to their respective interests in point of quantity. § 826, Civil C.

ARTICLE 4.—EXTINCTION OF OBLIGATIONS.

PERFORMANCE.

§ 3792. Full performance extinguishes. Full performance of an obligation by the party whose duty it is to perform it or by any other person on his behalf and with his assent, if accepted by the creditor, extinguishes it. § 827, Civil C.

§ 3793. Performance by one extinguishes liability of all. Performance of an obligation by one of several persons who are jointly liable under it extinguishes the liability of all. § 828, Civil C.

§ 3794. Performance to one extinguishes. Exception. An obligation in favor of several persons is extinguished by performance rendered to any of them, except in the case of a deposit made by owners in common or in joint ownership which is regulated by the chapter on deposit. § 829, Civil C.

§ 3795. Performance as directed extinguishes. If a creditor or any one of two or more joint creditors at any time directs the debtor to perform his obligation in a particular manner, the obligation is extinguished by performance in that manner, even though the creditor does not receive the benefit of such performance. § 830, Civil C.

§ 3797. Payment defined. Performance of an obligation for the delivery of money only is called payment. § 832, Civil C.

§ 833, Civil C.

§ 3798. Performance, how applied when there are several obligations. When a debtor under several obligations to another does an act by way of performance in whole or in part, which is equally applicable to two or more of such obligations, such performance must be applied as follows:

1. If at the time of the performance the intention or desire of the debtor that such performance should be applied to the extinction of any particular obligation is manifested to the creditor, it must be so applied.

2. If no such application is then made the creditor within a reasonable time after such performance may apply it toward the extinction of any obligation, performance of which was due to him from the debtor at the time of such performance; except that if similar obligations were due to him, both individually and as a trustee, he must unless otherwise directed by the debtor apply the performance to the extinction of all such obligations in equal proportion; and an application once made by the creditor cannot be rescinded without the consent of the debtor.

3. If neither party makes such application within the time prescribed herein the performance must be applied to the extinction of obligations in the following order and if there is more than one obligation of a particular class, to the extinction of all in that class ratably:

- (a) Of interest due at the time of the performance.
- (b) Of principal due at that time.
- (c) Of the obligation earliest in date of maturity.
- (d) Of an obligation not secured by a lien or collateral undertaking.
- (e) Of an obligation secured by a lien or collateral undertaking.

OFFER OF PERFORMANCE.

§ 834, Civil C.

§ 3799. Obligation extinguished by. An obligation is extinguished by an offer of performance made in conformity to the rules herein prescribed and with intent to extinguish the obligation.

§ 835, Civil C.

§ 3800. Not by offer of partial performance. An offer of partial performance is of no effect.

§ 836, Civil C.

§ 3801. Must be by or with assent of debtor. An offer of performance must be made by the debtor or by some person on his behalf and with his assent.

§ 837, Civil C.

§ 3802. To creditor or one authorized by him. An offer of performance must be made to the creditor, or to any one of two or more joint creditors or to a person authorized by one or more of them to receive or collect what is due under the obligation, if such creditor or authorized person is present at the place where the offer may be made; and if not, wherever the creditor may be found.

§ 838, Civil C.

§ 3803. Where may be made. In the absence of an express provision to the contrary an offer of performance may be made at the option of the debtor:

- 1. At any place appointed by the creditor; or,
- 2. Wherever the person to whom the offer ought to be made can be found; or,
- 3. If such person cannot with reasonable diligence be found within this state and within a reasonable distance from his residence or place of business, or if he evades the debtor, then at his residence or place of business, if the same can with reasonable diligence be found within the state; or,

4. If this cannot be done, then at any place within this state.

§ 3804. Must be made at the time fixed. When an obligation fixes a time for its performance an offer of performance must be made at that time within reasonable hours and not before nor afterwards. § 339, Civil C.

§ 3805. When time not fixed. When an obligation does not fix a time for its performance, an offer of performance may be made at any time before the debtor upon a reasonable demand has refused to perform. § 340, Civil C.

§ 3806. When may be made after due. When delay in performance is capable of exact and entire compensation and time has not been expressly declared to be of the essence of the obligation, an offer of performance, accompanied with an offer of such compensation, may be made at any time after it is due, but without prejudice to any rights acquired by the creditor or by any other person in the meantime. § 341, Civil C.

§ 3807. Must be in good faith. An offer of performance must be made in good faith and in such manner as is most likely under the circumstances to benefit the creditor. § 342, Civil C.

§ 3808. Free from condition. An offer of performance must be free from any conditions which the creditor is not bound on his part to perform. § 343, Civil C.

§ 3809. Must be able and willing. An offer of performance is of no effect if the person making it is not able and willing to perform according to the offer. § 344, Civil C.

§ 3810. Production unnecessary, if offer refused. The thing to be delivered, if any, need not in any case be actually produced upon an offer of performance unless the offer is accepted. § 345, Civil C.

§ 3811. Unmixed with other things. A thing, when offered by way of performance, must not be mixed with other things from which it cannot be separated immediately and without difficulty. § 346, Civil C.

§ 3812. Contingent offer. When a debtor is entitled to the performance of a condition precedent to or concurrent with performance on his part, he may make his offer to depend upon the due performance of such condition. § 347, Civil C.

§ 3813. Receipt obligatory. A debtor has a right to require from his creditor a written receipt for any property delivered in performance of his obligation. § 348, Civil C.

§ 3814. Obligation for payment extinguished by deposit. An obligation for the payment of money is extinguished by a due offer of payment, if the amount is immediately deposited in the name of the creditor with some bank of deposit within this state of good repute and notice thereof is given to the creditor. § 349, Civil C.

§ 3815. Objections waived. All objections to the mode of an offer of performance, which the creditor has an opportunity to state at the time to the person making the offer and which could be then obviated by him, are waived by the creditor, if not then stated. § 350, Civil C.

§ 3816. When title to thing offered passes. The title to a thing duly offered in performance of an obligation passes to the creditor if the debtor at the time signifies his intention to that effect. § 351, Civil C.

§ 3817. Deposit of thing offered. The person offering a thing, other than money, by way of performance must, if he means to treat it as belonging to the creditor, retain it as a depositary for hire until the creditor accepts it, or until he has given reasonable notice to the creditor that he will retain it no longer and if with reasonable diligence he can find a suitable depositary therefor, until he has deposited it with such person.

§ 853, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 3818. Obligation extinguished by offer and deposit. An obligation for the delivery of money, property or a conveyance of property is not discharged by an offer of performance nor any of its incidents affected, unless the thing offered, if money, is deposited as provided in section 3814, or, if other than money, is deposited for the creditor with some depositary of good repute at the place of performance and notice of such deposit in either case given to the creditor. After such deposit and notice the thing deposited shall be at the risk and expense of the creditor.

§ 854, Civil C.

§ 3819. Creditor gratuitous depositary. If anything is given to a creditor by way of performance which he refuses to accept as such, he is not bound to return it without demand; but if he retains it he is a gratuitous depositary thereof.

PREVENTION OF PERFORMANCE OR OFFER.

§ 855, Civil C.

§ 3820. When want of performance or offer excused. The want of performance of an obligation or of an offer of performance in whole or in part or any delay therein is excused by the following causes to the extent to which they operate:

1. When such performance or offer is prevented or delayed by the act of the creditor or by the operation of law, even though there may have been a stipulation that this shall not be an excuse.

2. When it is prevented or delayed by an irresistible superhuman cause or by the act of public enemies of this state or of the United States, unless the parties have expressly agreed to the contrary; or,

3. When the debtor is induced not to make it by any act of the creditor intended or naturally tending to have that effect done at or before the time at which such performance or offer may be made and not rescinded before that time.

§ 856, Civil C.

§ 3821. Debtor entitled to benefits. If the performance of an obligation is prevented by the creditor, the debtor is entitled to all the benefits which he would have obtained if it had been performed by both parties.

§ 857, Civil C.

§ 3822. Ratable proportion of consideration. If performance of an obligation is prevented by any cause excusing performance, other than the act of the creditor, the debtor is entitled to a ratable proportion of the consideration to which he would have been entitled upon full performance according to the benefit which the creditor receives from the actual performance.

§ 858, Civil C.

§ 3823. What equivalent to offer and refusal. A refusal by a creditor to accept performance made before an offer thereof is equivalent to an offer and refusal, unless before performance is actually due he gives notice to the debtor of his willingness to accept it.

ACCORD AND SATISFACTION.

§ 859, Civil C.

§ 3824. Accord defined. An accord is an agreement to accept in extinction of an obligation something different from or less than that to which the person agreeing to accept is entitled.

§ 3825. Full execution only extinguishes. Though the parties to an accord are bound to execute it, yet it does not extinguish the obligation until it is fully executed. § 860, Civil C.

§ 3826. Acceptance is satisfaction. Acceptance by the creditor of the consideration of an accord extinguishes the obligation and is called satisfaction. § 861, Civil C.

§ 3827. Part performance accepted extinguishes. Part performance of an obligation, either before or after a breach thereof, when expressly accepted by the creditor in writing in satisfaction, or rendered in pursuance of an agreement in writing for that purpose, though without any new consideration, extinguishes the obligation. § 862, Civil C.

NOVATION.

§ 3828. Defined. Novation is the substitution of a new obligation for an existing one. § 863, Civil C.

§ 3829. How made. Novation is made: § 864, Civil C.

1. By the substitution of a new obligation between the same parties with intent to extinguish the old obligation.

2. By the substitution of a new debtor in the place of the old one with intent to release the latter; or,

3. By the substitution of a new creditor in place of the old one with intent to transfer the rights of the latter to the former.

§ 3830. Made by contract. Novation is made by contract and is subject to all the rules concerning contracts in general. § 865, Civil C.

§ 3831. Rescinding acceptance. When the obligation of a third person or an order upon such person is accepted in satisfaction, the creditor may rescind such acceptance if the debtor prevents such person from complying with the order or from fulfilling the obligation; or if at the time the obligation or order is received, such person is insolvent and this fact is unknown to the creditor; or if before the creditor can with reasonable diligence present the order to the person upon whom it is given, he becomes insolvent. § 866, Civil C. am'd.

RELEASE.

§ 3832. Extinguishes obligation. An obligation is extinguished by a release therefrom given to the debtor by the creditor upon a new consideration, or in writing, with or without new consideration. § 867, Civil C.

§ 3833. Extends only to known claims. A general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his favor at the time of executing the release, which, if known by him, must have materially affected his settlement with the debtor. § 868, Civil C.

§ 3834. Releasing one does not release others. A release of one of two or more joint debtors does not extinguish the obligations of any of the others unless they are mere guarantors; nor does it affect their right to contribution from him. § 869, Civil C.

CHAPTER 43.

CONTRACTS.

ARTICLE 1. — DEFINITION.

- § 870, CIVIL C. § 3835. Defined. A contract is an agreement to do or not to do a certain thing.
- § 871, CIVIL C. § 3836. Requisites of. It is essential to the existence of a contract that there should be:
1. Parties capable of contracting.
 2. Their consent.
 3. A lawful object; and,
 4. Sufficient cause or consideration.

ARTICLE 2. — PARTIES.

- § 872, CIVIL C. § 3837. Who may make. All persons are capable of contracting, except minors, persons of unsound mind and persons deprived of civil rights.
- § 873, CIVIL C. § 3838. Minors, etc. Minors and persons of unsound mind have only such capacity as is defined by chapter 2 of this code.
- § 874, CIVIL C. § 3839. Possible to identify parties. It is essential to the validity of the contract, not only that the parties should exist, but that it should be possible to identify them.
- § 875, CIVIL C. § 3840. Beneficiary may enforce. A contract made expressly for the benefit of a third person may be enforced by him at any time before the parties thereto rescind it.

ARTICLE 3. — CONSENT.

- § 876, CIVIL C. § 3841. Requisites of consent. The consent of the parties to a contract must be:
1. Free.
 2. Mutual; and,
 3. Communicated by each to the other.
- § 877, CIVIL C. § 3842. Rescinded, if not free. A consent which is not free is, nevertheless, not absolutely void, but may be rescinded by the parties in the manner prescribed by the chapter on rescission.
- § 878, CIVIL C. § 3843. What renders apparent consent not free. An apparent consent is not real or free when obtained through:
1. Duress.
 2. Menace.
 3. Fraud.
 4. Undue influence; or,
 5. Mistake.
- § 879, CIVIL C. § 3844. When deemed not free. Consent is deemed to have been obtained through one of the causes mentioned in the last section only when it would not have been given had such cause not existed.
- § 880, CIVIL C. § 3845. Duress. Duress consists in:
1. Unlawful confinement of the person of the party or of the husband or wife of such party, or of an ancestor, descendant or adopted child of such party, husband or wife.

2. Unlawful detention of the property of any such person; or,
3. Confinement of such person, lawful in form, but fraudulently obtained or fraudulently made unjustly harassing or oppressive.

§ 3846. Menace. Menace consists in a threat:

§ 881, Civil C.

1. Of such duress as is specified in the first and third subdivisions of the last section.

2. Of unlawful and violent injury to the person or property of any such person as is specified in the last section; or,

3. Of injury to the character of any such person.

§ 3847. Fraud classified. Fraud is either actual or constructive.

§ 882, Civil C.

§ 3848. Actual fraud. Actual fraud within the meaning of this chapter consists in any of the following acts committed by a party to the contract, or with his connivance, with intent to deceive another party thereto or to induce him to enter into the contract:

§ 883, Civil C.

1. The suggestion as a fact of that which is not true by one who does not believe it to be true.

2. The positive assertion in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it of that which is not true, though he believes it to be true.

3. The suppression of that which is true by one having knowledge or belief of the fact.

4. A promise made without any intention of performing it; or,

5. Any other act fitted to deceive.

§ 3849. Constructive fraud. Constructive fraud consists:

§ 884, Civil C.

1. In any breach of duty which without an actually fraudulent intent gains an advantage to the person in fault, or any one claiming under him, by misleading another to his prejudice or to the prejudice of any one claiming under him; or,

2. In any such act or omission as the law specially declares to be fraudulent without respect to actual fraud.

§ 3850. Actual, question of fact. Actual fraud is always a question of fact.

§ 885, Civil C.

§ 3851. Undue influence. Undue influence consists:

§ 886, Civil C.

1. In the use, by one in whom a confidence is reposed by another or who holds a real or apparent authority over him, of such confidence or authority for the purpose of obtaining an unfair advantage over him.

2. In taking an unfair advantage of another's weakness of mind; or,

3. In taking a grossly oppressive and unfair advantage of another's necessities or distress.

§ 3852. Mistake classified. Mistake may be either of fact or of law.

§ 887, Civil C.

§ 3853. Fact. Mistake of fact is a mistake not caused by the neglect of a legal duty on the part of the person making the mistake and consisting in:

§ 888, Civil C.

1. An unconscious ignorance or forgetfulness of a fact past or present material to the contract; or,

2. Belief in the present existence of a thing material to the contract which does not exist, or in the past existence of such a thing which has not existed.

§ 3854. Law. Mistake of law constitutes a mistake within the meaning of this chapter only when it arises from:

§ 889, Civil C.

1. A misapprehension of the law by all parties, all supposing that they knew and understood it, and all making substantially the same mistake as to the law; or,

2. A misapprehension of the law by one party of which the others are aware at the time of contracting, but which they do not rectify.

§ 890, CIVIL C.

§ 3855. Of foreign laws, fact. Mistake of foreign laws is a mistake of fact.

§ 891, CIVIL C.

§ 3856. Mutual consent defined. Consent is not mutual unless the parties all agree upon the same thing in the same sense. But in certain cases defined by the article on interpretation they are to be deemed so to agree without regard to the fact.

§ 892, CIVIL C.

§ 3857. How communicated. Consent can be communicated with effect only by some act or omission of the party contracting by which he intends to communicate it or which necessarily tends to such communication.

§ 893, CIVIL C.

§ 3858. Acceptance must comply with conditions. If a proposal prescribes any conditions concerning the communication of its acceptance, the proposer is not bound unless they are conformed to; but in other cases any reasonable and usual mode may be adopted.

§ 894, CIVIL C.

§ 3859. When deemed fully communicated. Consent is deemed to be fully communicated between the parties as soon as the party accepting a proposal has put his acceptance in the course of transmission to the proposer in conformity to the last section.

§ 895, CIVIL C.

§ 3860. Acts which are an acceptance. Performance of the conditions of a proposal, or the acceptance of the consideration offered with a proposal, is an acceptance of the proposal.

§ 896, CIVIL C.

§ 3861. Acceptance must be absolute. An acceptance must be absolute and unqualified, or must include in itself an acceptance of that character, which the proposer can separate from the rest and which will include the person accepting. A qualified acceptance is a new proposal.

§ 897, CIVIL C.

§ 3862. When proposal revoked. A proposal may be revoked at any time before its acceptance is communicated to the proposer, but not afterwards.

§ 898, CIVIL C.

§ 3863. How proposal revoked. A proposal is revoked:

1. By the communication of notice of revocation by the proposer to the other party in the manner prescribed by sections 3857 and 3859 before his acceptance has been communicated to the former.

2. By the lapse of the time prescribed in such proposal for its acceptance, or if no time is so prescribed the lapse of a reasonable time without communication of the acceptance.

3. By the failure of the acceptor to fulfill a condition precedent to acceptance; or,

4. By the death or insanity of the proposer.

§ 899, CIVIL C.

§ 3864. Subsequent consent. A contract which is voidable solely for want of due consent may be ratified by a subsequent consent.

§ 900, CIVIL C.

§ 3865. Acceptance of benefit a consent to obligation. A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a transaction is equivalent to a consent to all the obligations arising from it so far as the facts are known or ought to be known to the person accepting.

ARTICLE 4. — OBJECT OF A CONTRACT.

§ 3866. Object of contract. The object of a contract is the thing which it is agreed on the part of the party receiving the consideration to do or not to do. § 901, Civil C.

§ 3867. Requisites of object. The object of a contract must be lawful when the contract is made and possible and ascertainable by the time the contract is to be performed. § 902, Civil C.

§ 3868. Possible defined. Everything is deemed possible except that which is impossible in the nature of things. § 903, Civil C.

§ 3869. Single unlawful object avoids contract. When a contract has but a single object, and such object is unlawful, whether in whole or in part, or wholly impossible of performance, or so vaguely expressed as to be wholly unascertainable, the entire contract is void. § 904, Civil C.

§ 3870. Lawful object valid. When a contract has several distinct objects, of which one at least is lawful and one at least is unlawful in whole or in part, the contract is void as to the latter and valid as to the rest. § 905, Civil C.

ARTICLE 5. — CONSIDERATION.

§ 3871. Good consideration defined. Any benefit conferred or agreed to be conferred upon the promiser by any other person to which the promiser is not lawfully entitled or any prejudice suffered or agreed to be suffered by such person, other than such as he is at the time of consent lawfully bound to suffer as an inducement to the promiser, is a good consideration for a promise. § 906, Civil C.

§ 3872. When legal or moral obligation good consideration. An existing legal obligation resting upon the promiser or a moral obligation originating in some benefit conferred upon the promiser, or prejudice suffered by the promisee is also a good consideration for a promise to an extent corresponding with the extent of the obligation, but no further or otherwise. § 907, Civil C.

§ 3873. Consideration must be lawful. The consideration of a contract must be lawful within the meaning of section 3920. § 908, Civil C.

§ 3874. Contract void when consideration unlawful. If any part of a single consideration for one or more objects, or of several considerations for a single object is unlawful, the entire contract is void. § 909, Civil C.

§ 3875. Consideration executed or executory. A consideration may be executed or executory in whole or in part. In so far as it is executory it is subject to the provisions of article 4 of this chapter. § 910, Civil C.

§ 3876. How executory consideration determined. When a consideration is executory it is not indispensable that the contract should specify its amount or the means of ascertaining it. It may be left to the decision of a third person or regulated by any specified standard. § 911, Civil C. am'd.

§ 3877. Consideration undetermined. Reasonable worth. When a contract does not determine the amount of the consideration, nor the method by which it is to be ascertained, or when it leaves the amount thereof to the discretion of an interested party the consideration must be so much money as the object of the contract is reasonably worth. § 912, Civil C.

- § 913, Civil C. § 3878. Consideration not ascertainable. Contract void. When a contract provides an exclusive method by which its consideration is to be ascertained, which method is on its face impossible of execution, the entire contract is void.
- § 914, Civil C. § 3879. Exclusive method. Consideration not ascertainable. Provision void. When a contract provides an exclusive method by which its consideration is to be ascertained, which method appears possible on its face, but in fact is, or becomes impossible of execution, such provision only is void.
- § 914, Civil C. § 3880. Writing presumes consideration. A written instrument is presumptive evidence of a consideration.
- § 914, Civil C. § 3881. Burden of proving want of. The burden of showing a want of consideration sufficient to support an instrument lies with the party seeking to invalidate or avoid it.

ARTICLE 6. — MANNER OF CREATING CONTRACTS.

- § 915, Civil C. § 3882. Contracts classified. A contract is either express or implied.
- § 916, Civil C. § 3883. Express. An express contract is one the terms of which are stated in words.
- § 917, Civil C. § 3884. Implied. An implied contract is one the existence and terms of which are manifested by conduct.
- § 918, Civil C. § 3885. What contracts may be oral. All contracts may be oral, except such as are specially required by statute to be in writing.
- § 919, Civil C. § 3886. When oral contract required to be in writing enforceable. When a contract, which is required by law to be in writing, is prevented from being put into writing by the fraud of a party thereto, any other party who is by such fraud led to believe that it is in writing and acts upon such belief to his prejudice may enforce it against the fraudulent party.
- § 920, Civil C. § 3887. Contracts required to be in writing. The following contracts are invalid, unless the same, or some note or memorandum thereof, is in writing and subscribed by the party to be charged, or by his agent:
1. An agreement that by its terms is not to be performed within a year from the making thereof.
 2. A special promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another, except in the cases provided for in section 4629.
 3. An agreement made upon consideration of marriage, other than a mutual promise to marry.
 4. An agreement for the sale of goods, chattels, or things in action at a price not less than fifty dollars, unless the buyer accepts or receives part of such goods and chattels or the evidences, or some of them, of such things in action, or pays at the time some part of the purchase money; but when a sale is made by auction an entry by the auctioneer in his sale book at the time of the sale of the kind of property sold, the terms of sale, the price and the names of the purchaser and person on whose account the sale is made is a sufficient memorandum.
 5. An agreement for the leasing for a longer period than one year, or for the sale of real property, or of an interest therein; and such agreement, if made by an agent of the party sought to be charged, is invalid, unless the authority of the agent is in writing, subscribed by the party sought to be charged.

§ 3888. Written contract supersedes oral negotiations. § 921, Civil C.
The execution of a contract in writing, whether the law requires it to be written or not, supersedes all the oral negotiations or stipulations concerning its matter, which preceded or accompanied the execution of the instrument.

§ 3889. Takes effect on delivery. A contract in writing takes effect upon its delivery to the party in whose favor it is made or to his agent. § 922, Civil C.

§ 3890. Chapter on transfers applies. The provisions of the chapter on transfers in general concerning the delivery of grants, absolute and conditional, apply to all written contracts. § 923, Civil C.

§ 3891. How seal affixed. A corporate or official seal may be affixed to an instrument by a mere impression upon the paper or other material on which such instrument is written. § 924, Civil C.

§ 3892. Seals abolished. All distinctions between sealed and unsealed instruments are abolished. § 925, Civil C.

ARTICLE 7.—INTERPRETATION OF CONTRACTS.

§ 3893. Same rules for public and private. All contracts, whether public or private, are to be interpreted by the same rules, except as otherwise provided by this code. § 926, Civil C.

§ 3894. Must be interpreted to give effect to mutual intention. A contract must be so interpreted as to give effect to the mutual intention of the parties as it existed at the time of contracting so far as the same is ascertainable and lawful. § 927, Civil C.

§ 3895. Rules in this article to be applied. For the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties to a contract, if otherwise doubtful, the rules given in this chapter are to be applied. § 928, Civil C.

§ 3896. Language governs if clear. The language of a contract is to govern its interpretation if the language is clear and explicit and does not involve an absurdity. § 929, Civil C.

§ 3897. Intention ascertained from writing alone, if possible. When a contract is reduced to writing the intention of the parties is to be ascertained from the writing alone if possible, subject, however, to the other provisions of this article. § 930, Civil C.

§ 3898. Real intention to govern in cases of fraud, etc. When through fraud, mistake or accident a written contract fails to express the real intention of the parties, such intention is to be regarded and the erroneous parts of the writing disregarded. § 931, Civil C.

§ 3899. Every part given effect. The whole of a contract is to be taken together so as to give effect to every part, if reasonably practicable, each clause helping to interpret the others. § 932, Civil C.

§ 3900. Several contracts. Parts of one transaction. Taken together. Several contracts relating to the same matters between the same parties and made as parts of substantially one transaction are to be taken together. § 933, Civil C.

§ 3901. So interpreted as to carry it into effect. A contract must receive such an interpretation as will make it lawful, operative, definite, reasonable and capable of being carried into effect, if it can be done without violating the intention of the parties. § 934, Civil C.

§ 3902. Words to be understood in ordinary sense. The words of a contract are to be understood in their ordinary and popular sense rather than according to their strict legal meaning, unless § 935, Civil C.

- used by the parties in a technical sense, or unless a special meaning is given to them by usage, in which case the latter must be followed.
- § 3903. Technical words. Technical words are to be interpreted as usually understood by persons in the profession or business to which they relate, unless clearly used in a different sense.
- § 3904. What law governs. A contract is to be interpreted according to the law and usage of the place where it is to be performed, or if it does not indicate a place of performance, according to the law and usage of the place where it is made.
- § 3905. Explained by reference to circumstances. A contract may be explained by reference to the circumstances under which it was made and the matter to which it relates.
- § 3906. Extends no farther than parties intended to contract. However broad may be the terms of a contract, it extends only to those things concerning which it appears that the parties intended to contract.
- § 3907. As promiser believed promisee understood it. If the terms of a promise are in any respect ambiguous or uncertain it must be interpreted in the sense in which the promiser believed at the time of making it that the promisee understood it.
- § 3908. Clauses subordinate to general intent. Particular clauses of a contract are subordinate to its general intent.
- § 3909. Written and original control printed and copied. When a contract is partly written and partly printed, or when part of it is written or printed under the special directions of the parties and with a special view to their intention and the remainder is copied from a form originally prepared without special reference to the particular parties and particular contract in question, the written parts control the printed parts and the parts which are purely original control those which are copied from a form and if the two are absolutely repugnant the latter must be so far disregarded.
- § 3910. Repugnancies reconciled. Repugnancy in a contract must be reconciled, if possible, by such an interpretation as will give some effect to the repugnant clause subordinate to the general intent and purposes of the whole contract.
- § 3911. Inconsistent words rejected. Words in a contract which are wholly inconsistent with its nature, or with the main intention of the parties are to be rejected.
- § 3912. Uncertainty interpreted against party causing it. Presumption as to cause. In cases of uncertainty not removed by the preceding rules, the language of a contract should be interpreted most strongly against the party who caused the uncertainty to exist. The promiser is presumed to be such party, except in a contract between a public officer or body, as such, and a private party, in which it is presumed that all uncertainty was caused by the private party.
- § 3913. Reasonable stipulations implied. Stipulations which are necessary to make a contract reasonable or conformable to usage are implied in respect to matters concerning which the contract manifests no contrary intention.
- § 3914. Incidents, when and when not implied. All things that in law or usage are considered as incidental to a contract or as necessary to carry it into effect are implied therefrom, unless some of them are expressly mentioned therein, when all other things of the same class are deemed to be excluded.

§ 3915. Rules governing time of performance when not specified. If no time is specified for the performance of an act required to be performed a reasonable time is allowed. If the act is in its nature capable of being done instantly as for example, if it consists in the payment of money only, it must be performed immediately upon the thing to be done being exactly ascertained. § 948, Civil C.

§ 3916. When time of the essence. Time is never considered as of the essence of a contract unless by its terms expressly so provided. § 949, Civil C.

§ 3918. Promise in singular by several presumed joint and several. A promise made in the singular number, but executed by several persons is presumed to be joint and several. § 951, Civil C.

§ 3919. Executed contract defined. An executed contract is one, the object of which is fully performed. All others are executory. § 952, Civil C.

ARTICLE 8.—UNLAWFUL CONTRACTS.

§ 3920. What is unlawful. That is not lawful which is: § 953, Civil C.

1. Contrary to an express provision of law.
2. Contrary to the policy of express law, though not expressly prohibited; or,
3. Otherwise contrary to good morals.

§ 3921. Certain contracts against the policy of the law. All contracts which have for their object, directly or indirectly, to exempt any one from responsibility for his own fraud or willful injury to the person or property of another, or violation of law, whether willful or negligent, are against the policy of the law. § 954, Civil C.

§ 3922. Penalties and penal clauses void. Penalties imposed by contract for any nonperformance thereof are void. But this section does not render void such bonds or obligations, penal in form, as have heretofore been commonly used; it merely rejects and avoids the penal clauses. § 955, Civil C.

§ 3923. Fixing damages for breach void. Every contract by which the amount of damages to be paid or other compensation to be made for a breach of an obligation is determined in anticipation thereof is to that extent void, except as expressly provided by the next section. § 956, Civil C.

§ 3924. Exception to last section. The parties to a contract may agree therein upon an amount which shall be presumed to be the amount of damage sustained by a breach thereof, when from the nature of the case it would be impracticable or extremely difficult to fix the actual damage. § 957, Civil C.

§ 3926. In restraint of business void. Every contract by which any one is restrained from exercising a lawful profession, trade § 959, Civil C.

or business of any kind, otherwise than as provided by the next two sections is to that extent void.

§ 960, Civil C. § 3927. Good will excepted. One who sells the good will of a business may agree with the buyer to refrain from carrying on a similar business within a specified county, city or a part thereof, so long as the buyer or any person deriving title to the good will from him carries on a like business therein.

§ 961, Civil C. § 3928. Partners excepted. Partners may upon or in anticipation of a dissolution of the partnership agree that none of them will carry on a similar business within the same city or town where the partnership business has been transacted, or within a specified part thereof.

§ 962, Civil C. § 3929. In restraint of marriage void. Every contract in restraint of the marriage of any person, other than a minor, is void.

ARTICLE 9.—EXTINCTION OF CONTRACTS.

§ 963, Civil C. § 3930. How extinguished. A contract may be extinguished in like manner with any other obligation and also in the manner prescribed by this article.

RESCISSION.

§ 964, Civil C. § 3931. Extinguished by rescission. A contract is extinguished by its rescission.

§ 965, Civil C. § 3932. When rescission permitted. A party to a contract may rescind the same in the following cases only:

1. If the consent of the party rescinding, or of any party jointly contracting with him was given by mistake or obtained through duress, menace, fraud or undue influence exercised by or with the connivance of the party as to whom he rescinds or of any other party to the contract jointly interested with such party.

2. If through the fault of the party as to whom he rescinds the consideration for his obligation fails in whole or in part.

3. If such consideration becomes entirely void from any cause.

4. If such consideration before it is rendered to him fails in a material respect from any cause; or,

5. By consent of all of the other parties.

§ 966, Civil C. § 3933. When permitted notwithstanding stipulation for compensation. A stipulation that errors of description shall not avoid a contract or shall be the subject of compensation, or both, does not take away the right of rescission for fraud, nor for mistake, when such mistake is in a matter essential to the inducement of the contract and is not capable of exact and entire compensation.

§ 967, Civil C. § 3934. Rules governing. Rescission when not effected by consent can be accomplished only by the use, on the part of the party rescinding, of reasonable diligence to comply with the following rules:

1. He must rescind promptly upon discovering the facts which entitle him to rescind, if he is free from duress, menace, undue influence or disability and is aware of his right to rescind; and,

2. He must restore to the other party everything of value which he has received from him under the contract; or must offer to restore the same upon condition that such party shall do likewise, unless the latter is unable or positively refuses to do so.

ALTERATION AND CANCELLATION.

§ 3935. How oral contract altered. A contract not in writing may be altered in any respect by consent of the parties in writing without a new consideration and is extinguished thereby to the extent of the alteration. § 968, Civil C.

§ 3936. How written contract altered. A contract in writing may be altered by a contract in writing or by an executed oral agreement and not otherwise. § 969, Civil C.

§ 3937. Destruction by consent extinguishes as to all consenting. The destruction or cancellation of a written contract or of the signature of the parties liable thereon with intent to extinguish the obligation thereof, extinguishes it as to all of the parties consenting to the act. § 970, Civil C.

§ 3938. Extinguished as to one and not all. The intentional destruction, cancellation or material alteration of a written contract by a party entitled to any benefit under it, or with his consent, extinguishes all the executory obligations of the contract in his favor against parties who do not consent to the act. § 971, Civil C.

§ 3939. Destruction of one duplicate not within last section. When a contract is executed in duplicate an alteration or destruction of one copy while the other exists is not within the provisions of the last section. § 972, Civil C.

CHAPTER 44.

OBLIGATIONS IMPOSED BY LAW.

§ 3940. To abstain from injuring another's person or property. Every person is bound without contract to abstain from injuring the person or property of another or infringing upon any of his rights. § 973, Civil C.

§ 3941. Damages for deceit. One who willfully deceives another with intent to induce him to alter his position to his injury or risk is liable for any damage which he thereby suffers. § 974, Civil C.

§ 3942. Deceit defined. A deceit within the meaning of the last section is either: § 975, Civil C.

1. The suggestion as a fact of that which is not true by one who does not believe it to be true.

2. The assertion as a fact of that which is not true by one who has no reasonable ground for believing it to be true.

3. The suppression of a fact by one who is bound to disclose it, or who gives information of other facts which are likely to mislead for want of communication of that fact; or,

4. A promise made without any intention of performing.

§ 3943. When intent to defraud every one misled presumed. One who practices a deceit with intent to defraud the public or a particular class of persons is deemed to have intended to defraud every individual in that class who is actually misled by the deceit. § 976, Civil C.

- § 977, Civil C. § 3944. When thing obtained without consent must be restored. One who obtains a thing without the consent of its owner or by a consent afterwards rescinded, or by an unlawful exaction which the owner could not at the time prudently refuse must restore it to the person from whom it was thus obtained, unless he has acquired a title thereto superior to that of such other person, or unless the transaction was corrupt and unlawful on both sides.
- § 978, Civil C. § 3945. Without demand. Exception. The restoration required by the last section must be made without demand: except when a thing is obtained by mutual mistake, in which case the party obtaining the thing is not bound to return it until he has notice of the mistake.
- § 979, Civil C. § 3946. Liability for willful acts and negligence. Every one is responsible, not only for the result of his willful acts, but also for an injury occasioned to another by his want of ordinary care or skill in the management of his property or person, except so far as the latter has willfully or by want of ordinary care, brought the injury upon himself. The extent of the liability in such cases is defined by articles 1 and 2 of chapter 94 on compensatory relief.
- § 980, Civil C. § 3947. Other obligations. Other obligations are prescribed by the first forty-one chapters of this code.

CHAPTER 45.

SALE.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- § 981, Civil C. § 3948. Sale defined. Sale is a contract by which for a pecuniary consideration called a price one transfers to another an interest in property.
- § 982, Civil C. § 3949. Subject of sale. The subject of sale must be property the title to which can be immediately transferred from the seller to the buyer.

ARTICLE 2.—AGREEMENTS FOR SALE.

- § 983, Civil C. § 3950. Classified. An agreement for sale is either:
1. An agreement to sell.
 2. An agreement to buy; or,
 3. A mutual agreement to sell and buy.
- § 984, Civil C. § 3951. Agreement to sell defined. An agreement to sell is a contract by which one engages for a price to transfer to another the title to a certain thing.
- § 985, Civil C. § 3952. Agreement to buy. An agreement to buy is a contract by which one engages to accept from another and pay a price for the title to a certain thing.
- § 986, Civil C. § 3953. To sell and buy. An agreement to sell and buy is a contract by which one engages to transfer the title to a certain thing to another who engages to accept the same from him and to pay a price therefor.

§ 3954. What may be sold. Any property which if in existence might be the subject of sale may be the subject of an agreement for a sale whether in existence or not. § 987, Civil C.

§ 3955. Duty of seller of realty. An agreement to sell real property binds the seller to execute a conveyance in form sufficient to pass the title to the property. § 988, Civil C.

§ 3956. Duty on agreement to give usual covenants. An agreement on the part of a seller of real property to give the usual covenants binds him to insert in the grant covenants of seizin, quiet enjoyment, further assurance, general warranty and against incumbrances. § 989, Civil C.

§ 3957. Form of covenants. The covenants mentioned in the last section must be in substance as follows: § 990, Civil C.

The party of the first part covenants with the party of the second part that the former is now seized in fee simple of the property granted; that the latter shall enjoy the same without any lawful disturbance; that the same is free from all incumbrances; that the party of the first part and all persons acquiring any interest in the same through or for him will on demand execute and deliver to the party of the second part, at the expense of the latter, any further assurance of the same that may be reasonably required; and that the party of the first part will warrant to the party of the second part all the said property against every person lawfully claiming the same.

ARTICLE 3. — FORM OF THE CONTRACT.

§ 3958. Statute of frauds. Personal property. No sale of personal property or agreement to buy or sell it for a price of fifty dollars or more is valid unless: § 991, Civil C.

1. The agreement or some note or memorandum thereof is in writing and subscribed by the party to be charged or by his agent; or,

2. The buyer accepts and receives part of the things sold or when it consists of a thing in action, part of the evidences thereof, or some of them; or,

3. The buyer at the time of the sale pays a part of the price.

§ 3959. Agreement to manufacture not within last section. An agreement to manufacture a thing from materials furnished by the manufacturer or by another person is not within the provisions of the last section. § 992, Civil C.

§ 3960. Agreement for sale of realty invalid unless in writing. No agreement for the sale of real property, or of an interest therein, is valid unless the same, or some note or memorandum thereof, is in writing and subscribed by the party to be charged, or his agent thereunto authorized in writing; but this does not abridge the power of any court to compel the specific performance of any agreement for the sale of real property in case of part performance thereof. § 993, Civil C.

§ 3961. Form of transfer. The form of a transfer of real property is described by the chapter on such transfers. § 994, Civil C.

ARTICLE 4. — RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS OF THE SELLER. RIGHTS AND DUTIES BEFORE DELIVERING.

§ 3962. Seller acts as depositary. After personal property has been sold, and until the delivery is completed the seller has the rights and obligations of a depositary for hire, except that he must keep the property without charge until the buyer has had a reasonable opportunity to remove it.

- § 996, Civil C. § 3963. Seller may rescind. If a buyer of personal property does not pay for it according to contract and it remains in the possession of the seller after payment is due, the seller may rescind the sale, or may enforce his lien for the price in the manner prescribed by chapter 84 on liens.

DELIVERY.

- § 997, Civil C. § 3964. Delivered reasonable time after demand. One who sells personal property, whether it was in his possession at the time of sale or not, must put it into a condition fit for delivery and deliver it to the buyer within a reasonable time after demand unless he has a lien thereon.
- § 998, Civil C. § 3965. Where deliverable. Personal property sold is deliverable at the place where it is at the time of the sale or agreement to sell or if it is not then in existence, it is deliverable at the place where it is produced.
- § 999, Civil C. § 3966. Where brought for acceptance. Risk of transportation. One who sells personal property must bring it to his own door or other convenient place for its acceptance by the buyer, but further transportation is at the risk and expense of the buyer.
- § 1000, Civil C. § 3967. Notice of option. When either party to a contract of sale has an option as to the time, place or manner of delivery, he must give the other party reasonable notice of his choice; and if he does not give such notice within a reasonable time his right of option is waived.
- § 1001, Civil C. § 3968. Buyer's directions govern sending. If a seller agrees to send the thing sold to the buyer he must follow the directions of the latter as to the manner of sending, or it will be at his own risk during its transportation. If he follows such directions or if in the absence of special directions he uses ordinary care in forwarding the thing it is at the risk of the buyer.
- § 1002, Civil C. § 3969. Delivery within reasonable hours. The delivery of a thing sold can be offered or demanded only within reasonable hours of the day.

WARRANTY.

- § 1003, Civil C. § 3970. Defined. A warranty is an engagement by which a seller assures to a buyer the existence of some fact affecting the transaction, whether past, present or future.
- § 1004, Civil C. § 3971. Not implied from mere sale. Except as prescribed by this article a mere contract of sale or agreement to sell does not imply a warranty.
- § 1005, Civil C. § 3972. Sale of personalty warrants title. One who sells or agrees to sell personal property as his own thereby warrants that he has a good and unincumbered title thereto.
- § 1006, Civil C. § 3973. Bulk equal to sample. One who sells or agrees to sell goods by sample thereby warrants the bulk to be equal to the sample.
- § 1007, Civil C. § 3974. Knows nothing to destroy inducement to buy. One who sells or agrees to sell personal property, knowing that the buyer relies upon his advice or judgment, thereby warrants to the buyer that neither the seller, nor any agent employed by him in the transaction, knows the existence of any fact concerning the thing sold which would to his knowledge destroy the buyer's inducement to buy.

§ 3975. Not in existence, sound and merchantable. One who agrees to sell merchandise not then in existence thereby warrants that it shall be sound and merchantable at the place of production contemplated by the parties and as nearly so at the place of delivery as can be secured by reasonable care. § 1008, CIVIL C.

§ 3976. Free from latent defects. One who sells or agrees to sell an article of his own manufacture thereby warrants it to be free from any latent defect not disclosed to the buyer, arising from the process of manufacture and also that neither he nor his agent in such manufacture has knowingly used improper materials therein. § 1009, CIVIL C.

§ 3977. Fit for purpose. One who manufactures an article under an order for a particular purpose warrants by the sale that it is reasonably fit for that purpose. § 1010, CIVIL C.

§ 3978. Inaccessible, warranted sound and merchantable. One who sells or agrees to sell merchandise inaccessible to the examination of the buyer thereby warrants that it is sound and merchantable. § 1011, CIVIL C.

§ 3979. Trade-mark genuine. One who sells or agrees to sell any article to which there is affixed or attached a trade-mark thereby warrants that mark to be genuine and lawfully used. § 1012, CIVIL C.

§ 3980. Truth of marks of quantity or quality. One who sells or agrees to sell any article to which there is affixed or attached a statement or mark to express the quantity or quality thereof or the place where it was in whole or in part produced, manufactured or prepared thereby warrants the truth thereof. § 1013, CIVIL C.

§ 3981. Validity of instrument. One who sells or agrees to sell an instrument purporting to bind any one to the performance of an act thereby warrants the instrument to be what it purports to be and to be binding according to its purport upon all the parties thereto; and also warrants that he has no knowledge of any facts which tend to prove it worthless, such as the insolvency of any of the parties thereto, when that is material, the extinction of its obligations, or its invalidity for any cause. § 1014, CIVIL C.

§ 3982. Provisions sound and wholesome. One who makes a business of selling provisions for domestic use warrants by a sale thereof to one who buys for actual consumption, and not for the purpose of sale, that they are sound and wholesome. § 1015, CIVIL C.

§ 3983. Good will. One who sells the good will of a business thereby warrants that he will not endeavor to draw off any of the customers. § 1016, CIVIL C.

§ 3984. Judicial sale. Upon a judicial sale the only warranty implied is that the seller does not know that the sale will not pass a good title to the property. § 1017, CIVIL C.

§ 3985. Scope of general warranty. A general warranty does not extend to defects inconsistent therewith of which the buyer was then aware or which were then easily discernible by him without the exercise of peculiar skill, but it extends to all other defects. § 1018, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 5. — RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS OF THE BUYER.

§ 3986. To pay and remove in reasonable time. A buyer must pay the price of the thing sold on its delivery and must take it away within a reasonable time after the seller offers to deliver it. § 1019, CIVIL C.

- § 1020, CIVIL C. § 3987. Right to inspect. On an agreement for sale with warranty the buyer has a right to inspect the thing sold at a reasonable time before accepting it and may rescind the contract if the seller refuses to permit him to do so.
- § 1021, CIVIL C. § 3988. Rescission for breach of warranty. The breach of a warranty entitles the buyer to rescind an agreement for sale, but not an executed sale, unless the warranty was intended by the parties to operate as a condition.

ARTICLE 6.—SALE BY AUCTION.

- § 1022, CIVIL C. § 3989. Defined. A sale by auction is a sale by public outcry to the highest bidder on the spot.
- § 1023, CIVIL C. § 3990. When complete. A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer publicly announces by the fall of his hammer or in any other customary manner that the thing is sold.
- § 1024, CIVIL C. § 3991. Withdrawal of bid. Until the announcement mentioned in the last section has been made any bidder may withdraw his bid, if he does so in a manner reasonably sufficient to bring it to the notice of the auctioneer.
- § 1025, CIVIL C. § 3992. Printed conditions govern. When a sale by auction is made upon written or printed conditions, such conditions cannot be modified by any oral declaration of the auctioneer, except so far as they are for his own benefit.
- § 1026, CIVIL C. § 3993. Sale without reserve. Rights of bidder. If at a sale by auction, the auctioneer having authority to do so, publicly announces that the sale will be without reserve or makes any announcement equivalent thereto the highest bidder in good faith has an absolute right to the completion of the sale to him and upon such a sale bids by the seller or any agents for him are void.
- § 1027, CIVIL C. § 3994. Employment of bidder-in a fraud. The employment by a seller at a sale at auction without the knowledge of the buyer of any person to bid at the sale, without an intention on the part of such bidder to buy and on the part of the seller to enforce his bid, is a fraud upon the buyer which entitles him to rescind his purchase.
- § 1028, CIVIL C. § 3995. Auctioneer's entry binding. When property is sold by auction an entry made by the auctioneer in his sale book at the time of the sale specifying the name of the person for whom he sells, the thing sold, the price, the terms of sale and the name of the buyer binds both parties in the same manner as if made by themselves.

CHAPTER 46.

EXCHANGE.

§ 3996. Defined. Exchange is a contract by which the parties § 1029, CIVIL C. mutually give or agree to give one thing for another, neither thing or both things being money only.

§ 3997. Governed by section 3958. The provisions of section § 1030, CIVIL C.
3958 apply to all exchanges in which the value of the thing to be given by either party is fifty dollars or more.

§ 3998. Governed by chapter on sale. The provisions of § 1031, CIVIL C. the chapter on sale apply to exchanges. Each party has the rights and obligations of a seller as to the thing which he gives and of a buyer as to that which he takes,

§ 3999. Money warranted genuine. On an exchange of § 1032, CIVIL C. money each party thereby warrants the genuineness of the money given by him.

CHAPTER 47.

DEPOSIT.

ARTICLE 1.—DEPOSIT IN GENERAL.

NATURE AND CREATION OF DEPOSIT.

§ 4000. Deposit classified. A deposit may be voluntary or § 1033, CIVIL C. involuntary; and for safe-keeping or for exchange.

§ 4001. Voluntary. A voluntary deposit is made by one giving § 1034, CIVIL C. to another with his consent the possession of personal property to keep for the benefit of the former or of a third party. The person giving is called the depositor and the person receiving the depository.

§ 4002. Involuntary. An involuntary deposit is made: § 1035, CIVIL C.

1. By the accidental leaving or placing of personal property in the possession of any person without negligence on the part of its owner; or,

2. In cases of fire, shipwreck, inundation, insurrection, riot or like extraordinary emergencies by the owner of personal property committing it out of necessity to the care of any person.

§ 4003. Duty of depository under last section. The per- § 1036, CIVIL C. son with whom a thing is deposited in the manner described in the last section is bound to take charge of it if able to do so.

§ 4004. For keeping. A deposit for keeping is one in which § 1037, CIVIL C.
the depository is bound to return the identical thing deposited.

§ 4005. For exchange. A deposit for exchange is one in § 1038, CIVIL C. which the depository is only bound to return a thing corresponding in kind to that which is deposited.

OBLIGATIONS OF THE DEPOSITARY.

- § 1039, Civil C. § 4006. Delivery on demand. Exceptions. A depositary must deliver the thing to the person for whose benefit it was deposited on demand, whether the deposit was made for a specified time or not, unless he has a lien upon the thing deposited, or has been forbidden or prevented from doing so by the real owner thereof, or by the act of the law and has given the notice required by section 4008.
- § 1040, Civil C. § 4007. Demand prerequisite to delivery. A depositary is not bound to deliver a thing deposited without demand even when the deposit is made for a specified time.
- § 1041, Civil C. § 4008. Place of delivery. A depositary must deliver the thing deposited at his residence or place of business as may be most convenient for him.
- § 1042, Civil C. § 4009. Prompt notice of adverse claim. A depositary must give prompt notice to the person for whose benefit the deposit was made of any proceedings taken adversely to his interest in the thing deposited, which may tend to excuse the depositary from delivering the same to him.
- § 1043, Civil C. § 4010. Notice of wrongful detention. A depositary who believes that a thing deposited with him is wrongfully detained from its true owner may give him notice of the deposit; and if within a reasonable time afterwards he does not claim it and sufficiently establish his right thereto and indemnify the depositary against the claim of the depositor, the depositary is exonerated from liability to the person to whom he gave the notice upon returning the thing to the depositor, or assuming in good faith a new obligation changing his position in respect to the thing to his prejudice.
- § 1044, Civil C. § 4011. Delivery to disagreeing owners. If a thing deposited is owned jointly or in common by persons who cannot agree upon the manner of its delivery, the depositary may deliver to each his proper share thereof, if it can be done without injury to the thing.

ARTICLE 2. — DEPOSIT FOR KEEPING.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- § 1045, Civil C. § 4012. Indemnity to depositary for damages. A depositor must indemnify the depositary:
1. For all damage caused to him by the defects or vices of the thing deposited; and,
 2. For all expenses necessarily incurred by him about the thing other than such as are involved in the nature of the undertaking.
- § 1046, Civil C. § 4013. Care of animals. A depositary of living animals must provide them with suitable food and shelter and treat them kindly.
- § 1047, Civil C. § 4014. May not use deposit. A depositary may not use the thing deposited or permit it to be used for any purpose without the consent of the depositor. He may not, if it is purposely fastened by the depositor, open it without the consent of the latter except in case of necessity.

§ 4015. Damages for wrongful use. A depositary is liable for any damage happening to the thing deposited during his wrongful use thereof, unless such damage must inevitably have happened though the property had not been thus used. § 1048, Civil C.

§ 4016. Sale if perishing. If a thing deposited is in actual danger of perishing before instructions can be obtained from the depositor, the depositary may sell it for the best price obtainable and retain the proceeds as a deposit, giving immediate notice of his proceedings to the depositor. § 1049, Civil C.

§ 4017. When willfulness or gross negligence presumed. If a thing is lost or injured during its deposit and the depositary refuses to inform the depositor of the circumstances under which the loss or injury occurred so far as he has information concerning them, or willfully misrepresents the circumstances to him, the depositary is presumed to have willfully or by gross negligence permitted the loss or injury to occur. § 1050, Civil C.

§ 4018. Rules governing services by depositary. So far as any service is rendered by a depositary or required from him his duties and liabilities are prescribed by chapters 50, 51 and 52. § 1051, Civil C.

§ 4019. Measure of liability. The liability of a depositary for negligence cannot exceed the amount which he is informed by the depositor or has reason to suppose the thing deposited to be worth. § 1052, Civil C.

GRATUITOUS DEPOSIT.

§ 4021. Involuntary, gratuitous. An involuntary deposit is gratuitous, the depositary being entitled to no reward. § 1054, Civil C.

§ 4022. Use slight care. A gratuitous depositary must use at least slight care for the preservation of the thing deposited. § 1055, Civil C.

§ 4023. When duties cease. The duties of a gratuitous depositary cease: § 1056, Civil C.

1. Upon his restoring the thing deposited to its owner; or,
2. Upon his giving reasonable notice to the owner to remove it, the owner failing to do so within a reasonable time. But an involuntary depositary under subdivision 2 of section 4002 cannot give such notice until the emergency that gave rise to the deposit is passed.

STORAGE.

§ 4024. Defined. A deposit not gratuitous is called storage. The depositary in such case is called a depositary for hire. § 1057, Civil C.

§ 4025. Must use ordinary care. A depositary for hire must use at least ordinary care for the preservation of the thing deposited. § 1058, Civil C.

§ 4026. Right to compensation. In the absence of a different agreement or usage a depositary for hire is entitled to one week's hire for the sustenance and shelter of living animals during any fraction of a week and to half a month's hire for the storage of any other property during any fraction of a half month. § 1059, Civil C.

- § 1060, Civil C. § 4027. Termination of deposit. In the absence of an agreement as to the length of time during which a deposit is to continue it may be terminated by the depositor at any time and by the depositary upon reasonable notice.
- § 1061, Civil C. § 4028. Same. Payment for full time. Notwithstanding an agreement respecting the length of time during which a deposit is to continue, it may be terminated by the depositor on paying all that would become due to the depositary in case of the deposit so continuing.

ARTICLE 3.—INNKEEPER.

- § 1062, Civil C.
am'd. § 4029. Innkeeper's liability. An innkeeper or keeper of a boarding house is liable for all losses of or injuries to personal property placed by his guests or boarders under his care, unless occasioned by an irresistible superhuman cause, by a public enemy, by the negligence of the owner or by the act of some one whom he brought into the inn or boarding house.
- § 1063, Civil C. § 4030. How exempted from liability. If an innkeeper or boarding house keeper keeps a fire proof safe and gives notice to a guest or boarder, either personally or by putting up a printed notice in a prominent place in the room occupied by the guests or boarders that he keeps such a safe and will not be liable for money, jewelry, documents or other articles of unusual value and small compass unless placed therein, he is not liable, except so far as his own acts contribute thereto for any loss of or injury to such article, if not deposited with him and not required by the guest or boarder for present use.

FINDING.

- § 1064, Civil C. § 4031. Finder, depositary for hire. One who finds a thing lost is not bound to take charge of it; but if he does so, he is thenceforward a depositary for the owner with the rights and obligations of a depositary for hire.
- § 1065, Civil C. § 4032. Must notify owner. If the finder of a thing knows or suspects who is the owner, he must with reasonable diligence give him notice of the finding; and if he fails to do so, he is liable in damages to the owner and has no claim to any reward offered by him for the recovery of the thing or to any compensation for his trouble or expenses.
- § 1066, Civil C. § 4033. May require proof of ownership. The finder of a thing may in good faith before giving it up require reasonable proof of ownership from any person claiming it.
- § 1067, Civil C. § 4034. Compensation and reward. The finder of a thing is entitled to compensation for all expenses necessarily incurred by him in its preservation and for any other services necessarily performed by him about it and to a reasonable reward for keeping it.
- § 1068, Civil C. § 4035. Storing releases from liability. The finder of a thing may exonerate himself from liability at any time by placing it on storage with any responsible person of good character at a reasonable expense.
- § 1069, Civil C. § 4036. When finder may sell. The finder of a thing may sell it, if it is a thing which is commonly the subject of sale, when the owner cannot with reasonable diligence be found; or, being found, refuses upon demand to pay the lawful charges of the finder in the following cases:

1. When the thing is in danger of perishing or of losing the greater part of its value; or,
2. When the lawful charges of the finder amount to two-thirds of its value.

§ 4037. Manner of sale. A sale under the provisions of the last section must be made in the same manner as the sale of a thing pledged. § 1070, Civil C.

§ 4038. Claim exonerated by surrender. The owner of a thing found may exonerate himself from the claims of the finder by surrendering it to him in satisfaction thereof. § 1071, Civil C.

§ 4039. No application to things abandoned. The provisions of this article have no application to things which have been intentionally abandoned by their owners. § 1072, Civil C.

ARTICLE 4. — DEPOSIT FOR EXCHANGE.

§ 4040. Title transferred by. A deposit for exchange transfers to the depositary the title to the thing deposited and creates between him and the depositor the relation of debtor and creditor merely. § 1073, Civil C.

CHAPTER 48.

LOAN.

ARTICLE 1. — LOAN FOR USE.

§ 4041. Defined. A loan for use is a contract by which one gives to another the temporary possession and use of personal property and the latter agrees to return the same thing to him at a future time without reward for its use. § 1074, Civil C.

§ 4042. Title and increase belong to lender. A loan for use does not transfer the title to the thing; and all its increase during the period of the loan belongs to the lender. § 1075, Civil C.

§ 4043. Must use great care. A borrower for use must use great care for the preservation in safety and in good condition of the thing lent. § 1076, Civil C. am'd.

§ 4044. Treat animal with great kindness. One who borrows a living animal for use must treat it with great kindness and provide everything necessary and suitable for it. § 1077, Civil C.

§ 4045. Degree of skill. A borrower for use is bound to have and to exercise such skill in the care of the thing lent as he causes the lender to believe him to possess. § 1078, Civil C.

§ 4046. Repair injuries. A borrower for use must repair all deteriorations or injuries to the thing lent which are occasioned by his negligence, however slight. § 1079, Civil C.

§ 4047. Use only for anticipated purposes. The borrower of a thing for use may use it for such purposes only as the lender might reasonably anticipate at the time of lending. § 1080, Civil C.

- § 1081, Civil C. § 4048. Must not lend without consent. The borrower of a thing for use must not part with it to a third person without the consent of the lender.
- § 1082, Civil C. § 4049. Expenses during loan. The borrower of a thing for use must bear all its expenses during the loan, except such as are necessarily incurred by him to preserve it from unexpected and unusual injury. For such expense he is entitled to compensation from the lender who may, however, exonerate himself by surrendering the thing to the borrower.
- § 1083, Civil C. § 4050. Indemnity to borrower for defects. The lender of a thing for use must indemnify the borrower for damages caused by defects or vices in it which he knew at the time of lending and concealed from the borrower.
- § 1084, Civil C. § 4051. Return may be required at any time. The lender of a thing for use may at any time require its return, even though he lent it for a specified time or purpose. But if on the faith of such an agreement the borrower has made such arrangements that a return of the thing before the period agreed upon would cause him loss, exceeding the benefit derived by him from the loan, the lender must indemnify him for such loss, if he compels such return, the borrower not having in any manner violated his duty.
- §§ 1085, 1086, Civil C. § 4052. When to be returned. If a thing is lent for use for a specified time or purpose, it must be returned to the lender without demand as soon as the time has expired or the purpose has been accomplished. In other cases it need not be returned until demanded. The borrower of a thing for use must return it to the lender at the place contemplated by the parties at the time of the lending; or if no particular place was so contemplated by them, then at the place where it was at that time.

ARTICLE 2.—LOAN FOR EXCHANGE.

- § 1087, Civil C. § 4053. Defined. A loan for exchange is a contract by which one delivers personal property to another and the latter agrees to return to the lender a similar thing at a future time without reward for its use.
- § 1088, Civil C. § 4054. Same. A loan which the borrower is allowed by the lender to treat as a loan for use or for exchange at his option is subject to all the provisions of this article.
- § 1089, Civil C. § 4055. Transfers title. By a loan for exchange the title to the thing lent is transferred to the borrower and he must bear all its expenses and is entitled to all its increase.
- § 1090, Civil C. § 4056. Cannot require different performance. A lender for exchange cannot require the borrower to fulfill his obligations at a time or in a manner different from that which was originally agreed upon.
- § 1091, Civil C. § 4057. Sections applicable. Sections 4050 and 4052 apply to a loan for exchange.

ARTICLE 3.—LOAN OF MONEY.

- § 1092, Civil C. § 4058. Defined. A loan of money is a contract by which one delivers a sum of money to another and the latter agrees to return at a future time a sum equivalent to that which he borrowed. A loan for mere use is governed by the article on loan for use.

§ 4059. Repayment in current funds. A borrower of money must pay the amount due in such money as is current at the time when the loan becomes due, whether such money is worth more or less than the actual money lent. § 1093, Civil C.

§ 4060. Loan presumes interest. Whenever a loan of money is made it is presumed to be made upon interest, unless it is otherwise expressly stipulated at the time in writing. § 1094, Civil C.

§ 4061. Interest defined. Interest is the compensation allowed for the use, or forbearance, or detention of money, or its equivalent. § 1095, Civil C.

§ 4062. Rate deemed annual. When a rate of interest is prescribed by a law or contract without specifying the period of time by which such rate is to be calculated it is to be deemed an annual rate. § 1096, Civil C.

§ 4063. Legal rate seven per cent. Interest for any legal indebtedness shall be at the rate of seven per cent per annum, unless a different rate is contracted for in writing and all contracts shall bear the same rate of interest after they become due as before, unless it clearly appears therefrom that such was not the intention of the parties. §§ 1, c. 184, 1890.
1, c. 131, 1893.

§ 4064. Usury defined. No person, firm, company or corporation shall directly or indirectly take, or receive, or agree to take or receive in money, goods or things in action or in any other way any greater sum or any greater value for the loan or forbearance of money, goods or things in action than twelve per cent per annum; and in the computation of interest the same shall not be compounded. Any violation of this section shall be deemed usury; provided, that any contract to pay interest not usurious on interest overdue shall not be deemed usury. §§ 2, c. 184, 1890.
2, c. 131, 1893.

§ 4065. Interest taken in advance. The interest which would become due at the end of the term for which a loan is made, not exceeding ninety days' interest in all, may be deducted from the loan in advance if the parties thus agree. § 1099, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 4066. Penalty for usury. The taking, receiving, reserving or charging a rate of interest greater than is allowed by section 4064, when knowingly done, shall be deemed a forfeiture of the entire interest which the note, bill or other evidence of debt carries with it or which has been agreed to be paid thereon. In case the greater rate of interest has been paid the person by whom it has been paid, or his legal representatives, may recover back in an action for that purpose twice the amount of interest thus paid from the person taking or receiving the same; provided, that such action is commenced within two years from the time the usurious transaction occurred. §§ 1100, Civil C.
1, c. 207, 1887.
3, c. 131, 1893.
am'd.

§ 4067. Judgments bear seven per cent. Interest is payable on judgments recovered in the courts of this state at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and no greater rate, but such interest must not be compounded in any manner or form. § 1101, Civil C.

§ 4068. Same rate before and after breach. Any legal rate of interest stipulated by a contract remains chargeable after a breach thereof, as before, until the contract is superseded by a verdict or other new obligation. § 1102, Civil C.

CHAPTER 49.

HIRING.

ARTICLE 1.—HIRING IN GENERAL.

- § 1103, Civil C. § 4069. Defined. Hiring is a contract by which one gives to another the temporary possession and use of property, other than money, for reward and the latter agrees to return the same to the former at a future time.
- § 1104, Civil C. § 4070. Products belong to hirer. The products of a thing hired during the hiring belong to the hirer.
- § 1105, Civil C. § 4071. Quiet possession. An agreement to let upon hire binds the letter to secure to the hirer the quiet possession of the thing hired during the term of the hiring against all persons lawfully claiming the same.
- § 1106, Civil C. § 4072. Ordinary care. The hirer of a thing must use ordinary care for its preservation in safety and in good condition.
- § 1107, Civil C. § 4073. Repair injuries. The hirer of a thing must repair all deteriorations or injuries thereto occasioned by his ordinary negligence.
- § 1108, Civil C. § 4074. Use only for purpose let. When a thing is let for a particular purpose the hirer must not use it for any other purpose; and if he does the latter may hold him responsible for its safety during such use in all events or may treat the contract as thereby rescinded.
- § 1109, Civil C. § 4075. When letter may terminate hiring. The letter of a thing may terminate the hiring and reclaim the thing before the end of the term agreed upon:
1. When the hirer uses or permits a use of the thing hired in a manner contrary to the agreement of the parties; or,
 2. When the hirer does not within a reasonable time after request make such repairs as he is bound to make.
- § 1110, Civil C. § 4076. When hirer may terminate. The hirer of a thing may terminate the hiring before the end of the term agreed upon:
1. When the letter does not within a reasonable time after request fulfill his obligations, if any, as to placing and securing the hirer in the quiet possession of the thing hired, or putting it into a good condition, or repairing; or,
 2. When the greater part of the thing hired or that part, which was and which the letter had at the time of the hiring reason to believe was the material inducement to the hirer to enter into the contract, perishes from any other cause than the ordinary negligence of the hirer.
- § 1111, Civil C. § 4077. When hiring terminated. The hiring of a thing terminates:
1. At the end of the term agreed upon.
 2. By the mutual consent of the parties.
 3. By the hirer acquiring a title to the thing hired superior to that of the letter; or,
 4. By the destruction of the thing hired.
- § 1112, Civil C. § 4078. When terminated by death. If the hiring of a thing is terminable at the pleasure of one of the parties it is terminated by notice to the other of his death or incapacity to contract. In other cases it is not terminated thereby.

§ 4079. Proportionate hire paid, when. When the hiring of a thing is terminated before the time originally agreed upon the hirer must pay the due proportion of the hire for such use as he has actually made of the thing, unless such use is merely nominal and of no benefit to him. § 1113, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 2. — HIRING OF REAL PROPERTY.

§ 4080. Obligations of lessor of dwelling. The lessor of a building intended for the occupation of human beings must in the absence of an agreement to the contrary put it into a condition fit for such occupation and repair all subsequent dilapidations thereof, except that the lessee must repair all deteriorations or injuries thereto occasioned by his ordinary negligence. § 1114, CIVIL C.

§ 4081. When lessee may repair or vacate. If within a reasonable time after notice to the lessor of dilapidations which he ought to repair he neglects to do so the lessee may repair the same himself and deduct the expense of such repairs from the rent, or otherwise recover it from the lessor; or the lessee may vacate the premises, in which case he shall be discharged from further payment of rent or performance of other conditions. § 1115, CIVIL C.

§ 4082. Hiring of realty presumed for one year. A hiring of real property, other than lodgings, in places where there is no usage on the subject is presumed to be for one year from its commencement, unless otherwise expressed in the hiring. § 1116, CIVIL C.

§ 4083. Of lodgings for rent term. A hiring of lodgings for an unspecified term is presumed to have been made for such length of time as the parties adopt for the estimation of the rent. Thus a hiring at a weekly rate of rent is presumed to be for one week. In the absence of any agreement respecting the length of time of the rent the hiring is presumed to be monthly. § 1117, CIVIL C.

§ 4084. When hiring presumed renewed. If a lessee of real property remains in possession thereof after the expiration of the hiring and the lessor accepts rent from him the parties are presumed to have renewed the hiring on the same terms and for the same time, not exceeding one year. § 1118, CIVIL C.

§ 4085. Same when no term originally specified. A hiring of real property for a term not specified by the parties is deemed to be renewed as stated in the last section at the end of the term implied by law, unless one of the parties gives notice to the other of his intention to terminate the same, at least as long before the expiration thereof as the term of the hiring itself, not exceeding one month. § 1119, CIVIL C.

§ 4086. Rents, when payable. When there is no contract or usage to the contrary the rent of agricultural and wild land is payable yearly at the end of each year. Rents of lodgings are payable monthly at the end of each month. Other rents are payable quarterly at the end of each quarter from the time the hiring takes effect. The rent for a hiring shorter than the periods herein specified is payable at the termination of the hiring. § 1120, CIVIL C.

§ 4087. Notice of adverse proceedings. Every tenant who receives notice of any proceeding to recover the real property occupied by him, or the possession thereof, must immediately inform his landlord of the same and also deliver to the landlord the notice, if § 1121, CIVIL C.

in writing, and is responsible to the landlord for all damages which he may sustain by reason of any omission to inform him of the notice or to deliver it to him if in writing. The attornment of a tenant to a stranger is void, unless it is made with the consent of the landlord or in consequence of a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction.

§ 1122, Civil C.

§ 4088. Double letting of room prohibited. One who hires part of a room for a dwelling is entitled to the whole of the room, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary; and if a landlord lets a room as a dwelling for more than one family, the person to whom he first lets any part of it is entitled to the possession of the whole room for the term agreed upon and every tenant in the building under the same landlord is relieved from all obligation to pay rent to him while such double letting of any room continues.

ARTICLE 3. — HIRING OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 1123, Civil C.

§ 4089. Obligations of letter of personalty. One who lets personal property must deliver it to the hirer, secure his quiet enjoyment thereof against all lawful claimants, put it into a condition fit for the purpose for which he lets it and repair all deteriorations thereof not occasioned by the fault of the hirer and not the natural result of its use.

§ 1124, Civil C.

§ 4090. Hirer bears ordinary expenses. A hirer of personal property must bear all such expenses concerning it as might naturally be foreseen to attend it during its use by him. All other expenses must be borne by the letter.

§ 1125, Civil C.

§ 4091. Rights when section 4089 not complied with. If a letter fails to fulfill his obligations as prescribed by section 4089, the hirer after giving him notice to do so, if such notice can conveniently be given, may expend any reasonable amount necessary to make good the letter's default and may recover such amount from him.

§ 1126, Civil C.

§ 4092. Return of thing hired. At the expiration of the term for which personal property is hired the hirer must return it to the letter at the place contemplated by the parties at the time of hiring, or if no particular place was so contemplated by them, at the place at which it was at that time.

§ 1127, Civil C.

§ 4093. Charter party. The contract by which a ship is let is termed a charter party. By it the owner may either let the capacity or burden of the ship, continuing the employment of the owner's master, crew and equipments, or may surrender the entire ship to the charterer, who then provides them himself. The master or part owner may be a charterer.

CHAPTER 50.

SERVICE.

ARTICLE 1. — DEFINITION OF EMPLOYMENT.

§ 4094. Employment defined. The contract of employment § 1128, CIVIL C. is a contract by which one, who is called the employer, engages another, who is called the employee, to do something for the benefit of the employer or of a third person.

ARTICLE 2. — OBLIGATIONS OF THE EMPLOYER.

§ 4095. Indemnity to employee. An employer must indemnify § 1129, CIVIL C. his employee except as prescribed in the next section for all that he necessarily expends or loses in direct consequence of the discharge of his duties as such or of his obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee at the time of obeying such directions believed them to be unlawful.

§ 4096. Ordinary risks. Co-employees. An employer is not § 1130, CIVIL C. bound to indemnify his employee for losses suffered by the latter in consequence of the ordinary risks of the business in which he is employed, nor in consequence of the negligence of another person employed by the same employer in the same general business, unless he has neglected to use ordinary care in the selection of the culpable employee.

§ 4097. Employer's negligence. An employer must in all § 1131, CIVIL C. cases indemnify his employee for losses caused by the former's want of ordinary care.

ARTICLE 3. — OBLIGATIONS OF THE EMPLOYEE.

§ 4098. Obligations of gratuitous employee. One who § 1132, CIVIL C. without consideration undertakes to do a service for another is not bound to perform the same, but if he actually enters upon its performance he must use at least slight care and diligence therein.

§ 4099. Same. One who by his own special request induces § 1133, CIVIL C. another to intrust him with the performance of a service must perform the same fully. In other cases one who undertakes a gratuitous service may relinquish it at any time.

§ 4100. Same. Power of attorney. A gratuitous employee § 1134, CIVIL C. who accepts a written power of attorney must act under it so long as it remains in force, or until he gives notice to his employer that he will not do so.

§ 4101. Duties of employee for reward. One who for a good § 1135, CIVIL C. consideration agrees to serve another must perform the service and must use ordinary care and diligence therein so long as he is thus employed.

§ 4102. Employee for his own benefit. One who is employed § 1136, CIVIL C. at his own request to do that which is more for his own advantage than for that of his employer must use great care and diligence therein to protect the interests of the latter.

- § 1137, Civil C. § 4103. Contract for personal services. Two years. A contract to render personal service, other than a contract of apprenticeship, as provided in the chapter on master and servant, cannot be enforced against the employee beyond the term of two years from the commencement of service under it, but if the employee voluntarily continues his services under it beyond that time the contract may be referred to as affording a presumptive measure of the compensation.
- § 1138, Civil C. § 4104. Must obey employer. An employee must substantially comply with all the directions of his employer concerning the service on which he is engaged, even though contrary to the provisions of this and the two succeeding chapters, except when such obedience is impossible or unlawful, or would impose new and unreasonable burdens upon the employee, or in case of an emergency, which, according to the best information which the employee can with reasonable diligence obtain the employer did not contemplate, in which he cannot with reasonable diligence be consulted and in which non-compliance is judged by the employee in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable discretion to be absolutely necessary for the protection of the employer's interest. In all such cases the employee must conform as nearly to the directions of his employer as may be reasonably practicable, and most for the interest of the latter.
- § 1139, Civil C. § 4105. Conform to usage. An employee must perform his service in conformity to the usage of the place of performance, unless otherwise directed by his employer, or unless it is impracticable, or manifestly injurious to his employer to do so.
- § 1140, Civil C. § 4106. Reasonable skill. An employee is bound to exercise a reasonable degree of skill, unless his employer has notice before employing him of his want of skill.
- § 1141, Civil C. § 4107. Use all skill possessed. An employee is bound to use such skill as he possesses so far as the same is required for the service specified.
- § 1142, Civil C. § 4108. What belongs to employer. Everything which an employee acquires by virtue of his employment, except the compensation, if any, which is due to him from his employer, belongs to the latter, whether acquired lawfully or unlawfully, or during or after the expiration of the term of his employment.
- § 1143, Civil C. § 4109. Account to employer. An employee must on demand render to his employer just accounts of all his transactions in the course of his service as often as may be reasonable and must without demand give prompt notice to his employer of everything which he receives for his account.
- § 1144, Civil C. § 4110. Not to deliver without demand. An employee, who receives anything on account of his employer in any capacity other than that of a mere servant, is not bound to deliver it to him until demanded, and is not at liberty to send it to him from a distance without demand in any mode involving greater risk than its retention by the employee himself.
- § 1145, Civil C. § 4111. Employer's business to receive preference. An employee who has any business to transact on his own account similar to that intrusted to him by his employer must always give the latter the preference. If intrusted with similar affairs by different employers, he must give them preference according to their relative urgency, or other things being equal, according to the order in which they were committed to him.

§ 4112. Ordinary care in selecting substitute. An employee who is expressly authorized to employ a substitute is liable to his principal only for want of ordinary care in his selection. The substitute is directly responsible to the principal. § 1146, CIVIL C.

§ 4113. Liability for culpable negligence. An employee who is guilty of a culpable degree of negligence is liable to his employer for the damage thereby caused to the latter; and the employer is liable to him if the service is not gratuitous for the value of such services only as are properly rendered. § 1147, CIVIL C.

§ 4114. When surviving employee to act. When service is to be rendered by two or more persons jointly and one of them dies, the survivor must act alone if the service to be rendered is such as he can rightly perform without the aid of the deceased person, but not otherwise. § 1148, CIVIL C.

§ 4115. Confidential employments. The obligations peculiar to confidential employments are defined in chapters 58 and 59. § 1149, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 4.—TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT.

§ 4116. What terminates employment. Every employment in which the power of the employee is not coupled with an interest in its subject is terminated by notice to him of: § 1150, CIVIL C.

1. The death of the employer; or,
2. His legal incapacity to contract.

Every employment is terminated:

1. By the expiration of its appointed term.
2. By the extinction of its subject.
3. By the death of the employee; or,
4. By his legal incapacity to act as such.

§ 4117. Continuance in certain cases. An employee, unless the term of his service has expired or unless he has a right to discontinue it at any time without notice, must continue his service after notice of the death or incapacity of his employer, so far as is necessary to protect from serious injury the interests of the employer's successor in interest, until a reasonable time after notice of the facts has been communicated to such successor. The successor must compensate the employee for such service according to the terms of the contract of employment. § 1151, CIVIL C.

§ 4118. At will on notice. An employment, having no specified term, may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other, except when otherwise provided by this chapter. § 1152, CIVIL C.

§ 4119. For willful breach of duty or incapacity. An employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated at any time by the employer in case of any willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of his employment or in case of his habitual neglect of his duty or continued incapacity to perform it. § 1153, CIVIL C.

§ 4120. For breach of employer's obligations. Any employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated by the employee at any time in case of any willful or permanent breach of the obligations of his employer to him as an employee. § 1154, CIVIL C.

§ 4121. Compensation when dismissed for cause. An employee dismissed by his employer for good cause is not entitled to any compensation for services rendered since the last day upon which a payment became due to him under the contract. § 1155, CIVIL C.

- § 1156, CIVIL C. § 4122. Compensation when employee quits for cause. An employee who quits the service of his employer for good cause is entitled to such proportion of the compensation which would become due in case of full performance, as the services which he has already rendered bear to the services which he was to render as full performance.

CHAPTER 51.

PARTICULAR EMPLOYMENTS.

ARTICLE 1. — MASTER AND SERVANT.

- § 1157, CIVIL C. § 4123. Servant defined. A servant is one who is employed to render personal service to his employer, otherwise than in the pursuit of an independent calling, and who in such service remains entirely under the control and direction of the latter, who is called his master.
- § 1158, CIVIL C. § 4124. Hiring presumed to be for wage-term. A servant is presumed to have been hired for such length of time as the parties adopt for the estimation of wages. A hiring at a yearly rate is presumed to be for one year; a hiring at a daily rate, for one day; a hiring by piece work, for no specified term.
- § 1159, CIVIL C. § 4125. Month presumed. In the absence of any agreement or custom as to the rate or value of wages the term of service or the time of payment, a servant is presumed to be hired by the month at a monthly rate of reasonable wages, to be paid when the service is performed.
- § 1160, CIVIL C. § 4126. Renewal for same term and wages presumed. When after the expiration of an agreement respecting the wages and the term of service the parties continue the relation of master and servant, they are presumed to have renewed the agreement for the same wages and term of service.
- § 1161, CIVIL C. § 4127. Time belongs to whom. The entire time of a domestic servant belongs to the master and the time of other servants, to such extent as is usual in the business in which they serve, not exceeding in any case ten hours in a day.
- § 1162, CIVIL C. § 4128. Must account to master. A servant must deliver to his master, as soon as with reasonable diligence he can find him, everything that he receives for his account without demand; but he is not bound without orders from his master to send anything to him through another person.
- § 1163, CIVIL C. § 4129. Causes for discharge. A master may discharge any servant, other than an apprentice, whether engaged for a fixed term or not:
1. If he is guilty of misconduct in the course of his service or of gross immorality, though unconnected with the same; or,
 2. If, being employed about the person of the master or in a confidential position, the master discovers that he has been guilty of misconduct before or after the commencement of his service of such a nature that if the master had known or contemplated it, he would not have so employed him.

ARTICLE 2. — AGENTS.

§ 4130. Must not exceed authority. An agent must not § 1164, Civil C. exceed the limits of his actual authority as defined by the chapters on agency.

§ 4131. Keep principal informed. An agent must use ordi- § 1165, Civil C. nary diligence to keep his principal informed of his acts in the course of the agency.

§ 4132. Duty as collector of negotiable instrument. An § 1166, Civil C. agent employed to collect a negotiable instrument must collect it promptly and take all measures necessary to charge the parties thereto in case of its dishonor, and, if it is a bill of exchange, must present it for acceptance with reasonable diligence.

§ 4133. Responsibility of subagent. A mere agent of an § 1167, Civil C. agent is not responsible as such to the principal of the latter.

ARTICLE 3. — FACTORS.

§ 4134. Defined. A factor is an agent who in the pursuit of an § 1168, Civil C. independent calling is employed by another to sell property for him and is vested by the latter with the possession or control of the property or authorized to receive payment therefor from the purchaser.

§ 4135. Must obey instructions. Exception. A factor § 1169, Civil C. must obey the instructions of his principal to the same extent as any other employee, notwithstanding any advances he may have made to his principal upon the property consigned to him except that, if the principal forbids him to sell at the market price, he may nevertheless sell for his reimbursement after giving to his principal reasonable notice of his intention to do so and of the time and place of sale and proceeding in all respects as a pledgee.

§ 4136. Give usual credit. A factor may sell property con- § 1170, Civil C. signed to him on such credit as is usual, but, having once agreed with the purchaser upon the terms of credit, may not extend it.

§ 4137. Liability under guarantee commission. A factor § 1171, Civil C. who charges his principal with a guarantee commission upon a sale thereby assumes absolutely to pay the price when it falls due as if it was a debt of his own and not as a mere guarantor for the purchaser; but he does not thereby assume any additional responsibility for the safety of his remittance of the proceeds.

§ 4138. How agreement to guarantee released. A factor § 1172, Civil C. who receives property for sale under a general agreement or usage to guarantee the sale or the remittance of the proceeds cannot relieve himself from responsibility therefor without the consent of his principal.

ARTICLE 4. — SHIPMASTERS.

§ 4139. Appointed by owner. The master of a ship is ap- § 1173, Civil C. pointed by the owner and holds during his pleasure. The word “ship” as used in this code shall be construed to mean any boat, vessel or structure fitted for navigation.

§ 4140. When master to be on board. The master of a ship § 1174, Civil C. is bound to be always on board when entering or leaving port. The word “port” as used in this code shall be construed to mean any place

- on a navigable river or lake where a vessel lands to receive or put off freight or passengers or for any other purpose and when a vessel has made a landing it is said to be in port.
- § 1175, CIVIL C. § 4141. Taking pilot. Before leaving a port the master of a ship must take a pilot on board and the navigation of the vessel devolves on him.
- § 1176, CIVIL C. § 4142. Power over seamen. The master of a ship may enforce the obedience of the mate and crew to his lawful commands by confinement and other reasonable corporal punishment not prohibited by law, being responsible for the abuse of his power.
- § 1177, CIVIL C. § 4143. Power over passengers. The master of a ship may confine any person on board during a voyage for willful disobedience to his lawful command.
- § 1178, CIVIL C. § 4144. May take private supplies. If during a voyage the ship's supplies fail the master with the advice of the officers may compel persons who have private supplies on board to surrender them for the common want on payment of their value or giving security therefor.
- § 1179, CIVIL C. § 4145. When may abandon ship. The master of a ship must not abandon it during the voyage without the advice of the other officers.
- § 1180, CIVIL C. § 4146. On abandonment must take away valuables. The master of a ship upon abandoning it must carry with him so far as it is in his power the money and the most valuable of the goods on board under penalty of being personally responsible. If the articles thus taken are lost from causes beyond his control he is exonerated from liability.
- § 1181, CIVIL C. § 4147. Cannot trade on his own account. The master of a ship who engages for a common profit on the cargo must not trade on his own account and if he does he must account to his employer for all profits thus made by him.
- § 1182, CIVIL C. § 4148. Great care and diligence. The master of a ship must use great care and diligence in the performance of his duties and is responsible for all damage occasioned by his negligence, however slight.
- § 1183, CIVIL C. § 4149. Chapter 61 applies. The authority and liability of the master of a ship as an agent for the owners of the ship and cargo are regulated by chapter 61.

ARTICLE 5.—MATES AND SEAMEN.

- § 1184, CIVIL C. § 4150. Mate defined. The mate of a ship is the officer next in command to the master.
- § 1185, CIVIL C. § 4151. Seamen defined. All persons employed in the navigation of a ship or upon a voyage, other than the master and mate, are to be deemed seamen within the provisions of this code.
- § 1186, CIVIL C. § 4152. Engaged by master. Cause for discharge. The mate and seamen of a ship are engaged by the master and may be discharged by him at any period of the voyage for willful and persistent disobedience or gross disqualification, but cannot otherwise be discharged before the termination of the voyage.
- § 1187, CIVIL C. § 4153. Unseaworthy vessel. A mate or seaman is not bound to go on a voyage in a ship that is not seaworthy; and if there is reasonable doubt of its seaworthiness he may refuse to proceed until a proper survey has been had.

§ 4154. Agreement to abandon wages or lien void. A § 1188, CIVIL C.
seaman cannot by reason of any agreement be deprived of his lien upon the ship or of any remedy for the recovery of his wages to which he would otherwise have been entitled. Any stipulation by which he consents to abandon his right to wages in case of the loss of a ship or to abandon any right he may have or obtain in the nature of salvage is void.

§ 4155. When special agreement of seamen is binding. No § 1189, CIVIL C.
special agreement entered into by a seaman can impair any of his rights or add to any of his obligations as defined by law, unless he fully understands the effect of the agreement and receives a fair compensation therefor.

§ 4156. When wages due. Except as hereinafter provided § 1190, CIVIL C. the wages of seamen are due when and so far only as freightage is earned, unless the loss of freightage is owing to the fault of the owner or master.

§ 4157. When wages begin. The right of a mate or seaman § 1191, CIVIL C. to wages and provisions begins either from the time he begins work, or from the time specified in the agreement for his beginning work, or from his presence on board, whichever first happens.

§ 4158. Wages when voyage broken up. When a voyage § 1192, CIVIL C. is broken up before departure of the ship, the seamen must be paid for the time they have served and may retain for their indemnity such advances as they have received.

§ 4159. Full wages when wrongfully discharged. When § 1193, CIVIL C. a mate or seaman is wrongfully discharged or is driven to leave the ship by the cruelty of the master on the voyage, it is then ended with respect to him and he may thereupon recover his full wages.

§ 4160. Wages after loss or wreck. In case of loss or § 1194, CIVIL C. wreck of the ship a seaman is entitled to his wages up to the time of the loss or wreck, whether freightage has been earned or not, if he exerts himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo and stores.

§ 4161. Certificate of master, evidence. A certificate from § 1195, CIVIL C. the master or chief surviving officer of a ship to the effect that a seaman exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo and stores is presumptive evidence of the fact.

§ 4162. Wages when disabled without fault. When a § 1196, CIVIL C. mate or seaman is prevented from rendering service by illness or injury, incurred without his fault, in the discharge of his duty on the voyage or by being wrongfully discharged, or by a capture of the ship he is entitled to wages notwithstanding.

§ 4163. Expenses of sickness borne by ship. If a mate § 1197, CIVIL C. or seaman becomes sick or disabled during the voyage without his fault, the expense of furnishing him with suitable medical advice, medicine, attendance and other provision for his wants must be borne by the ship until the close of the voyage.

§ 4164. Wages to time of death. If a mate or seaman dies § 1198, CIVIL C.
during the voyage, his personal representatives are entitled to his wages to the time of his death, if he would have been entitled to them had he lived to the end of the voyage.

§ 4165. Desertion, etc., forfeits wages. Desertion of the ship § 1199, CIVIL C.
without cause, or a justifiable discharge by the master during the voyage for misconduct, or a theft of any part of the cargo or appurtenances of the ship, or a willful injury thereto or to the ship forfeits all wages due for the voyage to a mate or seaman thus in fault.

- § 1200, CIVIL C. § 4166. Cannot ship goods. A mate or seaman may not under any pretext ship goods on his own account without permission from the master.
- § 1201, CIVIL C. § 4167. Embezzlement or injury made good. If any part of the cargo or appurtenances of a ship is embezzled or injured by the mate or a seaman, the offender, or if it is not known which is the offender, all those of whom negligence or fault may be presumed must make good the loss.
- § 1202, CIVIL C. § 4168. Further regulations. The shipment of officers and seamen and their rights and duties are further regulated by law.

ARTICLE 6. — SHIP'S MANAGERS.

- § 1203, CIVIL C. § 4169. Defined. The general agent for the owners in respect to the care of a ship and freight is called the manager; if he is a part owner he is also called the managing owner.
- § 1204, CIVIL C. § 4170. Duties of. Unless otherwise directed, it is the duty of the manager of a ship to provide for the complete seaworthiness of the ship; to take care of it in port; to see that it is provided with necessary papers, with a proper master, mate and crew and supplies of provisions and stores.
- § 1205, CIVIL C. § 4171. Managing owner. A managing owner is presumed to have no right to compensation for his own services.

CHAPTER 52.

SERVICE WITHOUT EMPLOYMENT.

- § 1206, CIVIL C. § 4172. No compensation. Expenses allowed. One who officiously and without the consent of the real or apparent owner of a thing takes it into his possession for the purpose of rendering a service about it must complete such service and use ordinary care, diligence and reasonable skill about the same. He is not entitled to any compensation for his service or expenses, except that he may deduct actual and necessary expenses incurred by him about such service from any profits which his service has caused the thing to acquire for its owner and must account to the owner for the residue.
- § 1207, CIVIL C. § 4173. Salvage. Any person other than the master, mate or a seaman thereof who rescues a ship, her appurtenances or cargo from danger is entitled to a reasonable compensation therefor, to be paid out of the property saved. He has lien for such claim which is regulated by chapters 72 and 85.

CHAPTER 53.

CARRIAGE IN GENERAL.

§ 4174. Contract for defined. The contract of carriage is a contract for the conveyance of property, persons or messages from one place to another. § 1208, Civil C.

§ 4175. Classified. Carriage is either: § 1209, Civil C.

1. Inland; or,
2. Marine.

§ 4176. Classes defined. Carriers upon the ocean, upon arms of the sea, upon the great lakes or such other navigable waters or rivers as are within the admiralty jurisdiction of the United States are marine carriers. All others are inland carriers. § 1210, Civil C.

§ 4177. Carriers by sea. Rights and duties peculiar to carriers by sea are defined by acts of congress. § 1211, Civil C.

§ 4178. Carriers without reward. Carriers without reward are subject to the same rules as employees without reward, except so far as is otherwise provided by the following chapters on carriage. § 1212, Civil C.

§ 4179. Same. Must complete carriage. A carrier without reward, who has begun to perform his undertaking, must complete it in like manner as if he had received a reward, unless he restores the person or thing carried to as favorable a position as before he commenced the carriage. § 1213, Civil C.

CHAPTER 54.

CARRIAGE OF PERSONS.

ARTICLE 1.—GRATUITOUS CARRIAGE OF PERSONS.

§ 4180. Must use ordinary care. A carrier of persons without reward must use ordinary care and diligence for their safe carriage. § 1214, Civil C.

ARTICLE 2.—CARRIAGE FOR REWARD.

§ 4181. Utmost care and diligence. A carrier of persons for reward must use the utmost care and diligence for their safe carriage, must provide everything necessary for that purpose and must exercise to that end a reasonable degree of skill. § 1215, Civil C.

§ 4182. Must use safe vehicles. A carrier of persons for reward is bound to provide vehicles safe and fit for the purposes to which they are put and is not excused for default in this respect by any degree of care. § 1216, Civil C.

§ 4183. Must not overload. A carrier of persons for reward must not overcrowd or overload his vehicle. § 1217, Civil C.

§ 4184. Treatment of passengers. A carrier of persons for reward must give to passengers all such accommodations as are usual and are reasonable, must treat them with civility and give them a reasonable degree of attention. § 1218, Civil C.

§ 1219, Civil C. § 4185. Must travel at reasonable speed. A carrier of persons for reward must travel at a reasonable rate of speed and without any unreasonable delay or deviation from his proper route.

CHAPTER 55.

CARRIAGE OF PROPERTY.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL DEFINITIONS.

§ 1220, Civil C. § 4186. Freight, freightage, consignor and consignee defined. Property carried is called freight; the reward, if any, to be paid for its carriage is called freightage; the person who delivers the freight to the carrier is called the consignor and the person to whom it is to be delivered is called the consignee.

ARTICLE 2.—OBLIGATIONS OF THE CARRIER.

§ 1221, Civil C. § 4187. Ordinary care for reward; without reward, slight. A carrier of property for reward must use at least ordinary care and diligence in the performance of all his duties. A carrier without reward must use at least slight care and diligence.

§ 1222, Civil C. § 4188. Must comply with directions. A carrier must comply with the directions of the consignor or consignee to the same extent that an employee is bound to comply with those of his employer.

§ 1223, Civil C. § 4189. Conflicting directions. When the directions of a consignor and consignee are conflicting the carrier must comply with those of the consignor in respect to all matters except the delivery of the freight, as to which he must comply with the directions of the consignee, unless the consignor has specially forbidden the carrier to receive orders from the consignee inconsistent with his own.

§ 1224, Civil C. § 4190. Storage by marine carrier. Deviation. A marine carrier must not stow freight upon deck during the voyage, except when it is usual to do so, nor make any improper deviation from or delay in the voyage, nor do any other unnecessary act which would avoid an insurance in the usual form upon the freight.

§ 1225, Civil C. § 4191. Manner of delivery. A carrier of property must deliver it to the consignee at the place to which it is addressed in the manner usual at that place.

§ 1226, Civil C. § 4192. Place of delivery, when no usage. If there is no usage to the contrary at the place of delivery freight must be delivered as follows:

1. If carried upon a railway owned and managed by the carrier it may be delivered at the station nearest the place to which it is addressed.

2. If carried by sea from a foreign country it may be delivered at the wharf where the ship moors within a reasonable distance from the place of address; or if there is no wharf, on board a lighter alongside the ship; or,

3. In other cases it must be delivered to the consignee or his agent personally, if either can with reasonable diligence be found.

§ 4193. Notice to consignee. When carrier becomes warehouseman. If for any reason a carrier does not deliver freight to the consignee or his agent personally, he must give notice to the consignee of its arrival and keep the same in safety upon his responsibility as a warehouseman until the consignee has had a reasonable time to remove it. If the place of residence or business of the consignee is unknown to the carrier, he may give the notice by letter dropped in the nearest post office. § 1227, Civil C.

§ 4194. Liability terminated. If a consignee does not accept and remove freight within a reasonable time after the carrier has fulfilled his obligation to deliver or duly offered to fulfill the same, the carrier may exonerate himself from further liability by placing the freight in a suitable warehouse on storage on account of the consignee and giving notice thereof to him. § 1228, Civil C.

§ 4195. When unclaimed property may be sold. Whenever any trunk, carpetbag, valise, bundle, package or article of property transported or coming into the possession of any railroad, or express company or any other common carrier in the course of his or its business as common carrier shall remain unclaimed and the legal charges thereon unpaid during the space of six months after its arrival at the point to which it shall have been directed and the owner or person to whom the same is consigned cannot be found upon diligent inquiry or, being found and notified of the arrival of such article, shall refuse or neglect to receive the same and pay the legal charges thereon for the space of three months, it shall be lawful for such common carrier to sell such article at public auction after giving the owner or consignee fifteen days' notice of the time and place of sale through the post office and by advertising in a newspaper published in the county where such sale is made and out of the proceeds of such sale to pay all legal charges on such article and the amount over, if any, shall be paid to the owner or consignee upon demand. § 1, c. 51, 1879.

§ 4197. Applies to hotel keepers. The provisions of the last two sections shall apply to hotel keepers and warehousemen. § 3, c. 51, 1879.

ARTICLE 3.—BILL OF LADING.

§ 4198. Defined. A bill of lading is an instrument in writing signed by a carrier or his agent, describing the freight so as to identify it, stating the name of the consignor, the terms of the contract for carriage and agreeing or directing that the freight be delivered to the order or assigns of a specified person at a specified place. § 1229, Civil C.

§ 4199. Negotiable. All the title to the freight which the first holder of a bill of lading had when he received it passes to every subsequent indorsee thereof in good faith and for value in the § 1230, Civil C.

ordinary course of business with like effect and in like manner as in the case of a bill of exchange.

§ 1231, Civil C. § 4200. When delivery transfers. When a bill of lading is made to bearer or in equivalent terms a simple transfer thereof by delivery conveys the same title as an indorsement.

§ 1232, Civil C. § 4201. Obligations of carrier not altered. A bill of lading does not alter the rights or obligation of the carrier as defined in this chapter unless it is plainly inconsistent therewith.

§ 1233, Civil C. § 4202. Carrier must give sets of bills, on demand. A carrier must subscribe and deliver to the consignor on demand any reasonable number of bills of lading of the same tenor, expressing truly the original contract for carriage; and if he refuses to do so the consignor may take the freight from him and recover from him besides all damages thereby occasioned.

§ 1234, Civil C. § 4203. Carrier exonerated by delivering freight to holder. A carrier is exonerated from liability for freight by delivery thereof in good faith to any holder of a bill of lading therefor, properly indorsed, or made in favor of the bearer.

§ 1235, Civil C. § 4204. When surrender required. When a carrier has given a bill of lading or other instrument substantially equivalent thereto, he may require its surrender or a reasonable indemnity against claims thereon before delivering the freight.

ARTICLE 4. — FREIGHTAGE.

§ 1236, Civil C. § 4205. In advance. Exception. A carrier may require his freightage to be paid upon his receiving the freight; but if he does not demand it then, he cannot until he is ready to deliver the freight to the consignee.

§ 1237, Civil C. § 4206. Consignor liable for freightage. Exception. The consignor of freight is presumed to be liable for the freightage, but if the contract between him and the carrier provides that the consignee shall pay it and the carrier allows the consignee to take the freight, he cannot afterwards recover the freightage from the consignor.

§ 1238, Civil C. § 4207. When consignee liable. The consignee of freight is liable for the freightage if he accepts the freight with notice of the intention of the consignor that he should pay it.

§ 1239, Civil C. § 4208. No freightage on increase. No freightage can be charged upon the natural increase of freight.

§ 1240, Civil C. § 4209. Apportioned. Payment accordingly. If freightage is apportioned by a bill of lading or other contract made between a consignor and carrier the carrier is entitled to payment according to the apportionment for so much as he delivers.

§ 1241, Civil C. § 4210. Part accepted. Freightage apportioned. If a part of the freight is accepted by a consignee without a specific objection that the rest is not delivered, the freightage must be apportioned and paid as to that part, though not apportioned in the original contract.

§ 1242, Civil C. § 4211. According to distance. At place short of destination. Qualification. If a consignee voluntarily receives freight at a place short of the one appointed for delivery the carrier is entitled to a just proportion of the freightage according to distance. If the carrier, being ready and willing, offers to complete the transit he is entitled to the full freightage. If he does not thus offer completion and the consignee receives the freight only from necessity, the carrier is not entitled to any freightage.

§ 4212. No extra freightage for carrying further. If freight is carried further or more expeditiously than was agreed upon by the parties, the carrier is not entitled to additional compensation and cannot refuse to deliver it on the demand of the consignee at the place and time of its arrival. § 1243, Civil C.

§ 4213. Lien for freightage. A carrier has a lien for freightage which is regulated by chapters 72, 84 and 85 of this code. § 1244, Civil C.

ARTICLE 5. — GENERAL AVERAGE.

§ 4214. Jettison and general average. A carrier by water may, when in case of extreme peril it is necessary for the safety of the ship or cargo, throw overboard or otherwise sacrifice any or all of the cargo or appurtenances of the ship: Throwing property overboard for such purpose is called jettison and the loss incurred thereby is called a general average loss. § 1245, Civil C.

§ 4216. Jettison ordered only by master. Exception. A jettison can be made only by authority of the master of a ship, except in case of his disability or of an overruling necessity, when it may be made by any other person. § 1247, Civil C.

§ 4217. How loss by jettison apportioned. The loss incurred by a jettison, when lawfully made, must be borne in due proportion by all that part of the ship, appurtenances, freightage and cargo for the benefit of which the sacrifice is made as well as by the owner of the thing sacrificed. § 1248, Civil C.

§ 4218. Loss by jettison. Adjustment. The proportions in which a general average loss is to be borne must be ascertained by an adjustment in which the owner of each separate interest is to be charged with such proportion of the value of the thing lost as the value of his part of the property affected bears to the value of the whole. But an adjustment made at the end of a voyage, if valid there, is valid everywhere. § 1249, Civil C.

§ 4219. Values of ship, etc., how estimated. In estimating values for the purpose of a general average the ship and appurtenances must be valued as at the end of the voyage, the freightage at one-half the amount due on delivery and the cargo as at the time and place of its discharge; adding in each case the amount made good by contribution. § 1250, Civil C.

§ 4220. When deck stowage entitled to contribution. The owner of things stowed on deck in case of their jettison is entitled to the benefit of a general average contribution only in case it is usual to stow such things on deck upon such a voyage. § 1251, Civil C.

§ 4221. These rules applicable to every sacrifice. The rules herein stated concerning jettison are equally applicable to every other voluntary sacrifice of property on a ship or expense necessarily incurred for the preservation of the ship and cargo from extraordinary perils. § 1252, Civil C.

CHAPTER 56.

CARRIAGE OF MESSAGES.

- § 1253, Civil C. § 4222. Delivery. A carrier of messages for reward must deliver them at the place to which they are addressed or to the persons for whom they are intended.
- § 1254, Civil C. § 4223. Great care. By telegraph, utmost diligence. A carrier of messages for reward must use great care and diligence in the transmission and delivery of messages. A carrier by telegraph must use the utmost diligence therein.

CHAPTER 57.

COMMON CARRIERS.

ARTICLE 1. — COMMON CARRIERS IN GENERAL.

- § 1255, Civil C. § 4224. Defined. Every one who offers to the public to carry persons, property or messages is a common carrier of whatever he thus offers to carry.
- § 1256, Civil C. § 4225. Must accept and carry. A common carrier must, if able to do so, accept and carry whatever is offered to him at a reasonable time and place of a kind that he undertakes or is accustomed to carry.
- § 1258, Civil C. § 4226. Preference to United States and state. A common carrier must always give a preference in time and may give a preference in price to the United States and to this state.
- § 1259, Civil C. § 4227. Must start when and where. A common carrier must start at such time and place as he announces to the public, unless detained by accident or the elements or in order to connect with carriers on other lines of travel.
- § 1260, Civil C. § 4228. Compensation. Payment refused. A common carrier is entitled to a reasonable compensation and no more which he may require to be paid in advance. If payment thereof is refused he may refuse to carry.
- § 1261, Civil C. § 4229. Obligations limited only by contract. The obligation of a common carrier cannot be limited by general notice on his part, but may be limited by special contract.
- § 1262, Civil C. § 4230. Exoneration by agreement limited. A common carrier cannot be exonerated by any agreement made in anticipation thereof from liability for the gross negligence, fraud or willful wrong of himself or his servants.
- § 1263, Civil C. § 4231. Carrier's right to modify obligations restricted. A passenger, consignor or consignee by accepting a ticket, bill of lading or written contract for carriage with a knowledge of its terms assents to the rate of hire, the time, place and manner of delivery therein stated. But his assent to any other modification of the carrier's rights or obligations, contained in such instrument can only be manifested by his signature to the same.

ARTICLE 2.—COMMON CARRIERS OF PERSONS.

§ 4232. Carriage of luggage. A common carrier of persons, § 1264, Civil C. unless his vehicle is fitted for the reception of passengers exclusively, must receive and carry a reasonable amount of luggage for each passenger without any charge except for an excess of weight over one hundred pounds to a passenger.

§ 4233. Luggage defined. Luggage may consist of any articles intended for the use of a passenger while traveling or for his personal equipment. § 1265, Civil C.

§ 4234. Liability for luggage. The liability of a carrier for luggage received by him with a passenger is the same as that of a common carrier of property. § 1266, Civil C.

§ 4235. When luggage delivered. When at passenger's risk. A common carrier must deliver every passenger's luggage, whether within the prescribed weight or not, immediately upon the arrival of the passenger at his destination; and, unless the vehicle would be overcrowded or overloaded thereby, must carry it on the same vehicle by which he carries the passenger to whom it belongs; except that when luggage is transported by rail it must be checked and carried in a regular baggage car; and whenever passengers neglect or refuse to have their luggage so checked and transported it is carried at their risk. § 1267, Civil C.

§ 4236. Must provide vehicles. A common carrier of persons must provide a sufficient number of vehicles to accommodate all the passengers who can be reasonably expected to require carriage at any one time. § 1268, Civil C.

§ 4237. Must provide seats. A common carrier of persons must provide every passenger with a seat. He must not overload his vehicle by receiving and carrying more passengers than its rated capacity allows. § 1269, Civil C.

§ 4238. May make rules. A common carrier of persons may make rules for the conduct of his business and may require passengers to conform to them if they are lawful, public, uniform in their application and reasonable. § 1270, Civil C.

§ 4239. When fare demandable. A common carrier may demand the fare of passengers either at starting or at any subsequent time. § 1271, Civil C.

§ 4241. Lien on luggage. A common carrier has a lien upon the luggage of a passenger for the payment of such fare as he is entitled to from him. This lien is regulated by the chapters on liens. § 1274, Civil C.

ARTICLE 3.—COMMON CARRIERS OF PROPERTY.

§ 4242. Inland carrier's liability. Exception. Unless the consignor accompanies the freight and retains exclusive control thereof an inland common carrier of property is liable from the time that he accepts until he relieves himself from liability pursuant to sections 4068 to 4072 for the loss or injury thereof from any cause whatever except:

1. An inherent defect, vice or weakness or a spontaneous action of the property itself.
2. The act of a public enemy of the United States or of this state.
3. The act of the law; or,
4. Any irresistible superhuman cause.

§ 1276, Civil C. § 4243. Foregoing exceptions limited. A common carrier is liable even in the cases excepted by the last section, if his ordinary negligence exposes the property to the cause of the loss.

§ 1277, Civil C. § 4244. When liable for delay. A common carrier is liable for delay only when it is caused by his want of ordinary care and diligence.

§§ 1278, 1279, Civil C. § 4245. Marine carrier's liability. A marine carrier is liable in like manner as an inland carrier, except for loss or injury caused by the perils of the sea or fire. The liability of a common carrier by sea is further regulated by acts of congress.

§ 1280, Civil C. § 4246. Perils of sea defined. Perils of the sea are from:

1. Storms and waves.
2. Rocks, shoals and rapids.
3. Other obstacles though of human origin.
4. Changes of climate.
5. The confinement necessary at sea.
6. Animals peculiar to the sea; and,
7. All other dangers peculiar to the sea.

§ 1281, Civil C. § 4247. Valuables. Liability limited. Exceptions. A common carrier of gold, silver, platina or precious stones or of imitations thereof in a manufactured or unmanufactured state, of time-pieces of any description, of negotiable paper or other valuable writings, of pictures, glass or chinaware, is not liable for more than fifty dollars upon the loss or injury of any one package of such articles, unless he has notice upon his receipt thereof by mark upon the package or otherwise of the nature of the freight.

§ 1283, Civil C. § 4249. How first carrier exonerated when freight lost. If freight, addressed to a place beyond the usual route of the common carrier who first received it, is lost or injured, he must, within a reasonable time after demand, give satisfactory proof to the consignor that the loss or injury did not occur while it was in his charge, or he will be himself liable therefor.

§ 1284, Civil C. § 4250. Services other than carriage and delivery. In respect to any service rendered by a common carrier about freight, other than its carriage and delivery, his rights and obligations are defined by the chapters on deposit and service.

ARTICLE 4.—COMMON CARRIERS OF MESSAGES.

§ 4251. Order of transmission of telegraph messages. A carrier of messages by telegraph must, if it is practicable, transmit every such message immediately upon its receipt. But if this is not practicable, and several messages accumulate upon his hands, he must transmit them in the following order: § 1285, Civil C.

1. Messages from public agents of the United States, or of this state, on public business.

2. Messages intended in good faith for immediate publication in newspapers, and not for any secret use.

3. Messages giving information relating to the sickness or death of any person.

4. Other messages, in the order in which they were received.

§ 4252. Messages other than telegraph. A common carrier of messages, otherwise than by telegraph, must transmit messages in the order in which he received them, except messages from agents of the United States or of this state on public business to which he must always give priority. But he may fix upon certain times for the simultaneous transmission of messages previously received. § 1286, Civil C.

§ 4253. Damages for postponing messages. Every person whose message is refused or postponed, contrary to the provisions of this chapter, is entitled to recover from the carrier his actual damages, and fifty dollars in addition thereto. § 1287, Civil C.

CHAPTER 58.

TRUSTS IN GENERAL.

ARTICLE 1.—NATURE AND CREATION OF A TRUST.

§ 4254. Classified. A trust is either: § 1288, Civil C.

1. Voluntary; or,

2. Involuntary.

§ 4255. Voluntary. A voluntary trust is an obligation arising out of personal confidence reposed in, and voluntarily accepted by one for the benefit of another. § 1289, Civil C.

§ 4256. Involuntary. An involuntary trust is one which is created by operation of law. § 1290, Civil C.

§ 4257. Trustor, trustee, beneficiary defined. The person whose confidence creates a trust is called the trustor; the person in whom the confidence is reposed is called the trustee; and the person for whose benefit the trust is created is called the beneficiary. § 1291, Civil C.

§ 4258. Constructive trust. Every one who voluntarily assumes a relation of personal confidence with another, is deemed a trustee within the meaning of this chapter, not only as to the person who reposes such confidence, but as to all persons, of whose affairs he thus acquires information which was given to such person in the like confidence, or over whose affairs he by such confidence obtains any control. § 1292, Civil C.

- § 1293, Civil C. § 4259. For what purpose created. A trust may be created for any purpose for which a contract may lawfully be made, except as otherwise prescribed by the chapters on uses and trusts and on transfers.
- § 1294, Civil C. § 4260. How created as to trustor and beneficiary. Subject to the provisions of section 3385 a voluntary trust is created as to the trustor and beneficiary by any words or acts of the trustor, indicating with reasonable certainty:
1. An intention on the part of the trustor to create a trust; and,
 2. The subject, purpose and beneficiary of the trust.
- § 1295, Civil C. § 4261. How as to trustee. Subject to the provisions of section 3385, a voluntary trust is created as to the trustee by any words or acts of his, indicating with reasonable certainty:
1. His acceptance of the trust or his acknowledgment, made upon sufficient consideration, of its existence; and,
 2. The subject, purpose and beneficiary of the trust.
- § 1296, Civil C. § 4262. Trustee by wrongful detention. One who wrongfully detains a thing is an involuntary trustee thereof for the benefit of the owner.
- § 1297, Civil C. § 4263. Trustee by fraud, etc. One who gains a thing by fraud, accident, mistake, undue influence, the violation of a trust or other wrongful act is, unless he has some other and better right thereto, an involuntary trustee of the thing gained for the benefit of the person who would otherwise have had it.

ARTICLE 2.—OBLIGATIONS OF TRUSTEES.

- § 1298, Civil C. § 4264. Highest good faith to beneficiary. In all matters connected with his trust a trustee is bound to act in the highest good faith toward his beneficiary and may not obtain any advantage therein over the latter by the slightest misrepresentation, concealment, threat or adverse pressure of any kind.
- § 1299, Civil C. § 4265. Use of property for trustee's profit prohibited. A trustee may not use or deal with the trust property for his own profit or for any other purpose unconnected with the trust in any manner.
- § 1300, Civil C. § 4266. Transactions when trustee's interest adverse to beneficiary prohibited. Exceptions. Neither a trustee, nor any of his agents, may take part in any transaction concerning the trust in which he or any one for whom he acts as agent has an interest, present or contingent, adverse to that of his beneficiary, except as follows:
1. When the beneficiary, having capacity to contract, with a full knowledge of the motives of the trustee and of all other facts concerning the transaction which might affect his own decision and without the use of any influence on the part of the trustee, permits him to do so.
 2. When the beneficiary not having power to contract, the district court upon the like information of the facts, grants the like permission; or,
 3. When some of the beneficiaries having capacity to contract and some not having it, the former grant permission for themselves and the district court for the latter in the manner above prescribed.

§ 4267. Use of influence for advantage prohibited. A trustee may not use the influence which his position gives him to obtain any advantage from his beneficiary. § 1301, Civil C.

§ 4268. Undertaking adverse trust prohibited. No trustee so long as he remains in the trust may undertake another trust adverse in its nature to the interest of his beneficiary in the subject of the trust without the consent of the latter. § 1302, Civil C.

§ 4269. Adverse interest acquired. If a trustee acquires any interest or becomes charged with any duty adverse to the interest of his beneficiary in the subject of the trust, he must immediately inform the latter thereof and may be at once removed. § 1303, Civil C.

§ 4270. Violation of preceding sections a fraud. Every violation of the provisions of the preceding sections of this article is a fraud against the beneficiary of the trust. § 1304, Civil C.

§ 4271. Presumption against trustee. All transactions between a trustee and his beneficiary during the existence of the trust or while the influence acquired by the trustee remains by which he obtains any advantage from his beneficiary are presumed to be entered into by the latter without sufficient consideration and under undue influence. § 1305, Civil C.

§ 4272. Liability for mingling property. A trustee who willfully and unnecessarily mingles the trust property with his own so as to constitute himself in appearance its absolute owner is liable for its safety in all events. § 1306, Civil C.

§ 4273. Liability for unlawful use. A trustee who uses or disposes of the trust property contrary to section 4265 may, at the option of the beneficiary, be required to account for all profits so made or to pay the value of its use and, if he has disposed thereof, to replace it with its fruits or to account for its proceeds with interest. § 1307, Civil C.

§ 4274. Liability for unauthorized use. A trustee who uses or disposes of the trust property in any manner not authorized by the trust, but in good faith and with intent to serve the interest of the beneficiary, is liable only to make good whatever is lost to the beneficiary by his error. § 1308, Civil C.

§ 4275. Liability for co-trustees consenting. A trustee is responsible for the wrongful acts of a co-trustee to which he consented or which by his negligence he enabled the latter to commit, but for no others. § 1309, Civil C.

ARTICLE 3. — OBLIGATIONS OF THIRD PERSONS.

§ 4276. When transferee involuntary trustee. Every one to whom property is transferred in violation of a trust holds the same as an involuntary trustee under such trust, unless he purchased it in good faith and for a valuable consideration. § 1310, Civil C.

§ 4277. Trustee's misapplication no prejudice to good faith. One who actually and in good faith transfers any money or other property to a trustee as such is not bound to see to the application thereof; and his rights can in no way be prejudiced by a misapplication thereof by the trustee. Other persons must at their peril see to the proper application of money or other property paid or delivered by them. § 1311, Civil C.

CHAPTER 59.

TRUSTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THIRD PERSONS.

ARTICLE 1.—NATURE AND CREATION OF THE TRUST.

- § 1312, CIVIL C. § 4278. Scope of chapter. The provisions of this chapter apply only to express trusts, created for the benefit of another than the trustor, and in which the title to the trust property is vested in the trustee; not including, however, those of executors, administrators and guardians as such.
- § 1313, CIVIL C. § 4279. By mutual consent, enforceable before rescission. The mutual consent of a trustor and trustee creates a trust of which the beneficiary may take advantage at any time prior to its rescission.
- § 1314, CIVIL C. § 4280. When court trustor. When a trustee is appointed by a court or public officer as such, such court or officer is the trustor within the meaning of the last section.
- § 1315, CIVIL C. § 4281. Where object, etc., expressed. The nature, extent and object of a trust are expressed in the declaration of trust.
- § 1316, CIVIL C. § 4282. What deemed part of declaration of trust. All declarations of a trustor to his trustees in relation to the trust before its acceptance by the trustees, or any of them, are to be deemed part of the declaration of the trust, except that when a declaration of trust is made in writing all previous declarations by the same trustor are merged therein.

ARTICLE 2.—OBLIGATIONS OF TRUSTEES.

- § 1317, CIVIL C. § 4283. Must follow directions. Exception. A trustee must fulfill the purpose of the trust as declared at its creation and must follow all the directions of the trustor given at that time, except as modified by the consent of all parties interested in the same manner and to the same extent as an employee.
- § 1318, CIVIL C. § 4284. Ordinary care and diligence required. A trustee, whether he receives any compensation or not, must use at least ordinary care and diligence in the execution of his trust.
- § 1319, CIVIL C. § 4285. Duty as to appointment of successor. If a trustee procures or assents to his discharge from his office before his trust is fully executed, he must use at least ordinary care and diligence to secure the appointment of a trustworthy successor before accepting his own final discharge.
- § 1320, CIVIL C. § 4286. Investment of trust money. A trustee must invest money received by him under the trust as fast as he collects a sufficient amount in such manner as to afford reasonable security and interest for the same.
- § 1321, CIVIL C. § 4287. Liability for failure. If the trustee omits to invest the trust moneys according to the last section, he must pay simple interest thereon, if such omission is negligent merely and compound interest if it is willful.
- § 1322, CIVIL C. § 4288. Cannot enforce claims purchased in contemplation of appointment. A trustee cannot enforce any claim against the trust property which he purchases after or in contemplation of his appointment as trustee; but he may be allowed by any competent court to charge to the trust property what he has in good faith paid for the claim upon discharging the same.

ARTICLE 3.—POWERS OF TRUSTEES.

§ 4289. Authority of trustee. A trustee is a general agent for the trust property. His authority is such as is conferred upon him by the declaration of trust and by this chapter and none other. His acts, within the scope of his authority, bind the trust property to the same extent as the acts of a general agent bind his principal. § 1323, CIVIL C.

§ 4290. All co-trustees must act. When there are several co-trustees all must unite in any act to bind the trust property, unless the declaration of trust otherwise provides. § 1324, CIVIL C.

§ 4291. Discretionary power controlled by court. A discretionary power conferred upon a trustee is presumed not to be left to his arbitrary discretion, but may be controlled by the district court if not reasonably exercised, unless an absolute discretion is clearly conferred by the declaration of trust. § 1325, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 4.—RIGHTS OF TRUSTEES.

§ 4292. Payment of expenses incurred. A trustee is entitled to the payment out of the trust property of all expenses actually and properly incurred by him in the performance of his trust. He is entitled to the repayment of even unlawful expenditures if they were productive of actual benefit to the estate. § 1326, CIVIL C.

§ 4293. Compensation. When a declaration of trust is silent upon the subject of compensation, the trustee is entitled to the same compensation as an executor. If it specifies the amount of his compensation, he is entitled to the amount thus specified and no more. If it directs that he shall be allowed a compensation, but does not specify the rate or amount, he is entitled to such compensation as may be reasonable under the circumstances. § 1327, CIVIL C.

§ 4294. Involuntary trustee excluded. An involuntary trustee, who becomes such through his own fault, has none of the rights mentioned in this article. § 1328, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 5.—TERMINATION OF THE TRUST.

§ 4295. How trust extinguished. A trust is extinguished by the entire fulfillment of its object or by such object becoming impossible or unlawful. § 1329, CIVIL C.

§ 4296. Trust not revocable. Exception. A trust cannot be revoked by the trustor after its acceptance, actual or presumed, by the trustee and beneficiaries, except by the consent of all the beneficiaries, unless the declaration of trust reserves a power of revocation to the trustor and in that case the power must be strictly pursued. § 1330, CIVIL C.

§ 4297. How office vacated. The office of a trustee is vacated: § 1331, CIVIL C.

1. By his death; or,

2. By his discharge.

§ 4298. Discharge of trustee. A trustee can be discharged from his trust only as follows: § 1332, CIVIL C.

1. By the extinction of the trust.
2. By the completion of his duties under the trust.
3. By such means as may be prescribed by the declaration of trust.
4. By the consent of the beneficiary if he has capacity to contract.
5. By the judgment of a competent tribunal in a direct proceeding for that purpose that he is of unsound mind; or,
6. By the district court.

