PREFACE.

The year 1776 marks an event in our system of jurisprudence hardly less important than was the Declaration of Independence in civil government. In that year Jeremy Bentham published his criticism of Blackstone, which was in fact a criticism of "judge-made" law and an argument in favor of codification. From that time until his death in 1832, in a series of publications covering almost every department of law, Bentham marshalled the arguments in favor of reducing all law to a statutory form. Though codification has been the most prominent subject of legal discussion during the century, it is safe to say that not an argument in its favor has been made which cannot be found in the writings of its first advocate. Unheeded for a quarter of a century, toward the close of his life, Bentham drew to his support a brilliant school, composed of such men as Austin, John Stewart Mill, father and son, Macauley, Romilly, Brougham and Langdale. The extreme conservatism of England and the reaction against all innovation, caused by the atrocities of the French Revolution, prevented the early success of codification. The immediate effect of the teachings of Bentham and his associates was limited to comprehensive reforms in the existing system of law, instead of resulting in the adoption of that system for which he contended.

The writings of Bentham and Austin made a profound impression in the United States and were potent factors in producing great reforms in the law of practice and evidence. Codification, however, received only a casual and theoretical consideration at the hands of the great masters of American jurisprudence in the early part of this century. No person appeared among them to take up the subject with the zeal of a reformer. In the thirties it found such an advocate in David Dudley Field. He brought to this cause an enthusiasm akin to that of Garrison in the anti-slavery movement. To it he consecrated his life, placing it above personal gain or professional success. His first pamphlet was published in 1837 and so vigorous was the campaign which he carried on in the state of New York that his reform was made a part of the constitution of 1846. Section 17 of article 1 of that constitution, providing for a commission to codify the substantive law, read as follows:

"The legislature at its first session after the adoption of this constitution, shall appoint three commissioners whose duty it shall be to reduce into a written and systematic code, the whole body of the law of this state, or so much and such parts thereof as to the said commissioners shall seem practicable and expedient; and the said commissioners shall specify such alterations and amendments therein as they shall deem proper, and they shall at all times make reports of their proceedings to the legislature when called upon to do so; and the legislature shall pass laws regulating the tenure of office, the filling of vacancies therein, and the compensation of said commissioners, and shall also provide for the publication of the said code, prior to its being presented to the legislature for adoption."

Section 2 of article 6 of the constitution, providing for a commission on the subject of practice and pleadings, read as follows:

"The legislature at its first session after the adoption of this constitution, shall provide for the appointment of three commissioners, whose duty it shall be to revise, reform, simplify and abridge the rules and practice, pleadings, forms and proceedings of the courts of record of this state, and to report thereon to the legislature, subject to their adoption and modification from time to time."

Pursuant to these constitutional provisions the legislature of New York in 1847 passed an act creating the two commissions, and the commissioners were appointed that year. Mr. Field was not a member of either commission as originally constituted, but one of the first appointees resigned immediately, and Mr. Field was appointed in his place as one of the commissioners on practice and pleading. This commission in 1848 reported the code of civil procedure which was adopted that year and which has been enacted in most of the states of the Union. The code of criminal procedure, which the commission reported the following year, was not adopted in New York until 1881.

More difficulty was experienced in securing commissioners to codify the substantive law. The first commission appointed in 1847 resigned. In 1849 a new act was passed providing for another commission, but John C. Spencer, one of its most prominent members refused to serve and in 1850 the commission was abolished by an act of the legislature. In 1857 another act was passed under which David Dudley Field, Wm. Curtis Noyes and Alexander W. Bradford were appointed commissioners to continue in office for five years and to prepare codes of all the law not covered by the work of the commission on practice and pleading. In April, 1862, the term of office of these commissioners was extended to 1865. In the last named year they reported to the legislature the draft of a political code, a penal code and a civil code. Of these the penal code alone has become a law in the state of New York though it was not adopted there until 1882. The civil code has twice passed the legislature and each time been vetoed, owing to the opposition of the bar.

This state is so largely indebted to California for modifications in its system of codes that it is proper to give a brief sketch of codification in that state. Stephen J. Field, a brother of David Dudley Field, was his law partner in New York City from 1841 to 1848, during the period of the latter's greatest activity in the cause of codification. In 1848 he removed to California. As a member of the judiciary committee of the first legislative assembly of that state he exercised a controlling influence over its legislation. He framed two acts on the subject of criminal and civil practice which became laws and were thereafter known in that state as the Civil and Criminal Practice Acts. They were modeled upon the codes of civil and criminal procedure drafted by the New York commission. In 1868 a commission was appointed to revise the laws of the state. This commission apparently did not accomplish much, for the next legislature passed an act creating another commission upon the same subject. The latter commission reported to the legislature of 1872 four codes, the civil, political, penal and civil procedure, and the same were adopted March 12th, 1872, after having been revised by a joint committee of the legislature. "Adopt the codes and amend them afterwards," was the motto of the commission and of the legislative committee. The codes were to go into effect January 1st, 1873. In June, 1872, a commission was appointed to examine them and propose amendments for the consideration of the next legislature. Stephen J. Field, then a justice of the supreme court of the United States, was appointed one of the members of this commission. The commission organized at once and worked steadily at their task until October, 1873, when they reported to the governor what is known as "The Report of the Examiners of the Codes." This consisted of a draft of four acts, one to amend each of the codes. Their proposed amendments to the civil code covered eighty-eight pages, to the code of civil procedure one hundred and eight pages, to the penal code twenty-three pages and to the political code twenty pages. These amendments were adopted in 1874. The codes as thus amended, are the ones which are now familiar to the profession in this state.

In the early days of the territory of Dakota, the legislative assembly was as active on the subject of codification as the most ardent reformer could ask. Hardly a session passed during the first ten years—and the sessions were then annual—in which one or more codes were not introduced and adopted. These codes were taken either from those prepared by the New York commissioners, or from other states in which codes based on the work of the New York commissioners, had been adopted. The following is a record of the various enactments of this kind:

A code of civil procedure taken from Ohio was adopted at the first session of the legislative assembly in 1862. In 1868 this code was repealed and the code of civil procedure of New York adopted in its place.

A code of criminal procedure was also passed at the first session of the legislative assembly in 1862. The code thus adopted was repealed in 1869 and replaced by the code of criminal procedure prepared by the New York commissioners. This code was again amended and re-enacted in 1875.

A justices' code was adopted at the first session of the legislative assembly in 1862. This was repealed at the next session of the legislative assembly in 1863 and a new code adopted in its place. This again was repealed in 1866 and another complete code on the subject enacted.

A penal code was adopted at the second session of the legislative assembly in 1863. It was repealed in 1865 and the penal code drafted by the New York commissioners adopted in its place.

A probate code was adopted in 1865.

The civil code prepared by the New York commission was adopted in 1865, taking effect January 12th, 1866. The territory of Dakota was the first English community to adopt a codification of its substantive law. It has been quite generally supposed that California took the lead in this matter. This is a mistake, however, as the civil code was not adopted there until 1872.

All the above codes were adopted by the legislative assembly of Dakota without any revision by a commission and with only such adaptation to the other laws of the territory as could be given by the legislative committees. Having been prepared with respect to a system of laws in New York and in many cases referring to other statutes of that state, the codes, as adopted by the territory, were incomplete and contained many provisions wholly inapplicable to the conditions of our people.

In 1875 an act was passed providing for a commission of three to revise the codes and statutes of the territory, (chapter 23 of the laws of 1874-5). Pursuant to this act the governor appointed P. C. Shannon, then chief justice of the supreme court of the territory, Granville G. Bennett, an associate justice of the supreme court, and Bartlett Tripp, as commissioners. They prepared the revision of 1877. In their work this commission was greatly aided by the system of codes which had just been adopted in California and most of the changes made by them were taken from that source.

Chapter 83 of the laws of 1887 provided for a commission to compile the laws of the territory. E. W. Caldwell and Charles H. Price were appointed as commissioners pursuant to this act and prepared the compilation of 1887. The act under which they served limited their powers to compilation and for this reason nothing was done by them either to supply deficiencies in the law or remove its repugnant provisions. By chapter 36 of the laws of 1889, this compilation was declared to be admissible in the courts of the territory as legal evidence of the statutes therein printed.

Upon the admission of the state of North Dakota, the necessity was at once felt of a commission to adapt the laws then in force to the constitution of the state and harmonize the large body of statutes which had been passed since the revision of 1877. Chapter 82 of the laws of 1891 provided for a commission of three to accomplish this object—two of the commissioners to be attorneys at law and one an experienced business man. The governor of the state appointed as commissioners under this act, P. H. Rourke of Lisbon, Robert M. Pollock of Casselton and J. G. Hamilton of Grand Forks. The commission organized at once, appointing J. F. Philbrick of Bismarck, secretary, and on the meeting of the legislative assembly in January, 1893, presented a report showing in detail those provisions of our statutory law which should be continued in force and those which should be repealed. They also prepared a large number of bills for the purpose of supplying deficiencies in the system of laws then in force and adapting those laws to the new constitution. Owing, however, to the protracted contest for the election of a United States senator during this session of the legislative assembly, nothing was done towards carrying the recommendations of the commission into effect.

The same session of the legislative assembly, (chapter 74 of the laws of 1893), provided for the present commission. The appointments were made in March of that year and soon after the commission organized and appointed Charles J. Fisk of Grand Forks, secretary. In carrying out the work, certain codes were assigned to each member. The probate and justices' codes were assigned to Mr. Corbet, the penal code and code of criminal procedure to Mr. Newton, and the civil code and code of civil procedure to Mr. Amidon. The political code was reserved for the joint action of the entire commission, with the assistance of its secretary. When the legislative assembly convened in January, 1895, the commission reported to that body seven bills providing for seven different codes, embracing the entire statutory law of the state. A special joint committee was appointed to take charge of this work. Many changes were made by the committee and the legislative assembly in the report of the commission. The most important of these changes was the substitution of an entirely new system of revenue and taxation in the political code, which was made by the legislative assembly too late in the session for careful consideration.

In printing the codes the commission has indicated in the margin opposite each section the origin of any statute embraced in the codes, taken from the laws of the territory of Dakota or the state of North Dakota. Where entirely new matter was introduced by the present commission no reference whatever is contained in the margin.

In preparing this revision the commission has undertaken a task of great magnitude and difficulty. It involved much more than a mere compilation or rearrangement of pre-existing statutes. Not only have many changes been made in the form of existing law, but in each of the new codes a large number of provisions wholly new in this jurisdiction have been added. The period since our last revision in 1877 has been marked by great activity in legislation and codification. The codes embraced in that revision have been enacted in many other states, and before such enactment were subjected to careful revision and have since been largely modified by amendment. It has been the aim of the commission to bring the codes of this state down to date—to embody in them the improvements of other states, and add such new provisions as were necessary to give effect to our constitution and harmonize and complete our system of law. While fully expecting that experience will discover many imperfections in our work, we also trust that experience will show the revision to be a substantial improvement in the honorable work of our commonwealth in the cause of codification.

CHARLES F. AMIDON.

ACT AUTHORIZING REVISION.

[Chapter 74, Session Laws of 1893.]

§ 1. As soon as practicable after the adjournment of the third regular session of the legislative assembly the governor shall appoint three revising commissioners, who shall be competent and reputable attorneys of this state, learned in the law and each of whom shall qualify by taking the constitutional oath of office and filing the same in the office of the secretary of state, and shall hold his office for the term of two years or until the duties herein prescribed shall be duly performed unless sooner determined by law; said commissioners shall constitute a board to be known as the revising commission, a majority of whom shall determine all questions properly arising before said board, but in case any vacancy shall occur in the office of either, the governor shall fill the same by appointment; provided, however, that it shall be his duty before making any appointment herein contemplated, to consult and advise with the judges of the supreme court as to the person or persons who ought to receive such appointment and the qualifications and relative fitness of persons proposed therefor.

§ 2. The revising commission while engaged in the performance of its duties, shall have charge of the report of the compilation committee made to this session of the legislative assembly; shall be furnished with suitable office room and other facilities in the city of Bismarck at public expense, and may whenever it shall deem necessary employ a competent clerk and stenographer.

§ 3. It shall be the duty of the revising commissioners:

1. To examine the laws reported by said committee for compilation and compare the same with the statutes of Dakota territory and the state of North Dakota with due reference, also, to the constitution and such other enactments as may affect their validity and make convenient notes of reference indicating what statutes or parts of statutes not in force, if any, are now included therein, what statutes or parts of statutes still in force are omitted therefrom, what changes are necessary by reason of the enactments of this session of the legislative assembly and generally what inconsistent, conflicting or superfluous provisions are to be found in the existing laws and what statutes or parts of statutes are of doubtful force or validity and make such further investigation as may be necessary to bring before them the real state of the law.

2. To revise the law generally, by rejecting all unnecessary, inharmonious, obsolete or otherwise objectionable enactments and reporting them in proper bill form for the purpose of repeal to the fourth session of the legislative assembly and adopting only those statutes or parts of statutes in distinct sections, which do not require change, and by preparing anew and embodying in connection therewith, upon any particular subject wherein it may be found necessary, such other provisions as may be required to avoid uncertainty and harmonize and complete the law according to its true intent; and all newly prepared matter so introduced shall be reported to the fourth legislative assembly in the form of appropriate bills for enactment or re-enactment, each of which shall designate by the proper number or numbers the section or sections of the Revised Codes for which it is intended.

3. To codify the laws so adopted and revised by excluding the titles, enacting clauses, and other formal and unnecessary parts of the several statutes in their original form and including only the substantive enactments, and by classifying and arranging them in distinct sections and chapters and with such other subdivisions as may be deemed proper under the following general titles, namely: The political code, the civil code, the code of civil procedure, the probate code, the justices' code, the penal code and the code of criminal procedure, in which the sections shall be designated by a progressive series of numbers from one upward through all of said codes without regard to any former numbering thereof and the chapters shall be numbered in like manner through each code.

4. To prepare the same in proper form to be used by the printer for publication in one octavo volume, to be known as the Revised Codes of North Dakota, with proper titles, sub-titles, numbers and marginal notes, duly introduced, prefixed and arranged with reference to the subject matter; but no syllabic references shall be prefixed at the heads of chapters or subdivisions of chapters or annexed as marginal notes, but in lieu thereof there shall be prefixed to each section, immediately after its designating number, apt words briefly indicating the subject matter thereof and such number and "catch" words shall be printed in heavy faced type; and there shall be set opposite each section brief marginal notes referring to the corresponding section and amendments thereto, if any, or former enactment as found in the codes or statutes of Dakota territory, or statutes of North Dakota, and indicating also whether the section to which they are annexed is adopted without change, or as a modification of, or substitute for, the former enactment referred to.

§ 4. As soon as practicable after the adjournment of the fourth regular session of the legislative assembly, said revising commissioners shall complete their codification by incorporating therein the general laws passed at said session in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, and revising the numbering thereof if necessary, and prepare and add to the same an accurate and comprehensive index, and such other facilities for reference as they may deem proper, and secure the printing and binding of two thousand five hundred copies of said volume of the Revised Codes, in which there shall be also printed the constitution of the United States, the enabling act and the constitution of the state of North Dakota, and the whole shall be bound in law sheep on heavy paper covers. They shall also supervise the printing and binding thereof, by carefully correcting and revising the proof sheets as they issue from the press, and by final proof reading before binding, and by otherwise taking care that the work is well and faithfully executed.

§ 5. The contract for such printing and binding shall be made, subject to the approval of the governor, with the lowest and best bidder for the work, after advertisement for proposals in at least three newspapers of this state for one month prior to the letting thereof, and shall designate the size of the volume, the kind and quality of paper, the quality and style of binding and style and sizes of type to be used in the work, and the commissioners shall require such security as they shall deem sufficient for its faithful execution, and shall have power to reject any or all proposals and readvertise and secure further bids.

§ 6. Said commissioners shall certify to the governor the amounts payable on their contract for printing and binding as they become due, and upon the governor's approval thereof the auditor shall issue his warrants upon the treasurer for the sums so certified.

§ 7. The printed copies shall be delivered when completed to the secretary of state, and the governor shall issue his proclamation announcing the delivery and his acceptance of such copies, and thirty days after the date of his proclamation said revised codes shall take effect and thereafter be in force and be received as evidence of the laws of this state in all courts thereof.

§ 8. The secretary of state shall make distribution of said printed copies pursuant to the law for distribution of the session laws, and shall hold for sale and sell the remaining copies to residents of the state for the price per copy paid for printing and binding and to other persons at twenty-five per cent higher price.

§ 9. Each of said commissioners shall receive compensation for his services performed under the provisions of this act in the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars per year, due and payable quarterly at the end of each quarter upon duly verified accounts and vouchers approved by the governor, and their incidental expenses for postage, stationery or other matters in the performance of their duties shall be paid in like manner. Their clerk shall receive compensation at the rate of one thousand two hundred dollars, and stenographer eight hundred dollars per year, due and payable in like manner upon accounts certified by the commissioners, and the auditor is hereby directed to draw his warrants upon the state treasurer accordingly.

§ 10. Chapter 82 of the laws of 1890, state of North Dakota, entitled "An act to provide for the compilation, publication, distribution and sale of the laws of the state of North Dakota," approved March 10, 1891, is hereby repealed.

§ 11. Whereas, an emergency exists in this that it is necessary that the appointments herein contemplated shall be made long prior to July 1, 1893; therefore, this act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its passage and approval.

Approved, March 1, 1893.

ARTICLE 1.—THE CONGRESS.

§ 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

§ 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

§ 3. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years, and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year: and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

§ 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

§ 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house during the session of congress shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

§ 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

§ 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States, and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

§ 8. The congress shall have power:

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes.

To establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States.

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures.

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States.

To establish post offices and post roads.

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court.

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations.

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water.

To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years.

To provide and maintain a navy.