§ 1333, Civil C. § 4299. Removal by court. The district court may remove any trustee who has violated or is unfit to execute the trust.

ARTICLE 6. — SUCCESSION OR APPOINTMENT OF NEW TRUSTEES.

§ 1334, Civil C. § 4300. Court may fill vacancies. The district court may appoint a trustee whenever there is a vacancy and the declaration of trust does not provide a practicable method of appointment.

§ 1335, Civil C. § 4301. Trust survives to co-trustees. On the death, renunciation or discharge of one of several co-trustees the trust survives to the others.

§ 1336, Civil C. § 4302. When court may appoint trustee. When a trust exists without any appointed trustee, or when all the trustees renounce, die or are discharged the district court of the county or judicial subdivision where the trust property, or some portion thereof, is situated must appoint another trustee and direct the execution of the trust. The court may in its discretion appoint the original number or any less number of trustees.

CHAPTER 60.

AGENCY.

ARTICLE 1. — DEFINITION OF AGENCY.

§ 1337, Civil C. § 4303. Defined. An agent is one who represents another, called the principal, in dealings with third persons. Such representation is called agency.

§ 1338, Civil C. § 4304. Who may appoint and who be agent. Any person having capacity to contract may appoint an agent and any person may be an agent.

§ 1339, Civil C. § 4305. Special and general agent defined. An agent for a particular act or transaction is called a special agent. All others are general agents.

§ 1340, Civil C. § 4306. Agency classified. An agency is either actual or ostensible.

§ 1341, Civil C. § 4307. Actual. An agency is actual when the agent is really employed by the principal.

§ 1342, Civil C. § 4308. Ostensible. An agency is ostensible when the principal intentionally or by want of ordinary care causes a third person to believe another to be his agent, who is not really employed by him.

ARTICLE 2. — AUTHORITY OF AGENTS.

§ 4309. Extent of authority. An agent may be authorized to do any acts which his principal might do, except those to which the latter is bound to give his personal attention. § 1343, Civil C.

§ 4310. Acts done by or to agent. Every act which according to this code may be done by or to any person may be done by or to the agent of such person for that purpose, unless a contrary intention clearly appears. § 1344, Civil C.

§ 4311. Agent's authority limited. An agent can never have authority, either actual or ostensible, to do an act which is and is known or suspected by the person with whom he deals to be a fraud upon the principal. § 1345, Civil C.

§ 4313. No consideration necessary. A consideration is not necessary to make an authority, whether precedent or subsequent, binding upon the principal. § 1347, Civil C.

§ 4314. Form of authorization. An oral authorization is sufficient for any purpose, except that an authority to enter into a contract required by law to be in writing can only be given by an instrument in writing. § 1348, Civil C.

§ 4315. How ratification made. A ratification can be made only in the manner that would have been necessary to confer an original authority for the act ratified or, when an oral authorization would suffice, by accepting or retaining the benefit of the act with notice thereof. § 1349, Civil C.

§ 4316. Part ratified, all ratified. Ratification of part of an indivisible transaction is a ratification of the whole. § 1350, Civil C.

§ 4317. Ratification, when valid. A ratification is not valid, unless at the time of ratifying the act done the principal has power to confer authority for such an act. § 1351, Civil C.

§ 4318. Retroactive ratification limited. No unauthorized act can be made valid retroactively to the prejudice of third persons without their consent. § 1352, Civil C.

§ 4319. Rescission of ratification. A ratification may be rescinded when made without such consent as is required in a contract or with an imperfect knowledge of the material facts of the transaction ratified, but not otherwise. § 1353, Civil C.

§ 4320. Authority. An agent has such authority as the principal actually or ostensibly confers upon him. § 1354, Civil C.

§ 4321. Actual authority. Actual authority is such as a principal intentionally confers upon the agent or intentionally or by want of ordinary care allows the agent to believe himself to possess. § 1355, Civil C.

§ 4322. Ostensible authority. Ostensible authority is such as the principal intentionally or by want of ordinary care causes or allows a third person to believe the agent to possess. § 1356, Civil C.

§ 4323. Has authority defined by law. Exception. Every agent has actually such authority as is defined by this and the succeeding chapter, unless specially deprived thereof by his principal, and has even then such authority ostensibly, except as to persons who have actual or constructive notice of the restriction upon his authority. § 1357, Civil C.

- § 1358, Civil C. § 4324. Authority to do necessary acts; make representations. An agent has authority:
1. To do everything necessary or proper and usual in the ordinary course of business for effecting the purpose of his agency; and,
 2. To make a representation respecting any matter of fact, not including the terms of his authority, but upon which his right to use his authority depends and the truth of which cannot be determined by the use of reasonable diligence on the part of the person to whom the representation is made.
- § 1359, Civil C. § 4325. When agent may disobey instructions. An agent has power to disobey instructions in dealing with the subject of the agency in cases, when it is clearly for the interest of his principal that he should do so and there is not time to communicate with the principal.
- § 1360, Civil C. § 4326. Authority limited to specific terms. When an authority is given partly in general and partly in specific terms, the general authority gives no higher powers than those specifically mentioned.
- § 1361, Civil C. § 4327. General authority limited. An authority expressed in general terms, however broad, does not authorize an agent:
1. To act in his own name unless it is the usual course of business to do so.
 2. To define the scope of his agency; or,
 3. To do any act which a trustee is forbidden to do by article 2 of chapter 58.
- § 1362, Civil C. § 4328. May warrant title to personalty. An authority to sell personal property includes authority to warrant the title of the principal and the quality and quantity of the property.
- § 1363, Civil C. § 4329. Give usual covenants of warranty. An authority to sell and convey real property includes authority to give the usual covenants of warranty.
- § 1364, Civil C. § 4330. Receive price. A general agent to sell, who is intrusted by the principal with the possession of the thing sold, has authority to receive the price.
- § 1365, Civil C. § 4331. Special agent may on delivery. A special agent to sell has authority to receive the price on delivery of the thing sold, but not afterwards.

ARTICLE 3. — MUTUAL OBLIGATIONS OF PRINCIPALS AND THIRD PERSONS.

- § 1366, Civil C. § 4332. Rights and liabilities of agent accrue to principal. An agent represents his principal for all purposes within the scope of his actual or ostensible authority and all the rights and liabilities which would accrue to the agent from the transactions within such limit, if they had been entered into on his own account, accrue to the principal.
- § 1367, Civil C. § 4333. When incomplete execution binding. A principal is bound by an incomplete execution of an authority when it is consistent with the whole purpose and scope thereof, but not otherwise.
- § 1368, Civil C. § 4334. When notice to one notice to both. As against a principal both principal and agent are deemed to have notice of whatever either has notice of and ought in good faith and the exercise of ordinary care and diligence to communicate to the other.

§ 4335. Authorized acts bind when authority exceeded. § 1369, Civil C.
When an agent exceeds his authority his principal is bound by his authorized acts so far only as they can be plainly separated from those which are unauthorized.

§ 4336. When ostensible authority binding. A principal § 1370, Civil C. is bound by acts of his agent under a merely ostensible authority to those persons only, who have in good faith and without ordinary negligence incurred a liability or parted with value upon the faith thereof.

§ 4337. When exclusive credit to agent binds principal. § 1371, Civil C.
If exclusive credit is given to an agent by the person dealing with him, his principal is exonerated by payment or other satisfaction made by him to his agent in good faith before receiving notice of the creditor's election to hold him responsible.

§ 4338. Set-off against agent. One who deals with an agent § 1372, Civil C.
without knowing or having reason to believe that the agent acts as such in the transaction may set-off against any claim of the principal arising out of the same all claims which he might have set-off against the agent before notice of the agency.

§ 4339. Instrument within scope of authority binding. § 1373, Civil C.
Any instrument within the scope of his authority by which an agent intends to bind his principal does bind him, if such intent is plainly inferable from the instrument itself.

§ 4340. Principal responsible for agent's negligence. § 1374, Civil C.
Unless required by or under the authority of law to employ that particular agent, a principal is responsible to third persons for the negligence of his agent in the transaction of the business of the agency, including wrongful acts committed by such agent in and as a part of the transaction of such business; and for his willful omission to fulfill the obligations of the principal.

§ 4341. Principal's responsibility limited. A principal is § 1375, Civil C. responsible for no other wrongs committed by his agent than those mentioned in the last section, unless he has authorized or ratified them, even though they are committed while the agent is engaged in his service.

ARTICLE 4. — OBLIGATIONS OF AGENTS TO THIRD PERSONS.

§ 4342. Agent warrants authority. One who assumes to act § 1376, Civil C. as an agent thereby warrants to all who deal with him in that capacity that he has the authority which he assumes.

§ 4343. When agent liable as principal. One who assumes § 1377, Civil C. to act as an agent is responsible to third persons as a principal for his acts in the course of his agency in any of the following cases and in no others:

1. When with his consent credit is given to him personally in a transaction.

2. When he enters into a written contract in the name of his principal without believing in good faith that he has authority to do so; or,

3. When his acts are wrongful in their nature.

§ 4344. Surrender of property adversely claimed. If an § 1378, Civil C.
agent receives anything for the benefit of his principal, to the possession of which another person is entitled, he must on demand surrender it to such person, or so much of it as he has under his control at the time of demand, on being indemnified for any advance which he has made to his principal in good faith on account of the same; and is responsible therefor if after notice from the owner, he delivers it to his principal.

§ 1379, Civil C. § 4345. This article subject to chapter 2. The provisions of this article are subject to the provisions of chapter 2 of this code.

ARTICLE 5.—DELEGATION OF AGENCY.

§ 1380, Civil C. § 4346. When agent cannot delegate powers. An agent unless specially forbidden by his principal to do so can delegate his powers to another person in any of the following cases, and in no others:

1. When the act to be done is purely mechanical.
2. When it is such as the agent cannot himself and the subagent can lawfully perform.
3. When it is the usage of the place to delegate such powers; or,
4. When such delegation is specially authorized by the principal.

§ 1381, Civil C. § 4347. Wrongful delegation makes agent principal. If an agent employs a subagent without authority, the former is a principal and the latter his agent and the principal of the former has no connection with the latter.

§ 1382, Civil C. § 4348. Rightful subagent principal's agent. A subagent lawfully appointed represents the principal in like manner with the original agent; and the original agent is not responsible to third persons for the acts of the subagent.

ARTICLE 6.—TERMINATION OF AGENCY.

§ 1383, Civil C. § 4349. How terminated. An agency is terminated as to every person having notice thereof by:

1. The expiration of its term.
2. The extinction of its subject.
3. The death of the agent.
4. His renunciation of the agency; or,
5. The incapacity of the agent to act as such.

§ 1384, Civil C. § 4350. Not coupled with interest, how terminated. Unless the power of an agent is coupled with an interest in the subject of the agency it is terminated as to every person having notice thereof by:

1. Its revocation by the principal.
2. His death; or,
3. His incapacity to contract.

CHAPTER 61.

PARTICULAR AGENCIES.

ARTICLE 1. — AUCTIONEERS.

§ 4351. Authority from seller. An auctioneer in the absence of special authorization or usage to the contrary has authority from the seller only as follows: § 1385, CIVIL C.

1. To sell by public auction to the highest bidder.
2. To sell for cash only, except such articles as are usually sold on credit at auction.
3. To warrant in like manner with other agents to sell according to section 4328.

4. To prescribe reasonable rules and terms of sale.
5. To deliver the thing sold upon payment of the price.
6. To collect the price; and,
7. To do whatever else is necessary or proper and usual in the ordinary course of business for effecting these purposes.

§ 4352. Authority from bidder. An auctioneer has authority from a bidder at the auction as well as from the seller to bind both by a memorandum of the contract as prescribed in the chapter on sale. § 1386, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 2. — FACTORS.

§ 4353. Defined. A factor is an agent who is employed to buy or sell property in his own name and who is intrusted by his principal with the possession thereof as defined in section 4134. § 1387, CIVIL C.

§ 4354. Authority. In addition to the authority of agents in general a factor has actual authority from his principal, unless specially restricted: § 1388, CIVIL C.

1. To insure property consigned to him uninsured.
2. To sell on credit anything intrusted to him for sale except such things as it is contrary to usage to sell on credit; but not to pledge, mortgage or barter the same; and,
3. To delegate his authority to his partner or servant, but not to any person in an independent employment.

§ 4355. Ostensible authority. A factor has ostensible authority to deal with the property of his principal as his own in transactions with persons not having notice of the actual ownership. § 1389, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 3. — SHIPMASTERS AND PILOTS.

§ 4356. General agent of owner. The master of a ship is a general agent for its owner in all matters concerning the same. § 1390, CIVIL C.

§ 4357. Has authority to borrow. The master of a ship has authority to borrow money on the credit of its owner, if it is necessary to enable him to complete the voyage, and if neither the owner nor his proper agent for such matters can be consulted without injurious delay. § 1391, CIVIL C.

§ 4358. Agent for owner of cargo. The master of a ship during a voyage is a general agent for each of the owners of the cargo and has authority to do whatever they might do for the preservation of their respective interests, except to sell or hypothecate the same. § 1392, CIVIL C.

- § 1393, Civil C. § 4359. Authority to make contracts binding owner. The master of a ship may procure all its necessary repairs and supplies, may engage cargo and passengers for carriage and in a foreign port may enter into a charter party; and his contracts for these purposes bind the owner to the full amount of the value of the ship and freightage.
- § 1394, Civil C. § 4360. Authority to hypothecate. The master of a ship may hypothecate the ship, freightage and cargo in the cases prescribed by the chapters on bottomry and respondentia and in no others.
- § 1395, Civil C. § 4361. Authority to sell ship. When a ship, whether foreign or domestic, is seriously injured or the voyage is otherwise broken up beyond the possibility of pursuing it, the master in case of necessity may sell the ship without instructions from the owners, unless by the earliest use of ordinary means of communication he can inform the owners and await their instructions.
- § 1396, Civil C. § 4362. Authority to sell cargo. The master of a ship may sell the cargo, if the voyage is broken up beyond the possibility of pursuing it, and no other ship can be obtained to carry it to its destination and the sale is otherwise absolutely necessary.
- § 1397, Civil C. § 4363. Authority to pay ransom. The master of a ship in case of its capture may engage to pay a ransom for it in money or in part of the cargo and his engagement will bind the ship, freightage and cargo.
- § 1398, Civil C. § 4364. Authority ceases on abandonment to insurers. The power of the master of a ship to bind its owner or the owners of the cargo ceases upon the abandonment of the ship and freightage to insurers.
- § 1399, Civil C. § 4365. Master's personal liability. Unless otherwise expressly agreed, or unless the contracting parties give exclusive credit to the owner, the master of a ship is personally liable upon his contracts relative thereto, even when the owner is also liable.
- 1400, Civil C. § 4366. Liable for negligence of crew. The master of a ship is liable to third persons for the acts or negligence of persons employed in its navigation, whether appointed by him or not, to the same extent as the owner of the ship.
- § 1401, Civil C. § 4367. When for negligence of pilot. The owner or master of a ship is not responsible for the negligence of a pilot whom he is bound by law to employ; but if he is allowed an option between pilots, some of whom are competent, or is required only to pay compensation to a pilot whether he employs him or not, he is responsible to third persons.

ARTICLE 4.—SHIP'S MANAGERS.

- § 1402, Civil C. § 4368. Authority to contract and settle. A ship's manager has power to make contracts requisite for the performance of his duties as such; to enter into charter parties or make contracts for carriage and to settle for freightage and to adjust averages.
- § 1403, Civil C. § 4369. Authority limited. Without special authority a ship's manager cannot borrow money or give up the lien for freightage or purchase a cargo or bind the owners of the ship to an insurance.

CHAPTER 62.

PARTNERSHIP IN GENERAL.

ARTICLE 1. — WHAT CONSTITUTES A PARTNERSHIP.

§ 4370. Partnership defined. Partnership is the association § 1404, CIVIL C. of two or more persons for the purpose of carrying on business together and dividing its profits between them.

§ 4371. Ship owners not partners. Part owners of a ship do § 1405, CIVIL C. not by simply using it in joint enterprise become partners as to the ship.

§ 4372. Formed only by consent. A partnership can be § 1406, CIVIL C. formed only by the consent of all the parties thereto and therefore no new partner can be admitted into a partnership without the consent of every existing member thereof.

ARTICLE 2. — PARTNERSHIP PROPERTY.

§ 4373. Defined. The property of a partnership consists of all § 1407, CIVIL C. that is contributed to the common stock at the formation of the partnership and all that is subsequently acquired thereby.

§ 4374. Extent of member's interest. The interest of each § 1408, CIVIL C. member of a partnership extends to every portion of its property.

§ 4375. Shares in profit or loss presumed equal. In the § 1409, CIVIL C. absence of an agreement on the subject the shares of partners in the profits or loss of the business are equal, and the share of each in the partnership property is the value of his original contribution, increased or diminished by his share of profit or loss.

§ 4376. Loss divided same as profits. An agreement to § 1410, CIVIL C. divide the profits of a business implies an agreement for a corresponding division of its losses, unless it is otherwise expressly stipulated.

§ 4377. Lien on property for payment of debts. Each § 1411, CIVIL C. member of a partnership may require its property to be applied to the discharge of its debts and has a lien upon the shares of the other partners for this purpose and for the payment of the general balance, if any, due to him.

§ 4378. What presumed partnership property. Property, § 1412, CIVIL C. whether real or personal, acquired with partnership funds is presumed to be partnership property.

ARTICLE 3. — MUTUAL OBLIGATIONS OF PARTNERS.

§ 4379. Partners trustees. The relations of partners are con- § 1413, CIVIL C. fidential. They are trustees for each other within the meaning of chapter 58 of this code. Their obligations as such trustees are defined by that chapter.

§ 4380. Highest good faith required. In all proceedings § 1414, CIVIL C. connected with the formation, conduct, dissolution and liquidation of the partnership every partner is bound to act in the highest good faith toward his copartners. He may not obtain any advantage over them in the partnership affairs by the slightest misrepresentation, concealment, threat or adverse pressure of any kind.

- § 1415, Civil C. § 4381. Each member must account to partnership. Each member of a partnership must account to it for everything that he receives on account thereof and is entitled to reimbursement therefrom for everything that he properly expends for the benefit thereof and to be indemnified thereby for all losses and risks which he necessarily incurs on its behalf.
- § 1416, Civil C. § 4382. No compensation. A partner is not entitled to any compensation for services rendered by him to the partnership.

ARTICLE 4.—RENUNCIATION OF PARTNERSHIP.

- § 1417, Civil C. § 4383. Renunciation with notice exonerates. A partner may exonerate himself from all future liability to a third person on account of the partnership by renouncing in good faith all participation in its future profits and giving notice to such third person and to his own copartners that he has made such renunciation and that, so far as may be in his power, he dissolves the partnership and does not intend to be liable on account thereof for the future.
- § 1418, Civil C. § 4384. Cannot claim profits thereafter. After a partner has given notice of his renunciation of the partnership he cannot claim any of its subsequent profits and his copartners may proceed to dissolve the partnership.

CHAPTER 63.

GENERAL PARTNERSHIP.

ARTICLE 1.—WHAT IS A GENERAL PARTNERSHIP.

- § 1419, Civil C. § 4385. Defined. Every partnership that is not formed in accordance with the law concerning special partnership and every special partnership, so far only as the general partners are concerned, is a general partnership.

ARTICLE 2.—POWERS AND AUTHORITY OF PARTNERS.

- § 1420, Civil C. § 4386. Majority governs. Unless otherwise expressly stipulated, the decision of the majority of the members of a general partnership binds it in the conduct of its business.
- § 1421, Civil C. § 4387. Each partner general agent. Every general partner is agent for the partnership in the transaction of its business and has authority to do whatever is necessary to carry on such business in the ordinary manner and for this purpose may bind his copartners by an agreement in writing.
- § 1422, Civil C. § 4388. Authority limited. A partner as such has not authority to do any of the following acts, unless his copartners have wholly abandoned the business to him or are incapable of acting:
1. To make an assignment of the partnership property, or any portion thereof, to a creditor or to a third person in trust for the benefit of a creditor or of all creditors.
 2. To dispose of the good will of the business.

3. To dispose of the whole of the partnership property at once, unless it consists entirely of merchandise.

4. To do any act which would make it impossible to carry on the ordinary business of the partnership.

5. To confess a judgment.

6. To submit a partnership claim to arbitration; or,

7. To do any other act not within the scope of the preceding section.

§ 4389. Effect of bad faith. A partner is not bound by any act of a copartner in bad faith toward him, though within the scope of a partner's powers, except in favor of persons who have in good faith parted with value in reliance upon such act. § 1423, Civil C.

ARTICLE 3.—MUTUAL OBLIGATIONS OF PARTNERS.

§ 4390. Profits belong to firm. All profits made by a general partner in the course of any business usually carried on by the partnership belong to the firm. § 1424, Civil C.

§ 4391. Partner cannot have adverse interest. A general partner, who agrees to give his personal attention to the business of the partnership, may not engage in any business which gives him an interest adverse to that of the partnership or which prevents him from giving to such business all the attention which would be advantageous to it. § 1425, Civil C.

§ 4392. May engage in separate business. A partner may engage in any separate business, except as otherwise provided by the last two sections. § 1426, Civil C.

§ 4393. When must account for profits. A general partner, transacting business contrary to the provisions of this article, may be required by any copartner to account to the partnership for the profits of such business. § 1427, Civil C.

ARTICLE 4.—LIABILITY OF PARTNERS.

§ 4394. Liable to third persons. Every general partner is liable to third persons for all the obligations of the partnership jointly with his copartners. § 1428, Civil C.

§ 4395. Liability defined by chapter 60. The liability of general partners for each other's acts is defined by chapter 60 of this code. § 1429, Civil C.

§ 4396. Ostensible partner. Any one permitting himself to be represented as a partner, general or special is liable as such to third persons to whom such representation is communicated, who on the faith thereof give credit to the partnership. § 1430, Civil C.

§ 4397. Otherwise only partner in fact liable. No one is liable as a partner who is not such in fact, except as provided by the last section. § 1431, Civil C.

ARTICLE 5.—TERMINATION OF PARTNERSHIP.

§ 4398. Duration of partnership. If no term is prescribed by agreement for its duration, a general partnership continues until dissolved by a partner or by operation of law. § 1432, Civil C.

- § 1433, Civil C. § 4399. Causes dissolving. A general partnership is dissolved as to all the partners:
1. By lapse of the time prescribed by agreement for its duration.
 2. By the expressed will of any partner if there is no such agreement.
 3. By the death of a partner.
 4. By the transfer to a person not a partner of the interest of any partner in the partnership property.
 5. By war or the prohibition of commercial intercourse between the country in which one partner resides and that in which another resides; or,
 6. By a judgment of dissolution.
- § 1434, Civil C. § 4400. Partial dissolution. A general partnership may be dissolved as to himself only by the expressed will of any partner, notwithstanding his agreement for its continuance, subject, however, to liability to his copartners for any damage caused to them thereby, unless the circumstances are such as to entitle him to a judgment of dissolution.
- § 1435, Civil C. § 4401. Judgment of dissolution. A general partner is entitled to a judgment of dissolution:
1. When he or another partner becomes legally incapable of contracting.
 2. When another partner fails to perform his duties under the agreement of partnership or is guilty of serious misconduct; or,
 3. When the business of the partnership can be carried on only at a permanent loss.
- § 1436, Civil C. § 4402. Liability until notice given. The liability of a general partner for the acts of his copartners continues, even after a dissolution of the partnership, in favor of persons who have had dealings with and given credit to the partnership during its existence, until they have had personal notice of the dissolution; and in favor of other persons, until such dissolution has been advertised in a newspaper published in every county where the partnership at the time of its dissolution had a place of business; to the extent in either case to which such persons part with value in good faith and in the belief that such partner is still a member of the firm.
- § 1437, Civil C. § 4403. When change of name sufficient notice. A change of the partnership name, which plainly indicates the withdrawal of a partner is a sufficient notice of the fact of such withdrawal to all persons to whom it is communicated. But a change in the name which does not contain such an indication is not notice of the withdrawal of any partner.

ARTICLE 6. — LIQUIDATION.

- § 1438, Civil C. § 4404. Authority after dissolution. After the dissolution of a partnership the powers and authority of the partners are such only as are prescribed by this article.
- § 1439, Civil C. § 4405. Who may act in liquidation. Any member of a general partnership may act in liquidation of its affairs, except as provided by the next section.
- § 1440, Civil C. § 4406. Who may not act. If the liquidation of a partnership is committed by consent of all the partners to one or more of them, the others have no right to act therein; but their acts are valid in favor of persons parting with value in good faith upon the credit thereof.

§ 4407. Authority of partner liquidating. A partner § 1441, Civil C. authorized to act in liquidation may collect, compromise or release any debts due to the partnership, pay or compromise any claims against it, and dispose of the partnership property.

§ 4408. Same. A partner authorized to act in liquidation may § 1442, Civil C. indorse in the name of the firm promissory notes or other obligations held by the partnership for the purpose of collecting the same, but he cannot create any new obligation in its name, or revive a debt against the firm by an acknowledgment, when an action thereon is barred under the provisions of the code of civil procedure.

§ 4409. Surviving partner's authority. On the death of a § 1442, Civil C. partner the surviving partners succeed to all the partnership property, whether real or personal, in trust for the purposes of liquidation, even though the deceased was appointed by agreement sole liquidator; and the interest of the deceased in the ultimate distribution of the partnership assets passes to those who succeed to his other personal property.

ARTICLE 7.—OF THE USE OF FICTITIOUS NAMES.

§ 4410. Fictitious names. Service. Publication. Except § 1443, Civil C. as otherwise provided in the next section, every partnership transacting business in this state under a fictitious name, or a designation not showing the names of the persons interested as partners in such business, must file with the clerk of the district court of the county or subdivision in which its principal place of business is situated a certificate, stating the names in full of all the members of such partnership and their places of residence, and publish the same once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in the county, if there is one, and if there is none in such county, then in a newspaper published in an adjoining county.

§ 4411. Foreign partnership. A commercial or banking § 1444, Civil C. partnership, established and transacting business in a place without the United States, may without filing the certificate or making the publication prescribed in the last section use in this state the partnership name used by it there, although it is fictitious or does not show the names of the persons interested as partners in such business.

§ 4412. How certificate executed. Penalty. The certi- § 1445, Civil C.
cate filed with the clerk of the district court, provided in section § 1, c. 30, 1881.
4410, must be signed by the partners and acknowledged before some officer authorized to take acknowledgments of conveyances of real property. Persons doing business as partners, contrary to the provisions of this article shall not maintain any action on or on account of any contracts made or transactions had in their partnership name in any court of this state, until they have first filed the certificate and made the publication herein required; provided, however, that if such partners shall at any time comply with the provisions of this article, then such partnership shall have the right to maintain an action in all such partnership contracts and transactions entered into prior as well as after such compliance with this article and the disability heretofore imposed on partnerships by said article for a failure to comply therewith are hereby removed and made to conform to this section.

§ 1446, Civil C. § 4413. New certificate when members changed. On every change in the members of a partnership transacting business in this state under a fictitious name, or designation which does not show the names of the persons interested as partners in the business except in the cases mentioned in section 4411, a new certificate must be filed with the clerk of the district court and a new publication made as required by this article on the formation of such partnership.

§ 1447, Civil C. § 4414. Duty of clerk. Every clerk of the district court must keep a register of the names of firms and persons mentioned in the certificates filed with him pursuant to this article, entering in alphabetical order the name of every such partnership and of each partner therein.

§ 1448, Civil C.
am'd. § 4415. Certified copies evidence. Copies of the entries of the clerk of the district court, as herein directed, when certified by him and affidavits of publication made as prescribed in section 5693 of the code of civil procedure are presumptive evidence of the facts therein stated.

CHAPTER 64.

SPECIAL PARTNERSHIP.

ARTICLE 1.—FORMATION OF THE PARTNERSHIP.

§ 1449, Civil C. § 4416. Special partnership authorized. A special or limited partnership may be formed by any two or more persons in the manner and with the effect prescribed in this chapter for the transaction of any business except banking or insurance.

§ 1450, Civil C. § 4417. How constituted. A special partnership may consist of one or more persons called general partners and one or more persons called special partners.

§ 1451, Civil C. § 4418. How formed. Persons desirous of forming a special partnership must severally sign a certificate, stating:

1. The name under which such partnership is to be conducted.
2. The general nature of the business intended to be transacted.
3. The names of all the partners and their residences, specifying which are general and which are special partners.
4. The amount of capital which each special partner has contributed to the common stock; and,
5. The periods at which such partnership will begin and end.

§ 1452, Civil C. § 4419. Certificate, how executed and filed. Certificates under the last section must be acknowledged by all the partners before some officer authorized to take acknowledgment of deeds, one to be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county or subdivision and the other recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the principal place of business of the partnership is situated in a book to be kept for that purpose open to public inspection; and if the partnership has places of business situated in different counties, a copy of the certificate, certified by the register of deeds in whose office it is recorded, must be filed in the clerk's office as aforesaid and recorded in like manner in the office of the register of deeds in every such county. If any false statement is made in any such certificate all the persons interested in the partnership are liable as general partners for all the engagements thereof.

§ 4420. Affidavit required of partners. An affidavit of each of the partners, stating that the sums specified in the certificate of the partnership as having been contributed by each of the special partners has been actually and in good faith paid in the lawful money of the United States, must be filed in the same office with the original certificate. § 1453, Civil C.

§ 4422. Publication required. The certificate mentioned in this article or a statement of its substance must be published in a newspaper printed in the county where the original certificate is filed and if no newspaper is there printed then in a newspaper in the state nearest thereto. Such publication must be made once a week for four successive weeks, beginning within one week from the time of filing such certificate. In case the publication is not so made the partnership must be deemed general. § 1455, Civil C.

§ 4423. Affidavit of publication filed. An affidavit of publication pursuant to the preceding section made by the printer, publisher or chief clerk of a newspaper, may be filed with the register of deeds with whom the original certificate was filed and is presumptive evidence of the facts therein stated. § 1456, Civil C.

§ 4424. How renewed or continued. Every renewal or continuance of a special partnership must be certified, recorded, verified and published in the same manner as upon its original formation. § 1457, Civil C.

ARTICLE 2. — POWERS, RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF THE PARTNERS.

§ 4425. Style of special partnership. Sign. The business of a special partnership must be conducted under a name consisting of the names or surnames of one or more of the general partners only with or without the addition of the words "and company" or "& Co." Such partnership shall put up in some conspicuous place on the outside and in front of the building in which it has its chief place of business some sign on which shall be painted in legible English characters all the names of all the members of such partnership, designating the special partners. § 1458, Civil C.

§ 4426. Only general partners have authority. The general partners only have authority to transact the business of a special partnership. § 1459, Civil C.

§ 4428. May deal with firm. A special partner may lend money to the partnership or advance money for it and take from it security therefor and as to such loans or advances has the same right as any other creditor; but in case of the insolvency of the partnership, all other claims which he may have against it must be postponed until all other creditors are satisfied. § 1461, Civil C.

§ 4429. Who joined in actions. In all matters relating to a special partnership its general partners may sue and be sued alone in the same manner as if there were no special partners. § 1462, Civil C.

- § 1463, Civil C. § 4430. Withdrawal of capital. No special partner under any pretense may withdraw any part of the capital invested by him in the partnership during its continuance.
- § 1464, Civil C. § 4431. May receive interest and profits. A special partner may receive such lawful interest and such proportion of profits as may be agreed upon, if not paid out of the capital invested in the partnership by him, or by some other special partner, and is not bound to refund the same to meet subsequent losses.
- § 1465, Civil C. § 4432. When special becomes general partner. If a special partner withdraws capital from the firm contrary to the provisions of this article he thereby becomes a general partner.
- § 1466, Civil C. § 4433. When preference void. Every transfer of the property of a special partnership or of a partner therein, made after or in contemplation of the insolvency of such partnership or partner with intent to give a preference to any creditor of such partnership or partner over any other creditor of such partnership, is void against the creditors thereof; and every judgment confessed, lien created or security given in like manner and with like intent is in like manner void.

ARTICLE 3. — LIABILITY OF PARTNERS.

- § 1467, Civil C. § 4434. Of general partner. The general partners in a special partnership are liable to the same extent as partners in a general partnership.
- § 1468, Civil C. § 4435. Special partners liability limited. Exceptions. The contribution of a special partner to the capital of the firm and the increase thereof is liable for its debts, but he is not otherwise liable therefor, except as follows:
1. If he has willfully made or permitted a false or materially defective statement in the certificate of the partnership, the affidavit filed therewith or the published announcement thereof, he is liable as a general partner to all the creditors of the firm.
 2. If he has willfully interfered with the business of the firm, except as permitted in article 2 of this chapter, he is liable in like manner; or,
 3. If he has willfully joined in or assented to an act contrary to any of the provisions of article 2 of this chapter he is liable in a like manner.
- § 1469, Civil C. § 4436. When special liable as general partner. When a special partner has unintentionally done any of the acts mentioned in the last section he is liable as a general partner to any creditor of the firm who has been actually misled thereby to his prejudice.
- § 1470, Civil C. § 4437. Estoppel, when contracting with as such. One who upon making a contract with a partnership accepts from or gives to it a written memorandum of the contract, stating that the partnership is special and giving the names of the special partners, cannot afterwards charge the persons thus named as general partners upon that contract by reason of any error or defect in the proceedings for the creation of the special partnership prior to the acceptance of the memorandum, if an effort has been made by the partners in good faith to form a special partnership in the manner required by law.

ARTICLE 4. — ALTERATION AND DISSOLUTION.

§ 4438. When special becomes general partnership. A § 1471, CIVIL C.
special partnership becomes general, if within ten days after any partner withdraws from it, or any new partner is received into it, or a change is made in the nature of its business, or in its name, a certificate of such fact, duly verified and signed by one or more of the partners, is not filed with the clerk of the district court and the register of deeds with whom the original certificate of the partnership was filed and notice thereof published as is provided in article 1 of this chapter for the publication of this certificate.

§ 4439. How new special partners admitted. New special § 1472, CIVIL C.
partners may be admitted into a special partnership upon a certificate, stating the names, residences and contributions to the common stock of each of such partners, signed by each of them and by the general partners, verified, acknowledged or proved and filed with the clerk and recorded in the register's office in which the original certificate was filed according to the provisions of article 1 of this chapter.

§ 4440. Dissolution. Notice filed and published. A special § 1473, CIVIL C.
partnership is subject to dissolution in the same manner as a general partnership, except that no dissolution by the act of the partners is complete until a notice thereof has been filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds with whom the original certificate was recorded and filed in the office of the clerk of the district court and published once in each week for four successive weeks in a newspaper printed in each county where the partnership has a place of business.

CHAPTER 65.

INSURANCE IN GENERAL.

ARTICLE 1. — DEFINITION OF INSURANCE.

§ 4441. Defined. Insurance is a contract whereby one under- § 1474, CIVIL C. takes to indemnify another against loss, damage or liability arising from an unknown or contingent event.

ARTICLE 2. — WHAT MAY BE INSURED.

§ 4442. Insurable interest. Any contingent or unknown event, § 1475, CIVIL C.
whether past or future, which may damnify a person having an insurable interest or create a liability against him may be insured against, subject to the provisions of this chapter, with the exception of an insurance for or against the drawing of any lottery or for or against any chance or ticket in a lottery drawing a prize.

§ 4443. Insurance classified. The most usual kinds of § 1476, CIVIL C. insurance are:

1. Marine insurance.
2. Fire insurance.

3. Life insurance.
4. Health insurance; and,
5. Accident insurance.

§ 1477, Civil C. § 4444. All kinds subject to chapter. All kinds of insurance are subject to the provisions of this chapter.

ARTICLE 3. — PARTIES TO THE CONTRACT.

§ 1478, Civil C. § 4445. Insurer and insured defined. The person who undertakes to indemnify another by a contract of insurance is called the insurer and the person indemnified is called the insured.

§ 1479, Civil C. § 4446. Who may insure. Any one who is capable of making a contract may be an insurer, subject to the restrictions imposed by special statutes upon foreign corporations, nonresidents and others.

§ 1480, Civil C. § 4447. Who may be insured. Any one except a public enemy may be insured.

§ 1481, Civil C.
am'd. § 4448. Insurance of mortgaged property. When a mortgagor of property effects insurance in his own name, providing that the loss shall be payable to the mortgagee or assigns a policy of insurance to the mortgagee, the insurance is deemed to be upon the interest of the mortgagor, who does not cease to be a party to the original contract and any act of his which would otherwise avoid the insurance will have the same effect, although the property is in the hands of the mortgagee.

§ 1482, Civil C. § 4449. Same. New contract. If an insurer assents to the transfer of an insurance from a mortgagor to a mortgagee and at the time of his assent imposes further obligations on the assignee, making a new contract with him, the acts of the mortgagor cannot affect his right.

ARTICLE 4. — INSURABLE INTEREST.

§ 1483, Civil C. § 4450. Defined. Every interest in property, or any relation thereto, or liability in respect thereof of such a nature that a contemplated peril might directly damnify the insured is an insurable interest.

§ 1484, Civil C. § 4451. Classified. An insurable interest in property may consist in:

1. An existing interest.
2. An inchoate interest founded on an existing interest; or,
3. An expectancy coupled with an existing interest in that out of which the expectancy arises.

§ 1485, Civil C. § 4452. Carrier or depositary has. A carrier or depositary of any kind has an insurable interest in a thing held by him as such to the extent of its value.

§ 1486, Civil C. § 4453. Contingent or expectant interest not. A mere contingent or expectant interest in anything, not founded on an actual right to the thing, nor upon any valid contract for it, is not insurable.

§ 1487, Civil C. § 4454. Measure of. The measure of an insurable interest in property is the extent to which the insured might be damnified by loss or injury thereof.

§ 1488, Civil C. § 4455. Insurance without interest void. The sole object of insurance is the indemnity of the insured and if he has no insurable interest the contract is void.

§ 4456. When interest must exist. An interest insured must exist when the insurance takes effect and when the loss occurs, but need not exist in the meantime. § 1489, Civil C.

§ 4457. When change of interest suspends insurance. Except in the cases specified in the next five sections and in the cases of life, accident and health insurance, a change of interest in any part of a thing insured, unaccompanied by a corresponding change of interest in the insurance, suspends the insurance to an equivalent extent, until the interest in the thing and the interest in the insurance are vested in the same person. § 1490, Civil C.

§ 4458. Change after loss does not affect. A change of interest in a thing insured after the occurrence of an injury which results in a loss does not affect the right of the insured to indemnity for the loss. § 1491, Civil C.

§ 4459. Change in one of several things. A change of interest in one or more of several distinct things insured by one policy does not avoid the insurance as to the others. § 1492, Civil C. am'd.

§ 4460. Incumbrance or reinsurance of one of several things. The procurement of any other contract of insurance upon or the incumbrance of one or more of several distinct things insured by one policy does not render void any insurance upon the things not covered by such other contract of insurance or incumbrance; but in case of loss or damage such an amount shall be deducted from the insurance as the value of the property so incumbered or doubly insured bears to the value of all the property covered by the policy. Any agreement made to waive the provisions of this or the preceding section is void.

§ 4461. Change of interest by death. A change of interest by will or succession on the death of the insured does not avoid an insurance; and his interest in the insurance passes to the person taking his interest in the thing insured. § 1493, Civil C.

§ 4462. Change among joint owners. A transfer of interest by one of several partners, joint owners or owners in common who are jointly insured to the others does not avoid an insurance, even though it has been agreed that the insurance shall cease upon an alienation of the thing insured. § 1494, Civil C.

§ 4463. Stipulation of interest void. Every stipulation in a policy of insurance for the payment of loss whether the person insured has or has not any interest in the property insured or that the policy shall be received as proof of such interest and every policy executed by way of gaming or wagering is void. § 1494, Civil C.

ARTICLE 5. — CONCEALMENT AND REPRESENTATION.

§ 4464. Concealment defined. A neglect to communicate that which a party knows and ought to communicate is called a concealment. § 1495, Civil C.

§ 4465. Rescission on account of. A concealment, whether intentional or unintentional, entitles the injured party to rescind a contract of insurance. § 1493, Civil C.

§ 4466. Mutual disclosures. Each party to a contract of insurance must communicate to the other in good faith all facts within his knowledge which are or which he believes to be material to the contract and which the other has not the means of ascertaining and as to which he makes no warranty. § 1497, Civil C.

- § 1498, Civil C. § 4467. What not bound to disclose. Neither party to a contract of insurance is bound to communicate information of the matters following, except in answer to the inquiries of the other:
1. Those which the other knows.
 2. Those which in the exercise of ordinary care the other ought to know and of which the former has no reason to suppose him ignorant.
 3. Those of which the other waives communication.
 4. Those which prove or tend to prove the existence of a risk excluded by a warranty and which are not otherwise material; and,
 5. Those which relate to a risk excepted from the policy and which are not otherwise material.
- § 1499, Civil C. § 4468. How materiality determined. Materiality is to be determined not by the event, but solely by the probable and reasonable influence of the facts upon the party to whom the communication is due in forming his estimate of the disadvantages of the proposed contract or in making his inquiries.
- § 1500, Civil C. § 4469. Presumption of knowledge. Each party to a contract of insurance is bound to know all the general causes which are open to his inquiry, equally with that of the other and which may affect either the political or material perils contemplated and all general usages of trade.
- § 1501, Civil C. § 4470. Right to information waived. The right to information of material facts may be waived, either by the terms of insurance, or by neglect to make inquiries as to such facts, when they are distinctly implied in other facts of which information is communicated.
- § 1502, Civil C. § 4471. Information as to interest. Information of the nature or amount of the interest of one insured need not be communicated unless in answer to inquiry, except as prescribed by section 4488.
- § 1503, Civil C. § 4472. Rescission for fraudulent concealment. An intentional and fraudulent omission on the part of one insured to communicate information of matters proving or tending to prove the falsity of a warranty entitles the insurer to rescind.
- § 1504, Civil C. § 4473. Matters of opinion. Neither party to a contract of insurance is bound to communicate even upon inquiry information of his own judgment upon the matters in question.
- § 1505, Civil C. § 4474. Form of representation. A representation may be oral or written.
- § 1506, Civil C. § 4475. When may be made. A representation may be made at the same time with issuing the policy or before it.
- § 1507, Civil C. § 4476. Rules of interpretation. The language of a representation is to be interpreted by the same rules as the language of contracts in general.
- § 1508, Civil C. § 4477. What deemed promise. A representation as to the future is to be deemed a promise, unless it appears that it was merely a statement of belief or expectation.
- § 1509, Civil C. § 4478. Cannot qualify contract; may, implied warranty. A representation cannot be allowed to qualify an express provision in a contract of insurance; but it may qualify an implied warranty.
- § 1510, Civil C. § 4479. When may be withdrawn. A representation may be altered or withdrawn before the insurance is effected, but not afterwards.

§ 4480. Time to which refers. The completion of the contract of insurance is the time to which a representation must be presumed to refer. § 1511, Civil C.

§ 4481. On information and belief. When a person insured has no personal knowledge of a fact, he may, nevertheless repeat information which he has upon the subject and which he believes to be true with the explanation that he does so on the information of others, or he may submit the information in its whole extent to the insurer; and in neither case is he responsible for its truth, unless it proceeds from an agent of the insured whose duty it is to give the intelligence. § 1512, Civil C.

§ 4482. When deemed false. A representation is to be deemed false when the facts fail to correspond with its assertions or stipulations. § 1513, Civil C.

§ 4483. Effect of falsity. If a representation is false in a material point, whether affirmative or promissory, the injured party is entitled to rescind the contract from the time when the representation becomes false. § 1514, Civil C.

§ 4484. How materiality determined. The materiality of a representation is determined by the same rule as the materiality of a concealment. § 1515, Civil C.

§ 4485. When not material. No oral or written misrepresentation made in the negotiation of a contract or policy of insurance by the insured or in his behalf shall be deemed material or defeat or avoid the policy or prevent its attaching, unless such misrepresentation is made with actual intent to deceive, or unless the matter misrepresented increased the risk of loss.

§ 4486. Modification. Rescission. The provisions of this article apply as well to a modification of a contract of insurance as to its original formation. Whenever a right to rescind a contract of insurance is given to the insurer by any provision of this chapter such right may be exercised at any time previous to the commencement of an action on the contract. § 1516, Civil C.

ARTICLE 6.—THE POLICY.

§ 4487. Defined. The written instrument in which a contract of insurance is set forth is called a policy of insurance. § 1517, Civil C.

§ 4488. What must specify. A policy of insurance must specify: § 1518, Civil C.

1. The parties between whom the contract is made.
2. The rate of premium.
3. The property or life insured.
4. The interest of the insured in property insured, if he is not the absolute owner thereof.
5. The risks insured against; and,
6. The period during which the insurance is to continue.

§ 4489. Applied only to interest. When the name of the person intended to be insured is specified in a policy, it can be applied only to his own proper interest. § 1519, Civil C.

§ 4490. Insurance by trustee or agent. When an insurance is made by an agent or trustee, the fact that his principal or beneficiary is the person really insured may be indicated by describing him as an agent or trustee or by other general words in the policy. § 1520, Civil C.

- § 1521, Civil C. § 4491. Terms govern joint or common interest. To render an insurance effected by one partner or part owner, applicable to the interest of his copartners or of other part owners, it is necessary that the terms of the policy should be such as are applicable to the joint or common interest.
- § 1522, Civil C. § 4492. Only person intended may claim benefit. When the description of the insured in a policy is so general that it may comprehend any person or any class of persons, he only can claim the benefit of the policy who can show that it was intended to include him.
- § 1523, Civil C. § 4493. Benefit of any owner. A policy may be so framed that it will inure to the benefit of whomsoever during the continuance of the risk may become the owner of the interest insured.
- § 1524, Civil C. § 4494. Transfer suspends. The mere transfer of a thing insured does not transfer the policy, but suspends it until the same person becomes owner of both the policy and the thing insured.
- § 1525, Civil C. § 4495. Classified. A policy is either open or valued.
- § 1526, Civil C. § 4496. Open. An open policy is one in which the value of the thing insured is not agreed upon, but is left to be ascertained in case of loss.
- § 1527, Civil C. § 4497. Valued. A valued policy is one which expresses on its face an agreement that the thing insured shall be valued at a specified sum.
- § 1528, Civil C. § 4498. Running. A running policy is one which contemplates successive insurances and which provides that the object of the policy may be from time to time defined, especially as to the subjects of insurance, by additional statements or indorsements.
- § 1529, Civil C. § 4499. Receipt for premium. Effect of. An acknowledgment in a policy of the receipt of premium is conclusive evidence of its payment so far as to make the policy binding, notwithstanding any stipulation therein that it shall not be binding until the premium is actually paid.
- § 1530, Civil C. § 4500. Agreement not to transfer void. An agreement made before a loss not to transfer the claim of a person insured against the insurer after the loss has happened is void.
- § 1. c. 69, 1887. § 4501. Holder may surrender for cancellation. The holder of any policy of insurance against loss or damage to property by fire or other casualty hereafter issued by any insurance company doing business in this state may, notwithstanding any provision thereof or contract to the contrary, at any time surrender the same for cancellation; and upon such surrender the company issuing such policy shall retain or receive such proportion and not more of the premium paid or agreed to be paid as corresponds with the usual short rates upon term policies as adopted and maintained by the Minnesota and Dakota fire underwriters' union of St. Paul, Minnesota, for the time the policy remained in force.
- § 2. c. 69, 1887. § 4502. Notice necessary to forfeit. No such policy of insurance shall by virtue of any condition or provision thereof be forfeited, suspended or impaired for nonpayment of any note or obligation taken for the premium, or any part thereof, unless the insurer shall, not less than thirty days prior to the maturity of such premium, note or obligation, mail, postage prepaid, to the assured at his usual post office a notice, stating:

1. The date when such note or obligation will become due.
2. The amount of principal and interest that will then be due.
3. The effect upon the policy of nonpayment.
4. Such notice shall further inform the assured of his right at his own election either to pay in full and keep the policy in full force, or to terminate the insurance by surrendering the policy and paying such part of the whole premium as it shall have earned and must further state the amount which the assured is lawfully required to pay, or which on account of previous payment may be due him in case of his election to terminate the insurance on the day of the maturity of the premium, note or obligation.

ARTICLE 7.—WARRANTIES.

§ 4503. Classified. A warranty is either express or implied. § 1531, Civil C.

§ 4504. No form necessary. No particular form of words is necessary to create a warranty. § 1532, Civil C.

§ 4505. Express, must be written. Every express warranty made at or before the execution of a policy must be contained in the policy itself, or in another instrument signed by the insured and referred to in the policy as making a part of it. § 1533, Civil C.

§ 4506. To what time may relate. A warranty may relate to the past, the present, the future or to any or all of these. § 1534, Civil C.

§ 4507. What statement of fact is express warranty. A statement in a policy of a matter relating to the person or thing insured or to the risk as a fact is an express warranty thereof. § 1535, Civil C.

§ 4508. Statement of intention a warranty. A statement in a policy, which imports that it is intended to do or not to do a thing which materially affects the risk, is a warranty that such act or omission shall take place. § 1536, Civil C.

§ 4509. As to future, when need not be fulfilled. When before the time arrives for the performance of a warranty relating to the future a loss insured against happens or performance becomes unlawful at the place of the contract or impossible, the omission to fulfill the warranty does not avoid the policy. § 1537, Civil C.

§ 4510. Rescission for violation of material. The violation of a material warranty or other material provision of a policy on the part of either party thereto entitles the other to rescind. § 1538, Civil C.

§ 4511. What avoids policy. A policy may declare that a violation of specified provisions thereof shall avoid it; otherwise the breach of an immaterial provision does not avoid the policy. § 1539, Civil C.

§ 4512. Breach without fraud. A breach of warranty without fraud merely exonerates an insurer from the time that it occurs, or when it is broken in its inception, prevents the policy from attaching to the risk. § 1540, Civil C.

ARTICLE 8.—PREMIUM.

§ 4513. When premium payable. An insurer is entitled to the payment of the premium as soon as the thing insured is exposed to the peril insured against. § 1541, Civil C.

§ 4514. When insured entitled to return. A person insured is entitled to a return of premium as follows: § 1542, Civil C.

1. To the whole of the premium if no part of his interest in the thing insured is exposed to any of the perils insured against.

2. When the insurance is made for a definite period of time and the insured surrenders his policy, to such proportion of the premium as corresponds with the unexpired time after deducting from the whole premium any claim for loss or damage under the policy which has previously accrued.

§ 3, c. 69, 1887.

§ 4515. Premium defined. The term premium within the meaning of sections 4501, 4502 and 4514 includes policy fees in excess of two dollars on any one policy and all other sums of money paid or agreed to be paid in consideration of the policy of insurance.

§ 1543, Civil C.

§ 4516. Return when insurance voidable. A person insured is entitled to a return of the premium when the contract is voidable on account of the fraud or misrepresentation of the insurer or on account of facts of the existence of which the insured was ignorant without his fault; or when by any default of the insured other than actual fraud, the insurer never incurred any liability under the policy.

§ 1544, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 4517. Not entitled to return. If a peril insured against has existed and the insurer has been liable for any period, however short, the insured is not entitled to a return of premium so far as that particular risk is concerned, unless the insurance was for a definite period of time, in which case he is entitled to a proportionate return under sections 4501 and 4514.

§ 1545, Civil C.

§ 4518. Return in over insurance by several. In case of an over insurance by several insurers the insured is entitled to a ratable return of the premium, proportioned to the amount by which the aggregate sum insured in all the policies exceeds the insurable value of the thing at risk.

§ 1546, Civil C.

§ 4519. Contribution to return. When an over insurance is effected by simultaneous policies the insurers contribute to the premium to be returned in proportion to the amount insured by their respective policies.

§ 1547, Civil C.

§ 4520. Same. When an over insurance is effected by successive policies, those only contribute to a return of the premium who are exonerated by prior insurances from the liability assumed by them and in proportion as the sum for which the premium was paid exceeds the amount for which on account of prior insurance they could be made liable.

ARTICLE 9. — LOSS.

§ 1548, Civil C.

§ 4521. When insurer liable. An insurer is liable for a loss of which a peril insured against was the proximate cause, although a peril not contemplated by the contract may have been a remote cause of the loss; but he is not liable for a loss of which the peril insured against was only a remote cause.

§ 1549, Civil C.

§ 4522. Liable for loss in rescuing. An insurer is liable when the thing insured is rescued from a peril insured against that would otherwise have caused a loss, if in the course of such rescue the thing is exposed to peril, not insured against, which permanently deprives the insured of its possession in whole or in part; or when a loss is caused by efforts to rescue the thing insured from a peril insured against.

§ 1550, Civil C.

§ 4523. Not liable for a peril excepted. When a peril is specially excepted in a contract of insurance, a loss which would not have occurred but for such peril is thereby excepted, although the immediate cause of the loss was a peril which was not excepted.

§ 4524. Willful act exonerates; negligence not. An insurer is not liable for a loss caused by the willful act of the insured; but he is not exonerated by the negligence of the insured or of his agents or others. § 1551, Civil C.

ARTICLE 10. — NOTICE OF LOSS.

§ 4525. Without unnecessary delay. In case of loss upon an insurance against fire an insurer is exonerated, if notice thereof is not given to him by some person insured, or entitled to the benefit of the insurance without unnecessary delay. § 1552, Civil C.

§ 4526. Only best proof in power required. When preliminary proof of loss is required by a policy the insured is not bound to give such proof as would be necessary in a court of justice; but it is sufficient for him to give the best evidence which he has in his power at the time. § 1553, Civil C.

§ 4527. Defects in, how waived. All defects in a notice of loss or in preliminary proof thereof which the insured might remedy and which the insurer omits to specify to him without unnecessary delay as grounds of objection are waived. § 1554, Civil C.

§ 4528. Delay in, how waived. Delay in the presentation to an insurer of notice or proof of loss is waived, if caused by any act of his, or if he omits to make objections promptly and specifically upon that ground. § 1555, Civil C.

§ 4529. Time in which to make. Blanks to be furnished. Upon notice of loss being given to the insurer on behalf of the insured or of a beneficiary under a policy of life insurance the insurer shall within twenty days after receipt of such notice furnish to the insured or beneficiary, as the case may be, a blank form of proof of loss and the insured shall have sixty days after such blank form is furnished in which to make such proof of loss; in case of life insurance the beneficiary shall have ninety days after receipt of such blank form in which to make such proof of loss. If the insurer shall fail to furnish such blank form of proof of loss within the time aforesaid he shall be deemed to have waived such proof and any agreement made to waive the provisions of this section is void.

§ 4530. Failure to furnish certificate of another. If a policy requires by way of preliminary proof of loss the certificate or testimony of another person than the insured, it is sufficient for the insured to use reasonable diligence to procure it and in case of the refusal of such person to give it, then to furnish reasonable evidence to the insurer that such refusal was not induced by any just grounds of disbelief in the facts necessary to be certified. § 1556, Civil C.

ARTICLE 11. — DOUBLE INSURANCE.

§ 4531. Defined. A double insurance exists when the same person is insured by several insurers separately in respect to the same subject and interest. § 1557, Civil C.

§ 4532. Contribution of insurers. In case of double insurance the several insurers are liable to pay losses thereon as follows: § 1558, Civil C.

1. In fire insurance each insurer must contribute ratably towards the loss without regard to the dates of the several policies.

2. In marine insurance the liability of the several insurers for a total loss, whether actual or constructive, when the policies are not simultaneous is in the order of the dates of the several policies, no liability attaching to a second or other subsequent policy, except as to the excess of the loss over the amount of all previous policies on the same interest. If two or more policies bear date upon the same day they are deemed to be simultaneous and the liability of insurers on simultaneous policies is to contribute ratably with each other. The insolvency of any of the insurers does not affect the proportionate liability of the other insurers. The liability of all insurers on the same marine interest for a partial or average loss is to contribute ratably.

ARTICLE 12. — REINSURANCE.

§ 1559, Civil C. § 4533. Defined. A contract of reinsurance is one by which an insurer procures a third person to insure him against loss or liability by reason of such original insurance.

§ 1560, Civil C. § 4534. Disclosures required. When an insurer obtains reinsurance he must communicate all the representations of the original insurer and also all the knowledge and information he possesses, whether previously or subsequently acquired, which is material to the risk.

§ 1561, Civil C. § 4535. Contract of indemnity. A reinsurance is presumed to be a contract of indemnity against liability and not merely against damage.

§ 1562, Civil C. § 4536. Original insured no interest. The original insured has no interest in a contract of reinsurance.

CHAPTER 66.

MARINE INSURANCE.

ARTICLE 1. — DEFINITION OF MARINE INSURANCE.

§ 1563, Civil C. § 4537. Definition. Marine insurance is an insurance against risks connected with navigation to which a ship, cargo, freightage, profits or other insurable interest in movable property may be exposed during a certain voyage or a fixed period of time.

ARTICLE 2. — INSURABLE INTEREST.

§ 1564, Civil C. § 4538. Owner always has. The owner of a ship has in all cases an insurable interest in it, even when it has been chartered by one who covenants to pay him its value in case of loss.

§ 1565, Civil C. § 4539. Hypothecation reduces interest. The insurable interest of the owner of a ship hypothecated by bottomry is only the excess of its value over the amount secured by bottomry.

§ 4540. Freightage defined as to insurance. Freightage in the sense of a policy of marine insurance signifies all the benefit derived by the owner, either from the chartering of the ship or its employment for the carriage of his own goods or those of others. § 1566, Civil C.

§ 4541. Expected freightage. The owner of a ship has an insurable interest in expected freightage which he would have certainly earned but for the intervention of a peril insured against. § 1567, Civil C.

§ 4542. Same. The interest mentioned in the last section exists, in the case of a charter party, when the ship has broken ground on the chartered voyage; and if the price is to be paid for the carriage of goods, when they are actually on board or there is some contract for putting them on board and both ship and goods are ready for the specified voyage. § 1568, Civil C.

§ 4543. When profits insurable interest. One who has an interest in the thing from which profits are expected to proceed has an insurable interest in the profits. § 1569, Civil C.

§ 4544. Charterer has. The charterer of a ship has an insurable interest in it to the extent that he is liable to be damnified by its loss. § 1570, Civil C.

ARTICLE 3.—CONCEALMENT.

§ 4545. Disclosures more extensive. In marine insurance each party is bound to communicate in addition to what is required by section 4466 all the information which he possesses material to the risk, except such as is mentioned in section 4467 and to state the exact and whole truth in relation to all matters that he represents or upon inquiry assumes to disclose. § 1571, Civil C.

§ 4546. Belief of another material. In marine insurance information of the belief or expectation of a third person in reference to a material fact is material. § 1572, Civil C.

§ 4547. When knowledge of loss presumed. A person insured by a contract of marine insurance is presumed to have had knowledge at the time of insuring of a prior loss, if the information might possibly have reached him in the usual mode of transmission and at the usual rate of communication. § 1573, Civil C.

§ 4548. What does not vitiate entire contract. A concealment in marine insurance in respect to any of the following matters does not vitiate the entire contract, but merely exonerates the insurer from a loss resulting from the risk concealed: § 1574, Civil C.

1. The national character of the insured.
2. The liability of the thing insured to capture and detention.
3. The liability to seizure from breach of foreign laws of trade.
4. The want of necessary documents; and,
5. The use of false and simulated papers.

ARTICLE 4.—REPRESENTATIONS.

§ 4549. Rescission for false. If a representation by a person insured by contract of marine insurance is intentionally false in any respect, whether material or immaterial, the insurer may rescind the entire contract. § 1575, Civil C.

§ 4550. Without fraud does not avoid. The eventual falsity of a representation as to expectation does not in the absence of fraud avoid a contract of insurance. § 1576, Civil C.

ARTICLE 5. — IMPLIED WARRANTIES.

- § 1577, Civil C. § 4551. Seaworthiness. In every marine insurance upon a ship or freight, or freightage, or upon anything which is the subject of marine insurance a warranty is implied that the ship is seaworthy.
- § 1578, Civil C. § 4552. Seaworthy defined. A ship is seaworthy when reasonably fit to perform the services and to encounter the ordinary perils of the voyage contemplated by the parties to the policy.
- § 1579, Civil C. § 4553. When foregoing warranty complied with. An implied warranty of seaworthiness is complied with if the ship is seaworthy at the time of the commencement of the risk, except in the following cases:
1. When the insurance is made for a specified length of time, the implied warranty is not complied with, unless the ship is seaworthy at the commencement of every voyage she may undertake during that time; and,
 2. When the insurance is upon the cargo, which by the terms of the policy, or the description of the voyage or the established custom of the trade is to be transhipped at an intermediate port, the implied warranty is not complied with, unless each vessel upon which the cargo is shipped or transhipped is seaworthy at the commencement of its particular voyage.
- § 1580, Civil C. § 4554. What seaworthiness includes. A warranty of seaworthiness extends not only to the structure of the ship itself, but requires that it be properly laden and provided with a competent master, a sufficient number of competent officers and seamen and the requisite appurtenances and equipments such as cables and anchors, food, fuel and lights and other necessary or proper stores and implements for the voyage.
- § 1581, Civil C. § 4555. As to each part of voyage. When different portions of the voyage contemplated by a policy differ in respect to the things requisite to make the ship seaworthy therefor, a warranty of seaworthiness is complied with, if at the commencement of each portion the ship is seaworthy with reference to that portion.
- § 1582, Civil C. § 4556. Delay in repairing exonerates. When a ship becomes unseaworthy during the voyage to which an insurance relates, an unreasonable delay in repairing the defect exonerates the insurer from liability from any loss arising therefrom.
- § 1583, Civil C. § 4557. Seaworthy as to cargo. A ship which is seaworthy for the purpose of an insurance upon the ship may, nevertheless, by reason of being unfitted to receive the cargo be unseaworthy for the purpose of insurance upon the cargo.
- § 1584, Civil C. § 4558. Neutral papers. When the nationality or neutrality of a ship or cargo is expressly warranted it is implied that the ship will carry the requisite documents to show such nationality or neutrality and that it will not carry any documents which cast reasonable suspicion thereon.

ARTICLE 6. — THE VOYAGE AND DEVIATION.

- § 1585, Civil C. § 4559. Voyage fixed by mercantile usage. When the voyage contemplated by a policy is described by the places of beginning and ending, the voyage insured is one which conforms to the course from point to point fixed by mercantile usage between those places.

§ 4560. When not so fixed. If the course of sailing is not fixed by mercantile usage, the voyage insured by a policy is the way between the places specified, which to a master of ordinary skill and discretion would seem the most natural, direct and advantageous. § 1586, CIVIL C.

§ 4561. Deviation defined. Deviation is a departure from the course of the voyage insured mentioned in the last two sections, or an unreasonable delay in pursuing the voyage; or the commencement of an entirely different voyage. § 1587, CIVIL C.

§ 4562. When proper. A deviation is proper: § 1588, CIVIL C.

1. When caused by circumstances over which neither the master nor the owner of the ship has any control.

2. When necessary to comply with a warranty or to avoid a peril, whether insured against or not.

3. When made in good faith and upon reasonable grounds of belief in its necessity to avoid a peril; or,

4. When made in good faith for the purpose of saving human life or relieving another vessel in distress.

§ 4563. Improper. Every deviation not specified in the last section is improper. § 1589, CIVIL C.

§ 4564. Insurer not liable after. An insurer is not liable for any loss happening to a thing insured subsequently to an improper deviation. § 1590, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 7. — LOSS.

§ 4565. Classified. A loss may be either total or partial. § 1591, CIVIL C.

§ 4566. Partial. Every loss which is not total is partial. § 1592, CIVIL C.

§ 4567. Total loss classified. A total loss may be either actual or constructive. § 1593, CIVIL C.

§ 4568. Actual total. An actual total loss is caused by: § 1594, CIVIL C.

1. A total destruction of the thing insured.

2. The loss of the thing by sinking or by being broken up.

3. Any damage to the thing which renders it valueless to the owner for the purposes for which he held it; or,

4. Any other event which entirely deprives the owner of the possession at the port of destination of the thing insured.

§ 4569. Constructive total. A constructive total loss is one which gives to a person insured a right to abandon under section 4577. § 1595, CIVIL C.

§ 4570. When actual loss presumed. An actual loss may be presumed from the continued absence of a ship without being heard of; and the length of time which is sufficient to raise this presumption depends on the circumstances of the case. § 1596, CIVIL C.

§ 4571. Duty to procure another ship for cargo. When a ship is prevented at an intermediate port from completing the voyage by the perils insured against, the master must make every exertion to procure in the same or a contiguous port another ship for the purpose of conveying the cargo to its destination and the liability of a marine insurer thereon continues after they are thus reshipped. § 1597, CIVIL C.

§ 4572. Liable for cost of reshipment. In addition to the liability mentioned in the last section a marine insurer is bound for damages, expenses of discharging, storage, reshipment, extra freightage and all other expenses incurred in saving the cargo reshipped pursuant to the last section up to the amount insured. § 1598, CIVIL C.

- § 1599, Civil C. § 4573. Payment without notice. Upon an actual total loss a person insured is entitled to payment without notice of abandonment.
- § 1600, Civil C. § 4574. General average loss. When it has been agreed that an insurance upon a particular thing or class of things shall be free from particular average a marine insurer is not liable for any particular average loss not depriving the insured of the possession at the port of destination of the whole of such thing or class of things, even though it becomes entirely worthless; but he is liable for his proportion of all general average loss assessed upon the thing insured.
- § 1601, Civil C. § 4575. What against actual total loss covers. An insurance confined in terms to an actual total loss does not cover a constructive total loss, but covers any loss which necessarily results in depriving the insured of the possession at the port of destination of the entire thing insured.

ARTICLE 8. — ABANDONMENT.

- § 1602, Civil C. § 4576. Defined. Abandonment is the act by which after a constructive total loss a person insured by a contract of marine insurance declares to the insurer that he relinquishes to him his interest in the thing insured.
- § 1603, Civil C. § 4577. When authorized. A person insured by a contract of marine insurance may abandon the thing insured, or any particular portion thereof, separately valued by the policy, or otherwise separately insured and recover for a total loss thereof when the cause of the loss is a peril insured against:
1. If more than half thereof in value is actually lost or would have to be expended to recover it from the peril.
 2. If it is injured to such an extent as to reduce its value more than one-half.
 3. If the thing insured, being a ship, the contemplated voyage cannot be lawfully performed without incurring an expense to the insured of more than half the value of the thing abandoned, or without incurring a risk which a prudent man would not take under the circumstances; or,
 4. If, the thing insured being cargo and freightage, the voyage cannot be performed nor another ship procured by the master within a reasonable time and with reasonable diligence to forward the cargo without incurring the like expenses or risk. But freightage cannot in any case be abandoned unless the ship is also abandoned.
- § 1604, Civil C. § 4578. Must be absolute. An abandonment must be neither partial nor conditional.
- § 1605, Civil C. § 4579. When made. An abandonment must be made within a reasonable time after information of the loss and after the commencement of the voyage and before the party abandoning has information of its completion.
- § 1606, Civil C. § 4580. When becomes ineffectual. When the information upon which an abandonment has been made proves incorrect or the thing insured was so far restored when the abandonment was made that there was then in fact no total loss, the abandonment becomes ineffectual.
- § 1607, Civil C. § 4581. Made by written notice. Abandonment is made by giving notice thereof to the insurer which may be done orally or in writing.

§ 4582. Requisites of notice. A notice of abandonment must be explicit and must specify the particular cause of the abandonment; but need state only enough to show that there is probable cause therefor and need not be accompanied with proof of interest or of loss. § 1608, Civil C.

§ 4583. Sustained only on cause specified. An abandonment can be sustained only upon the cause specified in the notice thereof. § 1609, Civil C.

§ 4584. Equivalent to transfer. An abandonment is equivalent to a transfer by the insured of his interest to the insurer with all the chances of recovery and indemnity. § 1610, Civil C.

§ 4585. Payment entitles insurer to salvage. If a marine insurer pays for a loss as if it was an actual total loss, he is entitled to whatever may remain of the thing insured or its proceeds or salvage as if there had been a formal abandonment. § 1611, Civil C.

§ 4586. Insured's agents become insurer's on abandonment. Upon an abandonment acts done in good faith by those who were agents of the insured in respect to the thing insured subsequent to the loss are at the risk of the insurer and for his benefit. § 1612, Civil C.

§ 4587. Acceptance of unnecessary. An acceptance of an abandonment is not necessary to the rights of the insured and is not to be presumed from the mere silence of the insurer upon his receiving notice of abandonment. § 1613, Civil C.

§ 4588. Acceptance conclusive. The acceptance of an abandonment, whether express or implied, is conclusive upon the parties and admits the loss and sufficiency of the abandonment. § 1614, Civil C.

§ 4589. Accepted is irrevocable. An abandonment once made and accepted is irrevocable, unless the ground upon which it was made proves to be unfounded. § 1615, Civil C.

§ 4590. To whom freightage belongs after. On an accepted abandonment of a ship freightage earned previous to the loss belongs to the insurer thereof; but freightage subsequently earned belongs to the insurer of the ship. § 1616, Civil C.

§ 4591. Refusal to accept. If an insurer refuses to accept a valid abandonment, he is liable as upon an actual total loss, deducting from the amount any proceeds of the thing insured which may have come to the hands of the insured. § 1617, Civil C.

§ 4592. Rights, if abandonment omitted. If a person insured omits to abandon he may, nevertheless, recover his actual loss. § 1618, Civil C.

ARTICLE 9. — MEASURE OF INDEMNITY.

§ 4593. Valuation conclusive between parties. A valuation in a policy of marine insurance is conclusive between the parties thereto in the adjustment of either a partial or total loss, if the insured has some interest at risk and there is no fraud on his part; except that when a thing has been hypothecated by bottomry or respondentia before its insurance and without the knowledge of the person actually procuring the insurance, he may show the real value. But a valuation fraudulent in fact entitles the insurer to rescind the contract. § 1619, Civil C.

§ 4594. Partial loss. Liability. A marine insurer is liable upon a partial loss only for such proportion of the amount insured by him as the loss bears to the value of the whole interest of the insured in the property insured. § 1620, Civil C.

- § 1621, Civil C. § 4595. Recovery of profits, how estimated. When profits are separately insured in a contract of marine insurance, the insured is entitled to recover in case of loss a proportion of such profits equivalent to the proportion which the value of the property lost bears to the value of the whole.
- § 1622, Civil C. § 4596. How loss determined on valued policy. In case of a valued policy of marine insurance on freightage or cargo, if a part only of the subject is exposed to risk the valuation applies only in proportion to such part.
- § 1623, Civil C. § 4597. When loss of profits presumed. When profits are valued and insured by a contract of marine insurance, a loss of them is conclusively presumed from a loss of the property out of which they were expected to arise and the valuation fixes their amount.
- § 1624, Civil C. § 4598. How loss on open policy estimated. In estimating a loss under an open policy of marine insurance the following rules are to be observed:
1. The value of a ship is its value at the beginning of the risk including all articles or charges which add to its permanent value or which are necessary to prepare it for the voyage insured.
 2. The value of the cargo is its actual cost to the insured, when laden on board or when that cost cannot be ascertained, its market value at the time and place of lading, adding the charges incurred in purchasing and placing it on board, but without reference to any losses incurred in raising money for its purchase, or to any drawback on its exportation, or to the fluctuations of the market at the port of destination, or to expenses incurred on the way or on arrival.
 3. The value of freightage is the gross freightage, exclusive of primage, without reference to the cost of earning it; and,
 4. The cost of insurance is in each case to be added to the value thus estimated.
- § 1625, Civil C. § 4599. How partial loss of cargo estimated. If a cargo insured against partial loss arrives at the port of destination in a damaged condition, the loss of the insured is deemed to be the same proportion of the value, which the market price at that port of the thing so damaged bears to the market price it would have brought if sound.
- § 1626, Civil C. § 4600. Liability for repairs and labor to recover. A marine insurer is liable for all the expenses attendant upon a loss which forces a ship into port to be repaired; and when it is agreed that the insured may labor for the recovery of the property the insurer is liable for the expense incurred thereby; such expense in either case being in addition to the total loss, if that afterward occurs.
- § 1627, Civil C. § 4601. Liability for insured's contribution to general average. A marine insurer is liable for a loss falling upon the insured through a contribution in respect to the thing insured, required to be made by him towards a general average loss called for by a peril insured against.
- § 1628, Civil C. § 4602. Subrogation of right to contribution. When a person insured by a contract of marine insurance has a demand against others for contribution he may claim the whole loss from the insurer, subrogating him to his own right to contribution. But no such claim can be made upon the insurer after the separation of the interests liable to contribution, nor when the insured, having the right and opportunity to enforce contribution from others, has neglected or waived the exercise of that right.

§ 4603. Liability for partial loss of ship. In the case of a partial loss of a ship or its equipment the old materials are to be applied toward payment for the new and whether the ship is new or old a marine insurer is liable for only two-thirds of the remaining cost of the repairs, except that he must pay for anchors and cannon in full and for sheathing metal at a depreciation of only two and one-half per cent for each month that it has been fastened to the ship. § 1629, Civil C.

CHAPTER 67.

FIRE INSURANCE.

§ 4604. Rescission for alteration in use increasing risk § 1630, Civil C.
An alteration in the use or condition of a thing insured from that to which it is limited by the policy, made without the consent of the insurer, by means within the control of the insured and increasing the risk entitles an insurer to rescind a contract of fire insurance.

§ 4605. Not if risk not increased. An alteration in the use or condition of a thing insured from that to which it is limited by the policy, which does not increase the risk, does not affect a contract of fire insurance. § 1631, Civil C.

§ 4606. When contract unaffected, though risk increased. A contract of fire insurance is not affected by any act of the insured subsequent to the execution of the policy, which does not violate its provisions, even though it increases the risk and is the cause of a loss. § 1632, Civil C.

§ 4607. Measure of indemnity. If there is no valuation in the policy, the measure of indemnity in an insurance against fire is the full amount stated in the policy; but the effect of a valuation in a policy of fire insurance is the same as in a policy of marine insurance. § 1633, Civil C.

§ 4608. Standard policy. No fire insurance company, corporation or association, their officers or agents, shall make, issue, use or deliver for use any fire insurance policy or renewal of any fire policy on property in this state other than such as shall conform in all particulars as to blanks, size of type, context, provisions, agreements and conditions with the printed form of contract or policy heretofore filed in the office of the commissioner of insurance as a standard policy for this state and no other or different provision, agreement, condition or clause shall in any manner be made a part of such contract or policy or be indorsed thereon or delivered therewith, except as follows, to-wit: § 4, c. 74, 1890.
am'd.

1. The name of the company, its location and place of business, the date of its incorporation or organization, and the state or country under which the same is organized, the amount of paid up capital stock, whether it is a stock or mutual company, the names of its officers, the number and date of the policy; and if it is issued through a manager or agent of the company, the words, "this policy shall not be valid until countersigned by the duly authorized manager or agent of the company at....." may be printed on policies issued on property in this state.

2. Printed or written forms of description and specifications or schedules of the property covered by any particular policy and any other matter necessary to express clearly all the facts and conditions of insurance on any particular risk, which facts or conditions shall in no case be inconsistent with or a waiver of any of the provisions or conditions of the standard policy herein provided for, may be written upon or attached or appended to any policy issued on property in this state.

3. A company, corporation or association organized or incorporated under and in pursuance of the laws of this state or elsewhere, if entitled to do business in this state, may with the approval of the commissioner of insurance, if the same is not already included in the standard form as filed in the office of the commissioner of insurance, print on its policies any provision which it is required by law to insert therein, if such provision is not in conflict with the laws of this state or the United States, or of the provisions of the standard form provided for herein, but said provision shall be printed apart from the other provisions, agreements or conditions of the policy and in type not smaller than the body of the policy and under a separate title, as follows: "Provisions required by law to be stated in this policy" and be a part of said policy.

4. There may be indorsed on the outside of any policy herein provided for the name, with the word "agent or agents" and place of business, of any insurance agent or agents, either by writing, printing, stamping or otherwise.

5. When two or more companies, each having previously complied with the laws of this state, unite to issue a joint policy, there may be expressed in the heading of such policy the fact of the severalty of the contract; also the proportion of premiums to be paid to each company and the proportion of liability which each company agrees to assume. And in the printed conditions of such policy the necessary change may be made from the singular to the plural number, when reference is had to the companies issuing such policies.

§ 4609. Construction of standard policy. Policies of insurance in the form prescribed by the last section shall be in all respects subject to the same rules of construction as to their effect or the waiver of any of their provisions as if the form thereof had not been prescribed.

CHAPTER 68.

LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE.

§ 1634, Civil C. § 4610. When payable. An insurance upon life may be made payable on the death of the person or on his surviving a specified period, or periodically so long as he shall live, or otherwise contingently on the continuance or termination of life.

§ 1635, Civil C. § 4611. In whom person has insurable interest. Every person has an insurable interest in the life and health:

1. Of himself.

2. Of any person on whom he depends wholly or in part for education or support.

3. Of any person under a legal obligation to him for the payment of money, or respecting property or services, of which death or illness might delay or prevent the performance; and,

4. Of any person upon whose life any estate or interest vested in him depends.

§ 4612. Policy transferable. A policy of insurance upon life or health may pass by transfer, will or succession to any person, whether he has an insurable interest or not, and such person may recover upon it whatever the insured might have recovered. § 1636, Civil C.

§ 4613. When notice of transfer unnecessary. Notice to an insurer of a transfer or bequest therefor is not necessary to preserve the validity of a policy of insurance upon life or health, unless thereby expressly required. § 1637, Civil C.

§ 4614. Measure of indemnity. Unless the interest of a person insured is susceptible of exact pecuniary measurement, the measure of indemnity under a policy of insurance upon life or health is the sum fixed in the policy. § 1638, Civil C.

CHAPTER 69.

INDEMNITY.

§ 4615. Defined. Indemnity is a contract by which one engages to save another from a legal consequence of the conduct of one of the parties or of some other person. § 1639, Civil C.

§ 4616. Against unlawful act void. An agreement to indemnify a person against an act thereafter to be done is void, if the act is known by such person at the time of doing it to be unlawful. § 1640, Civil C.

§ 4617. Against act done valid, unless felony. An agreement to indemnify a person against an act already done is valid, even though the act was known to be wrongful, unless it was a felony. § 1641, Civil C.

§ 4618. Against act of person includes agents. An agreement to indemnify against the acts of a certain person, applies not only to his acts and their consequences, but also to those of his agents. § 1642, Civil C.

§ 4619. Several includes each. An agreement to indemnify several persons applies to each unless a contrary intention appears. § 1643, Civil C.

§ 4620. When liable jointly with person indemnified. One who indemnifies another person against an act to be done by the latter, is liable jointly with the person indemnified and separately to every person injured by such act. § 1644, Civil C.

§ 4621. Rules to be applied in interpretation. In the interpretation of a contract of indemnity the following rules are to be applied, unless a contrary intention appears: § 1645, Civil C. am'd.

1. Upon an indemnity against liability, expressly or in other equivalent terms, the person indemnified is entitled to recover upon becoming liable.

2. Upon an indemnity against claims or demands, or damages or costs, expressly or in other equivalent terms, the person indemnified is not entitled to recover without payment thereof.

3. An indemnity against claims or demands, or liability, expressly or in other equivalent terms, embraces the costs of defense against such claims, demands or liability incurred in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable discretion.

4. The person indemnifying is bound on request of the person indemnified to defend actions or proceedings brought against the latter in respect to the matters embraced by the indemnity; but the person indemnified has the right to conduct such defense, if he chooses to do so.

5. If after request the person indemnifying neglects to defend the person indemnified, a recovery against the latter suffered by him in good faith is conclusive in his favor against the former.

6. If the person indemnifying, whether he is a principal or a surety in the agreement, has not reasonable notice of the action or proceedings against the person indemnified, or is not allowed to control its defense, judgment against the latter is only presumptive evidence against the former.

7. A stipulation, that a judgment against the person indemnified shall be conclusive upon the person indemnifying, is inapplicable if he had a good defense upon the merits which by want of ordinary care he failed to establish in the action.

§ 1646, CIVIL C. § 4622. Engagement to answer for violation of duty. Reimbursement. When one at the request of another engages to answer in damages, whether liquidated or unliquidated, for any violation of duty on the part of the latter, he is entitled to be reimbursed in the same manner as a surety for whatever he may pay.

§ 1647, CIVIL C. § 4623. When sureties called bail. Upon those contracts of indemnity which are taken in legal proceedings as security for the performance of an obligation imposed or declared by the tribunals and known as undertakings or recognizances, the sureties are called bail.

§ 1648, CIVIL C. § 4624. Obligations of bail, how governed. The obligations of bail are governed by the statutes specially applicable thereto.

CHAPTER 70.

GUARANTY.

ARTICLE 1.—DEFINITION OF GUARANTY.

§ 1649, CIVIL C. § 4625. Defined. A guaranty is a promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another person.

§ 1650, CIVIL C. § 4626. Knowledge of principal unnecessary. A person may become guarantor even without the knowledge or consent of the principal.

ARTICLE 2.—CREATION OF GUARANTY.

§ 1651, CIVIL C. § 4627. Consideration for. When a guaranty is entered into at the same time with the original obligation or with the acceptance of the latter by the guarantee and forms with that obligation a part of the consideration to him, no other consideration need exist. In all other cases there must be a consideration distinct from that of the original obligation.

§ 4628. When must be in writing. Except as prescribed by § 1652, Civil C. the next section a guaranty must be in writing and signed by the guarantor; but the writing need not express a consideration.

§ 4629. When need not be in writing. A promise to answer § 1653, Civil C. for the obligation of another in any of the following cases is deemed an original obligation of the promiser and need not be in writing:

1. When the promise is made by one who has received property of another upon an undertaking to apply it pursuant to such promise; or by one who has received a discharge from an obligation in whole or in part in consideration of such promise.

2. When the creditor parts with value or enters into an obligation in consideration of the obligation in respect to which the promise is made, in terms or under circumstances such as to render the party making the promise the principal debtor and the person in whose behalf it is made his surety.

3. When the promise, being for an antecedent obligation of another, is made upon the consideration that the party receiving it cancels the antecedent obligation, accepting the new promise as a substitute therefor; or upon the consideration that the party receiving it releases the property of another from a levy or his person from imprisonment under an execution on a judgment obtained upon the antecedent obligation; or upon a consideration beneficial to the promiser, whether moving from either party to the antecedent obligation or from another person.

4. When a factor undertakes for a commission to sell merchandise and guarantee the sale.

5. When the holder of an instrument for the payment of money upon which a third person is or may become liable to him, transfers it in payment of a precedent debt of his, or for a new consideration, and in connection with such transfer enters into a promise respecting such instrument.

§ 4630. Acceptance necessary. A mere offer to guarantee is § 1654, Civil C. not binding until notice of its acceptance is communicated by the guaratee to the guarantor; but an absolute guaranty is binding upon the guarantor without notice of acceptance.

ARTICLE 3.—INTERPRETATION OF GUARANTY.

§ 4631. Of contract, what implied. In a guaranty of a § 1655, Civil C. contract the terms of which are not then settled, it is implied that its terms shall be such as will not expose the guarantor to greater risks than he would incur under those terms which are most common in similar contracts at the place where the principal contract is to be performed.

§ 4632. Of obligations, what implied. A guaranty to the § 1656, Civil C. effect that an obligation is good or is collectible imports that the debtor is solvent and that the demand is collectible by the usual legal proceedings, if taken with reasonable diligence.

§ 4633. When not discharged by omission. A guaranty § 1657, Civil C. such as is mentioned in the last section is not discharged by an omission to take proceedings upon the principal debt or upon any collateral security for its payment, if no part of the debt could have been collected thereby.

- § 1658, Civil C. § 4634. When insolvency presumed from removal. In the cases mentioned in section 4632 the removal of the principal from the state leaving no property therein from which the obligation might be satisfied is equivalent to the insolvency of the principal in its effect upon the rights and obligations of the guarantor.

ARTICLE 4. — LIABILITY OF GUARANTORS.

- § 1659, Civil C. § 4635. When guaranty deemed unconditional. A guaranty is to be deemed unconditional unless its terms import some condition precedent to the liability of the guarantor.
- § 1660, Civil C. § 4636. When guarantor of payment liable. A guarantor of payment or performance is liable to the guarantee immediately upon the default of the principal and without demand or notice.
- § 1661, Civil C. § 4637. Liability on conditional obligation. When one guarantees a conditional obligation, his liability is commensurate with that of his principal and he is not entitled to notice of the default of the principal, unless he is unable by the exercise of reasonable diligence to acquire information of such default and the creditor has actual notice thereof.
- § 1662, Civil C. § 4638. Limit of obligation. The obligation of a guarantor must be neither larger in amount, nor in other respects more burdensome, than that of the principal; and if in its terms it exceeds it, it is reducible in proportion to the principal obligation.
- § 1663, Civil C. § 4639. Not liable on principal's unlawful contract. A guarantor is not liable if the contract of the principal is unlawful, but he is liable, notwithstanding any mere personal disability of the principal, though the disability is such as to make the contract void against the principal.

ARTICLE 5. — CONTINUING GUARANTY.

- § 1664, Civil C. § 4640. Defined. A guaranty relating to a future liability of the principal under successive transactions, which either continue his liability or from time to time renew it after it has been satisfied is called a continuing guaranty.
- § 1665, Civil C. § 4641. When may be revoked. A continuing guaranty may be revoked at any time by the guarantor in respect to future transactions, unless there is a continuing consideration as to such transactions which he does not renounce.

ARTICLE 6. — EXONERATION OF GUARANTORS.

- § 1666, Civil C. § 4642. When exonerated. A guarantor is exonerated, except so far as he may be indemnified by the principal, if by any act of the creditor without the consent of the guarantor the original obligation of the principal is altered in any respect, or the remedies or rights of the creditor against the principal in respect thereto in any way impaired or suspended.
- § 1667, Civil C. § 4643. Preceding section limited. A promise by a creditor, which for any cause is void, or voidable by him at his option, does not alter the obligation or suspend or impair the remedy within the meaning of the last section.

§ 4644. Guarantor once exonerated not liable. The rescission of an agreement altering the original obligation of a debtor or impairing the remedy of a creditor does not restore the liability of a guarantor who has been exonerated by such agreement. § 1668, Civil C.

§ 4645. Part performance, proportional exoneration. The acceptance by a creditor of anything in partial satisfaction of an obligation reduces the obligation of a guarantor thereof in the same measure as that of the principal, but does not otherwise affect it. § 1669, Civil C.

§ 4646. Mere delay no exoneration. Mere delay on the part of a creditor to proceed against the principal or to enforce any other remedy does not exonerate a guarantor. § 1670, Civil C.

§ 4647. Liability of guarantor indemnified. A guarantor, who has been indemnified by the principal, is liable to the creditor to the extent of the indemnity, notwithstanding that the creditor without the assent of the guarantor may have modified the contract or released the principal. § 1671, Civil C.

§ 4648. Principal discharged by law no exoneration. A guarantor is not exonerated by the discharge of his principal by operation of law without the intervention or omission of the creditor. § 1672, Civil C.

CHAPTER 71.

SURETYSHIP.

ARTICLE 1.—WHO ARE SURETIES.

§ 4649. Defined. A surety is one who at the request of another and for the purpose of securing to him a benefit becomes responsible for the performance by the latter of some act in favor of a third person or hypothecates property as security therefor. § 1673, Civil C.

§ 4650. Surety appearing as principal. One who appears to be a principal, whether by the terms of a written instrument or otherwise, may show that he is in fact a surety except as against persons who have acted on the faith of his apparent character of principal. § 1674, Civil C.

ARTICLE 2.—LIABILITY OF SURETIES.

§ 4651. Express terms govern. A surety cannot be held beyond the express terms of his contract and if such contract prescribes a penalty for its breach, he cannot in any case be liable for more than the penalty. § 1675, Civil C.

§ 4652. How terms of contract interpreted. In interpreting the terms of a contract of suretyship the same rules are to be observed as in the case of other contracts. § 1676, Civil C.

§ 4653. Is surety after judgment. Notwithstanding the recovery of judgment by a creditor against a surety, the latter still occupies the relation of surety. § 1677, Civil C.

- § 1678, Civil C. § 4654. Exonerated by performance or offer. Performance of the principal obligation or an offer of such performance duly made as provided in this code exonerates a surety.
- § 1679, Civil C. § 4655. How exonerated. A surety is exonerated:
1. In like manner with a guarantor.
 2. To the extent to which he is prejudiced by any act of the creditor which would naturally prove injurious to the remedies of the surety or inconsistent with his rights or which lessens his security; or,
 3. To the extent to which he is prejudiced by an omission of the creditor to do anything when required by the surety which it is his duty to do.

ARTICLE 3. — RIGHTS OF SURETIES.

- § 1680, Civil C. § 4656. Same as guarantor. A surety has all the rights of a guarantor whether he becomes personally responsible or not.
- § 1681, Civil C. § 4657. May require proceedings against principal. A surety may require his creditors to proceed against the principal or to pursue any other remedy in his power, which the surety cannot himself pursue and which would lighten his burden; and if in such case the creditor neglects to do so, the surety is exonerated to the extent to which he is thereby prejudiced.
- § 1682, Civil C. § 4658. May compel principal to perform. A surety may compel his principal to perform the obligation when due.
- § 1683, Civil C. § 4659. Principal bound to reimburse surety. If a surety satisfies the principal obligation, or any part thereof, whether with or without legal proceedings, the principal is bound to reimburse what he has disbursed, including necessary costs and expenses; but the surety has no claim for reimbursement against other persons, though they may have been benefited by his act except as prescribed by the next section.
- § 1684, Civil C. § 4660. Entitled to same remedies as creditor. Contribution. A surety upon satisfying the obligations of the principal is entitled to enforce every remedy, which the creditor then has against the principal to the extent of reimbursing what he has expended; and also to require all his cosureties to contribute thereto without regard to the order of time in which they became such.
- § 1685, Civil C. § 4661. Subrogated to rights of creditors. A surety is entitled to the benefit of every security for the performance of the principal obligation held by the creditor or by a cosurety at the time of entering into the contract of suretyship or acquired by him afterwards, whether the surety was aware of the security or not.
- § 1686, Civil C. § 4662. Hypothecated property of principal first applied. Whenever property of a surety is hypothecated with the property of the principal, the surety is entitled to have the property of the principal first applied to the discharge of the obligation.

ARTICLE 4. — RIGHTS OF CREDITORS.

- § 1687, Civil C. § 4663. Entitled to surety's securities. A creditor is entitled to the benefit of everything which a surety has received from the debtor by way of security for the performance of the obligation and may upon the maturity of the obligation compel the application of such security to its satisfaction.

ARTICLE 5. — LETTER OF CREDIT.

§ 4664. Defined. A letter of credit is a written instrument addressed by one person to another, requesting the latter to give credit to the person in whose favor it is drawn. § 1688, Civil C.

§ 4665. May be to several. A letter of credit may be addressed to several persons in succession. § 1689, Civil C.

§ 4666. To whom writer liable. The writer of a letter of credit is upon the default of the debtor liable to those who gave credit in compliance with its terms. § 1690, Civil C.

§ 4667. Classified and classes defined. A letter of credit is either general or special. When the request for credit in a letter is addressed to specified persons by name or description the letter is special. All other letters of credit are general. § 1691, Civil C.

§ 4668. Authority conferred by general. A general letter of credit gives any person to whom it may be shown authority to comply with its requests and by his so doing it becomes as to him of the same effect as if addressed to him by name. § 1692, Civil C.

§ 4669. Successive credits. Several persons may successively give credit upon a general letter. § 1693, Civil C.

§ 4670. When continuing guaranty. If the parties to a letter of credit appear by its terms to contemplate a course of future dealing between the parties, it is not exhausted by giving a credit even to the amount limited by the letter, which is subsequently reduced or satisfied by payments made by the debtor, but is to be deemed a continuing guaranty. § 1694, Civil C.

§ 4671. Notice unnecessary unless provided. The writer of a letter of credit is liable for credit given upon it without notice to him, unless its terms express or imply the necessity of giving notice. § 1695, Civil C.

§ 4672. Credit given must agree with letter. If a letter of credit prescribes the persons by whom or the mode in which the credit is to be given, or the term of credit, or limits the amount thereof, the writer is not bound except for transactions which in these respects conform strictly to the terms of the letter. § 1696, Civil C.

CHAPTER 72.

LIENS IN GENERAL.

ARTICLE 1. — DEFINITION OF LIENS.

§ 4673. Defined. A lien is a charge imposed upon specific property by which it is made security for the performance of an act. § 1697, Civil C.

§ 4674. Classified. Liens are either general or special. § 1698, Civil C.

§ 4675. General. A general lien is one which the holder thereof is entitled to enforce as a security for the performance of all the obligations, or all of a particular class of obligations, which exist in his favor against the owner of the property. § 1699, Civil C.

- § 1700, Civil C. § 4676. Special. A special lien is one which the holder thereof can enforce only as a security for the performance of a particular act or obligation and of such obligations as may be incidental thereto. When the holder of a special lien is compelled to satisfy a prior lien for his own protection, he may enforce payment of the amount so paid by him as a part of the claim for which his own lien exists.
- § 1701, Civil C. § 4677. Certain liens subject to this chapter. Contracts of mortgage, pledge, bottomry or respondentia are subject to all the provisions of this chapter.

ARTICLE 2.—CREATION OF LIENS.

- § 1702, Civil C. § 4678. How created. A lien is created:
1. By contract of the parties; or,
2. By operation of law.
- § 1703, Civil C. § 4679. By operation of law. No lien arises by mere operation of law until the time at which the act to be secured thereby ought to be performed.
- § 1704, Civil C. § 4680. Lien on future interest. An agreement may be made to create a lien upon property not yet acquired by the party agreeing to give the lien, or not yet in existence. In such case the lien agreed for attaches from the time when the party agreeing to give it acquires an interest in the thing to the extent of such interest.
- § 4681. Upon crops limited. A lien by contract upon crops shall attach only to the crop next maturing after the delivery of such contract.
- § 1705, Civil C. § 4682. Obligations not in existence. A lien may be created by contract to take immediate effect as security for the performance of obligations not then in existence.

ARTICLE 3.—EFFECT OF LIENS.

- § 1706, Civil C. § 4683. Transfer no title. Notwithstanding an agreement to the contrary, a lien or a contract for a lien transfers no title to the property subject to the lien.
- § 1707, Civil C.
am'd. § 4684. Contracts for forfeiting property subject to void. All contracts for the forfeiture of property subject to a lien in satisfaction of the obligation secured thereby and all contracts in restraint of the right of redemption from a lien are void.
- § 1708, Civil C. § 4685. Does not imply obligation to perform. The creation of a lien does not of itself imply that any person is bound to perform the act for which the lien is a security.
- § 1709, Civil C. § 4686. Not security for other than original obligations. The existence of a lien upon property does not of itself entitle the person in whose favor it exists to a lien upon the same property, for the performance of any other obligation than that which the lien originally secured.
- § 1710, Civil C. § 4687. Extent of compensation to holder. One who holds property by virtue of a lien thereon is not entitled to compensation from the owner thereof for any trouble or expense which he incurs respecting it, except to the same extent as a borrower under sections 4048 and 4049.

ARTICLE 4.—PRIORITY OF LIENS.

§ 4688. Priority according to date. Other things being equal, different liens upon the same property have priority according to the time of their creation except in cases of bottomry and respondentia. § 1711, CIVIL C.

§ 4689. Mortgage for price prior to all. A mortgage given for the price of real property at the time of its conveyance has priority over all other liens created against the purchaser, subject to the operation of the recording laws. § 1712, CIVIL C.

§ 4690. Order of resort for payment. When one has a lien upon several things and other persons have subordinate liens upon, or interests in some but not all of the same things, the person having the prior lien, if he can do so without the risk of loss to himself or of injustice to other persons, must resort to the property in the following order, on the demand of any party interested: § 1713, CIVIL C. am'd.

1. To the things upon which he has an exclusive lien.

2. To the things which are subject to the fewest subordinate liens.

3. In like manner inversely to the number of subordinate liens upon the same thing; and,

4. When several things are within one of the foregoing classes, and subject to the same number of liens, resort must be had:

(a) To things which have not been transferred since the prior lien was created.

(b) To the things which have been so transferred without a valuable consideration; and,

(c) To the things which have been so transferred for a valuable consideration in the inverse order of the transfers.

ARTICLE 5.—REDEMPTION OF LIENS.

§ 4691. Redemption by whom and when made. Every person having an interest in property, subject to a lien, has a right to redeem it from the lien, at any time after the claim is due and before his right of redemption is foreclosed. § 1714, CIVIL C.

§ 4692. Inferior lien holder may redeem. Subrogation. One who has a lien inferior to another upon the same property has a right: § 1715, CIVIL C.

1. To redeem the property in the same manner as its owner might from the superior lien; and,

2. To be subrogated to all the benefits of the superior lien when necessary for the protection of his interests, upon satisfying the claim secured thereby.

§ 4693. How made. Redemption from a lien is made by performing the act for the performance of which it is a security, and paying the damages if any, to which the holder of the lien is entitled for delay, or by offering to perform such act and pay such damages; provided, that if the act requires the delivery of money, property or a conveyance of property the same shall be deposited and notice thereof given as provided in section 3818. § 1716, CIVIL C. am'd.

ARTICLE 6.—EXTINCTION OF LIENS.

- § 1717, Civil C. § 4694. Deemed accessory to act secured. A lien is to be deemed accessory to the act for the performance of which it is a security, whether any person is bound for such performance or not, and is extinguishable in like manner with any other accessory obligation.
- § 1718, Civil C.
am'd. § 4695. Extinguished by sale of property. What defendant may show in conversion. The sale of any property on which there is a lien in satisfaction of the claim secured thereby, or, in case of personal property its wrongful conversion by the person holding the lien extinguishes the lien thereon; provided, however, that in an action for the conversion of personal property the defendant may show in mitigation of damages the amount due on any lien to which the plaintiff's rights were subject, and which was held or paid by the defendant or any person under whom he claims.
- § 1719, Civil C. § 4696. Not extinguished by mere lapse of time. A lien is not extinguished by the mere lapse of the time within which under the provisions of the code of civil procedure an action can be brought upon the principal obligation.
- § 1720, Civil C. § 4697. Not extinguished by partial performance. The partial performance of an act secured by a lien does not extinguish the lien upon any part of the property subject thereto, even if it is divisible.
- § 1721, Civil C. § 4698. By restoration of property if lien dependent on possession. The voluntary restoration of property to its owner by the holder of a lien thereon, dependent upon possession, extinguishes the lien as to such property, unless otherwise agreed by the parties and extinguishes it, notwithstanding any such agreement, as to creditors of the owner and persons subsequently acquiring title to the property, or a lien thereon, in good faith and for a good consideration.

CHAPTER 73.

MORTGAGE.

ARTICLE 1.—MORTGAGE IN GENERAL.

- § 1722, Civil C. § 4699. Defined. Formalities necessary. Mortgage is a contract by which specific property is hypothecated for the performance of an act without the necessity of a change of possession. A mortgage of real property can be created, renewed or extended only by writing, executed with the formalities required in the case of a grant of real property.
- § 1723, Civil C. § 4700. Lien special. Independent of possession. The lien of a mortgage is special, unless otherwise expressly agreed and is independent of possession.

§ 4701. What transfers deemed mortgage. Every transfer of an interest in property, other than in trust, made only as a security for the performance of another act is to be deemed a mortgage, except when in the case of personal property, it is accompanied by an actual change of possession in which case it is deemed a pledge. § 1724, CIVIL C.

§ 4702. Bottomry and respondentia not affected. Contracts of bottomry or respondentia, although in the nature of mortgages are not affected by any of the provisions of this chapter. § 1725, CIVIL C.

§ 4703. When transfer may be shown to be mortgage. The fact that a transfer was made subject to a defeasance on a condition, may, for the purpose of showing such transfer to be a mortgage, be proved, except as against a subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer for value and without notice, though the fact does not appear by the terms of the instrument. § 1726, CIVIL C.

§ 4704. What may be mortgaged. Any interest in property which is capable of being transferred may be mortgaged. § 1727, CIVIL C.

§ 4705. After acquired title subject to. Title acquired by the mortgagor subsequent to the execution of the mortgage inures to the mortgagee as security for the debt in like manner as if acquired before the execution. § 1727, CIVIL C.

§ 4706. Not bound to perform act secured without covenant. A mortgage does not bind the mortgagor personally to perform the act for the performance of which it is a security, unless there is an express covenant therein to that effect. § 1727, CIVIL C.

§ 4707. Assigning debt carries security. The assignment of a debt secured by a mortgage carries with it the security. § 1727, CIVIL C.

§ 4708. On property adversely held. A mortgage may be created upon property held adversely to the mortgagor. A mortgage of property held adversely to the mortgagor takes effect from the time at which he or one claiming under him obtains possession of the property, but has precedence over every lien upon the mortgagor's interest in the property, created subsequently to the recording of the mortgage. § 1728, CIVIL C.

§ 4709. May confer power of sale. A power of sale may be conferred by a mortgage upon the mortgagee or any other person, to be exercised after a breach of the obligation for which the mortgage is a security. § 1729, CIVIL C.

§ 4710. Such power a trust. A power of sale under a mortgage is a trust and as to real property can be executed only in the manner prescribed by the code of civil procedure. § 1730, CIVIL C.

§ 4711. Requisites of power of attorney to execute. A power of attorney to execute a mortgage must be in writing subscribed, acknowledged or proved, certified and recorded in like manner as powers of attorney for grants of real property. § 1730, CIVIL C.

§ 4712. Lien on everything grant would pass. A mortgage is a lien upon everything that would pass by a grant of the property and upon nothing more. § 1731, CIVIL C.

§ 1733, Civil C. § 4714. Mortgagee not entitled to possession. A mortgage does not entitle the mortgagee to the possession of the property, unless authorized by the express terms of the mortgage; but after the execution of a mortgage the mortgagor may agree to such change of possession without a new consideration. No person whose interest is subject to the lien of a mortgage may do any act which will substantially impair the mortgagee's security.

§ 1734, Civil C. § 4715. Foreclosure. A mortgagee may foreclose the right of redemption of the mortgagor in the manner prescribed by the code of civil procedure.

§ 1735, Civil C. § 4716. Record of assignment. How record operates. An assignment of a mortgage may be recorded in like manner as a mortgage and such record operates as notice to all persons subsequently deriving title to the mortgage from the assignor.

§ 1735, Civil C. § 4717. Of what such record not notice. When the mortgage is executed as security for money due or to become due on a promissory note, bond or other instrument designated in the mortgage, the record of the assignment of the mortgage is not of itself notice to a mortgagor, his heirs or personal representatives so as to invalidate any payment made by them or either of them to the person holding such note, bond or other instrument.

§ 1735, Civil C. § 4718. How recorded mortgage discharged by entry. A recorded mortgage may be discharged by an entry in the margin of the record thereof, signed by the mortgagee or his personal representative or assignee, acknowledging the satisfaction of the mortgage, in the presence of the register who must certify the acknowledgment in form substantially as follows:

Signed and acknowledged before me this.....day of.....
in the year.....

A. B., Register.

§ 1735, Civil C. § 4719. How by mortgagee's certificate. A recorded mortgage, if not discharged as provided in the preceding section, must be discharged upon the record by the officer having custody thereof, on the presentation to him of a certificate signed by the mortgagee, his personal representatives or assigns, acknowledged or proved and certified as prescribed by the chapter on recording transfers, stating that the mortgage has been paid or otherwise satisfied and discharged.

§ 4720. Discharge by foreign executor or administrator. When an executor or administrator shall be appointed in any other state or foreign country, on the estate of any person not a resident of this state at the time of his decease, and no executor or administrator thereon shall have been appointed in this state, such foreign executor or administrator, upon filing in the office of the register of deeds of any county in which any mortgage held by the estate of such deceased person is filed or recorded an authenticated copy of his appointment, may execute, acknowledge and deliver a certificate of discharge of such mortgage the same as and with like effect as executors and administrators appointed under the laws of this state may do.

§ 4721. Discharge by heir or legatee. Any heir or legatee of such deceased person, residing within or without the state, upon recording in the office of the register of deeds an authenticated copy of the judgment or decree of the court, transferring to such heir or legatee the ownership of any such mortgage may, in like manner and with like effect, satisfy or release such mortgage.

§ 4722. Discharge by foreign guardian of minor. Any guardian appointed in any other state or foreign country of a minor holding and owning a mortgage upon property in this state, upon filing in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the property is situated an authenticated copy of his appointment as guardian and the same proof of the ownership of such mortgage as is required in the last section, may in like manner and with like effect satisfy or release such mortgage.

§ 4723. Such certificate must be recorded. A certificate of the discharge of a mortgage and a proof or acknowledgment thereof must be recorded at length and a reference made in the record to the book and page where the mortgage is recorded and in the minute of the discharge made upon the record of the mortgage, to the book and page where the discharge is recorded. § 1735, Civil C.

§ 4724. When mortgage satisfied mortgagee must on demand discharge. Penalty. When any mortgage or lien upon property has been satisfied, the owner of such mortgage or lien must immediately on demand of the owner of the property execute and deliver to him a certificate of the discharge thereof, and must at the expense of the owner of the property acknowledge the execution thereof so as to entitle it to be recorded or he must enter satisfaction or cause satisfaction of such mortgage or lien to be entered of record; and any owner of any mortgage or lien, who refuses to execute and deliver to the owner of the property covered by the mortgage or lien the certificate of discharge and to acknowledge the execution thereof or to enter satisfaction or cause satisfaction to be entered of the mortgage or lien as provided by law, is liable to the owner of such property or his assignee or legal representatives for all damages which he or they may sustain by reason of such refusal, and shall also forfeit to him or them the sum of one hundred dollars. § 1735, Civil C. am'd.

ARTICLE 2. — MORTGAGE OF REAL PROPERTY.

§ 4725. Form. A mortgage of real property may be made in substantially the following form: § 1736, Civil C.

This mortgage made the day of, in the year by A. B., of, mortgagor, to C. D., of, mortgagee, witnesseth:

That the mortgagor mortgages to the mortgagee (here describe the property) as security for the payment to him of dollars, on or before the day of, in the year with interest thereon (or as security for the payment of an obligation, describing it, etc.) A. B.

§ 4726. When devisee must satisfy mortgage out of his property. When real property, subject to a mortgage, passes by succession or will, the successor or devisee must satisfy the mortgage out of his own property without resorting to the executor or administrator of the mortgagor, unless there is an express direction in the will of the mortgagor that the mortgage shall be otherwise paid. § 1737, Civil C.

§ 4727. Executed, etc., like grant. Mortgages of real property may be acknowledged or proved, certified and recorded in like manner and with like effect as grants thereof. § 1738, Civil C.

§ 4728. To whom record notice. The record of a mortgage duly made operates as notice to all subsequent purchasers and incumbrancers. § 1739, Civil C.

§ 4729. Separate paper showing grant intended as mortgage must be recorded. Every grant of real property or of any estate therein which appears by any other writing to be intended as a mortgage within the meaning of chapter 72 of this code must be recorded as a mortgage; and if such grant and other writing explanatory of its true character are not recorded together at the same time and place, the grantee can derive no benefit from such record.

§ 1741, CIVIL C.

§ 4730. Defeasance must be recorded. When a grant of real property purports to be an absolute conveyance, but is intended to be defeasible on the performance of certain conditions such grant is not defeated or affected as against any person other than the grantee or his heirs or devisees or persons having actual notice, unless an instrument of defeasance duly executed and acknowledged, shall have been recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the property is situated.

ARTICLE 3. — MORTGAGE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 1742, CIVIL C.

§ 4731. Form. A mortgage of personal property may be made in substantially the following form:

This mortgage made the day of, in the year by A. B., of, by occupation, mortgagor, to C. D., of, by occupation a, mortgagee, witnesseth:

That the mortgagor mortgages to the mortgagee (here describe the property) as security for the payment to him of dollars on (or before) the day of, in the year, with interest thereon (or security for the payment of a note or obligation describing it, etc.) A. B.

§ 4732. Conditional sales must be in writing and filed. All reservations of the title to personal property, as security for the purchase money thereof, shall, when the possession of such property is delivered to the vendee, be void as to subsequent creditors without notice and purchasers and incumbrancers in good faith and for value, unless such reservation is in writing and filed and indexed the same as a mortgage of personal property. In indexing such instruments the register of deeds shall treat the purchaser as mortgagor and the vendor as mortgagee.

§ 1744, CIVIL C.

§ 4733. Void as to whom, unless filed. A mortgage of personal property is void as against creditors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers and incumbrancers of the property in good faith for value, unless the original or an authenticated copy thereof is filed by depositing the same in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the property mortgaged, or any part thereof, is at such time situated.

§ 1745, CIVIL C.

§ 4734. Filing, notice to whom. The filing of a mortgage of personal property in conformity with the provisions of this article operates as notice thereof to all subsequent purchasers and incumbrancers of so much of said property as is at the time mentioned in the preceding section, situated in the county or counties wherein such mortgage or an authenticated copy thereof is filed.

§ 1746, CIVIL C.

§ 4735. Where property in transit deemed to be. For the purposes of this article property in transit from the possession of the mortgagee to the county of the residence of the mortgagor or to a location for use is during a reasonable time for transportation to be taken as situated in the county in which the mortgagor resides, or where it is intended to be used. For a like purpose personal property used in conducting the business of a common carrier is to be taken as situated in the county in which the principal office or place of business of the carrier is located.

§ 4736. Valid only as to property in county. Filing in other counties. A single mortgage of personal property embracing several things of such character, or so situated, that by the provisions of this article, separate mortgages upon them would be required to be filed in different counties is only valid in respect to the things as to which it is duly filed; but a copy of the original mortgage may be authenticated by the register of deeds in whose office it is filed, and such copy be filed in any other county with the same effect as to the property therein that the original could have been. § 1747, Civil C.

§ 4737. How renewed. A mortgage of personal property ceases to be valid as against creditors of the mortgagor, and subsequent purchasers or incumbrancers in good faith after the expiration of three years from the filing thereof, unless within ninety days next preceding the expiration of such term a copy of the mortgage and a statement of the amount of existing debt for which the mortgagee or his assignee claims a lien, sworn to and subscribed by him, his agent or attorney, are filed anew in the office of the register of deeds in the county in which the mortgage was originally filed and in like manner the mortgage and statement of debt must be again filed every three years or it ceases to be valid as against the parties above mentioned. § 1748, Civil C.
1, c. 25, 1881.
1, c. 41, 1890.
am'd.

§ 4738. How executed. A mortgage of personal property must be signed by the mortgagor in the presence of two persons who must sign the same as witnesses thereto and no further proof or acknowledgment is required to admit it to be filed. § 1749, Civil C.

§ 4739. Duty of register of deeds. Cancellation. The register of deeds of each of the several counties must receive and file all such instruments as are offered to him and must keep the same in his office in regular and orderly file for the public information and must not permit them, or any of them, to be removed from his office until canceled. Every such mortgage may be canceled by the register of deeds upon the presentation to him of a receipt for the sum, money or property secured, or an acknowledgment of satisfaction thereof signed by the mortgagee. § 1750, Civil C.

§ 4740. Registry index. Every register of deeds with whom any such mortgage or authenticated copy thereof is filed must indorse a number upon the same in regular order together with the time of receiving the same and must enter the name of every party thereto in a book kept for that purpose alphabetically, placing mortgagors and mortgagees under a separate head and stating in separate columns, opposite each name, the number indorsed upon the mortgage, the date thereof and of the filing, the amount secured thereby, a brief of the substance thereof not otherwise entered and the time at which it is due. A mortgage is not to be deemed defectively filed by reason of any errors in the copy filed which do not tend to mislead a party interested; and the negligence of the officer with whom a mortgage is filed does not prejudice the rights of the mortgagee. § 1751, Civil C.

§ 4741. When mortgagee may take and dispose of property. If the mortgagor voluntarily removes or permits the removal of the mortgaged property from the county in which it was situated at the time it was mortgaged, the mortgagee may take possession and § 1752, Civil C.

dispose of the property as a pledge for the payment of the debt, though the debt is not due.

§ 1756, Civil C. § 4742. Where ship mortgage recorded. No mortgage of any ship or vessel, or part thereof, of the United States shall be valid against any person, other than the mortgagor, his heirs and devisees and persons having actual notice thereof, unless such mortgage is recorded in the office of the collector of customs where such vessel is registered or enrolled.

§ 1756, Civil C. § 4743. Provisions inapplicable to ship mortgages. Sections 4733 to 4741 inclusive of this article do not apply to any mortgage of a ship or vessel, or any part thereof, which is required as above by act of congress to be recorded in a particular place or manner.

CHAPTER 74.

PLEDGE.

§ 1757, Civil C. § 4744. Defined. Pledge is a deposit of personal property by way of security for the performance of another act.

§ 1758, Civil C. § 4745. What contracts deemed pledge. Every contract by which the possession of personal property is transferred as security only is to be deemed a pledge.

§ 1759, Civil C. § 4746. Lien dependent on possession. The lien of a pledge is dependent on possession and no pledge is valid until the property pledged is delivered to the pledgee or to a pledge holder as herein-after prescribed.

§ 1760, Civil C. § 4747. Includes increase. The increase of property pledged is pledged with the property.

§ 1761, Civil C. § 4748. Lien may be pledged. One who has a lien upon property may pledge it to the extent of his lien.

§ 1762, Civil C. § 4749. By one allowed to assume apparent ownership. One who has allowed another to assume the apparent ownership of property for the purpose of making any transfer of it cannot set up his own title to defeat a pledge of the property made by the other to a pledgee, who received the property in good faith in the ordinary course of business and for value.

§ 1763, Civil C. § 4750. To secure another's obligation. Property may be pledged as security for the obligation of another person than the owner and in so doing the owner has all the rights of a pledgor for himself except as hereinafter stated.

§ 1764, Civil C. § 4751. Deposit with pledge holder. A pledgor and pledgee may agree upon a third person with whom to deposit the property pledged, who, if he accepts the deposit, is called a pledge holder.

§ 1765, Civil C. § 4752. Withdrawal of property pledged for another. One who pledges property as security for the obligation of another cannot withdraw the property pledged otherwise than as a pledgor for himself might; and, if he receives from the debtor a consideration for the pledge, he cannot withdraw it without his consent.

§ 1766, Civil C. § 4753. Exoneration of pledge holder. A pledge holder for reward cannot exonerate himself from his undertaking, and a gratuitous pledge holder can do so only by giving reasonable notice to the pledgor and pledgee to appoint a new pledge holder and in case of their failure to agree by depositing the property pledged with some impartial person, who will then be entitled to a reasonable compensation for his care of the same.

§ 4754. Pledge holder must enforce pledgee's rights. A § 1767, CIVIL C. pledge holder must enforce all the rights of the pledgee, unless authorized by him to waive them.

§ 4755. Liability of pledgee or pledge holder. A pledgee, § 1768, CIVIL C. or a pledge holder for reward, assumes the duties and liabilities of a depositary for reward.

§ 4756. Liability of gratuitous pledge holder. A gratuitous § 1769, CIVIL C. pledge holder assumes the duties and liabilities of a gratuitous depositary.

§ 4757. Pledgee's rights on fraudulent misrepresentation of value. § 1770, CIVIL C.
When a debtor has obtained credit, or an extension of time by a fraudulent misrepresentation of the value of the property pledged by or for him, the creditor may demand a further pledge to correspond with the value represented; and in default thereof may recover his debt immediately, though it is not actually due.

§ 4758. Sale when performance due. § 1771, CIVIL C.
When performance of the act for which a pledge is given is due in whole or in part, the pledgee may collect what is due him by a sale of the property pledged, subject to the rules and exceptions hereinafter prescribed.

§ 4759. Demand necessary. § 1772, CIVIL C.
Before property pledged can be sold and after performance of the act for which it is security is due the pledgee must demand performance thereof from the debtor, if the debtor can be found.

§ 4760. Notice to pledgor of sale. § 1773, CIVIL C.
A pledgee must give actual notice to the pledgor of the time and place at which the property pledged will be sold at such a reasonable time before the sale as will enable the pledgor to attend.

§ 4761. Waiver of such notice. § 1774, CIVIL C.
Notice of sale may be waived by a pledgor at any time; but is not waived by a mere waiver of demand of performance.

§ 4762. How demand waived. § 1775, CIVIL C.
A debtor or pledgor waives a demand of performance as a condition precedent to a sale of the property pledged by a positive refusal to perform after performance is due, but cannot waive it in any other manner except by contract.

§ 4763. Sale by public auction. § 1776, CIVIL C.
The sale by a pledgee of property pledged must be made by public auction in the manner and upon the notice to the public usual at the place of sale in respect to auction sales of similar property and must be for the highest obtainable price.

§ 4764. Cannot sell evidence of debt. Exception. § 1777, CIVIL C.
A pledgee cannot sell any evidence of debt pledged to him, except the obligations of governments, states or corporations; but he may collect the same when due.

§ 4765. When pledgor may require sale. § 1778, CIVIL C.
Whenever property pledged can be sold for a price sufficient to satisfy the claim of the pledgee, the pledgor may require it to be sold and its proceeds to be applied to such satisfaction when due.

§ 4766. Application of proceeds. § 1779, CIVIL C.
After a pledgee has lawfully sold property pledged, or otherwise collected its proceeds he may deduct therefrom the amount due under the principal obligation and the necessary expenses of sale and collection; and must pay the surplus to the pledgor on demand.

§ 4767. Same. When property pledged is sold by order of the pledgor before the claim of the pledgee is due the latter may retain out of the proceeds all that can possibly become due under his claim until it becomes due.

§ 4768. When pledgee cannot purchase. A pledgee or pledge holder cannot purchase the property pledged except by direct dealing with the pledgor.

§ 4769. Foreclosure. Instead of selling property pledged as hereinbefore provided a pledgee may foreclose the right of redemption by a judicial sale under the direction of a competent court; and in that case may be authorized by the court to purchase at the sale.

CHAPTER 75.

BOTTOMRY.

§ 4770. Defined. Bottomry is a contract by which a ship or its freightage is hypothecated as security for a loan, which is to be repaid only in case the ship survives a particular risk, voyage or period.