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia, according to the discipline prescribed by congress.

To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings; and,

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

§ 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to, or from, one state, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

§ 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.

No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty on tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state or with a foreign power, or engage in war unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE 2.—THE EXECUTIVE.

§ 1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president, and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

§ 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion in writing of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

§ 3. He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

§ 4. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

ARTICLE 3. — THE JUDICIARY.

§ 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

§ 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state; between citizens of different states; between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury: and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crime shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

§ 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE 4. — THE STATES AND TERRITORIES.

§ 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

§ 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That the inhabitants of all that part of the area of the United States now constituting the Territories of Dakota, Montana and Washington, as at present described may become the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington respectively, as hereinafter provided.

§ 2. The area comprising the Territory of Dakota shall, for the purposes of this act, be divided on the line of the seventh standard parallel produced due west to the western boundary of said territory; and the delegates elected as hereinafter provided to the constitutional convention in districts north of said parallel shall assemble in convention, at the time prescribed in this act, at the city of Bismarck; and the delegates elected in districts south of said parallel shall, at the same time, assemble in convention at the city of Sioux Falls.

§ 3. That all persons who are qualified by the laws of said territories to vote for representatives to the legislative assemblies thereof, are hereby authorized to vote for and choose delegates to form conventions in said proposed states; and the qualifications for delegates to such conventions shall be such as by the laws of said territories, respectively, persons are required to possess to be eligible to the legislative assemblies thereof, and the aforesaid delegates to form said conventions shall be apportioned within the limits of the proposed states in such districts as may be established as herein provided, in proportion to the population in each of said counties and districts, as near as may be, to be ascertained at the time of making said apportionments by the persons hereinafter authorized to make the same, from the best information obtainable, in each of which districts three delegates shall be elected, but no elector shall vote for more than two persons for delegates to such conventions; that said apportionments shall be made by the governor, the chief justice and the secretary of said territories; and the governors of said territories shall, by proclamation, order an election of the delegates aforesaid in each of said proposed states, to be held on the Tuesday after the second Monday in May, 1889, which proclamation shall be issued on the 15th day of April, 1889; and such election shall be conducted, the returns made, the result ascertained and the certificates to persons elected to such convention issued in the same manner as is prescribed by the laws of the said territories regulating elections therein for delegates to congress; and the number of votes cast for delegates in each precinct shall also be returned. The number of delegates to said conventions respectively, shall be seventy-five; and all persons resident in said proposed states, who are qualified voters of said territories as herein provided, shall be entitled to vote upon the election of delegates, and under such rules and regulations as said conventions may prescribe not in conflict with this act, upon the ratification or rejection of the constitutions.

ENABLING ACT.

§ 4. That the delegates to the conventions elected as provided for in this act shall meet at the seat of government of each of said territories, except the delegates elected in South Dakota, who shall meet at the city of Sioux Falls, on the Fourth day of July, 1889, and, after organization, shall declare on behalf of the people of said proposed states that they adopt the constitution of the United States; whereupon the said conventions shall be, and are hereby authorized to form constitutions and state governments for said proposed states, respectively. The constitution shall be republican in form, and make no distinction in civil or political rights on account of race or color, except as to Indians not taxed, and not be repugnant to the constitution of the United States and the principles of the declaration of independence. And said convention shall provide by ordinances irrevocable without the consent of the United States and the people of said states:

First. That the perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and that no inhabitant of said states shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

Second. That the people inhabiting said proposed states do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within the boundaries thereof, and to all lands lying within said limits owned or held by any Indian or Indian tribes; and that until the title thereto shall have been extinguished by the United States, the same shall be and remain subject to the disposition of the United States, and said Indian lands shall remain under the absolute jurisdiction and control of the congress of the United States; that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States residing without the said states shall never be taxed at a higher rate than the lands belonging to residents thereof; that no taxes shall be imposed by the states on lands or property therein belonging to or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States or reserved for its use. But nothing herein, or in the ordinances herein provided for, shall preclude the said states from taxing as other lands are taxed any lands owned or held by any Indian who has severed his tribal relations, and has obtained from the United States or from any person a title thereto by patent or other grant, save and except such lands as have been or may be granted to any Indian or Indians under any act of congress containing a provision exempting the lands thus granted from taxation; but said ordinances shall provide that all such lands shall be exempt from taxation by said states so long and to such extent as such act of congress may prescribe.

Third. That the debts and liabilities of said territories shall be assumed and paid by said states, respectively.

Fourth. That provision shall be made for the establishment and maintenance of systems of public schools, which shall be open to all the children of said states, and free from sectarian control.

§ 5. That the convention which shall assemble at Bismarck shall form a constitution and state government for a state to be known as North Dakota, and the convention which shall assemble at Sioux Falls shall form a constitution and state government for a state to be known as South Dakota; provided, that at the election for delegates to the constitutional convention in South Dakota, as hereinbefore provided, each elector may have written or printed on his ballot, the words, "For the Sioux Falls Constitution," or the words, "Against the Sioux Falls Constitution," and the votes on this question shall be returned and canvassed in the same manner as for the election provided for in section 3 of this act; and if a majority of all votes cast on this question shall be "For the Sioux Falls Constitution" it shall be the duty of the convention which may assemble at Sioux Falls, as herein provided, to resubmit to the people of South Dakota, for ratification or rejection at the election hereinafter provided for in this act, the constitution framed at Sioux Falls, and adopted November 3, 1885, and also the articles and propositions separately submitted at that election, including the question of locating the temporary seat of government, with such changes only as relate to the name and boundary of the proposed state, to the reapportionment of the judicial and legislative districts, and such amendments as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this act; and if a majority of the votes cast on the ratification or rejection of the constitution shall be for the constitution irrespective of the articles separately submitted, the State of South Dakota shall be admitted as a state in the union under said constitution as hereinafter provided; but the archives, records and books of the Territory of Dakota shall remain at Bismarck, the capital of North Dakota, until an agreement in reference thereto is reached by said states. But if at the election for delegates to the constitutional convention in South Dakota a majority of all the votes cast at that election shall be "Against the Sioux Falls Constitution," then, and in that event, it shall be the duty of the convention which will assemble at the city of Sioux Falls on the Fourth day of July, 1889, to proceed to form a constitution and state government as provided in this act the same as if that question had not been submitted to a vote of the people of South Dakota.

§ 6. It shall be the duty of the constitutional conventions of North Dakota and South Dakota to appoint a joint commission, to be composed of not less than three members of each convention, whose duty it shall be to assemble at Bismarck, the present seat of government of said territory, and agree upon an equitable division of all property belonging to the Territory of Dakota, the disposition of all public records, and also adjust and agree upon the amount of the debts and liabilities of the territory, which shall be assumed and paid by each of the proposed states of North Dakota and South Dakota; and the agreement reached respecting the territorial debts and liabilities shall be incorporated in the respective constitutions, and each of said states shall obligate itself to pay its proportion of such debts and liabilities the same as if they had been created by such states respectively.

§ 7. If the constitutions formed for both North Dakota and South Dakota shall be rejected by the people at the elections for the ratification or rejection of their respective constitutions as provided for in this act, the territorial government of Dakota shall continue in existence the same as if this act had not been passed. But if the constitution formed for either North Dakota or South Dakota shall be rejected by the people, that part of the territory so rejecting its proposed constitution shall continue under the territorial government of the present Territory of Dakota, but shall, after the state adopting its constitution is admitted into the union, be called by the name of the Territory of North Dakota or South Dakota, as the case may be; provided, that if either of the proposed states provided for in this act shall reject the constitution which may be submitted for ratification or rejection at the election provided therefor, the governor of the territory in which such proposed constitution was rejected shall issue his proclamation reconvening the delegates elected to the convention which formed such rejected constitution, fixing the time and place at which said delegates shall assemble; and when so assembled they shall proceed to form another constitution or to amend the rejected constitution, and shall submit such new constitution or amended constitution to the people of the proposed state for ratification or rejection, at such time as said convention may determine; and all the provisions of this act, so far as applicable, shall apply to such convention so reassembled and to the constitution which may be formed, its ratification or rejection, and to the admission of the proposed state.

§ 8. That the constitutional convention which may assemble in South Dakota shall provide by ordinance for resubmitting the Sioux Falls constitution of 1885, after having amended the same as provided in section 5 of this act, to the people of South Dakota for ratification or rejection at an election to be held therein on the first Tuesday in October, 1889; but if said constitutional convention is authorized and required to form a new constitution for South Dakota, it shall provide for submitting the same in like manner to the people of South Dakota for ratification or rejection at an election to be held in said proposed state on the said first Tuesday in October. And the constitutional conventions which may assemble in North Dakota, Montana and Washington, shall provide in like manner for submitting the constitutions formed by them to the people of said proposed states respectively, for ratification or rejection, at elections to be held in said proposed states on the said first Tuesday in October. At the elections provided for in this section the qualified voters of said proposed states shall vote directly for or against the proposed constitutions, and for or against any articles or propositions separately submitted. The returns of said elections shall be made to the secretary of each of said territories, who, with the governor and chief justice thereof, or any two of them, shall canvass the same; and if a majority of the legal votes cast shall be for the constitution, the governor shall certify the result to the president of the United States, together with a statement of the votes cast thereon and upon separate articles or propositions, and a copy of the said constitution, articles, propositions and ordinances. And if the constitutions and governments of said proposed states are republican in form, and if all the provisions of this act have been complied with in the formation thereof, it shall be the duty of the president of the United States to issue his proclamation announcing the result of the election in each, and thereupon the proposed states which have adopted constitutions and formed state governments, as herein provided, shall be deemed admitted by congress into the union, under and by virtue of this act, on an equal footing with the original states from and after the date of said proclamation.

§ 9. That until the next general census, or until otherwise provided by law, said states shall be entitled to one representative in the house of representatives of the United States, except South Dakota which shall be entitled to two; and the representatives to the fifty-first congress, together with the governors and other officers provided for in said constitutions, may be elected on the same day of the election for the ratification or rejection of the constitutions; and until said state officers are elected and qualified under the provisions of each constitution and the states, respectively, are admitted into the union, the territorial officers shall continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices in each of said territories.

§ 10. That upon the admission of each of said states into the union, sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in every township of said proposed states, and where such sections or any parts thereof have been sold or otherwise disposed of by or under the authority of any act of congress, other lands equivalent thereto, in legal subdivisions of not less than one-quarter section, and as contiguous as may be to the section in lieu of which the same is taken, are hereby granted to said states for the support of common schools, such indemnity lands to be selected within said states in such manner as the legislature may provide, with the approval of the secretary of the interior; provided, that the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections embraced in permanent reservations for national purposes shall not, at any time, be subject to the grants nor to the indemnity provisions of this act, nor shall any lands embraced in Indian, military or other reservations of any character, be subject to the grants or to the indemnity provisions of this act until the reservation shall have been extinguished and such lands be restored to, and become a part of, the public domain.

§ 11. That all lands herein granted for educational purposes shall be disposed of only at public sale, and at a price not less than $10 per acre, the proceeds to constitute a permanent school fund, the interest of which only shall be expended in the support of said schools. But said lands may, under such regulations as the legislature shall prescribe, be leased for periods of not more than five years,

§ 13. That five per centum of the proceeds of the sales of public lands lying within said states which shall be sold by the United States subsequent to the admission of said states into the union, after deducting all the expenses incident to the same, shall be paid to the said states, to be used as a permanent fund, the interest of which only shall be expended for the support of common schools within said states, respectively.

§ 14. That the lands granted to the territories of Dakota and Montana by the act of February 18, 1881, entitled "An act to grant lands to Dakota, Montana, Arizona, Idaho and Wyoming for university purposes," are hereby vested in the states of South Dakota, North Dakota and Montana respectively, if such states are admitted into the union as provided in this act, to the extent of the full quantity of seventy-two sections to each of said states, and any portion of said lands that may not have been selected by either of said territories of Dakota or Montana may be selected by the respective states aforesaid; but said act of February 18, 1881, shall be so amended as to provide that none of said lands shall be sold for less than $10 per acre, and the proceeds shall constitute a permanent fund to be safely invested and held by said states severally, and the income thereof be used exclusively for university purposes. And such quantity of the lands authorized by the fourth section of the act of July 17, 1854, to be reserved for university purposes in the Territory of Washington, as, together with the lands confirmed to the vendees of the territory by the act of March 14, 1864, will make the full quantity of seventy-two entire sections, are hereby granted in like manner to the state of Washington for the purposes of a university in said state. And there shall be deducted from the number of acres of land donated by this act for specific objects to said states the number of acres in each heretofore donated by congress to said territories for similar objects.

§ 20. That the sum of $20,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to each of said territories for defraying the expenses of the said conventions, except to Dakota for which the sum of $40,000 is so appropriated, $20,000

Any money hereby appropriated not necessary for such purpose shall be covered into the treasury of the United States.

§ 21. That each of said states, when admitted as aforesaid, shall constitute one judicial district, the names thereof to be the same as the names of the states, respectively; and the circuit and district courts therefor shall be held at the capital of such state for the time being, and each of said districts shall, for judicial purposes, until otherwise provided, be attached to the eighth judicial circuit, except Washington and Montana, which shall be attached to the ninth judicial circuit. There shall be appointed for each of said districts one district judge, one United States attorney and one United States marshal. The marshal, district attorney, and clerks of the circuit and district courts of each of said districts, and all other officers and persons performing duties in the administration of justice therein, shall severally possess the powers and perform the duties lawfully possessed and required to be performed by similar officers in other districts of the United States; and shall, for the services they may perform, receive the fees and compensation allowed by law to other similar officers and persons performing similar duties in the state of Nebraska.

§ 22. That all cases of appeal or writ of error heretofore prosecuted and now pending in the supreme court of the United States upon any record from the supreme court of either of the territories mentioned in this act, or that may hereafter lawfully be prosecuted upon any record from either of said courts, may be heard and determined by said supreme court of the United States. And the mandate of execution or of further proceedings shall be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the circuit or district court hereby established within the state succeeding the territory from which such record is or may be pending, or to the supreme court of such state, as the nature of the case may require; provided, that the mandate of execution or of further proceedings, shall, in cases arising in the Territory of Dakota, be directed by the supreme court of the United States to the circuit or district court of the district of South Dakota, or to the supreme court of the state of South Dakota, or to the circuit or district court of the district of North Dakota, or to the supreme court of the State of North Dakota, or to the supreme court of the Territory of North Dakota, as the nature of the case may require. And each of the circuit, district and state courts, herein named, shall, respectively, be the successor of the supreme court of the territory, as to all such cases arising within the limits embraced within the jurisdiction of such courts respectively, with full power to proceed with the same, and award mense or final process therein; and that from all judgments and decrees of the supreme court of either of the territories mentioned in this act, in any case arising within the limits of any of the proposed states prior to admission, the parties to such judgment shall have the same right to prosecute

§ 24. That the constitutional conventions may, by ordinance, provide for the election of officers for full state governments, including members of the legislatures and representatives in the fifty-first congress; but said state governments shall remain in abeyance until the states shall be admitted into the union, respectively, as provided in this act. In case the constitution of any of said proposed states shall be ratified by the people, but not otherwise, the legislature thereof may assemble, organize and elect two senators of the United States; and the governor and secretary of state of such proposed state shall certify the election of the senators and representatives in the manner required by law; and when such state is admitted into the union, the senators and representatives shall be entitled to be admitted to seats in congress, and to all the rights and privileges of senators and representatives of other states in the congress of the United States; and the officers of the state governments formed in pursuance of said constitutions, as provided by the constitutional conventions, shall proceed to exercise all the functions of such state officers; and all laws in force made by said territories, at the time of their admission into the union, shall be in force in said states, except as modified or changed by this act, or by the constitutions of the states, respectively.

CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA.

[Adopted Oct. 1, 1889; yeas, 27,441; nays, 8,107.]

WE, the people of North Dakota, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of civil and religious liberty, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE 1.—DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

§ 1. All men are by nature equally free and independent and have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing and protecting property and reputation; and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness.

§ 2. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security and benefit of the people, and they have a right to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require.

§ 3. The State of North Dakota is an inseparable part of the American union and the constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land.

§ 4. The free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination or preference shall be forever guaranteed in this state, and no person shall be rendered incompetent to be a witness or juror on account of his opinion on matters of religious belief; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of this state.

§ 5. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless, when in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require.

§ 6. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor shall cruel or unusual punishments be inflicted. Witnesses shall not be unreasonably detained, nor be confined in any room where criminals are actually imprisoned.

§ 7. The right of trial by jury shall be secured to all, and remain inviolate; but a jury in civil cases, in courts not of record, may consist of less than twelve men, as may be prescribed by law.

§ 8. Until otherwise provided by law, no person shall, for a felony, be proceeded against criminally, otherwise than by indictment, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service in time of war or public danger. In all other cases, offenses shall be prosecuted criminally by indictment or information. The legislative assembly may change, regulate or abolish the grand jury system.

§ 9. Every man may freely write, speak and publish his opinions on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that privilege. In all civil and criminal trials for libel the truth may be given in evidence, and shall be a sufficient defense when the matter is published with good motives and for justifiable ends; and the jury shall have the same power of giving a general verdict as in other cases; and in all indictments or informations for libels the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts under the direction of the court as in other cases.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH DAKOTA.

§ 10. The citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble together for the common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for the redress of grievances, or for other proper purposes, by petition, address or remonstrance.

§ 11. All laws of a general nature shall have a uniform operation.

§ 12. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power. No standing army shall be maintained by this state in time of peace, and no soldiers shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, except in the manner prescribed by law.

§ 13. In criminal prosecutions in any court whatever, the party accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial; to have the process of the court to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf; and to appear and defend in person and with counsel. No person shall be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense, nor be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

§ 14. Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation having been first made to, or paid into court for the owner, and no right of way shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation, other than municipal, until full compensation therefor be first made in money or ascertained and paid into court for the owner, irrespective of any benefit from any improvement proposed by such corporation, which compensation shall be ascertained by a jury, unless a jury be waived.

§ 15. No person shall be imprisoned for debt unless upon refusal to deliver up his estate for the benefit of his creditors, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law; or in cases of tort; or where there is strong presumption of fraud.

§ 16. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligations of contracts shall ever be passed.

§ 17. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, unless for the punishment of crime, shall ever be tolerated in this state.

§ 18. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons and things to be seized.

§ 19. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it, adhering to its enemies or giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the evidence of two witnesses to the same overt act, or confession in open court.

§ 20. No special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted which may not be altered, revoked or repealed by the legislative assembly; nor shall any citizen or class of citizens be granted privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not be granted to all citizens.

§ 21. The provisions of this constitution are mandatory and prohibitory unless, by express words, they are declared to be otherwise.

§ 22. All courts shall be open, and every man for any injury done him in his lands, goods, person or reputation shall have remedy by due process of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial or delay. Suits may be brought against the state in such manner, in such courts, and in such cases, as the legislative assembly may, by law, direct.

§ 23. Every citizen of this state shall be free to obtain employment wherever possible, and any person, corporation, or agent thereof, maliciously interfering or hindering in any way, any citizen from obtaining or enjoying employment already obtained, from any other corporation or person, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH DAKOTA.

§ 24. To guard against transgressions of the high powers which we have delegated, we declare that everything in this article is excepted out of the general powers of government and shall forever remain inviolate.

ARTICLE 2. — THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

§ 25. The legislative power shall be vested in a senate and house of representatives.

§ 26. The senate shall be composed of not less than thirty nor more than fifty members.

§ 27. Senators shall be elected for the term of four years, except as hereinafter provided.

§ 28. No person shall be a senator who is not a qualified elector in the district in which he may be chosen, and who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and have been a resident of the state or territory for two years next preceding his election.

§ 29. The legislative assembly shall fix the number of senators, and divide the state into as many senatorial districts as there are senators, which districts as nearly as may be, shall be equal to each other in the number of inhabitants entitled to representation. Each district shall be entitled to one senator and no more, and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory; and no portion of any county shall be attached to any other county, or part thereof, so as to form a district. The districts as thus ascertained and determined shall continue until changed by law.

§ 30. The senatorial districts shall be numbered consecutively from one upwards, according to the number of districts prescribed, and the senators shall be divided into two classes. Those elected in the districts designated by even numbers shall constitute one class, and those elected in districts designated by odd numbers shall constitute the other class. The senators of one class elected in the year 1890 shall hold their office for two years, those of the other class shall hold their office four years, and the determination of the two classes shall be by lot, so that one-half of the senators, as nearly as practicable, may be elected biennially.

§ 31. The senate, at the beginning and close of each regular session, and at such other times as may be necessary, shall elect one of its members president pro tempore, who may take the place of the lieutenant governor under rules prescribed by law.

§ 32. The house of representatives shall be composed of not less than sixty, nor more than one hundred and forty members.

§ 33. Representatives shall be elected for the term of two years.

§ 34. No person shall be a representative who is not a qualified elector in the district from which he may be chosen, and who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years, and have been a resident of the state or territory for two years next preceding his election.

§ 35. The members of the house of representatives shall be apportioned to and elected at large from each senatorial district. The legislative assembly shall, in the year 1895, and every tenth year, cause an enumeration to be made of all the inhabitants of this state, and shall at its first regular session after each such enumeration, and also after each federal census, proceed to fix by law the number of senators, which shall constitute the senate of North Dakota, and the number of representatives which shall constitute the house of representatives of North Dakota, within the limits prescribed by this constitution, and at the same session shall proceed to reapportion the state into senatorial districts, as prescribed by this constitution, and to fix the number of members of the house of representatives, to be elected from the several senatorial districts; provided, that the legislative assembly may, at any regular session, redistrict the state into senatorial districts, and apportion the senators and representatives respectively.

§ 36. The house of representatives shall elect one of its members as speaker.

§ 37. No judge or clerk of any court, secretary of state, attorney general, register of deeds, sheriff or person holding any office of profit under this state, except in the militia or the office of attorney at law, notary public or justice of the peace, and no person holding any office of profit or honor under any foreign government, or under the government of the United States, except postmasters whose annual compensation does not exceed the sum of three hundred dollars, shall hold any office in either branch of the legislative assembly or become a member thereof.

§ 38. No member of the legislative assembly, expelled for corruption, and no person convicted of bribery, perjury or other infamous crime, shall be eligible to the legislative assembly, or to any office in either branch thereof.

§ 39. No member of the legislative assembly shall, during the term for which he was elected, be appointed or elected to any civil office in this state, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during the term for which he was elected; nor shall any member receive any civil appointment from the governor, or governor and senate, during the term for which he shall have been elected.

§ 40. If any person elected to either house of the legislative assembly shall offer or promise to give his vote or influence, in favor of, or against any measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced into the legislative assembly, in consideration, or upon conditions, that any other person elected to the same legislative assembly will give, or will promise or assent to give, his vote or influence in favor of or against any other measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into such legislative assembly, the person making such offer or promise shall be deemed guilty of solicitation of bribery. If any member of the legislative assembly shall give his vote or influence for or against any measure or proposition, pending or proposed to be introduced into such legislative assembly, or offer, promise or assent so to do upon condition that any other member will give, promise or assent to give his vote or influence in favor of or against any other such measure or proposition pending or proposed to be introduced into such legislative assembly, or in consideration that any other member hath given his vote or influence, for or against any other measure or proposition in such legislative assembly, he shall be deemed guilty of bribery. And any person, member of the legislative assembly or person elected thereto, who shall be guilty of either such offenses, shall be expelled, and shall not thereafter be eligible to the legislative assembly, and, on the conviction thereof in the civil courts, shall be liable to such further penalty as may be prescribed by law.

§ 41. The term of service of the members of the legislative assembly shall begin on the first Tuesday in January, next after their election.

§ 42. The members of the legislative assembly shall in all cases except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective houses, and in going to or returning from the same. For words used in any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

§ 43. Any member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the legislative assembly, shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon without the consent of the house.

§ 44. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may occur in either house of the legislative assembly.

§ 45. Each member of the legislative assembly shall receive as a compensation for his services for each session, five dollars per day, and ten cents for every mile of necessary travel in going to and returning from the place of the meeting of the legislative assembly on the most usual route.

§ 46. A majority of the members of each house shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members, in such a manner, and under such a penalty, as may be prescribed by law.

§ 47. Each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members.

§ 48. Each house shall have the power to determine the rules of proceeding, and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence; to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation, and with the concurrence of two-thirds, to expel a member; and shall have all other powers necessary and usual in the legislative assembly of a free state. But no imprisonment by either house shall continue beyond thirty days. Punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar a criminal prosecution for the same offense.

§ 49. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and the yeas and nays on any question shall be taken and entered on the journal at the request of one-sixth of those present.

§ 50. The sessions of each house and of the committee of the whole shall be open unless the business is such as ought to be kept secret.

§ 51. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting, except in case of epidemic, pestilence or other great danger.

§ 52. The senate and house of representatives jointly shall be designated as the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota.

§ 53. The legislative assembly shall meet at the seat of government at 12 o'clock noon on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January, in the year next following the election of the members thereof.

§ 54. In all elections to be made by the legislative assembly, or either house thereof, the members shall vote viva voce, and their votes shall be entered in the journal.

§ 55. The sessions of the legislative assembly shall be biennial, except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

§ 56. No regular session of the legislative assembly shall exceed sixty days, except in case of impeachment, but the first session of the legislative assembly may continue for a period of one hundred and twenty days.

§ 57. Any bill may originate in either house of the legislative assembly, and a bill passed by one house may be amended by the other.

§ 58. No law shall be passed, except by a bill adopted by both houses, and no bill shall be so altered and amended on its passage through either house as to change its original purpose.

§ 59. The enacting clause of every law shall be as follows: "Be it Enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota."

§ 60. No bill for the appropriation of money, except for the expenses of the government, shall be introduced after the fortieth day of the session, except by unanimous consent of the house in which it is sought to be introduced.

§ 61. No bill shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title, but a bill which violates this provision shall be invalidated thereby only as to so much thereof as shall not be so expressed.

§ 62. The general appropriation bill shall embrace nothing but appropriations for the expenses of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the state, interest on the public debt, and for public schools. All other appropriations shall be made by separate bills, each embracing but one subject.

§ 63. Every bill shall be read three several times, but the first and second readings, and those only, may be upon the same day; and the second reading may be by title of the bill unless a reading at length be demanded. The first and third readings shall be at length. No legislative day shall be shorter than the natural day.

§ 64. No bill shall be revised or amended, nor the provisions thereof extended or incorporated in any other bill by reference to its title only, but so much thereof as is revised, amended or extended or so incorporated shall be re-enacted and published at length.

§ 65. No bill shall become a law except by a vote of a majority of all the members-elect in each house, nor unless, on its final passage, the vote be taken by yeas and nays, and the names of those voting be entered on the journal.

§ 66. The presiding officer of each house shall, in the presence of the house over which he presides, sign all bills and joint resolutions passed by the legislative assembly; immediately before such signing their title shall be publicly read and the fact of signing shall be at once entered on the journal.

§ 67. No act of the legislative assembly shall take effect until July 1st, after the close of the session, unless in case of emergency (which shall be expressed in the preamble or body of the act) the legislative assembly shall, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members present in each house, otherwise direct.

§ 68. The legislative assembly shall pass all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this constitution.

ARTICLE 3. — EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

§ 71. The executive power shall be vested in a governor, who shall reside at the seat of government and shall hold his office for the term of two years and until his successor is elected and duly qualified.

§ 72. A lieutenant governor shall be elected at the same time and for the same term as the governor. In case of the death, impeachment, resignation, failure to qualify, absence from the state, removal from office, or the disability of the governor, the powers and duties of the office for the residue of the term, or until he shall be acquitted or the disability be removed, shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor.

§ 73. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant governor unless he be a citizen of the United States, and a qualified elector of the state, who shall have attained the age of thirty years, and who shall have resided five years next preceding the election within the state or territory, nor shall he be eligible to any other office during the term for which he shall have been elected.

§ 74. The governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at the time and places of choosing members of the legislative assembly. The persons having the highest number of votes for governor and lieutenant governor respectively shall be declared elected, but if two or more shall have an equal and highest number of votes for governor or lieutenant governor, the two houses of the legislative assembly at its next regular session shall forthwith, by joint ballot, choose one of such persons for said office. The returns of the election for governor and lieutenant governor shall be made in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

§ 75. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces of the state, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States, and may call out the same to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion. He shall have power to convene the legislative assembly on extraordinary occasions. He shall at the commencement of each session communicate to the legislative assembly by message, information of the condition of the state, and recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of the government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislative assembly and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

§ 76. The governor shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures, to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment; but the legislative assembly may by law regulate the manner in which the remission of fines, pardons, commutations and reprieves may be applied for. Upon conviction for treason he shall have power to suspend the execution of sentence until the case shall be reported to the legislative assembly at its next regular session, when the legislative assembly shall either pardon or commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence or grant further reprieve. He shall communicate to the legislative assembly at each regular session each case of remission of fine, reprieve, commutation or pardon granted by him, stating the name of the convict, the crime for which he is convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the remission, commutation, pardon or reprieve, with his reasons for granting the same.

§ 77. The lieutenant governor shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members-elect shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if it be approved by two-thirds of the members-elect, it shall become a law; but in all such cases the vote of both houses shall be determined by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered upon the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law unless the legislative assembly, by its adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be a law unless he shall file the same with his objections, in the office of the secretary of state, within fifteen days after such adjournment.

§ 80. § 87. It shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto, certiorari, injunction, and such other original and remedial writs as may be necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction, and shall have authority to hear and determine the same; provided, however, that no jury trial shall be allowed in said supreme court, but in proper cases questions of fact may be sent by said court to a district court for trial.

§ 88. Until otherwise provided by law three terms of the supreme court shall be held each year, one at the seat of government, one at Fargo, in the county of Cass, and one at Grand Forks, in the county of Grand Forks.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH DAKOTA.

§ 89. The supreme court shall consist of three judges, a majority of whom shall be necessary to form a quorum or pronounce a decision, but one or more of said judges may adjourn the court from day to day or to a day certain.

§ 90. The judges of the supreme court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at large, and except as may be otherwise provided herein for the first election for judges under this constitution, said judges shall be elected at general elections.

§ 91. The term of office of the judges of the supreme court, except as in this article otherwise provided, shall be six years, and they shall hold their offices until their successors are duly qualified.

D. 1889. The lots shall be drawn by the judges, who shall for that purpose assemble at the seat of government, and they shall cause the result thereof to be certified to the secretary of the territory and filed in his office, unless the secretary of state of North Dakota shall have entered upon the duties of his office, in which event said certification shall be filed therein. The judge having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by election or appointment to fill a vacancy, shall be chief justice and shall preside at all terms of the supreme court and in case of his absence the judge having in like manner the next shortest term to serve shall preside in his stead.

§ 93. There shall be a clerk and also a reporter of the supreme court, who shall be appointed by the judges thereof, and who shall hold their offices during the pleasure of said judges, and whose duties and emoluments shall be prescribed by law and by rules of the supreme court not inconsistent with law. The legislative assembly shall make provision for the publication and distribution of the decisions of the supreme court and for the sale of the published volumes thereof.

§ 94. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge of the supreme court unless he be learned in the law, be at least thirty years of age and a citizen of the United States, nor unless he shall have resided in this state or the Territory of Dakota three years next preceding his election.

§ 95. Whenever the population of the State of North Dakota shall equal 600,000 the legislative assembly shall have the power to increase the number of the judges of the supreme court to five, in which event a majority of said court, as thus increased, shall constitute a quorum.

§ 96. No duties shall be imposed by law upon the supreme court or any of the judges thereof, except such as are judicial, nor shall any of the judges thereof exercise any power of appointment except as herein provided.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH DAKOTA.

§ 101. When a judgment or decree is reversed or confirmed by the supreme court, every point fairly arising upon the record of the case shall be considered and decided, and the reasons therefor shall be concisely stated in writing, signed by the judges concurring, filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court and preserved with a record of the case. Any judge dissenting therefrom may give the reasons of his dissent in writing over his signature.

§ 102. It shall be the duty of the court to prepare a syllabus of the points adjudicated in each case, which shall be concurred in by a majority of the judges thereof, and it shall be prefixed to the published reports of the case.

§ 103. The district courts shall have original jurisdiction, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, of all causes both at law and equity, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be conferred by law. § 104. The state shall be divided into six judicial districts, in each of which there shall be elected at general elections, by the electors thereof, one judge of the district court therein, whose term of office shall be four years from the first Monday in January succeeding his election and until his successor is duly qualified. § 105. Until otherwise provided by law said districts shall be constituted as follows:

District No. One shall consist of the counties of Pembina, Cavalier, Walsh, Nelson and Grand Forks.

§ 107. No person shall be eligible to the office of district judge, unless he be learned in the law, be at least twenty-five years of age, and a citizen of the United States, nor unless he shall have resided within the State or Territory of Dakota at least two years next preceding his election, nor unless he shall at the time of his election be an elector within the judicial district for which he is elected.

No claim for the occupation, cultivation or improvement of any public lands shall ever be recognized, nor shall such occupation, cultivation or improvement of any public lands ever be used to diminish, either directly or indirectly, the purchase price of said lands.

§ 164. The legislative assembly shall have authority to provide by law for the sale or disposal of all public lands that have been heretofore, or may hereafter be granted by the United States to the state for purposes other than set forth and named in sections 153 and 159 of this article. And the legislative assembly, in providing for the appraisement, sale, rental and disposal of the same, shall not be subject to the provisions and limitations of this article.

§ 165. The legislative assembly shall pass suitable laws for the safe keeping, transfer and disbursement of the state school funds; and shall require all officers charged with the same or the safe keeping thereof to give ample bonds for all moneys and funds received by them, and if any of said officers shall convert to his own use in any manner or form, or shall loan with or without interest or shall deposit in his own name, or otherwise than in the name of the State of North Dakota or shall deposit in any banks or with any person or persons, or exchange for other funds or property any portion of the school funds aforesaid, or purposely allow any portion of the same to remain in his own hands uninvested, except in the manner prescribed by law, every such act shall constitute an embezzlement of so much of the aforesaid school funds as shall be thus taken or loaned, or deposited, or exchanged, or withheld, and shall be a felony; and any failure to pay over, produce or account for, the state school funds or any part of the same entrusted to any such officer, as by law required or demanded, shall be held and be taken to be prima facie evidence of such embezzlement.

ARTICLE 10.—COUNTY AND TOWNSHIP ORGANIZATION.

§ 166. The several counties in the Territory of Dakota lying north of the seventh standard parallel, as they now exist, are hereby declared to be counties of the State of North Dakota.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH DAKOTA.

§ 167. The legislative assembly shall provide by general law for organizing new counties, locating the county seats thereof temporarily, and changing county lines; but no new county shall be organized, nor shall any organized county be so reduced as to include an area of less than twenty-four congressional townships, and containing a population of less than one thousand bona fide inhabitants. And in the organization of new counties and in changing the lines of organized counties and boundaries of congressional townships the natural boundaries shall be observed as nearly as may be.

§ 168. All changes in the boundaries of organized counties before taking effect shall be submitted to the electors of the county or counties to be affected thereby at a general election and be adopted by a majority of all the legal votes cast in each county at such election; and in case any portion of an organized county is stricken off and added to another, the county to which such portion is added shall assume and be holden for an equitable proportion of the indebtedness of the county so reduced.