§ 4771. Hypothecation by owner of ship. The owner of a ship may hypothecate it or its freightage upon bottomry for any lawful purpose and at any time and place.

§ 4772. By master for what only. The master of a ship may hypothecate it upon bottomry only for the purpose of procuring repairs or supplies which are necessary for accomplishing the objects of the voyage or for securing the safety of the ship.

§ 4773. Same; when only. The master of a ship can hypothecate it upon bottomry only, when he cannot otherwise relieve the necessities of the ship and is unable to reach adequate funds of the owner or to obtain any upon the personal credit of the owner and when previous communication with him is precluded by the urgent necessity of the case.

§ 4774. Hypothecation of freightage by master. The master of a ship may hypothecate freightage upon bottomry under the same circumstances as those which authorize an hypothecation of the ship by him.

§ 4775. Interest higher than legal rate. Upon a contract of bottomry the parties may lawfully stipulate for a rate of interest higher than that allowed by the law upon other contracts. But a competent court may reduce the rate stipulated when it appears unjustifiable and exorbitant.

§ 4776. When enforceable, though unauthorized. A lender upon a contract of bottomry made by the master of a ship as such may enforce the contract, though the circumstances necessary to authorize the master to hypothecate the ship did not in fact exist, if after due diligence and inquiry the lender had reasonable grounds to believe and did in good faith believe in the existence of such circumstances.

§ 4777. Certain stipulation as to liability void. A stipulation in a contract of bottomry imposing any liability for the loan independent of the maritime risks is void. § 1790, CIVIL C.

§ 4778. Recovery in case of loss. In case of a total loss of the thing hypothecated from a risk to which the loan was subject the lender upon bottomry can recover nothing; in case of a partial loss he can recover only to the extent of the net value to the owner of the part saved. § 1791, CIVIL C.

§ 4779. When loan due. Unless it is otherwise expressly agreed a bottomry loan becomes due immediately upon the termination of the risk, although a term of credit is specified in the contract. § 1792, CIVIL C.

§ 4780. Lien lost by delay in enforcing. A bottomry lien is independent of possession and is lost by omission to enforce it within a reasonable time. § 1793, CIVIL C.

§ 4781. Preferred to all liens except what. A bottomry lien, if created out of a real or apparent necessity in good faith, is preferred to every other lien or claim upon the same thing, excepting only a lien for seamen's wages, a subsequent lien of material men for supplies or repairs indispensable to the safety of the ship and a subsequent lien for salvage. § 1794, CIVIL C.

§ 4782. When last preferred. Of two or more bottomry liens on the same subject the latter in date has preference if created out of necessity. § 1795, CIVIL C.

CHAPTER 76.

RESPONDENTIA.

§ 4783. Defined. Respondentia is a contract by which a cargo, or some part thereof, is hypothecated as security for a loan, the repayment of which is dependent on maritime risk. § 1796, CIVIL C.

§ 4784. Owner may hypothecate. The owner of the cargo may hypothecate it upon respondentia at any time and place and for any lawful purpose. § 1797, CIVIL C.

§ 4785. When master may. The master of a ship may hypothecate its cargo upon respondentia only in a case in which he would be authorized to hypothecate the ship and freightage, but is unable to borrow sufficient money thereon for repairs or supplies, which are necessary for the successful accomplishment of the voyage; and he cannot do so even in such case if there is no reasonable prospect of benefiting the cargo thereby. § 1798, CIVIL C.

§ 4786. Other sections applicable. The provisions of sections 4775 to 4782 apply equally to loans on respondentia. § 1799, CIVIL C.

§ 4787. Owner of ship must repay owner of cargo. The owner of a ship is bound to repay to the owner of its cargo all which the latter is compelled to pay under a contract of respondentia made by the master in order to discharge its lien. § 1800, CIVIL C.

CHAPTER 77.

MECHANIC'S LIENS.

§ 655, C. Civ. P.
1. c. 99, 1887.
am'd.

§ 4788. Who may have and for what. Any person who shall perform any labor upon or furnish any materials, machinery or fixtures for the construction or repair of any work of internal improvement or for the erecting, alteration or repair of any building or other structures upon land, or in making any other improvement thereon, including fences, sidewalks, paving, wells, trees, drains, grades or excavations under a contract with the owner of such land, his agent, trustee, contractor or subcontractor, or with the consent of such owner, shall upon complying with the provisions of this chapter have for his labor done, or materials, machinery or fixtures furnished a lien upon such building, erection or improvement and upon the land belonging to such owner on which the same is situated, or to improve which the work was done or the things furnished, to secure the payment for such labor, materials, machinery or fixtures. The owner shall be presumed to have consented to the doing of any such labor or the making of any such improvement, if at the time he had knowledge thereof and did not give notice of his objection thereto to the person entitled to the lien. The provisions of this section and chapter shall not be construed to apply to claims or contracts for furnishing lightning rods or any of their attachments.

§ 4789. Single contract for several buildings. If labor is done or materials furnished under a single contract for several buildings, erections or improvements, the person furnishing the same shall be entitled to a lien therefor as follows:

1. If such buildings, erections or improvements are upon a single farm, tract or lot upon all such buildings, erections and improvements and the farm, tract or lot upon which the same are situated.

2. If such buildings, erections or improvements are upon separate farms, tracts or lots, upon all such buildings, erections and improvements and the farms, tracts or lots upon which the same are situated; but upon the foreclosure of such lien the court may in the cases provided for in this subdivision apportion the amount of the claim among the several farms, tracts or lots in proportion to the enhanced value of the same produced by means of such labor or materials, if such apportionment is necessary to protect the rights of third persons.

§ 657, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 4790. On railway contracts. Every person who furnishes any labor, skill or material for constructing, altering or repairing any line of railway or any improvement or structure appertaining to any line of railway by virtue of any contract with the owner, his agent, contractor or subcontractor shall have a lien upon such line of railway and the right of way thereof and upon all bridges, depots, offices and other structures appertaining to such line of railway and all franchises, privileges and immunities granted to the owner of such line of railway for the construction and operation thereof to secure the payment for such labor, skill and materials upon filing a statement of his demand therefor in accordance with the provisions of the next section within ninety days from the last day of the month in which such labor or material was furnished; but a failure to file the same within the time aforesaid shall not defeat the lien except to the extent specified in the next section.

§ 4791. Account to be filed with clerk. Every person, who wishes to avail himself of the provisions of this chapter, shall file with the clerk of the district court of the county or judicial subdivision in which the property to be charged with the lien is situated and within ninety days after all the things aforesaid shall have been furnished or the labor done a just and true account of the demand due him after allowing all credits and containing a correct description of the property to be charged with such lien and verified by affidavit; but a failure to file the same within the time aforesaid shall not defeat the lien, except as against purchasers or incumbrancers in good faith and for value whose rights accrue after the ninety days and before any claim for the lien is filed, or as against the owner except the amount paid to the contractor after the expiration of the ninety days and before the filing of the same.

662, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 4792. Clerk's record of liens. The clerk of the district court shall indorse upon every account the date of its filing and make an abstract thereof in a book to be kept by him for that purpose and properly indexed, containing the date of its filing, the name of the person filing the lien, the amount of such lien, the name of the person against whose property the lien is filed and a description of the property to be charged with the same.

§ 663, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 4793. Priority of mechanic's liens. Liens under the provisions of this chapter shall have priority in the following order:

§ 664, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

1. For manual labor.
2. For materials.
3. Subcontractors, other than manual laborers.
4. Original contractors.

Liens in the same class filed within the ninety days shall share ratably in the security; but liens in the same class filed thereafter shall have priority in the order of the filing of the accounts thereof as aforesaid. Liens under the provisions of this chapter shall be preferred to all other liens or incumbrances upon such building, erection or other improvement and the land on which the same is situated, or to improve which the labor was done or things furnished, or either of them, filed or docketed subsequent to the commencement of such building, erection or other improvement.

§ 4794. Land subject to lien. The entire land upon which any such building, erection or other improvement is situated, or to improve which the labor was done or things furnished, including that portion of the same not covered therewith, shall be subject to all liens created by this chapter to the extent of all the right, title and interest owned therein by the owner thereof for whose immediate use or benefit such labor was done or things furnished and when the interest owned in such land by such owner of such building, erection or other improvement is only a leasehold interest, the forfeiture of such lease for the nonpayment of rent or for noncompliance with any of the other stipulations therein shall not forfeit or impair such lien so far as it concerns such buildings, erections and improvements, but the same may be sold to satisfy such lien and be removed within thirty days after the sale thereof by the purchaser.

§ 665, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 4795. When prior to prior lien on land. Power of court. The liens for the things aforesaid or the work, including liens for additions, repairs and betterments shall attach to the building, erection or improvement for which they were furnished or done in preference to any prior lien or incumbrance or mortgage upon the land upon which such erection, building or improvement belongs or is erected or put.

§ 666, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

If such material was furnished or labor performed in the erection or construction of an original and independent building, erection or other improvement commenced since the attaching of such prior lien, incumbrance or mortgage, the court may in its discretion order and direct such building, erection or improvement to be separately sold under execution and the purchaser may remove the same within such reasonable time as the court may fix. But if in the opinion of the court it would be for the best interest of all parties that the land and the improvements thereon should be sold together, it shall so order and the court shall take an account and ascertain the separate values of the land and of the erection, building or other improvement, and distribute the proceeds of sale so as to secure to the prior mortgage or other lien, priority upon the land, and to the mechanic's lien, priority upon the building, erection or other improvement.

If the material furnished or labor performed was for an addition to, repairs of or betterments upon buildings, erections or other improvements, the court shall take an account of the values before such material was furnished or labor performed, and the enhanced value caused by such additions, repairs or betterments, and upon the sale of the premises distribute the proceeds of sale so as to secure to the prior mortgage or lien priority upon the land and improvements as they existed prior to the attaching of the mechanic's lien and to the mechanic's lien priority upon the enhanced value caused by such additions, repairs or betterments.

§ 667, C. Civ. P.
1, c. 83, 1883.
am'd.

§ 4796. Action to enforce. Fee for lien. Any person having a lien by virtue of this chapter may bring an action to enforce the same in the district court in the county or judicial subdivision in which the property is situated, and any number of persons claiming liens against the same property may join in the same action and when separate actions are commenced the court may consolidate them. Whenever in the sale of the property subject to the lien there is a deficiency of the proceeds, judgment may be entered for the deficiency in like manner and with like effect as in actions for the foreclosure of mortgages. The court shall also allow as part of the costs the money paid for filing each lien and the sum of five dollars for drawing the same.

§ 668, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 4797. Requiring suit to be commenced. Assignment of claims. Upon the written demand of the owner, his agent or contractor, served on the person holding the lien, requiring him to commence suit to enforce such lien, such suit shall be commenced within thirty days thereafter, if the debt for which the lien is security is due and if not due, within thirty days after the same becomes due or the lien shall be forfeited. All claims for which liens may be or have been filed and rights of action to recover therefor under this chapter may be assigned by an instrument in writing and such assignment shall vest in the assignee all rights and remedies herein given, subject to all defenses that might have been interposed, if such assignment had not been made.

§ 669, C. Civ. P.

§ 4798. Owner defined. Every person for whose immediate use and benefit any building, erection or improvement is made, having the capacity to contract, including guardians of minors or other persons shall be included in the word "owner" thereof.

§ 4799. When discharge may be required. Penalty. § 670, C. Civ. P. am'd.
Whenever a lien has been claimed by filing the same in the clerk's office and it is afterwards paid, or more than thirty days have elapsed after the service of the demand mentioned in section 4797 without the commencement of an action to enforce the lien, the holder thereof shall upon demand of any person entitled to have such lien discharged and upon payment of the expenses thereof discharge the same, either on the proper book in such office or by an instrument acknowledged or proved in the same manner as the satisfaction of a mortgage, and if he neglects to do so for ten days after such demand, he shall forfeit one hundred dollars to the person entitled to such discharge and be liable to any person injured to the extent of the injury.

§ 4800. Subcontractor defined. § 671, C. Civ. P.
All persons furnishing things or doing work provided for by this chapter shall be considered subcontractors, except such as have therefor contracts directly with the owner, proprietor, his agent or trustee.

§ 4801. When taking collateral security does not impair right. The taking of collateral or other security for an indebtedness, for which a lien might be claimed under the provisions of this chapter, shall in no way impair the right to such lien, unless such security shall be by express agreement given and received in lieu of such lien.

CHAPTER 78.

BONDS FOR LABOR AND MATERIAL FOR PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

§ 4802. Bonds from contractors on public improvements. § 1, c. 111, 1890. am'd.
Whenever any public officer shall, under the laws of this state, enter into contract in any sum exceeding one hundred dollars, with any person for making any public improvements, or for constructing any public building, or making repairs on the same, such officer shall take from the party contracted with a bond, conditioned to the effect that such contractor shall pay all indebtedness incurred for labor or material furnished in the construction or repair of such public building or in making such public improvements.

§ 4803. How bond executed. § 2, c. 111, 1890. am'd.
Such bond shall run to the state of North Dakota, shall be executed by two or more sureties and shall be for an amount at least equal to the price stated in the contract. It shall be approved by the clerk of the district court of the county in which such building is to be constructed or such public improvement is to be made and the sureties thereon shall qualify in a sum equal to double the amount specified in the bond.

§ 4804. Where bond filed. Recovery on. § 3, c. 111, 1890. am'd.
Such bond shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which such public improvement is to be made or such public building is to be erected; and any person to whom there is due any sum for labor or material furnished, as stated in section 4802, or his assigns, may bring an action on the bond for the recovery of such indebtedness; provided, that no action shall be brought on such bond unless commenced within one year from the completion of such public improvements, repairs or buildings.

CHAPTER 79.

MINER'S LIEN.

§ 1. c. 41, 1879.
am'd.

§ 4805. Lien for work or material furnished. Every miner or other person, who at the request of the owner, or his agent, of any lode, lead, ledge, mine or deposit bearing gold, cinnabar or copper, or of any coal bank or mine, or at the request of any contractor or subcontractor, shall perform any labor whatever on such mine or furnish any timber, rope, nails or any other materials for timbering shafts or levels for the mine owned by such owner, or who shall furnish any kind of materials for erecting any windlass, whims or any other hoisting apparatus or machinery, or for any car track, cars, tunnels, drifts or openings thereon, or shall perform any labor in any tunnel shall have a lien upon such lode, lead, ledge, mine, deposit, bank or tunnel to secure the payment of the same.

§ 2. c. 41, 1879.
am'd.

§ 4806. Attested account to owner. Amount of claim deducted from payment to contractor. Any miner or other person doing and performing any work or furnishing any material as specified in the last section, under a contract either express or implied between the owner of any mine or his agent, and any contractor working on such mine, whether such work shall be performed or materials furnished as miner, laborer or otherwise whose demand for work so performed or materials so furnished has not been paid, may deliver to the owner of such mine or tunnel or to his agent or superintendent, an attested account of the amount in value of the work and labor thus performed or of the materials thus furnished and remaining unpaid, and thereupon such owner or his agent shall retain out of the first subsequent payments to such contractor the amount so due for such work and labor or materials furnished for the benefit of the person so performing or furnishing the same.

§ 3. c. 41, 1879.
am'd.

§ 4807. Duty of owner when account presented. Whenever any account for labor performed or materials furnished as specified in the last preceding section shall be placed in the hands of the owner of any mine or tunnel or his agent, it shall be the duty of such owner or agent to furnish such contractor with a copy of such papers, so that if there is any disagreement between such contractor or his subcontractor and the creditor of either, as the case may be, they may by amicable adjustment or by arbitration ascertain the sum due if any; and if such contractor or subcontractor shall not within ten days after the receipt of such papers give such owner or his agent written notice that he intends to dispute the claim, or if ten days after giving such notice he shall refuse or neglect to have the matter adjusted as aforesaid, he shall be considered as assenting thereto; and such owner or his agent may pay the same when it becomes due and for that purpose may deduct the amount out of any moneys due such contractor, who may in like manner deduct such amount from any moneys due by him to his subcontractor in case such account or demand is against such subcontractor for work and labor performed or materials furnished as aforesaid.

§ 4. c. 41, 1879.
am'd.

§ 4808. Amount due contractors recovered from owner. The amount which may be due from any contractor to his creditor may be recovered from such owner by the creditor of such contractor in an action at law to the extent in value of any balance due by the owner to his contractor under the contract with him at the time of the notice first given as aforesaid, or subsequently according to such contract or under the same.

§ 4809. Account to be made and filed with clerk. Any person entitled to a lien under this chapter shall make an account in writing of the items of labor, skill, machinery and material furnished, as the case may be, and after making oath thereto shall within sixty days from the time of completing such labor or furnishing the last item of machinery, materials or other things, file the same in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county or subdivision in which the lode, lead, ledge, mine, deposit, bank or tunnel may be situated, for or upon which labor, skill, machinery or material shall have been furnished; and also file at the same time a correct description of the property to be charged with such lien, which account and description so made and filed shall be recorded in a separate book to be provided for that purpose by such clerk of court, and thereupon the same shall from the time of the completion of the work of furnishing the last item of machinery or material, and for one year thereafter, operate as a lien on the property charged in such description; when any work and labor has been performed or materials furnished as aforesaid under a written contract, the same or a copy thereof shall be filed with such account and description; provided, that all lien claims for labor performed or materials furnished shall be concurrent liens upon the property charged, and shall be paid pro rata out of the proceeds arising from the sale thereof, if the same shall be sold or upon settlement without sale.

§ 4810. Foreclosure. Any person holding such lien may foreclose the same in the same manner as a mechanic's lien; but in all actions instituted for the foreclosure of such lien, all persons claiming liens upon the property charged shall be made parties to such action, and the rights of all parties shall be determined by the court, and such order made in regard thereto as shall preserve and protect the rights of all parties.

§ 4811. Satisfaction must be granted when lien paid. Any person who shall have filed his account and perfected his lien under the provisions of this chapter and shall have received satisfaction of his claim or demand and the legal cost of his proceedings thereunder, shall upon the request of any person interested, and within six days after such request, enter satisfaction of his lien in the office where such account and lien is of record, which shall forever thereafter discharge, defeat and release the same; and if any person holding a lien as aforesaid shall receive satisfaction as hereinbefore specified, or having been tendered the amount due on his claim or demand with legal costs, shall not within six days after receiving such satisfaction or tender of payment, enter satisfaction as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay to the persons aggrieved double the amount of damages which may have been sustained in consequence of such failure or neglect, if he shall have been requested in such case to enter satisfaction as aforesaid.

§ 4812. Chapter applies to oil wells, etc. The provisions of this chapter shall apply to oil wells, or springs, iron and lead mines, as well as all other mines not herein specified, so far as the same may be applicable.

CHAPTER 80.

LIENS FOR KEEPING AND PASTURING STOCK.

§ 672, C. Civ. P. § 4813. Who may have. Any farmer, ranchman or herder of cattle, tavern keeper or livery stable keeper, to whom any horses, mules, cattle or sheep shall be intrusted for the purpose of feeding, herding, pasturing or ranching shall have a lien upon said horses, mules, cattle or sheep for the amount that may be due for such feeding, herding, pasturing or ranching, and shall be authorized to retain possession of such horses, mules, cattle or sheep until the said amount is paid; provided, that these provisions shall not be construed to apply to stolen stock.

§ 673, C. Civ. P. § 4814. Lien only against owner. The provisions of this chapter shall not be construed to give any farmer, ranchman or herder of cattle, tavern keeper or livery stable keeper any lien upon horses, mules, cattle or sheep put into their keeping for the purposes mentioned in the previous section, when said property was not owned by the person intrusting the same at the time of delivering them into the possession of said farmer, ranchman, herder, tavern keeper or livery stable keeper.

§ 4815. Priority over other liens. Such lien shall have priority over all other liens on such property for ten days after the receipt of the same and shall thereafter have priority over all other liens on such property, if the person to whom such property is intrusted as in this chapter provided shall within such ten days:

1. Serve upon the holder of an earlier lien upon such property, if known and a resident of this state, written notice that such property has been intrusted to him for some one of the purposes mentioned in section 4813, specifying which, and by whom; or,

2. If the residence of the holder of any such lien is unknown or he is not a resident of this state, publish for one week in some newspaper published in the county in which such property is being kept and if there is no such newspaper then in a newspaper published at the seat of government, a notice of the kind provided for in subdivision 1 of this section.

CHAPTER 81.

LIEN FOR SIRES.

§ 1, c. 117, 1891, am'd. § 4816. Filing statement of pedigree prerequisite. Every owner of a sire charging a service fee, in order to have a lien for service upon the offspring of any such sire under the provisions of this chapter, shall file a statement, verified by oath, to the best of his knowledge and belief with the commissioner of agriculture and labor giving the name, age, description and pedigree, or breeding of such sire, so far as known, as well as the terms and conditions upon which he is advertised for service.

§ 4817. Certificate of commissioner of agriculture. Filing and posting. The commissioner of agriculture and labor upon receipt of the statement specified in the last section, and also of a certificate of registry of such sire in any society for the purpose of registry of sires, duly verified by affidavit shall issue a certificate to the owner thereof, a copy of which shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county or counties in which such sire shall stand for service and shall also be posted conspicuously in all places where such sire shall stand for service, which certificate shall state the name, age, description, pedigree and ownership of such sire, the terms and conditions upon which the sire is advertised for service and that the provisions of this chapter so far as relates to the filing of the statement aforesaid have been complied with. § 2, c. 117, 1891.

§ 4818. Procedure to obtain lien. The owner of any sire receiving such certificate shall have a lien upon the offspring of such sire and upon the female served, upon filing at any time within eight months after the service in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which such female was kept at the time of the service, a statement of the account thereof together with a description of the female served. Such lien shall exist for a period of three years from the filing of the statement and shall have priority over all other liens and incumbrances upon the offspring of the female served. § 3, c. 117, 1891.
am'd.

§ 4819. Foreclosure. After the expiration of nine months from the filing of the lien, or at any time after an attempt shall be made to dispose of the female or remove her from the county, the lien may be foreclosed by a sale of the property covered thereby, upon the notice and in the manner provided for the foreclosure of mortgages upon personal property and the costs and fees for such foreclosure shall be the same as are provided in section 5892 of the code of civil procedure. § 6, c. 117, 1891.
am'd.

CHAPTER 82.

SEED LIEN.

§ 4820. Who may have. Any person who shall furnish to another seed to be sown or planted upon lands owned, used, occupied or rented by him shall, upon filing the statement provided for in the next section, have a lien upon the crop produced from the seed so furnished to secure the payment of the purchase price thereof. § 1, c. 150, 1887.
am'd.

§ 4821. Procedure to obtain lien. Any person entitled to a lien under this chapter shall within thirty days after the seed is furnished file in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the seed is to be sown or planted a statement in writing, verified by oath, showing the kind and quantity of seed, its value, the name of the person to whom furnished and a description of the land upon which the same is to be or has been planted or sown. Unless the person entitled to the lien shall file such statement within the time aforesaid he shall be deemed to have waived his right thereto. § 3, c. 150, 1887.
am'd.

§ 4822. Priority. The lien given by this chapter, shall, as to the crops covered thereby, have priority over all other liens and incumbrances thereon except liens given by chapter 83. § 2, c. 150, 1887.
am'd.

CHAPTER 83.

THRESHING LIEN.

§ 1, c. 88, 1889,
am'd.

§ 4823. Who may have. Any owner or lessee of a threshing machine who threshes grain for another therewith shall, upon filing the statement provided for in the next section, have a lien upon such grain for the value of his services in threshing the same from the date of the commencement of the threshing.

§ 3, c. 88, 1889,
am'd.

§ 4824. Procedure to obtain lien. Any person entitled to a lien under this chapter shall, within thirty days after the threshing is completed, file in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the grain was grown a statement in writing, verified by oath, showing the amount and quantity of grain threshed, the price agreed upon for threshing the same, the name of the person for whom the threshing was done and a description of the land upon which the grain was grown. Unless the person entitled to the lien shall file such statement within the time aforesaid he shall be deemed to have waived his right thereto.

§ 2, c. 88, 1889,
§ 1, c. 87, 1890,
am'd.

§ 4825. Priority. Such lien shall have priority over all other liens and incumbrances upon such grain.

CHAPTER 84.

FARM LABORER'S LIEN.

§ 1, c. 63, 1895.

§ 4826. Who may have. Any person who performs services for another in the capacity of farm laborer between the first day of April and the first day of December in any year, shall have a lien on all crops of every kind grown, raised or harvested by the person for whom the services were performed during said time as security for the payment of any wages due or owing to such person for services so performed, and said lien shall have priority over all other liens, chattel mortgages or incumbrances, excepting, however, seed grain and thresher's liens; provided, however, that, the wages for which a lien may be obtained must be reasonable and not in excess of that which is usually charged for the same kind of work in the locality where the labor is performed; provided, further, that in case any such person without cause quits his employment before the expiration of the time for which he is employed, or if he shall be discharged for cause, then he shall not be entitled to a lien as herein provided.

§ 2, c. 63, 1895.

§ 4827. How lien obtained. In order to acquire a lien as specified in section 4826 of this chapter, the person performing such services shall, within ten days after the services are fully performed, file in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which any of the real estate is situated, on which any crop is grown on which a lien is claimed, an affidavit and notice setting forth the terms of the employment, the name of the employer, the time when the services were commenced and when ended, the wages agreed upon if any, and if not agreed upon then the reasonable value of the same, the terms of payment if any and a description of the real estate on which any crop is grown or has been grown or harvested on which a lien is claimed, the amount paid him if any and the amount remaining unpaid and that said laborer claims a lien for the same.

§ 4828. Duty of register. It shall be the duty of the register of deeds to file and enter said affidavit and notice in the manner required by law for filing and entering chattel mortgages, entering employers as mortgagors and laborers as mortgagees, and shall be entitled to a fee of ten cents for filing the same. § 3, c. 63, 1895.

CHAPTER 85.

OTHER LIENS.

§ 4830. Vendor's lien on realty. One who sells real property has a special or vendor's lien thereon, independent of possession, for so much of the price as remains unpaid and unsecured otherwise than by the personal obligation of the buyer. § 1801, Civil C.

§ 4831. When lien waived. When a buyer of real property gives to the seller a written contract for payment of all or part of the price, an absolute transfer of such contract by the seller, waives his lien to the extent of the sum payable under the contract, but a transfer of such contract in trust to pay debts and return the surplus is not a waiver of the lien. § 1802, Civil C.

§ 4832. Certain liens subject to creditor's rights. The liens defined in sections 4830 and 4834 shall be subject to the rights of subsequent creditors without notice, or purchasers or incumbrancers in good faith and for value. § 1803, Civil C. am'd.

§ 4833. Vendor's lien on personalty. One who sells personal property has a special lien thereon, dependent on possession for its price, if it is in his possession when the price becomes payable; and may enforce his lien in like manner as if the property was pledged to him for the price. § 1804, Civil C.

§ 4834. Purchaser's lien on realty. One who pays to the owner any part of the price of real property, under an agreement for the sale thereof, has a special lien upon the property, independent of possession, for such part of the amount paid as he may be entitled to recover back in case of a failure of consideration. § 1805, Civil C.

§ 4835. Lien for improvement, carriage, etc., of personalty. Every person who, while lawfully in possession of an article of personal property, renders any service to the owner thereof by § 1806, Civil C.

labor or skill employed for the protection, improvement, safe-keeping or carriage thereof, has a special lien thereon, dependent on possession, for the compensation, if any, which is due to him from the owner for such service.

§ 1807, Civil C. § 4836. Factor's lien. A factor has a general lien dependent on possession for all that is due to him as such upon all articles of commercial value that are intrusted to him by the same principal.

§ 1808, Civil C. § 4837. Banker's lien. A banker has a general lien dependent on possession upon all property in his hands belonging to a customer for the balance due to him from such customer in the course of the business.

§ 1809, Civil C. § 4838. Shipmaster's lien. The master of a ship has a general lien independent of possession upon the ship and freightage for advances necessarily made, or liabilities necessarily incurred by him for the benefit of the ship, but has no lien for his wages.

§ 1810, Civil C. § 4839. Mate and seaman's lien for wages. The mate and seamen of a ship have a general lien independent of possession upon the ship and freightage for their wages, which is superior to every other lien.

§ 1811, Civil C. § 4840. Officer's lien in attachment or execution. An officer who levies an attachment or execution upon personal property acquires a special lien dependent on possession upon such property, which authorizes him to hold it until the process is discharged or satisfied, or a judicial sale of the property is had.

§ 1062, Civil C.
am'd. § 4841. Lien of hotel keepers, etc. Hotel, inn, boarding house and lodging house keepers shall have a lien upon the baggage and other property of their guests, boarders or lodgers, brought into such hotel, inn, boarding or lodging house by such guests, boarders or lodgers for the proper charges due from such guests, boarders or lodgers for their accomodation, board and lodging and room rent and such extras as are furnished at their request and the right to the possession of such baggage or other property until all such charges are paid.

§ 9, c. 18, Pol. C. § 4842. Attorney's lien. An attorney has a lien for a general balance of compensation in and for each case upon:

1. Any papers belonging to his client which have come into his hands in the course of his professional employment in the case for which the lien is claimed.

2. Money in his hands belonging to his client in the case.

3. Money due his client in the hands of the adverse party, or attorney of such party, in an action or proceeding in which the attorney claiming the lien was employed from the time of giving notice in writing to such adverse party or the attorney of such party, if the money is in the possession or under the control of such attorney, which notice shall state the amount claimed and in general terms for what services.

4. After judgment in any court of record such notice may be given and the lien made effective against the judgment debtor by entering the same in the judgment docket opposite the entry of the judgment.

§ 10, c. 18, Pol. C. § 4843. Release by bond. Any person interested may release such lien by executing a bond in a sum double the amount claimed, or in such sum as may be fixed by a judge, payable to the attorney with security to be approved by the clerk of the court, conditioned to pay the amount finally due the attorney for his services, which amount may be ascertained by suit on the bond. Such lien will be released unless the attorney within ten days after demand therefor, furnishes any party interested a full and complete bill of particulars of the services and amount claimed for each item or written contract with the party for whom the services were rendered.

§ 4844. Lien for repairs of personalty. A person who makes, alters or repairs any article of personal property, at the request of the owner or legal possessor of the property, has a lien on the same for his reasonable charges for work done and materials furnished, and may retain possession of the same until the charges are paid. § 1814, Civil C. am'd.

CHAPTER 86.

FILING AND FORECLOSING LIENS ON PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 4845. How liens foreclosed. Upon default being made in the payment of a debt secured by a lien upon personal property such lien may be foreclosed upon the notice and in the manner provided for the foreclosure of mortgages upon personal property and the holder of such lien shall be entitled to the possession of the property covered thereby for the purpose of foreclosing the same. The costs and fees for such foreclosure shall be the same as are provided in section 5892 of the code of civil procedure. No report of such foreclosure need be made or filed. Such liens may also be foreclosed by action as provided in chapter 28 of the code of civil procedure.

§ 4846. Duty of register of deeds as to liens filed. It shall be the duty of the register of deeds to file and index any statement or lien upon personal property, required by law to be filed in his office, the same as a mortgage upon personal property, the person filing the lien being treated as mortgagee and the person against whom the lien is filed as mortgagor.

CHAPTER 87.

STOPPAGE IN TRANSIT.

§ 4847. When authorized. A seller or consignor of property, whose claim for its price or proceeds has not been extinguished, may, upon the insolvency of the buyer or consignee becoming known to him after parting with the property, stop it while on its transit to the buyer or consignee, and resume possession thereof. § 1815, Civil C.

§ 4848. Insolvency defined. A person is insolvent, within the meaning of the last section, when he ceases to pay his debts in the manner usual with persons of his business, or when he declares his inability or unwillingness to do so. § 1816, Civil C.

§ 4849. When transit ends. The transit of property is at an end when it comes into the possession of the consignee, or into that of his agent, unless such agent is employed merely to forward the property to the consignee. § 1817, Civil C.

- § 1818, CIVIL C. § 4850. How effected. Stoppage in transit can be effected only by notice to the carrier or depositary of the property, or by taking actual possession thereof.
- § 1819, CIVIL C. § 4851. Not rescission of sale. Stoppage in transit does not of itself rescind a sale, but is a means of enforcing the lien of the seller.

CHAPTER 88.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS IN GENERAL.

ARTICLE 1. — GENERAL DEFINITIONS.

- § 1820, CIVIL C. § 4852. What chapters apply to this article. The provisions of chapters 88 to 92 inclusive of this code apply only to negotiable instruments as defined in this article.
- § 1821, CIVIL C. § 4853. Negotiable instrument defined. A negotiable instrument is a written promise or request for the payment of a certain sum of money to order or bearer, in conformity to the provisions of this article.
- § 1822, CIVIL C. § 4854. Payable in money. Must be certain. A negotiable instrument must be made payable in money only, and without any condition not certain of fulfillment.
- § 1823, CIVIL C. § 4855. Payee must be ascertainable. The person to whose order a negotiable instrument is made payable must be ascertainable at the time the instrument is made.
- § 1824, CIVIL C. § 4856. Option to pay money or perform other act. A negotiable instrument may give to the payee an option between the payment of the sum specified therein and the performance of another act; but as to the latter the instrument is not within the provisions of chapters 88 to 92 of this code.
- § 1825, CIVIL C. § 4857. With or without date, etc. A negotiable instrument may be with or without date, and with or without designation of the time or place of payment.
- § 1826, CIVIL C.
am'd. § 4858. May contain what contracts. A negotiable instrument may contain a pledge of collateral security, with authority to dispose thereof, or an agreement to pay the current rate of exchange on a place other than the place of payment.
- § 1827, CIVIL C. § 4859. May not contain what. A negotiable instrument must not contain any other contract than such as is specified in this article.
- § 1828, CIVIL C. § 4860. Any date may be inserted. Any date may be inserted by the maker of a negotiable instrument, whether past, present or future, and the instrument is not invalidated by his death or incapacity at the time of the nominal date.
- § 1829, CIVIL C. § 4861. Negotiable instruments classified. There are six classes of negotiable instruments, namely:

1. Bills of exchange.
2. Promissory notes.
3. Bank notes.
4. Checks.
5. Bonds.
6. Certificates of deposit.

ARTICLE 2.—INTERPRETATION OF NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

§ 4862. When payable. A negotiable instrument which does not specify the time of payment is payable immediately. § 1830, Civil C.

§ 4863. Where payable. A negotiable instrument which does not specify a place of payment, is payable at the residence or place of business of the maker, or wherever he may be found. § 1831, Civil C.

§ 4864. To whom payable. An instrument otherwise negotiable in form, payable to a person named, but adding the words "or to his order," or "or to bearer," or words equivalent thereto, is in the former case payable to the written order of such person and in the latter case payable to the bearer. § 1832, Civil C.

§ 4865. Effect of payee being maker or fictitious. A negotiable instrument, made payable to the order of the maker, or of a fictitious person, if issued by the maker for a valid consideration, without indorsement has the same effect against him and all other persons having notice of the facts, as if payable to the bearer. § 1833, Civil C.

§ 4866. Payable to bearer if payee fictitious. A negotiable instrument, made payable to the order of a person obviously fictitious is payable to the bearer. § 1834, Civil C.

§ 4867. Signature presumed to be for consideration. The signature of every drawer, acceptor and indorser of a negotiable instrument is presumed to have been made for a valuable consideration, before the maturity of the instrument and in the ordinary course of business. § 1835, Civil C.

ARTICLE 3.—INDORSEMENT.

§ 4868. Indorser defined. One who writes his name upon a negotiable instrument, otherwise than as a maker or acceptor, and delivers it with his name thereon to another person, is called an indorser, and his act is called indorsement. § 1836, Civil C.

§ 4869. Obligation from agreement to indorse. One who agrees to indorse a negotiable instrument, is bound to write his signature upon the back of the instrument if there is sufficient space thereon for that purpose. § 1837, Civil C.

§ 4871. Classified. An indorsement may be general or special. § 1839, Civil C.

§ 4872. General. A general indorsement is one by which no indorsee is named. § 1840, Civil C.

§ 4873. Special. A special indorsement specifies the indorsee. § 1841, Civil C.

§ 4874. When general changed to special. A negotiable instrument bearing a general indorsement cannot be afterwards specially indorsed; but any lawful holder may turn a general indorsement into a special one by writing above it a direction for payment to a particular person.

§ 1843, CIVIL C. § 4875. Special may destroy negotiability. A special indorsement may, by express words for that purpose, but not otherwise, be so made as to render the instrument not negotiable.

§ 1844, CIVIL C. § 4876. Warranties implied. Every indorser of a negotiable instrument warrants to every subsequent holder thereof who is not liable thereon to him:

1. That it is in all respects what it purports to be.
2. That he has a good title to it.
3. That the signatures of all prior parties are binding upon them.
4. That if the instrument is dishonored, the indorser will upon notice thereof duly given to him, or without notice, when it is excused by law, pay the same in full with interest, unless exonerated under the provisions of sections 4926, 4963 or 4965.

§ 1845, CIVIL C. am'd. § 4877. Liability of indorser before delivery. One who indorses a negotiable instrument before it is delivered to the payee is liable to the payee thereon as an indorser.

§ 1846, CIVIL C. § 4878. "Without recourse." An indorser may qualify his indorsement with the words "without recourse," or equivalent words: and upon such indorsement he is responsible only to the same extent as in the case of a transfer without indorsement.

§ 1847, CIVIL C. § 4879. Effect of. Except as otherwise prescribed by the last section an indorsement without recourse has the same effect as any other indorsement.

§ 1848, CIVIL C. § 4880. Liability of prior indorser. An indorsee of a negotiable instrument has the same rights against every prior party thereto that he would have had if the contract had been made directly between them in the first instance.

§ 1849, CIVIL C. § 4881. Indorser has rights of guarantor. An indorser has all the rights of a guarantor as defined by the chapter on guaranty in general and is exonerated from liability in like manner.

§ 1850, CIVIL C. § 4882. Accommodation indorser has rights of surety. One who indorses a negotiable instrument at the request and for the accommodation of another party to the instrument has all the rights of a surety as defined by the chapter on suretyship and is exonerated in like manner in respect to every one having notice of the facts, except that he is not entitled to contribution from subsequent indorsers.

§ 1851, CIVIL C. § 4883. Want of consideration does not affect indorsee in good faith. The want of consideration for the undertaking of a maker, acceptor or indorser of a negotiable instrument does not exonerate him from liability thereon to an indorsee in good faith for a consideration.

§ 1852, CIVIL C. am'd. § 4884. Indorsee in due course defined. An indorsee in due course is one who in good faith in the ordinary course of business and for value before its apparent maturity or presumptive dishonor and without knowledge of its actual dishonor acquires a negotiable instrument duly indorsed to him, or indorsed generally, or payable to the bearer, or one other than the payee, who acquires such an instrument of such an indorsee thereof.

§ 1853, CIVIL C. § 4885. Such indorsee acquires absolute title. An indorsee of a negotiable instrument in due course acquires an absolute title thereto, so that it is valid in his hands, notwithstanding any provision of law making it generally void or voidable, and notwithstanding any defect in the title of the person from whom he acquired it.

§ 4886. Liability on instrument wholly or partly blank. § 1854, Civil C.

One who makes himself a party to an instrument intended to be negotiable, but which is left wholly or partly in blank for the purpose of filling afterwards, is liable upon the instrument to an indorsee thereof in due course in whatever manner and at whatever time it may be filled so long as it remains negotiable in form.

ARTICLE 4. — PRESENTMENT FOR PAYMENT.§ 4887. Demand unnecessary. What equivalent to offer. § 1855, Civil C.

It is not necessary to make a demand of payment upon the principal debtor in a negotiable instrument in order to charge him; but if the instrument is by its terms payable at a specified place, and he is able and willing to pay it there at maturity, such ability and willingness are equivalent to an offer of payment upon his part.

§ 4888. How presentment made. Presentment of a negotiable instrument for payment when necessary must be made as follows as nearly as by reasonable diligence it is practicable:

1. The instrument must be presented by the holder.
2. The instrument must be presented to the principal debtor, if he can be found at the place where presentment should be made and if not, then it must be presented to some other person having charge thereof or employed therein, if one can be found there.
3. An instrument which specifies a place for its payment must be presented there; and if the place specified includes more than one house, then at the place of residence or business of the principal debtor, if it can be found therein.
4. An instrument which does not specify a place for its payment must be presented at the place of residence or business of the principal debtor, or wherever he may be found, at the option of the presenter; and,
5. The instrument must be presented upon the day of its maturity, or if it is payable on demand it may be presented on any day. It must be presented within reasonable hours; and if it is payable at a banking house, within the usual banking hours of the vicinity, but by the consent of the person to whom it should be presented it may be presented at any hour of the day.
6. If the principal debtor has no place of business or if his place of business or residence cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, presentment for payment is excused.

§ 4889. Apparent maturity. The apparent maturity of a negotiable instrument, payable at a particular time, is the day on which by its terms it becomes due; or when that is a holiday, the next business day. § 1857, Civil C.

§ 4890. When dishonor presumed. A bill of exchange, payable at a certain time after sight, which is not accepted within ten days after its date in addition to the time which would suffice with ordinary diligence to forward it for acceptance, is presumed to have been dishonored. § 1858, Civil C.

§ 4891. Apparent maturity of bill of exchange. The apparent maturity of a bill of exchange, payable at sight or on demand, is:

1. If it bears interest, one year after its date; or,
2. If it does not bear interest, ten days after its date in addition to the time which would suffice with ordinary diligence to forward it for acceptance.

- § 1860, Civil C. § 4892. Of promissory note. The apparent maturity of a promissory note, payable at sight or on demand, is:
1. If it bears interest, one year after its date; or,
 2. If it does not bear interest, six months after its date.
- § 1861, Civil C. § 4893. When time added. When a promissory note is payable at a certain time after sight or demand such time is to be added to the periods mentioned in the last section.
- § 1862, Civil C. § 4894. Conditions, concurrent to payment. A party to a negotiable instrument may require as a condition concurrent to its payment by him:
1. That the instrument be surrendered to him, unless it is lost or destroyed or the holder has other claims upon it; or,
 2. If the holder has a right to retain the instrument and does retain it, then that a receipt for the amount paid, or an exoneration of the party paying, be written thereon; or,
 3. If the instrument is lost or destroyed, then that the holder give to him a bond executed by himself and two sufficient sureties to indemnify him against any lawful claim thereon.

ARTICLE 5.—DISHONOR OF NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

- § 1863, Civil C. § 4895. Defined. A negotiable instrument is dishonored when it is either not paid or not accepted, according to its tenor, on presentment for the purpose, or without presentment when that is excused.
- § 1864, Civil C. § 4896. How notice of given. Notice of the dishonor of a negotiable instrument may be given:
1. By a holder thereof; or,
 2. By any party to the instrument who might be compelled to pay it to the holder and who would upon taking it up have a right to reimbursement from the party to whom the notice is given.
- § 1865, Civil C. § 4897. Form of notice. A notice of dishonor may be given in any form which describes the instrument with reasonable certainty and substantially informs the party receiving it that the instrument has been dishonored.
- § 1866, Civil C. § 4898. How notice served. A notice of dishonor may be given:
1. By delivering it to the party to be charged personally at any place; or,
 2. By delivering it to some person of discretion at the place of residence or business of such party, apparently acting for him; or,
 3. By properly folding the notice, directing it to the party to be charged at his place of residence according to the best information that the person giving the notice can obtain, depositing it in the post office most conveniently accessible from the place where the presentment was made and paying the postage thereon.
- § 1867, Civil C. § 4899. How notice served after death. In case of the death of a party to whom notice of dishonor should otherwise be given, the notice must be given to one of his personal representatives; or if there are none, then to any member of his family who resided with him at his death; or if there is none, then it must be mailed to his last place of residence as prescribed by subdivision 3 of the last section.
- § 1868, Civil C. § 4900. When service after death valid. A notice of dishonor sent to a party after his death, but in ignorance thereof and in good faith, is valid.

§ 4901. When given, if not by mail. Notice of dishonor when given by the holder of an instrument, or his agent, otherwise than by mail, must be given on the day of dishonor, or on the next business day thereafter. § 1869, Civil C.

§ 4902. Requisites of giving by mail. When notice of dishonor is given by mail, it must be deposited in the post office in time for the first mail which closes after noon of the first business day succeeding the dishonor and which leaves the place where the instrument was dishonored for the place to which the notice should be sent. § 1870, Civil C.

§ 4903. Notice by agent. When the holder of a negotiable instrument at the time of its dishonor is a mere agent for the owner, it is sufficient for him to give notice to his principal in the same manner as to an indorser and his principal may give notice to any other party to be charged, as if he was himself an indorser. And if an agent of the owner employs a subagent, it is sufficient for each successive agent or subagent to give notice in like manner to his own principal. § 1871, Civil C.

§ 4904. Time for giving notice to prior parties. Every party to a negotiable instrument receiving notice of its dishonor has the like time thereafter to give similar notice to prior parties as the original holder had after its dishonor. But this additional time is available only to the particular party entitled thereto. § 1872, Civil C.

§ 4905. Notice benefits all parties. A notice of the dishonor of a negotiable instrument, if valid in favor of the party giving it, inures to the benefit of all other parties thereto, whose right to give the like notice has not then been lost. § 1873, Civil C.

ARTICLE 6. — EXCUSE OF PRESENTMENT AND NOTICE.

§ 4906. What excuses notice of dishonor. Notice of dishonor is excused: § 1874, Civil C.

1. When the party by whom it should be given cannot with reasonable diligence ascertain either the place of residence or business of the party to be charged; or,

2. When there is no post office communication between the town of the party by whom the notice should be given and the town in which the place of residence or business of the party to be charged is situated; or,

3. When the party to be charged is the same person who dishonors the instrument; or,

4. When the notice is waived by the party entitled thereto.

§ 4907. What excuses presentment and notice. Presentment and notice are excused as to any party to a negotiable instrument who informs the holder within ten days before its maturity, that it will be dishonored. § 1875, Civil C.

§ 4908. Security excuses. If before or after the maturity of an instrument an indorser has received full security for the amount thereof, or the maker has assigned all his estate to him as such security, presentment and notice to him are excused. § 1876, Civil C.

§ 4909. Delay excused by what was unavoidable. Delay in presentment or in giving notice of dishonor is excused when caused by circumstances which the party delaying could not have avoided by the exercise of reasonable care and diligence. § 1877, Civil C.

- § 1878, Civil C. § 4910. Waiving presentment waives notice. A waiver of presentment waives notice of dishonor also, unless the contrary is expressly stipulated; but a waiver of notice does not waive presentment.
- § 1879, Civil C. § 4911. Waiving protest waives presentment and notice. A waiver of protest on any negotiable instrument, other than a foreign bill of exchange waives presentment and notice.

ARTICLE 7. — EXTINCTION OF NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

- § 1880, Civil C. § 4912. How obligation extinguished. The obligation of a party to a negotiable instrument is extinguished:
1. In like manner with that of parties to contracts in general; or,
 2. By payment of the amount due upon the instrument at or after its maturity in good faith and in the ordinary course of business to any person having actual possession thereof and appearing by its terms to be entitled to payment.
- § 1881, Civil C. § 4913. How obligation revived. If after its extinction a negotiable instrument comes into the possession of an indorsee in due course, the obligation thereof revives in his favor.

CHAPTER 89.

BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

ARTICLE 1. — FORM AND INTERPRETATION OF A BILL.

- § 1882, Civil C. § 4914. Defined. A bill of exchange is an instrument, negotiable in form, by which one, who is called the drawer, requests another called the drawee to pay a specified sum of money.
- § 1883, Civil C. § 4915. Additional drawee. A bill of exchange may give the name of any person in addition to the drawee to be resorted to in case of need.
- § 1884, Civil C. § 4916. Drawn in parts. A bill of exchange may be drawn in any number of parts, each part stating the existence of the others and all forming one set.
- § 1885, Civil C. § 4917. Bound to execute in three parts. An agreement to draw a bill of exchange binds the drawer to execute it in three parts, if the other party to the agreement desires it.
- § 1886, Civil C. § 4918. Presentment, etc., of one sufficient. Presentment, acceptance or payment of a single part in a set of a bill of exchange is sufficient for the whole.
- § 1887, Civil C. § 4919. Where payable. A bill of exchange is payable:
1. At the place where by its terms it is made payable; or,
 2. If it specifies no place of payment, then at the place to which it is addressed; or,
 3. If it is not addressed to any place, then at the place of residence or business of the drawee, or wherever he may be found. If the drawee has no place of business, or if his place of business or residence cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, presentment for payment is excused and the bill may be protested for non-payment.

§ 4920. Drawer's rights. The rights and obligations of the drawer of a bill of exchange are the same as those of the first indorser of any other negotiable instrument. § 1888, Civil C.

ARTICLE 2. — DAYS OF GRACE.

§ 4921. No days of grace. Days of grace are not allowed. § 1889, Civil C. am'd.

ARTICLE 3. — PRESENTMENT FOR ACCEPTANCE.

§ 4922. When presented. Refusal dishonors bill. At any time before a bill of exchange is payable the holder may present it to the drawee for acceptance and if the acceptance is refused the bill is dishonored. § 1890, Civil C.

§ 4923. How made. Presentment for acceptance must be made in the following manner as nearly as by reasonable diligence it is practicable: § 1891, Civil C.

1. The bill must be presented by the holder or his agent.

2. It must be presented on a business day and within reasonable hours.

3. It must be presented to the drawee, or, if he is absent from his place of residence or business, to some person having charge thereof or employed therein; and,

4. The drawee on such presentment may postpone his acceptance or refusal until the next day. If the drawee has no place of business, or if his place of business or residence cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, presentment for acceptance is excused and the bill may be protested for nonacceptance.

§ 4924. Excused as to others if refused by one. Presentment for acceptance to one of several joint drawees and refusal by him dispenses with presentment to the others. § 1892, Civil C.

§ 4925. Not dishonored without presentment to drawee in need. A bill of exchange which specifies a drawee in case of need must be presented to him for acceptance or payment as the case may be, before it can be treated as dishonored. § 1893, Civil C.

§ 4926. Of bill payable specified time after sight. When a bill of exchange is payable at a specified time after sight, the drawer and indorsers are exonerated if it is not presented for acceptance within ten days after the time which would suffice with ordinary diligence to forward it for acceptance, unless presentment is excused. § 1894, Civil C.

ARTICLE 4. — ACCEPTANCE.

§ 4927. Must be in writing. An acceptance of a bill must be made in writing by the drawee or by an acceptor for honor; and may be made by the acceptor writing his name across the face of the bill with or without other words. § 1895, Civil C.

§ 4928. May be treated as dishonored if acceptance qualified. The holder of a bill of exchange, if entitled to an acceptance thereof, may treat the bill as dishonored, if the drawee refuses to write across its face an unqualified acceptance. § 1896, Civil C.

- § 1897, Civil C. § 4929. What sufficient acceptance. The holder of a bill of exchange may without prejudice to his rights against prior parties, receive and treat as a sufficient acceptance:
1. An acceptance written upon any part of the bill, or upon a separate paper.
 2. An acceptance qualified so far only as to make the bill payable at a particular place within the city or town in which, if the acceptance was unqualified, it would be payable.
 - 3. A refusal by the drawee to return the bill to the holder after presentment; in which case the bill is payable immediately without regard to its terms.
- § 1898, Civil C. § 4930. When acceptance upon separate instrument binding. The acceptance of a bill of exchange by a separate instrument binds the acceptor to one, who upon the faith thereof has the bill for value or other good consideration.
- § 1899, Civil C. § 4931. When unconditional promise to accept sufficient. An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill of exchange is a sufficient acceptance thereof, in favor of every person who upon the faith thereof has taken the bill for value or other good consideration.
- § 1900, Civil C. § 4932. When acceptance may be canceled. The acceptor of a bill of exchange may cancel his acceptance at any time before delivering the bill to the holder and before the holder has with the consent of the acceptor transferred his title to another person who has given value for it upon the faith of such acceptance.
- § 1901, Civil C. § 4933. What acceptance admits. The acceptance of a bill of exchange admits the signature of the drawer, but does not admit the signature of any indorser to be genuine.

ARTICLE 5. — ACCEPTANCE OR PAYMENT FOR HONOR.

- § 1902, Civil C. § 4934. When. On the dishonor of a bill of exchange by the drawee, and, in case of a foreign bill after it has been duly protested, it may be accepted or paid by any person for the honor of any party thereto.
- § 1903, Civil C. § 4935. Holder is bound to accept payment but not acceptance. The holder of a bill of exchange is not bound to allow it to be accepted for honor, but is bound to accept payment for honor.
- § 1904, Civil C. § 4936. How made. Reimbursement. An acceptor or payer for honor must write a memorandum upon the bill, stating therein for whose honor he accepts or pays and must give notice to such parties with reasonable diligence of the fact of such acceptance or payment. Having done so he is entitled to reimbursement from such parties and from all parties prior to them.
- § 1905, Civil C. § 4937. Presentment and notice of dishonor of bill so accepted. A bill of exchange which has been accepted for honor must be presented at its maturity to the drawee for payment and notice of its dishonor by him must be given to the acceptor for honor in like manner as to an indorser; after which the acceptor for honor must pay the bill.
- § 1906, Civil C. § 4938. Acceptance does not excuse notice. The acceptance of a bill of exchange for honor does not excuse the holder from giving notice of its dishonor by the drawee.

ARTICLE 6. — PRESENTMENT FOR PAYMENT.

§ 4939. At place specified by bill. If a bill of exchange is by its terms payable at a particular place and is not accepted on presentment, it must be presented at the same place for payment when presentment for payment is necessary. § 1907, CIVIL C.

§ 4940. At place fixed by acceptance. A bill of exchange, accepted payable at a particular place, must be presented at that place for payment when presentment for payment is necessary and need not be presented elsewhere. § 1908, CIVIL C.

§ 4941. Of bill payable at sight. If a bill of exchange payable at sight or on demand without interest is not duly presented for payment within ten days after the time in which it could with reasonable diligence be transmitted to the proper place for such presentment, the drawer and indorsers are exonerated, unless such presentment is excused. § 1909, CIVIL C.

§ 4942. Mere delay does not exonerate. Mere delay in presenting a bill of exchange payable with interest at sight or on demand does not exonerate any party thereto. § 1910, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 7. — EXCUSE OF PRESENTMENT AND NOTICE.

§ 4943. Incapacity to accept. The presentment of a bill of exchange for acceptance is excused if the drawee has not capacity to accept it. § 1911, CIVIL C.

§ 4944. Delay from uncontrollable cause. Delay in the presentment of a bill of exchange for acceptance is excused when caused by circumstances over which the holder has no control. § 1912, CIVIL C.

§ 4945. By drawee's forbidding acceptance and payment. Presentment of a bill of exchange for acceptance or payment and notice of its dishonor are excused as to the drawer if he forbids the drawee to accept or the acceptor to pay the bill; or if at the time of drawing he had no reason to believe that the drawee would accept or pay the same. § 1913, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 8. — FOREIGN BILLS.

§ 4946. Inland bill defined. An inland bill of exchange is one drawn and payable within this state. All others are foreign. § 1914, CIVIL C.

§ 4947. Notice of dishonor only by protest. Notice of the dishonor of a foreign bill of exchange can be given only by notice of its protest. § 1915, CIVIL C.

§ 4948. Protest made by whom. Protest must be made by a notary public if with reasonable diligence one can be obtained; and if not, then by any reputable person in the presence of two witnesses. § 1916, CIVIL C.

§ 4949. Form of protest. Protest must be made by an instrument in writing, giving a literal copy of the bill of exchange with all that is written thereon, or annexing the original; stating the presentment and the manner in which it was made, the presence or absence of the drawee or acceptor, as the case may be, the refusal to accept or to pay, or the inability of the drawee to give a binding acceptance; and in case of refusal, the reason assigned, if any; and finally protesting against all the parties to be charged. § 1917, CIVIL C.

- § 1918, Civil C. § 4950. Where protest made. A protest for nonacceptance must be made in the city or town in which the bill is presented for acceptance and a protest for nonpayment, in the city or town in which it is presented for payment.
- § 1919, Civil C. § 4951. When protest must be noted. A protest must be noted on the day of the presentment or on the next business day, but it may be written out at any time thereafter.
- § 1920, Civil C. § 4952. Protest by what excused. The want of protest of a foreign bill of exchange or delay in making the same is excused in like cases with the want or delay of presentment.
- § 1921, Civil C. § 4953. Notice of, how given. Notice of protest must be given in the same manner as notice of dishonor, except that it may be given by the notary who makes the protest.
- § 1922, Civil C. § 4954. When notice of dishonor same as inland bill. If a foreign bill of exchange on its face waives protest, notice of dishonor may be given to any party thereto in like manner as of an inland bill, except that if any indorser of such a bill expressly requires protest to be made by a direction written on the bill at or before his indorsement, protest must be made and notice thereof given to him and to all subsequent indorsers.
- § 1923, Civil C. § 4955. Requisites to reimbursement on payment for dishonor. One who pays a foreign bill of exchange for honor must declare before payment in the presence of a person authorized to make protest for whose honor he pays the same in order to entitle him to reimbursement.
- § 1924, Civil C. § 4956. To whom and when damages allowed. Damages are allowed as hereinafter prescribed as a full compensation for interest accrued before notice of dishonor, re-exchange, expenses and all other damages in favor of holders for value only upon bills of exchange drawn or negotiated within this state and protested for nonacceptance or nonpayment.
- § 1925, Civil C. § 4957. Rates of damages. Damages are allowed under the last section upon bills drawn upon any person:
1. If drawn upon any person in this state, two dollars upon each one hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.
 2. If drawn upon any person out of this state, but in the states of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri and Montana, three dollars upon each one hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.
 3. If drawn upon any person in any of the United States or territories other than those above named, five dollars upon each one hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.
 4. If drawn upon any person in any place in a foreign country, ten dollars upon each one hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.
- And from the time of notice of dishonor and demand of payment lawful interest must be allowed upon the aggregate amount of the principal sum specified in the bill and the damages mentioned as above.
- §§ 1926, 1927, Civil C. § 4958. How damages estimated in United States' money; in foreign money. If the amount of a protested bill of exchange is expressed in money of the United States, damages are estimated upon such amount without regard to the rate of exchange. If the amount of a protested bill of exchange is expressed in foreign money, damages are estimated upon the value of a similar bill at the time of protest in the place nearest to the place where the bill was negotiated and where such bills are currently sold.

CHAPTER 90.

PROMISSORY NOTES.

§ 4959. Defined. A promissory note is an instrument negotiable in form whereby the signer promises to pay a specified sum of money. § 1928, Civil C.

§ 4960. When bill of exchange deemed note. An instrument in the form of a bill of exchange, but drawn upon and accepted by the drawer himself, is to be deemed a promissory note. § 1929, Civil C.

§ 4961. Bill accepted by other than drawee becomes note. A bill of exchange, if accepted with the consent of the owner by a person other than the drawee or an acceptor for honor, becomes in effect the promissory note of such person and all prior parties thereto are exonerated. § 1930, Civil C.

§ 4962. Other laws applicable. Chapter 88 and sections 4921 and 4942 of this code apply to promissory notes. § 1931, Civil C.

§ 4963. When indorsers exonerated on sight or demand note. If a promissory note, payable on demand or at sight without interest, is not duly presented for payment within six months from its date, the indorsers thereof are exonerated unless such presentment is excused. § 1932, Civil C.

CHAPTER 91.

CHECKS.

§ 4964. Defined. A check is a bill of exchange drawn upon a bank or banker, or a person described as such upon the face thereof, and payable on demand without interest. § 1933, Civil C.

§ 4965. Subject to provisions on bills. Exceptions. A check is subject to all the provisions of this code concerning bills of exchange, except that: § 1934, Civil C.

1. The drawer and indorsers are exonerated by delay in presentment only to the extent of the injury which they suffer thereby.

2. An indorsee after its apparent maturity, but without actual notice of its dishonor, acquires a title equal to that of an indorsee before such period.

3. No days of grace are allowed on checks.

CHAPTER 92.

BONDS, BANK NOTES AND CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT.

§ 1935, Civil C. § 4966. Bank note negotiable after payment. A bank note remains negotiable even after it has been paid by the maker.

§ 1936, Civil C. § 4967. Title by transfer before and after dishonor equal. A transferee of a bond, bank note or certificate of deposit after its apparent maturity or actual dishonor within his knowledge acquires a title equal to that of a transferee before such event.

CHAPTER 93.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 1937, Civil C. § 4968. Benefit of provisions of law may be waived. Except when it is otherwise declared, the provisions of the foregoing fifty-seven chapters of this code in respect to the rights and obligations of parties to contracts are subordinate to the intention of the parties, when ascertained in the manner prescribed by the article on the interpretation of contracts; and the benefit thereof may be waived by any party entitled thereto, unless such waiver would be against public policy.

CHAPTER 94.

RELIEF IN GENERAL.

§ 1938, Civil C. § 4969. Compensation defined. In what cases relief given. As a general rule compensation is the relief or remedy provided by the law of this state for the violation of private rights and the means of securing their observance; and specific and preventive relief may be given in no other cases than those specified in chapter 95 of this code.

§ 1939, Civil C. § 4970. Conditions of relief from forfeiture. Whenever by the terms of an obligation a party thereto incurs a forfeiture, or a loss in the nature of a forfeiture, by reason of his failure to comply with its provisions, he may be relieved therefrom upon making full compensation to the other party, except in case of a grossly negligent, willful or fraudulent breach of duty.

CHAPTER 95.

COMPENSATORY RELIEF.

ARTICLE 1. — DAMAGES IN GENERAL.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

§ 4971. Damages for any injury. Every person who suffers § 1940. Civil C. detriment from the unlawful act or omission of another may recover from the person in fault a compensation therefor in money, which is called damages.

§ 4972. Detriment defined. Detriment is a loss or harm suf- § 1941. Civil C. fered in person or property.

§ 4973. Damages resulting after action commenced. Dam- § 1942. Civil C. ages may be awarded in a judicial proceeding for detriment resulting after the commencement thereof or certain to result in the future.

INTEREST ON DAMAGES.

§ 4974. Interest on damages. Every person who is entitled § 1943. Civil C. to recover damages certain, or capable of being made certain by calculation, and the right to recover which is vested in him upon a particular day is entitled also to recover interest thereon from that day, except during such time as the debtor is prevented by law or by the act of the creditor from paying the debt.

§ 4975. When interest in discretion of jury. In an action § 1944. Civil C. for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract and in every case of oppression, fraud or malice interest may be given in the discretion of the jury.

§ 4976. When accepting principal waives interest. Ac- § 1945. Civil C. cepting payment of the whole principal as such waives all claim to am'd.
interest, unless interest is expressly provided for in the contract.

EXEMPLARY DAMAGES.

§ 4977. When jury may give exemplary damages. In § 1946. Civil C. any action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, when the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud or malice, actual or presumed, the jury in addition to the actual damages may give damages for the sake of example and by way of punishing the defendant.

ARTICLE 2. — MEASURE OF DAMAGES.

DAMAGES FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

§ 4978. Compensation for detriment proximately caused or naturally resulting. Damages must be certain. For the §§ 1947, 1948, breach of an obligation arising from contract the measure of dam- Civil C. ages, except when otherwise expressly provided by this code, is the amount which will compensate the party aggrieved for all the detriment proximately caused thereby, or which in the ordinary course of things would be likely to result therefrom. No damages can be recovered for a breach of contract which are not clearly ascertainable in both their nature and origin.

§ 1949, Civil C. § 4979. To pay money, amount due with interest. The detriment caused by the breach of an obligation to pay money only is deemed to be the amount due by the terms of the obligation with interest thereon.

§ 1950, Civil C. § 4980. Dishonor of foreign bills. For the dishonor of foreign bills of exchange the damages are prescribed by sections 4957 and 4958 of this code.

§ 1951, Civil C. § 4981. For breach of covenants in grants. The detriment caused by the breach of a covenant of seizin, of right to convey, of warranty or of quiet enjoyment in a grant of an estate in real property is deemed to be:

1. The price paid to the grantor, or if the breach is partial only, such proportion of the price as the value of the property affected by the breach bore at the time of the grant to the value of the whole property.

2. Interest thereon for the time during which the grantee derived no benefit from the property, not exceeding six years; and,

3. Any expense properly incurred by the covenantee in defending his possession.

§ 1952, Civil C. § 4982. Against incumbrances. The detriment caused by the breach of a covenant against incumbrances in a grant of an estate in real property is deemed to be the amount which has been actually expended by the covenantee in extinguishing either the principal or interest thereof; not exceeding in the former case a proportion of the price paid to the grantor, equivalent to the relative value at the time of the grant of the property affected by the breach as compared with the whole; or, in the latter case, interest on a like amount.

§ 1953, Civil C.
am'd. § 4983. Of agreement to convey realty. The detriment caused by the breach of an agreement to convey an estate in real property is the difference between the price agreed to be paid and the value of the estate agreed to be conveyed at the time of the breach and the expenses properly incurred in examining the title with interest thereon, and in preparing to enter upon the land and the amount paid on the purchase price, if any, with interest thereon from the time of the breach.

§ 1954, Civil C.
am'd. § 4984. To buy realty. The detriment caused by the breach of an agreement to purchase an estate in real property is deemed to be the excess, if any, of the amount which would have been due to the seller under the contract over the value of the property.

§ 1955, Civil C. § 4985. Of agreement to deliver personalty not fully paid for. The detriment caused by the breach of a seller's agreement to deliver personal property, the price of which has not been fully paid in advance, is deemed to be the excess, if any, of the value of the property to the buyer over the amount which would have been due to the seller under the contract, if it had been fulfilled.

§ 1956, Civil C. § 4986. Same when fully paid for. The detriment caused by the breach of a seller's agreement to deliver personal property, the price of which has been fully paid to him in advance, is deemed to be the same as in case of a wrongful conversion.

§ 1957, Civil C. § 4987. Of buyer to pay for personalty when title in him. The detriment caused by the breach of a buyer's agreement to accept and pay for personal property, the title to which is vested in him, is deemed to be the contract price.

§ 4988. Same when title not in buyer. The detriment caused by the breach of a buyer's agreement to accept and pay for personal property, the title to which is not vested in him is deemed to be: § 1985, Civil C.

1. If the property has been resold pursuant to section 4833 the excess, if any, of the amount due from the buyer under the contract, over the net proceeds of the resale; or,

2. If the property has not been resold in the manner prescribed by section 4833 the excess, if any, of the amount due from the buyer under the contract over the value to the seller together with the excess, if any, of the expenses properly incurred in carrying the property to market over those which would have been incurred for the carriage thereof, if the buyer had accepted it.

§ 4989. Breach of warranty of title to personalty. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of the title of personal property sold is deemed to be the value thereof to the buyer, when he is deprived of its possession, together with any costs which he has become liable to pay in an action brought for the property by the true owner. § 1959, Civil C.

§ 4990. Same of quality of personalty. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of the quality of personal property is deemed to be the excess, if any, of the value which the property would have had at the time to which the warranty referred if it had been complied with, over its actual value at that time. § 1960, Civil C.

§ 4991. Same of fitness of personalty. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of the fitness of an article of personal property for a particular purpose is deemed to be that which is defined by the last section, together with a fair compensation for the loss incurred by an effort in good faith to use it for such purpose. § 1961, Civil C.

§ 4992. Breach of carrier's obligation to accept freight, etc. The detriment caused by the breach of a carrier's obligation to accept freight, messages or passengers is deemed to be the difference between the amount which he had a right to charge for the carriage and the amount it would be necessary to pay for the same service when it ought to be performed. § 1962, Civil C.

§ 4993. Same to deliver freight, etc. The detriment caused by the breach of a carrier's obligation to deliver freight, when he has not converted it to his own use, is deemed to be the value thereof at the place and on the day at which it should have been delivered, deducting the freightage to which he would have been entitled if he had completed the delivery. § 1963, Civil C.

§ 4994. For detriment caused by carrier's delay. The detriment caused by a carrier's delay in the delivery of freight is deemed to be the depreciation in the intrinsic value of the freight during the delay and also the depreciation, if any, in the market value thereof, otherwise than by reason of a depreciation in the intrinsic value at the place where it ought to have been delivered and between the day at which it ought to have been delivered and the day of its actual delivery. § 1964, Civil C.

§ 4995. Breach of warranty of agent's authority. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of an agent's authority is deemed to be the amount which could have been recovered and collected from his principal if the warranty had been complied with and the reasonable expenses of legal proceedings taken in good faith to enforce the act of the agent against his principal. § 1965, Civil C.

§ 1966, Civil C. § 4996. Of promise to marry. The damages for the breach of a promise of marriage rest in the sound discretion of the jury.

DAMAGES FOR WRONGS.

§ 1967, Civil C. § 4997. Compensation for detriment proximately caused, anticipated or not. For the breach of an obligation not arising from contract the measure of damages, except when otherwise expressly provided by this code, is the amount which will compensate for all the detriment proximately caused thereby, whether it could have been anticipated or not.

§ 1968, Civil C. § 4998. For wrongful occupation of realty. The detriment caused by the wrongful occupation of real property in cases not embraced in sections 4999, 5005, 5006 and 5007 is deemed to be the value of the use of the property for the time of such occupation, not exceeding six years next preceding the commencement of the action or proceeding to enforce the right to damages and the costs, if any, of recovering the possession.

§ 1969, Civil C. § 4999. For willful detention of realty. For willfully holding over real property by a person who entered upon the same as guardian or trustee for an infant, or by right of an estate terminable with any life or lives after the termination of the trust or particular estate without the consent of the party immediately entitled after such termination, the measure of damages is the value of the profits received during such holding over.

§ 1970, Civil C.
§ 1, c. 42, 1885. § 5000. For conversion of personalty. The detriment caused by the wrongful conversion of personal property is presumed to be:

1. The value of the property at the time of the conversion with the interest from that time; or,
2. When the action has been prosecuted with reasonable diligence, the highest market value of the property at any time between the conversion and the verdict without interest, at the option of the injured party; and,
3. A fair compensation for the time and money properly expended in pursuit of the property.

§ 1971, Civil C. § 5001. Presumption cannot be repelled. The presumption declared by the last section cannot be repelled in favor of one whose possession was wrongful from the beginning by his subsequent application of the property to the benefit of the owner without his consent.

§ 1972, Civil C. § 5002. For conversion by superior lien holder. One having a mere lien on personal property cannot recover greater damages for its conversion from one having a right thereto superior to his after his lien is discharged than the amount secured by the lien and the compensation allowed by section 5000 for loss of time and expenses.

§ 1973, Civil C. § 5003. For seduction. The damages for seduction rest in the sound discretion of the jury.

§ 1974, Civil C. § 5004. Exemplary for injuries for animals. For wrongful injuries to animals, being subjects of property, committed willfully or by gross negligence in disregard of humanity, exemplary damages may be given.

PENAL DAMAGES.

§ 5005. For tenant's failure to surrender premises. For the failure of a tenant to give up the premises held by him, when he has given notice of his intention to do so, the measure of damages is double the rent which he ought otherwise to pay. § 1975, Civil C.

§ 5006. For tenant's willful holding over. For willfully holding over real property by a tenant after the end of his term and after notice to quit has been duly given and demand of possession made the measure of damages is double the yearly value of the property for the time of withholding in addition to compensation for the detriment occasioned thereby. § 1976, Civil C.

§ 5007. For forcible exclusion from realty. For forcibly ejecting or excluding a person from the possession of real property the measure of damages is three times such a sum as would compensate for the detriment caused to him by the act complained of. § 1977, Civil C.

§ 5008. For wrongful injuries to timber. For wrongful injuries to timber, trees or underwood upon the land of another, or removal thereof, the measure of damages is three times such a sum as would compensate for the actual detriment, except when the trespass was casual and involuntary, or committed under the belief that the land belonged to the trespasser, or when the wood was taken by the authority of highway officers for the purposes of a highway; in which case the damages are a sum equal to the actual detriment. § 1978, Civil C.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 5009. What value of property to seller deemed to be. In estimating damages the value of property to a seller thereof is deemed to be the price which he could have obtained therefor in the market nearest to the place at which it should have been accepted by the buyer and at such time after the breach of the contract as would have sufficed with reasonable diligence for the seller to effect a resale. § 1979, Civil C.

§ 5010. What to buyer or owner. In estimating damages, except as provided by sections 5011 and 5012, the value of property to a buyer or owner thereof deprived of its possession is deemed to be the price at which he might have bought an equivalent thing in the market nearest to the place where the property ought to have been put into his possession and at such time after the breach of duty upon which his right to damages is founded as would suffice with reasonable diligence for him to make such a purchase. § 1980, Civil C.

§ 5011. When peculiar value to person deemed value. When certain property has a peculiar value to a person recovering damages for deprivation thereof or injury thereto that may be deemed, to be its value against one who had notice thereof before incurring a liability to damages in respect thereof, or against a willful wrongdoer. § 1981, Civil C.

§ 5012. Value of title papers. For the purpose of estimating damages the value of an instrument in writing is presumed to be equal to that of the property to which it entitles its owner. § 1982, Civil C.

§ 5013. When exclusive of exemplary damages. The damages prescribed by this chapter are exclusive of exemplary damages and interest except when those are expressly mentioned. § 1983, Civil C.

- § 1984, Civil C. § 5014. Cannot recover more than would be gained by performance. Notwithstanding the provisions of this chapter, no person can recover a greater amount in damages for the breach of an obligation than he could have gained by the full performance thereof on both sides except in the cases specified in the subdivisions on exemplary damages and penal damages and in sections 4996, 5003 and 5004.
- § 1985, Civil C. § 5015. Damages must be reasonable. Damages must in all cases be reasonable and when an obligation of any kind appears to create a right to unconscionable and grossly oppressive damages contrary to substantial justice, no more than reasonable damages can be recovered.
- § 1986, Civil C. § 5016. Nominal damages. When a breach of duty has caused no appreciable detriment to the party affected, he may yet recover nominal damages.

ARTICLE 3. — SPECIFIC AND PREVENTIVE RELIEF.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

- § 1987, Civil C. § 5017. When specific relief given. Specific or preventive relief may be given in the cases specified in this and the following two articles and no others.
- § 1988, Civil C. § 5018. How given. Specific relief is given:
1. By taking possession of a thing and delivering it to a claimant.
 2. By compelling a party himself to do that which ought to be done; or,
 3. By declaring and determining the rights of parties, otherwise than by an award of damages.
- § 1989, Civil C. § 5019. How preventive relief given. Preventive relief is given by prohibiting a party from doing that which ought not to be done.
- § 1990, Civil C. § 5020. Neither given to enforce penal law. Neither specific nor preventive relief can be granted to enforce a penal law, except in a case of nuisance, nor to enforce a penalty or forfeiture in any case.

ARTICLE 4. — SPECIFIC RELIEF.

POSSESSION OF REAL PROPERTY.

- § 1991, Civil C. § 5021. Method of recovery. A person entitled to specific real property by reason, either of a perfected title, or of a claim to title which ought to be perfected, may recover the same in the manner prescribed by the code of civil procedure, either by a judgment for its possession to be executed by the sheriff, or by a judgment requiring the other party to perfect the title and to deliver possession of the property.

POSSESSION OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

- § 1992, Civil C. § 5022. Method of recovery. A person entitled to the immediate possession of specific personal property may recover the same in the manner provided by the code of civil procedure.

§ 5023. Specific delivery compellable. Any person having the possession or control of a particular article of personal property of which he is not the owner may be compelled specifically to deliver it to the person entitled to its immediate possession. § 1993, Civil C.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE OF OBLIGATIONS.

§ 5024. When compelled. Except as otherwise provided in this article the specific performance of an obligation may be compelled. § 1994, Civil C.

§ 5025. Remedy mutual. When neither can be compelled. Neither party to an obligation can be compelled specifically to perform it, unless the other party thereto has performed, or is compellable specifically to perform everything to which the former is entitled under the same obligation, either completely or nearly so, together with full compensation for any want of entire performance. § 1995, Civil C.

§ 5026. Presumption as to relief for not transferring. It is to be presumed that the breach of an agreement to transfer real property cannot be adequately relieved by pecuniary compensation and that the breach of an agreement to transfer personal property can be thus relieved. § 1996, Civil C.

§ 5027. Specific performance compelled though contract signed only by one. A party who has signed a written contract may be compelled specifically to perform it, though the other party has not signed it, if the latter has performed or offers to perform it on his part and the case is otherwise proper for enforcing specific performance. § 1997, Civil C.

§ 5028. Compelled though penalty imposed or damages liquidated. A contract otherwise proper to be specifically enforced may be thus enforced, though a penalty is imposed or the damages are liquidated for its breach and the party in default is willing to pay the same. § 1998, Civil C.

§ 5029. What obligations cannot be enforced. The following obligations cannot be specifically enforced: § 1999, Civil C.

1. An obligation to render personal service.
2. An obligation to employ another in personal service.
3. An agreement to submit a controversy to arbitration.
4. An agreement to perform an act which the party has not power lawfully to perform when required to do so.
5. An agreement to procure the act or consent of the wife of the contracting party or of any other third person; or,
6. An agreement, the terms of which are not sufficiently certain to make the precise act which is to be done clearly ascertainable.

§ 5030. When it cannot be enforced against one. Specific performance cannot be enforced against a party to a contract in any of the following cases: § 2000, Civil C.

1. If he has not received an adequate consideration for the contract.
2. If it is not as to him just and reasonable.
3. If his assent was obtained by misrepresentation, concealment, circumvention or unfair practice of any party to whom performance would become due under the contract, or by any promise of such party which has not been substantially fulfilled; or,

4. If his assent was given under the influence of mistake, misapprehension, or surprise, except that when the contract provides for compensation in case of mistake, a mistake within the scope of such provision may be compensated for and the contract specifically enforced in other respects, if proper to be so enforced.

§ 2001, Civil C. § 5031. Same in favor of one. Specific performance cannot be enforced in favor of a party who has not fully and fairly performed all the conditions precedent on his part to the obligation of the other party, except when his failure to perform is only partial and either entirely immaterial or capable of being fully compensated, in which case specific performance may be compelled upon full compensation being made for the default.

§ 2002, Civil C. § 5032. Cannot be when title imperfect. An agreement for the sale of property cannot be specifically enforced in favor of a seller who cannot give to the buyer a title free from reasonable doubt.

§ 2003, Civil C. § 5033. When enforced against subsequent holder. Whenever an obligation in respect to real property would be specifically enforced against a particular person it may be in like manner enforced against any other person claiming under him by a title created subsequently to the obligation, except a purchaser or incumbrancer in good faith and for value and except also that any such person may exonerate himself by conveying all his estate to the person entitled to enforce the obligation.

REVISION OF CONTRACTS.

§ 2004, Civil C. § 5034. For fraud or mistake. When through fraud, or mutual mistake of the parties, or a mistake of one party which the other at the time knew or suspected, a written contract does not truly express the intention of the parties, it may be revised on the application of a party aggrieved so as to express that intention so far as it can be done without prejudice to rights acquired by third persons in good faith and for value.

§ 2005, Civil C. § 5035. Intention to make equitable agreement presumed. For the purpose of revising a contract it must be presumed that all the parties thereto intended to make an equitable and conscientious agreement.

§ 2006, Civil C. § 5036. Court may inquire what instrument was intended to mean. In revising a written instrument the court may inquire what the instrument was intended to mean and what were intended to be its legal consequences and is not confined to the inquiry what the language of the instrument was intended to be.

§ 2007, Civil C. § 5037. First revised, then enforced. A contract may be first revised and then specifically enforced.

RESCISSION OF CONTRACTS.

§ 2008, Civil C. § 5038. When adjudged. The rescission of a written contract may be adjudged on the application of a party aggrieved:

1. In any of the cases mentioned in section 3932; or,
2. When the contract is unlawful for causes not apparent upon its face and the parties were not equally in fault; or,
3. When the public interest will be prejudiced by permitting it to stand.

§ 5039. Not for mere mistake. Rescission cannot be adjudged for mere mistake, unless the party against whom it is adjudged can be restored to substantially the same condition as if the contract had not been made. § 2009, Civil C.

§ 5040. Compensation may be required. On adjudging the rescission of a contract the court may require the party to whom such relief is granted to make any compensation to the other which justice may require. § 2010, Civil C.

CANCELLATION OF INSTRUMENTS.

§ 5041. When adjudged. When a written instrument, or the record thereof, may cause injury to a person against whom such instrument is void or voidable, such instrument may, in an action brought by the party injured, be adjudged void and the same be ordered to be delivered up for cancellation and the record thereof canceled, whether extrinsic evidence is necessary to show its invalidity or not. § 2011, Civil C. am'd.

§ 5042. Partial cancellation. When an instrument is evidence of different rights or obligations it may be canceled in part and allowed to stand for the residue. § 2013, Civil C.

ARTICLE 5. — PREVENTIVE RELIEF.

§ 5043. How granted. Preventive relief is granted by injunction, provisional or final. § 2014, Civil C.

§ 5044. Provisional injunctions. Provisional injunctions are regulated by the code of civil procedure. § 2015, Civil C.

§ 5045. When final injunction granted. Except when otherwise provided by this chapter, a final injunction may be granted to prevent the breach of an obligation existing in favor of the applicant: § 2016, Civil C.

1. When pecuniary compensation would not afford adequate relief.

2. When it would be extremely difficult to ascertain the amount of compensation which would afford adequate relief.

3. When the restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of judicial proceedings; or,

4. When the obligation arises from a trust.

§ 5046. When injunction not granted. An injunction cannot be granted: § 2017, Civil C.

1. To stay a judicial proceeding pending at the commencement of the action in which the injunction is demanded, unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of such proceedings.

2. To stay proceedings in a court of the United States.

3. To stay proceedings in a state upon a judgment of a court of that state.

4. To prevent the execution of a public statute by officers of the law for the public benefit.

5. To prevent the breach of a contract, the performance of which would not be specifically enforced.

6. To prevent the exercise of a public or private office in a lawful manner by the person in possession.

7. To prevent a legislative act by a municipal corporation.

CHAPTER 96.

SPECIAL RELATIONS OF DEBTOR AND CREDITOR.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

- § 2018, Civil C. § 5047. Debtor defined. A debtor within the meaning of this chapter is one who by reason of an existing obligation is or may become liable to pay money to another, whether such liability is certain or contingent.
- § 2019, Civil C. § 5048. Creditor defined. A creditor within the meaning of this chapter is one in whose favor an obligation exists by reason of which he is or may become entitled to the payment of money.
- § 2020, Civil C. § 5049. Fraud only vitiates debtor's contract. In the absence of fraud every contract of a debtor is valid against all his creditors existing or subsequent, who have not acquired a lien on the property affected by such contract.
- § 2021, Civil C. § 5050. Creditors may be preferred. A debtor may pay one creditor in preference to another, or may give to one creditor security for the payment of his demand in preference to another.
- § 2022, Civil C. § 5051. Order of resort among creditors. When a creditor is entitled to resort to each of several funds for the satisfaction of his claim and another person has an interest in or is entitled as a creditor to resort to some, but not all of them, the latter may require the former to seek satisfaction from those funds to which the latter has no such claim so far as it can be done without impairing the right of the former to complete satisfaction and without doing injustice to third persons.

ARTICLE 2.—FRAUDULENT INSTRUMENTS AND TRANSFERS.

- § 2023, Civil C. § 5052. Transfers with intent to defraud creditors void. Every transfer of property or charge thereon made, every obligation incurred and every judicial proceeding taken with intent to delay or defraud any creditor or other person of his demands is void against all creditors of the debtor and their successors in interest and against any persons upon whom the estate of the debtor devolves in trust for the benefit of others than the debtor.
- § 2024, Civil C.
am'd. § 5053. Transfer of personalty without change of possession presumed fraudulent. Every sale made by a vendor of personal property in his possession or under his control and every assignment of personal property, unless the same is accompanied by an immediate delivery and followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the property sold or assigned, shall be presumed to be fraudulent and void as against the creditors of the vendor or assignor, or subsequent purchasers or incumbrancers in good faith and for value, unless those claiming under such sale or assignment make it appear that the same was made in good faith and without any intent to hinder, delay or defraud such creditors, purchasers or incumbrancers.
- § 2025, Civil C. § 5054. When only act of debtor void for fraud. A creditor can avoid the act or obligation of his debtor for fraud only when the fraud obstructs the enforcement by legal process of his right to take the property affected by the transfer or obligation.

§ 5055. When fraudulent intent question of fact. In all cases arising under section 3599 or under the provisions of this chapter the question of fraudulent intent is one of fact and not of law; nor can any transfer or charge be adjudged fraudulent solely on the ground that it was not made for a valuable consideration. § 2026, CIVIL C.

CHAPTER 97.

NUISANCE.

ARTICLE 1. — GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

§ 5056. Nuisance defined. A nuisance consists in unlawfully doing an act or omitting to perform a duty, which act or omission either: § 2047, CIVIL C.

1. Annoys, injures or endangers the comfort, repose, health or safety of others; or,

2. Offends decency; or,

3. Unlawfully interferes with, obstructs or tends to obstruct or renders dangerous for passage any lake or navigable river, bay, stream, canal or basin, or any public park, square, street or highway; or,

4. In any way renders other persons insecure in life or in the use of property.

§ 5057. Public nuisance. A public nuisance is one which affects at the same time an entire community or neighborhood, or any considerable number of persons, although the extent of the annoyance or damage inflicted upon the individuals may be unequal. § 2048, CIVIL C.

§ 5058. Private nuisance. Every nuisance not included in the definition of the last section is private. § 2049, CIVIL C.

§ 5059. Nothing done under authority of statute deemed nuisance. Nothing which is done or maintained under the express authority of a statute can be deemed a nuisance. § 2050, CIVIL C.

§ 5060. Liability of successive owners not abating. Every successive owner of property who neglects to abate a continuing nuisance upon or in the use of such property created by a former owner is liable therefor in the same manner as the one who first created it. § 2051, CIVIL C.

§ 5061. Right to damages not prejudiced by abatement. The abatement of a nuisance does not prejudice the right of any person to recover damages for its past existence. § 2052, CIVIL C.

ARTICLE 2. — PUBLIC NUISANCE.

§ 5062. Not legalized by lapse of time. No lapse of time can legalize a public nuisance, amounting to an actual obstruction of public right. § 2053, CIVIL C.

§ 5063. Remedies against. The remedies against a public nuisance are: § 2054, CIVIL C.

1. Indictment.
2. A civil action; or,
3. Abatement.

§ 2055, Civil C. § 5064. Indictment. The remedy by indictment is regulated by the penal code and the code of criminal procedure.

§ 2057, Civil C. § 5066. Abated by public officer. A public nuisance may be abated by any public body or officer authorized thereto by law.

§ 2058, Civil C. § 5067. By private person. Any person may abate a public nuisance which is specially injurious to him by removing or, if necessary, destroying the thing which constitutes the same without committing a breach of the peace or doing unnecessary injury.

ARTICLE 3. --- PRIVATE NUISANCES.

§ 2059, Civil C. § 5068. Remedies against. The remedies against a private nuisance are:

1. A civil action; or,
2. Abatement.

§ 2060, Civil C. § 5069. How person may abate. A person injured by a private nuisance may abate it by removing or, if necessary, destroying the thing which constitutes the nuisance without committing a breach of the peace or doing unnecessary injury.

§ 2061, Civil C. § 5070. When notice required. When a private nuisance results from a mere omission of the wrongdoer and cannot be abated without entering upon his land, reasonable notice must be given to him before entering to abate it.

CHAPTER 98.

MAXIMS OF JURISPRUDENCE.

§ 2062, Civil C. § 5071. How to be used and applied. The maxims of jurisprudence hereinafter set forth are intended not to qualify any of the foregoing provisions of this code, but to aid in their just application.

§ 2063, Civil C. § 5072. When the reason of a rule ceases, so should the rule itself.

§ 2064, Civil C. § 5073. When the reason is the same the rule should be the same.

§ 2065, Civil C. § 5074. One must not change his purpose to the injury of another.

§ 2066, Civil C. § 5075. Any one may waive the advantage of a law intended solely for his benefit. But a law established for a public reason cannot be contravened by a private agreement.

§ 2067, Civil C. § 5076. One must so use his own rights as not to infringe upon the rights of another.

§ 2068, Civil C. § 5077. He who consents to an act is not wronged by it.

§ 2069, Civil C. § 5078. Acquiescence in error takes away the right of objecting to it.

- § 5079. No one can take advantage of his own wrong. § 2070, CIVIL C.
- § 5080. He who has fraudulently dispossessed himself of a thing may be treated as if he still had possession. § 2071, CIVIL C.
- § 5081. He who can and does not forbid that which is done on his behalf is deemed to have bidden it. § 2072, CIVIL C.
- § 5082. No one should suffer by the act of another. § 2073, CIVIL C.
- § 5083. He who takes the benefit must bear the burden. § 2074, CIVIL C.
- § 5084. One who grants a thing is presumed to grant also whatever is essential to its use. § 2075, CIVIL C.
- § 5085. For every wrong there is a remedy. § 2076, CIVIL C.
- § 5086. Between those who are equally in the right or equally in the wrong the law does not interpose. § 2077, CIVIL C.
- § 5087. Between rights otherwise equal the earliest is preferred. § 2078, CIVIL C.
- § 5088. No man is responsible for that which no man can control. § 2079, CIVIL C.
- § 5089. The law helps the vigilant before those who sleep on their rights. § 2080, CIVIL C.
- § 5090. The law respects form less than substance. § 2081, CIVIL C.
- § 5091. That which ought to have been done is to be regarded as done in favor of him to whom and against him from whom performance is due. § 2082, CIVIL C.
- § 5092. That which does not appear to exist is to be regarded as if it did not exist. § 2083, CIVIL C.
- § 5093. The law never requires impossibilities. § 2084, CIVIL C.
- § 5094. The law neither does nor requires idle acts. § 2085, CIVIL C.
- § 5095. The law disregards trifles. § 2086, CIVIL C.
- § 5096. Particular expressions qualify those which are general. § 2087, CIVIL C.
- § 5097. Contemporaneous exposition is in general the best. § 2088, CIVIL C.
- § 5098. The greater contains the less. § 2089, CIVIL C.
- § 5099. Superfluity does not vitiate. § 2090, CIVIL C.
- § 5100. That is certain which can be made certain. § 2091, CIVIL C.
- § 5101. Time does not confirm a void act. § 2092, CIVIL C.
- § 5102. The incident follows the principal, not the principal the incident. § 2093, CIVIL C.
- § 5103. An interpretation which gives effect is preferred to one which makes void. § 2094, CIVIL C.
- § 5104. Interpretation must be reasonable. § 2095, CIVIL C.
- § 5105. When one of two innocent persons must suffer by the act of a third, he by whose negligence it happened must be the sufferer. § 2096, CIVIL C.

CHAPTER 99.

DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- § 2097, Civil C. § 5106. Words to be understood in their ordinary sense. Words used in any statute are to be understood in their ordinary sense, except when a contrary intention plainly appears and except also that the words hereinafter explained are to be understood as thus explained.
- § 2098, Civil C. § 5107. Word defined by statute has always same meaning. Whenever the meaning of a word or phrase is defined in any statute, such definition is applicable to the same word or phrase whenever it occurs, except when a contrary intention plainly appears.
- § 2099, Civil C. § 5108. Degrees of care. There are three degrees of care and of diligence mentioned in this code, namely, slight, ordinary and great. The latter include the former.
- § 2100, Civil C. § 5109. Degrees defined. Slight care or diligence is such as persons of ordinary prudence usually exercise about their own affairs of slight importance; ordinary care or diligence is such as they usually exercise about their own affairs of ordinary importance; and great care or diligence is such as they usually exercise about their own affairs of great importance.
- § 2101, Civil C. § 5110. Degrees of negligence. There are three degrees of negligence mentioned in this code, namely, slight, ordinary and gross. The latter include the former.
- § 2102, Civil C. § 5111. Degrees defined. Slight negligence consists in the want of great care and diligence; ordinary negligence, in the want of ordinary care and diligence; and gross negligence, in the want of slight care and diligence.
- § 2103, Civil C. § 5112. What children includes. The term children includes children by birth and by adoption.
- § 2104, Civil C. § 5113. Debtor and creditor. Except as defined and used in chapter 96 of this code every one who owes to another the performance of an obligation is called a debtor and the one to whom he owes it is called a creditor.
- § 2105, Civil C. § 5114. Good faith. Good faith consists in an honest intention to abstain from taking any unconscientious advantage of another even through the forms or technicalities of law together with an absence of all information or belief of facts which would render the transaction unconscientious.
- § 2106, Civil C. § 5115. Notice classified. Notice is either actual or constructive.
- § 2107, Civil C. § 5116. Actual notice. Actual notice consists in express information of a fact.
- § 2108, Civil C. § 5117. Constructive notice. Constructive notice is notice imputed by the law to a person not having actual notice.
- § 2109, Civil C. § 5118. What deemed constructive notice. Every person who has actual notice of circumstances sufficient to put a prudent man upon inquiry as to a particular fact and who omits to make such inquiry with reasonable diligence is deemed to have constructive notice of the fact itself.
- § 2110, Civil C. § 5119. False notice cannot become valid. A notice which is false when given is not valid by the subsequent happening of the event.

§ 5120. "Paper." The word "paper" means any flexible material upon which it is usual to write. § 2111, CIVIL C.

§ 5121. "Person." The word "person" except when used by way of contrast, includes not only human beings, but bodies politic or corporate. § 2112, CIVIL C.

§ 5122. "Several." The word "several" in relation to number means two or more. § 2113, CIVIL C.

§ 5123. "Third persons." The words "third persons" include all who are not parties to the obligation or transaction concerning which the phrase is used. § 2114, CIVIL C.

§ 5124. Holidays. Holidays are every Sunday, the first day of January, the twenty-second day of February, the fourth day of July, the twenty-fifth day of December, the thirtieth day of May, every day on which an election is held throughout the state and every day appointed by the president of the United States or by the governor of this state for a public fast, thanksgiving or holiday. § 2115, CIVIL C.
I. C. SS. 1885.

§ 5125. When following day holiday. If the first day of January, twenty-second day of February, fourth day of July, thirtieth day of May or twenty-fifth day of December falls upon a Sunday the Monday following is a holiday. § 2116, CIVIL C.
am'd.

§ 5126. Business days. All other days than those mentioned in the last two sections are to be deemed business days for all purposes. § 2117, CIVIL C.

§ 5127. Act due on holiday performed on next day. Whenever an act of a secular nature, other than a work of necessity or mercy, is appointed by law or contract to be performed upon a particular day, which falls upon a holiday, such act may be performed upon the next business day with the same effect as if it had been performed upon the day appointed. § 2118, CIVIL C.

§ 5128. Usage. Usage is a reasonable and lawful public custom concerning transactions of the same nature as those which are to be affected thereby, existing at the place where the obligation is to be performed, and either known to the parties or so well established, general and uniform that they must be presumed to have acted with reference thereto. § 2119, CIVIL C.

§ 5129. "Usual." "Customary." The words "usual" and "customary" mean "according to usage." § 2120, CIVIL C.

§ 5130. Valuable consideration. A valuable consideration is a thing of value parted with, or a new obligation assumed at the time of obtaining a thing, which is a substantial compensation for that which is obtained thereby. It is also called simply "value." § 2121, CIVIL C.

§ 5131. "Verdict." The word "verdict" includes not only the verdict of a jury, but also the finding upon the facts of a judge or of a referee appointed to determine the issues in a cause. § 2122, CIVIL C.

§ 5132. "Year." "Month." The word "year" means a calendar year and "month" a calendar month. Fractions of a year are to be computed by the number of months, thus: half a year is six months. Fractions of a day are to be disregarded in computations which include more than one day and involve no questions of priority. § 2123, CIVIL C.

§ 5133. Masculine includes what. Words used in the masculine gender include the feminine and neuter. § 2124, CIVIL C.

§ 5134. Singular includes what. Words used in the singular number include the plural and the plural the singular, except when a contrary intention plainly appears. § 2125, CIVIL C.

- § 2126, Civil C. § 5135. Other definitions. Words used in the present tense include the future as well as the present; the word "oath" includes "affirmation;" and every mode of oral statement under oath or affirmation is embraced by the term "testify," and every written one in the term "depose;" "signature" or "subscription" includes mark, when the person cannot write, his name being written near it and written by a person who writes his own name as a witness. The following words also have the signification attached to them in this section, unless otherwise apparent from the context:
1. The word "property" includes property, real and personal.
 2. The words "real property" are coextensive with lands, tenements and hereditaments.
 3. The words "personal property" include money, goods, chattels, things in action and evidences of debt.
 4. The word "will" includes codicils.
- § 2127, Civil C. § 5136. "Compound interest." The words "compound interest" mean interest added to the principal as the former becomes due and thereafter made to bear interest.
- § 2128, Civil C. § 5137. "Written" and "printed." The words "writing" and "written" include "printing" and "printed" except in the case of signatures and when the words are used by way of contrast to printing. Writing may be made in any manner, except that when a person entitled to require the execution of a writing demands that it be made with ink it must be so made.
- § 2129, Civil C. § 5138. Code excludes common law. The rule of the common law that statutes in derogation thereof are to be strictly construed has no application to this code. This code establishes the law of this state respecting the subjects to which it relates; and its provisions are to be liberally construed with a view to effect its objects and to promote justice. Whenever this code is cited, enumerated, referred to or amended it may be designated simply as "the civil code," adding, when necessary, the number of the section.
- § 2130, Civil C. § 5139. Seal. When the seal of a court, public officer, or person is required by law to be affixed to any process, commission, paper or instrument, the word "seal" includes an impression of such seal upon the paper alone as well as upon wax or a wafer affixed thereto.
- § 2131, Civil C. § 5140. Majority power. Words giving a joint authority to three or more public officers or other persons are construed as giving such authority to a majority of them, unless it is otherwise expressed in the act giving the authority.
- § 2132, Civil C. § 5141. Repeal does not revive. Whenever any act of the legislative assembly is repealed, which repealed a former act, such former act shall not thereby be revived, unless it shall be expressly so provided.
- § 2133, Civil C. § 5142. Effect of repeal. The repeal of any statute by the legislative assembly shall not have the effect to release or extinguish any penalty, forfeiture or liability incurred under such statute, unless the repealing act shall so expressly provide and such statute shall be treated as still remaining in force for the purpose of sustaining any proper action or prosecution for the enforcement of such penalty, forfeiture or liability.
- § 1, c. 38, 1889, am'd. § 5143. Successive weeks construed: Whenever in any act or statute of the state of North Dakota, providing for the publication of notices, the phrase "successive weeks" is used, the word weeks shall be construed to mean calendar weeks and the publication upon any day in such week shall be sufficient publication for that week: provided, that at least five days shall intervene between such publications and all publications heretofore or hereafter made in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed legal and valid.

§ 5144. Fiscal year. The fiscal year for the state of North Dakota shall commence on the first day of July and end on the thirtieth day of June each year and all reports required annually or biennially of any state officer or from any private corporation shall be made to and include the thirtieth day of June preceding and all accounts of such officers shall be closed and balanced to that date. § 1, c. 67, 1893. am'd.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE.

CHAPTER 1.

GENERAL DEFINITIONS AND PROVISIONS.

§ 5145. Title. This act shall be known as the code of civil procedure of the state of North Dakota. § 1, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5146. Not retroactive. No part of it is retroactive unless expressly so declared. § 2, C. Civ. P.

§ 5147. Code is law of this state. Excludes common law. The rule of the common law that statutes in derogation thereof are to be strictly construed, has no application to this code. The code establishes the law of this state respecting the subjects to which it relates, and its provisions and all proceedings under it are to be liberally construed with a view to effect its objects and to promote justice. § 3, C. Civ. P.

§ 5148. Prior rights not affected. No action or proceeding commenced before this code takes effect and no right accrued is affected by its provisions, but the proceedings therein must conform to the requirements of this code as far as applicable. § 4, C. Civ. P.

§ 5149. Limitation commenced to run not interrupted. When a limitation or period of time prescribed in any existing statute for acquiring a right or barring a remedy, or for any other purpose, has begun to run before this code goes into effect, and the same or any limitation is prescribed in this code, the time which has already run shall be deemed part of the time prescribed as such limitation by this code. § 5, C. Civ. P.

§ 5150. Computation of time. The time in which any act provided by law is to be done is computed by excluding the first day and including the last, unless the last is a holiday, and then it is also excluded. § 6, C. Civ. P.

§ 5151. Language, how construed. Words and phrases are construed according to the context and the approved usage of the language; but technical words and phrases and such others as have acquired a peculiar and appropriate meaning in law, or are defined by statute, are to be construed according to such peculiar and appropriate meaning or definition. § 7, C. Civ. P.

§ 5152. Definition of words. The following words have in this code the signification attached to them in this section, unless otherwise apparent from the context: § 8, C. Civ. P.

1. The word "writ" signifies an order or precept in writing, issued in the name of the state or of a court or judicial officer; and the word "process," a writ or summons issued in the course of judicial proceedings.

2. The word "state," when applied to the different parts of the United States, includes the District of Columbia and the territories; and the words "United States" may include the district and territories.

§ 9, C. Civ. P. § 5153. Effect upon former laws. Repeals. No statute, law or rule is continued in force because it is consistent with the provisions of this code on the same subject; but in all cases provided for by this code all statutes, laws and rules heretofore in force in this state, whether consistent or not with the provisions of this code, unless expressly continued in force by it, are repealed and abrogated. This repeal or abrogation does not revive any former law heretofore repealed, nor does it affect any right already existing or accrued or any action or proceeding already taken, except as in this code provided, nor does it affect any private statute not expressly repealed.

§ 10, C. Civ. P. § 5154. Act how cited. This act, whenever cited, enumerated, referred to or amended, may be designated simply as the code of civil procedure, adding, when necessary, the number of the section.

§ 11, C. Civ. P. § 5155. Remedies classified. Remedies in the courts of justice are divided into:

1. Actions.
2. Special proceedings.

§ 12, C. Civ. P. § 5156. Action defined. An action is an ordinary proceeding in a court of justice, by which a party prosecutes another party for the enforcement or protection of a right, the redress or prevention of a wrong or the punishment of a public offense.

§ 13, C. Civ. P. § 5157. Special proceedings. Every other remedy is a special proceeding.

§ 14, C. Civ. P. § 5158. Actions classified. Actions are of two kinds:

1. Civil.
2. Criminal.

§ 15, C. Civ. P. § 5159. Criminal action defined. A criminal action is one prosecuted by the state as a party against a person charged with a public offense for the punishment thereof.

§ 16, C. Civ. P. § 5160. Civil action. Process. Every other is a civil action; and all process in civil actions shall run in the name of the state of North Dakota.

§ 17, C. Civ. P. § 5161. Civil and criminal remedies not merged. When the violation of a right admits of both a civil and criminal remedy, the right to prosecute the one is not merged in the other.

CHAPTER 2.

COURTS.

ARTICLE 1.—OF THE COURTS IN GENERAL.

§ 5162. Courts. The following are the courts of justice of this state: § 18, C. Civ. P., am'd.

1. The supreme court.
2. The district courts.
3. The county courts.
4. The courts of justices of the peace.
5. Such other courts as are or may be created by law for cities, incorporated towns and villages.

Of these the supreme, district and county courts are courts of record.

§ 5163. Sittings of courts public. Persons may be excluded when. The sittings of every court of this state shall be public and every citizen may freely attend the same, except that on the trial of cases of a scandalous or obscene nature the presiding judge or justice may, in his discretion, exclude therefrom all persons not necessarily present as parties or witnesses. § 1, c. 104, 1890. am'd.

§ 5164. Courts not open on Sundays and holidays. Jurisdiction of magistrates on such days. Courts shall not be open on Sundays or legal holidays, unless for the purpose of instructing or discharging a jury, or receiving a verdict. Any magistrate may, however, on such days exercise his jurisdiction in criminal cases to preserve the peace or arrest offenders, and may in all cases either civil or criminal admit any person arrested to bail.

ARTICLE 2.—THE SUPREME COURT.

§ 5165. Jurisdiction defined. Power to issue writs. The supreme court shall have and exercise appellate jurisdiction only, except when otherwise specially provided by law or the constitution. The supreme court has power in the exercise of its original jurisdiction to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto, certiorari and injunction; and in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and in its superintending control over inferior courts it may issue such original and remedial writs as are necessary to the proper exercise of such jurisdiction; provided, that said court shall exercise the said original jurisdiction only in habeas corpus cases and in such cases of strictly public concern as involve questions affecting the sovereign rights of the state or its franchises or privilege. § 1, c. 118, 1891.

§ 5166. Issue and return of writs. The supreme court shall be always open for the issue and return of all writs and process which it may lawfully issue and for the hearing and determination of the same, subject to such regulations and conditions as the court may prescribe. And any judge of said court may order the issuance of any such writ or process, and prescribe the time and manner of service and the time and place of return of the same; provided, that in cases of habeas corpus the judge of the supreme court who issues or causes the writ to issue may, at his discretion, direct that § 2, c. 118, 1891.

the writ shall be made returnable and heard and determined, either before the supreme court or any judge thereof, or before any district court of the state or any judge of any district court of the state; provided, further, that any district court or judge thereof before whom any writ is made returnable as prescribed in this section is hereby vested with full power and authority necessary for carrying into complete execution all of its judgments, decrees and determinations, subject to appeal as provided by law.

§ 5167. Issues of fact to be sent to district court for trial. Whenever an issue of fact shall be joined or assessment of damages by a jury be necessary in any action or proceeding commenced in the supreme court, the court may, in its discretion, send the same to some district court, and it shall be there determined in the same manner as other issues of fact are tried or assessments made and return be made thereof as directed by the supreme court. In such cases the supreme court may order a special verdict to be found and returned.

§ 5168. Power to execute judgments, decrees, etc. Said court is vested with full power and authority necessary for carrying into complete execution all its judgments, decrees and determinations in the matters aforesaid and for the exercise of its jurisdiction as the supreme judicial tribunal of the state; and shall by order made at general or special term from time to time make and prescribe such general rules and regulations for the conduct and hearing of causes in said court, not inconsistent with the statute law of the state, as it may deem proper; and the said court shall by order prescribe the manner of publication at the expense of the state of such rules and regulations; and the same shall not be in force until thirty days after the publication thereof.

§ 5169. Decisions. Syllabus. The said court shall in all cases decided by it give its decision in writing, which shall be filed with the clerk of said court with the other papers in the case. Decisions in cases heard at a general or special term and all orders affecting the same may be filed in vacation, and judgment entered thereon in pursuance of the finding and order of the court with the same effect as upon decisions made and filed in term. Said court at the time of announcing its decisions in any action determined by said court shall file with the clerk thereof a syllabus of the decision in such action, so prepared as to embody as briefly as practicable the principles settled in and by such decision.

§ 5, c. 118, 1891.

§ 5170. Adjournments. If any two judges of said court shall not attend on the first or on any other day of the term, the clerk shall enter such fact on record, and the judge present shall adjourn the court to the next day and so on from day to day for six days, if neither of the absent judges appears; at the end of which period said court shall be adjourned, and all matters pending therein shall stand continued until the next regular or special term. If none of the judges appear, the clerk of said court may adjourn from day to day as provided in this section.

§ 6, c. 118, 1891.

§ 5171. When causes on calendar stand over. Whenever there is no general term of said court at the time fixed therefor by law for any cause, or whenever there is a continuance of the term of said court or a change in the time of holding any term by act of the legislative assembly, all causes then upon the calendar of said court, all writs, recognizances, appeals and proceedings commenced, taken or made returnable to said court at said term shall stand over to and be heard at the next general term with like effect as if no such failure, continuance or change had occurred.

§ 5172. Preference on calendar. On a second and each subsequent appeal to the supreme court or when an appeal has once been dismissed for defect or irregularity, the cause shall be placed upon the calendar as of the time of filing the first appeal; and whenever in any action or proceeding in which the state of North Dakota, or any state officer or any board of state officers is or are sole plaintiff or defendant, an appeal has been or shall be brought from any judgment or order for or against him or them in any court, such appeal shall have a preference in the supreme court and may be moved by either party out of the order on the calendar. § 24, C. Civ. P.

§ 5173. Majority of judges must concur. The concurrence of a majority of the judges is necessary to pronounce judgment. If a majority does not concur, the case must be reheard. But no more than two rehearings shall be had; and if on the second rehearing a majority of the judges does not concur, the judgment shall be affirmed. § 25, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5174. Adjournment to other buildings. The supreme court may be held in other buildings than those designated by law as places for holding courts and at a different place in the same city from that at which it is appointed to be held. § 26, C. Civ. P. § 1, c. 53, 1879. am'd.

ARTICLE 3. — THE DISTRICT COURTS.

§ 5175. Jurisdiction of district courts defined. The district courts have the general jurisdiction conferred upon them by the constitution and in the exercise thereof they have power to issue all writs, process and commissions provided therein or by law or which may be necessary to the due execution of the powers with which they are vested. They have power to hear and determine all civil actions and proceedings and all cases of crimes and misdemeanors of every kind; and they have all the powers according to the usages of courts of law and equity necessary to the full and complete jurisdiction of the causes and parties and the full and complete administration of justice and to carrying into effect their judgments, orders and other determinations, subject to a re-examination by the supreme court as provided by law. They have jurisdiction of appeals from all final judgments of justices of the peace and police magistrates, and from all judgments, decrees or orders of the county court, and from the determination of inferior officers, boards or tribunals, in such cases and pursuant to such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

§ 5176. Court always open. Procedure. The district court is always open for the purpose of hearing and determining all actions, special proceedings, motions and applications of whatever kind or character, and whether of a civil or criminal nature, arising under the laws of the state, and of which such court has jurisdiction, original or appellate, except issues of fact in civil and criminal actions. Such issues must be tried in term time in the county or judicial district in which the action is brought or to which the place of trial is changed by order of the court upon the written consent of the parties to such action or upon the grounds provided by law; provided, that issues of fact in civil actions triable by the court without a jury, or in which a § 1, c. 86, 1893.

jury trial has been waived, may, in the discretion of the court and upon the consent of the parties in open court entered in the minutes or in writing filed with the clerk, be tried and determined and judgment given out of term time at any place within the district in which such action is pending.

§ 5177. Judgments by default. Ex parte applications may be made, heard and determined and judgments by default given at any place within the state.

§ 3, c. 86, 1893.

§ 5178. Acts of judge are acts of the court. All orders made, judgments given or other acts done by any judge of the district court in any action, special proceeding or other matter, civil or criminal, shall be deemed and held to be the orders, judgments and acts of the court and the several judges of the district court shall have jurisdiction throughout the state to exercise all the powers conferred by law upon the district court or judges thereof, subject to the limitations in this article provided.

§ 4, c. 86, 1893.

§ 5179. No judge to act on matters not pending in his district. Exceptions. No judge of the district court shall hear or determine any action, special proceeding, motion or application, or make any order or give any judgment in any action or proceeding not pending in the judicial district for which he is elected except in the following cases:

1. Upon the written request of the judge of the district in which such action or proceeding is at the time pending.

2. When, upon the application of either party to such action or proceeding and upon due notice to the opposite party, if he shall have appeared and is entitled to such notice, it shall be made to appear by affidavit to the satisfaction of such judge who shall have power to hear and determine such preliminary application, that the judge of the district in which such action, proceeding, motion or application is pending or about to be commenced, is absent from his district, or incapacitated or disqualified to act therein, such application shall be made only to the judge of a district adjoining that in which such action or proceeding is pending, and upon the hearing thereof counter affidavits may be used.

§ 5180. Order or judgment. How vacated. No order or judgment given by the judge of any district contrary to the limitations of the preceding sections shall for that reason be void, but such order or judgment may be vacated upon application within thirty days from the time the same shall have been made or given to the judge of the district in which the action or proceeding in which the same was made or given is pending, and if appealable by the supreme court on appeal.

CHAPTER 3.

FORM OF CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 5181. Distinction between actions at law and suits in equity abolished. Parties named. The distinction between actions at law and suits in equity and the forms of all such actions and suits heretofore existing are abolished; and there shall be in this state hereafter but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights and the redress of private wrongs, which shall be denominated a civil action. In such action the party complaining shall be known as the plaintiff and the adverse party as the defendant. §§ 33, 34. C. Civ. P.

§ 5182. Actions upon judgments. No action shall be commenced upon a judgment rendered in any court of this state between the same parties within nine years after its rendition without leave of the court for good cause shown and notice to the adverse party. § 35, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5183. Issues must be stated. Feigned issues are abolished, and instead thereof in the cases where the power now exists to order a feigned issue, or when a question of fact not put in issue by the pleadings is to be tried by a jury, an order for the trial may be made, stating distinctly and plainly the question of fact to be tried; and such order shall be the only authority necessary for a trial. § 36, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 4.

TIME OF COMMENCING ACTIONS.

ARTICLE 1.—IN GENERAL.

§ 5184. Limitations. Civil actions can only be commenced within the periods prescribed in this code after the cause of action shall have accrued, except when in special cases a different limitation is prescribed by statute. But the objection that the action was not commenced within the time limited can only be taken by answer. § 37, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 2.—TIME OF COMMENCING ACTIONS FOR THE RECOVERY OF REAL PROPERTY.

§ 5185. By the state. The state of North Dakota will not sue any person for or in respect to any real property or the issues or profits thereof by reason of the right or title of the state to the same, unless: § 38, C. Civ. P.

1. Such right or title shall have accrued within forty years before any action or other proceeding for the same shall be commenced; or,

2. The state or those from whom it claims shall have received the rents and profits of such real property or of some part thereof within the space of forty years.

- § 39, C. Civ. P. § 5186. Persons claiming under state. No action shall be brought for or in respect to real property by any person claiming by virtue of grants from the state, unless the same might have been commenced as herein specified in case such grant had not been issued or made.
- § 40, C. Civ. P. § 5187. Extension of limitation when. When grants of real property shall have been issued or made by the state and the same shall be declared void by the determination of a competent court rendered upon an allegation of a fraudulent suggestion, or concealment, or forfeiture, or mistake, or ignorance of a material fact, or wrongful detaining, or defective title, in such case an action for the recovery of the premises so conveyed may be brought either by the state or by any subsequent grantee of the same premises, his heirs or assigns, within twenty years after such determination was made, but not after that period.
- § 41, C. Civ. P. § 5188. Seizin within twenty years. No action for the recovery of real property or for the recovery of the possession thereof shall be maintained, unless it appears that the plaintiff, his ancestor, predecessor or grantor was seized or possessed of the premises in question within twenty years before the commencement of such action.
- § 42, C. Civ. P. § 5189. Same. No cause of action, or defense, or counterclaim to an action founded upon the title to real property or to rents or services out of the same shall be effectual, unless it appears that the person prosecuting the action or interposing the defense or counterclaim, or under whose title the action is prosecuted or the defense or counterclaim is made, or the ancestor, predecessor or grantor of such person was seized or possessed of the premises in question within twenty years before the committing of the act in respect to which such action is prosecuted or defense or counterclaim made.
- § 43, C. Civ. P. § 5190. One year after entry. No entry upon real estate shall be deemed sufficient or valid as a claim unless an action is commenced thereon within one year after the making of such entry and within twenty years from the time when the right to make such entry descended or accrued.
- § 44, C. Civ. P. § 5191. Possession presumed. In every action for the recovery of real property or the possession thereof the person establishing a legal title to the premises shall be presumed to have been possessed thereof within the time required by law; and the occupation of such premises by any other person shall be deemed to have been under and in subordination to the legal title, unless it appears that such premises have been held and possessed adversely to such legal title for twenty years before the commencement of such action.
- § 45, C. Civ. P. § 5192. Occupation under written instrument. Whenever it shall appear that the occupant or those under whom he claims entered into the possession of premises under claim of title exclusive of any other right, founding such claim upon a written instrument as being a conveyance of the premises in question, or upon the decree or judgment of a competent court, and that there has been a continued occupation and possession of the premises included in such instrument, decree or judgment, or of some part of such premises, under such claim for twenty years, the premises so included shall be deemed to have been held adversely; except that when the premises so included consist of a tract divided into lots, the possession of one lot shall not be deemed a possession of any other lot of the same tract.

§ 5193. Adverse possession. For the purpose of constituting an adverse possession by any person claiming a title founded upon a written instrument, or a judgment or decree, land shall be deemed to have been possessed and occupied in the following cases: § 46, C. Civ. P.

1. When it has been usually cultivated or improved.
2. When it has been protected by a substantial inclosure.
3. When, although not inclosed, it has been used for the supply of fuel or of fencing timber for the purposes of husbandry, or the ordinary use of the occupant.

4. When a known farm or a single lot has been partly improved, the portion of such farm or lot that may have been left not cleared or not inclosed according to the usual course and custom of the adjoining country, shall be deemed to have been occupied for the same length of time as the part improved and cultivated.

§ 5194. Actual adverse holding. When it shall appear that there has been an actual continued occupation of premises under a claim of title exclusive of any other right, but not founded upon a written instrument, or a judgment or decree, the premises so actually occupied and no other shall be deemed to have been held adversely. § 47, C. Civ. P.

§ 5195. Under claim not written. For the purpose of constituting an adverse possession by a person claiming title not founded upon a written instrument, or a judgment or decree, land shall be deemed to have been possessed and occupied in the following cases only: § 48, C. Civ. P.

1. When it has been protected by a substantial inclosure.
2. When it has been usually cultivated or improved.

§ 5196. Landlord and tenant. Whenever the relation of landlord and tenant shall have existed between any persons, the possession of the tenant shall be deemed the possession of the landlord, until the expiration of twenty years from the termination of the tenancy; or, when there has been no written lease, until the expiration of twenty years from the time of the last payment of rent, notwithstanding that such tenant may have acquired another title or may have claimed to hold adversely to his landlord. But such presumptions shall not be made after the periods herein limited. § 49, C. Civ. P.

§ 5197. Effect of descent. The right of a person to the possession of any real property shall not be impaired or affected by a descent being cast in consequence of the death of a person in possession of such property. § 50, C. Civ. P.