§ 169. The legislative assembly shall provide by general law for changing county seats in organized counties, but it shall have no power to remove the county seat of any organized county.

§ 170. The legislative assembly shall provide by general law for township organization under which any county may organize, whenever a majority of all the legal voters of such county, voting at a general election shall so determine, and whenever any county shall adopt township organization, so much of this constitution as provides for the management of the fiscal concerns of said county by the board of county commissioners may be dispensed with by a majority vote of the people voting at any general election; and the affairs of said county may be transacted by the chairmen of the several township boards of said county, and such others as may be provided by law for incorporated cities, towns or villages, within such county.

§ 171. In any county that shall have adopted a system of government by the chairmen of the several township boards, the question of continuing the same may be submitted to the electors of such county at a general election in such a manner as may be provided by law, and if a majority of all the votes cast upon such question shall be against said system of government, then such system shall cease in said county and the affairs of said county shall then be transacted by a board of county commissioners as is now provided by the laws of the Territory of Dakota.

§ 172. Until the system of county government by the chairmen of the several township boards is adopted by any county the fiscal affairs of said county shall be transacted by a board of county commissioners. Said board shall consist of not less than three and not more than five members whose terms of office shall be prescribed by law. Said board shall hold sessions for the transaction of county business, as shall be provided by law.

§ 173. At the first general election held after the adoption of this constitution, and every two years thereafter, there shall be elected in each organized county in the state, a county judge, clerk of court, register of deeds, county auditor, treasurer, sheriff and state's attorney, who shall be electors of the county in which they are elected, and who shall hold their office until their successors are elected and qualified. The legislative assembly shall provide by law for such other county, township and district officers as may be deemed necessary, and shall prescribe the duties and compensation of all county, township and district officers. The sheriff and treasurer of any county shall not hold their respective offices for more than four years in succession.

ARTICLE 11.—REVENUE AND TAXATION.

§ 174. The legislative assembly shall provide for raising revenue sufficient to defray the expenses of the state for each year, not to exceed in any one year four (4) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the state, to be ascertained by the last assessment made for state and county purposes, and also a sufficient sum to pay the interest on the state debt.

§ 175. No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law, and every law imposing a tax shall state distinctly the object of the same, to which only it shall be applied.

§ 176. Laws shall be passed taxing by uniform rule all property according to its true value in money, but the property of the United States and the state, county and municipal corporations, both real and personal, shall be exempt from taxation; and the legislative assembly shall by a general law exempt from taxation property used exclusively for school, religious, cemetery or charitable purposes and personal property to any amount not exceeding in value two hundred dollars for each individual liable to taxation; but the legislative assembly may, by law, provide for the payment of a per centum of gross earnings of railroad companies to be paid in lieu of all state, county, township and school taxes on property exclusively used in and about the prosecution of the business of such companies as common carriers, but no real estate of said corporations shall be exempted from taxation in the same manner, and on the same basis as other real estate is taxed, except roadbed, right-of-way, shops and buildings used exclusively in their business as common carriers, and whenever and so long as such law providing for the payment of a per centum on earnings shall be in force, that part of section 179 of this article relating to assessment of railroad property shall cease to be in force.

§ 177. All improvements on land shall be assessed in accordance with section 179, but plowing shall not be considered as an improvement or add to the value of land for the purpose of assessment.

§ 178. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered or suspended by any grant or contract to which the state or any county or other municipal corporation shall be a party.

§ 179. All property, except as hereinafter in this section provided, shall be assessed in the county, city, township, town, village or district in which it is situated, in the manner prescribed by law. The franchise, roadway, roadbed, rails and rolling stock of all railroads operated in this state shall be assessed by the state board of equalization at their actual value and such assessed valuation shall be apportioned to the counties, cities, towns, townships and districts in which said roads are located, as a basis for taxation of such property in proportion to the number of miles of railway laid in such counties, cities, towns, townships and districts.

§ 180. The legislative assembly may provide for the levy, collection and disposition of an annual poll tax of not more than one dollar and fifty cents on every male inhabitant of this state over twenty-one and under fifty years of age, except paupers, idiots, insane persons and Indians not taxed.

§ 181. The legislative assembly shall pass all laws necessary to carry out the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE 12.—PUBLIC DEBT AND PUBLIC WORKS.

§ 182. The state may, to meet casual deficits or failure in the revenue, or in case of extraordinary emergencies, contract debts, but such debts shall never in the aggregate exceed the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, exclusive of what may be the debt of North Dakota at the time of the adoption of this constitution. Every such debt shall be authorized by law for certain purposes to be definitely mentioned therein, and every such law shall provide for levying an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest semi-annually, and the principal within thirty years from the passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such tax to the payment of said principal and interest, and such

No debt in excess of the limit named shall be incurred except for the purpose of repelling invasion, suppressing insurrection, defending the state in time of war, or to provide for public defense in case of threatened hostilities; but the issuing of new bonds to refund existing indebtedness, shall not be construed to be any part or portion of said two hundred thousand dollars.

§ 183. The debt of any county, township, city, town, school district or any other political subdivision, shall never exceed five (5) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein; provided, that any incorporated city may, by a two-thirds vote, increase such indebtedness three per centum on such assessed value beyond said five per cent limit. In estimating the indebtedness which a city, county, township, school district or any other political subdivision may incur, the entire amount of existing indebtedness, whether contracted prior or subsequent to the adoption of this constitution shall be included; provided, further, that any incorporated city may become indebted in any amount not exceeding four per centum on such assessed value without regard to the existing indebtedness of such city, for the purpose of constructing or purchasing water works for furnishing a supply of water to the inhabitants of such city, or for the purpose of constructing sewers, and for no other purpose whatever. All bonds or obligations in excess of the amount of indebtedness permitted by this constitution, given by any city, county, township, town, school district, or any other political subdivision shall be void.

§ 184. Any city, county, township, town, school district, or any other political subdivision incurring indebtedness shall at or before the time of so doing, provide for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal thereof when due, and all laws or ordinances providing for the payment of the interest or principal of any debt shall be irrevocable until such debt be paid.

§ 185. Neither the state nor any county, city, township, town, school district or any other political subdivision shall loan or give its credit or make donations to or in aid of any individual, association or corporation, except for necessary support of the poor, nor subscribe to or become the owner of the capital stock of any association or corporation, nor shall the state engage in any work of internal improvement unless authorized by a two-thirds vote of the people.

§ 186. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except upon appropriation by law and on warrant drawn by the proper officer, and no bills, claims, accounts or demands against the state, or any county or other political subdivision, shall be audited, allowed or paid until a full itemized statement in writing shall be filed with the officer or officers, whose duty it may be to audit the same.

§ 187. No bond or evidence of indebtedness of the state shall be valid unless the same shall have endorsed thereon a certificate, signed by the auditor and secretary of state, showing that the bond or evidence of debt is issued pursuant to law and is within the debt limit. No bond or evidence of debt of any county, or bond of any township or other political subdivision shall be valid unless the same have endorsed thereon a certificate signed by the county auditor, or other officer authorized by law to sign such certificate, stating that said bond, or evidence of debt, is issued pursuant to law and is within the debt limit.

§ 191. All militia officers shall be appointed or elected in such a manner as the legislative assembly shall provide.

§ 192. The commissioned officers of the militia shall be commissioned by the governor, and no commissioned officer shall be removed from office except by sentence of court martial, pursuant to law.

No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected. When the governor or lieutenant governor is on trial, the presiding judge of the supreme court shall preside.

§ 196. The governor and other state and judicial officers, except county judges justices of the peace and police magistrates, shall be liable to impeachment for habitual drunkenness, crimes, corrupt conduct, or malfeasance or misdemeanor in office, but judgment in such cases shall not extend further than removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of trust or profit under the state. The person accused, whether convicted or acquitted, shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment according to law.

§ 197. All officers not liable to impeachment shall be subject to removal for misconduct, malfeasance, crime or misdemeanor in office, or for habitual drunkenness or gross incompetency in such manner as may be provided by law.

§ 198. No officer shall exercise the duties of his office after he shall have been impeached and before his acquittal.

§ 199. On trial of impeachment against the governor, the lieutenant governor shall not act as a member of the court.

§ 200. No person shall be tried on impeachment before he shall have been served with a copy thereof, at least twenty days previous to the day set for trial.

§ 201. No person shall be liable to impeachment twice for the same offense.

ARTICLE 15. — FUTURE AMENDMENTS.

If two or more amendments shall be submitted at the same time they shall be submitted in such manner that the electors shall vote for or against each of such amendments separately.

ARTICLE 16. — COMPACT WITH THE UNITED STATES.

§ 203. The following article shall be irrevocable without the consent of the United States and the people of this state:

1. Perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured, and no inhabitant of this state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

2. The people inhabiting this state do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within the boundaries thereof, and to all lands lying within said limits owned or held by any Indian or Indian tribes, and that until the title thereto shall have been extinguished by the United States, the same shall be and remain subject to the disposition of the United States, and that said Indian lands shall remain under the absolute jurisdiction and control of the congress of the United States; that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States residing without this state shall never be taxed at a higher rate than the lands belonging to residents of this state; that no taxes shall be imposed by this state on lands or property therein, belonging to, or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States, or reserved for its use. But nothing in this article shall preclude this state from taxing as other lands are taxed, any lands owned or held by any Indian who has severed his tribal relations, and has obtained from the United States or from any person, a title thereto, by patent or other grant, save and except such lands as have been or may be granted to any Indian or Indians under any acts of congress containing a provision exempting the lands thus granted from taxation, which last mentioned lands shall be exempt from taxation so long, and to such an extent, as is, or may be provided in the act of congress granting the same.

3. In order that payment of the debts and liabilities contracted or incurred by and on behalf of the Territory of Dakota may be justly and equitably provided for and made, and in pursuance of the requirements of an act of congress approved February 22, 1889, entitled "An act to provide for the division of Dakota into two states and to enable the people of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington to form constitutions and state governments and to be admitted into the union on an equal footing with the original states, and to make donations of public lands to such states," the states of North Dakota and South Dakota, by proceedings of a joint commission, duly appointed under said act, the sessions whereof were held at Bismarck in said State of North Dakota, from July 16, 1889, to July 31, 1889, inclusive, have agreed to the following adjustment of the amounts of the debts and liabilities of the Territory of Dakota which shall be assumed and paid by each of the States of North Dakota and South Dakota, respectively, to-wit:

This agreement shall take effect and be in force from and after the admission into the union, as one of the United States of America, of either the State of North Dakota or the State of South Dakota.

The words "State of North Dakota," wherever used in this agreement, shall be taken to mean the Territory of North Dakota in case the State of South Dakota shall be admitted into the union prior to the admission into the union of the State of North Dakota; and the words "State of South Dakota," wherever used in this agreement, shall be taken to mean the Territory of South Dakota in case the State of North Dakota shall be admitted into the union prior to the admission into the union of the State of South Dakota.

The said State of North Dakota shall assume and pay all bonds issued by the Territory of Dakota to provide funds for the purchase, construction, repairs or maintenance of such public institutions, grounds or buildings as are located within the boundaries of North Dakota, and shall pay all warrants issued under and by virtue of that certain act of the legislative assembly of the Territory of Dakota, approved March 8, 1889, entitled "An act to provide for the refunding of outstanding warrants drawn on the capital building fund."

The State of South Dakota shall assume and pay all bonds issued by the Territory of Dakota to provide funds for the purchase, construction, repairs or maintenance of such public institutions, grounds or buildings as are located within the boundaries of South Dakota, that is to say, the State of North Dakota shall assume and pay the following bonds and indebtedness, to-wit:

Bonds issued on account of the hospital for insane at Jamestown, North Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $266,000; also, bonds issued on account of the North Dakota university at Grand Forks, North Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $96,700; also, bonds issued on account of the penitentiary at Bismarek, North Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $93,600; also, refunding capital building warrants dated April 1, 1889, $83,507.46.

And the State of South Dakota shall assume and pay the following bonds and indebtedness, to-wit:

Bonds issued on account of the hospital for the insane at Yankton, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $210,000; also, bonds issued on account of the school for deaf mutes, at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $51,000; also, bonds issued on account of the university at Vermillion, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $75,000; also, bonds issued on account of the penitentiary at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $94,300; also, bonds issued on account of the agricultural college at Brookings, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $97,500; also, bonds issued on account of the normal school at Madison, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $49,400; also, bonds issued on account of the school of mines at Rapid City, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $33,000; also, bonds issued on account of the reform school at Plankinton, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $30,000; also, bonds issued on account of the normal school at Spearfish, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $25,000; also, bonds issued on account of the soldiers' home at Hot Springs, South Dakota, the face aggregate of which is $45,000.

The states of North Dakota and South Dakota shall pay one-half each of all liabilities now existing or hereafter and prior to the taking effect of this agreement incurred, except those heretofore or hereafter incurred, on account of public institutions, grounds or buildings, except as otherwise herein specifically provided.

The State of South Dakota shall pay to the State of North Dakota $46,500, on account of the excess of territorial appropriations for the permanent improvement of territorial institutions which under this agreement will go to South Dakota, and in full of the undivided one-half interest of North Dakota in the territorial library, and in full settlement of unbalanced accounts, and of all claims against the territory, of whatever nature, legal or equitable, arising out of the alleged erroneous or unlawful taxation of Northern Pacific railroad lands, and the payment of said amount shall discharge and exempt the State of South Dakota from all liability for or on account of the several matters hereinbefore referred to; nor shall either state be called upon to pay or answer to any portion of liability hereafter arising or accruing on account of transactions heretofore had, which liability would be a liability of the Territory of Dakota had such territory remained in existence, and which liability shall grow out of matters connected with any public institutions, grounds or buildings of the territory situated or located within the boundaries of the other state.

A final adjustment of accounts shall be made upon the following basis: North Dakota shall be charged with all sums paid on account of the public institutions, grounds or buildings located within its boundaries on account of the current appropriations since March 9, 1889; and South Dakota shall be charged with all sums paid on account of public institutions, grounds or buildings located within its boundaries on the same account and during the same time. Each state shall be charged with one-half of all other expenses of the territorial government during the same time. All moneys paid into the treasury during the period from March 8, 1889, to the time of taking effect of this agreement by any county, municipality or person within the limits of the proposed State of North Dakota, shall be credited to the State of North Dakota; and all sums paid into said treasury within the same time by any county, municipality or person within the limits of the proposed State of South Dakota shall be credited to the State of South Dakota; except that any and all taxes on gross earnings paid into said treasury by railroad corporations, since the 8th day of March, 1889, based upon earnings of years prior to 1888, under and by virtue of the act of the legislative assembly of the Territory of Dakota, approved March 7, 1889, and entitled "An act providing for the levy and collection of taxes upon property of railroad companies in this Territory," being chapter 107 of the session laws of 1889, (that is, the part of such sums going to the territory) shall be equally divided between the states of North Dakota and South Dakota, and all taxes heretofore or hereafter paid into said treasury under and by virtue of the act last mentioned, based on the gross earnings of the year 1888, shall be distributed as already provided by law, except that so much thereof as goes to the territorial treasury shall be divided as follows: North Dakota shall have so much thereof as shall be or has been paid by railroads within the limits of the proposed State of North Dakota, and South Dakota so much thereof as shall be or has been paid by railroads within the limits of the proposed State of South Dakota; each state shall be credited also with all balances of appropriations made by the seventeenth legislative assembly of the Territory of Dakota for the account of the public institutions, grounds or buildings situated within its limits, remaining unexpended on March 8, 1889. If there shall be any indebtedness except the indebtedness represented by the bonds and refunding warrants hereinbefore mentioned, each state shall at the time of such final adjustment of accounts, assume its share of said indebtedness as determined by the amount paid on account of the public institutions, grounds or buildings of such state in excess of the receipts from counties, municipalities, railroad corporations or persons within the limits of said state, as provided in this article; and if there should be a surplus at the time of such final adjustment, each state shall be entitled to the amounts received from counties, municipalities, railroad corporations or persons within its limits over and above the amount charged it. And the State of North Dakota hereby obligates itself to pay such part of the debts and liabilities of the Territory of Dakota as is declared by the foregoing agreement to be its proportion thereof, the same as if such proportion had been originally created by said State of North Dakota as its own debt or liability.

§ 204. Jurisdiction is ceded to the United States over the military reservations of Fort Abraham Lincoln, Fort Buford, Fort Pembina and Fort Totten, heretofore declared by the president of the United States; provided legal process, civil and criminal, of this state, shall extend over such reservations in all cases in which exclusive jurisdiction is not vested in the United States, or of crimes not committed within the limits of such reservations.

2. Of the board of township supervisors of organized townships.

3. Of the boards of county commissioners of each county in case the road is between or in two or more counties.

4. Of the board of township supervisors of each organized civil township in which any part of the road is situated if the road is situated between two civil townships or in more than one civil township.

5. Of the board of township supervisors of each organized township and of the board of county commissioners in case the road is situated partly in an organized township and partly in an unorganized township.

§ 1054. Petition for vacating or changing. Any ten persons owning lands in the vicinity of the highway proposed to be opened, vacated or changed may petition in writing the board having jurisdiction as provided by the provisions of the last section to vacate or change a highway or to lay out a new highway. When the petition is for the vacation or change of a highway or the opening of a new highway upon the dividing line, or in two or more counties or townships, the same course must be pursued as in other cases, except that a copy of the petition must be presented to the board of each county or township which must appoint viewers to act jointly and report to their respective boards the action of such viewers.

§ 1055. Contents of. The petition shall set forth and describe particularly the highway to be vacated, changed or opened, and if the same is changed or opened, the beginning, course and termination of the highway proposed to be changed or opened, together with the names of the owners so far as ascertainable, of the lands through which the same passes, whether such of the owners as can be found consent thereto, and if not, the probable cost of the right of way where such consent is not had, the necessity for and the advantages of the proposed road.

§ 1056. Appointment of viewers. Upon filing such petition, the board with which the same is filed, must appoint three viewers to view any proposed change of an old or any new road proposed to be opened and submit to the board an estimate of the cost of the change or opening, including the purchase of the right of way and their views of the necessity thereof.

§ 1057. Qualifications, oath and duties of viewers. The viewers must be disinterested citizens of the county or township, as the case may be, but not petitioners; they must swear to discharge their duties faithfully and must view and lay out the proposed change or new highway over the most practicable route, notify each resident owner or agent of the land over which it passes of the proposed route, ascertain whether the resident owners consent thereto, and the amount, if any, that they claim or demand for the right of way over the same, estimate the actual damage to any land over which it passes, or the cost of bridges or grading necessary, the necessity for and public convenience to be subserved by the highway and whether the opening thereof or change therein proposed should be made.

§ 1058. Report of viewers. When the view of the proposed change or new highway is completed, the viewers must report to the board by which they were appointed:

1. The course, termini, length and probable cost of the proposed highway.

The names of the land owners who do not consent and the amount of damages claimed by each, but when there are nonresident land owners and no agent upon the land, upon whom notice can be served, such nonresident land owners must be considered as nonconsenting unless their written consent is obtained.

5. Such other facts bearing upon the subject as it may be important for the board to know.

6. They may also, in their discretion, or by order of the board, report upon the feasibility and cost of any other route than the one petitioned for, which would subserve the same purpose.

§ 1059. Compensation of viewers. The viewers must each be paid not to exceed two dollars per day for their services, out of the road fund of the district through which the road passes.

§ 1060. Hearing. Notice of Service. The board, at the next meeting after the filing of the report, or at the time when the report is filed, if then in session, must fix a day for hearing the same and notify the owners of the land not consenting to give the right of way, of the hearing, by written notice to be served on them personally, or on the occupant or agent of the owner; or if neither the owner, agent of the owner or occupant, can be so notified by reason of nonresidence or other cause, by posting notices, one at a conspicuous place on the land or left at the owner's, agent's or occupant's residence, and one at the court house, ten days prior to the date fixed for the hearing.

§ 1061. Board to hear proof and award damages. The board shall, on the day fixed for the hearing, or on the day to which it may be postponed or adjourned, hear the evidence and proof from all the parties interested for and against the proposed change or new road, ascertain and by order declare the amount of damages awarded to each nonconsenting land owner and declare the report of the viewers to be approved or rejected.

§ 1062. Order after hearing. If the board approves the report and there are no nonconsenting land owners the highway must by order be declared a public highway, and the road supervisor ordered to open the same to the public, and, if the board orders it the county surveyor shall survey and plat the same and file his field notes with the clerk of the board.

§ 1063. Damages set apart for owner. The board upon making an order establishing the location or change of any highway must order the amount of damages sustained by each person owning or claiming lands or any improvements thereon and affected thereby, as finally fixed and assessed by it to be set apart in the treasury out of the proper fund to be paid to the proper owner or claimant, if known, and to be kept for the owner or claimant if unknown, and to be paid to him upon the order of the board upon his showing or establishing his right or title to such lands or improvements.

§ 1064. When money returned. Any money set apart as herein provided for must be returned to the fund from which it was set apart if not paid to or accepted by the proper owner or claimant. If the awards are all accepted, the road must be declared a public highway and be opened as above provided.

§ 1065. Damages, how determined. The damages must be determined by ascertaining the benefits and damages accruing to any person by reason of the changing or the laying out of such road, and the sum estimated as benefits must be deducted from the sum estimated as damages in computing the amount of damages to be awarded.

§ 1066. Procedure when award refused. If any award of damages is not accepted within thirty days from the date of the award it shall be deemed rejected by the land owners. The board must, if any award for damages is rejected, by order, direct proceedings to procure the right of way to be instituted by the state's attorney of the county under and as provided in the chapter on eminent domain in the code of civil procedure, against all nonaccepting land owners, and when thereunder the right of way is procured, the road must be declared a public highway, and opened as hereinbefore provided.

§ 1067. From what fund awards paid. All awards by agreement, ascertainment by the board or by the court, and all expenses of viewing, surveying, laying out or changing any road must be paid out of the road fund upon the order of the board.

§ 1068. Record of viewers' report. If the highway is opened or changed, the final report of the viewers, including the plat, field notes and report of the surveyor must be recorded in the office of the county auditor in a book kept for that purpose.

§ 1069. Not ordered through growing crops. No highway must be ordered opened through fields of growing crops or along a line where crops would thereby be exposed to stock until the owner thereof has sufficient time to harvest and care for such crops.

§ 1070. Notice to road supervisor. When any highway is to be changed or laid out, the county auditor or the clerk of the board, as the case may be, must notify the road supervisor or overseer of highways, as the case may be, of the proper district and furnish him with a certified copy of the order of the board.

§ 1071. Record of judgment or conveyance. In all cases where consent to use the right of way for a highway is voluntarily given, purchased, or condemned and paid for, either an instrument in writing, conveying the right of way and incidents thereto executed and acknowledged by the party making it, or a certified copy of the judgment of the court condemning the same, in which the land so conveyed or condemned must be particularly described, must be made, and filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds.

§ 1072. Repair of highways across railroads, etc. Whenever highways are laid out across railroads, canals or ditches on public lands, the owners must at their own expense so repair their roads, canals or ditches that the public highway may cross the same without damage or delay, and when the right of way for a public highway is obtained through the judgment of any court, over any railroad, canal or ditch, no damages must be awarded for the simple right to cross the same.

§ 1073. Removal of fences. Notice to owner. When the change of an old or the opening of a new road makes it necessary to remove fences on land donated, purchased, or condemned by order of the court for road or highway purposes, notice to remove the fences must be given by the road supervisor to the owner, occupant or agent, or by posting the same on the fences; and if the same is not removed within ten days thereafter or the removal commenced and pursued with due diligence, the road supervisor may cause it to be removed at the expense of the owner and recover of him the cost of such removal and the fence material may be sold to satisfy the judgment.

§ 1074. Laid out on section lines. Highways must be laid out and opened when practicable upon subdivision or section lines.

If the portion taken is less than one-half of the parcel, it is to be taken from the southeast corner in a square form, as nearly as the form of the land will conveniently permit. The preceding provisions of this section are subject to the following qualifications: The homestead shall not be sold for any taxes due from the owner thereof, until all other lands, town lots or other real property, shall have been first sold, and to that end the quantity of the land offered for sale may be obtained by drawing the division line in any direction so as to avoid the homestead; and when the homestead constitutes a part of the tract or parcel sold and is not yet ascertained, the court may, in the action hereafter authorized, at the suggestion of either party, cause proceedings to be had similar to that required in relation to mechanic's liens, for the ascertainment of the homestead; and in all other cases of such sales, it may take the requisite order and proceedings to ascertain the land sold, and to set the same apart from the homestead. § 63, c.28, Pol.C.

Such certificate shall be signed by the treasurer in his official capacity, and shall be presumptive evidence of the regularity of all prior proceedings. And the treasurer shall make out a tax receipt and duplicate for the taxes on the real estate mentioned in such certificate, the same as in any other case, and shall write thereon, "sold for taxes at public sale." The purchaser acquires the lien of the tax on the land, and if he subsequently pays any taxes levied on the same, he shall have the same lien for them, and may add them to the amount paid by him in the purchase; but no such subsequent tax shall be paid by the purchaser until fifteen days before such tax becomes delinquent. ARTICLE 13. — COLLECTION OF TAXES BY ACTION.

§ 1274. Action to collect taxes, when. Sixty days after the annual tax sale has closed, if any real property remains unsold for want of bidders therefor, on which any tax remains unpaid, the county commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered, at their option, in lieu of the private sale provided by section 1258, to authorize and empower the county treasurer to institute a civil action in the district court of his county or subdivision, in his own name as treasurer of his county, for the collection of such taxes from the party or parties liable therefor against the real property chargeable therewith. In such action the treasurer shall include taxes remaining unpaid and delinquent for any previous year or years and all delinquent taxes for whatever year, against whomsoever assessed, which are a lien upon the real property sought to be charged in the action, and can properly be united in the same action.

erty of the defendant, to-wit: (Describe the property as assessed) for the fiscal year (naming the year) (for taxes for a previous year an additional paragraph may be added in similar form). That the taxes aforesaid, with penalty, interest and costs are a lien upon the real property before described.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays judgment against said defendant for the sum of dollars, with penalty and interest as aforesaid, and attorney's fees of dollars and costs of suit, and that the lien of said taxes may be enforced against said real property, and the same be condemned to be sold to satisfy plaintiff's judgment.

..... State's Attorney.

§ 1279. Certificate prima facie evidence. Form. On the trial of any action brought under this chapter, a certificate in the following form, signed by the treasurer and under the seal of the county, shall be prima facie evidence of the due assessment and levy of the tax, and that it is due and delinquent:

That the above tax became delinquent on (date), has since been advertised for sale at a cost of dollars and not sold for want of bidders, and remains unpaid.

..... Treasurer.

§ 1280. Rules and practice governing. These actions shall be governed by the rules and practice of the code of civil procedure, and judgment may be taken as in such code provided, either in term time or vacation. When issue is joined, the cause shall at once on request of the plaintiff be placed by the clerk on the calendar for trial without serving or filing a note of issue or notice of trial; and shall be given precedence in the district court next after criminal business. Such issue shall be triable by the court, subject to its power to send any or all of the issues to be tried to a jury, as provided in the code of civil procedure.

§ 1281. Payment after suit commenced. Upon the payment of any taxes after suit shall have been brought, or the payment or collection thereof after judgment, the treasurer shall pay therefrom the costs and attorney's fees, and make distribution of the balance as provided by law.

§ 1283. Execution to enforce judgment. Proceedings. Redemption. Upon the recovery of judgment in any case brought under this chapter, the same may be enforced by writ of execution in like manner as provided in the code of civil procedure in cases of judgment requiring the sale of property, and the proceeding throughout shall be the same as in such cases, except that in all cases arising under this chapter, execution shall be directed to the treasurer of the county in which the property to be sold is situated instead of the sheriff. And the treasurer shall discharge the duties in and about the receipt of said execution, the advertisement and sale of the real property, directed to be sold thereunder, the conduct of the sale, the execution of the certificate of purchase, return of execution and report of sale, and any other duties now required of the sheriff in the sale of real property on execution, in the same manner as the same are required by law to be performed and discharged by the sheriff in the case of sales of real property by him, under writs of execution requiring the sale of real property, the proceedings of the treasurer in the premises to be reported to the court upon return of the execution, and to be subject to review and confirmation by the court, in like manner as a sheriff's sale of real property on execution. The premises sold by the treasurer shall be subject to redemption at any time within two years from the date of sale or at any time before the execution of a deed therefor, in like manner and upon the same terms and conditions as provided on ordinary sales of real property; provided, however, that during the period allowed for redemption and until redemption is made, the treasurer's certificate of purchase and all taxes paid by the purchaser subsequent thereto shall bear interest at the rate of fifteen per cent per annum, when the amount is less than five dollars, and twelve per cent when the amount is more than five dollars.

§ 1284. Sale under execution. Highest bidder defined.

In any sale upon writ of execution, under this chapter, the person who offers to pay the amount due on any parcel of land for the smallest portion of the same is considered the highest bidder, such portion to be chosen in like manner as provided for sales made by the treasurer under ordinary tax sales in section 1257.

§ 1285. No bidders. County to purchase. Certificate. Taxes remitted, when. Reassessment. If, in any instance, there should be no bidders willing to give the full amount of the judgment, penalty, interest and costs for any real property advertised and offered for sale, then it shall be the duty of the treasurer to bid off such real property in the name of the county of which he is treasurer, as the board of county commissioners thereof may authorize and direct, for the amount of the judgment, interest and costs accrued, and a certificate shall issue to such county in like manner as to any other purchaser; provided, however, that no costs or treasurer's commissions shall be payable by the county until redemption is made from such sale, or the time for redemption has expired; and provided, further, that all lands bid off by the treasurer for the county, shall, during the period of redemption, be subject to assessment and the levy of taxes the same as real property of private persons. But the taxes levied thereon during said period shall not be payable by the county, and if the said lands are not redeemed and a deed or deeds executed to the county therefor, said taxes shall be remitted and canceled of record in the treasurer's office by direction of the board of county commissioners.

§ 1286. Tax deed upon execution, when issued. At the expiration of the time allowed for redemption, if no redemption shall have been made, the treasurer must make the purchaser, or the party entitled thereto, a deed of the real property sold, which deed shall be in the usual form of deeds made by the sheriff after a sale under a writ of execution on a judgment directing the sale of real property, and shall have the same force and effect.

§ 1287. Tax sale. Treasurer's fees. For his services in attending and conducting any sale under judgment in the district court the treasurer shall be allowed the following fees:

The injunctive order shall fix the amount of bond.

§ 13, c. 31, Pol. C.

§ 16, c. 31, Pol. C.

§ 1439. Relocating abandoned claims. The relocation of abandoned lode claims shall be made by sinking a new discovery shaft and fixing new boundaries in the same manner as if it were the location of a new claim, or the relocater may sink the original shaft, cut or add to a sufficient depth to comply with sections 1430 and 1434, and erect new or adopt the old boundaries, renewing the posts if removed or destroyed. In either case a new location stake shall be erected. ARTICLE 2. — DISPUTED MINING PROPERTY.

§ 1442. Judge may order survey of mines in cases of disputed property. In all actions in any district court of this state wherein the title or right of possession to any mining claim shall be in dispute, the court or judge thereof may, upon application of any of the parties to such suit, enter an order for the underground as well as surface survey of such part of the property in dispute as may be necessary to a just determination of the question involved. Such order shall designate some competent surveyor not related to any of the parties to such suit or in anywise interested in the result of the same; and upon the application of the party adverse to such application, the court may also appoint some competent surveyor, to be selected by such adverse applicant, whose duty it shall be to attend upon such survey and observe the method of making the same; such second survey shall be at the cost of the party asking the same. It shall also be lawful in such order to specify the names of witnesses named by either party not exceeding three on each side, to examine such property, who shall be allowed to enter into such property and examine the same; such court or the judge thereof may also cause the removal of any rock, debris, or other obstacle in any of the drifts or shafts of such property, when such removal is shown to be necessary to a just determination of the question involved; provided, however, that no such order shall be made for survey and inspection except upon notice of the application for such order of at least six days, and not then except by agreement of parties or upon the affidavit of two or more persons that such survey and inspection is necessary to the just determination of the suit, which affidavit shall state the facts in such case and wherein the necessity for survey exists; nor shall such order be made unless it appears that the party asking therefor had been refused the privilege of survey and inspection by the adverse party. § 19, c.31, Pol.C.

§ 1443. Writs of injunction may be issued for affirmative relief. The district court or the judge thereof in vacation shall have, in addition to the powers already possessed, power to issue writs of injunction for affirmative relief, having the force and effect of a writ of restitution, restoring any person to the possession of any mining property from which he may have been ousted by force and violence or by fraud or from which he is kept out of possession by threats, or whenever such possession was taken from him by entry of the adverse party on a Sunday or legal holiday or while the party in possession was temporarily absent therefrom. The granting of such writ shall extend only to the right of possession under the facts of the case in respect to the manner in which the possession was obtained, leaving the parties to their legal rights on all other questions as though no such writ had issued.

CHAPTER 21.

DRAINS.

§ 1, c. 51, 1895. § 1444. When drains may be constructed. Water courses, ditches and drains for the drainage of sloughs and other low lands may be established, constructed and maintained in the several counties of this state whenever the same shall be conducive to the public health, convenience or welfare under the provisions of this chapter. The word "drain" when used in this chapter shall be deemed to include any natural water course opened, or proposed to be opened, and improved for the purpose of drainage and any artificial drains constructed for such purpose.

§ 2, c. 51, 1895. § 1445. Power of county commissioners. Petitions. The board of county commissioners of any organized county in this state shall have power and is authorized at any meeting of the board, by a majority vote of all the members to appoint on the petition of any person interested, three freeholders of the county, as a board of drain commissioners of such county, who shall hold office for two years, and until their successors are appointed and qualified. The board of county commissioners may remove for cause any or all of such drain commissioners, and in case of a vacancy may fill the same by appointment.

§ 4, c. 51, 1895. § 1447. Petitions in writing. The petition shall be signed by a sufficient number of the citizens of such municipality or municipalities to satisfy the board of drain commissioners that there is a public demand for such drain. If the chief purpose of such drain is the drainage of agricultural, meadow, grazing or other lands, the board of drain commissioners shall require that the petition be signed by the owners or legal representatives of such lands, as in the aggregate will, in the event of the construction of the drain, be liable to assessment for a major portion of the cost thereof, upon the presentation of a petition as hereinbefore provided, and filing of the same. The board of drain commissioners shall personally, as soon as practicable proceed to examine the line of the proposed drain and if in its opinion it is necessary and for the public good, it shall cause a survey of the line thereof to be made by a competent surveyor, who shall establish the commencement and terminus and determine the route, width, length and depth thereof. For the purpose of making examinations or surveys, the board of drain commissioners, surveyor and their employees may enter upon land traversed by any such proposed drain, or upon other lands when necessary. Such surveyor shall prepare profiles, plans and specifications of the proposed drain, an estimate of the cost thereof and a map or plat of the lands to be drained, showing the regular subdivisions thereof, all of which shall be filed in the office of the county auditor of the county in which such drain is proposed to be constructed subject to inspection. In locating a drain the board of drain commissioners may under the advice of the surveyor vary from the line described in the petition as it deems best. When the line proposed is along highways already established the drain shall be located at a sufficient distance from the center of such highway to permit a good road along the central line thereof; when the length of the line described in the petition does not give sufficient fall to drain the lands sought to be drained, the board of drain commissioners may extend the drain below the outlet named in the petition far enough to obtain a sufficient fall and outlet. Drains shall as far as practicable be located on dividing lines between sections or regular subdivisions thereof, but the general utility of the drain must not be sacrificed to avoid crossing any tract of land in such direction as the board of drain commissioners find advisable. All persons whose land may be affected by any such drain may appear before the board of drain commissioners and fully express their opinions upon the matters pertaining thereto.