§ 5198. Disabilities extend time. If a person entitled to maintain any of the actions mentioned in this article, or to interpose a defense or counterclaim thereto, or to make an entry upon real property, is, when his title first descends or his cause of action or right of entry first accrues, or when such defense or counterclaim might be interposed, either: § 51, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. Within the age of twenty-one years; or,
2. Insane; or,
3. Imprisoned on a criminal charge or in execution upon conviction of a criminal offense for a term less than for life, the time of such disability is not a part of the time in this article limited for the commencement of such action, or the making of such entry, or the interposing of such defense or counterclaim; but the time so limited cannot be extended more than ten years after the disability ceases or after the death of the person so disabled.

ARTICLE 3.—TIME OF COMMENCING OTHER ACTIONS.

§ 52, C. Civ. P. § 5199. Other periods. The following actions must be commenced within the following periods after the cause of action has accrued.

§ 53, C. Civ. P. § 5200. Ten years. Within ten years:
 1. An action upon a judgment or decree of any court of the United States or of any state or territory within the United States.
 2. An action upon a contract contained in any conveyance or mortgage of or instrument affecting the title to real property except a covenant of warranty, an action upon which must be commenced within ten years after the final decision against the title of the covenantor.

§ 54, C. Civ. P.
 am'd. § 5201. Six years. Within six years:
 1. An action upon a contract, obligation or liability, express or implied, excepting those mentioned in section 5200.
 2. An action upon a liability created by statute, other than a penalty or forfeiture, when not otherwise expressly provided.
 3. An action for trespass upon real property.
 4. An action for taking, detaining or injuring any goods or chattels, including actions for the specific recovery of personal property.
 5. An action for criminal conversation, or for any other injury to the person or rights of another not arising on contract, and not hereinafter enumerated.

6. An action for relief on the ground of fraud in cases which heretofore were solely cognizable by the court of chancery, the cause of action in such case not to be deemed to have accrued until the discovery by the aggrieved party of the facts constituting the fraud.

§ 55, C. Civ. P. § 5202. Three years. Within three years:
 1. An action against a sheriff, coroner or constable upon a liability incurred by the doing of an act in his official capacity and by virtue of his office, or by the omission of an official duty, including the non-payment of money collected upon an execution. But this section shall not apply to an action for an escape.

2. An action upon a statute for a penalty or forfeiture, when the action is given to the party aggrieved, or to such party and the state, except when the statute imposing it prescribes a different limitation.

§ 56, C. Civ. P.
 707½ 1, c. 87, 1883.
 am'd. § 5203. Two years. Within two years:
 1. An action for libel, slander, assault, battery or false imprisonment.

2. An action upon a statute for a forfeiture or penalty to the state.

3. An action for the recovery of damages resulting from malpractice.

4. An action for injuries done to the person of another, when death ensues from such injuries; and the cause of action shall be deemed to have accrued at the time of the death of the party injured.

§ 57, C. Civ. P. § 5204. One year. Within one year:
 1. An action against a sheriff or other officer for the escape of a prisoner arrested or imprisoned on civil process.

§ 58, C. Civ. P. § 5205. Balance of open account. In an action brought to recover a balance due upon a mutual, open and current account, when there have been reciprocal demands between the parties, the cause of action shall be deemed to have accrued from the time of the last item proved in the account on either side.

§ 5206. Forfeiture by person. State. An action upon a statute for a penalty or forfeiture given in whole or in part to any person who will prosecute for the same must be commenced within one year after the commission of the offense; and if the action is not commenced within the year by a private party, it may be commenced within two years thereafter in behalf of the state by the attorney general, or by the state's attorney of the county where the offense was committed. § 59, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5207. Other relief ten years. An action for relief not hereinbefore provided for must be commenced within ten years after the cause of action shall have accrued. § 60, C. Civ. P.

§ 5208. Same to state and persons. The limitations prescribed in this chapter shall apply to actions brought in the name of the state, or for its benefit, in the same manner as to actions by private parties. § 61, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 4. — GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO THE TIME OF COMMENCING ACTIONS.

§ 5209. When action deemed commenced. An action is commenced as to each defendant when the summons is served on him, or on a codefendant who is a joint contractor or otherwise united in interest with him. An attempt to commence an action is deemed equivalent to the commencement thereof within the meaning of this chapter, when the summons is delivered, with the intent that it shall be actually served, to the sheriff or other officer of the county in which the defendants, or one of them usually or last resided; or, if a corporation is defendant, to the sheriff or other officer of the county in which was situated the principal place of business of such corporation, or where its general business was transacted, or where it kept an office for the transaction of business. But such an attempt must be followed by the first publication of the summons, or the service thereof, within sixty days. § 62, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5210. Exception. Absentee. If, when the cause of action shall accrue against any person, he shall be out of the state, such action may be commenced within the terms herein respectively limited after the return of such person into this state; and if after such cause of action shall have accrued such person shall depart from and reside out of this state or remain continuously absent therefrom for the space of one year or more, the time of his absence shall not be deemed or taken as any part of the time limited for the commencement of such action. § 63, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5211. Same. Disabilities. If a person entitled to bring an action other than for the recovery of real property, except for a penalty or forfeiture, or against a sheriff or other officer for an escape, is at the time the cause of action accrued, either: § 64, C. Civ. P.

1. Within the age of twenty-one years; or,
2. Insane; or,
3. Imprisoned on a criminal charge, or in execution under the sentence of a criminal court for a term less than his natural life, the time of such disability is not a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action; provided, that the period within which the action must be brought cannot be extended more than five years by any such disability except infancy, nor can it be extended in any case longer than one year after the disability ceases.

§ 53. C. Civ. P. § 5212. Limitation in case of death. If a person entitled to bring an action dies before the expiration of the time limited for the commencement thereof and the cause of action survives, an action may be commenced by his representatives after the expiration of that time and within one year from his death. If a person against whom an action may be brought dies before the expiration of the time limited for the commencement thereof and the cause of action survives, an action may be commenced against his executors or administrators after the expiration of that time and within one year after the issuing of letters testamentary or of administration.

§ 66. C. Civ. P. § 5213. In case of war. When a person shall be an alien subject or a citizen of a country at war with the United States, the time of the continuance of the war is not a part of the period limited for the commencement of the action.

§ 67. C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5214. When judgment reversed. If an action is commenced within the time prescribed therefor and the judgment therein is reversed on appeal, the plaintiff or, if he dies and the cause of action survives, his heirs or representatives may commence a new action within one year after the reversal.

§ 68. C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5215. Stay by injunction, etc. When the commencement of an action is stayed by injunction or other order of a court or judge, or by statutory prohibition, the time of the continuance of the stay is not a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action.

§ 69. C. Civ. P. § 5216. When disability available. No person can avail himself of a disability, unless it existed when his right of action accrued.

§ 70. C. Civ. P. § 5217. Coexisting disabilities. When two or more disabilities coexist at the time the right of action accrues, the limitation does not attach until they are all removed.

§ 71. C. Civ. P. § 5218. Bank notes. This chapter does not affect actions to enforce the payment of bills, notes or other evidence of debt, issued by moneyed corporations, or issued or put in circulation as money.

§ 72. C. Civ. P. § 5219. Moneyed corporations. This chapter shall not affect actions against directors or stockholders of a moneyed corporation or banking association to recover a penalty or forfeiture imposed, or to enforce a liability created by law; but such actions must be brought within six years after the discovery by the aggrieved party of the facts upon which the penalty or forfeiture attached or the liability was created.

§ 73. C. Civ. P. § 5220. New promise must be in writing. No acknowledgment or promise is sufficient evidence of a new or continuing contract, whereby to take the case out of the operation of this chapter, unless the same is contained in some writing signed by the party to be charged thereby; but this section shall not alter the effect of any payment of principal or interest.

CHAPTER 5.

PARTIES TO CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 5221. Action must be prosecuted by party in interest. § 74, C. Civ. P. am'd.
Every action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest except as otherwise provided in section 5223.

§ 5222. Assignee. Equities. In the case of an assignment § 75, C. Civ. P. of a thing in action the action by the assignee shall be without prejudice to any set-off or other defense existing at the time or before notice of the assignment; but this section shall not apply to a negotiable promissory note or bill of exchange transferred in good faith and upon good consideration before due.

§ 5223. Executors and trustees. An executor or administrator, a trustee of an express trust or a person expressly authorized by statute may sue without joining with him the person for whose benefit the action is prosecuted. A trustee of an express trust within the meaning of this section shall be construed to include a person with whom or in whose name a contract is made for the benefit of another. § 76, C. Civ. P.

§ 5224. Married woman. When a married woman is a party, § 77, C. Civ. P. her appearance, the prosecution or defense of the action and the joinder with her of any other person or party must be governed by the same rules as if she was single.

§ 5225. Infant must appear by guardian. When an infant § 78, C. Civ. P. is a party he must appear either by his general guardian or by a guardian appointed by the court, in which the action is prosecuted, or by a judge thereof. A guardian may be appointed in any case, when it is deemed by the court, in which the action is prosecuted, or by a judge thereof, expedient to represent the infant in the action, notwithstanding he may have a general guardian and may have appeared by him.

§ 5226. Guardian, how appointed. The guardian shall be § 79, C. Civ. P. appointed:

1. When the infant is plaintiff, upon the application of the infant, if he is of the age of fourteen years; or if under that age, upon the application of his general or testamentary guardian, if he has any, or of a relative or friend of the infant. If made by a relative or friend of the infant, notice thereof must first be given to such guardian, if he has one; if he has none, then to the person with whom such infant resides.

2. When the infant is defendant, upon the application of the infant, if he is of the age of fourteen years and applies within twenty days after the service of summons. If he is under the age of fourteen or neglects so to apply, then upon the application of any other party to the action, or of a relative or friend of the infant, after notice of such application being first given to the general or testamentary guardian of such infant, if he has one within this state; if he has none, then to the infant himself, if over fourteen years of age and within the state; or, if under that age and within the state, to the person with whom such infant resides. In actions for the partition of real property, or for the foreclosure of a mortgage or other instrument, when an infant defendant resides out of this state, the plaintiff may apply to the court or a judge thereof, in which the action is pending, and will be entitled to an order designating some suitable person to be the guardian for the infant defendant for the purposes of the action, unless the infant defendant or some one in his behalf within a number of days after the service of a copy of the order, which number of days shall be in the said order specified, shall procure to be appointed a guardian for the said infant: and the court shall give special directions in the order for the manner of the service thereof, which may be upon the infant himself or by service upon any relation or person with whom the infant resides, and either by mail or personally upon the person so served. And in case an infant defendant having an interest in the event of the action shall reside in any state with which there shall not be a regular communication by mail, on such fact satisfactorily appearing to the court the court may appoint a guardian ad litem for such absent infant party for the purpose of protecting the right of such infant in said action, and on such guardian ad litem process, pleadings and notices in the action may be served in the like manner as upon a party residing in this state.

§ 5227. Guardian for person of unsound mind. When the defendant is a person of unsound mind at the time the action is commenced and no guardian has been appointed of his person or estate, the court or a judge thereof shall appoint a guardian for him for the action. If during the pendency of an action either party shall become or prove to be of unsound mind, the action may be prosecuted or defended by his guardian in like manner as if it had been commenced after the appointment of the guardian, or the court or judge may appoint a guardian for the action as the case may require. Such guardian for the action may be appointed upon the application of any party thereto or any relative or friend of such person of unsound mind after at least five days' notice of such application shall have first been given to such person personally, if a resident of this state, and if not a resident, in such manner as the court or judge shall direct. Upon the hearing of such application the court or judge may, if deemed desirable and practicable, order such person of unsound mind to appear or be brought in by the sheriff in person.

§ 80. C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5228. Guardian's security. No guardian appointed for an infant or a person of unsound mind under the provisions of this chapter shall be permitted to receive any money or other property of the ward except costs and expenses allowed to the guardian by the court, or recovered by the ward in the action, until he has given sufficient security approved by the judge of the court to account for and apply the same under the direction of the court. And no person appointed a guardian for the purpose of defending an action brought against an infant or person of unsound mind shall be liable for the costs of such action, unless specially charged by the order of the court for some personal misdemeanor therein.

§ 81. C. Civ. P.

§ 5229. Who to be plaintiffs. All persons having an interest in the subject of the action and in obtaining the relief demanded may be joined as plaintiffs except as otherwise provided in this chapter.

§ 82. C. Civ. P.

§ 5230. Defendants. Any person may be made a defendant, who has or claims an interest in the controversy adverse to the plaintiff or who is a necessary party to a complete determination or settlement of the questions involved therein; and in an action to recover possession of real estate the landlord and tenant thereof may be joined as defendants, and any person claiming title or right of possession to real estate may be made parties, plaintiff or defendant, as the case may require, to any such action.

§ 5231. Persons holding unrecorded conveyance need not be made parties. In an action to foreclose a mortgage or other lien upon real property no person holding a conveyance from or under the mortgagor of the property mortgaged, or other owner thereof, or having a lien upon such property, which conveyance or lien does not appear of record in the proper office at the time of the commencement of the action, need be made a party to such action; and the judgment therein rendered and the proceedings therein had are as conclusive against the party holding such unrecorded conveyance or lien as if he had been made a party to the action. § 1, c. 84, 1890.

§ 5232. Parties to be joined. Of the parties to the action those who are united in interest must be joined as plaintiffs or defendants; but if the consent of any one who should have been joined as plaintiff cannot be obtained, he may be made a defendant, the reason therefor being stated in the complaint; and when the question is one of a common or general interest of many persons, or when the parties are very numerous and it may be impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of the whole. § 83, C. Civ. P.

§ 5233. When severally liable. Persons severally liable upon the same obligation or instrument, including the parties to bills of exchange and promissory notes, whether the action is brought upon the instrument, or by a party thereto to recover against other parties liable over to him, and persons liable severally for the same debt or demand, although upon different obligations or instruments, may all, or one or more of them, be included in the same action at the option of the plaintiff. § 84, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5234. Action does not abate. No action shall abate by the death, marriage or other disability of a party, or by the transfer of any interest therein, if the cause of action survives or continues. In case of the death or other disability of a party, the court on motion at any time within one year thereafter, or afterwards on a supplemental complaint, may allow the action to be continued by or against his representatives or successor in interest. In case of any other transfer of interest the action shall be continued in the name of the original party, or the court may allow the person to whom the transfer is made to be substituted in the action. After a verdict is rendered in any action for a wrong, such action shall not abate by the death of any party, but the case shall proceed thereafter in the same manner as in cases where the cause of action now survives by law. At any time after the death or other disability of the party plaintiff the court in which an action is pending upon notice to such persons as it may direct and upon application of any person aggrieved may, in its discretion, order that the action be deemed abated, unless the same is continued by the proper parties within a time to be fixed by the court, not less than six months nor exceeding one year from the granting of the order. § 85, C. Civ. P.

§ 5235. Successor may revive judgment. Where judgment has heretofore or shall hereafter be recovered for the possession of real property and the party recovering such judgment shall have died subsequent to the recovery thereof, his successor in interest in § 86, C. Civ. P.

said real property, whether by grant, devise or inheritance, may revive said judgment and enforce the same by execution on motion within one year after said death, or afterwards on supplemental complaint.

§ 87, C. Civ. P. § 5236. Nonresident intestate. When an intestate, not being an inhabitant of the state, shall die out of the state, not leaving assets therein, and there is pending in the supreme court an appeal brought by such intestate from a judgment against him, the court in which such appeal is pending may order the judgment appealed from affirmed with costs, unless the attorney for the intestate on said appeal procures such action to be revived within six months after notice to perfect such appeal by the substitution of a representative in said action.

§ 88, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5237. Death of one of several parties. In case of the death of one of two or more plaintiffs or one of two or more defendants, if part only of the cause of action, or part of some of two or more distinct causes of action survives to or against the others, the action may proceed without bringing in the successor to the rights or liabilities of the deceased party; and the judgment will not affect him or his interest in the subject of the action; but when it appears proper so to do, the court may require or compel the successor, or a person who claims to be the successor, to be brought in as a party upon his own application or upon the application of a party to the action.

§ 89, C. Civ. P. § 5238. Power of court. Interpleader. The court may determine any controversy between the parties before it, when it can be done without prejudice to the rights of others, or by saving their rights; but when a complete determination of the controversy cannot be had without the presence of other parties, the court must cause them to be brought in.

§ 90, C. Civ. P. § 5239. Intervention when. Any person may before the trial intervene in an action or proceeding, who has an interest in the matter in litigation in the success of either party, or an interest against both. An intervention takes place when a third person is permitted to become a party to an action or proceeding between other persons, either by joining the plaintiff in claiming what is sought by the complaint, or by uniting with the defendant in resisting the claims of the plaintiff, or by demanding anything adversely to both the plaintiff and the defendant, and is made by complaint, setting forth the grounds upon which the intervention rests, filed by leave of the court and served upon the parties to the action or proceeding who have not appeared and upon the attorneys of the parties who have appeared, who may answer or demur to it as if it was an original complaint.

§ 91, C. Civ. P. § 5240. Interpleader. A defendant against whom an action is pending upon a contract, or for specific, real or personal property, may, at any time before answer upon affidavit that a person not a party to the action and without collusion with him makes against him a demand for the same debt or property, upon due notice to such person and the adverse party, apply to the court for an order to substitute such person in his place and discharge him from liability to either party on his depositing in court the amount of the debt, or delivering the property or its value to such person as the court may direct, and the court may in its discretion make the order.

CHAPTER 6.

OF THE PLACE OF TRIAL OF CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 5241. Where subject matter is. Actions for the following causes must be tried in the county in which the subject of the action or some part thereof is situated, subject to the power of the court to change the place of trial in the cases provided by statute: § 92, C. Civ. P. § 1, c. 23, 1887.

1. For the recovery of real property, or of an estate or interest therein, or for the determination in any form of such right or interest, and for injuries to real property.

2. For the partition of real property.

3. For the foreclosure of a mortgage of real property.

4. For the recovery of personal property distrained for any cause.

5. All actions brought on a policy of insurance to recover for loss or damage to the property insured shall be tried in the county or judicial subdivision where such property is situated at the time of its loss or damage.

§ 5242. Where the cause arose. Actions for the following causes must be tried in the county where the cause or some part thereof arose, subject to the like power of the court to change the place of trial: § 93, C. Civ. P.

1. For the recovery of a penalty or forfeiture imposed by statute except that when it is imposed for an offense committed on a lake or river or other stream of water situated in two or more counties, the action may be brought in any county bordering on such lake, river or stream, and opposite to the place where the offense was committed.

2. Against a public officer, or person specially appointed to execute his duties, for an act done by him by virtue of his office, or against a person who by his command or his aid shall do anything touching the duties of such officer.

§ 5243. Where any party resides. In all other cases, subject to the power of the court to change the place of trial as provided by statute, the action shall be tried in the county in which the defendant or some of the defendants reside at the time of the commencement of the action; provided that, if such county is attached to another county for judicial purposes, the action shall be tried in the latter county; and if none of the defendants shall reside in the state, the action may be commenced in any county which the plaintiff shall designate in the summons. § 94, C. Civ. P. § 1, c. 35, 1881. am'd.

§ 5244. Defendant must ask change. If the county designated for that purpose in the complaint is not the proper county, the action may, notwithstanding, be tried therein, unless the defendant before the time for answering expires demands in writing that the trial be had in the proper county and the place of trial be thereupon changed by consent of the parties, or by order of the court as provided in this section. The court may change the place of trial in the following cases: § 95, C. Civ. P.

1. When the county designated for that purpose in the complaint is not the proper county.

2. When there is reason to believe that an impartial trial cannot be had therein.

3. When the convenience of witnesses and the ends of justice would be promoted by the change.

§ 95, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5245. Transfer of papers. When the place of trial is changed all other proceedings shall be had in the county to which the place of trial is changed, unless otherwise provided by the consent of the parties in writing duly filed; and the papers shall be filed or transferred accordingly.

CHAPTER 7.

MANNER OF COMMENCING CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 96, C. Civ. P.

§ 5246. Action, how commenced. Civil actions in the courts of this state shall be commenced by the service of a summons.

§ 97, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5247. Requisites of summons. The summons must contain the title of the action, specifying the court in which the action is brought, the names of the parties to the action and the name of the county in which the plaintiff desires the trial, and shall be subscribed by the plaintiff or his attorney, who must add to his signature his address, specifying a place within the state where there is a post office.

§ 5248. Form of summons. The summons exclusive of the title of the action and the subscription must be substantially in the following form, the blanks being properly filled:

The state of North Dakota to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint in this action and to serve a copy of your answer upon the subscriber within thirty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear or answer judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated.....

§ 99, C. Civ. P.

§ 5249. Service of complaint. A copy of the complaint need not be served with the summons. In such case the summons must state where the complaint is or will be filed, and if the defendant within thirty days thereafter causes notice of appearance to be given, and in person or by attorney demands in writing a copy of the complaint, specifying a place within the state where it may be served, a copy thereof must within twenty days thereafter be served accordingly, and after such service the defendant has thirty days to answer, but only one copy need be served on the same attorney.

§ 100, C. Civ. P.

§ 5250. Notice of no personal claim. In the case of a defendant against whom no personal claim is made the plaintiff may deliver to such defendant with the summons a notice subscribed by the plaintiff or his attorney, setting forth the general object of the action, a brief description of the property affected by it, if it affects specific real or personal property, and that no personal claim is made against such defendant, in which case no copy of the complaint need be served on such defendant, unless within the time for answering he shall in writing demand the same. If a defendant on whom such notice is served unreasonably defends the action, he shall pay costs to the plaintiff.

§ 5251. Lis pendens. Effect of. In an action affecting the title to real property the plaintiff at the time of filing the complaint or at any time afterwards, or the defendant, when he sets up an affirmative cause of action in his answer and demands substantive relief, at the time of filing his answer or at any time afterwards, if the same is intended to affect real property, may file for record with the register of deeds of each county in which the real property is situated a notice of the pendency of the action, containing the names of the parties, the object of the action and the description of the real property in that county affected thereby; from the time of filing only shall the pendency of the action be constructive notice to a purchaser or incumbrancer of the property affected thereby; but if the action is for a foreclosure of a mortgage or the enforcement of a mechanic's or miner's lien, no such notice need be filed; and every person, whose conveyance or incumbrance is subsequently executed or subsequently recorded, shall be deemed a subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer and shall be bound by all proceedings taken after the filing of such notice to the same extent as if he was a party to the action. For the purpose of this section an action shall be deemed to be pending from the time of filing such notice; provided, however, that such notice shall be of no avail unless it shall be followed by the first publication of the summons, or by the personal service thereof on a defendant, within sixty days after such filing. And the court in which the action was commenced may, at any time on application of any person aggrieved and on good cause shown and on such notice as shall be directed or approved by the court, order the notice authorized by this section to be canceled of record in whole or in part by the register of deeds of any county in whose office the same may have been filed or recorded, and such cancellation shall be made by an indorsement to that effect on the margin of the record which shall refer to the order. Such cancellation may in like manner be made by the register of deeds upon a written request, directing such cancellation, signed by the party or the attorney of the party who caused such notice to be filed.

§ 101, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 117, 1885.
§ 1, c. 22, 1887.
am'd.

§ 5252. Summons, how served. The summons shall be served by delivering a copy thereof as follows:

§ 102, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 37, 1881.
am'd.

1. If the defendant is a minor under the age of fourteen years, to such minor personally and also to his father, mother or guardian; or if there is none within the state, then to any person having the care and control of such minor, or with whom he shall reside, or in whose service he shall be employed.

2. If the defendant is a person judicially declared to be of unsound mind or incapable of conducting his own affairs in consequence of habitual drunkenness or any other cause and for whom a guardian has been appointed, to such guardian and to the defendant personally.

3. If the defendant is a public corporation within this state, to the mayor or any of the aldermen of any city; to any of the commissioners of a county; to the president or any of the trustees of any incorporated town or village; to any of the supervisors of a civil township; to any of the members of a school district board. If the defendant is the state, to the governor or attorney general.

4. If the defendant is a domestic corporation, to the president or other head of the corporation, secretary, cashier, treasurer, a director or managing agent thereof.

5. If the defendant is a foreign corporation, joint stock company or association, to the secretary of state, unless the defendant is an insurance company, in which case, to the commissioner of insurance, or to the president, secretary, cashier, treasurer, a director or managing agent thereof, if within the state, doing business for the defendant.

6. In all cases when a foreign corporation, joint stock company or association shall not have appointed either the secretary of state or commissioner of insurance, as the case may be, as its lawful attorney upon whom service of process may be made, and such foreign corporation, joint stock company or association cannot be personally served with such process according to the provisions of subdivision 5 of this section, it shall be lawful to serve such process on any person who shall be found within this state acting as the agent of, or doing business for, such corporation, joint stock company or association. But the service provided for in this subdivision can be made upon a foreign corporation, joint stock company or association only when it has property within the state or the cause of action arose therein.

7. In all other cases, to the defendant personally; and if the defendant cannot conveniently be found, by leaving a copy thereof at his dwelling house in the presence of one or more of the members of his family over the age of fourteen years; or if the defendant resides in the family of another, with one of the members of the family in which he resides over the age of fourteen years.

Service made in any of the modes provided in this section shall be taken and held to be personal service; and all writs, process or orders issued by any of the courts of this state or by the judges thereof in any action or proceeding shall be served in the manner and upon the persons or officers mentioned in this section and none other, except in cases when service of papers can be made upon an attorney after his appearance as provided by this code.

§ 103. C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 35, Sp.
1883.
§ 1, c. 138, 1885.

§ 5253. By whom summons served. The summons may be served by the sheriff of the county where the defendant may be found, or by any other person not a party to the action. The service shall be made and the summons returned with proof of the service to the person whose name is subscribed thereto with all reasonable diligence. The person subscribing the summons may, at his option by an indorsement on the summons, fix a time for the service thereof, and the service shall then be made accordingly; provided, however, that whenever any summons or other process shall be served by any person other than a sheriff or his duly appointed deputy, no fees shall be allowed therefor, either for mileage in traveling or making such service, or for serving said summons or process.

§ 104. C. Civ. P.,
am'd.

§ 5254. Service by publication. Cases and manner. Service of the summons in an action may be made on any defendant by publication thereof upon filing a verified complaint therein with the clerk of the district court of the county in which the action is commenced, setting forth a cause of action in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant, and also filing an affidavit stating the place of defendant's residence, if known to the affiant, and if not known, stating that fact, and further stating:

1. That the defendant is not a resident of this state; or,

2. That the defendant is a foreign corporation, joint stock company or association and has no agent or person in this state upon whom service may be made under the provisions of section 5252; or,

3. That personal service cannot be made on such defendant within this state to the best knowledge, information and belief of the person making such affidavit, and in cases arising under this subdivision the affidavit shall be accompanied by the return of the sheriff of the county in which the action is brought, stating that after diligent inquiry for the purpose of serving such summons he is unable to make personal service thereof upon such defendant.

The affidavit shall also state or the complaint show:

1. That the defendant has property within this state or debts owing to him from residents thereof; or,

2. That the defendant is a resident of this state and has departed therefrom with intent to defraud his creditors, or to avoid the service of a summons, or keeps himself secreted therein with a like intent; or,

3. That the relief sought in the action consists wholly or partly in excluding the defendant from any interest in or lien upon specific real or personal property within this state, or in enforcing, regulating, defining or limiting such interest or lien in favor of either party to the action; or otherwise affecting the title to such property; or,

4. That the action is for divorce or for a decree annulling a marriage; or,

5. That the defendant in any of the cases mentioned in the last preceding subdivisions 1, 2, 3 and 4 is unknown to the plaintiff.

§ 5255. Number of publications. Service of the summons by publication may be made by publishing the same six times, once in each week for six successive weeks, in a newspaper published in the county in which the action is pending, if a newspaper is published in such county and if no newspaper is published in such county, then in a newspaper published at the seat of government of this state.

§ 5256. Mailing summons and complaint. A copy of the summons and complaint must within ten days after the first publication of the summons be deposited in some post office in this state, postage prepaid, and directed to the defendant to be served at his place of residence, unless the affidavit for publication states that the residence of the defendant is unknown.

§ 5257. Personal service equivalent to publication. After the affidavit for publication and the complaint in the action are filed, personal service of the summons and complaint upon the defendant out of the state shall be equivalent to and have the same force and effect as the publication and mailing provided for in this chapter.

§ 5258. Time when service must be made. The first publication of the summons or personal service of the summons and complaint upon the defendant out of the state must be made within sixty days after the filing of the affidavit for publication; if not so made, the action shall be deemed discontinued.

§ 5259. When service complete. Service by publication is complete upon the expiration of thirty-six days after the first publication of the summons, or in case of personal service of the summons and complaint upon the defendant out of the state, upon the expiration of fifteen days after the date of such service.

§ 104, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5260. When defendant permitted to defend. The defendant, upon whom service by publication is made or his representatives, on application and sufficient cause shown at any time before judgment, must be allowed to defend the action; and except in an action for divorce the defendant, upon whom service by publication is made or his representatives, may, in like manner upon good cause shown, be allowed to defend after judgment, or at any time within one year after notice thereof and within seven years after its rendition on such terms as may be just; and if the defense is successful and the judgment or any part thereof has been collected or otherwise enforced, such restitution may thereupon be compelled as the court directs; but the title to property sold under such judgment to a purchaser in good faith shall not be thereby affected.

§ 105, C. Civ. P.

§ 5261. Joint and several debtors. When the action is against two or more defendants, and the summons is served on one or more, but not on all of them, the plaintiff may proceed as follows:

1. If the action is against defendants jointly indebted upon contract, he may proceed against the defendant served, unless the court otherwise directs; and if he recovers judgment, it may be entered against all the defendants thus jointly indebted so far only as that it may be enforced against the joint property of all and the separate property of the defendants served, and if they are subject to arrest, against the persons of the defendants served; or,

2. If the action is against defendants severally liable, he may proceed against the defendants served in the same manner as if they were the only defendants.

3. If all the defendants have been served, judgment may be taken against any or either of them severally, when the plaintiff would be entitled to judgment against such defendant or defendants, if the action had been against them or any of them alone.

4. If the name of one or more partners shall for any cause have been omitted in any action, in which judgment shall have passed against the defendants named in the summons, and such omission shall not have been pleaded in such action, the plaintiff in case the judgment therein shall remain unsatisfied may by action recover of such partner separately upon proving his joint liability, notwithstanding he may not have been named in the original action; but the plaintiff shall have satisfaction of only one judgment rendered for the same cause of action.

§ 107, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 125, 1885.
am'd.

§ 5262. Proof of service. Acceptance. Proof of the service of the summons and of the complaint or notice, if any, accompanying the same, must be as follows:

1. If served by the sheriff or other officer, his certificate thereof; or,

2. If by any other person, his affidavit thereof; or,

3. In case of publication an affidavit made as provided in section 5693 of this code and an affidavit of a deposit of a copy of the summons and complaint in the post office as required by law, if the same shall have been deposited; or,

4. The written admission of the defendant.

In cases of service otherwise than by publication the certificate, affidavit or admission must state the time, place and manner of service.

§ 5263. Removal of pleadings, etc., from files. Any original pleading or paper in any civil action or proceeding, which by law is required to be filed in the office of the clerk of the court in which such action or proceeding is pending, may upon the request of the party filing the same be removed from the files for the purpose of serving the same either within or without the state.

§ 5264. Jurisdiction. Appearance. From the time of the service of the summons in a civil action, or the allowance of a provisional remedy, the court is deemed to have acquired jurisdiction and to have control of all the subsequent proceedings. A voluntary appearance of a defendant is equivalent to personal service of the summons upon him. § 108, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 8.

OF PLEADINGS IN CIVIL ACTIONS.

ARTICLE 1. — THE COMPLAINT.

§ 5265. Forms of pleading abolished. All forms of pleading heretofore existing are abolished; and hereafter the forms of pleading in civil actions in courts of record and the rules by which the sufficiency of the pleading is to be determined are those prescribed by this code. § 109, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5266. Complaint, what to contain. The first pleading on the part of the plaintiff is the complaint. The complaint shall contain: §§ 110, 111, C.
Civ. P.

1. The title of the cause, specifying the name of the court in which the action is brought, the name of county in which the plaintiff desires the trial to be had and the names of the parties to the action, plaintiff and defendant.

2. A plain and concise statement of the facts constituting a cause of action without unnecessary repetition.

3. A demand of the relief to which the plaintiff supposes himself entitled. If the recovery of money is demanded, the amount thereof shall be stated.

ARTICLE 2. — THE DEMURRER.

§ 5267. Defendant may demur or answer. The only pleading on the part of the defendant is either a demurrer or an answer. It must be served within thirty days after the service of the copy of the complaint. § 112, C. Civ. P.

§ 5268. When may demur. The defendant may demur to the complaint when it shall appear upon the face thereof, either: § 113, C. Civ. P.

1. That the court has no jurisdiction of the person of the defendant, or the subject of the action; or,

2. That the plaintiff has not legal capacity to sue; or,

3. That there is another action pending between the same parties for the same cause; or,

4. That there is a defect of parties, plaintiff or defendant; or,

5. That several causes of action have been improperly united; or,

6. That the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

- § 114, C. Civ. P. § 5269. Requisites of demurrer. The demurrer shall distinctly specify the grounds of objection to the complaint. Unless it does so, it may be disregarded. It may be taken to the whole complaint, or to any of the alleged causes of action stated therein,
- § 115, C. Civ. P. § 5270. Amended complaint. Service, etc. If the complaint is amended, a copy thereof must be served on the defendant, who must answer it within thirty days, or the plaintiff upon filing with the clerk due proof of the service and of the defendant's omission may proceed to obtain judgment as provided by section 5413, but when an application to the court for judgment is necessary, ten days' notice thereof must be given to the defendant.
- § 116, C. Civ. P. § 5271. When answer. When any of the matters enumerated in section 5268 do not appear upon the face of the complaint, the objection may be taken by answer.
- § 117, C. Civ. P. § 5272. When objection waived. If no such objection is taken either by demurrer or answer, the defendant shall be deemed to have waived the same, excepting only the objection to the jurisdiction of the court and the objection that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

ARTICLE 3.—THE ANSWER.

- § 118, C. Civ. P. § 5273. Requisites of answer. The answer of the defendant must contain:
1. A general or specific denial of each material allegation of the complaint controverted by the defendant, or of any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief.
 2. A statement of any new matter constituting a defense or counterclaim in ordinary and concise language without repetition.
- § 119, C. Civ. P. § 5274. Requisites of counterclaim. The counterclaim mentioned in the last section must be one existing in favor of a defendant and against a plaintiff between whom a several judgment might be had in the action, and arising out of one of the following causes of action:
1. A cause of action arising out of the contract or transaction set forth in the complaint as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim, or connected with the subject of the action.
 2. In an action arising on contract, any other cause of action arising also on contract and existing at the commencement of the action. The defendant may set forth by answer as many defenses and counterclaims as he may have, whether they are such as have been heretofore denominated legal, or equitable or both. They must each be separately stated and refer to the causes of action which they are intended to answer in such manner that they may be intelligibly distinguished.
- § 120, C. Civ. P. § 5275. Demurrer and answer. The defendant may demur to one or more of several causes of action stated in the complaint and answer the residue.
- § 121, C. Civ. P. § 5276. Sham defenses. Sham and irrelevant answers and defenses may be stricken out on motion and upon such terms as the courts may in their discretion impose.

ARTICLE 4.—THE REPLY.

§ 5277. Reply when. Demurrer to answer. When the answer contains new matter constituting a counterclaim, the plaintiff may within thirty days reply to such new matter, denying generally or specifically each allegation controverted by him, or any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief; and he may allege in ordinary and concise language without repetition any new matter not inconsistent with the complaint constituting a defense to such new matter in the answer; and the plaintiff may in all cases demur to an answer containing new matter, when upon its face it does not constitute a counterclaim or defense, and the plaintiff may demur to one or more of such defenses or counterclaims and reply to the residue of the counterclaims. And in other cases, when an answer contains new matter constituting a defense by way of avoidance, the court may in its discretion on the defendant's motion require a reply to such new matter; and in that case the reply shall be subject to the same rules as a reply to a counterclaim. § 122, C. Civ. P.

§ 5278. Judgment on answer. If the answer contains a statement of new matter constituting a counterclaim, and the plaintiff fails to reply or demur thereto within the time prescribed by law, the defendant may move on a notice of not less than ten days for such judgment as he is entitled to upon such statement, and if the case requires it, a writ of inquiry of damages may be issued. § 123, C. Civ. P.

§ 5279. Demurrer to reply. If a reply of the plaintiff to any defense set up by the answer of the defendant is insufficient, the defendant may demur thereto, and shall state the grounds thereof. § 124, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 5.—GENERAL RULES OF PLEADING.

§ 5280. Pleading. Subscription. Verification. Every pleading in a court of record must be subscribed by the party or his attorney; and when any pleading is verified, every subsequent pleading except a demurrer must be verified also. § 125, C. Civ. P.

§ 5281. Requisites of verification. The verification must be to the effect that the same is true to the knowledge of the person making it, except as to those matters stated upon information and belief, and as to those matters he believes it to be true, except when it is made by any person other than the party to the action, in which case it must be to the effect that the same is true to the best knowledge, information and belief of the person making it; and such verification must be by the affidavit of the party, his agent or attorney, or if there are several parties united in interest and pleading together, by one at least of such parties acquainted with the facts, or by the agent or attorney of such party. When a corporation is a party, the verification may be made by any officer thereof, and when the state, or any officer thereof in its behalf, is a party, the verification may be made by any person acquainted with the facts. The verification may be omitted when an admission of the truth of the allegation might subject the party to a prosecution for felony, and no pleading can be used in a criminal prosecution against the party as proof of a fact admitted or alleged in such pleading. § 126, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

- § 127, C. Civ. P. § 5282. Statement of account. It shall not be necessary for a party to set forth in a pleading the items of an account therein alleged; but he shall deliver to the adverse party, within ten days after the demand thereof in writing, a copy of the account, which, if the pleading is verified, must be verified by his own oath, or that of his agent or attorney, if within the personal knowledge of such agent or attorney, to the effect that he believes it to be true, or be precluded from giving evidence thereof. The court, or a judge thereof, may order a further account, when the one delivered is defective; and the court may in all cases order a bill of particulars of the claim of either party to be furnished.
- § 128, C. Civ. P. § 5283. Liberal construction. In the construction of a pleading for the purpose of determining its effect, its allegations shall be liberally construed with a view of, substantial justice between the parties.
- § 129, C. Civ. P. § 5284. Making pleading definite. If irrelevant or redundant matter is inserted in a pleading, it may be stricken out on motion of any person aggrieved thereby. And when the allegations of a pleading are so indefinite or uncertain that the precise nature of the charge or defense is not apparent, the court may require the pleading to be made definite and certain by amendment.
- § 130, C. Civ. P. § 5285. Pleading a judgment. In pleading a judgment or other determination of a court or officer of special jurisdiction, it shall not be necessary to state the facts conferring jurisdiction, but such judgment or determination may be stated to have been duly given or made. If such allegation is controverted, the party pleading shall be bound to establish on the trial the facts conferring jurisdiction.
- 131, C. Civ. P. § 5286. Conditions precedent. In pleading the performance of conditions precedent in a contract, it shall not be necessary to state the facts showing such performance; but it may be stated generally that the party duly performed all the conditions on his part; and if such allegations are controverted, the party pleading shall be bound to establish on the trial the facts showing such performance. In an action or defense founded upon an instrument for the payment of money only, it shall be sufficient for a party to give a copy of the instrument, and to state that there is due to him thereon from the adverse party a specified sum which he claims.
- § 132, C. Civ. P. § 5287. Private statute. In pleading a private statute, or a right derived therefrom, it shall be sufficient to refer to such statute by its title and the day of its passage, and the court shall thereupon take judicial notice thereof.
- § 133, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5288. Libel or slander. In an action for libel or slander it shall not be necessary to state in the complaint any extrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application to the plaintiff of the defamatory matter out of which the cause of action arose, but it shall be sufficient to state generally that the same was published or spoken concerning the plaintiff, and if such allegation is controverted, the plaintiff shall be bound to establish on the trial that it was so published or spoken.
- § 134, C. Civ. P. § 5289. Same. Defendant's answer. In the actions mentioned in the last section, the defendant may in his answer allege both the truth of the matter charged as defamatory and any mitigating circumstances to reduce the amount of damages; and whether he proves the justification or not, he may give in evidence the mitigating circumstances.

§ 5290. Answer of possession. In an action to recover the possession of property distrained doing damage, an answer that the defendant or person by whose command he acted was lawfully possessed of the real property upon which the distress was made, and that the property distrained was at the time doing damage thereon, shall be good, without setting forth the title to such real property. § 135, C. Civ. P.

§ 5291. Joinder of actions. The plaintiff may unite in the same complaint several causes of action, whether they are such as have been heretofore denominated legal or equitable, or both, where they all arise out of: § 136, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. The same transaction, or transactions connected with the same subject of action; or,
2. Contract, express or implied; or,
3. Injuries, with or without force, to person and property, or either; or,
4. Injuries to character; or,
5. Claims to recover real property with or without damages for the withholding thereof, and the rents and profits of the same, or waste committed thereon; or,
6. Claims to recover personal property with or without damages for the withholding thereof; or,
7. Claims against a trustee by virtue of a contract, or by operation of law.

But the causes of action so united must all belong to one of these classes and, except in actions for the foreclosure of mortgages, must affect all the parties to the action, and not require different places of trial, and must be separately stated.

§ 5292. Allegations. When deemed true or denied. Every material allegation of the complaint, not controverted by the answer as prescribed in section 5273, and every material allegation of new matter in the answer, constituting a counterclaim, not controverted by the reply as prescribed in section 5277, shall for purposes of the action be taken as true. But the allegation of new matter in the answer, not relating to a counterclaim, or of new matter in a reply, is to be deemed controverted by the adverse party as upon a direct denial or avoidance, as the case may require. § 137, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 6. — MISTAKES IN PLEADING AND AMENDMENTS.

§ 5293. Variance material and misleading. No variance between the allegation in a pleading and the proof shall be deemed material, unless it has actually misled the adverse party to his prejudice in maintaining his action or defense upon the merits. Whenever it shall be alleged that a party has been misled, the fact shall be proved to the satisfaction of the court, and in what respect he has been misled; and thereupon the court may order the pleading to be amended upon such terms as shall be just. § 138, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5294. If not material. When the variance is not material as provided in the last section, the court may direct the fact to be found according to the evidence, or may order an immediate amendment without costs. § 139, C. Civ. P.

§ 5295. Failure to prove variance. When, however, the allegation of the cause of action or defense to which the proof is directed is unproved, not in some particular or particulars only, but in its entire scope and meaning, it shall not be deemed a case of variance within the last two sections, but a failure of proof.

- § 141, C. Civ. P. § 5296. Amendments. When and how. Any pleading may be once amended by the party of course without costs and without prejudice to the proceedings already had at any time within twenty days after it is served, or at any time before the period for answering it expires; or it can be so amended at any time within twenty days after the service of the answer or demurrer to such pleading unless it is made to appear to the court that it was done for the purpose of delay and the plaintiff or defendant will thereby lose the benefit of a term for which the cause is or may be noticed; and if it appears to the court that such amendment was made for such purpose, the same may be stricken out and such terms imposed as to the court may seem just. In such case a copy of the amended pleading must be served on the adverse party. After the decision of a demurrer the court may, in its discretion, if it appears that the demurrer was interposed in good faith, allow the party to plead over upon such terms as may be just. If the demurrer is allowed for the cause mentioned in the fifth subdivision of section 5268, the court may, in its discretion and upon such terms as may be just, order the action to be divided into as many actions as may be necessary to the proper determination of the causes of action therein mentioned.
- § 142, C. Civ. P. § 5297. Court may amend. Terms. The court may, before or after judgment in furtherance of justice and on such terms as may be proper, amend any pleading, process or proceeding by adding or striking out the name of any party; or by correcting a mistake in the name of a party, or a mistake in any other respect; or by inserting other allegations material to the cause; or, when the amendment does not change substantially the claim or defense, by conforming the pleading or proceeding to the facts proved.
- § 143, C. Civ. P. § 5298. Pleading after time. The court may likewise, in its discretion and upon such terms as may be just, allow an answer or reply to be made, or other act to be done, after the time limited by this code, or by an order enlarge such time; and may also, in its discretion and upon such terms as may be just at any time within one year after notice thereof, relieve a party from a judgment, order or other proceeding taken against him through his mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect, and may supply an omission in any proceeding; and whenever any proceeding taken by a party fails to conform in any respect to the provisions of this code, the court may, in like manner and upon like terms, permit an amendment of such proceedings, so as to make it conformable thereto.
- § 144, C. Civ. P. § 5299. Unknown name. When the plaintiff shall be ignorant of the name of a defendant, such defendant may be designated in any pleading or proceeding by any name; and when his true name shall be discovered the pleading or proceeding may be amended accordingly.
- § 145, C. Civ. P. § 5300. Trivial defects disregarded. The court shall, in every stage of an action, disregard any error or defect in the pleadings or proceedings, which shall not affect the substantial rights of the adverse party; and no judgment shall be reversed or affected by reason of such error or defect.

§ 5301. Supplemental pleading. The plaintiff and defendant respectively may be allowed on motion to make a supplemental complaint, answer or reply, alleging facts material to the case occurring after the former complaint, answer or reply, or of which the party was ignorant when his former pleading was made. § 146, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 9.

OF THE PROVISIONAL REMEDIES IN CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 5302. Classified. The provisional remedies in civil actions are: § 147, C. Civ. P.

1. Arrest and bail.
2. Claim and delivery of personal property.
3. Injunction.
4. Attachment.
5. Receivers.
6. Deposit in court.

ARTICLE 1.—ARREST AND BAIL.

§ 5303. Arrest limited. Contempt. No person shall be arrested in a civil action except as prescribed by this code; but this provision shall not apply to proceedings for contempt. § 148, C. Civ. P.

§ 5304. Defendant may be arrested, when. The defendant may be arrested as hereinafter prescribed in the following cases: § 149, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. In an action for the recovery of damages for an injury to person or character, or for injuring or for wrongfully taking, detaining or converting property.

2. In an action for money or property embezzled or fraudulently misapplied or converted to his own use by a public officer, or an officer of a corporation, or an attorney, factor, broker, agent or other person in a fiduciary capacity, in the course of his employment as such.

3. In an action to recover the possession of personal property unjustly detained, when the property, or any part thereof, has been concealed, removed or disposed of, so that it cannot be found or taken by the sheriff and with the intent that it should not be found or taken, or with the intent to deprive the plaintiff of the benefit thereof.

4. When the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt, or in incurring the obligation for which the action is brought, or in concealing or disposing of the property, for the taking, detention or conversion of which the action is brought, or when the action is brought to recover damages for fraud or deceit.

5. When the defendant has removed or disposed of his property or is about to do so with the intent to defraud his creditors.

But no female shall be arrested in any action except for willful injury to person, character or property.

§ 5305. Where order obtained. An order for the arrest of the defendant must be obtained from a judge of the court in which the action is brought. § 150, C. Civ. P.

§ 151, C. Civ. P. § 5306. Basis of order. The order may be made whenever it appears to the judge by the affidavit of the plaintiff or some other person, that a sufficient cause of action exists and that the case is one of those mentioned in section 5304. The affidavit must be either positive or upon information and belief; and when upon information and belief, it must state the facts upon which the information and belief are founded. If an order of arrest is made, the affidavit must be filed in the office of the clerk of the court.

§ 152, C. Civ. P. § 5307. Undertaking from plaintiff. Before making the order the judge shall require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff with or without sureties, to the effect that if the defendant recovers judgment, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the arrest, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking, which shall be at least one hundred dollars. If the undertaking is executed by the plaintiff without sureties, he shall annex thereto an affidavit that he is a resident and householder or freeholder within the state, and worth double the sum specified in the undertaking over all his debts and liabilities and exclusive of all property exempt from execution by the laws of this state.

§ 153, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5308. When order issued and served. The order may be made to accompany the summons, or at any time afterwards before judgment. It shall require the sheriff of the county, where the defendant may be found, forthwith to arrest him and hold him to bail in a specified sum, and return the order at a place and time therein mentioned to the plaintiff or his attorney by whom it shall be subscribed or indorsed. But such order of arrest shall be of no avail and shall be vacated or set aside on motion, unless the same is served upon the defendant as provided by law before the docketing of any judgment in the action; and the defendant shall have thirty days after the service of the order of arrest, in which to answer the complaint in the action and to move to vacate the order of arrest or to reduce the amount of bail.

§ 154, C. Civ. P. § 5309. Papers served on defendant. The affidavit and order of arrest shall be delivered to the sheriff, who upon arresting the defendant shall deliver to him a copy thereof.

§ 155, C. Civ. P. § 5310. Sheriff's duties. Bail. The sheriff must execute the order by arresting the defendant and keeping him in custody until discharged by law, and may call the power of the county to his aid in the execution of the arrest as in case of process. The defendant may give bail whenever arrested at any hour of the day or night, and must have reasonable opportunity to procure it before being committed to prison.

§ 156, C. Civ. P. § 5311. Discharge. The defendant at any time before execution shall be discharged from the arrest, either upon giving bail or upon depositing the amount mentioned in the order of arrest as provided in this article.

§ 157, C. Civ. P. § 5312. Bail how given. The defendant may give bail by causing a written undertaking in the sum specified in the order of arrest to be executed by two or more sufficient bail, stating their places of residence and occupations, to the effect that the defendant shall at all times render himself answerable to the process of the court during the pendency of the action, and to such as may be issued to enforce the judgment thereon, or if he is arrested for the cause mentioned in the third subdivision of section 5304, an undertaking to the same effect as that provided in section 5336.

§ 5313. Surrender by bail. At any time before a failure to comply with the undertaking the bail may surrender the defendant in their exoneration, or he may surrender himself to the sheriff of the county where he was arrested in the following manner: § 158, C. Civ. P.

1. A certified copy of the undertaking of the bail shall be delivered to the sheriff, who shall detain the defendant in his custody thereon as upon an order of arrest, and shall by a certificate in writing acknowledge the surrender.

2. Upon the production of a copy of the undertaking and sheriff's certificate, a judge of the court may, upon a notice to the plaintiff of eight days with a copy of the certificate, order that the bail be exonerated; and on filing the order and the papers used on said application they shall be exonerated accordingly. But this section shall not apply to an arrest for a cause mentioned in subdivision 3 of section 5304, so as to discharge the bail from an undertaking given to the effect provided by section 5336.

§ 5314. Bail may arrest. For the purpose of surrendering the defendant the bail at any time or place before they are finally charged may themselves arrest him, or by a written authority indorsed on a certified copy of the undertaking may empower any person of suitable age and discretion to do so. § 159, C. Civ. P.

§ 5315. Action against bail. In case of failure to comply with the undertaking the bail may be proceeded against by action only. § 160, C. Civ. P.

§ 5316. Bail exonerated. The bail may be exonerated either by the death of the defendant, or his imprisonment in the penitentiary, or by his legal discharge from the obligation to render himself amenable to the process, or by his surrender to the sheriff of the county where he was arrested in execution thereof, within twenty days after the commencement of the action against the bail or within such further time as may be granted by the court. § 161, C. Civ. P.

§ 5317. Plaintiff may except to bail. Within the time limited for that purpose the sheriff shall deliver the order of arrest to the plaintiff, or the attorney by whom it is subscribed, with his return indorsed, and a certified copy of the undertaking of the bail. The plaintiff within ten days thereafter may serve upon the sheriff a notice that he does not accept the bail, or he shall be deemed to have accepted it and the sheriff shall be exonerated from liability. § 162, C. Civ. P.

§ 5318. Justification. On the receipt of such notice the sheriff or defendant may, within ten days thereafter, give to the plaintiff, or the attorney by whom the order of arrest is subscribed, notice of the justification of the same or other bail, specifying the place of residence and occupation of the latter, before a judge of the court at a specified time and place; the time to be not less than five nor more than ten days thereafter. In case other bail is given there shall be a new undertaking in the form prescribed in section 5312. § 163, C. Civ. P.

§ 5319. Requisites of bail. The qualifications of bail must be as follows: § 164, C. Civ. P.

1. Each of them must be a resident and householder or freeholder within the state.

2. They must each be worth the amount specified in the order of arrest, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but the judge, or a justice of the peace, on justification, may allow more than two bail to justify severally in amounts less than that expressed in the order, if the whole justification is equivalent to that of two sufficient bail.

§ 165, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 21, 1889.
am'd.

§ 5320. Examination of bail. For the purpose of justification each of the bail shall attend before any judge of a district court, or a justice of the peace, at the time and place mentioned in the notice, and may be examined on oath on the part of the plaintiff touching his sufficiency in such manner as the judge or justice of the peace in discretion may think proper. The examination shall be reduced to writing and subscribed by the bail if required by the plaintiff. The costs of the justification shall be paid by the party offering the bail, if the same is found not sufficient, but if sufficient then the party excepting shall pay such costs. Such costs shall be returned by the officer with his report of the justification and shall be taxed by the court in which the action is pending as other costs are taxed.

§ 166, C. Civ. P.

§ 5321. Allowance of. If the judge or justice of the peace finds the bail sufficient, he shall annex the examination to the undertaking, indorse his allowance thereon and cause them to be filed with the clerk; and the sheriff shall thereupon be exonerated from liability.

§ 167, C. Civ. P.

§ 5322. Deposit. Discharge. The defendant may at the time of his arrest instead of giving bail, deposit with the sheriff the amount mentioned in the order. The sheriff shall thereupon give the defendant a certificate of the deposit, and the defendant shall be discharged out of custody.

§ 168, C. Civ. P.

§ 5323. Payment into court. The sheriff shall within four days after the deposit pay the same into court, and shall take from the officer receiving the same two certificates of such payment, one of which he shall deliver to the plaintiff and the other to the defendant or his attorney. For any default in making such payment the same proceedings may be had on the official bond of the sheriff to collect the sum deposited as in other cases of delinquency.

§ 169, C. Civ. P.

§ 5324. Refunded on approved bail. If money is deposited as provided in the last two sections, bail may be given and justified upon notice as prescribed in section 5318 at any time before judgment; thereupon the judge, before whom the justification is had, shall direct in the order of allowance, that the money deposited be refunded by the sheriff to the defendant and it shall be refunded accordingly.

§ 170, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5325. Applied on judgment. When money shall have been so deposited, if it remains on deposit at the time of an order or judgment for the payment of money to the plaintiff, the clerk shall under the direction of the court apply the same in satisfaction thereof, and after satisfying the judgment shall refund the surplus, if any, to the defendant. If the judgment is in favor of the defendant, the clerk shall refund to him the whole sum deposited and remaining unapplied.

§ 171, C. Civ. P.

§ 5326. Sheriff's liability. If after being arrested, when there is a jail to which the defendant may be committed, the defendant escapes or is rescued, or bail is not given or justified, or a deposit is not made instead thereof, the sheriff shall himself be liable as bail. But he may discharge himself from such liability by the giving and justification of bail as provided in sections 5318, 5319, 5320 and 5321 at any time before process against the person of the defendant to enforce an order or judgment in the action.

§ 5327. Judgment against sheriff. If a judgment is recovered against the sheriff upon his liability as bail and an execution thereon is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, the same proceedings may be had on the official bond of the sheriff to collect the deficiency as in other cases of delinquency. § 172, C. Civ. P.

§ 5328. Bail liable to sheriff. The bail taken upon the arrest shall, unless they justify or other bail is given or justified, be liable to the sheriff by action for damages which he may sustain by reason of such omission. § 173, C. Civ. P.

§ 5329. Motion to vacate arrest. A defendant arrested may at any time before judgment apply on motion to vacate the order of arrest or to reduce the amount of bail. § 174, C. Civ. P.

§ 5330. Heard upon affidavits. If the motion is made upon affidavits on the part of the defendant, but not otherwise, the plaintiff may oppose the same by affidavits, or other proofs, in addition to those on which the order of arrest was made. § 175, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 2. — CLAIM AND DELIVERY OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 5331. When may claim. The plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of personal property may, at the time of issuing the summons or at any time before answer, claim the immediate delivery of such property as provided in this article. § 176, C. Civ. P.

§ 5332. Plaintiff's affidavit. When a delivery is claimed, an affidavit must be made by the plaintiff, or by some one in his behalf stating:

1. That the plaintiff is the owner of the property claimed, particularly describing it, or is lawfully entitled to the possession thereof by virtue of a special property therein, the facts in respect to which shall be set forth.

2. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant.

3. The alleged cause of the detention thereof according to his best knowledge, information and belief.

4. That the same has not been taken for a tax, assessment or fine pursuant to a statute; or seized under an execution or attachment against the property of the plaintiff; or, if so seized, that it is by statute exempt from such seizure; and,

5. The actual value of the property.

§ 5333. Requisition to sheriff. The plaintiff may, thereupon, by an indorsement in writing upon the affidavit, require the sheriff of the county, where the property claimed may be, to take the same from the defendant and deliver it to the plaintiff. § 178, C. Civ. P.

§ 5334. Security by plaintiff. Upon the receipt of the affidavit and notice with a written undertaking executed by one or more sufficient sureties approved by the sheriff, to the effect that they are bound in double the value of the property as stated in the affidavit for the prosecution of the action for the return of the property to the defendant, if return thereof is adjudged, and for the payment to him of such sum as may for any cause be recovered against the plaintiff, the sheriff shall forthwith take the property described in the affidavit, if it is in the possession of the defendant or his agent and retain it in his custody. He shall also without delay serve on the defendant a copy of the affidavit, notice and undertaking by delivering the same to him personally, if he can be found, or to his agent from whose possession the property is taken; or, if neither can be found, by leaving them at the usual place of abode of either with some person of suitable age and discretion.

§ 180, C. Civ. P.

§ 5335. Exceptions by defendant. The defendant may, within three days after the service of a copy of the affidavit and undertaking, give notice to the sheriff that he excepts to the sufficiency of the sureties. If he fails to do so, he shall be deemed to have waived all objection to them. When the defendant excepts, the sureties shall justify on notice in like manner as bail upon an arrest. And the sheriff shall be responsible for the sufficiency of the sureties, until the objection to them is either waived as above provided, or until they shall justify, or new sureties shall be substituted and justify. If the defendant excepts to the sureties, he cannot reclaim the property as provided in the next section.

§ 181, C. Civ. P.

§ 5336. Redelivery to defendant. At any time before the delivery of the property to the plaintiff the defendant may, if he does not except to the sureties of the plaintiff, require the return thereof upon giving to the sheriff a written undertaking executed by two or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that they are bound in double the value of the property as stated in the affidavit of the plaintiff for the delivery thereof to the plaintiff, if such delivery is adjudged and for the payment to him of such sum as may for any cause be recovered against the defendant. If a return of the property is not so required within three days after the taking and service of notice on the defendant, it shall be delivered to the plaintiff except as provided in section 5341.

§ 182, C. Civ. P.

§ 5337. Justification. The defendant's sureties upon a notice to the plaintiff of not less than two nor more than six days shall justify before a judge or justice of the peace in the same manner as bail on arrest; upon such justification the sheriff shall deliver the property to the defendant. The sheriff shall be responsible for the defendant's sureties, until they justify, or until justification is completed or expressly waived, and may retain the property until that time; but if they, or others in their place, fail to justify at the time and place appointed, he shall deliver the property to the plaintiff.

§ 183, C. Civ. P.

§ 5338. Same. The qualifications of sureties and their justification shall be as are prescribed by sections 5319 and 5320 in respect to bail upon an order of arrest.

§ 184, C. Civ. P.

§ 5339. Concealed property. If the property, or any part thereof, is concealed in a building or inclosure, the sheriff shall publicly demand its delivery. If it is not delivered, he shall cause the building or inclosure to be broken open and take the property into his possession; and, if necessary, he may call to his aid the power of his county.

§ 185, C. Civ. P.

§ 5340. Keeping property. When the sheriff shall have taken property as in this article provided, he shall keep it in a secure place and deliver it to the party entitled thereto upon receiving his lawful fees for taking and his necessary expenses for keeping the same.

§ 186, C. Civ. P.

§ 5341. Claim by third persons. If the property taken is claimed by any other person than the defendant or his agent, and such person shall make affidavit of his title thereto and right to the possession thereof, stating the grounds of such right and title, and serve the same upon the sheriff, the sheriff shall not be bound to keep the property or deliver it to the plaintiff, unless the plaintiff on demand of him or his agent shall indemnify the sheriff against such claim by an undertaking executed by two sureties, accompanied by their affidavits, that they are each worth double the value of the property as specified in the affidavit of the plaintiff exclusive of property exempt from execution, and freeholders or householders of the county. And no claim to such property by any other person than the defendant or his agent shall be valid against the sheriff, unless made as aforesaid; and notwithstanding such claim, when so made, he may retain the property a reasonable time to demand such indemnity.

§ 5342. Papers filed with clerk. The sheriff shall file the notice and affidavit with his proceedings thereon with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending within twenty days after taking the property mentioned therein. § 187, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 3. — INJUNCTION.

§ 5343. Injunction by order. The writ of injunction as a provisional remedy is abolished, and an injunction by order is substituted therefor. The order may be made by the court in which the action is brought, or by a judge thereof in the cases provided in the next section and, when made by a judge, may be enforced as the order of the court. § 188, C. Civ. P.

§ 5344. Cases when granted. An injunction may be granted in either of the following cases: § 189, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. When it shall appear by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and such relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of some act, the commission or continuance of which during the litigation would produce injury to the plaintiff; or,

2. When during the litigation, it shall appear that the defendant is doing, or threatens, or is about to do, or procuring or suffering some act to be done in violation of the plaintiff's rights respecting the subject of the action and tending to render the judgment ineffectual, a temporary injunction may be granted to restrain such act.

3. And, when during the pendency of an action it shall appear by affidavit that the defendant threatens, or is about to remove or dispose of his property, with intent to defraud his creditors, a temporary injunction may be granted to restrain such removal or disposition.

§ 5345. Time. Papers served. The injunction may be granted at the time of commencing the action or at any time afterwards before judgment upon its appearing satisfactorily to the court or judge by the affidavit of the plaintiff, or of any other person, that sufficient grounds exist therefor. A copy of the affidavit must be served with the injunction. § 190, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5346. After answer. An injunction shall not be allowed after the defendant shall have answered unless upon notice or upon an order to show cause; but in such case the defendant may be restrained until the decision of the court or judge granting or refusing the injunction. § 191, C. Civ. P.

§ 5347. Security. Damages. When no provision is made by statute as to security upon an injunction, the court or judge shall require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff with or without sureties, to the effect that the plaintiff will pay to the party enjoined such damages, not exceeding an amount to be specified, § 192, C. Civ. P.

as he may sustain by reason of the injunction, if the court shall finally decide that the plaintiff was not entitled thereto. The damages may be ascertained by a reference or otherwise as the court shall direct.

§ 183. C. Civ. P. § 5348. Order to show cause. If the court or judge deems it proper that the defendant, or any of the several defendants, should be heard before granting the injunction, an order may be made requiring cause to be shown at a specified time and place, why the injunction should not be granted; and the defendant may in the meantime be restrained.

§ 194. C. Civ. P. § 5349. Against corporation. An injunction to suspend the general and ordinary business of a corporation must not be granted without due notice of the application therefor to the proper officer of the corporation, except when the state is a party to the proceeding.

§ 195. C. Civ. P. § 5350. Application to vacate. If the injunction is granted by a judge of the court without due notice, the defendant at any time before the trial may apply, upon notice to a judge of the court in which the action is brought, to vacate or modify the same. The application may be made upon the complaint and the affidavits on which the injunction was granted or upon affidavits on the part of defendant with or without the answer.

§ 196. C. Civ. P. § 5351. Counter affidavits. If the application is made upon affidavits on the part of the defendant, but not otherwise, the plaintiff may oppose the same by affidavit or other proofs in addition to those on which the injunction was granted.

ARTICLE 4. — ATTACHMENT.

§ 197. C. Civ. P. § 5352. When attachment may issue. In an action on a contract or judgment for the recovery of money only, or for the wrongful conversion of personal property, the plaintiff at or after the commencement thereof may have the property of the defendant attached in the following cases:

1. When the defendant is not a resident of this state or is a foreign corporation.
2. When the defendant has absconded or concealed himself.
3. When the defendant has removed or is about to remove his property or a material part thereof from this state, not leaving enough therein for the payment of his debts.
4. When the defendant has sold, assigned, transferred, secreted or otherwise disposed of, or is about to sell, assign, transfer, secrete or otherwise dispose of his property, with intent to cheat or defraud his creditors or to hinder or delay them in the collection of their debts.
5. When the defendant is about to remove his residence from the county where he resides with the intention of permanently changing the same and fails or neglects on demand to give security for the debt upon which the action is commenced.
6. When the debt upon which the action is commenced was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses.
7. When the defendant is about to remove his property or a material part thereof from the state with the intent or to the effect of cheating or defrauding his creditors, or hindering or delaying them in the collection of their debts.

§ 5353. Attachment on claim before due. The plaintiff may bring an action on his claim before it is due and have the property of the defendant attached in any of the cases mentioned in the preceding section except in subdivisions 1, 2 and 5. The proceedings on such attachment shall be conducted in all respects as if the claim was due, but judgment must not be rendered in the action until the debt upon which such action is commenced shall become due, and the complaint must state that the action is commenced before the debt is due for the purpose of obtaining the issuance of an attachment, but need not state the grounds of the attachment; and upon the discharge of such attachment except under the provisions of section 5371 the action shall be dismissed, but without prejudice to the bringing of a new action.

§ 218, C. Civ. P.
2, c. 32, 1881.
1, c. 18, 1885.
am'd.

§ 5354. When action deemed commenced. Within the meaning of the last two sections an action shall be deemed commenced when the summons is issued, but personal service of such summons must be made or publication thereof commenced within sixty days after the issuance of the warrant of attachment.

§ 197, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5355. Warrant by whom issued. The warrant of attachment shall be issued by the clerk of the court in which the action is commenced, shall be attested in the name of the presiding judge and sealed with the seal of the court.

§ 198, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5356. Warrant. Upon what issued. The warrant shall issue upon a verified complaint, setting forth a proper cause of action for attachment in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant, and an affidavit, setting forth in the language of the statute one or more of the grounds of attachment enumerated in section 5352, if the claim is due upon which the action is commenced; and if not due, one or more of the grounds of attachment enumerated in subdivisions 3, 4, 6 and 7 of that section.

§ 199, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 32, 1881.
am'd.

§ 5357. Requisites of warrant. The warrant must briefly recite the statutory grounds of the attachment, but shall not set forth plaintiff's cause of action, and must be directed to the sheriff of any county in which property of such defendant may be and must require him to attach and safely keep all the property of such defendant within his county not exempt from execution, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's demand with costs and disbursements, the amount of which demand must be stated in the warrant in conformity with the complaint, unless the defendant delivers to him an undertaking in favor of the plaintiff with sufficient surety to the effect that he will pay any judgment which the plaintiff may obtain against him in the action, or an undertaking with like surety to the effect that the property of such defendant, which has been or is about to be attached, shall be forthcoming in substantially as good condition as it is at the time of giving the undertaking to answer such judgment, which undertaking shall be in an amount equal to the value of such property according to the sheriff's inventory. Several warrants may be issued at the same time to the sheriffs of different counties.

§ 201, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5358. Plaintiff's undertaking. Exceptions thereto. Before issuing the warrant the clerk must require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff with sufficient surety, to the effect that if the defendant recovers judgment or the attachment is set aside by the order of the court, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum named in the undertaking, which must be at least the amount of the claim specified in the warrant and in no case less than two hundred and fifty dollars. The defendant may at any time within ten days after a levy under a warrant of attachment except to the sufficiency of the surety upon such undertaking. Thereupon the surety must justify upon the like notice and in like manner as bail upon an arrest; or a new undertaking must be given with new surety which shall be filed as provided in section 5359, and thereupon the same proceedings may be had upon such undertaking as upon the original undertaking. If the defendant does not except as prescribed in this section he is deemed to have waived all objection to the surety. If the attachment is set aside by order of the court the defendant may bring an action upon such undertaking without first obtaining judgment against the plaintiff in the action in which such undertaking was given.

§ 200, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5359. What papers must be filed. The plaintiff at the time of procuring the warrant must file in the office of the clerk of the court, in which the action is commenced, the complaint, affidavit and undertaking upon which such warrant is issued.

§ 202, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5360. Execution of warrant. The sheriff must immediately execute the warrant by levying upon so much of the personal and real property of the defendant within his county, not exempt from execution, as will satisfy the plaintiff's demand with the costs and disbursements. He must take into his custody all books of account, vouchers and other papers relating to the personal property attached, and all evidences of defendant's title to the real property attached, which he must safely keep to be disposed of as prescribed in this article. The sheriff, to whom a warrant of attachment is delivered, may levy from time to time and as often as is necessary, until the amount for which it was issued has been secured, or final judgment has been rendered in the action.

§ 203, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 24, 1887.

§ 5361. Inventory to be made. Perishable property. Immediately upon making such seizure the sheriff shall make a true and complete inventory of all the property so seized and of the books, vouchers and papers taken into his custody, stating therein the estimated value of the several articles and kinds of personal property, enumerating such of them as are perishable, and giving a description of the real property so attached, which inventory must be signed by the sheriff. Any subsequent execution of the warrant of attachment upon other property of the debtor must be made, and an inventory thereof made in like manner. The sheriff shall within twenty days after making such seizure file such inventory and a return of his doings upon such attachment with the clerk of the district court who issued the warrant. In case a forthcoming undertaking is given by the defendant under the provisions of section 5357 for property before a levy has been made thereon, the sheriff shall make and return an inventory of such property in accordance with the provisions of this section.

§ 5362. Attachment, how levied. A levy under a warrant of attachment must be made as follows:

1. Upon real property, by the sheriff's filing with the register of deeds of the county, in which the property is situated, a notice of the attachment subscribed by him, stating the names of the parties to the action, the amount of the plaintiff's claim as stated in the warrant and a description of the property levied upon, which notice must be recorded and indexed by the register of deeds in like manner and in the same book as a notice of the pendency of an action.

2. Upon personal property which by reason of its bulk or other cause cannot be immediately removed, by the sheriff's filing with the register of deeds a notice of the same kind as described in subdivision 1 of this section; and such levy shall be equally valid and effectual as if the articles had been seized and the possession and control thereof retained by the officer.

Upon cattle or horses running at large and commonly known as range stock, between the first day of November and the next succeeding fifteenth day of May, by the sheriff's filing with the register of deeds of the county in which such property is running at large a notice of the same kind as described in subdivision 1 of this section, specifying the number as near as may be and containing a description of such stock by marks and brands; and such levy shall be equally valid and effectual as if such cattle and horses had been seized and the possession and control thereof retained by the officer.

The register of deeds shall receive and file all such notices, numbering the same consecutively, and must keep the same in his office in regular and orderly file and shall make an entry thereof in a book to be kept for that purpose, and designated as the index of attachments, in the order in which they are received, which entry shall contain in separate columns the names of the defendants alphabetically arranged, the names of the plaintiffs, the number indorsed upon the notice, the amount claimed by the plaintiff and the time of the filing.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this subdivision an attachment may, by direction of the plaintiff or his attorney, be levied upon the property mentioned in this subdivision in accordance with subdivision 3 of this section; but if additional costs are made by such a levy the same shall not be allowed to the plaintiff, if in the judgment of the court the taking of the property into the custody of the sheriff was unnecessary.

3. Upon personal property capable of manual delivery, including bonds, promissory notes or other instruments for the payment of money, by taking the same into the sheriff's actual custody. He must thereupon without delay deliver a copy of the warrant to the person from whose custody such property is taken.

4. Upon other personal property by leaving a copy of the warrant and a notice showing the property attached with the person holding the same; or, if it consists of a demand other than as specified in the last subdivision, with the person against whom it exists, or if it consists of a right or share in the stock of a corporation or interest or profits thereon, with the president or other head of the corporation, or the secretary, cashier or managing agent thereof.

The lien of the attachment shall be effectual from the time when a levy is made in accordance with the foregoing provisions.

§ 5363. Pledged or mortgaged property may be levied on. When property is pledged or mortgaged for the payment of money or the performance of any contract or agreement, the right and interest in such property of the person pledging or mortgaging the same may be attached and sold on execution, and the purchaser at such sale shall acquire all the right and interest of the defendant therein.

§ 5364. Warrant and notice of levy to be served. In the cases mentioned in subdivisions 1 and 2 of section 5362 the sheriff shall within thirty days after the levy of an attachment serve the warrant of attachment together with a notice of levy, describing the particular property levied on in the manner provided for the service of a summons in section 5252, as follows:

1. If the levy is made upon real property, upon the occupant thereof, if any.

2. If upon personal property mentioned in said subdivision 2, upon the person in whose custody the same may be.

The failure of the sheriff to serve such warrant or notice shall not invalidate the levy, but the sheriff shall be liable to the person whose property is attached for any damages which he may sustain by reason of such failure.

§ 206, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5365. Property claimed by third person. Claim how made. If any property levied upon by the sheriff by virtue of a warrant of attachment is claimed by any other person than the defendant and such person, his agent or attorney, makes affidavit of his title thereto or right to the possession thereof, stating the value thereof and the ground of such title or right, the sheriff may release such levy, unless the plaintiff on demand indemnifies the sheriff against such claim by an undertaking executed by a sufficient surety; and no claim to such property by any other person than the defendant shall be valid against the sheriff, unless so made; and notwithstanding such claim, when so made he may retain such property under levy a reasonable time to demand such indemnity.

§ 209, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5366. Certificate of defendant's interest. Upon the application of the sheriff, holding a warrant of attachment, the president or other head of a corporation, or the secretary, cashier or managing agent thereof, or a debtor of the defendant, or a person holding property, including a bond, promissory note or other instrument for the payment of money belonging to the defendant, must furnish to the sheriff a certificate under his hand, specifying the rights or number of shares of the defendant in the stock of the corporation with all dividends declared or incumbrances thereon; or the amount, nature and description of the property held for the benefit of the defendant, or of the defendant's interest in property so held, or of the debt or demand owing to the defendant, as the case requires. If such officer, debtor or individual refuses to furnish such certificate, or if it is made to appear by affidavit or otherwise to the satisfaction of the court or judge thereof, that there is reason to suspect that any certificate given by him is untrue or that it fails to set forth fully the facts required to be shown thereby, he may be required by order of the court or judge to attend before him and be examined on oath concerning the same and obedience to such order may be enforced by proceedings as for a contempt.

§ 204, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5367. Custody and collection of property. Action by sheriff. The sheriff must, subject to the direction of the court or judge, collect and receive all debts, effects and things in action attached by him. He may maintain any action or special proceeding in his name or in the name of the defendant, which is necessary for that purpose, or to reduce to his actual possession an article of personal property capable of manual delivery, but of which he has been unable to obtain possession and in such action to obtain possession of personal property the defendant may be enjoined from disposing of such property; and he may discontinue such an action or special proceeding at such time and on such terms as the court or judge directs.

§ 5368. Plaintiff may prosecute actions. Undertaking. The actions and special proceedings herein authorized to be commenced by the sheriff may be prosecuted by the plaintiff or under his direction upon the delivery by him to the sheriff of an undertaking executed by sufficient surety, to the effect that the plaintiff will indemnify the sheriff for all damages, costs and expenses on account thereof, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars in any one action. Such surety shall in all cases, when required by the sheriff, justify in like manner as bail upon an arrest.

§ 211, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5369. Property perishable or likely to depreciate in value may be sold. If property attached is perishable the court may, by an order made with or without notice as the urgency of the case may require, direct the sheriff to sell such property at public auction and thereupon the sheriff must sell it accordingly. If the attached property is of such a character that it is liable greatly to depreciate in value during the pendency of the action or consists of live animals, the same proceedings may be had as in the case of perishable property, but such notice of the application for the order shall be given to the parties to the action as the court prescribes. The order directing the sale must fix the time and place of sale, and notice thereof must be given in such manner and for such time as is prescribed in the order.

§ 205, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5370. Defendant may apply for discharge. The defendant may at any time after he has appeared in the action and before final judgment apply to the clerk who issued the attachment or to the court to discharge the attachment as to the whole or any part of the property attached.

§ 213, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5371. Undertaking for discharge. Upon such application the defendant must give an undertaking with sufficient surety to the effect that the property of such defendant, which has been attached, shall be forthcoming in substantially as good condition as it is at the time of the application to answer any judgment which the plaintiff may recover against him in the action, which undertaking shall be in an amount equal to the value of the property according to the sheriff's inventory; or the defendant may at his election give an undertaking with sufficient surety to the effect that he will on demand pay to the plaintiff the amount of any judgment which may be recovered in the action against him not exceeding a sum specified in the undertaking with interest. The sum so specified must be at least equal to double the amount of the plaintiff's demand as specified in the warrant of attachment; or, at the option of the defendant, equal to double the appraised value of the property attached according to the sheriff's inventory or, if the application is to discharge the attachment as to a part only of the property attached, equal to double the appraised value of that part.

§ 214, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5372. Undertaking when there are two or more defendants. When there are two or more defendants and an application is made as prescribed in the last two sections by one or more, but not all of them, the undertaking must provide for the payment of any judgment, which may be recovered against any of the defendants in the action, unless the applicant makes proof by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court, that the property in respect to which the application is made belongs to him separately; in which case the undertaking must provide for the payment of any judgment, which may be recovered in the action against the applicant either alone or jointly with any other defendant. When an application is made as prescribed in this section, at least two days' notice thereof with a copy of the affidavit must be served upon the plaintiff's attorney, who may oppose the application by affidavit on the ground that one or more of the other defendants own or have an interest in the property.

§ 216, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5373. Partnership property. Undertaking. If the warrant of attachment is levied upon the interest of one or more partners in personal property of the firm, the other partners, or one or more of them, may at any time before judgment apply to the court from which the warrant of attachment issued, or a judge thereof, upon affidavit, stating such fact, for an order to discharge the attachment as to the partnership property. The applicant must give an undertaking with sufficient surety to the effect, that if judgment shall be rendered in the action in favor of the plaintiff, they will pay to the sheriff on demand the amount of defendant's interest in such partnership property, the amount of such interest to be determined by reference or otherwise as the court may direct. The amount of such undertaking must be fixed by the court or judge thereof, and must not be less than the value of the interest of the defendant in the personal property of the partnership; and for the purpose of fixing the amount of the undertaking the court may hear affidavits or oral testimony respecting the value of the defendant's interest in the attached property.

§ 5374. Undertaking must be filed and served. Exceptions thereto. An undertaking given as prescribed in the last three sections must be forthwith filed with the clerk. A copy thereof with a notice of the filing must be forthwith served upon the plaintiff's attorney; who may within three days thereafter give notice to the sheriff that he excepts to the sufficiency of the surety. Thereupon the surety must justify upon the like notice and in like manner as bail upon an arrest; or a new undertaking must be given with new surety and thereupon the same proceedings must be had upon such undertaking as upon the original undertaking. If the plaintiff does not except as prescribed in this section he is deemed to have waived all objection to the surety. The sheriff shall be responsible for the sufficiency of the surety upon any undertaking given by the defendant and may retain possession of the property attached and the proceeds thereof in his hands, until the objection to the surety is either waived as above provided, or until he justifies or new surety is substituted and justifies.

§ 5375. Giving undertaking not waiver of right to move discharge. The giving of any of the undertakings mentioned in this article by the defendant shall not operate as a waiver of his right to move to discharge the attachment, and if such attachment is discharged on motion any undertaking given by the defendant shall be null and void and shall be returned to him.

§ 215, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 83, 1881.
am'd.

§ 5376. Who may move discharge. In all cases the defendant, or any person who has acquired a lien upon or interest in the defendant's property after it was attached, may move to discharge the attachment. If the motion is made upon affidavit on the part of the defendant, or a person who has acquired a lien upon or interest in the defendant's property after it was attached, but not otherwise, the plaintiff may oppose the same by affidavit or other proof in addition to the affidavit upon which the attachment was granted; and in such case the defendant, or person who has acquired a lien upon or interest in the defendant's property after it was attached, may sustain the motion by affidavit or other proof in rebuttal of the affidavits or other proof offered and submitted on the part of the plaintiff to oppose the motion. And if on such hearing it appears to the satisfaction of the court or judge that the attachment was irregularly issued, or that the affidavit upon which it was issued is untrue, the attachment must be discharged.

§ 5377. Proceedings upon discharge. When the warrant of attachment is vacated or annulled or the attachment is discharged upon the application of the defendant, or person who has acquired a lien upon or interest in the defendant's property after it was attached, the sheriff must deliver over to the defendant or to the person entitled thereto upon reasonable demand all the attached personal property remaining in his hands, or that portion thereof as to which the attachment is discharged, or the proceeds thereof, if it has been sold by him.

§ 5378. Judgment how satisfied. In case judgment is entered for the plaintiff in such action, the sheriff shall satisfy the same out of the property attached by him, if it shall be sufficient for that purpose: § 210, C. Civ. P.

1. By paying over to such plaintiff the proceeds of all sales of perishable property, and of any vessel or share or interest in any vessel sold by him, or of any debts or credits collected by him or so much as shall be necessary to satisfy such judgment.

2. If any balance remains due and an execution shall have been issued on such judgment, he shall proceed to sell under such execution so much of the attached property, real or personal, except as provided in subdivision 4 of this section, as may be necessary to satisfy the balance, if enough for that purpose shall remain in his hands; and in case of the sale of any rights or shares in the stock of a corporation or association, the sheriff shall execute to the purchaser a certificate of sale thereof, and the purchaser shall thereupon have all the rights and privileges in respect thereto, which were had by such defendant.

3. If any of the attached property belonging to the defendant shall have passed out of the hands of the sheriff without having been sold or converted into money, such sheriff shall repossess himself of the same, and for that purpose shall have all the authority which he had to seize the same under the attachment and any person, who shall willfully conceal or withhold such property from the sheriff, shall be liable to double damages at the suit of the party injured.

4. Until the judgment against the defendant shall be paid, the sheriff may proceed to collect the notes and other evidences of debt that may have been seized or attached under the warrant of attachment, and to prosecute any bond he may have taken in the course of such proceedings and apply the proceeds thereof to the payment of the judgment. At the expiration of six months from the docketing of the judgment the court shall have power upon the petition of the plaintiff, accompanied by an affidavit setting forth fully all the proceedings, which have been had by the sheriff since the service of the attachment, the property attached and the disposition thereof, and also the affidavit of the sheriff that he has used diligence and endeavored to collect the evidences of debt in his hands so attached, and that there remains uncollected of the same any part or portion thereof, to order the sheriff to sell the same upon such terms and in such manner as shall be deemed proper. Notice of such application shall be given to the defendant or his attorney, if the defendant shall have appeared in the action. In case the summons has not been personally served on the defendant, the court shall make such order as to the service of notice and the time of service as shall be deemed just. When the judgment and all costs of the proceedings shall have been paid, the sheriff upon reasonable demand shall deliver over to the defendant the residue of the attached property, or the proceeds thereof.

§ 5379. Proceedings upon judgment for defendant. If the defendant recovers judgment against the plaintiff in the action, any undertaking given by the defendant, all the proceeds of sales and moneys collected by the sheriff and all property attached, remaining in his hands shall upon the order of the court be delivered by him to the defendant or his agent on request, and the warrant shall be discharged and the property released therefrom.

§ 5380. Cancellation of notices of attachment. At any time after the warrant of attachment has been vacated or annulled, or the attachment has been discharged, the court may, upon the application of any person aggrieved and with or without notice in the discretion of the court, direct that any notice filed for the purpose of attaching the property be canceled of record by the register of deeds of the county where it is filed or recorded. The cancellation must be made by the register of deeds, upon a certified copy of the order directing such cancellation being filed in his office, by an entry to that effect on the margin of the record referring to the order. Such cancellation may in like manner be made by the register of deeds upon a written request directing such cancellation, signed by the plaintiff or his attorney.

§ 217, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5381. Return by officer. When the warrant shall be fully executed or discharged the sheriff must return the same with his proceedings thereon to the court in which the action was commenced.

ARTICLE 5.—GARNISHMENT.

§ 1, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5382. Creditors may proceed by garnishment. Any creditor shall be entitled to proceed by garnishment in any court having jurisdiction of the subject of the action against any person, except a public corporation, who shall be indebted to or have any property whatever, real or personal, in his possession or under his control, belonging to such creditor's debtor, in the cases upon the conditions and in the manner prescribed in this chapter. The term plaintiff is used in this chapter to embrace every judgment creditor and the term defendant, a judgment debtor.

§ 2, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5383. Affidavit for garnishment. Either at the time of the issuing of a summons, or at any time thereafter before final judgment, in any action to recover damages founded upon contract, express or implied, or upon judgment or decree, or at any time after the issuing in any case of an execution against property and before the time when it is returnable, the plaintiff, or some person in his behalf, may make an affidavit stating that he verily believes that some person, naming him, is indebted to, or has property, real or personal, in his possession or under his control, belonging to the defendant, or either or any of the defendants in the action or execution, naming him, and that such defendant has not property in this state liable to execution sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's demand, and that the indebtedness or property mentioned in such affidavit is, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the person making such affidavit, not by law exempt from seizure or sale upon execution. Any number of garnishees may be embraced in the same affidavit, but if a joint liability is claimed against any, it shall be so stated, and the garnishee named as jointly liable shall be deemed jointly proceeded against; otherwise the several garnishees shall be deemed severally proceeded against.

§ 5384. Garnishee summons. The plaintiff shall annex or subjoin to such affidavit a garnishee summons, which shall be substantially in the following form: § 3, c. 65, 1895.

State of North Dakota, }
County of..... } ss. Court.
A. B., plaintiff, vs.
C. D., defendant, and
E. F., garnishee.

The state of North Dakota to the said garnishee:

You are hereby summoned pursuant to the annexed affidavit, as a garnishee of the defendant, C. D., and required within thirty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of service, to answer according to law, whether you are indebted to or have in your possession or under your control any property, real or personal, belonging to such defendant, and to serve a copy of your answer on the undersigned at..... in the county of.....; and in case of your failure so to do, you will be liable to further proceedings according to law; of which the said defendant will also take notice.

L. M., Plaintiff's Attorney.

P. O. address.....county, N. D.

§ 5385. Service of summons and affidavit. Such garnishee summons and affidavit may be served by the sheriff of the county, where any garnishee or defendant may be found, or by any other person not a party to the action. The service shall be made and the same returned with proof of the service to the person whose name is subscribed thereto with reasonable diligence. The person subscribing such garnishee summons may, at his option by an indorsement thereon, fix a time for the service thereof, and the service shall then be made accordingly. § 4, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5386. To be served on garnishee and defendant. The garnishee summons and annexed affidavit shall be served on each of the several garnishees named in the manner provided for service of a summons in an action; and, except when service of the summons in the action is made without the state or by publication, also on the defendant to the action in like manner, either before or within ten days after service on a garnishee. When the defendant shall have appeared in the action by an attorney such service may be made upon such attorney or upon the defendant. Unless the garnishee summons is so served on the defendant or his attorney in accordance with the provisions of this section, the service on the garnishee shall become void and of no effect from the beginning. § 5, c. 65, 1895.

§ 6, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5387. Subsequent garnishments. The plaintiff may in like manner subsequently proceed within the period limited against other garnishees, or against the same garnishees after they shall have once been discharged, upon a new affidavit, if he shall have reason to believe they have subsequently become liable; and he may summon garnishees resident in other counties than that in which the action is pending; but if an issue for trial shall be joined between the plaintiff and such garnishee, the court may on motion change the place of trial of such issue to the county of the garnishee's residence.

§ 7, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5388. Garnishment discharged if complaint not served. If the plaintiff shall not within ten days after demand for a copy of the complaint serve upon the garnishee or his attorney, except in case of garnishment upon execution, a copy of the complaint showing the amount of the indebtedness of the defendant in the action to the plaintiff, the proceeding against the garnishee shall be dismissed on motion of the garnishee with costs, unless the court or a judge shall in discretion and upon terms permit the same to stand.

§ 8, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5389. Affidavit denying liability. Within thirty days from the service of such garnishee summons the garnishee may, if the truth warrants, file with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, and serve a copy thereof upon the plaintiff, his affidavit in the following form, substantially:

State of North Dakota, }
County of..... } ss. Court.

A. B., plaintiff,

vs.

C. D., defendant, and

E. F., garnishee.

E. F. being duly sworn, says that on the day of A. D. 18...., he was served with a garnishee summons in the above entitled action; that he was then and is now in no manner and upon no account whatever indebted or under liability to the defendant (naming him), and that he then had and now has in his possession or under his control, no real estate and no personal property, effects or credits of any description whatever, belonging to said defendant or in which he has any interest; and is in no manner liable as garnishee in this action.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this day of A. D. 18

Thereby the proceeding against such garnishee shall be deemed discontinued, and the plaintiff shall pay the garnishee one dollar for his costs, unless within thirty days thereafter the plaintiff serves notice on such garnishee, that he elects to take issue on his answer to the garnishee summons and will maintain him to be liable as garnishee, in which case the issue shall stand for trial as a civil action, in which the affidavit on the part of the plaintiff shall be deemed the complaint, and the garnishee's affidavit the answer thereto.

§ 9, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5390. Affidavit when liability admitted. Question may be submitted to court. Unless the garnishee shall make the affidavit provided for in the preceding section, he shall within thirty days from the service of the garnishee summons file and serve in like manner an affidavit in which he shall state:

1. Whether he was at the time of service of the garnishee summons, or has since become indebted, or under any liability to the defendant named in the garnishee summons, in any manner upon any account, specifying, if indebted or liable, the amount, the interest thereon, the manner in which evidenced, when payable, whether an absolute or contingent liability and all the facts and circumstances necessary to a complete understanding of such indebtedness or liability. When the garnishee shall be in doubt respecting any such liability or indebtedness, he may set forth all the facts and circumstances concerning the same and submit the question to the court.

2. Whether he held at the time aforesaid, or now holds the title or possession of any real estate, or any interest in land of any description, or of any personal property, effects or credits, or any instruments or papers relating to such, belonging to the defendant or in which he is in any wise interested. And if he shall admit any such or be in any doubt respecting the same, he shall set forth the description of such property and all the facts and circumstances concerning the same, and the title, interest or claim of the defendant in or to the same.

3. If he shall claim any set-off or defense to any indebtedness or liability or any lien or claim to said property, he shall set forth the facts and circumstances thereof fully.

4. He may state any claim of exemption from execution on the part of the defendant, or other objection known to him against the right of the plaintiff to apply upon his demands the indebtedness or property disclosed.

5. If he shall disclose any indebtedness, or the possession of any property to which the defendant, and any other person as well, make claim, he may set forth the names and residences of such other claimants and so far as known the nature of their claims.

§ 5391. When judgment may be rendered against garnishee. If any garnishee, having been duly summoned, shall fail to serve his affidavit as required in the preceding section, the court may render judgment against him for the amount of the judgment which the plaintiff shall recover against the defendant in the action for damages and costs, together with the costs of such garnishee action. Such garnishee may also be proceeded against as for a contempt according to the provisions of chapter 34 of this code. § 10, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5392. Indebtedness paid to officer. Officer may levy. § 11, c. 65, 1895.
In case the answer of the garnishee shall show indebtedness to the defendant, he may pay the amount thereof less three dollars for his costs to the officer having a warrant of attachment in the action, if any, or otherwise to the clerk of the court; or, if the garnishment is in aid of an execution, to the sheriff having the execution; and the officer to whom such payment is made shall give him a receipt specifying the facts and such receipt shall be a complete discharge of all liability to any party for the amount so paid. If the answer discloses any money, credits or other property, real or personal, in the possession or under the control of the garnishee, the officer having a writ of attachment or an execution, if any, may levy upon the interest of the defendant in the same; otherwise the garnishee shall hold the same until the order of the court thereon.

§ 5393. Answer conclusive unless traversed. The answer § 12, c. 65, 1895.
of the garnishee shall in all cases be conclusive of the truth of the facts therein stated, unless the plaintiff shall within thirty days serve upon the garnishee a notice in writing, that he elects to take issue on his answer; in which case the issue shall stand for trial as a civil action, in which the affidavit on the part of the plaintiff shall be deemed a complaint and the garnishee's affidavit the answer thereto. The plaintiff may in all cases move the court upon the answer of the garnishee and of the defendant, if he shall also answer, for such judgment as he shall be entitled to thereon, but any such judgment shall be no bar beyond the facts stated in such answers.

§ 13, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5394. Answer of corporation. The answer of a corporation summoned as a garnishee may be made by any officer thereof; and of any other garnishee, by any agent or attorney in his behalf, who shall be acquainted with the facts.

§ 14, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5395. Defendant may defend garnishee proceedings. The defendant may in all cases by answer duly verified, to be served within thirty days from the service of the garnishee summons on him, defend the proceeding against any garnishee upon the ground that the indebtedness of the garnishee, or any property held by him, is exempt from execution against such defendant or for any other reason is not liable to garnishment; or, upon any ground upon which a garnishee might defend the same; and may participate in the trial of any issue between the plaintiff and garnishee for the protection of his interests. And the garnishee may at his option defend the principal action for the defendant, if the latter does not, but shall be under no obligations so to do.

§ 15, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5396. Proceedings deemed an action. The proceedings against a garnishee shall be deemed an action by the plaintiff against the garnishee and defendant as parties defendant, and all provisions of law relating to proceedings in civil actions at issue, including examination of the parties, amendments and relief from default or proceedings taken and appeals and all provisions for enforcing judgments, shall be applicable thereto; but when the garnishment is not in aid of an execution, no trial shall be had of the garnishee action, until the plaintiff shall have judgment in the principal action, but the garnishment action may be noticed for trial at the same term if issue therein is joined in time; and if the defendant has judgment, the garnishee action shall be dismissed with costs. The court shall render such judgment in all cases as shall be just to all the parties, and properly protect their respective interests, and may adjudge the recovery of an indebtedness, the conveyance, transfer or delivery to the sheriff, or any officer appointed by the judgment, of any real estate or personal property disclosed or found to be liable to be applied to the plaintiff's demand, or by the judgment pass the title thereto; and may therein or by its order, when proper, direct the manner of making sale and of disposing of the proceeds thereof, or of any money or other thing paid over or delivered to the clerk or officer. The judgment against a garnishee shall acquit and discharge him from all demands by the defendant, or his representative, for all money, goods, effects or credits paid, delivered or accounted for by the garnishee by force of such judgment.

§ 16, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5397. Interpleader when had. When the answer of the garnishee shall disclose that any other person than the defendant claims the indebtedness or property in his hands, and the name and residence of such claimant, the court may on motion order that such claimant be interpleaded as a defendant to the garnishee action; and that notice thereof, setting forth the facts, with a copy of such order, in such form as the court shall direct, be served upon him, and that after such service shall have been made, the garnishee may pay or deliver to the officer or the clerk such indebtedness or property, and have a receipt therefor, which shall be a complete discharge from all liability to any party for the amount so paid or property so delivered. Such notice shall be served in the manner required for service of a summons in a civil action, and may be made without the state or by publication thereof, if the order shall so direct. Upon such service being made such claimant shall be deemed a defendant to the garnishee action and within thirty days shall answer, setting forth his claim, or any defense which the garnishee might have made. In case of default, judgment may be rendered which shall conclude any claim upon the part of such defendant.

§ 5398. Liability of garnishee. From the time of the service of the summons upon the garnishee he shall stand liable to the plaintiff to the amount of the property, money, credits and effects in his possession or under his control belonging to the defendant, or in which he shall be interested, to the extent of his right or interest therein, and of all debts due or to become due to the defendant, except such as may be by law exempt from execution. Any property, moneys, credits and effects held by a conveyance or title void as to the creditors of the defendant shall be embraced in such liability. § 17, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5399. When judgment not rendered. No judgment shall be rendered upon a liability of the garnishee arising either: § 18, c. 65, 1895.

1. By reason of his having drawn, accepted, made, indorsed or guaranteed any negotiable bill, draft, note or other security.

2. By reason of any money or other thing received or collected by him as sheriff, or other officer, by force of an execution or other legal process in favor of the defendant.

3. By reason of any money in his hands as a public officer and for which he is accountable to the defendant merely as such officer.

4. By reason of any money or other thing owing from him to the defendant, unless before judgment against the defendant, it shall have become due absolutely and without depending on any future contingency; but judgment may be given for any money or other thing owing after it shall have become due absolutely and without depending on any contingency.

§ 5400. Defendant not to sue garnishee until, etc. No action shall be commenced by the defendant or his assignee against a garnishee upon any claim or demand liable to garnishment, or to recover any property garnished, or execution be issued upon a judgment in favor of the defendant against such garnishee subsequent to the service of the garnishee summons upon him, until the termination of the garnishee action; and, if an action shall have been commenced or an execution issued, it shall be stayed by the court or a judge thereof upon the garnishee's application, except that upon cause shown, the court or judge may by order permit the commencement of such an action, or the issue of an execution, or the further prosecution of one stayed. § 19, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5401. Defendant may release garnishment and how. The defendant may, at any time after the complaint is filed and before judgment, file with the clerk of the court an undertaking executed by at least two sureties, resident freeholders of the state, to the effect that they will on demand pay to the plaintiff the amount of the judgment with all costs that may be recovered against such defendant in § 20, c. 65, 1895.

the action, not exceeding a sum specified, which sum shall not be less than double the amount demanded by the complaint, or in such less sum as the court shall upon application direct. The sureties shall justify their responsibility by affidavit annexed, stating a sum which each is worth in property within this state over and above all debts and liabilities and property exempt from execution, the aggregate of which sums shall be double the amount specified in the undertaking. The defendant shall serve on the plaintiff a copy of such undertaking with a notice where and when the same was filed. Within three days after the receipt thereof the plaintiff shall give notice to the defendant that he excepts to the sufficiency of the sureties, or he shall be deemed to have waived all objections to them. When the plaintiff excepts, the sureties shall justify in like manner as bail upon an arrest. Thereafter all the garnishees shall be discharged and the garnishment proceedings shall be deemed discontinued, and any money or property paid or delivered to any officer shall be surrendered to the person entitled thereto and the costs shall be taxable as disbursements of the plaintiff in the action, if he recovers.

§ 21, c. 65, 1895.

§ 5402. Costs in garnishee actions. In case of the trial of an issue between the plaintiff and any garnishee costs shall be awarded to the plaintiff and against the garnishee in addition to his liability, if the plaintiff recovers more than the garnishee admitted by his answer; and if he does not, the garnishee shall recover costs of the plaintiff. In all other cases under this article not expressly provided for, the court may award costs in favor of or against any party in its discretion. When there is no issue for trial and any liability on the part of the garnishee is disclosed, the costs of the garnishment proceeding shall be taxed for the plaintiff, if he recovers, as disbursements in the principal action.

ARTICLE 6. — RECEIVERS.

§ 219, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5403. Cases when appointed. A receiver may be appointed by the court in which an action is pending, or by a judge thereof:

1. In an action by a vendor to vacate a fraudulent purchase of property, or by a creditor to subject any property or fund to his claim, or between partners or others jointly owning or interested in any property or fund, on the application of the plaintiff, or of any party whose right to or interest in the property or fund or the proceeds thereof is probable, and when it is shown that the property or fund is in danger of being lost, removed or materially injured.
2. In an action by a mortgagee for the foreclosure of his mortgage and sale of the mortgaged property when it appears that the mortgaged property is in danger of being lost, removed or materially injured, or that the conditions of the mortgage have not been performed and that the property is probably insufficient to discharge the mortgage debt.
3. After judgment, to carry the judgment into effect.
4. After judgment, to dispose of the property according to the judgment or to preserve it during the pendency of an appeal, or in proceedings in aid of execution, when an execution has been returned unsatisfied or when the judgment debtor refuses to apply his property in satisfaction of the judgment.
5. In the cases provided in this code, when a corporation has been dissolved, or is insolvent or in imminent danger of insolvency, or has forfeited its corporate rights; and in like cases within this state, of foreign corporations.

6. In all other cases where receivers have heretofore been appointed by the usages of courts of equity.

§ 5404. Who may be receiver. Undertaking by applicant. No party or person interested in an action can be appointed receiver therein without the written consent of the party filed with the clerk. If a receiver is appointed upon an ex parte application, the court before making the order may require from the applicant an undertaking with sufficient sureties in an amount to be fixed by the court, to the effect that the applicant will pay to the defendant all damages he may sustain by reason of the appointment of such receiver and the entry by him upon his duties, in case the applicant shall have procured such appointment wrongfully, maliciously or without sufficient cause; and the court may in its discretion at any time after said appointment require an additional undertaking. § 221, C. Civ. P.

§ 5405. Qualification of receiver. Before entering upon his duties the receiver must be sworn to perform them faithfully, and with one or more sureties approved by the court or judge execute an undertaking to such person and in such sum as the court or judge may direct, to the effect that he will faithfully discharge the duties of receiver in the action and obey the orders of the court therein. § 222, C. Civ. P.

§ 5406. Powers. The receiver has, under the control of the court, power to bring and defend actions in his own name as receiver, to take and keep possession of the property, to receive rents, collect debts, to compound for and compromise the same, to make transfers and generally to do such acts respecting the property as the court may authorize. § 223, C. Civ. P.

§ 5407. Investment of funds on consent. Funds in the hands of a receiver may be invested upon interest by order of the court; but no such order can be made except upon the consent of all the parties to the action. § 224, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 7. — OF DEPOSIT.

§ 5408. What subject to order of deposit. When it is admitted by the pleadings or the examination of a party that he has in his possession or under his control any money or other thing capable of delivery, which, being the subject of the litigation, is held by him as trustee for another party or which belongs or is due to another party, the court may order the same to be deposited in court, or delivered to such party with or without security, subject to the further direction of the court. § 225, C. Civ. P.

§ 5409. Voluntary deposit in court of property adversely claimed. Whenever two or more persons make claim for the whole or any part of the same money, personal property or effects in the possession or control of any other person as bailee or otherwise and the right of any such claimant is adverse to the right of any other claimant, or is disputed or doubtful, and the bailee, custodian or person in control of any part of such property, money or effects is unable to determine to whom the same rightfully belongs, or who is rightfully entitled to the possession thereof; or whenever such bailee, custodian or person in control has notice or knowledge of any right or claim of right of any person in or to any part of such property, money or effects adverse to the right of any other claimant therefor; or § 1, c. 39, 1895.

whenever any debt, money, property or effects owing by or in the possession or under the control of any person may be attached by garnishment or other process, and there is any dispute as to who is entitled to the same or any part thereof; in any such case the person in the possession or control of any such property, money or effects, when an action in any form has been commenced for an account of or growing out of the same or in which the same has been attached as aforesaid, may pay such money or deliver such property or effects to the clerk of the court in which any such action having reference to said money, property or effects, or the value thereof, may be pending, or out of which any garnishment or other process may issue with reference thereto; or if no such suit is commenced, he may apply to the district court of the district where such property, money or effects may be situated, and upon showing to the satisfaction of the court the existence of facts bringing him within the operation of this section, said court shall make an order designating a depository with whom said property, money or effects may be deposited by the applicant for such order. In either case such person in the possession or control of such property, money or effects shall at once notify personally or by registered mail all persons of whose claims he may have notice or knowledge, having or claiming any interest, property, lien or right in, to or upon such property, money or effects, of such deposit; and upon giving such notice the person so depositing the same shall thereupon be relieved from further liability to any person on account of such property, money or effects: provided, that such depositor may be required upon the application of any party interested therein to appear and make disclosure before the court, in which any such action may be pending or by which any order designating a depositor may be made, concerning the said property, money, debts or effects held, controlled or owed by him. If the address of any persons having or making any claim as aforesaid cannot be ascertained, an affidavit to that effect shall be filed with the depository, and the giving of such notice shall not be required in such case.

§ 226, C. Civ. P.

§ 5410. Disobedience. Contempt. Whenever in the exercise of its authority a court shall have ordered the deposit, delivery or conveyance of money or other property and the order is disobeyed, the court besides punishing the disobedience as for contempt may make an order requiring the sheriff to take the money or property and deposit, deliver or convey it in conformity with the direction of the court.

§ 227, C. Civ. P.

§ 5411. Defendant's admissions. When the answer of the defendant expressly or by not denying admits part of the plaintiff's claim to be just, the court on motion may order such defendant to satisfy that part of the claim, and may enforce the order as it enforces a judgment or a provisional remedy.

CHAPTER 10.

OF THE TRIAL AND JUDGMENT IN CIVIL ACTIONS.

ARTICLE 1. — JUDGMENT UPON FAILURE TO ANSWER, ETC.

§ 5412. Judgment defined. A judgment is the final determination of the rights of the parties in the action. § 228, C. Civ. P.

§ 5413. On failure to answer. Counterclaim. Relief. Publication. Restitution. Judgment may be had if the defendant fails to answer the complaint in the following cases: § 229, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. In an action arising on contract for the recovery of money only the plaintiff may file with the clerk proof of personal service of the summons and complaint on one or more of the defendants, or of the summons according to the provisions of section 5249 and that no answer or demurrer has been received. Judgment shall thereupon be entered for the amount demanded in the complaint against the defendant or defendants, or against one or more of the several defendants in the cases provided for in section 5261; but if the complaint is not sworn to and such action is on an instrument for the payment of money only, the court on its production shall assess the amount due to the plaintiff thereon, and in other cases shall ascertain the amount which the plaintiff is entitled to recover in such action from his examination under oath or other proof and enter the judgment for the amount so assessed or ascertained. In case the defendant gives notice of appearance in the action, he shall be entitled to five days' notice of the time and place of such assessment. When the defendant by his answer in any such action shall not deny the plaintiff's claim, but shall set up a counterclaim amounting to less than the plaintiff's claim, judgment may be had by the plaintiff for the excess of such claim over the said counterclaim in like manner in any such action upon the plaintiff's filing with the clerk of the court a statement admitting such counterclaim, which statement shall be annexed to and be a part of the judgment roll.

2. In other actions the plaintiff may upon the like proof apply to the court after the expiration of the time for answering for the relief demanded in the complaint. If the taking of an account, or the proof of any fact is necessary to enable the court to give judgment or to carry the judgment into effect, the court may take the account or hear the proof, or may in its discretion order a reference for that purpose. And when the action is for the recovery of money only, or of specific real or personal property with damages for the withholding thereof, the court may order the damages to be assessed by a jury or, if the examination of a long account is involved, by a reference as above provided. If the defendant gives notice of appearance in the action before the expiration of the time for answering, he shall be entitled to eight days' notice of the time and place of application to the court for the relief demanded by the complaint.

3. In actions when the service of the summons was by publication, the plaintiff may in like manner apply for judgment, and the court must thereupon require proof to be made of the demand mentioned in the complaint; and if defendant is not a resident of the state, must require the plaintiff or his agent to be examined on oath respecting any payments that have been made to the plaintiff or to any one for his use on account of such demand and may render judgment for the amount which he is entitled to recover. Before rendering judgment the court may in its discretion require the plaintiff to cause to be filed satisfactory security, to abide the order of the court, touching the restitution of any estate or effects which may be directed by such judgment to be transferred or delivered, or the restitution of any money that may be collected under or by virtue of such judgment, in case the defendant or his representatives shall apply and be admitted to defend the action and shall succeed in such defense.

§ 5414. On frivolous pleading. If a demurrer, answer or reply is frivolous, the party prejudiced thereby upon a previous notice of five days may apply to a judge of the court either in or out of the court for judgment thereon, and judgment may be given accordingly.

ARTICLE 2.—ISSUES AND MODE OF TRIAL.

§ 231, C. Civ. P. § 5415. Origin and classes of issues. Issues arise upon the pleadings when a fact or conclusion of law is maintained by the one party, and controverted by the other. They are of two kinds:

1. Of law; and,
2. Of fact.

§ 232, C. Civ. P. § 5416. Issues of law. An issue of law arises upon a demurrer to the complaint, answer or reply, or to some part thereof.

§ 233, C. Civ. P. am'd. § 5417. Of fact classified. An issue of fact arises:

1. Upon a material allegation in the complaint controverted by the answer; or,
2. Upon new matter in the answer not requiring a reply, or controverted by a reply; or,
3. Upon new matter in the reply, unless an issue of law is joined thereon.

§ 234, C. Civ. P. § 5418. Both. Order of trial. Issues both of law and fact may arise upon different parts of the pleadings in the same action. In such cases the issues of law must be first tried, unless the court otherwise directs.

§ 235, C. Civ. P. § 5419. Trial defined. A trial is the judicial examination of the issues between the parties, whether they are issues of law or of fact.

§ 236, C. Civ. P. § 1, c. 146, 1885, am'd. § 5420. By whom triable. An issue of law must be tried by the court or by the judge. An issue of fact in an action for the recovery of money only or of specific real or personal property must be tried by a jury, unless a jury trial is waived as provided in section 5449, or a reference is ordered as provided in sections 5455 and 5456. Every other issue is triable by the court, which, however, may order the whole issue or any specific question of fact involved therein to be tried by a jury or by a referee as provided in sections 5455 and 5456.

§ 237, C. Civ. P. § 1, c. 147, 1885. § 5421. Issues of fact, how tried. All issues of fact triable by a jury or by the court must be tried before a single judge. Issues of fact must be tried at a regular term of the district court, when the trial is by jury, otherwise at a regular or special term as the court may by its rules prescribe. Issues of law must be tried at a regular or special term of the district court, or by the court in vacation, or judge at chambers. If by the court in vacation, or judge at chambers the same may be heard, tried and determined in any county of the district within which the action is brought, and judgment thereon entered in the proper county upon the giving by either or any party of the notice prescribed by section 5422; but in such case no note of issue need be filed, and any judgment, final decision or actual determination made upon such trial and hearing may be appealed from in the same manner and subject to the same rules and provisions as in cases of other appeals from actual determinations and final decisions of any regular or special terms of the district courts of this state.

§ 5422. Note of issue. Contents. Order of trials. At any time after issue and at least ten days before the court either party may give notice of trial. The party giving the notice shall furnish the clerk at least eight days before the court with a note of the issue, containing the title of the action, the names of the attorneys and the time when the last pleading was served, and the clerk shall thereupon enter the cause upon the calendar according to the date of the issue. There need be but one notice of trial and one note of issue from either party, and the action must then remain on the calendar until disposed of and when called may be brought to trial by the party giving the notice. The issues on the calendar shall be disposed of in the following order, unless for the convenience of parties or the dispatch of business, the court shall otherwise direct: § 238, C. Civ. P.

1. Issues of fact to be tried by a jury.
2. Issues of fact to be tried by the court.
3. Issues of law.

§ 5423. Either party proceeds. Separate trials. Either party, when the case is reached upon the calendar and in the absence of the adverse party, unless the court for good cause otherwise directs, may proceed with his case, and take a dismissal of the complaint, or a verdict or judgment as the case may require. A separate trial between a plaintiff and any of the several defendants may be allowed by the court, whenever in its opinion justice will be promoted. § 239, C. Civ. P.

§ 5424. Who to furnish papers. When the issue shall be brought to trial by the plaintiff, he shall furnish the court with a copy of the summons and pleadings with the offer of the defendant, if any shall have been made. When the issue shall be brought to trial by the defendant, and the plaintiff shall neglect or refuse to furnish the court with a copy of the summons and pleadings and the offer of the defendant, the same may be furnished by the defendant. § 240, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 3. — FORMATION OF THE TRIAL JURY.

§ 5425. Jury ballots. At the opening of the court the clerk must prepare separate ballots containing the names of the persons returned as jurors, which must be folded as nearly alike as possible and so that the names cannot be seen, and must deposit them in the trial jury box. § 241, C. Civ. P.

§ 5426. Clerk to draw jury. When the action is called for trial by jury, the clerk must draw from the trial jury box of the court the ballots containing the names of the jurors summoned, until the jury is completed or the ballots are exhausted. § 242, C. Civ. P.

§ 5427. Challenges classed. By whom. Either party may challenge the jurors, but when there are several parties on either side, they must join in a challenge before it can be made. The challenges § 243, C. Civ. P.

are to individual jurors, and are either peremptory or for cause. Each party is entitled to three peremptory challenges. If no peremptory challenges are taken until the panel is full, they must be taken by the parties alternately commencing with the plaintiff.

§ 244. C. CIV. P.

§ 5428. Challenges for cause. Grounds of. Challenges for cause may be taken on one or more of the following grounds:

1. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by the political code to render a person competent as a juror.

2. Consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree to either party.

3. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, master and servant, employer and clerk or principal and agent to either party, or being a member of the family of either party, or being a partner in business with either party, or surety on any bond or obligation for either party.

4. Having served as a juror or been a witness on a previous trial between the same parties for the same cause of action.

5. Interest on the part of the juror in the event of the action, or in the main question involved in the action, except his interest as a member or citizen of a municipal corporation.

6. Having an unqualified opinion or belief as to the merits of the action founded upon knowledge of its material facts or some of them.

7. The existence of a state of mind in the juror evincing enmity against or bias to or against either party.

8. That he does not understand the English language as used in the courts.

§ 245. C. CIV. P.

§ 5429. Trial of same. Challenges for cause must be tried by the court. The juror challenged and any other person may be examined as a witness on the trial of the challenge.

§ 246. C. CIV. P.

§ 5430. Oath to jurors. As soon as the jury is completed the following oath must be administered to the jurors:

"You, and each of you, do solemnly swear, that you will well and truly try the matters in issue between, the plaintiff, and, the defendant, and a true verdict render according to the evidence. So help you God."

If any person is conscientiously scrupulous of taking an oath, he shall be allowed to make affirmation, substituting for the words, "so help you God," at the end of the oath the following: "This you do affirm under the pains and penalties of perjury."

ARTICLE 4. — OF THE CONDUCT OF THE TRIAL.

§ 247. C. CIV. P.

§ 5431. Order of trial. When the jury has been sworn, the trial must proceed in the following order, unless the judge for special reasons otherwise directs:

1. The plaintiff after stating the issue and his case must produce the evidence on his part.

2. The defendant may then open his defense and offer his evidence in support thereof.

3. The parties may then respectively offer rebutting evidence only, unless the court for good reasons in furtherance of justice permits them to offer evidence upon their original case.

4. When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted to the jury on either or both sides without argument, the plaintiff must commence and may conclude the argument.

5. If several defendants having separate defenses appear by different counsel, the court must determine their relative order in the evidence and argument.

6. The court may then charge the jury.

§ 5432. Charge wholly written. Giving and refusing.

The court in charging a jury shall only instruct as to the law of the case; and no court shall instruct the jury in any civil case, unless such instructions are first reduced to writing. Either party may request instructions to the jury. Each instruction so requested must be written on a separate sheet and may be given or refused by the court, and the court shall write on the margin of such requested instruction given by him the word, "given," and on the margin of those which he does not give he shall write the word, "refused," and all instructions asked for by the counsel shall be given or refused by the court without modification or change, unless modified or changed by consent of counsel asking the same. The court may in its discretion submit the written instructions, which it proposes to give to the jury, to counsel in the case for examination, and require such counsel after a reasonable examination thereof to designate such parts thereof as he may deem objectionable, and such counsel must thereupon designate such parts of such instructions as he may deem improper, and thereafter only such parts so designated shall be excepted to by the counsel so designating the same.

§ 248, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 84, 1893.
am'd.

§ 5433. Taken by jury. Exceptions.

All instructions given to the jury must be read to them by the court without disclosing to them whether such instructions were requested or not and must be signed by the judge and delivered to the jury and shall be taken by the jury in their retirement and returned with their verdict into court, and upon the close of the trial all instructions given or refused must be filed with the clerk and either party may within twenty days from the date of such filing file with the clerk exceptions to any of such instructions or refusals to instruct and the same shall thereupon be deemed duly excepted to; provided, that with the consent of both parties entered in the minutes the court may instruct the jury orally, in which case such oral instructions shall be taken down by the official stenographer and written out at length and the shorthand notes thereof together with such instructions so written out shall be filed in the case with the clerk, and either party may except to any of such instructions within twenty days after the date of such filing as hereinbefore provided: provided, that the official stenographer shall receive for writing out such instructions the same fees as for making transcripts; and provided, further, that when oral instructions are given, the jury shall not take the charge in their retirement, unless so ordered by the court.

§ 249, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 84, 1893.

§ 5434. View by jury.

When in the opinion of the court it is proper for the jury to have a view of the property which is the subject of litigation, or of the place in which any material fact occurred, it may order them to be conducted in a body under the charge of an officer to the place, which shall be shown to them by some person appointed by the court for that purpose. While the jury are thus absent, no person, other than the person so appointed, shall speak to them on any subject connected with the trial.

§ 250, C. Civ. P.

§ 5435. Admonitions to jury.

If the jury are permitted to separate either during the trial or after the case is submitted to them, they shall be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse with or suffer themselves to be addressed by any other person on any subject of the trial, and that it is their duty not to form or express an opinion thereon until the case is finally submitted to them.

§ 251, C. Civ. P.

§ 232, C. Civ. P.

§ 5436. What papers jury may take. Upon retiring for deliberation the jury may take with them all papers which have been received as evidence in the cause except depositions or copies of such papers as ought not in the opinion of the court to be taken from the person having them in possession; and they may also take with them notes of the testimony or other proceedings on the trial taken by themselves or any of them, but none taken by any other person.

§ 233, C. Civ. P.

§ 5437. Conduct of jury in retirement. When the case is finally submitted to the jury they may decide in court or retire for deliberation. If they retire, they must be kept together in some convenient place under charge of an officer, until they agree upon a verdict or are discharged by the court. Unless by order of the court, the officer having them under his charge must not suffer any communication to be made to them, or make any himself except to ask them if they have agreed upon a verdict; and he must not before their verdict is rendered communicate to any person the state of their deliberations or the verdict agreed upon.

§ 254, C. Civ. P.

§ 5438. Disagreement. Information as to law. After the jury have retired for deliberation, if there is a disagreement between them as to any part of the testimony or if they desire to be informed of any point of law arising in the case, they may require the officer to conduct them into court. Upon their being brought into court the information required must be given in the presence of or after notice to the parties or counsel.

§ 255, C. Civ. P.

§ 5439. Sick juror discharged. If after the impaneling of a jury and before a verdict, a juror becomes sick so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged. In that case the trial may proceed with the other jurors, or another juror may be sworn and the trial begin anew; or the jury may be discharged and a new jury then or afterwards impaneled.