§ 1448. Commissioners may deny petition, when. If upon such examination and survey or upon the trial in the district court it shall appear that there was not sufficient cause for making such petition or that the proposed drain would cost more than the amount of benefit to be derived therefrom, the board of drain commissioners shall deny the petition, and the petitioners shall be jointly and severally liable to such board for all costs and expenses incurred in the proceedings to be recovered by such board by action. § 5, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1449. Right of way. The title to the right of way for the construction of any proposed drain, if not conveyed to the county by the owner, may be acquired in such manner as may now or hereafter be prescribed by law. Such right of way when acquired shall be the property of the county. § 6, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1450. Assessment of damages, how made. Upon the assessment by the jury, court or referee of the amount of damages to which the respective owners of the right of way to be used for the construction of any proposed drain are entitled, the board of drain commissioners shall assess the per cent of the cost of acquiring the right of way in the manner provided in section 1452, make a return § 7, c. 51, 1895.

to the county auditor, containing all that is required in section 1453, except an order establishing the drain and make, serve and file the list provided for in section 1457. Thereupon the board of drain commissioners may issue warrants in a sum sufficient to pay the damages assessed for right of way, drawn upon the proper county treasurer and payable out of any funds in the hands of the treasurer for the construction of the drain for which such right of way is sought to be obtained and shall negotiate the same at not less than the par value thereof and pay into court for the benefit of the owners of the right of way the amount to which each is entitled according to the assessment of damages, paying the surplus, if any, to the county treasurer, who shall place the same to the credit of the proper drain fund. If warrants are not issued, or if issued, cannot be negotiated, no further proceedings shall be taken until the special tax levied to pay for the right of way is collected and paid into the court for the benefit of the owners of the right of way.

§ 8, c. 51, 1895. § 1451. Assessment of benefits subject to review. Every assessment of benefits provided for in this chapter shall be subject to review and ten days' notice of the time and place when and where such assessment will be reviewed by the board of drain commissioners shall be given in the manner provided in section 1454. At the time and place appointed such board shall proceed to hear all complaints relative to such assessment and correct or confirm the same.

§ 9, c. 51, 1895. § 1452. Accruing benefits. Upon acquiring the right of way either by conveyance or proceedings in court, the board of drain commissioners shall make an order establishing the drain, give the same a name by which it shall be recorded and indexed, and assess the per cent of the cost of constructing and maintaining such drain, which any county, township, city, village or town shall be liable to pay by reason of the benefits of such drain to the public health, convenience or welfare, and which any railroad company shall be liable to pay by reason of benefits to accrue to its property, and which any piece or parcel of land shall be liable to pay, by reason of benefits to accrue thereto, either directly or indirectly, by reason of the construction of such drain, whether such lands are immediately drained thereby, or can be drained only by the construction of other and connecting drains, but such assessment shall be subject to review by the commissioners as hereinafter provided.

§ 10, c. 51, 1895. § 1453. Commissioners shall make return to auditor. After the order establishing a drain, and the assessment of benefits have been made as provided in the last section, the board of drain commissioners shall make return thereof to the county auditor, who shall record the same in a book to be provided for that purpose. Such return shall contain the petition for the drain, or a copy thereof, the minutes of the survey signed by the surveyor, conveyances of the right of way, if any, a copy of the judgment in the action to acquire the right of way, if any, together with the minutes of the doings of the board of drain commissioners in the premises, the order establishing the drain, and the assessment of benefits.

§ 11, c. 51, 1895. § 1454. Manner of letting contracts. Notice published. Upon the establishing of the drain, as hereinbefore provided, the board of drain commissioners shall without delay divide the line thereof into convenient divisions for construction, make diagrams of the same with specifications of the width of excavation at the bottom, the slope of the sides, and such other matters as may be necessary for the proper construction of the drain, and set suitable stakes in such places as may be necessary to show the beginning and end of divisions and the number of the division and grade stakes to show the depth of cut at such intervals as may be necessary. Such board shall give at least ten days' notice of the time when and the place where they will meet parties for the purpose of letting contracts for such construction. Such notice shall be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the county and printed notices not less than five in number shall be posted at such points in each township or municipality interested in such drain as will be likely to secure the greatest publicity for such notice. Such notice shall also state that at the time and place of such letting of contracts the assessment of benefits will be subject to review, unless such assessment has already been reviewed, under the provisions of section 1451.

§ 1455. Commissioners may defer letting of contract. At the time and place appointed the board of drain commissioners shall proceed to hear all complaints relative to such assessments, unless a hearing has already been had under the provisions of section 1451, and correct and confirm the same. Such board shall then proceed to let contracts for the construction of the drain by divisions as it shall have divided the same, to the person who will do the work according to the specifications, for the lowest price and give adequate security for the performance of the same within such time as the contract shall specify. Such board may adjourn such letting in whole or in part and from time to time to such other time and place, to be by it at the time of such adjournment publicly announced, as shall to it seem proper and it may reserve the right to reject any and all bids. The parties who are to be assessed for the construction of such drain and who may be bidders for contracts thereon shall, if equal bidders with other parties, be preferred in the awarding of such contracts; provided, that contracts for the building of the bridges and culverts mentioned in section 1463 may be deferred, until the construction of the drain has reached such a stage of completion that the character of the bridges and culverts which will be needed can be determined. As soon as the character of such bridges and culverts can be determined such board shall cause plans and specifications of the bridges and culverts to be constructed in connection with such drain to be prepared and shall give at least ten days' notice of the time and place when and where it will meet parties for the purpose of letting contracts for such construction. Such notice shall be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the county. Such contracts shall be let to the lowest bidder as hereinbefore in this section provided. § 12, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1456. General duties of commissioners. After the letting of such contracts or a major portion thereof such board shall make a computation of the cost of such drain which shall include all the expenses of locating and establishing the same, including the cost of right of way, the drain commissioners' fees, cost of survey, cost of building bridges and culverts, interest on all warrants issued or to be issued by the board of drain commissioners on account of the drain, accumulated or to accumulate prior to the time when the tax levied or to be levied to pay for the right of way or construction of the drain is collectible by law and all other expenses and the amount of the contracts and in case contracts shall not have been let for the construction of the whole of the drain or of the bridges and culverts, the board of drain commissioners shall estimate the cost of such unlet § 13, c. 51, 1895.

portion and of the bridges and culverts predicated its estimate so far as may be upon the cost of those portions that have been let or upon similar work. The sum of all the costs and expenses incurred or to be incurred shall be the cost of the construction of the drain.

§ 1457. Lands benefited. Special tax. The board of drain commissioners shall make a list showing the amount which each municipality and tract of land benefited by the drain for which the tax is levied is liable to pay on account of procuring the right of way or the construction of any drain, or both according to the per cent which by section 1452 it is required to fix and determine, a copy of which shall be served on the clerk or auditor of each municipality against which taxes are to be assessed. Such list shall thereupon be filed in the office of the county auditor of the county in which the municipalities and lands benefited by the drain are situated, and the auditor shall thereupon extend upon the tax lists as a special tax as provided by law the several amounts shown by the drain commissioners' list, specifying in such tax lists the particular drain for the construction or procurement of the right of way of which such special tax is assessed, which special tax shall be collected and enforced in the same manner as other taxes. When such special tax is for right of way the same shall when collected be paid by the county treasurer into court for the benefit of the owners of the right of way.

§ 1458. County treasurer shall collect drain tax. The drain taxes shall be collected by the county treasurer and all moneys so collected shall be credited to the drain fund to which they belong and the county treasurer shall be the treasurer of such drain funds. Payment of all expenses and costs of locating and constructing any drain shall be made by the board of drain commissioners issuing warrants in such amounts and to such persons as by such board may be found due. All warrants drawn by such board in payment for the right of way or construction of any drain shall be payable from the proper drain fund and shall be receivable for the taxes levied for the right of way or construction of such drain by the treasurer. All such warrants after presentation to the county treasurer for payment, if not paid for want of funds, shall be registered by the county treasurer and thereafter shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum.

§ 16, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1459. Additional assessment. When necessary. In case the amount realized from the assessment made for right of way or for the construction of any drain shall not be sufficient to pay for such right of way or to complete such drain, and to pay fees and all incidental expenses, or in case an enlargement or deepening of such drain or an extension of the line thereof becomes necessary, a further assessment shall be made to meet the deficit or additional expense, and the amount thereof shall be levied and collected in the manner hereinbefore provided.

§ 1460. Extension of time to contractors. The board of drain commissioners shall have power to grant a reasonable extension of time for the completion of any contract. When any contract shall not be finished within the time specified, or to which it may be extended, the board of drain commissioners may in its discretion at any time thereafter, re-let such unfinished portion or any part thereof, after not less than five days' notice thereof to the lowest responsible bidder and shall take security as before. The cost of completing such parts over and above the contract price, and the expense of notices and re-letting shall be collected by the board of drain commissioners of the parties at first contracting; provided, that in no case shall the board of drain commissioners forfeit and annul a contract without five days' notice to the contractor, if found, and if not found, then by written notice left at his last place of residence, if known to be within the county.

§ 1461. Extension of powers, when necessary. The powers conferred by this chapter for establishing and constructing drains shall also extend to and include the deepening and widening of any drains which have heretofore been or may hereafter be constructed; also to straightening, clearing out and deepening the channels of creeks and streams and the construction, maintaining, remodeling and repairing of levees, dykes and barriers for the purpose of drainage and the board of drain commissioners may relocate or extend the line of any drain if the same is necessary to provide a suitable outlet and shall cause a survey thereof to be made, but no proceedings affecting the right of persons or property shall be had under this section, except upon the notice, hearing and award prescribed in this chapter for the construction of drains in the first instance. § 18, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1462. Duty of railroad companies. Drains may be laid along, within the limits of or across any public road, and when so laid out and constructed or when any road shall hereafter be constructed along or across any drain it shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners, or township supervisors, as the case may be, to keep the same open and free from all obstructions. A drain may be laid along any railroad when necessary, but not to the injury of such road, and when it shall be necessary to run a drain across a railroad it shall be the duty of such railroad company, when notified by the board of drain commissioners to do so, to make the necessary opening through said road and to build and keep in repair suitable culverts or bridges. § 19, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1463. Construction of bridges and culverts. When any drain crosses a highway the cost of constructing the necessary bridge or culvert shall be charged in the first instance as part of the cost of constructing such drain, after which such bridge or culvert shall be maintained as part of the highway. The board of drain commissioners shall construct such bridges or culverts over or in connection with each drain as may in its judgment be necessary to furnish a passage from one part to another of any farm or tract of land intersected by such drain and the cost of the construction thereof shall be charged as part of the cost of constructing such drain and such bridge or passageway shall be maintained under the authority of the board of county commissioners or township supervisors, as the case may be, and the necessary expense thereof shall be deemed a part of the cost of keeping such drain open and in repair. § 20, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1464. Blind drains, how constructed. Blind drains may be constructed by the use of drain tile or sewer pipe, when the nature of the ground will admit of so doing. When blind drains are constructed the entrance shall be protected from drift wood and other debris. § 21, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1465. Legal drains shall be recorded. All drains regularly established, opened or constructed under existing provisions of law shall be deemed legal drains and it shall be the duty of all boards of county commissioners, in cases where the records of any drain may not have been preserved, to see that such record is made in the best manner practicable in the office of the county auditor. § 22, c. 51, 1895.

§ 23, c. 51, 1895. § 1466. Tax or assessment void, when. The collection of no tax or assessment levied or ordered to be levied to pay for the location and construction of any drain laid out and constructed under this chapter shall be perpetually enjoined or declared absolutely void in consequence of any error of any officer or board in the location and establishment thereof, nor by reason of any error or informality appearing in the record of the proceedings by which any drain shall have been located and established, nor for want of proper conveyance or condemnation of the right of way, but the court in which any proceeding may hereafter be brought to reverse or to declare void the proceedings by which any drain has been located or established or to enjoin the tax levied to pay the labor and cost and expenses shall on application of either party appoint such person or persons to examine the premises, or to survey the same, or both, as may be deemed necessary; and the court shall on a final hearing make such order in the premises as shall be just and equitable, and may order such tax to remain on the tax lists for collection, or order the same to be relieved, or may perpetually enjoin the same, or any part thereof, or if the same shall have been paid under protest, shall order the whole or such part thereof as may be just and equitable to be refunded, the costs of said proceedings to be apportioned among the parties as justice may require.

§ 24, c. 51, 1895. § 1467. Drain kept open and in repair. Cost of. All drains that may have been constructed under any law of this state, or that may be constructed under the provisions of this chapter and situated in this state, shall, except as otherwise provided be under the charge of the board of county commissioners and their successors in office and be by them kept open and in repair. In all cases when any completed drain is or may be situated in more than one county the care of the portion thereof lying within any county is hereby assigned to the board of county commissioners of such county to be by it kept open and in repair. The cost of such keeping open and in repair shall in all cases be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner as is provided in this chapter for the construction of drains in the first instance, and in cases when no assessment of benefits shall have been made, the board of commissioners having charge of or to whose care such drain may be assigned shall make such assessment.

§ 25, c. 51, 1895. § 1468. Rules and regulations. The board of county commissioners of any county may make rules and regulations on the subject of drainage within such county, as it may deem proper, not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter and especially with regard to clearing out and keeping clear the channels of streams and the construction and maintenance of dams thereupon, with reference to their capacity for drainage and may require of the owners of such dams reasonable service in cleaning and keeping such streams clear as a consideration for the right to erect dams thereupon.

§ 26, c. 51, 1895. § 1469. Liability of drain commissioner. Each board of drain commissioners shall make a report to the board of county commissioners of all drains begun, in process of construction or finished and shall also render a full account of all moneys which shall come into its hands; and every drain commissioner shall be liable on his bond for any misapplication of money coming into his hands as such commissioner. The report required by this section shall include an itemized statement of all expenses and warrants drawn on account of each and every drain.

§ 1470. Compensation for commissioners and publishers. § 27, c. 51, 1895.
Drain commissioners shall receive for their services such amount, not less than two nor exceeding three dollars per day, for the time actually spent by them in performing the duties of their offices as may be fixed by the board of county commissioners. Publishers of newspapers shall receive for publishing legal notices and furnishing evidence of such publication the fees prescribed by law for legal advertisements.

§ 1471. Penalty. If any person shall willfully and maliciously remove any surveyor's stake set along the line of any drain laid out under the provisions of this chapter, or obstruct or injure any such drain, he shall for each and every such offense be subject to a penalty not exceeding ten dollars together with such sum as will be required to repair such damage and costs of suit, which penalty may be recovered in an action by the board of drain commissioners or county commissioners as the case may be. Whenever the amount of any recovery shall be collected it shall be deposited with the county treasurer to the credit of the proper drain fund. § 28, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1472. State and county officers not eligible. No person holding any state or county office shall be eligible to the office of drain commissioner, and any drain commissioner accepting any state or county office shall thereupon be considered as having vacated the office of drain commissioner. § 29, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1473. Power to administer oath. Drain commissioners shall have power to administer any oath required in any proceeding had before them or in which they may be called to act officially. § 30, c. 51, 1895.

§ 1474. Bonds, when and how issued. The board of county commissioners of any county in which any such drain is proposed to be located and constructed is authorized to issue bonds in such sums as may be necessary for the purpose of defraying the expenses incurred or to be incurred in obtaining the right of way or in locating and constructing any such drain, said word "expenses" to be construed to mean and to cover every item of cost of such drain from its inception to its completion as hereinbefore provided, which bonds shall be paid out of the revenues to be derived from taxes levied or to be levied and collected from that portion of the county found by the board of drain commissioners to be benefited thereby. Such bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent, and shall be payable not exceeding twenty years from the date thereof, and the said board shall provide sinking funds for the payment at maturity of each series of bonds issued and for the payment of the annual interest on the same. The bonds issued under the provisions of this chapter shall be signed by the chairman of the board of county commissioners of such county and countersigned by the county auditor who shall keep a record of the bonds issued under the provisions of this chapter. Such board shall have the power to negotiate such bonds at not less than the par value thereof as it may deem best for the interest of all persons interested in such drain. Such bonds shall contain a recital that the same are issued in accordance with the provisions and pursuant to the authority of this chapter and that they are to be paid out of sinking funds to be created as in this chapter provided. Whenever such bonds shall be issued the tax hereinbefore provided for shall not be collected all in one year, but shall be divided into as many parts as such bonds have years to run and one of such parts shall be extended upon the tax lists by the § 31, c. 51, 1895.

county auditor against the proper parcels of land and property liable to taxation for that purpose in each and every year and collected in such year and such fund shall constitute the sinking fund provided by this section. The board of county commissioners shall in each year at the time of levying the taxes, levy upon the property liable to taxation on account of the location and construction of any drain a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest on any bonds which may have been issued for the purpose of locating and constructing the drain. Separate sinking funds shall be provided for each separate drain for the construction of which bonds shall be issued and no funds in any such sinking fund shall be applied to any other purpose than the payment of the bonds for the payment of which such fund was created. No county shall be liable for the payment of any bonds issued under the provisions of this chapter, but such bonds shall be paid only out of the sinking funds created as in this chapter provided.