§ 256, C. Civ. P.

§ 5440. Verdict prevented. New trial. In all cases when the jury are discharged or prevented from giving a verdict by reason of accident or other cause during the progress of the trial or after the cause is submitted to them, the action may be again tried immediately or at a future time as the court may direct.

§ 257, C. Civ. P.

§ 5441. Sealed verdict. Adjournment. While the jury are absent, the court may adjourn from time to time in respect to other business; but it is nevertheless open for every purpose connected with the cause submitted to the jury, until a verdict is rendered or the jury discharged. The court may direct the jury to bring in a sealed verdict at the opening of the court in case of an agreement during a recess or adjournment for the day. A final adjournment of the court for the term discharges the jury.

§ 258, C. Civ. P.

§ 5442. How verdict received. When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court, their names called by the clerk, and the verdict rendered by their foreman. The verdict must be in writing signed by the foreman, and must be read by the clerk to the jury and the inquiry made whether it is their verdict. If any juror disagrees, they must be sent out again; but if no disagreement is expressed and neither party requires the jury to be polled, the verdict is complete and the jury discharged from the case.

Either party may require the jury to be polled, which is done by the court or clerk asking each juror if it is his verdict. If any one answers in the negative, the jury must again be sent out.

§ 5443. Correcting verdict. When the verdict is announced, if it is informal or insufficient in not covering the issue submitted, it may be corrected by the jury under the advice of the court, or the jury may be again sent out. § 259, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 5. — OF THE VERDICT.

§ 5444. General and special verdict defined. The verdict of a jury is either general or special. § 260, C. Civ. P.

1. A general verdict is that by which they pronounce generally upon all or any of the issues either in favor of the plaintiff or defendant; and,

2. A special verdict is that by which the jury find the facts only, leaving the judgment to the court.

The special verdict must present the conclusions of fact as established by the evidence and not the evidence to prove them; and these conclusions of fact must be so presented that nothing shall remain to the court but to draw from them conclusions of law.

§ 5445. When special verdict directed. How prepared. When either party at or before the close of the testimony and before any argument to the jury is made or waived shall so request, shall direct the jury to find a special verdict. Such verdict shall be prepared by the court in the form of questions in writing, which shall be confined to matters involving the merits of the case and shall admit of direct answer and the jury shall make their answer thereto in writing. The court may also direct the jury, if they render a general verdict, to find in writing upon any particular questions of fact, to be stated as aforesaid. In every action for the recovery of money only, or of specific real property, the jury may in their discretion, when not otherwise directed by the court, render a general or a special verdict. The special verdict or finding must be filed with the clerk and entered upon the minutes. When the special findings of fact are inconsistent with the general verdict, the former controls the latter and the court must give judgment accordingly. § 261, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5446. Jury to find amount. Assessment when judgment rendered on pleadings. When a verdict is found for the plaintiff in an action for the recovery of money, or for the defendant when a counterclaim for the recovery of money is established exceeding the amount of the plaintiff's claim as established, the jury must also find the amount of the recovery; and they may also under the direction of the court assess the amount of the recovery when the court gives judgment on the pleadings for either party. § 262, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5447. Specific personal property. Jury find value and damages. In an action for the recovery of specific personal property the jury must find by their verdict the facts as the case may be as follows: § 263, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. In case they find against the defendant and the property has not been delivered to the plaintiff, they must find the value of the property, or of the plaintiff's interest therein, if less than its full value, at the time of the taking, and that the plaintiff is entitled to a delivery of the property, and they must also assess the damages, if any are claimed in the complaint, which the plaintiff has sustained by reason of the taking and detention of such property; or,

2. In case they find against the defendant and the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, they must find that the plaintiff is entitled to the property and they must also assess the damages, if any are claimed in the complaint, which the plaintiff has sustained by reason of the taking and detention of such property.

3. In case they find against the plaintiff and the property has been delivered to him, and the defendant in his answer claims a return of the property, they must find the value thereof, or of the defendant's interest therein, if less than its full value, at the time of the taking, and they must also assess the damages, if any are claimed in the answer, which the defendant has sustained by reason of the taking and detention of such property; or,

4. In case they find against the plaintiff and the property has been retained by the defendant, they must find that the defendant is entitled to such property.

5. In case the jury find that each party is entitled to specific portions of the property in controversy and such portion has been delivered to the opposite party and a return is claimed in the complaint or answer, they must find the value of such portion, or of the party's interest therein, if less than its full value, at the time of the taking, and also assess the damages, if any are claimed in the complaint or answer, in favor of the plaintiff or defendant as hereinbefore provided as to the portion to which they find the plaintiff or defendant entitled.

Whenever the jury are so instructed, they must find the value of specific portions of the property in controversy or of the interest of either party therein, if less than its full value, at the time of the taking, and shall also assess the damages, if any are claimed by the party in whose favor they find sustained by reason of the taking and detention of such property.

§ 264, C. Civ. P.

§ 5448. Verdict and entries. Upon receiving a verdict an entry must be made by the clerk in the minutes of the court, specifying the time of trial, the names of the jurors and witnesses and setting out the verdict at length; and when a special verdict is found, either the judgment rendered thereon or, if the case is reserved for argument or further consideration, the order thus reserving it.

ARTICLE 6. — OF THE TRIAL BY THE COURT.

§ 265, C. Civ. P.

§ 5449. How jury waived. Trial by jury may be waived by the several parties to an issue of fact in actions arising on contract, or for the recovery of specific real or personal property with or without damages, and with the assent of the court in other actions in the manner following:

1. By failing to appear at the trial.
2. By written consent in person or by attorney filed with the clerk.
3. By oral consent in open court entered in the minutes.

§ 266, C. Civ. P.
1. c. 25, 1887.
1. c. 89, 1893.

§ 5450. Decision compulsory within thirty days. All motions or applications in any action, special proceeding or other matter in the district court must be decided and such decision be reduced to writing and filed with the clerk within thirty days after the same shall have been submitted to the court for decision, unless prevented by the sickness of the judge whose duty it is to decide the same or by other unavoidable casualty, and upon the trial of any question or issue of fact by the court its decision thereon and conclusions of law upon such decision, and direction for entry of judgment in accordance with such conclusions must be given in writing and filed with the clerk within sixty days after the cause has been submitted for decision, unless such decision is prevented for the reason hereinbefore stated, and judgment shall be entered by the clerk in accordance with such direction upon the application of the party entitled thereto and the filing of such decision and conclusions of law. Each judge of the district court shall not less than five nor more than fifteen days before each quarterly installment of his salary becomes due file in the office of the auditor of the state a certificate under his hand stating in effect that no motion, application or question or issue of fact submitted to him remains undecided contrary to the provisions of this section. And in case any such decision has been prevented by any of the causes enumerated in this section, such certificates shall state the facts constituting the cause of such prevention, and the state auditor is hereby directed not to sign or issue any warrant for the payment of any quarterly installment of salary to any judge of the district court until after such judge shall have filed such certificate as herein provided.

§ 5451. Facts and conclusions separately stated. In giving the decision the facts found and the conclusions must be separately stated. Judgment upon the decision must be entered accordingly. § 267, C. Civ. P.

§ 5452. How findings waived. Findings of fact may be waived by the several parties to an issue of fact: § 268, C. Civ. P.
§ 2, c. 25, 1887.

1. By failing to appear at the trial.
2. By consent in writing filed with the clerk.

§ 5453. Preparation of findings by parties. At the time the cause is submitted the judge may direct either or both parties to prepare findings of facts, unless they have been waived, and when so directed the party must within two days prepare and serve upon his adversary and submit to the judge such findings, and may within two days thereafter briefly suggest in writing to the judge why he desires findings upon the points included within the findings prepared by himself, or why he objects to findings upon the points included within the findings prepared by his adversary. The judge may adopt, modify or reject the findings so submitted. If at the time of the submission of the cause the judge does not direct the preparation of findings, or those prepared are rejected, then he must himself prepare the findings. § 269, C. Civ. P.

§ 5454. Making up judgment. On a judgment for the plaintiff upon an issue of law he may proceed in the manner prescribed by the first two subdivisions of section 5413 upon the failure of the defendant to answer. If judgment is for the defendant upon an issue of law and the taking of an account or proof of any fact is necessary to enable the court to complete the judgment, a reference may be ordered as in that section provided. § 270, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 7. — OF REFERENCES AND TRIALS BY REFEREES.

§ 5455. Reference by consent. Fees of referee. All or any of the issues in an action whether of fact or law or both may be § 271, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 112, 1889,
am'd.

referred by the court or judge thereof upon the written consent of the parties. The fees of referees shall be fixed by the court and shall in no case exceed ten dollars per day except upon the written consent of both parties to the reference.

§ 272, C. Civ. P.
2, c. 112, 1889.

§ 5456. Reference without consent. When the parties do not consent to the reference the court may upon the application of either party or of its own motion direct a reference in the following cases:

1. When the trial of an issue of fact will require the examination of a long account on either side, in which case the referee may be directed to hear and decide the whole issue or to report upon any specific question of fact therein; or,

2. When the taking of an account is necessary for the information of the court before judgment or for carrying a judgment or order into effect; or,

3. When a question of fact other than upon the pleadings shall arise upon motion or otherwise in any stage of the action.

§ 273, C. Civ. P.

§ 5457. To whom reference ordered. A reference may be ordered to any person or persons not exceeding three agreed upon by the parties. If the parties do not agree, the court or judge must appoint one or more referees not exceeding three, who reside in the county or subdivision in which the action or proceeding is triable and against whom there is no legal objection.

§ 274, C. Civ. P.

§ 5458. Objections to referee. Grounds of. Either party may object to the appointment of any person as referee for the same cause for which challenges for cause may be taken to a petit juror in the trial of a civil action.

§ 275, C. Civ. P.

§ 5459. Heard by court. The objections taken to the appointment of any person as referee must be heard and disposed of by the court or judge thereof. Affidavits may be read and witnesses examined as to such objections.

§ 276, C. Civ. P.
3, c. 112, 1889.
am'd.

§ 5460. How trial conducted. The trial by referee shall be conducted in the same manner as a trial by the court. Upon such trial the referee shall have the same power to grant adjournments and allow amendments to any pleading as the court would have and upon the same terms and with like effect. He shall also have the same power to preserve order and punish all violations thereof upon such trial and compel the attendance of witnesses before him and to punish them as for a contempt for nonattendance or refusal to be sworn or testify as is possessed by the court. He shall give to the parties or their attorneys at least eight days' notice of the time and place of trial. He must state the facts found and conclusions of law separately and report his findings together with all of the evidence taken by him and all exceptions taken on the hearing to the district court and the district court may review such report and on motion enter judgment thereon, or set aside, alter or modify the same and enter judgment upon the same so altered or modified, and may require the referee to amend his report when necessary. The judgment so entered by the district court may be appealed from to the supreme court in like manner as from judgments in other cases.

§ 278, C. Civ. P.

§ 5461. Oath of referees. The referees before proceeding to hear any testimony must be sworn well and truly to hear and determine the facts referred to them and true findings render according to the evidence, and they have power to administer oaths to all witnesses produced before them.

ARTICLE 8. — EXCEPTIONS.

§ 5462. Exception defined. An exception is an objection upon a matter of law to a decision made either before or after judgment by a court or judge in an action or proceeding. The exception must be taken at the time the decision is made except as provided in section 5463. § 1. c. 21, 1887.

§ 5463. What deemed excepted to. The verdict of the jury, the final decision in an action or proceeding, an interlocutory order or decision finally determining the rights of the parties, or some of them, an order granting or refusing a new trial, an order sustaining or overruling a demurrer, allowing or refusing to allow an amendment to a pleading, striking out a pleading or a portion thereof, refusing a continuance, an order made upon ex parte application and an order or decision made in the absence of a party are deemed to have been excepted to and the same may be reviewed both as to questions of law and the sufficiency of the evidence upon motion for a new trial or upon appeal as fully as if exception thereto had been expressly taken. § 2. c. 21, 1887. am'd.

§ 5464. Statement of the case defined. A statement of the evidence or a part thereof settled by the court for the purpose of reviewing either errors of law or the sufficiency of the evidence or both is designated in this code a statement of the case.

§ 5465. Exceptions settled at time or after. A statement containing exceptions to any ruling may be presented to the judge for settlement at the time the ruling is made, or the exception may be entered on the judge's minutes and afterwards settled. Such statement must be conformable to the truth or be at the time corrected until it is so and signed by the judge and filed with the clerk. § 4. c. 21, 1887. am'd.

§ 5466. Exceptions on trial by referee. Service of findings and conclusions. In any trial by a referee either party may take exceptions in the same manner as on trials by the court and the referee shall note in his minutes any exceptions so taken as they are taken. The prevailing party shall serve upon the other a copy of the referee's findings of fact and conclusions of law after the same shall have been filed with a notice of the time and place of such filing, and either party may except to any finding of fact or conclusion of law by a referee by filing written exceptions with the clerk at any time before the expiration of twenty days after service of such copy and notice. All such exceptions may be incorporated with the statement of the case which may be thereafter settled. When the referee's findings of fact or conclusions of law are set aside or modified by the court, no exceptions shall be necessary to enable a full review of such orders upon appeal.

§ 5467. Preparation and settlement of statement of the case. When a party desires to have a statement of the case settled, he may within thirty days after receiving notice of the entry of judgment or such further time as the court may allow prepare the draft of a statement and serve the same upon the adverse party. Such draft must contain all the exceptions upon which the party relies, but no particular form of exception is required. The objection must be stated with so much of the evidence or other matter as is necessary to explain it and no more. Only the substance of the reporter's notes of the evidence shall be stated. Documents on file in the action or proceed- § 4. c. 21, 1887. am'd.

ing may be copied or the substance thereof stated. There shall be incorporated in every such statement a specification of the particulars in which the evidence is alleged to be insufficient to justify the verdict or other decision and of the errors of law upon which the party settling the same intends to rely. If no such specification is made the statement shall be disregarded on motion for a new trial and on appeal. Within twenty days after the service of the draft of a statement the adverse party may propose amendments to the same and serve such amendments upon the other party. The proposed statement and amendments must within twenty days thereafter be presented by the party seeking the settlement thereof to the judge who tried or heard the case upon five days' notice to the adverse party. At the time designated the judge must settle the statement. If no amendments are served, or if served, are allowed, the proposed statement may be presented with the amendments, if any, to the judge for settlement without notice to the adverse party. If the judge is absent from the district at the time when the proposed statement should be presented to him for settlement, the time of such absence shall not be deemed any portion of the time herein limited for the settlement thereof. It is the duty of the judge in settling the statement to strike out of it all redundant and useless matter and to make the statement truly represent the case, notwithstanding the assent of the parties to such matter. When settled the statement must be signed by the judge with his certificate to the effect that the same is allowed and shall then be filed with the clerk.

§ 282, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5468. Exceptions after judgment. Exceptions to any decision made after judgment may be presented to the judge at the time of such decision and may be settled or noted as provided in section 5465 and a statement thereof may be presented and settled afterwards as provided in section 5467, and within like periods after entry of the order, upon appeal from which such decision is reviewable.

§ 283, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5469. Application to supreme court when judge refuses to settle. If the judge in any case refuses to allow an exception in accordance with the facts, the party desiring the statement settled may apply by petition to the supreme court to prove the same. The application may be made in the manner and under such regulations as that court may prescribe and the statement when proven must be certified by a justice thereof as correct and filed with the clerk of the court in which the action was tried, and when so filed it has the same force and effect as if settled by the judge who tried the cause.

§ 284, C. Civ. P.
5, c. 21, 1887.
am'd.

§ 5470. In case of vacancy. A judge may settle and sign a statement of the case after as well as before he ceases to be such judge. If such judge before the statement of the case is settled dies, is removed from office, becomes disqualified, is absent from the state or refuses to settle the same, or if no mode is provided by law for the settlement of the same, it shall be settled and certified in such manner as the supreme court may by its order or rules direct.

ARTICLE 9. — OF NEW TRIALS.

§ 285, C. Civ. P.

§ 5471. New trial defined. A new trial is a re-examination of an issue of fact in the same court, after a trial and decision by a jury or court or by referees.

§ 5472. Causes for new trial. The former verdict or other decision may be vacated and a new trial granted on the application of the party aggrieved for any of the following causes materially affecting the substantial rights of such party: § 286, C. Civ. P.

1. Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury or adverse party, or any order of the court or abuse of discretion by which either party was prevented from having a fair trial.

2. Misconduct of the jury; and whenever any one or more of the jurors have been induced to assent to any general or special verdict or to a finding on any question submitted to them by the court by a resort to the determination of chance, such misconduct may be proved by the affidavit of any one of the jurors.

3. Accident or surprise, which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against.

4. Newly discovered evidence material to the party making the application, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial.

5. Excessive damages appearing to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice.

6. Insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or other decision, or that it is against law.

7. Error in law occurring at the trial and excepted to by the party making the application.

§ 5473. How application made. When the application is made for a cause mentioned in the first, second, third and fourth subdivisions of the preceding section, it must be made upon affidavit; for any other cause it may be made at the option of the moving party either upon a statement of the case or upon the minutes of the court. On such hearing reference may be had in all cases to the pleadings and orders of the court on file; and when the motion is made on the minutes, reference may also be had to any depositions, documentary evidence and stenographic report of the testimony or other papers used upon the trial. § 287, C. Civ. P.
§ 2, c. 33, 1881.
am'd.

§ 5474. Notice. Contents. When heard. The party intending to move for a new trial must within twenty days after the verdict of the jury, if the action was tried by jury, or after notice of the decision of the court, if the action was tried without a jury, serve upon the adverse party a notice of his intention designating the statutory grounds upon which the motion will be made and whether the same will be made upon affidavits, or the minutes of the court, or a statement of the case: § 288, C. Civ. P.
§ 6, c. 21, 1887.
am'd.

1. If the motion is to be made upon affidavits the moving party must within thirty days after serving the notice, or such further time as the court in which the action is pending may allow, serve a copy of such affidavits upon the adverse party, who shall have ten days to serve counter affidavits, a copy of which must be served upon the moving party. Motions for new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence may be made at any time before the close of the term next succeeding that at which the trial was had.

2. If the motion is to be made upon a statement of the case and no statement has already been settled as hereinbefore provided the moving party shall have the same time after service of the notice of intention to move for a new trial to prepare and obtain a settlement of a statement of the case as is provided in section 5467.

3. When the motion is to be made upon the minutes of the court and the ground of the motion is the insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or other decision, the notice of intention must specify the particulars in which the evidence is alleged to be insufficient; and, if the ground of the motion is error in law occurring at the trial and excepted to by the moving party, the notice of intention must specify the particular errors upon which the party will rely. If the notice does not contain the specifications herein stated and the motion is made on the minutes of the court, the motion must be denied. If an appeal is taken from the decision on such motion the party appealing shall have the same time after such decision in which to prepare and have settled a statement of the case to be used on appeal as is provided in section 5467.

§ 289, C. Civ. P.

§ 5475. Verdict vacated by court. The verdict of a jury may also be vacated and a new trial granted by the court in which the action is pending on its own motion without the application of either of the parties, when there has been such plain disregard by the jury of the instructions of the court or the evidence in the case as to satisfy the court that the verdict was rendered under a misapprehension of such instructions or under the influence of passion or prejudice.

§ 290, C. Civ. P.
7, c. 21, 1887.
am'd.

§ 5476. Where hearing may be had. The application for a new trial shall be heard at the earliest practicable period after service of the notice of intention, if the motion is to be heard upon the minutes of the court, and in other cases, after the affidavits are served or the statement of the case is filed, and may be brought to a hearing in open court or before the judge at chambers in any county in the district in which the action was tried by either party upon notice of eight days to the adverse party, specifying the time and place of hearing. On such hearing reference may be had in all cases to the pleadings and orders of the court on file and when the motion is made on the minutes, reference may also be had to any depositions, documentary evidence and stenographic report of the testimony on file.

§ 8, c. 21, 1887.
m'd.

§ 5477. Time may be extended. The court or judge may upon good cause shown in furtherance of justice extend the time within which any of the acts mentioned in sections 5467 and 5474 may be done, or may, after the time limited therefor has expired, fix another time within which any of such acts may be done.

§ 9, c. 21, 1887.
m'd.

§ 5478. Statement used on appeal. A statement of the case settled as provided in section 5467, whether the same is used upon a motion for a new trial or not, may be used on appeal from the final judgment.

ARTICLE 10. — MANNER OF GIVING, ENTERING AND SATISFYING JUDGMENTS.

§ 291, C. Civ. P.

§ 5479. Judgment entered by clerk on order. Judgment upon an issue of law, or fact, or upon confession, or upon failure to answer, may be entered by the clerk upon the order of the court or of the judge thereof.

§ 5480. Notice of entry of judgment served. Within ten days after entry of judgment in an action in which an appearance has been made, notice of such entry together with a general description of the nature and amount of relief and damages thereby granted, shall be served by the prevailing upon the adverse party.

§ 5481. Against whom. Counterclaim. Judgment may be given for or against one or more of several plaintiffs, and for or against one or more of several defendants; and the court may determine the ultimate rights of the parties on each side as between themselves. § 292, C. Civ. P.

2. If a counterclaim established at a trial exceeds the plaintiff's demand so established, judgment for the defendant must be given for the excess; and the court may grant to the defendant any affirmative relief to which he may be entitled.

3. In an action against several defendants the court may in its discretion render judgment against one or more of them, leaving the action to proceed against the others, whenever a several judgment may be proper.

4. The court may also dismiss the complaint with costs in favor of one or more defendants in case of unreasonable neglect on the part of the plaintiff to serve the summons on other defendants, or to proceed in the cause against the defendant or defendants served. In an action brought by or against a married woman judgment may be given against her as well for costs as for damages or both for such costs and for such damages in the same manner as against other persons, to be levied and collected of her separate estate and not otherwise.

§ 5482. Relief limited by complaint. The relief granted to the plaintiff, if there is no answer, cannot exceed that which he shall have demanded in his complaint; but in any other case the court may grant him relief consistent with the case made by the complaint and embraced within the issue. § 293, C. Civ. P.

§ 5483. Death before judgment. If a party dies after a verdict or decision upon any issue of fact and before judgment, the court may nevertheless render judgment thereon. Such judgment is not a lien on the real property of the deceased party, but is payable in the course of administration on his estate. § 294, C. Civ. P.

§ 5484. To recover personalty. In an action to recover the possession of personal property the judgment for the plaintiff may be for the possession; or for the recovery of possession, or the value thereof in case a delivery cannot be had and for damages for the taking and detention thereof. If the property has been delivered to the plaintiff and the defendant claims a return thereof, judgment for the defendant may be for a return of the property, or the value thereof in case a return cannot be had and damages for the taking and detention thereof. § 295, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5485. Putting in possession. Every judgment that contains a direction for the sale of any specific real property may also direct the delivery of the possession of such property to the purchaser; and the officer receiving the execution or order of sale may enforce such judgment by putting the purchaser in possession of the premises in like manner and with like authority as if special execution had been directed to him for that purpose. § 296, C. Civ. P.

§ 5486. Transfer of title or discharge of incumbrance by court. In all actions arising under chapter 30 of this code and in actions commenced for the satisfaction of record of mortgages or other liens upon real property or for the specific performance of contracts relating to real property the court may by its judgment without any § 1, c. 111, 1889. am'd.

act on the part of the defendant transfer the title to real property and remove or discharge a cloud or incumbrance thereon, and a certified copy of such judgment may be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the property affected is situated.

§ 297, C. Civ. P.

§ 5487. Judgment book. The clerk shall keep among the records of the court a book for the entry of the judgments to be called the "judgment book."

§ 298, C. Civ. P.

§ 5488. How judgment entered. The judgment shall be entered in the judgment book and shall specify clearly the relief granted or other determination of the action.

§ 299, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5489. Judgment roll. Contents. Unless the party or his attorney shall furnish a judgment roll, the clerk immediately after entering the judgment shall attach together and file the following papers, which shall constitute the judgment roll:

1. In case the complaint is not answered by any defendant the summons and complaint or copies thereof, the affidavit for service of summons by publication, if any, proof of service and that no answer has been received, the report, if any, and a copy of the judgment.

2. In all other cases, the summons, pleadings or copies thereof, the verdict, decision or report, the offer of the defendant, a copy of the judgment, the statement of the case, if any, and all orders and papers in any way involving the merits and necessarily affecting the judgment.

§ 300, C. Civ. P.

§ 5490. Docketing in other counties. Secured on appeal. Effect. On filing a judgment roll upon a judgment directing in whole or in part the payment of money, it may be docketed with the clerk of the court, in which it was rendered, in a book to be known as the judgment docket, and in any other county upon filing with the clerk of the district court for said county a transcript of the original docket, and it shall be a lien on all the real property except the homestead in the county where the same is so docketed of every person against whom any such judgment shall be rendered, which he may have at the time of the docketing thereof in the county in which such real property is situated or which he shall acquire at any time thereafter, for ten years from the time of docketing the same in the county where it was rendered, and no judgment heretofore rendered shall after the passage of this act become a lien on real property as herein provided, unless it is docketed in the county where the land is situated; provided, however, that when the land is situated in an unorganized county said judgment may be filed in the county to which such unorganized county is attached for judicial purposes, and it shall thereupon become a lien upon the land of the judgment debtor in such unorganized county; but when said unorganized county becomes organized the said lien must be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of such county within ninety days after the organization of such county or it shall cease to be a lien upon such real estate. But whenever an appeal from any judgment shall be pending and the undertaking requisite to stay execution on such judgment shall have been given and the appeal perfected as provided in this code, the court in which such judgment was recovered may, on special motion after notice to the person owning the judgment, direct the clerk to make an entry on the judgment docket that the judgment is secured on appeal, and thereupon it shall cease during the pendency of the appeal to be a lien on the real property of the judgment debtor as against purchasers and mortgagees in good faith and for value.

§ 5491. Duties of clerk on filing transcript. Upon the filing of a transcript of judgment in the office of any clerk of the district court as provided in the last section the clerk with whom such transcript is filed shall forthwith by mail notify the clerk issuing the same of the time when such judgment was docketed in the county in which such transcript is filed, and a memorandum showing the time of such docketing shall be entered by the clerk who issued the transcript upon his judgment docket.

§ 5492. Docketing judgments of United States courts in clerk of district court's office. A transcript of the docket entry of any judgment or decree rendered in any district or circuit court of the United States within this state, duly certified by the clerk of such district or circuit court of the United States, may be filed with the clerk of the district court of any county in this state, and the same shall be immediately docketed by said clerk in the same manner as judgments rendered in the district courts in this state are docketed. § 1, c. 83, 1890.

§ 5493. Becomes a lien from date of docketing. From the date of such docketing and not before such judgment or decree shall be a lien upon all the real estate of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution in such county, owned by him or the title to which he may subsequently acquire in the county where such docketing is made, in the same manner and to the same extent and under the same conditions only as if such judgment or decree had been rendered by the district court of this state. § 2, c. 83, 1890.

§ 5494. How act construed. Nothing herein shall be construed to require the docketing of a judgment or decree of the United States court in the office of the clerk of the district court of this state in the same county, in which a judgment or decree of the United States court is rendered, in order that such judgment or decree shall be a lien upon any property within such county. § 3, c. 83, 1890.

§ 5495. How judgment docketed. The clerk shall docket the judgment by entering alphabetically in the judgment docket the names of the judgment debtor or debtors, the names of the party or parties in whose favor the judgment was rendered, the sum recovered or directed to be paid in figures, the date of the judgment, the year, day, hour and minute when the judgment roll or transcript was filed, the year, day, hour and minute when the judgment was docketed in his office and the page in the judgment book where the same is entered, the name of the court in which the judgment was rendered, the name of the attorney or attorneys for the party recovering the judgment and, if there are two or more judgment debtors, such entries must be repeated under the initial letter of the surname of each. § 301, C. Civ. P.

§ 5496. Assignment of judgment to be entered in judgment book. Every clerk of the district court upon the presentation to him of an assignment of any judgment rendered or docketed therein, signed by the party in whose favor the judgment is rendered, his executor or administrator and acknowledged in the manner prescribed by law for the acknowledgement of deeds, must immediately enter the same in the judgment book and must note the fact of such assignment, the date thereof and the name of the assignee in the margin of the entry of such judgment in such judgment book and also upon the docket of such judgment. And the clerk of the district court of any other county or subdivision where such judgment is docketed must note the fact of such assignment, the date thereof and the name of the assignee upon the presentation to and filing with him of a certified copy of the original judgment docket with the said facts of such assignment noted thereon.

§ 303, C. Civ. P.

§ 5497. Cancellation and discharge. Any judgment rendered or docketed in the district courts of the state may be canceled and discharged by the clerk thereof:

1. Upon the filing with him of an acknowledgment of the satisfaction thereof signed by the party in whose favor the judgment was obtained, his attorney of record, his executor, administrator or assignee and duly acknowledged in the manner required to admit a deed of real property to record.

2. Upon the return of any execution issued upon such judgment wholly satisfied, or the presentation of a satisfaction piece duly executed and acknowledged as hereinbefore provided, to the clerk of any district court, he must immediately note upon the judgment docket and in the margin of the judgment book where such judgment is entered the date of such cancellation, and the manner thereof, by satisfaction piece filed, execution returned satisfied, or otherwise.

3. And any partial satisfaction of the judgment may be made and noted upon the records in like manner; and thereupon all judgments and liens thereby created must be taken and deemed to be canceled and discharged to the extent of the entries so made upon the judgment docket and no more.

4. And the clerk of any other district court, or the district court of any other county or subdivision, wherein a transcript of any such judgment docket shall have been filed and judgment docketed accordingly, must cancel the same in like manner upon his judgment docket upon the filing in his office of a certified copy of the original judgment docket entry duly canceled as hereinbefore provided.

§ 334, C. Civ. P.

§ 5498. Docket of justice's judgment. Lien. A justice of the peace on the demand of a party, in whose favor he shall have rendered a judgment, must give a certified transcript thereof, which may be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county or subdivision in which the judgment was rendered, and such clerk must thereupon enter such judgment in the judgment book and upon the judgment docket; and from the time of the docketing thereof it becomes a judgment of such district court and a lien upon real property, and a certified transcript of the docket of such judgment may be filed and the judgment docketed accordingly in any other county or subdivision with the like effect in every respect as if the judgment had been rendered in the district court where such judgment is filed.

§ 305, C. Civ. P.

§ 5499. Mutual judgments set off. Mutual final judgments may be set off pro tanto the one against the other by the court upon proper application and notice.

CHAPTER 11.

OF THE EXECUTION OF THE JUDGMENT IN CIVIL ACTIONS.

ARTICLE 1.—THE EXECUTION AND LEVY.

§ 5500. Execution at any time within ten years. The party in whose favor judgment has been given and in case of his death his personal representatives duly appointed may at any time within ten years after the entry of judgment proceed to enforce the same by execution as provided in this chapter. § 306, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5501. For delivery or sale. When a judgment requires the payment of money or the delivery of real or personal property, the same may be enforced in those respects by execution as provided in this chapter. When the judgment requires the sale of property, the same may be enforced by a writ reciting such judgment, or the material parts thereof, and directing the proper officer to execute the judgment by making the sale and applying the proceeds in conformity therewith. When it requires the performance of any other act, a certified copy of the judgment may be served upon the party against whom it is given, or the person or officer who is required thereby or by law to obey the same, and his obedience thereto enforced. If he refuses, he may be punished by the court as for contempt. § 308, C. Civ. P.

§ 5502. Three kinds of execution. There shall be three kinds of execution: one against the property of the judgment debtor; another against his person; and the third for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property or such delivery with damages for withholding the same. § 309, C. Civ. P.

§ 5503. Against property. To different counties. When the execution is against the property of the judgment debtor, it may be issued to the sheriff of any county where the judgment is docketed. When it requires the delivery of real or personal property, it must be issued to the sheriff of the county where the property or some part thereof is situated. Executions may be issued at the same time to different counties. Real property adjudged to be sold must be sold in the county where it lies by the sheriff of such county, or by a referee appointed by the court for that purpose, and thereupon the sheriff or referee must execute a certificate of sale to the purchaser as hereinafter provided. An execution may issue against a married woman, and it must direct the levy and collection of the amount of the judgment against her from her separate property, and not otherwise. § 310, C. Civ. P.

§ 5504. When against person. If the action is one in which the defendant might have been arrested as provided in section 5304 and section 5306, an execution against the person of the judgment debtor may be issued to any county within the jurisdiction of the court after the return of an execution against his property unsatisfied in whole or in part. But no execution shall issue against the person of a judgment debtor unless an order of arrest has been served as in this code provided, or unless the complaint contains a statement of facts showing one or more of the causes of arrest required by section 5304. § 311, C. Civ. P.

§ 312, C. Civ. P.

§ 5505. Issue and contents of execution. The writ of execution must be issued in the name of the state of North Dakota, attested in the name of the judge, sealed with the seal of the court and subscribed by the clerk, and directed to the sheriff, or to the coroner when the sheriff is a party or interested; and it must intelligibly refer to the judgment, stating the court, the county where the judgment roll or transcript is filed, the names of the parties, the amount of judgment, if it is for money, and the amount actually due thereon, and the time of docketing in the county to which the execution is issued, and shall require the officer substantially as follows:

1. If it is against the property of the judgment debtor, to satisfy the judgment with interest and accruing costs out of the personal property of such debtor; and if sufficient personal property cannot be found, out of the real property belonging to him on the day when the judgment was docketed in the county or at any time thereafter.

2. If it is against real or personal property in the hands of personal representatives, heirs, devisees, legatees or tenants of real property or trustees, to satisfy the judgment out of such property.

3. If it is against the person of the judgment debtor, to arrest such debtor and commit him to the jail of the county, until he shall pay the judgment or be discharged according to law.

4. If it is for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property, to deliver the possession of the same, particularly describing it, to the party entitled thereto, and may at the same time require the officer to satisfy any costs, damages or rents or profits recovered by the same judgment out of the personal property of the party against whom it was rendered, and the value of the property for which the judgment was recovered, to be specified therein; if a delivery thereof cannot be had, and if sufficient personal property cannot be found, then out of the real property belonging to him on the day when the judgment was docketed or at any time thereafter, and shall in that respect be deemed an execution against property.

§ 313, C. Civ. P.

§ 5506. Time of return. The execution shall be returnable within sixty days after its receipt by the officer to the clerk with whom the record of judgment is filed.

§ 314, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5507. Property liable to execution. Manner of levy. All goods, chattels, moneys and other property both real and personal or any interest therein of the judgment debtor not exempt by law and all property and rights of property seized and held under attachment in the action are liable to execution. Shares and interests in any corporation or company, and debts and credits, and all other property, both real and personal, and any interest in real or personal property and all other property not capable of manual delivery shall be liable to be taken on execution and sold as hereinafter provided. The levy of an execution shall be made in the same manner as a levy under a warrant of attachment.

§ 5508. Pledged or mortgaged property may be levied on. When property is pledged or mortgaged or subject to a lien for the payment of money or the performance of any obligation the right and interest of the execution debtor therein may be sold on execution without taking possession of or removing the property to the place of sale, but the entire right and interest of such debtor in all the property separately pledged or covered by each separate mortgage or lien shall be sold together as a distinct parcel or thing and the purchaser at such sale shall acquire all the right and interest of such debtor therein.

§ 5509. Officer's proceedings on execution. When an execution is delivered to any officer, he must indorse thereon the day and hour when he received it and must proceed to execute the same with diligence; and if executed, an exact description of the property at length with the date of the levy, sale or other act done by virtue thereof must be indorsed upon or appended to the execution; and if the writ was not executed or executed in part only, the reason in such case must be stated in the return. If no personal property is found an indorsement to that effect must be made on the writ before levy is made on real property. § 315, C. Civ. P.

§ 5510. Levy and sale. The officer must execute the writ by levying on the property of the judgment debtor, collecting the things in action by suit in his own name, if necessary, or by selling the same, selling the other property, and paying to the plaintiff the proceeds, or so much thereof as will satisfy the execution. § 316, C. Civ. P.

§ 5511. Amount levied. When lien on personalty. The officer must in all cases select such property and in such quantities as will be likely to bring the exact amount required to be raised as nearly as practicable, and having made one levy, may at any time thereafter, make other levies if he deems it necessary. But no writ of execution shall be a lien on personal property before the actual levy thereof. § 317, C. Civ. P.

§ 5512. Things in action. Judgments, bank bills and other things in action may be sold or appropriated as provided in the next following section, and assignment thereof by the officer shall have the same effect as if made by the defendant. § 318, C. Civ. P.

§ 5513. What need not be sold. Money levied on may be appropriated without being advertised or sold. The same may be done with bank bills, drafts, promissory notes or other papers of the like character, if the plaintiff will receive them at their par value as cash, or if the officer can exchange them for cash at that value. § 319, C. Civ. P.

§ 5514. Payment to sheriff by third person. After the rendition of the judgment any person indebted to the defendant in execution may pay to the sheriff the amount of such indebtedness, or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy the execution and the sheriff's receipt shall be a sufficient discharge therefor. § 320, C. Civ. P.

§ 5515. Claim by third person. Sheriff's jury. If the property levied on is claimed by a third person as his property, the sheriff may summon from his county six persons qualified as jurors between the parties to try the validity of the claim. He must also give notice of the claim and of the time of trial to the plaintiff, who may appear and contest the claim before the jury. The jury and the witnesses must be sworn by the sheriff; and if their verdict is in favor of the claimant the sheriff may relinquish the levy, unless the judgment creditor gives him a sufficient indemnity for proceeding thereon. The fees of the jury, the sheriff and the witnesses must be paid by the claimant, if the verdict is against him; otherwise by the plaintiff. Each party must deposit with the sheriff before the trial the amount of his fees and the fees of the jury and the sheriff must return to the prevailing party the amount so deposited by him. § 321, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 2. — EXEMPTIONS.

§ 5516. Property exempt from all process. Except as hereinafter provided the property mentioned in this chapter is exempt § 322, C. Civ. P. am'd.

to the head of a family as defined by chapter 39 of the civil code from attachment or mesne process and from levy and sale upon execution and from any other final process issued from any court.

§ 323, C. Civ. P.

§ 5517. Absolute exemptions. The property mentioned in this section is absolutely exempt from all such process, levy or sale:

1. All family pictures.
2. A pew or other sitting in any house of worship.
3. A lot or lots in any burial ground.
4. The family bible and all school books used by the family and all other books used as a part of the family library not exceeding in value one hundred dollars.
5. All wearing apparel and clothing of the debtor and his family.
6. The provisions for the debtor and his family necessary for one year's supply, either provided or growing, or both, and fuel necessary for one year.
7. The homestead as created, defined and limited by law.

§ 324, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5518. Additional exemptions. In addition to the property mentioned in the preceding section the head of the family may by himself or his agent select from all other of his personal property not absolutely exempt goods, chattels, merchandise, money or other personal property not to exceed in the aggregate fifteen hundred dollars in value, which is also exempt and must be chosen and appraised as hereinafter provided.

§ 325, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5519. Specific alternative exemptions. Instead of the exemption granted in the preceding section the head of the family may select and choose the following property, which shall then be exempt:

1. All miscellaneous books and musical instruments for the use of the family not exceeding five hundred dollars in value.
2. All household and kitchen furniture, including beds, bedsteads and bedding used by the debtor and his family not exceeding five hundred dollars in value; and in case the debtor shall own more than five hundred dollars worth of such property, he must select therefrom such articles to the value of five hundred dollars leaving the remainder subject to legal process.
3. Three cows, ten swine, one yoke of cattle and two horses or mules or two yokes of cattle, or two spans of horses or mules, one hundred sheep and their lambs under six months old and all wool of the same and all cloth or yarn manufactured therefrom, the necessary food for the animals hereinbefore mentioned for one year either provided or growing, or both, as the debtor may choose; also one wagon, one sleigh, two plows, one harrow and farming utensils, including tackle for teams, not exceeding three hundred dollars in value.
4. The tools and implements of any mechanic, whether a minor or of age, used and kept for the purpose of carrying on his trade or business, and in addition thereto stock in trade not exceeding two hundred dollars in value. The library and instruments of any professional person not exceeding six hundred dollars in value.

§ 326, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 55, 1885.

§ 5520. Those by number chosen; by value appraised.

All the articles enumerated in the preceding section, which are exempt by limitation of number, must be chosen by the debtor, his agent or attorney: so, also, all property exempt by limitation of value must be determined by an appraisement made under the direction of the sheriff or other officer. Whenever any debtor, against whom an execution, warrant of attachment or other process has been issued, desires to avail himself of the benefit of section 5518 of this code, said debtor, his agent or attorney, shall make a schedule of all his personal property of every kind and character, including money on hand and debts due and owing to the debtor and deliver the same to the officer having the execution, warrant of attachment or other process, which said schedule shall be subscribed and sworn to by the debtor, his agent or attorney, and any property owned by the debtor and not included in said schedule shall not be exempt as aforesaid.

§ 5521. How appraisers selected. To make the appraisement the debtor, his agent or attorney must select one person and the creditor, his agent or attorney, another person, and these two so selected, a third person, who must all be disinterested citizens of the county, not related to either party nearer than the fourth degree. If the two fail to agree upon the third person, the sheriff or other officer must select the third person; and in like manner, if either the debtor or creditor fails or refuses upon notice to select a person to act as one of the appraisers, the sheriff or other officer must select one for them.

§ 327, C. Civ. P.

§ 5522. Oath and duties of appraisers. The three appraisers so selected must take and subscribe an oath before the sheriff or other officer, to be attached to the inventory of appraisement, that they will truly, honestly and impartially appraise the property of the debtor. The property must be appraised at the actual value of the several articles at the place where they are situated as near as can be determined, and must be set down in an inventory by articles or by lots when definitely descriptive with the value opposite. From the appraisement so made, if over the limitation in value, the debtor, his agent or attorney may select the amount in value of fifteen hundred dollars, or the alternative amounts in value of each class, leaving the remainder, if any, in either case subject to legal process.

§ 328, C. Civ. P.

§ 5523. Wife, or child over sixteen, may act. If in any case the debtor neglects or refuses or for any cause fails to claim the whole or any of the aforesaid exemptions, his wife is entitled to make such claim or demand and to select and choose the property, to select and designate one of the appraisers and to do all other acts necessary in the premises the same and with like effect as the debtor himself might do; and if she neglects, refuses or for any cause fails so to do in whole or in part, then one of their children of sixteen years of age or upwards, being a member of the family, may do so in like manner and with like effect.

§ 329, C. Civ. P.

§ 5524. Sheriff's inventory of exemptions. The sheriff or other officer having any process of levy or sale must make return with his writ or warrant of any inventory and appraisement of any such exempted or other personal property.

§ 330, C. Civ. P.

§ 5525. Notice to debtor. Claim within three days. In all cases of a levy upon personal property by the sheriff, constable or other officer, he must give notice thereof to the debtor, his attorney, agent or wife or, failing conveniently to find either, to such child as is described in section 5523; and the debtor or such other person for him must claim or demand the benefit of these exemptions within three days after such notice from the officer; and said notice of levy may be by copy or by reading.

§ 331, C. Civ. P.

§ 5526. Cases in which only absolute exemptions are allowed. No personal property except absolute exemptions shall be exempt from execution or attachment in an action for laborer's or mechanic's wages or for a debt incurred for property obtained under

§ 332, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 34, 1881.

false pretenses; and no personal property shall be exempt from such process in an action for the collection of the bills of a legally practicing physician for professional service or medicine except absolute exemptions and household and kitchen furniture, stoves and two cows, the value of which, exclusive of absolute exemptions, shall not exceed five hundred dollars, which value in case of dispute shall be determined by appraisers to be selected in accordance with the provisions of section 5521.

am'd. § 5527. Property not exempt in action for its purchase price. No property shall be exempt from execution or attachment in an action brought for its purchase price or any part thereof.

§ 333, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5528. Partnership can claim but one exemption. A partnership firm can claim but one exemption of fifteen hundred dollars in value, or alternative property, when so applicable, instead thereof, out of the partnership property. All partnership property claimed as exempt shall constitute a part of the exemptions of the several partners, the same being divided in proportion to the interests of the partners in the firm assets, and in no case shall the aggregate exemptions of the several partners exceed the amount which would have been allowed to them if the partnership had not existed.

§ 333, C. Civ. P. § 5529. When no exemptions. Except those made absolute, the exemptions herein provided for must not be construed to apply to the following persons:

1. To a corporation for profit.
2. To a nonresident.
3. To a debtor who is in the act of removing with his family from the state; or,
4. Who has absconded, taking with him his family.

§ 334, C. Civ. P. § 5530. Only absolute exemptions against fines, penalties and costs. No property, either real or personal, except the homestead and other exemptions made absolute shall be exempt from levy, seizure and sale by virtue of any final writ or process issued on a judgment for fines, penalties or costs of criminal prosecutions; and no property except the homestead and other exemptions made absolute, and personal property of any kind in addition thereto to the value of five hundred dollars, shall be exempt from levy, seizure or sale by virtue of any final writ or process issued on a judgment for forfeitures of undertakings and bonds, or of recognizance taken and entered in criminal cases.

ARTICLE 3. — SALES.

§ 335, C. Civ. P. § 5531. Personalty. Notice of sale. Perishable. The officer, who levies upon personal property by virtue of an execution, must before he proceeds to sell the same cause public notice to be given of the time and place of such sale for at least ten days before the day of sale. The notice must be given by advertisement published in some newspaper printed in the county or subdivision or, in case no newspaper is printed therein, by posting up advertisements in five public places in the county. Perishable property may be sold by order of the court or a judge thereof, prescribing such notice, time and manner of sale as may be reasonable, considering the character and condition of the property.

§ 5532. Real property. Same. Before any real property or interest therein taken on execution shall be sold the officer making such sale must cause public notice of the time and place thereof in manner following: § 336, C. Civ. P.

1. If there is a newspaper printed in the county or subdivision, where the real property to be sold is situated, such notice must be given by advertisement in some newspaper printed in such county or subdivision, once a week, for at least thirty days prior to making such sale.

2. In case there is no newspaper printed in such county or subdivision, then the officer making such sale must cause such advertisement to be made by posting a copy of such advertisement on the outer door of the courthouse or building wherein the district court of the county or subdivision was last held, and in five other public places in the county. All sales made without notice as provided in this section must be set aside by the court to which the execution is returnable, upon motion to confirm the sale.

§ 5533. Where sale made. All sales of real property, or any interest therein, under execution, must be held at the courthouse, if there is one in the county or subdivision in which such real property is situated, and if there is no courthouse, then at the door of the house in which the district court was last held, and if there is no courthouse and no district court has been held in the county or subdivision, then at such place within the county or subdivision as the sheriff shall designate in his notice of sale. § 337, C. Civ. P.

§ 5534. Time and manner of sale. All sales of property under execution must be made at public auction to the highest bidder between the hours of nine in the morning and four in the afternoon. After sufficient property has been sold to satisfy the execution no more can be sold. No sheriff or other officer, nor his deputy, holding the execution or making the sale of property, either personal or real, can become a purchaser or be interested directly or indirectly in any purchase at such sale, and every purchase so made shall be considered fraudulent and void. When the sale is of personal property capable of manual delivery, it must be within view of those who attend the sale and be sold in such parcels as are likely to bring the highest price; and when the sale is of real property consisting of several known lots or parcels they must be sold separately. The judgment debtor, if present at the sale, may also direct the order in which property, real or personal, shall be sold, when such property consists of several known lots or parcels or of articles which can be sold to advantage separately, and the sheriff or other officer must follow such directions. § 338, C. Civ. P.

§ 5535. Postponements. When there are no bidders or when the amount offered is grossly inadequate, or when from any cause the sale of any real or personal property upon execution or upon the foreclosure of a mortgage or other lien is prevented from taking place on the day fixed, the sheriff, or person making the same, may postpone the sale for not more than three days without being required to give any further notice thereof, but he shall not make more than two such postponements and such postponements must be publicly announced when and where the sale should have taken place. Such sale may be postponed for a longer period than three days by continuing the publication of the original notice of sale together with § 339, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

notice of such postponement, specifying the time and place at which such postponed sale will be made.

§ 340, C. Civ. P.

§ 5536. Surplus paid defendant. When the property sells for more than the amount required to be collected, the surplus must be paid to the defendant, unless the officer has another execution in his hands on which said surplus may be rightfully applied.

§ 341, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5537. Sale after sixty days. Abandonment of levy. In case of the failure of the sale by reason of irregularities in giving notice thereof, or of its postponement, the property may be sold upon proper notice by virtue of the execution after the expiration of the sixty days allowed for the return thereof, and the officer in his return shall set forth the facts regarding such failure or postponement; or the plaintiff may in writing filed with the clerk abandon such levy upon paying the costs thereof; in which case execution may issue with the same effect as if none had been issued.

§ 342, C. Civ. P.

§ 5538. Purchaser's right. Sheriff's certificate. Upon a sale of real property the purchaser is substituted to and acquires all the right, title, interest and claim of the judgment debtor thereto: and when the estate is less than a leasehold of two years' unexpired term, the sale is absolute. In all other cases the real property is subject to redemption as provided in this chapter. The officer must give to the purchaser a certificate of sale, containing:

1. A particular description of the real property sold.
2. The price bid for each distinct lot or parcel.
3. The whole price paid.
4. When subject to redemption it must be so stated.

Such certificate must be executed by the officer and acknowledged or proved as is or may be required by law for deeds of real property and may be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county wherein the real property is situated; and the same or a certified copy thereof certified by such register shall be taken and deemed evidence of the facts therein recited and contained.

ARTICLE 4. — CONFIRMATION.

§ 343, C. Civ. P.

§ 5539. Proceedings upon confirmation. If the court upon the return of any writ of execution for the satisfaction of which any real property or interest therein has been sold, shall, after having carefully examined the proceedings of the officer, be satisfied that the sale has in all respects been made in conformity to the provisions of this chapter, the court must make an order confirming the sale and directing the clerk to make an entry on the journal, that the court is satisfied of the legality of such sale and an order that the officer make to the purchaser a deed of such real property, or interest therein, at the expiration of one year from the day of sale unless the same is redeemed as herein provided. And the officer after making such sale may retain the purchase money in his hands, until the court shall have examined his proceedings as aforesaid, when he must pay the same to the person entitled thereto by order of the court.

ARTICLE 5. — REDEMPTION.

• § 344, C. Civ. P.

§ 5540. Who may redeem. Redemptioner. Property sold subject to redemption, or any part sold separately, may be redeemed in the manner hereinafter provided by the following persons, or their successors in interest:

1. The judgment debtor, or his successor in interest.
2. A creditor having a lien by judgment or mortgage on the property sold or on some share or part thereof, subsequent to that on which the property was sold. The persons mentioned in the second subdivision of this section are in this chapter termed redemptioners.

§ 5541. Payment on and period for redemption. The judgment debtor or redemptioner may redeem the property from the purchaser within one year after the sale on paying the purchaser the amount of his purchase with twelve per cent interest thereon together with the amount of any assessment or taxes which the purchaser may have paid thereon after the purchase and interest at the same rate on such amount; and if the purchaser is also a creditor, having a prior lien to that of the redemptioner, other than the judgment under which such purchase was made, the amount of such lien with interest. § 345, C. Civ. P.

§ 5542. Successive redemptions. Payments. If property is so redeemed by a redemptioner, another redemptioner may within sixty days after the last redemption again redeem it from the last redemptioner on paying the sum paid on such last redemption with like interest thereon in addition as provided by the preceding section and the amount of any assessment or taxes which the last redemptioner may have paid thereon after the redemption by him with like interest on such amount and, in addition, the amount of any liens held by said last redemptioner prior to his own with interest; but the judgment on which the property was sold need not be so paid as a lien. The property may be again, and as often as a redemptioner is so disposed, redeemed from any previous redemptioner within sixty days after the last redemption on paying the sum paid on the last previous redemption with interest at the same rate as provided for the first redemption in section 5541 in addition and the amount of any assessment or taxes which the last previous redemptioner paid after the redemption by him with like interest thereon and the amount of any liens, other than the judgment under which the property was sold, held by the last redemptioner previous to his own, with interest. § 346, C. Civ. P.

§ 5543. Record of redemption. Written notice of redemption must be given to the sheriff and a duplicate filed with the register of deeds of the county, and if any taxes or assessments are paid by the redemptioner or if he has or acquires any lien other than that upon which the redemption was made, notice thereof must in like manner be given to the sheriff and filed with the register of deeds; and if such notice is not filed, the property may be redeemed without paying such tax, assessment or lien. § 347, C. Civ. P.

§ 5544. Period for deed. Debtor's right. If no redemption is made within one year after the sale, the purchaser or his assignee is entitled to a conveyance; or if so redeemed, whenever sixty days have elapsed and no other redemption has been made and notice thereof given and the time for redemption has expired, the last redemptioner, or his assignee, is entitled to a sheriff's deed; but in all cases the judgment debtor shall have the entire period of one year from the date of the sale to redeem the property. § 348, C. Civ. P.

§ 5545. Debtor's redemption. If the debtor redeems, he must make the same payments as are required to effect a redemption by a redemptioner. If the debtor redeems, the effect of the sale is § 349, C. Civ. P.

terminated and he is restored to his estate. Upon a redemption by the debtor the person to whom the payment is made must execute and deliver to him a certificate of redemption acknowledged or proved before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments of conveyances of real property. Such certificate must be filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the property is situated, and the register of deeds must note the record thereof in the margin of the record of the certificate of sale.

§ 350, C. Civ. P. § 5546. Payments to whom. The payments mentioned in the last five sections may be made to the purchaser or redemptioner, or for him, to the officer who made the sale.

§ 351, C. Civ. P. § 5547. Requisite papers. A redemptioner must produce to the officer or person from whom he seeks to redeem, and serve with his notice to the sheriff:

1. A copy of the docket of the judgment, under which he claims the right to redeem, certified by the clerk of the district court of the county where the judgment is docketed or, if he redeems upon a mortgage or other lien, a note of the record thereof certified by the register of deeds.

2. A copy of the assignment necessary to establish his claim, verified by the affidavit of himself or of a subscribing witness thereto.

3. An affidavit by himself or his agent showing the amount then actually due on the lien.

§ 352, C. Civ. P. § 5548. Waste restrained. Use of premises. Until the expiration of the time for redemption the court may restrain the commission of waste on the property by order granted with or without notice on the application of the purchaser or the judgment creditor. But it is not waste for the person in possession of the property at the time of the sale, or entitled to possession afterwards, during the period allowed for redemption to continue to use it in the same manner in which it was previously used or to use it in the ordinary course of husbandry or to make the necessary repairs of buildings thereon or to use wood or timber on the property therefor, or for the repair of fences, or for fuel in his family, while he occupies the property.

§ 353, C. Civ. P. § 5549. Purchaser entitled to rents. Account for. The purchaser from the time of the sale until a redemption and a redemptioner from the time of his redemption until another redemption is entitled to receive from the tenant in possession the rents of the property sold, or the value of the use and occupation thereof. But when any rents or profits have been received by the judgment creditor or purchaser, or his or their assigns, from the property thus sold, preceding such redemption, the amounts of such rents and profits shall be a credit upon the redemption money to be paid; and if the redemptioner or judgment debtor before the expiration of the time allowed for such redemption demands in writing of such purchaser or creditor, or his assigns, a written and verified statement of the amounts of such rents and profits thus received, the period for redemption is extended five days after such sworn statement is given by such purchaser or his assigns to such redemptioner or debtor. If the purchaser or his assigns shall for a period of one month from and after such demand fail or refuse to give such statement, such redemptioner or debtor may bring an action in the district court of the county where the real property is situated to compel an accounting and disclosure of such rents and profits and until fifteen days from and after the final determination of such action the right of redemption is extended to such redemptioner or debtor.

ARTICLE 6. — THE SHERIFF'S DEED.

§ 5550. Effect of Contents. Upon the expiration of the period for redemption the proper officer must make the purchaser, or the party entitled thereto, a deed of the real property sold. The deed shall be sufficient evidence of the legality of such sale and the proceedings therein, until the contrary is proved, and shall vest in the purchaser or other party as aforesaid as good and perfect a title in the premises therein mentioned and described as was vested in the debtor at or after the time when such real property became liable to the satisfaction of the judgment. And such deed or conveyance, to be made by the sheriff or other officer, must recite the execution or executions, or the substance thereof, and the names of the parties, the amount and date of rendition of such judgment by virtue whereof the said real property was sold as aforesaid, and must be executed, acknowledged or proved and recorded as is or may be provided by law to perfect the conveyance of real property in other cases. § 354, C. Civ. P.

§ 5551. Sheriff's successor may make. If the term of service of the sheriff or other officer, who has made or shall hereafter make sale of any real property shall expire or if the sheriff or other officer shall be absent or be rendered unable by death, or otherwise, to make a deed or conveyance of the same, any succeeding sheriff or other officer may execute to the purchaser or person entitled thereto or his legal representatives a deed of conveyance of said real property so sold: and such deed shall be as good and valid in law and have the same effect as if the sheriff or other officer who made the sale had executed the same. § 355, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 7. — GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 5552. Printer's fees in advance. The officer who levies upon personal property or real property or who is charged with the duty of selling the same by virtue of any writ of execution may refuse to publish a notice of the sale thereof by advertisement in a newspaper, until the party for whose benefit such execution is issued, his agent, or attorney shall advance to such officer so much money as will be sufficient to discharge the fees of the printer for publishing such notice. Before any officer shall be excused from publishing the notice as aforesaid, he must demand of the party for whose benefit the execution was issued, his agent or attorney, if either of them resides in the county, the amount of money for such fees. § 356, C. Civ. P.

§ 5553. Reversal does not defeat judgment. If any judgment, in satisfaction of which any real property is sold, shall at any time thereafter be reversed, such reversal shall not defeat or affect the title of the purchaser; but in such case restitution must be made by the judgment creditor of the money for which such real property was sold with lawful interest thereon from the day of sale. § 357, C. Civ. P.

§ 5554. Execution against principal first. In all cases when judgment is rendered upon any instrument in writing, in which two or more persons are severally bound, and it shall be made to appear to the court by parol or other testimony, that one or more of said persons so bound signed the same as surety or bail for his codefendant, the court must in entering judgment thereon state which of the defendants is principal debtor and which are sureties or bail. And execution issued on such judgment must command the sheriff or other officer to cause the money to be made of the personal property and real property of the principal debtor, but for want of sufficient property of the principal debtor to make the same to cause the same to be made of the personal and real property of the surety or bail. In all cases the property, both personal and real, of the principal debtor within the jurisdiction of the court must be exhausted before any of the property of the surety or bail shall be taken in execution.

§ 359, C. Civ. P.

§ 5555. Amercement of sheriff. If any sheriff or other officer shall refuse or neglect to execute any writ of execution to him directed, which has come to his hands, or to sell any personal or real property, or to return any writ of execution to the proper court on or before the return day, or on demand to pay over to the plaintiff, his agent or attorney of record all moneys by him collected or received for the use of said party at any time after collecting or receiving the same, except as otherwise provided, or on demand made by the defendant, his agent or attorney of record, to pay all surplus received from any sale, such sheriff or other officer shall on motion in court and two days' notice thereof in writing be amerced in the amount of said debt, damages and costs with ten per cent thereon to and for the use of said plaintiff or defendant as the case may be.

§ 360, C. Civ. P.

§ 5556. Same of clerk. If any clerk of a court shall neglect or refuse on demand made by the person entitled thereto, his agent or attorney of record, to pay over all money by him received in his official capacity for the use of such person, every such clerk may be amerced and the proceedings against him and his sureties shall be the same as provided for in the foregoing section against sheriffs and their sureties.

§ 361, C. Civ. P.

§ 5557. Measure of same. When the cause of amercement is for refusing to pay over money collected as aforesaid, the said sheriff or other officer shall not be amerced in a greater sum than the amount so withheld with ten per cent thereon.

§ 362, C. Civ. P.

§ 5558. Return of writ by mail. When execution shall be issued in any county and directed to the sheriff or coroner of another county, it shall be lawful for such sheriff or coroner having the execution after having discharged all the duties required of him by law to inclose such execution by mail to the clerk who issued the same. On proof being made by such sheriff or coroner, that the execution was mailed soon enough to have reached the said clerk within the time prescribed by law, the sheriff or coroner shall not be liable for any amercement or penalty, if it does not reach the office in due time.

§ 363, C. Civ. P.

§ 5559. Procedure against officer. No sheriff shall forward by mail any money made on any such execution, unless he shall be specially instructed to do it by the plaintiff, his agent or attorney of record. In all cases of a motion to amerce a sheriff or other officer of any county other than the one from which the execution issued, notice in writing shall be given to such officer as hereinbefore required by leaving it with him or at his office at least fifteen days before the first day of the term at which such motion shall be made, or by transmitting the notice by mail at least sixty days prior to the first day of the term at which such motion shall be made. All amercements so procured shall be entered on the record of the court and shall have the same force and effect as a judgment.

§ 5560. Surety of sheriff made party. Each and every § 384, C. Civ. P.
surety of any sheriff or other officer may be made a party to the judgment rendered as aforesaid against the sheriff or other officer by action to be commenced and prosecuted as in other cases; but the property, personal or real, of any such surety shall not be liable to be taken on execution, when sufficient property of the sheriff or other officers against whom execution may be issued can be found to satisfy the same. Nothing herein contained shall prevent either party from proceeding against such sheriff or other officer by attachment or other proceeding at his election.

§ 5561. Officer's reimbursement. In cases when a sheriff or § 385, C. Civ. P.
other officer may be amerced and shall not have collected the amount of the original judgment, he must be permitted to take out executions and collect the amount of said judgment in the name of the original plaintiff for his own use.

CHAPTER 12.

PROCEEDINGS SUPPLEMENTARY TO THE EXECUTION.

§ 5562. Examination of debtors for discovery. Procedure. When an execution against property of the judgment § 386, C. Civ. P. debtor, or of any one of the several debtors in the same judgment, issued to the sheriff of the county where he resides or has a place of business or, if he does not reside in the state, to the sheriff of the county, where a judgment roll or a transcript of a justice's judgment for twenty-five dollars or upwards exclusive of costs is filed, is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, the judgment creditor at any time after such return made is entitled to an order from a judge of the court requiring such judgment debtor to appear and answer concerning his property before such judge at a time and place specified in the order within the county to which the execution was issued.

2. After the issuing of an execution against property and upon proof by affidavit of a party or otherwise to the satisfaction of the court or judge thereof, that any judgment debtor residing in the district where such judge resides has property which he unjustly refuses to apply towards the satisfaction of the judgment, such court or judge may by an order require the judgment debtor to appear at a specified time and place to answer concerning the same; and such proceedings may thereupon be had for the application of the property of the judgment debtor towards the satisfaction of the judgment as are provided upon a return of an execution.

3. On an examination under this section either party may examine witnesses in his behalf and the judgment debtor may be examined in the same manner as a witness.

4. Instead of the order requiring the attendance of the judgment debtor, the judge may, upon proof by affidavit or otherwise to his satisfaction that there is danger of the debtor leaving the state or concealing himself and that there is reason to believe he has property which he unjustly refuses to apply to such judgment, issue a warrant requiring the sheriff of any county where such debtor may be to arrest him and bring him before such judge. Upon being brought before the judge he may be examined on oath and, if it then appears that there is danger of the debtor leaving the state, and that he has property which he has unjustly refused to apply to such judgment, ordered to enter into an undertaking with one or more sureties, that he will from time to time attend before the judge as he shall direct and that he will not during the pendency of the proceedings dispose of any portion of his property not exempt from execution. In default of entering into such undertaking he may be committed to prison by warrant of the judge as for contempt.

5. No person shall on examination pursuant to this chapter be excused from answering any question on the ground that his examination will tend to convict him of the commission of a fraud; but his answer shall not be used as evidence against him in any criminal proceeding or prosecution. Nor shall he be excused from answering any question on the ground that he has before the examination executed any conveyance, assignment or transfer of his property for any purpose, but his answer shall not be used as evidence against him in any criminal proceeding or prosecution.

§ 367, C. Civ. P. § 5563. Payment to sheriff by debtor's debtor. After the issuing of execution against property any person indebted to the judgment debtor may pay to the sheriff the amount of his debt, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to satisfy the execution, and the sheriff's receipt shall be a sufficient discharge for the amount so paid.

§ 368, C. Civ. P. § 5564. Examination of debtor's debtor. After the issuing or return of an execution against property of the judgment debtor, or of any one of several debtors in the same judgment, and upon an affidavit that any person or corporation has property of such judgment debtor or is indebted to him in an amount exceeding ten dollars, the judge may by an order require such person or corporation or any officer or member thereof to appear at a specified time and place and answer concerning the same. The judge may also in his discretion require notice of such proceeding to be given to any party to the action in such manner as may seem to him proper. The proceedings mentioned in this section, and in section 5562 may be taken upon the return of an execution unsatisfied, issued upon a judgment recovered in an action against joint debtors, in which some of the defendants have not been served with the summons by which said action was commenced, so far as relates to the joint property of such debtors; and all actions by creditors to obtain satisfaction of judgments out of the property of joint debtors are maintainable in the like manner and to the like effect. These provisions shall apply to all proceedings and actions now pending and not actually terminated by any final judgment or decree.

§ 369, C. Civ. P. § 5565. Witnesses. Attendance compelled. Witnesses may be required to appear and testify on any proceeding under this chapter in the same manner as upon the trial of an issue.

§ 370, C. Civ. P. § 5566. Before referee. Answers on oath. The party or witness may be required to attend before the judge or before a referee appointed by the court or judge; if before a referee, the examination shall be taken by the referee and certified to the judge. All examinations and answers before a judge or referee under this chapter shall be on oath, except that when a corporation answers, the answer shall be on the oath of an officer thereof.

§ 5567. Property applied. Wages exempt. The judge may order any property of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution in the hands either of himself or any other person or due the judgment debtor to be applied towards the satisfaction of the judgment; except that the earnings of the debtor for his personal services at any time within sixty days next preceding the order cannot be so applied when it is made to appear by the debtor's affidavit or otherwise, that such earnings are necessary for the use of a family supported wholly or partly by his labor. § 371, C. Civ. P.

§ 5568. Receiver appointed. Transfers enjoined. The judge may also by order appoint a receiver of the property of the judgment debtor in the same manner and with like authority as if the appointment was made by the court according to section 5403. But before the appointment of such receiver the judge shall ascertain, if practicable, by the oath of the party or otherwise, whether any other supplementary proceedings are pending against the judgment debtor and if such proceedings are so pending, the plaintiff therein shall have notice to appear before him and shall likewise have notice of all subsequent proceedings in relation to said receivership. No more than one receiver of the property of a judgment debtor shall be appointed. The judge may also by order forbid a transfer or other disposition of the property of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution and any interference therewith. § 372, C. Civ. P.

§ 5569. Record of order. Whenever the judge shall grant an order for the appointment of a receiver of the property of the judgment debtor, the same shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court where the judgment roll in the action or transcript from justice's judgment upon which the proceedings are taken, is filed; and the said clerk shall record the order in a book to be kept for that purpose in his office, to be called "book of orders appointing receivers of judgment debtors," and shall note the time of the filing of said order therein. A certified copy of said order shall be delivered to the receiver named therein and he shall be vested with the property and effects of the judgment debtor from the time of the filing and recording of the order as aforesaid. The receiver of the judgment debtor shall be subject to the direction and control of the court in which the judgment was obtained upon which the proceedings are founded. But before he shall be vested with any real property of such judgment debtor, a certified copy of said order shall also be filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which any real estate of such judgment debtor sought to be affected by such order is situated, and also in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which such judgment debtor resides. § 372, C. Civ. P.

§ 5570. Procedure on adverse claims. If it appears that a person or corporation alleged to have property of the judgment debtor, or indebted to him, claims an interest in the property adverse to him or denies the debt, such interest or debt shall be recoverable only in an action against such person or corporation by the receiver; but the judge may by order forbid a transfer or other disposition of such property or interest until a sufficient opportunity is given to the receiver to commence the action and prosecute the same to judgment § 373, C. Civ. P.

and execution; but such order may be modified or dissolved by the judge granting the same at any time on such security as he shall direct.

§ 374, C. Civ. P. § 5571. When reference ordered. The judge may in his discretion order a reference to a referee agreed upon by the parties or appointed by him to report the evidence or the facts and may in his discretion appoint such referee in the first order or at any time.

§ 375, C. Civ. P. § 5572. Allowance of witness' fees and disbursements. The judge may allow to the judgment creditor or any party so examined, whether a party to the action or not, witness' fees and disbursements.

§ 376, C. Civ. P. § 5573. Punishment for contempt. If any person, party or witness disobeys an order of the judge or referee duly served, such person, party or witness may be punished by the judge as for a contempt. And in all cases of commitment under this chapter, the person committed may, in case of inability to perform the act required or to endure the imprisonment, be discharged from imprisonment by the court or judge committing him or the court in which the judgment was rendered on such terms as may be just.

CHAPTER 13.

OF THE COSTS AND DISBURSEMENTS IN CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 377, C. Civ. P.
1, c. 55, 1889. § 5574. Attorney's fees by agreement. Costs, when allowed. The amount of fees of attorneys, solicitors and counsel in civil and criminal actions must be left to the agreement, express or implied, of the parties. But in civil actions there may be allowed to the prevailing party upon the judgment certain sums by way of indemnity for his expenses in the action in addition to the disbursements now allowed by law, which allowances are termed costs.

§ 1, c. 11, 1883. § 5575. Amount of costs in specific cases. When allowed the costs mentioned in section 5574 shall be as follows:

1. To the plaintiff for all proceedings before notice of trial in actions arising on contract for the recovery of money only, five dollars; in other actions, ten dollars; for all proceedings after notice of and before trial, three dollars; for each additional defendant served with process not exceeding ten, one dollar.

2. To the defendant, for all proceedings before notice of trial, five dollars; and for all proceedings after notice of and before trial, three dollars.

3. To either party, when a new trial shall be had, for all proceedings after the granting of and before such new trial, five dollars; for attending upon and taking the deposition of a witness conditionally or attending to perpetuate his testimony, two dollars; for drawing interrogatories to annex to a commission for the taking of testimony, two dollars; for making and serving a case or case containing exceptions, five dollars, except that when the case shall necessarily contain more than fifty folios, there shall be allowed two dollars in addition thereto.

4. For every trial of an issue of fact, five dollars.

5. To either party on appeal to the supreme court before argument, five dollars; for argument, fifteen dollars; and when a judgment is affirmed, the court may in its discretion also award damages for the delay not exceeding ten per cent on the amount of the judgment.

6. To either party for every term not exceeding five, at which the cause is necessarily on the calendar and is not tried or is postponed by order of the court, three dollars; and for every term not exceeding five, excluding the term at which the cause is argued in the supreme court, five dollars.

§ 5576. Attorney's fee in instrument void. Any provision contained in any note, bond, mortgage or other evidence of debt for the payment of an attorney fee in case of default in payment or of proceedings had to collect such note, bond or evidence of debt or to foreclose such mortgage is hereby declared to be against public policy and void. § 1, c. 16, 1889.

§ 5577. Costs on foreclosure of liens. In all actions or proceedings for the foreclosure of a mortgage upon personal property or of a mortgage or other lien upon real property the plaintiff or person commencing such action or proceeding shall be entitled to tax as a part of his costs, when the amount of the debt secured by such mortgage or lien does not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, the sum of twenty-five dollars; when the amount of the debt so secured exceeds five hundred dollars and does not exceed one thousand dollars, the sum of fifty dollars; when the amount of the debt so secured exceeds one thousand dollars and does not exceed two thousand dollars, the sum of seventy-five dollars; when the amount of the debt so secured exceeds two thousand dollars, the sum of seventy-five dollars and in addition thereto two per cent on the amount so secured in excess of two thousand dollars.

§ 5578. Costs taxed in judgment. In all actions and special proceedings the clerk must tax as a part of the judgment in favor of the prevailing party his necessary disbursements as follows: The legal fees of witnesses and of referees and other officers, the necessary expenses of taking depositions and of procuring evidence necessarily used or obtained for use on the trial, the legal fees for publication, when publication is made pursuant to law and the legal fees of the court stenographer for a transcript of the testimony when such transcript is used on motion for a new trial or in preparing a statement of the case. § 379, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5579. Costs allowed to plaintiff. Costs shall be allowed of course to the plaintiff upon a recovery in the following cases: § 381, C. Civ. P. § 2, c. 55, 1883.

1. In an action for the recovery of real property or when a claim of title to real property arises on the pleadings or is certified by the court to have come in question at the trial.

2. In an action to recover the possession of personal property.

3. In the actions of which a justice's court has no jurisdiction.

4. In an action for the recovery of money when the plaintiff shall recover fifty dollars. But in an action for assault, battery, false imprisonment, libel, slander, malicious prosecution, criminal conversation or seduction, if the plaintiff recovers less than fifty dollars damages, he shall recover no more costs and disbursements than damages. And in an action to recover the possession of personal property, if the plaintiff recovers less than fifty dollars damages, he shall recover no more costs and disbursements than damages, unless he recovers also property, the value of which with the damages amounts to fifty dollars, or the possession of property is adjudged to him, the value of which with the damages amounts to fifty dollars; such value must be determined by the jury, court or referee by whom the action is tried. When several actions shall be brought on one bond, recognizance, promissory note, bill of exchange or other instrument in writing, or in any other case for the same cause of action against several parties who might have been joined as defendants in the same action, no costs other than the disbursements heretofore allowed by law shall be allowed to the plaintiff in more than one of such actions, which must be at his election; provided, that the party or parties proceeded against in such action or actions, shall at the time of the commencement of the previous action or actions, have been openly within this state and not secreted. Costs shall be allowed of course to the defendant in the actions mentioned in this section unless the plaintiff is entitled to costs therein.

§ 3, c. 55, 1883.
am'd.

§ 5580. Costs in discretion of court. In actions other than those specified in section 5579 costs may be allowed for or against either party in the discretion of the court. In all actions when there are several defendants not united in interest and making separate defenses by separate answers and the plaintiff fails to recover judgment against all, the court may award costs to such of the defendants as have judgment in their favor.

§ 383, C. Civ. P.

§ 5581. Costs of appeal. Same. In the following cases the costs of an appeal must be in the discretion of the court:

1. When a new trial shall be ordered.
2. When a judgment shall be affirmed in part and reversed in part.

§ 384, C. Civ. P.

§ 5582. On dismissal of action. When an action is dismissed from any court for want of jurisdiction or because it has not been regularly transferred from an inferior to a superior court, the costs must be adjudged against the party attempting to institute or bring up the action.

§ 385, C. Civ. P.

§ 5583. On appeal from justice. Costs must be allowed to the prevailing party in judgments rendered on appeal from justices' courts in all cases, including his costs taxed in the court below.

§ 386, C. Civ. P.

§ 5584. Interest on judgment. When the judgment is for the recovery of money, interest from the time of the verdict or report, until judgment is finally entered, must be computed by the clerk and added to the costs of the party entitled thereto.

§ 387, C. Civ. P.

§ 5585. Notice of taxing. Verification. Items. The clerk must insert in the entry of judgment on the application of the prevailing party upon five days' notice to the other, except when the attorneys reside in the same city, village or town and then upon two days' notice, the sum of the allowances for costs as provided by this code. The costs must be stated in detail and verified by the affidavit of the party or his attorney, stating in substance that the items of costs have been or will necessarily be incurred in the action or proceeding. A copy of the items of the costs and the affidavit must be served with a notice of adjustment. Whenever it shall be necessary to adjust costs in any interlocutory proceeding in an action or in any special proceeding, the same shall be adjusted by the judge before whom the same may be heard, or the court before which the same may be decided or pending, or in such other manner as the judge or court may direct.

§ 5586. Notice of retaxation. Procedure on. Costs may also be taxed without notice. But when they are so taxed notice of retaxation thereof must immediately afterwards be given as prescribed in the last section by the party at whose instance they are taxed, in default whereof the court must upon the application of a party entitled to notice direct a retaxation with costs of the motion to be paid by the party in default. Any sum deducted upon a retaxation must be credited upon the judgment.

§ 5587. Taxation reviewed on motion. A taxation or a retaxation of costs may be reviewed by the court upon motion. The order made upon such motion may allow or disallow any item objected to before the taxing officer, in which case it has the effect of a new taxation. § 380, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5588. Costs of postponement. When an application is made to a court or referee to postpone a trial, the payment of costs occasioned by the postponement may be imposed in the discretion of the court or referee as a condition of granting the same. § 389, C. Civ. P.

§ 5589. Costs on motion. Upon a motion in an action or proceeding costs may be awarded, not to exceed twenty-five dollars, either absolutely or to abide the event of the action, to any party in the discretion of the court.

§ 5590. Against infant plaintiff. When costs are adjudged against a plaintiff, who is an infant or a person of unsound mind, the guardian by whom he appeared in the action must be responsible therefor and payment thereof may be enforced in the manner provided in section 5602. § 390, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5591. Of trustee from trust funds. In an action prosecuted or defended by an executor, administrator, trustee of an express trust or a person expressly authorized by statute costs shall be recovered as in an action by and against a person prosecuting or defending in his own right; but such costs must by the judgment be chargeable only upon or collected of the estate, fund or party represented, unless the court shall direct the same to be paid by the plaintiff or defendant personally for mismanagement or bad faith in such action or defense. § 391, C. Civ. P.

§ 5592. Against state. Exception. In all civil actions prosecuted in the name of the state by an officer duly authorized for that purpose the state shall be liable for the costs in the same cases and to the same extent as private parties. If a private person is joined with the state as plaintiff he shall be liable in the first instance for the defendant's costs, which shall not be recovered of the state until after execution is issued therefor against such private party and returned unsatisfied. § 392, C. Civ. P.

§ 5593. Against party in interest. In an action prosecuted in the name of the state for the recovery of money or property, or to establish a right or claim for the benefit of any county, city, town, village, corporation or person, costs awarded against the party plaintiff shall be charged against the party for whose benefit the action was prosecuted and not against the state. § 393, C. Civ. P.

§ 394, C. Civ. P.

§ 5594. Against assignee. In actions in which the cause of action shall, by assignment after the commencement of the action or in any other manner, become the property of a person not a party to the action, such person shall be liable for the costs, in the same manner as if he was a party and payment thereof may be enforced by attachment.

§ 395, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5595. On change of venue to county sending. In all actions or proceedings, including criminal actions, when a change of venue is had or made by the order of any court or of any judge pursuant to law, except in cases when such change is made because such action was not brought in the proper county, the county in which such action was commenced shall pay to the county in which the same is tried the following expenses arising out of such change of venue:

1. The per diem fees allowed by law to the clerk and all costs and fees of such clerk which are a lawful charge against the county.
2. The per diem fees allowed by law to the petit jurors actually in attendance upon said court.
3. The per diem fees allowed by law to the sheriff for attendance upon said court.
4. All lawful charges for boarding the jurors.
5. The legal fees of all witnesses in any criminal case or proceeding which are a lawful charge against the county.
6. The fees or compensation allowed by law to the court stenographer in attendance upon said court and such other fees allowed to such stenographer in criminal proceedings as are a lawful charge against the county.
7. All other lawful costs, fees and disbursements which are a lawful charge against the county.
8. All lawful charges and fees for subpoenaing witnesses in any criminal case or proceeding which are a proper charge against the county.

The fees of such officers, jurors and stenographer are to be estimated for each day and part of a day, not less than half a day, occupied in trying or disposing of any such action; but no costs shall be paid to the county to which a change of venue is had which are not properly chargeable against such county.

§ 396, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5596. Manner of collecting. The clerk shall make out a correct bill of all the expenses which shall accrue during any such trial as aforesaid and have the same taxed and allowed by the judge of such court; and when so taxed shall without delay transmit the same to the auditor of the county in which such action was commenced, who at the first meeting of the board of county commissioners of such county after receiving such bill shall present the same to such board; and such board shall direct the issuance of a warrant therefor in favor of the county in which such action or proceeding was had or tried, or its assigns.

§ 397, C. Civ. P.

§ 5597. Nonresident must furnish surety. In cases in which the plaintiff is a nonresident of the state or a foreign corporation, the plaintiff must before commencing such action furnish a sufficient surety for costs. The surety must be a resident of the county or subdivision where the action is to be brought and must be approved by the clerk. His obligation shall be complete by simply indorsing the summons or signing his name on the complaint as security for costs.

§ 5598. Responsibility of surety. He shall be bound for the payment of all costs which may be adjudged against the plaintiff in the court in which the action is brought or in any other to which it may be carried, and for costs of the plaintiff's witnesses, whether the plaintiff obtains judgment or not. § 398, C. Civ. P.

§ 5599. Dismissal when security not given. An action in which security for costs is required by the last section and has not been given shall be dismissed on motion and notice by the defendant at any proper time before judgment, unless in a reasonable time to be allowed by the court such security for costs is given. § 399, C. Civ. P.

§ 5600. Security on becoming nonresident. If the plaintiff in an action after its commencement becomes a nonresident of the state, he shall give security for costs in the manner and under the restrictions provided in the two preceding sections. § 400, C. Civ. P.

§ 5601. When additional security demanded. In an action in which security for costs has been given the defendant may at any time before judgment after reasonable notice to the plaintiff move the court for additional security on the part of the plaintiff; and if on such motion the court is satisfied that the surety has removed from this state or is not sufficient the action may be dismissed, unless in a reasonable time to be fixed by the court sufficient surety is given by the plaintiff. § 401, C. Civ. P.

§ 5602. Judgment against surety. After final judgment has been rendered in an action in which security for costs has been given as required by this chapter the court on motion of the defendant, or any other person having a right to such costs or any part thereof after ten days' notice of such motion may enter up judgment in the name of the defendant or his legal representatives against the surety for costs, his executors or administrators, for the amount of the costs adjudged against the plaintiff, or so much thereof as may be unpaid. Execution may be issued on such judgment as in other cases for the use and benefit of the person entitled to such costs. § 402, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 14.

OF APPEALS IN CIVIL ACTIONS.

§ 5603. Appeals to supreme court. A judgment or order in a civil action or in a special proceeding in any of the district courts may be removed to the supreme court by appeal as provided in this chapter and not otherwise. § 1, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5604. Title to action unchanged. The party appealing is known as the appellant and the adverse party as the respondent, but the title of the action is not to be changed in consequence of the appeal. § 2, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5605. Time for appeal. An appeal from a judgment may be taken within one year after the entry thereof by default, or after written notice of the entry thereof in case the party against whom it is entered has appeared in the action, and from an order within sixty § 3, c. 120, 1891.
§ 1, c. 81, 1893.
am'd.

days after written notice of the same shall have been given to the party appealing; provided, that in all actions heretofore or hereafter tried, when the appeal from an order is based upon errors assigned or set out in a statement of the case submitted to the court or judge thereof for settlement within sixty days after the service of such written notice and at least eight days prior to the expiration of such time and such court or judge neglects to settle such statement within the said sixty days, the party appealing shall have thirty days after such statement shall have been settled in which to take an appeal.

§ 5606. How appeal taken. An appeal must be taken by serving a notice in writing signed by the appellant or his attorney on the adverse party and filing the same in the office of the clerk of the court in which the judgment or order appealed from is entered, stating the appeal from the same, and whether the appeal is from the whole or a part thereof and if from a part only, specifying the part appealed from. The appeal shall be deemed taken by the service of a notice of the appeal and perfected on service of the undertaking for costs, or the deposit of money instead, or the waiver thereof as hereinafter prescribed. When service of a notice of appeal and undertaking cannot in any case be made within this state the court may prescribe a mode for serving the same.

§ 5607. Clerk to transmit papers. Upon an appeal being perfected the clerk of the court from which the appeal is taken shall at the expense of the appellant forthwith transmit to the supreme court, if the appeal is from a judgment, the judgment roll; if the appeal is from an order, he shall transmit the order appealed from and the original papers used by each party on the application for such order. The court may, however, in case of either judgment or order upon motion of either party after notice to the adverse party for good cause shown, direct copies to be transmitted instead of the originals. The clerk shall also in all cases transmit to the supreme court the original notice of appeal and the undertaking given thereon; and he shall annex to the papers so transmitted a certificate under his hand and the seal of the court from which the appeal is taken, certifying that they are the original papers or copies as the case may be, and that they are transmitted to the supreme court pursuant to such appeal. No further certificate or attestation shall be necessary; provided, that if the appellant does not within thirty days after his appeal is perfected cause a proper record in the case to be transmitted to the supreme court by the clerk of the district court, the respondent may cause such record to be transmitted by the clerk of the district court to the clerk of the supreme court; and in such case the respondent may recover the expense thereof as costs on such appeal in case the judgment or order appealed from is in whole or in part affirmed.

CODE 5, c. 20, 1887.
6, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5608. Deposit for undertaking. Waiver of. When the appellant is required under any provision of this chapter to give an undertaking he may in lieu thereof deposit with the clerk of court in which the judgment or order appealed from is entered, who shall give him a receipt therefor, a sum of money equal to the amount for which such undertaking is required to be given and in lieu of the service of such undertaking serve a notice of the making of such deposit. Such deposit and notice shall have the same effect as the service of the required undertaking and be held to answer the event of the appeal upon the terms prescribed for the undertaking in lieu of which the same is deposited. Any such undertaking and deposit may be waived in writing by the respondent for whose benefit the same is required to be made and such waiver shall have the same effect as the giving of the undertaking would have had.

§ 5609. Appeal ineffectual without undertaking. To render an appeal effectual for any purpose an undertaking must be executed on the part of the appellant by at least two sureties to the effect that the appellant will pay all costs and damages which may be awarded against him on the appeal not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars.

§ 6, c. 20, 1887.
§ 1, c. 26, 1887.
§ 7, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5610. Execution not stayed without undertaking. If the appeal is from a judgment directing the payment of money, it shall not stay the execution of the judgment unless an undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant by at least two sureties to the effect that if the judgment appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by the judgment, or the part of such amount as to which the judgment shall be affirmed, if it is affirmed only in part, and all damages, which shall be awarded against the appellant on appeal.

§ 7, c. 20, 1887.
§ 8, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5611. Undertaking to stay judgment for delivery of personalty. If the judgment appealed from directs the assignment or delivery of documents or personal property the execution of the judgment shall not be delayed by the appeal, unless the things required to be assigned or delivered are brought into court or placed in the custody of such officer or receiver as the court or presiding judge shall appoint, or unless an undertaking is entered into on the part of the appellant by at least two sureties in such sum as the court or presiding judge thereof shall direct to the effect that the appellant will obey the order of the appellate court on the appeal.

§ 8, c. 20, 1887.
§ 9, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5612. To stay execution of conveyance. If the judgment appealed from directs the execution of a conveyance or other instrument the execution of the judgment shall not be stayed by the appeal, unless the instrument shall have been executed and deposited with the clerk with whom the judgment was entered to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

§ 9, c. 20, 1887.
§ 10, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5613. Of judgment to sell and deliver realty. If the judgment appealed from directs the sale or delivery of possession of real property, except in actions for foreclosure of mortgages, the execution of the same shall not be stayed, unless an undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant by at least two sureties in such sum as the court or presiding judge thereof shall direct to the effect that during the possession of such property by the appellant he will not commit nor suffer to be committed any waste thereon and that if the judgment is affirmed he will pay the value of the use and occupation of the property from the time of the appeal until the delivery of possession thereof pursuant to the judgment.

§ 10, c. 20, 1887.
§ 11, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5614. To stay mortgage sale. If the judgment appealed from directs the sale of mortgaged premises, the execution thereof shall not be stayed by the appeal, unless an undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant by at least two sureties, conditioned for the payment of any deficiency which may arise on such sale, not exceeding such sum as shall be fixed by the court or presiding judge thereof; to be specified in the undertaking, and all costs and damages which may be awarded to the respondent on such appeal.

§ 11, c. 20, 1887.
§ 12, c. 120, 1891.

12, c. 20, 1887.
13, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5615. Abatement of nuisance. If the judgment appealed from directs the abatement or restraint of the continuance of a nuisance, either public or private, the execution of the judgment shall not be stayed by the appeal, unless an undertaking is entered into on the part of the appellant by at least two sureties in such sum as the court or presiding judge thereof shall direct to the effect that the appellant will pay all damages which the opposite party may sustain by the continuance of such nuisance.

13, c. 20, 1887.
14, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5616. Other judgments. If the judgment appealed from directs the doing of any particular act or thing and no express provision is made by statute in regard to the undertaking to be given on appeal therefrom, the execution thereof shall not be stayed by the appeal therefrom, unless an undertaking is entered into on the part of the appellant in such sum as the court or presiding judge thereof shall direct and by at least two sureties to the effect that the appellant will pay all damages which the opposite party may have sustained by not doing the particular thing or act directed to be done by the judgment appealed from and to such further effect as such court or judge shall in discretion direct.

14, c. 20, 1887.
15, c. 120, 1891.
am'd.

§ 5617. Intermediate orders. When the appeal is from an order the execution or performance thereof shall not be delayed, except upon compliance with such conditions as the court or presiding judge thereof shall direct and, when so required, an undertaking shall be executed on the part of the appellant by at least two sureties in such sums and to such effect as the court or presiding judge thereof shall direct; such effect shall be directed in accordance with the nature of the order appealed from, corresponding to the foregoing provisions in respect to appeals from judgments, when applicable and such provision shall be made in all cases as will properly protect the respondent and no appeal from an intermediate order before judgment shall stay proceedings unless the court or presiding judge thereof shall in his discretion so specially order.

15, c. 20, 1887.
16, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5618. Undertaking on orders as to provisional remedies. When a party shall give immediate notice of appeal from an order vacating or modifying a writ of attachment or from an order denying, dissolving or modifying an injunction he may within six days thereafter serve an undertaking executed on his part by at least two sureties in such sum as the court or presiding judge thereof shall direct to the effect that, if the order appealed from or any part thereof is affirmed, the appellant will pay all costs and damages which may be awarded against him on appeal and all which the adverse party may sustain by reason of the continuance of the attachment or the granting or continuance of the injunction as the case may be. Upon the giving of such undertaking such court or judge shall order the attachment to be continued and in his discretion may order the injunction asked to be allowed or that before granted to be continued until the decision of the appeal, unless the respondent shall at any time pending the appeal give an undertaking with sufficient surety in a sum to be fixed by the court or presiding judge to abide and perform any final judgment that shall be rendered in favor of the appellant in the action, but may at any time subsequently vacate such order if the appeal is not diligently prosecuted.

16, c. 20, 1887.
17, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5619. From whom undertaking not required. When the state, or any state officer, or state board, in a purely official capacity, or any municipal corporation within the state shall take an appeal service of the notice of appeal shall perfect the appeal and stay the execution or performance of the judgment or order appealed from and no undertaking need be given; but the supreme court may on motion require sureties to be given in such form and manner as it shall in its discretion prescribe as a condition of the further prosecution of the appeal.

§ 5620. When new undertaking required. The supreme court upon satisfactory proof, that any of the sureties to an undertaking given under this chapter has become insolvent or that his circumstances have become so precarious that there is reason to apprehend that the undertaking is insufficient security, may in its discretion require the appellant to file and serve a new undertaking with such sureties and in such time as shall be prescribed, and that in default thereof the appeal shall be dismissed or the stay of proceedings vacated and the execution or performance of the judgment or order be allowed to be enforced without further delay. § 17, c. 20, 1887.

§ 5621. In one instrument or several. Refusal to stay. The undertakings required by this chapter may be in one instrument or several at the option of the appellant; the original must be filed with a notice of the appeal and a copy showing the residence of the sureties must be served with the notice of appeal. When the sum or effect of any undertaking is required under the foregoing provisions to be fixed by the court or judge at least twenty-four hour's notice of the application therefor shall be given the adverse party. When the court or the judge thereof from which the appeal is taken or desired to be taken shall neglect or refuse to make any order or direction not wholly discretionary, necessary to enable the appellant to stay proceedings upon an appeal, the supreme court, or one of the justices thereof, shall make such order or direction. § 18, c. 20, 1887.
§ 19, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5622. Sureties must justify. An undertaking upon an appeal shall be of no effect, unless it is accompanied by the affidavit of the sureties in which each surety shall state that he is worth a certain sum mentioned in such affidavit over and above all his debts and liabilities in property within this state not by law exempt from execution, and which sum so sworn to by such sureties shall in the aggregate be double the amount specified in said undertaking. The respondent may, however, except to the sufficiency of the sureties within ten days after such notice of the appeal and unless they or other sureties justify in the same manner as bail upon an arrest within ten days thereafter, the appeal shall be regarded as if no undertaking had been given. The justification shall be upon a notice of not less than five days. § 19, c. 20, 1887.

§ 5623. Effect of perfected appeal. Perishable property. Whenever an appeal shall have been perfected and the proper undertaking given or other act done prescribed by this chapter to stay the execution or performance of the judgment or order appealed from, all further proceedings thereon shall be thereby stayed accordingly, except that the court below may proceed upon any other matter included in the action not affected by the judgment or order appealed from and except that the court or the presiding judge thereof may order perishable property held under the judgment or order appealed from to be sold and the proceeds paid into the court to abide the event. § 20, c. 20, 1887.
§ 20, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5624. Reference to ascertain damages. Breach of undertaking. When the amount of damages to be paid by the § 21, c. 20, 1887.
§ 22, c. 120, 1891.

appellant on affirmance of the judgment or order appealed from pursuant to an undertaking is not fixed by the judgment or decision of the supreme court on appeal, the district court may after the remittitur of the record from the supreme court is filed order a reference to ascertain such damages, the expense of which shall be included and recoverable with such damages. In all cases a neglect for the space of thirty days after the affirmance on appeal of a judgment directing the payment of money to pay the amount directed to be paid on such affirmance shall be deemed a breach of the undertaking on such appeal. A neglect for the space of sixty days after the confirmation of a report of a referee, to whom a reference has been ordered for the purpose of ascertaining the damages to be paid on the affirmance of any other judgment or order appealed from, to pay the amount of damages so ascertained and the costs of such reference shall be deemed a breach of the undertaking on such appeal. The dismissal of an appeal by the appellant or by the court for want of prosecution, unless the court shall at the time otherwise expressly order, shall render the sureties upon the undertaking or bond given under this chapter liable in the same manner and to the same extent as if the judgment or order appealed from had been affirmed.

§ 22, c. 20, 1887.
§ 23, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5625. Amendment of appeals. When a party shall in good faith give notice of appeal and shall omit through mistake or accident to do any other act necessary to perfect the appeal to make it effectual or to stay proceedings, the court from which the appeal is taken or the presiding judge thereof or the supreme court, or any one of the justices thereof, may permit an amendment or the proper act to be done on such terms as may be just.

§ 23, c. 20, 1887.
§ 24, c. 120, 1891.
§ 1, c. 83, 1893.

§ 5626. What orders reviewable. The following orders when made by the court may be carried to the supreme court:

1. An order affecting a substantial right made in any action when such order in effect determines the action and prevents a judgment from which an appeal might be taken.
2. A final order affecting a substantial right made in special proceedings or upon a summary application in an action after judgment.
3. When an order grants, refuses, continues or modifies a provisional remedy or grants, refuses, modifies or dissolves an injunction: when it sets aside or dismisses a writ of attachment for irregularity; when it grants or refuses a new trial or when it sustains or overrules a demurrer.
4. When it involves the merits of an action or some part thereof; when it orders judgment on application therefor on account of the frivolousness of a demurrer, answer or reply; or strikes off such demurrer, answer or reply on account of the frivolousness thereof.
5. Orders made by the district court or judge thereof without notice are not appealable; but orders made by the district court after a hearing is had upon notice which vacate or refuse to set aside orders previously made without notice may be appealed to the supreme court when by the provisions of this chapter an appeal might have been taken from such order so made without notice, had the same been made upon notice.

§ 25, c. 120, 1891.
§ 1, c. 121, 1891.
am'd.

§ 5627. Appeal without motion for new trial. Upon an appeal from a judgment the supreme court may review any intermediate order or determination of the court below, which involves the merits and necessarily affects the judgment, appearing upon the record transmitted or returned from the district court, whether the same is excepted to or not; nor shall it be necessary in any case to take any exceptions or settle a statement of the case to enable the supreme court to review any alleged error which would without a statement appear upon the face of the record. Any question of fact or law decided upon trials by the court or by a referee and appearing upon the record properly excepted to in a case in which an exception is necessary may be reviewed by the supreme court, whether a motion for a new trial was or was not made in the court below, but questions of fact shall not be reviewed in the supreme court in cases tried before a jury, unless a motion for a new trial is first made in the court below.

§ 5628. Power of court. Rehearing. What clerk transmits. Upon an appeal from a judgment or order the supreme court may reverse, affirm or modify the judgment or order and as to any and all of the parties; and may, if necessary or proper, order a new trial and if the appeal is from a part of the judgment or order may reverse, affirm or modify it as to the part appealed from. In all cases the supreme court shall remit its judgment or decision to the court from which the appeal was taken to be enforced accordingly; and if from a judgment, final judgment shall thereupon be entered in the court below in accordance therewith, except when otherwise ordered. The clerk of the supreme court shall remit to such court the papers transmitted to the supreme court on the appeal together with the judgment or decision of the supreme court thereon within sixty days after the same shall have been made, unless the supreme court on application of either of the parties shall direct them to be retained for the purpose of enabling such parties to move for a rehearing. In case such motion for a rehearing is denied the papers shall be remitted within twenty days after such denial. The clerk of the supreme court shall in all cases, except when the order or judgment is affirmed also transmit with the papers so returned by him a certified copy of the opinion of the supreme court and his fees for such copy shall be taxed and allowed with his other fees in the case.

§ 25, c. 20, 1887.
§ 26, c. 120, 1891

§ 5629. When new trial ordered. Time limited. In every case on appeal in which the supreme court shall order a new trial or further proceedings in the court below the record shall be transmitted to such court and proceedings had therein within one year from the date of such order in the supreme court, or in default thereof the action shall be dismissed, unless upon good cause shown the court shall otherwise order.

§ 26, c. 20, 1887.
§ 27, c. 120, 1891.

§ 5630. Appeals in cases tried without jury. In all actions tried by the district court without a jury in which an issue of fact has been joined all the evidence offered on the trial shall be received. All testimony which either party desires to offer, or any part thereof, may at his option be taken by deposition. In any trial under the provisions of this section either party may have his objection to any evidence noted as the evidence is offered. Any objections so made may be preserved in the statement of the case herein provided for and reviewed in the supreme court upon appeal; but if no objection is made to the introduction of testimony offered on the trial, no objection to its consideration can be urged upon its review upon appeal in the supreme court. For the purpose of reviewing upon appeal questions as to the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the findings of fact in any action tried under the provisions of this section a statement of the case may be prepared and settled within

§ 1, c. 82, 1893.
am'd.

the time and in the manner provided in article 8 of chapter 10 of this code, which statement shall contain in a narrative form without unnecessary repetition all the evidence offered at the trial. The supreme court shall try the case anew and render final judgment therein according to the justice of the case.

§ 5631. When printed abstracts not required. In civil actions appealed to the supreme court in which the amount of the judgment appealed from, exclusive of costs, does not exceed two hundred dollars no printed abstracts or briefs shall be required of either party; but in case printed copies of the same are not furnished three typewritten copies thereof shall be filed with the clerk of the supreme court at such time as may be required by law or the rules of such court.

§ 1. c. 107, 1895.

§ 5632. When appeals heard. Unless continued for cause all civil cases appealed to the supreme court shall be heard at the next succeeding term of court in either of the cases following:

1. When the appeal is taken sixty days before the first day of the term.

2. When by either party a printed abstract and a printed brief are served twenty-five days before the first day of the term.

CHAPTER 15.

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST JOINT DEBTORS, HEIRS, DEVISEES, LEGATEES AND TENANTS HOLDING UNDER A JUDGMENT DEBTOR.

§ 426, C. Civ. P.

§ 5633. Summons after judgment. When a judgment shall be recovered against one or more of several persons jointly indebted upon a contract by proceeding as provided in section 5261, those who were not originally summoned to answer the complaint and did not appear in the action may be summoned to show cause why they should not be bound by the judgment in the same manner as if they had been originally summoned.

§ 427, C. Civ. P.

§ 5634. Requisites of. The summons provided in the preceding section must be subscribed by the judgment creditor or his attorney, must describe the judgment and require the person summoned to show cause within thirty days after the service of the summons and must be served in like manner as the original summons. It is not necessary to file a new complaint.

§ 428, C. Civ. P.

§ 5635. Accompanied by affidavit. The summons must be accompanied by an affidavit of the person subscribing it, that the judgment has not been satisfied to his knowledge or information and belief and must specify the amount due thereon.

§ 429, C. Civ. P.

§ 5636. Answer. Upon such summons the party summoned may answer within the time specified therein, denying the judgment or setting up any defense which may have arisen subsequently; and he may make the same defense which he might have originally made to the action, except the statute of limitations.

§ 5637. Further pleadings. The party issuing the summons may demur or reply to the answer and the party summoned may demur to the reply; and the issues may be tried and judgment may be given in the same manner as in an action and enforced by execution; or, the application of the property charged to the payment of the judgment may be compelled by proceedings under chapter 34 if necessary. § 430, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5638. Pleadings verified. The answer and reply must be verified in the like cases and manner and be subject to the same rules as the answer and reply in an action. § 431, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 16.

OFFER OF THE DEFENDANT TO COMPROMISE THE WHOLE OR A PART OF THE ACTION.

§ 5639. Judgment offered. Effect. The defendant may at any time before the trial or verdict serve upon the plaintiff an offer in writing to allow judgment to be taken against him for the sum or property or to the effect therein specified with costs. If the plaintiff accepts the offer and gives notice thereof in writing within ten days, he may file the summons, complaint and offer with an affidavit of notice of acceptance and the court or judge thereof must thereupon order judgment accordingly. If the notice of acceptance is not given the offer is to be deemed withdrawn and cannot be given in evidence; and if the plaintiff fails to obtain a more favorable judgment he cannot recover costs, but must pay the defendant's costs from the time of the offer. § 432, C. Civ. P.

§ 5640. Same on counterclaim. If the defendant sets up a counterclaim in his answer to an amount greater than the plaintiff's claim or sufficient to reduce the plaintiff's recovery below fifty dollars, then the plaintiff may serve upon the defendant an offer in writing to allow judgment to be taken against him for the amount specified, or to allow said counterclaim to the amount specified with costs. If the defendant accepts the offer and gives notice thereof in writing within ten days, he may enter judgment as above for the amount specified, if the offer entitles him to judgment, or the amount specified in said offer shall be allowed him in the trial of the action. If notice of acceptance is not given the offer is deemed to be withdrawn and cannot be given in evidence and if the defendant fails to recover a more favorable judgment, or to establish his counterclaim for a greater amount than is specified in said offer, he cannot recover costs, but must pay plaintiff's costs from the time of the offer. § 433, C. Civ. P.

§ 5641. Offer of fixed damages. In an action arising on contract the defendant may with his answer serve upon the plaintiff an offer in writing, that if he fails in his defense the damages be assessed at a special sum; and if the plaintiff signifies his acceptance thereof in writing with or before the notice of trial and on the trial has a verdict, the damages must be assessed accordingly. § 434, C. Civ. P.

§ 435, C. Civ. P.

§ 5642. Plaintiff refusing. Proof. Costs. If the plaintiff does not accept the offer, he must prove his damages as if it had not been made and shall not be permitted to give it in evidence. And if the damages in his favor do not exceed the sum mentioned in the offer, the defendant shall recover his costs incurred in consequence of any necessary preparations or defense in respect to the question of damages.

CHAPTER 17.

ADMISSION OR INSPECTION OF WRITINGS.

§ 436, C. Civ. P.

§ 5643. Admission of genuineness. Refusal. Costs. Either party may exhibit to the other or to his attorney at any time before the trial any paper, material to the action, and request an admission in writing of its genuineness. If the adverse party or his attorney fails to give the admission within four days after the request and if the party exhibiting the paper is afterwards put to costs in order to prove its genuineness and the same is finally proved or admitted on the trial, such costs must be paid by the party refusing the admission, unless it appears to the satisfaction of the court that there were good reasons for the refusal.

§ 437, C. Civ. P.

§ 5644. Copy of documents required. Penalty. The court before which an action is pending, or a judge thereof, may in its or his discretion and upon due notice order either party to give to the other within a specified time an inspection and copy, or permission to take a copy of any books, papers and documents in his possession or under his control, containing evidence relating to the merits of the action or the defense therein. If compliance with the order is refused, the court may on motion exclude the paper from being given in evidence, or punish the party refusing, or both.

CHAPTER 18.

EXAMINATION OF PARTIES.

§ 438, C. Civ. P.

§ 5645. Action for discovery. No action to obtain discovery under oath in aid of the prosecution or defense of another action shall be allowed, nor shall any examination of a party be had on behalf of the adverse party, except in the manner prescribed by this chapter.

§ 438, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5646. Adversary as witness. A party to an action, or in case a corporation is a party, the president, secretary or other principal officer or general managing agent of such corporation, may be examined as a witness at the instance of an adverse party or any of several adverse parties and for that purpose may be compelled in the same manner and subject to the same rules of examination as any other witness to testify either at the trial, or conditionally, or upon commission.

§ 5647. Examination before trial. The examination instead of being had at the trial as provided in the last section may be had at any time before the trial at the option of the party claiming it before a judge of the court on a previous notice to the party to be examined and any other adverse party of at least five days, unless for good cause shown the judge orders otherwise. But the party to be examined shall not be compelled to attend in any other county than that of his residence or where he may be served with a subpoena for his attendance. § 440, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5648. Attendance compelled. Examination filed. The party to be examined as in the last section provided may be compelled to attend in the manner provided in article 2 of chapter 19; and the examination shall be taken and filed with the clerk and may be read by either party on the trial. § 441, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5649. Rebuttal. The examination of the party thus taken may be rebutted by adverse testimony. § 442, C. Civ. P.

§ 5650. Refusal punished as contempt. If a party refuses to attend and testify as in the last four sections provided, he may be punished as for a contempt and his complaint, answer or reply may be stricken out. § 443, C. Civ. P.

§ 5651. Party examined on his own behalf. A party examined by an adverse party as in this chapter provided may be examined on his own behalf, subject to the same rules of examination as other witnesses. § 444, C. Civ. P.

§ 5652. Beneficiary examined. A person for whose immediate benefit the action is prosecuted or defended, though not a party to the action, may be examined as a witness in the same manner and subject to the same rules of examination as if he was named as a party. § 445, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 19.

WITNESSES AND EVIDENCE.

ARTICLE 1.—WHO MAY BE EXCLUDED.

§ 5653. Who not excluded. Husband and wife. Decedent's statement. No person offered as a witness in any action or proceeding in any court, or before any officer or person having authority to examine witnesses or hear evidence, shall be excluded or excused by reason of such person's interest in the event of the action or proceeding; or because such person is a party thereto, or because such person is the husband or wife of a party thereto, or of any person in whose behalf such action or proceeding is commenced, prosecuted, opposed or defended, except as hereinafter provided: § 446, C. Civ. P. § 1, c. 17, 1879. am'd.

1. A husband cannot be examined for or against his wife without her consent, nor a wife, for or against her husband without his consent, nor can either during the marriage or afterwards be, without the consent of the other, examined as to any communication made by one to the other during the marriage; but this subdivision does not apply to a civil action or proceeding by one against the other, nor to a criminal action or proceeding for a crime committed by one against the other.

2. In civil actions or proceedings by or against executors, administrators, heirs at law or next of kin in which judgment may be rendered or order entered for or against them, neither party shall be allowed to testify against the other as to any transaction whatever with or statement by the testator or intestate, unless called to testify thereto by the opposite party. But if the testimony of a party to the action or proceeding has been taken and he shall afterwards die and after his death the testimony so taken shall be used upon any trial or hearing in behalf of his executors, administrators, heirs at law or next of kin, then the other party shall be a competent witness as to any and all matters to which the testimony so taken relates.

ARTICLE 2.—MEANS OF PRODUCING WITNESSES.

- § 5654. Subpœnas issued by whom. Clerks of the supreme and district courts, the judges thereof, notaries public, justices of the peace and referees shall on the application of any person having a cause or any matter pending in court or before any such officer or tribunal issue a subpœna for witnesses inserting all the names required by the applicant in one subpœna, which may be served by any person, not interested in the action, or by the sheriff, coroner or constable; but when served by any person, other than a public officer, proof of service shall be shown by affidavit; but no costs of serving the same shall be allowed, except when served by an officer.
- § 5655. Requisites of. The subpœna shall be directed to the person therein named, requiring him to attend at a particular time and place to testify as a witness; and it may contain a clause directing the witness to bring with him any book, writing or other thing under his control, which he is bound by law to produce as evidence.
- § 5656. For depositions. When the attendance of the witness before any officer authorized to take depositions is required, the subpœna may be issued by such officer.
- § 5657. How served. The subpœna shall be served either by reading or by copy delivered to the witness, or left at his usual place of residence; but such copy need not contain the name of any other witness.
- § 5658. Witness not compelled to attend out of county. A witness shall not be obliged to attend for examination on the trial of a civil action except in the county of his residence, nor to attend to give his deposition out of the county where he resides, or where he may be when the subpœna is served upon him.
- § 5659. Demand of fees in advance. A witness may demand his traveling fees and fee for one day's attendance when the subpœna is served upon him and if the same is not paid the witness shall not be obliged to obey the subpœna. The fact of such demand and non-payment shall be stated in the return.
- § 5660. Examination of prisoner. Any court may by order require an officer having the custody of any person confined in any prison in this state to produce such person before him for oral examination in the county where he is imprisoned; but in all other cases his examination must be by deposition.

§ 5661. Prisoner remains in custody. While a prisoner's deposition is being taken he shall remain in the custody of the officer having him in charge, who shall afford reasonable facilities for the taking of the deposition. § 459, C. Civ. P.

§ 5662. Witness exempt from suit out of his county. A witness shall not be liable to be sued in the county in which he does not reside by being served with a summons in such county while going, returning or attending in obedience to a subpoena. § 460, C. Civ. P.

§ 5663. Demand fees daily. At the commencement of each day after the first day a witness may demand his fees for that day's attendance in obedience to a subpoena and if the same are not paid he shall not be required to remain. § 461, C. Civ. P.

§ 5664. Oath of witness. Before testifying the witness must be sworn to testify as follows: § 462, C. Civ. P.

"You do solemnly swear that the evidence you shall give relative to the matter in difference now in hearing between, plaintiff and, defendant, shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. So help you God."

Any witness who is conscientiously scrupulous of taking the oath above described, shall be allowed to make affirmation, substituting for the words "so help you God," at the end of the oath the following: "This you do affirm under the pains and penalties of perjury."

ARTICLE 3.—MODE OF TAKING THE TESTIMONY OF WITNESSES.

§ 5665. Three modes. The testimony of witnesses is taken in three modes: § 463, C. Civ. P.

1. By affidavit.
2. By deposition.
3. By oral examination.

§ 5666. Affidavit. An affidavit is a written declaration under oath made without notice to the adverse party. § 464, C. Civ. P.

§ 5667. Deposition. A deposition is a written declaration under oath made upon notice to the adverse party for the purpose of enabling him to attend and cross-examine; or upon written interrogatories. § 465, C. Civ. P.

§ 5668. Oral examination. An oral examination is an examination in the presence of the jury or tribunal which is to decide the fact or act upon it, the testimony being heard by the jury or tribunal from the lips of the witness. § 466, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 4.—AFFIDAVIT.

§ 5669. Use of. An affidavit may be used to verify a pleading, to prove the service of a summons, notice or other process in an action, to obtain a provisional remedy, an examination of a witness, a stay of proceedings or upon a motion and in any other case permitted by law. § 467, C. Civ. P.

§ 5670. Where and how made. An affidavit may be made in and out of this state before any person authorized to administer an oath. § 468, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 2, 1885.

ARTICLE 5. — DEPOSITIONS.

§ 469, C. Civ. P. § 5671. Cases when deposition used. The deposition of any witness may be used only in the following cases:

1. When the witness does not reside in the county where the action or proceeding is pending or is sent for trial by change of venue, or is absent therefrom.

2. When from age, infirmity or imprisonment the witness is unable to attend court or is dead.

3. When the testimony is required upon a motion or in any other case when the oral examination of the witness is not required.

§ 470, C. Civ. P. § 5672. When taking commenced. Either party may commence taking testimony by depositions at any time after service upon am'd. or the appearance of the defendant in the action.

ARTICLE 6. — OFFICERS WHO MAY TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

§ 471, C. Civ. P. § 5673. Before whom in state. Depositions may be taken in 6876 1, c. 42, 1883. this state before a judge or clerk of the supreme court or district court, or before a justice of the peace, notary public, United States circuit or district court commissioner or any person empowered by a special commission.

§ 472, C. Civ. P. § 5674. Before whom out of state. Depositions may be taken out of the state by a judge, justice or chancellor or clerk of any court of record, a justice of the peace, notary public, mayor or chief magistrate of any city or town corporate, a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state to take depositions or any person authorized by a special commission from any court of this state.

§ 473, C. Civ. P. § 5675. Ineligibility of officer. The officer before whom depositions are taken must not be a relative or attorney of either party or otherwise interested in the event of the action or proceeding.

§ 474, C. Civ. P. § 5676. Commission to take depositions. Any court of am'd. record of this state, or any judge thereof, is authorized to grant a commission to take depositions within or without the state upon the application of either party upon five days' notice to the other. The commission must be issued to a person or persons therein named by the clerk under the seal of the court granting the same. Depositions under it must be taken upon written interrogatories, direct and cross, which shall be attached to the commission by the clerk issuing the same. Unless the parties agree as to the form of the interrogatories, the same shall be presented to the court or judge granting the commission for settlement upon five days' notice, at which time the court or judge shall settle the same.

ARTICLE 7. — MANNER OF TAKING AND AUTHENTICATING DEPOSITIONS.

§ 475, C. Civ. P. § 5677. Notice to adverse party. Contents. Prior to the am'd. taking of any deposition, unless the same is taken under a commission, a written notice entitled in the action or proceeding in which it is to be used, and specifying the time and place of taking the same shall be served upon the adverse party. The notice shall be served a sufficient time before the day specified therein to allow the adverse party time to attend by the usual route of travel and one day for preparation, exclusive of Sundays and the day of service. The examination may be adjourned from day to day.

§ 5678. When taken without notice. When the summons in an action has been served upon all of the defendants therein in the manner provided by law, and the time allowed such defendants to answer has expired and they have in no way appeared in such action, the plaintiff may take the deposition of any witness without notice to such defendant and such deposition may be introduced in evidence in the action and shall have the same force and effect as a deposition taken upon notice.

§ 5679. Notice by publication. When the party against whom the deposition is to be read is absent from or is not a resident of the state and has no agent or attorney therein upon whom service may be made, notice of the taking of a deposition may be served upon him by publishing the same three times, once in each week for three successive weeks in some newspaper printed in the county where the action or proceeding is pending, if one is printed in such county; and if not, in some newspaper printed at the seat of government of this state. Personal service of the notice on the defendant out of the state shall be equivalent to such publication.

§ 476, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5680. Written and subscribed. The deposition must be written by the officer, or in his presence by the witness, or some disinterested person; and must be subscribed by the witness.

§ 477, C. Civ. P.

§ 5681. How returned. Opening. A deposition so taken shall be sealed up and indorsed with the title of the cause and the name of the officer taking the same and by him addressed and transmitted to the clerk of the district court of the county in which the action or proceeding is pending, if the same is pending in the district court; otherwise to the court, officer or tribunal in which the action or proceeding is pending. It shall remain under seal until opened by order of the court, officer or tribunal or at the request of a party to the action or proceeding, or his attorney.

§ 478, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5682. How far may be used. When a deposition has once been taken it may be read in any stage of the same action or proceeding, or in any other action or proceeding upon the same matter between the same parties, subject, however, to all such exceptions as may be taken thereto under the provisions of this chapter. A deposition shall be deemed the evidence of the party reading it.

§ 479, C. Civ. P.

§ 5683. How authenticated. Depositions taken pursuant to this chapter by any judicial or other officer herein authorized to take depositions, having a seal of office, whether resident in this state or elsewhere, shall be admitted in evidence upon the certificate and signature of such officer, under the seal of the court of which he is an officer, or his official seal and no other or further act or authentication shall be required. If the officer taking the same has no official seal the deposition, if not taken in this state, shall be certified and signed by such officer and shall be further authenticated, either by parol proof adduced in court or by the official certificate and seal of any secretary or other officer of the state, keeping the great seal thereof, or of a clerk or prothonotary of any court having a seal, attesting that such judicial or other officer was at the time of taking the same within the meaning of this chapter authorized to take the same. But if the deposition is taken within or without this state under a special commission it shall be sufficiently authenticated by the official signature of the officer or commissioner taking the same.

§ 480, C. Civ. P.

§ 5684. Certificate to deposition. The officer taking the deposition shall annex thereto a certificate showing the following facts:

1. That the witness was first sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.
2. That the deposition was reduced to writing by some proper person, naming him.
3. That the deposition was written and subscribed in the presence of the officer certifying thereto.
4. That the deposition was taken at the time and place specified in the notice.

§ 5685. What shown before reading. When a deposition is offered to be read in evidence it must appear to the satisfaction of the court that for some cause specified in section 5671 of this code the attendance of the witness cannot be procured.

§ 5686. When filed. Every deposition intended to be read in evidence on the trial must be filed at least one day before the trial.

ARTICLE 8.—EXCEPTIONS TO DEPOSITIONS.

§§ 484, 485, C. Civ. P. am'd. § 5687. How and when exceptions taken. Exceptions to a deposition on the ground of incompetency or irrelevancy may be made at the time the same is offered in evidence; other exceptions to a deposition must be made in writing, specifying the grounds of objections and filed in the cause before the commencement of the trial.

§ 486, C. Civ. P. § 5688. When questions on heard. The court shall on motion of either party hear and decide the questions arising on exceptions to depositions before the commencement of the trial.

§ 487, C. Civ. P. § 5689. How errors waived. Errors of the court in its decisions upon exceptions to depositions are waived unless excepted to.

ARTICLE 9.—OF PUBLIC DOCUMENTS, RECORDS, ETC.

§ 488, C. Civ. P. am'd. § 5690. Statutes, codes, decisions, when admissible as evidence. Books purporting to be printed or published under the authority of any other state, territory or foreign country and purporting to contain the statutes, codes or other written law of such state, territory or country, or proved to be commonly admitted in the tribunals of such state, territory or country as evidence of the written law thereof, are admissible in this state as evidence of such law. The unwritten or common law of any other state, territory or country may be proved as facts by parol evidence; and the books of reports of cases adjudged in their courts may also be admitted as presumptive evidence of such law.

§ 489, C. Civ. P. am'd. § 5691. Copies of judicial records. Copies of the records and judicial proceedings of any court of the United States, or of any state or territory of the United States shall be admissible as evidence in this state, when attested by the clerk with the seal of the court annexed, if there is a seal, together with a certificate of the judge, chief justice or presiding magistrate that the attestation is in due form, and the said records and judicial proceedings so authenticated shall have such faith and credit given to them in every court within this state as they have by law or usage in the courts of the United States or of the state or territory from which they are taken.

§ 5692. Same of foreign countries. A judicial record of a foreign country may be proved by the attestation of the clerk with the seal of the court annexed, if there is a clerk and seal, or of the legal keeper of the record with the seal of his office annexed, if there is a seal, together with the certificate of the chief judge or presiding magistrate that the person making the attestation is the clerk of the court, or the legal keeper of the record, and in either case, that the signature of such person is genuine and that the attestation is in due form. The signature of the chief judge or presiding magistrate must be authenticated by the certificate of the minister, ambassador or a consul, vice consul or consular agent of the United States in such foreign country.

§ 5693. How proof of publication made. Proof of the publication of a document or notice required by law or by an order of the court or judge to be published in a newspaper may be made by the affidavit of the publisher or printer of the newspaper, or his foreman, clerk or bookkeeper, annexed to a copy of the document or notice, specifying the paper in which and the times when the publication was made.

§ 490, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5694. Transcript of justice's record. A transcript of the docket record of a justice of the peace in an action or proceeding, when certified by such justice or his successor in office, shall be evidence to prove the facts contained in such transcript in any action or other proceeding in the county or subdivision wherein such record was made.

§ 491, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5695. How used in another county. Such transcript may be read in evidence in another county or subdivision, when there shall be attached thereto a certificate of the clerk of the district court of the county or subdivision in which such record was made under the seal of the court, to the effect that the person subscribing such transcript was at the date thereof a justice of the peace of the county; and also if the judgment was rendered by another, that such other was at the time of the making of the same a justice of the peace of the county.

§ 492, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5696. Acknowledged instruments, when record evidence. Every instrument conveying or affecting real property acknowledged, or proved and certified as provided in the civil code may together with the certificate of acknowledgment or proof be read in evidence in an action or proceeding without further proof; the record of such instrument, or a duly authenticated copy of the record, may also be read in evidence with the like effect as the original on proof by affidavit or otherwise that the original is not in the possession or under the control of the party producing such record or copy.

§§ 493, 494, C.
Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5697. Entries by public officers. Entries in public or other official books or records, made in the performance of his duty by a public officer of this state, or by another person in the performance of a duty specially enjoined by law are prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein.

§ 495, C. Civ. P.

§ 5698. Same. An entry made by an officer, or board of officers, or under the direction and in the presence of either in the course of official duty is prima facie evidence of the facts stated in such entry.

§ 496, C. Civ. P.

§ 5699. How official documents proved. Official documents may be proved as follows:

1. The acts of the executive of this state, by a copy of the records of the state department thereof, and of the United States, by a copy of the records of the state department thereof, certified by the heads of those departments respectively. They may also be proved by publications thereof printed by order of the legislative assembly or congress, or either house thereof.

2. The proceedings of the legislative assembly of this state or of congress, by the journals of those bodies respectively, or either house thereof, or by copies printed by their order or certified by the clerk.

3. The acts of the executive or the proceedings of the legislature of a sister state, in the same manner.

4. The acts of the executive or the proceedings of the legislature of a foreign country, by publications purporting to be made by their authority and to contain a record of such acts, or commonly received in that country as such, or by a copy of the official record of such act certified under the seal of the country or sovereign, or by a recognition thereof in some public act of the executive of the United States.

5. Acts of a municipal corporation of this state, or of a board or department thereof, by a copy of the official record of such acts, certified by the legal keeper thereof, or by a printed book purporting to be published by the authority of such corporation and to contain a record of such acts.

6. Documents of any other class in this state by the original or by a copy, certified by the legal keeper thereof.

7. Documents of any other class in a sister state, by the original or by a copy, certified by the legal keeper thereof together with the certificate of the secretary of state, judge of the supreme, superior or county court, or mayor of a city of such state that the copy is duly certified by the officer, who at the date of the certificate had the legal custody of the original.

8. Documents in the departments of the United States government, by the certificate of the legal custodian thereof.

§ 497, C. Civ. P.

§ 5700. Requisites of certificate to copy. Whenever a copy of a writing is certified for the purpose of evidence, the certificate must state in substance that the copy is a correct copy of the original, or of a specified part thereof, as the case may be. The certificate must be under the official seal of the certifying officer, if there is any, or if he is a clerk of a court having a seal, under the seal of such court.

§ 498, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5701. When person deemed dead. If any person upon whose life any estate in real property depends remains without the United States, or absents himself in the state or elsewhere for seven years together, such person must be accounted naturally dead in any action or proceeding concerning such property in which his death shall come in question, unless it is affirmatively proved that he was alive during that time.

§ 1, c. 82, 1895.

§ 5702. Probable duration of life. In all cases in which the probable duration of the natural life of any person from and after a particular age is material, the statistical tables known as the Carlisle tables of mortality are competent evidence of such probable duration or expectation of life.

§ 499, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5703. Confidential relations inviolate. A person cannot be examined as a witness in the following cases:

1. An attorney cannot, without the consent of his client, be examined as to any communication made by the client to him, or his advice given thereon in the course of professional employment.

2. A clergyman or priest cannot, without the consent of the person making the confession, be examined as to any confession made to him in his professional character in the course of discipline enjoined by the church to which he belongs.

3. A physician or surgeon cannot, without the consent of his patient, be examined as to any information acquired in attending the patient which was necessary to enable him to prescribe or act for the patient.

4. A public officer cannot be examined as to communications made to him in official confidence, when the public interests would suffer by the disclosure.

§ 5704. How waived. If a person offers himself as a witness, that is to be deemed a consent to the examination, also, of an attorney, clergyman, priest, physician or surgeon on the same subject within the meaning of the first three subdivisions of the preceding section. § 500, C. Civ. P.

§ 5705. When judge or juror witness. The judge himself, or any juror may be called as a witness by either party; but in such case it is in the discretion of the court or judge to order the trial to be postponed and to take place before another judge or jury. § 501, C. Civ. P.

§ 5706. Interpreters. Oath. When the witness does not understand and speak the English language, an interpreter must be sworn to interpret for him. Any person, a resident of the proper county, may be subpoenaed by any court or judge to appear before such court or judge to act as an interpreter in any action or proceeding. The subpoena must be served and returned in like manner as a subpoena for a witness. Any person so subpoenaed who fails to attend at the time and place named in the subpoena is guilty of contempt. The oath of the interpreter shall be as follows: § 502, C. Civ. P.

"You do solemnly swear that you will justly, truly and impartially interpret to the oath about to be administered to him; and the questions which may be asked him, and the answers that he shall give to such questions, relative to the cause now under consideration before this court (or officer). So help you God."

If the interpreter has conscientious scruples as to taking an oath he may affirm in form as heretofore provided in case of witnesses.

ARTICLE 10.—PROCEEDINGS TO PERPETUATE TESTIMONY.

§ 5707. Requisites of petition. The testimony of a witness may be taken and perpetuated in the following manner: The applicant must produce to the judge of the district court a petition verified by the oath of the applicant, stating: § 503, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. That the applicant expects to be a party to an action in a court in this state and the names of the persons whom he expects will be adverse parties; or,

2. That the proof of some fact is necessary to perfect the title to property in which he is interested, or to establish marriage, descent, heirship or any other matter which it may thereafter become material to establish, though no action may at the time be anticipated, or, if anticipated, the names of the parties to such action are unknown to the applicant; and,

3. The name of the witness to be examined, his place of residence and a general outline of the facts expected to be proved. The judge to whom such petition is presented shall make an order allowing the examination and designating the officer before whom the same shall be taken and prescribing the notice to be given, which notice, if the parties expectant are known and reside in this state, must be personally served; if the parties reside out of the state or are unknown, such notice shall be served in such manner as the judge shall by order direct. The judge must also designate in his order the clerk of the district court to whom the deposition shall be returned when taken.

§ 5708. Officer's authority to act. The officer designated by the judge to take the deposition is authorized, if a resident of this state, on receiving a copy of the order of the judge, and of the notice prescribed in the last section with proof of its service or, if a resident without the state, on receiving the commission mentioned in the next section with proof of service, to take the deposition of the witnesses named in the order of the judge or in the commission and the taking of the same may be continued from time to time.

§ 5709. How examination made and authenticated. The examination must be by question and answer, and if the testimony is to be taken in any other state, it must be taken upon a commission to be issued by the judge allowing the examination under the seal of the court of which he is judge and upon interrogatories to be settled in the same manner as in case of depositions taken under commission in pending actions, unless the parties expectant otherwise agree. If such parties are unknown, notice of the settlement of the interrogatories shall be published in some newspaper for such time as the judge may designate. The deposition, when completed, must be carefully read to and subscribed by the witness and shall then be authenticated and returned in the manner provided in article 7 of chapter 19. The order allowing the examination and the petition on which the same was granted with proof of service of the order and notice shall be filed with the clerk to whom the deposition is directed to be returned.

§ 5710. Papers filed evidence of what. The petition, order and papers filed as provided in the last section or a certified copy thereof are prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein to show compliance with the provisions of this article.

§ 507, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5711. When depositions may be used. If a trial is had between the applicant and the persons named in the petition as parties expectant, or their successors in interest, or between any parties, wherein it may be material to establish the facts which such depositions prove or tend to prove, upon proof of the death or insanity of the witnesses, or that they cannot be found, or are unable by reason of age or other infirmity to give their testimony, the depositions, or certified copies thereof, may be used by either party, subject to all legal objections, which shall be taken in the manner prescribed in section 5687; but if the parties attend at the examination, no objection to the form of an interrogatory can be made at the trial, unless the same was stated at the examination.

§ 5712. Same effect as oral testimony. The deposition so taken and read in evidence has the same effect as the oral testimony of the witness and no other and every objection to the witness or to the relevancy of any question put to him or answer given by him may be made in the same manner as if he was examined orally at the trial.

§ 5713. Costs paid by whom. The applicant shall pay the costs of all such proceedings. § 508, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 20.

MOTIONS AND ORDERS.

§ 5714. Order defined. Every direction of a court or judge, made or entered in writing, and not included in a judgment, is denominated an order. § 509, C. Civ. P.

§ 5715. Motions defined. An application for an order is a motion. § 510, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 85, 1893.

§ 5716. Where heard. Motions upon notice may be heard by a judge of a district court in which the action or proceeding is not pending in the cases provided by law only, either in the district in which the action or proceeding is pending or in an adjoining district; but such motions when heard by the judge of the district in which the action or proceeding is pending can be heard only in such district. § 510, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 85, 1893.

§ 5717. Preferred motions. A motion to vacate or modify a provisional remedy and an appeal from an order allowing a provisional remedy shall have preference over all other motions and appeals. § 510, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 85, 1893.

§ 5718. Order staying proceedings. Reference to take testimony. No order to stay proceedings for a longer time than twenty days shall be granted, except to stay proceedings under an order or judgment appealed from or upon previous notice to the adverse party. When any party intends to make or oppose a motion in any court and it shall be necessary for him to have the affidavit of any person, who shall have refused to make the same, such court may by order appoint a referee to take the affidavit or deposition of such person. Such person may be subpoenaed and compelled to attend and make an affidavit before such referee the same as before a referee to whom it is referred to try an issue and the fees of such referee for such service shall be three dollars per day. § 510, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 85, 1893.

§ 5719. Order shall describe papers on which made. When an order of the district court is made, which under the laws regulating appeals to the supreme court is an appealable order, such order shall upon its face by apt words briefly describe the affidavits, documents, papers and evidence upon which the order is made and the judges may at their discretion refuse to sign orders not so framed and the supreme court may at its discretion dismiss any appeal from an order which is not framed substantially in accordance with the requirements of this section. § 510, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 85, 1893.

§ 5720. Orders without notice. Any order of the district court made without notice to the adverse party may be vacated or modified without notice by the judge who made it or the same may be vacated or modified on notice in the manner in which other motions are made. § 510, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 85, 1893.

§ 511, C. Civ. P.
1. c. 119, 1885.

§ 5721. Service of notice. When notice of motion is necessary it must be served eight days before the time appointed for the hearing, but the court or judge may by order to show cause prescribe a shorter time.

§ 512, C. Civ. P.

§ 5722. Extension of time. The time within which any proceedings in an action must be had after its commencement, except the time within which an appeal must be taken may be enlarged upon an affidavit showing grounds therefor by a judge of the court. The affidavit or a copy thereof must be served with a copy of the order or the order may be disregarded.

CHAPTER 21.

NOTICES AND FILING AND SERVICE OF PAPERS.

§ 513, C. Civ. P.

§ 5723. Notices must be in writing. Notices shall be in writing; and notices and other papers may be served on the party or attorney in the manner prescribed in the next three sections, when not otherwise provided by this code.

§ 514, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5724. How served. The service may be personal by delivery to the party or attorney on whom the service is required to be made; or it may be as follows:

1. If upon an attorney, it may be made during his absence from his office by leaving the paper with his clerk therein, or with a person having charge thereof; or when there is no person in the office by leaving it between the hours of six in the morning and nine in the evening in a conspicuous place in the office; or if it is not open so as to admit of such service, then by leaving it at the attorney's residence with some person of suitable age and discretion.

2. If upon a party it may be made by leaving the paper at his residence between the hours of six in the morning and nine in the evening with some person of suitable age and discretion.

§ 515, C. Civ. P.

§ 5725. By mail, when. Service by mail may be made when the person making the service and the person on whom it is to be made reside in different places between which there is a regular communication by mail.

§ 516, C. Civ. P.

§ 5726. Method of. In case of service by mail the paper must be deposited in the post office, addressed to the person on whom it is to be served at his place of residence and the postage paid.

§ 517, C. Civ. P.

§ 5727. Same. Double time. When the service is by mail it shall be double the time required in cases of personal service, except service of notice of trial which may be made sixteen days before the day of trial including the day of service.

§ 518, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5728. Personal. Eight days. Notice of a motion or other proceeding before a court or judge, when personally served, shall be given at least eight days before the time appointed therefor.

§ 519, C. Civ. P.

§ 5729. When notice unnecessary. When a defendant shall not have demurred or answered, service of notice or papers in the ordinary proceedings in an action need not be made upon him, unless he is imprisoned for want of bail, but shall be made upon him or his attorney if notice of appearance in the action has been given.

§ 5730. Service on nonresident. When a plaintiff or a defendant who has demurred or answered, or gives notice of appearance resides out of the state and has no attorney in the action the service may be made by mail, if his residence is known; if not known, on the clerk of the court for the party. § 520, C. Civ. P.

§ 5731. When summons and pleadings filed. The summons and the several pleadings in an action shall be filed with the clerk within ten days after the service thereof respectively, or the adverse party on proof of the omission shall be entitled without notice to an order from a judge that the same be filed within a time to be specified in the order or be deemed abandoned. § 521, C. Civ. P.

§ 5732. Service upon attorney. When a party shall have an attorney in the action, the service of papers shall be made upon the attorney instead of the party. § 522, C. Civ. P.

§ 5733. Certain process not included. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to the service of a summons, or other process, or of any paper to bring a party into contempt. § 523, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 22.

DUTIES OF SHERIFFS AND CORONERS.

§ 5734. Service of papers. Whenever pursuant to this code the sheriff may be required to serve or execute any summons, order or judgment, or to do any other act, he shall be bound to do so in like manner as upon process issued to him and shall be equally liable in all respects for neglect of duty; and if the sheriff is a party, the coroner shall be bound to perform the service, as he is now bound to execute process when the sheriff is a party; and the provisions of this code relating to the sheriff shall apply to coroners when the sheriff is a party. The sheriffs and coroners of the several counties in which the district courts are held shall have and exercise the same power and authority in the service of papers and the execution of writs and process of such courts in any county or place within the subdivision of which this county forms a part as they have or can exercise in their own county. § 524, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 23.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

- § 525, C. Civ. P. § 5735. Copy of lost papers. If any process, original pleadings or any other paper is lost or withheld by any person the court may authorize a copy thereof to be filed and used instead of the original.
- § 526, C. Civ. P. § 5736. Undertakings, where filed. The various undertakings required to be given by this code must be filed with the clerk of the court, unless the court expressly provides for a different disposition thereof, except that the undertakings provided for in this code for the claim and delivery of personal property shall after the justification of the sureties be delivered by the sheriff to the parties respectively for whose benefit they are taken.
- § 527, C. Civ. P. § 5737. No title required to affidavits. It shall not be necessary to entitle an affidavit in the action, but an affidavit made without a title or with a defective title shall be as valid and effectual for every purpose as if it was duly entitled, if it intelligibly refers to the action or proceeding in which it is made.
- § 528, C. Civ. P. § 5738. Consolidating actions. When two or more actions are pending at one time between the same parties and in the same court upon causes of action which might have been joined, the court may order the actions to be consolidated.
- § 529, C. Civ. P. § 5739. When action deemed pending. An action is deemed to be pending from the time of its commencement until its final determination upon appeal, or until the time for appeal has passed, unless the judgment is sooner satisfied.
- § 530, C. Civ. P. § 5740. Clerk's register of actions. The clerk must keep among the records of the court a register of actions. He must enter therein the title of the action with brief notes under it from time to time of all papers filed and proceedings had therein.

CHAPTER 24.

ACTIONS IN PLACE OF SCIRE FACIAS, QUO WARRANTO AND OF INFORMATION IN THE NATURE OF QUO WARRANTO.

- § 531, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5741. Remedies obtainable by action instead of writ. The remedies formerly attainable by the writ of scire facias, the writ of quo warranto and proceedings by information in the nature of quo warranto may be obtained by civil action in the district court under the provisions of this chapter and of chapter 26.
- § 5742. Who plaintiff. When the action is prosecuted by the attorney general, the state of North Dakota shall be plaintiff; when it is prosecuted by a private person, such person shall be the plaintiff therein and the proceedings in such action shall be the same as in an action by a private person, except as otherwise specially provided.

§ 5743. Against usurping officer, etc. An action may be commenced by the state, or any person who has a special interest in the action, against the parties offending in the following cases: § 534, C. Civ. P. am'd.

1. When any person shall usurp, intrude into or unlawfully hold or exercise any public office, civil or military, or any franchise within this state, or any office in a corporation created by the authority of this state; or,

2. When any public officer, civil or military, shall have done or suffered an act which by the provisions of law shall make a forfeiture of his office; or,

3. When any association or number of persons shall act within this state as a corporation without being duly incorporated.

§ 5744. Security for costs from private party. Before commencing an action under this chapter at the request of a party having an interest therein the attorney general may require as a condition of commencing the same, that satisfactory security be given to indemnify the state against costs and expenses which may be incurred therein. § 535, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5745. Complaint for usurping office. Arrest of defendant. The complaint in an action commenced against a person for usurping an office in addition to the statement of the cause of action may also set forth the name of the person rightfully entitled to the office with a statement of his right thereto; and in such case upon proof by affidavit that the defendant has received fees or emoluments belonging to the office and by means of his usurpation thereof, an order may be granted by the judge of the court for the arrest of such defendant and holding him to bail; and thereupon he shall be arrested and held to bail in the manner and with the same effect and subject to the same rights and liabilities as in other civil actions in which the defendant is subject to arrest. § 536, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5746. What judgment shall include. In every such case judgment shall be rendered upon the right of the defendant and also upon the right of the party so alleged to be entitled, or only upon the right of the defendant as justice shall require. § 537, C. Civ. P.

§ 5747. When claimant takes office. If judgment is rendered upon the right of the person so alleged to be entitled and the same is in favor of such person he shall be entitled after taking the oath of office and executing such official bond as may be required by law to take upon himself the execution of the office; and it shall be his duty immediately thereafter to demand of the defendant in the action all the books and papers in his custody or within his power, belonging to the office from which he shall have been excluded. § 538, C. Civ. P.

§ 5748. Refusal to deliver. Punishment. If the defendant refuses or neglects to deliver any of the books or papers, demanded as prescribed in the last section, he is guilty of a misdemeanor; and the court, or a judge thereof, may by order put the person entitled to the office in possession thereof and of all the books and papers belonging thereto; and any party refusing to deliver the same, when ordered as aforesaid, shall be punished as for a contempt. § 539, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5749. Damages for usurpation. If judgment is rendered upon the right of the person so alleged to be entitled in favor of such person, he may recover by action the damages which he shall have sustained by reason of the usurpation by the defendant of the office from which such defendant has been excluded. § 540, C. Civ. P.

§ 541, C. Civ. P.

§ 5750. Joinder of several claimants. When several persons claim to be entitled to the same office or franchise, one action may be brought against all such persons, in order to try their respective rights to such office or franchise.

§ 542, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5751. Judgment against intruder. When a defendant against whom such action shall have been commenced shall be adjudged guilty of usurping, intruding into or unlawfully holding or exercising any office, franchise or privilege, judgment shall be rendered that he be excluded from such office, franchise or privilege and also that the plaintiff recover costs against him. The court may also in its discretion impose upon such defendant a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, which fine when collected shall be paid into the treasury of the state to the credit of the school fund.

CHAPTER 25.

ACTIONS BY THE STATE TO ANNUL PATENTS.

§ 5752. When authorized. Duty of attorney general. The state may bring an action to vacate or annul letters patent for lands granted by this state in either of the following cases:

1. When they were obtained by means of a fraudulent suggestion or concealment of a material fact made by or with the knowledge or consent of the person to whom they were issued.

2. When they were issued in ignorance of a material fact or through mistake.

3. When the patentee, or those claiming under him, have done or omitted an act in violation of the terms and conditions upon which the letters patent were granted, or have by any other means forfeited the interest acquired under the same.

Whenever the attorney general has good reason to believe that any act or omission specified in this section can be proved and that the person to be made defendant has no sufficient legal defense, he must commence such an action.

CHAPTER 26.

ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST CORPORATIONS.

ARTICLE 1. — GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 5753. Averments as to incorporation. In an action by or against a corporation the complaint must aver that the plaintiff or the defendant as the case may be is a corporation. If incorporated under any law of this state, that fact must be averred; if not so incorporated, an averment that it is a foreign corporation is sufficient. The complaint need not set forth or specially refer to any act or proceeding by or under which the corporation was formed.

§ 5754. When plaintiff not required to prove existence. In an action by or against a corporation the plaintiff need not prove upon the trial the existence of the corporation, unless the answer is verified and contains an allegation, positive and not upon information and belief, that the plaintiff or the defendant, as the case may be, is not a corporation. § 1, c. 37, 1885.
am'd.

§ 5755. When misnomer waived. In actions or proceedings by or against corporations the defendant is deemed to have waived any mistake in the statement of the corporate name, unless the misnomer is pleaded in the answer or other pleading in the defendant's behalf.

§ 5756. Foreign corporation may sue, defend, etc. A corporation created by or under the laws of any other state, territory or country or of the United States may prosecute or defend an action or proceeding in the courts of this state in the same manner as corporations created under the laws of this state, except as otherwise specially prescribed by law. But such foreign corporation cannot maintain any action founded upon an act or upon any liability or obligation, express or implied, arising out of or made or entered into in consideration of any act which the laws of this state forbid a corporation or any association of individuals to do without express authority of law.

§ 5757. Against foreign corporation which has ceased to exist. An action for the recovery of money may be commenced and prosecuted to judgment against a corporation created by or under the laws of any other state, territory or country, or of the United States, although such corporation may have ceased from any cause whatever to act in whole or in part as a corporation, in the same manner as though it had not so ceased to act; and satisfaction of the judgment may be enforced out of any property in this state which such corporation owns or has an interest in or would own or have an interest in, had the same not ceased to act as aforesaid, whether held or controlled by such corporation or by any person or agent for its use and benefit in whole or in part, or by a trustee or assignee for the creditors of such corporation appointed under or deriving his authority from the laws of any other state, territory or country, and an attachment issued in such action may be executed on any such property.

ARTICLE 2. — ACTIONS AGAINST OFFICERS.

§ 5758. For what authorized. An action may be maintained against one or more trustees, directors, managers or other officers of a corporation to procure a judgment for the following purposes or so much thereof as the case requires:

1. Compelling the defendants to account for their official conduct in the management and disposition of the funds and property committed to their charge.

2. Compelling them to pay to the corporation which they represent or to its creditors any money, and the value of any property which they have acquired to themselves or transferred to others or lost or wasted by violation of their duties, or to transfer any such property held by them to the corporation.

3. Suspending a defendant from exercising his office, when it appears that he has abused his trust.

4. Removing a defendant from his office upon proof or conviction of misconduct and directing a new election to be held by the body or board duly authorized to hold the same in order to fill the vacancy created by the removal or when there is no such body or board, or when all the members thereof are removed, directing the removal to be reported to the secretary of state, who may fill the vacancy.

5. Setting aside an alienation of property made by one or more trustees, directors, managers or other officers of a corporation, contrary to a provision of law or for a purpose foreign to the lawful business and objects of the corporation, when the alienee knew or had notice of the purpose of the alienation.

6. Restraining and preventing such alienation, when it is threatened, or when there is good reason to apprehend that it will be made.

§ 5759. Who may bring. An action may be commenced as prescribed in the last section by the state, or, except when the action is brought for the purpose specified in subdivisions 3 and 4 of said section, by a creditor of the corporation, or by a trustee, director, manager or other officer of the corporation, having a general superintendence of its concerns, or by a stockholder of the corporation upon the neglect or refusal of such officer so to do at the request of such stockholder.

§ 5760. Visitorial power not divested. This article does not divest or impair any visitorial power over a corporation which is vested by a statute in a public officer or board.

ARTICLE 3. — ACTIONS AGAINST INSOLVENT CORPORATIONS.

§ 5761. When action maintainable to sequester corporate property. Whenever a judgment shall be obtained against any corporation incorporated under the laws of this state and an execution issued thereon shall have been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, the judgment creditor or his legal representative may maintain an action to procure a judgment sequestering the property of a corporation and providing for a distribution thereof.

§ 5762. When action to dissolve maintainable. In either of the following cases, an action to procure a judgment dissolving a corporation, created by or under the laws of this state, and forfeiting its corporate rights, privileges and franchises, may be maintained as prescribed in the next section:

1. When the corporation has remained insolvent for at least one year.

2. When it has neglected or refused for at least one year to pay and discharge its notes or other evidences of debt.

3. When it has suspended its ordinary and lawful business for at least one year.

4. If it has banking powers or power to make loans on pledges or deposits, or to make insurances, when it becomes insolvent or unable to pay its debts, or shall neglect or refuse to pay its notes or evidences of debt on demand, or has violated any provisions of the law by or under which it was incorporated or of any other law binding upon it.

§ 5763. Who may commence. The action specified in the last section shall be brought by the state. And whenever a creditor or stockholder of any corporation submits to the attorney general a written statement of facts, verified by oath, showing grounds for an action under the provisions of the last section, and the attorney general omits for thirty days after such submission to commence an action specified in the last section, then, and not otherwise, such creditor or stockholder may apply to the proper court for leave to commence such an action and on obtaining leave may maintain the same accordingly.

§ 5764. When injunction granted. In an action brought as prescribed in this article, the court, or a judge thereof, may upon proof of the facts authorizing the action to be maintained grant an injunction, restraining the corporation and its trustees, directors, managers and other officers from collecting or receiving any debt or demand and from paying out or in any way transferring or delivering to any person any money, property or effects of the corporation during the pendency of the action, except by express permission of the court. When the action is brought to procure the dissolution of the corporation the injunction may also restrain the corporation and its trustees, directors, managers and other officers from exercising any of its corporate rights, privileges or franchises during the pendency of the action, except by express permission of the court. The provisions of article 3 of chapter 9 of this code, relating to granting, vacating and modifying an injunction apply to an injunction granted as prescribed in this section.

§ 5765. When receiver appointed. Powers of. The court may in any stage of an action under the preceding provisions of this article appoint one or more receivers to take charge of the property and effects of such corporation and to collect, sue for and recover the debts and demands that may be due and the property that may belong to such corporation, who shall in all respects possess the powers and authority conferred and be subject to all the obligations imposed upon receivers in other cases, and in all respects be subject to the control of the court.

§ 5766. Action proceeds to judgment though creditor bringing settles. Whenever an action shall have been brought against a corporation under the provisions of this article the court shall, if the proof is sufficient, proceed to final judgment in such case, dissolving such corporation and forfeiting its corporate rights, privileges and franchises, notwithstanding such creditor may settle with such corporation; and in all such cases any creditor or the attorney general shall have the right to appear and prosecute such action. The original plaintiff shall not be liable for the costs of such further prosecution; but the creditor continuing the same, or the state, in case it is continued by the attorney general shall be liable therefor.

§ 5767. When stockholders, etc., made defendants. In an action against a corporation upon a claim for which its stockholders, directors, trustees or other officers, or any of them, are liable by law in any event or contingency, one or more or all of the persons so liable may be made parties defendant by the original or by an amended or supplemental complaint; and their liability may be declared and enforced by the judgment in such action.

§ 5768. When made defendants after judgment against corporation. If any creditor of a corporation whose directors, trustees or other officers or stockholders are liable for the payment of his demand desires to make them, or one or more of them, parties to the action after a judgment therein against the corporation, he may do so by filing a supplemental complaint against them founded upon such judgment.

§ 5769. Action against stockholders, etc. Whenever any creditor of a corporation shall seek to charge the directors, trustees or other officers or stockholders thereof on account of any liability created by law, he may commence and maintain an action for that purpose in the district court and may at his election join the corporation in such action.

§ 5770. Procedure therein. The court shall proceed therein as in other cases, and when necessary shall cause an account to be taken of the property and debts due to and from such corporation and appoint one or more receivers, who shall possess all the powers conferred and be subject to all the obligations imposed on receivers by the provisions of section 5765; but if upon the filing of the answer or upon the taking of such account it shall appear that the corporation is insolvent and that it has not property or effects to satisfy such creditor, the court may without appointing any receiver, proceed to ascertain the respective liabilities of such directors, trustees or other officers and stockholders and enforce the same by its judgment as in other cases.

§ 5771. Distribution of property. Upon a final judgment being rendered in any action under this article, the court shall cause a just and fair distribution of the property of such corporation and of the proceeds thereof to be made in the order prescribed in section 5779.

§ 5772. When payments enforced against stockholders, etc. In all cases in which the directors or other officers of a corporation, or the stockholders thereof shall have been made parties to an action in which judgment shall be rendered, if the property of such corporation shall be insufficient to discharge its debts, the court shall proceed to compel each stockholder to pay in the amount due and remaining unpaid on the shares of stock held by him, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to satisfy the debts of the corporation. If the debts of the corporation, or any part thereof, shall still remain unsatisfied, the court shall proceed to ascertain the respective liabilities of the directors or other officers and of the stockholders and adjudge the amount payable by each and enforce the judgment as in other cases.

§ 5773. Suits by other creditors restrained. All creditors required to come in as parties. Whenever any action shall be commenced against any corporation, its directors, trustees or other officers, or its stockholders according to the provisions of this article the court may by injunction on the application of either party and at any stage of the proceedings restrain all proceedings by any other creditor against the defendants in such action; and whenever it shall appear necessary or proper may order notice to be published in such manner as the court shall direct, requiring all the creditors of such corporation to exhibit their claims and become parties to the action within a reasonable time not less than three months from the first publication of such notice and in default thereof such creditors shall be precluded from all benefit of the judgment which shall be made in such action and from any distribution which shall be made under such judgment.

§ 5774. Discovery compelled. In every such action the court may compel such corporation to discover any stock, property, things in action or effects alleged to belong or to have belonged to it, the transfer and disposition thereof and the consideration and all the circumstances of such distribution. Every officer, employee, agent or stockholder of such corporation and every person to whom it shall be alleged that any transfer of property or effects of such corporation has been made, or in whose possession or control the same is alleged to be, may be compelled in the discretion of the court to testify in relation thereto and to answer any questions touching the transfer or possession of such property or effects, although such answer may expose the corporation of which he is a member to a forfeiture of its corporate rights, or any of them, or may tend to criminate such witness or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before the court on such examination; provided, that no person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying.

ARTICLE 4. — PROCEEDINGS TO ANNUL CORPORATIONS.

§ 5775. By whom brought. An action may be brought by the state against a corporation created by or under the laws of this state for the purpose of vacating or annulling the existence of such corporation on the ground that its incorporation or the renewal thereof was procured upon some fraudulent suggestion or concealment of a material fact by the persons incorporating or by some of them, or with their knowledge and consent.

§ 5776. Same. Causes for bringing. An action may be brought by the state or by any private person in the name of the state on leave granted therefor by the district court upon cause shown for the purpose of annulling the existence of any corporation created by or under the laws of this state, except a municipal corporation, whenever any such corporation shall:

1. Offend against any of the provisions of any law by or under which it shall have been created, altered or renewed; or,

2. Violate the provisions of any law by which such corporation shall have forfeited its corporate rights, privileges and franchises by abuse of its powers; or,

3. Whenever it shall have forfeited its privileges or franchises by failure to exercise its powers; or,

4. Whenever it shall have done or omitted any act which amounts to a surrender of its corporate rights, privileges or franchises; or,

5. Whenever it shall exercise franchises or privileges not conferred upon it by law.

§ 5777. Attorney general to bring; who may, if he refuses. Whenever the attorney general shall have reason to believe that any of the acts or omissions specified in the preceding section can be established by proof, he shall apply for leave and upon leave granted bring such action in every case of public interest and in every other case in which satisfactory security shall be given to indemnify the state against the costs and expenses which may be incurred therein. In case the attorney general on application shall refuse to bring such action leave to bring the same by a private person shall be granted only on notice to the attorney general and the proposed defendant; and the court on granting leave in such case may require the prosecutor to give adequate security to the state to indemnify it and the defendant against all taxable costs therein.

§ 5778. When notice given to corporation. Upon the application by the attorney general to bring any such action the court may in its discretion direct notice of such application to be given to the corporation previous to the hearing and may hear the corporation in opposition thereto.

§ 5779. What judgment shall provide. Receiver. Distribution of property. If in any such action it shall be adjudged that a corporation has forfeited its corporate rights, privileges and franchises, judgment shall be rendered that such corporation be excluded from such corporate rights, privileges and franchises and be dissolved; and thereupon the affairs of said corporation shall be wound up by and under the direction of a receiver to be appointed by the court and its property sold and converted into money; and the proceeds after paying the costs and expenses shall be distributed in the following order:

1. For the payment of taxes and debts due the United States, the state of North Dakota and any county, town or village therein.

2. For the payment of the legal and equitable liens upon the property of such corporation in the order of their priority.

3. The wages of laborers and employees accruing within six months previous to the commencement of the action.

4. For the payment of the other just debts of the corporation.

5. The residue of such moneys, if any, shall be distributed among the stockholders thereof.

When any corporation shall be adjudged to have exercised a franchise or privilege not conferred on it by law, the court may in its discretion instead of rendering a judgment as above provided in this section render a judgment that such corporation be excluded from exercising such franchise or privilege and that the plaintiff recover costs and may also, in either case in its discretion, fine such corporation in a sum not exceeding two thousand dollars to be collected and paid into the state treasury.

§ 5780. How and when receiver appointed. If such an action is pending in the district court the receiver shall be appointed by the judgment of dissolution, or by a subsequent order founded thereon. If it shall be pending in the supreme court, then upon the entry of such judgment of dissolution the attorney general shall forthwith commence an action in the proper district court for the appointment of such receiver and the winding up of the affairs of such corporation; and such corporation shall, notwithstanding such judgment of dissolution, be deemed to exist until a receiver shall be appointed, qualified and duly invested with the property of such corporation, but shall not be able to do any act or thing, other than to make over and transfer its assets to such receiver.

§ 5781. Application of preceding sections. The provisions of the two preceding sections so far as they relate to the distribution of the property of the corporation and actions to appoint receivers therefor shall apply to any corporation when the law under which it exists is repealed.

§ 5782. How costs paid. The necessary costs and disbursements, incurred in commencing and prosecuting such action by the attorney general in the name of the state, shall, when certified to by him, be audited by the state auditor and paid out of the state treasury. The receiver in such actions or the attorney general in case such moneys shall be delivered to him by such receiver shall repay to the state treasurer any money advanced by the state on account of such costs and disbursements.

§ 5783. Where judgment roll filed. Upon the rendition of such judgment against a corporation, other than an insurance corporation, or for vacating or annulling letters patent, the attorney general shall cause a copy of the judgment roll to be forthwith filed in the office of the secretary of state. If such judgment is against an insurance corporation, a copy of the judgment roll shall be filed in the office of the commissioner of insurance.

§ 5784. Does not apply to certain corporations. The provisions of this chapter shall not extend to corporations organized under the laws of this state for educational, charitable, religious or cemetery purposes.

CHAPTER 27.

ACTIONS TO RECOVER PENALTIES AND FORFEITURES.

§ 5785. What forfeitures recoverable in civil action. In all cases not otherwise specially provided for by law, when a forfeiture shall be incurred by any person, and the act or omission for which the same is imposed shall not also be a misdemeanor, such forfeiture may be sued for and recovered in a civil action. When such act or omission is punishable by fine and imprisonment, or by fine or imprisonment, or is specially declared by law to be a misdemeanor, it shall be deemed a misdemeanor within the meaning of this chapter. The word forfeiture as used in this chapter shall include any penalty in money or goods, other than a fine, imposed by law as a punishment for crime.

§ 5786. By whom action brought. Such action shall be brought as follows:

1. If the entire recovery is payable to the state by the attorney general or the state's attorney of the proper county in the name of the state.

2. If the entire recovery is payable to a public corporation the action shall be brought in the name of such corporation by its proper legal officer.

3. If the recovery is payable partly to the state or a public corporation and partly to an individual, an action may be brought by such individual or by the state or public corporation, as the case may be, or by such individual and the state or public corporation.

§ 5787. Procedure same as civil action. What complaint to allege. The summons, pleadings and proceedings therein shall be the same as in a civil action. It shall be sufficient to allege in the complaint that the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff in the amount of the forfeiture claimed according to the provisions of the statute which imposes it, specifying the section and chapter containing such statute. And when such section imposes a forfeiture for several offenses or delinquencies, it shall specify the particular offense or delinquency for which the action is brought, with a demand for judgment for the amount of such forfeiture. In case the defendant is not a resident of the state an attachment may be issued in such action in like manner as in ordinary civil actions against nonresidents. Any such action may be brought for and the judgment therein may include as many forfeitures as the defendant may have incurred prior to its commencement.

§ 5788. Complaint for forfeited goods. In an action brought to recover goods or other things forfeited by the provisions of any statute, it shall be sufficient to allege in the complaint, that such goods or other things have been forfeited, specifying the section and chapter containing such statute with a demand of judgment for the delivery of such goods or other things or the value thereof.

§ 5789. When for highest sum specified. When a forfeiture is imposed, not exceeding a specific sum, or when it is not less than one sum nor more than another, the action may be brought for the highest sum specified; a judgment may be rendered for such sum as the court or jury shall assess or determine to be proportionate to the offense.

§ 5790. What judgment shall direct. In all cases when judgment is recovered pursuant to this chapter, it shall also include the costs of the action, and it shall direct that if the same is not paid, the defendant shall be committed to the county jail of the proper county there to be imprisoned for a specified time, not exceeding six months, which period shall be fixed by the court in view of all the circumstances of the case, or until otherwise discharged pursuant to law. In such cases a commitment shall issue as in ordinary criminal actions. This section shall not prevent the enforcement of any such judgment by execution at any time within one year from its rendition.

§ 5791. Forfeitures by ordinance, etc., how recovered. All forfeitures imposed by any by-law, ordinance or regulation of any town, city or village, or of any corporation organized under the laws of this state, when special provision is not otherwise made by law for their recovery or punishment provided for, the act or omission for which they are imposed may be sued for and recovered, pursuant to this chapter. It shall be sufficient to allege in the complaint that the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff in the amount of the forfeiture claimed, specifying the by-law, ordinance or regulation which imposes it. And when such by-law, ordinance or regulation imposes a penalty or forfeiture for several offenses or delinquencies it shall specify the particular offense or delinquency for which the action is brought with a demand for a judgment for the amount of such forfeiture. All money collected on such judgment shall be paid to the treasurer of such town, city, village or corporation.

§ 5792. To whom moneys collected paid. All moneys collected on account of any judgment under the provisions of this chapter, except such as are payable by law to an individual shall be paid by the officer collecting the same to the treasurer of the state, or of the county, town, city or village entitled thereto as the case may be within twenty days after its collection or receipt by him; and in case of any neglect or failure in such payment the treasurer to whom such money should be paid may sue and collect the same of such officer by action in his name of office and upon the official bond of such officer, if any he has given, with interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the time it should have been so paid.

§ 5793. City, etc., treasurers to collect forfeitures from justices. Every town, village and city treasurer shall demand of and recover from each justice of the peace or police magistrate of his town, village or city respectively all moneys received by such justice upon judgments rendered by him in actions under this chapter and every such justice shall on demand of such treasurer produce to him his docket for examination and all process and papers concerning or in such actions. In case of refusal or neglect by such justice to pay over promptly such moneys upon such demand, such treasurer shall institute an action therefor in his name of office against such justice and his sureties upon his official bond.

§ 5794. Property forfeited to state. Whenever by the provisions of law any property, real or personal, shall be forfeited to the state, or to any officer for its use, an action for the recovery of such property alleging the ground of the forfeiture may be brought by the attorney general or by the state's attorney of the county in which the action is triable in any court having jurisdiction thereof.

§ 547, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

CHAPTER 28.

ACTION FOR THE PARTITION OF REAL PROPERTY.

- § 548, C. Civ. P. § 5795. When may be brought. When several co-tenants hold and are in possession of real property as partners, joint tenants or tenants in common in which one or more of them have an estate of inheritance, or for life or lives, or for years, an action may be brought by one or more of such persons for a partition thereof according to the respective rights of the persons interested therein and for a sale of such property or a part thereof, if it appears that a partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners.
- § 549, C. Civ. P. § 5796. What complaint must show. The interests of all persons in the property, whether such persons are known or unknown, must be set forth in the complaint specifically and particularly as far as known to the plaintiff; and if one or more of the parties or the share or quantity of interest of any of the parties is unknown to the plaintiff, or is uncertain, or contingent, or the ownership of the inheritance depends upon an executory devise, or the remainder is a contingent remainder so that such parties cannot be named, that fact must be set forth in the complaint.
- § 550, C. Civ. P. § 5797. Only lienors of record. No person having a conveyance of, or claiming a lien on the property, or some part of it, need be made a party to the action, unless such conveyance or lien appears of record.
- § 551, C. Civ. P. § 5798. Lis pendens required. Immediately after filing the complaint in the district court the plaintiff must record in the office of the register of deeds of the county, or of the several counties in which the property is situated a notice of the pendency of the action, containing the names of the parties, so far as known, the object of the action and a description of the property to be affected thereby. From the time of filing such notice for record all persons shall be deemed to have notice of the pendency of the action.
- § 552, C. Civ. P. § 5799. To whom summons directed. The summons must be directed to all the joint tenants and tenants in common and all persons having an interest in or any lien of record by mortgage, judgment or otherwise upon the property or upon any particular portion thereof; and generally to all persons unknown or who have or claim any interest in the property.
- § 553, C. Civ. P. § 5800. Service by publication. When service of the summons is made by publication, the summons as published must be accompanied by a notice that the object of the action is to obtain a partition of the property, which is the subject of the action, briefly describing the same.
- § 554, C. Civ. P. § 5801. Requisites of answers. The defendants who have been personally served with the summons and a copy of the complaint, or who have appeared without such service must set forth in their answer, fully and particularly the origin, nature and extent of their respective interests in the property; and if such defendants claim a lien on the property by mortgage, judgment or otherwise they must state the original amount and date of the same, and the sum remaining due thereon; also whether the same has been secured in any other way or not; and if secured, the nature and extent of such security or they are deemed to have waived their right to such lien.

§ 5802. Title, proofs and judgment. The rights of the several parties, plaintiff as well as defendant, may be put in issue, tried and determined in such action; and when a sale of the premises is necessary the title must be ascertained by proof to the satisfaction of the court before the judgment of sale can be made; and when service of the complaint has been made by publication, like proof must be required of the right of the absent or unknown parties before such judgment is rendered; except that when there are several unknown persons, having an interest in the property, their rights may be considered together in the action as not between themselves. § 555, C. Civ. P.

§ 5803. When partial partition adjudged. Whenever from any cause it is in the opinion of the court impracticable or highly inconvenient to make a complete partition in the first instance among all the parties in interest, the court may first ascertain and determine the shares or interest respectively held by the original co-tenants and thereupon adjudge and cause a partition to be made, as if such original co-tenants were the parties and sole parties in interest and the only parties to the action and thereafter may proceed in like manner to adjudge and make partition separately of each share or portion so ascertained or allotted as between those claiming under the original tenant to whom the same shall have been so set apart, or may allow them to remain tenants in common thereof as they may desire. § 556, C. Civ. P.

§ 5804. Referee to determine outstanding liens. If it appears to the court by the certificate of the register of deeds, or clerk of the district court, or by the sworn or verified statement of any person who may have examined or searched the records that there are outstanding liens or incumbrances of record upon such real property, or any part or portion thereof, which existed and were of record at the time of the commencement of the action and the persons holding such liens are not made parties to the action, the court must either order such persons to be made parties to the action, by an amendment or supplemental complaint, or appoint a referee to ascertain whether or not such liens or incumbrances have been paid or, if not paid, what amount remains due thereon, and their order among the liens or incumbrances severally held by such persons and the parties to the action, and whether the amount remaining due thereon has been secured in any manner and if secured the nature and extent of the security. § 557, C. Civ. P.

§ 5805. Notice to appear before referee. Service. Report. The plaintiff must cause a notice to be served a reasonable time previous to the day for appearance before the referee, appointed as provided in the preceding section, on each person having outstanding liens of record, who is not a party to the action, to appear before the referee at a specified time and place to make proof by his own affidavit or otherwise of the amount due or to become due contingently or absolutely thereon. In case such person is absent or his residence is unknown, service may be made by publication or notice to his agent under the direction of the court in such manner as may be proper. The report of the referee must thereupon be made to the court and must be confirmed, modified or set aside and a new reference ordered as the justice of the case may require. § 558, C. Civ. P.

§ 5806. Sale or partition. If it is alleged in the complaint and established by evidence, or if it appears by the evidence without such allegation in the complaint to the satisfaction of the court, that the property, or any part of it, is so situated that partition cannot be § 559, C. Civ. P.

made without great prejudice to the owners, the court may order a sale thereof. Otherwise upon the requisite proof being made it must order a partition according to the respective rights of the parties as ascertained by the court and appoint three referees therefor; and must designate the portion to remain undivided for the owners whose interests remain unknown or are not ascertained.

§ 580. C. Civ. P.

§ 5807. Method and rule of partition. In making the partition referees must divide the property and allot the several portions thereof to the respective parties, quality and quantity relatively considered, according to the respective rights of the parties as determined by the court, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, designating the several portions by proper landmarks and may employ a surveyor with the necessary assistants to aid them. Before making partition or sale the referees may, whenever it will be for the advantage of those interested, set apart a portion of the property for a way, road or street and the portion so set apart shall not be assigned to any of the parties, or sold, but shall remain an open and public way, road or street, unless the referees shall set the same apart as a private way for the use of the parties interested, or some of them. their heirs or assigns, in which case it shall remain such private way.

§ 561. C. Civ. P.

§ 5808. Referee's report. The referees must make a report of their proceedings, specifying therein the manner in which they executed their trust and describing the property divided and the share allotted to each party with a particular description of each share.

§ 582. C. Civ. P.

§ 5809. Judgment on report. Effect of. The court may confirm, change, modify or set aside the report and, if necessary, appoint new referees. Upon the report being confirmed judgment must be rendered that such partition be effectual forever, which judgment is binding and conclusive:

1. On all persons named as parties to the action and their legal representatives, who have at the time any interest in the property divided, or any part thereof, as owners in fee, or as tenants for life, or for years, or as entitled to the reversion, remainder or the inheritance of such property, or any part thereof, after the determination of a particular estate therein, and who by any contingency may be entitled to a beneficial interest in the property, or who have an interest in any undivided share thereof as tenants for years or for life.

2. On all persons interested in the property, who may be unknown, to whom notice has been given in the action for partition by publication.

3. On all other persons claiming from such parties or persons, or either of them.

And no judgment is invalidated by reason of the death of any party before final judgment or decree; but such judgment or decree is as conclusive against the heirs, legal representatives or assigns of such decedent as if it had been entered before his death.

§ 583. C. Civ. P.

§ 5810. What tenants not affected. The judgment does not affect tenants for years, less than ten, to the whole of the property which is the subject of the partition.

§ 584. C. Civ. P.

§ 5811. Payment of expenses. The expenses of the referees, including those of a surveyor and his assistants, when employed, must be ascertained and allowed by the court, and the amount thereof, together with the fees allowed by the court in its discretion to the referees, must be apportioned among the different parties to the action equitably.

§ 5812. Liens follow owner's share. When the lien is on an undivided interest or estate of any of the parties, such lien, if partition is made, shall thenceforth be a charge only on the share assigned to such party; but such share must first be charged with its just proportion of the costs of the partition, in preference to such lien. § 565, C. Civ. P.

§ 5813. Certain estates set off. When a part of the property only is ordered to be sold, if there is an estate for life or years, in an undivided share of the whole property, such estate may be set off in any part of the property not ordered to be sold. § 566, C. Civ. P.

§ 5814. How proceeds of incumbered property applied. The proceeds of the sale of incumbered property must be applied under the direction of the court as follows: § 567, C. Civ. P.

1. To pay its just proportion of the general costs of the action.
2. To pay the costs of the reference.
3. To satisfy and cancel of record the several liens in their order of priority, by payment of the sums due and to become due; the amount due to be verified by affidavit at the time of payment.
4. The residue among the owners of the property sold, according to their respective shares therein.

§ 5815. Lienor having other security. Whenever any party to an action who holds a lien upon the property, or any part thereof, has other security for the payment of the amount of such lien the court may, in its discretion, order such security to be exhausted before distribution of the proceeds of sale, or may order a just deduction to be made from the amount of the lien on the property on account thereof. § 568, C. Civ. P.

§ 5816. Distribution by referee. The proceeds of sale and the securities taken by the referees, or any part thereof, must be distributed by them to the persons entitled thereto, whenever the court so directs. But in case no direction is given all of such proceeds and securities must be paid into court, or deposited therein, or as directed by the court. § 569, C. Civ. P.

§ 5817. Part of action continued. When the proceeds of the sale of any share or parcel belonging to persons who are parties to the action, and who are known, are paid into court the action may be continued as between such parties for the determination of their respective claims thereto, which must be ascertained and adjudged by the court. Further testimony may be taken in court, or by a referee, at the discretion of the court, and the court may, if necessary, require such parties to present the facts or law in the controversy by pleading as in an original action. § 570, C. Civ. P.

§ 5818. How sales made. All sales of real property made by referees under this chapter must be made at public auction to the highest bidder upon notice published in the manner required for the sale of real property on execution. The notice must state the terms of sale and if the property, or any part of it, is to be sold subject to a prior estate, charge or lien, that must be stated in the notice. § 571, C. Civ. P.

§ 5819. Terms of sale fixed by court. The court must in the order for sale direct the terms of credit which may be allowed for the purchase money of any portion of the real property, of which it may direct a sale on credit and for that portion of which the purchase money is required to be invested for the benefit of unknown owners, infants and owners out of the state. § 572, C. Civ. P.

- § 573, C. Civ. P. § 5820. Security for purchase money. The referees may take separate mortgages and other securities for the whole or convenient portions of the purchase money, or such parts of the property as are directed by the court to be sold on credit for the shares of any known owner of full age in the name of such owner; and for the shares of an infant, in the name of the guardian of such infant; and for other shares, in the name of the clerk of the district court, and his successors in office.
- § 574, C. Civ. P. § 5821. Estate for life or years. Compensation to. The person entitled to a tenancy for life or years, whose estate has been sold, is entitled to receive such sum as may be deemed a reasonable satisfaction for such estate and which the person so entitled may consent to accept instead thereof by an instrument in writing filed with the clerk of the court. Upon the filing of such consent the clerk must enter the same in the minutes of the court.
- § 575, C. Civ. P. § 5822. Compensation when consent not given. If such consent is not given, filed and entered as provided in the last section at or before a judgment of sale is rendered, the court must ascertain and determine what proportion of the proceeds of the sale after deducting expenses will be a just and reasonable sum to be allowed on account of such estate and must order the same to be paid to such party or deposited in court for him, as the case may require.
- § 576, C. Civ. P. § 5823. Same when unknown person. If the persons entitled to such estate for life or years are unknown, the court may provide for the protection of their rights in the same manner as far as may be as if they were known and had appeared.
- § 577, C. Civ. P. § 5824. Value of future estates settled by court. In all cases of sales when it appears that any person has a vested or contingent or future right or estate in any of the property sold, the court must ascertain and settle the proportionate value of such contingent or vested right or estate and must direct such proportion of the proceeds of the sale to be invested, secured or paid over in such manner as to protect the rights and interests of the parties.
- § 578, C. Civ. P. § 5825. Terms of sale made known at time. In all cases of sales of property the terms must be made known at the time, and if the premises consist of distinct farms or lots, they must be sold separately.
- § 579, C. Civ. P. § 5826. Who cannot purchase. Neither of the referees nor any person for the benefit of either of them can be interested in any purchase; nor can a guardian of an infant party be interested in the purchase of any real property, being the subject of the action, except for the benefit of the infant. All sales contrary to the provisions of this section are void.
- § 580, C. Civ. P. § 5827. Report of sale. After completing a sale of property, or any part thereof, ordered to be sold, the referees must report the same to the court with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser, the name of the purchaser, the price paid or secured, the terms and conditions of the sale and the securities, if any, taken. The report must be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court where the property is situated.
- § 581, C. Civ. P. § 5828. Order to convey. If the sale is confirmed by the court an order must be entered, directing the referees to execute conveyances and take securities pursuant to such sale, which they are hereby authorized to do. Such order may also give directions to them respecting the disposition of the proceeds of sale.

§ 5829. Receipt of lienor, when purchaser. When a party § 582. C. Civ. P. entitled to a share of the property or an incumbrancer entitled to have his lien paid out of the sale, becomes a purchaser, the referees may take his receipt for so much of the proceeds of the sale as belongs to him.

§ 5830. Record and bar of conveyance. The conveyance § 583. C. Civ. P. must be recorded in the county where the premises are situated, and shall be a bar against all persons interested in the property in any way, who shall have been named as parties in the action; and against all such parties and persons as were unknown, if the summons was served by publication and against all persons claiming under them, or either of them, and against all persons having unrecorded deeds or liens at the commencement of the action.

§ 5831. Investment of unknown owner's proceeds. When § 584. C. Civ. P. there are proceeds of a sale belonging to an unknown owner or to a person without the state who has no legal representative within it, the same must be invested in bonds of the United States for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto.

§ 5832. Securities taken in name of clerk. When the § 585. C. Civ. P. security of the proceeds of the sale is taken, or when an investment of any proceeds is made, it must be done, except as herein otherwise provided, in the name of the clerk of the district court of the county where the papers are filed, and his successors in office, who must hold the same for the use and benefit of the parties interested, subject to the order of the court.

§ 5833. When in the name of parties. When security is § 586. C. Civ. P. taken by the referees on a sale and the parties interested in such security by an instrument in writing under their hands delivered to the referees, agree upon the shares and proportions to which they are respectively entitled, or when shares and proportions have been previously adjudged by the court, such securities must be taken in the names of and payable to the parties respectively entitled thereto, and must be delivered to such parties upon their receipts therefor.
Such agreement and receipt must be returned and filed with the clerk.

§ 5834. Clerk's duty. The clerk of the district court, in whose § 587. C. Civ. P. name a security is taken, or by whom an investment is made, and his successor in office, must receive the interest and principal as it becomes due, and apply and invest the same as the court may direct; and must deposit with the county treasurer all securities taken, and keep an account in a book provided and kept for that purpose in the clerk's office, free for inspection by all persons, of investments and moneys received by him thereon, and the disposition thereof.

§ 5835. Compensation for inequality. When it appears that § 588. C. Civ. P. the partition cannot be made equal between the parties according to their respective rights, without prejudice to the rights and interests of some of them, and a partition is ordered, the court may adjudge compensation to be made by one party to another, on account of the inequality; but such compensation shall not be required to be made to others by owners unknown, nor by an infant, unless it appears that such infant has personal property sufficient for that purpose, and that his interest will be promoted thereby. And in all cases the court has power to make compensatory adjustment between the respective parties according to the ordinary principles of equity.

- § 589, C. Civ. P. § 5836. To whom infant's share paid. When the share of an infant is sold, the proceeds of the sale may be paid by the referee making the sale to his general guardian or the especial guardian appointed for him in the action, upon giving the security required by law or directed by order of court.
- § 590, C. Civ. P. § 5837. Share of insane and incompetent. The guardian who may be entitled to the custody and management of the estate of an insane person, or other person adjudged incapable of conducting his own affairs, whose interest in real property has been sold, may receive in behalf of such person his share of the proceeds of such real property from the referees, on executing, with sufficient sureties, an undertaking approved by a judge of the court, that he will faithfully discharge the trust imposed in him, and will render a true and just account to the person entitled or to his legal representative.
- § 591, C. Civ. P. § 5838. Guardian may consent to partition without action. The general guardian of an infant, and the guardian entitled to the custody and management of the estate of an insane person or other person adjudged incapable of conducting his own affairs, who is interested in real property held in joint tenancy, or in common, or in any other manner, so as to authorize his being made a party to an action for the partition thereof, may consent to a partition without action, and agree upon the share to be set off to such infant, or other person entitled and may execute a release in his behalf to the owners of the shares of the parts, to which they may be respectively entitled, upon an order of the court.
- § 592, C. Civ. P. § 5839. Costs, fees and disbursements. The costs of a partition including reasonable counsel fees, expended by the plaintiff or either of the defendants, for the common benefit, fees of referees and other disbursements, must be paid by the parties respectively entitled to share in the lands divided in proportion to their respective interests therein and may be included and specified in the judgment. In that case they shall be a lien on the several shares and the judgment may be enforced by execution against such shares and against other property held by the respective parties. When, however, litigation arises between some of the parties only, the court may require the expense of such litigation to be paid by the parties thereto, or any of them.
- § 593, C. Civ. P. § 5840. Single referee. The court with the consent of the parties may appoint a single referee instead of three referees in the proceeding under this chapter; and the single referee, when thus appointed, has all the powers and may perform all the duties required of the three referees.
- § 594, C. Civ. P. § 5841. Abstract of title. How cost paid. If it appears to the court that it was necessary to have made an abstract of the title to the property to be partitioned, and such abstract shall have been procured by the plaintiff, or if the plaintiff shall have failed to have the same made before the commencement of the action and any of the defendants shall have had such abstract afterwards made, the cost of the abstract with interest thereon from the time the same is subject to the inspection of the respective parties must be allowed and taxed. Whenever such abstract is produced by the plaintiff before the commencement of the action he must file with his complaint a notice that an abstract of the title has been made and is subject to the inspection and use of all the parties to the action, designating therein where the abstract will be kept for inspection. But if the plaintiff shall have failed to procure such abstract before commencing the action and any defendant shall procure the same to be made, he shall as soon as he has directed it to be made file a notice thereof in the action with the clerk of the court, stating who is making the same and where it will be kept when finished. The court or the judge thereof may direct from time to time during the progress of the action, who shall have the custody of the abstract.

§ 5842. Who may make abstracts. The abstract mentioned § 595, C. Civ. P. in the last preceding section may be made by any competent searcher of records and need not be certified by the register of deeds or other officer; but instead thereof it must be verified by the affidavit of the person making it, to the effect that he believes it to be correct; but the same may be corrected from time to time, if found incorrect, under the direction of the court.

§ 5843. Interest on disbursements. Whenever during the § 596, C. Civ. P. progress of the action for partition any disbursements shall have been made under the direction of the court or the judge thereof by a party thereto interest must be allowed thereon from the time of making such disbursements.

CHAPTER 29.

FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES AND LIENS.

ARTICLE 1. — FORECLOSURE BY ADVERTISEMENT.

§ 5844. Power of sale. Foreclosure authorized. Every § 597, C. Civ. P. mortgage of real property containing a power of sale may upon default being made in the conditions of such mortgage be foreclosed by advertisement in the cases and manner hereinafter provided. am'd.

§ 5845. When proceedings enjoined. When the mortgagee § 1, c. 61, 1883, or his assignee has commenced proceedings for the foreclosure of a mortgage by advertisement and it shall be made to appear by the affidavit of the mortgagor, his agent or attorney, to the satisfaction of a judge of the district court of the county where the mortgaged property is situated, that the mortgagor has a legal counterclaim or any other valid defense against the collection of the whole or any part of the amount claimed to be due on such mortgage, such judge may by an order to that effect enjoin the mortgagee or his assignee from foreclosing such mortgage by advertisement and direct that all further proceedings for the foreclosure be had in the district court properly having jurisdiction of the subject matter; and for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this section service may be made upon the attorney or agent of the mortgagee or assignee. am'd.

§ 5846. Prerequisites to right to foreclose. To entitle a § 598, C. Civ. P. party to make such foreclosure it shall be requisite: am'd.

1. That default in a condition of such mortgage shall have occurred by which the power of sale has become operative.
2. That no action or proceedings shall have been instituted at law to recover the debt then remaining secured by such mortgage, or any part thereof; or if any action or proceeding has been instituted, that the same has been discontinued or that an execution upon the judgment rendered therein has been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part; and,

3. That the mortgage containing such power of sale has been duly recorded and, if it shall have been assigned, that all the assignments thereof have been duly recorded.

§ 599, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5847. Foreclosure for installments. In case of mortgages given to secure the payment of money by installments, each of the installments mentioned in the mortgage shall be taken and deemed to be a separate and independent mortgage and the mortgage for each of such installments may be foreclosed in the same manner and with like effect, as if a separate mortgage was given for each of such installments and a redemption of any such sale shall have the like effect, as if the sale for such installment had been made upon a prior independent mortgage.

§ 600, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5848. How notice published. Notice that the mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises or some part thereof must be given by publishing the same six times, once in each week for six successive weeks in a newspaper of the county where the premises intended to be sold, or some part thereof, are situated, if there is one, and if not, then in some newspaper published at the seat of government.

§ 5849. Form of notice. Such notice shall be in substantially the following form:

Notice is hereby given that that certain mortgage, executed and delivered by, mortgagor, to, mortgagee, dated the day of, 189..., and filed for record in the office of the register of deeds of the county of and state of North Dakota on the day of, 189..., and recorded in book of at page (and assigned by said mortgagee to), will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises in such mortgage and hereinafter described at the front door of the courthouse in the county of and state of North Dakota at the hour of o'clock M. on the day of, 189..., to satisfy the amount due upon such mortgage on the day of sale. The premises described in such mortgage and which will be sold to satisfy the same are described as follows: (here insert description.)

There will be due on such mortgage at the date of sale the sum of dollars.

§ 602, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5850. How sale made. The sale must be at public auction between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and the setting of the sun on that day in the county in which the premises to be sold, or some part of them, are situated and must be made by the sheriff, acting in person or by his deputy, of the county to the highest bidder.

§ 604, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5851. Separate sale of tracts. If the mortgaged premises consist of distinct farms, tracts or lots they must be sold separately and no more farms, tracts or lots must be sold than shall be necessary to satisfy the amount due on such mortgage at the date of the sale and the costs and expenses allowed by law.

§ 605, C. Civ. P.

§ 5852. Mortgagee may purchase. The mortgagee, his assigns, or their legal representatives, may fairly and in good faith purchase the premises so advertised, or any part thereof, at such sale.

§ 5853. Certificate of sale. Contents. Record. When- § 606, C. Civ. P. ever any real property shall be sold by virtue of a power of sale con- am'd.
tained in any mortgage, the officer making the sale shall immediately give to the purchaser a certificate of sale containing:

1. A particular description of the real property sold.
2. The price bid for each distinct lot or parcel.
3. The whole price paid.
4. The costs and fees for making the sale.

Such certificate must be executed and acknowledged and may be recorded as provided in case of a certificate of sale of real property upon execution and shall have the same validity and effect.

§ 5854. Redemption by whom. Rights. The property § 607, C. Civ. P. sold may be redeemed within one year from the day of sale in like manner and to the same effect as provided in chapter 11 of this code for redemption of real property sold upon execution so far as the same may be applicable, by:

1. The mortgagor or his successor in interest in the whole or any part of the property.
2. A creditor having a lien by judgment or mortgage on the property sold, or on some share or part thereof, subsequent to that on which the property was sold. Such creditor is termed a redemptioner and has all the rights of a redemptioner under that chapter. And the mortgagor and his successor in interest has all the rights of the judgment debtor and his successor in interest as provided therein.

§ 5855. Notice to officer. The notice of redemption required § 608, C. Civ. P. to be given to the sheriff under that chapter may in foreclosure by advertisement be given to the officer or person making the sale.

§ 5856. When deed issues. Effect of. If such mortgaged § 609, C. Civ. P. premises are not redeemed it shall be the duty of the officer, or his am'd.
successor in office, or other person who sold the same, or some other person appointed by the district court for that purpose to complete such sale by executing a deed of the premises so sold to the original purchaser, his heirs or assigns, or to any person who may have acquired the title and interest of such purchaser by redemption or otherwise. Such deed shall have the same force and effect as if it had been executed pursuant to a sale under a foreclosure of the mortgage by an action in which all persons having an interest in or lien upon the property subsequent to the mortgage were made parties and duly served with process.

§ 5857. Disposition of surplus. If after any such sale there § 610, C. Civ. P. remains in the hands of the officer or other person making the sale § 1, c. 29, 1887.
any surplus money after satisfying the mortgage on such real prop- am'd.
erty sold and payment of the costs and expenses of such foreclosure and sale, such surplus shall be held by the officer or person making the sale for the period of thirty days after the sale, unless some person who had at the time of the sale an interest in or lien upon the property sold, or some part thereof, shall serve a written notice upon the person or officer making the sale of a claim to such surplus or some part thereof. If no such notice of claim is served within the period aforesaid, the officer or person making the sale shall upon the expiration of such period and upon demand pay over such surplus to the mortgagor, his legal representatives or assigns.

§ 5858. Petition of claimant for surplus. If the notice mentioned in the last section is served upon the officer or person making the sale within the time therein provided, such officer or person shall forthwith pay the surplus into the district court of the county in which the sale was made. Any person claiming the surplus, or any part thereof by reason of a lien upon or interest in the property as provided in the last section may at any time before an order is made, as prescribed in the next section but one, file in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county where the sale took place a petition stating the nature and extent of his claim and praying for an order directing the payment to him of the surplus money, or a part thereof.

§ 5859. Order directing payment. Notice of. A person filing the petition as prescribed in the last section may after the expiration of thirty days from the day of sale apply to the district court for an order, pursuant to the prayer of his petition. Notice of the application must be served either by mail or personally upon each person who has filed a like petition and also upon the mortgagor and upon the person in actual possession of the property, if any, and also upon every person having an interest in or lien upon the property sold subsequent to the mortgage foreclosed, and whose interest or lien was at the time of the sale of record in the proper office in the county or counties in which the property sold is situated. Such notice shall be served at least eight days before the application. But if it is shown to the court by affidavit that service upon any person required to be served cannot be so made with due diligence, notice may be given to him in any manner which the court directs.

§ 5860. Order for distribution. Upon the presentation of the petition with due proof of the service of the notice of the application the court must ascertain the amount due to the petitioner and to each other person whose claim is a lien upon the surplus money and the priorities of the several liens; and the court shall thereupon make such order for the distribution of the surplus money as justice requires and the same shall be distributed accordingly.

§ 611, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5861. Affidavit of publication filed. An affidavit made as provided in section 5693 of the publication of the notice of the sale and of any postponement must be filed for record by the officer making the sale in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the real property is situated within thirty days after the sale.

§ 612, C. Civ. P.

§ 5862. Affidavit recorded. Such affidavit must be recorded at length by the register of deeds of the county in which the real property is situated in a book kept for the record of mortgages and such original affidavit, the record thereof and certified copies of such record shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein contained.

§ 613, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5863. Note on margin of mortgage record. A note referring to the page and book where the evidence of any sale made under a mortgage is recorded shall be made by the register in the margin of the record of such mortgage.

§ 615, C. Civ. P.
1. c. 28, 1887.
am'd.

§ 5864. Costs and disbursements. The party foreclosing a mortgage by advertisement shall be entitled to his costs and disbursements out of the proceeds of the sale and shall also be entitled to such attorney's fee as may be allowed by law.

ARTICLE 2.—FORECLOSURE BY ACTION.

§ 616, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5865. Authorized. An action may be brought in the district court for the foreclosure or satisfaction of a mortgage upon real property in accordance with the provisions of this article.

§ 5866. Judgment includes what. Whenever an action shall be brought for the foreclosure or satisfaction of a mortgage the court shall have power to render a judgment against the mortgagor for the amount of the mortgage debt due at the time of the rendition of such judgment and the costs of the action and to order and decree a sale of the mortgaged premises, or such part thereof as may be sufficient to pay the amount so adjudged to be due, and costs of sale and shall have power to order and compel the delivery of the possession of the premises to the purchaser; but in no case under this article shall the possession of the premises so sold be delivered to the purchaser or person entitled thereto until after the expiration of one year from such sale; and the court may direct the issuing of an execution for the balance that may remain unsatisfied after applying the proceeds of such sale. § 617, C. Civ. P.

§ 5867. Action excludes other proceedings. After such action shall be commenced, while the same is pending, no proceedings at law shall be had for the recovery of the debt secured by the mortgage, or any part thereof, unless authorized by the court. § 618, C. Civ. P.

§ 5868. When others made parties. If the mortgage debt is secured by the obligation, or other evidence of debt, or any other person than the mortgagor, the plaintiff may make such other person a party to the action and the court may render judgment for the balance of such debt remaining unsatisfied after a sale of the mortgaged premises, as well against such other person as against the mortgagor, and may enforce such judgment as in other cases by execution or other process. § 619, C. Civ. P.

§ 5869. What complaint shall state. In an action for the foreclosure or satisfaction of a mortgage the complaint shall state whether any proceedings have been had at law or otherwise for the recovery of the debt secured by such mortgage, or any part thereof; and if there has, whether any and what part thereof has been collected. § 620, C. Civ. P.

§ 5870. When judgment at law obtained. If it appears that any judgment has been obtained in an action at law for the moneys demanded by such complaint, or any part thereof, no proceedings shall be had in such case, unless an execution against the property of the defendant in such judgment has been issued and the sheriff or other officer shall have made return that the execution is unsatisfied in whole or in part and that the defendant has no property out of which to satisfy such execution. § 621, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5871. Sales made by whom and where. All sales of mortgaged premises under an order and decree of foreclosure must be made by a referee, sheriff or his deputy of the county or subdivision where the court in which the judgment is rendered is held, or other person appointed by the court for that purpose, and must be made in the county or subdivision where the premises, or some part of them, are situated and shall be made upon the like notice and in the same manner as provided by law for the sale of real property upon execution. § 622, C. Civ. P.

§ 5872. Certificate of sale. Deed and effect. Whenever any real property shall be sold under judgment of foreclosure pursuant to the provisions of this article, the officer or other person making the sale must give to the purchaser a certificate of sale as provided by section 5853; and at the expiration of the time for the redemption of such property, if the same is not redeemed the person or officer making the sale, or his successor in office, or other officer § 623, C. Civ. P. am'd.

appointed by the court must make to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, or to any person who has acquired the title of such purchaser by redemption or otherwise a deed or deeds of such property. Such deed shall vest in the grantee all the right, title and interest of the mortgagor in and to the property sold at the time the mortgage was executed, or which was subsequently acquired by him and shall be a bar to all claim, right or equity of redemption in or to the property by the parties to such action, their heirs and personal representatives, and also against all persons claiming under them, or any of them, subsequent to the commencement of the action in which such judgment was rendered.

§ 624, C. Civ. P. § 5873. Application of proceeds. The proceeds of every such sale must be applied to the discharge of the debt adjudged by the court to be due and of the costs; and if there is any surplus it must be brought into court for the use of the defendant or of the person entitled thereto, subject to the order of the court.

§ 625, C. Civ. P. § 5874. When surplus invested. If such surplus, or any part thereof, shall remain in court for the term of three months without being applied for, the judge of the district court may direct the same to be put out at interest for the benefit of the defendant, his representatives or assigns, subject to the order of the court.

§ 626, C. Civ. P. § 5875. Complaint dismissed on payment of installments due. Whenever an action shall be commenced for the foreclosure of a mortgage upon which there shall be due any interest, or any portion or installment of the principal and there shall be other portions or installments to become due subsequently, the complaint shall be dismissed upon the defendant's bringing into court at any time before decree of sale the principal and interest due with costs and disbursements.

§ 627, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 5876. When payment stays proceedings. If at any time after judgment and before sale, the defendant shall bring into court the principal and interest due with costs, the proceedings in such action shall be stayed; but the court may enforce the judgment by a further order upon a subsequent default in the payment of any of the installments or any part thereof, or of any interest thereafter becoming due on such mortgage.

§ 628, C. Civ. P. § 5877. Referee to view premises. If the defendant shall not bring into court the amount due with costs or if for any other cause a judgment or decree shall be entered for the plaintiff, the court may appoint a referee to ascertain and report the situation of the mortgaged premises, or may determine the same on oral or other testimony, and if it shall appear that the same can be sold in parcels without injury to the interest of the parties, the decree must direct so much of the mortgaged premises to be sold as will be sufficient to pay the amount then due on such mortgage with costs and such judgment or decree shall remain as security for any subsequent default.

§ 629, C. Civ. P. § 5878. Successive judgments and sales. If in the case mentioned in the preceding section there shall be any default subsequent to such judgment or decree in the payment of any portion or installment of the principal, or of any interest due upon such mortgage, the court may upon the application of the plaintiff by a further order founded upon such first judgment or decree direct a sale of so much of the mortgaged premises to be made under such decree as will be sufficient to satisfy the amount so due with costs of the application and the subsequent proceedings thereon, and the same proceedings may be had as often as a default happens.

§ 5879. Sale of whole on first default. If in any of the foregoing cases it shall appear to the court that the mortgaged premises are so situated that a sale of the whole will be most beneficial to the parties, judgment or decree must in the first instance be entered for the sale of the whole premises accordingly.

§ 630, C. Civ. P.

§ 5880. Rebate on undue part. In such case the proceeds of such sale must be applied as well to the interest or portion or installment of the principal due as toward the whole or residue of the sum secured by such mortgage and not due and payable at the time of such sale, and if such residue does not bear interest, then the court may direct the same to be paid with a rebate of the legal interest for the time during which such residue shall not be due and payable, or the court may direct the balance of the proceeds of such sale after paying the sum due with costs to be put out at interest for the benefit of the plaintiff to be paid to him as the installments or portions of the principal or interest may become due and the surplus for the benefit of the defendant, his representatives or assigns, to be paid to them by order of the court.

§ 631, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5881. Redemption. All real property sold upon foreclosure of mortgages by order, judgment or decree of court may be redeemed at any time within one year after such sale as prescribed by section 5854 upon foreclosure by advertisement.

§ 633, C. Civ. P.

§ 5882. Injury to property restrained. The court may by injunction on good cause shown restrain the party in possession from doing any act to the injury of real property during the existence of the lien or foreclosure of a mortgage thereon and until the expiration of the time allowed for redemption.

§ 634, C. Civ. P.

ARTICLE 3.—FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES UPON PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 5883. Power of sale. Foreclosure authorized. A mortgage of personal property containing a power of sale upon default being made in the conditions of such mortgage, authorizing the exercise of such power, may be foreclosed in the manner and upon the notice in this article provided.

§ 1743, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 5884. When proceedings enjoined. When the mortgagee or his assignee has commenced foreclosure by advertisement and it shall be made to appear by the affidavit of the mortgagor, his agent or attorney, to the satisfaction of the judge of the district court of the county where the mortgaged property is situated that the mortgagee has a legal counterclaim or any other valid defense against the collection of the whole or any part of the amount claimed to be due on such mortgage, such judge may by an order to that effect enjoin the mortgagee or assignee from foreclosing such mortgage by advertisement and direct that all further proceedings for the foreclosure be had in the district court properly having jurisdiction of the subject matter; and for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this section service may be made upon the attorney or agent of the mortgagee or assignee.

§ 1, c. 62, 1883.
am'd.

§ 5885. Publication of notice of sale. Notice that the mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property shall be published once and at least six days prior to the sale in a newspaper published at the place of sale, if there is one; otherwise in any newspaper published in the county in which the sale is to be made; and if there is no newspaper published in the county, notice shall be given by posting the same in five public places in such county for at least ten days prior to the sale. If the mortgagor or his agent shall notify the mortgagee or his agent in writing at the time of the seizure of the property of his election that notice be given by posting instead of by publication, it shall be given accordingly as hereinbefore provided.

§ 4, c. 26, 1889.
am'd.

- § 1, c. 32, 1883.
am'd.
- § 5886. Contents of notice. Such notice must specify:
1. The names of the mortgagor and mortgagee and of the assignee, if any.
 2. The date of the mortgage.
 3. The nature of the default and the amount claimed to be due thereon at the date of the notice.
 4. A description of the mortgaged property, conforming substantially to that contained in the mortgage.
 5. The time and place of sale.
 6. The name of the party, agent or attorney foreclosing such mortgage.
- § 5, c. 26, 1889.
am'd.
- § 5887. When sale made. Postponement. All sales under this article shall be commenced between the hours of twelve o'clock noon and four o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday within thirty days after the seizure of the property, unless the sale shall be postponed. Any sale may be postponed one week by public announcement at the time of postponement when there are no bidders, or when the amount offered is grossly inadequate, or upon the request of the mortgagor.
- § 7, c. 26, 1889.
am'd.
- § 5888. Report of sale. Within ten days after the sale of any mortgaged property as herein provided the person making the sale shall make out in writing a full report under oath of all the proceedings in such foreclosure, specifying particularly the property sold, the amount received therefor, the amount of the costs and expenses itemized and the disposition made by him of the proceeds of the sale and shall file the same in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the mortgage is filed, which report shall be received in all courts as prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.
- § 8, c. 26, 1889.
§ 2, c. 40, 1890.
am'd.
- § 5889. Disposition of proceeds. Out of the proceeds arising from the sale the person making the sale shall pay:
1. The costs and expenses of foreclosure.
 2. The amount of the mortgage debt to the person entitled thereto; and,
 3. The balance, if any, to the owner of the mortgaged property.
- § 3, c. 32, 1885.
- § 5890. Who may purchase at sale. The mortgagee, his assigns, or any other person may in good faith become a purchaser of the property sold.
- § 9, c. 26, 1889.
am'd.
- § 5891. Stipulation waiving provisions of article void. Any stipulation or agreement in any chattel mortgage by which any provisions of this article are waived shall be void.
- § 6, c. 26, 1889.
am'd.
- § 5892. Fees for publication of notice. The fees for the publication of notice under the provisions of this article shall in no case exceed the sum of three dollars. No greater charge shall be valid for the keeping of live stock between the date of its seizure and the date of sale or redemption than is now provided by law for the keeping of live stock when impounded.

§ 5893. Places of sale designated. The boards of county commissioners of the several counties shall at their regular quarterly meeting in April each year designate not less than five public places in their respective counties, which shall be the only market places for the sale of chattels under the provisions of this article, unless the mortgagor and mortgagee agree upon and designate in writing another place in the county as the place of sale, in which case the sale shall be made at the place so designated, which written agreement or designation shall be attached to and filed with the report of sale. Growing or harvested crops, grain in bulk, lumber, cord wood, buildings or other like articles may be sold under the provisions of this article without moving the same to one of the market places herein provided for.

3. c. 26. 1889.
1. c. 40. 1890.
am'd.

§ 5894. How redemption from sale made. Any mortgagor of personal property, or his assignee, may redeem the same from a sale upon foreclosure of any mortgage within five days after such sale, exclusive of the day of sale by paying or tendering to the owner of the mortgage at the time of sale, his agent or attorney, or the person making the sale, the amount for which said property was sold with the costs of sale and interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date of the sale. The mortgagor or his assignee, desiring to redeem such property shall at the time of sale give written notice to the person making the sale of his desire to make such redemption; otherwise he shall be deemed to have waived his right to do so. In case such notice is served, the person making such sale shall retain the possession of the property sold until the expiration of said five days, and shall be entitled to his reasonable expenses in caring for the same. In case a part only of the property sold is redeemed the redemptioner shall pay or tender in addition to the price for which such part was sold such a proportion of the costs of sale as said price bears to the entire price of all the property sold and also the reasonable expense of caring for the property redeemed and interest.

Sub. 1. § 1. c. 79.
1893.
am'd.

§ 5895. Misdemeanor to remove from county. When written notice of a desire to redeem personal property as provided in the last section has been given, any person removing such property from the county in which it was sold, prior to the period herein provided for redemption without the written consent of the owner of said property at the time of sale shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sub. 2. § 1. c. 79.
1893.
am'd.

§ 5896. Certificate of redemption. Upon the payment or tender of the amount necessary to redeem, the mortgagee, or person to whom the same is paid or tendered, shall execute and deliver to the redemptioner a certificate of such redemption, particularly describing the property redeemed and the mortgage under which the same was sold, which certificate may be filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the mortgage is filed and shall operate as a release of said property from the mortgage.

Sub. 3. § 1. c. 79.
1893.
am'd.

ARTICLE 4. — ACTIONS TO FORECLOSE LIENS ON PERSONAL PROPERTY.

§ 5897. Foreclosure authorized. An action may be maintained in the district court to foreclose any lien upon personal property.

§ 5898. Warrant to seize property. If the plaintiff is not in possession of the property, a warrant may at the time of issuing the summons, or any time before judgment, be issued by the clerk of the court in which the action is commenced, commanding the sheriff to seize and safely keep the same to abide the final judgment in the action. Such warrant may be issued upon the filing of a verified complaint with the clerk, setting forth a cause of action in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant for the foreclosure of a lien upon the property, possession of which is sought to be obtained. The sheriff must immediately execute the warrant by seizing the property and holding the same until disposed of according to law.

§ 5899. Form of warrant. The warrant mentioned in the last section, exclusive of the venue and title of the action, shall be in substantially the following form:

To the sheriff of the county of

The plaintiff in the above entitled action having filed in my office a verified complaint, setting forth a cause of action in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant above named for the foreclosure of a lien upon the personal property hereinafter described and having given the undertaking required by law;

Now, therefore, you are hereby commanded immediately to seize and safely keep, until disposed of according to law, the following described personal property belonging to the defendant,..... situated in the county of and state of North Dakota, to-wit: (Here insert description of property).

Such warrant shall be attested and sealed in the same manner as a warrant of attachment.

§ 5900. Undertaking. Before issuing the warrant the clerk must require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff with sufficient surety to the effect, that if the defendant recovers judgment, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of any seizure under the warrant, not exceeding the sum named in the undertaking, which must be at least the amount claimed in the complaint and in no case less than one hundred dollars.

§ 674, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 5901. Judgment must state what. In such action judgment in favor of the plaintiff must specify the amount due on the lien and direct a sale of the property to satisfy the same and the costs, by a person appointed thereby, or by an officer designated therein, in the manner provided for the sale of personal property under execution; and the application by him of the proceeds of the sale, less his fees and expenses, to the payment of the judgment and costs. It may also provide for the payment of the surplus to the owner of the chattel and for the safe-keeping of the surplus, if necessary, until it is claimed by him. If the defendant upon whom the summons is personally served is liable for the amount of the lien, or for any part thereof, judgment may be entered against him accordingly.

§ 5902. Certain provisions relating to attachments applicable. The provisions of the chapter on attachment relative to rebonding, the sale of perishable property and proceedings in case judgment is in favor of the defendant shall apply to proceedings under this article so far as the same are applicable.

§ 5903. Other remedies not affected. This article does not affect any existing right or remedy to foreclose or satisfy a lien upon personal property without action.

CHAPTER 30.

ACTIONS TO DETERMINE CONFLICTING CLAIMS TO REAL PROPERTY AND OTHER ACTIONS
CONCERNING REAL ESTATE.

§ 5904. Action to determine adverse claim. An action may be maintained by any person having an estate or interest in real property against another who claims an estate or interest therein adverse to him for the purpose of determining such adverse claim. § 635, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5905. No costs on disclaimer or default. If the defendant in such action disclaims in his answer any interest or estate in the property or suffers judgment to be taken against him without answer, the plaintiff cannot recover costs. § 636, C. Civ. P.

§ 5906. Description of property in complaint. In an action for the recovery of real property it must be described in the complaint with such certainty as to enable an officer upon execution to identify it. § 637, C. Civ. P.

§ 5907. Joinder of defendants. In an action commenced by a person out of possession of real property to determine an adverse claim, interest or estate therein, the person making such adverse claim and persons in possession under him may be joined as defendants, and if the judgment is for the plaintiff, he may have a writ for the possession of the premises as against the defendants in the action against whom the judgment is rendered. § 638, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5908. Of plaintiffs. Any two or more persons claiming any estate or interest in lands under a common source of title, whether holding as tenants in common, joint tenants, copartners or in severalty, may unite in an action against any person claiming an adverse estate or interest therein for the purpose of determining such adverse claim, or of establishing such common source of title, or of declaring the same to be held in trust, or of removing a cloud upon the same. § 639, C. Civ. P.

§ 5909. Judgment when right fails after action brought. In an action for the recovery of real property, when the plaintiff shows a right to recover at the time the action was commenced, but it appears that his right has terminated during the pendency of the action, the verdict and judgment must be according to the fact and the plaintiff may recover damages for withholding the property. § 640, C. Civ. P.

§ 5910. Improvements allowed as counterclaim. In an action for the recovery of real property upon which permanent improvements have been made by a defendant or those under whom he claims, holding under color of title adversely to the claim of the plaintiff in good faith, the value of such improvements must be allowed as a counterclaim by such defendant. § 641, C. Civ. P.

§ 5911. How counterclaim pleaded. The counterclaim in such action must set forth among other things the value of the land aside from the improvements thereon and also as accurately as practicable the improvements upon the land and the value thereof. § 642, C. Civ. P.

§ 5912. Specific finding as to improvements. Issues may be joined and tried as in other actions and the value of the land aside from the value of the improvements thereon and the separate value of the improvements must be specifically found by the verdict of the jury, the report of the referee or the findings of the court. § 643, C. Civ. P.

- § 644, C. Civ. P. § 5913. Adjustment of cross judgments. The judgment of the court upon such finding, if in favor of the plaintiff for the recovery of the real property and in favor of the defendant for the counterclaim, shall require such defendant to pay to the plaintiff the value of the land as determined by such findings and the damages, if any recovered, for withholding the same and for waste committed upon such land by the defendant within sixty days from the rendition of such judgment, and in default of such payment by the defendant, that the plaintiff shall pay to the defendant the value of the improvements as determined by such finding, less the amount of any damages so recovered by plaintiff for withholding the property and for any waste committed upon such land by the defendant, and until such payment or tender and deposit in the office of the clerk of the court in which such action is pending, no execution or other process shall issue in such action to dispossess such defendant, his heirs or assigns.
- § 645, C. Civ. P. § 5914. Both parties have right of entry. The court in which an action is pending for the recovery of real property or for damages for an injury thereto, or a judge thereof, may on motion upon notice by either party for good cause shown grant an order allowing to such party the right to enter upon the property and make survey and measurement thereof and of any tunnels, shafts or drifts thereon for the purpose of the action, even though entry for such purpose has to be made through other lands belonging to parties to the action.
- § 646, C. Civ. P. § 5915. Order for entry. Service. The order must describe the property and a copy thereof must be served on the owner or occupant and thereupon such party may enter upon the property with necessary surveyors and assistants and make such survey and measurement, but if any unnecessary injury is done to the property he is liable therefor.
- § 647, C. Civ. P. § 5916. Purchaser may recover for waste. When real property has been sold on execution the purchaser thereof, or any person who may have succeeded to his interest, may after his estate becomes absolute recover damages for injury to the property by the tenant in possession after sale and before possession is delivered under the conveyances.
- § 648, C. Civ. P. § 5917. Alienation not to affect action. An action for the recovery of real property against a person in possession cannot be prejudiced by any alienation made by such person either before or after the commencement of the action.
- § 649, C. Civ. P. § 5918. Mining customs govern mining claims. In actions respecting mining claims proof must be admitted of the customs, usages or regulations established and in force at the bar or diggings embracing such claim; and such customs, usages or regulations, when not in conflict with the laws of this state and the United States, must govern the decision of the action.
- § 650, C. Civ. P. § 5919. Claimants on public land. Any person settled upon the public lands belonging to the United States on which settlement is not expressly prohibited by congress, or some department of the general government, may maintain an action for any injuries done the same, also an action to recover the possession thereof in the same manner as if he possessed a fee simple title to said lands.

CHAPTER 31.

ACTION FOR NUISANCE, WASTE AND WILLFUL TRESPASS ON REAL PROPERTY.

§ 5920. Who may bring action of nuisance. An action may be maintained by any person whose property is injuriously affected or whose personal enjoyment is lessened by a nuisance as defined in the civil code; and by the judgment the nuisance may be enjoined or abated as well as damages recovered. § 651, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 5921. Waste. When actionable. If a guardian, tenant for life or years, joint tenant or tenant in common of real property commits waste thereon, any person aggrieved by the waste may bring an action against him therefor, in which action there may be judgment for treble damages, forfeiture of the estate of the party offending and eviction from the premises. § 652, C. Civ. P.

§ 5922. When and to whom judgment given. Judgment of forfeiture and eviction shall only be given in favor of the person entitled to the reversion against the tenant in possession when the injury to the estate in reversion shall be adjudged in the action to be equal to the value of the tenant's estate or unexpired term, or to have been done in malice. § 653, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 32.

ACTION FOR THE SUPPORT OF MARRIED WOMEN.

§ 5923. When maintainable. Any married woman may maintain an action in the district court of the county in which she resides against her husband for failure on his part to provide for her support and the support of her minor children, if any, by said husband living with her. § 1, c. 167, 1890. am'd.

§ 5924. Power of court to render judgment. If it shall appear to the court upon the trial of such action that the husband is able to support or contribute to the support of his wife and said children, if any, and that he neglects or refuses to perform his duty in that respect, the court shall have power to render such judgment as to the support by said husband of his wife and said children as shall be equitable in view of the circumstances of both parties. § 2, c. 167, 1890. am'd.

§ 5925. Practice. The practice in such action shall conform as nearly as may be to the practice in actions for divorce. § 3, c. 167, 1890. am'd.

§ 5926. What payments by husband compelled. The court may in its discretion require the husband to pay any money necessary to enable the plaintiff to prosecute the action and for the support of the plaintiff and her children during its pendency.

§ 5927. Security required. Receiver. The court may require the husband to give reasonable security for making any payments required under the provisions of this chapter and may enforce the same by the appointment of a receiver or by any remedy applicable to the case.

§ 4, c. 167, 1890.
am'd.

§ 5928. Modifying or vacating judgment. The judgment may be modified or vacated at any time upon the hearing of the parties.

CHAPTER 33.

ACTIONS AGAINST THE STATE.

§ 5929. When authorized. Where brought. Undertaking for costs. An action respecting the title to property, or arising upon contract may be brought in the district court against the state the same as against a private person. When such actions are not of a local nature they shall be brought in the county of Burleigh. The plaintiff at the time of commencing such action shall file an undertaking with sufficient surety to be approved by the clerk of court to the effect that he will pay any judgment for costs that may be rendered against him.

§ 5930. Claim presented and refused before action brought. No action upon a claim arising upon contract for the recovery of money only can be maintained against the state until the claim has been presented to the state auditor for allowance and allowance thereof refused. The neglect or refusal of the auditor to act on such claim for a period of ten days after its presentation for allowance shall be deemed a refusal to allow the claim.

§ 5931. How judgment collected. No execution shall issue against the state on any judgment, but whenever a final judgment against the state shall have been obtained in any action the clerk shall make and furnish to the state auditor a duly certified copy of such judgment and the auditor shall in due course draw his warrant upon the state treasurer for such amount and deliver the same to the person entitled thereto.

CHAPTER 34.

CONTEMPTS.

ARTICLE 1.—CRIMINAL CONTEMPTS.

§ 5932. Defined. Every court of record shall have power to punish as for a criminal contempt persons guilty of any of the following acts and no other:

1. Disorderly, contemptuous or insolent behavior committed during its sitting in its immediate view and presence and directly tending to interrupt its proceedings, or to impair the respect due to its authority.

2. Any breach of the peace, noise or other disturbance directly tending to interrupt its proceedings.

3. Willful disobedience of any process or order lawfully issued or made by it.

4. Resistance willfully offered by any person to the lawful order or process of the court.

5. The contumacious and unlawful refusal to be sworn as a witness; or after being sworn, to answer any legal and proper interrogatory.

6. The publication of a false or grossly inaccurate report of its proceedings: but no court can punish as a contempt the publication of a true, full and fair report of any trial, argument, decision or other proceeding therein.

§ 5933. Punishment for. Punishment for a contempt specified in the last section may be by fine, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days in the jail of the county where the court is sitting, or both, in the discretion of the court. When a person is committed to jail for the nonpayment of such fine, he must be discharged at the expiration of thirty days; but when he is also committed for a definite time, the thirty days must be computed from the expiration of the definite time.

ARTICLE 2. — CIVIL CONTEMPTS.

§ 5934. Defined. Every court of record has power to punish by fine and imprisonment, or either, a neglect or violation of duty or other misconduct by which a right or remedy of a party to a civil action or proceeding pending in the court may be defeated, impaired, impeded or prejudiced in the following cases:

1. An attorney, counselor, clerk, sheriff, coroner or other person in any manner duly elected or appointed to perform a judicial or ministerial service for a misbehavior in his office or trust, or for a willful neglect or violation of duty therein; or for disobedience to any lawful order or process of the court or of the judge thereof.

2. A party to an action or proceeding, for putting in fictitious bail, or a fictitious surety, or for any deceit or abuse of the process or proceedings of the court.

3. A party to an action or proceeding, an attorney, counselor or other person, for the nonpayment of a sum of money ordered by the court to be paid, in a case where by law execution cannot be awarded for the collection of such sum; or for any other disobedience to any lawful order, judgment or process of the court.

4. A person for assuming to be an attorney, or counselor or other officer of the court and acting as such without authority; for rescuing any property or person in the custody of an officer by virtue of any process or order issued by such court; for fraudulently and willfully preventing or disabling from attendance or testifying a witness or a party to an action or proceeding, or unlawfully detaining such witness or party while going to, remaining at or returning from the court where the action or proceeding is noticed for trial or hearing, or is being tried or heard; or for any other unlawful interference with the proceedings therein.

5. A person subpoenaed as a witness for refusing or neglecting to obey the subpoena, or to attend, or to be sworn, or to answer as a witness.

6. A person summoned as a juror in any court, for improperly conversing with a party to an action or proceeding to be tried at that term, or with any other person, in relation to the merits of such action or proceeding; or for receiving a communication from any person in relation to the merits of such an action or proceeding without immediately disclosing the same to the court.

7. An inferior magistrate, judge, officer or tribunal, for proceeding contrary to law in a case or matter which has been removed from his jurisdiction to the court inflicting the punishment; or for disobedience to any lawful order or process of the latter court.

8. In any other case expressly authorized by the codes or statutes of this state, or where an attachment, or any other proceeding to punish for a contempt has been usually adopted and practiced in a court of record to enforce a civil remedy or to protect a right of a party to an action or proceeding in such court.

ARTICLE 3.—PRACTICE IN CONTEMPTS.

§ 5935. How punished when in presence of court. When the offense is committed in the immediate view and presence of the court or of the judge upon a trial or hearing it may be punished summarily. For that purpose an order must be made, stating the facts which constitute the offense and reciting that the same occurred in such immediate view and presence and plainly and specifically prescribing the punishment to be inflicted therefor.

§ 5936. When not in presence. When the offense is not so committed the court or judge must upon being satisfied by affidavit of the commission of the offense, either:

1. Make an order requiring the accused to show cause at a time and place therein specified why he should not be punished for the alleged offense; or,

2. Issue a warrant of attachment directed to the sheriff of any county where the accused may be found, commanding him to arrest the accused and bring him before the court or judge, either forthwith or at a time and place therein specified to answer for the alleged offense.

§ 5937. Order to show cause. Attachment. An order to show cause may be made in the action or proceeding in or respecting which the offense was committed, either before or after the final judgment or order therein, and is equivalent to a notice of motion; and the subsequent proceedings thereupon shall be taken in the action or proceeding as upon a motion made therein. In case an attachment is issued it shall be deemed an original special proceeding by the state as plaintiff against the accused as defendant.

§ 5938. Papers served on accused. A copy of the warrant and of the affidavit, or report of a referee upon which it is issued, must be served upon the accused when he is arrested by virtue thereof.

§ 5939. Indorsement on warrant of amount of undertaking required. When a warrant of attachment is issued the court or judge may in discretion by an indorsement thereon fix a sum in which the accused may give an undertaking for his appearance to answer.

§ 5940. Duty of sheriff when undertaking not given. If an indorsement is not made upon the warrant, or if such an indorsement is made and an undertaking is not given as prescribed in the next section, the sheriff after making the arrest must keep the accused in his custody, until the further direction of the court or judge. When from sickness or other cause the accused is physically unable to attend before the court or judge, that fact is a sufficient excuse to the sheriff for not producing him as required by the warrant. In that case the sheriff must produce him as directed by the court or judge after he becomes able to attend. The sheriff need not in any case confine the accused in prison or otherwise restrain him of his liberty, except so far as is necessary in order to secure his personal attendance.

§ 5941. Accused discharged from arrest on delivering undertaking. When an indorsement is made upon the warrant as prescribed in the last section but one, the accused must be discharged from arrest upon his executing and delivering to the sheriff at any time before the return day of the warrant an undertaking to the state in the sum specified in the indorsement with sufficient surety to the effect that he will appear on the return of such attachment and abide the direction of the court. If required by the sheriff, such surety must justify in the same manner as bail upon an arrest.

§ 5942. Procedure on return of warrant. When the accused is produced by virtue of a warrant, or appears upon the return of a warrant, or of an order to show cause the court or judge must, unless the accused admits the offense charged, cause interrogatories to be filed, specifying the facts and circumstances of the offense charged against him. The accused must make written answer thereto under oath within such reasonable time as the court or judge allows therefor and either party may produce affidavits or other proof contradicting or corroborating any answer. Upon the original affidavits, the answer and subsequent proofs the court or judge must determine whether the accused has committed the offense charged.

§ 5943. Final order directing punishment. If it is determined that the accused has committed the offense charged and, if it is a contempt defined in section 5934, that it was calculated to or actually did defeat, impair, impede or prejudice the rights or remedies of a party to an action or proceeding pending in the court or before the judge or a referee, the court or judge must make a final order accordingly, directing that the accused be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, as the nature of the case requires. A warrant of commitment must issue accordingly.

§ 5944. Payment to party injured instead of fine. If an actual loss or injury has been produced to any party by the misconduct alleged, the court or judge shall order a sufficient sum to be paid by the offender to such party to indemnify him and to satisfy his costs and expenses instead of imposing a fine upon the accused; and in such case the payment and acceptance of such sum shall be an absolute bar to any action by the aggrieved party to recover damages for such injury or loss. When no such actual injury or loss has been produced the fine shall not exceed two hundred and fifty dollars over and above the costs and expenses of the proceeding. A corporation may be fined as prescribed in this section.

§ 5945. Imprisonment until act performed. When the misconduct proved consists of an omission to perform an act or duty, which it is yet in the power of the offender to perform, he shall be imprisoned only until he has performed it and paid the fine imposed. In such a case the order and the warrant of commitment, if one is issued, must specify the act or duty to be performed and the sum to be paid. In every other case, when special provision is not otherwise made by law, the offender may be imprisoned for a reasonable time not exceeding six months, and until the fine, if any, is paid; and the order and the warrant of commitment if any, must specify the amount of the fine and the duration of the imprisonment.

§ 5946. Offender discharged when unable to endure imprisonment. When an offender, imprisoned as prescribed in this chapter, is unable to endure the imprisonment, or to pay the sum, or perform the act or duty required to be paid or performed in order to entitle him to be released, the court or judge may in discretion and upon such terms as justice requires make an order directing him to be discharged from the imprisonment.

§ 5947. Punishment no bar to criminal prosecution. A person punished as prescribed in this chapter may, notwithstanding, be prosecuted criminally for the same misconduct, if it is a public offense; but the court before which he is convicted must in forming its sentence take into consideration the previous punishment.

§ 5948. Failure to appear. Prosecution of undertaking. When a person arrested by authority of a warrant of attachment has given an undertaking for his appearance as prescribed in this chapter and fails to appear on the return day of the warrant, the court may either issue another warrant or make an order directing the undertaking to be prosecuted or both.

§ 5949. By whom prosecuted. Extent of recovery. The order directing the undertaking to be prosecuted may in the discretion of the court or judge direct the prosecution thereof by and in the name of any party aggrieved by the misconduct of the accused. In such a case the plaintiff may recover damages to the extent of the loss or injury sustained by him by reason of the misconduct together with the costs and expenses of prosecuting the proceedings in which the warrant was issued, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking.

§ 5950. When prosecuted in name of state. Application of proceeds. If no party is aggrieved by the misconduct of the accused the court must, and in any case when the court thinks proper so to direct, it may direct the prosecution of the undertaking by the attorney general, or by the state's attorney of the county in which it was given, in the name of the state. In an action brought pursuant to such direction the state is entitled to recover the entire sum specified in the undertaking. Out of the money collected the court which directed the prosecution must direct that the person at whose instance a warrant was issued be paid such a sum as it thinks proper to satisfy the costs and expenses incurred by him and to compensate him for the loss or injury sustained by him by reason of the misconduct. The residue of the money must be paid into the treasury of the state to the credit of the school fund.

§ 5951. When sheriff liable for insufficient surety. After the return of an execution unsatisfied, issued upon a judgment, rendered in an action upon the undertaking, an action to recover the amount of the judgment may be maintained against the sheriff, when it appears that at the time when the undertaking was given, the surety was insufficient and the sheriff had reasonable grounds to doubt his sufficiency. Such an action may be maintained by the plaintiff in whose favor the judgment was recovered. If the state was plaintiff the action must be prosecuted by the attorney general or the state's attorney; and any money collected therein must be disposed of as prescribed in the last section.

§ 5952. Procedure to punish contempt before referee. The commission of any of the offenses, which constitute contempt of court, upon the trial of an action or issue by a referee appointed by the court shall be deemed a contempt of the court appointing such referee and the same may be punished by the court in like manner and upon the same proceedings as in this chapter provided, except that the offense may be presented to the court by a report of the referee instead of by affidavit.

§ 5953. How contempts of officers, etc., punished. When a witness fails to attend for examination when duly required so to do before a notary public or any other officer, board or tribunal authorized by law to require his attendance for examination, or refuses to be sworn, or to answer as a witness, such notary public, officer, board or tribunal shall certify such fact to the judge of the district court of the judicial district in which the witness resides or may be, who must thereupon by order require such witness to attend before him at a time and place to be specified in such order for examination. Upon the return day of such order the examination of the witness shall be conducted before the judge and for the failure of the witness to attend or his refusal to do any act required of him by law he may be punished as for a contempt upon the same proceedings as are in this chapter provided.

§ 5954. How appeals taken to the supreme court. Appeals may be taken to the supreme court from any final order adjudging the accused guilty of contempt and upon such appeal the supreme court may review all the proceedings had and affidavits and other proof introduced by or against the accused. For the purpose of reviewing questions as to the sufficiency of the evidence a statement of the case may be prepared and settled within the time and in the manner provided in article 8 of chapter 10 of this code. Such appeal shall be taken, except as in this section otherwise provided in the manner prescribed in chapter 14 of this code.

To render such appeal effectual:

1. If the appellant has been adjudged guilty of a criminal contempt, an undertaking must be executed to the state of North Dakota on the part of the appellant in the sum of five hundred dollars by at least two sureties to the effect that if the order appealed from, or any part thereof, is affirmed or the appeal is dismissed, the appellant will pay the amount directed to be paid by such order, or the part of such amount as to which the order is affirmed and if such order also directs that appellant be imprisoned, that he will surrender himself in execution of the order and also pay the costs adjudged against him on such appeal; or,

2. If, of a civil contempt, a like undertaking must be executed in double the amount of the fine imposed and in no case less than two hundred and fifty dollars to the same effect as prescribed in subdivision 1 of this section; or,

3. If the appellant does not desire a stay of the execution of the order appealed from, a like undertaking must be executed in the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars to the effect that appellant will pay the costs of the appeal if the judgment is affirmed wholly, or in part, or the appeal is dismissed.

Unless the undertaking provided for in subdivision 1 or 2 of this section, as the case may require, is executed on the part of the appellant the execution of the order appealed from shall not be stayed.

CHAPTER 35.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

§ 14, Const.

§ 5955. Defined. How exercised. Eminent domain is the right to take private property for public use. Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation having been first made to or paid into court for the owner. And in case such property is so taken by a person, firm or private corporation no benefit to accrue from the proposed improvement shall be allowed in ascertaining the compensation to be made therefor. Such compensation shall in all cases be ascertained by a jury, unless a jury is waived. The right of eminent domain may be exercised in the manner provided in this chapter.

§ 5956. Exercised for what public uses. Subject to the provisions of this chapter, the right of eminent domain may be exercised in behalf of the following public uses:

1. All public uses authorized by the government of the United States.

2. Public buildings and grounds for the use of the state and all other public uses authorized by the legislative assembly of this state.

3. Public buildings and grounds for the use of any county, incorporated city, village, town or school district; canals, aqueducts, flumes, ditches or pipes for conducting water for the use of the inhabitants of any county, incorporated city, village or town; or for draining any county, incorporated city, village or town; raising the banks of streams, removing obstructions therefrom and widening, deepening or straightening their channels; roads, streets and alleys and all other public uses for the benefit of any county, incorporated city, village or town, or the inhabitants thereof which may be authorized by the legislative assembly; but the mode of apportioning and collecting the costs of such improvements shall be such as may be provided in the statutes by which the same may be authorized.

4. Wharves, docks, piers, chutes, booms, ferries, bridges, toll roads, by-roads, plank and turnpike roads, railroads and street railways; canals, ditches, flumes, aqueducts and pipes for public transportation, supplying mines and for irrigating purposes, draining and reclaiming lands.

5. Roads, tunnels, ditches, flumes, pipes and dumping places for working mines; also outlets, natural or otherwise, for the flow, deposit or conduct of tailings or refuse matter from mines; also milldams.

6. By-roads leading from highways to residences and farms.

7. Telegraph and telephone lines.

8. Sewerage of any incorporated city, or of any village or town, whether incorporated or unincorporated, or of any settlement consisting of not less than ten families, or of any public buildings belonging to the state, or to any college or university.

9. Cemeteries and public parks.

§ 5957. What estate subject to be taken. The following is a classification of the estates and rights in lands subject to be taken for public use:

1. A fee simple, when taken for public buildings or grounds, or for permanent buildings, for reservoirs and dams and permanent flooding occasioned thereby, or for an outlet for a flow or a place for the deposit of debris or tailings of a mine.

2. An easement, when taken for any other use.

3. The right of entry upon and occupation of lands and the right to take therefrom such earth, gravel, stones, trees and timber as may be necessary for a public use.

§ 5958. What property may be taken. The private property which may be taken under this chapter includes:

1. All real property belonging to any person.

2. Lands belonging to this state; or to any county, incorporated city, village or town not appropriated to some public use.

3. Property appropriated to public use; but such property shall not be taken unless for a more necessary public use than that to which it has been already appropriated.

4. Franchises for toll roads, toll bridges, ferries and all other franchises; but such franchises shall not be taken unless for free highways, railroads or other more necessary public use.

5. All rights of way for any and all the purposes mentioned in section 5956 and any and all structures and improvements thereon and the lands, held or used in connection therewith shall be subject to be connected with, crossed or intersected by any other right of way or improvement or structure thereon. They shall also be subject to a limited use in common with the owner thereof when necessary; but such uses, crossings, intersections and connections shall be made in the manner most compatible with the greatest public benefit and the least private injury.

6. All classes of private property not enumerated may be taken for public use, when such taking is authorized by law.

§ 5959. What must appear before property taken. Before property can be taken it must appear:

1. That the use to which it is to be applied is a use authorized by law.

2. That the taking is necessary to such use.

3. If already appropriated to some public use, that the public use to which it is to be applied is a more necessary public use.

§ 5960. Entry for making surveys, etc. In all cases when land is required for public use the person or corporation, or his or its agents, in charge of such use may survey and locate the same; but it must be located in the manner which will be compatible with the greatest public benefit and the least private injury and subject to the provisions of section 5964. Whoever may be in charge of such public use may enter upon the land and make examinations, surveys and maps thereof, and such entry shall constitute no cause of action in favor of the owner of the land except for injuries resulting from negligence, wantonness or malice.

§ 5961. Proceedings by civil action. All proceedings under this chapter must be prosecuted by civil action brought in the district court of the county in which the property, or some part thereof, is situated.

§ 5962. What complaint must contain. The complaint must contain:

1. The name of the corporation, association, commission or person in charge of the public use for which the property is sought, who must be styled plaintiff.

2. The names of all owners and claimants of the property, if known, or a statement that they are unknown, who must be styled defendants.

3. A statement of the right of the plaintiff.

4. If a right of way is sought, the complaint must show the location, general route and termini and must be accompanied with a map thereof so far as the same is involved in the action or proceeding.

5. A description of each piece of land sought to be taken and whether the same includes the whole or only a part of an entire parcel or tract. All parcels lying in the county and required for the same public use may be included in the same or separate proceedings, at the option of the plaintiff, but the court may consolidate or separate them to suit the convenience of parties.

§ 5963. Who may defend. All persons in occupation of, or having or claiming an interest in any of the property described in the complaint or in the damages for the taking thereof, though not named, may appear, plead and defend, each in respect to his own property or interest, or that claimed by him in like manner as if named in the complaint.

§ 5964. Power of court. The court shall have power:

1. To regulate and determine the place and manner of making connections and crossings, or of enjoying the common use mentioned in the fifth subdivision of section 5960.

2. To hear and determine all adverse or conflicting claims to the property sought to be condemned and to the damages therefor.

3. To determine the respective rights of different parties seeking condemnation of the same property.

§ 5965. Assessment of damages. The jury, or court or referee, if a jury is waived, must hear such legal testimony as may be offered by any of the parties to the proceedings and thereupon must ascertain and assess:

1. The value of the property sought to be condemned and all improvements thereon pertaining to the realty and of each and every separate estate or interest therein; if it consists of different parcels, the value of each parcel and each estate and interest therein shall be separately assessed.

2. If the property sought to be condemned constitutes only a part of a larger parcel, the damages which will accrue to the portion not sought to be condemned by reason of its severance from the portion sought to be condemned and the construction of the improvement in the manner proposed by the plaintiff.

3. If the property, though no part thereof is taken, will be damaged by the construction of the proposed improvement, the amount of such damages.

4. If the property is taken or damaged by the state or a public corporation, separately, how much the portion not sought to be condemned and each estate or interest therein will be benefited, if at all, by the construction of the improvement proposed by the plaintiff; and if the benefit shall be equal to the damages assessed under subdivisions 2 and 3, the owner of the parcel shall be allowed no compensation except the value of the portion taken; but if the benefit shall be less than the damages so assessed the former shall be deducted from the latter and the remainder shall be the only damages allowed in addition to the value of the portion taken.

5. As far as practicable compensation must be assessed separately for property actually taken and for damages to that which is not taken.

§ 5966. When right to damages accrues. For the purpose of assessing compensation and damages the right thereto shall be deemed to have accrued at the date of the trial and its actual value at that date shall be the measure of compensation for all property to be actually taken, and the basis of damages to the property not actually taken, but injuriously affected, in all cases when such damages are allowed as provided in section 5965. No improvements put upon the property subsequent to the date of the service of the summons shall be included in the assessment of compensation or damages.

§ 5967. When title defective. If the title acquired is found to be defective from any cause the plaintiff may again institute proceedings to acquire the same as in this chapter prescribed.

§ 5968. When judgment paid. The plaintiff must within thirty days after final judgment pay the sum of money assessed.

§ 5969. Payment or deposit. Proceedings annulled. Payment may be made to the defendant entitled thereto, or the money may be deposited in court for the defendant, and be distributed to those entitled thereto. If the money is not so paid or deposited, the defendant may have execution as in civil actions, unless execution is stayed by order of the court pending a motion for a new trial or on appeal; and if the money cannot be made on execution, the court upon a showing to that effect must set aside and annul the entire proceedings.

§ 5970. Final order. Filing. When payments have been made as required in the last two sections the court must make a final order of condemnation, which must describe the property condemned and the purposes of such condemnation. A copy of the order must be filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county and thereupon the property described therein shall vest in the plaintiff for the purposes therein specified.

§ 5971. When possession taken. How money paid defendant. Acceptance, abandonment of defenses. At any time after the entry of judgment, whenever the plaintiff shall have paid to the defendant, or into court for the defendant, the full amount of the judgment, the district court in which the proceeding was tried may upon notice of not less than three days authorize the plaintiff to take possession of and use the property during the pendency of and until the final conclusion of the litigation and may, if necessary, stay all actions and proceedings against the plaintiff on account thereof.

The defendant, who is entitled to the money paid into court for him upon judgment, shall be entitled to demand and receive the same at any time thereafter upon obtaining an order therefor from the court. It shall be the duty of the court, or a judge thereof, upon application being made by such defendant to order and direct that the money so paid into court for him be delivered to him upon his filing a satisfaction of the judgment, or upon his filing a receipt therefor and an abandonment of all defenses to the action or proceeding except as to the amount of damages that he may be entitled to in the event that a new trial shall be granted. A payment to a defendant as aforesaid shall be held to be an abandonment by such defendant of all defenses interposed by him, excepting his claim for greater compensation. The payment of the money into court as hereinbefore provided for shall not discharge the plaintiff from liability to keep the said fund full and without diminution; but such money shall be and remain as to all accident, defalcations or other contingencies as between the parties to the proceedings at the risk of the plaintiff, and shall so remain until the amount of the compensation or damages is finally settled by judicial determination and until the court awards the money, or such part thereof as shall be determined upon, to the defendant, and until he is authorized or required by order of court to take it. If for any reason the money shall at any time be lost, or otherwise abstracted or withdrawn, through no fault of the defendant, the court shall require the plaintiff to make and keep the sum good at all times until the litigation is finally brought to an end, and until paid over or made payable to the defendant by order of the court, as above provided, and until such time or times the clerk of court shall be deemed to be the custodian of the money and shall be liable to the plaintiff upon his official bond for the same, or any part thereof, in case it is for any reason lost, or otherwise abstracted or withdrawn. The court may order the money to be deposited in the state treasury and in such case it shall be the duty of the state treasurer to receive all such moneys, duly receipt for and safely keep the same in a special fund to be entered on his books as a condemnation fund for such purpose, and for such duty he shall be liable to the plaintiff upon his official bond. The state treasurer shall pay out such money so deposited in such manner and at such times as the court or judge thereof may by order direct. In all cases when a new trial has been granted upon the application of the defendant and he has failed upon such trial to obtain greater compensation than was allowed him upon the first trial, the costs of such new trial shall be taxed against him.

§ 5972. Rules of practice. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter the provisions of this code relative to civil actions are applicable to and constitute the rules of practice in the proceedings mentioned in this chapter.

§ 5973. New trials and appeals. The provisions of this code relative to new trials and appeals, except in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter apply to the proceedings mentioned in this chapter; provided, that upon the payment of the damages assessed the plaintiff shall be entitled to enter into, improve and hold possession of the property sought to be condemned as provided in section 5971 and devote the same to the public use in question; and no motion for a new trial or appeal shall after such payment in any manner retard the contemplated improvement. Any money which shall have been deposited, as provided in section 5971, shall be applied to the payment of the recovery upon a new trial and the remainder, if there is any, shall be returned to the plaintiff.

CHAPTER 36.

DEATH BY WRONGFUL ACT.

§ 5974. When action for maintainable. Whenever the death of a person shall be caused by a wrongful act, neglect or default and the act, neglect or default is such as would, if death had not ensued, have entitled the party injured to maintain an action and recover damages in respect thereof, then and in every such case the person who, or the corporation or company which, would have been liable if death had not ensued, shall be liable to an action for damages, notwithstanding the death of the person injured, and although the death shall have been caused under such circumstances as amount in law to felony.

§ 5975. Measure of recovery. In such actions the jury shall give such damages as they think proportionate to the injury resulting from the death to the persons entitled to the recovery.

§ 5976. Who may bring action. The action shall be brought by the following persons in the order named:

1. The surviving husband or wife, if any.
2. The surviving children, if any.
3. The personal representative.

If any person entitled to bring the action refuses or neglects so to do for a period of thirty days after demand of the person next in order, such person may bring the same.

§ 5977. Recovery exempt from decedent's debts. The amount recovered shall not be liable for the debts of the decedent, but shall inure to the exclusive benefit of his heirs at law in such shares as the judge before whom the case is tried shall fix in the order for judgment, and for the purpose of determining such shares the judge may after the trial make any investigation which he deems necessary.