The county judge shall be a member of such board and its chairman. The other two members shall be appointed by the board of county commissioners, one of whom shall be a reputable practicing physician, and the other a reputable practicing attorney; and such appointments shall be made from persons residing as near as may be to the county seat. Such commissioners shall be appointed for the term of two years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. The appointment of successors can be made at any time within three months prior to the expiration of the term of the incumbents. In case of the temporary absence of such commissioners or their inability to act, the county judge shall call to his aid a reputable practicing physician or attorney, who after qualifying as in other cases, may act in the same capacity. The record in such cases must show the fact of such absence.

am'd.

§ 1514. Oath of commissioners. Organization and meetings. Before entering upon the duties of their office the persons so appointed shall take and subscribe an oath to support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of this state, and faithfully to discharge their duties as such commissioners according to law, which oath shall be filed with the county judge who shall enter a memorandum thereof on the records. On organizing they shall choose one of their number as clerk of such board. They shall hold their meetings at the office of the county judge unless for good reasons they shall fix some other place. If they deem it necessary or advisable, they may hold sessions at such regular times as they may fix. They shall also meet on notice from the chairman of the board.

§ 18, c. 23, 1879.

§ 1515. Duties of chairman. Books to be kept. Notices. He shall file and carefully preserve in his office all papers connected with any inquest by the commissioners, and properly belonging to his office, with notices, reports and other communications. He shall keep separate books in which to record the proceedings of the board, and his entries shall be sufficiently full to show, with the papers filed, a complete record of the findings, orders and transactions. The notices, reports and communications herein required to be given or made, may be sent by mail unless otherwise provided, and the fact and date of such sending and their reception must be noted on the proper record.

§ 19, c. 23, 1879.

§ 1516. Duties and powers of commissioners. Such commissioners shall have cognizance of all applications for admission to the hospital or for the safe-keeping otherwise of insane persons within their county, except in cases otherwise specially provided for. They shall have power to issue subpoenas and compel obedience thereto, to administer oaths, and do any act necessary and proper in the premises.

§ 20, c. 23, 1879.

§ 1517. Applications for admission to hospitals. Applications for admission to the hospital must be made in writing in the nature of an information verified by affidavit. Such information must allege that the person in whose behalf the application is made is believed by the informant to be insane and a fit subject for custody and treatment in the hospital for the insane; that such person is found in the county and has a legal residence therein, if such is known to be the fact; and if such residence is not in the county, where it is, if known, or where it is believed to be, if the informant is advised on the subject.

§ 1518. Investigation by commissioners as to the alleged insanity. § 21, c. 23, 1879. On the filing of an information as above provided, the commissioners shall at once investigate the grounds of such information. For this purpose they may require that the person for whom such admission is sought be brought before them, and that the examination be had in his presence, and they may issue their warrant therefor and provide for the suitable custody of such person until their investigation is concluded. Such warrant may be executed by the sheriff or any constable of the county, or if they shall be of opinion from such preliminary inquiries as they may make, and in making which they shall take the testimony of the informant if they deem it necessary or desirable, and of other witnesses if offered, that such course would probably be injurious to such person or attended with no advantages, they may dispense with such presence. In their examination they shall hear testimony for and against such application, if offered. Any citizen of the county or any relative of the person alleged to be insane, may appear and resist the application, and the parties may appear by counsel if they elect. The commissioners, whether they decide to dispense with the presence before them of such person or not, shall appoint some regular practicing physician of the county to visit such person and make a personal examination touching the truth of the allegations in the information, and touching the actual condition of such person, and forthwith report to them thereon. Such physician may or may not be of their own number, and the physician so appointed and acting shall certify under his hand that he has, in pursuance of his appointment, made a careful personal examination as required, and that on such examination he finds the person in question insane, if such is the fact, and if otherwise, not insane; and in connection with his examination such physician shall endeavor to obtain from the relatives of the person in question, or from others who know the facts, correct answers, as far as may be, to the interrogatories hereinafter required to be propounded in such cases, which interrogatories and answers shall be attached to his certificate.

§ 1519. How patient shall be sent to hospital. § 22, c. 23, 1879. On the return of the physician's certificate, the commissioners shall as soon as practicable, conclude their investigations, and having done so they shall find whether the person alleged to be insane is insane; whether, if insane, a fit subject for treatment and custody in the hospital; whether the legal residence of such person is in their county, and if not in their county, where it is, if ascertained. If they find such person is not insane, they shall order his discharge, if in custody. If they find such person insane, and a fit subject for treatment and custody in the hospital, they shall forthwith issue their warrant and a duplicate thereof, stating such finding, with the residence of the person, if ascertained; and if not ascertained, their information, if any, in regard thereto, authorizing the superintendent of the hospital to receive and keep such person as a patient therein. Such warrant and duplicate with the finding and certificate of the physician shall be delivered to the sheriff of the county, who shall execute the same by conveying such person to the hospital and delivering him with such duplicate and physician's certificate and finding to the superintendent thereof. The superintendent over his official signature shall acknowledge such delivery on the original warrant, which the sheriff shall return to the county judge with his fees and expenses indorsed thereon. If neither the sheriff nor his deputy is at hand, or if both are otherwise engaged, the commissioners may appoint some other suitable person to execute the warrant in his stead, who shall take and subscribe an oath faithfully to discharge his duty, and shall be entitled to the same fees as the sheriff. The sheriff or any other person so appointed may take to his aid such assistance as he may need to execute such warrant; but no female shall thus be taken to the hospital without the attendance of some other female, or some relative of such person. The superintendent in his acknowledgment of delivery must state whether there was any such person in attendance, and give the name, if any. If any relative or intimate friend of the patient, who is a suitable person, shall so request, he shall have the privilege of taking and executing such warrant in preference to the sheriff or any other person, and without taking such oath, and for so doing he shall be entitled to his necessary expenses, but no fees.

§ 1520. Disposition of insane person when accommodations of hospital are insufficient. If in the case of any persons found to be insane and fit subjects for custody and treatment in the hospital as above provided, it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the commissioners that they cannot at once be admitted therein, and they cannot with safety be allowed to go at liberty, the commissioners shall require that such patients shall be suitably provided for otherwise until such admission can be had, or until the occasion therefor no longer exists. Such patients may be cared for either as public or private patients. Those shall be treated as private patients whose relatives or friends will obligate themselves to take care of and provide for them without public charge. In the case of any one treated as a private patient, the commissioners shall appoint some suitable person a special custodian, who shall have authority and whose duty it shall be in all suitable ways to restrain, protect and care for such patient in such manner as best to secure his safety and comfort, and in such manner as best to protect the persons and property of others. In the case of public patients the commissioners shall require that they be in like manner restrained, protected and cared for by the overseers of the poor, at the expense of the county, and they may accordingly issue their warrants to such overseers of the poor, who shall forthwith comply with the same. If there is no poor house for the reception of such patients, or if no more suitable place can be found, they may be confined in the county jail in the charge of the sheriff, or such commissioners in their discretion, may require that such persons be taken to the asylum of any state that may be designated by the governor, who is hereby authorized and empowered to make the best terms he can with the authorities of any asylum in any state for the admission of such patients.

§ 1521. Insane persons cared for by county. On application to the commissioners, on behalf of persons alleged to be insane and whose admission to the hospital is not sought, made substantially in the manner above prescribed and asking that provision be made for their care as insane, either public or private within the county, and on proof of their insanity and need of care as above provided, the commissioners may provide for their care, protection and restraint as in other cases.

§ 1522. Commissioners to provide for insane persons suffering for want of proper care. § 27, c. 23, 1879. On information laid before the commissioners of any county that a certain insane person in the county is suffering for want of proper care, they shall forthwith inquire into the matter, and if they find the information well founded they shall make all needful provision for the care of such person as provided in other cases.

§ 1523. Insane not to be restrained of liberty except by proper authority. § 28, c. 23, 1879. No person supposed to be insane shall be restrained of his liberty by any other person otherwise than in pursuance of authority obtained as herein required, excepting to such extent and for such brief period as may be necessary for the safety of persons and property until such authority can be obtained.

§ 1524. Penalty for cruelty to insane. § 29, c. 23, 1879. Any person having the care of an insane person, and restraining such person, either with or without authority, who shall treat such person with wanton severity, harshness or cruelty, or shall in any way abuse such person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, besides being liable to an action for damages.

§ 1525. Transfer of insane under county care. § 30, c. 23, 1879. Insane persons who shall have been under care either as public or private patients, outside of the hospital, by authority of the commissioners of any county, may on application be transferred to the hospital whenever they can be admitted thereto, on the warrant of such commissioners. Such admission may be had without another inquest at any time within six months after the inquest already had, unless the commissioners shall deem a further inquest advisable.

§ 1526. Questions to be answered on application for admission to hospital. § 31, c. 23, 1879. In each case of application for admission to the hospital, correct answers to the following interrogatories, so far as they can be obtained, shall accompany the physician's certificate; and if on further examination, after the answers are stated, any of them are found to be erroneous, the commissioners shall cause them to be corrected:

1. What is the patient's name? Married or single? If any children, how many? Age of youngest child, and age of patient?
2. Where was the patient born?
3. Where is his place of residence?

14. Did the patient manifest any peculiarities of temper, habits, disposition or pursuits, before becoming insane? Any predominant passion, religious impressions, etc?
15. Has the patient been subject to any bodily disease, epilepsy, suppressed eruptions, discharge of sores, or ever had an injury of the head?

§ 1527. Proceedings for release of persons alleged not to be insane. On a statement in writing verified by affidavit, addressed to the county judge of the county in which the hospital is situated, or of the county in which any person confined in the hospital has his residence, alleging that such person is not insane and is unjustly deprived of his liberty, such judge shall appoint a commission of not more than three persons in his discretion, to inquire into the merits of the case, one of whom shall be a physician; and if two or more are appointed, one shall be an attorney. Without first summoning the person to meet them, they shall proceed to the hospital and have a personal interview with such person, so managed as to prevent him, if possible, from suspecting its object; and they shall make any inquiries and examinations they may deem necessary and proper of the officers and records of the hospital, touching the merits of the case. If they shall deem it prudent and advisable, they may disclose to the person the object of their visit, and in the presence of such person make further investigation of the matter. They shall forthwith report to such county judge the result of their examination and inquiries. Such report shall be accompanied by a statement of the facts and signed by the superintendent. If on such report and statement and hearing of the testimony, if any is offered, the county judge shall find the person sane, he shall order his discharge. If he shall find him insane he shall authorize his continued detention. The finding and order of such judge with the report and other papers, shall be filed in his office and entered on his records, and he shall forthwith notify the superintendent of his findings and order and the superintendent shall carry out such order. The commissioners appointed as provided in this section shall be entitled to their necessary expenses, and a reasonable compensation to be allowed by such judge and paid by the state out of any funds not otherwise appropriated; provided, that the applicant shall pay the same if the judge shall find that such application was made without probable grounds, and shall so order.

oftener than once in six months for the same person, nor shall such commission be appointed for any patient within six months of the time of his admission.

§ 1529. Insane persons entitled to habeas corpus. All persons confined as insane shall be entitled to the benefit of the writ of habeas corpus, and the question of insanity shall be decided at the hearing, and if the judge or court shall decide that the person is insane, such decision shall be no bar to the issuing of the writ a second time, whenever it shall be alleged that such person shall have been restored to reason. § 35, c. 23, 1879.

§ 1530. Salaries and fees, how and by whom paid. The commissioners of insanity shall each be allowed the sum of two dollars per day for the time actually employed in the duties of their office. The county judge, in addition to what he is entitled to as commissioner of insanity, shall be allowed one-half as much more for making the required record entries in all cases of inquest, and of meetings of the board for any purpose, and for the filing of any papers required to be filed. highways or roads, whose highway or road district lies in whole or in part in any such commissioner district, and within which highway or road district any such thistle and French weed exist on any such highway, road, way or trail in public use, to notify all persons who are legally required or permitted to work out any road taxes in that year, that such work shall be done, so far as such county commissioner shall determine to be necessary, under the direction of such overseer or supervisor, in the destruction of such Russian thistle and French weed in the time and manner fixed as provided in section 1690, and if such persons or any of them shall fail so to work out their poll taxes, then the money which they, or any of them, shall pay in lieu of such work, shall be paid by the officer into whose possession or keeping such money shall come, to the county treasurer, who shall credit the same to the road fund of such county to be expended for the purposes of this article; and when such county commissioner shall have so notified any such overseer or supervisor of highways or roads as herein provided, no work on any highway or road shall be done in payment of road taxes on any such highway or road district, and no money collected in payment of road poll taxes in any such highway or road district, shall be expended until the requirements of such county commissioner are fulfilled. § 1700. Lands on which no thistle grows. Owners may notify. To the end that the propagation and spread of Russian thistle and French weed may to that extent be prevented and for the purpose of this article, it is enacted that any owner or occupant of any cultivated land which is free from Russian thistle and French weed, who shall know or be informed of the existence of any Russian thistle or French weed on cultivated land within two miles of, and being the nearest cultivated lands on which Russian thistle or French weed exist to the lands which he owns or occupies, and who shall believe from the existence of such thistle or French weed that there is danger that the cultivated lands so occupied and owned by him will be seeded from such thistle and French weed if they should go to seed, may serve a written notice on the owner or occupant of the cultivated land on which such thistle and French weed exist, or if no such service can be had, then by posting such notice conspicuously on such cultivated land, warning such owner or occupant to § 14, c. 102, 1895.

destroy such thistle and French weed before they or any of them shall go to seed, and that otherwise he shall hold him responsible for any damages which in the ensuing season may result therefrom to the land which he owns or occupies. And if in such ensuing season Russian thistle and French weed are found on the lands owned or occupied by the party who has given such notice, then a failure or neglect on the part of the owner or occupant on whom such notice is served, to destroy such thistle and French weed and all of them, before they or any of them shall have gone to seed, shall be prima facie evidence that such thistle and French weed found on such lands in such ensuing season, have come from seeds produced on the lands owned and occupied by the parties so notified, and he shall be liable for damages accordingly. And inasmuch as damages of this nature must be exceedingly difficult to determine, the minimum of such damages is hereby declared to be twenty-five cents for each square acre of the land occupied by the party who has served such notice, on which any Russian thistle and French weed may be found in such ensuing season.

On the first Wednesday of November in each year the board of county commissioners of every county in which Russian thistle and French weed have been destroyed, under the provisions of this article, shall hold a session at their usual place of meeting for the purpose of levying an assessment against the lands upon which such thistle and French weed have been destroyed, and upon any railroad company operating any line of railroad in the state, upon the right of way of which line within such county such Russian thistle and French weed have been destroyed, and a personal tax upon every person who in that year has occupied, held or cultivated any land the title to which is in the United States, upon which land any such thistle and French weed has been destroyed in accordance with this article; and it shall be the duty of every person and corporation chargeable with the duty of destroying Russian thistle and French weed upon any land or right of way within such county, to appear before such board at such time and place and show cause if any there is, why any such land or such railroad company should not be assessed. It shall be the duty of the county auditor to present at such time and place a report showing the expenses incurred or made necessary in the destruction of Russian thistle and French weed upon each tract of land, upon each right of way, and upon all highways, roads, ways and trails in public use in such county. And after the board of county commissioners shall have heard and duly considered all objections to the levy of all and any such assessments it shall be its duty to levy an assessment against every tract of land and upon every railroad company and upon every person for the amount which may be justly due on account of such expenses; and such assessments shall thereupon be extended upon the tax roll for such year as a special assessment against such land or railroad company, and the amount of such assessments shall become due at the same time and be subject to the same penalties and interest and shall be collected in the same manner as other real and personal taxes. And the proceeds of such assessments so levied shall be paid into and credited to the road fund of such county when collected.

And in such case the county treasurer shall not pay over any of the proceeds of such road taxes to such township, whether imposed by the township or by the county commissioners. Out of the sums which shall accrue to the county road fund of any county, or which may at any time be to the credit of any such road fund, shall first be paid all sums made necessary by the provisions of this article, and thereafter if there is any of said fund remaining, it may be expended as provided by law for the expenditure of county road funds. The county treasurer of each county shall pay over out of any proceeds of any road tax, which by section 2499 is provided to be paid to any incorporated city or town in such county, only such amount as shall be in excess of an amount equal to a levy of a tax on all the taxable property of such city or town which the county commissioners shall deem and determine proper to levy on the taxable property of the county for the purposes of this article.

§ 1704. State thistle fund, what composed of. All moneys which may be appropriated by the legislative assembly or which may come into the possession of the state treasurer from any appropriation or from any source for the destruction of Russian thistle and French weed shall form a portion of the Russian thistle and French weed fund.

§ 1705. Transfer of funds by state treasurer, how. After the thirty-first day of December, 1895, after reserving a sufficient fund to pay all outstanding warrants drawn on the Russian thistle and French weed fund under authority of this article, then, out of any money in such fund, may be paid into any other fund as the state auditor may determine:

All warrants legally drawn on the state Russian thistle and French weed fund, if not paid for want of funds, shall be registered and bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum and shall be available in payment of any taxes due or that may become due to the state under the provisions of this article.

§ 22, c. 102, 1895.

§ 1708. Payments secured from United States, how. It shall be the duty of the state auditor to tabulate and report to the governor on or before the thirty-first day of December in each year, the several amounts expended by the state under the provisions of this article for the destruction of Russian thistle and French weed upon lands belonging to the United States. Thereafter it shall be the duty of the governor and of the attorney general to take such steps as they may deem proper to secure the payment of the same from the United States.

§ 23, c. 102, 1895.

§ 1709. Jurisdiction of justices of the peace. Any owner or occupant of any land, or any citizen of any commissioner district in any county may make complaint of any violation of the provisions of this article occurring within such commissioner district, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the state's attorney for such county, if such complaint shall be reasonable, to prosecute the party complained of for such violation and, upon conviction being had, one-half of the amount of any fines imposed shall be paid to the party bringing such complaint, except as provided in sections 1699 and 1700; and the remaining half of such fines shall be paid into the road fund of such county.