§ 5978. Action not abated by death. The action shall not abate by the death of either party to the record. If the plaintiff dies pending the action the person next in order, entitled to bring the action, shall by order of the court be made plaintiff therein.

§ 5979. Compromise of action. The person entitled to bring the action may compromise the same, or the right thereto, and such compromise shall be binding upon all persons authorized to bring the action or to share in the recovery.

CHAPTER 37.

ARBITRATION.

§ 5980. When authorized. Persons capable of contracting may submit to the decision of one or more arbitrators any controversy which might be the subject of a civil action between them, except the question of title to real property in fee or for life. This qualification does not include questions relating merely to the partition or boundaries of real property.

§ 5981. Submission in writing. The submission to arbitration must be in writing and acknowledged by the parties thereto in the same manner as a conveyance of real property and may fix the time on or before which the award shall be made and provide that judgment may be entered upon the award by the district court in and for a specified county.

§ 5982. Powers of arbitrators. Arbitrators have power to appoint a time and place for hearing, to adjourn from time to time, to administer oaths to witnesses, to hear the allegations and evidence of the parties and to make the award thereon. All the arbitrators must meet and act together during the investigation; but when met a majority may determine any question.

§ 5983. Oath of. Before acting the arbitrators must be sworn before an officer authorized to administer oaths faithfully and fairly to hear and examine the allegations and evidence of the parties in relation to the matters in controversy and to make a just award according to their understanding.

§ 5984. Attendance of witnesses compelled. Witnesses may be compelled to appear before such arbitrators by subpoena to be issued by any justice of the peace, in the same manner and with like effect, and subject to the same penalties for disobedience, as in cases of trials before justices of the peace.

§ 5985. How award executed. When filed. The award must be in writing signed by the arbitrators or a majority of them and acknowledged in the same manner as a conveyance of real property. If the submission provides for the entry of judgment upon the award, the arbitrators shall file the submission together with their award in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county specified in the submission and notify each of the parties to the arbitration thereof in writing. If the submission does not provide for the entry of judgment upon the award the arbitrators shall deliver a copy of the award to each of the parties to the arbitration.

§ 5986. Motion to affirm award. Any party to the submission at any time within one year after the award is filed, and upon eight days' notice to the adverse party may move the court designated in the submission to affirm the award and the same shall be affirmed accordingly, unless a motion is made to modify or vacate the award in which case the latter motion shall first be disposed of.

§ 5987. To vacate. Grounds. Any party to such submission may move the court designated therein to vacate the same upon either of the following grounds:

1. That such award was procured by corruption, fraud or other undue means.

2. That there was evident partiality or corruption in the arbitrators, or either of them.

3. That the arbitrators were guilty of misconduct in refusing to postpone the hearing upon sufficient cause shown or refusing to hear any evidence pertinent and material to the controversy, or for any other misbehavior of such arbitrators by which the rights of any party shall have been prejudiced.

4. That the arbitrators exceeded their powers, or that they so imperfectly executed them, that a mutual, final and definite award on the subject matter submitted was not made.

§ 5988. To modify. Grounds. Any party to such submission may also move the court designated therein, to modify or correct such award in the following cases:

1. When there is evident miscalculation of figures or an evident mistake in the description of any person, thing or property referred to in such award.

2. When the arbitrators shall have awarded upon some matter not submitted to them, not affecting the merits of the decision upon the matters submitted.

3. When the award shall be imperfect in some matter of form not affecting the merits of the controversy and when, if it had been a verdict, such defect could have been amended or disregarded by the court according to the provisions of law.

§ 5989. Power of court on such motions. On such application the court may vacate such award in any of the cases hereinbefore specified, and if the time within which such award shall have been required to be made by the submission, has not expired, may in their discretion direct a rehearing by the arbitrators; and in the cases herein specified the court may modify and correct such award, so as to effect the intent thereof and promote justice between the parties.

§ 5990. Judgment. Costs. Upon such award being affirmed or modified the court shall render judgment in favor of the party to whom any sum of money or damages shall have been awarded, that he recover the same; and if the award shall have ordered any act to be done by either party, judgment shall be entered, that such act be done according to such order. The costs of the proceedings shall be taxed as in actions, and if no provision for the fees and expenses of the arbitrators shall have been made in the submission, the court shall make the same allowance as is provided by law for referees; but no costs shall be taxed for any other services or expenses prior to such application.

§ 5991. How judgment entered. The judgment of the court on such award shall be entered in the judgment book at length as other judgments of said court and the clerk of the court shall immediately after the entry of such judgment attach to the submission the award of the arbitrators and a copy of the judgment of the court and the same shall constitute the judgment roll.

§ 5992. Subject to same provisions as other judgments. Such judgment roll shall be filed and judgment docketed as in other cases, shall have the same force and effect in all respects, be subject to all the provisions of law in relation to judgments in actions and may in like manner be reviewed by the supreme court on appeal; and execution shall issue thereupon against the property or person of any party against whom a recovery shall be had in all respects as upon other judgments.

§ 5993. Record on appeal. Power of supreme court. When an appeal shall be taken from such judgment, the original affidavits upon which any application in relation to such award was founded and all other affidavits and papers relating to such application shall be annexed to, form a part of and be transmitted with the record of the judgment, unless the court shall order copies thereof to be returned; and the supreme court shall reverse, modify, amend or affirm such judgment according to justice.

§ 5994. How judgment enforced. When by such judgment any party shall be required to perform any act other than the payment of money, the court rendering such judgment shall enforce the same in the manner provided for enforcing judgments of a similar nature in other cases.

§ 5995. Costs on setting aside. If upon application made pursuant to the foregoing provisions the court shall vacate and set aside any such award, costs shall be awarded to the prevailing party; and judgment may be rendered therefor and enforced by execution.

§ 5996. Appeal from an order vacating. Upon any such order vacating an award the party aggrieved may appeal to the supreme court, on which appeal the submission and award and all affidavits and papers used on such application shall be transmitted to the supreme court, unless the court shall order copies thereof returned; and the court shall proceed to affirm or reverse such order as shall be just.

§ 5997. Procedure when reversed. If such order is reversed the proceedings shall be remitted to the court from which they were removed to proceed thereon; or the supreme court may modify or affirm the award in the same manner and with like effect, as if the application for that purpose had been originally made to such court.

§ 5998. Action upon award not affected. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to impair or affect any action upon an award or upon any bond or other engagement to abide by an award.

§ 5999. Liability for costs when submission revoked. Whenever any submission to arbitration shall be revoked by a party thereto before the publication of an award, the party so revoking shall be liable to an action by the adverse party to recover all costs and expenses incurred and damages which he may have sustained in preparing for such arbitration; but neither party shall have power to revoke the powers of the arbitrators after the cause shall have been finally submitted to them upon a hearing of the parties for their decision.

§ 6000. Same when submission in bond. If the submission so revoked was contained in the condition of any bond, the obligee in such bond shall be entitled to prosecute the same in such manner as other bonds with condition other than for the payment of money and to assign such revocation as a breach thereof; and for such breach he shall recover as damages the costs and expenses incurred and the damages sustained by him in preparing for such arbitration.

CHAPTER 38.

INSOLVENCY.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 6001. How debtor discharged. Insolvent debtors residing in this state may be discharged from their debts in the manner prescribed in and upon compliance with the provisions of this chapter.

§ 6002. What deemed commencement of proceedings. The filing of the petition for an adjudication in insolvency, either by the debtor in his own behalf, or by any creditor against the debtor, shall be deemed the commencement of proceedings in insolvency.

§ 6003. Deemed matters of record. Record not required. The proceedings in all cases of insolvency shall be deemed matters of record, but the same shall not be required to be recorded at length, but shall be carefully filed, copied and numbered in the office of the clerk of the court, and a docket only, or short memorandum thereof, copied in books provided for that purpose, which shall be open to public inspection. Copies of such records duly certified under the seal of the court shall in all cases be presumptive evidence of the facts therein stated.

ARTICLE 2.—VOLUNTARY INSOLVENCY.

§ 6004. When authorized. Petition. Any person residing in this state and owing debts provable in insolvency to the amount of at least five hundred dollars may apply by petition to the district court of the county in which he resides, or of the county to which the county in which he resides is attached for judicial purposes, setting forth his place of residence, his inability to pay all his debts in full, his willingness to surrender all his estate and effects for the benefit of his creditors, except such as is by law exempt from execution, and his desire to obtain a discharge from his debts and shall annex to his petition a schedule and affidavit in compliance with the next two sections. The filing of such petition shall be an act of insolvency and such petitioner shall be adjudged an insolvent.

§ 6005. Schedule. Contents. Such schedule must contain:

1. A true and complete list of all his creditors.
2. The place of residence of such creditors, if known to the debtor; and if not known, that fact shall be stated.
3. The sum owing to each creditor and the nature of each demand, whether arising on written security, on account or otherwise.
4. The true cause and consideration of such indebtedness in each case and the place where such indebtedness accrued.
5. A statement of any existing judgment, mortgage or collateral or other security for the payment of such debts.
6. A full and true inventory of all the estate, both real and personal, and of all choses in action, debts due and moneys in the hands of such debtor, whether the property is claimed as exempt or not, of the incumbrances existing thereon and of all the books, vouchers and securities relating thereto.

§ 6006. Affidavit to petition. An affidavit in the following form shall be annexed to such petition and schedule and shall be sworn to and subscribed by the debtor:

I,....., do swear (or affirm as the case may be) that the schedule, which is annexed to my petition and herewith delivered, is in all respects just, true and complete and that I have not at any time or in any manner whatever disposed of or made over any part of my estate for the future benefit of myself or family, or in order to defraud any of my creditors; and that I have in no instance created or acknowledged a debt for a greater sum than I honestly or truly owed and that I have not paid, secured to be paid or in any way compounded with any of my creditors with a view fraudulently to obtain the prayer of my petition.

§ 6007. Notice to creditors. Upon the filing of such petition, schedule and affidavit the court shall make an order directing that notice be given to all the creditors whose names are contained in the schedule filed with the debtor's petition, or are afterwards furnished by the debtor. The contents of such notice and the manner of serving the same are prescribed in article 4 of this chapter.

§ 6008. Amendment of schedule. Every person voluntarily petitioning under the provisions of this chapter to be adjudged an insolvent shall be at liberty from time to time upon oath to amend and correct his schedule so that the same shall conform to the facts.

ARTICLE 3. — INVOLUNTARY INSOLVENCY.

§ 6009. When proceedings authorized. Any person residing in this state and owing debts provable in insolvency to the amount of at least five hundred dollars:

1. Who departs from this state with intent to defraud his creditors or, being absent, remains absent with such intent; or,

2. Who conceals himself to avoid the service of legal process in any action for the recovery of a debt or demand, provable in insolvency; or,

3. Who conceals any of his property to avoid its being seized on legal process; or,

4. Who makes any assignment, gift, sale, conveyance or transfer of his property, rights or credits either within this state or elsewhere with intent to delay, defraud or hinder his creditors; or,

5. Who, being insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, makes any payments, gift, grant, sale, conveyance or transfer of property, rights or credits, or procures or suffers a judgment against himself or procures or suffers his property to be taken on legal process with intent to give preference to one or more of his creditors or to any person or persons who are or may be liable for him as indorsers, sureties or otherwise, or with the intent by such disposition of his property to defeat or delay the operation of this chapter; or,

6. Who, being insolvent, has suffered execution for five hundred dollars or more to be returned unsatisfied or, being a merchant or tradesman, has suspended and not resumed payment of commercial paper for thirty days for five hundred dollars or more, unless the party or parties holding such paper have in writing waived the right to proceed under this subdivision, shall be deemed to have committed an act of insolvency and shall become liable to be adjudged an insolvent.

§ 6010. Petition. Amendment. Proceedings in insolvency may be instituted by the filing of a verified petition of one or more creditors, the aggregate of whose provable debts amounts to at least four hundred dollars, against any debtor residing in this state owing debts to the amount of at least five hundred dollars, who has committed an act of insolvency as defined in section 6009, provided such petition is brought within six months after the parties in interest shall have had an opportunity to be advised of the fact that an act of insolvency has been committed. The petition may from time to time be amended and corrected by leave of the court before which the proceedings are pending, so that the same shall conform to the facts.

§ 6011. Undertaking. The petition shall be accompanied by an undertaking with sufficient surety, to be approved by the clerk of the court, in the sum of at least five hundred dollars, conditioned that if the debtor shall not be declared an insolvent, the petitioner will pay all costs and damages, including a reasonable attorney's fee, that the debtor may sustain by reason of the filing of the petition. The court may upon motion direct the filing of an additional undertaking with sufficient surety when deemed necessary.

§ 6012. Order to debtor to show cause. Injunction. Upon the filing of the petition authorized by the preceding section, if it appears therefrom that sufficient grounds exist, the court shall make an order requiring the debtor to show cause at a time and place to be specified in the order why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. The court may also by injunction restrain the debtor and any other person in the meantime from making any transfer or disposition of any part of the debtor's property and from any interference therewith.

§ 6013. When property seized and debtor arrested. At the time of the filing of the petition in insolvency either by the debtor or a creditor, or at any time thereafter, if it shall appear that there is probable cause for believing that the debtor is about to leave the state, or to remove or conceal his property or any evidence of his property, or to make any fraudulent conveyance or disposition thereof, or that the best interests of the estate demand such action, the court may issue a warrant to the sheriff, commanding him to arrest and safely keep the alleged debtor, unless he shall give an undertaking to the satisfaction of the court for his appearance from time to time as required by the court until its decision upon the petition or until its further order, and forthwith to take possession provisionally of all the property of the debtor and safely keep the same until the further order of the court, or to take possession of the property as aforesaid without arresting the debtor.

§ 6014. Service on debtor. A copy of the petition and order to show cause shall be served on the debtor. The service shall be made in the same manner as is prescribed for the personal service of a summons or, if such service cannot conveniently be made, in such manner as the court may by order direct. No further proceedings, unless the debtor appears and consents thereto, shall be had until proof has been made of the service of the order and petition; and if such proof is not given on the return day of such order, the proceedings shall be adjourned and an order made that such order and petition be forthwith served.

§ 6015. Proceedings continued by another creditor. If the petitioning creditor does not appear and proceed on the return day or adjourned day, the court may upon the petition of another creditor to the required amount proceed to adjudicate on such petition without requiring a new service of the order and petition.

§ 6016. Answer of debtor. How issues tried. On such return day or adjourned day, if the order and petition have been duly served or service thereof is waived by the appearance of the debtor, the debtor may answer the petition. Such answer shall contain a specific denial of the material allegations of the petition controverted by him and shall be verified in the same manner as pleadings in civil actions. The court shall proceed immediately to try the issues so raised without a jury, unless the debtor at the time of filing his answer demands in writing a trial by jury. Upon a hearing before the court affidavits or other proof may be used as evidence.

§ 6017. Procedure on demand for jury. If the debtor demands a trial by jury, the court may adjourn the proceedings to the next term of the district court at which a jury will be in attendance; or may by order direct that eighteen jurors be drawn in the same manner as petit jurors are drawn from the jury list of the last preceding term of the district court, and that the jurors so drawn be summoned by the sheriff to attend upon the court at a time to be fixed in the order. At the time so fixed a jury of twelve shall be drawn from the persons so summoned in the same manner as jurors are drawn for the trial of civil actions and the provisions of law relating to the selecting, summoning and drawing of jurors shall be applicable to such proceedings. The issues raised by the petition and answer shall be tried in the same manner as issues in civil actions.

§ 6018. When proceedings dismissed. If upon such hearing or trial the debtor proves to the satisfaction of the court or jury, as the case may be, that the facts set forth in the petition are not true, or that the debtor has paid and satisfied all liens on his property, in case the existence of such liens was the sole ground of the proceeding, the proceedings shall be dismissed and judgment shall be entered in favor of the debtor against the petitioner for costs.

§ 6019. When debtor adjudged insolvent. If upon the hearing or trial the facts set forth in the petition are found to be true or, if upon default made by the debtor to appear pursuant to the order, due proof of service thereof is made, the court shall adjudge the debtor to be an insolvent.

§ 6020. Order requiring schedule. Amendment of. The court shall thereupon make an order requiring the insolvent forthwith, or within such number of days not exceeding three after the date of the order or notice thereof as shall by the order be prescribed, to make and deliver or transmit by mail postage paid to the clerk of the court a schedule as required by section 6005 and verified by the oath of the debtor. Such debtor shall be allowed from time to time upon oath to amend or correct his schedule of creditors and property so that the same shall conform to the facts. If the insolvent is absent or cannot be found in this state, such schedule shall be prepared by some person to be appointed by the court for that purpose according to the best information he can obtain.

§ 6021. How copy of the adjudication served. If the debtor has failed to appear in person or by attorney, a copy of the adjudication shall be forthwith served on him in the manner provided for the service of the order to show cause.

ARTICLE 4. — PROCEEDINGS TO REALIZE THE ESTATE FOR CREDITORS.

§ 6022. Notice of insolvency. Upon an adjudication that a debtor is an insolvent either upon his own petition or upon the petition of his creditors a notice shall forthwith be given by the clerk of the district court substantially as follows:

NOTICE OF INSOLVENCY.

Notice is hereby given that an adjudication of insolvency has been made against.....; and that the payment of any debts and the delivery of any property belonging to such debtor to him, or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him are forbidden by law.

.....
Clerk of the district court in and for the county of....., North Dakota.

§ 6023. Notice of election of assignee. At the same time the clerk of the district court shall give notice of a meeting of the creditors to choose an assignee, the time for which shall be fixed by order of the court, which notice shall be in the following form:

ELECTION OF ASSIGNEE.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the creditors of....., who has been adjudged an insolvent, will be held at the courthouse in the city of.... in the county of..... in the state of North Dakota at.... o'clock.... M. on the..... day of..... 189.. for the purpose of choosing one or more assignees of the estate of said insolvent.

.....
Clerk of the district court in and for the county of....., North Dakota.

§ 6024. Manner of serving foregoing notices. The notices mentioned in the last two sections shall be published four times, once in each week for four successive weeks, in a newspaper published in the county in which the adjudication is made, if there is one, and if not, then in a newspaper published at the seat of government. A copy of the notice of election of an assignee shall also be forthwith served personally or by mail on each creditor named in the schedule, if such creditor's residence or post office address is given in the schedule. The expense of the clerk in giving such notices shall be paid by the assignee out of the estate.

§ 6025. Choosing assignee before time fixed. At any time after an adjudication in insolvency the creditors named in the schedule and any other creditors, who may appear, may choose an assignee in the manner herein provided without waiting for the expiration of the time fixed in the notice and thereupon publication of the notice must be discontinued.

§ 6026. Meeting of creditors. At the meeting of the creditors the judge of the court shall preside, and the clerk of the court shall attend and keep a minute of the deliberations of the creditors and of the election of an assignee and enter the same upon his records;

if it appears that the notice to creditors has not been given as required by law, the meeting shall forthwith be adjourned and a new notice be given as required unless all the creditors have appeared as hereinbefore provided.

§ 6027. Creditor may act by attorney. Any creditor may act at all meetings and proceedings in insolvency by his attorney the same as though personally present.

§ 6028. Time and method of electing assignee. The creditors shall at the first meeting held after due notice or appearance choose one or more assignees of the property of the debtor; the choice to be made by the greater part in value of the creditors, who have proved their debts and are present or represented at such meeting. If no choice is made by the creditors at the meeting, the court shall appoint one or more assignees. If an assignee so chosen or appointed fails within five days to express in writing his acceptance of the trust, the court may fill the vacancy.

§ 6029. Who may vote or be assignee. No person who has received any preference contrary to the provisions of this chapter shall vote for or be eligible as assignee; but no title to property, real or personal, sold, transferred or conveyed by an assignee shall be affected or impaired by reason of his ineligibility.

§ 6030. Undertaking of assignee. Failure to give. The assignee shall give a good and sufficient undertaking in such sum as the court directs to the state of North Dakota, conditioned for the faithful performance and discharge of his duties, which undertaking shall be approved by the clerk of the court and filed with the record of the case, and shall inure to the benefit of all creditors proving their claims, and may be prosecuted in the name and for the benefit of any injured party. If the assignee fails to give the undertaking within ten days after notice of his appointment, the court shall remove him and a new assignee shall be chosen by the creditors at a meeting called for that purpose upon notice to the creditors as hereinbefore provided.

§ 6031. Grounds for removing assignee. The court may after hearing upon not less than three days' notice to the assignee remove him, if it appears upon the complaint of any person interested in the estate, that the assignee has fraudulently received, concealed, embezzled or conveyed any of the money, goods, effects or property of the debtor or has been interested in any action in relation to the said estate for the purpose of securing to himself a preference or priority over the other creditors, or has in his possession or control any portion of the estate with intent to appropriate the same unlawfully to his own use, or has been guilty of any fraudulent act in relation to the same.

§ 6032. Same. The court may also remove an assignee, who, having removed from the state, unreasonably refuses and neglects to obey any lawful order of the court or to settle his accounts or otherwise to discharge his duties.

§ 6033. Assignee may resign. An assignee may with the consent of the court resign his trust and be discharged therefrom.

§ 6034. How vacancies filled. Vacancies caused by death or otherwise in the office of assignee shall be filled by the creditors in the same manner as in the original choice of an assignee at a regular meeting or at a meeting called for the purpose with such notice thereof in writing to all known creditors as the court shall direct.

§ 6035. From what resignation no release. The resignation or removal of an assignee shall in no way release him from performing all things requisite on his part for the proper closing up of his trust and the transmission thereof to his successor, nor affect his liability or that of the sureties on his undertaking.

§ 6036. Clerk to execute assignment. Levy dissolved. As soon as an assignee is appointed and qualified the clerk of the court shall by an instrument under his hand and the seal of the court assign and convey to the assignee all the property, real and personal, of the debtor with all his deeds, books and papers relating thereto, except such property as is by law exempt from execution, and such assignment shall relate back to the commencement of the proceedings in insolvency and by operation of law shall vest the title to all such property, both real and personal, in the assignee, although the same is then held under any process as the property of the debtor and shall dissolve any levy made under such process within sixty days next preceding the commencement of the insolvency proceedings. Such assignment shall be approved by the court as to its form and manner of execution and shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of every county in which any real estate conveyed thereby is situated.

§ 6037. Debtor's exemptions. The debtor shall be allowed such exemptions as are provided for by law and shall be permitted to use and occupy his homestead, household furniture and absolute exemptions until his homestead and exemptions shall have been selected in the manner hereinafter prescribed. Insurances upon the life of a debtor do not pass to the assignee by the assignment, unless the debtor by an instrument in writing shall expressly consent thereto. No property held by the insolvent in trust shall pass by the assignment.

§ 6038. Assignee may redeem and tender performance. The assignee shall have authority, under the order and direction of the court, to redeem or discharge any mortgage or conditional contract, pledge or lien upon any property of the debtor, whenever payable, and to tender due performance of the conditions thereof or to sell the same subject to such mortgage, lien or other incumbrance.

§ 6039. Authority of assignee as to actions. The assignee shall have like remedy to recover all the property, debts and effects in his own name as the debtor would have had if no assignment had been made; if at the time of the assignment an action is pending in the name of the debtor for the recovery of a debt or other thing which might or ought to pass to the assignee by the assignment, the assignee shall, if he requires it, be permitted to prosecute the action in his own name in like manner and with like effect as if it had been originally commenced by him. No action pending in the name of the assignee shall be abated by his death or removal; but on motion of a surviving, remaining or new assignee, as the case may be, he shall be permitted to prosecute the action in like manner and with like effect as if it had been originally commenced by him. In actions prosecuted by the assignee the assignment made as hereinbefore provided shall be conclusive evidence of his authority.

§ 6040. Embezzlement by third person. If any person before the assignment is made, having notice of the commencement of proceedings in insolvency, embezzles or disposes of any of the moneys, goods, chattels or effects of the insolvent, he is chargeable therewith and liable to an action by the assignee for double the value of the property so embezzled or disposed of, to be recovered for the benefit of the estate.

§ 6041. Remedies to obtain property embezzled, etc. The same penalties, forfeitures and proceedings by citation, examination and commitment shall be maintainable on the part of the assignee in the district court against persons suspected of having concealed, embezzled, conveyed away or disposed of any property of the debtor, or of having possession or knowledge of any deeds, conveyances, bonds, contracts or other writings which relate to any interest of the debtor in any real or personal estate as provided in case of the estates of deceased persons in sections 6378 and 6379 of the probate code.

§ 6042. When assigned claims no defense to action by assignee. Drafts, bills of exchange, promissory notes, claims, demands and causes of action, which within six months before the filing of the petition by or against a debtor are assigned, transferred, conveyed or delivered to any person indebted or liable to the debtor, shall not be set off or pleadable in any action by the assignee to recover such debt or liability; but the assignee may recover the same, notwithstanding such draft, bill of exchange, promissory note, claim, demand or cause of action, if the person to whom the same are so assigned, transferred, conveyed or delivered has at the time of such assignment, transfer, conveyance or delivery reasonable cause to believe the debtor insolvent.

§ 6043. Notice of appointment of assignee. The assignee shall immediately give notice of his appointment by publishing notice thereof three times, once in each week for three successive weeks, in such newspaper as shall for that purpose be designated by the court.

§ 6044. Inventory of estate. The assignee shall immediately make and return upon oath into court a true and complete inventory of all the property of the debtor, real and personal, whether claimed as exempt or not, and of all debts due to the debtor or any other person for his use, of all his rights of action for property, real or personal, and all his rights of redeeming property, which the assignment vests in such assignee and which have come to his possession or knowledge; and the property comprised in such inventory shall be appraised in the same manner as the estates of deceased persons are required by law to be appraised, and the district court shall make all orders necessary for that purpose, and such appraisement shall be made and filed with the clerk of the district court within five days after the appointment of the appraisers, or such further time as the court may allow. As soon as the inventory and appraisement are filed the assignee shall serve written notice of the filing of the same upon the debtor or other person authorized by law to select the homestead and exemptions and require him within ten days from the date upon which such notice is served to select his homestead and exemptions at the value fixed in the appraisement.

§ 6045. Property accounted for at appraised value. The assignee shall account for all the property and effects of the debtor that vest in him by the assignment at the appraisement, except as herein provided. He shall make no profit by the increase and sustain no loss by the decrease or destruction without his fault of any of the assigned property; if he sells any thereof for more than the appraised value, he shall account for the excess and, if he sells for less, he shall be allowed for the loss, if it appears to the court that the sale was expedient and for the interest of all concerned in the property; and in either case the assignee shall exhibit to the court a true account of sales and shall sell the property at public auction, unless the court for sufficient cause upon petition therefor filed otherwise orders.

§ 6046. Selection of exemptions. The debtor or other person authorized by law shall, within ten days after written notice of the filing of the report of the appraisers provided for in section 6044 is served, select his homestead and exemptions to the amount allowed by law at the value determined by the appraisal. If the selection is not made within the time aforesaid, all right to the homestead and exemptions shall be deemed to have been waived. Upon the selection of the homestead and exemptions a report and inventory of the same shall be presented to the district court by the assignee and the court, if satisfied that the debtor or other person claiming the same as exempt is entitled thereto, shall make an order setting apart such homestead and exemptions to the debtor or other person claiming the same.

§ 6047. Assignee to convert property into money. Powers. The assignee in such assignment shall forthwith under the order of the court convert the property assigned into money and shall have power to make all necessary transfers and conveyances for that purpose, and he shall distribute the funds of the estate among the several creditors of such debtor in the manner hereinafter provided and the court may also make all necessary orders for the payment out of the proceeds of such assigned property of all fees and expenses including compensation to such assignee for his service.

§ 6048. Money deposited; property kept distinct. The assignee shall as soon as may be after receiving any money belonging to the estate deposit the same in some bank in his name as assignee, or otherwise keep it distinct and apart from all other money in his possession, and shall as far as practicable keep all property and effects belonging to the debtor separate and apart from all other goods in his possession, or designated by appropriate marks so that they may be easily and clearly distinguished and may not be exposed or liable to be taken as his property or for the payment of his debts.

§ 6049. Investments when distribution delayed. When it appears that the distribution of the estate may be delayed by litigation or other cause, the court may direct the temporary investment of the money belonging to such estate in securities to be approved by the court or may authorize the same to be deposited in any bank in this state upon such interest as the bank may contract with the assignee to pay thereon.

§ 6050. Disbursements of assignee. Compensation. The assignee shall be allowed and may retain out of the money in his hands all the necessary disbursements made by him in the discharge of his duty and in the absence of any order of the court to the contrary is entitled to receive the same commissions as are allowed by law to executors, but he cannot receive more and may by order of the court be restricted to a less amount.

§ 6051. Assignee may arbitrate. The assignee may under the direction of the court submit any controversy arising in the settlement of demands against the estate or of the debts due to it to the determination of arbitrators to be chosen by him and the other party to the controversy; and may under such directions compound and settle any such controversy by agreement with the other party as he thinks proper and most for the interest of the creditors.

§ 6052. Sale of perishable property if title in dispute.

When it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the title to any portion of an estate which has come into the possession of the assignee is in dispute, and that the property is of a perishable nature or liable to deteriorate in value, it may on the petition of the assignee and after such notice to the claimant, his agent or attorney, as the court deems reasonable, order it to be sold by the assignee or under his direction, who shall hold the funds received in place of the property disposed of; and the proceeds of the sale shall be considered the measure of the value of the property in any action or controversy between the parties. But this provision shall not prevent the recovery of the property from the possession of the assignee by any proper action commenced at any time before the sale.

ARTICLE 5.—CLAIMS AGAINST THE ESTATE.

§ 6053. What provable against estate. All debts due and payable from the insolvent at the time of the commencement of the proceedings in insolvency and all debts then existing, but not payable until a future day, a rebate of interest being made when no interest is payable by the terms of the contract, may be proved against the estate of the insolvent. All demands against the insolvent for or on account of any personal property wrongfully taken, converted or withheld by him may be proved and allowed as debts to the amount of the value of the property so taken or withheld with interest. When the insolvent is liable for unliquidated damages arising out of any contract or promise on account of any personal property wrongfully taken, converted or withheld, the court may cause such damages to be assessed in such mode as it may deem best and the sum so assessed may be proved against the estate.

§ 6054. Contingent claims. In all cases of contingent debts and contingent liabilities contracted by the insolvent and not herein otherwise provided for, the creditor may make claim therefor and have his claim allowed, with the right to share in the dividend, if the contingency happens before the order for final dividend; or he may at any time apply to the court to have the present value of the debt or other liability ascertained or liquidated, which shall then be done in such manner as the court shall order and he shall be allowed to prove for the amount so ascertained.

§ 6055. Claim proved after liability absolute. When the insolvent is bound as drawer, indorser, surety, bail or guarantor upon any bill, bond, note or any other contract, or for any debt of another person, but his liability does not become absolute until after the adjudication of insolvency, the creditor may prove the same after such liability becomes fixed and before the final dividend is declared.

§ 6056. Proof of claim of surety, etc. Any person liable as bail, surety, guarantor or otherwise for the insolvent, who shall have paid the debt, or any part thereof in discharge of the whole, shall be entitled to prove such debt to the extent of his payment in respect thereof or to stand in the place of the creditor if the creditor has proved the same, although such payment shall have been made after the proceedings in insolvency were commenced. And any person so liable for the insolvent and who has not paid the whole of such debt, but is still liable for the same or any part thereof, may, if the creditor fails or omits to prove such debt, prove the same either in the name of the creditor or otherwise as the court shall direct.

§ 6057. Claims for rent. When the insolvent is liable to pay rent or other debt falling due at fixed and stated periods, the creditor may prove for a proportionate part thereof up to the time of the insolvency as if the same grew due from day to day and not at such fixed and stated periods.

§ 6058. No other claims allowed. No debts other than those specified in the five preceding sections shall be proved or allowed against the estate.

§ 6059. Mutual debts. If it appears that there has been mutual credit given by the debtor and any other person or mutual debts between them, the account between them shall be stated and one debt set off against the other and the balance shall be allowed or paid, as the case may be, but no set-off or counterclaim shall be allowed of a claim in its nature not provable against the estate.

§ 6060. Claims secured by lien, etc. When a creditor has a mortgage or pledge of real or personal property of the debtor or a lien thereon for securing the payment of a debt claimed by him, the property so held as security shall, if he requires it, be sold and the proceeds applied towards the payment of his debt, and he shall be admitted as a creditor for the residue. The sale shall be made in such manner as the court orders and the creditor and assignee respectively shall execute all deeds and papers necessary or proper for effecting the conveyance. If the creditor does not require such sale and join in effecting the conveyance, he may release and deliver up to the assignee the property held as security and be admitted as a creditor for the whole of his debt. If the property is not so sold, or released and delivered up, the creditor shall not be allowed to prove any part of his debt.

§ 6061. When preference bars claim. No person who shall have accepted any preference, having any reasonable cause to believe that the same was made or given by the debtor contrary to any provision of this chapter, shall prove the debt or claim on account of which the preference was made or given, nor shall he receive any dividend thereon until he shall first have surrendered to the assignee all property, money, benefit or advantage received by him under such preference.

§ 6062. Oath of claimant. No debt shall be proved or allowed unless the creditor, or his agent or attorney having knowledge of the facts, makes oath in substance as follows:

I,, do swear (or affirm as the case may be) that by (or against) whom proceedings in insolvency have been instituted at and before the date of such proceedings was and still is justly and truly indebted to me in the sum of dollars, for which sum, or any part thereof, I have not, nor has any other person to my use to my knowledge or belief received any security or satisfaction whatever beyond what has been disposed of agreeably to law. And I do further swear (or affirm as the case may be) that such claim was not procured by me for the purpose of influencing the proceedings in this case, and that I have not directly or indirectly made or entered into any bargain, arrangement or agreement, express or implied, to sell, transfer or dispose of my claim, or any part thereof, against such debtor, nor have I directly or indirectly received or taken, or made or entered into any bargain, arrangement or agreement, express or implied, to take or receive directly or indirectly any money, property or consideration whatsoever to myself, or to any person or persons to my use or benefit, under or with any understanding or agreement, express or implied, whereby the debtor's discharge is or shall be in any way affected, influenced or controlled, or whereby the proceedings in this case are or shall be affected, influenced or controlled.

In case the above oath is made by an agent or attorney the court may require such further proof of the truth of the statements therein as it deems expedient.

§ 6063. Examination of witnesses as to claims. The court may on the application of the assignee, of any creditor or of the debtor examine upon oath any person who has made proof of a claim and may summon any person to give evidence concerning such proof and may alter or expunge such claim when the evidence shows that it is founded in whole or in part in fraud, illegality or mistake.

§ 6064. Examination of debtor. The court may on application of the assignee or of any creditor, or without any application, at all times require the insolvent upon reasonable notice to attend and submit to an examination on oath upon all matters relating to the disposal or condition of his property, to his trade and dealings with others, his accounts concerning the same, any debts due to or claimed from him and any other matters concerning his property and estate and the due settlement thereof according to law. Such examination shall be in writing and shall be signed by the insolvent and filed with the other proceedings.

§ 6065. Allowance by assignee. Notice of. The assignee shall allow all debts duly proved and shall, when a claim is presented to him and the same is allowed or rejected, give notice personally or by mail to the creditor, or his agent or attorney, presenting the same, as to his action thereon.

§ 6066. Appeal from rejection. A creditor whose claim is wholly or in part rejected may within thirty days after notice of such rejection appeal from the decision of the assignee to the district court. Such appeal shall be placed upon the calendar for trial at the term of the district court which shall be first held within the county after the taking of such appeal.

§ 6067. How taken and heard. Upon taking the appeal a creditor shall file in the office of the clerk of the district court a statement in writing of his claim, setting forth the same substantially as in a complaint in a civil action, and the assignee shall plead thereto in like manner and the practice in such cause shall be the same as in a civil action commenced and prosecuted in the usual manner, except that no execution shall be awarded against the assignee for the amount of a debt found due to the creditor. The party prevailing in the action shall be entitled to costs against the adverse party to be taxed as in other actions. If recovered against the assignee they shall be allowed out of the estate.

ARTICLE 6. — DIVIDENDS.

§ 6068. First dividend. At the expiration of three months from the appointment of the assignee in any case, or as much earlier as the court may direct, the assignee shall exhibit to the court and to the creditors and file just and true accounts of all his receipts and payments verified by his oath, and a statement of the property outstanding specifying the cause of its outstanding; also what debts or claims are yet undetermined and stating what sum remains in his possession; and thereupon a dividend shall be made, unless for cause the court shall otherwise order. Thereafter further accounts, statements and dividends shall be made in like manner as often as occasion requires.

§ 6069. When preferred claims paid. At any time after the assignment on the request of the assignee or a creditor and upon such notice to the creditors and assignee as the court shall think proper the court may in its discretion order the payment in whole or in part of claims entitled to priority or preference.

§ 6070. Order of priority among claims. The following claims shall be entitled to priority and to be first paid in full in their order:

1. All debts due to the United States and all debts due to and taxes assessed by this state or any county, city or town therein.

2. All debts owing for the wages of servants, laborers, mechanics and clerks for labor performed within one year next preceding the commencement of proceedings in insolvency.

3. All debts due to physicians for medical attendance on the debtor or his family rendered within six months prior to the commencement of proceedings in insolvency to an amount not exceeding fifty dollars.

4. All debts due to persons, who by the law of the United States or of this state, are or may be entitled to a priority or preference in like manner as if this chapter had not been enacted.

5. Legal fees, costs and expenses of suit and for the custody of property attached and the costs of such attachment, when the attachment has been dissolved by bond given by the defendant, if the claim upon which the action was commenced is proved against the estate of the debtor.

§ 6071. Reservation for distant creditors. If at the time of ordering the dividend it appears probable that there are just claims against the estate which by reason of the distant residence of a creditor or from other sufficient reason have not been proved, the court in ordering the dividend shall leave in the hands of the assignee a sum sufficient to pay every such absent creditor a proportion equal to what shall be then paid to the other creditors, which sum shall remain thus unappropriated in the hands of the assignee until the final dividend is declared or until the court orders its distribution.

§ 6072. Second dividend. The assignee shall at such time as the court directs within eighteen months after the appointment of the assignee make a second dividend of the estate, if the same was not wholly distributed upon the first dividend, and any balance in the hands of the assignee shall by order of the court be divided among the creditors who have proved their debts in proportion thereto.

§ 6073. Sale of debts not easily collectible. If at any time before the final dividend there remains in the hands of the assignee any outstanding debts or other property due or belonging to the estate, which cannot in the opinion of the judge be collected and received by the assignee without unreasonable or inconvenient delay, the assignee may under the direction of the judge sell and assign such debts or other property in such manner as the court shall order.

§ 6074. When second dividend final. The second dividend shall be final, unless an action relating to the estate is then pending, or part of the estate is outstanding, or unless some other property of the debtor afterwards comes to the hands of the assignee; in which cases another dividend shall be made by order of the court.

§ 6075. Prior dividends not disturbed. No creditor whose debt is proved at the time of the second or any subsequent dividend shall disturb a prior dividend, but he shall be paid so far only as the funds remaining unappropriated in the hands of the assignee are sufficient therefor.

§ 6076. Final dividend. Application by assignee for discharge. Preparatory to the final account and dividend the assignee shall submit his account to the court and file the same and shall at the time of filing accompany the same with an affidavit that notice by mail has been given to all creditors who have proved their claims, that he will apply for the settlement of his account and for a discharge from all liability as assignee at a time specified in such notice, which time shall be not less than ten nor more than twenty days from such filing. At the hearing the court shall audit the account and any person interested may appear and file exceptions in writing and contest the same. The court thereupon shall settle the account, order a dividend of any portion of the estate remaining undistributed and shall discharge the assignee, subject to compliance with the order of the court, from all liability as assignee to any creditor of the insolvent.

ARTICLE 7. — DISCHARGE OF THE INSOLVENT.

§ 6077. Duty of debtor as to property. The debtor shall upon demand deliver to the assignee all the commercial or account books he may have kept and all vouchers, notes, bonds, bills, securities or other evidences of debt, or writings in any manner relating to or having any bearing upon or connection with the property of such debtor; and he shall at the expense of the estate make and execute such deeds and writings and indorse such bills, notes and other negotiable papers, draw such checks and orders for moneys deposited in bank or elsewhere and do all such other lawful acts and things as the assignee at any time reasonably requires and as are necessary or useful for confirming the assignment and enabling the assignee to demand, recover and receive all the estate and property so assigned, especially any part thereof which is without this state.

§ 6078. Refusal to execute instrument contempt. If the debtor refuses or unreasonably neglects to execute an instrument when lawfully required pursuant to an order of the court, or disobeys any lawful order or judgment, he may be proceeded against as for a contempt of court.

§ 6079. When insolvent may apply for discharge. At any time after the expiration of six months from the adjudication of insolvency or, if no debts have been proved against the insolvent or if no assets have come to the hands of the assignee, at any time after the expiration of sixty days, the insolvent may apply to the court for a discharge from his debts.

§ 6080. Notice of application to creditors. Upon application for the discharge being made the court shall order notice to be given by the assignee by mail to all creditors who have proved their claims and by publication in such manner and for such length of time as the court may direct to appear on a day appointed for that purpose and show cause why a discharge should not be granted to the debtor.

§ 6081. When not granted. No discharge shall be granted or, if granted, shall be valid in any of the following cases:

1. If such debtor has willfully sworn falsely in his affidavit annexed to his petition or schedule or upon any examination in the course of the proceedings in insolvency in relation to any material fact.

2. If after the presentation of the petition in insolvency, he shall sell or in any way transfer or assign any of his property or collect any debts due him, and shall not give a just and true account thereof on the hearing of his application and shall not also pay over to the assignee all money so collected or the value of the property so assigned.

3. If he shall secrete any part of his estate or any books or writings relative thereto with intent to defraud his creditors.

4. If he shall fraudulently conceal the names of any of his creditors or the amount of any sum due to any of them.

5. If he shall pay or consent to the payment of any portion of the debt of any of his creditors or shall grant or consent to the granting of any gift or reward to any such creditor upon any express or implied contract or trust that the creditors so paid or rewarded should abstain or desist from opposing the discharge of such insolvent.

6. If he shall be guilty of any fraud whatever contrary to the true intent of this chapter.

§ 6082. Method of opposing. Any creditor opposing the discharge of an insolvent may file a specification in writing of the grounds of his opposition and the court may in its discretion order any question of fact so presented to be tried at the next term of the district court thereafter.

§ 6083. Oath of insolvent. Before any discharge is granted the insolvent must take and subscribe an oath to the effect that he has not done, suffered or been privy to any act, matter or thing specified as a ground for withholding such discharge or as rendering it voidable if granted.

§ 6084. When granted. Certificate of. The court shall, if it satisfactorily appears that the creditor has made a full disclosure and delivery of all his estate as herein required and that he has in all things conformed himself to the directions and requirements of this chapter, grant him a certificate which shall state all fiduciary debts specially exempt from discharge and be in substance as follows:

State of North Dakota, } In District Court,
County of, } ss. Judicial District.

To all to whom these presents shall come, I, judge of the district court of the judicial district for the said county of, send greeting:

Whereas it has been made to appear to me that of in the said county of, whose estate has been assigned for the benefit of his creditors according to law, has made a full disclosure and delivery of all his estate and that he has in all things conformed himself to the requirements of law in that behalf made and provided, I do accordingly certify that said is absolutely and wholly discharged from all his debts which have been or shall be proved against his estate assigned as aforesaid, and from all his debts which are provable against his estate and which are founded on any contract made by him within this state or to be performed within the same and made subsequent to (date of the taking effect of this act), and from all debts which are provable as aforesaid and which are founded on any contract made by him since that date and due to any persons who were resident within this state on the day of last, being the day of the first publication of the notice requiring creditors to show cause, and from all demands against him for or on account of any personal property wrongfully obtained, taken or withheld by him; and I do further certify that said is forever exempted and discharged from arrest or imprisonment in any action or upon any proceeding in favor of any such person, arising within the time aforesaid, for or on account of any debt or demand whatever which might have been proved against his estate assigned as aforesaid.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court this day of in the year

§ 6085. From what debts discharged. How discharge pleaded. The debtor shall thereupon, except as provided in the next section, be absolutely and wholly discharged from debts proved against his estate and from all debts provable under this chapter and founded on any contract made by him subsequently to the taking effect of this act and while a resident of this state, to be performed within the same, or due to any person residing therein at the time of the first publication of the notice requiring creditors to show cause and from all demands against him for or on account of any personal property wrongfully obtained, taken or withheld by him. Such discharge may be pleaded by a simple averment that on the day of its date it was granted to the debtor, setting forth a copy of the same, as a full and complete bar to all actions commenced on such debt or demands. The certificate shall be conclusive evidence of the fact and regularity of such discharge.

§ 6086. From what not discharged. No debt created by the debtor's defalcation as a public officer, executor, administrator, guardian, receiver, trustee or assignee of an insolvent estate, or by the fraud or embezzlement of the debtor, or claim for goods attached or taken on execution by the debtor as an officer, or for misfeasance in office shall be discharged under this chapter, but the dividend declared thereon shall be payment of so much of said debt or claim. A claim for necessities furnished to the debtor or his family shall not be so discharged unless the claim is proved against his estate.

§ 6087. Does not release persons liable with debtor. A discharge shall not release or discharge a person liable for or with the debtor for the same debt as a partner, joint contractor, indorser, surety or otherwise.

§ 6088. Discharge of debtor once insolvent. A discharge shall not be granted to a debtor a second time insolvent whose assets do not pay fifty per cent of the claims proved against the estate, unless the assent in writing of three-fourths in value of his creditors who have proved their claims is filed in the case at or before the time of the hearing of the application for discharge. No discharge shall be granted to a debtor a third time insolvent; except that a debtor who has paid all debts owing by him at the time of his previous insolvency or who has been voluntarily released therefrom by his creditors shall be entitled to a discharge in the same manner and with the same effect as if he had not been previously insolvent.

§ 6089. What preferences void. Recovery. No discharge. If a person, being insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, within sixty days before the filing of the petition by or against him, with a view to give a preference to a creditor or person who has a claim against him or is under liability for him, procures any part of his property to be attached or seized on execution or makes any payment, pledge, assignment, transfer or conveyance of any part of his property, either directly or indirectly, absolutely or conditionally, the person receiving such payment, pledge, assignment, transfer or conveyance or to be benefited thereby, having reasonable cause to believe such person is insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, and that such payment, pledge, assignment, transfer or conveyance is made in fraud of the laws relating to insolvency, the same shall be void; and the assignee may recover the property or the value of it from the person so receiving it or so to be benefited and the debtor shall not be entitled to discharge, and a discharge, if received by him, shall be void and of no effect. The provisions of this and the next section shall not apply to the payment of money or a transfer of property in payment not exceeding fifty dollars in amount upon a debt contracted for necessities furnished to the debtor or his family.

§ 6090. When payment or security void. Judgments. Any payment by the insolvent of a pre-existing debt or any pledge, assignment, transfer or conveyance of any part of his property to secure the payment of the same, either directly or indirectly, absolutely or conditionally, made within thirty days before the filing of the petition by or against the insolvent shall be void and the assignee may recover the property or the value of it from the person receiving it or to be benefited thereby. No judgment rendered in an action which has not been pending for more than six months before the filing of the petition by or against the insolvent and not docketed until within thirty days before the filing of such petition shall be a lien upon the real property of the insolvent.

§ 6091. New trial. Grounds of. Limited to those specified. Within one year after the granting of the discharge to the insolvent any creditor may apply, upon affidavit or proof to the district court upon notice to such insolvent, for a new trial of the application for a discharge. Such insolvent may resist such application by affidavit and other proofs and, if upon the hearing of the application the court shall be satisfied that any grounds for rendering such discharge voidable mentioned in section 6081 and which have been specified in such application for a new trial exist, it shall make an order vacating such discharge and directing a new trial of such insolvent's application for a discharge. Such new trial shall be had as to the grounds specified in such application only, in the same manner as hereinbefore provided for a trial upon the original application of the insolvent; and if the verdict of the jury or finding of the court shall be in favor of the creditor so applying the discharge shall be vacated; otherwise it shall be final and conclusive.

§ 6092. Appeals. Appeals may be taken to the supreme court by such insolvent from an adjudication of insolvency or from any order denying or vacating his discharge, or by any creditor opposing such discharge from the order granting it, or from the order denying an application for a new trial, or an order in favor of the insolvent upon a new trial of the application for a discharge; which appeal shall be taken as ordinary appeals in civil actions.

ARTICLE 8. — PROCEEDINGS PECULIAR TO PARTNERSHIPS.

§ 6093. Petition and procedure. Two or more persons who are partners in business may be adjudged insolvent either on the petition of such partners or any of them, or on the petition of one or more creditors holding debts provable against the firm amounting to at least four hundred dollars. The same proceedings shall be had therein as in the case of an individual except as hereinafter provided, and in such proceedings an assignee may be appointed who shall take possession of all property of the firm and also of the separate property of each of the general partners. If the petition is made by one or more, but not by all of the partners, ten days' notice of the time and place of the hearing of the petition shall be given to the other partners, if within the United States. All the creditors of the firm and the separate creditors of each partner may prove their respective debts.

§ 6094. By whom assignee chosen. How partnership and individual property applied. The assignee shall be chosen by the creditors of the partnership. He shall keep separate accounts of the property of the partnership and the separate estate of each member thereof; and after deducting out of the whole amount received by him the whole of the expenses and disbursements, the net proceeds of the partnership property shall be appropriated to pay the creditors of the partnership and the net proceeds of the separate estate of each partner shall be appropriated to pay his separate creditors. If there is any balance of the separate estate of any partner after payment of his separate debts, such balance shall be added to the partnership estate for the payment of the partnership creditors; if there is any balance of the partnership estate after payment of the partnership debts, such balance shall be appropriated to and divided among the separate estates of the several partners according to their respective right and interest therein, and the sum so appropriated to the separate estate of each partner shall be applied to the payment of his separate debts.

CHAPTER 39.

SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS OF A CIVIL NATURE.

ARTICLE 1. — PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

§ 6096. Parties to. When a special proceeding is prosecuted by one having a special interest in the proceeding, it shall not be necessary for the state to be joined as plaintiff therein, but the person prosecuting the same shall be known as the plaintiff and the adverse party as the defendant. § 653, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 6097. Judgment in defined. Motion and order. A judgment in a special proceeding is the final determination of the rights of the parties therein. The definitions of a motion and an order in a civil action are applicable to similar acts in a special proceeding. § 654, C. Civ. P. am'd.

ARTICLE 2. — WRIT OF CERTIORARI.

§ 6098. When and by whom granted. A writ of certiorari may be granted by the supreme and district courts, when inferior courts, officers, boards or tribunals have exceeded their jurisdiction and there is no appeal, nor, in the judgment of the court, any other plain, speedy and adequate remedy. § 655, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 6099. How application made. The application must be made on affidavit by the party beneficially interested, and the court may require a notice of the application to be given to the adverse party or may grant an order to show cause why it should not be allowed or may grant the writ without notice. § 656, C. Civ. P.

§ 6100. To whom directed. The writ may be directed to the inferior court, tribunal, board or officer, or to any other person having the custody of the records or proceedings to be certified. § 657, C. Civ. P.

§ 6101. Requisites of writ. The writ of certiorari shall command the party to whom it is directed to certify fully to the court issuing the writ at a specified time and place, and annex to the writ a transcript of the record and proceedings, describing or referring to them with convenient certainty, and a statement of other matter specified in and required by the writ, that the same may be reviewed by the court, and requiring the party in the meantime to desist from further proceedings in the matter to be reviewed. § 658, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 6102. To officer whose term has expired. A writ of certiorari may be issued to and a return to a writ of certiorari may be made by an officer, whose term of office has expired. Such an officer may be punished for a failure to make a return to the writ as required thereby, or to make a further return as required by an order for that purpose.

§ 6103. Stay of proceedings. If a stay of proceedings is not intended, the words requiring the stay must be omitted from the writ; these words may be inserted or omitted in the sound discretion of the court, but if omitted, the power of the inferior court or officer is not suspended or the proceedings stayed. § 659, C. Civ. P.

§ 6104. Other proofs permitted if officer dies, etc. If the officer or other person whose duty it is to make a return dies, absconds or moves from the state, or becomes insane after the writ is issued § 660, C. Civ. P. am'd.

and before making a return or after making an insufficient return, and it appears that there is no other officer or person from whom a sufficient return can be procured by means of a new writ, the court may in its discretion permit affidavits or other written proofs relative to the matters not sufficiently returned to be produced and may hear the case accordingly. The court may also in its discretion permit either party to produce affidavits or other written proofs relative to any alleged error of fact or any other question of fact, which is essential to the jurisdiction of the body or officer to make the determination to be reviewed, when the facts in relation thereto are not sufficiently stated in the return and the court is satisfied that they cannot be made to appear by means of an order for a further return.

§ 6105. How served. The writ must be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action except when otherwise expressly directed by the court.

§ 6106. Extent of review. The review upon this writ cannot be extended further than to determine whether the inferior court, tribunal, board or officer has regularly pursued the authority of such court, tribunal, board or officer.

§ 6107. Return of writ and hearing. If the return to the writ is defective the court may order a further return to be made. Any record made by the inferior court, officer, board or tribunal may be impeached by the return to the writ, or in the cases mentioned in section 6104 by affidavits or other written proof. Upon the final hearing the court must hear the parties, or such of them as may attend for that purpose, and may thereupon give judgment either affirming, or annulling, or modifying the proceedings below.

§ 6108. Judgment sent below. A copy of the judgment signed by the clerk must be transmitted to the inferior court, tribunal, board or officer, having custody of the record or proceedings certified up.

§ 6109. Judgment roll. A copy of the judgment signed by the clerk, entered upon or attached to the writ and return, constitutes the judgment roll.

ARTICLE 3. — WRIT OF MANDAMUS.

§ 6110. By and to whom issued. The writ of mandamus may be issued by the supreme and district courts to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person to compel the performance of an act which the law specially enjoins as a duty resulting from an office, trust or station; or to compel the admission of a party to the use and enjoyment of a right or office to which he is entitled and from which he is unlawfully precluded by such inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person.

§ 6111. When issued. The writ must be issued in all cases when there is not a plain, speedy and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law. It must be issued upon affidavit upon the application of the party beneficially interested.

§ 6112. Alternative or peremptory. The writ may be either alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must state generally the allegation against the party to whom it is directed and command such party immediately upon the receipt of the writ, or at some other specified time, to do the act required to be performed or to show cause before the court at a specified time and place why he has not done so. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form except that the words requiring the party to show cause why he has not obeyed the command must be omitted and a return day inserted.

§ 6113. When each may issue. When the application to the court is made without notice to the adverse party and the writ is allowed, the alternative writ must be first issued; but if the application is upon due notice and the writ is allowed, the peremptory writ may be issued in the first instance. The notice of the application, when given, must be at least ten days. The writ cannot be granted by default. The case must be heard by the court whether the adverse party appears or not. § 608, C. Civ. P.

§ 6114. Answer. On the return of the alternative writ, or the day on which the application for the writ is noticed, the party on whom the writ or notice has been served may show cause by answer under oath made in the same manner as an answer to a complaint in a civil action. § 609, C. Civ. P.

§ 6115. Jury may assess damages. If an answer is made, which raises a question as to a matter of fact essential to the determination of the motion and affecting the substantial rights of the parties and upon the supposed truth of which allegation the application for the writ is based, the court may in its discretion order the question to be tried before a jury, and postpone the argument until such trial can be had and the verdict certified to the court. The question to be tried must be distinctly stated in the order for trial and the county or subdivision must be designated in which the same shall be had. The order may also direct the jury to assess any damages which the applicant may have sustained in case they find for him. § 700, C. Civ. P.

§ 6116. Latitude of proof. On the trial the applicant is not precluded by the answer from any valid objection to its sufficiency and may countervail it by proof either in direct denial or by way of avoidance. § 701, C. Civ. P.

§ 6117. New trial. Where motion made. The motion for new trial must be made in the court in which the issue of fact is tried. § 702, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 6118. Transmission of verdict. If no notice of a motion for a new trial is given or, if given, the motion is denied, the clerk within five days after rendition of the verdict or denial of the motion must transmit to the court in which the application for the writ is pending a certified copy of the verdict attached to the order of trial after which either party may bring on the argument of the application upon reasonable notice to the adverse party. § 703, C. Civ. P.

§ 6119. Hearing. If no answer is made, the case must be heard on the papers of the applicant. If the answer raises only questions of law or puts in issue only immaterial statements not affecting the substantial rights of the parties, the court must proceed to hear or fix a day for hearing the argument of the case. § 704, C. Civ. P.

§ 6120. Damages. Peremptory writ. If judgment is given for the applicant, he may recover the damages which he has sustained as found by the jury, or as may be determined by the court, or referee upon a reference to be ordered, together with costs; and for such damages and costs execution may issue; and a peremptory mandamus must also be awarded without delay. § 705, C. Civ. P.

§ 6121. How writ served. The writ must be served in the same manner as summons in a civil action except when otherwise expressly directed by order of the court. Service upon a majority of § 706, C. Civ. P.

the members of any board or body is service upon the board or body whether at the time of the service the board was in session or not.

§ 707, C. Civ. P.

§ 6122. Disobedience. Punishment. When a peremptory mandamus has been issued and directed to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person, if it appears to the court that any member of such tribunal, corporation, board or such person upon whom the writ has been personally served has without just excuse refused or neglected to obey the same, the court may upon motion impose a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. In case of persistence in a refusal of obedience the court may order the party to be imprisoned until the writ is obeyed and may make any orders necessary and proper for the complete enforcement of the writ.

ARTICLE 4.—WRIT OF PROHIBITION.

§ 708, C. Civ. P.

§ 6123. Definition of. The writ of prohibition is the counter-part of the writ of mandamus. It arrests the proceedings of any tribunal, corporation, board or person, when such proceedings are without or in excess of the jurisdiction of such tribunal, corporation, board or person.

§ 709, C. Civ. P.

§ 6124. By whom and when issued. It may be issued by the supreme and district courts to an inferior tribunal, or to a corporation, board or person in all cases, when there is not a plain, speedy and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law. It is issued upon affidavit on the application of the person beneficially interested.

§ 710, C. Civ. P.

§ 6125. Alternative or peremptory. The writ must be alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must state generally the allegation against the party to whom it is directed, and command such party to desist or refrain from further proceedings in the action or matter specified therein, until the further order of the court from which it is issued, and to show cause before such court at a specified time and place why such party should not be absolutely restrained from any further proceedings in such action or matter. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form, except that the words requiring the party to show cause why he should not be absolutely restrained, etc., must be omitted and a return day inserted.

§ 711, C. Civ. P.

§ 6126. Other laws applicable. The provisions for the proceeding under the writ of mandamus except the first three sections thereof apply to this proceeding.

ARTICLE 5.—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

§ 712, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 6127. What writs issue in vacation. Writs of certiorari, mandamus and prohibition may be issued by a judge of the district court in vacation, and when issued by a judge of the district court may be made returnable and a hearing thereon be had in vacation.

§ 713, C. Civ. P.

§ 6128. Rules of practice. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the provisions of chapters 3 to 34 of this code are applicable to and constitute the rules of practice in the proceedings mentioned in this chapter.

§ 714, C. Civ. P.

§ 6129. New trials and appeals. The provisions of chapters 10 and 14 relative to new trials and appeals, except in so far as they are inconsistent herewith, apply to the proceedings mentioned in this chapter.

CHAPTER 40.

SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS.

ARTICLE 1. — CONFESSION OF JUDGMENT WITHOUT ACTION.

§ 6130. For what confessed. A judgment by confession may be entered without action, either for money due or to become due, or to secure any person against contingent liability on behalf of the defendant, or both, in the manner prescribed by this chapter. § 715, C. Civ. P.

§ 6131. Verified statement. Contents. A statement in writing must be made, signed by the defendant and verified by his oath, to the following effect: § 716, C. Civ. P.

1. It must state the amount for which judgment may be entered and authorize the entry of judgment therefor.

2. If the judgment to be confessed is for money due or to become due, it must state concisely the facts out of which the debt arose, and must show that the sum confessed therefor is justly due or to become due.

3. If the judgment to be confessed is for the purpose of securing the plaintiff against a contingent liability, it must state concisely the facts constituting the liability and must show that the sum confessed therefor does not exceed the amount of such liability.

§ 6132. Procedure in court. Execution. The statement must be presented to the district court or a judge thereof and, if the same is found sufficient, the court or judge shall make an order that judgment be entered by the clerk, whereupon the statement and order may be filed in the office of the clerk, who shall enter in the judgment book a judgment for the amount confessed with costs. The statement and affidavit with the judgment shall thenceforth become the judgment roll. Execution may be issued and enforced in the same manner as upon judgments in other cases in such courts. When the debt for which the judgment is recovered is not all due, or is payable in installments and the installments are not all due, the execution may issue upon such judgment for the collection of such installments as have become due, and shall be in the usual form, but shall have indorsed thereon by the attorney or person issuing the same a direction to the sheriff to collect the amount due on such judgment with interest and costs, which amount shall be stated with interest thereon and the costs of said judgment. Notwithstanding the issue and collection of such execution, the judgment shall remain as security for the installments thereafter to become due, and whenever any further installments become due, execution may in like manner be issued for the collection and enforcement of the same. § 717, C. Civ. P. am'd.

ARTICLE 2. — SUBMITTING A CONTROVERSY WITHOUT ACTION.

§ 6133. Requisites of the case. Parties to a question in difference, which might be the subject of a civil action, may without action agree upon a case containing the facts upon which the controversy depends, and present a submission of the same to any court which would have jurisdiction if an action had been brought. But it must appear by affidavit that the controversy is real and the proceeding in good faith to determine the rights of the parties. The court shall thereupon hear and determine the case and render judgment thereon, as if an action was pending.

§ 719, C. Civ. P. § 6134. Entry of judgment. Judgment roll. Judgment shall be entered in the judgment book as in other cases, but without costs for any proceeding prior to trial. The case, the submission and a copy of the judgment shall constitute the judgment roll.

§ 720, C. Civ. P. § 6135. Judgment enforceable as other judgments. The judgment may be enforced in the same manner as if it had been rendered in an action and shall be subject to appeal in like manner.

ARTICLE 3. — RELIEF OF PERSONS CONFINED IN JAIL ON CIVIL PROCESS.

§ 721, C. Civ. P. § 6136. Discharge authorized. Every person confined in jail on execution issued on judgment recovered in a civil action shall be discharged therefrom at the end of ten days from his first confinement therein upon the conditions hereinafter specified.

§ 722, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 6137. Notice of application. Such person must cause notice in writing to be given to the plaintiff or his attorney when and where he will apply to the judge of the district court of the county in which he is confined for the purpose of obtaining a discharge from his imprisonment.

§ 723, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 6138. How served. Such notice must be served by delivering to and leaving with the plaintiff or his attorney in the action a copy thereof, if they, or either of them, reside in this state; otherwise notice may be served by mail. The notice shall be served a sufficient time before the time specified therein for the hearing of the application to allow the person upon whom it is served time to attend by the usual route of travel and one day for preparation.

§ 724, C. Civ. P. § 6139. Hearing. At the time and place specified in the notice such person must be taken under the custody of the sheriff before such district judge and examined on oath concerning his property and effects and the disposal thereof and his ability to pay the judgment for which he is committed; and such district judge shall also hear any other legal and pertinent evidence that may be produced by the debtor or creditor; and such examination must at the election of the creditor be reduced to writing and subscribed and sworn to by the debtor and other witnesses.

§ 725, C. Civ. P. § 6140. Oath of prisoner. If upon such examination the judge before whom the same is had shall be satisfied that the prisoner is entitled to his discharge, he shall administer to him the following oath:

I,, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not any estate, real or personal, to the amount of ten dollars, except such as is by law exempt from levy and sale on execution, and that I have not any other estate, nor have I conveyed, concealed or in any way disposed of any of my property, real or personal, with design to secure the same to my use, to hinder, or delay, or defraud my creditors. So help me God.
(Signed A. B.)

§ 726, C. Civ. P.
am'd. § 6141. Certificate of discharge. After administering the oath the judge must make a certificate under his hand as follows:

To the sheriff of the county of : I do hereby certify that, confined in your jail upon an execution at the suit of is entitled to be discharged from imprisonment, if he is imprisoned for no other cause.

§ 6142. Forever exempt. The jailer upon receiving such certificate must forthwith discharge the prisoner, if he is imprisoned for no other cause. The prisoner after being so discharged shall be forever exempt from arrest or imprisonment for the same debt, unless he shall be convicted of having sworn falsely upon his examination or in taking the oath herein prescribed. § 727, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 6143. Judgment remains against estate. The judgment against any prisoner who is discharged as herein provided for, shall remain in full force against the estate which may then or at any time after belong to him. And the plaintiff may take out a new execution against the goods and estate of the debtor in like manner and with like effect as if he had never been committed in execution. § 728, C. Civ. P.

§ 6144. Prison costs. If the debtor shall undertake to satisfy the execution, he shall not be entitled to his discharge from imprisonment until he has paid all the charges for his commitment and support in prison in addition to the sum due on the execution and the costs and charges thereon. § 729, C. Civ. P.

§ 6145. Discharge by plaintiff. The prisoner may at any time be discharged upon the order of the plaintiff in the action; and, when so discharged, such debtor shall not thereafter be liable to imprisonment again for the same cause of action. § 730, C. Civ. P.

§ 6146. Creditor to advance prison costs. Whenever a debtor is committed to jail on execution in a civil action, the creditor or some one in his behalf must from time to time advance to the sheriff or jailer sufficient money to pay for the support of such prisoner; and in case such creditor shall neglect or refuse so to advance the money for such prisoner's support upon the sheriff's or jailer's demand, the jailer must, at the expiration of twenty-four hours after such demand, discharge such prisoner from custody and such discharge shall have the same effect as a discharge by order of the creditor. § 731, C. Civ. P.

§ 6147. May apply every ten days for discharge. If such judge does not discharge the prisoner, he may apply for his discharge at the end of every succeeding ten days in the same manner as above provided and the same proceedings must thereupon be had. § 732, C. Civ. P. am'd.

§ 6148. Appeal. Either party may appeal to the supreme court from the order of the district judge granting or refusing a discharge from imprisonment under these provisions in the same manner as from an order granting, refusing, continuing or modifying a provisional remedy. § 733, C. Civ. P.

CHAPTER 41.

CHANGE OF NAMES OF PERSONS AND PLACES.

§ 734, C. Civ. P. § 6149. Court authorized to change. The district court shall have the authority to change the names of persons, towns, villages and cities within this state.

§ 735, C. Civ. P. § 6150. Petition. Contents. Any person desiring to change his or her name may file a petition in the district court of the county or subdivision in which such person may be a resident, setting forth:

1. That the petitioner has been a bona fide citizen of such county or subdivision for at least six months prior to the filing of the petition.

2. The cause for which the change of the petitioner's name is sought.

3. The name asked for.

And it shall be the duty of the judge of the district court at any term thereof after the filing of such petition, upon being duly satisfied by proof in open court of the truth of the allegations set forth in the petition and that there exists proper and reasonable cause for changing the name of the petitioner and that thirty days' previous notice of the intended application has been given in some newspaper printed in such district, to order and direct a change of the name of such petitioner and to direct that such order be entered by the clerk in the journal of the court.

§ 736, C. Civ. P. § 6151. Town, village or city. Petition. Whenever it may be desirable to change the name of any town, village or city in any county of the state, a petition for that purpose may in like manner be filed in the district court of the county or subdivision in which such town, village or city is situated, setting forth the cause why such change of name is desirable and the name asked to be substituted, and the court on being satisfied by proof that the prayer of the petitioners is just, proper and reasonable and that notice as in case of the change of names of persons provided for in the preceding section has been given and that two-thirds of the legal voters of such town, village or city desire such change of name and that there is no other town, village or city in the state of the name asked for, may order and direct such change of name and direct the clerk to enter such order upon the journal of the court.

§ 737, C. Civ. P. § 6152. Costs. Not to affect rights or pending actions. All proceedings under this chapter shall be at the cost of the petitioner or petitioners and judgment may be entered against him or them for costs as in other civil actions; provided, always, that any change of name under the provisions of this chapter shall in no manner affect or alter any action or legal proceedings then pending, or any right, title or interest whatsoever.

CHAPTER 42.

TRESPASS OF ANIMALS.

§ 6153. Liability of owner for. Any person owning or having in his charge or possession any horses, mules, cattle, goats, sheep or swine or any such animals, which shall trespass upon the lands of another whether fenced or not fenced, shall be liable to the party injured for all damages sustained by him by reason of such trespassing, to be recovered in a civil action in the county in which such damage occurred, and the proceedings shall be the same in all respects as in other civil actions except as herein modified; provided, that no property shall be exempt from execution issued upon judgments obtained under this chapter except absolute exemptions; and provided, further, that the party claiming damages under the provisions of this chapter shall bring an action to recover the same within sixty days after the infliction of such damages.

§ 747, C. Civ. P.
§ 1, c. 115, 1883.
am'd.

§ 6154. Owner defined. Any person occupying or cultivating lands shall be considered the owner thereof in any action under the provisions of the last section.

§ 748, C. Civ. P.

§ 6155. Notice of damages. The party sustaining damages from the trespass of animals before commencing an action therefor shall, if he knows to whom such animals belong, notify him or the person having them in charge of such damage and the probable amount thereof.

§ 749, C. Civ. P.

§ 6156. Custody until damages paid. The person suffering damages as aforesaid may keep such offending animals in custody, until the damages and costs are paid or until good and sufficient security is given therefor; and whenever any animals are restrained under this chapter, the person restraining the same shall forthwith notify the owner or person, in whose custody the animals were at the time the trespass was committed, of their seizure, if he knows such owner or person.

§ 750, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 6157. Trial. Judgment lien on animals. Upon the trial of an action under the provisions of section 6153 the plaintiff shall prove the amount of damage sustained and, if he has kept in custody the animals committing such damage, the amount of expense incurred therefor. And any judgment rendered in the action against the defendant shall be a lien upon the animals and they may be sold and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction of the judgment as in other cases of sale of personal property on execution; but if it shall appear upon the trial that no damage was sustained, judgment shall be rendered against the plaintiff for costs and for any damages sustained by defendant.

§ 751, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 6158. Service on unknown owner. If upon the trial it appears that the defendant is not the owner or person in charge of the offending animals, the action shall be dismissed as to him and may proceed as against a defendant whose name is unknown. If at the commencement of the action the plaintiff does not know the name of the owner, or keeper of such offending animals, he may bring an action against a defendant unknown. In such case service shall be made by publishing a copy of the summons with a notice stating the nature of the action in a newspaper, if there is one published in the county and, if not, by posting copies of the summons and notice in three public places within the county, in either case not less than ten days previous to the day of trial.

§ 752, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 733, C. Civ. P.
am'd.

§ 6159. Sale. Disposition of surplus. After judgment shall have been rendered against the defendant unknown as aforesaid, the offending animals shall be sold, and after the judgment and costs have been satisfied, if there is any surplus, it shall be placed in the hands of the county treasurer for the benefit of the owner, and if the owner does not appear and claim the same within one year from the day of sale, it shall be paid into the school fund of said county.

PROBATE CODE.

CHAPTER 1.

THE CODE AND ITS OPERATION.

§ 6160. Title. This act shall be known as the probate code of the state of North Dakota.

§ 6161. Code establishes the law. How construed. This code establishes the law of this state upon the subjects to which it relates; and its provisions and all proceedings under it shall be liberally construed, with a view to effect its objects and promote justice.

§ 6162. Rights not affected. No right accrued or act done in any proceeding commenced before this code takes effect is in any manner impaired or injuriously affected by its provisions; but the mode of procedure shall thereafter conform as nearly as may be to its requirements.

§ 6163. Provisions, when in force. When a right is acquired, extinguished or barred upon the expiration of a prescribed period of time which has commenced to run by the provisions of any statute in force before this code takes effect, such provisions shall remain in force and be deemed a part of this code as respects the right so affected.

§ 6164. Time, how computed. Unless otherwise specially provided, every period of time herein prescribed with reference to the commencement of a proceeding or the performance of any other act, shall be computed from the date of the event at which such period begins although such event happened before the taking effect of this code. But this section shall not be construed so as to conflict in any manner with the provisions of the preceding section.

§ 6165. Words and phrases, how construed. Unless otherwise defined herein, words and phrases used in this code are to be construed according to the rules and definitions recognized in or prescribed by other statutes applicable thereto.

§ 6166. Signification of certain words and phrases. The following words and phrases have in this code the signification herein prescribed, except where a different signification is apparent from the context:

1. The word "case" refers to a subject matter which by the provisions of this code is cognizable in a county court, and includes every proceeding therein maintained in relation to the same matter or estate.

2. The words "county court," "county judge," and "clerk," are to be understood as referring only to the exercise of the jurisdiction and powers herein conferred.

3. The word "will" includes "codicil" and denotes a last will and testament, or an instrument purporting to be such, according to the context.

4. The phrase "person interested," when used with reference to an estate or fund includes every person entitled either absolutely or conditionally, to share in the same or the proceeds thereof, except a creditor.

5. The word "mandate" includes any process or order issuing from the court directing or prohibiting the performance of any act.

CHAPTER 2.

THE COUNTY COURT.

ARTICLE 1.—ORGANIZATION, POWERS AND DUTIES.

§ 110. Const.

§ 6167. County court established. There is established in each organized county of this state a county court, which shall be a court of record, held by the county judge in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

§ 90, c.21, Pol.C.

§ 6168. Terms of. There are no stated terms of the county court but the court is deemed to be always open, and every official act of the judge done in pursuance of this code shall be deemed to be the act of the court.

§ 6169. Seal. Each county court shall have a seal upon which shall be inscribed the name of the state and county, and the words "Seal of the County Court." Such seal must be furnished by the board of county commissioners and be at least one and five-eighths of an inch in diameter, but when the court is unprovided with a seal the judge may procure one at the expense of the county, and a scroll or other device may be used as a seal until a seal can be procured.

§ 91, c.21, Pol.C.

§ 6170. Office of the judge, where. The county judge shall have an office at the county seat in rooms provided by the county, and furnished in like manner with tables, chairs, desks, cases for books and papers, books or record blanks, stationery and other articles required for the purposes of the office.

§ 6171. Office when open. The judge shall keep his office open at all proper times during reasonable hours for the purpose of holding court and transacting business as prescribed by law. He shall safely keep the records of the court and all documents and other papers lawfully intrusted to him by virtue of his office, or in the course of any proceeding before him and deliver the same over to the persons entitled thereto or to his successor in office; but the records must be open during office hours to access and inspection by persons having any business therewith.

§ 6172. Judge not to act as attorney, when. A county judge shall not be attorney in any civil or criminal action or other judicial proceeding, which involves or relates to an estate or any part thereof or other matter over which he has or may thereafter obtain jurisdiction, either for or against a surviving husband or wife, heir, devisee, executor, administrator, guardian or ward, debtor, creditor or other person, and he shall not counsel or advise as to any such action or proceeding or contemplated action or proceeding, or have a law partner or be otherwise connected in business with a practicing attorney. A willful violation of any of the foregoing provisions of this section shall be deemed willful misconduct in office. § 92, c. 21, Pol. C.

§ 6173. Clerk, how appointed. A clerk may be appointed for the county court by an order duly entered in the journal, and the appointment may be in like manner revoked by the judge at his pleasure. A clerk so appointed may until his appointment is revoked exercise the powers expressly conferred upon the clerk by the provisions of this code, but the judge shall be responsible for all his official acts, and may at all times act as his own clerk. No practicing attorney shall be appointed as clerk and no clerk shall act as attorney or as executor, administrator, guardian or appraiser in any matters before the court.

§ 6174. Clerk, powers of. A clerk may exercise concurrently with the judge the following powers:

1. He may certify and sign as clerk any of the records of the court, except such as require the signature of the judge.
2. He may certify and sign as clerk and affix the seal of the court to a transcript or exemplification of any record remaining therein.
3. He may sign as clerk and affix the seal of the court to a subpoena, and issue the same with the same effect as if issued by the court.
4. He may administer an oath authorized or required in any proceeding in the court and certify the same under the seal of the court.
5. He may postpone for a definite time not exceeding thirty days any hearing or other matter, when the judge is absent from his office.

§ 6175. Sheriff to execute process. The sheriff of the county must in person or by deputy attend the sittings of the county court whenever the judge shall so direct and must execute according to law or the direction of the court every process or other mandate issuing from the court. But when he is absent or unable to act in the discharge of any duty required of him by this section, the judge may direct any constable of the county to act in his place.

§ 6176. Compensation of sheriff. Sheriffs and other officers shall receive for their services rendered in the county court or in the execution of its mandates the same compensation as for like services in the district court payable by the county or by a party in like manner.

ARTICLE 2.—JURISDICTION AND POWERS OF THE COUNTY COURT.

§ 6177. Jurisdiction. The county court has exclusive original jurisdiction in probate and testamentary matters, the appointment of administrators and guardians, the settlement of the accounts of exec- § 111. Const.

utors, administrators and guardians, the sale of lands by executors, administrators and guardians, and such other probate jurisdiction as may be conferred by law.

§ 1. Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6178. Powers of the court. In the exercise of its jurisdiction the county court has power:

1. To take the proof of wills, to admit wills to probate and to revoke the probate thereof.
2. To take proof of and determine heirship, and to revoke such determination.
3. To grant and revoke letters testamentary and letters of administration, and to appoint a successor in place of a person whose letters have been revoked.
4. To direct and control the conduct and settle the accounts of executors and administrators.
5. To direct the disposition of the property of decedents for the payment of their debts and funeral expenses and expenses of administration.
6. To enforce the payment of legacies and the distribution of estates of decedents and the payment or delivery by executors and administrators of money or other property in their possession belonging to the estate.
7. To appoint and remove guardians, to direct and control their conduct, settle their accounts and compel the payment and delivery by them of money or other property belonging to their wards.
8. To administer justice in all matters within its jurisdiction according to the provisions of the statutes relating thereto.

§ 7. Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6179. Jurisdiction in wills and administration. The county court of each county has jurisdiction to take the proof of a will and grant letters testamentary, to grant administration or determine heirship, as the case requires:

1. When the decedent was at the time of his death a resident of that county, whether his death happened there or elsewhere.
2. When there is property of the decedent within that county which remains unadministered, he not being a resident of the state at the time of his death in whatever place the death happened.
3. When the application was first made in that county, if the jurisdiction as defined in the preceding subdivision or in section 6180 is in two or more counties.

§ 6180. Appointment of a guardian. The jurisdiction to appoint a guardian is in the county court of the county in which the ward resides or in a case relating exclusively to his estate in the county where the property or some part thereof is situated. But the provisions of this chapter have no application to the appointment of a guardian for the special purpose of maintaining or defending the interests of a minor or other party in an action or proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction.

§ 6181. County includes other territory, when. For the purposes of the two preceding sections, a county is deemed to extend to all adjoining territory situated within the same judicial district which is not embraced in or attached to any organized county.

§ 6182. Judge disqualified. Procedure. When the judge of the county court having jurisdiction as defined in sections 6178 and 6179 is disqualified from acting in a case for any cause specified in section 6188 of this code, the county court of the county to which the same may be transferred has also jurisdiction, but can do no act in the exercise thereof until the transfer has been ordered.

§ 6183. Jurisdiction, how obtained. The court obtains jurisdiction in each case by the existence of the jurisdictional facts prescribed by statute and the presentation of a petition setting forth the facts; and may thereupon obtain jurisdiction of the persons interested by their appearance or by the process of citation.

§ 6184. Jurisdiction extends over state, when. Jurisdiction once duly exercised in a case by a county court is coextensive with the state, and, except as otherwise specially prescribed by law, excludes the subsequent exercise of jurisdiction by another court over the same case, or any of its incidents; and all further proceedings to be taken in a county court in relation to the same matter or estate must be taken in the same court.

§ 9, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6185. Objection to decree. Jurisdiction. Proceedings. How taken. An objection to a decree or order of a county court for an erroneous determination of any fact necessary to jurisdiction or for a defect or omission in such decree or order, or in the pleadings or other papers on which it was founded, or the finding or statement of a jurisdictional fact which actually existed or for a failure to take any intermediate proceeding prescribed by law is available only on direct application to the same court or on appeal.

§ 6186. Proceedings, how construed. The proceedings of a county court in the exercise of its jurisdiction are construed in the same manner and with like intendments, as the proceedings of courts of general jurisdiction, and to its records, orders and decrees there is accorded like force, effect and legal presumptions as to the records, orders, judgments and decrees of courts of general jurisdiction.

§ 2, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6187. County Courts, authority and power of. The county court has authority and power in each case:

1. To issue citations, subpoenas and other process under the seal of the court to any part of the state, and enforce obedience thereto or return thereof according to law.

2. To postpone from time to time for proper cause a hearing or other proceeding.

3. To compel the attendance of a party or other person whenever his presence is lawfully required.

4. To restrain by order an executor, administrator or guardian to whom a citation or other process has been duly issued from acting as such until the further order of the court.

5. To require by order an executor, administrator, guardian or other person subject to the jurisdiction of the court to perform any duty imposed on him by statute or by the court under the authority of the statute.

6. To maintain order and decorum during the sittings of the court; and to punish any person for a contempt of court where the district court might punish him for a similar contempt and in like manner.

7. To open, vacate or modify a decree or order of the court for fraud, mistake, newly discovered evidence or other sufficient cause.

8. To enter as of a former time a decree or order of the court for the purpose of correcting a mistake or supplying an omission.

9. To complete all unfinished business and certify and sign with the date of so doing all papers or other records previously left uncompleted or unsigned and to make and certify transcripts of all records of the court.

10. With respect to any matter not expressly provided for in this code, to act as nearly as may be according to the code of civil procedure, and to exercise such other incidental powers as are necessary to carry into effect the powers expressly conferred.

ARTICLE 3.—TRANSFER OF CASES IN THE COUNTY COURT.

§ 4, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6188. Cases, how transferred. A case may be transferred by order of the county court in which it is pending for either of the following causes:

1. When the judge is a party or claims to have an interest actual or contingent in the estate to which the case relates.

2. When he is or has been attorney for a party in some proceeding therein.

3. When he is related to a party by consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree.

4. When the case involves the proof of a will to which the judge was a subscribing witness or witness examined or necessary to be examined, or in which he is named as executor unless he declines to act as such.

§ 6189. Transfer of case, when made. A transfer must be made upon the presentation of the first petition in the case or at the time when the parties are cited to appear thereto if the cause is then known to exist, or, if not, as soon as may be after the existence of such cause is discovered; and no objection to a decree or other act of the court for any of the causes specified in the preceding section is in any manner available except by application for such transfer within the time herein prescribed.

§ 6190. Summary transfer, when. Such transfer may be ordered summarily upon facts within the knowledge of the judge or upon the affidavit of a party, setting forth particularly one or more of the cases enumerated in section 6188 according to the facts, and such further facts as may be necessary, under the provisions of the last section and demanding a transfer. The facts set forth in such affidavit shall be taken as true unless controverted by affidavit. The order for a transfer must direct that the case be transferred to the county court of some other county having jurisdiction by the provisions of section 6179 or section 6180 of this chapter or if there is none such, to that of the county most convenient to the parties.

§ 5, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6191. Transfer, effect of. When a transfer has been made, all further proceedings in the court making the order must be suspended and unless an appeal is taken, the original papers and a transcript of the docket and journal entries must be certified and transmitted within thirty days to the judge of the county court designated in the order, who shall record the proceedings anew and thereafter proceed as if he had jurisdiction of the case from the beginning.

ARTICLE 4.—RECORDS OF THE COUNTY COURT.

§ 6192. Records, what constitute. The records of each county court consist of the original papers in the cases adjudicated or pending therein and the books prescribed in the next section.

§ 6193. Records to be kept. There shall be kept in each county court the following books of record:

1. A journal, in which there shall be entered under the proper dates and in the order in which the transactions take place, respectively, a brief statement of the nature and object of each proceeding; a minute or statement of each act of the judge or of the parties therein, except the filing of a paper; a minute of each hearing or postponement; the facts appearing by the return to each process or mandate issued from the court; and each decision or direction given by the court in the progress of a proceeding and such other matters as are specially required to appear of record; but these provisions do not require a minute of the issuance or return of a subpoena or a statement of the evidence or any particulars relating to the introduction of testimony, except the names of the witnesses sworn and examined. Every order affecting a substantial right or directing the performance of a duty and every final order or decree shall appear thereon in full with the signature of the judge attached; but as to other matters, a minute of his approval dated and signed by him at the close of the entries for each day is sufficient.

2. A docket in which there shall be set apart at least two pages to each case by entering thereon its title and number, underneath which there shall be entered the following particulars relating to that case:

On the first page, a register containing the name of each party to any proceeding therein; each guardian or other person having the custody of a party who is under any legal disability; each special guardian appointed for a party and each attorney appearing for a party; together with the post office address of each and a word or words describing his relation to the case, if a party, as for example "heir," "devisee," or "ward," or his relation to the party as "attorney," or otherwise, according to the fact. The name of the attorney, guardian or custodian must immediately follow that of the party whom he represents; and there shall be left sufficient space below the name of each party to admit of such entries from time to time as occasion requires. New parties including persons to whom letters testamentary, of administration or of guardianship are issued shall be registered in like manner. In the margin on the left there shall be entered opposite the name of each special guardian or attorney the date of his appointment or appearance and opposite the name of each new party, the date on which he became a party; and in the margin on the right, when the relation of a party, attorney or other person ceases, a minute to that effect.

On the page following, a chronological index or minute of all the proceedings in that case from the beginning until the final disposition thereof, including a brief statement of the object of each proceeding and a minute of the filing of each pleading or other paper, each preliminary act of the court or judge, the issuance and return of each citation or other process except a subpoena, each hearing or postponement, each intermediate or final order or decree and each act done to carry the same into effect. There shall be entered in the left hand margin the date of each transaction and in the margin on the right, a reference to the book and page of the journal or other record, where the same appears.

3. A record in which there shall be transcribed in full all wills which are admitted to probate and all bonds of executors, administrators and guardians, which are accepted and approved; and all letters issued to executors, administrators and guardians; but wills may be recorded in a separate book.

4. There shall be appended to each docket a numerical index referring to each case by number and title, containing the number of each case progressively, its title and the number of the page on which it is docketed; also an alphabetical index arranged with reference to the first letter of the family name in the title of each case and containing, in addition to each title, the number of the page on which the docket entries begin. When the cases are not all docketed in one book, there shall be kept in a separate book a general index, both numerical and alphabetical, of similar character, referring in each instance to the book and page of the docket. The general index shall include all cases heretofore commenced in the county court or appearing on the records of the probate court, conforming in relation thereto as nearly as may be to the above requirements.

§ 6194. Docket, form of. The docket prescribed by the preceding section shall be substantially in the following form:

Estate of Richard Roe.
Register.
	Jane Roe, wife, Athens, N. D.
June 20,	Mary Roe, minor heir, Athens, N. D.	Revoked Aug. 2. 1894.
1894.	John Bates, custodian, Athens, N. D.
Aug. 2,	Chitty, special guardian, Athens, N. D.
1894.	Coke, special guardian, Rome, N. D.

Estate of Richard Roe.
Proceedings.
	Proceeding for appointment of administrator.
June 20,	John Chitty, Esq., is appointed special guardian for Mary Roe, minor, at her request.	J. 185.
1894.
June 21,	Mary Roe, by her special guardian, filed petition for administration of said estate.
1894.
	Citation issued returnable Aug. 20, 1894.

§ 6195. Citation, how issued. Before issuing a citation, the court shall if necessary, examine the applicant and other witnesses under oath concerning the correct name and post office address of each party to be cited and may issue a subpoena for that purpose. If he is unable after reasonable diligence to ascertain such name, the party may be designated by his relation to the decedent or otherwise, as nearly as may be. Each party and each guardian or attorney for a party, who appears in any proceeding must also be required to give his own name and post office address which shall be entered in the register accordingly and be taken as true thereafter until the court is notified of a change.

§ 6196. Books to be numbered progressively. When the docket, journal or record consists of more than one book, all books of the same name shall be numbered progressively from one upwards.

§ 6197. Cases, to be numbered how. For convenience in keeping the books of record the cases in each county court shall be numbered in a single and continuing series, beginning with one or with a number exceeding by one the highest number so employed before this code takes effect.

CHAPTER 3.

PARTIES AND PROCESS.

ARTICLE 1.—GENERAL RULES OF PROCEDURE.

§ 6198. Parties in a case, who are. The general parties in a case in the county court are the persons interested in the estate or other subject matter, and the executor, administrator or guardian thereof. They are likewise the parties who must be cited in each special proceeding in the case, unless the parties are specially prescribed, but for distinction the party who presents a petition in a special proceeding is known as the petitioner or claimant, and the parties to be cited are known as respondents. If a citation issues for an incidental purpose in the course of the administration, the only parties are those appearing or cited for such purpose.

§ 6199. Substitution of parties, when. When an heir or devisee dies or transfers an interest in the estate, his legal representative or successor in interest, grantee or assignee may be made a party in lieu of such heir or devisee; and when a party to a special proceeding dies or transfers his interest, while the same is pending, his legal representative or successor in interest may likewise be substituted at his own suggestion or at the request of another party. Such substitution may be made at any time by order of the court, and without notice when the facts are shown by the allegations of a pleading or affidavit.

§ 6200. Persons interested may become parties. Any other person interested in securing or preventing the relief sought in a special proceeding may, by leave of court, become a party and support or oppose the application or pray for affirmative relief consistent with the facts; but leave must not be granted unless his interest sufficiently appears; and this section shall not be construed to affect a right or interest of such person unless he so becomes a party.

§ 6201. Special proceeding, how to become a party to. When a statute provides that a person may present a petition or otherwise become a party in a special proceeding, an allegation of his interest in a pleading or affidavit is sufficient for that purpose although his interest is denied, unless he has been excluded from such interest by a decree of the court from which he has not taken an appeal.

§ 6202. Citation gives jurisdiction. Form of. The process by which the court obtains jurisdiction in each proceeding of the parties, who do not appear therein, is a citation addressed to such parties by name or other sufficient description, informing them of the petition or other application upon which it issued and the relief thereby claimed or the grounds of the order upon which it is issued and the direction therein given; and the time and place at which they are required to appear before the court to answer the same with such further particulars as may be specially prescribed by statute.

§ 302, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6203. Time for appearance. The time for appearance must not be more than sixty days from the date of the citation and each citation must be addressed by the style of "The State of North Dakota," and contain the signature of the judge attested by the seal of the court.

§ 302, Prob. C.
am'd.

ARTICLE 2.—SERVICE OF CITATIONS AND OTHER PAPERS.

§ 303, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6204. Citations and notices, how served. Citations and notices, issuing for service in any proceeding in a county court, must be served upon the parties personally or in some other mode as hereinafter prescribed.

§ 6205. Service on attorney or guardian, when. When a party on whom service is required has a guardian or attorney of record in the case, service must be made on the guardian or attorney and such service is deemed to be service on the party so represented; except that a citation must be served on a party represented by a guardian if more than ten years of age, as well as on the guardian.

§ 6206. Service by mail, when and how made. After a party has appeared or has been once cited to appear in a case, each citation or notice subsequently issued in the same case may be served by mail upon him or upon his guardian or attorney of record as prescribed by the last section. But service by mail is not sufficient when a citation requires a party to appear in person, or issues upon an application to revoke the probate of a will or set aside a decree awarding a final settlement or distribution, or when the court directs service in some other mode.

§ 6207. Service by publication, when. Service by publication may be substituted for personal service by a direction of the court authorizing such service, and designating a newspaper published at the county seat or some other convenient newspaper in which the citation or notice may be published, in either of the following cases:

1. When the party who is required to make or procure service or his attorney files an affidavit stating that he cannot obtain personal service on a person to be served, because he is unable to ascertain where such person may be found, he having no known place of residence within the state, if the court is further satisfied upon an examination as prescribed in section 6195 that the statements of the affidavit are true.

2. When it is established in like manner or appears upon the records in the case, that the person to be served is a nonresident of this state.

§ 6208. Mode of service indorsed on citation or notice. Every direction for service by publication or other direction given by the court respecting the mode of service must be indorsed on the citation or notice and when so given service must be made in accordance with such direction.

§ 6209. Personal service, how made. Personal service within the state or elsewhere may be made and proved in the manner prescribed by the code of civil procedure for the personal service of a summons.

§ 300, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6210. Service by publication, how made and proved. Service by publication is effected by printing and publishing the citation or notice to be served three times, once each week for three successive weeks in the newspaper designated in the order, and is deemed complete on the day of the last publication and may be proved by affidavit made as provided by section 5693 of the code of civil procedure.

§ 6211. Service by mail, how made and proved. Service by mail is effected by depositing in the post office a true copy of the citation or notice to be served, inclosed in a sealed wrapper postage paid and directed to the person to be served at his registered post office address; and is proved by the affidavit of any person having knowledge of the facts, or by a statement thereof in the journal when the mailing is done by the judge.

§ 6212. Citation, when it must be served. Unless otherwise specially prescribed by law, a citation issued upon a petition must be served at least twenty days before the time therein specified for appearance; every other citation must be served at least five days before the time specified for appearance; and each notice which refers to a future time must be served at least five days before the time so designated. When service is made by publication such time must be computed from the date of the last publication, and when service is made by mail there must be allowed in every instance an additional period of five days computed from the date of mailing.

§ 305, Prob. C.
am'd.

ARTICLE 3. — MANNER AND EFFECT OF APPEARANCE.

§ 6213. Appearance, how made. In a county court every party of full age, who has not been judicially declared incompetent to manage his affairs, may appear and prosecute or defend a proceeding in any case either in person or by an attorney regularly admitted to practice in this state, except when he is required to appear or otherwise act in person, pursuant to a special provision of this code; and is held to appear in each proceeding from the time when he has been duly cited to appear.

§ 6214. Appearance by a minor, how made. When a minor or a person who has been judicially declared to be incompetent to manage his affairs is a party, he must appear and act by guardian, except when he makes application for the appointment of a guardian; but if he is a respondent, the guardian cannot appear for him until he has been duly served with a citation unless the proceeding relates directly to his estate or he is a minor under ten years of age. If he has no guardian appearing for him, a special guardian must be appointed, as prescribed in the next section.

§ 6215. Special guardian. Qualifications. How appointed. A special guardian must be some capable and disinterested person appointed by order of the court with the written consent of the person appointed. Such appointment may be made summarily at any time upon the application of the incompetent party or a relative or friend of such party, for the purpose of commencing a proceeding or maintaining his interest in a pending proceeding; or without an application at any time after he has been duly cited to appear in any proceeding; or wherever in the course of a proceeding in which he is represented by a guardian the court has any reason to suppose that his interest requires the appointment of another guardian. A special guardian so appointed in any case is authorized to appear in the subsequent proceedings therein to which his ward is a party until the appointment is revoked.

§ 308, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6216. Special guardian to qualify same as general guardian. A special guardian must not receive any money or property belonging to the ward's estate, unless he qualifies in the same manner as a general guardian; and a guardian, general or special, cannot act in any matter in which his interest is adverse to that of the ward.

§ 311, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6217. Appearance of guardian, effect of. Subject to the foregoing restrictions and in the absence of fraud, collusion or mistake, prejudicial to the interest of the ward, the appearance in his name of his general or special guardian by leave or direction of the court in any proceeding is deemed to be the appearance of the ward, and has the same effect in that proceeding as if he was competent to appear in person.

§ 6218. Appearance, how effected. An appearance in any proceeding is effected by giving notice of the appearance in open court either orally or in writing or by pleading, or making application therein to the court for an order or direction of any kind.

§ 6219. Appearance, notice of all proceedings. A party who appears or is held to appear as hereinbefore prescribed is deemed to have knowledge of each postponement and all other acts done in the course of the proceeding from the commencement until the final disposition thereof without further notice except such as is imparted by the records of the court.

ARTICLE 4. — COMMENCEMENT OF A SPECIAL PROCEEDING AND THE PLEADINGS THEREIN.

§ 6220. Special proceeding, how commenced. A special proceeding in the county court is commenced by the voluntary appearance and pleading of all the parties, or by the presentation of a petition by a competent party and the issuance of a citation to the other parties; and no proceeding so commenced shall be dismissed for any cause except a failure of proof.

§ 6221. Proceeding by citation. Time to plead. When the proceeding is commenced by citation the respondents shall plead at the time when they are cited to appear unless the court allows further time; but a party in default may be allowed to plead at any time before the hearing is concluded on such terms as the court deems just.

§ 6222. Pleadings in a special proceeding. The pleadings in a special proceeding in the county court are the petition and the answer or cross petition of a respondent. Several parties may unite in a pleading when, as between themselves, their respective interests are not adverse. All pleadings must be filed in writing and every pleading except the answer of a special guardian must be verified as prescribed in the code of civil procedure.

§ 6223. Petition, contents of. A petition must set forth the facts which authorize the special proceeding, entitle the petitioner to relief therein and show the relation of the other parties to the estate or matter in question according to the provisions of this code which relate to that proceeding, with a prayer for the relief which the petitioner claims therein.

§ 6224. Answer, contents of. The answer may admit or deny the allegations of the petition or any material fact therein stated and allege new matter of defense to the whole or any part of the relief claimed.

§ 6225. Pleadings, requisites of. The formal requisites of a pleading are as follows:

1. The caption, which shall contain the name of the county and court, as for example, "Estate of A. B., deceased," or "Guardianship of C. D., minor," and the names of the parties to the special proceeding, distinguishing them as petitioner and respondent, followed by a word or words descriptive of the pleading, as for example, "Petition for probate of will."

2. The statement of facts.

3. The prayer for relief; but no prayer is necessary in an answer except for the purpose of claiming affirmative relief.

4. The signature of the party or his attorney or guardian.

5. The verification.

§ 6226. Issue, how raised. An issue arises upon each of the following allegations of a pleading:

1. Upon each averment in the petition of the execution of a will, or of the death of any person when necessary to jurisdiction, or of any fact alleged as cause for setting aside a decree or order of the court, although not controverted by answer.

2. Upon every other material allegation of a petition which is controverted by answer.

3. Upon every fact alleged in the answer except an admission of a fact alleged in the petition.

ARTICLE 5.—POSTPONEMENT, HEARING AND TRIAL.

§ 6227. Respondent, when a new citation issues. When a respondent fails to appear at the time specified in a citation the court must ascertain from the proofs of service, whether he has been duly cited to appear; and unless the service is deemed sufficient a new citation must be issued to such party or parties and the hearing must be postponed until the time therein specified.

§ 6228. Postponement, when granted or ordered. After issue is joined by the pleadings either party is entitled to a postponement for a reasonable time to procure the attendance or deposition of a witness or otherwise prepare for the trial. A reasonable postponement may also be granted at any time to allow a party to plead, or for any other meritorious cause. A postponement may also be ordered because the judge is sick or otherwise engaged, or because he desires time in which to prepare his decision.

§ 6229. Postponement, how ordered. A postponement may be ordered without a written application and an adjournment of the court from time to time in the progress of a hearing operates as a postponement without a formal order. Every postponement must be to a day certain; but an indefinite postponement or a failure to resume the hearing at the appointed time by reason of the absence of the judge or for other cause does not invalidate or otherwise affect any act previously done, but operates only as a postponement of the hearing until further notice.

§ 6230. Court to try issues, when. After the respondents have had an opportunity to plead the court must try the issues, hear the allegations and proofs of the respective parties, and make such decision upon the facts thereby found as justice and equity requires. Every issue prescribed by section 6226 of this chapter must be tried upon the testimony of witnesses sworn and examined in open court or taken in the form of deposition according to the rules of evidence

§ 307, Prob. C.
am'd

applicable in a civil action except when the same are modified by the following provisions of this article.

§ 6231. Court, powers of. The court may examine the parties and other witnesses and inquire into all the facts and circumstances as to any material fact, although no issue is joined thereon; and may also in its discretion refuse to hear the deposition of any witness residing within the state, who is competent and able to appear and give testimony in person, unless satisfied that the necessary expense or inconvenience of procuring his attendance ought not to be incurred.

§ 6232. Deposition, when taken. When it is satisfactorily shown by affidavit that a material witness within the county is so aged, sick or infirm that his attendance cannot be compelled without endangering his life or health and there is no good reason to suppose that he will be able to attend within a reasonable time to which the hearing may be postponed, the judge shall proceed to the place where the witness is and there take his testimony as in open court; but if the party so requests, the testimony of such witness must be taken in the form of a deposition.

ARTICLE 6.—DECREES AND ORDERS.

§ 289, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6233. Decision in a special proceeding contains what. A decision of the county court upon the pleadings and proofs in a special proceeding shall state the material facts found by the court and award relief consistent therewith and with such directions as may be necessary or proper to give effect to the same and is a final determination of the rights of the parties so adjudicated, styled indifferently a decree or final order.

§ 6234. Decree, to contain what. A decree which settles an account must intelligibly refer to a statement of the account on file and contain a summary thereof as settled.

§ 6235. Order, how obtained. Every direction entered of record or given in writing by a county court and not included in a decree is styled an order. Each order must be founded on a written application, unless the court is expressly authorized to make the same at its discretion or otherwise on its own motion. Each application for an order is styled a motion, but when the facts relied on as ground of a motion do not appear of record they must be set forth by affidavit.

§ 6236. Order, contents of. An order based upon facts, within the knowledge of the judge or upon facts proven by the testimony of a witness, must contain a statement or recital of the existence or proof of the facts which authorize the order. But when an order is made upon matter of record, a reference to an affidavit, pleading or other record upon which such facts appear is sufficient.

§ 6237. Order, may be given when. An order prescribing the mode of serving a citation or appointing a special administrator or appraiser, a restraining order, an order requiring a return to be made, or an account to be rendered, or any peremptory or other order which the court is expressly authorized to make without a previous application, may be given at any time when a motion for such order is made or presented.

§ 6238. Order, persons affected to be cited. Before an order can be given upon a motion which does not come within the provisions of the last section, all persons who will be affected by the order must be cited to appear and be given an opportunity to defend against the same, but when a motion is presented in the course of a pending proceeding it is not necessary to cite any person who at the time of presentation appears or is held to appear in such proceeding.

§ 6239. Objections to an order, how taken. At any hearing upon a motion, or in pursuance of a citation issued upon an order, any objection arising upon the facts set forth in the motion or order or otherwise appearing of record may be presented either orally or in writing; but no issue of fact arises unless the respondent answers by affidavit, controverting a material fact set forth as ground of the motion or order or alleging new matter in defense, justification or excuse. When an issue is so presented it may be submitted by consent of the parties upon their respective affidavits, which shall thereupon be treated as depositions; otherwise such issue must be tried in the same manner as the issue specified in section 6226 of this chapter.

§ 6240. Costs, when awarded. Costs may be awarded in a decree or order as follows:

1. When there is no contest, the petitioner if successful is entitled to costs payable out of the estate.

2. When there is a contest, the successful party is entitled to costs payable by the adverse party or out of the estate as justice requires; but if the opposing parties are each in part successful, the award of costs is in all respects in the sound discretion of the court with the limitations hereinafter prescribed.

3. Costs cannot be awarded against an executor, administrator or guardian, personally, unless incurred by his neglect or misconduct.

4. Costs payable out of the estate may be awarded in favor of an executor, administrator or guardian, acting in good faith although unsuccessful.

5. A reasonable sum payable out of the estate must be awarded in favor of a party appearing by a special guardian as compensation for his services; but for the benefit of the estate the court may include a like sum in the amount awarded against an adverse party, or direct the same to be deducted in the final distribution from the share of the party so appearing.

6. Except as provided in the preceding subdivision, the sum awarded as costs in favor of a party must not exceed the amount of his expenses actually and necessarily incurred in procuring the service of process and the attendance of his witnesses or their depositions, and must be determined by the court upon an itemized statement of the expenses so incurred, verified by the affidavit of the party or his attorney and presented at or before the announcement of the decision.

§ 6241. Decree or order for money, how enforced. A decree or final order, which directs the payment of a sum of money by a party personally, may be enforced by an execution against his property issued by the judge and made returnable to the county court, and must require the officer to apply the money thereupon collected in accordance with the order or decree. In other respects the process and mode of collection shall conform to the provisions of the code of civil procedure relating thereto, a decree being for that purpose regarded as a judgment.

§ 6242. Decree or order to perform any act, how enforced.

A decree or order, which requires or prohibits the performance of any act other than the payment of money by a party or other person, may be enforced by serving a certified copy of such order or decree personally on the party or person who is required thereby or by law to obey it and by punishing him for a contempt of court if he refuses or willfully neglects to obey it. A decree or order, which directs the payment or delivery of money to an executor, administrator or guardian entitled to receive it or directs the payment or delivery by an executor, administrator or guardian of money by him received by virtue of his trust, may be enforced in like manner.

§ 6243. Punishment for contempt does not bar action on bond. The punishment of a delinquent for a contempt or the levy of an execution upon his property as prescribed in the last two sections does not bar or suspend an action against him or the sureties on his bond in relation to the same matter, or otherwise affect such action as respects any sum remaining unpaid.

ARTICLE 7. — MISTAKES, OMISSIONS AND AMENDMENTS.§ 6244. Amendments to process or pleadings allowed.

No process, return, pleading, order, decree or other proceeding in a county court shall at any stage be disregarded, dismissed, arrested, vacated, revoked or reversed for any defect or want of form; but the court shall proceed and determine always according as the right of the matter shall appear without regarding any such defect or want of form and may amend the same or direct an amendment at its discretion.

§ 6245. Court may amend process, when. A county court may at any time on motion of a party amend its process by correcting a mistake or supplying an omission in any respect, when the defect has not prejudiced and the amendment will not injure the party to or against whom such process was issued; and may in like manner permit a return or other intermediate proceeding to be amended in accordance with the facts.

§ 299, Prob. C.

§ 6246. Amendments to pleadings for mistake allowed.

A county court may also on motion of a party and in furtherance of justice at any time permit such party to amend any pleading or motion by adding or striking out the name of a party or by correcting a mistake in the name of a party or a mistake in any other respect or by inserting other allegations material to the case or by conforming the allegations to the facts proved. And no decree or order shall be vacated, revoked or reversed for an omission in the findings of any material fact which actually existed or for the non-averment of any fact in a pleading or other paper if the existence of such fact is established when the objection is taken; but the court shall amend the defect or direct an amendment as the circumstances require.

§ 6247. Amendment, costs allowed when. Every amendment authorized by this article may be made without prejudice to any act previously done to take effect as of the date of the original proceeding, but when an amendment is made in any proceeding after a decision is rendered costs may be awarded against a party in whose favor the amendment operates as the court shall deem just and proper.

§ 6248. Hour intended. Whenever a future day is specified in a citation, notice or order for any purpose, and no particular hour is specified the time intended shall be taken to be the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of the day named.

ARTICLE 8. — REHEARINGS.

§ 6249. Rehearing is what. A rehearing is a re-examination of the facts involved in a decree or order upon grounds set forth in a motion or petition to open and vacate or modify the same or some part thereof.

§ 6250. Rehearing, for what causes granted. A rehearing may be granted for either of the following causes:

1. Mistake, inadvertence, surprise or excusable neglect of the party making the application.
2. Any irregularity in the service of process or any fraud or misconduct of the prevailing party or his attorney or agent, or any abuse of discretion on the part of the court, which prevented the applicant from appearing or maintaining a material issue on his part at the former hearing.
3. Newly discovered evidence material to the issue which could not with reasonable diligence have been produced at the former hearing by the party making the application.
4. The nonexistence of any fact necessary to jurisdiction.

§ 6251. Rehearing, application for. An application for a rehearing may be made by motion or petition according to the mode in which the original application was made, and the parties interested must be cited accordingly. But every application upon any ground specified in the first subdivision of the preceding section must be made within thirty days from the date of the order or decree, and every application made upon grounds specified in the second and third subdivisions must be made within one year from the date of the decree or order to which it relates.

§ 6252. Application for a rehearing, must show what. In addition to one or more of the foregoing causes every application for a rehearing must set forth each material issue which the applicant expects to maintain or designate the same by reference to his former pleading and no other issue can be tried. The causes so alleged and the issues so presented may be controverted as in other cases; and after hearing the allegations and proofs of the parties the court shall grant or deny the application as justice and equity require.

§ 6253. Application granted. Duty of court. If the application is granted the court must make a decree or order vacating the former decree or order, or revoking so much thereof as may be necessary and awarding such further relief as the facts may justify.

ARTICLE 9. — APPEALS.

§ 6254. Appeals, who may take and from what. Any party or other person specified in the next section who deems himself aggrieved may appeal, as prescribed in this article, from a decree or from any order affecting a substantial right made by a county court to the district court of the same county. § 312, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 314, Prob. C. am'd. § 6255. Appeal, parties to. Each person who was a party to the proceeding in the county court and each other person, who has or claims in the subject matter of the decree or order, a right or interest which is affected by an appeal must be made a party to the appeal.

§ 315, Prob. C. am'd. § 6256. Appeal, how taken. To effect an appeal the appellant must cause a notice of the appeal to be served on each of the other parties and file such notice with the proofs of service, and an undertaking for appeal in the county court within thirty days from and after the date of the order or decree; but when the party taking an appeal files such notice and announces the filing orally in open court at the time when the decision is given no other or further service of the notice is necessary.

§ 319, Prob. C. am'd. § 6257. Appeal not effected, when. An appeal from an order which directs the payment of a fine as a punishment for a contempt is not effected, unless the amount of the fine is also deposited with the county judge within the prescribed time to abide the order of the appellate court.

§ 331, Prob. C. am'd. § 6258. Appeal by executor, administrator or guardian. An executor, administrator or guardian may appeal without filing an undertaking from a decree or order made in any proceeding in a case in which he has given an official bond; and when he appeals in that manner the bond stands in place of such undertaking. A special guardian may appeal without filing an undertaking although he has not given bond, but the appeal will not operate as a stay unless taken from an order which grants or refuses a transfer of the case.

§ 328, Prob. C. am'd. § 6259. Appeal, extension of time. When the appellant seasonably and in good faith serves a notice of appeal on some of the parties, but through mistake or excusable neglect fails to obtain service on all, or in like manner omits to do any other act necessary to perfect the appeal or effect a stay, the county court upon proofs of the facts by affidavit may, in its discretion, extend the time for perfecting the service or other act and permit an amendment accordingly upon such terms as justice requires.

§ 6260. Parties to an appeal, how brought in. A party specified in section 6255, who was not served with notice by reason of the fact that his interest or claim did not appear upon the records of the county court at the time when the appeal was taken, is deemed to have been duly served from the time when he appears in the district court for any purpose connected with the appeal, or he may be brought in by order of the district court on such notice as the court shall prescribe.

§ 316, Prob. C. am'd. § 6261. Appeal on question of law, how perfected. For the purpose of taking an appeal on questions of law alone, the notice must contain a statement to that effect, and specify the errors in law which the appellant intends to rely on as grounds of the appeal and the time and place at which the appeal will be brought on for trial. Every other notice of appeal is sufficient which designates the party who appeals and the order or decree from which the appeal is taken and the intermediate orders if any upon which the appellant desires a review. And every appeal must be held to have been taken upon the facts and matter in law generally, unless the notice clearly indicates an intention to appeal on questions of law alone, but the appellant may by his notice restrict the appeal to any specific direction or award contained in a decree, if the issue upon which the same depends can be separately tried and determined without prejudice to any other part of the decree.

§ 6262. Specification of errors on appeal. A specification of errors may contain a reference to each particular error appearing of record in the decree or order in the proceedings on which it is founded to which the appellant objects without giving any reason for the objection and no other form of exception is necessary.

§ 6263. Undertaking on appeal. Stay. An undertaking on appeal must be executed in favor of the appellees in such sum as the county court shall prescribe by the appellant or his agent or attorney in his name and sufficient sureties approved by the judge, to the effect that the subscribers will pay to the parties entitled thereto all costs of the appeal that shall be awarded against the appellant by direction of the district court not exceeding the sum therein stated. But the execution or enforcement of the decree or order appealed from shall not be stayed, unless the instrument contains a further undertaking to the effect that the subscribers will also pay all damages which the appellees or any of them shall sustain by reason of the appeal or a separate undertaking to that effect is executed and filed in like manner. § 317, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6264. Undertaking, amount of. The sum prescribed in an undertaking for costs must not be less than one hundred dollars. The sum prescribed in an undertaking for damages shall be such further sum as the judge deems sufficient, and to aid him in determining the same or the sufficiency of the sureties, the judge may examine the sureties and other witnesses under oath. After an appeal is perfected the district court may by order require the appellant to give a new undertaking in a larger sum or with other sureties when the sum specified in the original undertaking is deemed insufficient or a surety is found to be insolvent, has removed from the state or is of doubtful financial responsibility, and unless the order is complied with the appeal may be dismissed or the stay dissolved as the case requires. § 320, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6265. Undertaking, obligations of. The prescribed undertaking for the payment of damages creates an obligation on the part of the principal and sureties executing the same to compensate each of the appellees for all pecuniary loss and injury which he shall sustain in consequence of the appeal respecting each and every right or claim which was determined or enforced in his favor by the decree or order from which the appeal is taken so far as the same shall be affirmed or otherwise sustained by the appellate court. When the decree or order directs the appellant or another party to pay or deliver money or other property, or to perform any other act to which the stay applied, all loss and injury sustained by an appellee in consequence of its detention from the time when the direction was given, or by reason of any failure on the part of the appellant or such other party to pay or deliver the same in accordance with the decision or direction of the appellate court, and in as good condition as at the time when he was directed to do so by the county court, is deemed to be sustained in consequence of the appeal. When the order directs the commitment of the appellant or another person for disobeying any order except for the payment of a fine, all loss and injury resulting from his disobedience is likewise deemed to have been suffered in consequence of the appeal. The obligation matures at the time of the decision in the appellate court, but no action can be maintained thereon until ten days thereafter. §§ 315-319,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6266. Appeal stays further proceedings, when. Except when there is an express provision to the contrary in this article, a perfected appeal stays the execution or enforcement of the decree or order appealed from until there has been a determination of the appeal or a dissolution of the stay in the district court; and an appeal from an order granting or refusing a transfer of the case likewise stays all further proceedings in that case. In other respects the decree or order of the county court remains unaffected until reversed or modified by direction of the appellate court.

§ 322, Prob. C.

§ 6267. Appeal does not stay probate of will or letters of administration, when. An appeal from a decree or order admitting a will to probate or granting letters testamentary, or letters of administration, does not stay the issuing of letters when, in the opinion of the county judge manifested by an entry upon the journal, the preservation of the estate requires that such letters should issue. But the letters so issued do not confer power to sell real property by virtue of any provision in a will or to pay or satisfy legacies, or to distribute the property of the decedent until the determination of the appeal.

§ 323, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6268. Appeal does not stay order for special administrator or revoke probate of will. An appeal does not stay the execution or enforcement of a decree or order which appoints a special administrator or revokes the probate of a will or suspends or removes an executor, administrator or guardian, or revokes his appointment.

§§ 324-327,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6269. Transcript on appeal, judge perfects. When an appeal is perfected, the county judge must make and certify to the district court a complete transcript of the papers and other records upon which the appeal is taken or so much thereof as may be material together with the notice of appeal and proof of service, the undertaking and other matters of record relating to the appeal; and unless such transcript is delivered to the clerk within ten days, the district court may on motion of any party interested require and compel him to make and certify the same and may in like manner require him to amend the transcript as often as may be necessary or to certify and send up a will or other written instrument in its original form. When all the proofs upon which the court acted appear in the transcript the certificate shall so state.

§ 6270. Appeal docketed in district court, when. Upon the delivery of such transcript and payment of the clerk's fees, the appeal must be docketed in the district court and placed on the calendar of causes for trial according to the date on which it was perfected and without a notice of trial or note of issue at the next term convening, not less than ten days after the taking of the appeal, and must be disposed of accordingly during the term, unless sooner disposed of in pursuance of the provisions of the next section.

§ 6271. Appeal on questions of law. Time of hearing. When the appeal is taken upon questions of law alone, the time and place of hearing specified in the notice of appeal may be any time and place at which an issue of law may be tried in the district court, and a hearing may be had accordingly; provided, however, that such time shall not be less than ten days after the service of the notice, nor later than the first day of the term specified in the preceding section. Upon a failure to obtain a hearing a new notice of the time and place of hearing may be given as often as may be necessary, and the appeal may, notwithstanding any such notice, be brought to a hearing at any time by an appellee upon a like notice served on the appellant or his attorney of record in the county court.

§ 6272. Appeal to be dismissed, when. If the transcript is not certified to the district court on or before the second day of the term designated in section 6270 and the appellant does not make application for an order requiring the same to be certified forthwith or if the appeal has not been sooner disposed of and the appellant fails to do any act necessary in order to have the same docketed and brought upon the calendar on or before the second day of such term, any appellee may have the same so entered by order of the court upon the production of a certified copy of the decree or order appealed from and the notice of appeal and thereupon the appeal shall be summarily dismissed with ten dollars costs to such appellee, unless the appellant satisfactorily excuses his default and forthwith pays such costs.

§ 6273. Appeal dismissed affirms decree or order. A dismissal of an appeal by order of the district court in pursuance of any provision of this article is in effect an affirmance of the decree or order appealed from.

§ 328, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6274. Powers of district court on appeal. At a hearing in the district court on an appeal taken upon questions of law alone the decree or order of the county court shall be reviewed only so far as may be necessary and with a view to correct errors appearing upon the record which injuriously affect a right or claim of the appellant and are specified in the notice of appeal; but when a specification relates to a discretionary award or direction given upon facts shown by the record, the district court has the same discretion that the county court had. Each specification may be overruled or sustained according as the right of the matter appears and the court shall give its decision accordingly, affirming or reversing the decree or order appealed from or reversing in part and affirming as to the remainder, with such directions as may be necessary or proper respecting the decree or order to be entered in the county court.

§ 325, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6275. Questions of fact tried de novo. When an appeal is taken generally, all the issues must be tried and determined anew in the district court and the court must hear the allegations and proofs of the parties and determine all questions of law and fact arising thereon according to the mode of trying similar issues originating in that court, except that an issue involved in the probate of a will and issues arising upon a petition for the allowance of a claim or demand for money only must be tried according to the mode of trying issues to a jury if a jury is demanded. When the appeal is taken from a decree or final order, the court may before trying the issues review any intermediate order specified in the notice of appeal, which materially affected the issues and vacate the same or otherwise make such order as the county court ought to have made. And upon every appeal taken generally the court has the same power that the county court had to permit or direct a pleading to be filed or otherwise amend the issues and try the same accordingly, but in other respects, when the proofs on which the county court acted were submitted in the form of affidavits or otherwise appear of record, the appeal must be determined upon the certified transcript.

§ 326, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6276. District court findings on appeal. A decision of the district court upon the facts must designate the issues tried and contain the material facts found by the court, or the substance of the verdict returned by the jury, as the case may be, and the direction of the court thereon affirming the decree or order from which the appeal was taken generally, or reversing the same or a distinct part thereof as justice requires and as to any or all of the parties, with specific directions respecting the decree or order to be entered in the county court.

§ 332, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6277. Reversal of decree does not affect lawful acts. The reversal of a decree or order of the county court for any cause except for want of jurisdiction does not affect the validity of any act otherwise lawfully done in pursuance of the order or decree, and in the course of the administration by an executor, administrator or guardian while the appeal is pending.

§ 329, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6278. Costs, payable how. The costs of an appeal shall be settled and determined by the district court agreeably to the provisions of section 6240 of this chapter except that like fees and disbursements may be allowed as in other cases in that court. The amount of costs so allowed shall be stated in the order or decision which determines the appeal, with a direction specifying the party in whose favor and the party against whom the same shall be awarded by the county court. If the appellant is required to pay costs, the amount thereof shall be awarded by the county court jointly against him and the sureties on his undertaking as prescribed in the next section without an express direction to that effect.

§ 330, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6279. Decision on appeal. Enforcement of the decree. Each order or decision of the district court which dismisses or determines an appeal and each preliminary order which affects the merits must be given in writing and filed with the clerk and by him entered of record, after which the clerk shall attach thereto the original of each paper filed by the parties in the district court and each paper certified to that court in the original form and certify and transmit the same without delay to the county court there to become part of the record; but when a stay is granted or effected in the district court, they shall not be transmitted until the stay has expired. Each order or decision so transmitted shall be immediately entered in the journal and a decree or order as the case requires shall likewise be entered by the county court in conformity to the directions of the appellate court and be enforced in the same manner as other decrees or orders of the county court.

ARTICLE 10.—APPROVAL OF UNDERTAKINGS AND BONDS.

§ 81, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6280. Bonds, justification and approval of. Every surety in a bond or undertaking prescribed by this code must make affidavit in connection with the instrument to the effect that he is a resident and freeholder of this state, and is worth the sum specified in the instrument in property within the state over and above all his debts and liabilities and property exempt by law from execution. But when there are more than two sureties each may state in his affidavit a sum less than that so specified, if the total amount stated in their affidavits is double the amount of the bond or undertaking, and before approving such sureties, the court must also be satisfied of the truth of their affidavits and may require them to appear before him and examine them under oath and hear the testimony of other witnesses respecting the matters therein stated or any other fact affecting their financial responsibility.

§ 6281. Money deposit in lieu of sureties. In lieu of the sureties required in an undertaking for costs prescribed by this code, the party giving the same may deposit with the county judge a sum of money equal to the amount of his undertaking to be applied by the court agreeably to the provisions of the instrument in payment of any costs thereafter awarded against him, or restored to him after he is exonerated from such payment as the event shall determine.

§ 6282. Bond, approval to be indorsed. When a bond or undertaking is approved, the judge shall indorse his approval thereon, and file and preserve the instrument in his office. Except when otherwise specially provided, all bonds and undertakings in anywise required by the provisions of this code shall run to the state of North Dakota as nominal payee, and an action may be brought and maintained on any such bond or undertaking by and in the name of any person injured by any violation of the provisions thereof.

CHAPTER 4.

SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS FOR THE PROBATE OF WILLS AND OTHER PURPOSES.

ARTICLE 1.—PRODUCTION AND CUSTODY OF A WILL.

§ 6283. County judge opens will and gives notice. Every county judge, having the custody of a will or to whom a will is delivered, must after the death of the testator publicly open and examine such will and file the same in his office and give notice thereof to the persons interested in its provisions or deliver such will to the county judge having jurisdiction of the case. § 700, Civil C.
am'd.

§ 6284. Custodian to deliver will. Liability for failure. Every other person having the custody of a will must immediately after receiving knowledge or information of the death of the testator deliver the same to the judge of the county court having jurisdiction of the case; and if he neglects to perform that duty he shall be liable to each and every person interested in the will for all damages caused by such neglect. § 10, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6285. Compulsory production of will, when. When a party makes affidavit that any person has possession of a will which he neglects or refuses to deliver as prescribed in the last section, the county court may cite him to appear forthwith or at any future time in its discretion, and upon his appearance may examine him under oath and compel him to make a full disclosure in relation to such will. If it appears from his examination or from the testimony of other witnesses that he has any will of the decedent in his possession or under his control, he must be ordered to deliver the same to the court and may be committed to the jail of the county until he complies with the order. § 14, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 43, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6286. Limitations affecting probate of nuncupative will. Before a petition can be entertained for the probate of a nuncupative will a statement of the testamentary words or other substance in writing, verified by one of the witnesses within thirty days after they were spoken, must be delivered to the county judge having jurisdiction of the case. A delivery of such statement may be compelled in the manner prescribed in the last section and the statement must be filed in the same manner as a written will.

§ 6287. Original will, where filed. Every original will or statement of the substance or provisions of a will filed as prescribed in this chapter shall remain in the office of the county judge except when certified to the district court on appeal.

§ 6288. Will unexecuted until probated. A will, foreign or domestic, shall not be carried into effect until admitted to probate as hereinafter prescribed.

ARTICLE 2.—SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS FOR THE PROBATE OF A WILL.

§ 42, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6289. Wills, original and nuncupative, when probated. A special proceeding for the probate of a written will may be commenced at any time within six years after the testator's death, or if the will is not made known within that time, then within one year after its discovery. A proceeding for the probate of a nuncupative will must be commenced within six months after the testamentary words are spoken.

§§ 11, 12, 38, 47,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6290. Petition to probate, contents of. A petition for the probate of a will shall, in addition to the facts prescribed in section 6223 of this code, give a brief description of the will referring to the same as filed or allege that it has been lost or destroyed and set forth its provisions in full, and must set forth the state and county in which the property is situated and allege its probable value distinguishing between personal and real property and the probable yearly value of the rents, profits and income of the real property, and may pray for the appointment of the executor named in the will or allege his disability or refusal to act and pray for the appointment of a testamentary administrator. Such petition may be presented by any party designated in the next section or by a creditor of the testator.

§ 32, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6291. Citation issues to all interested. The parties who must be cited upon a petition for the probate of a will include the surviving husband or wife, if any, all the heirs, of the testator, the devisees and legatees named therein, all persons in being who would take an interest in any portion of the property under the provisions of the will and the executor or executors, trustee or trustees named therein.

§§ 15, 16, Prob.
C.
am'd.

§ 6292. Service of notice to persons interested, when another will exists. When there is reason to suppose that there may be another will of the testator in existence or persons interested in the estate who are not named in the petition, the court shall annex to the names of the respondents to whom the citation is addressed the words "and all other persons interested" and direct service thereof by publication in addition to the service otherwise prescribed by this code.

§ 6293. Proceedings, when probate of will is contested.§§ 22, 47.
Prob. C.
am'd.

A respondent may by his answer deny the execution of the will or the competency of the decedent to make the same or allege any facts showing that it has been revoked, or was procured by duress, menace, fraud, undue influence or other cause affecting its validity, and may at his election pray for the appointment of an administrator; or he may allege any ground of objection there may be to the appointment of the proposed executor or testamentary administrator and pray the appointment of some other person. He may also make his answer a cross petition and thereby allege the execution of another will by the decedent of earlier or later date, and pray that the same be admitted to probate instead of that proposed by the petition. A cross petition may be answered in the same manner as a petition; but if there are new parties interested in the will thereby proposed, who do not appear, they must before the trial be cited to appear as in other cases.

§ 6294. Executor to accept trust. Each person named in a will as executor shall state in his pleading whether or not he is willing to accept the trust.

§ 13, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6295. Probate admitted, if no contest, how. The court may in its discretion grant the probate of a written will, unless the same is contested on the testimony of one only of the subscribing witnesses, if he testifies that the instrument was subscribed by the testator or was acknowledged and declared by him to be his will as prescribed by law, and that he believes that the testator was at the time of sound mind.

§ 20, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6296. Will contested. Necessary witnesses. If the will is contested, all the subscribing witnesses to a written will or all the witnesses to the making of a nuncupative will, who are within the state and are competent and able to testify must be produced and examined before probate thereof can be granted.

§ 24, Prob. C.
am'd.§ 6297. Absence of subscribing witness to be explained.

Before the presence of a witness whose examination is required by either of the two preceding sections can be dispensed with, it must be shown by affidavit or other competent evidence to the satisfaction of the court that he is dead or disqualified or that he cannot after due diligence be found within this state or if within the state that he is so aged, sick or infirm that his presence cannot safely be required.

§ 6298. Lost will. Special requisites of proof. A will alleged to have been lost or destroyed shall not be admitted to probate unless proven to have been in existence at the time of the testator's death or fraudulently destroyed in his lifetime, nor unless the tenor of its provisions is clearly established by the testimony of at least two credible witnesses.

§ 39, Prob. C.
am'd.§ 6299. Evidence of the genuineness and execution of the will.

Subject to the foregoing restrictions the court may admit the testimony of any competent witness respecting the execution of the will, the capacity of the testator or other material fact, and may also admit proof of the handwriting of the testator or of a subscribing witness and such other evidence as is admissible in courts of justice to establish or disprove written contracts in similar cases. The court shall also inquire particularly into all the facts and circumstances and may in its discretion require proof of the circumstances attending the delivery and possession of the instrument and shall grant the

am'd.

probate if satisfied upon all the proofs of the genuineness of the will, the competency and freedom of the testator to make the same and the validity of its execution.

§ 23, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6300. Probate of. Findings and conclusions of court. The decree shall state whether the probate was contested and if so by whom, and shall contain the findings of the court upon the testimony and grant or deny the probate accordingly with proper directions, if the probate is granted, respecting the appointment and qualification of an executor or testamentary administrator. If there is a cross petition the decree shall in like manner grant or deny the probate of the will thereby proposed or grant administration as the case requires.

§ 26, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6301. Certificate of probate. Upon granting the probate of a will the court must indorse on or attach to the instrument a certificate of the probate signed by the judge and attested by the seal of the court. If the will is nuncupative, such certificate shall be indorsed on or appended to the statement of the substance thereof on file.

§ 40, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6302. Statement, when will lost. When probate of a lost or destroyed will is granted, the provisions thereof as established by the evidence must be distinctly stated in writing and certified by the judge accordingly and filed as other wills are filed.

§ 27, Prob. C.
am'd.

• §§ 31, 32, 33, 34,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6304. Contest when will admitted to probate, how. After a will has been admitted to probate any person interested may contest the same on a rehearing for like causes and to the same extent as upon the former hearing or for any cause affecting the competency of the former proof and relief may be granted accordingly.

§ 37, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6305. Probate conclusive, when. A decree which grants the probate of a will is conclusive if the court had jurisdiction, unless reversed on appeal or vacated on a rehearing applied for within one year saving to minors and persons of unsound mind or otherwise incompetent a like period of one year after their respective disabilities are removed.

§ 45, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6306. Executors, who appointed. When a will is admitted to probate, every person named therein as executor who has consented to act and is legally competent to discharge the trust shall be appointed as such.

§ 46, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6307. Administrator appointed, when. A testamentary administrator having the powers and duties of an executor shall be appointed:

1. If there is no executor named in the will and the appointment is necessary for the purpose of carrying the will into effect or settling claims chargeable against the estate.

2. When an executor named in the will is not competent or does not consent to act or fails to qualify and enter upon his duties and there is no other executor competent and willing to act.

§§ 49, 104,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6308. Administrator appointed when executor dies or resigns. When an executor dies, resigns or is removed after entering upon his duties and there is no executor competent to complete the execution of the trust or when no appointment is made at the time of the probate, a testamentary administrator may be appointed in a special proceeding for that purpose.

§ 6309. Minor named as executor, when can be appointed.§ 50, Prob. C.
am'd.

An executor named in a will, who cannot be appointed for the reason that he is under age or a nonresident when the will is probated, may thereafter in a special proceeding apply for and receive the appointment, if otherwise competent, at any time before the trust is fully executed and if thereupon letters have in the meantime been issued to a testamentary administrator, they must be revoked.

§ 6310. Executor, duties of. It is the duty of an executor named in a will to present the same for probate, but he has no authority before letters are issued to do any other act except to preserve the assets of the estate coming into his hands and apply so much thereof as may be necessary in payment of the expenses of the testator's burial. Executors appointed by the court after duly qualifying and receiving letters have, subject to the provisions of this code, all the authority delegated by the will to the exclusion of those not appointed or failing to qualify. On the death, resignation or removal of an executor such authority devolves upon the surviving executor or executors, or if there is no surviving executor upon the succeeding testamentary administrator.

§ 6311. Restraint of former administrator, when.§ 41, Prob. C.
am'd.

While a proceeding for the probate of a will is pending or while an application for a rehearing is pending in such proceeding, if administration had previously been granted upon the estate or letters testamentary issued, the court may by order restrain the administrator or executor from doing any act detrimental to the interests of a party claiming under the proposed will or claiming adversely to the will which is contested in the application for a rehearing, as the case may be.

§ 6312. Letters of administration revoked.§ 101, Prob. C.
am'd.

When after letters of administration on the ground of intestacy have been granted a will is admitted to probate or when after letters have been issued upon a will the probate thereof is revoked or a subsequent will is admitted to probate, the decree granting or revoking probate must revoke the former letters.

ARTICLE 3.—SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATORS.

§ 6313. Administration, when granted.§ 56, Prob. C.
am'd.

When a person dies leaving property within this state which he has not disposed of by will, administration of the estate may be granted as hereinafter prescribed.

§ 6314. Administration, when not granted.

Administration shall not be originally granted in any case in a proceeding commenced after the lapse of six years from the death of the decedent or from the time when his death became known.

§ 6315. Administration, who entitled to.§ 56, Prob. C.
am'd.

The parties who must be cited in a special proceeding for the appointment of an administrator are the surviving husband or wife if any and all the heirs of the decedent; but administration may be granted upon the petition of any person hereinafter mentioned, those of each class being entitled to preference in the following order:

1. The surviving husband or wife of the decedent.
2. His heirs.
3. His creditors.

§ 6316. Time to apply for administration. To each of the above classes in succession a period of ten days commencing with the death of the decedent is allowed within which to apply for administration before a petition can be presented by any person of a subsequent class.

§ 62, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6317. Petition for administration, contents of. A petition for administration shall contain a statement of the probable value of the estate distinguishing between personal and real property and of the probable yearly value of the rents, profits and income of the real property.

§ 65, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6318. Petition, who may contest. Any person interested may answer the petition and allege any ground of objection that may exist to the granting of administration or to the appointment of the proposed administrator; or allege his own right or claim to the administration and pray for appointment accordingly.

§§ 59, 70,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6319. Person entitled to administration may waive right. A party entitled to the administration whether personally competent to receive the appointment or not may by his pleading nominate some other person for appointment in his place.

§ 69, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6320. Proof of intestacy and value of property requisite. Before granting administration the court must be satisfied by competent testimony of the death of the person whose estate is in question, and may in its discretion require proof as to whether or not he left a will and of the time, place and circumstances of his death, his residence at the time, the character, situation and value of the property, the fact of the intestacy or any other material fact.

§§ 57, 58, 66, 68,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6321. Preferences. Equally entitled. Power of court. Administration may be granted to an applicant or to one of several applicants according to the prescribed order of preference, without regarding any party having an equal or a better right who fails to assert his claim; and when there are several applicants of the same class the appointment may be awarded according to their relative fitness. But in every case, when the welfare of the estate manifestly so requires, an heir may be joined with a surviving husband or wife or two or more applicants of the same class may be united in the administration or the court may in its discretion appoint some suitable and discreet person who is disinterested as between the parties.

§ 6322. Decree to fix amount of bond. A decree granting administration shall prescribe the sum in which bond shall be given and may limit the time in which the person receiving the appointment shall qualify or the time within which each of several applicants may successively qualify upon the failure of those having precedence to qualify and enter on the discharge of their duties.

§§ 71, 72, 73, 74,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6323. Rehearing for revocation of administration. After administration has been granted to any person other than the surviving husband or wife, any party having a better right to the same, which he failed to allege in the original proceeding may for that cause alone obtain a rehearing at any time within one year for the purpose of asserting such right and if his right is established he shall receive the appointment and the former letters shall be revoked.

§ 6324. Authority of administrator. An administrator has only the authority prescribed by statute or conferred on him according to law by a decree or order of the county court.

ARTICLE 4. — APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL ADMINISTRATORS.

§ 6325. Special administrators, appointed when. A special administrator shall be appointed when necessary or proper for the protection of the property or the rights of creditors or other persons interested in the estate, in either of the following cases: § 94, Prob. C. am'd.

1. On the motion of a party or a creditor of the decedent and without citation or notice while a proceeding for probate or administration is pending, or after a decree granting the probate or administration when there is delay in issuing letters in consequence of the temporary absence from the state of the executor or administrator entitled to the same or for any other cause; or after letters have issued when the executor or administrator dies or is suspended, or his letters are revoked and there is delay in issuing letters to a successor.

2. In a special proceeding in which probate or general administration is denied because the death of the person whose estate is in question is not satisfactorily proved; but he is shown to have disappeared under circumstances which afford reasonable grounds to believe either that he is dead or has been secreted, confined or otherwise unlawfully made away with.

3. On the application of a state's attorney or of a creditor of the decedent in a special proceeding for that purpose when a person of whose estate the court has jurisdiction dies intestate and after diligent inquiry no person can be found who is entitled to succeed to his property.

§ 6326. Administration, when no heirs known. Duty of state's attorney. In a case specified in the third subdivision of the preceding section it is the duty of the state's attorney of the county in which the jurisdiction lies to petition for administration as soon as the facts come to his knowledge. If the application is made by a creditor such state's attorney must be cited as a party. The citation must also be addressed generally to all persons interested in the estate of the deceased and published as prescribed for service in that mode. At the hearing the fact of intestacy shall be presumed unless the contrary appears.

§ 6327. Special administrator, who may be appointed. A special administrator may be any person competent to serve as administrator approved or selected by the court with due regard to the rights of parties claiming letters or otherwise interested in the estate. § 96, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6328. Special administrator, authority and duties of. A special administrator has the same authority as a general administrator to take into his possession personal property, to secure and preserve it, to collect debts due the estate, and to take charge of the real estate and preserve it from waste or other injury and receive the rents, profits and income thereof, and for either of those purposes he may maintain any action or special proceeding. He must also make an inventory and render an account and may sell perishable property or do any other act which he may be specially required to do by direction of the court but cannot act generally in matters pertaining to the settlement of the estate. §§ 98, 100, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6329. Special administrator. Notice to creditors. After the expiration of six months from the time when letters were issued to a special administrator he may be directed the same as a general administrator under directions of the court to publish the notice requiring creditors of the decedent or absentee to present their claims and the publication thereof shall have the same effect as if published by an executor or general administrator.

§ 6330. Special administrator. Authority after notice to creditors. From the time when he is directed to publish notice to creditors as prescribed by the preceding section, a special administrator has the same authority as an executor or general administrator to approve and adjust claims, set off the exempt property and make provision for the payment of debts and charges against the estate by sale of so much of the property as may be necessary for that purpose and apply the proceeds accordingly.

§ 99, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6331. Special administration ceases, when. When letters testamentary or of general administration on the estate are granted the powers of the special administrator cease and he must forthwith deliver to the executor or administrator all the property and effects of the decedent remaining in his hands.

ARTICLE 5.—FOREIGN WILLS AND LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

§ 28, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6332. Probate of foreign will. Proceedings. A will of a testator who was not a resident of this state at the time of his death, which has been probated in any other state or country may be admitted to probate as prescribed in this article in any county of this state in which any property devised by the will is situated upon the petition of the executor or any person interested in such property by, through or under the provisions of the will, when the petition is accompanied by a duly authenticated copy of such will and of the original record or certification of probate. When probate is or has been so granted, ancillary letters testamentary or of testamentary administration as the case requires, may likewise be granted on the petition of the executor or testamentary administrator if accompanied by a duly authenticated copy of the original letters or record of his appointment.

§ 6333. Ancillary letters, when. When administration has been granted in any other state or country upon the estate of an intestate who was not a resident of this state at the time of his death, ancillary letters of administration may be granted as prescribed in this article by the county court of any county in which there are assets belonging to the estate upon petition of the administrator, if accompanied by a duly authenticated copy of the original record of the granting of administration and of his appointment.

§ 29, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6334. Citation to whom notice given. A citation issued upon the presentation of any petition specified in the two preceding sections may be addressed to all creditors of the decedent and other persons interested, and a direction for service by publication shall be indorsed thereon without the affidavit required in other cases and service in accordance with such direction shall be deemed sufficient. At the hearing any person interested as a creditor or otherwise may appear and maintain any valid objection to the competency of the proof or other defense to the application.

§ 6335. Foreign will, not probated when. A will shall not be admitted to probate under the provisions of this article, unless it appears to have been executed according to law and the court is further satisfied that the authentication of the probate is sufficient and that the probate was granted by a court of competent jurisdiction and remains in force. A decree admitting the same to probate shall contain the findings of the court to that effect and shall have the same force and effect as if the probate was originally granted thereby. § 30, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6336. Ancillary letters not granted, when. Ancillary letters shall not be granted to an executor or testamentary administrator making application therefor, unless the court is satisfied by competent evidence that the original appointment has not been revoked. The court may also refuse to issue letters to such applicant when objection is made for nonresidence or any other cause which would disqualify him for appointment in this state and it appears that the rights of creditors having claims payable in this state or other persons residing therein, who are interested in the estate may be prejudiced by his appointment; if letters have been issued such letters may be revoked for like cause.

§ 6337. Ancillary letters. Ancillary letters shall not be issued to an administrator making application therefor, unless the court is satisfied that the proofs accompanying the petition are duly authenticated, that the administration was granted by a court of competent jurisdiction and that the original appointment remains in force; or in any case when it appears that another county court of this state has acquired jurisdiction of the estate for any purpose or when a resident of this state entitled to administration therein as a creditor or otherwise prays that letters may be issued to himself or some other resident of the state.

§ 6338. Letters may issue, when. When letters are refused for any cause specified in the two preceding sections except a failure to establish the original probate or grant of administration, letters may be issued to a competent resident of the state as in other cases; and when probate is granted as herein prescribed and no application for letters is made by the executor or testamentary administrator, letters may be issued as in a case when no executor is named in a will if necessary to give effect to the provisions of the will or protect the rights of creditors residing in the state.

§ 6339. Executors and administrators to qualify, how. An executor or administrator appointed under the provisions of this article must qualify in the same manner as other executors or administrators and thereafter has like powers, duties and obligations respecting the property of the decedent within this state.

§ 6340. Foreign executor or administrator to appoint agent. Every executor, administrator or guardian appointed in, but residing out of the state shall before entering upon the duties of his trust, in writing, appoint an agent residing in the county where he is appointed and shall by such writing stipulate and agree that the service of any legal process against him as such executor, administrator or guardian if made on said agent shall be of the same legal effect as if made on himself personally within the state. Such writing shall give the proper address of such agent and shall be filed in the office of the judge of the county court where such appointment is made and the notice to creditors shall state the name and address of such agent. § 1, c. 106, 1883. am'd.

ARTICLE 6.—SPECIAL PROCEEDINGS FOR PROBATE OF HEIRSHIP.

§ 1. c. 51, 1893.
am'd.§ 6341. Petition to establish heirship. Proceedings.

When a person dies leaving real property within this state, which he has not disposed of by will and there are no debts of the decedent which are payable to residents of this state, after the expiration of one year from the date of his death, if no county court of this state has acquired jurisdiction of his estate for the purposes of administration, any heir or other person deriving title from or through an heir or heirs of such decedent may present to the county court of the county in which he last resided or if he was not a resident of this state at the time of his death, to the county court of the county in which the real property or some part thereof is situated a petition alleging the facts which authorize the special proceeding, according to the foregoing provisions with a particular description of the real property, and stating the interest of the petitioner and the interest or share of each heir according to his relationship to the deceased and praying for a decree determining the right of succession to the property. Upon the presentation of such a petition a citation shall be issued to all the heirs of the decedent.

§ 2. c. 51, 1893.
am'd.§ 6342. Petition, hearing of. Allegations established.

At the hearing any person interested may appear and answer the petition; but this section does not affect a right or interest of any person except an heir unless he so becomes a party to the special proceeding. The answer of a respondent may allege any valid defense to the petition, any part of the same or any right or interest which the respondent claims in the property. The allegations of the petition must be established to the satisfaction of the court by competent testimony before a decree can be entered although no issue is joined by answer.

§ 3. c. 51, 1893.
am'd.

§ 6343. Decree, when to issue. Effect of. When the facts are established to the satisfaction of the court a decree shall be given specifying who are the heirs of the decedent and what are the interests or shares of the parties, respectively, in the property and declaring the right of succession accordingly. Such decree is conclusive upon the parties, and their successors in interest, subject however, to such disposition of the property as may be made in any subsequent proceeding in the same court in pursuance of the probate of a will or grant of administration.

§ 4. c. 51, 1893.
am'd.

§ 6344. Record of the decree. A certified copy of such decree may be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of each county in which the real property is situated in the manner prescribed by law for recording a deed.

§ 5. c. 51, 1893.
am'd.

§ 6345. Costs, how paid. The costs of such proceeding must in every case be paid by the petitioner.

CHAPTER 5.

REQUISITES FOR QUALIFICATION.

ARTICLE 1.—QUALIFICATIONS, REMOVAL AND DISCHARGE OF EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS AND GUARDIANS.

§ 6346. Executor, administrator, guardian, who competent for. No person under twenty-one years of age or other person who is incapable by law of making a contract or has been convicted of a felony, is competent to serve as executor, administrator or guardian; and no person shall be appointed as such, who is not in good faith a resident of this state or was a partner of the decedent at the time of his death or is by the court found unfit to discharge the duties of the trust by reason of drunkenness, improvidence, mental or physical infirmity or lack of integrity. A married woman must not be appointed administratrix, but may be appointed executrix, and serve as such independent of her husband if married at the time of the testator's death. §§ 46, 48, 60, 61. Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6347. Oath and bond of executor. Before letters are issued to an executor, administrator or guardian he must qualify by taking an oath and giving bond as prescribed in this article; and before letters are issued to any person who has in his possession or under his control any money or property belonging to the estate he may be required to exhibit an inventory or otherwise render a satisfactory account of his doings with such property. A failure to comply with the foregoing requirements within such time as the court allows is a relinquishment of the appointment. § 75. Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6348. Oath, form of, where filed. Every executor, administrator or guardian must take and subscribe an oath administered by some competent officer and file the same with the county judge to the effect that he will faithfully and according to law to the best of his ability perform all the duties of his trust. § 75. Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6349. Bond. Justification. Every executor, administrator or guardian must give bond to the state of North Dakota for the benefit of all persons interested in the estate in such sum as the court prescribes, with sufficient sureties to be approved by the judge, and conditioned for the faithful discharge of all the duties of the trust imposed on him by law or by order of the court according to law. Except as otherwise specially prescribed by law the required sum must not be less than twice the aggregate value as ascertained by the court of the personal property and the rents, profits and income for one year of the real property, belonging to the estate. Every bond must be held to be the joint and several contract of the principal and sureties executing the same notwithstanding any express provisions therein to the contrary. §§ 76, 78. Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6350. Bond for sale of real estate. Whenever an executor, administrator or guardian is authorized to sell or mortgage any real estate, he must in like manner be required to give an additional bond in a sum equal to twice the probable amount to be realized upon such sale or mortgage. But such additional bond may be dispensed with by the decree authorizing such sale or mortgage, when it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the former bond of such executor, § 77. Prob. C. am'd.

administrator or guardian is at least twice the value of the estate remaining in his hands together with the amount of such increased liability and is in all other respects sufficient.

§ 88, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6351. Bond waived by will. When it is expressly provided in the will that no bond shall be required of the executor, letters testamentary may issue and sales of real estate be made and confirmed without any bond unless the court for good cause requires one to be executed; but the executor may at any time afterwards if it appears from any cause necessary or proper, be required to file a bond as in other cases.

§ 79, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6352. Separate bond. When two or more persons are appointed as executors, administrators or guardians, the court may require and take a separate bond from each.

ARTICLE 2. — FORM OF LETTERS.

§ 6353. Letters of administration. When an executor, administrator or guardian has duly qualified, letters shall issue accordingly under the seal of the county court upon which there shall be indorsed if required a direction for the publication of the notice to creditors prescribed by this code.

§ 53, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6354. Letters testamentary, form of. Letters testamentary may be substantially in the following form:

State of North Dakota, }
County of..... } ss.

Whereas, the last will of A. B., deceased, a copy of which is hereto annexed has been duly proved and recorded in the county court of said county, and C. D. has been appointed executor thereof and has duly qualified pursuant to the order of said court, of date.....

Now, therefore, know ye, that he, the said C. D., is authorized to enter upon the discharge of his duties as such executor and continue therein until the revocation of these letters.

Given with the seal of said court hereto affixed the....day of....
A. D. 189...

[Seal.]

(Official signature of the judge.)

§ 54, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6355. Letters of testamentary administration, form of. Letters issued to a testamentary administrator may be substantially in the following form:

State of North Dakota, }
County of..... } ss.

Whereas, the last will of A. B., deceased, a copy of which is hereto annexed has been duly proved and recorded in the county court of said county, and C. D. has been duly appointed testamentary administrator to execute the same, and has duly qualified pursuant to the order of said court of date.....

Now, therefore, know ye, that he, the said C. D., is authorized to enter upon the discharge of his duties as such testamentary administrator and continue therein until the revocation of these letters.
(Conclude as above.)

§ 55, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6356. Letters of administration, form of. Letters of administration, either general or special, may be substantially in the following form:

State of North Dakota, }
County of..... } ss.

Whereas, A. B. was appointed administrator (or special administrator) of the estate of C. D., deceased, by order of the county court of said county of date..... and has duly qualified accordingly;

Now, therefore, know ye, that he, the said A. B., is authorized to enter upon the discharge of his duties as such administrator (or special administrator) and continue therein until the revocation of these letters. (Conclude as above.)

§ 6357. Letters of guardianship, form of. Letters of guardianship may be in the form prescribed in the last section with such variations as the facts require.

ARTICLE 3.—NEW BONDS AND NEW SURETIES.

§ 6358. Bond becoming insufficient. Proceedings. Any creditor or other person interested in the estate may present to the county court an affidavit alleging that a surety in any bond taken as prescribed in this chapter is insufficient or has removed or is about to remove from the state or that the bond is inadequate in amount and demanding that the executor, administrator or guardian may be required to give a new bond in a larger amount or new or additional sureties as the case requires, or in default thereof that he may be removed from his office and thereupon, if there is reason to believe that the statements of the affidavit are true, such executor, administrator or guardian may be cited to appear and show cause why the demand should not be granted.

§§ 84, 85.
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6359. Judge issues citation as to insufficiency of bond. When it comes to the knowledge of the county judge that the bond of an executor, administrator or guardian is inadequate or that a surety therein is insufficient or has removed or is about to remove from the state and no application is made as provided in the last section, an order shall be made requiring such executor, administrator or guardian to show cause why he should not be required to give further security upon which he shall be cited to appear as upon the application of a party.

§ 89, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6360. Hearing and order. If it satisfactorily appears at the hearing that the security is inadequate or insufficient, the court must make an order requiring the executor to give new or additional sureties or a new bond in a sufficient amount as the case requires, within a reasonable time not exceeding ten days and directing that in default thereof his letters be revoked. If he fails to give such security, the court must make a supplemental order removing him and revoking his letters accordingly.

§§ 86, 87.
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6361. Release of sureties on application. Any or all of the sureties in a bond taken as prescribed in this chapter may present to the county court a petition praying to be released from responsibility on account of any future breach of the condition of the bond, and thereupon the executor, administrator or guardian must be cited to appear in person and give new security. If he files in the office of the county judge a sufficient bond with new sureties to the satisfaction of the court at the time specified in the citation or thereafter within such reasonable time not exceeding ten days as the court fixes, the court must make a decree releasing the petitioner from liability

§§ 90, 91, 92.
Prob. C.
am'd.

upon the bond for any subsequent act or default of the principal otherwise he must make a decree removing him and revoking his letters.

ARTICLE 4.—REMOVAL, SUSPENSION AND DISCHARGE OF EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS AND GUARDIANS.

§ 6362. Decree granting or revoking probate of will, revokes former letters. When a will is admitted to probate after letters of administration have been issued or when the probate is revoked after letters have been issued, the decree granting or revoking probate shall revoke the former letters.

§ 108, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6363. Causes for revocation of letters. An executor, administrator or guardian may also be removed by a decree of the county court revoking his letters upon satisfactory proof of the existence of either of the following causes:

1. Any legal disability which renders him incompetent or unfit to act as such executor or administrator when the same has been incurred since his letters were issued, or was not alleged in the proceeding in which he was appointed.

2. Any wrongful act or omission on his part conducive to waste or misappropriation of the estate or affording opportunity therefor.

3. Willfully refusing or neglecting without sufficient cause to obey any lawful direction of the county court or any provision of law relating to the discharge of his duties.

4. In the case of an executor, when by the terms of the will his office ceases upon a contingency which has happened.

5. In the case of a special administrator appointed upon the estate of an absentee, when it is shown that the absentee is living and capable of resuming the management of his affairs or that an executor or administrator has been appointed upon the estate by another court having jurisdiction thereof.

§ 109, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6364. Removal of executor, administrator or guardian, how. A petition alleging the facts and praying for the removal of an executor, administrator or guardian pursuant to the provisions of the preceding section may be presented by a creditor or other person interested in the estate and may contain a prayer for the appointment of a successor and if the court deems the allegations sufficient a citation shall issue to the executor, administrator or guardian and all other persons who by the terms of a will or by law are entitled to any portion of the estate.

§ 110, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6365. Court may remove, when. When the facts which authorize a removal come to the knowledge of the court and no application is made as above provided, the court may make an order requiring the executor, administrator or guardian to show cause why he should not be removed upon which he shall be cited to appear; and at the hearing the court may revoke his letters as upon a petition, but cannot appoint a successor.

§ 112, Prob. C.

§ 6366. Court may compel attendance. At any hearing contemplated by the two preceding sections the court may require and compel the attendance of the executor, administrator or guardian in person and examine him under oath respecting the alleged cause for his removal.

§ 6367. Court may enjoin and suspend powers, when. Upon issuing a citation in a proceeding for the removal of an executor, administrator or guardian or in a proceeding to require him to give new security, if he is wasting or misappropriating or alleged to be wasting or misappropriating the estate, the court may by order summarily suspend his powers or enjoin him from doing any specific act in the exercise thereof as the case requires until its final determination.

§ 88, Prob. C.
§ 2, c. 106, 1883.
am'd.

§ 6368. Final settlement of account. Discharge. An executor, administrator or guardian may at any time present to the county court a petition praying that his account may be settled and that a decree may thereupon be made revoking his letters and discharging him accordingly. The petition must set forth the facts upon which the application is founded; but the application shall not be entertained while a proceeding is pending for the removal of the executor, administrator or guardian or if in the opinion of the judge there is good cause for his removal or other sufficient cause for refusing to entertain the same.

§ 105, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6369. Proceedings pending discharge. If the court entertains such application, a citation must issue to all parties interested in the estate. At the hearing any creditor or other person interested may allege cause for denying the application or allege cause for his removal and pray relief accordingly. Upon a trial of the issue if the court determines that sufficient cause exists for granting the application, the petitioner must be allowed to account; and after he has fully accounted and paid over all money which is found to be due from him to the estate and delivered over all books, papers and other property of the estate in his hands as the court directs a decree shall be made discharging him and revoking his letters, otherwise such decree shall be made as justice requires.

§ 297, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6370. Acts valid until letters revoked or suspended. All acts of an executor or administrator capable by law of making a contract notwithstanding any cause for removal remain as valid and effectual as if he continued lawfully to execute the duties of his trust until his letters are revoked or his powers suspended by a decree or order of the court.

§ 106, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6371. Procedure, when one executor dies or is removed. When one of two or more executors or administrators dies or becomes incapable of discharging the trust or when letters are revoked as to one of them, a successor to such person shall not be appointed unless such appointment is necessary in order to comply with the express provisions of a will, but the others shall proceed and complete the administration of the estate pursuant to the letters.

CHAPTER 6.

SETTLEMENT OF THE ESTATES OF DECEDENTS.

ARTICLE 1.—COLLECTION, INVENTORY AND APPRAISEMENT OF THE ESTATE.

§§ 122, 210.
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6372. Possession, powers and duties of executors and administrators. The executor or administrator is entitled to possession of all the real and personal property of the decedent except the homestead and other exempt property reserved by law to the surviving husband or wife or children; and must protect the real property from waste or other injury and collect the rents and profits thereof until ordered to surrender the same and collect the goods, chattels and other effects of the decedent and the debts and demands of every description due to the decedent or accruing to the estate in his right, and safely keep and dispose of the same according to law.

§ 6373. Unauthorized person having property of decedent. Every person having or obtaining property of a decedent without authority from the executor or administrator is liable to account for the same at its full value and shall not be allowed to retain or deduct therefrom any debt due from such decedent.

§ 124, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6374. Embezzlement of decedent's property. Any person who embezzles, conceals or alienates any moneys, goods, chattels or effects of a decedent is liable in a civil action for double the value of such property or for the return of the property with damages to the extent of its value to be recovered by the executor or administrator for the benefit of the estate.

§ 123, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6375. Possession of real estate, terms of. Unless it satisfactorily appears to the county court that the rents, issues and profits of the real estate for a longer period are necessary to be received by the executor or administrator wherewith to pay the debts of the decedent, or that it will probably be necessary to sell the real estate for the payment of such debts at the end of ten months from the first publication of the notice to creditors, the court must direct the executor or administrator to deliver possession of all the real estate to the heirs at law or devisees.

§ 6376. Lease of real estate. An executor or administrator may lease the real property under his control until ordered to surrender the same and may keep in suitable repair all houses, buildings and fixtures thereon.

§ 214, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6377. Inventory by surviving partner. In case of the death of one partner the surviving partner must make a full, true and complete inventory of the property of the copartnership within his knowledge with a list of all the liabilities thereof at the time of the death of the deceased partner and deliver the same to his executor or administrator or to the county court. Such surviving partner or partners have the right to continue in possession of the effects of the partnership, pay its debts out of the same and settle its business; but must proceed thereto without delay and account with the executor or administrator and pay over such balances as may from time to time be payable to him in the right of the decedent. Upon the application of the executor or administrator the county court may whenever it appears necessary after citation order such surviving partner to deliver an inventory or render an account and may enforce the order as in other cases.

§ 6378. Possession from third persons, how. An executor or administrator may present to the county court an affidavit setting forth facts which tend to show that money, goods, chattels, conveyances, bonds, contracts or other writings containing evidences of a right or claim of the decedent to any property or of any demand due such decedent which should be delivered to him or included in an inventory or appraisal, is in the possession or under the control of a person who withholds or refuses to account for the same or that a person has knowledge or information which he refuses to impart respecting such money, goods, chattels, conveyances, bonds, contracts or other writings so that the same cannot be discovered, inventoried or appraised, and praying that he may be required to appear and be examined concerning the same. If the court is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for an investigation such person must be cited to appear in person. He may also be directed to appear forthwith and in that case the citation may be served at any time before the hearing.

§§ 125, 127.
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6379. Examination of third persons as to possession. On the attendance of the person so cited he must be sworn and examined under oath and may be compelled to answer any question that may be put to him respecting any money, goods, chattels, conveyances, contracts or other writings specified in the preceding section and make a full disclosure of all the facts within his knowledge or information in relation thereto; but his answers cannot be given in evidence against him in a criminal prosecution. If his testimony tends to show that other persons have knowledge or information that will aid the executor or administrator in the discovery of property to be inventoried or appraised, they may be subpoenaed and examined in like manner. After the examination the court may hear the testimony of other witnesses. And when it appears that a person so examined has in his possession or under his control any money, goods, chattels, conveyances, contracts or other writings belonging to the estate he may be ordered and compelled to deliver the same to the executor or administrator or to produce the same for inventory and appraisal as the case requires, unless he interposes a written answer duly verified to the effect that he is the owner of the property or is entitled to possession thereof by virtue of a special property therein or by virtue of a lien under which he obtained possession in the life time of the testator.

§ 126, Prob. C.
am'd.

ARTICLE 2.—INVENTORY AND APPRAISEMENT OF THE ESTATE.

§ 6380. Inventory of executor or administrator, contents of. Every executor or administrator must within thirty days after his appointment make and return to the county court a true inventory and appraisement of all the real and personal property of the decedent which has come to his knowledge including a list of all bonds, mortgages, notes, book accounts and other securities or evidences of debt which appear by the books or papers of the deceased to be unsettled with a statement of the sums credited thereon if any. If no money has come to the hands of the executor or administrator, §§ 113, 116.

Prob. C.
am'd.

that fact must be stated in the inventory. The property inventoried shall be classed under separate heads as follows:

1. All the real estate with a statement showing what portion thereof if any is occupied or claimed as a homestead.

2. All the personal property money included, which is supposed to be exempt distinguishing between such as is deemed absolutely exempt and other property.

3. All other property not above specified.

§ 119, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6381. Inventory, how made. The inventory must be signed by the executor or administrator, who must take and subscribe thereon an oath before an officer authorized to administer oaths that the inventory contains a true statement of all the estate of the decedent which has come to his knowledge and possession and particularly of all money belonging to the decedent and of all just claims of the decedent against the affiant.

§ 117, Prob. C.

§ 6382. Executor's personal debt. A person named in a will as executor is not thereby discharged from any just claim which the testator has against him but the claim must be included in the inventory and collected or accounted for in the same manner as other claims.

§ 6383. Inventory to contain partnership interest. The interest of the decedent in an unsettled partnership must be included in the inventory and appraised upon the statement rendered by the surviving partner or otherwise, like other property.

§ 118, Prob. C.

§ 6384. Bequest to executor. A discharge or bequest in a will of a debt or demand of the testator against an executor or other person is not valid against creditors of the testator but must be treated as a specific bequest of the amount of the debt or demand. Such demand must be included in the inventory and be collected and applied so far as necessary in payment of the creditors after which the surplus if any shall be paid as other legacies.

§ 6385. Decedent's life insurance. The avails of a life insurance policy or of a contract payable by any mutual aid or benevolent society upon the death of a member of such society are not subject to the debts of the decedent except by special contract, but in other respects shall be inventoried and disposed of like other property.

§ 114, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6386. Appraisers to be appointed. Oath. Compensation. To make the appraisement the judge must appoint three competent and disinterested persons any two of whom may act. The appointment may be made by order at any time. A notice of the appointment must be issued upon which before entering upon their duties the appraisers must each subscribe an oath administered by a competent officer to the effect that he will truly and impartially according to the best of his ability appraise the property of the decedent and discharge all other duties required of him as such appraiser. If any portion of the property is in another county the same appraisers may serve or others may be appointed in that county. The notice and oath of the appraisers must be returned with the inventory together with a verified statement of their services and expenses. They shall be allowed a reasonable compensation for their services not exceeding the amount of their necessary expenses and two dollars a day in addition to be paid by the executor or administrator as expenses of the administration.

§ 6387. Appraisers, duties of. The appraisers must estimate and appraise at its actual value according to their best judgment all the property described in the inventory submitted by the executor or administrator except money and must set down in figures opposite each item the value thereof as agreed upon in dollars and cents and after completing the appraisement they must subscribe and annex thereto an affidavit to the effect that the value appearing opposite each item was entered by them or by their direction and is the true value agreed upon as their appraisement, and deliver the same to the executor or administrator or to the court. § 115, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6388. Supplementary inventory, when made. Whenever property, which is not included in an inventory previously made in the same case, comes to the knowledge or possession of an executor or administrator, he must within one month thereafter or within such time as the court orders make a supplementary inventory and cause an appraisement thereof to be made and returned in like manner. § 121, Prob. C. am'd.

ARTICLE 3.—POSSESSION OF THE HOMESTEAD AND ALLOTMENT OF EXEMPT PROPERTY.

§ 6389. Homestead exempt from debt or liability. Delivery of. Upon the death of either husband or wife the survivor may continue to possess and occupy the whole homestead and upon the death of both husband and wife the children may continue to possess and occupy the same until otherwise disposed of according to law. Such homestead as defined in section 3605 of the civil code must be ascertained and set apart as hereinafter prescribed upon the selection of the person or persons entitled to possession thereof and shall not be subject to the payment of any debt or liability contracted by or existing against the husband or wife or either of them previous to or at the time of the death of such husband or wife except as provided in the law relating to homesteads. § 128, Prob. C.
§ 131, Prob. C.
§ 1, c. 108, 1881, am'd.

§ 6390. Appraisers to value homestead. The appraisers must procure from such person or persons a description of the property claimed as a homestead and appraise the same at its value at the time of the death of the testator or intestate and shall if necessary cause the boundaries thereof to be ascertained and marked in their presence by a competent surveyor. If they find that it has been selected in such form as will materially diminish the value of any remaining part of the property, they may modify its boundaries so as to avoid such injury if it can be done without material injury to the homestead property. If they find that the property selected as a homestead exceeds in value the sum of five thousand dollars, they shall in like manner set off the homestead in such form as to exclude the excess unless they further find that the property cannot be divided without material injury. They shall make a full report of all their proceedings and findings in relation to the homestead and annex the same to the inventory.

§ 6391. Exempt personal property, disposition of. There shall also be set apart absolutely to the surviving wife or husband or minor children all the personal property of the testator or intestate which would be exempt from execution, if he was living including all property absolutely exempt and other property selected by the § 135, Prob. C. am'd.

person or persons entitled thereto to the amount in value of fifteen hundred dollars according to the appraisement and such property shall not be liable for any prior debt of the decedent except the necessary charges of his last sickness and funeral and expenses of the administration when there are no other assets available for the payment of such charges.

§ 6392. Return of inventory and appraisement. Objections. Hearing. Upon the return of the inventory and appraisement the court must fix a day for hearing objections thereto concerning the homestead and other exempt property and the executor or administrator must cause notice thereof to be given to all parties interested. At the hearing the court may confirm the proceedings as to the inventory and appraisement or modify the same or set them aside and order a new appraisement as justice requires. If the court finds that the homestead exceeds in value the sum of five thousand dollars and further finds that the property cannot be divided without material injury, the order setting it apart must determine the amount of such excess and the property may thereafter be subjected to the payment of debts in the same manner as other property to the extent of the excess so determined after all the other available property has been exhausted.

§ 132, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6393. Allowance for the family. If the amount so set apart is insufficient for the support of the widow and children or either and there is other estate of the decedent, the court may in its discretion order such reasonable allowance out of the estate as shall be necessary for the maintenance of the family according to their circumstances during the progress of the settlement of the estate, which in case of an insolvent estate must not be longer than one year after granting letters testamentary or of administration.

§ 133, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6394. Allowance is a preferred claim. Any allowance made by the court in accordance with the preceding section must be paid in preference to all other charges except funeral charges or expenses of administration and any such allowance whenever made may in the discretion of the court take effect from the death of the decedent.

ARTICLE 4. — PROPERTY CHARGEABLE WITH THE PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

§ 162, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6395. Property of decedent chargeable with. All the property of a decedent except as otherwise provided for the homestead and personal property set apart for the surviving wife or husband and minor child or children shall be chargeable with the payment of the debts of the deceased, the expenses of administration and the allowance to the family.

§ 193, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6396. Provisions of the will must be followed. If the testator makes provision by his will or designates the estate to be appropriated for the payment of his debts, the expenses of administration or allowance to the family, they must be paid according to such provision or designation out of the estate thus appropriated so far as the same is sufficient.

§ 195, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6397. Provisions insufficient. Proceedings. If the provision made by the will or the estate appropriated therefor is insufficient to pay the debts, expenses of administration and the allowance to the family, that portion of the estate not devised or disposed of by will if any must be appropriated and disposed of for that purpose according to the provisions of article 6 of this chapter.

§ 6398. Property liable for debts. The estate real and personal given by will to legatees or devisees is liable for the debts, expenses of administration and allowance to the family in proportion to the value or amount of the several devises or legacies, but specific devises or legacies are exempt from such liability if it appears to the court necessary to carry into effect the intention of the testator and there is other sufficient estate.

§ 196, Prob. C.
am'd.

ARTICLE 5.—OF CLAIMS AGAINST THE ESTATE.

§ 6399. Claims. Duties of judge. It shall be the duty of the county judge granting letters testamentary or of administration to receive, examine and adjust the claims and demands of all persons against the decedent or his estate, which may be presented to him in accordance with the provisions of this article.

§ 6400. Notice to creditors. At the time of issuing letters or upon the return of the inventory the court shall direct the executor or administrator to give notice of his appointment to all persons having claims against the decedent or his estate specifying the place where the same may be exhibited to him, and the time within which they must be presented to the court for adjustment and allowance. Such notice must be given by publishing the same at least four times once each week for four successive weeks in some newspaper of the county if there is one, or if not then in some convenient newspaper of the state to be designated in the order. The court may also require further notice to be given by publication or by posting.

§ 137, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6401. Time of notice. Filing claims. The time expressed in the notice must be six months after its first publication when the estate exceeds in value the sum of five thousand dollars according to the appraisement and four months when it does not.

§ 138, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6402. Proof and record of notice. A copy of the notice with due proof of publication or of publication and posting must be filed, and if the court is satisfied therefrom that due notice to creditors has been given, a finding to that effect shall be entered in the journal.

§ 139, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6403. Claims presented for adjustment. All claims of every description against a decedent or his estate for the payment of money including judgments, unliquidated demands, debts not due, claims arising out of a liability of any person as surety for the decedent and other contingent claims must be presented to the court for adjustment within the time limited in the notice prescribed by section 6401. A demand maintained in or arising out of an action commenced by or against the decedent in his lifetime and continued by or against his representative, which has not been finally adjudicated, is deemed a contingent claim for the purposes of this section. A claim may be presented after the expiration of the time herein prescribed when it is shown to the satisfaction of the court before the final distribution that the owner and holder thereof has not been negligent and was prevented from presenting the same within such time by reason of his absence from the state or other sufficient cause.

§ 140, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6404. Claims, when barred. Every person having a claim against the deceased person for the payment of money, which is not presented as prescribed in the preceding section, is forever barred

§ 140, Prob. C.
1, c. 108, 1381.
am'd.

from recovering such demand or from setting off the same in any action or special proceeding whatever, except under circumstances entitling him to equitable relief. But this section shall not be construed to prohibit or restrict a right to foreclose a mortgage or other lien upon specific property as provided by law in a civil action, or to foreclose a mortgage on real property by advertisement and sale when the county court has not obtained jurisdiction of the estate of the mortgagor.

§ 149. Prob. C. am'd. § 6405. Vacancy in office not included in limitation. The time above limited does not include any period during which there is a vacancy in the office of county judge.

§ 6406. Claims, how entitled. Every claim when presented shall be entitled in the name of the claimant against the executor or administrator, if he is the claimant against the estate, and if disputed must be clearly and distinctly stated so as to enable the adverse party to demur or answer as in a civil action and issues may be joined thereon accordingly at any hearing contemplated by this article.

§ 141. Prob. C. am'd. § 6407. Claims, approvals, indorsement. If a claim has not been exhibited to the executor or administrator and indorsed with his approval or disapproval before presentation, a copy thereof must be served upon him thereafter, and unless he files his approval in writing within ten days after such service he shall be deemed to have disapproved of the same. Before approving any claim the executor or administrator shall require an affidavit of verification to be attached thereto by the claimant or some person competent to make the same in his behalf to the effect that there are no payments or other offsets to be credited or allowed except such as are therein stated and that the amount claimed is justly due and owing to the claimant out of the estate of the deceased. If the claim is based on a contingent liability, the amount which the affiant believes will be due and payable must be stated with the particulars upon which his belief is founded. The executor or administrator must not approve any claim unless satisfied that the same is in all respects just.

§§ 144-151. Prob. C. am'd. § 6408. Claims, when allowed by court. A claim may be allowed by order of the court upon the approval of the executor and the production of such proofs as may be required by the provisions of section 6407 or of such further proof as the court shall deem sufficient. but the court may decline to act thereon until the executor or administrator is cited as hereinafter prescribed. When an executor offers to approve a claim in part or subject to an offset, the amount so admitted may be allowed in like manner if the creditor consents thereto in writing, otherwise the entire claim shall be deemed disapproved and the claimant shall not be awarded costs upon proving the same unless he is awarded an amount greater than that so offered.

§ 146. Prob. C. am'd. § 6409. Claim rejected. Citation for. Hearing. When a claim is not allowed as prescribed in the preceding section after it has been duly exhibited or served the court shall, at the request of the claimant, issue a citation to the executor as upon a petition and the claimant shall cause the same to be served accordingly. At the hearing the claim shall be deemed denied without any pleading on behalf of the estate; and any party appearing may demur or allege any legal defense to the demand. The executor or administrator may likewise allege an offset or counterclaim that might have been maintained by the decedent. Upon a trial of the issues the court shall make a decree allowing or disallowing such claim or counterclaim, or any part of the same as justice requires; or if both are established the court shall ascertain and allow the balance in favor of the claimant or the estate as the same shall be found. If such balance is found in favor of the estate, the decree must direct payment accordingly.

§ 6410. Decree allowing claim. Every decree or order which allows a claim must classify the same according to the order in which it is entitled to payment and when a claim is established and allowed as a lien upon specific property, personal and real, must also specify the particular property covered by the lien.

§ 6411. Claim by executor or administrator. If an executor or administrator is a creditor of the decedent his claim may be allowed by the court, when presented in the same manner and upon like proof as the claim of another person by him approved or if the court declines to allow the same, the parties interested in the estate may be cited in the same manner and with like effect as in other cases. § 158, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6412. Claim of judge against decedent, how allowed. A judge of the county court having jurisdiction of the estate may exhibit a claim to the executor or administrator, and upon his approval or disapproval thereof may present the same for allowance to the county judge of an adjoining county, who shall proceed as if he had jurisdiction of the estate and his order or decree shall be entered as that of the court in which the case is pending. § 143, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6413. Claims upon judgment or written instrument. A claim which is founded upon the judgment or other determination of a court having jurisdiction to render the same must be allowed upon the production of a duly authenticated copy thereof and satisfactory proof of the amount remaining unsatisfied. When a claim is founded on a bond, bill or other written instrument, the original must be produced and filed with the county judge or its absence must be satisfactorily accounted for and a copy thereof produced if practicable. An instrument so filed can be withdrawn only by order of the court for good cause shown and upon the substitution of a true copy. § 145, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6414. Claims barred cannot be allowed. No claim or counterclaim which was barred by the statute of limitations when the claim was first presented must be allowed under the provisions of this article, but after presentation no claim is affected by the statute of limitations while pending before the county court or on appeal. § 147, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6415. Executor's settlement. Creditors notified. At the time when the executor or administrator presents his account for settlement, every creditor having claims pending in the county court which have not been disposed of as hereinbefore prescribed, must be notified of the hearing and have an opportunity to present his proofs and upon his failure to do so a final order shall be made disallowing the same. At the same time there may be a rehearing upon any claim previously allowed by order, but not afterwards.

§ 6416. Claims proved and allowed. Every claim proved and allowed as prescribed in this article must be classed among the acknowledged debts and charges to be paid in the due course of administration. § 145, Prob. C. am'd.

ARTICLE 6. — PAYMENT OF DEBTS AND CHARGES.

§ 6417. Debts, order of payment. The acknowledged debts and charges must be paid in the following order:

1. The necessary expenses of the administration.
2. The expenses of the last sickness and funeral.
3. Allowances made to the family in excess of the exempt property.
4. Debts having preference by the laws of the United States.
5. Debts which are liens upon specific property whether by judgment, mortgage or otherwise in the order of their priority.
6. All other demands against the estate.

§ 259, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6418. Limitation as to mortgages. The preference given in the preceding section to a mortgage or other lien only extends to the proceeds of the property subject to such lien. If the proceeds of such property are insufficient to pay the demand, the part remaining unsatisfied must be classed with other demands against the estate.

§ 202, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6419. Liens on realty to be paid. When any sale is made by an executor or administrator pursuant to the provisions of this chapter of land or other property that is subject to any mortgage or other lien, which is a valid claim against the estate of the decedent and has been presented and allowed, the purchase money must be applied after paying the necessary expenses of the sale, first to the payment and satisfaction of the mortgage or lien and the residue if any in due course of administration. The application of the purchase money to the satisfaction of the mortgage or lien must be made without delay, and the property is subject to such mortgage or lien until the purchase money has been actually so applied. The purchase money or so much thereof as may be sufficient to pay such mortgage or lien with interest and any lawful costs and charges thereon may be paid into the county court, and thereupon the lien must cease and the purchase money must be paid over by the judge without delay in payment of the expenses of the sale and in satisfaction of the debt to secure which the mortgage or other lien was taken and the surplus, if any, must be returned to the executor or administrator.

§ 260, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6420. Creditors equal within classes. If the estate is insufficient to pay all the debts of any one class, each creditor must be paid a dividend in proportion to his claim; and no creditor of any class shall receive any payment until all those of the preceding class are fully paid and no preference shall be given in the payment of a debt over other debts of the same class except those specified in the fifth class.

§ 261, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6421. Certain expenses, paid when. The executor or administrator, as soon as he has sufficient funds in his hands must pay the funeral expenses and the expenses of the last sickness and the allowance made to the family of the decedent. He may pay or retain in his hands the necessary expenses of administration but he is not obliged to pay any other debt or any legacy until as prescribed in this article the payment has been ordered by the court.

§ 161, Prob. C.

§ 6422. Payment of taxes, pledges and liens. If satisfied that it will be for the benefit of the estate, the county court may by order authorize or direct the executor or administrator on the application of any person interested, to pay taxes and demands maturing upon any debt secured by a mortgage, pledge or other lien existing on the property of the decedent or upon a contract for the purchase of real property whenever there are sufficient funds properly applicable thereto although such demand has not been presented and allowed. But the provisions of this section shall not relieve the executor or administrator from responsibility for all injury or loss resulting from any misapplication of the money in his hands.

§ 6423. Decree for payment of debts. Upon the settlement of the account of an executor or administrator at the expiration of the time allowed for presenting claims if there are debts or charges remaining unpaid, the court must make such decree for the payment thereof as the circumstances of the estate require, unless it appears that there are no more assets available for that purpose. If the assets are ready for distribution to the creditors the court shall make a peremptory decree for payment after declaring a dividend if necessary. If there are other assets available which are not ready for such distribution, the executor or administrator must be directed to take the necessary steps to convert them into money for that purpose, as speedily as possible without material injury to the estate and if the estate is solvent, a partial dividend may be declared. The court must proceed in like manner at each subsequent settlement until the debts are paid.

§ 262, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6424. Contingent claim pending. Proceedings. At the time of such settlement, each person having a contingent claim pending which cannot be proved as a debt must be required to produce proof of the liability of the decedent by a previous notice given as prescribed in section 6415. If it appears upon such proof that there is reason to believe that the liability will become absolute, the court may order the executor or administrator to retain in his hands sufficient assets to pay the same in that event or, if the estate is insolvent, sufficient to pay a proportion equal to the dividends of other creditors or if a final distribution is made, the court may require the persons to whom the estate is distributed to give bond with sufficient sureties for the payment of such sum as may be found due by the county court in case the liability shall thereafter become absolute and upon proof of such amount the claimant may be authorized to bring an action on the bond for its recovery.

§ 263, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6425. Executor or administrator liable for debts ordered paid. When a decree is made for the payment of creditors, the executor or administrator becomes personally liable to each for the sum specified therein and execution may issue accordingly, or each creditor may recover the amount due him in an action on the bond of the executor or administrator upon his failure to comply with the order.

§ 264, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6426. Legacies and distribution of estate. If the whole of the debts have been paid by the first distribution, the court must direct the payment of legacies and the distribution of the estate among the heirs, legatees or other persons entitled as provided in article 11 of this chapter, but if there are debts remaining unpaid, or, if for other reasons the estate is not in a proper condition to be closed, the court must give such extension of time as may be reasonable for a final settlement of the estate.

§ 266, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6427. Liability of executor or administrator on failure to give notice to creditors. When the accounts of the administrator or executor have been settled and an order made for the payment of debts and distribution of the estate, no creditor whose claim

§ 265, Prob. C.
am'd.

was not included in the order for payment has any right to call upon the creditors, who have been paid or upon the heirs, devisees or legatees to contribute to the payment of his claim; but if the executor or administrator has failed to give the notice to creditors as required in sections 6400 and 6415 such creditor may recover on the bond of the executor or administrator the amount of his claim, or such part thereof as he would have been entitled to had it been allowed.

ARTICLE 7. — SALES BY EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

§§ 163, 209,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6428. Property of decedent may be sold, how. The property of a decedent, personal and real, which is chargeable with the payment of his debts and legacies or the expenses of the administration and the allowance to the family, may be sold as herein-after prescribed. But no executor or administrator shall directly or indirectly purchase any property of the estate which he represents or be interested in any sale. No sale by an executor or administrator is valid unless made and confirmed in pursuance of a decree of the county court, except as otherwise provided in the next two sections.

§ 6429. Perishable property to be sold, when. After the return of the inventory, the executor or administrator may from time to time sell such portion of the personal effects as are of a perishable nature, or would otherwise be likely to depreciate in value, or so much other personal property as may be necessary to pay expenses of the administration and the last sickness of the decedent; but is responsible for all property so sold until the sale is confirmed.

§ 194, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6430. Sale of property under will. Confirmation. When property is directed by the will to be sold or authority is given in the will to sell property, the executor may sell any property of the estate without the order of the county court at either public or private sale, and with or without notice as the executor may determine; but the executor must make return of such sales as in other cases; and if directions are given in the will as to the mode of selling or the particular property to be sold, such directions must be observed. In either case no title passes unless the sale is confirmed by the court.

§§ 167, 169,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6431. Sales, when to be made. Personalty first sold. Whenever a sale becomes necessary for the payment of debts, legacies, allowances or expenses chargeable upon the estate, or whenever such sale will be for the benefit of the estate and the parties interested therein, the executor may from time to time, so long as any personal property remains in his hands, present an application to the county court setting forth the facts and praying for an order directing him to sell the same or so much thereof as may be deemed necessary or proper; and thereupon all parties interested in the estate must be cited as in other cases.

§ 171, Prob. C.
§ 1, c. 53, 1890,
am'd.

§ 6432. Sale of real estate. Proceedings. When a sale of real property becomes necessary for the payment of debts, expenses or allowances chargeable thereon, the executor or administrator shall petition the county court for a decree directing a sale of the same or so much thereof as may be necessary for that purpose or a sale of both personal and real property; and a citation shall issue to all parties interested accordingly.

§ 180, Prob. C.

§ 6433. Petition for sale by third person. If an executor or administrator neglects to make application under either of the two preceding sections, any creditor whose claim has been presented or other person interested may make the application in the same manner and with like effect as if made by the executor or administrator, and when an executor or testamentary administrator neglects to make any sale which he is required to make under the provisions of a will, any creditor or other person interested may in like manner make application, as the case requires, for a decree or order directing such sale.

§ 6434. Petition, contents of. Every petition for the sale of real estate must show as nearly as can be ascertained the value of the personal property remaining in the hands of the executor, the amount of expenses of the administration and allowances to the family, if any, remaining unpaid and the amount which will be required to pay the debts of the deceased and legacies, if any, given in his will; also a general description of all the real estate and the value thereof and a particular description of the part which it is proposed to sell with a statement of its condition and value.

§ 172, Prob. C.
2, c. 53, 1890.
am'd.

§ 6435. Petition, hearing of. At any hearing contemplated by the foregoing provisions of this article, the court may direct a sale of personal property if satisfied that such sale is necessary or for the interest of the estate and the parties entitled thereto. At a hearing upon an application for the sale of real property, the court must inquire fully into the condition of the estate and direct a sale of only so much thereof as shall appear to be necessary; but if the parties consent that real estate may be sold in preference to personal property, the decree may direct a sale accordingly.

§§ 164, 173.
176, 178, 256.
Prob. C.
§ 3, c. 53, 1890.
am'd.

§ 6436. Sale of all the real estate may be authorized, when. If it appears necessary to sell a part of the real estate and that by a sale thereof the residue of the estate, real or personal, or some specific part thereof would be greatly injured or diminished in value, or subjected to expense, or rendered unprofitable or that after such sale the residue would be so small in quantity or value, or would be of such character with reference to its future disposition among the heirs or devisees as clearly to render it for the interest of all concerned that the same should be sold, the court may authorize the sale of the whole estate or of any part thereof necessary and for the interest of all concerned.

§ 177, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6437. One sale, when. When the petition alleges that the estate is insolvent or that it will require a sale of all the property to pay the debts, allowances and expenses with which it is chargeable with such further particulars as are required in a petition for the sale of real property, and it appears to the satisfaction of the court after full inquiry into the facts and circumstances, that the property is no more than sufficient to pay the same, the decree may direct the sale of all the property chargeable with such payment and there need be no further order of sale thereafter.

§ 165, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6438. No sale to be directed, when. Bond. A sale of real estate shall not be directed if any of the persons interested in the estate give bond to the state of North Dakota for the use and benefit of all persons having claims against the estate, in a sum and with sureties approved by the court and with condition to pay, so far as the personal estate of the deceased shall be insufficient therefor, all legacies, debts and charges that shall eventually be found due from the estate.

§ 6439. Sale directed, stopped, how. After a sale is directed any person interested in the estate may prevent a sale of the whole or any part of the property designated in the decree or order by giving bond, in like manner, with a condition to pay all demands that shall be found due from the estate, to the extent of the value of the property thus kept from sale as soon as called upon by the court for that purpose.

§ 6440. Order to resort to security. If it becomes necessary to resort to such security, the executor or administrator shall apply to the court for an order determining the amount of the liability so incurred and directing payment accordingly, and after obtaining such order the executor or administrator must proceed to collect such amount by an action upon the bond if necessary and apply the proceeds as the court shall direct.

§ 179, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6441. Decree for sale of real estate, contents of. Terms of sale. A decree for the sale of real estate must describe the lands to be sold and direct the terms of sale, which may be for cash or for one-third cash and the remainder on a credit not exceeding two years with such interest as the court shall deem proper, secured by a mortgage on the property and may direct that the sale be made in one parcel or in such subdivisions as may be deemed most convenient. If a decree directs the sale of devised property which is not charged by the will with the payment of debts or legacies, such property must not be sold until the other property is exhausted.

§ 6442. Private sale, when. The court may direct that any property, real or personal, be sold at private sale, if satisfied that the interest of the estate will be thereby promoted; otherwise every sale must be made at public auction after giving the same notice of the time and place of sale, as would be necessary for the sale of such property on execution.

§§ 170, 179, 181,
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6443. Notice of place of private sale to be given. If a private sale is authorized the court may direct the executor or administrator to publish a notice of the place where such sale will be made and the time when the same will commence.

§ 168, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6444. Partnership interests and claims may be sold. Partnership interests, interests in personal property pledged and choses in action may be sold in the same manner as other personal property, when it appears to be for the interest of the estate, but before ordering a sale of any partnership interest the court must inquire into the condition of the partnership affairs and examine the surviving partner if in the county and able to be present.

§ 203, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6445. Lien on the property purchased. When the holder of any mortgage or other lien, whose claim has been presented and allowed, purchases any property which is subject to the lien at a sale made by an executor or administrator, his receipt for the amount, which he would be entitled to receive by virtue of the lien from the proceeds after deducting expenses of the sale, shall be accepted as a payment of so much money.

§ 184, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6446. Limit of price. Reappraisement. No property can be sold at private sale for less than ninety per cent of the appraised value thereof. No real estate can be sold at private sale unless it has been appraised within one year. If it has not been so appraised or if the court deems the reappraisement too high or too low, a new reappraisement must be made before the sale is confirmed.

§ 182, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6447. Hour of real estate sale. A sale of real estate at public auction must be made between the hours of nine in the morning and four in the afternoon of the day specified in the notice of sale unless the same is postponed.

§ 6448. Postponement of the sale. If at the time appointed for the sale the executor or administrator deems it for the interest of the persons concerned therein that the same be postponed, he may postpone it from time to time not exceeding in all three months. § 191, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6449. Notice of postponement, how given. In case of a postponement, notice thereof must be given by a public declaration at the time and place first appointed for the sale, and if the postponement is for more than one day, further notice must be given by posting notices in three or more public places in the county where the land is situated or by publishing the same, or both, as the time and circumstances will admit. § 192, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6450. Security for deferred payments. When real property is sold at public auction, the purchaser must immediately deposit with the executor or administrator the money agreed upon as a cash payment and execute and deliver to him a note and mortgage on the property to secure each deferred payment, and upon his failure to do so the property shall be again offered for sale. When sold at private sale the money and securities must be deposited or delivered in like manner before the sale is reported for confirmation. § 185, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6451. Sale of personal property. Report to the court. When an executor or administrator has made any sales of personal property, he must return to the court at his next settlement or sooner if the court so directs, a full report of such sales, with a detailed account of all moneys received therefrom, to be acted upon in the settlement of his accounts. § 208, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6452. Sale of real estate, report of. Hearing. Notice. Immediately after making a sale of real estate, the executor or administrator must return to the county court a full report of his proceedings containing a statement of the money deposited for the purchase of the property and accompanied by each note and mortgage likewise deposited as security for any deferred payment, also a copy of the notice of sale and proof of publication. The court shall thereupon fix a day for hearing objections to the confirmation of such sale, and direct notice thereof to be given to each party whose post office address is known and each creditor who has a claim pending, specifying in the notice each parcel sold and the sum offered for the same and referring to the return for further particulars. §§ 186, 190, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6453. Hearing for confirmation of sale. Resale, when. At the hearing pursuant to such notice, any person interested in the estate may file written objections to the confirmation of the sale and witnesses may be examined in support of the same or in opposition thereto, as upon the trial of an issue of fact. If the court is satisfied after hearing the testimony and inquiring into the facts that the sale was legally and fairly made, and that the sum offered is not disproportionate to the value of the property and there is no good reason to suppose that a greater sum can be realized upon another sale, an order must be made confirming the sale and directing a conveyance to be executed accordingly; otherwise an order shall be made setting aside the sale and directing the return of all money and securities on deposit, after which the executor may proceed anew to make sale of the property. §§ 187, 188, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6454. Conveyance and record upon confirmation, effect of. When a sale of real estate is confirmed the executor or administrator must execute to each purchaser a conveyance, referring to the decree authorizing the sale and the order of confirmation. Such conveyance is presumptive evidence of the regularity and validity of the sale and from the date of sale conveys all right, title and interest of the decedent in the property described therein, whether vested in him at the time of his death or thereafter acquired in the right of the decedent prior to its execution.

§ 198, Prob. C.
am'd. § 6455. Contract for purchase of land, may be sold. If a decedent at the time of his death was possessed of a contract for the purchase of land, his interest in such land and under such contract may be sold on the application of his executor or administrator in the same manner as if he had died seized of such land and the same proceedings may be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this chapter for the sale of lands of which he died seized, except as hereinafter provided.

§ 199, Prob. C.
am'd. § 6456. Terms and conditions of such a sale. The sale must be made subject to all payments that may hereinafter become due on such contract and if there are any such, the sale must not be confirmed by the court until the purchasers execute a bond to the executor or administrator for the benefit and indemnity of himself and of the persons entitled to the interest of the decedent in the lands so contracted for in double the whole amount of payments thereafter to become due on such contract, with such sureties as the county judge shall approve.

§ 200, Prob. C.
am'd. § 6457. Bond in such sale. Conditions of. The bond must be conditioned that the purchaser will make all payments for such land that become due after the date of the sale, and will fully indemnify the executor or administrator, and the persons so entitled against all demands, costs, charges and expenses by reason of any covenant or agreement contained in such contract.

§ 201, Prob. C.
am'd. § 6458. Assignment of the contract, when. Upon the confirmation of the sale, the executor or administrator must execute to the purchaser an assignment of the contract, which vests in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, all the right, title and interest of the estate or of the persons entitled to the interest of the decedent in the lands sold at the time of the sale, and the purchaser has the same rights and remedies against the vendor of such land as the decedent would have had if he was living.

§ 1, c. 54, 1890.
am'd. § 6459. Mortgage of minor's real estate. When it is shown to the satisfaction of the court at the hearing upon an application for the sale of real estate or upon a petition praying that the same may be mortgaged as provided in the next section after all the parties interested have been duly cited, that it will be for the benefit of the estate, the county court may direct an executor or administrator to mortgage any real estate of the decedent for the purpose of paying an existing lien or mortgage on the property or for any other purpose for which a sale may be ordered or it may authorize him to make a renewal of an existing mortgage, but the homestead shall not be mortgaged without the consent of the persons entitled thereto.

§ 2, c. 54, 1890.
am'd. § 6460. Petition for mortgage, contents of. A petition for the purpose specified in the preceding section must specify the amount of money necessary to be raised and the purposes for which the same is required with such further particulars as are required in a petition for the sale of real property. The decree must fix the amount for which the mortgage may be given and the rate of interest that may be paid thereon, and may order the whole or any part of the money so secured to be paid from time to time out of the income of the mortgaged property. The mortgage or other contract executed by the executor in pursuance thereof may be approved upon his report in the same manner as a sale.

ARTICLE 8. — SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

§ 6461. Legal representative to convey real estate of decedent. When a person who is bound by contract in writing to convey any real estate dies before making the conveyance, the county court may make a decree authorizing and directing his executor or administrator to convey such real estate to the person entitled thereto in all cases when the decedent if living, might be compelled to make such conveyance. § 221, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6462. Petition for such conveyance, contents of. On the presentation of a verified petition by any person claiming to be entitled to such conveyance from an executor or administrator, setting forth the facts upon which the claim is predicated all persons interested in the estate must be cited as in other cases. § 222, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6463. Decree upon hearing had. If after a full hearing and examination of the facts and circumstances of the claim, the court is satisfied that the petitioner is entitled to a conveyance of the real estate described in the petition, a decree must be made authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to execute a conveyance thereof to the petitioner and such conveyance must be executed accordingly. § 224, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6464. Effect of such conveyance. Every conveyance made in pursuance of a decree of the court as provided in this chapter and approved by the judge shall pass the title to the estate contracted for as fully as if the contracting party himself was still living and executed the conveyance. § 227, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6465. Dismissal and appeal. If upon the hearing in the county court, the right of the petitioner to have a specific performance of the contract is found to be doubtful, the court must dismiss the petition without prejudice to the rights of the petitioner, who may thereafter proceed in the district court to enforce a specific performance thereof. § 226, Prob. C. am'd.

ARTICLE 9. — ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

§ 6466. Action for possession of real estate maintained, by whom. The heirs or devisees may themselves or jointly with the executor or administrator maintain an action for the possession of the real estate or for the purpose of quieting title to the same against any one except the executor or administrator. For the purpose of bringing suits to quiet title or for partition of such estate the possession of the executor or administrator is the possession of the heirs or devisees. Such possession by the heirs or devisees is subject, however, to the possession of the executor or administrator for the purposes of administration as provided in this code. § 210, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6467. Actions by and against executors and administrators. Except as otherwise prescribed in the next section, actions § 211, Prob. C. am'd.

for the recovery of any property real or personal, or for the possession thereof and all actions founded upon contracts may be maintained by and against executors and administrators in all cases and in the same courts in which the same might have been maintained by or against their respective testators or intestates.

§ 6468. Action for the recovery of money. No action for the recovery of money only shall be brought in any of the courts of this state against any executor, administrator or guardian upon any claim or demand which may be presented to the county court except as provided in this chapter.

§ 212, Prob. C.

§ 6469. Actions for waste, trespass and conversion. Executors and administrators may maintain actions against any person who has wasted, destroyed, taken, carried away or converted to his own use the goods of their testator or intestate in his life time. They may also maintain actions for trespass committed on the real estate of the decedent in his lifetime.

§ 6470. Executor or administrator may maintain necessary action. An executor or administrator may under the direction of the county court maintain any action which may be necessary to enforce his right to the possession of the property and effects of the decedent, collect all demands due the estate and secure an accounting or settlement of any partnership existing between the decedent at or prior to his death and any other person. He may also prosecute to final judgment any action commenced by the decedent, or by a special administrator, or other administrator previously appointed in the same case.

§ 215, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6471. Action against predecessor. An executor or administrator may, in his own name for the use and benefit of all parties interested in the estate, maintain actions on the bond of an executor, or of any former administrator of the same estate.

§ 80, Prob. C.

§ 6472. Successive recoveries on the bond. The bond shall not be void upon the first recovery but may be sued and recovered upon from time to time by any person aggrieved in his own name until the whole penalty is exhausted.

§ 205, Prob. C.

§ 6473. Fraudulent sale. Liability of executor. Any executor or administrator who fraudulently sells any real estate of a decedent, contrary to or otherwise than under the provisions of this chapter, is liable in double the value of the land sold, as liquidated damages, to be recovered in an action by the person having an estate of inheritance therein.

§ 6474. Order required before action on bond. Before an action can be maintained on the bond of an executor whose letters have not been revoked, the party aggrieved must first obtain an order of the county court, authorizing him to bring the action, and before authority is given to bring an action upon the bond of a deceased executor or administrator whose account is unsettled, his sureties must be cited and have an opportunity to apply for and obtain a settlement of such account.

§ 150, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6475. Action pending at death of decedent. If an action pending against the decedent at the time of his death is prosecuted to judgment against his representatives or successors in interest, the judgment does not become a lien but is payable in the course of administration.

§ 6476. Judgments before death, how collected. When any judgment has been rendered for or against the testator or intestate in his lifetime or against his representative or successor in interest, no execution shall issue thereon after his death, except: § 153, Prob. C. am'd.

1. In case of the death of the judgment creditor, upon the application of his executor or administrator or successor in interest.

2. In case of the death of the judgment debtor, if the judgment is for the recovery of real or personal property or the enforcement of a lien thereon. If the execution is actually levied upon any property of the decedent before his death, the same may be sold for the satisfaction thereof and the officer making the sale must account to the executor or administrator for any surplus in his hands.

§ 6477. Death after verdict. Judgment not a lien. A judgment rendered against a decedent, dying after verdict or decision on an issue of fact but before judgment is rendered thereon, is not a lien on the real property of the decedent but is payable in due course of administration. § 154, Prob. C.

§ 6478. Actions to recover real estate or set aside decree, when begun. No action for the recovery of any estate, sold by an executor or administrator or otherwise disposed of under the provisions of this chapter, can be maintained by any heir or other person claiming under the decedent unless it is commenced within three years next after the sale. An action to set aside a decree directing or confirming a sale or otherwise disposing of such property may be instituted and maintained at any time within three years from the discovery of the fraud or other ground upon which the action is based. § 206, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6479. Minors may begin such action, when. The preceding section shall not apply to minors or others under any legal disability to sue at the time when the right of action first accrues; but all such persons may commence an action at any time within three years after the removal of the disability. § 207, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6480. Recovery of fraudulent conveyances. When there is a deficiency of assets in the hands of an executor or administrator and when the decedent in his lifetime has conveyed any real estate or any rights or interests therein, with intent to defraud his creditors or to avoid any right, debt or duty of any person or has so conveyed such estate that by law the deeds or conveyances are void as against creditors, the executor or administrator must commence and prosecute to final judgment any proper action for the recovery of the same, and may recover for the benefit of the creditors all such real estate so fraudulently conveyed, and may also for the benefit of the creditors sue and recover all goods, chattels, rights or credits which have been so conveyed by the decedent in his lifetime whatever may have been the manner of such fraudulent conveyance. § 218, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6481. Creditors to require action to recover. No executor or administrator is bound to sue for such estate as mentioned in the preceding section for the benefit of the creditors, unless on application of creditors, who must pay such part of the costs and expenses of the suit or give such security therefor to the executor or administrator as the judge shall direct. § 219, Prob. C.

§ 6482. Sale of such real estate after recovery. All real estate so recovered must be sold for the payment of debts in the same manner as if the decedent had died seized thereof, upon obtaining an order therefor from the county court, and the proceeds of all goods, § 220, Prob. C.

chattels, rights and credits so recovered must be appropriated in payment of the debts of the decedent in the same manner as other property in the hands of the executor or administrator.

- § 217, Prob. C. § 6483. Compounding debts. Whenever a debtor of a decedent is unable to pay all his debts, the executor or administrator with the approbation of the county judge may compound with him and give him a discharge upon receiving a fair and just dividend of his effects. A compromise may also be authorized when it appears to be just and for the interest of the estate.

ARTICLE 10. — LIABILITY AND COMPENSATION OF EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

- § 232, Prob. C. § 6484. Executor or administrator not liable for debts of decedent. Exception. No executor or administrator is chargeable upon any special promise to answer damages or to pay the debts of the testator or intestate out of his own estate, unless the agreement for that purpose or some memorandum or note thereof is in writing and signed by such executor or administrator or by some other person by him thereunto specially authorized.

- § 233, Prob. C. § 6485. Executor or administrator chargeable with whole estate. Every executor and administrator is chargeable in his account with the whole of the estate of the decedent, which may come into his possession, at the value of the appraisement contained in the inventory except as provided in the following sections, and with all the interest, profit and income of such estate.

- § 234, Prob. C. § 6486. Make neither profit or loss. He shall not make profit by the increase nor suffer loss by the decrease or destruction without his fault of any part of the estate. He must account for the excess when he sells any part of the estate for more than the appraisement and if any part is sold for less than the appraisement, he is not responsible for the loss if the sale has been justly made.

- § 235, Prob. C. § 6487. Uncollected debts, not chargeable with. No executor or administrator is accountable for any debts due to the decedent if it appears that they remain uncollected without his fault.

- § 237, Prob. C. § 6488. Not to purchase claims against estate. No administrator or executor shall purchase any claim against the estate he represents; and if he pays any claim for less than its nominal value, he is only entitled to charge in his account the amount he actually paid.

§ 6489. Liable for money received before administration. An executor or administrator is liable on his bond for money or other personal property of the estate which was in his hands or under his control when his letters were issued in whatever capacity it was received by him or came under his control.

- § 157, Prob. C. § 6490. Costs, when liable for. When a judgment is recovered with costs against an executor or administrator, he shall be individually liable for such costs, but they must be allowed him in his administration accounts, unless it appears that the suit or proceeding in which the costs were taxed was prosecuted or defended without just cause.

- § 236, Prob. C. § 6491. Expenses and necessary fees allowed. He shall be allowed all necessary expenses in the care, management and settlement of the estate, and for his services such fees as are provided in this chapter; but when the decedent by his will makes some other provision for the compensation of his executor, that shall be full compensation for his services unless by a written instrument filed in the county court, he renounces all claims for compensation provided by the will.

§ 6492. Fees and commissions. When no compensation is provided by the will or the executor renounces all claim thereto, he must be allowed commissions upon the amount of the whole estate accounted for by him excluding all property not ranked as assets, as follows: For the first thousand dollars, at the rate of five per cent; for all above that sum and not exceeding five thousand dollars, at the rate of four per cent; for all above that sum, at the rate of two and one-half per cent; and the same commissions must be allowed administrators. In all cases such further allowance may be made as the county court may deem just and reasonable for any extraordinary service. The total amount of such allowance must not exceed the amount of commissions allowed by this section. § 28, Prob. C.

ARTICLE 11. — ACCOUNTING AND SETTLEMENT BY EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

§ 6493. Full statement of accounts must be rendered. At any time when required by the court either upon its own motion or upon the application of any person interested in the estate, the executor or administrator must render for the information of the court an exhibit under oath showing the amount of money received and expended by him and all other matters necessary to show the condition of its affairs. § 239, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6494. Creditor may require statement. Any creditor or other person interested in the estate may apply for an intermediate account by motion upon facts showing that it is necessary or proper that such exhibit should be made and if the judge deems the application sufficient the executor or administrator must be cited accordingly. §§ 241, 242.
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6495. Statement may be contested. When such exhibit is rendered by an executor or administrator, any person interested may appear and by objections in writing contest any account or statement therein contained, and the court may examine the executor or administrator under oath and compel him to account fully in relation thereto. § 243, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6496. Time for final settlement. Every executor or administrator must render a full account and report of his administration and petition the court for a settlement thereof within sixty days after expiration of the time specified in the notice to creditors, or whenever his authority ceases, and thereupon all parties interested must be cited to appear at the time fixed for such settlement. §§ 245, 250, 251.
Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6497. Final account and settlement. At the time designated in the last section, if within that time all the property of the estate has been sold or there are sufficient funds in his hands for the payment of all debts due by the estate and the estate is in a proper condition to be closed, the executor or administrator must render a final account and pray a settlement of his administration. § 267, Prob. C.
am'd.

§ 6498. Failure to settle. Proceedings. If the executor or administrator neglects to render such account or to petition the court for a settlement thereof as above prescribed, any creditor or other § 246, Prob. C.
am'd.

person interested may present a petition praying that an account may be taken, and that the account may be settled and determined and thereupon the executor or administrator and all other persons interested may be cited to appear in like manner and with the same effect as upon the petition of the executor or administrator. When the authority of an executor or administrator ceases or is revoked for any reason, the citation may be issued upon the petition of the succeeding administrator.

§ 6499. Hearing on settlement. Objections. At the hearing any person interested in the account may by his answer present objections to the account or any portion thereof and may pray for a further accounting or such other relief as the circumstances may justify, and the court shall determine the issues and confirm the report or require a further accounting and otherwise make such decree as the circumstances of the case require.

§ 253, Prob. C.

§ 6500. Heirs may contest all matters on settlement. All matters including allowed claims not passed upon on the settlement of any former account, or on rendering an exhibit, or on making a decree of sale, may be contested by the heirs for cause shown. The hearing may be postponed from time to time and the court may appoint one or more referees to examine the accounts and make report thereon subject to confirmation and may allow a reasonable compensation to the referees to be paid out of the estate of the decedent.

§ 248, Prob. C.

§ 6501. Vouchers for all claims to be filed. In rendering his account, the executor or administrator must produce and file vouchers for all charges, debts, claims and expenses which he has paid, which must remain in the court; and he may be examined on oath touching such payments and also touching any property and effects of the decedent and the disposition thereof. When any voucher is required for other purposes, it may be withdrawn on leaving a certified copy on file; if a voucher is lost or for other good reason cannot be produced on the settlement, the payment may be proved by the oath of any competent witness.

§ 249, Prob. C.

§ 6502. Settlement of items without vouchers. On the settlement of his account he may be allowed any item of expenditure not exceeding fifteen dollars, for which no voucher is produced, if such item is supported by his own uncontradicted oath reduced to writing and certified by the judge, positive to the fact of payment, specifying when, where and to whom it was made.

§ 266, Prob. C.

§ 6503. Legacies paid and estate distributed. If the whole of the debts have been paid by the first distribution, the court must direct the payment of legacies and the distribution of the estate among the heirs, legatees or other persons entitled as provided in the next chapter; but if there are debts remaining unpaid, or if, for other reasons, the estate is not in a proper condition to be closed, the court must give such extension of time as may be reasonable for a final settlement of the estate.

ARTICLE 12.—PARTIAL DISTRIBUTION BEFORE FINAL SETTLEMENT.

§ 269, Prob. C.

§ 6504. Petition for legacy or share. At any time after the lapse of the time limited for filing claims, any heir, devisee or legatee may present his petition to the court for the legacy or share of the estate to which he is entitled, to be given to him upon his giving bond for the payment of his proportion of the debts of the estate.

§ 6505. Notice to parties interested. All parties interested in the estate must be cited as in other cases. § 270. Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6506. Petition, who may resist. The executor or administrator, or any creditor or other person interested in the estate, may appear at the time named and resist the application, or any other heir, devisee or legatee may make a similar application for himself. § 271. Prob. C.

§ 6507. Petition, may be allowed when. If at the hearing it appears that the share of the party applying may be allowed to him without loss to the creditors of the estate, the court must make an order in conformity with the prayer of the applicant, requiring: § 272. Prob. C.

1. Each heir, legatee or devisee obtaining such order before receiving his share or any portion thereof, to execute and deliver to the executor or administrator a bond in such sum as shall be designated by the county judge with sureties to be approved by the judge, payable to the executor or administrator, and conditioned for the payment whenever required of his proportion of the debts due from the estate not exceeding the value or amount of the legacy or portion of the estate to which he is entitled.

2. The executor or administrator to deliver to the heir, legatee or devisee the whole portion of the estate to which he may be entitled, or only a part thereof designating it. If in the execution of the order, a partition is necessary between two or more of the parties interested, it must be made in the manner hereinafter prescribed, the costs of these proceedings to be paid by the applicant, or if there is more than one to be apportioned equally among them.

§ 6508. Assessment against legatee or devisee. When any bond has been executed and delivered under the provisions of the preceding section, and it is necessary for the settlement of the estate to require the payment of any part of the money thereby secured, the executor or administrator must apply to the court for an order requiring the payment, and have a citation issued and served on the party bound, requiring him to appear and show cause why the order should not be made. At the hearing the court if satisfied of the necessity of such payment must make an order designating the amount and giving a time within which it must be paid. If the money is not paid within the time allowed, an action may be maintained by the executor or administrator on the bond. § 273. Prob. C.

ARTICLE 13.—DISTRIBUTION OF THE ESTATE UPON FINAL SETTLEMENT.

§ 6509. Court distributes estate. Deceased heir. Upon the final settlement of the accounts of the executor or administrator or at any subsequent time, upon the petition of the executor or administrator, or of any heir, legatee or devisee, the court must proceed to distribute the residue of the estate in the hands of the executor or administrator among the persons who by law are entitled thereto; and if the decedent has left a surviving child and the issue of other children, and any of them before the close of administration have died while under age and not having been married, no administration on such deceased child's estate is necessary, but all the estate, which such deceased child was entitled to by inheritance, must without administration be distributed to the other heirs at law. A statement of any receipts and disbursements of the executor or administrator since the rendition of his final accounts must be reported and § 274. Prob. C.

filed at the time of making such distribution and a settlement thereof together with an estimate of the expenses of closing the estate must be made by the court and included in the order or decree; or the court or judge may order notice of the settlement of such supplementary account and refer the same as in other cases of the settlement of accounts.

§ 6510. Petition for distribution may be controverted. Any respondent may by his answer controvert the allegations of the petition and claim any share or interest to which he believes himself entitled to receive and pray for partition. The issues so joined shall be tried and determined by the court as in other cases.

§ 278, Prob. C. § 6511. Taxes paid before decree. Before any decree or distribution of an estate is made, the county court must be satisfied by the oath of the executor or administrator, or otherwise, that all state, county, school and municipal taxes legally levied upon personal property of the estate have been fully paid.

§ 275, Prob. C. am'd. § 6512. Decree of distribution, to show what. In the decree the court must name the persons and the proportions or parts to which each shall be entitled, and such persons may demand, sue for and recover their respective shares from the executor or administrator or any person having the same in possession. Or the court may order a partition and after such further proceedings as may be necessary under the following sections shall make a further decree assigning to each party his separate share and confirming the distribution accordingly.

§ 260, Prob. C. am'd. § 6513. Advancements made. Final decree binding on all. All questions as to advancements made or alleged to have been made by the decedent to his heirs may be heard and determined by the county court, and must be specified in the decree assigning and distributing the estate; and the final judgment or decree of the court or in case of an appeal, of the district court or supreme court, is binding on all parties interested in the estate.

§ 289, Prob. C. § 6514. Residue of estate assigned. Partition not required. When the county court makes a decree assigning the residue of any estate to two or more persons entitled to the same, it is not necessary to make partition or distribution thereof, unless the parties to whom the assignment is decreed or some of them request that such partition be made.

§ 282, Prob. C. § 6515. Partition may be made. Partition or distribution of the real estate may be made as provided in this chapter although some of the original heirs, legatees or devisees may have conveyed their share to other persons, and such shares must be assigned to the persons holding the same in the same manner as they otherwise would have been to such heirs, legatees or devisees.

§ 283, Prob. C. § 6516. Shares set apart, how. When both distribution and partition are made, the several shares in the real and personal estate must be set out to each individual in proportion to his right by metes and bounds or description, so that the same can be easily distinguished, unless two or more of the parties interested consent to have their shares set out so as to be held by them in common and undivided.

ARTICLE 14. — PROCEEDINGS FOR PARTITION.

§ 279, Prob. C. am'd. § 6517. Partition made by three commissioners. To make the partition the court must appoint three commissioners, who must be disinterested persons and must be sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties and shall receive the same compensation as appraisers. A certified copy of their appointment and of the order or decree assigning and distributing the estate must be issued to them as their warrant and their oaths must be indorsed thereon. Upon consent of the parties or when the court deems it proper and just, it is sufficient to appoint one commissioner only, who has the same authority, and is governed by the same rules as if three were appointed.

§ 6518. Real estate in different counties, division when. § 281, Prob. C.

If the real estate is in different counties, the county court may if deemed proper appoint commissioners for all, or different commissioners for each county. The whole estate whether in one or more counties shall be divided among the heirs, devisees or legatees as if it was all in one county, and the commissioners must, unless otherwise directed by the court, make division of such real estate wherever situated within this state.

§ 6519. Notice to all parties before partition. Before any partition is made or any estate is divided as provided in this chapter, notice must be given to all persons interested in the partition, their guardians, agents or attorneys, by the commissioners, of the time and place when and where they shall proceed to make partition. The commissioners may take testimony, order surveys and take such other steps as may be necessary to enable them to form a judgment upon the matters before them. § 287, Prob. C.

§ 6520. Court may assign the whole estate, when. Conditions. When the real estate cannot be divided without prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, the county court may assign the whole to one or more of the parties entitled to shares therein, who will accept it, always preferring the males to the female, and among children preferring the elder to the younger. The parties accepting the whole must pay to the other parties interested their just proportion of the true value thereof or secure the same to their satisfaction; or in case of the minority of such party, then to the satisfaction of his guardian, and the true value of the estate must be ascertained and reported by the commissioners. When the commissioners appointed to make partition are of the opinion that the real estate cannot be divided without prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, they must so report to the court and recommend that the whole be assigned as herein provided and must find and report the true value of such real estate. On filing the report of the commissioners and on making or securing the payment as before provided, the court if it appears just and proper, must confirm the report and thereupon the assignment is complete and the title to the whole of such real estate vests in the person to whom the same is so assigned. § 284, Prob. C.

§ 6521. Whole to one person. Others to be paid. When any tract of land or tenement is of greater value than any one's share in the estate to be divided and cannot be divided without injury to the same, it may be set off by the commissioners appointed to make partition to any of the parties who will accept it, giving preference as prescribed in the preceding section. The party accepting must pay or secure to the others such sum as the commissioners shall award to make the partition equal, and the commissioners must make their award accordingly; but such partition must not be confirmed by the court until the sums awarded are paid to the parties entitled to the same or secured to their satisfaction. § 285, Prob. C.

§ 288, Prob. C.

§ 6522. Report by commissioners. The commissioners must report their proceedings and the partition agreed upon by them to the county court in writing, and the court may for sufficient reasons set aside the report and commit the same to the same commissioners or appoint others.

§ 286, Prob. C.

§ 6523. Sale of whole estate. When it appears to the court from the commissioners' report, that it cannot be otherwise fairly divided and should be sold, the court may order the sale of the whole or any part of the estate, real or personal, by the executor or administrator, or by a commission appointed for that purpose and the proceeds distributed. The sale must be conducted, reported and confirmed in the same manner and under the same requirements, as provided in article 6 of this chapter.

ARTICLE 15. — DISTRIBUTION OF ESTATES OF DECEASED NON-RESIDENTS.

§ 276, Prob. C.

§ 6524. Delivery to executor of foreign will. Upon application for distribution after final settlement of the accounts of administration, if the decedent was a nonresident of the state, leaving a will which has been duly proved or allowed in the state, territory or district of his residence, and an authenticated copy thereof has been admitted to probate in this state, and it is necessary in order that the estate or any part thereof may be distributed according to the will, that the estate in this state should be delivered to the executor or administrator in the state or place of his residence, the court may order such delivery to be made and if necessary order a sale of the real estate and a like delivery of the proceeds. The delivery in accordance with the order of the court is a full discharge of the executor or administrator with the will annexed in this state in relation to all property embraced in such order. Sales of real estate ordered by virtue of this section must be made in the same manner as other sales of real estate of decedents by order of the county court.

§ 6525. Testamentary disposition regulated by law. The validity and effect of a testamentary disposition of real property situated within the state, or of an interest in real property so situated, which would descend to an heir of an intestate and the manner in which such property or such an interest descends, when it is not disposed of by will, are regulated by the laws of this state without regard to the residence of the decedent. Except when special provision is otherwise made by law, the validity and effect of a testamentary disposition of any other property situated within the state and the ownership and disposition of such property, when it is not disposed of by will, are regulated by the laws of the state or country of which the decedent was a resident at the time of his death.

§ 6526. Residue of personal estate, how disposed of. Upon the settlement of such estate and after the payment of all debts for which the same is liable in this state, the residue of the personal estate may be distributed and disposed of in manner aforesaid by the county court; or in the discretion of the court, it may be transmitted to the executor or administrator, if any, in the state or country where the deceased had his domicile, to be there disposed of according to the laws thereof.

§ 6527. Estate insolvent, creditors to share equally. If such person dies insolvent, his estate found in this state shall, as far as practicable, be so disposed of that all his creditors here and elsewhere may receive each an equal share in proportion to their respective debts.

§ 6528. Creditors to be paid before transmission to foreign executor. To this end his estate shall not be transmitted to the foreign executor or administrator until all the creditors who are citizens of this state have received their just proportions; and no creditor who is not a citizen of this state shall be paid out of the assets found here until all those who are citizens have received their just proportions as provided in the preceding section.

§ 6529. Residue may be transmitted, when. If there is any residue after such payment to the citizens of this state, it may be paid to any other creditors who have duly proved their debts here, in proportion to the amount due to each of them, but no one shall receive more than would be due to him if the whole estate was divided ratably among all the creditors as before provided. The balance may be transmitted to the foreign executor or administrator, or if there is none, it shall after the expiration of one year from the appointment of the administrator be distributed ratably among all creditors both citizens and others, who have proved their debts in this state.

ARTICLE 16.—DISPOSITION OF UNCLAIMED SHARES.

§ 6530. Agent to take care of property for nonresidents. § 291, Prob. C.
When any estate is assigned or distributed by a decree of the court to any person residing out of and having no agent in this state and it is necessary that some person should be authorized to take possession and charge of the same for the benefit of such absent person, the court may appoint an agent for that purpose and authorize him to take charge of such estate as well as to act for such absent person in the distribution.

§ 6531. Agent to give bond. The agent must first give a bond § 292, Prob. C. to be approved by the county judge, conditioned that he shall faithfully manage and account for the estate. The court appointing such agent may allow a reasonable sum out of the profits of the estate for his services and expenses.

§ 6532. Sale of property, when unclaimed for a year. § 293, Prob. C.
When personal property remains in the hands of the agent unclaimed for a year and it appears to the court that it is for the benefit of those interested, it shall be sold under the order of the court and the proceeds after deducting the expenses of the sale allowed by the court, must be paid into the state treasury. When the payment is made, the agent must take from the treasurer duplicate receipts, one of which he must file in the office of the state auditor and the other in the county court.

§ 6533. Agent to render an annual account. The agent § 294, Prob. C. must render to the county court appointing him, annually, an account showing:

1. The value and character of the property received by him, what portion thereof is still on hand, what sold and for what.
2. The income derived therefrom.
3. The taxes and assessments imposed thereon, for what, and whether paid or unpaid.

4. Expenses incurred in the care, protection and management thereof, and whether paid or unpaid. When filed, the county court may examine witnesses and take proofs in regard to the account; and if satisfied from such accounts and proofs that it will be for the benefit and advantage of the persons interested therein, the court may by order direct a sale to be made of the whole of such parts of the real or personal property as shall appear to be proper and the purchase money to be deposited in the state treasury to be receipted for and the receipts filed as in like cases before provided.

§ 295, Prob. C. § 6534. Liability of agent on bond. The agent is liable on his bond for the care and preservation of the estate while in his hands and for the payment of the proceeds of the sale as required in the preceding sections, and may be sued thereon by any person interested.

§ 296, Prob. C. § 6535. Claimant for property. When any person appears and claims the money paid into the treasury, the county court making the distribution must inquire into such claim, and being first satisfied of his right thereto, must grant him a certificate to that effect under its seal; and upon the presentation of the certificate to him, the state auditor must draw a warrant on the treasurer for the amount.

§ 298, Prob. C. § 6536. Property discovered after final settlement. The final settlement of an estate as hereinbefore provided, shall not prevent a subsequent issue of letters testamentary or of administration or of administration with the will annexed if other property of the estate is discovered, or if it becomes necessary or proper for any cause that letters should be again issued.

CHAPTER 7.

OF GUARDIAN AND WARD.

ARTICLE 1.—GUARDIANS OF MINORS.

§ 333, Prob. C. § 6537. Guardians of persons and estates. The county court of each county, when it appears necessary or convenient, may appoint guardians for the persons and estates or either or both of them, of minors who have no guardian legally appointed by will or deed, and who are inhabitants or residents of the county, or who reside without the state and have estate within the county. Such appointment may be made on the petition of a relative or other person in behalf of such minor after the person having the custody of such minor, and such of his relatives as the court shall deem proper, have been cited to appear.

§ 334, Prob. C. § 6538. Minor may nominate, when. If the minor is under the age of fourteen years, the judge may nominate and appoint his guardian. If he is above the age of fourteen years, he may nominate his own guardian, who, if approved by the judge, must be appointed accordingly.

§ 6539. Judge may appoint, when. If the guardian nominated by the minor is not approved by the judge, or if the minor resides out of the state, or if, after being duly cited by the judge, he neglects for ten days to nominate a suitable person, the judge may nominate and appoint the guardian in the same manner as if the minor was under the age of fourteen years. § 335, Prob. C.

§ 6540. Minor may appoint, when. When a guardian has been appointed by the court for a minor under the age of fourteen years, the minor, at any time after he has attained that age, may appoint his own guardian subject to the approval of the judge. § 336, Prob. C.

§ 6541. Father or mother entitled to guardianship. The father of a minor if living, and in case of his decease, the mother while she remains unmarried, being themselves respectively competent to transact their own business and not otherwise unsuitable, are entitled to the guardianship of the minor. § 337, Prob. C.

§ 6542. Guardian has custody of minor. If the minor has no father or mother living competent to have the custody and care of his education the guardian appointed shall have the same. § 338, Prob. C.

§ 6543. Guardian retains custody until majority. Every guardian so appointed shall have the custody and care of the education of the minor and the care and management of his estate until such minor arrives at the age of majority, or marries, or until the guardian is legally discharged. § 339, Prob. C.

§ 6544. Guardian to give bond. Before the order appointing any person guardian under this chapter takes effect and before letters issue, the judge must require such person to give bond with sufficient sureties, and otherwise qualify as prescribed in chapter 5 of this code. § 340, Prob. C.

§ 6545. Conditions inserted as to care, treatment and education. When any person is appointed guardian of a minor, the county judge may, with the consent of such person, insert in the order of appointment conditions not otherwise obligatory, providing for the care, treatment, education and welfare of the minor. The performance of such conditions is a part of the duties of the guardian for the faithful performance of which he and the sureties on his bond are responsible. § 341, Prob. C.

§ 6546. Extra expenses of minor, how paid. If any minor, having a father living, has property, the income of which is sufficient for his maintenance and education in a manner more expensive than his father can reasonably afford, regard being had to the situation of the father's family and to all the circumstances of the case, the expenses of the education and maintenance of such minor may be defrayed out of the income of his own property in whole or in part, as judged reasonable, and must be directed by the county court; and the charges therefor may be allowed accordingly in the settlement of the accounts of his guardian. § 343, Prob. C.

§ 6547. Testamentary guardians, duties of. Every testamentary guardian must give bond and qualify, and has the same powers and must perform the same duties with regard to the person and estate of his ward, as guardians appointed by the county court, except so far as their powers and duties are legally modified, enlarged or changed by the will by which such guardian was appointed. § 344, Prob. C.

§ 6548. Guardian ad litem. Nothing contained in this chapter affects or impairs the power of any court to appoint a guardian to § 345, Prob. C.

defend the interests of any minor interested in any suit or matter pending therein.

ARTICLE 2. — GUARDIANS OF INSANE AND INCOMPETENT PERSONS.

- § 346, Prob. C. § 6549. Petition for guardian for insane. When it is represented to the county court upon verified petition of any relative or friend, that any person is of unsound mind or from any cause mentally incompetent to manage his property, the judge must cause such person to be cited as in other cases, except that the time of service may be the same as upon a motion.
- § 347, Prob. C. § 6550. Guardian appointed, when. If after a full hearing and examination upon such petition, it appears to the court that the person in question is incapable of taking care of himself and managing his property, he must appoint a guardian of his person and estate with the powers and duties in this chapter specified.
- § 348, Prob. C. § 6551. Powers of guardian and bond. Every guardian appointed as provided in the preceding section has the care and custody of the person of his ward and the management of all his estate until such guardian is legally discharged; and he must give bond in like manner and with like conditions as before prescribed with respect to the guardian of a minor.
- § 349, Prob. C. § 6552. Proceedings to declare restoration of insane. Any person who has been declared to be of unsound mind or the guardian of any relative of such person within the third degree, or any friend may apply by petition to the county court of the county, in which he was so declared, to have the fact of his restoration to capacity judicially determined. The petition shall be verified and shall state that such person is then sane. Upon receiving the petition the judge must appoint a day for the hearing and cause a citation to be issued to the guardian of the petitioner, if there is a guardian and to his or her husband or wife, if there is one, and to his or her father or mother if living in the county. On the trial the guardian or relative of the petitioner and in the discretion of the judge, any other person, may contest the right of the petitioner to the relief demanded. Witnesses may be required to appear and testify, as in other cases, and may be called and examined by the judge on his own motion. If it is found that the petitioner is of sound mind and capable of taking care of himself and property, his restoration to capacity shall be adjudged and the guardianship of such person if such person is not a minor shall cease.

ARTICLE 3. — THE POWERS AND DUTIES OF GUARDIANS.

- § 350, Prob. C. § 6553. Payment of debts. Every guardian appointed under the provisions of this chapter, whether for a minor or any other person, must pay all just debts due from the ward out of his personal estate and income of his real estate if sufficient; if not, then out of his real estate, upon obtaining an order for the sale thereof and disposing of the same in the manner provided by law for the sale of real estate of decedents.
- § 351, Prob. C. § 6554. Collect accounts and appear in legal proceedings. Every guardian must settle all accounts of the ward and demand, sue for and receive all debts due to him, or may with the approbation of the county court compound the same and give discharges to the debtors on receiving a fair and just dividend of his estate and effects; and he must appear for and represent his ward in all legal suits and proceedings unless a special guardian is appointed for that purpose.

§ 6555. Rules for management of estate of ward. Every § 352, Prob. C.
guardian must manage the estate of his ward frugally and without waste and apply the income and profits thereof as far as may be necessary for the comfortable and suitable maintenance and support of the ward and his family if there is any; and if such income and profits are insufficient for that purpose, the guardian may sell the real estate upon obtaining a decree of the county court therefor and must apply the proceeds of such sale as far as may be necessary to the maintenance and support of the ward and his family if there is any.

§ 6556. Maintenance and support of ward. When a guardian § 353, Prob. C. has advanced for the necessary maintenance, support and education of his ward an amount not disproportionate to the value of his estate or his condition of life, and the same is made to appear to the satisfaction of the court by proper vouchers and proofs, the guardian must be allowed credit therefor in his settlement. Whenever a guardian fails, neglects or refuses to furnish suitable and necessary maintenance, support or education for his ward, the court may order him to do so and enforce such order by proper process. Whenever any third person at his request supplies a ward with suitable and necessary maintenance, support or education, and it is shown to have been done after refusal or neglect of the guardian to supply the same, the court may direct the guardian to pay therefor out of the estate and enforce such payment by due process.

§ 6557. Inventory and account of ward's estate. Every § 355, Prob. C.
guardian must return to the county court an inventory of the estate of his ward within three months after his appointment, and annually thereafter; when the value of the estate exceeds the sum of twenty thousand dollars, semiannual returns must be made to the court. The court may upon application made for that purpose by any person compel the guardian to render an account of the estate. The inventories and accounts so to be returned or rendered must be sworn to by the guardian. All the estate of the ward described in the first inventory must be appraised by appraisers appointed, sworn and acting in the manner provided for regulating the settlement of the estate of decedents. Whenever any other property of the estate of any ward is discovered not included in the inventory of the estate already returned and whenever any other property has been succeeded to or acquired by any ward or for his benefit, the like proceedings must be had for the return and appraisal thereof that are herein provided in relation to the first inventory and return.

§ 6558. Settlement at end of year. The guardian must, § 356, Prob. C.
upon the expiration of a year from the time of his appointment and as often thereafter as he may be required, present his accounts to the county court for settlement and allowance.

§ 6559. Account by one of joint guardians. When an § 357, Prob. C.
account is rendered by two or more joint guardians, the court may in its discretion allow the same upon oath of any of them.

§ 358, Prob. C. § 6560. Expenses and pay of guardians. Every guardian must be allowed the amount of his reasonable expenses incurred in the execution of his trust and he must also have compensation for his services as the court in which his accounts are settled deems just and reasonable.

ARTICLE 4. — SALES OF PROPERTY AND DISPOSITION OF PROCEEDS.

§ 359, Prob. C. § 6561. Sale of property may be made, when. When the income of an estate under guardianship is not sufficient to maintain the ward and his family, or to maintain and educate the ward when a minor, his guardian may sell his real or personal estate for that purpose upon obtaining a decree therefor.

§ 360, Prob. C. § 6562. Sale of property for investment. When it appears to the satisfaction of the court upon the petition of the guardian, that for the benefit of his ward his real estate or some part thereof should be sold, and the proceeds put out at interest, or invested in some productive stock, or in the improvement or security of any other real estate of the ward, his guardian may sell the same for such purpose upon obtaining a decree therefor.

§ 361, Prob. C. § 6563. Proceeds of sale, how applied. If the estate is sold for the purposes mentioned in this article, the guardian must apply the proceeds of the sale to such purposes as far as necessary, and put out the residue, if any, on interest or invest it in the best manner in his power until the capital is wanted for the maintenance of the ward and his family, or the education of his children, or for the education of the ward when a minor, in which case the capital may be used for that purpose as far as may be necessary in like manner as if it had been personal estate of the ward.

§ 362, Prob. C. § 6564. Investment, how made. If the estate is sold for the purpose of putting out or investing the proceeds, the guardian must make the investment according to his best judgment or in pursuance of any order that may be made by the county court.

§ 363, Prob. C. § 6565. Petition for sale. To obtain a decree for such sale, the guardian must present to the county court of the county, in which he was appointed, a petition therefor setting forth the condition of the estate of his ward and the facts and circumstances on which the petition is founded tending to show the necessity or expediency of a sale.

§ 364, Prob. C.
am'd. § 6566. Hearing and order of sale. If it appears to the court from the petition that it is necessary or would be beneficial to the ward that the real estate or some part of it should be sold or that the real and personal estate should be sold, the court or judge must thereupon issue a citation to the next of kin of the ward and all persons interested in the estate to appear before the court and answer thereto.

§ 366, Prob. C. § 6567. Court to hear proofs. The county court, at the time and place appointed or such other time to which the hearing is postponed upon proof of the service of the citation, must hear and examine the proofs and allegations of the petitioner and of the next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate who oppose the application.

§ 367, Prob. C. § 6568. Guardian and witnesses. On the hearing the guardian may be examined on oath and witnesses may be produced and examined by either party.

§ 6569. Order of sale, to state what. If after a full examination it appears necessary or for the benefit of the ward that his real estate or some part thereof should be sold, the court may make a decree directing such sale specifying therein the causes or reasons why the sale is necessary or beneficial and may, if the same has been prayed for in the petition, order such sale to be made either at public or private sale. § 369, Prob. C.

§ 6570. Bond to be given before sale. Every guardian authorized to sell real estate must before the sale give bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the judge, with condition to sell the same in the manner and to account for the proceeds of the sale as provided for in this chapter and chapter 5 of this code. § 370, Prob. C. am'd.

§ 6571. Law of estates governs guardians unless otherwise declared. All proceedings under petitions of guardians for sales of property of their wards, giving notice and the hearing of such petitions, granting and refusing an order of sale, directing the sale to be made at public or private sale, reselling the same property, return of sale and application for confirmation thereof, notice and hearing of such application, making orders, rejecting or confirming sales and reports of sales, ordering and making conveyances of property sold, accounting and the settlement of accounts, must be had and made as provided and required by the provisions of law concerning the estates of decedents unless otherwise specially provided in this chapter. § 371, Prob. C.

§ 6572. Order in force one year. No decree granted in pursuance of this article continues in force more than one year after granting the same without sale being had. § 372, Prob. C.

§ 6573. Terms of sale. Security. All sales of real estate of wards must be for cash or for part cash and part deferred payments not to exceed three years, bearing date from date of sale as in the discretion of the judge is most beneficial to the ward. Guardians making sales must demand and receive from the purchasers a bond and mortgage on the real estate sold with such additional security as the judge deems necessary and sufficient to secure the faithful payment of the deferred payments and the interest thereon. § 373, Prob. C.

§ 6574. Order to invest proceeds. The county court, on the application of a guardian or any person interested in the estate of any ward after such notice to persons interested therein as the judge shall direct, may authorize and require the guardian to invest the proceeds of sales and any other of his ward's money in his hands in real estate or in any other manner most to the interest of all concerned therein; and the court may make such other orders and give such directions as are needful for the management, investment and disposition of the estate and effects as circumstances require. § 374, Prob. C.

ARTICLE 5.—NONRESIDENT GUARDIANS AND WARDS.

§ 6575. Guardian for nonresident ward. When a person liable to be put under guardianship according to the provisions of this chapter resides without this state and has estate therein, any friend of such person or any one interested in his estate in expectancy or otherwise may present a petition to the county judge of any county in which there is any estate of such absent person for the appointment of a guardian, and if after a citation to all interested § 375, Prob. C. am'd.

and a full hearing and examination it appears proper, a guardian for such absent person may be appointed.

§ 376. Prob. C. § 6576. Power same as in other cases. Every guardian appointed under the preceding section has the same powers and performs the same duties with respect to the estate of the ward found within the state and with respect to the person of the ward, if he shall cease to reside therein, as are prescribed with respect to any other guardian appointed under this chapter.

§ 377. Prob. C. § 6577. Guardian must give bond. Every such guardian must give bond in the manner and with the like conditions as hereinbefore provided for other guardians except that the provisions respecting the inventory, the disposal of the estate and effects and the account to be rendered by the guardian must be confined to such estate and effects as come to his hands in this state.

§ 379. Prob. C. § 6578. Removal of property. When the guardian and ward are both nonresidents and the ward is entitled to property in this state, which may be removed to another territory, state or foreign country without conflict with any restriction or limitation thereupon or impairing the right of the ward thereto, such property may be removed to the territory, state or foreign country of the residence of the ward upon the application of the guardian to the judge of the county court of the county in which the estate of the ward or the principal part thereof is situated.

§ 380. Prob. C. § 6579. Application for removal, contents. The application must be made by petition and citation must issue to the resident executor, administrator or guardian if there is such, and upon such application the nonresident guardian must produce and file a certificate under the hand of the clerk, judge, surrogate or other authorized officer and the seal of the court from which his appointment was derived, showing:

1. A transcript of the record of his appointment.
2. That he has entered upon the discharge of his duties.
3. That he is entitled by the laws of the territory, state or country of his appointment to the possession of the estate of the ward; or must produce and file a certificate under the hand and seal of the clerk, judge, surrogate or other authorized officer of the court having jurisdiction in the country of his residence of the estates of persons under guardianship or of the highest court of such territory, state or country, that by the laws of such country the applicant is entitled to the custody of the estate of his ward without the appointment of any court. Upon such application unless good cause to the contrary is shown, the county court must make an order granting to such guardian leave to take and remove the property of his ward to the territory, state or place of his residence, which is authority to him to sue for and receive the same in his own name for the use and benefit of his ward.

§ 381. Prob. C. § 6580. Effect of order for removal. Such order is a discharge of the executor, administrator, local guardian or other person in whose possession the property may be at the time the order is made on filing with the county court the receipt therefor of the foreign guardian of such absent ward.

ARTICLE 6. — GENERAL AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

§ 6581. Concealment or embezzlement of ward's property. § 382, Prob. C.
Upon a complaint made to him by any guardian, ward, creditor or other person interested in the estate or having a prospective interest therein as heir or otherwise against any one suspected of having concealed or conveyed away any of the money, goods, effects or an instrument in writing belonging to the ward or to his estate, the county court may cite such suspected person to appear before it and may examine and proceed with him on such charge in the manner provided by law with respect to persons suspected of and charged with concealing or embezzling the effects of a decedent.

§ 6582. Marriage of minor terminates guardianship. § 384, Prob. C.
The marriage of a minor ward terminates the guardianship; and the guardian of an insane or other person may be discharged by the judge of the county court when it appears to him on the application of the ward or otherwise that the guardianship is no longer necessary.

§ 6583. Bonds must be preserved. § 386, Prob. C.
Every bond given by a guardian must be filed and preserved in the office of the county judge; and in case of a breach of a condition thereof, may be prosecuted for the use and benefit of the ward or of any person interested in the estate.

§ 6584. Action against sureties. Three year's limitation. § 387, Prob. C.