Whenever it shall be necessary to employ any person for the destruction of Russian thistle and French weed, preference shall be given, all things being equal and probable expense no greater, to occupants of lands contiguous to the lands on which such destruction is to be prosecuted. There shall be allowed for men and teams employed in such destruction no greater per diem than is now established by law for working out road taxes; persons so employed who fail to carry out their operations to the thorough destruction of the thistle and French weed where employed, or in exercise of industry as in other employments, shall forfeit all pay, proof of such failure being made before the county commissioners sitting as an auditing board as provided in section 1702. No pay shall be allowed or credit given any owner or occupant of land for destroying Russian thistle and French weed on land owned or occupied by him unless by direction of the executive relief board. § 2. c. 95, 1890.

§ 2279. Resolution declaring work necessary. When the city council shall deem it necessary to open, widen, extend, grade, pave, macadamize, bridge, curb, gutter, drain, or otherwise improve any street, alley, avenue, lane or highway, or other public grounds within the city limits or extend or improve any public system of water-works exclusively owned and operated by the city for which a special assessment is to be levied, as herein provided, the city council shall, by resolution, declare such work or improvement necessary to be done, and such resolution shall be published for four consecutive weeks, at least once a week in the official newspaper of the city, and if a majority of the owners of the property liable to be assessed therefor, shall not within twenty days after the expiration of such publication file with the city auditor a written protest against such improvement, then the city council shall have power to cause such improvement to be made and to contract therefor, and to levy and collect the assessment as hereinafter provided, and all work done under this section shall be let by contract to the lowest responsible bidder therefor.

§ 2280. Assessments for improvements, how made.

§ 16, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

Whenever any work or improvement mentioned in the preceding section shall have been determined upon and the contract let therefor, the city engineer shall forthwith calculate the amount to be assessed for such improvement for each lot or parcel of ground abutting or bounding upon such improvement. And in estimating the assessment he shall take the entire cost of such improvement and divide the same by the number of feet fronting or abutting upon the same, and the quotient shall be the sum to be assessed per front foot so bounding or abutting, and said estimate shall be filed with the city auditor and shall be presented to the city council for its approval at the first meeting held thereafter. The city auditor shall cause said estimate of the city engineer, together with a notice of the time and place when the council will meet to approve of the same, to be published in the official newspaper of the city for at least ten days prior to the meeting of the city council to approve the same.

§ 2281. Action to avoid tax. Judgment.

Whenever any action or proceeding shall be commenced and maintained before any court to prevent or restrain the collection of any special assessment or part thereof, made or levied by the officers of any city, town or village, organized under and by virtue of a special act or charter, or under and by virtue of the general law of the state, for the improvement of its public streets by construction of sidewalks, grading or paving the same, or the construction of sewers or the extension of water mains, or for any other purpose authorized by law, and whenever any action or proceeding shall be commenced and maintained as aforesaid to vacate or set aside any sale of real estate under such special assessment or to cancel any tax certificate or deed given under such sale, and such assessment shall be held to be void by reason of noncompliance with this article, the court shall determine the true and just amount which the property attempted to be so assessed by said special assessment should pay to make the same uniform with other special assessments for the same purpose, and the amount of such assessment as the same appears on such list shall be prima facie evidence of such true and just amount and judgment must be rendered and given therefor against the party liable for such special assessment without regard to the proceedings had for the levy thereof, and such judgment shall be a lien upon the property upon which a special assessment should have been levied, and the lien of such judgment shall be enforced by the court in such action.

§ 2282. Publication of notice.

In all actions and proceedings commenced to prevent or restrain the collection of any special assessment made by the proper municipal officers of any city, town or village where it shall appear upon trial that the person seeking to avoid the payment of such special assessment, knew that the improvements were being made under a special assessment, and that the abutting property was charged with such improvements, and knowingly permitted such improvements to be made without commencing any proceedings to prevent the same, said assessment shall be legal and valid, notwithstanding the provisions of the charter or general law under which the city, town or village was incorporated required the publication of a resolution by the municipal authorities that they deemed the improvement necessary, and its publication in a newspaper a certain number of successive weeks has not been complied with; provided, it shall appear that said resolution was passed by said municipal authorities and published the number of times and in the newspaper required, on any day during successive calendar weeks.

§ 1. c. 31. 1889. § 2283. Reassessment. Whenever the city council of any city, incorporated under the general law, or by special act or charter, has heretofore, upon a petition of a majority of the abutting property owners upon any street made a special assessment for grading or paving the same and assessed the abutting property uniformly and in the same amount per front foot, and proceeded to pave or grade the street in accordance with the petition, and it appears that the ordinance or other proceedings in making the assessment were for any reason invalid, the city council is authorized and empowered to reassess all the real property abutting on such improvement, upon which the special assessment for the same has not been paid, upon the front foot plan in such sum as may be sufficient to pay its just proportion of the cost of such improvement.

§ 2. c. 31. 1889. § 2284. Notice. The city council shall by resolution declare the entire cost of the improvement for which all the abutting property was liable, with a description of the abutting property which such city council proposes to reassess for its proportion of the cost of such improvement, also the aggregate sum it proposes to assess against said property and the amount per front foot and shall state in said resolution when and where it will meet to hear any objections the abutting property owners may have to such reassessment, which resolution shall be published two successive weeks in some newspaper published in the city.

§ 3. c. 31. 1889. § 2285. Mode of assessing. At any time after the time fixed for hearing objections as provided in the last section, the city council shall by resolution proceed to reassess all the property abutting upon such improvement upon which the special assessment first made has not been paid, at its just and equal share of the cost of such improvement per front foot, and shall apportion and assess to each lot or parcel of land upon which such special assessment has not been paid its just proportion of the amount remaining unpaid per front foot, which assessment shall be and remain a lien upon the respective lots and parcels of land so assessed.

§ 4. c. 31. 1889. § 2286. Publication of assessment roll. After the assessment above provided for shall have been made and approved by the city council, the city clerk or auditor shall forthwith make an assessment roll describing the property so assessed, with the name of the owner if known, and the amount assessed to each lot or parcel of land as approved by the city council, and attach thereto a copy of the resolution of the city council approving the same, and certify that the same is correct, and shall file the same with the city treasurer for collection. The city treasurer shall forthwith publish said list three successive weeks, at least once in each week, in a newspaper published in said city, together with a notice that said assessments will become delinquent if the same are not paid within thirty days after the date of the first publication, together with a notice that a penalty of ten per cent will be added thereto after they become delinquent.

§ 2287. Interest and collection. All such assessments from and after becoming delinquent shall draw interest at the same rate from the date of such delinquency, as delinquent taxes under the laws of the state, and the city treasurer shall proceed to collect the same, if he cannot make the tax by distress and sale of personal property, in the manner and as prescribed in sections 2295 to 2307. § 5, c. 31, 1889.

§ 2288. Assessments, how paid. Penalty for nonpayment. After the estimate provided in section 2280 shall have been so approved, the auditor shall forthwith make or cause to be made an assessment roll describing the property so assessed, with the name of the owner, if known, and the amount assessed to each lot, piece or parcel of ground as approved by the city council, and attach thereto a copy of the resolution of the city council approving the same, and certify that the same is correct, and shall file the same with the city treasurer for collection. The city treasurer shall publish said list three successive weeks at least once in each week in the official newspaper of the city, together with a notice that a penalty of ten per cent will be added thereto if the same is not paid within thirty days after the date of the first publication, stating the time when such penalty shall accrue. § 17, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2289. Grade of streets. The city council may by ordinance establish the grade of all streets, alleys and sidewalks in the city, as the convenience of the inhabitants may require, and a record of the same shall be kept together with the profile thereof in the office of the city engineer; provided, that after the grade of any street has been established as provided in this section the city shall, if it changes the grade, be liable to the abutting property owners for any damage they may sustain by reason of any permanent improvements having been made by them to conform to the grade as first established. § 18, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2290. Sidewalks, width of, etc. The city council shall by ordinance prescribe the width of sidewalks, and may establish different widths in different locations, and determine the kind of material of which they shall be constructed, having regard to the business and amount of travel in the vicinity of each, and provide by ordinance for the letting of contracts for building the same. § 19, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2291. Sidewalks, how built and repaired. Whenever the city council shall deem it necessary to construct, rebuild or repair, except as hereinafter provided, any sidewalk in the city, it shall notify each owner and occupant of any lot or parcel of land adjoining such sidewalk to construct, rebuild or repair the same at his own expense within a time designated, by the publication in the official paper of the city once in each week for two consecutive weeks of a notice to such owner or occupant, setting forth what work is to be done and the character of the same, and the time within which he is required to do the same. Such notice may be general as to the owner, but must be specific as to the description of the lot or parcel of ground in front of which such sidewalk is to be built. § 20, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2292. Council contract for sidewalks, when. If such work is not done and the sidewalk not built, repaired or rebuilt in the manner and within the time prescribed in such notice, the city council may order the same to be done by such person as it may contract with and under the direction of the city engineer, at the expense of § 21, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

the lot or parcel of land adjoining such sidewalk, and such expense shall be assessed upon each lot and parcel of land so chargeable, by the city engineer and returned by him to the city council, and the city auditor shall cause to be published said estimate of the city engineer, together with a notice of the time and place when the city council will meet to approve the same, by one publication in the official newspaper of the city for at least ten days prior to the meeting of the council to approve the same, and said assessment so made and returned, if approved by the council, shall be a lien upon such lots and parcels of land on and after such approval.

§ 22, art. 15, c.
73, 1887.

§ 2293. Assessments for sidewalks. Penalty for non-payment. Within ten days after such assessment shall have been so approved the city auditor shall file a certified copy of the same in the office of the city treasurer, and thereupon said assessment shall be due and payable to the city and if not paid within sixty days thereafter there shall be a penalty of ten per cent added thereto.

§ 23, art. 15, c.
73, 1887.

§ 2294. Council may pay for repairing sidewalks, when. The city council may provide by ordinance for repairing sidewalks where the amount of such repairs does not exceed the sum of ten dollars for fifty feet of such walk, and may pay for the same out of the general fund if deemed expedient.

§ 25, art. 15, c.
73, 1887.

§ 2295. Sale of real property for special taxes. There shall be a sale of all real property for all due and unpaid special assessments thereon for local improvements other than sewers, held on the first Monday in March and the first Monday in December of each year, and whenever any special assessment for such local improvements shall have been levied as provided in this chapter, and shall have been due and unpaid for sixty days preceding the first days of February and November of each year, the city treasurer shall give notice of such sale by publication in the official newspaper of the city, once in each of three consecutive weeks. The first publication shall not be less than twenty-three, nor more than thirty days prior to the day of such sale. § 26, art. 15, c.
73, 1887.

§ 27, art. 15, c.
73, 1887.

§ 2297. Highest bidder. What part of property sold. The person offering to pay the amount due on any piece or parcel of land or city lot for the smallest portion of the same shall be considered the highest bidder, and when such property is unplatted such portion shall be taken from the southeast corner thereof in form as nearly square as possible, and if a city lot it shall be so many feet extending the full depth of the lots and taken from the north or east side of such lot.

§ 2298. Failure of bidder to pay. Should any person bidding fail forthwith to pay the amount due, the city treasurer may again offer the same for sale at any time before the close of the sale, or he may recover the amount of such bid by a civil action brought in the name of the city, or sell the same at private sale as hereinafter provided. § 28, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2299. Record and report of sale. The city treasurer shall keep a record of such sale in a book for that purpose, showing the description of each piece or parcel sold or offered for sale, to whom sold, date of sale, amount sold for, if sold, and if not sold it shall be so stated and the reason, and within ten days after the close of such sale the city treasurer shall file in the office of the city auditor a return of such sale showing the land or lots sold, the names of the purchasers and the sums paid by them, and also a copy of the notice of sale, with a certificate of advertisement verified by an affidavit, and such certificate shall be evidence of the regularity of the proceedings. § 29, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

Such certificate shall be signed by the treasurer in his official capacity and shall be presumptive evidence of the regularity of all prior proceedings, and the treasurer may demand and receive the sum of fifty cents for each certificate so issued. § 30, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2301. Private sale. Certificate. After the sale shall have closed and after the treasurer shall have made his return thereof to the city auditor as hereinbefore provided, if any tract, parcel or lot of land remains unsold for want of bidders the sum for which such property was offered for sale shall draw interest at the rate of eighteen per cent per annum until such property is sold or redeemed; and the treasurer is authorized to sell the same at private sale to any person who will pay the amount of the assessment, penalty and costs, with interest thereon from the time the same was offered for sale to the time of the purchase, and to deliver to such purchaser a certificate as provided in section 2300, and shall make out duplicate certificates for the amount of such purchase, one of which shall be deposited with the city auditor and the other delivered to the purchaser, with the additional statement inserted in said certificate that such land or lots were offered at public sale for such assessment but not sold for want of bidders, and he shall indorse on the certificate "sold for special assessment at private sale." § 31, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2305. Error not to invalidate deed. § 2306. Sale not invalidated, when. No exemptions. The sale of land or city lots or any real property for special assessment shall not be invalid on account of such real property having been listed or charged on the assessment list or advertised in any other name than that of the rightful owner and no real property within the limits of the city shall be exempt from special assessment for street, sidewalk or sewer purposes. § 36, art. 15, c. 73, 1887.

§ 2320. Method of payment. Bonds. For the purpose of paying for the construction of such sewers the city council shall provide as follows:

1. The city council shall forthwith upon the letting of any contract under the provisions hereof create, by appointment of three persons from among the citizens of such city, a "special sewerage assessment committee," each member of which shall file with the city auditor a written acceptance of such appointment and take and subscribe an oath faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties of his position as a member of such committee, which oath shall be filed with the city auditor, and one of such persons shall be designated by the city council as the chairman of such committee. The city council may from time to time as occasion may require make new appointments to such committee to fill any vacancy arising therein from death or other cause, and in case any person so appointed neglects or refuses to act, to appoint another in his place.

2. It shall be the duty of such committee personally to inspect any and all lots and parcels of land fronting or abutting upon the work contracted for or benefited thereby as hereinafter set forth and thereupon assess against all such lots and parcels of land, which will in the opinion of such committee be specially benefited by the construction of such system of sewerage, a special assessment in a sum not exceeding such benefits. Whenever such assessment is made and completed as to all the lots, parts of lots or parcels of land to be benefited by the work under any one contract, the committee shall make or cause to be made a complete list thereof, setting forth the several tracts so assessed and the amount assessed against each, and cause the same to be published once in each week for three consecutive weeks in the official newspaper of the city, together with a notice of the time and place, when and where such committee will meet to hear objections which may be made to any such assessment by any owner or occupant of a tract so assessed, or other person interested in such assessment, or his agent or attorney, and thereupon alter or affirm the same as may in the opinion of the committee be just in the premises. The committee shall then deposit such assessment list with the city auditor who shall forthwith cause the same to be again published once in each week for three consecutive weeks in the official newspaper of the city, with a notice to the persons interested that at the next regular meeting of the city council after the expiration of the time of publication of such notice, giving the date thereof, appeals from the decision of such committee in relation thereto will be heard and determined by the city council; provided, that for any sewer constructed upon petition as provided in section 2315 only the lots abutting on that portion of the street in which such sewer is to be constructed shall be assessed therefor.

3. At such meeting of the city council any person aggrieved by the determination of such committee in regard to any such assessment, and who appeared in person or by his agent or attorney before such committee as hereinbefore provided, if a resident of the city, and all nonresident owners of any property so assessed, whether they appeared before such committee or not, may appear before the city council and present their reasons why the action of such committee should not be affirmed by the city council, and the city council shall then hear and determine such appeals and objections, if any, and may alter or affirm the action of such committee in relation thereto as the city council may deem just in the premises; and shall thereupon cause such list so altered to conform to its action, if any such alteration is made, to be certified as correct by the city auditor and filed in his office. The city auditor in case no bonds shall have been issued to provide funds for the payment of the construction of said system of sewerage or of said sewers shall, at the time he certifies to the county auditor the amount of city taxes to be levied for the current year, also certify to such auditor a list of the lots or tracts of lands assessed for sewer purposes under the provisions of this article, with the whole amount of such assessment, and the county auditor shall extend the same upon the tax roll for the current year and it shall be collected and paid over in the same manner as other city taxes; and when so paid over shall be credited by the city treasurer and auditor to the sewer fund and shall be kept separate and apart from all other funds, and shall be applied to no other purpose whatever than the payment for the construction of the system of sewerage or sewers for which the same was assessed and the city council may direct warrants for such payment to be drawn on such fund to the amount of such assessments before the same are actually collected. In case bonds shall have been issued for the purpose of raising funds to pay for the establishment, construction and maintenance of such system of sewerage or of such sewers, the city auditor shall divide the total amount of such assessment into as many parts as said bonds have years to run, and shall annually at the time he certifies to the county auditor of such county the amount of city taxes to be levied for the current year, also certify to such auditor a list of the lots or tracts of land assessed for such system of sewerage or such sewers for the payment of which such bonds were issued, with the amount of the part of such assessment to be collected for the current year, and the county auditor shall extend the same upon the tax roll for the current year and collect and pay the same over in the same manner as city taxes.

4. The said committee and the city council upon meeting at the time specified in the printed notices hereinbefore set forth, may adjourn from day to day but not otherwise, until the work of the revision of such list and the determination of said appeals are by them respectively completed, and the chairman of such committee and the presiding officer of the city council shall have power to administer oaths to such witnesses as may be brought before them and the presiding officer of the city council may issue subpoenas for witnesses to testify on behalf of the city, but no appeal shall lie from the decision of the city council to any other tribunal and no objection to any such assessment shall be considered by the city council unless the same objection shall have been first raised before said committee, except in case of nonresidents as hereinbefore provided; provided, however, that this restriction shall not apply to the correction of obvious mistakes or clerical errors.
